Spaulding Family Name in America Before Mayflower

The name Spaulding has long been an honored one in America. In fact, it antedates the Mayflower by one year.

Edward Spaulding came from England with Sir George Yeardley about 1610 to the Virginia Colony. Around 1640, he went to Chelmsford, Mass., a town incorporated in May 1655. Here his first wife, Margaret, died. She left three children, including a son, John.

John, born around 1631, married Hannah Hale in 1658 at Concord, Mass. They had eight children, including a son, Edward, born in 1693.

Edward married Mary Brackett in 1683. She died and he later married Dorothy Barker, with whom he moved to Plainfield, Mass., in 1697. They had 10 children, including a son, Josiah.

Born in 1686, Josiah married Sarah Warren. Their nine children included a son, Josiah II. Josiah II was born in 1715. He and his wife, Hannah Grover, had 12 children, including a son, Sampson. The family moved to Canterbury, Conn., about 1749. Sampson, born in 1754 in Canterbury, married Temperance Nott in 1779. To this marriage were born eight children, including a son, Warren, who was born on Christmas Day, 1801. When he was six, he lost both parents.

and Warren Spaulding were married by the Rev. Bushnell in the nearby Congregational church. They were soon busy with a new home, a log house, on part of the estate that had belonged to Warren's father. Later, they moved to Shoreham, Vt., where they lived until 1830.

Early in June 1830, they began preparations to move to Michigan, a journey that took weeks. There were four small children—the oldest barely seven, the youngest, four weeks. Articles of food and a few necessities were packed. Five other families left their native state at the same time for what was then the far west.

Traveling by boat from West Point, they reached the Erie Canal at Whitehall, where the sails were lowered and horses towed the boat down the canal to Buffalo. Here they changed boats, taking a sloop for the trip across Lake Erie to Detroit. On reaching the Detroit River, they were held up by a calm. Finally, some of the men left the boat, went ashore and walked to Detroit. Near the middle of August 1830, more than two months after leaving their old home, the travelers aboard the boat safely landed in Detroit.

The journey to Dexter was made in a lumber wagon. Abi and Warren first lived with a widow and her five children. A kitchen, living room, and bedroom, with one large room above, housed the three grown persons and nine small children. Warren began preparations for a future home, purchasing 80 acres of land on which a small home was soon built. Here a daughter, Emma, was born.

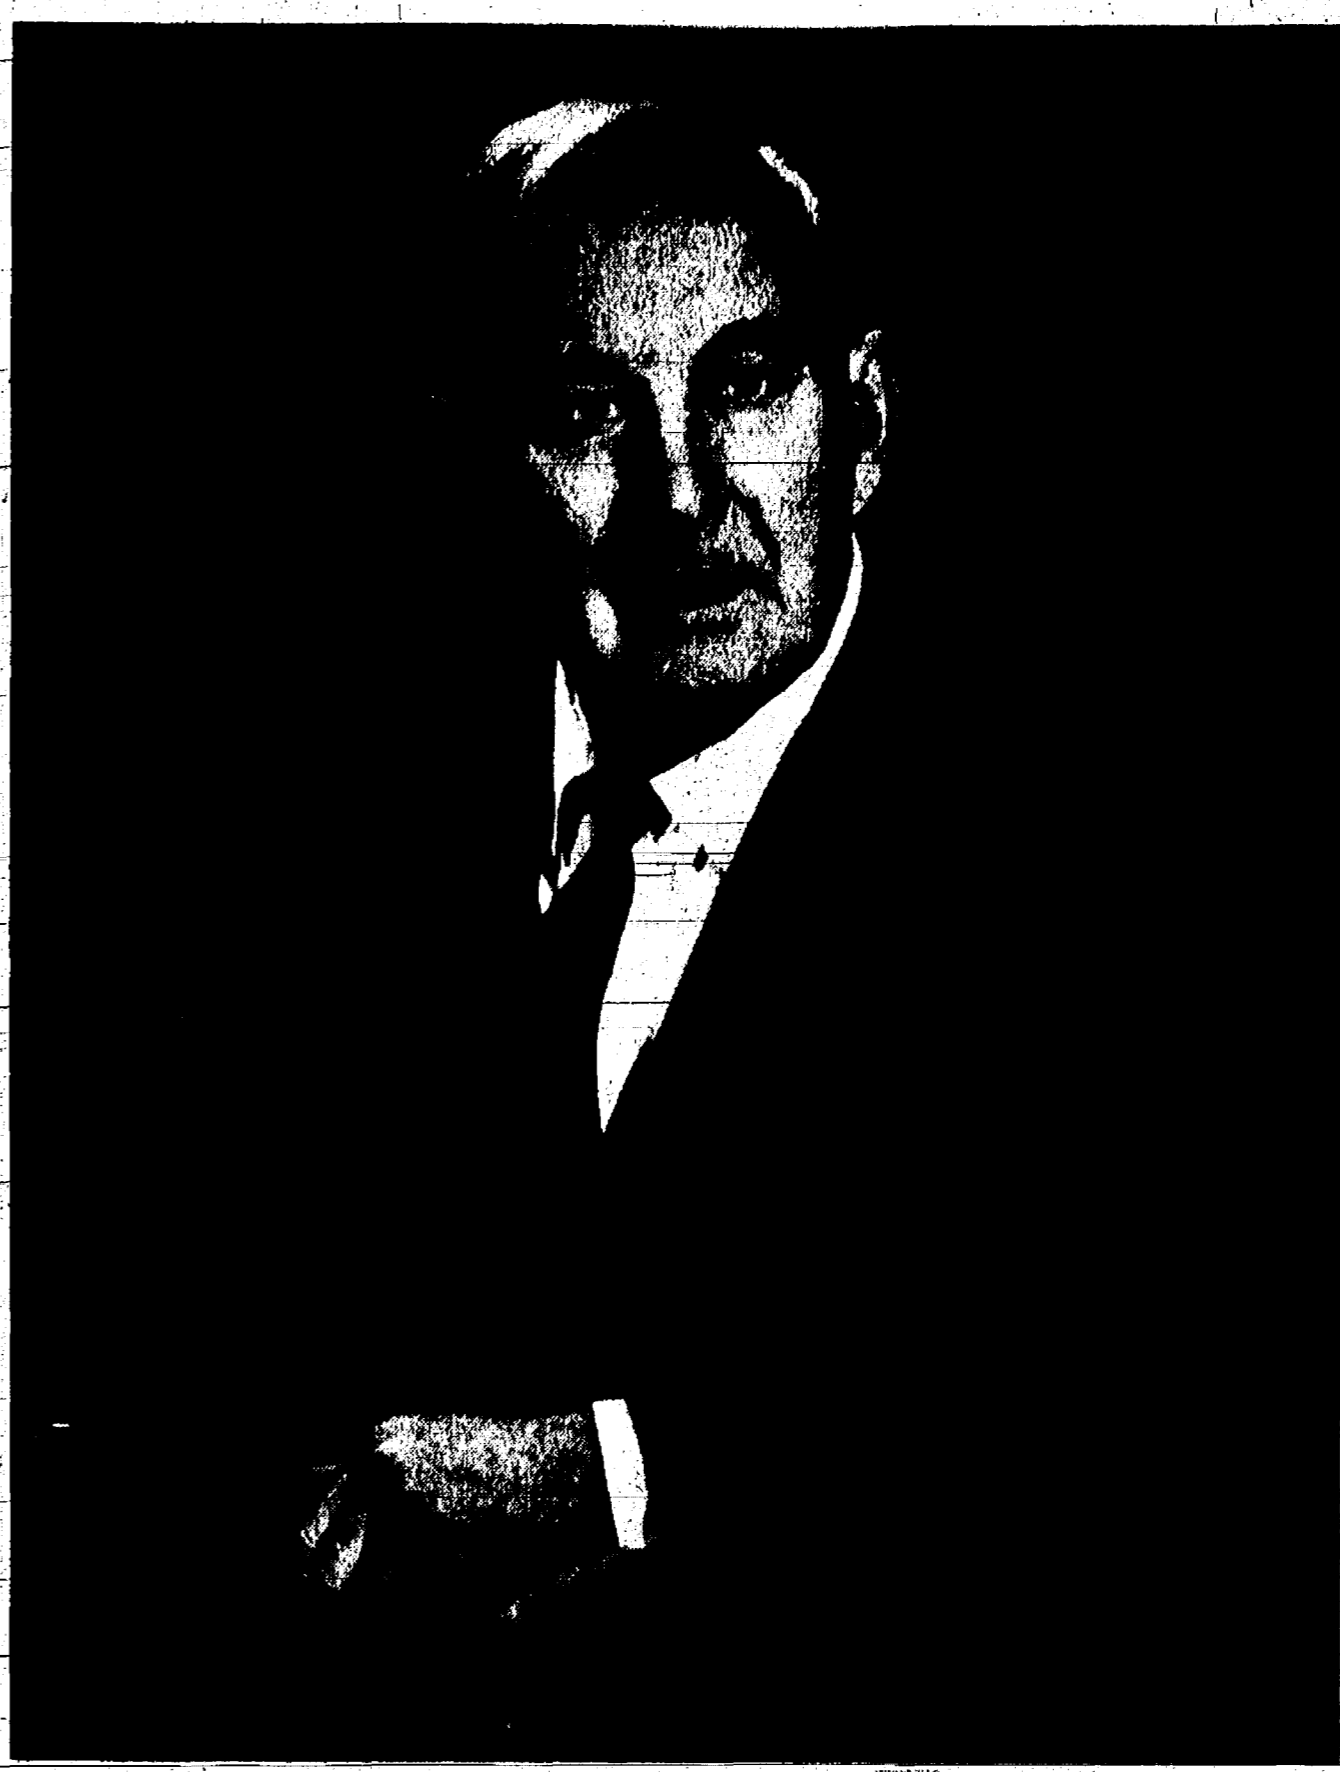

Success was often slow in coming to settlers on new land. Misfortune overcame the Spauldings and Abi was left alone with her five children in 1835. On May 14 of that year, her sixth child, Dennis, who was later to be the father of the present-day Warren, was born.

A boom for which Abi had been waiting arrived from the East and her weaving provided for the needs of her children. Her husband's brother, Ira, helped her move her family into a little log house in Sylvan township, near his own home. With $200 given her by her father, Abi purchased 40 acres of land which is now a part of the Spaulding farm. The family started to clear the land with Ira's oxen. The years were not always easy but her faith and her will to help her children were strong.

Abi spent the later years of her life in the home of her youngest son, Dennis. Here in October 1892, she died at the age of 94.

As a young boy, Dennis had worked his mother's farm of 40 acres. Later, he bought adjoining land, increasing the farm property to 150 acres. Dennis married Sarah Elizabeth Updike in 1860 and in 1872, he built the Spaulding home which now stands.

There were nine children in the Dennis Spaulding family. Warren Dennis was born March 1, 1883. After his father died in 1910, Warren took charge of the farm. Warren Spaulding has always had a fondness for children. He has made a tradition of having families and children of First Emma, was born.

SUZANNE KNICKERBOCKER Wins U. of M. Regents-Alum. Scholarship

Suzanne Knickerbocker has received an honorary $50 Regents-Alumni scholarship from the University of Michigan, according to an announcement made yesterday by Ivan W. Parker, U-M's associate director of financial aid. The scholarship was granted in recognition of Suzanne's academic performance, intellectual potential as indicated by scores received on a competitive nation-wide test, and the record of her citizenship. Suzanne, a senior at Chelsea High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Knickerbocker of 4221 Freer Rd. She is a member of the National Honor Society, works on the annual (yearbook) staff, and sings in the St. Paul United Church of Christ choir.

For the past two years, Suzanne has been concertmaster of the Chelsea High School Symphony Band. She recently played the leading female role of Rose Alvarez in the high school's musical production, "Bye Bye Birdie."

The Chelsea scholarship winner plans to attend the School of Literature, Science and the Arts at the University of Michigan. Because she is not yet certain of her academic major, Suzanne will begin her college career on a no-preference basis, probably changing to a major in music education or English literature in the near future.

Kindergarten Round-Up Set For Friday

Kindergarten Round-up will be held at South Elementary school Friday, May 17. Rural children and parents are asked to come from 8:30 to approximately 10 a.m., and to town children and parents from 1:30 to approximately 3 p.m.

Voters Approve School Board's Millage Request

Only 923 Electors Turn Out Monday To Give Issue 129-Vote Majority

Chelsea School Board's 7.65 millage proposal was approved by Chelsea voters 525 to 396 on May 6. A total of 923 out of a possible 3,200 voters trekked to the polls Monday to vote on the millage proposal which, in effect, is a renewal of the present school millage. There were two spoiled ballots.

"The Board of Education and the administration are very pleased with the results of the election," commented Fred Mills, school business manager. Although the 7.65 millage appears to be an increase over the present millage, the 7.65 mill increase will be offset by a reduction of .9 of a mill in the current debt retirement levy of 6.9 mills. Next year's debt retirement will be 6.0 mills.

Junior High Band Concert Slated Sunday

A panorama of bands will fill the Chelsea High School auditorium with sound Sunday, May 12, at 3 p.m., when Chelsea Junior High presents its spring band concert.

The 55-member 7th grade band, directed by Tinkham, occupies second place in the program. Concluding the concert will be the 77-member 8th grade band, directed by Galbraith.

A free-will offering will be taken for the Junior High Band Scholarship-Instrument fund.

Junior High Select Choir Rated Superior

Chelsea Junior High School Select Choir attended the Regional Fest, May 3, at Adams Junior High School, Dearborn, and received a superior rating of "A-1." William L. Roy, director of the choir, said the group sang the required number, "Let Us Break Bread Together," a traditional spiritual, and a selected number, a madrigal by Weekles, "Tomorrow Is the Marriage Day." Eighteen schools participated and Chelsea Junior High was the only school—not a Detroit suburban school, Miss L. Roy said. The accompanist was Pamela Wilson. (Continued on page five)

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

"I am surrounded by sky-rocketing taxes—county, school, state—which have devoured increases in my income faster than I can get them."

"I doubt very much that the passage of this bill would do anything to halt inflation, but only send it sky-rocketing even further."

"While the taxpayer must live within his budget, the Federal Government seems determined to commit financial Hari Kari."

"Since our problems seem to stem partially from too much government spending, giving the Administration more to spend in the form of a surtax doesn't seem to be a logical answer."

This is a sampling of comments I have been receiving over the past year on the President's 10 percent surcharge proposal. Hundreds of letters have come in and more than 90 percent of these oppose this increase in the federal income tax. Seventy-five percent of the 22,000 persons who responded to my recent questionnaire also registered opposition to the measure.

The reason for this overwhelming citizen disapproval is clear. The people have realized something that government is unwilling to admit—that is, the fact that the present fiscal mess in this country has been brought on by the fiscal mismanagement of the federal government. Further, in the light of this fact, the taxpayers do not feel it is their responsibility to bail out the government, nor do I.

With the surtax proposal coming closer to a vote in the House each day, my position remains the same: First, I am not convinced that this additional taxation will save us from what the Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board called "the worst financial crisis that we've had since 1931." Second, if the government which brought on the crisis is asking $10 million to bail it out, it seems only logical that the government should be willing to cutback an equal amount or more—something that appears highly unlikely.

While our efforts last year were successful in cutting $5.3 billion from the President's appropriation requests, much more remains to be done. By establishing spending priorities and enacting reasonable reductions in non-essential areas, Congress can effectively combat inflation without jeopardizing needed social programs and our cannot hide from the problems of our cities, but neither can we conceal high expenditures on all fronts.

Until a sensible approach to spending control is put into motion, the surtax scheme is not worthy of consideration. And even if Congress was to accept its responsibility to move in the direction of significant reductions, further assurances must be made that new revenue from a surtax would be applied against the mounting federal deficit rather than be used for additional inflationary spending. Only in this way are we going to show the world that we are serious in our desire to protect the value of the dollar.

Putting our national fiscal house in order requires something other than another piece of patchwork on a structure which is already decadent and mismanaged. Unless government spending is dramatically reduced, the cost of living may reach the moon before our astronauts.

Consumer Protection

Victims of con-men and shady business operators will find the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office eager to learn of the swindle. There is a good chance that the victim's money may be returned in the process of investigation.

The division is staffed by two investigators and clerical personnel. Its sole responsibility is to fight the "fast-buck" operator. Working closely with local prosecutors, the office will investigate complaints of citizens who feel they were "taken" by a fraudulent scheme or a questionable business practice.

Unsuspecting consumers may be defrauded in any number of ways, and new rackets spring up as old ones are eliminated. Some involve only a few dollars while others run into thousands. Most, but not all, use a "something for nothing" appeal to entice the consumer. Older people, many of fixed incomes, are especially vulnerable to the con games.

Attorney General Frank Kelley points out that most retailers are honest and ethical. They make every effort to keep customers satisfied and adjust complaints. Respectable businessmen are also concerned with shady operators, and realize that the unsatisfactory performance of one company may ruin an entire industry.

One such racket involves a "free aluminum siding" offer. The homeowner is approached by a well-dressed man, usually wearing an expensive car, and told that his house has been selected for "advertising purposes."

The homeowner need only sign four papers: a credit check to make sure the individual is "respectable" enough to merit the offer; an authorization to let the company show the outside of the home to future prospects; an agreement to bind any new owners of the home, if sold within 60 months, to the same terms.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Bug Hookum announced at the session at the country store Saturday night he had given careful thought to the world money situation and had now come up with the answer.

What we got to do, Bug allowed, is forget all this talk about cheap dollars and high price of gold and come up with a new money. He said he had figured the thing up one side and down the other and had decided tobacco is what we ought to use. Bug was feeling that people everywhere was determined to smelt their good money for someone to smoke, but they would be so quick to smoke their good money.

They was a heap of side bones to this plan. Bug explained, first off, it would hurt the health case again smoking. Wouldn't nobody argue with the claim that if a fellow smokes his money he can't buy food and if he ain't got nothing to eat he's going to get unhealthy fast. Furthermore, said Bug, using tobacco for money would be a welcome relief for the Government and the tobacco farmer. The Government tries to work both sides of the road by telling folks smoking is killing 'em and by doing research on how the farmer can grow more tobacco to the acre.

The way things was now, Bug said, it looks like more people was making money than by working for wages. What people ain't investing in them gold mine stocks was buying and selling them silver certificates for big profits off the Government. Bug was of the opinion we hadn't ought to let the value of our money be decided by ole man DeGall-of-France, the show-authorization, and a final paper which saves the homeowner is satisfied with the deal and "appreciates" the offer.

The papers are cleverly folded and stapled. The only paper which is as represented is the top sheet analyzing for a credit check. The other three: a mortgage, a promise note and a "completion form" are blank.

Once the papers are signed, the "official" immediately sells the mortgage to a finance company. Workmen arrive to install the siding the next morning, and within a few days the homeowner finds he is in debt at a cost much higher than a reputable firm might have charged.

Take a day to think about the offer before accepting it. The Attorney General suggests. Most confidence men pressure their victims into signing something "right now" before they have the chance to think and check-out the offer. There are many sources which consumers may use to verify the reputation of a company.

Members of commercial better business bureau, city hall, local newspaper, even friends and neighbors. The Consumer Protection Division will check their files for consumer complaints.

Consumers who feel they were victimized are urged to call the Attorney General for the complaint may be investigated. Often, a single letter from the division will bring a satisfactory conclusion. Sometimes court action is necessary.

Customer Co-operation

A safe car will probably never be built, according to Chrysler Corporation's chief engineer, Roy C. Hoelscher, if what is meant by "safe" is a car in which no one will be injured to any degree in any collision, rollover or accident.

However, cars are being designed which are "more forgiving" of driver error, he said. "If better car design still does not enable avoidance of the inattentive or drunk driver who crosses the center line into opposing traffic, then better design may reduce the seriousness of the injury in the ensuing accident."

Safety is a relative condition, he noted, and many of the most elaborate safety devices are of little value unless the occupants of the car use them. Some safety features, such as interior padding, safety glass, and energy-absorbing steering columns do not require driver or passenger co-operation. Others do.

Hoelscher suggests a six-point check before putting the automobile in gear: adjust the driver's seat, lock doors, adjust inside and outside mirrors, check instruments and controls, fasten seat belts, and check for pedestrians.

April Traffic Death Toll Shows Increase

Michigan's provisional count of 142 traffic deaths for April is 20 or 12 percent less than the all-time high of 162 set for that month a year ago, the State Police reported.

The April loss also was six less than the average of 148 for that month in the five years, 1953-57. The April deaths included eight motorcycle riders, 39 persons killed in 33 run-off-the-roadway accidents, and 59 persons killed in 41 two-car accidents.

The accumulated total of 579 fatalities for the first four months was 41 or almost eight percent more than 538 for the same period in 1967.

Thursday, May 7, 1964—The Chelsea Community Educational Foundation Board of Directors is giving everyone in the community an opportunity to contribute tomorrow to the Foundation's "Dollars for Scholars" fund. Friday, May 8, has been designated as collection day and tables with collection personnel in attendance will be located throughout the afternoon and evening—12 noon until 9 p.m.—in both the downtown business area and at the Stop & Shop store. Dr. J. V. Fisher, president of the Chelsea Community Educational Foundation Board of Directors, in summarizing activities of the Foundation to date, said that the Foundation is now ready to function when sufficient funds have been contributed and has broadened the scope of its initial purpose which was stated as follows: "That no graduate of Chelsea High school in the future need be denied a higher education in the event he desires to continue in school and is capable of doing so."

Chelsea Jaycees are currently conducting a concerted drive to recruit adults to assist with a greatly increased Cub Scout program in Chelsea. At present only one out of every four boys who would like to be in Cub Scouts is successful in becoming affiliated with a den. It has been pointed out that there are more than 300 boys of Cub Scout age in the Chelsea area and only one-fourth of this number can now be accommodated. There are 11 dens. Ideally, no more than six boys should be included in each den; present, however, some dens have as many as 10 or 11 boys.

Participants included Dean William Hubbard, moderator; Dr. Andrew Watson, professor of law and psychiatry, who spoke on the legal and psychological aspects; and Prof. Lawrence Hill of the School of Business Administration, who spoke on the Hospital's responsibility. Dr. Fisher's topic concerned the ethical care of the terminally ill patient outside the hospital.
The panel presentation, which was followed by a question and answer period, was one of six sessions in Clinical Medicine which explored the ethics of sustaining meaningful life in cases of incurable illness.
On May 22, Dr. Fisher will speak to the senior medical students on the subject of medical etiquette and inter-physician relationships. This lecture is sponsored by the Michigan State Medical Society.

THIRD GRADE—
Teacher: Mrs. Lee
Reporter: Michele Ball
Our class is studying about Indians and Pioneers. We will learn about the Woodland Indians, Pueblo Indians, and the Plains Indians. In art we made teepees and canoes and practiced different Indian designs. Many children have planned special reports on certain Indian customs. In arithmetic we have a chart of all the children in the class who have earned stars for saying multiplication facts.
Teacher: Mrs. Matson
Reporter: Vicky Downer
Our class is studying about plants. Wade Carter went to Florida and Dickey Gillespie went to New York over spring vacation. Larry Cross went to Illinois over vacation. In our plant unit we are growing plants in the room and doing different plant experiments. We are looking forward to planting seedlings around our school.
FOURTH GRADE—
Teacher: Mrs. McCullough
Reporter: Michele Papp
On April 30 the fourth grades went to the Ford Co. in Dearborn. We had a guide take us inside to show us where to go and tell us things as we went along. They made two types of cars, Mustang and Cougar.
THIS IS HOW I FELT
The cars were coming out of the nests, with parts flowing to the right car. The men were working, banging and pounding when putting on parts. They would be done if it weren't for the assembly line going on and on. After the day is done, the assembly line is too.
The workers go home and the machines stop. All is quiet, all is silent, all is done today.
Teacher: Mr. Schmunk
Reporter: Jim Bacon
Jim Collinsworth broke his arm by falling off his bike. He is back in school now.
Our class made a trip to the Ford Motor Co. We saw them making parts for the cars and we saw them make the cars. It was interesting.
We learned how we get iron ore and how it is changed to iron and steel.
A few weeks ago we took apart a one-cylinder engine and learned how it works.
FIFTH GRADE—
Teacher: Mrs. Cox
Reporter: Mary Beth Chandler
Next week on Wednesday, May 8, the three fifth grades have planned to go to Greenfield Village.
On April 30 Mrs. Cox's room planted some seeds. Matt Marzoe, Victor Steinbach and Danny Foytik all brought in pieces of fungus. In science we are studying the main phyla of plants. Thallophytes which include algae and fungus; bryophytes which include mosses; pteridophytes which include ferns; spermatophytes which include all of the common seed plants.
In Social Studies we are studying Alaska and Hawaii. We are also going to make relief maps.
Teacher: Mrs. Maxwell
Reporter: Debbie Fuller
Our class is studying plants and how they reproduce and how they are transported to different places. Tuesday we cut open a lima bean to see what the inside looked like. We are also studying mold and the spores and doing experiments. In Social Studies we are doing dioramas on the Gold Rush and on the Forty Niners, and many, many more topics. In Math we're learning about square feet and measurements. In English we are doing creative dramatics. We pantomime skits, but don't say anything.

After hearing the story "How Do I Find Out," both classes went to the school library and each child got to choose a book to bring back to the room. Some have taken them home to be read for one day.
Five baby chicks have joined our room. Every day we are writing down the changes so we can see how fast they grow.
FIRST GRADE—
Teacher: Mrs. Horning
We were kept busy this week with Achievement tests but we are glad they are finished. We visited our school library and each of us chose a book to read back in our room. We are learning about baby animals and animal homes from our science books. We made May baskets and filled them with paper flowers. Billy Moore and Janet Walz had birthdays this week.
Teacher: Mrs. Staffan
Mrs. Staffan's brother is in Vietnam. He sent us a name of a school where we could write. We sent the teacher a letter. We each made a picture showing something about our school, or what we do when we are not in school. We are waiting for an answer to our letter.
We have been talking about insects. We thought the butterfly was very interesting.

Help Shortage Poses Crisis for Rec. Program

Chelsea's Summer Recreation program is taking shape, but one of it is on paper.

Program Director "Rich" Barais explained that although the summer program has been planned, some of the recreation activities may have to be limited or eliminated simply because no one can be found to supervise them.

Arts and crafts programs at each elementary school were posed to have adult instructors at both schools, Barais said. Only one instructor has been found. In addition, Barais has been able to find an adult supervisor and direct the even program for the senior division of the Little League.

The senior division teams will play two nights a week at South School from 5:45 to 7:30. Besides the program director, needed for the division, individual coaches for the teams are lacking, Barais said.

Barais added that the after-school swimming program will be offered at Clear Lake, but no qualified instructor can be located. Morning recreation program at high school which includes Little League baseball, practice, and tennis, is in danger of being dropped, Barais explained, because of inadequate staffing.

Barais also said the Dramatics Club of the Recreation Department might be dropped because the intended director is not now available.

One Million Accidents

Like most citizens of Michigan, I am increasingly concerned with the importance of highway safety. One million U.S. dollars are spent annually on highway accidents. Michigan families are paying the heavy cost in human suffering and property damage.

When it comes to automobiles, the word "safe" is misleading. There is not now, and there cannot ever be, such a thing as a "safe" car. However, "safer" cars in varying degrees are now being built, according to representatives of the automobile industry.

Items which might contribute to safe driving are useless, however, unless the driver and his passengers are co-operate—for example, seat belts and shoulder harnesses, head restraints, outside rear-view mirrors, and door locks.

Research into crash injuries has established that such simple precautions as locking the doors of a car in motion can result in a 20 to 50 percent reduction in injuries. Modern interlocking door devices can prevent crash victims from spilling out of a traffic-laden highway—but only if occupants lock their car doors.

Based upon the theory that "a forgiving car is a safer car," the automotive industry is working hard to design safety items which do not require driver or passenger co-operation. In effect, they "forgive" human error or negligence.

Some of these items, already installed in many automobiles, are interior padding, energy-absorbing steering columns, new safety windshield glass, stronger seat anchorages and advances in interior and exterior lighting.

Farmers are among those people who recognize that one of the most common types of accidents is the rear-end collision. Michigan fogs which often rise along the shores of our many lakes are a contributing factor. More discernible signal lights would be a great help in these circumstances, as would reflectorized license plates.

A law requiring Michigan vehicle plates to be reflectorized has received the support of such groups as the Michigan Farm Bureau and the state Junior Chamber of Commerce.

CLAR'S CONSCIENCE

St. Louis—Leonard M. Bump was surprised when he received a note containing $10. "The note explained the sender had picked up a dollar he dropped while buying a package of cigarettes, 24 years ago and he 'hoped' the money enclosed would cover principal, interest, and inflation."

FIRE CAUSE

More than 200,000 fires a year are caused by unthinking smokers. Check your own smoking habits—and be sure that last cigarette is smoked before you go to bed.

Bud Guest Features Huron Park System

Edgar A. "Bud" Guest, Jr., popular radio personality and host of the Time Traveler program, will feature facts of history about the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority and its eight parks for 10 consecutive programs over WJR from Monday, May 13 through Friday, May 24, at 6:40 p.m.

The five-minute radio show heard Monday through Friday, is now in its third year and deals exclusively with Michigan subjects including history, personalities and firms.

Guest, well-known for his radio work at WJR since 1945, will explain the origin of the idea for a "Huron-Clinton chain of metropolitan parks and the development of all eight recreational sites throughout the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne which now serve more than four million residents of the Detroit Metropolitan Area."

These sites include Metropolitan Beach near Mr. Clemens, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, Marshbank Metropolitan Park near Pontiac, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville, and Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudson Mills Metropolitan Parks near Dexter.

"Bud," the son of the late poet-philosopher Edgar A. Guest, was graduated from the University of Michigan and at one time was a newspaper writer and editor and later became a morning news-caster.

Area Servicemen's Addresses Wanted

Members of the TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) Club again request Chelsea and Dexter residents to send them names and addresses of local servicemen who are overseas.

For the past two Christmases, TOPS has sent packages to military men serving overseas whose addresses were received from friends and through area newspapers. The enthusiastic response and letters of appreciation from the packages' recipients have inspired TOPS members to turn the Christmas project into a year-round one.

Since Jan. 1, TOPS mailed 24 packages of paperbacks and magazines and 10 boxes of assorted foods, to local men stationed abroad as well as Valentine and Easter cards. To raise postage money, a member brings in a home-made item to each week's meeting and auctions it off to the other members.

Anyone wishing to report the name and address of an overseas area military man should call Mrs. Chester Keezer, chairman, at GR 5-8352 or send the information to her at 402 McKinley Rd., Chelsea.

Boy Scout Council Seeks Funds to Develop Camps

For the first time in more than 20 years, the Portage Trails Council of the Boy Scouts of America will seek public support for a proposed expansion of camping facilities, according to an announcement today by Donald C. Hackney, council president.

The council is seeking a minimum of $585,000 to provide for new camping facilities and to improve those already in use, Hackney said, adding:

"The tremendous interest in Scouting and the growth of the movement in Washtenaw and Livingston counties, the area served by the council, has made this campaign mandatory.

"The long-range planning committee of the executive board took a long, hard look at the facts and figures before coming to the decision that if we are to adequately care for and train the thousands of Scouts that want and need a Scout camping experience we must expand our facilities."

He pointed out that several companies, corporations and other friends of Scouting in the area have already contributed some $125,000 toward the purchase of a 60-acre site, including 35-acre lake, near Kalamazoo.

Wright's Lake Scout Reservation will be developed for wilderness-type camping with the first camp to accommodate 225 boys, he said, adding:

"When we acquired our first camp—Camp Newton on the Huron River—in 1924, there were only 400 Scouts enrolled."

Scouts in the current year purchased Bruin Lake Camp in 1964.

"Today there are four camps that many enrolled with 4,000 boys and 1,000 adult volunteer leaders. Without additional camping facilities, it is next to impossible to conduct adequate training for our boys—the future leaders of our communities."

For more than 50 years since the founding of the Boy Scouts of America, camping has been the great outdoor adventure of Scouting. It is upon basic campercraft skills, learned while meeting requirements for advancement, that a boy builds the foundation for later personal growth and development.

Camping is the "heart" of Scouting, Hackney said, and the local Scouting program is one of the most important hubs for youth activity in the Portage Trails Council, reaching all boys regardless of race, color, creed or stature in life through their Cub, Boy Scout, and Explorer programs.

Last year, 55 percent of Scouts in this area participated in "long-term" camping—six or more consecutive days and nights.

Portage Trails Council has been forced to limit the promotion of camping to a one-week session only. It is nationally recognized that a two-week period would be far preferable. Hackney said that since Bruin Lake Camp can only handle 150 boys per week, many young campers in this council do not have the opportunity for a camping experience that they would have if we had the facilities. This is what the development of the first camp at Wright's Lake will provide, he added.

Allocation of the $585,000 in capital funds will be as follows:

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

For some time now, I have been deeply concerned about the alarming increase in welfare costs.

Michigan has enjoyed six years of record-breaking economic growth, of unprecedented prosperity. Yet through those same six years, the total welfare costs in Michigan have shown an overwhelming increase of more than 125 percent, rising from $183,241,410 to $412,173,940.

Let's look at the record:

Fiscal Year	County Contribution	State Contribution	U. S. Govt. Contribution	Total
1963-64	$4,784,024	$9,285,083	$8,172,309	$183,241,410
1964-65	5,580,534	98,005,520	98,100,075	201,686,129
1965-66	8,512,280	108,958,065	112,243,290	229,713,650
1966-67	3,133,308	138,826,153	138,713,686	280,673,147
1967-68	3,000,000	174,045,290	177,249,053	354,294,243
Budgeted for 1968-69	3,000,000	218,735,748	191,438,102	413,173,940

The most puzzling aspect of this alarming picture is the incredible growth in the Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) caseload throughout the last 10 months. During this period, there has been an increase of 9,500 cases—from 38,560 to 48,060. Each ADC case costs an average of $185 each month.

Why has this surprising and expensive increase occurred during a period of continuing high employment? I have been asking myself that question repeatedly, and I have been seeking out and putting together the essential

	1967-68	1968-69
Old Age Assistance	$38,954,400	down to $33,214,835
Aid to Disabled	17,726,702	up to 19,209,252
Hospital Care	42,000,000	up to 50,500,000
Medicaid (Nursing Home Care)	82,000,000	up to 86,400,000
Physicians' Services	11,000,000	up to 13,500,000
Aid to Dependent Children (ADC)	98,088,000	up to 105,130,755

As may be seen from the above figure, the Medicaid program is also a major factor in the skyrocketing costs of welfare. Yet this is the program, it may be recalled, that was sold to the public under the pretense that it would be financed solely by Social Security.

I played an active part in the recent investigation of Detroit's Total Action Against Poverty or TAP program, when it was learned that only about 15 percent of the money was going to poor

The Accutron timepiece has no balance wheel, no mainspring, no hairspring. (Therefore no tick.) Instead it has a tiny, electronically-powered tuning fork. (That's what does the humming.)

The tuning fork splits a second into 360 equal parts. The best ticking watch can do is divide a second into 3 or 10 parts.
