Sidewalk Days Sale Scheduled This Week-End

Merchants Will Go Outdoors for Annual Bargain Days Sale Event

Downtown merchants will be offering special sales during Chelsea's 12th annual Sidewalk Days, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 16 and 17.

Through the years, the sale has become not only a chance for businessmen to clear summer merchandise but also a chance for merchants to preview fall attractions.

Everything from catsup-squeeze bottles to porcelain sinks will be offered at the open-air event. Seasonal merchandise will be sold at greatly reduced prices by the participating downtown businesses.

Special values on food will also be posted by grocery stores. Displaying merchandise outdoors is an old-fashioned practice common in pioneer days in the United States. It has been revived by businessmen not only because it affords them the opportunity to clear inventories for fall and winter merchandise, but because it is a fun affair.

The Chelsea sale began in October, 1957, but as the change-over dates for fall and winter merchandise moved into the summer months, so did the dates of Sidewalk Days.

Chelsea Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring this year's event, starting at 8 a.m. Friday and continuing until 9 p.m. Regular Saturday business hours will set the limits for the sale on the second day.

Glancing back into the Oct. 1957, Standard, you may find this delectable quotation:

"And speaking of low prices, how long has it been since you last saw famous name toilet soaps selling for 3 cents per bar; or all-wool blankets for $3.50. Regular $1 cosmetics will go for 59 cents and 69 cents. Pitchforks, regularly priced to $3.50, will be offered at one buck, even to those who can crowd in first—fastest."

At 6 p.m. Aug. 28, all children wishing to be judged in the Kids Day parade must appear at the village parking lot between the Methodist and Congregational churches to be given a number and (Continued on page six)

How long has it been since we've seen such low prices? Oh, about 12 years.

And who could resist resurrecting this quote:

"P. S.—Even the village fathers have opened their purse strings and in a fit of generosity have promised FREE PARKING any place you can find to leave the old bus, both Friday and Saturday. So you won't even need to worry about 'watching the meter.' This may be a history-making event—don't miss it!"

Boy, weren't those the days?

QUEEN CANDIDATE: Chelsea Jaycees have announced that Sarah Lindauer is their candidate for 1968 Chelsea Fair Queen. Sarah is the daughter of Arthur Lindauer of 260 Fletcher Rd. She is a senior at Chelsea High school and has been elected Student Council vice-president for the coming school year. The 17-year old candidate is employed part-time at Stuckey's.

Floats Should Be Entered Now

Bit by bit, the full slate of activities for this year's Chelsea Community Fair is being pieced together.

Wednesday, Aug. 28, has been designated "Kids Day"; Thursday is "Dexter Day"; Friday is "Farmers Day"; and Saturday is "Queen Day."

The deadline for queen candidates has been set for Saturday, Aug. 17. Forms may be picked up at the home of Mrs. Gloria Greenleaf, 12500 Freer Rd.

Candidates names already submitted include Laura Lancaster, sponsored by Kiwanis; Mary Niehaus, sponsored by the Wide-Awake 4-H club; Diane Koch, sponsored by the senior class; Regina Hardy, sponsored by the junior class; Becky Van Riper, sponsored by the sophomore class; Peggy O'Connor, sponsored by the freshman class; Sarah Lindauer, sponsored by the Jaycees; and Linda Merkel, sponsored by Girl Scout Troop 77.

Each float is entitled to have a queen candidate as a passenger, and any girl who wishes to enter the queen contest must ride a float in the parade to be eligible.

The parade will begin Saturday, Aug. 31, at 1 p.m. It starts near the old junior high school on East St., moves to E. Middle St. and on to Main St. It will proceed south on Main St. to Old US-12, and west on Old US-12 to the fairgrounds.

All businesses and individuals have been asked to display the American flag at least during the time of the parade.

Committeemen have expressed the hope that as many floats as possible will be on display at the fairgrounds following the parade so that prize-winning floats may be designated and fair visitors may be able to examine and photograph the floats.

Six prizes will be awarded for the winning floats, three in the adult division and three in the school age division.

In addition to the floats, the Chelsea Fire Department is expecting a variety of marching groups including the Chelsea High school marching band and the Waterloo Band (which has never missed a parade). Also expected are antique cars, clowns, horseback riding groups, farm machinery, sheriffs and auxiliary posses, and national, state and local officials.

The Fire Department committee, under the general chairmanship of Fire Chief James Gaken, with the help of committeemen Mac Packard and Paul Hankard, is making all arrangements for the parade. The following committees have been set up, and their members may be contacted for fair entries.

Marching Groups and Bands: Don Alexander, Arthur Paul and Philip Roy.

Horses: Paul Bollinger, Marvin

David Longworth, chairman of the Fair float committee, and committeemen Ray Johnson and Ronald Branham have urged every organization wishing to enter a float to contact the committee as soon as possible.

Longworth may be reached by telephone at home at 475-7323 or at work at 475-8372, or information may be sent to him in care of the Chelsea Fire Department.

To enter, the sponsoring group must present the name of the organization or individual, the address, the kind of entry and the telephone number.

Each float is entitled to have a queen candidate as a passenger, and any girl who wishes to enter the queen contest must ride a float in the parade to be eligible.

The parade will begin Saturday, Aug. 31, at 1 p.m. It starts near the old junior high school on East St., moves to E. Middle St. and on to Main St. It will proceed south on Main St. to Old US-12, and west on Old US-12 to the fairgrounds.

Horses: Paul Bollinger, Marvin

Schiller and Ishmael Picklesimer. Antique Cars and Trucks: Charles Hafner, Lavern Hafner and Merle Leach.

Farm Machinery: Robert Doerr, Dave Elkins and Larry Koch.

The Community Fair Restaurant, under the supervision of Mrs. Geraldine Klink (475-4083), will be open from 7 a.m. to midnight every day of the fair serving home-cooked meals. Ladies who wish to contribute time or food are more than welcome, according to Mrs. Klink. All profits from the restaurant go into the Community Fair treasury.

Each 1968 queen contestant must display a talent this year, besides riding on a fair float and appearing on stage Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Last year's queen, Diane Stoffer, will present the honors to the 1968 queen Saturday night, Aug. 31, at the fair arena.

The runner-up contestant receives a prize and the queen receives several prizes from the Community Fair Board and local merchants.

Grid Practice Begins Aug. 26 At High School

Football season is at hand once again, and Chelsea High school will be filling the bill this year with three full-fledged teams, varsity, junior varsity and freshmen.

In just one and one-half weeks, on Aug. 26, players will report to their first practice session, working out twice a day that week.

On Sept. 6, the varsity and junior varsity teams will participate in a four-way scrimmage with Michigan Center, Brighton and Howell here in Chelsea.

The following week, the Bulldogs start their varsity schedule, playing Stockbridge and hoping for a big win this year. Last year, Stockbridge downed the Bulldogs, 10-0.

Phil Bareis, Robert Pursel and Richard Bareis will handle varsity duties again this year.

The new head JV coach is Jon Schaffner. He will be assisted by Tom Morrison.

Chelsea will field a freshman football team this year in order to give more players an opportunity to play under actual game conditions.

champion ram lamb and grand champion yearling ram. Denise also holds her sheep showmanship trophy. In addition, she received a second-place award for her ram lamb. The sheep will be shown at the upcoming state 4-H show.

NEW GEAR: You'll now be able to pick out Chelsea Jaycees in a crowd since the organization recently purchased these nylon jackets with "Chelsea Jaycees" written on the back and the name of the member lettered on the right lapel. "By wearing the jackets while working on community projects, we feel the town will become more aware of all our many community service projects," said Art Stelnaway, chairman of the committee to purchase the jackets. Stelnaway, left, and fellow fashion models are bashful Ron Branham, Bud Ringe and Don Proctor.

Turner Finds Relics of Gold Rush Days in Dawson City

Dawson City, Yukon Territory
July 25, 1968

Dear Readers:

In my last article, which was quite short, I promised to give you a good run down on Dawson City here in the Klondike country. Perhaps I should start on the trail that leads to this historic spot.

There are two ways to reach Dawson City. One is over the Dawson trail from Whitehorse, Yukon, and the other is over the Taylor Highway that runs from Tetlin Junction on the Alaska Highway in Alaska.

I have traveled to Dawson over the Taylor Highway twice now. It goes to Eagle, Alaska, a gold mining town on the Yukon River. The road that continues on to Dawson City is called the "60-mile road." I think it got its name from the distance the road runs from the border line between Alaska and the Yukon to Dawson.

Two years ago at the border, I found the international boundary marker placed at all points where a highway crossed between Canada and Alaska and beside the marker was always the international peace marker placed by Kiwanis International. These markers have been erected at many border crossings between Canada and the United States stating the fact that the border has been unfortified for more than 100 years.

The marker on the Taylor Highway stood proudly and was well-constructed. It was placed there by Dawson City's Kiwanis Club. The other day as I crossed the boundary, I found the marker destroyed and the bronze plaque gone—no doubt the act of some vandals. It reminded me that this sort of thing goes on daily throughout the world, but somehow I kept hoping the Klondike country would be spared.

During the gold rush, law and order was kept by the North-west Mounted Police. And they did a good job, so I hear. Men in those days had some respect for law and order. Mounties, as they are called, dealt out justice on an eye-for-eye, tooth-for-tooth basis—which could work today if we could go back to the old system of law and order.

Enough of my complaining! But I thought perhaps you would like to know what it was like to live in this great land.

Dawson City hasn't changed much since I was here two years ago. I have been greeted very cordially by friends I made at that time, and I've made quite a number of new ones.

The greatest tourist attraction in the area is the Palace Grand Theatre where the Gaslight Polkas are held. The Palace Grand was built in 1899 by Arizona Charlie Meadows, a cowboy showman and Indian fighter, when Dawson had a population of 30,000.

Vaudeville actors and actresses from many parts of the world played here during its heyday, which lasted about six years. When new gold strikes were made in Alaska and the big spindlers moved on, the Grand closed. It was used as an auditorium for years, and the first movies in the Yukon were shown here.

It was closed for 20 years and was in a state of disrepair and about to be torn down for scrap lumber when the Klondike Visitors Association bought it and turned it over to the Federal Government to be restored as an historical sight.

It was here that I had the opportunity, and pleasure to meet the entire cast of players and talk with them. This is certainly not an amateur show. Every player is a professional, and some have been in show business for years and are nearing retirement. But their bubbling personalities belie their years.

I could write this entire article on the events at the Palace Grand, but I met other people in Dawson I just have to tell you about.

The oldest resident in Dawson, Michael Winage, better known as "Black Mike," claims to be 98 years old. You can see Mike strolling around Dawson as spry as a cricket, and he loves to tell stories of the gold rush days.

Mike says he came to Canada from Yugoslavia in 1882 and has lived in Dawson since 1900. Two other prominent citizens I met are the Gaundrous, Elmer and Marguerita. Elmer is the Fire Chief of Dawson. Marguerita has lived most of her life in Dawson. She was born here, and her people, the Balentine family, came to Dawson in 1898 over the famous "Chile-coat Pass." She also happens to be one of the best cooks in Dawson, and I had the pleasure to eat my fill of her delicious sour dough pancakes, served with all the finesses of a great chef in their cozy apartment above the fire station.

Marguerita says her sour dough starter has been going for over 20 years.

Another Delight I had while at Dawson was a cruise on a riverboat to the abandoned gold rush town of Moosehide,

SOUL DOUGH PANCAKES are enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gaundrous in their apartment above the fire hall in Dawson City. Elmer is the Fire Chief for the city. Don Turner was invited to a few miles below Dawson. This trip may be arranged by contacting Dick Stevenson who operates a 30-foot riverboat. Stevenson makes the trips a real delight by telling the history of the area.

He will even take you on a cruise and salmon bake to another spot on the Yukon River known as the old ship yard. Here, Dick will bake a large salmon in the sand with other goodies while you stroll and explore the old rattling hulks of riverboats left to rot on the river banks.

The salmon bake takes about two hours to prepare, so you have a lot of time to explore. Dick's son, a lad of four years, goes along and helps tie the boat up. They call him "Sack," but I don't know where the name came from since his real name is Roy. He's a cute and intelligent lad who says he will run a riverboat some day too. Stevenson says he is going to build a stern wheel paddle boat to use next season because more tourists are becoming interested in the river cruises.

Another thing to do at Dawson is to explore the riverboat. Kenjo, the last riverboat to run the Yukon, at its dry dock on Front St. Miss Sue Ward entertains with a slide show telling about the Klondike.

Jac. Vander Veen, the impresario at the Gaslight Polkas, plays the part of the famous Yukon poet, Robert Service, and tells of his life in Scotland. He recites the poet's ballads while the audience sits on the lawn to listen. It really takes you back into the past.

I could go on and on about this historic city, but maybe I have written too much now.

Oh! Yes! Gold panning can still be done at the Lennor Mine on Bonanza Creek, and most tourists find some "color" at that place. ("Color" is the word used if you find some gold dust in the pan after washing out the sand and gravel.)

Although Dawson City is in a state of disrepair and many of her places of business have closed since I was there two years ago, there is a pride about her yet.

Dawson reminds me of an aging dance hall girl, pining away her declining years on the banks of the Yukon. Her frilly dress may be tattered and the feathers she wears in her hair may be drooping, but the spirit of her people keeps her head high. And may she live forever.

Don Turner.

Kentucky Couple Hunting for Ancestor's 'Lost' Birthplace

Mrs. O. F. Edwards of Lexington, Ky., always thought her father had been born in Lenawee county in 1879. That is, she thought so until her father died last February and a discrepancy in her father's baptismal record was brought to her attention.

Wilhelm Frederick Nubling, Mrs. Edwards' father, had no birth certificate, although his birth date is known to be Feb. 1, 1879. On his baptismal certificate, dated May 11 at what is now the United Church of Christ in Manchester, the place of birth is given as Manchester, Lenawee county.

Mrs. Edwards learned after her father's death that Manchester is, of course, in Washtenaw county. Since that time, she and her husband have been doing a little detective work to try and straighten out the family history.

The Edwardses were in Chelsea and Manchester Aug. 13 digging around in centennial books and old newspapers trying to find a clue to why the baptismal certificate was incorrectly written. In fact they have been spending their entire vacation in this part of Michigan scouting around.

On Tuesday, they tramped from The Standard office to the village of Manchester, the Manchester newspaper and the Manchester Church.

They also went through knee-high oats and barley and climbed barbed wire fences to get to Mrs. Edwards' great-grandfather's farmhouse in Lima township. The house is abandoned and boarded up, but at least they got a look at it.

In the past months, Mrs. Edwards explains, they have looked everywhere for clues to the past—in tax statements in Lansing, in numerous little burgs around this part of the state, in the records of Michigan State University.

A hypothesis that Manchester was actually in Lenawee county at that time proved false. Mrs. Edwards learned that Washtenaw county came out of Wayne county and Lenawee county out of Washtenaw, not the other way around.

Wilhelm Nubling's father was Jacob Michael Nubling, who was confirmed at St. Thomas church, his grandfather, the Lima farmer, was Johannes Nubling. Wilhelm moved to Okemos when he was young, and he became a rural mail carrier later. For a while, he thought he was born in Okemos.

As far as Mrs. Edwards can judge, no Nubling family members lived in Lenawee county at that time. "They lived in Manchester," she said firmly, although the exact reason for the Lenawee county designation on the baptismal record has not been unearthed.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards looked determined as they left here Tuesday. And they also looked as though they had been having a little fun with their family history project.

If anyone would like to join the search, if you know anything about the Nubling family, or if you clean out your attic and find related information, Mrs. Edwards may be reached at 308 Colony Rd., Lexington, Ky. 40502.

A REWARDING TUMBLE

St. Paul—By an odd coincidence, a fall from a bicycle for Scott Lens and Clifford O'Bourke was quite profitable. The fourteen-year-old boys tumbled into brush along a park path and found $2,000 in currency wrapped in an old newspaper. They can keep the money if the owner is not found in six months.

RED, PINK AND PURPLE splashes of color dot the garden plot of Edward Easterle, 628 S. Main. The colors belong to his 12-foot hollyhock plants which tower over the corn and tomato plants in his yard. Standing here on the top rung of a step ladder, Easterle still must use a yard stick to reach the tip of the plant. He attributes his success to a little fertilizer and very fertile soil. The hollyhocks were brought from Holland by the Ray Morehouses when they lived in the home 12 years ago.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: about. No one will shoot you. There is this boy who was at sunrise. The only "wrong" in almost all of my classes in thing you could say would be school. I like him very much. At the beginning of the last school year, all the girls would kid me about him. Ever since then he hasn't hardly spoken to me. I am thirteen and on the chubby side. I am afraid to say anything to him when I see him because I am afraid that I will say the wrong thing. I like to be with all the kids but I never seem to know what to say when I get around them. What should I do?

OUR REPLY: You should relax and enjoy life, while you can and while you are young. Don't be afraid that you will say something wrong. You won't. Simply think about what it is you have to say, and just say it. If you should say something wrong, so what? There is nothing to worry about. No one will shoot you at sunrise. The only "wrong" thing you could say would be something that offended someone or hurt someone's feelings. And, since you are apparently conscientious, you would not do such a thing intentionally. Even if you did, a simple apology would save you from whatever fate you fear is in store should you say something wrong. As for the boy, relax here, too. Be natural whenever you are around him. Don't try too hard to impress him. If he likes you, it will be for what you are, not for what you pretend to be. And, prepare to take some kidding from your friends. It's all a part of the game.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORD, KY.

THANK YOU

To all those who supported me in the August 6 Election, my most sincere thanks.

THOMAS G. SHARPE
State Representative, 51st District

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Did you read how a teacher was puzzled in how to answer the question a little girl asked—"Does a plastic heart have love in it?" The teacher helped the girl write a letter to Dr. Michael DeBakey in Houston who supervised surgery on a patient with a plastic heart. The doctor's reply was a classic:

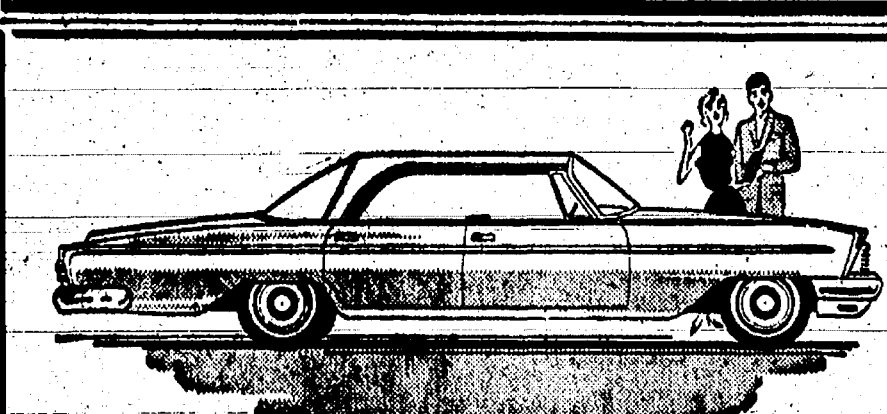

"Yes, a plastic heart does have love in it, a very great deal of love. The love in a plastic heart is the love of many people who love other people, and don't want them to die just because their hearts are not strong enough to keep beating. They work hard and they worry. They do everything they know how to do and then they study and read books and think and work hard to find out everything there is to know about, a real heart and a plastic heart. If you can think of how much love there would be in hundreds of hearts, then that is how much love there is in a plastic heart."

Love is not always a romance or devotion between man and woman. It is seen in family, filial, fraternal association; between people who know each other and people who don't. Actually, love exists and can be seen everywhere - in everything - for those who will only look... BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR 5-4141.

Youth Charged With Escaping From Arrest

Chelsea police arrested Darrell Lee Fletcher, 22, 106 North St., Tuesday, Aug. 13, after searching for him since last Thursday for evading arrest on another charge.

Patrolman Gerald Ringe had been assigned to plain clothes duty to find Fletcher. Sergeant David McCormick had arrested him Aug. 8 at 1-94 and M-32 on a violation of probation charge.

Fletcher told McCormick he wanted to go home to get a shirt, and later he ran away from McCormick at his home.

Chelsea police received a warrant Tuesday charging Fletcher with escaping arrest, and Ringe apprehended him in the driveway of 313 Railroad St. the same day. Ringe had been on patrol in plain clothes for two days.

A warrant charging Fletcher with failing to appear before his probation officer was issued July 30.

Fletcher was arraigned before Sylvan Township Justice C. A. Rogers Tuesday and bound over to Circuit Court for an Aug. 23 hearing on the escaping arrest charge. Bond was set at $200.

On the probation violation, Fletcher was remanded to jail without bond until Sept. 6 when he will appear before Ann Arbor Municipal Judge S. J. Elden.

Several people in town knew about Fletcher and were hiding him, police say. "He was seen at different people's places but we were unable to get him until Tuesday," said Police Chief George Meranuck.

Meranuck added that he has been sheltered in homes in town since last Thursday.

Coins Stolen from N. Merkel Home After Breaking in

Some time between Aug. 2-8, thieves entered the home of Norbert Merkel, 359 Washington St., and took $80 in coins and an undetermined amount of currency.

The Merkels were vacationing and discovered the loss when they returned. The thief or thieves apparently entered by cutting a screen and forcing a window open.

Mrs. Merkel's sister had entered the house each day at 11:00 a.m. and prepared her lunch, leaving at 12:30. She told police she saw nothing rammed or out of place, which led police to believe the thief knew the whereabouts of the money before he entered.

Metal boxes which contained the money were taken to the Washtenaw County Detective Bureau for fingerprinting.

Michigan housewives are being misled by politicians and labor leaders in an all-out, long-term effort to force California workers into labor unions. One to hold back where might be headlines or political pay to be made, Detroit's Jerome Cavanaugh has got into the act. All in all, it seems to be a lot of excitement for a relatively few California table grapes, but the issue is much more deep.

Involved is an effort by union leaders to unionize California farm workers, with major areas aimed at the grape growers and where a few large growers have been the special target. However, the total boycott affects the small family farms as well as the larger producer.

Working in direct (and sometimes indirect) efforts to unionize the workers, the "United Farm Workers Organizing Committee" headed by Cesar Chavez and sponsored by the AFL-CIO has called a total boycott of California grapes in major markets.

Originally aimed at New York, the idea has spread to Detroit, with the public approval of Mayor Cavanough, who urged enforcement of the table-grape ban.

Recently, a number of unions joined in the distribution and all sale of California grapes in the greater New York area. Retail brokers, jobbers and store representatives to a meeting, in which they were told that stores selling California grapes would be picketed.

Meat Cutters have said they would not cross such picket lines.

With this ultimatum, the flow of California grapes into the New York area has stopped to practically zero, and the process it appears there has been a clear-cut violation of a major section of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, relating to second-boycotts and "hot cargo" practices.

What does this mean to Michigan farmers and city consumers? Obviously, there is much more at stake than that disposition of a few tons of grapes. It is clear labor is attempting to set a pattern for total organizing of all workers and eventually, a seizure of America's farm produce ability; for if a small group of organizers in California cut such a huge city as New York off from a grape supply, could obviously happen to your food supply, your milk, or bread.

Judge Youngdahl Will Speak At State Fair Sunrise Service

Judge Luther W. Youngdahl, senior member of the U. S. district court in Washington, D. C., will be the speaker at the 18th annual Sunrise Service on Religion Day at the 119th Michigan State Fair, which runs from Friday, Aug. 23, through Monday, Sept. 2.

The announcement was made by E. J. "Jeff" Keirns, State Fair general manager, and Dr. Robert L. Kinchloe, executive director of the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches, co-sponsor of the Sunrise Service.

Religion Day will be Sunday, Aug. 25, with the Service at 8 a.m. Worshipers will be admitted free to the Fairgrounds until that time.

Judge Youngdahl was speaker for the first State Fair Sunrise Service in 1951 when he was governor of Minnesota and again in 1953 and 1965. He has been one of the most popular of the long list of speakers at the Sunrise Service which annually attracts up to 10,000 persons.

Judge Youngdahl became a senior U. S. district judge in 1968 on his 70th birthday and has since served by assignment in the U. S. District Courts of San Diego and San Francisco, Calif.

A native of Minnesota, Youngdahl received his law degree from the Minnesota College of Law in 1921 and later was Assistant Dean of that college.

He became a municipal judge in 1930 and rose through the bench until he was elected to the Minnesota Supreme Court in 1942. He resigned in 1946 to run for governor, winning three terms.

Judge Youngdahl always has been known as a great champion of youth and unrelenting spokesman of justice and humanity. He is a national director of the Big Brothers, an organization which helps fatherless boys; he served actively with the YMCA, Boy Scouts, PTA, and the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

He has received a long list of awards, including the Grand Cross of the Royal Order of the New Star, presented by King Gustav V of Sweden; the Finnish Order of the Lion; honorary degrees from 15 colleges and universities; awards from the Boy Scouts, the Big Brothers, and the Washington Federation of Churches.

He was named the Outstanding Citizen of Minnesota (in 1947) and received the Outstanding Achievement Award of the University of Minnesota (in 1963). Judge Youngdahl was appointed to the U. S. District Court for the District of Columbia in 1965 and has served on numerous association and judicial committees.

He has spoken extensively before secular and religious groups throughout the world.

Insecticides May Make Medicines Ineffective

INSECTICIDES on our food or in our environment may enter our bodies and make many of our medicines ineffective or even harmful, according to a report from the University of Chicago.

The report, which was published in the journal Science, states that many of the insecticides used in agriculture are also used in medicine. For example, DDT is used to treat malaria and other tropical diseases. However, the report suggests that the use of DDT in agriculture may make these treatments ineffective.

ONE EXPLANATION of the find toward the use of nuclear power for generating electricity is the fact that one pound of Uranium 235 has the potential energy of approximately 1,350 tons of coal. One pound of coal can produce 3.5 kilowatt hours of electricity while one pound of Uranium 235 could produce 10,000,000 kilowatt hours. The piping requirements for a nuclear-powered generating station are large, reports Tube-Turns, Louisville, Ky., which is working on a design for two boiling-water reactors recently constructed cost more than $1,000,000.

ONE PART acid drainage water from coal mines and six parts sewage effluent is the recipe that could help sweeten polluted streams and rivers, reports a Pennsylvania State University geologist. He says the process not only reduces the acidity of the mine drainage water to acceptable levels, it also completely removes other troublesome stream contaminants, such as phosphates and iron salts. The simple technique of bringing two kinds of obnoxious water together causes both to do an effective job of cleansing each other, he said.

DOGSLEDS may still have their uses, but a lot of people in Alaska now prefer the airplane as a means of transportation. As a result, Alaska ranks as the "fly-in state" in the country on a per capita basis. Federal Aviation Administration records show that one out of every 50 residents has an FAA pilot's license. No other state even comes close to that figure.

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter. But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts. This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Maps are scary things to some people because some mapmakers feel they must include every unturned stone when they devise a map, just to make it as complete as possible. Often, the result is a horrendous mess of signals in print, large enough only for an electron microscope.

Fortunately, the latest Washtenaw county endeavor at map-making avoids many of these pitfalls. It is not fault-free, but it is a remarkably "clean" map. Clean almost to the point of being boring.

It depicts the recreational facilities available in the county, including public as well as private facilities. It also tells you which facilities you may expect to pay to use and which you may not use at all unless you are a member. It might save you a few phone calls or a wasted Sunday afternoon drive.

The three-color map, measuring 24 by 34 inches, locates all outdoor recreation facilities and includes an enlarged map of the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area, according to the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission.

Confidentially, it has missed a few spots, but that is to be expected.

In addition to parks, playgrounds and athletic fields, the map shows golf courses, riding stables, boating and fishing sites, camping areas, hunting spots, fairgrounds, stadiums and airports.

The map is a joint endeavor of the Board of Supervisors, Board of Park Trustees, Board of Supervisors Park Committee, Board of Supervisors Public Relations Committee and the Metropolitan Planning Commission.

You may obtain a copy from the offices of the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission, 306 County Building, Ann Arbor, or from city and village halls throughout the county. Guaranteed to make a map-lover of you.

To Be Featured on TV Program Negro Film Director Peebles

East Lansing—"Black Journal," the monthly black magazine, profiles Melvin Van Peebles, Negro film director, Sunday, Aug. 18, at 12:30 p.m. and Monday, Aug. 19, at 11:30 a.m. on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

Van Peebles' film, "The Story of a Three Day Pass," the first feature film directed by a Negro for general distribution, is credited with having tremendous insight into what people feel and think, and has been applauded for its humanity and fresh, unconventional approach. Also a novelist and playwright, Van Peebles discusses his work and career with host Lou House.

The program also takes a look at the Mississippi Freedom Democratic party, which, four years ago, challenged the all-white delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

Other WMSB highlights include: "The Actors Company" presents the first rehearsal of Shakespeare's "Macbeth," Sunday, Aug. 18, at 2 p.m.

In this rehearsal, director Barry Boys discusses with the actors his general concept of the drama and the interpretation of the play for a modern audience. He also begins working with the actors on characterization.

This program begins the last of the Shakespearean productions, which will consist of three rehearsals and a final production of "Macbeth" on Sept. 8.

BALLET—
The complete ballet version of "Carmina Burana" is presented by "NET Festival," Sunday, Aug. 18, at 8 p.m.

The ballet, written by Carl Orff and choreographed by John Butler, is based on a group of secular songs discovered more than 100 years ago in a monastery in Heuren, Germany.

The Netherlands Dans Theatre performs the tales of the 13th century, told by wanderers, university students, vagabond poets and renegade monks outside monastery walls. While the Church whispered solemnly of the weakness of the flesh, the poets of the "Carmina Burana" sang aloud of its glories.

"Carmina Burana" is performed on the grounds and in the halls of a medieval castle in Dornenburg, Holland. The Houston Symphony Orchestra and the Houston Choral, under Leopold Stokowski, provide the music for the ballet.

Mrs. Kenneth Dale Clement

Wanda Schiller, Kenneth Clement Are Wed in Saturday Ceremony

Wanda Mae Schiller became the bride of Kenneth Dale Clement in a 7:30 p.m. ceremony, Aug. 10, at the First United Methodist church, performed by the Rev. John Fall.

Mrs. Fredrick Belser sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love Thee" as Mrs. June Warren played the organ.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Schiller of 311 Madison St. and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clement of Mt. Morris. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a white sheath gown accented with Alençon lace and styled with a flowing train. Her shoulder-length organza veil was secured by an organza petal headpiece. She carried a cascade of white roses.

Mrs. Sandra Arnett of Ann Arbor, a cousin of the bride, attended as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length aqua silk gown with broadened sleeves and a short veil secured by an aqua rose. She carried aqua and white carnations.

Terry Lewis of Dexter, a cousin of the bride, Pat Schiller of 103 W. Middle St., a cousin of the bride, and Diane Spear of 128

Orchard St., served as bridesmaids. They wore mint green silk gowns and carried mint green and white carnations.

Bill Clement of Mt. Morris, the bridegroom's brother, assisted as best man. Ushers were Jim Russell of Chelsea, also a brother of the bridegroom, Leonard Beaudry of Manchester and Ernie Gardner of Ann Arbor.

Tammie McGough of Ypsilanti, a cousin of the bride, attended as flower girl, attired in a white gown and accessories and carrying a basket of mint green and aqua petals. Kevin Russell, the bridegroom's nephew, served as ring bearer.

The bride's mother chose a light aqua sheath dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations. A two-piece dress of yellow-lace over tulle was chosen by the bridegroom's mother. She wore a corsage of yellow and white carnations.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held at Inverness Country Club with 150 guests attending. Mrs. Bill Lewis, an aunt of the bridegroom, poured coffee and Mrs. Jim Russell, sister

Dinne Bosscher, M. Hitchingham Exchange Vows in Grand Rapids

Michael Dean Hitchingham and his bride, the former Diann Lee Bosscher, will be living in Ann Arbor following a wedding trip to Miami, Fla.

The couple was united in marriage Aug. 10 at the East Congregational church, Grand Rapids, by Dr. J. Clement Walker. The Rev. Robert F. Lignell of Grand Rapids sang "Be Thou With Them" and "The Lord's Prayer" at the 4 p.m. nuptials.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bosscher of East Grand Rapids and Mr. and Mrs. William P. Hitchingham of 449 Chelsea-Dexter Rd.

Two hundred guests attended the ceremony at which the bride wore a Swiss embroidered organza semi-cage gown with high-flare bodice and long sleeves of Swiss eyelet. The detailed chapel-length train was outlined in Swiss eyelet and the bride's fingertip veil was secured by a circle of flowers and pearls. She carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, yellow sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath with ivy on a white Bible which her mother had carried at her wedding.

Miss Janis E. Lintern of Painesville, O., attended as maid of honor with Miss Carol D. Rhoton of New York, N. Y., Miss Katha J. Starnor of Mt. Pleasant and Miss Jill F. LePla of Grosse Pointe serving as bridesmaids.

Margaret Ferris, Frederick Wagner Wed in Capetown

The former Margaret-Anne Ferris and her husband, Frederick Wagner, are off to Europe for a 10-day honeymoon following their marriage, Aug. 9 at the Congregational Church, Cape Town, South Africa.

The Rev. Tarrant performed the wedding ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. I. H. Ferris of Cape Town and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Wagner of 319 Congdon St.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Sandra Ball of North Territorial Rd., Miss Gail Foster of Clardie Ct., Miss Faye Policht of Stoffe Rd., and Miss Sarah Taylor, a sister of the bridegroom, of Gregory. They wore bright pink satin sheath gowns with Empire waistlines and white lace A-line overlays. Daisies on the lace were accented with pink centers. Their headpieces were also fashioned of daisies, and they carried bouquets of pink daisies, pink streamers and white carnations.

Flower girl Sherry Lynn Dault, the bride's niece, was dressed in an outfit identical to the maid of honor's. She carried a white satin basket of white, pink and green daisies. The ringbearer was Stephen Dault, the bride's nephew. Both are of Saline.

The bride's mother selected a coral A-line dress with matching accessories. A long-sleeved turquoise sheath of chiffon over tulle with white accessories was chosen by the bridegroom's mother. Both wore white carnation corsages.

Judith Tykoski, Raymond Faitel, Jr., Are Wed at St. Joseph Church

St. Joseph Catholic church was the scene for the marriage Saturday, Aug. 10, of Judith Ann Tykoski and Raymond Norman Faitel, Jr., presently stationed with the U. S. Navy at Jacksonville, Fla. The Rev. Father Gerald O'Bea of St. John Fisher Chapel Rochester, close friend of the bride, bridegroom, and bridegroom's family officiated at the double-ring ceremony and the nuptial mass at 10 a.m. Mrs. Joseph Schnabel, Jr., was the organist and vocalist for the wedding attended by 300 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Tykoski of 9361 Chelsea Rd., are the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Norman Faitel, Jr., of 4758 Firestone, Dearborn, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a white floor-length, empire-styled gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace. The high empire Chantilly lace bodice was designed with a high scoop neckline trimmed with seed pearls and two rows of wide lace adorned the bottom of the A-line skirt and also the detachable chapel-length train fastened at the shoulders. The three-tier, elbow-length, silk illusion veil was secured by a forward pouff of organza and pearl centered loops.

A cascade bouquet of star flowers centered with butterfly orchids was carried by the bride. Miss Barbara Tykoski, the bride's sister, wore a Nile dactron dotted Swiss empire cage over a lace-topped taffeta sheath. Multi-colored floral band defined the waistline curve. Her headpiece of three tiers of veiling secured by three flowers matched her gown and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow miniature carnations centered with yellow roses.

Bridesmaids, Miss Evelyn Garles of Wyandotte, the bride's college roommate, and Miss Mary Novak of Dearborn, cousin of the bride, chose floor-length gowns and headpieces in maize color identical to that of the maid of honor. Their colonial bouquets of yellow carnations were centered with green roses.

For the ceremony and breakfast Mrs. Tykoski was attired in a medium blue lace A-line dress with a white orchid tipped in yellow corsage. For the evening reception she selected an empire-style white lace over crepe with a pink band and bow defining the waistline curve.

The bridegroom's mother chose an aqua-colored dress accented with a beaded necklace and a white orchid corsage for the morning ceremony and a pink lace having a straight skirt for the reception held in the evening.

Little Terriann Faitel, the bridegroom's sister, was the flower girl, and Donnie Mascot, the bridegroom's nephew, was the ringbearer.

The couple left on a trip to Jacksonville, Fla., where the bridegroom is stationed with the U. S. Navy.

A senior at Eastern Michigan University, majoring in Elementary Education, the bride will accompany her husband to Florida. Her plans are to return to college later and complete her studies while Mr. Faitel is fulfilling his requirements for sea duty.

If the Greek proverb is true—that "gray hair is a sign of age, not of wisdom," doesn't it seem wise of us who have a bit of "tattle-tale gray" amongst our locks to cover them with a color that will belie our age? Not that there's anything wrong with succumbing to the inevitability of age when you're ready! But are you ready? If so, a pretty hairdo will enhance the beauty of gray hair. But if you'd like to wait a while to admit you've had your 25th or 30th birthday, there's no reason in this era why you shouldn't. Haircoloring is as popular as lipstick, and it's getting almost as simple to apply.

17-Year-Old
Driver Charged
As Reckless

A Chelsea police car was almost run off the road by an oncoming car Aug. 10, and the chase which followed resulted in the arrest of the driver on charges of reckless driving and possession of liquor by a minor and the arrest of a passenger on a charge of disorderly conduct.

A second passenger, a 16-year-old youth, was released to his parents.

The car, driven by Ricki Edward Ash, 17, 597 Kuehnle Ave., Ann Arbor, crossed the center line on M-52 as it was heading north into Chelsea and forced the patrol car out of the way.

Patrolmen David Peebles and G. H. Ringe chased the car, which turned into Stop & Shop parking lot, switched its headlights off and sped toward Old US-12.

Police chased the car along Old US-12 until it finally pulled over west of Fletcher Rd.

A bottle of beer was found in the back seat of the car, and the driver was then arrested. Police say the other two passengers were uncooperative when asked for identification and were arrested for disorderly conduct.

The three were advised of their rights and taken to the Washtenaw County Jail where two were booked and the third released to his parents.

Peter Paul Birchmeier, 20, 7929 Third St., Dexter, and Ash were released on bond after an arraignment before Sylvan Township Justice C. A. Rogers, Aug. 10. They were notified to appear in court Friday, Aug. 16.

No petition was made at the time for juvenile court proceedings for the third youth.

Area Holstein Cow
Reaches 100,000-Pound
Production Milestone

Holstein-Friesian Association of America has reported a production milestone for a registered Holstein cow from this area. The career producer has been credited with more than 100,000 lbs. of milk output under official testing supervision.

The owner, George Macomber & Sons, Manchester, has been notified that Pabst Regal Best 4610724 (GP), has produced 101,852 lbs. of milk and 3,968 lbs. of butterfat in 3,174 days since becoming two years of age.

Because of current replacement heifer rearing and purchase costs, cows that stay in the herd longer and achieve high lifetime production levels have proven to be more profitable. The Holstein Association has nearly 20,700 cows on file that have attained the 50-ton production milestone.

Production levels of this magnitude can be attributed to scientific advances in feeding and management practices coupled with the genetic improvement and longevity of Registered Holsteins.
