

County Apportionment Committee Accepts 21-District Plan

Washtenaw County Prosecutors Attorney William F. Delhey presented a 21-district plan for the county supervisors before the Washtenaw County Apportionment Commission, and the commission subsequently approved it on June 5.

The five-man commission voted 4 to 1 to accept Delhey's plan. George W. Sallade, county clerk, was the sole objector. Sallade had submitted his own 21-district plan to the commission.

Delhey's plan was filed with the county clerk and secretary of state, and will be heard before Monroe Circuit Court Judge

James J. Kelley. Alternate plans, challenging Delhey's plan, may be filed for 30 days.

Maurice Hoffman, Sylvan township supervisor, said Delhey's plan was presented and explained to the County Board on June 11.

"Of course," Hoffman said, "Delhey claims that his plan was the only one that was acceptable to all the members (of the Commission)." Hoffman stated that there was very little consideration from the floor when Delhey explained his redistricting plan. "No one was concerned about it," he said.

The approved plan divides the county into 13 districts with populations ranging between 12,018 and 13,702. District 1, which includes Lyndon, Sylvan, Lima, Sharon, Freedom, Manchester and Bridgewater townships and the Village of Chelsea, has the lowest population of all the districts (12,018) and the largest number of townships included in it (seven).

Previous to the adoption of this plan, Hoffman had speculated that Sylvan and at least three other townships might be combined to form one of the new districts. He said he was surprised at the large number of districts finally combined, but he said it was done to bring the population figures of each new district into close approximation.

Sallade's 21-district plan would have separated the Village of Chelsea from Sylvan township. District 20 of Sallade's plan includes 20 townships: pre-1 and Dexter Village, Lima township, Chelsea Village and Freedom township; District 21 combines Dexter, Lyndon, Sylvan, Sharon, Manchester and Bridgewater townships without the Village of Chelsea.

Sallade has said publicly that he will challenge Delhey's plan. His main objection to Delhey's plan was that it would make it next to impossible for a Democratic candidate to win in many of the districts.

"I can't see how a candidate from the Democratic party would have much of an opportunity to get elected," Hoffman said, expressing the same fears. "It looks to me like the chips are stacked," he continued, adding that there were some "solid areas" in District 1 that would "give control to one group."

Hoffman is also a Democrat. "It is going to make a great change," Hoffman continued. "Many people will be surprised that they no longer will have the opportunities they once had," he said. "I, for one, say it's bad that local government is slipping and I'm sad to see the loss of participation in local government."

Another consideration is finding candidates to run for the position of new county supervisor. July 2 is the deadline date for filing petitions, Hoffman said. He said he would check into the possibility of running again, but that he "just didn't know" if he would seek reelection. "It's senseless to go into a battle if you know there's two strikes against you before you go in," stated Hoffman. He added that he had not heard of anyone who is planning to run in District 1.

"I hope the people will be represented in a fair manner, and it's pretty hard to represent seven townships," he said. "With that much area, it's almost impossible to keep in touch."

One of the problems faced by the present county supervisors is that the law is so new that they are "not well-versed as to how to proceed with filing petitions," Hoffman explained.

Hoffman also talked about the declining role of the township supervisors, calling their future role that of a "bellboy" since the county governments have taken over many functions of the township boards. You'll have to go to the County Board and bang on the door from now on," he said.

Hoffman has been appointed to a liaison group to study the problems connected with transition from the present to the new Board of Supervisors and to help the new supervisors when they are seated.

Pfc. R. Koch Decorated Posthumously

Captain Richard Copeland from the University of Michigan Army ROTC presented the Purple Heart, Bronze Star and Good Conduct medals to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Koch in behalf of their son, Ronald, who was killed in action in Vietnam.

Pfc. Ronald Lee Koch, 20, had been missing in action in Vietnam since Feb. 6 until his death was confirmed on Feb. 14. He died of injuries suffered while on duty with Company A, 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry Regiment, 1st Infantry Division in the vicinity of the Khe Sanh Camp in South Vietnam.

The Bronze Star citation states that Pfc. Koch "distinguished himself by outstandingly meritorious service in connection with military operations against a hostile force."

"During the period July, 1967, to February, 1968, he consistently manifested exemplary professionalism and initiative in obtaining outstanding results," the citation continued. It also stated that Koch's "loyalty, diligence and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Army."

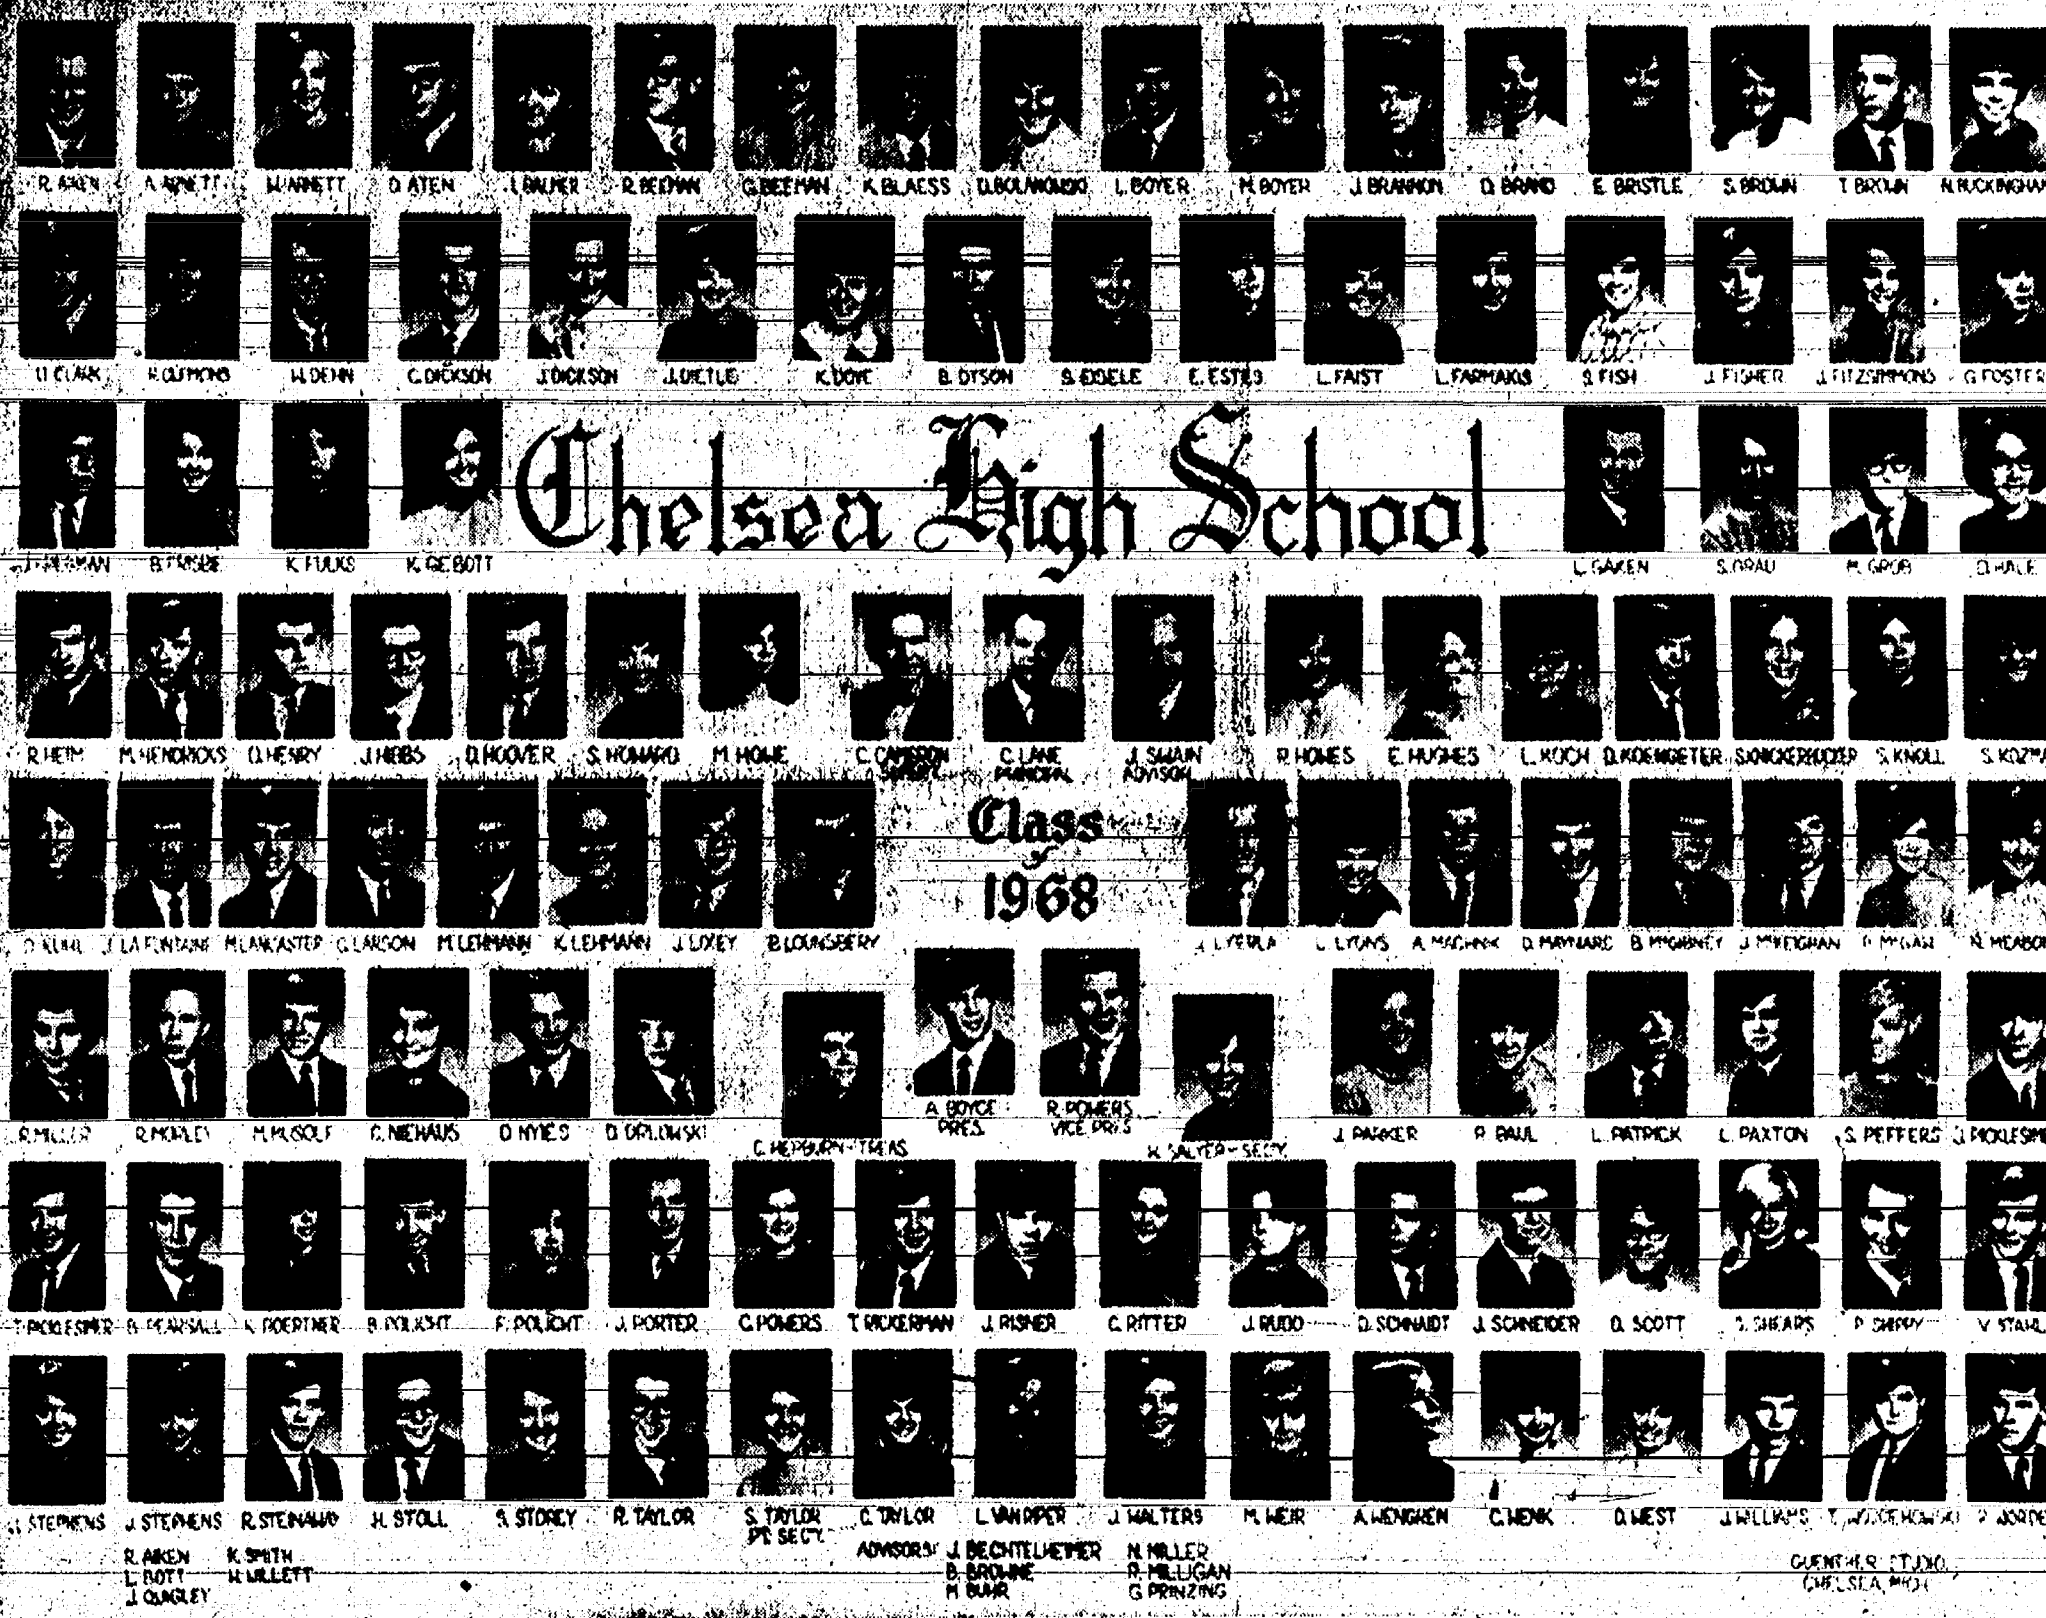

Koch received the Purple Heart for wounds received in action on Feb. 6, 1968," the citation states. The Bronze Star was issued on March 8 in Washington, D. C., and the Purple Heart on March 10.

Purple Heart medals were established by General George Washington at Newburgh, N. Y., on Aug. 7, 1782, and Bronze Star medals by executive order of the President of the United States on Aug. 24, 1962.

Captain Copeland stated that a soldier must do his duty very well in order to receive the Good Conduct medal.

Prior to his death, Koch had been awarded the National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Campaign Medal and the Marksmanship Rifle Badge.

Koch, born Dec. 17, 1947, in Ann Arbor, graduated from Chelsea High School in 1966 and worked for Larowe Feed Co. until entering the Army on March 2, 1967. After receiving his basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and at Ft. Polk, La., he left for duty in Vietnam on July 20, 1967.

Thieves Enter Supermarket Through Roof

Unsuccessful in Attempt To Crack Safe But Take Cash from Registers

Thieves entered Stop & Shop supermarket, 14901 Old US-12, during the early morning hours of Tuesday, June 11 and left behind a gaping hole in the roof, a damaged safe, ransacked office and cash registers, a jimmied cold drink machine and two half-empty cans of root beer.

Gene Shoemaker, manager of the supermarket, discovered the robbery when he arrived at the store at 7:20 a.m. Tuesday. He estimated that close to $300 had been taken, although he had not determined an exact amount.

Money was taken from each of the five cash registers, Shoemaker said, but he was still unsure about what was taken from his office and the safe and the amount of damage to the store.

The thieves apparently climbed up an outside inclinator onto the rear roof of the store and chopped a hole around a pipe protruding from the roof. The pipe is connected to a hot water heater inside the store. (See photo on page eight.)

Drawers from the five cash registers were removed and strewn about the floor. The safe door was opened and drawers were also removed from it.

In attempting to open a smaller, stronger safe inside the large safe, the thieves wedged a crow bar and drift pin beneath the small safe. Shoemaker spent about 30 minutes trying to remove the tools.

Stuart Hutchins of the Jackson State Police said the drift pin is "a mighty handy tool for safes." Hutchins also attempted to find fingerprints in the store, but was unsuccessful.

The small safe was not opened. A cold drink machine in the rear of the store was forced open, but the cash box was not entered. Shoemaker theorized that something must have scared the thieves away before they could remove the cash.

This is the second time burglars have hit the store safe in the past few years.

In addition to Hutchins, Police Chief George Meranuck and Washtenaw County Deputy Fred Patterson were at Stop & Shop investigating the crime.

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

The long battle to outlaw certain lending and credit practices ended recently with the signing into law of the Consumer Credit Protection Act. While this new law is a compromise and contains some questionable portions, overall it represents a major victory for the consumer and in particular for the poor who have been the major victims of finance frauds. Some of the new law is similar to legislation I introduced last year to combat organized crime.

The bill is aimed at those few businesses in the nation who employ financial fraud and deception on the unsuspecting. It targets not the majority of understanding and honest American businesses and especially its regulations will not hamper their legitimate operations.

Passing both houses with overwhelming bipartisan majorities, the measure contains new regulations in six major areas: (1) lending, revolving credit, credit advertising, mortgages, installment sales, and loan sharking. The much-publicized truth-in-lending portion of the bill deals with the disclosure of interest rates. Beginning July 1, 1968, lenders will be required to disclose to borrowers the amount of finance charges both in annual percentage terms and in dollar amounts.

This particular provision is expected to go a long way towards informing consumers of exactly how much it will cost them to borrow money or to buy on time-account.

Requiring the disclosure of actual costs and rates to persons who buy on revolving credit accounts, popular with many department stores, raised a great deal of controversy in Congress. The final version of the bill requires operators of such accounts to disclose three types of interest rates: the monthly rate, the nominal annual rate and the effective annual rate on the store's revolving account business.

Under another provision of the bill any establishment which advertises its credit arrangements must do so in a way that will be meaningful to a consumer. Making it more difficult for fraudulent practices, the bill requires that advertisements for credit be placed in a conspicuous place where the consumer can see them. The bill also requires that the interest rate be disclosed in a conspicuous place.

Your Lobbyist
 You may not know it, but chances are good that your interests in government are represented by at least one lobbyist. This thought comes as a shock to many, especially those who consider a lobbyist to be a little bit evil.

Lobbyists, who prefer to be called legislative agents, perhaps to avoid the sinister aspect of the word, are like any other group. Most of them are honorable, hard working gentlemen, trying hard to get their job done. And most of them suffer to some degree because of the reputation of a few.

A very strong lobby, for example, is maintained by educators. Teachers, school boards, school administrators and college all have lobbyists at the state Capitol to look out for their interests. So do doctors, lawyers, nurses, insurance men. Farmers are well represented; big labor and big business too. Retail merchants are well represented. Funeral directors, food dealers, churches, movers, wine makers, real estate people, bankers; you name the group, and chances are you'll find it has a lobbyist. Even state employees have lobbyists. The only group which doesn't have a lobbyist is the group of 200,000 or so who are the lobbyists themselves.

Main responsibility of a lobbyist is to protect the interests of the group he represents. He does this by counseling with legislators when legislation is proposed which affects his group. He is expected to supply information about the proposal and the effect it will have. In other words, he states the reasons his group supports or opposes these proposals. Sometimes he can suggest changes which eliminate the damage to his group while permitting other changes to become law.

Because government is somewhat ponderous and confused at times, the lobbyist is expected to trace the progress of each proposal affecting his group and keep the group informed.

Legislators depend on lobbyists to reflect attitudes of voters in their own constituencies and to supply information which helps them make wise decisions. We come to the lobbyist whose reputation is blighted by trying little tricks which mislead legislators.

The lobbyist's most important tool is his own integrity. Each one guards this carefully, for once he is labeled as less than dependable, his effectiveness is lost.

Lobbyists, or legislative agents if you prefer, perform an important function in the lawmaking process. If you don't know who your lobbyist is, think about it a while. You probably have several whom you didn't realize existed.

Forced Protection
 Whether or not motorcycleists can be forced by law to "keep their hats on so they won't lose their heads" may be settled by the State Supreme Court.

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley is applying this question following a decision from the Appeals Court that a 1966 law requiring helmets for those riding motorcycles is unconstitutional. In the meantime, at least one county prosecutor (Ingham) has ordered policemen to arrest anyone riding a motorcycle who is not wearing protective headgear.

The legal point may be decided by the high court. The logic of the law is found in safety figures.

According to State Police, there were 8,200 more motorcycles in 1967 than in 1966 and more accidents. But since the law was passed, there have been fewer deaths. In 1966 one death was registered for each 12.8 registered cycles. In 1967, this dropped to one death per 10.4. In 1968, there were 104 killed in cycle accidents; in 1967, when there were more vehicles, the death toll dropped to 86.

Breathalyzer Effective
 Arrests for drunk driving increased 78 percent the first four months of 1968 over 1967, Michigan State Police report. Law enforcement agencies throughout the state, from January through April, asked 3,154 drivers to take the test. Seventy-six percent of those tested exceeded the presumptive level of intoxication, and 12 percent were in the "impaired driving" bracket. Police said 1,214 drivers refused to take the test.

Under Michigan's "Implied Consent" law, refusal is cause for suspension of an operator's license. Secretary of State Ames M. Hare reports that of 1,236 drivers cited for refusing to take the chemical test, 631 persons appealed the license suspension. Licenses were restored, after hearings, in 95 cases and denied in 524; 12 cases were awaiting hearing dates.

There are now 850 breathalyzer operators in the state, and another 100 will be trained before the current school is completed, State Police say. Instruments have been placed in 40 sheriff offices, 38 city police departments, three township police de-

Turner Starts Campaign To Have Alaska Highway Paved

Port Nelson, B.C.
May 31, 1968

Don Turner, a 40-year-old man from Port Nelson, B.C., is starting a campaign to have the Alaska Highway paved. He is currently in Port Nelson, B.C., where he is working on a project to build a bridge over the Peace River. The bridge is a suspension bridge and is being built by Turner and his company, Turner Construction Co. The bridge is being built to replace an old bridge that was destroyed by a fire in 1967. The new bridge is being built to a higher standard and will be able to handle heavier loads. Turner is currently in Port Nelson, B.C., where he is working on the bridge. He is also working on a project to build a road from Port Nelson to the town of Hudson's Hope. The road is being built to a higher standard and will be able to handle heavier loads. Turner is currently in Port Nelson, B.C., where he is working on the bridge. He is also working on a project to build a road from Port Nelson to the town of Hudson's Hope. The road is being built to a higher standard and will be able to handle heavier loads.

you drink from the River of the Mighty Peace, you will return to drink again. I believe that, since I drank from it in 1968 when I came this way. But the water is so muddy, you can't stand to drink much of it.

The muddy water is caused by the construction of a huge hydroelectric power plant some 60-odd miles upstream at the little town of Hudson's Hope. It was called Portage Mountains Dam and when completed it will be the largest dam in the western world with a potential output of 2,300,000 kilowatts of electricity.

A good gravel road leads from Mile Post 54.5 on the Alaska Highway, just north of Port St. Johns, to Hudson's Hope. This road follows the north bank of the Peace River and is very scenic. At many places, you can look down onto the Peace River valley and see fertile fields and ranches of considerable size. Cattle and grain are raised here, and some of the ranchers are quite wealthy.

Portage Mountains Dam was named because it is built at the point where Alexander MacKenzie portaged around the huge rapids in the Peace River Canyon in 1793 as he pushed toward the Pacific. MacKenzie was the first man to cross the North American continent north of Mexico, and he laid claim to this part of North America for Canada in that year.

The backwaters of the big dam will create a lake with an area of 680 square miles, the largest in British Columbia. Water is rising behind the dam at a rate of two inches an hour. By October, the dam will be producing power.

There is an observation point where you can look down more than 500 feet into the canyon and watch the men and equipment at work. Anyone interested in seeing this area will find a beautiful new lake next season.

The dam has been renamed the W. A. C. Bennett Dam, in honor of the premier of British Columbia who dumped the last load of fill into the dam-much to the "displeasure" of the people of this area. They say politics shouldn't have entered into the naming of the dam.

Also at the dam lookout point are some dinosaur tracks uncovered while building the dam. Scientists say the tracks are proof that this part of the continent was a tropical rain forest about 100 million years ago.

Veins of coal are found in this area, and coal was mined until 1955. A lot of coal was shipped from Hudson's Hope to help build the Alaska Highway in 1942.

Yesterday (May 30), I drove from Mile 143 to here and ran into rain, fog and snow for more than 100 miles. It was the worst driving I have found so far on this highway. The rain and snow turned the highway into jelly, and my vehicle was coated with mud one-half inch thick from meeting the big oil rigs being hauled over the highway at that point.

At one time, the exhaust pipe on my vehicle was so plugged with mud it wouldn't run correctly, so I had to stop and dig out the mud with a screw driver.

I believe the mud is worse than the dust. The road was quite smooth for a gravel road, but just sloppy. There are rumors that the Alaska Highway will be paved if the United States helps. After that 100 miles of soup yesterday, I hope they get it done before I return over it in August. But I imagine it will be years before anyone gets around to it.

Don Turner.

Ford Executive To Head MSU Agri-Business

Robert J. Eggert, Ford Motor Co. marketing research executive, has been named director of Michigan State University's agri-business program.

Eggert will administer the new agri-business major which will be offered jointly through the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, and the College of Business. He will also serve as academic advisor to agricultural business students.

The former Ford executive earned his BS degree in agricultural economics and his MS degree in economics, statistics and marketing at the University of Illinois. He did advanced graduate work at the University of Minnesota.

Commenting on Eggert's appointment, Dean Thomas K. Cowden of MSU's College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said, "We feel this is an important step forward in meeting the needs of Michigan's agricultural industries. We have been looking for a man to fill this position for more than a year and have been extremely fortunate in getting a man of Eggert's background and experience."

The 54-year-old business executive has been a research analyst for the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Universities of Illinois and Minnesota. He was assistant professor of agricultural economics at Kansas State College, assistant director of marketing for the American Meat Institute, principal marketing specialist for the War Meat Board and economist and associate director of the American Meat Institute before going to the Ford Motor Co. in 1951.

At Ford, he served as manager of the Market Research Department, program planning manager, and as manager of business and marketing research.

'Home-Grown' Tigers Dominate Team

Detroit—It's a baseball rarity—nine players on the field who were scouted, signed and developed by one major league club.

But it happens for the Tigers very often these days—regularly when they are facing a left-handed pitcher and have either Mickey Lolich or Joe Spurno on the mound for Detroit.

The first time it happened was April 13, when the Tigers defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-2. Every Tiger starter that day was a product of the Detroit scouting-farm system.

On the field were Mickey Stanley, Dick McAuliffe, Ray Oyler and Don West in the infield; Al Kaline, Willie Horton and Jim Northrup in the outfield; Bill Freehan behind the plate and Spurno on the mound.

All but Kaline, who never played a game of minor-league baseball, worked their way up through the Tiger farm system.

The all-Tiger grown team is the culmination of years of work by the Detroit farm and scouting departments that placed particular emphasis on development from within the farm department was headed by Jim Campbell, now Tiger vice-president and general manager.

Fifteen of the current 25 Tigers were scouted and signed by the Detroit organization. Nine of the 15 were signed when Campbell headed the farm system. Of the other 10, five were acquired through trades and five were drafted.

Don Lund succeeded Campbell in 1962 and now heads a department that watches over six minor league clubs and over 140 players under contract.

Ed Katalinas, Tiger chief scout since 1957, heads a 30-man staff that combs the country for talent.

Sylvan Leads Townships in Tax Collections

Arbor, 96.00 percent, $123,910.70; Lima, 95.57 percent, $49,954.00; Freedom, 94.90 percent, $41,553.14; Scio, 94.87 percent, $204,181.77; Sharon, 91.29 percent, $20,716.33; Lyndon, 91.12 percent, $21,944.03; and Dexter, 89.53 percent, $46,646.81.

Sylvan treasurer, Fred Pearsall, said he attributes the high percentage to the fact that people in Chelsea are prompt at paying bills, that times are good, and that he has been able to receive taxes from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day of the week.

Pearsall explained the law states that township tax collectors must keep office hours on each Friday of the week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. during December, January, and February, the tax collection period.

"The township appreciates paying such a high percentage and we're proud of being on the top of the list," Pearsall said. "I don't think we've hit the top before and I think it's because we've been able to work a 40-hour week—a normal business week," he added.

Pearsall stated that "it just plain made it more convenient for the people."

Taxpayers are sent statements in December from the county treasurer's office, Pearsall explained, and they have three months to pay the taxes without paying a penalty. After March 1, he said, a 3 percent penalty is assessed for all delinquent township taxes, 4 percent for delinquent city taxes.

If taxes are not paid within three years, he continued, they are put up for a tax sale by the county. In a tax sale, the county claims real estate and the townships claim personal taxes, Pearsall stated.

Anyone can buy someone else's delinquent taxes, but for two years following the purchase the original owner may buy back his property or tax dollars by paying the delinquent tax amount, interest and costs of sale, to the county, Pearsall said.

"When I was a kid," Pearsall said, "people bought tax sale land for as little as $25 and built their homes on it."

Washtenaw county's 1967 tax money will be used for operation, county building and juvenile center bonds and interest collected by local treasurers.

Red Cross Needs Young People for Summer Work

Young people for summer volunteer service in hospitals are now being recruited by the Washtenaw County Chapter, American Red Cross. Mrs. Richard A. Ware, chairman of Volunteers, announced today. Co-operating hospitals are St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Veterans Administration, Washtenaw County and the Geriatrics Unit of Ypsilanti State Hospital.

To serve effectively, Mrs. Ware said, each Volunteer receives intensive classroom and on-the-job training by means of a 20-hour program developed especially for youth-volunteers. Highly skilled technicians handle this training program and upon successful completion a "capping" ceremony is held. The first meeting will be held Monday, June 17, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at the Red Cross Operations Center, 2725 Packard Rd., Ann Arbor. Any student who will be age 14 by July 1 is eligible. Applications for this service may be obtained at the Red Cross Operations Center from Donald Peak, director of Youth Activities for the Red Cross.

Volunteers successfully handle such responsibilities as assisting a new patient to the correct ward or room, assisting in occupational therapy and recreation, assisting patients in the dining room, carrying trays for disabled patients, distributing mail, handling in-hospital errands and messenger service, as well as various other necessary tasks.

Further information can be obtained by calling the Red Cross Operations Center, 971-5300.

Mrs. Carty Earns Award for 10,000 Hours Volunteer Work

On June 5, Mrs. Iza Carty received a 10,000 hour award for volunteer work in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor.

"This is the highest award that has ever been given at the hospital since it opened," Mrs. Carty said.

In the fall of 1953, Mrs. Carty reports that she participated in the dedication of the hospital, and in February of 1954 she started doing volunteer work for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary for one day a week.

Mrs. Carty took a volunteer nursing aid course given by the Red Cross in May, 1950, and started nursing care work for one night a week. At this time she also began driving for the Red Cross Motor Corps, taking patients to outside activities such as picnics and ball games.

In 1953, Mrs. Carty increased her volunteer nursing time to two evenings a week and her escort work to two days a week. Escort service is sponsored by the VFW Auxiliary.

In addition to the 10,000 hour award, Mrs. Carty received the Hands with a Heart for Service award for helping patients who cannot use their own hands.

MRS. IZA CARTY receives a 10,000 hour award for volunteer work at the Veterans Administration Hospital and a Hands with a Heart for Service award from Dr. Arthur Klippin, head of the Hospital.

Small Electric Appliances Not Always Economical

How many small electric appliances do you have that you seldom use? Your first consideration in buying a "convenience" appliance should be whether or not you really need it.

Families should decide whether they want the appliance because it does a special job or for the satisfaction of owning it, says Mrs. Alice Epple, Extension home economist.

"Many appliances have multiple uses. For example," she says, "it may not be necessary to buy a griddle just for pancakes if you already own a fry pan which could be used for other things. Each family must decide its own preferences, but should consider the possible uses of the available appliances and utensils."

Having mobility, small appliances provide at-the-table preparation and serving, but may require more time and energy in cleaning and storing. Storage of the appliance should be as close to the point of its first use as possible, says Mrs. Epple. The automatic appliance that is put away and forgotten does not pay for its keep. Money spent on these appliances has been wasted and might better be spent for other needs.

The amount of electric current available can affect your satisfaction with an appliance. Informing sources say that many homes are not wired to meet today's electric demands. Because an electric circuit provides a limited amount of current, the use of appliances may likewise be limited unless enough circuits are available.

Once you have made your decision to buy, be sure you deal with a reliable manufacturer and dealer. The manufacturer should offer an Underwriters' Laboratories seal on his equipment, indicating that it passes the standards of safety, and a warranty assuring the appliance to be free of defect. The dealer should offer a service policy and well-trained employees to handle repairs if necessary.

Several Area Students Earn EMU Degrees

"Reports of student unrest on university campuses have been blown up to distort the true picture," Dr. John R. Emens, president of Ball State University, told 1,204 graduates of Eastern Michigan University and their guests at the 118th commencement, June 8.

"For every student who is able to see only the faults in our society, the American colleges graduate thousands who love and respect our traditions, our culture and our great nation," he said to the audience which jammed Bowen Field House and overflowed into Warner Gymnasium to watch the proceedings on closed-circuit TV.

Degrees were awarded to a record-breaking 1,204 students, EMU announced, including 888 bachelors, 341 masters and 35 specialists.

Chelsea area graduates are Susan Kay Grossman, 523 Madison, master of arts; Susan Loraine Hatt, 636 Flanders, bachelor of science; Virginia Watson-Schofield, 20450 Old US-12, master of arts; Nellie E. Ross, 400 Portage St., Grass Lake, master of arts; Janet Marie McClell, 17031 M-100, Gregory, bachelor of science; Donna Louise Brand, 3145 Sylvan Rd., Manchester, bachelor of science; Nondus Marie Buas, 220 Ann Arbor St., Manchester, bachelor of science; Diane Kay Drosselhouse, 419 E. Main St., Manchester, bachelor of science; Joan A. Schiller, 105 Hibbard, Manchester, bachelor of business administration; and Marlene Lucille Uphaus, 14324 Pleasant Lake, Manchester, bachelor of science.

Also graduating on June 8 was Margaret Ritter Veller, of Ann Arbor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ritter, 509 Maywood, with a bachelor of science.

Donna Louise Brand was on the honor list in the Spring of 1967 and received a Michigan Higher Education scholarship.

Honorary degrees were awarded to Dr. Emens, Mrs. George Romney, Mrs. Robert W. Clifton of

Our Best Wishes to the Class of '68

Historians will record the shameful harassment and language of Communist leaders; their swaggering bluster and blistering abuse heaped on those who oppose their beliefs. Perhaps the most shameful words ever stated by a Communist leader were heard from Gus Hall at the funeral of Communist Eugene Dennis, February, 1961.

"I dream of the hour when the last Congressman is strangled to death on the guts of the last preacher—and since Christians seem to love to sing about the blood, why not give them a little of it? Silt the throats of their children and drag them over the mourners' bench and the pulpit, and allow them to drown in their own blood; and then see whether they enjoy singing those hymns."

We despise such revolting language; such a shocking thought. The quote is published here as a reminder—and a warning—that there is no picture of beauty or decency; only spiritual decay behind the Kremlin curtain. Communism is a pestilential reality, not a delusion. . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR 5-4141.

Cong. M. Esch Will Seek Re-Election

Congressman Marvin L. Esch (R-Michigan) has announced that he will seek election to a second term in the Congress from the 2nd District. Esch, 40, was first elected in November of 1966 and serves on the Education and Labor Committee in the position formerly held by U. S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R-Michigan).

Prior to his election to Congress, Esch served one term in the Michigan House of Representatives where he was named by capital newsman as the outstanding Republican freshman. Before entering public service, Esch was a professor at Wayne State University and the University of Michigan for 14 years and was employed as a consultant to labor and management groups. He holds three degrees from the University of Michigan: an A.B. in political science, and a Masters and Ph.D. in speech and education. Esch is married and his wife, Olga, participates extensively in District activities. The Eschs have three children: Emily, 14, Leo, 12, and Tommy, 10.

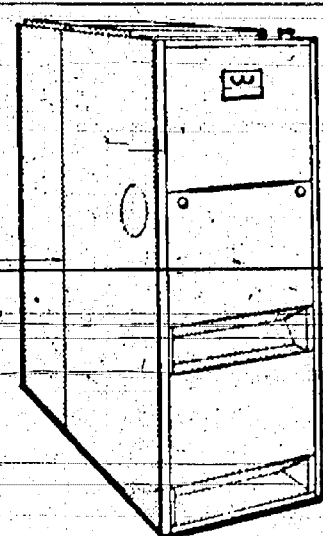

"I have been honored to serve the people of Michigan and hope I have lived up to the trust placed in me. We have worked to join those who stress the problem-solving outlook on national legislation and close attention to individual and community problems at home. Serving the people of our District is a challenge and I hope I may continue," Esch added.

Auto Death Toll Soars In Foreign Countries

Last year's U. S. death rate was 52.6 per 100,000 vehicles, but still well below the annual slaughter in many developed foreign countries, reports Richard Pfister, MSU agricultural engineer. Japan had the highest toll—402.2 killed per 100,000 vehicles. Auto mobile death rates in industrial European countries were double or triple our own. Even comparatively uncrowded countries like New Zealand, Norway, and Ireland have higher auto death rates per 100,000 vehicles than the U.S. The agricultural engineers point out that this is small consolation for our own staggering auto death numbers and advise regular use of seat belts to cut this figure.

Youngster Recovering After Being Run Over By Home Road Grader

Several residents learned recently about the nature of rumors and the speed with which they travel and balloon out of shape. On June 3, Alex "Budgie" Eresten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Eresten, 1226 Kernwood Dr., was run over by a home-made road grader in the yard of a neighbor.

Mrs. Eresten said Budgie was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and received care for a cut on the face, bruises, contusions and a sprained ankle. Budgie was on the critical list for 24 hours. Mrs. Eresten said, but he has returned home now and is recovering.

"I just wanted to set the record straight," Mrs. Eresten said. "Budgie is out of danger now." "He's learning how to walk again already," she added.

She also said Budgie had received cards from his second grade classmates after they learned of his mishap, and from many other friends.

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter. But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts. This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Week-End Summer Campsites Expected To Be at Premium

Use of Michigan camping sites is expected to jump more than 50 percent this summer, according to the Michigan Automobile Club of America.

Means that the week-end especially will have a time that ever before in the history of the state. How many campsites are available and how to find them, states Jerry E. Fisher, the state's touring manager.

Along alone, Michigan—the largest manufacturer of vehicles in the nation—has 28,000 units. If all the Michigan manufactured vehicles were to head for Michigan, there would be more than 200 percent site shortage.

Factors point out that there will be more campsites than ever before, but will be bigger and more crowded equipment in use.

Recreational Vehicle Institute states that the 1967 national production of travel trailers was up 10.6 percent, camping trailers 13.3 percent, truck campers 15.5 percent and motor-homes 16.5 percent.

Coming in advance where vacancies will exist and facilities are available will be of great importance this summer.

At the campers, Auto-Club compiled a listing of 67 state parks with almost 13,000 sites available to the public. The above information not only lists the location of parks, but also lists the number of sites available for the first time.

Along alone, Michigan—the largest manufacturer of vehicles in the nation—has 28,000 units. If all the Michigan manufactured vehicles were to head for Michigan, there would be more than 200 percent site shortage.

Northern Lower Michigan—Bay City, Benzie, Cheboygan, Day, Gladwin, Houghton, Ogemaw and White Cloud.

Upper Peninsula—Fayette, Lake Gogebic, Mackinac, Muskegon, Ontonagon, Porcupine Mountains, Twin Lakes and Van Riper.

"There are also many privately owned parks in the state in addition to the county and township campgrounds plus state and national forests which have vacancies all summer," states Fisher.

"However, when visiting some private or township parks, check and be sure what facilities are available and cost before registering or getting settled in a spot," Fisher warns.

One township park near the Whitney Drain off US-28 (just north of Tawas City) charged $2.50 per night with no showers in operation during the April smelt season. Conditions were extremely crowded. Nearby Tawas Point State Park had all facilities (including trailer sanitation disposal and facilities for filling a camping vehicle's water tank) plus showers in operation for $2 nightly, he said.

Auto Club offers two tips for the week-end camper who wants to have the most success site hunting this summer:

Avoid looking for a choice site late Fridays. Take what is available. Between 3:30 and 5 p.m. Fridays, preferred sites usually are filled.

Pick the geographical area in which you wish to camp. Choose two or three campgrounds. When within a half-hour's drive of an intended destination, stop and telephone the preferred park. If it is full, you can start checking alternate destinations.

"The family that takes a week-long camping trip will have the advantage as usual," states Fisher. "Although there is always week-end competition for sites, campers can usually have their pick by Sunday afternoon, except for a few parks such as Holland and Warren Dunes where people wait in line almost any day."

A $3 annual Motor Vehicle Permit is necessary for residents to enter state parks, or a $1 daily permit may be purchased. Non-resident fees for entry permits are $5 annual and $2 daily. In addition, there are daily camping fees: $2 nightly at parks with all modern facilities; $1.75 nightly at parks without all sites offering electricity, plus 25 cents added if electricity is used, and $1.50 per night where no modern facilities are available, plus 25 cents if electricity is available and used.

Chelsea State Bank announced the sale of the building formerly occupied by the Kempf Commercial Savings Bank to O. D. Schneider. The building was occupied by the Kempf bank for many years, having been vacated when the two Chelsea banks merged and became the Chelsea State Bank on March 1, 1934.

LOVED THEIR PETS—Honolulu—When Mrs. James A. Scott's husband was transferred here from Long Island, she had to decide what to do with their 39 pets. They decided to take them along and during the mandatory 120-day quarantine period the animals ran up a board-bill totaling $3,500.

Walnut Trees Are Becoming More Valuable

The wood from black walnut trees has been used for high quality furniture and veneer for many years throughout the world.

Evidently, the finest walnut for finish use is grown in the USA, according to Irvin McFarland, area forester for the Conservation Department working out of the Extension office in Ann Arbor.

In recent years a large export market has been developed for American walnut in Germany, Japan, and Ireland. Much of this American exported walnut goes into high valued face veneer.

Some of the veneer is cut to an extremely thin dimension. Therefore, a thousand board feet of walnut veneer logs may be sliced to 1732 of an inch thickness, and the veneer recovery will be 32,000 square feet of veneer or enough to put a thin veneer on more than 400 television cabinets.

This is spreading the walnut pretty thin, but it has resulted in intense competition between domestic and foreign walnut manufacturing concerns.

As the competition has increased, the price paid for standing walnut trees has been pushed up. Prices paid for live, sound, straight, walnut logs free of all defects and excessive sapwood has run as high as $3 per board foot. These logs are generally cut from large trees and are classified as prime.

A prime log, dimension wise, must be 12 inches or more inside the bark at the small end and eight feet long.

Six- and seven-foot logs may be prime if 16 inches and longer on the small end.

Knots, catfaces, blind knots, splits, dots, double hearts, crooks, shakes, iron or wire, ring hearts, frost cracks, splinter pulls, ingrown bark and bird picks keep a large number of walnut logs from being classified as prime.

Woods grown walnut used to supply all the high grade veneer walnut, but in recent years open grown walnut trees could cut out prime logs if the trees were large enough and free of defects.

There are many walnuts growing in the vicinity of Ann Arbor. A high percent of them are open grown trees along roadsides or along the edges of fields. Most of these trees will never cut out prime logs because they will be limby.

Owners of these open grown trees can greatly increase the future value of these trees if they will prune off the side limbs that a clean length of up to 17 feet is obtained.

Of course, McFarland says, many trees won't have a straight 17-foot length that can be pruned, but, since prime will admit logs as short as six feet, it will pay to try and clear seven feet of straight stem. This will allow for stump and trim. The smaller the limbs the faster the wounds will heal.

Try to prune before the limbs are one inch in diameter. The pruning wounds left, if limbs four inches and over are cut off, will probably never heal satisfactorily.

Use a saw for the pruning. Leave just a short bit, 1/4 to 1/2 inch, of stub. Paint wounds with tar.

Keep vines from growing up the trees.

Don't staple fence to walnut trees.

RAISE HUMIDITY If you have a hot-air heating system, a simple way to raise the humidity level is to place containers of water in the rooms.

Low, wide containers with foliage plants arranged on needle holders in water will help to provide moisture. Use pebbles to hide roots of the plants.

Polishing the Image

There is no mistake, our country's image has been dulled in the eyes of much of the world. Even President Johnson urges Americans to stay-at-home, thousands of Europeans, Africans and Asians might normally travel to the United States either as tourists or business reasons, are themselves finding it more convenient to stay at home in their own countries.

Reports of riots, internal disorders, over handling of the Viet Cong, the assassination of Dr. King and the "Poor People's Campaign" all are liberally reported in the world press and to the unease others feel about us.

What, if anything, this means in terms of the big national meeting—scheduled for Michigan in early September, to be seen, Sept. 3-14, the Triennial Conference of Associated Country Women of the World will be held at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

There, about 5,000 delegates and their wives will represent the 150 national societies, associations, federations—which make up the world-wide ACWW membership—providing an unusual opportunity for our country to put its best foot forward during a time when we most need the press-boost.

President Johnson is expected to give a welcoming address during "U.S.A. Day," Sept. 5. A police chorus of Michigan 4-H members will be a highlight.

Typically American chicken dinners will be provided by American Farm-Bureau Federation, one of four ACWW member societies in the United States. Others include the National Extension Homemakers' Guild, the National Master Homemaker's Guild and Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

There are urging large attendance at the conference which is meeting in Michigan for the first time which may never again be so. Previous conferences have been held in such places as Vienna, Stockholm, London, Amsterdam, Copenhagen.

After all, U. S. officials are convinced that we make an all-out effort to host our international friends in the tradition which, the past, had gained us a reputation as the nation with its doors open to the people of the world.

Flook Will Seek Re-Election
As County Drain Commissioner

County Drain Commissioner John H. Flook, 46, has announced that he will seek re-election for his seventh term in that office.

Flook has served as drain commissioner since 1955, before that time he was employed in the office for three years, after his retirement from the U. S. Navy.

In making his announcement, Flook said, "A great deal has been accomplished during this past term. I have completed much-needed drainage work valued at over $2 million, including the completion of the long-standing flood problem of Portage and Base lakes. This flood-control project is the first dam of its kind in Michigan, providing the unique features of boat lock and flood gates for lake level control."

Much of the completed work was in the Ypsilanti area, Flook said. Also included was Saline Relief Drain No. 1, now essentially finished.

"The Drainage Board, of which I am chairman, currently has petitions signed by municipalities for an estimated $4 million more in drainage work necessary in the interest of public health as well as conservation and pollution abatement. I have discussed

Ann Arbor's major storm drainage problems with the city administration and the head of the Ann Arbor Drainage Board.

Under the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 14th day of June, A.D. 1968, at 10:00 o'clock A.M., said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale at public auction to the highest bidder at the east entrance of the County of Washtenaw Building in the City of Ann Arbor, Michigan, and the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan is claimed to be due at the date of this notice for principal and interest the sum of NINE THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED FORTY AND 50/100 ($9,340.50).

KINDERGARTEN

Rooms 1, 3, and 6
All the kindergarten children went to the Stop & Shop. We saw great big pieces of meat hanging in the cooler and produce in another cooler. We liked the treat from Patti's father.

We had our recess at the park. We know where things are in the store now.

We have been trying some first grade work.

FIRST GRADE

Room 4
Teacher: Mrs. Andrews
Reporters: Melissa Wright and Sally Miller
We visited a farm. We saw ducklings, piglets, and a funny donkey. We also saw lots of cows.

We have had a good year in First Grade. We're all looking forward to a happy summer!

SECOND GRADE

Room 11
Teacher: Mrs. Nance
Reporters: Kevin Lyle and Lori Werner
We are all excited about going with the other second graders to Frontier City on June 12. It will be a good ending for our good second grade year.

Room 10

Teacher: Mrs. Plank
Reporter: Dawn Klobuchar
In Math we have been doing many interesting things. Following our study of shapes we made geometric designs out of cut paper. We are now learning how to measure weight, temperature, distance, and height.

Our end-of-the-year art project has been to make stuffed paper sack puppets. We have been creating original puppets and puppets using old puppets as the characters. We are looking forward to our end of the year trip to Frontier City.

Room 7

Teacher: Mrs. Rogers
Reporter: Linda Dorr
We are learning about carrying and borrowing in arithmetic. It's lots of fun.

We're really getting excited about our picnic and summer vacation. We are going to Frontier City with the other second graders.

FOURTH GRADE

Room 17
Teacher: Mrs. Chulock
Reporter: Pam Slebert
On our class picnic we will be going to Kensington Park at Milford, then on a nature trail.

In reading we read about Shag the Buffalo. We had to draw a picture of an incident that happened to him. We have a few pictures on the bulletin board now that show these incidents.

Room 20

Teacher: Mrs. Moore
Reporter: Dave Murphy
The Panthers won the contests, and the Hornets gave a party in their honor.

Our class is going to Kensington Park for our picnic on June 12.

Matt Stapish brought in a big pollywog.

Summer birthdays are: June—Barb Roy; July—Eric Prinz and Mark Burnett.

We have completed several of our textbooks, and we feel we have had a successful year in many ways.

FIFTH GRADE

Room 19
Teacher: Mrs. Lange
Reporters: Lori Schiller and Donald Messner
The South School fifth grade boys and girls have worked diligently and enthusiastically this spring to bring about visual improvements on the grounds of the school. Since they are leaving the school this year they are trying to improve things for boys and girls yet to come.

First Howard Schenk, Gary Carpenter, John Wagner and Mr. Wojcieki went to the Beach School to get some peat. When they came back they dumped this in a hole by the big log. This was used to help condition the poor soil.

Next, Howard Schenk, Don Bollinger, Don Pierson, Tim Gunther, Doug Lorenz, and Danny Schaeffer helped out and used to re-do areas that have been killed by many feet cutting corners.

Mr. Wojcieki and Mr. Lange supervised the planting of 15 red barberry shrubs and 200 flowering plants. The helpers for this were: Cindy Harook, Kim Longworth, Lori Lovely, and Pam Blackwell.

Bill Parker and Steve Kinser made holes, so the girls could work faster.

Every fifth grade leaves this school with best wishes and pride for the future students and hope they will enjoy this small beautification. Perhaps additional landscaping may be added. It gives everyone pleasure to watch the growing and flowering of plants.

Room 24
Teacher: Mrs. Senne
Reporters: Laurie Mann and Merry Hoffmeyer

On May 28 the two fifth grades visited the Beach Junior High school. We would like to thank Mr. Conklin for showing us around. It was very nice. We'll be very glad to be sixth graders and go to the new junior high.

Reporters:
Debbie Bertke and Linda Shadaan

Mrs. Lange's and Mrs. Senne's fifth grades went on an all day trip to Greenfield Village on Thursday, June 6. The end-of-the-year picnic was also held the same day. We were very happy to have three mothers from each room go with us and plan the picnic. These mothers acted as assistants to Mrs. Lange and Mrs. Senne: Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Greenleaf, Mrs. Bertke, Mrs. Schiller, Mrs. Hart, and Mrs. Bollinger.

Reporters:
Sharon Schiller and Jodi Daniels
On Wednesday, June 5, Mr. Galbraith and his eighth grade band held a concert for South school. The concert was dedicated to Mrs. Lange for her retirement. The children that were in her room in fifth grade played a solo for her.

Mr. Galbraith gave us a quiz to see if we knew the sounds of the different band instruments while we had our eyes closed.

We thank Mr. Galbraith and his band for giving the concert.

Reporters: Sharon Schiller and Charlotte Steinway
On May 28 we finished our reading tests. Some children did very well and some not so well. But we all tried especially hard and did our best. Mrs. Senne and Mrs. Spencer helped.

BIBLE VERSE TO STUDY
"The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came through Jesus Christ."

1. Who is the author of this statement?
2. Upon what occasion was it spoken?
3. Briefly explain its meaning.
4. Where may this verse be found?

Bible Verse Answers...
1. John the Baptist.
2. As John the Baptist was introducing Jesus to his disciples as the long promised Messiah.
3. The Mosale laws were given to an unregenerate people for obedience. Jesus provides the grace by which believers receive the basic impulses necessary to real obedience to God.
4. John 1:17.

Flattery is one way some people pave the walkway of life, but it often costs more than it is worth.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

CRIME RATE RISES

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has reported that there has been a 60 percent jump in bank robberies which was at a higher rate of increase than the general nationwide increase in violent crimes during the first nine months of 1967.

Michigan leads the nation in the production of red tart cherries, dry edible beans, blueberries, cucumbers for pickles and eastern white winter wheat.

NEW BED DESIGN

A new concept in bed design supports a latex foam mattress on strips of laminated wood instead of a box spring. Strips run cross-wise and independently of one another. They yield to conform to body's shape, for a restful, sleep, according to the E. open inventor.

You can save time and worry you will not try to solve your problems until they arrive.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

EXAMPLE

When do you acknowledge God? Is it only when you are in immediate need of help or assistance?

Do you say a little prayer when it seems a "big break" or a "big deal" appear just out of reach?

Have you ever thought of praying for guidance. Have you ever asked God to help you make the right decisions in every phase of everyday living?

Do you ever consider that God's commandments are simple and there is no more proper example of a good life than that which may be found in the life of Christ upon earth.

Pray for faith and guidance, not just for help — and your life will be well directed.

The Chamber Orchestra and the Symphonic Wind Ensemble are two new groups now performing under the auspices of Michigan State University's Cap and Gown Series, a cultural and entertainment service.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

For the benefit of those in charge of our public schools and of the United States Post Office: The flag of the United States of America is to be flown at half-staff from the time the news of the death of a national dignitary is made known, generally from sunrise to sunset, until the body is laid to rest.

Also, on Memorial Day it is to be hoisted to full-staff and at once lowered to half-staff at sunrise and again raised to full-staff at noon and then lowered at sunset.

The flag at the Post Office was flown at full-staff following the death of Dr. Martin Luther King, all day Memorial Day and Thursday, June 6, following the death of Senator Robert Kennedy.

The flag at our junior high school was not lowered to half-staff following the death of Dr. King until the principal was called. It was not flown at all on Memorial Day until after the parade, at least. It was flying at full-staff on June 6 (today) at 7:40 a.m., at least.

Thanks to those in charge of our Village, its flag is flown correctly. Also, many of the residents of Chelsea know how to fly our flag.

A Patriotic Citizen.

It's good business, even in family deals, to keep the record straight.

Summer Tourist Calendar Lists Many Michigan Water Events

From Danish delicacies to thundering Gold Cuppers, from strawberry festivals to Van Cliburn, there's something for everyone in Michigan this summer.

The Michigan Tourist Council's just-released June-October Calendar of Events is one of the fullest in Tourist Council history.

Since Michigan is the "Great Lake State," many of the activities are water-connected, like the Gold Cup unlimited hydroplane race on the Detroit River June 30. The Gold Cup is the World Series of the powerboat racing and draws the best and fastest of the roostertail-spewing giants.

At a slower pace are the canoe races on the Au Sable, Tawas, Huron, Pine and Pere Marquette Rivers. And most colorful is the annual Port Huron to Mackinac sailing race which starts July 13.

Naturally, with water, there's fishing and the calendar lists the 26th annual National Bluegill Frolic at Marcellus, June 28-29, with fishing, parades, bands and prizes.

Michigan's newest sport fish, the fighting, exciting coho salmon, will be honored—literally—Sept. 26-29 at Honor in Benzie County with the second Nation Coho Salmon Festival.

Michigan is as famous for the automobile as it is for its lakes, and fans of the new and old, slow and fast, will have their days.

The brand new Michigan Speedway, designed by former world driving champion Stirling Moss and set in the rolling Irish Hills near Jackson, debuts with a 250-mile Indianapolis-type car race Oct. 6.

Old car buffs will have their festival, Sept. 7-8, at Greenfield Village in Dearborn.

The old and new combine at Sault Ste. Marie in a summer-long celebration of the 800th anniversary of the first permanent settlement of Michigan's oldest city.

Topping the party are the June 15 dedication of the new Poe Lock, built at a cost of $40 million and able to handle ships with twice the capacity of today's largest lake freighter, and the dedication of the 21-story Shrine of the Missionaries, July 14.

The triple observation tower is the first step in an ambitious complex expected to accelerate tourist interest in the Soo area.

Nationality groups will have their days, too. Among them are the annual Bavarian Festival in Frankenmuth, June 9-15, and Michigan Slovak Day, July 14, in Owosso.

Greenville will be the target of the sweet-tooth set July 26-28, the dates of the Danish Festival with pastries and smorgasbord and a fairy tale parade with Hans Christian Andersen characters among the highlights.

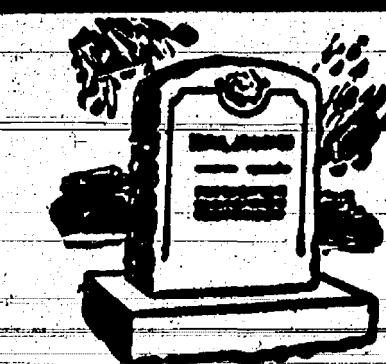

Art lovers and just plain appreciators can choose from shows—and moderately-priced works—at Saugatuck, St. Joseph, Grand Haven, Pentwater, Quincy, Lanier, Marquette, Wyandotte and the Tawassee among others.

The nationally renowned Van Cliburn Concert will be July 6 at Interlochen's National Music Camp.

And there are rose and lilac, strawberry, blueberry and cherry festivals, rodeos and showboats, county fairs and the big state fair, listed in the June-October Calendar of Events.

The calendar is free as are other Michigan vacation planning materials and may be obtained by writing to the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing 48926.

Red Cross Sets Annual Meet For June 20

Frederic S. Laise, vice-president of the American National Red Cross, will be the featured speaker June 20 at the 51st annual dinner meeting of the Washtenaw County chapter of the American Red Cross, a United Fund agency.

Dinner is set for 6:30 p.m. at the Red Cross Operations Center, 2729 Packard Rd., Ann Arbor, and will be preceded by a 8 p.m. open house. During the meeting, elections will be held to select 20 new members to serve on the County board. The public is invited to attend both the dinner and meeting. The cost is $2.75 per person. Reservations may be made by calling 971-5300.

In his speech, "Red Cross Dimensions," Laise will discuss the future of the American Red Cross and the changes that must be made to accommodate the rapidly expanding needs for Red Cross services. As vice-president of the national organization, Laise has been engaged in the consideration of possible structural changes. He has administrative responsibility for the American Red Cross Blood program and for Red Cross Youth.

A native of Bunker Hill, W. Va., he graduated from Deep Springs College in California and, in 1942, was appointed assistant regional director in the eastern area office of Red Cross. Following his discharge from the United States Navy in 1946, he became successively assistant manager in the eastern area office, national director of fund raising, deputy manager of the midwestern area and was appointed manager of that area in 1955. He was promoted to his present position in 1962.

Alexander M. Moore, Washtenaw county chairman, will report highlights of the chapter activities during the past year, including the expanded services to military families resulting from the Vietnam conflict, public safety and the annual blood program.

THE QUEEN MARY

Long Beach, Cal.—The 33-year-old British liner Queen Mary is docked off pier E where it will remain for three months while a cleanup crew removes fire and health hazards and conversion costs are estimated. By next December she will be off pier J and turned into a 5,000-ton marina where the Queen will reign as a Mother Goose.

In addition to these two camps a 635-acre site, known as Wright's Lake, has been acquired near Clare, which is to be used as a wilderness-type camp. Development of this area will include 12 troop sites with necessary sanitary facilities, a ranger's cabin and administration building, health lodge, maintenance shop and storage, special events building and equipment, activities shelter, camp directors quarters, commissary trading post, chapel, staff accommodations, central water system, central electrical system, and recreational facilities.

At the time of the acquisition of the first camp at Newkirk in 1926, scouting in Washtenaw county included 600 boys. In 1954, when Bruin Lake was purchased, the number of boys had doubled to 1,353. Today there are more than 5,601 scouts in the Portage Trails Council with projections of 7,500 by 1975.

Vivian strongly urged those attending the kick-off meeting to throw their efforts behind this Camp Development Fund Drive, expressing his concern over the wave of violence sweeping our nation, and saying that he can think of no more direct way to combat juvenile delinquency than to provide these young boys with camping facilities such as these. Boy Scouting has proven itself to be one of the finest forces for mental, physical, and spiritual growth.

He went on to say that the goal of the Iroquois District, comprising Manchester, Chelsea, Dexter, Whitmore Lake, Saline, Mt. Pleasant, and Pleasant Lake, is $25,000. James Daniels of Chelsea, who is the vice-chairman, Major Gifts Division, described the formation of teams which will make personal contacts throughout the area starting this week and ending with the final report July 3. Daniels pointed out that Memorial Gifts are being encouraged, and that these will be recognized by naming buildings, entrances, campsites, or other facilities after the donors—especially in the new Wright's Lake area.

William Blaess, assistant branch manager of the Ann Arbor Bank-Dexter office, and vice chairman, Friends of Scouting Division, further emphasized the need for everyone associated with scouting to support fully this campaign to provide funds for camp development. He recognized the tremendous step forward that the success of this drive will give to the boys of Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

Highway Litter Expensive Item For Taxpayers

Lansing—The State Highway Commission spent $1,967 a day in 1967 to pick up tons of roadside garbage, much of it discarded by thoughtless litterbugs.

"The nearly $718,000 spent to clean up along 9,200 miles of state highway is about three times the amount spent six years ago," said Henrik E. Stafseth, acting state highway director.

"When we consider the additional cost to local highway departments on county, township and city roads, the total cost of picking up highway debris in Michigan could easily run 10 times the amount we spend."

"This is a tremendous incentive to all of us to do more to help keep our state clean, not only for our own enjoyment, but for the millions of tourists who spend more than a billion dollars in Michigan annually."

The Highway Commission's biggest cleanup job is in the spring when melting snow uncovers tons of bottles, cans and other roadside debris. The State Highway Commission estimates that the cost of collecting six widely scattered bottles and the paper container they came in is three times the value of a full six-pack.

Stafseth urged motorists to aid state and local organizations in making people aware of the need to keep Michigan beautiful by "stowing" trash, not throwing it.

Michigan has 40 symphony orchestras, 12 professional string quartets, 150 high school string quartets and more than 200 civic choruses.

Studies reveal that about 70 per cent of food market purchases are made by impulse, while only about 30 percent are preplanned. Apparently, only about one-fifth of the market shoppers go to the store with a complete list; another one-sixth have a partially completed list; about two-thirds have only a mental list.

STATE TROOPERS Jim Moore, Les Austin, Shear performs the headlight alignment test by Pete LaCroix (in background) and John Shear, attaching special instruments to each of the front spot-checked cars on M-52 for safety last Friday. headlight.

State Troopers Spot-Check Vehicles in Safety Inspection

A team of Michigan State troopers set up shop on M-52 Friday, June 7, and probably caused a few heart-flops as they motioned cars over to the side of the road for a vehicle safety inspection.

The safety inspection, sponsored by the Michigan Department of State Police, was conducted in Chelsea for the first time by Troopers Pete LaCroix, John Shear, Les Austin and Jim Moore.

Safety inspection teams travel around the state, station themselves at various points and spot-check cars "in the interest of preventing accidents," states a checklist used by the troopers.

"We check mostly the older cars," said Trooper LaCroix as he waved down a car.

LaCroix sat behind the wheel and checked the windshield for visibility and detects the windshield wipers, the horn, the brakes and the steering mechanism.

He explained that a steering wheel should have not more than two inches of play on either side of the center position.

In order to pass inspection, horns, brakes and wipers are simply checked manually to see if they are doing their jobs.

Trooper Shear held an instrument up to the headlights after LaCroix switched them on to measure the intensity of the light. The instrument dial registers on a pass-fail basis.

Shear then attached instruments, resembling bull horns or megaphones in shape, to each of the front headlights. A cord, stretching from each of the instruments across the front of the car and over an arrow painted on the instruments, indicates if the headlights are aligned correctly.

If the cord passes through the center of each arrow, the lights are considered correctly aligned.

LaCroix explained that allowances must be made for irregularities in the slope of the land on the test site. He stated that prior to testing any vehicle, the troopers measure the levelness of the ground and, if necessary, compute a correction factor that must be figured in with each headlight alignment test.

If the ground is badly irregular, the car will naturally lean at an odd angle and the headlights would appear incorrectly aligned. LaCroix said, so the instrument is adjusted to account for this factor.

In addition, tires are inspected for bulges, breaks or worn tread. Exhaust is examined for noise and smoke.

Driver licenses, registration and car insurance are also checked, as well as the number of seat belts in a vehicle.

Inspection teams will either tell a driver that certain adjustments or repairs should be made, or in the more serious cases, issue a summons ordering the driver to make the repairs.

LaCroix stated:

"He added that summonses were issued only in the most serious cases—cases in which it appears that the defect has been present for a long time and the owner has shown no intention of correcting it," LaCroix said.

The team on M-52 issued about 18 summonses to cars they tested on Friday. One man, who had trouble with headlight alignment, returned voluntarily to the checkpoint at least three times after having his headlights re-aligned. At last report, he still had "flunked" the test.

After the inspection, a sticker is placed on the windshield of the vehicle if the vehicle has been found to be equipped as required by law and if no defects have been found. However, the troopers caution that the sticker is not a permanent guarantee that a vehicle will remain in good condition.
