QUOTE

"The United States, the most powerful country in the world, is now having its moral power and prestige weakened by fighting, indecisively, a small Asian country." Lester B. Pearson, former Prime Minister of Canada

Enthusiastic Crowd Attends Dedication

Nearly 1,000 Chelsea residents and out-of-town residents attended the house and dedication at the new Dwight E. Beach Junior High School Sunday afternoon.

General Dwight E. Beach, for whom the school is named, gave the dedication address. The former commander in chief of the army of the Pacific is a native of Chelsea. He retired from that position Aug. 1, and is now living in Annapolis, Md.

Among those attending from out of town were former superintendent of schools E. L. Clark. A formation of eight jet planes flew overhead several times at 1 p.m. were unrelated to the presence of Gen. Beach. Though they completed speculation that it had been arranged to have them here for an Air show at Willow Run.

Prior to the dedication ceremony, student council members gave guided tours through the building. The dedication ceremony was presided over by Mrs. Florence Mayer, widow of the late Gen. Beach, and community leader Alfred D. Mayer. Village President Don Baldwin was the principal speaker in the Mayer Drive dedication.

Gridders Win, 13-7, Over Stockbridge

Chelsea High school Junior Varsity football team seems to have picked off the season on the right foot by defeating Stockbridge, 13-7, Saturday.

Both teams scored the first time they had their hands on the ball, leaving Chelsea trailing, 7-0.

Chelsea scored from the one-yard line in the second quarter and added the extra point. The balance of the game belonged to the defenses.

Larry Gorton was the iron man on offense with 130 yards gained and all 13 points to his credit. Jack McClellan completed four out of six passes for 31 yards, all to Tom Lukasiak, who also did a fine defensive job.

Other players showing a good game on defense were Dave Porath, Tom Harmon and Bob Salter, who intercepted a pass on Chelsea's four-yard line late in the fourth quarter to stop a last-minute drive by the Stockbridge eleven.

The Chelsea line-up looked a little ragged in the Saturday afternoon heat but hopes to look better here this Thursday night against Dundee at 7 p.m.

Council Briefs

At a regular meeting of the Village Council Thursday evening a request was entered by the Chelsea Milling Co. for the prohibition of parking on some sections of North St. and Buchanan St. Trustee Heydlauff was instructed to investigate and advise the council.

A request for sewer and water services was entered by residents of Old US-12 West which was recently annexed to the village. President Baldwin informed the group that a study will be initiated at once to investigate the possibility of construction at the most opportune time.

The Chelsea JC's requested permission to construct a bulletin board at Pierce Park which will be posted with information for tourists. Trustee Fulk was requested to work with the JC's in this regard.

Gary Packard and Mrs. Anne Steinway representing the Chelsea JC's and the JC Auxiliary, requested permission from the council to establish a program to welcome new residents to the Chelsea area. Permission was granted.

President Baldwin appointed the following men to the Village Industrial Development Committee, for a term expiring April 1, 1969: Larry Chapman, Jim Liebeck and Robert Barlow; for a term expiring April 1, 1970: Eldon Gorton, Robert Schaeffer and Fred Mills. Appointment was approved.

President Baldwin appointed the following men to the Village Planning Commission for a period of three years—Dr. Joseph Fisher, Robert Rudd and Fred Barkley. Appointments were approved.

A petition for a special use permit to construct a Dairy Queen on the Paul Pierce property was approved for a public hearing to be held on Tuesday, Oct. 15.

Motion was made and approved to pay bills.

Frederick Osterle Faces Manslaughter Charge In Weeks Death

Ann Arbor court-appointed attorney Ray Bishop has waived examination and added an additional count of manslaughter to charges against Frederick J. Osterle.

Trial is still pending for the 57-year-old Chelsea man, who now faces an open charge of murder and an additional charge of manslaughter. The trial concerns the Aug. 25 death of Glenn Weeks, who died in Osterle's home at 704 Taylor St. of a shotgun blast in the stomach.

Bulldogs Open With 19-7 Win At Stockbridge

An early first quarter touchdown pass from Craig Houle to Jim Wojcik, covering a total of 63 yards, opened the scoring and set the pace for Chelsea as they overpowered the Stockbridge Panthers, 19-7, in the opening game of the season last Friday evening on the Stockbridge home field.

Although it was Friday the 13th, the Bulldogs went into the game determined to win their first opener. Their determination to win was evident from the beginning of the first quarter, to the end of the game.

Chelsea was on the defensive throughout most of the first quarter. The Stockbridge offense was confined to the ground most of the time in which the Panthers had possession of the ball. However, midway in the quarter, Stockbridge fumbled the ball with Mike H. very close at hand to make the recovery for Chelsea. The Bulldogs picked up only three yards in two plays on the ground so with a third down and seven yards to go for a new first down, Craig Houle threw to Wojcik. Wojcik broke loose and ran more than 50 yards to put Chelsea on the score-board.

The Bulldogs picked up another touchdown in the second quarter when Mike Schnaidt took a pitch-out from Houle and ran half-way up the field to score. Houle passed to Wojcik for the extra point, making a 13-0 half-time score.

Neither team was able to score in the third quarter, but late in the quarter, Leonard Kozma intercepted a Stockbridge pass to give Wojcik for the extra point.

Darrell Fletcher Sentenced on Charge Of Evading Arrest

Darrell Lee Fletcher, arrested Aug. 13 for escaping arrest five days earlier, was sentenced to two years probation, $205 fine plus costs and 30 days in jail Monday by Judge C. A. Rogers.

Fletcher, 22, 106 North St., was arrested Aug. 13 for evading law enforcement on another charge.

Sergeant David McCormick had arrested him Aug. 8 at I-94 and M-52 on a violation of probation charge. He had failed to report to his probation officer and did not pay a fine from an earlier offense.

Fletcher escaped by telling McCormick he wanted to get a shirt from home and then running away from McCormick at his home. Police Chief George Meenanuk said that he had been sheltered in homes in town for the five days before being arrested by Patrolman Gerald Ringe, who had been assigned to plain clothes duty to find Fletcher.

Fair Receipts Hit New High, Nearly $15,000

Fair Completely Out of Debt for First Time With Payment on Barn

The fair board has totaled up final receipts for the Chelsea Community Fair and finds this year to be more successful than any other thus far, with a total income of about $15,000.

At a meeting last week the board voted to pay off the final indebtedness on fair property with some of the profits. With this final payment on the cattle barn, the fair will be out of debt for the first time.

Board president Herman Koenn reports the breakdown of income to be approximately the following:

Kitchen $4,000, parking and gates $4,000, and carnival slightly under $4,000.

Koenn attributes the success of the fair to a number of factors. It was a record year for premiums and exhibits were outstanding. Livestock prices at the auction were high with the grand champion steer bringing 77 cents per pound. "This type of participation speaks well of the community," Koenn believes, adding that many from Dexter were helping and participating.

Part of the success might be due to some of the outstanding events at the fair, such as the farm and garden tractor pulling contests, the largest midway thus far, the horse shows, and of course the Fire Department directed parade Saturday.

Koenn cites a number of groups that assisted this year. Jaycees, Kiwanis, teachers groups helping in the kitchen, and groups helping with parking all contributed to spreading the work load and building community spirit.

Even Sylvan and Lima townships helped by loaning tables and chairs, as did Chelsea schools. Village council and the Washtenaw county Sheriff Department gave assistance.

Although there were many individuals who volunteered their time so that the fair would, and did succeed, Everett Van Riper and Jerry Niehaus were two men seen around Chelsea, working for the fair almost continually. Gerry Klink's management of the Little Red School House Restaurant kept the customers, and funds, pouring in.

Finally, there was one person who was so powerful that he could make the fair successful or a dismal failure, singlehandedly. He was on our side this year. Who? The Weatherman, of course!

Stork Arrives Before Doctor, Father Officiates

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

A dramatic power struggle took place this week between the forces of concerned young Congressmen and the House leadership exemplified by Speaker John McCormack and the committee chairmen. It was not a struggle that is likely to make headlines throughout the nation, but it concerns one of the most important matters to come before the Congress this year—the ability of the Congress to fulfill its role in our government in modern times. This is not a debate about the key issues—the Vietnam war, the rising crime rate, the draft, inflation—it is rather a debate about whether the Congress is going to reform its structure to assure that it can adequately consider those issues.

The present structure of the Congress is antiquated. The last major reform of Congress was accomplished more than 20 years ago. The Federal Government and the problems which it must handle have grown tremendously since that time. The structure set up in the 40's is not adequate to meet the demands of the 60's and 70's.

The key to the difficulties facing Congressional function is an inadequate committee system. Committees are run, in almost every case, by the personal whim of the chairman. The chairman are chosen not because of their expertise in any field or because of their leadership ability, but simply because they have been around longer than anyone else. Thus most chairmen are old, set in their ways and ideas, unwilling to consider change and unable to understand the demands of modern government.

Many committees are ruled with an autocratic hand. There are no provisions in most cases whereby a majority of a Committee can request that a bill be considered unless the Chairman wants it considered. When a bill is being debated, there is no guarantee that the minority will have an opportunity to present witnesses substantiating their point of view.

Even more significant, however, is the inadequate staffing of Congressional Committees. There is no guarantee that the minority will have any expert staff members to assist them in committee work. In most committees the minority staff is minimal—in some there is none at all. Without expert assistance, it is difficult to present responsible opposition and alternatives to majority proposals.

Not only is minority staff inadequate, but the entire system of staffing is so constructed as to prevent Congress from doing the job that it should. There is simply not enough staff, or enough time, to review effectively proposals which are made by executive agencies with thousands of staff members. Nor is there enough expertise to keep a constant watch on those agencies to assure that they remain within the intent of the laws. The Education and Labor Committee, for instance, has jurisdiction over the Department of Labor and Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Those departments have total budgets of more than 19 billion dollars and have 121,500 staff members. Yet the Committee which must oversee their activities has only 10 professional staff people.

In short, it is extremely difficult for the Congress to react to the major problems facing the nation in a meaningful way. Since I came to the Congress I have been frustrated by the failure of the leadership forces to consider new ideas, innovative programs and constructive alternatives to old programs. But the reins of power remain fixed, and though it seems certain that a majority of members of the Congress favor change in the power structure those who hold the reins will not readily agree to change.

Early last year the Senate approved the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1967 to correct many problems and misuses of power in the Congress. This legislation has been bottled up in the House Rules Committee ever since. Neither Chairman Colmer (who is 77) nor Speaker McCormack (who is 76) want to let it out. But we have started a significant movement to bring it to the House Floor for debate and consideration despite their strong opposition. If our effort is successful, and Congressional reform legislation is approved, the entire country will stand to

"Hidden" Propositions

How to draw attention to special propositions on voting machines is a problem which plagues Bernard Apol, state director of elections.

Five state proposals will be on the November ballot, and local propositions in many communities will increase the number. Apol is concerned that many voters will not be aware of the referendum "hidden" in the maze of office seekers. It is a well-founded fear.

An in-depth study of the 1961 Spring Election conducted by Apol showed a significant difference in behavior of voters using paper ballots than those using machines.

Almost 18 percent of those casting ballots by machine did not vote on the new Constitution proposal. For those voting by paper ballot, the number was only 2.6 percent. Although many factors could have affected the machine-voter drop-off, Apol believes that many voters simply did not notice the proposal on the voting machines.

"When someone votes by paper ballot," Apol says, "he looks at each ballot individually. Whether or not he chooses to vote on each proposal is immaterial. At least we are pretty well assured he has seen the questions." When using a machine, Apol points out, the voter may not be aware of the propositions placed near the top of the ballot, close to the instructions.

The August Primary Election showed the same trend in voter drop-off, although some improvement has been made since 1963. Rep. Russell Strange (R-Mt. Pleasant), chairman of the House Elections Committee, says, "This has been a matter of growing concern during the 12 years I have served on the elections committee. I have been involved in five legislative recounts and have noted the voter drop-off on propositions, particularly in Presidential elections."

Both Strange and Apol feel a study is needed, following the November election, to determine the best way to deal with the problem. Strange notes that any Legislature share his concern. Rep. Louis Schmidt (R-Livonia) has requested a joint study be conducted by the House Elections Committee and Apol's office.

Various methods to draw attention to propositions on voting machines have been tried, says Apol, but no one solution seems best. A multi-color face of red, white and blue seems to be most effective. Not only does the method have patriotic implications, the "vote the red, white and blue" slogan helps voters remember to complete their ballots before pulling the machine release lever. Under this system all propositions are printed on a red background, partisan offices are printed on a white background and non-partisan offices on a blue background.

Strange believes the method will probably be made mandatory. He notes that local voting precincts are now permitted to use the strips but many do not. "Depending on the results of our study, there is a good chance the red, white and blue designation for propositions, partisan and non-partisan questions will be adopted as a standard."

A numbering system was also used on an experimental basis but many of the county clerks ran into complaints, says Apol. The system used oversize numbers to designate steps for the voter to follow when casting his ballot. Arrows pointed to questions which

Feeder Cattle Sale Dates Set

Dates for the annual October Michigan Co-operative Feeder Cattle Sales have been set, according to Terry Greathouse, Michigan State University extension beef cattle specialist.

Beef cattle feeders in the corn production area of Michigan look to these sales to buy some of the cattle for their feedlots. Greathouse says that many feeders find they have less problems with these Michigan-reared cattle because they go on full feed quicker than cattle shipped from distant points.

Gaylord again will have two sales, the first for yearling cattle and the second for young calves. The complete list of sales includes:

Thursday, Oct. 8—Gaylord (yearlings).
 Monday, Oct. 7—Bruce Crossing.
 Tuesday, Oct. 8—Rapid River.
 Thursday, Oct. 10—Gaylord (calves).
 Friday, Oct. 11—Baldwin.
 Wednesday, Oct. 16—Alpena.
 Thursday, Oct. 17—West Branch.

Detailed information regarding the sales may be obtained from Greathouse at the Animal Husbandry Department, Michigan State University, East Lansing, or from county Co-operative Extension Service offices.

NEED TREATMENT

Children do not "outgrow" crossed eyes. To prevent possible loss of sight, crossed eyes should be treated before the child reaches four years of age.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Bug Hookum opened the session at the country store Saturday night by announcing America was getting took over by the humbugs. What brought it to mind, said Bug, was this piece he had saw in the papers where 31 brands of licker was tested for taste and when they got through the testers said they wasn't much difference in any of the brands except the price. Bug went on to say he knowed this feller that bought one bottle of high price licker onct, and ever since he just buys the cheapest brand and keeps the high price bottle poured full.

Clem Webster was agreed with Bug, said a heap of what we call progress in this country today wasn't nothing but folks trying to keep up with the Joneses. For instance, he said, if they was to list hot dogs in a foreign language in some of them fancy eating places folks would pay $4 apiece for 'em. Ed Boottle, that refused to cross the New Frontier and was origin the Great Society, claimed it all got started with the New Deal. Ed said it was along about that time when they quit putting watch pockets and suspender buttons on pants and we had gone downhill ever since.

Zeke Grubb allowed as how we got to look at these matters with a little charity in our heart, that different people has different tastes. That's the reason, said Zeke, they make chocolate and vanilla. They was tastes fer eating and tastes fer clothes and cars and everything else, was the way Zeke put it.

Yeh, said Ed sarkastic, he special liked the taste of them judges that give first prize in a sculpture show in New York and found out corresponded to the numbers. Some complained that the numbers pointed to their opponents' names, and many complained that the arrows pointed to "yes" or "no" on proposals, thus influencing voter decisions.

Printed instructions and verbal reminders have been used in some communities, and a facsimile of the face of the voting machine must be posted outside of voting booths.

Mechanical innovations may be in the offing. Apol has written to manufacturers of voting machines asking that they investigate installation of special lights or lock-releases to assure complete scrutiny of the ballot.

Since approximately 87 percent of all voters in Michigan use machines to cast their ballots, it is important that an effective solution be found.

New Apricot

"Goldcot," a new variety of apricot, was developed by horticulturists from Michigan State University's South Haven experimental station, and is expected to stimulate the first successful apricot production east of the Rocky Mountains.

It has an early maturity date and can be harvested over a 10-day period. Fruit buds resist injury from low temperatures but harmful effects of freeze-thaw weather in early spring may restrict production to the northwestern part of the Lower Peninsula.

Research in development of a hardy apricot began in 1938, and 239 varieties have been unsuccessfully tested since 1937.

Goldcot is excellent for fresh use, home processing and baby food. It is not considered prime for commercial canning because the skins are dark and probably unpleasant to the eye of many consumers.

Later some college students had welded pieces of a wrecked car together and made it fer a joke. Josh Clodhopper, that usual don't say much at the meetings, butted in to say we wasn't getting nothing done at the session and he was in favor of changing the subject. Josh said he could recollect a Englishman said onct that America was a insane asylum run by the inmates and he reckoned we was just some of the inmates.

Personal, Mister Editor, I ain't interested in nothing but the taste you eat with and the other tastes folks has got can work themselves out. I don't care if some folks pay $4 fer a hot dog with a new name, but that don't mean I got to like maynaze on them store bought bread slices you can hold up to the light and read the newspaper through. I reckon the worst taste I've heard lately was that woman driver passing out from the heat on account of keeping her car wipers rolled up tight during the August hot spell so her neighbors would think she had air conditioning.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

SCOUTS RECRUITING: Den I of Cub Scout Pack 455 with their Den Mother, Mrs. Charles Burgess, and four Boy Scouts practiced at the old junior high gym Monday night for the flag ceremony, planned for part of the Recruiting Night program Thursday, Sept. 26. Scouts are inviting parents of boys eight years or more to come and see some of the projects and programs the scouts undertake, with the idea of rounding up new members.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
I share City Manager Guy Larcom's recently expressed concern over the Huron River Watershed Council's slow progress. The public should know that the problem lies not in the council itself, which is ably directed by its executive secretary Jerome Fulton and its executive, technical, and information committees, but with governmental units which appoint delegates either too apathetic or too busy to attend meetings.

For example Ann Arbor is entitled to four representatives. Two, Councilman Doug Cray and former Councilwoman Eunice Burns have been excellent. Two others have attended only two meetings each since Guy Larcom gave up the chairmanship in 1966. Other governmental units have similar records. The practice of relying on busy councilmen for these jobs is questionable when there are informed citizens who could well represent the city's interests. Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Mildred Fletcher, Spencer Havlick, Bill Stapp, Bob Carpenter, Lyle Crane and the A. A. News' Doug Fulton are good examples.

Mr. Larcom also criticized "current prejudices" as motivation for participation in Watershed Council activities. He certainly recalls that Michigan's watershed act itself was born because of Ann Arbor's and Ypsilanti's special prejudice toward using the Huron for water supply and waste disposal. This same "prejudice" motivated the 1960-1968 Huron River Water-Use Policy, and the 1964 choice of U.S. Public Health Service's Plan "A" for water supply-waste disposal programs dependent on the Huron. This action consequently encouraged the Army Engineers to broaden the scope of the ill-conceived Mill Creek Reservoir Project plan in order to include provisions for these uses.

At least one state official has described these actions as "a hood-winking operation they were able to get by with, without the downstream communities catching on." Also at first, the Watershed Council was nicknamed "the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti Protective Association."

Gradually as river basin population increases, people are becoming more aware of the importance of the river. Competition over uses will increase and more special interest groups will appear. Already there are the Lake Erie Clean-up Committee, the Huron Utilities Association, the Mill Creek Research Council, the Huron Valley Conservation Association, and the new Huron River Anti-pollution Commission, all vitally interested in the river and its uses.

The Huron River Watershed Council is the best agency to provide a common meeting ground for all the special interest groups. Presently the Council has a marvelous opportunity and is beginning to develop flood-damage prevention programs for the basin. It was a disappointment to those attending the July 24th meeting that Mr. Larcom, an announced speaker, was unable to come. Graphic illustrations of flood damage were presented and some positive damage prevention programs were suggested. It was a fine beginning, and hopefully, a preview on coming progress.

However, the Watershed Council cannot function effectively until governmental units appoint competent, interested delegates who will attend the meetings. Until this is done progress will continue to be slow and painful. Virginia Denham.

Orders will be filled before the public sale opens.

In addition to the mail order tickets, the Tigers will offer single raffle tickets at $2 each and a few tickets for seats with obstructed view of the field at $8 each. They will be sold over the counter, on a first-come, first-served basis at the Tiger Stadium ticket booth, starting at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 2.

No other tickets will be sold and none will be on sale the day of the games scheduled for Tiger Stadium.

Watershed Council Meet Set for Sept. 26

The regular September Huron River Watershed Council meeting has been scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 26 at 8 p.m. at North Campus Commons in Ann Arbor.

Topics for discussion and action have been selected. There will be a staff report on a proposed flood warning, plain delineation and channel improvement program.

A panel discussion has been set to discuss both short- and long-range water pollution problems, especially in reference to pollution of the Huron River below Rawsonville Rd. The panel will be comprised of representatives of upstream and downstream governmental units.

The flood and pollution conditions that prompted these two discussions have been brought rather abruptly to the attention of area residents this past summer. Between June 21 and 24 most areas in the Huron River Watershed received more than two and one-half inches of rain. One night later more than five inches fell, but this last downfall did not work in the saturated soil—it ran off.

Welcome Wagon Service Will Greet Newcomers

New Chelsea residents will be welcomed to the community in style after Mrs. Ronald Nix completes the Welcome Wagon training course October 4 and becomes Chelsea's first hostess for that organization.

Mrs. Nix will be working under the guidance of Mrs. Evelyn Holt, the Area representative from Ann Arbor. She applied for the position and was interviewed by Mrs. Holt, who made the final decision. "I think I'll like the opportunity to meet and help people," Mrs. Nix said in explaining her decision to apply for the position.

She will be visiting each merchant in the village to convince him to donate gifts for a basket she presents new families. Since she will be explaining where each gift originated it will be a form of advertising for the stores participating. Mrs. Nix says that other areas have little problem convincing merchants since new residents are always new customers for some of the area stores. For this reason, she expects a good response to her visits.

She will then begin to set up appointments with new residents as she becomes aware of them. Some of her other functions besides presenting the basket and formally welcoming the new family to Chelsea will be a sort of "information service" to the newcomers.

She has a list of babysitters, churches and all other organizations and groups in Chelsea and will direct the family to whatever groups or persons they need.

A report of each visit will be sent to the national welcome wagon office.

Mrs. Nix lives at 528 Wilkison, with her husband, Robert, and two-year-old daughter, Lisa. Her husband is employed at the Ann Arbor Post Office.

The 1968 World Series is scheduled to open Oct. 2 in the National League park, with the second game at the same site the following day. Games No. 3, No. 4 and No. 5 will be played in the American League park Oct. 5, 6 and 7, after which the series will return to the National League park, if necessary, for the 6th and 7th games, Oct. 9 and 10, barring a play-off or postponement.

Three types of tickets are being offered for mail sale by the Tigers, at prices established by Commissioner of Baseball William D. Eckert.

The Tigers reserve the right to select by drawing the game for which tickets are supplied and to substitute lower-priced tickets, with a refund, if it is necessary, when the order is received. Fans not accepting these provisions should so indicate in their letters.

Holders of season or special combination ticket plans at Tiger Stadium during the regular season already have been sent World Series ticket applications and their

Cross Schedules Several Fall Courses of Water Safety Courses

Classes in water safety have been scheduled for this fall by the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross, in cooperation with the Ann Arbor Department. All classes will be held at the Tappan High School pool.

A senior life saving course will begin Wednesday, Sept. 25, from 7 to 8 p.m., continuing every Wednesday for 10 consecutive weeks. This course is open to persons at least 10 years of age who are strong swimmers. David E. Green is acting as co-instructor, beginning Wednesday, Sept. 25, from 8:30 to 10 p.m., and continuing once a week for 10 weeks. It is open to all residents of Washtenaw county who are 18 years of age or older. The program is co-educational and instruction will be offered at all levels of ability. Non-swimmers are especially urged to enroll because of the emphasis on safety, in and around the water. Christine Trammontin is the co-instructor.

A class for Red Cross water safety instructors starts Monday, Oct. 7, from 7 to 10 p.m., continuing once a week for 10 weeks. This course is open to anyone in the county who holds a current senior life saving certificate and who will be 18 years old before the course ends. Gerald Greenlick, class instructor, asks that all students bring pencil, paper, and a valid senior life saving certificate. Enrollees for any of the above classes should bring their swim suits, towels, and caps for women. A $1 fee is required by the Recreation Department to cover lockers and use of the pool. To register, call the American Red Cross at 971-5800.

This is a good time of the year to get up early and see a sunrise.

SEC. 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration card and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer, legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration card to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. The notary public or other officer administering the oath shall sign his name on the line for the signature of the registration officer and designate his title.

Transfer of Registration, Application, Time
SEC. 505. Any registered elector may upon change of residence within the Township, City or Village cause his registration to be transferred to his new address by sending to the Clerk a signed request, stating his present address, the date he moved thereto, and the address from which he was last registered, or by applying in person for a transfer. The Clerk shall strike through the last address, word and number on the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original registration card in proper order in the registration book. Such transfers shall not be made after the Friday preceding any election or primary election (unless such Friday shall fall on a legal holiday in which event registration shall be accepted during the next full working day.)

Transfer of Registration on Election Day
SEC. 507. Any registered elector who has removed from one precinct of the Township, City or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village and has not recorded such removal with the local Clerk shall execute a transfer of registration request, listing the new residence address thereon over his signature, with the election board in the precinct in which he is registered at the next ensuing primary or election. The inspector of election in the precinct of the elector shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration card and, if the signatures correspond, then the inspector shall certify such fact by affixing his initials upon said request. The applicant for transfer, after having signed an application to vote as provided in Section 513 of this act, shall then be permitted to vote in the precinct for that primary election only. The application for transfer shall be filed with the Township, City or Village Clerk who shall transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any elector in the Township, City or Village has been changed, it shall be the duty of the Township, City or Village Clerk to make the change in the proper name of street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote.

Gridders of the Week

FEATURED BULLDOG GRIDDERS this week are two senior co-captains with three years of varsity experience each. Gary Ellenwood, 6'1", 190-pound tackle, has been playing football since 7th grade. Last year he played end and tackle but this year will stick with the tackling. In addition to football, Gary has played basketball and baseball. Last year he played varsity basketball but is undecided as to whether he will do likewise this year. Gary is in Varsity club and Key club. He lists some of his favorite activities as hunting deer and rabbit, fishing and all sports. Next year he hopes to go to college. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley E. Ellenwood, at 201 Buchanan.

MIKE HARVEY has been playing football since he was a freshman. He was JV then—now is varsity co-captain. Last year his number 30 jersey was seen in fullback position but this year he is an end. This 6', 175-pound senior was a frosh letter winner in varsity baseball for his efforts as catcher. He enjoys hockey, hunting and trout fishing. He occupies a seat in Student Council and the president's chair in Varsity club. Next year he plans to attend Northwestern in Traverse City. As yet, he has not settled upon a major, but will not be playing football for them. Mike has an older brother, Bill, who is attending Eastern Michigan. Like Mike, he was a high school athlete, playing football and baseball. His two sisters are Joan, 13, a freshman at Chelsea High school, and Carol, who just started kindergarten this year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Harvey, 13410 Old US-12.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Thou Shalt Not Steal—unless you can get away with it! Increasing numbers of presumed respectable people have converted the commandment into a caution . . . Stealing has reached proportions to compel package designers of store sold products to keep a principal thought in mind—thwart the thieves. More and more products are sealed, through necessity, to keep people from taking home two products for the price of one. Price tags have to be placed underneath cellophane to keep people from switching tags. Small items are mostly sold on hard to conceal bulky card board, displayed on racks at eye level. Hard to open jar tops are used to keep people from switching lids. A half million shopping carts were stolen last year! Sounds unbelievable? Ask any merchant!

Hotels and motels report staggering thefts in such things as towels and table ware. Incredible as it seems, even Bibles are stolen! Sounds unbelievable? Ask any motel manager!

More and more people are beginning to wonder whatever became of our old fashioned American integrity. More and more people are beginning to think that maybe the best way to break this growing imprisoned habit of stealing would be to enforce a certainty of imprisonment when caught. They may be right. What do you think? . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR 5-4141.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

A Good Christian

It is not easy always to be a good Christian. Those who choose to do so find that the road is sometimes hard and difficult. It is simple enough for those who merely go through the motions. Church on one hour of one day each week. That isn't much. But, when it comes to really putting sin underfoot, turning away from an idle temptation, doing right even when no one is keeping the score well, that is something else again.

The challenges of modern-day living are often subtle. So many "wrong" things appear to bear the stamp of public approval, are made to appear more "right" than "wrong" because, "everybody does it." The good Christian is not a "loner." But he will stick to the straight path even if he isn't following the crowd. The good Christian will not turn back, and will not be lonely.

The true Christian follows a path that leads ever upward, straight to the pearly gate of the City of God.

Text of Gen. Dwight Beach's Remarks at Dedication of New Junior High

Cameron, members of the School Board, residents of Chelsea and other friends: I am grateful to be here today. I am grateful to you, do me the honor of being here today. However, on behalf of the soldiers, sailors, airmen, Marines from Chelsea and elsewhere, those who gave their lives for my brother, Kenny, I am here with humility. Forty years ago on July 28, 1928 I left Chelsea. I did not realize then that 40 years later my home town would be such a place. I had the opportunity to visit in many parts of the world and I realize what a great way of life we have in Chelsea and in America. I hope that everyone here is as much as I do. In countries throughout the world, the young men and women of age have had little or no education. Many have been working in rice paddies for the most of their lives, alongside their parents, just to get enough to eat. They are working long hours at a hard job just to keep body and soul together. However, these have one aspiration which is to change this world into a better one than it has been. The past and that is a tremendous pressure and desire for something which we are not given.

Some of the key figures in the birth and growth of the new Dwight E. Beach school got together to dedicate the new school. From left, Ed Lewis, a school board trustee; Charles Cameron, superintendent of schools; Robert Taylor, treasurer of the school district; General Dwight E. Beach, for whom the school was named; Donald Irwin, school board president; Fred Mills, business manager of the school system; and Alan Conklin, principal of the newly-dedicated school.

Just retired from the Army, I have had rather a long association, as Command Chief of the United States Pacific, with the war in Vietnam. I thought I would try to give you a soldier's appraisal of the war. I will try to be as objective as I can. I understand full well the complexity of this war. It is a war of interacting forces—military, economic, political, and even ethnic. Many of the most complex wars in our history have been wars of attrition. I agree. Our Civil War was a war of attrition. The most traumatic war this nation has ever known is nothing new to us. In fact, the only war we have fought that had general support was World War I for which we can thank the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor. However, we can be proud that we successfully defended each war. Otherwise, there would be no United States of America today and we would not be here in this great town of Chelsea dedicating this new school.

Let us define the war as it is generally understood. War is a political act. It is the employment of force to achieve a political objective. The United States in Vietnam has a limited objective. It is to protect North Vietnam; (b) To overthrow the present government of South Vietnam; (c) To unite all of Vietnam under communist control. It is interesting to contrast our limited and essentially defensive objective with the last two goals. No one argues with his stated objective of defending North Vietnam. This is the purpose of all governments. The war, however, came about when Hanoi directly challenged our objective of preventing them from taking over the South by force and uniting all of Vietnam under communist control. Whenever the war ends, and the only hope our negotiators in Paris are successful, there will be a winner and there will be a loser. The North Vietnamese communists will either control the South or they will not. This is the issue. Now, let's look at the record. By late 1964, South Vietnam was under heavy attack from the Viet Cong. Sensing the kill, North Vietnam dispatched regular Army units to the North Vietnamese Army to South Vietnam. Due to this aggression by organized North Vietnamese regular Army units, the situation by February 1965 became desperate in the South. Then began our air campaign against the North, beginning on a very selective and low scale and the commitment of United States land power in the form of the Marines at Danang and the Army's 173d Airborne Brigade in the South. There is no doubt that this action saved South Vietnam from collapse and forcible reunification with the North. If this feat of arms was not fully appreciated here at home, make no mistake about the surge of confidence it gave to our Asian allies, as well as other countries of Southeast Asia who choose publicly to sit on the fence. Even those who lean towards the communist camp were delighted that naked aggression had been halted. The rest of 1965 and 1967 were spent in: (a) Building a logistical base; (b) Mounting, with daring, aggressiveness and unbroken success, offensive actions on the ground against an enemy never before challenged in many of his sanctuaries; and, (c) An extension of the air campaign against the North. I should like to emphasize the incomparable logistical build up and performance our forces have demonstrated in carrying this war to the enemy 10,000 miles from here. With our mobility we have clearly demonstrated the projection of more combat power in and over Vietnam than is possible for any combination of our actual or potential enemies. This means, in a real sense, we are closer to any point in South Vietnam than our enemies who are there. This is a strategic feat of profound significance and one which is understood in military circles around the globe. Make no mistake about this fact not being known in communist circles. In 1967 the pay-off began. We made unmistakable progress in every area. I believe that the pattern of enemy actions in early 1968 arose because of Hanoi's growing awareness that they were failing and their chances of seizing South Vietnam by force were becoming more remote. You know it's an old saying "Never change a winning game—always change a losing game." Hanoi saw its situation clearly and changed its game. Hanoi's response became known as the Tet offensive, a psychologically conceived assault on the government and the people of South Vietnam. If there are some who have doubts as to who won that fight, let's look at the facts. The Tet offensive did produce widespread disruption; however, the offensive failed. Headlines were captured, particularly here at home in the United States, but in the cities of South Vietnam the Army and the government stood firm. The popular uprising on which the enemy counted never occurred. Pacification, while hurt, is on a steady recovery. I suggest that the bloody losses suffered by the enemy during Tet, at Khe Sanh, at A Shau and at many other places were truly a major military defeat for the enemy which will affect the course of the war. How has our Army been performing? You will recall a hue and cry in the press, quoting some prominent subversives in our government, that American boys could never defeat the wily, elusive Viet Cong fighting on his own tough terrain in the tropical heat. What has the record been? Not one, and I repeat not one, defeat of our consequence. A magnificent accolade to the youth of America. You don't see a statement like this in the press. Why, I don't know. This unchallengeable fact of our successful military record in Vietnam has never been widely publicized. Also, the ineffectiveness of the Army of South Vietnam has been played up by our press for a long time. These derogatory remarks may have had a helpful effect in that it has been speculated that Hanoi was beginning to believe what appeared in our own papers about the ineffectiveness of the Army of South Vietnam and as a result concluded that they wouldn't fight. Its record during and since Tet is clear evidence of an Army that can and will fight. General Abrams, the current commander in Vietnam, whose primary task before becoming the over-all commander, was to improve the capability of the Army of South Vietnam, states that of the 149 combat battalions of the Army of South Vietnam that participated in the

Tet offensive: (a) 42 battalions performed with distinction; (b) 89 battalions performed effectively; (c) 8 battalions performed poorly. This indicates that the Army of South Vietnam is constantly improving and is an effective fighting force. Another controversial issue that has appeared in our press are the arguments for an enclave strategy which accepts a static defensive position as being the proper one. I cannot understand the reasons for this. The enclave concept is seriously deficient as: (1) We would forfeit our superiority in mobility and fire power; (2) We would give the enemy unhindered access to the very centers of population; and, (3) Tet and other attacks on other cities under the enclave strategy would be the normal mode of conflict—indeed, drawn out and hopeless. I don't believe the people in Hue or in Saigon would welcome any such enclave concept. Those who survived the mass executions would have good cause to wonder about our common sense as would those who daily exist under the terror of rocket attacks. Khe Sanh has been a controversial issue in the press. The press comments went something like this: (a) The United States was sucked into an indefensible position by Ho Chi Minh and his principal lieutenant, Giap; (b) This foolish action is all the more inexcusable in light of the French defeat at Dienbienphu some 14 years ago; (c) Khe Sanh could result in a crushing American defeat brought about by wrong-headed US military advisors. Beach speech cont. 3

Let's take a look at the record. The Khe Sanh base is about two miles by one-half mile wide. It was defended by about 6,000 troops, mostly U.S. Marines. It had tactical, strategic and psychological importance. What was the score? The U.S. lost 200 killed. The enemy lost in excess of 10,000, or more than 50 to 1. The enemy fired about 11,000 rounds at Khe Sanh, averaging about 150 rounds per day. We, the U.S., fired some 120,000 rounds at the enemy. Our massive use of air power punished the enemy severely. We dropped an average of 1,800 tons of bombs a day, and we supplied Khe Sanh by air every day good weather and bad and it was mostly bad. The plan was to let the enemy commit himself and then beat him to death with our fire power. We succeeded. We tied down at least two enemy divisions that lost at least 50 percent of their strength. We prevented these divisions from attacking Hue. It was an outstanding U.S. victory. Later the road to Khe Sanh was opened and Khe Sanh was relieved by the magnificent operations of the U.S. Army's 1st Air Cavalry Division. This division points up a new dimension in warfare due to its great mobility. Simply stated, it uses helicopters in lieu of trucks to move troops. The remaining enemy surrounding Khe Sanh was overwhelmed by the appearance of the 1st Air Cavalry Division and left his defenses in panic. June and July finds the enemy avoiding major contacts, but harassing with attacks by fire and ambush. Since early May, indiscriminate rocket attacks on Saigon have made the capital city a critical area. This is clearly an attempt to raise tension, create havoc and induce a sense of hopelessness and despair. He has tried to attack again in the last six weeks but has been soundly whipped. To date, there have been 800 civilians killed and almost 5,000 wounded, and almost 180,000 made homeless by these indiscriminate rocket attacks. These attacks are militarily meaningless. What they are is random murder. How do we stand today: (a) The United States Armed Forces in Vietnam are undefeated and unbeatable. The enemy has lost whatever chance he ever had of taking over South Vietnam by military force; (b) Our forces have achieved an unbroken string of victories which is really something new in our military history. There have been no defeats; (c) The Army of South Vietnam has steadily improved; (d) Much hard fighting lies ahead, particularly under the current rules. I have no doubt whatever that if we persevere, even in the current restricted use of our power, we will succeed but it will take time and unnecessary casualties. For this we can thank the do-gooders, and subversives in our government. This war remains the least understood in our history. Americans, as a whole, do not realize the magnificent record of our armed forces and the splendid performance of our men in Vietnam. I got a thrill every time I visited Vietnam at the magnificent performance, truly impressive and outstanding, of our men. They have no doubts as to why they are there. They have no doubt that they can beat the enemy. Their only doubt is the backing they get from the home front. I suggest that those here who want a bombing halt volunteer to be point man on our infantry patrols. They might have a different view of giving the enemy every advantage. In conclusion, let me make a couple of points. As General Wheeler, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has said, "Just as tigers breed tigers, aggression begets aggression, not peace." From the vantage point of 30 years hindsight, I wonder what would have happened in 1939 if the democratic nations had stood up to Hitler. If the policy makers of the day had foreseen the catastrophic results of appeasement, I believe they would have acted differently and perhaps there would have been no World War II. Therefore, I believe we are acting properly in preventing North Vietnam from taking over South Vietnam by force. It is costly, however, I should also like to recall the cost of World War II—300,000 Americans dead and $400 billion. In this context, our cost in blood and treasure in Vietnam, while regrettable, are placed in better perspective. The war has cost us to date 27,700 killed of America's finest and many billions of dollars. Has our over-all strategy been correct? In my opinion, no. An ex-president, who was a general, Gen. Eisenhower, stated that war is a dirty, nasty business. Stay out of it if you can. If you get involved go in with overwhelming force and end it quickly. We did, under the doctrine of "restraint or measured response" just the opposite. Over a two-year period we built up gradually in response to the enemy's increasing threat and applied our power with great restraint. The result is where we stand today. What would I do to end the war? There are two approaches. First, we can continue as we have been. The result, if, and this is the big if, our home front remains solid, is inevitable—we will win. The second alternative is to end it now. This would require the unleashing of our conventional might, a land invasion of North Vietnam combined with an all-out air campaign to include the closing of Haiphong Harbor. You don't treat cancer with aspirin, you cut it out. Therefore, taking out Hanoi would take out the locus of infection and the war would be over. In closing, I would like to mention an observation also made by General Eisenhower—"Hindsight is more accurate, but foresight is more valuable." I only hope our more Chelsea boys of other Americans again have to stand up and fight.

57th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Martin E. Miller quietly celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary Monday at their home, 525 McKinley St.

PRIZEWINNER: "Michipoo's Sun Spots" shows the form that won him first place in the weanling stud class Sunday. Owner James Romine entered him in the Michigan State Pony of the American Show where he competed with the best of the approximately 400 Ponies of America in Michigan.

James Romine Shows Top Pony in Michigan State Show

Winners of the annual "Futureling Show" for weanling colts of the Michigan State Pony of the Americas Club include a local breeder.

James Romine of 821 Lowery Rd., won first place with his weanling stud "Michipoo's Sun Spots." The pony was shown by Belinda Bicknell of Michipoo Farms.

Other winners include weanling filly "B-S Miss Tona" owned by Mr. Beatty; yearling colt "O.S. Ule-H-pe" owned by Dr. Robert Armstrong of Kalamazoo; and yearling filly "Yen Ai Dizzle," owned by Frank Bowers of Galesburg.

Although Pony of the Americas is a breed that has only recently gained in popularity and popularity, it dates back to the 18th century. Indians used the small, western-type pony for war horses. They continued to breed POA's with Quarter Horses until the Appaloosa pony developed and POA characteristics had been nearly erased.

The breed was almost extinct when it was "rediscovered." It was found to have ideal size and disposition for young people. In 1954 International POA Club was started.

There are now an estimated

8,000 of these ponies in existence and about 400 in Michigan. In appearance, the POA is a mixture of Arabian and Quarter Horse characteristics, but the height must be 40" to 48" with Appaloosa coloring and acteristics. They are said to have responsive dispositions and ridden and shown western style natural gait. Many riders who have owned a Shetland pony and another for a full-sized horse, have the transition through a nearly erased. They are used principally in ches, farms, trail rides, and in the show ring. Persons wanting information about the club should to Pony of the Americas Inc., P.O. Box 1447, 1452 Federal, Mason City, Ia. 50601.

Thumbs Down on Daylight Savings

Since with daylight-saving has done nothing to convince Michigan farmers that it is a bad idea. According to Livingston farmwife, Mrs. Andrew (Audine) Jackson, "Sunday being we were really wishing of those who support 'double daylight' time would volunteer to get the cows in. At 5 it was dark, wet underfoot raining. The cows knew it wasn't time to go to the barn all that darkness, so it meant going around the pasture and in each one to get up. By the more than 70 had received personal invitation, we were tied and had lost almost an hour, and needless to say it didn't give our outlook in the day or farming business.

One can't help but wonder what is the most important—an evening hour to play golf, milk for the baby? To the farmer it probably would be golf. Farmers call it "Double-Daylight Saving Time" because the Rural Act placed most of Michigan two full hours ahead of "standard" time... giving them a nearly start in the day on work such as hay, fruit, or grain harvest which cannot begin until the day dries off.

As we finished the hay, we went to the conclusion that we haven't been able to start baling single day before noon. Any help we have wants to live "community" time, so we often get them just when our work is going best. Mrs. Jackson says: "It appears that most farmers are tolerant daylight saving as a somewhat silly nuisance and something to be done away with as soon as possible."

That opportunity, farmers are quick to point out, will come election day, Nov. 5, when the question of federally mandated daylight saving time will appear on the Michigan ballots. The proposition on the ballot will read:

Proposal No. 2—Referendum on Act 6 of Public Acts of 1967 (Daylight Saving Time).

Public Act 6 provides that Michigan shall be exempted from observing Daylight Saving Time. The purpose of this referendum is to approve or reject this act. Shall the State of Michigan observe Daylight Saving Time?

Yes No
Fed up with the whole idea, farmers are urging all-out support for a "no" vote.

If you want a king-size bed and you have a mini-sized door, look on a latex foam rubber mattress. It's light enough to be rolled, folded or flipped for easy delivery, and firm enough to give you sleeping comfort.

More than 12,000 Conservation Department free films were viewed last year by a million children and their teachers in Michigan. The Department made 6,500 movie mailings to schools, representing 1 percent of the total distributed by the Film Loan Service.

Clifford Bradbury Retires After 21 Years with Area ABA

A Dexter man was recognized for his contributions to the breeding improvement of farm livestock in northern Washtenaw county at East Lansing last week. Clifford Bradbury, Dexter, artificial inseminator for Michigan Animal Breeders Cooperative, received this recognition during a luncheon at the MABC State Board of Directors monthly meeting.

The occasion marked Bradbury's formal retirement from the organization after nearly 21 years of continuous service to dairymen and farmers in this area. During this period of time, Bradbury's area recorded more than 45,000 artificial breeding services to livestock owned by members in the area.

Aggressiveness, interest in the betterment of the lot of others, and dedication to the improvement of farm livestock were mentioned of Bradbury by those attending the luncheon in Kellogg Center.

Other attendants from the area were Mrs. Bradbury, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koenn, Chelsea. Koenn is president of the Chelsea local of MABC.

Bradbury also becomes the first employee of MABC to retire from the organization under the company's retirement income program. Retirement benefits become available to retiring employees for the first time this year. Bradbury's son James, will assume full-time responsibilities in providing future insemination service. Continued assistance will come from his brother Keith, and Tom Solowczuk, Ann Arbor.

Now entering its 25th year of service to farmers, members in Michigan and Indiana, MABC artificially inseminates more than 200,000 dairy and beef cattle each year. More than 100 technicians provide this improvement service to farmers throughout Michigan.

TIPS for your TOP

TODDY and FRAN

Getting your hair done is pretty much like buying any other service or product: there's always some place other than where you are that you can buy the same thing, probably just as good, and at a comparable price. So there has to be some reason why you "shop" at your favorite beauty salon—some reason it is your favorite. Perhaps it's friendly, thoughtful—in addition to accomplished operators. Perhaps it's because there's adjacent parking so your new hairdo won't be blown apart before you get to your car. Perhaps it's because you can reach it with a minimum of traffic tangles. These are just a few of the reasons we're the favorite "shopping center" for beauty among our followers. May we number you among them for these and a long list of other fringe benefits we could name?

9-Yr.-Old Kimberly Lyle Wins Coloring Contest

Nine-year-old Kimberly Lyle has proved to be one of the local coloring champs. It all started when her grandmother picked up seven-page entry booklets for the "back-to-school" coloring contest sponsored by merchants at an Ann Arbor shopping center.

Kimberly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine A. Lyle of 980 Cavanaugh Lake, colored the pictures depicting scenes from American history, and won the fourth grade division. A winner was picked for each grade from first to eighth.

Kimberly will be given a $25 gift certificate and be entered in the national contest in Washington, D. C., where she will have a chance to win up to $5,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds.

Since she had not been notified formally when she saw a list of winners in a newspaper, Kimberly was very surprised to hear the results of the contest. She was a good winner though—she even talked of sharing the prize with her brother who wasn't on the winning list!

Sound plans are essential in the accomplishment of any program, whether national or individual.

D. Holmes Named To Girl Scout Consulting Group

Dudley K. Holmes of Chelsea was appointed Sunday to the Consulting Commission of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. The commission will be the steering committee for the capital fund drive in 1970 to raise funds to complete Camp Linden.

The appointment was announced by Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing of Plymouth, council president, at an initial meeting at Camp Linden in northern Livingston county.

That the Scouts conduct a capital fund drive was recommended recently by a group of 31 community leaders from throughout the four-county area served by the council. Their report predicted that the council's membership of 10,474 would grow to 16,363 by 1980, an increase of 56 percent. The summer resident camp attendance should grow, they said, from 497 this past summer to 912 by 1980, and the number of Scouts attending year-round troop camp from 3,970 this year to 8,496 by 1980.

"The camp just won't handle that many," said Mrs. Hulsing. "Last summer we were able to place around 70 of our Scouts in camps of nearby Girl Scout councils, but as these other councils grow, they will fill their camps with their own girls. Too many of our Scouts aren't able to attend any kind of summer camp and we can't begin to serve our membership in troop camp."

Jack Burdows of Chicago, national staff member of the Girl Scouts of the USA, commended the Huron Valley Council's long-range plan at Sunday's meeting. "It's the most professionally done report I've seen anywhere in the country," he said. "It's based on solid fact and the projections are very realistic."

Wyeth Allen of Ann Arbor will be chairman of the 35-member Consulting Commission.

Stolen Auto Is Recovered

The Plymouth that was taken from the driveway of Donald MacDonald Tuesday morning has been recovered and returned to George Staffan at G. A. Sales.

Sturgis city police arrested James Lorraine, the 25-year-old man who escaped from Southern Michigan Prison Camp Waterlor last week, as the Chelsea Police were notified last Thursday.

The escapee was with Robert A. Hines, 26, who was apprehended by Chelsea Patrolman David Peebles last week in a stolen truck. When Peebles arrested the two escapees, one bolted and disappeared. The white Plymouth was found missing from the driveway at 516 Arthur at 6 a.m. Tuesday and was known to be there, with keys inside, 11 p.m. the night before.

Pleads Guilty to Drunk Driving Charge

Marian Myrtle Rutledge, 501 W. Middle St., pleaded guilty and was given a $100 fine and 90 day license suspension Friday morning for drunken driving. She was arrested last Thursday morning at about 1 a.m.

The 60-year-old Chelsea resident was seen driving without headlights at Wilkinson and Old US-12 by Patrolman Bruce Sibert. He followed and arrested her several minutes later. He said she was driving completely in the left lane several times, and when he signaled her over with lights, she stopped in the middle of the right lane.

She was given a drunkometer test about an hour later by Washtenaw County Sheriff, taken to the county jail and released on bail.
