

110-Bed Extended Care Unit To Be Built at Medical Center

Ground will be broken next Monday for a $1,200,000, 110-bed extended care facility near the Chelsea Medical Clinic, it was announced today.

The modern, one-story building, set for completion in mid-1969, will bring a totally new concept of health care to Washtenaw county, providing intermediate health care facilities on a 24-hour basis for patients recuperating from surgery or other acute health problems.

Designed to relieve congested hospital space in the county, the extended care unit will offer facilities for physical therapy, inhalation therapy and laboratory and diagnostic X-raying. Its rooms will be fully carpeted and will have draperies, private baths and individual temperature controls.

Daily rates are projected at $17.50 for a semi-private room and $24 for a private room.

The extended care unit, which will be located at 777 S. Main St. adjacent to Pierce Park, will be physically connected to the Chelsea Medical Clinic by an underground walkway. It was designed in this manner to allow the Medical Clinic and the extended care unit to complement each other. If emergencies arise, acute care facilities at the Clinic would be immediately available. However, surgery and deliveries are not performed at the Clinic.

As part of the physical therapy aspect of the new building, a circular therapeutic pool will be housed in the unit. In addition, it will contain a beauty shop and barber shop for the patients' use.

More than 80 people will staff the facility, including registered nurses, nurses aides, practical nurses, a rehabilitation therapist and an activities director. It will be open to all area physicians, according to Dr. Michael Papo of the Medical Clinic.

The new unit is the second phase in the development of the 54-acre Chelsea Medical Center complex. Phase one, a complex of three buildings to house pharmaceutical, dental and medical offices was completed last November, Arthur L. Lindauer of Chelsea designed the "phase one" buildings.

Contracts for "phase two" have been awarded to the Michigan Extended Care Building Corp., and the architect is Louis Ost of Memphis, Tenn.

The facility will be owned by a group of local business and professional people under a license agreement with Medicenters of America, Inc., the parent company and planner. Medicenters of America, Inc., has 16 other extended care units, or "medicenters" in operation, 12 under construction and more than 50 in the planning stages.

Medcenter, Inc., is based in Memphis, Tenn.

On Monday, July 29, Dr. Papo, Jack Glasscock, regional representative of the Medicenters firm, Sister M. Leonette and Sister M. Yvonne, past and present administrators of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Donald Baldwin, village president, will be on hand to watch the first shovels full of dirt lifted from the ground.

Baldwin noted earlier that the Chelsea medical community is "one of the finest in the entire state and the medical center is a welcome addition to our present excellent facilities."

Medicenters of America, Inc., was, oddly enough, conceived by Wallace E. Johnson and Kemmons Wilson of Holiday Inn fame, although the two organizations are separate corporations.

Bikes Must Have Lights To Be Ridden at Night

Approximately 12 to 15 children have been warned recently against riding their bicycles in the village limits at night without proper lights. Sgt. David McCormick reports, McCormick stated there is a village ordinance which requires bicycles to be equipped with lights.

Soapbox Derby Racers Ready for Saturday

Interest in this year's Soapbox Derby has waned over last year's Chelsea. In fact, no one was sure which boys were entering this year's competition.

Among the boys themselves, interest and the ambition to come a winner is high. They have been working quietly on their cars for a second thought. Yet a majority of the boys who planned to enter the Derby have followed through with their car building.

They are set to tackle Derby Hill at Ann Arbor, Saturday, July 27. The Roskowski, Scott and Tom Foster, William Aldrich and Merkel have readied their cars and will assemble in Ann Arbor at 9:30 for the event, a parade which starts at 10:00 and ends at 11:00.

The Derby will begin at 11:00 a.m. and go from there. Derby Hill at noon for weighing exercises and lunch. At 2:30 p.m. an Honor Guard will form at Hill and at 2:45 the oil derby will begin. The Soapbox Derby, sponsored by area Jaycees and the Ann Arbor Jaycees, will start at 3 p.m. and Diehl, last year's Derby champion from Chelsea, crowned the Derby queen on Wednesday in Ann Arbor. Nearly 125 from county are expected to participate in the annual chase down Derby Hill.

Sheriff Instructs His Patrol Cars To Slow Down

Chelsea Village Council received a reply to its July 6 letter asking Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey to investigate complaints that sheriff's cars have used excessive speed within the village limits.

Harvey wrote that he had investigated two specific cases of speeding cars mentioned in the village letter and had instructed his men to abide by his former ruling that patrol cars should not exceed 35 miles an hour when passing through towns to answer a call.

Harvey wrote that on the two dates mentioned on which citizens in Chelsea had complained about sheriff's cars, the cars were responding to a serious accident call and a call for a drowning, said Donald Baldwin, village president. He said in the letter he told his men to follow his previous 35 mile per hour rule, Baldwin said.

"This is all we wanted," Baldwin stated.

Postal Service Economy Move Eliminates Saturday Business

Because of the congressional order to cut back Federal employment in post offices to the June 30, 1966 level (83,238 employees nationally), mail service limitations will start locally, July 27, Postmaster Richard Schaules said.

The local postal head has been advised by Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson to comply with the cutback required by Congress under the recently-enacted tax bill by reducing some postal services and curtailing new hiring.

This is the immediate outlook for Chelsea: Effective July 27, all Saturday collection of mail from street de-

Hot Weather Doesn't Bother Rec. Tracksters

Even the scorching heat of the asphalt track has not discouraged young people from participating in this summer's recreation track program.

Results of the July 19 meet show that 16 young people placed in the 10 events.

In the senior division high jump, Keith Kargel won a first and was followed in second and third places by Mike Nadeau and Dave Schaible. Keith also placed first in the broad jump and 440-yard run. In the broad jump, Nadeau was second and Tim Eder was third; and in the 440, Eder was second and Krista Kargel third.

Nadeau triumphed in the 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash and 40-yard hurdles. Randy Musbach came in second in the 50-yard dash, followed by Schaible. Musbach also captured a third place in

Scout Development Fund Given $6,000 Boost By Dana

Portage Trails Council Boy Scout Camp Development Fund received a significant boost July 22 in its drive to attain $585,000. Dana Corp. donated $6,000 to the ever-growing fund which is now approaching 75 percent of the total.

"This contribution certainly supports the belief of the Corporation in the fundamentals of Scouting," wrote Tom Fairhurst, general manager of Dana's Power Take-Off Division, to Rolly Spaulding, chairman of the campaign's special gifts division.

"The Boy Scouts have a real challenge to meet today in building strong moral fibres in the boys that come under their program," Fairhurst continued.

"The new camp being developed now at Wright Lake should certainly assist you in being able to handle more boys and developing within those boys citizens that this country will so badly need in 10 or 15 years," he wrote.

Funds collected by the Portage Trails Council, encompassing Washtenaw and Livingston counties, will be used to establish basic camping structures on a 635-acre site located 20 miles west of Clare near Ewart. Improvements will also be made on the existing camps at Bruin Lake and Camp Newkirk at Dexter.

Purchase of the Ewart site, needed to handle the increasing number of Scouts and leaders in the two counties, is included in the campaign fund.

Wheat Harvest Gets Underway On Area Farms

First Loads Indicate Yield, Quality Vary Greatly, Moisture Content High

First loads of wheat began to trickle into local outlets this past week. For both Chelsea Milling Co. and Blaess Elevator Division of Larrowe Feed Co., spokesmen, it was too early to tell the quantity and quality of the 1968 harvest.

"It's too early for a firm appraisal," said Mrs. Joyce Harris of Chelsea Milling on Tuesday morning. "We really have a very vague idea because there's nothing too much to base it on."

"It's been spotty," said Ron Satterthwaite of Blaess Elevator, referring to the deliveries of wheat in the first three days of the harvest.

Both Blaess and Chelsea Milling report that moisture is higher and test weight a little lower in the initial loads this year than last year's crop.

"A large percentage must be dried," Satterthwaite said.

Nearly 100 trucks brought wheat into Chelsea Milling by Monday. It had received loads for two days. Mrs. Harris said receipts on the second day seemed to indicate the quality of the wheat was good and getting better. "Maybe it will come back and be a real close second to last year's crop," she said.

Satterthwaite said he was optimistic about the wheat as long as the weather holds. Blaess Elevator received about 12,000 bushels by Monday, Satterthwaite said, and yields were reported as high as 60 bushels an acre as low as 10 bushels.

But rain on Tuesday and Wednesday, however, caused Satterthwaite to sound a little pessimistic. "Once grain is ripe and it gets rained on, the quality goes down—and I think this is what was going to turn into," he said, although he cautioned that he will not be able to tell for sure for several days.

"The price is poor this year," Satterthwaite said. "It's only $1.18 a bushel."

Whatever the results of this year's harvest, however, the biggest days are yet to come for Chelsea Milling and Blaess Elevator.

Ruby, Wes Howes Sell Their Gambles Store Business

After buying Gambles store in March, 1947, with George and Carl Elkins and expanding the business into its present "three store" status, Wes and Ruby Howes have sold their interest and are moving soon to Daytona Beach, Fla.

"We're a little happy and a little sad too," Howes said. "We've been very, very happy in Chelsea."

Citing "Michigan winters" and the "urge to try something different" as the reasons for the move, Howes also cautioned that he was definitely not going to retire. "I might even get back into the retail business," he said.

Mrs. Howes explained that the move to Daytona Beach was not like starting all over again since the Howes have made trips there for the past 25 years. Howes' mother resides in Daytona Beach, and their daughter, Becky, is enrolled in college there.

"We'd like to express our appreciation to all of our customers and our friends for the wonderful support they've given us all the years we've been in Chelsea," Howes stated.

When he was convalescing from an auto accident in Nevada after his discharge from military service in 1947, he learned that the Gambles store in Chelsea was being offered for sale.

Subsequently, he and George and Carl Elkins purchased the store. Carl withdrew from its management last year, but George has remained and will remain after the Howes leave.

Howes sold his interest to Sam Johnson, formerly of Plymouth and now of McKinley St. here.

When Howes and the Elkins brothers purchased the store it consisted of two adjacent store fronts. In 1954, they took out the wall separating the stores, making one larger store, and six years ago they added the third store front.

They purchased the store, Howes said, from Don Martin who now operates a Gambles (Continued on page three)

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

The new vocational-technical education program may well prove to be the most important single piece of legislation enacted by the 90th Congress. As one who, since assuming public office, has constantly emphasized the need for broad new approaches in this field, I felt a tremendous amount of satisfaction when H.R. 18366 passed the House unanimously. This satisfaction had a personal reason because I am a cosponsor of the measure and made contributions to it in my committee.

The bill is designed to move vocational-technical education from the relative obscurity it suffers today into the forefront of our total educational structure. I can conceive of no more important objective for education—and for our country—than this: that every citizen be prepared for a decent job at a decent wage in the economy of today and that no longer will the non-college-bound student be a second-class citizen.

If we are to achieve these goals or even approximate them, we must thoroughly modernize vocational-technical education. Moreover, we must give a central place in our total manpower policy and in our educational structure. Unfortunately, we are far from that goal today.

In a large measure, H.R. 18366 will carry out the recommendations of the National Advisory Council on Vocational-Technical Education which issued a comprehensive report earlier this year. The council did a fine job in exposing current deficiencies and exploring the enormous potential of vocational education. The bill is a major step in carrying out these findings and must be said to have been a Congressional response to a product of the Education and Labor Committee.

The focus of the administration was weak and muted in the executive branch. Little more than single administrative considerations were given.

H.R. 18366 would vastly increase the spending authorizations for Federal support of vocational-technical education in the next few years. In my judgment, even this level of expenditure will not be adequate to the needs. If the fiscal crisis continues there will be those who say that we cannot appropriate these additional funds, something that would be extremely shortsighted. If necessary, we can cut back on less essential expenditures and less important programs in order to meet this obligation. That is where we need a sense of priorities in Federal programs which is so lacking in the executive branch today.

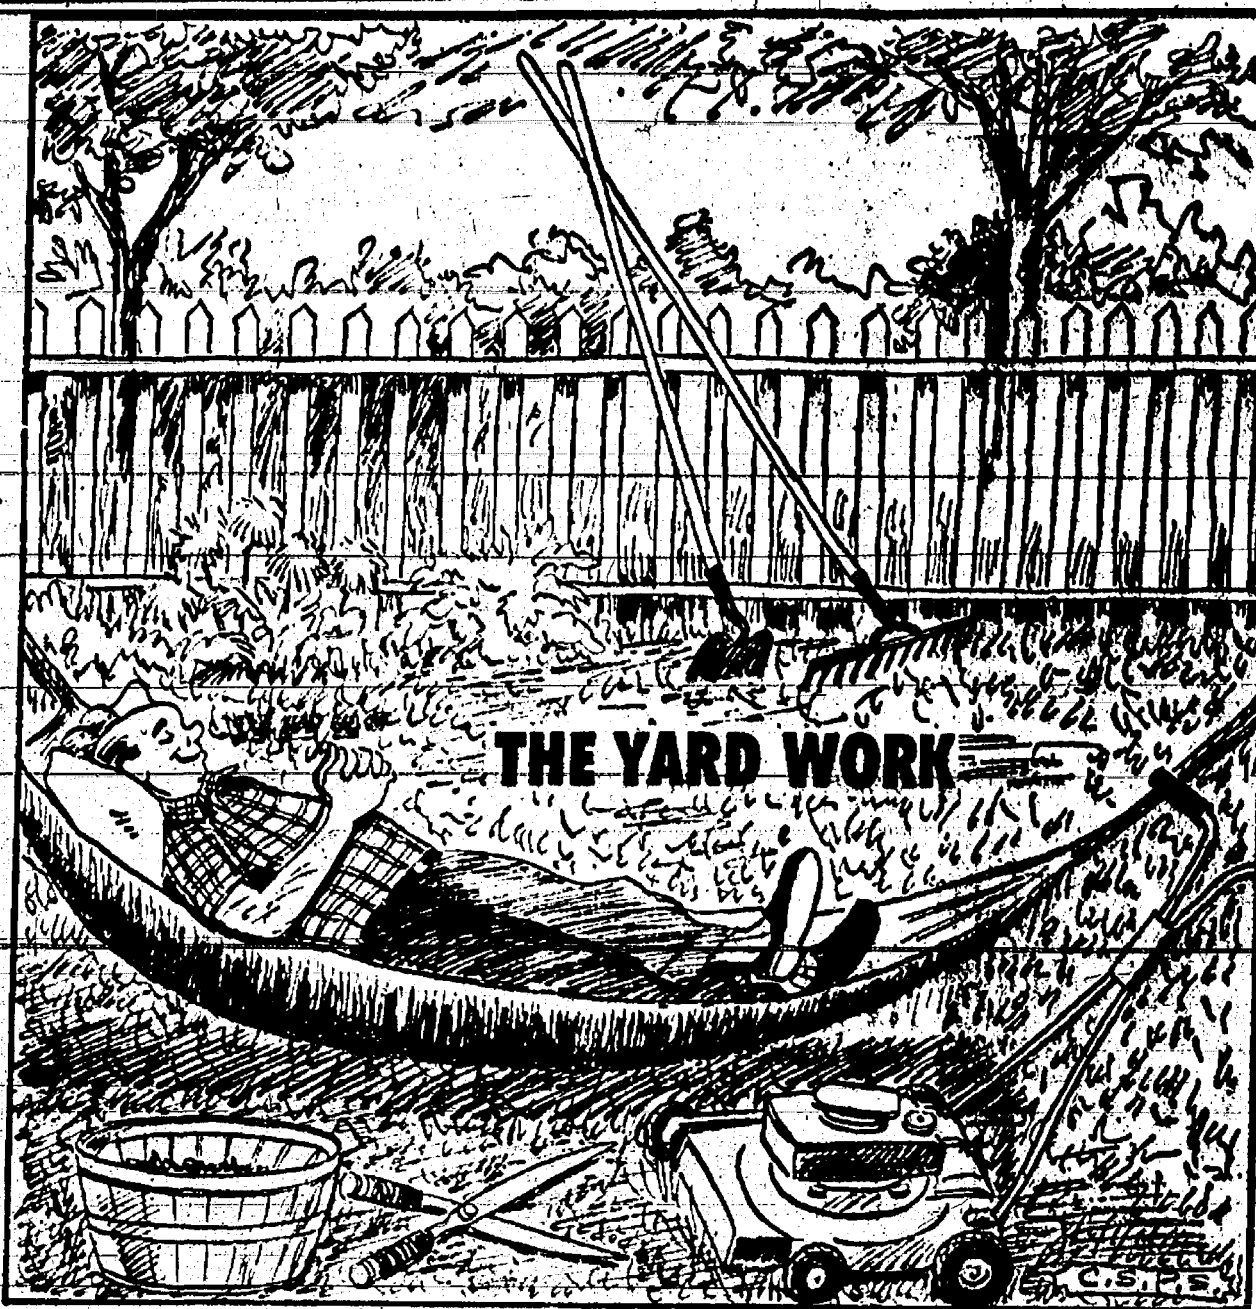

The legislative mechanism is at hand for beginning a national effort to improve vocational-technical education, but the job is just started. Our committee must exercise continuous oversight of the administration to this act. The Congress must take a strong hand to see that the mandate of this legislation is carried out, and that deficiencies in the act itself are corrected promptly.

As important as Federal leadership may be, our new program will succeed or fail at the State level. The State boards of vocational education, the State advisory councils, and the local school administrators and teachers have the overwhelming responsibility for the success of this legislation. Throughout this bill, the responsibility of state and local educational agencies is emphasized and reinforced. This is one of the strengths of the bill and indicative of a new trend toward the utilization of the expertise and recognition of the diversity found at the state and local level.

Congress has adopted a mandate for change in federally supported vocational-technical programs; a change long overdue. It can be accomplished only by a vigorous administrative effort at both the State and Federal levels. If we are to finish the total task of modernizing education we will need new national leadership with new priorities and a new will to change conditions.

Personal Income Up
 Personal income in all states increased considerably over a year ago, but Michigan was third from the top in percentage increase. Alaska and Hawaii both enjoyed a rise of 12.8 percent, while Michigan scored a 12.1 percent gain. The national average was 13.9 percent. Statistics were compiled through April of 1968.

Some of the increase was due to higher Social Security payments and the higher minimum wage, but business also moved along at a steady clip on all fronts. Hard goods industries in Michigan produced at full tilt while auto production went into overtime. Construction also blossomed out. The new income tax surcharge, strikes and an expected drop in employment is expected to soften the gains in economic activity for the next quarter.

Court Reorganization
 District Courts in Michigan will replace present Justice Courts and Circuit Court Commissioners Jan. 1, 1969. The 1963 Constitution granted the legislature five years to design a judicial system. The lawmakers took the full five years to fulfill the mandate.

Senator Robert Richardson (R-Saginaw), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, notes that the District Court will be the court with which most people have contact. Highlights of the new system, according to Sen. Richardson, include:

182 attorney-judges in 39 districts apportioned on population and caseload experience, with annual salary of $18,000 (local supplement to $27,500) and uniform state court rules. Candidates must file non-partisan petitions or $100 filing fee with the Secretary of State by 4 p.m. on July 2.

Independent financing of county and city-metropolitan districts to insure local control of operation and capital outlay.

Local option for 57 cities in 3rd Class (metropolitan) districts to exempt that district from the system if the city or cities comprise 50 percent or more of the district's population, retaining a municipal court within each.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:
 DEAR MISTER EDITOR—Ed Doillette started off the session at the country store Saturday night by predicting the next President would be a Republican and the odds on him getting appointed Commissioner of Agriculture was improving every day.

Clem Webster of the Great Society said they wasn't no chance on a Republican making it over President in 1968 but on account of him believing in free speech, he was willing to let Ed offer some more of his program for Agriculture.

Ed had his clippings ready. Mister Editor, and was quick to take to the stump. First off, he said, people on farms and ranches has dropped by half since 1950 and during that time agriculture production has more than doubled. He reported the price supports and hand-outs had cost the taxpayers $31 billion in the last 35 years. He claimed three-fourths of the farmers say they want the Government to get out of farming, but the more the people say they don't want the hand-outs the more Government gets into it. They'll set a limit on how many acres of cotton a farmer can grow and turn right around and hire three new experts to tell the farmer how to raise more cotton to the acre.

Furthermore, said Ed, he had saw where they have added 1,400 more people to the Agriculture Department payroll since September 1, 1967, and he didn't see no chance of easing off on the taxpayers with that kind of program.

Zeke Grubb said he was disagreed with Ed on price supports, claimed they ain't much profit margin in raising chickens, for instance, when you get less for the chickens than the feed costs to raise 'em.

Seeing as how he was getting a little help from Zeke, Clem butted in to say he had saw in his pamphlet from the Department of Agriculture where a farmer would have to have 170 per cent price increase to get back from this investment what he could get in any other line of work. If it wasn't for price supports, said Clem, we would have a "pore farmers" march on Washington and the place wasn't big enuff to hold 'em.

They ain't no way, Mister Editor, to run this country 'that make all the fellers at the country store happy. I was ready where the U. S. Public Health Service spent $39,500 on a survey to find out what makes people happy. They come up with three things; youth, health, and money, and the fellers at the store was short on all three. I didn't report on this item Saturday night, Mister Editor, on account of Ed would've had a fit over that $39,500 and maybe announced he was passing up Agriculture for a chance to be Commissioner of Public Health.

Yours truly,

to design a judicial system. The district, eliminating a possible total of 80 district judges.

A magistrate system in all counties electing less than two judges by itself to assist the judge in arraignments, bonding and sentencing of most traffic, fish, game, and conservation violations in order to promote efficiency and accommodation, especially in sparsely populated areas. Magistrates would be provided in other counties if recommended by the judges and approved by the Board of Supervisors. Compensation set by Board not below $5,000 annual salary or per diem of $20 per day, $10 per half day.

Criminal jurisdiction of all misdemeanors, including those now handled by Circuit Courts, such as negligent homicide, and exclusive civil jurisdiction up to $3000, twice the amount now allowed in Municipal Courts; relieving some Circuit Court backlog. Appeals to Circuit Court will be on record, eliminating a new trial in Circuit Court as now required.

A Small Claims Division for civil actions up to $300. If both parties wish to use this service, they must waive rules of evidence, jury, attorneys, and appeals and abide by the decision of the Court. This has worked well in several other states.

Judges will be elected this November to begin serving January 1, the exact date of abolition of the present Justice system. Sen. Richardson expressed concern over the new system, noting that a few unfair or dishonest justices helped cast a bad image over all Justice Courts.

"The legislature will undoubtedly watch operations (of the District Court) very closely in 1969 to see where improvements may be made. I believe we have the structure for a good beginning," he concluded.

Thursday, July 25, 1964—The peak of the 1964 wheat harvest here was reached the past week-end. Friday to Sunday, but the customary long lines of trucks waiting to unload were not in evidence as in former years. At Glass Elevator, Four Mile Lake, all committed storage wheat is already stored or in the process of being stored. Wheat is being taken in for buying and selling on the open market in line with customary procedure; however, much less wheat is being offered than in former years. Many farmers who did not sign up under the 1964 Wheat Diversion program are holding their wheat, apparently following a "wait and see" policy in hopes the price will reach a higher level than the present quotation—$1.32 for No. 1 wheat as of yesterday morning.

In second place was the team of Heydlauff, Kurt Kargel, Mike Tobin and Jim Leach. Na-leau, Bob Swanberg, Bill Rademacher and Don Morrison settled for a third place.

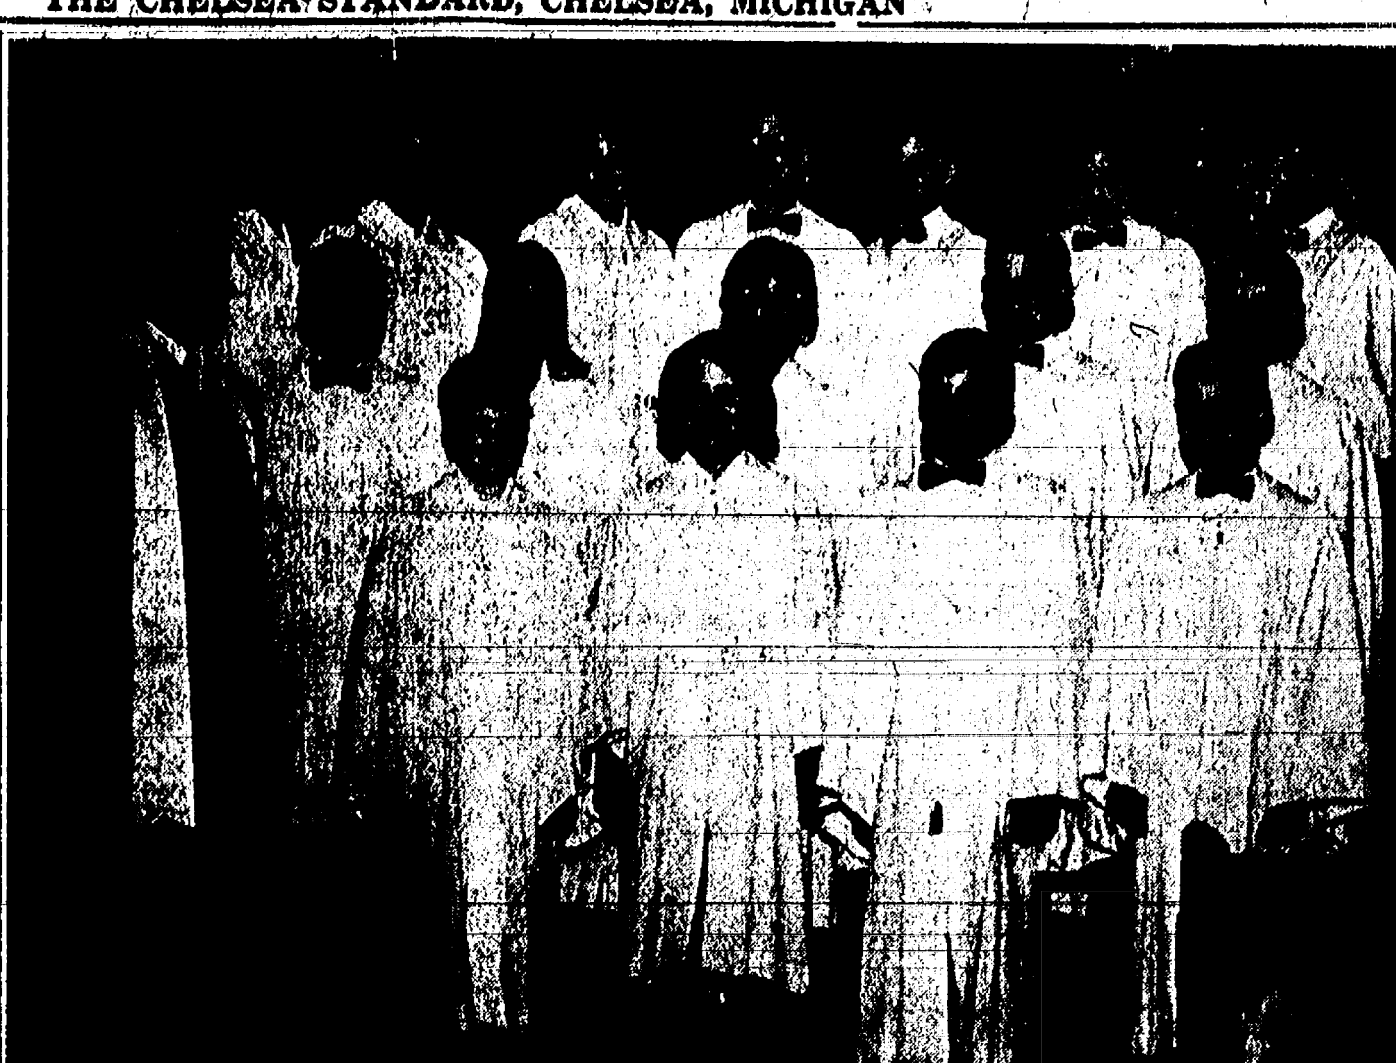

The junior division high jump was won by Matt Heydlauff on top, Kurt Kargel in second place and Kurt Kargel in third. Heydlauff also took the broad jump and 50-yard dash.

Steve Pennington was second in the broad jump, followed by Kurt Kargel. In second place in the 50-yard dash was Rademacher, and Mike Tobin came in third.

RESIDENTS IN MADRID—Nearly 100 workers including several leaders of the illegal Workers' Commissions, were arrested after an antiregime meeting at an industrial plant in mid-town Madrid.

Local Soapbox Derby Entrants Ready for Saturday's Big Race

(Continued from page one) competing this year, for the second time. Terry, 12, is sponsored by Chelsea Lanes. "The boys' cars are completely different," Mrs. Foster said, explaining that Terry's slants downward to a point in front. His car is black with gold trim also.

My husband says it looks like a boat," said Mrs. William S. Aldrich, Sr., about William S. Jr.'s car. William is 12 and is competing for the second year. He has painted the car to resemble a flame, with red, grey fingers licking the sides and white paint on the rear of the car. Gray upholstering lines the inside of the car sponsored by Parish Cleaners. William saved the wheels from last year's car and has used basically the same design.

Tim Merkel, 13, another two-year Derby veteran, owns what is probably the flashiest entry from Chelsea. His entirely new racer is built of fiberglass instead of wood and painted a bright yellow-orange color with blue and purple upholstery. "Tim describes the car as a 'rounded shape with no ridges or corners.' It tapers to a sharp point front and back. He says he has added a rear suspension system and 10 pounds of weight and hopes his previous experience at Derby racing will stand him in good stead this year.

Winners of this year's Derby will be honored at an awards banquet, Sunday, July 28, at the Michigan Union, Ann Arbor, and will compete in the National Soapbox Derby in Akron, O.

Texaco Station Hit By Thieves Early Sunday
Thieves escaped from the scene of Cliff Allen's Texaco service station at the corner of Zeeb and Jackson Rds., sometime before 7:45 Sunday morning, July 21, with cash from several vending machines as well as the cash register. Entry had been gained by breaking an overhead door glass at the northwest corner of the building.
Four Kennedy half-dollars were among the coins taken, according to Deputy John Connell, investigating officer.

MR. AND MRS. JEFF SALYER are owners of the new Salyers Colonial Dining with a grand opening slated for Aug. 1.

New Colonial Restaurant Slated To Open for Business Aug. 1
"It will be strictly a family affair," said Mrs. Jeff Salyer, describing the new restaurant, soon to make an appearance in Chelsea. She was not only referring to the fact that Salyers Colonial Dining, 112 E. Middle St., will be a place to take the family, but also that it will be operated completely by her family.
Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Salyer own the new restaurant; their son, Brian Dyson, is chef; and the Salyers' two daughters and daughter-in-law will serve the patrons.
The Salyers purchased the building on E. Middle from the Blanche Palmer estate and finalized the sale May 27. Since then, the family has been working to re-decorate the interior, knocking out walls and furnishing it in early American style.
Mrs. Salyer sewed curtains, waitress aprons and is now working on the tablecloths for the dining room. The restaurant is fully carpeted.
"We planned the restaurant hours to fill in the gaps when other restaurants in town are not opened," Mrs. Salyer said. An Aug. 1 opening is planned.
Mrs. Salyer explained that her husband, has managed a restaurant in Stockbridge, she has previously managed a restaurant, and her son has been a cook at Schumm's for two years.
"We just decided to get into a business of our own," she said.
The home of the new restaurant was built in 1902. Mrs. Salyer said, and has quite a history. It was a dentist's and doctor's office, a cigar manufacturing concern and, most recently, a beauty shop.
The Salyers plan to offer a fish fry and salad table as a Friday special, and they will have a complete menu with specials each day.
"We're all set and just waiting for our kitchen equipment now," added Mrs. Salyer.

Successful Fruit Farm Visit Included on Management Tour
Allen—A successful fruit farm in an area of Michigan not considered in the "fruit belt" will be featured on the State Farm Management Tour in Hillsdale county, Aug. 1. It is the Frank Green farm, located on US-12, one-half mile east of Allen and four miles west of Jonesville.
The 618-acre farm has 200 acres of fruit, 158 acres are bearing. Most of the orchard—150 acres—is in apples, but 30 acres are in pears and 20 acres are in peaches, plums and cherries.
Features at the farm include one of the early plantings of semi-dwarf apples and a retail store where much of the produce from the farm is sold from July through April.
The Green Fruit Farm was started in 1931 by Frank Green's father, S. A. Green. Frank entered into partnership with his father in 1938 at the age of 19. In 1963, he purchased the entire 170 acres and since has added about 140 acres additional land. Land not in fruit trees is in hay, which is used as a mulch for the orchard.
In 1954, Frank Green planted 27 acres of semi-dwarf apples on four different rootstocks. Trees started bearing seven years later.
Green completed both the commercial fruit and agricultural engineering short courses at Michigan State University. He has served as chairman of the Hillsdale County Soil Conservation District program, and the Michigan Farm Bureau fruit committee. He has also been a member of the Michigan State Apple Commission.
Mrs. Green operates the retail sales and has two full-time employees and two part-time employees. In the orchard, Green employs two full-time men and one man part-time. Some seasonal help is also employed at busy times.
Mrs. Green keeps the sales records and her husband keeps detailed field records. Together they maintain good cost control over the entire operation.

Irish Visitors Amazed at Fast Pace of Life Here
Mrs. Mary Curley and Miss Finvola Quinn of Londonderry, Ireland, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robbins, 13888 Old US-12, for the last three weeks. Mrs. Curley is Mrs. Robbins' sister.
"Everyone they have met so far has been so kind to them," said Mrs. Robbins. She said the ladies have been amazed at the supermarkets in the United States and the fast pace of the life here. They have not been able to get used to the rush Americans always seem to be in, Mrs. Robbins said.
Mrs. Robbins said Mrs. Curley and Miss Quinn have been entertained by many people in and around Chelsea, including Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Koch, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Tucker, Mrs. Judd Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Smyth, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Merkel, Jr., of Owosso, and Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Robbins of Saginaw.
Mrs. Curley and Miss Quinn visited "Big Mac," Drummond Island, the Sec. Locks, Indian River, Catholic Shrine and the Cascades. They also viewed a real-live rodeo for the first time at Napoleon, given by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spence. Joe Vitah, a friend of the Robbins family whose orchestra plays on the Bob-Lou boats, played special Irish music for the ladies on a visit to Bob-Lou Island. In addition, the Irish visitors toured St. Louis school here.

Vandals Sought for Malicious Destruction Of Property Incident
What appeared to be an attempted break and enter at the home of Raymond Houle, 554 Chandler St., turned out to be a case of malicious destruction of property instead. Houle reported to police July 19 that he left his home about 5 p.m. with his family and returned at 9:20 p.m. to find that someone had cut the screen on the side door. He told police the house was not ransacked and no evidence of a successful entry could be found.
Houle's nephew, Lynn Houle of 130 Grant St., stated that he came to the Chandler St. address to visit his uncle but found no one home and returned home. He said he noticed that the screen door had been damaged. No suspects have been found.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Did you identify the two paragraphs we quoted here last week? They were the first two paragraphs in The Declaration of Independence. Here's the sequel we promised you—
A select group of senior honor students from a Midwest high school, with teacher approval and supervision, named themselves "The American Traditions Association" — to conduct a reaction survey. The mythical organization prepared a petition with a short, harmless introduction, and then quoted the two paragraphs excerpt from The Declaration of Independence. The students, neatly dressed, courteously invited 382 people to sign it. 167 signed; many without reading it. . . 121 failed to recognize the words. . . Some people called the students "Commies" and "subversives." Two persons called the police. . . Of the 195 who refused to sign, many gave ridiculous reasons to explain their refusal — such as: "This is for the draft-card burner!" . . . "It's kids like you who belong in Viet Nam!" . . . "Too many double negatives, too wordy!" . . . "I know it's The Declaration of Independence, but I don't believe in it!" . . . "I'm not for Gold water!" . . . What's the big idea? We fought a war over this already. I'd sign it if this was 1492!" . . . "What are your parents' names; why are they letting you do this?" . . . And so on — and on —
Let's face it! Isn't it shocking such a large percentage of people failed to recognize one of the most important documents in American history? . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR 5-4141.

Two Young Men Arrested Sunday On D & D Charge
Two young men were arrested Sunday, July 21, on charges of being drunk and disorderly. Later one was also charged with possession of a forged draft card, a Federal offense. Both are minors arrested with intoxicants in their possession.
Arbin Shepherd, 19, 989 S. Main St., and Carl Wireman, 19, 313 Railroad St., were arrested by Patrolman Ringe at E. Middle and East Sts.
When Ringe stopped to talk to the men, they discarded the bottles of beer they were carrying. Ringe then arrested them, and he and Patrolman Sibert transported them to the County Jail. The patrolman reported that the men made threats and showed disrespect to the officers while enroute. The three bottles of beer were later recovered as evidence. Shepherd was discovered to be in possession of a forged draft card when he was admitted to the County Jail. Police say he admitted to forging the card.
Action is pending in both cases.

Turner Visits National Park Scene of Volcanic Eruption

Anchorage, Alaska
July 15, 1908

Dear Readers:

I recently visited Katmai National Monument, or the Valley of 10,000 Smokes. Katmai National Monument is located on the Alaska Peninsula and is part of our national park system, administered by the U. S. Department of the Interior.

It has an area of 4,200 square miles, set aside by the Department of the Interior in 1918. It includes the area involved in the great volcanic eruption of 1912, that caused the formation of the Valley of 10,000 Smokes. The eruption of Novarupta volcano on June 6, 1912, caused this valley to fill with hot pumice ash burying rivers, lakes and springs.

When the steam from these rivers and lakes reached the surface, it caused thousands of small steam vents to form, spewing vapor into the air. Four years later, when Dr. Robert T. Griggs, leader of several national geographic expeditions, reached this valley, he gave it its name. At that time, the vents were still releasing steam, and the whole area was quite a sight to see, but the 10,000 Smokes are no more.

Over the years, the ash has cooled and no steam is left. Two and one half cubic miles of ash swept down the valley, burying and burning everything in its path. The ash is 700 feet deep in some places. It's very colorful to see on a clear day because the different ash formations have formed different colors.

The volcanic eruption was probably the greatest blast ever heard on the North American continent. It also sent seven cubic miles of ash into the atmosphere. The ash, propelled by the wind, traveled around the earth. It is said the temperature of the earth was lowered two degrees because the ash in the stratosphere blocked the rays of the sun from reaching the earth. Ten feet of ash fell in some areas of Kodiak Island, some 40 miles to the south. No lives were lost during the eruption because six days of violent earthquakes preceded the blast. All residents fled the area in time.

In traveling to this area, the easiest way is by float plane. There are a number of air services that fly to the region. King Salmon, a small village where the Air Force has a base of operation, is the stopping place for charter and scheduled flights. I flew with Northern Consolidated Air Lines. They own the concessions at the Brooks River camp here in the Monument park.

Brooks River camp is delightful. The Brooks River connects Brooks Lake with Naknek Lake. Here is some of the world's best fishing. Rainbow trout, Arctic grayling, lake trout, whitefish and sockeye salmon may be caught from a roost on the shore. Brooks River is about a mile long with a pretty waterfall at its mid-point. At the waterfall I saw hundreds of sockeye salmon jumping the eight feet up the fall. I even caught several on flies in the river below the falls. You're allowed two salmon a day, but who can use that many? They weigh from four to 11 pounds each. I released all I caught, although I saved a few for pictures.

I was at Brooks River camp for four days but couldn't get reservations for longer. Many tourists are trying to get to this camp, but the camp only accommodates about 40 at a time. Your stay is usually a package deal of three days and two nights, so you have your choice of sightseeing or fishing or a little of both.

A four-wheel drive bus takes you for 21 miles over a narrow trail to the Valley of 10,000 Smokes, and a nice looking lady ranger guides you into the valley where you can see where rivers have cut great canyons into the pumice overlay. At the lower end of the valley, you can see many fossils in the bedrock. It is said this area was a warm sea at one time. From the river bed, you can see the pumice ash 40 feet thick where the stream has sliced through, eroding the banks. It resembles Grand Canyon and some of the canyons of our western states.

I tried my best to get pictures of this area. Maybe some day, if my efforts were not in vain, the readers of this article may see on film this area as I saw it. Katmai National Monument park is alive with many forms of wildlife which, of course, are never hunted. One day, while wading in the river and concentrating on fishing, I was nearly run over by a big bull moose. Apparently, he entered the river while my back was turned and with the roar of the waterfall I couldn't hear him. I was partly hidden by some tall grass. He was quite close to me when I first heard him splashing around as he waded upstream. A moose's eyesight isn't very keen, so perhaps he didn't see me until he was about 50 feet away. I don't know who was the most excited—the moose or me. I reached for the camera and recorded, I hope, a lumbering moose splashing by 50 feet from me.

Another form of wildlife here is the Arctic tern. Terns migrate the greatest distance of all birds—from southern South America to the Arctic regions. A large colony was nesting near the camp. They will attack you if you get too close to their nest. One nearly knocked my hat off. The largest carnivorous beast on the North American continent is found here—the Alaskan brown bear. They come to this area in great numbers each year during the salmon runs to feast on the fish. Brooks River camp had five in residence while I was there. They seemed to have little fear of humans. Every night two brown bears (the same ones each time) paraded up and down the beach looking at and sometimes snatching salmon caught by the fishermen. If you just let them have your catch, all was well. But if you tried to shoot them away, sometimes they got quite huffy about it, and I expected some fishermen to get clawed in the process of saving their catch.

One bear, a small brown one, was such a nuisance that park rangers shot him with tranquilizing gun, tagged him in the ear, and transported him 70 miles away. And, as the story goes, the cat came back. It took this bear just three days to make the return trip. I got the story first-hand from the head ranger, and the bear actually came into camp while I was there. The night he returned, he tore up the fishing shack and ate his fill of salmon that were to be processed for camp use. The rangers were placing electric wires around all garbage cans and the fish house. I predict one of the employees will turn the electricity on too high and have cooked bear. It sure makes the help work overtime to clean up after a marauding bear.

I would like to have included a picture of a brown bear for this article, but I had a malfunction in the last roll of Polaroid film I took along on this trip. The film didn't turn out well enough for a print, but I hope the pictures included here will give you an idea of what the place is like.

Chuck Petersen and his wife run the camp and do all in their power to make you comfortable. I have nothing but praise for these people. One morning I heard a noise outside my cabin and upon investigating I found a fair-sized brown bear scratching himself on the porch step of my cabin. I just shook him away, and he went on to bother some other tourist. I met many charming people from all walks of life and made many friends while at the camp. I will recommend this place to anyone who likes solitude and adventure.

The ranger, Daniel Gibson, who is doing studies in ornithology for a book, gave me much help on photographing wildlife. At the fish and wildlife station at Brooks Lake there is a weir where they count the number of salmon that find their way into the weir, two brown bears were having a merry time prowling around in search of salmon. I had the opportunity to photograph them during their antics. Below the weir, one bear caught a salmon, looked up at me and growled. It made me wonder if maybe my beard is too long and perhaps he mistook me for another bear. I must run along now. I will include Anchorage in the next article.

Don Turner.

State Farm Management Tour Aug. 1 Offers Visitors Variety

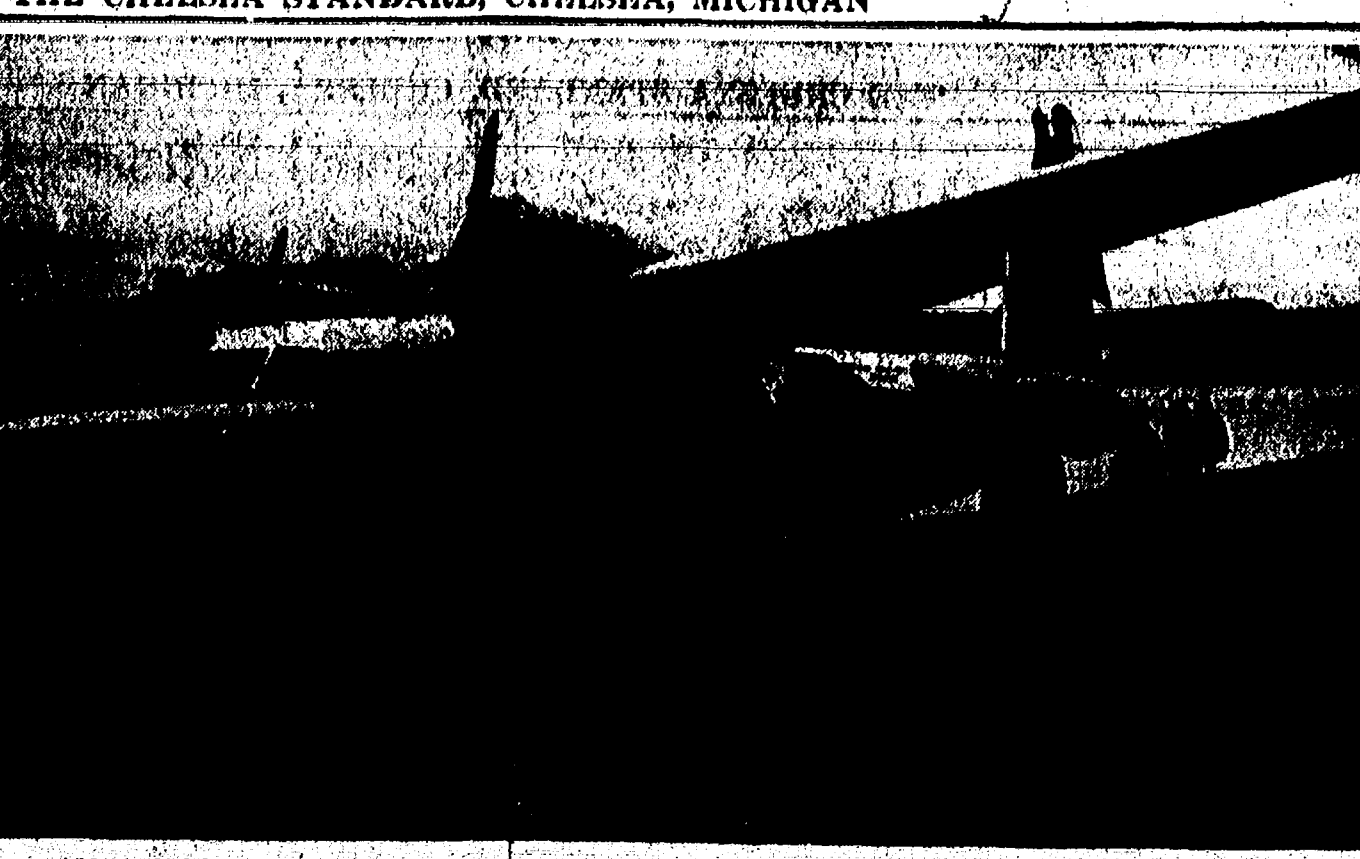

Hillsdale—Visitors will be offered eight choices of types of farms to visit at the State Farm Management Tour in this area on Thursday, Aug. 1. "It will be a real 'smorgasbord' for the visitors. They can look over the list and select any one, two or more farms in which they have interest," commented Albert T. Hall, Hillsdale County agricultural extension agent and general chairman.

The 20th annual tour is unique in that it offers so many farms of different types. "There's a trend toward specialization," says Hall, "and we sought out good examples of well-managed operations that would offer many ideas to our visitors."

After the morning visit to the farms, all participants will go to the Hillsdale County Fairgrounds, in Hillsdale, for a noon lunch, entertainment and brief program. The county 4-H club council will serve the lunch. Dr. Lawrence L. Bogen, chairman of the Michigan State University Department of Agricultural Economics, will speak on "The AGE in Management."

In early afternoon, eight different types of farming discussion meetings will be held at different areas of the fairgrounds. A special homemaker's program will feature three MSU extension home economists discussing home management, foods and clothing.

More than 25 MSU extension specialists and agents will assist

New Tower, Lock Help Soo Celebrate Tricentennial Year

Sault Ste. Marie, oldest city in Michigan and one of the oldest in the United States is 300 years old, but it's showing all the vigor and vision of its voyageur and missionary forebears.

To celebrate its tricentennial this year, Sault Ste. Marie has embarked on an ambitious program that looks to its future and recalls its rich past.

Completed this year, a 21-story, three-columned observation tower, carillon rises from the site where the Jesuit missionary, Fr. Jacques Marquette, erected the first quasi-permanent wooden structures in Michigan in 1668.

The tower, part of the Shrine of the Missionaries complex, overlooks the St. Mary's River rapids from which the city gets its name. The locks from which it gets its fame and the international bridge that joins Michigan and Canada.

The word "Sault"—pronounced "Saw"—translates as rapids or waterfalls. It is here that the waters of the Great Lakes tumble down 21 feet on their way to Lake Huron and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Giant lake freighters "lock through" in an ever-fascinating parade during the eight-month shipping season.

More than 80 million tons of iron ore from Michigan and Upper Great Lakes mines, and grain from Canadian prairies annually pass through the locks on their way to lower lakes and world ports.

There are some 14,000 ship passages yearly with flags from more than 20 nations making the Soo the world's busiest canal, despite its shorter season-enforced by ice on the lakes.

Part of the Soo's future look is in the locks. There are five locks, four of which are on the American side. The new Poe Lock, built at a cost of $40 million, will accommodate ships 1,000 feet long, more than one-third larger than today's biggest lake freighter.

The lock is 1,200 feet long, 110 feet wide and 32 feet deep. By comparison, the Queen Elizabeth is 1,031 feet long.

The new Poe lock replaces one built in 1896. The first lock was built in 1797 by British traders and it was destroyed in the War of 1812. Not until 1855, when the then-new State of Michigan built twin 350 foot locks, could the St. Mary's be traversed without riding the rapids or portaging.

Three viewing stands next to the MacArthur Lock, closest to the Soo mainland, enable visitors to peacefully touch the huge freighters as they lock through. There also are two-hour cruises from the Soo which tour the river taking visitors through the locks.

Four blocks from the locks are the Ste. Marie Towers and Shrine.

The complex traces the lives of the men who explored and settled the Great Lakes, particularly Fr. Marquette, explorer-trappers like

Tigers Log More Than 25,000 Air Miles in Season

Detroit—The Tigers will log another 25,000-plus air miles this season, giving them a total of nearly 300,000 since they took to airplane travel in 1967.

And Charles C. Creighton, traveling secretary, is weaving out permits trying to figure out how the total will jump when the American League expands to 12 teams in 1969.

The Tigers have booked 38 flights for 1968, according to Creighton, with 32 of them on United Airlines. Other trips will be with American Airlines, Air California and Western Airlines.

All of the trips except four will be made by jet plane.

At the other extreme, there are six bus trips on the 1968 travel docket—three each between Detroit and Cleveland and between Baltimore and Washington.

Labor Court?

some of the disrespect for order so apparent in our nation stem from attitudes in dealing with labor, big city riots and student demonstrations?

question was raised in the Mar. 10 at the summer of Michigan Press Assn. by Senator Robert Griffin.

co-author of the Lan- gham labor act while a member of the U. S. House of Representatives, declared a number of current labor practices lead to violence.

violently, union members their feet—by removing them from the premises, they disagree with employer, and in theory the em- ployee can continue to operate his business. Unfortunately, not how things are done are Griffin said.

plied that violence feeds of police protection, and parent bias of prosecutors ages—the very people who posed to uphold the law. suggested that federal law require government super- vision of secret strike ballots and a strike be called, secret should be taken at rea- sonable intervals.

questioned the fairness of group of employees involving workers of a firm in a labor, and said "some changes be made in our labor laws give obvious conflicts" with interest.

don't think we should allow- ing a group of people to take down an indus- try. I believe we are going to compulsory govern- ment in those indus- tries regulated by government— in our railroads and air- ways Griffin said.

indicated "we should do with the National Labor Board, and replace it Labor Court, somewhat like a Court, possibly composed of judges." This, he said, is not a politically or- ganized dominated agency, such now have.

concluding argument was which Michigan farmers agreed for years—that anti- trust principles be applied to organizations. Official pol- icies of the Michigan and Farm Bureau state that, "like other groups," should be subject to anti-trust restraints. is must come!" Griffin said.

REPORT from LANSING

State Representative

Thomas G. Sharpe

Urges Investigation of SDS...

I write this, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has just revealed that he has been dealing with "sabotage and explosives" for use in selective service facilities conducted at the June convention of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS). At that convention, it may be recalled, a tax-supported institution was held at Michigan State University, a tax-supported institution. Hoover added that the work of "even discussing the finer points of firing Molotov cocktails" which could be used in defiance of police action and "exploring the use of sabotage materials and the various types of bombs which could be used to destroy communications and plumbing systems of college buildings."

SDS the core of a "new left" subversive force similar to the Communist Party "as an instrument to destroy the existing social order—a force that is 'instigated and precipitated' by the 'unrest and violence' only seen on college campuses. At risk of sounding repetitious, regular readers of these pages, am forced to point out once again that I sounded a very similar warning more than 17 months ago.

Introduced on Feb. 9, 1967, a resolution calling for a special legislative committee to investigate activities on Michigan campuses.

During the various disruptions that had taken place at numerous colleges, I made the following statement:

These disturbances all fit the pattern of a plan of action, a long-range plan prepared for the SDS convention at Clear Lake, in August of 1966. And clearly stated purpose of this plan of action is to gain control, through disruption and harassment, of vital processes of education, and to turn our universities into radical enclaves."

Not very many men listened to me then. My call for action went unheeded. My resolution ordering investigation failed to receive support of either the executive office or a majority of my colleagues, and it died in committee.

Recently, when the SDS convention at Michigan State resulted in unruly mob violence, two of my fellow legislators, both from Detroit, staged an appearance or "campus," gained considerable publicity from it, then apparently dropped the matter.

Neither of these men, I might mention, ever gave me the slightest support throughout the last 17 months in my steadfast efforts to start an SDS investigation.

I have hopes now that the violence seen at the SDS convention in the MSU campus, coupled with FBI Director Hoover's disclosure of what took place privately at that convention, will finally awaken the legislature, and that my call for an investigation will be needed in the next session.

We may call this SDS group the "new left" but there is nothing really new about them. Plots of violence and bombing go back even before the American Communist Party was founded—back at least to the years when the anarchists were carrying on a campaign of destruction and even assassination. There are many men still living who remember such things as the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times Building and the Wall Street explosion.

To my mind, the "new politics" of the "new left" is about as new as the so-called "new morality" which dates back at least to Sodom and Gomorrah.

Twenty-one people were killed when the L. A. Times building was bombed in 1910. Twenty-nine were killed and 300 injured in the Wall Street blast a decade later.

I hope that we don't have to wait until similar tragedies occur in our day and age before we wake up to the fact that the anarchists of our time differ little from those of a half-century ago.

The Board of Trustees of Michigan State University has protested that it would have been unwise to ban the SDS convention

Senate Congratulates Gelman on Winning President's 'E' Award

Senator Gilbert E. Bursley of Michigan's 18th District, and President Pro-Tem of the Senate, presented a copy of Senate Resolution No. 228 congratulating the Gelman Instrument Co. for winning the President's "E" Award for excellence in exporting its products.

Gelman won the "E" Award for its contribution to the expansion of export trade of the United States from January 1966 to March 1968, showing an increase in export sales from 4 percent to 28 percent of total company sales.

The company is primarily a manufacturer of medical and laboratory equipment for hospitals and research laboratories and of process equipment for use in the electronics and pharmaceutical industries. In addition, Gelman manufactures air pollution control devices, and, through its subsidiary, Pure Air Corp. of America, produces a complete line of Clean Room equipment and systems.

John Willerts Family Home from Germany

The John Willerts family arrived back in the United States Tuesday, July 16, after completing a recent overseas assignment in Germany. The former Dexters spent several days visiting their friends here in the village, before traveling to the Bay City area this week to seek out a home for the coming year. Willerts will be teaching European History at Saginaw Valley College, his classes to start in the fall. The Willerts family reports that Germany is nice to visit, but "it's mighty nice to be back!"

THE TRAP

Japanese fishermen use large clay jars to capture octopus for food. The many-armed mollusks, loving dark crannies, crawl inside and, not suspecting danger, allow themselves to be hauled gently to the surface.

for fear of "making martyrs" out of the memory.

I cannot accept this reasoning, and I urge that we recognize that these bearded plotters mean business.

I would rather make martyrs out of them than their eventual victims.

THE LANSING REPORT

FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

On Aug. 6 one of the state ballot issues on which you may vote is proposition 3, a constitutional amendment authorizing the governor to fill judicial vacancies by appointment.

This proposed constitutional amendment would authorize the governor to fill judicial vacancies in any court of record or in the district court by appointment. A vacancy is defined to exist because of death, removal, or resignation of the judge by vacating the office, which includes moving out of the district from which he was elected. The governor would not be able to appoint persons to newly created judgeships; these posts would be filled by election. The proposed amendment would allow a person appointed to the judgeship to be eligible to run for election to the vacant post. In addition, the amendment specifically provides that an appointed judge shall be designated as an incumbent on the ballot. At present, only elected judges have such designation. The proposal also empowers the supreme court to "authorize persons who have been elected and served as judges to perform judicial duties for limited periods or specific assignments."

Until 1964, the long-standing practice was to fill judicial vacancies by gubernatorial appointment. The constitution of 1963 requires that all judges must be elected to office, thereby removing all appointive powers. It did, however, permit the supreme court to assign retired judges to perform judicial duties for the limited period of time from the occurrence of the vacancy until the successor was elected and qualified. Interest in going back to the former system and restoring to the governor the power to fill judicial vacancies has arisen partly from a concern that there may not be enough retired judges available for assignment to vacancies, particularly in view of the fact that many new judgeships have been created. However, records at the Office of Court Administration indicate that there is no problem of vacancies at the present time. Only one vacancy is currently unassigned.

Thus the main question which this proposed amendment raises is whether it is better to fill judicial vacancies by election or appointment. The question was vigorously debated by Con-Con delegates and the point of view rests largely on one's philosophy.

The above material which I am offering you was prepared by the Citizens Research Council of Michigan.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

STRAIGHT ROAD

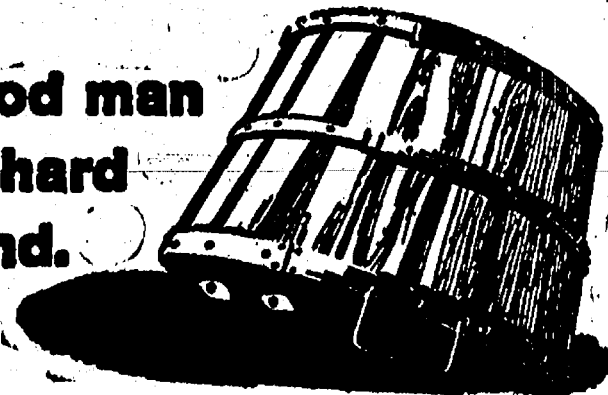

Being a Christian is sometimes the most difficult job of all. In a world where temptations abound, it is sometimes hard and difficult to stay away from sin.

Those who persevere know that the straight road is always the best road. Sometimes, perhaps, it should be spelled straight, which means hard, difficult, because it can be a lonely road, a road away from the crowd.

Yet the true Christian takes heart. He ignores the fact that the straight road may be difficult and hard, even narrow. He is well aware that it leads ever upward and that it ends only at the City of Peace.

The straight road is seldom without pitfalls. Yet, because vision is clear, they are more easily discerned and more readily prepared for. On a bright day one can see, almost, forever.

A good man is hard to find.

Duke Ellington Orchestra To Be Featured on TV Program

East Lansing — "NET Festival" features Duke Ellington and his Orchestra and vocalist Ella Fitzgerald on "Ellington on the Cote d'Azur," Sunday, July 28, at 3 p.m. and 12 midnight on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

The program includes performance sequences from the 1966 Antibes Jazz Festival in the South of France and a performance of the Duke Ellington Trio in the sculpture garden of the Fondation Maeght, a leading modern art museum. There, among works of Giacometti and Miro, the trio performs variations on a blues theme.

The final portion of the program focuses on Ella Fitzgerald, who sings the Duke Ellington compositions "Satin Doll" and "I Want Something to Live For." The program ends with the Ellington Orchestra playing "Things Aren't What They Used to Be."

Other WMSB highlights include: FASHION "NET Journal" takes a wry look at the Paris fashion shows, replete with the latest in feathers and furs, space-age suits and elegant gowns, on "Plumes for My Rich Aunt," Sunday, July 28, at 4:30 p.m. and Wednesday, July 31, at 12 noon.

BBC reporter Alan Whicker reports on the "feline world" of high fashion during the late summer, as the new fall-winter collections are being introduced to the press, the Paris elite and the members of the fashion industry.

At such fashion houses as Christian Dior and Nini Ricci, leading fashion designers, members of the press, manufacturers bent on adapting the new lines to the highest in haute couture and rich women "who've seen it all" and want to be surprised are interviewed.

JAZZ B.B. King, one of the foremost contributors to blues, tells how he became a jazz guitarist and singer and performs examples of his blues style on "NET Jazz," Tuesday, July 30, at 12 noon and Friday, Aug. 2, at 7 p.m.

Well-known jazz critic Ralph J. Gleason interviews King, who looks at blues as an essential part of jazz and contemporary music. Accompanied by his small group, featuring Sonny Freeman, Mose Thomas, Lee Gatling and James Toney, King plays and sings his own compositions—"Whole Lotta Lovin'," "Move to the Jungle," "Darling You Know I Love You," "That's Wrong Little Mama," "Improvisations" and one he composed with Carl Adams, "All Over Again."

Ypsilanti Attorney Robert Fink Seeks District Court Judgeship Nomination

Robert V. Fink, an Ypsilanti lawyer and circuit court commissioner for Washtenaw county, announced his candidacy for the office of district judge for the 14th district (Washtenaw county, except the city of Ann Arbor).

Five candidates now seek the position, including Patrick J. Conlin, an Ann Arbor lawyer; Ypsilanti Municipal Judge Edward D. Deske; Rodney G. Hutchinson, an Ypsilanti attorney and former mayor of that city; and Thomas F. Shea of Dexter, an assistant prosecuting attorney.

There are three district court judgeships to be filled in the Nov. 5 general election. No Aug. 6 primary will be held since there are fewer than two candidates for each of the three posts.

Fink became a circuit court commissioner in April, 1948, when he was appointed to the position by former governor, Kim Sigler. Fink has held the office since that time, having been selected to six successive terms.

The office of circuit court commissioner and the position of justice of the peace are both replaced by the new district court judgeships.

In announcing his candidacy, Fink said, "My 20 years of judicial experience as circuit court commissioner and over 22 years as a practicing lawyer qualify me for this post."

"As circuit court commissioner I have always conducted my court in a manner to best serve the public," he said. "Now that my office is to be replaced by that of district judge, I wish to continue the same policy, that of service on a fair, judicial and impartial basis, in accordance with the law."

Fink stated that his policy as district judge will be to minimize the inconvenience of having to lose time from work to attend minor court matters.

"I will also seek at all times to avoid delays and unnecessary adjournments," he said. "I will make every effort to prevent any inconveniences to litigants and participants which might result in a denial of justice."

The candidate is a former Ypsilanti city councilman and is now associated with his son, Karl, in the practice of law at 106 S. Washington St. He lives at 2050 Washtenaw Ave., Ypsilanti.

His professional associations include memberships in the Ypsilanti Bar Association, Washtenaw

Lawns May Suffer From Recent Flooding

Home owners may find their grass suffering from the recent southern Michigan floods.

"Most will survive," says William Rahling, Michigan State University turf specialist, "but some will need a little help."

"Eroded patches in lawns must be filled with new soil, and excess soil deposited in other areas must be removed," the turf specialist warns.

Before mowing your lawn, don't forget to pick up the wood, metal, rocks, or other debris which the floods may have left.

"If a part of your lawn has been under water for a period of time, check it for disease. An appropriate fungicide may cure the disease, or else the section may have to be reseeded," the MSU scientist states.

Algae may also be a problem where the grass is thin. Its green, web-like filaments readily invade wet soil, restricting air and water movement.

Breaking up the surface crust and applying hydrated lime (2 to 5 pounds per 1,000 sq. ft.) will solve the problem, according to Rahling.

LIFELINES:

Whose Fault Is It?

How strange that men who refuse to accept the gift of salvation, freely offered, should excuse themselves by blaming God and accusing Him of being unjust; yet that is just what many do. While refusing His remedy they blame the "doctor" for their sickness.

A minister and an atheistic barber were once walking through the city slums. Said the barber to the preacher, "This is why I cannot believe in a God of love. If God was as kind as you say, He would not permit all this poverty, disease, and squalor. He would not allow these poor bums to be addicted to dope and other character-destroying habits. No, I cannot believe in a God who permits these things." The minister was silent until they met a man who was especially unkempt and filthy. His hair was hanging down his neck, and he had a half-inch of stubble on his face. Said the minister, "You can't be a very good barber or you wouldn't permit a man like that to continue living in this neighborhood without a haircut or a shave." Indignantly the barber answered, "Why blame me for that man's condition? I can't help it that he is like that. He has never given me a chance to help him. If he would only come to my shop, I could fix him up and make him look like a gentleman!" Giving the barber a penetrating look, the minister said, "Then don't you blame God for allowing these people to continue in their evil ways, when He is constantly inviting them to come and be saved. The reason these people are slaves to sin and evil habits is because they refuse the One who died to save and deliver them." The barber saw the point. Do you?

For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. Romans 10:13.

Marine Patrol Unit Checks On Boat Safety

The Marine Warning List for the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department carries a total of 285 persons to whom warning notices were given between the beginning of the boating season and mid-July.

Some of the offenses for which people in the county have been warned are: certificate of registration not on board, boat not properly lettered and numbered, not sufficient Coast Guard approved life-saving equipment on board, no Coast Guard approved fire extinguisher on board, boat not properly lighted, numbers not visible or legible, and muffler inoperative.

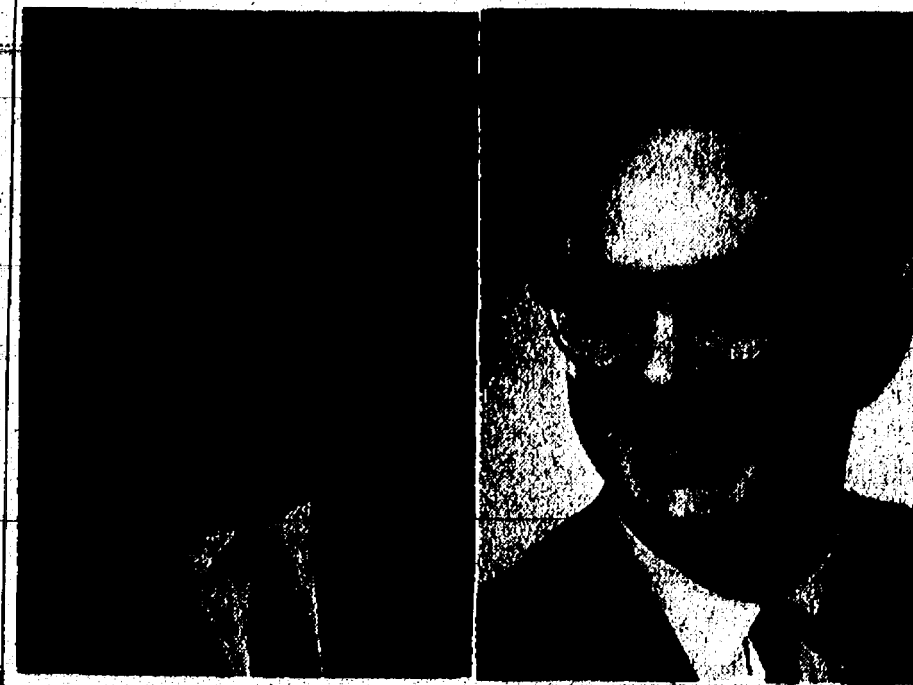

In most cases, owners were warned for two or more reasons, rather than just a single cause.

In addition to the 285 people warned for the above stated causes, other warnings listed sailboats, canoes or rowboats which were unregistered and/or lacked proper safety devices.

Four boats from the sheriff's department patrol Washtenaw waters daily, including week-ends, at which time a fifth boat is also in use, during the summer season.

There are 10 deputies assigned to the Marine Division of the sheriff's department. Their schedule varies as the need arises, and complaints from residents or visitors to the many lakes in the county are investigated as promptly as possible.

Safety of the boat occupants, as well as that of the people in the area in which the boat will be operated, is considered by deputies of the marine division.

Nixon-for-President District Committee Chairmen Named

Lansing—A prominent South Haven fruit-grower and a Republican state senator have been named chairmen of the Nixon-for-President Committee for the Fourth and Second Congressional districts of Michigan, Sen. Emil Lockwood (R-St. Louis) said today.

"The acceptance of these important posts by Ivan Stein of South Haven and Sen. Gilbert E. Bursley of Ann Arbor assures the Nixon campaign of strong leadership in these areas of the state," said Sen. Lockwood, who is state chairman of the Nixon drive.

"Both men are long-time Republicans with fine records of dedicated public service. In addition, they are enthusiastic backers of Nixon."

Stein has been chairman of the Van Buren County Republican Committee for six years and has been a delegate to state and national Republican conventions.

He is chairman of the State Apple Commission, a member of the executive board of the National Apple Institute, chairman of the Van Buren County zoning board, and has been a member of the Van Buren County road commission for 12 years.

Sen. Bursley, who has served in the legislature since 1960, was on the staff of the University of Michigan between 1957 and 1960.

He has had a long and distinguished career in the U. S. foreign service, having served in Turkey, Greece, and several countries in Africa. During World War II,

CHELSEA VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Regular Session July 2, 1968

This meeting was called to order by Pres. Baldwin at 8:00 p.m. Trustees present: Gorton, Heydlauff, Miller, Pennington and Weber. Trustee absent: Fulk.

The Minutes of the Regular Session of June 18, 1968 were read and approved.

A request was entered by Mr. Bruce Galbraith of 138 Owen Court for a variance to construct an addition to his home. The variance request was referred to the Chelsea Planning Commission for a recommendation.

A discussion was held with Mr. Howard Holmes, representing the Chelsea Milling Co. regarding the possible construction of a storm sewer to service the new storage facility now under construction on North Street. Trustee Weber and Mr. Peter Kuvay were instructed to meet with Mr. Holmes in an attempt to work out a solution to the problem.

A discussion was held with Mr. Duane Crouch regarding the Planders Street station. Infiltration of storm water has been a problem in this area for several years. It is now causing concern to the area residents because of a continuous threat of flooding basements. Trustee Weber and Supt. of Public Works Parker Brown were instructed to investigate.

Mr. Crouch discussed the zoning in the area immediately south and west of the Planders Street area. This area is presently zoned as Transitional—Residential Office District. Mr. Crouch expressed concern as to the possibility of some types of structures which could be built in this area under this particular zoning. Lack of sewer facilities in this area is of major concern.

The council has received numerous complaints from village residents regarding the very excessive speeds of the Washtenaw County Sheriff Dept. vehicles while traveling through the business district of Chelsea and along M-52 within the village. The Village Clerk was instructed to contact Sheriff Harvey and recommend that his staff be advised to use good judgment and reasonable speeds in congested areas when on emergency runs.

Motion by Heydlauff, supported by Miller, that upon the recommendation of Chief Meranuck, Patrolman David McCormick be appointed as Sergeant, effective July 7, 1968. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

A letter was received from the Consumers Power Company requesting the rezoning of a parcel of land located immediately west of their present substation on Wilkinson Street. The request was submitted to the Village Planning Commission for an opinion.

Trustee Heydlauff submitted the police report for the month of June, 1968.

Motion by Weber, supported by Heydlauff, to authorize and direct the clerk to issue checks in payment of bills as submitted. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried. $12,128.26.

Motion by Heydlauff, supported by Pennington, to adjourn the meeting. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Meeting adjourned. Approved: July 16, 1968. Donald R. Baldwin, President. George Winans, Clerk.

VIHP Formed To Plan Hosting of Foreign Visitors

Families, organizations or individuals who are interested in offering friendship and hospitality to students, faculty or visitors from other countries, may find a way through a new independent organization, Volunteers for International Hospitality Program.

VIHP is headed by Mrs. Roger Glass of Ann Arbor who has years of experience in hosting activities. It is further composed of 12 other community women who have served in one area or another of foreign hospitality.

The new organization will assume responsibility for the Host Family program with the approval of the Protestant Foundation for International Students, the Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of Churches and the International Center who have jointly sponsored it before. The English Language Institute, whose students come for intensive courses of eight and 15 weeks duration and the office for Foreign Visitors are also backing the new structure.

A need exists, not only for sustaining friendship as in the host program, but for occasional hospitality, transportation help and "English in Action," short "talk" sessions with those who are struggling to learn our language.

Interested groups or persons may do as much or as little as they like. For further information call Mrs. Charles Hill in Ann Arbor, 482-0688 or Mrs. Robert Tefft, Saline, 429-0615.

Mrs. William Roy Snyder

Kathy Foster, Pvt. William Snyder Are Wed at St. Mary's Church

A double-ring ceremony Friday, July 12, at St. Mary's Catholic church united Kathy Foster and Pvt. William Roy Snyder in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Floyd Foster of 431 W. Middle St. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Emory Snyder of 1142 Norvell Rd., Grass Lake.

The 8 p.m. ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Francis B. Whitewick. Miss Mary Ann LaRocca, a friend of the bride, played the wedding march.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of floor-length organza over satin, styled with a full skirt trimmed with Chantilly lace. The long sleeves of lace ended in points at the wrists. A detachable solid lace train fastened at the shoulders. Her elbow-length veil fell from a crown of iridescent sequins and pearls. She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses, carnations and ivy.

The maid of honor, a cousin of the bride, Miss Lee Spaulding of North Lake, was attired in a floor-length pink gown with organza over tulle and matching pink veil. She carried a lace basket of pink roses and white daisies. Miss Molly Foster, sister of the bride, and Miss Terry Snyder, sister of the bridegroom, were brides-

Quarter Horse Contests Slated At State Fair

One of the greatest crowd pleasers at the Michigan State Fair will be the group of Quarter Horse contests beginning on opening day, Friday, Aug. 23 and continuing through Sunday, Aug. 25.

All together, 15 free horse shows are slated for the State Fair which continues through Sept. 2 (Labor Day).

That versatile animal—the Quarter Horse—and its name originated more than 300 years ago in the Carolinas and Virginia where early settlers raced their horses on country lanes.

These races seldom ran beyond 140 yards so the horses became known as "quarter milers." The settlers moved west, cross-bred their horses to develop a heavy muscled animal that could pull a plow, take the long cattle drive, and still be a pleasure mount.

The Quarter Horse soon was adopted by rancher and cowboy because of its remarkable "cow sense."

E. J. "Jeff" Kewns, State Fair manager, explains that halter and performance classes give the State Fair spectator an opportunity to see the conformation of the horses.

Reining classes, in which the horse must follow an exact pattern and rein with ease, display the versatility and disposition of the horse.

The applause really increases for the timed events which include barrel racing, girls' goat tying and pole bending.

Then there is probably the most fascinating event of all—the cutting horse class. The horse must work alone, with no help from the rider, to keep a calf assigned to him from returning to its herd.

The American Quarter Horse Association was established in 1940, and largely through its help these competitions have been developed to show the versatility of the breed.

The Quarter Horse contests in the Coliseum are just a few of the hundreds of free attractions which will be offered this year's Fair patrons.

SMALL "NAVY"

Bermuda's "Navy" has a new vessel in its fleet—a 160-foot passenger ferry, the "Canima" which is used to bring passengers ashore from cruise liners which are too large to dock. The 1,400 passenger "Canima" was built in Ireland and sailed more than 3,000 miles to her new home in the mid-Atlantic island resort.

Mary Ann La Rose were co-hostesses for a miscellaneous shower on July 2.

Misses Sherry Blackwell and Carol Wojciech entertained at a personal shower on July 7.

Miss Lee Spaulding was hostess for a family miscellaneous shower on July 9.

French Scholarship Student Tom Thomson Having Great Time

Tom Thomson said he plans to send "lots of postcards" to his study trip to France and Switzerland this summer. He was to his word. Tom sent us one reporting that he is "having a great time."

"Our dorms are beautiful located in the center of town," he writes. "The temperature is in the 80's at Orange, France, where I am now."

Tom explains that he has a "little homework" which gives students a chance to see the countryside. "We go on one excursion a day," he writes.

He states that he saw the ancient Greek play, Agamemnon, a 2,000-year-old Roman theater, the photo of which was on a postcard. The play was performed in French.

"We leave for Paris on Aug. 28 for two days and go to Chateaux in Switzerland on Aug. 30," he writes. Then it's on to Aug. 31 and back to the States.

Tom is visiting France, Switzerland on the first French Scholarship awarded at Chelsea High school.

Level Rule Isn't Work Pictures

Rule that pictures should be hung at eye level, just doesn't work. A home furnishings expert at Michigan State University, Boschetti, specialist in Co-operative Extension, says: "Most eye level is standing or sitting. What eye level are you five-foot woman, or a man?"

Where to place pictures to see them as a part of the whole interior, she comments, "serve no other purpose than to give pleasure—but comfort is an important home as physical comfort."

Of the eye level rule, Boschetti suggests eight might help in placement:

1. Pictures a part of a group, lamp or table, or just table or television set, extend the line from the outer edge of the group and over from the edge if there is other furniture in the picture is with imaginary lines. It is the group, she explained, under shape of wall space, appear to be square, or horizontal—depending on shape and placement of the picture, either up or down.
2. Height of the picture. Most people hang pictures too high, too low, Miss Boschetti says.
3. If a picture is being hung extremely low table, or on a flower arrangement, the two together, it prevents people from looking over to see the picture.
4. Pictures should be in scale. You wouldn't hang a large picture over a low table.
5. Grouping pictures. The pictures should be of the same size or different sizes. When grouping several pictures, remember to keep the width of the pictures the same. This helps the eye to follow the pictures as a group.
6. Pictures with each other. Pictures should be hung in a line, unless they are to be centered, or they are already present in the furniture group—per continuation of the line.
7. Each picture should be related to the furniture that it is a part of. It is a part of the furniture.
8. A "ground line." Parallel to the floor, lines at the bottom of pictures can create a diagonal line for the eye to follow. However, the exception is a group of pictures hung in a row. Then the ground line is a diagonal, the speaker said.

For your pictures. For a line is established when a picture is centered over a furniture, while informal means it is located off-center.

Sodt Reunion Held At Sharon Hall

The 45th annual reunion of the Sodt family was held Sunday, July 21, at Sharon Town Hall. Thirty people from Monroe, Jackson, Ann Arbor, Tecumseh and Manchester attended.

A young man from Holland, who is living with the Lowell Spike family this summer, was a guest. He said he likes the United States, but he will return to his home in Europe to attend a university there this fall.

In the absence of President Eugene Huber, Lynn Voegeding, vice-president, presided at the business meeting.

Clarence Voegeding, 82, was the oldest family member present, and Stephen Ernst, the one-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allyn Ernst of Tecumseh, was the youngest.

Next year's reunion is tentatively planned for the second Sunday in July. New family officers are Lynn Voegeding, president; Harold Sodt, vice-president; and Mary Ellen Uphaus, secretary.

Gilbert-Grondeck Engagement Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilbert of North Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Wendy, to Bruce Grondeck of Crookston, Minn. Miss Gilbert will receive her master's degree in radio, television and speech at the University of Michigan in August. Her fiancé expects to complete work on his doctorate in Feb. 1969. He is now lecturing in the Speech Department at the U-M.

The bride-elect is a 1963 graduate of Chelsea High school. A late September wedding is planned.

Lamaze Childbirth Group To Show Film

A single showing to be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 27, in St. Joseph Mercy hospital auditorium, Ann Arbor, will feature Mrs. Flora Hommel, R.N., showing and narrating the film "Naissance." This is a French film showing psychophysical preparation for childbirth and a delivery by Dr. Pierre Vellay, who is carrying on Dr. Fernand Lamaze's work in Paris, France. The program is under presentation of the Lamaze Childbirth Preparation Association.

Homemaking Hints

Home sewers can now buy washable suede. The manufacturer states that this leather will not become discolored even after numerous washings. Also, it can be finger-pressed or ironed to eliminate wrinkles after laundering.

An important advantage of hydronic (circulated hot water) baseboard heating is that hot and cold spots are avoided. Warmth is distributed evenly where it is needed, without robbing valuable floor space.

The number of servings per pound is a fair evaluation of a meat buy because it is based on the proportion of meat to bone and fat. Ground beef, flank steak, rolled roasts, and other boneless meats yield four average servings per pound. Bony meat, including most steaks, shoulder cuts and short ribs, may yield one or two servings per pound.

Dampened clothes waiting to be ironed, are an invitation to mildew. If you can't iron dampened clothes within a few hours after you sprinkle them, wrap them in plastic and put in the refrigerator. They'll stay fresh for several days.

When you shop for a dual-sleep unit, be sure it offers both sitting and sleeping comfort. You'll also want the unit to blend with the decorative scheme of the room and the upholstery to be sturdy enough for 24-hour use.

Mrs. Francis Joseph Honeck

Susan L. Hatt, Francis J. Honeck Are Married Saturday Evening

Susan Loraine Hatt became the bride of Francis Joseph Honeck at a 7 p.m. ceremony at the First United Methodist church July 20. The Rev. Robert Worgess officiated at the marriage of the daughter of Mrs. Margaret F. Hatt of Ann Arbor and Harley N. Hatt of Flanders St., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Honeck of Ann Arbor.

Almost 300 guests attended the ceremony at which the bride wore a floor-length white silk-linen gown designed with a A-line skirt and Empire waistline. A white silk-linen coat with Yvette train was worn over the gown. The back yoke, bodice, three-quarter length sleeves and train of the coat were encrusted with crystal beads and pearls over Alencon lace.

Her veil was three-tiered, elbow-length, imported silk illusion with a headpiece of silk linen petals encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white daisies, Fuji mums and lily.

Attending the former Miss Hatt as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Claude B. Underhill, II, of Pinckney. She was gown in an Empire-waisted floor-length dress of light delphinium-blue silk-shantung. A sculptured coat of blue embroidered silk organza with three-quarter length sleeves completed the ensemble. Her shoulder-length blue veil was held by a headpiece of shantung petals sprinkled with seed pearls. She carried a basket of daisies and Fuji mums with blue ribbons fastened to the basket.

Bridesmaids were Katherine Ann Kelly of Royal Oak and Mrs. Richard Neff of Dexter. Each wore a dress designed like that of the matron of honor. All of the bridesmaids' gowns were designed and sewed by the bride. The bridesmaids carried baskets of daisies with blue ribbons fastened to the baskets.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hatt selected a pale yellow linen suit piped in white satin and co-ordinated with white accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses and pink sweetheart roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a black and white print jersey sheath and black and white accessories. A corsage of white roses and pink miniature carnations completed her outfit.

Ronald Hodge of Ann Arbor served as best man. The bride's brother, Lewis Hatt, of Chelsea, and Louis Richards of Ann Arbor were ushers. Groomsman wore blue turtleneck shirts under their dinner jackets.

A reception and buffet dinner followed at the American Legion Hall, Cavanaugh Lake. Nieces of the bride, Vicki Kuhl poured, and Kathy Kuhl tended the guest book. For the couple's wedding trip to Lake Michigan, the bride wore a white tulle and cotton wrap dress trimmed from the neckline to the hem with organza ruffles.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Chelsea High school and 1968 graduate of Eastern Michigan University where she was a member of Kappa Delta Pi, an honorary education society. She plans to teach in the fall. The bridegroom attended Ann Arbor High school, served in the United States Army in the Pacific, and is presently the owner of Mac Tools of Ann Arbor.

Three Chelsea Boys Compete In Track Meet

Last Saturday at Saline, three Chelsea youths competed in the State Junior Champ meet sponsored by the Jaycees.

Richard Slane, Michael Lehmann and Steve Ereston comprised the Chelsea delegation.

Slane ran in the intermediate class 100-yard dash, won the preliminary heat with a time of :10.06 but was nosed out in the final. The winning time was :10.03 and Rick was half a step behind with a time of :10.05. Both of these times outlasted the meet record which was :10.05.

Lehmann, running in the high and low hurdles in the senior division, fell coming out of the huck in the high hurdles but got up and finished the race. He came back in the low hurdles to finish second in the preliminary heat but didn't place in the final.

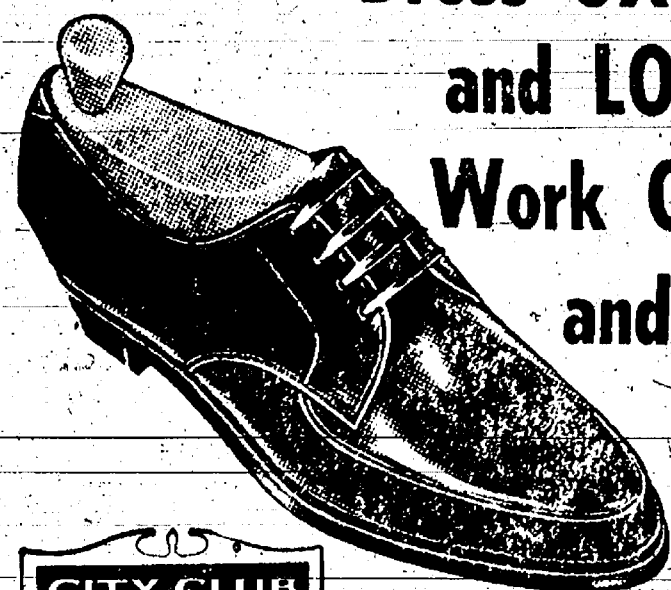

Ereston failed to place in the hurdles event, although he received some good experience by competing against some of the best hurdlers in the state.

Few states equal Michigan in per capita support of higher education.

"The Place To Go For Brands You Know"

Barker' Editor Attends Course for Yearbook Editors

Doreen Kuhl and Ann Travis students at Chelsea High school recently attended a two-week Communication Arts Institute in yearbook publication at Michigan State University.

At MSU, they learned the fundamentals of compiling a yearbook and the basics to a good yearbook.

Doreen and Ann reported that the institute began each morning with a lecture by various professional journalists, and three-hour workshops filled the afternoon.

The girls' afternoon instructor was Ed Moss, assistant principal of Belding High school, who has been honored for excellence in high school journalism and for his contributions to journalism in Michigan. This was his fifth year as an instructor with the Institute.

Three field trips were included as part of their workshops, the girls said. They toured offices of The Wolverine, the MSU yearbook, the Speaker-Hines Publishing Co. in Lansing, and the press box area at Spartan Stadium.

Miss Kuhl, a senior at Chelsea High school, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armin Kuhl, 2826 Perkins Rd. Miss Travis, a Junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Travis, 16 Sycamore Dr. The girls will hold the positions of co-editor and business manager, respectively, of this year's Barker.

Michigan State University scientists increased fertility levels of dairy cows by an average of three percent by adding a crude enzyme (amylase) to bull semen. Amount of the enzyme needed is so small that one pound—costing only $60—would fortify enough semen to breed all the dairy cows in the United States for three years.

Girls Forming Track Club

Just about every kid wants to be the fastest runner on his block at some time when growing up. If there's anything that makes you really feel free, it's scooting along with the wind rushing past and the feel of the ground getting lost in the thrill of it all. It's probably the closest man can come to flying without the help of modern inventions.

There are a group of young ladies in Chelsea for whom the thrill of running has not vanished with the passing years. The girls joined the high school track team during the school year and have competed in summer track meets this year.

Now, they have set their sights on a project they hope will lead them some day into national competition.

With the help of long-time track buff, John Bauer, their advisor, they are working on plans to form a track club for the Chelsea area. In order to avoid geographical complications, they are tentatively calling themselves the "Lakettes."

Bauer explained they are in the process of registering the club with the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) and hope some day to compete in the "big indoor meets."

Bauer, who is helping the girls with their training and is personally helping to finance their summer competition, expects seven or eight girls from Chelsea to join the club, four or five from Grass Lake and two from Jackson.

The girls show great promise and some appear to be "naturals" at running, Bauer says. He explains they have not had the rigorous training some girl runners have had, and yet their running times compare well with the leaders.

People always wonder why a girl would get interested in track.

Carol Thornton, who runs the 50-yard hurdles and is not anywhere near being the he-man people often conjure girl runners to be, says she "just likes competition." She adds that track is something that's entirely up to the individual. "It's an accomplishment," she states. "It's not like relying on other people as in a team sport."

Bauer echoes her opinion, saying, "Nobody can pull you around the track." "Track gives girls a chance to learn how to force themselves to stick with something—do more than they would normally want to do," he said.

Bauer said he thinks such discipline benefits girls in later life—in jobs or school. "They will know they can force themselves to do more than they might normally do."

Pat Gilbert, another hurdler, says track is "a good sport to keep you in shape." She adds that she has always liked to run and likes to stay outdoors.

Jean Wenk, a slender 50- and 100-yard dash runner, says, "I just think it's fun. I've liked to run for a long time." "Everyone's got his limits," Bauer said. "It depends on how much you want to put in." "I could practice all day for weeks and never be near as good as I want to be," he said. So Bauer has decided to share his knowledge of the sport with the girls.

To train, the girls often run with 10-pound weight jackets that help them build up their stamina, strength and speed. "We've tried to work out a program that takes less time but accomplishes the same thing as stiffer training," Bauer said. The girls practice one to 1 1/2 hours three or four times a week. Besides weight training, they do isometrics, calisthenics and use karate methods.

Yes, karate. Bauer explained that they practice some of the quick hand and leg movements used in karate to quicken their reflexes. "This is something runners just don't do, but I learned it by fooling around and decided to try it with running."

No, the girls do not break boards too—although Miss

Thornton contends that skill would come in handy when she comes too close to the hurdles.

Bauer, who has been a "track nut" for 15 years, says, "I'm just trying to show the girls some of the things I've learned that have benefited me and that might benefit them, but I don't expect them to torture themselves."

Bauer cites better health as the main benefit of running. "You must eat a proper diet and get a reasonable amount of rest or else it's hard to run," he said.

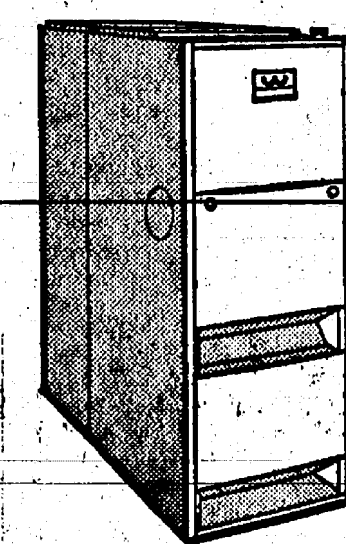

Carol supports him, adding that it's "impossible to run after drinking a coke."

The time spent on track might be wasted anyway, Bauer says. And Miss Thornton points to the travel angle as an exciting part of the sport.

Man Receives 45-Day Sentence On D & D Charge

Sgt. David McCormick arrested a Chelsea man July 18 after witnesses said his car knocked down a stop sign and almost hit a small boy. He also resisted arrest.

Colt Crayton, 220 North St., was taken to the Washtenaw County Jail after McCormick subdued him and affected the arrest. He was booked on a charge of being drunk and disorderly and bond was set at $100 by Justice C. A. Rogers.

The following day, Crayton was taken before Justice Rogers at the Sylvan Township Hall and pleaded guilty to the charge. He received 45 days in jail.

Witnesses told police Crayton's knockdown a stop sign at Hayes and W. Middle Sts., and proceeded to careen wildly from curb to curb. Later, a witness reported Crayton's car almost hit her three-year-old boy who was standing near the curb.

drills of people in my years running," Bauer said. Carol also likes the idea of meeting many different people at track meets.

And in a parting attempt to explain the thrill of running, Bauer said, "Track is individual. You can only do it yourself."

The girls will travel to Toledo, Aug. 4, to compete in a meet sponsored by the Toledo Road Runners Track Club at the University of Toledo.

In the fall, the girls will be running in AAU-sponsored cross country meets in the Ann Arbor and Detroit areas. These cross-country events cover one mile or 1 1/2 miles.

Kiwianians Hear Report From Delegates to Key Club Convention

Ben Bauer, one of the five Chelsea delegates to the convention, reported the convention activities, and Tom Smith, another delegate, spoke on the projects the Key Club plans to carry out during the coming year as part of their community service activity. Rodney Houlie was the other delegate present.

Guests from Ann Arbor Eastern Kiwanis Club attended the meeting, including Walt Henne, Leonard Young, Arnold Boyd and Ray McCalla. John Palmer and Tom Bush were also guests.
