Beck said he noticed the 1962 Chevy with a large hose leading from the exhaust pipe through the rear window, which was crumpled with rags. He said the car and radio were running and the car was filled with fumes. Beck administered artificial respiration and his wife notified Chelsea police.

Sport Centre Store To Open In January

The Gateway Sport Centre, Chelsea's first exclusively sporting goods store, is scheduled to open Jan. 2, according to co-owners W. K. Blaess and Owen F. Loasby.

A show and tell introduction to the store and its stock of marine equipment, snowmobiles and general sporting equipment Dec. 28 will allow area sporting enthusiasts to become acquainted with merchandise. Blaess said they hope to have most stock in by that time. Firearms will be delayed until arrival of a special walk-in vault that will serve as a display area and security measure. A Johnson and service franchise has been obtained.

The Centre is located at 1603 S. Main St. across from Schum's Restaurant at the intersection of M-52 and I-94. The building, formerly the Chelsea Implement Co., has been renovated with the addition of carpeting, offices and other features.

A grand opening has been delayed until February. Blaess, the father of six children ranging in age from one to 22 years, lives at 730 Taylor and has been assistant manager of the Dexter branch of the Ann Arbor Bank for the past two and one-half years.

Loasby was born in Dereham, England, educated at Cambridge University and served with the British Navy before coming to the U. S. in 1952. He has been general manager of Larowe Feed Co. in Chelsea for the past six years. Loasby, father of four children, lives at 2925 Verle Ave., Ann Arbor.

DECORATING THE TREE was the highlight of the Christmas party sponsored by Spaulding for Children Auxiliary for friends of the Agency and their children Saturday. Fourteen adults and 22 children gathered at the Spaulding Agency at 3860 Waltrous Rd. In preparation for the party Mrs. Elmer Lindow, Auxiliary president, helped Warren Spaulding locate and unwrap his Christmas ornaments. They were wrapped in newspapers dated 1939, the last Christmas the farm had seen. As may be seen in the picture, the children did a beautiful job of arranging them on the tree. Mrs. Spaulding was given a large poinsettia as a Christmas gift from the Auxiliary and refreshments were served. The success of the Auxiliary's Christmas card sales was also celebrated at the party. Of 15,000 cards offered for sale, only a handful are left after sales in Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Saline, Manchester, Detroit, Plymouth and Dexter. For the Agency the success of the card sales, the Auxiliary plans to offer cards of a different design next year.

Beach Junior High Phone Number Has Been Changed

Beach Junior High school telephone number was changed to 475-8601 in November. Although persons dialing the original Beach number should be automatically connected to Beach for three months, often the switch is not properly made.

School officials ask that persons who call Beach use the new number to be connected properly. The Rev. and Mrs. M. W. Breuckner of Chelsea are spending some time with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warren. Their forwarding address is in care of Robert Warren, 1044 South Park Dr., Temperance, Mich.

Flu Cases Increase But Not Alarming

A large group of those nasty submicroscopic agents known as flu virus seem to have moved into Chelsea during the past few weeks, causing outbreaks of "Hong Kong" flu among persons of all age groups.

Several Chelsea schools report high absentee rates among students this week, although officials said they are not yet alarmed. Beach Junior High school reported 74 absences Tuesday, approximately 10 more than Monday and several times the absentee average last week. Illness reports to the office indicate that the absences are largely due to flu.

Chelsea High school absences hovered around 100 this week, a little less than double the average of 60 for the 720 students. St. Mary's, South and North schools reported absences average or increased slightly but did not consider the rate "unusual."

Reports from various large Chelsea industries list absentee rates from three to 100 percent higher than last week. Officials agreed that the number of flu victims has not become critical to their operation, although many added ominously that they expected higher rates in the near future.

Chelsea Medical Center administrator Dr. Michael Papo said that the flu rate is growing rapidly in Chelsea, infecting persons who venture forth to crowded areas and mingle with groups.

The virus is carried in the air and persons exposing themselves to large groups are likely to find themselves with the flu symptoms of cough, nasal congestion and temperatures of 102 to 104 degrees.

The symptoms should disappear in three or four days if the victim remains in bed and drinks plenty of fluids. Aspirin, decongestants and cough medicine may be recommended by the patient's doctor. Antibiotics will not help.

Dr. Papo noted that sore throats are unrelated to flu and should be examined for possible strep infection.

Since vaccine takes approximately two weeks to protect the recipient, it would probably not give immunity at this stage even if it were available. All advised: Stay away from crowded areas as much as possible.

Holiday Cage Tournament Starts Dec. 26

Hopes are high that Chelsea will be able to repeat their Saturday high performance during the Holiday Basketball Tournament and take the title from second-year defending champions, Stockbridge Panthers.

The 10th annual tournament will be at Chelsea High school on Dec. 26, 27, and 28. Four games are scheduled for each day, with initial matches set up through drawings.

Luck favored Chelsea during the draw and excused the Bulldogs from challenging the strongest teams in the tournament, according to Athletic Director Bruce Galbraith.

Opening day the schedule will be: 4:30 p.m.—Livonia Churchill vs. Napoleon; 6:15 p.m.—Chelsea vs. Ypsilanti-Roseville; 8 p.m.—(Continued on page five)

Bulldogs Down Undefeated Stockbridge

The Chelsea Bulldogs upset the previously undefeated Stockbridge Panthers Saturday night in the second game of the season. Paced by the scoring of Jim Wojcik and the strong rebounding of Mike Bassett and Lance Burghardt, Chelsea defeated Stockbridge, 60-55, in a home game.

Scoring throughout the first half was light. In the first quarter, the Panthers outscored Chelsea, 6-5. Although numerous fouls against the Bulldogs could have increased the Panther lead, Stockbridge failed to capitalize on the advantage.

In the second quarter, the Bulldogs reversed the standings by scoring 17 points to the Panthers' 12, to bring the half-time score to Chelsea 22, Stockbridge 18. Coach Ballistrere said that Chelsea's offensive and defensive action had improved greatly during the second quarter.

In the second half, the Bulldogs increased their advantage as they score 22 points during the third quarter to lead, 44-25. Several key Stockbridge turnovers and a tough Chelsea defense held the Panthers to 7 points.

A number of fouls and offensive turnovers in the fourth quarter brought the Panthers to within three points of tying the Bulldogs in the final seconds, but clutch foul shooting from Art Farley and a determined defense enabled the Bulldogs to maintain their lead.

Top rebounder was Mike Bassett, claiming 11; followed by Lance Burghardt with nine. In the scoring column Roy Holliday followed Jim Wojcik with eight and 26 points, respectively.

Coach Tom Ballistrere said the game was a good team effort with the boys hustling every minute and making fine performances by Wojcik, Bassett, Burghardt and Holliday bolstered the strong attack. He added that Art Farley's foul shooting put the game on ice and John Hepburn contributed to the defensive effort. Dave Conklin tallied a 6-for-6 from the free throw line. Len Rozma recorded six rebounds.

Injuries to Captains Doug Weatherwax and Mike Schniedt have made these boys questionable performers against Milan and Lincoln. Chelsea travels to Milan Friday and returns Saturday to host Ypsi-Lincoln.

Chelsea children will have the opportunity to indulge in the ultimate in kiddie enjoyment Saturday afternoon at Chelsea High school.

First, a series of favorite cartoon characters will star in Chelsea Recreation Commission's "Christmas Cartoon Matinee" for 50 cents, scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. The stars of the matinee will remain undisclosed until they appear.

Then, after the matinee Chelsea children will meet Santa Claus, who happened to be available when invited to greet the cartoon fans. Gandy, being stuffed in stockings by elves at the North Pole, will be sent down in time for Santa to distribute Saturday.

There is still time for children to request certain gifts for Christmas delivery if they have not already done so.

College Club Session Set For Thursday

Chelsea High school graduates enrolled in any type of advanced training are invited to share their experiences with Chelsea students considering furthering their education after graduation.

The annual Chelsea College Club meeting is scheduled for Dec. 20, beginning at 1:30 p.m. in the Chelsea High school cafeteria. Co-sponsors National Honor Society, Future Teachers and the Guidance Department hope to have representatives from all types of educational institutions attend the informal discussion.

"Persons attending nursing schools, business colleges, military and technical institutions and all other advanced training programs are welcome to come," according to George Bergman, Chelsea guidance counselor. He added that prior reservation or reply was necessary for the meeting.

Purpose of the meeting is to introduce different schools and institutions to high school students, compare prior expectations with reality and to evaluate adjustments and requirements. The program format will be informal, with the student organizations acting as hosts and persons coming and going during the meeting. Graduates are urged to wear pins, uniforms and other symbols of their institution or clubs.

Guests of former Chelsea High school students are also invited.

Expansion Plans Told By Gelman Firm

Ann Arbor—As the Gelman Instrument Co. nears the conclusion of its 10th year as a corporation, officials announced that the company is planning an additional expansion of 5,784 square feet to its present facility. The new plant addition will be completed by mid-January and is the second such announcement in the company's history. The new plant will be located on S. Wagner Rd. during the past year. Anticipation of growth and the need for more manufacturing facilities has led the company to plan the expansion program. The future plant addition will be available to fill the needs of the growing company. Presently the company is involved in a program which will double the size of its plant on Wagner Rd. This addition comprises almost 30,000 square feet. The present structure is 40,000 square feet. The new ground construction is being completed for the first of this structure, which will consist of additional manufacturing, storage, and shipping and receiving facilities as well as office laboratory requirements. The Gelman Instrument Co. of Chelsea is designer and builder of plant and C. F. Geisler is consulting architect. They will also be in charge of the January construction plans. Gelman Instrument Co. is a manufacturer of medical and laboratory instruments, and of equipment for process filtration, air pollution and contamination control domestic and international markets.

Federal Law Will Control Sale of Guns

Detroit—Sales of guns and ammunition will be controlled under the new Federal gun law, which takes effect Dec. 16. Rex D. Davis, assistant regional commissioner of the Internal Revenue Service's Alcohol & Tobacco Tax Division for the five-state Central Region, which includes Michigan, said IRS is preparing material to help gun dealers, gun buyers and collectors comply with the new Gun Control Act of 1968. The law was enacted by Congress in September. Davis said the new law should place any unreasonable restrictions on the purchase or ownership of ordinary guns used for hunting, target shooting or other lawful purposes. Persons under 21 will be prohibited from purchasing pistols, revolvers, and ammunition for such weapons and persons under 18 will not be permitted to purchase any firearms or ammunition. Sales will generally not be permitted to out-of-state residents, Davis said, although a person from an adjoining state may buy a rifle or shotgun by complying with certain provisions of the new act. Sales to residents of a state will be prohibited if possession of the firearm is not allowed by local ordinance. Summaries of pertinent local laws are being compiled in a booklet to be mailed by IRS to Federally licensed gun dealers. The booklet, Publication 603, "Published Ordinances-Firearms," should be in the hands of dealers before Dec. 16, to enable them to check on the gun laws of a locality before selling a gun.

Michigan History Items Suggested For Christmas
Lansing—Doing some Christmas shopping but undecided on what to give to that "tough to buy for" person on your list? Secretary of State James M. Hare has some unusual gift ideas.
"Why not give a bit of 'Michigan' for people on your list?" he asks. And he follows this up with these suggestions.
If you are an historical buff or if you just enjoy history the Michigan Historical Commission has some fine Christmas gift possibilities.
For instance, there is the illustrated Pictorial History of Michigan: The Early Years, published and edited last year. The book has more than 200 pages of pictorial history of Michigan which include some 500 illustrations of rare photographs, maps, drawings, and other material.
This book which sells for $15 is available at many Michigan book stores.
Or what about prints of important events in Michigan history? The Historical Commission has six sets of prints of Michigan history paintings. The entire series of 25 color reproductions sells for $8, or $1 each for six sets.
The prints may be purchased by writing to the Michigan Historical Commission, Michigan Department of State, Lansing, 48918.
The Commission has a folder explaining some of the publications and other historical paraphernalia available to the public. Copies may be obtained by writing to the same address.
Much of the printed material handled by the Commission is financed by the John M. Munson Michigan History Fund. The Fund, which derives revenue from other sales by the Commission, sponsors and distributes printed materials on Michigan history to schools, libraries, and historical groups.
Furniture arrangement is a matter of properly co-ordinating furnishings with family activities and the floor space for each room.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
By LOUIS BURGHARDT
After explaining the Golden Rule, a mother said to her son, "So, just remember, we are here to help others." With a puzzled look, the boy asked, "Well then, what are the others here for?"
The boy's question has significance in our so-called war on poverty. Though we occupy only 7% of the earth, we produce almost half of all the goods made on earth. Production throughout the world amounts to about $1,525 billion in goods and we produce over $740 billion of it! Production in only ELEVEN of our 50 states EXCEEDS the $350 billion production of goods in the Soviet Union! No wonder countries throughout the world envy us...
Yet, with all our enormous wealth and potential, we do have pockets of poverty in our midst. The war on poverty can NEVER be won by critically placing blame or condemning individuals or areas. Nor can it be won by demand or insistence. It can ONLY be won when a majority of our people... the rich, poor and in-between... are willing to support the Golden Rule and apply it to ALL our economic, cultural, social and educational problems...

Mrs. Gerald H. Pannone

Loretta Wahl, Gerald Pannone Speak Wedding Vows Saturday

Loretta Wahl and Gerald H. Pannone exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon at the First Methodist church before the Rev. Robert Worgess.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dillman W. Wahl of 6884 Clear Lake Rd., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Pannone of 2860 Clear Lake Rd. were united before 200 guests.

Dr. Clare Warren sang "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore an acetate faille gown with scoop neckline, long bell sleeves and empire waisted A-line skirt. The dress was accented with Venice lace and pearl trim and a detachable chapel length Watteau train featuring a Venice lace border and panel style falling from the shoulders.

The outfit was completed with a headpiece of acetate and lace petals trimmed with pearls attached to an elbow-length veil of illusion. She carried a single red rose.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Gerald Herrick of 1480 Ridge Rd., a sister of the bride. She wore a moss green velvet floor-length gown with empire waist, elbow-length sleeves trimmed in Venice lace and carried a nosegay of white poms with a red rose center and white velvet streamer.

Mrs. James Wheeler of Big Rapids was bridesmaid. She wore a dress similar to that worn by the Matron of honor in cranberry velvet. Flower girls Jeryl Herrick, niece of the bride, and Angela Marine, niece of the bridegroom, wore white velvet, floor-length gowns, one trimmed in cranberry velvet ribbon and one in moss green ribbon. They carried small nosegays of holly and mistletoe.

Richard F. Pannone of Bay City was best man for his brother. Ushers were Robert Pannone, brother of the bridegroom; Ted Marine, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and Gerald Herrick, brother-in-law of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a light green silk dress with matching accessories. The mother of the bridegroom wore a white wool knit dress with red accessories.

A reception was given at Chelsea High school following the ceremony by the bride's parents.

Dorothy Marine, sister of the bridegroom; Jeanne Pannone, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; and Chris Rentschler, cousin of the bride, cut the cake. June Robinson poured punch. Virginia Mauer poured coffee. Shelly Pannone, niece of the groom, supervised the guest book.

The couple is honeymooning in Florida for 10 days before returning to 513 Madison Dec. 23.

The bride graduated from Chelsea High school and Preston's Cosmetology School of Beauty and is employed as a receptionist at Chelsea Milling Co.

The bridegroom graduated from East Jackson High school, served with the U. S. Navy and is now employed at Chrysler Corp.

Denise Houle Is Bride of James Williams

Denise Houle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Houle, and James Williams of North Territorial Rd., Gregory, were married at St. Mary's Catholic church Dec. 7, by the Rev. Fr. Francis Wahiak at 11 a.m.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Williams, Sr. The bride wore an eggshell lace street-length dress with veil and white and yellow bud roses.

Attendants were Miss Jill Lantis and Richard Miller of Chelsea. The couple are now at home at 112 McKinley St.

Children Learn Behavior Values in Examples at Home

A child cannot be expected "to know better" unless he has a chance to learn.

According to Margaret Jacobson, family life specialist with the Co-operative Extension Service at Michigan State University, learning "right" from "wrong" involves a complex process of mental growth. It includes ability to pay attention, comprehend, remember and make judgments.

"Being able to tell 'right' from 'wrong' means that somewhere along the line the child must acquire a set of values to guide his future behavior," Dr. Jacobson says.

Children learn about values as part of the growing-up process, she explains. When a little boy hits his sister, Mom may step in and scold him for his behavior. While this may teach him not to hit his sister, it will take many such occasions before he realizes that hitting can hurt. In time he will learn kindness and respect.

By observing the values which their parents appear to hold, children gain some idea of behavioral standards.

"Too often, though, parents are not clear about what they believe," Dr. Jacobson laments. "Because of this uncertainty, they sometimes excuse themselves from clarifying their own values so no one will know, particularly their children."

"But the truth is that values become known by what we do as well as by what we say. Youngsters learn values with every word, action and every look."

"In the everyday events of family life it is our responsibility to sort out and clarify our values, and then let our children know."

Dr. Jacobson emphasizes, "Values must be absorbed by the child or they can't possibly have any real meaning for him."

Season Pressures Demand Choices to Avoid Fatigue

Trying to play Santa Claus to different relatives and friends can result in a frustrated and unenjoyable Christmas season for many conscientious mothers. But many of these pressures and tensions can be eliminated by smart Christmas management, says home management specialist Anna Field of the Co-operative Extension Service, Michigan State University.

"Often, most of the work of Christmas falls to Mom," Miss Field says. "And with all the hectic festivities and activities, she may feel that she has little choice in the affairs and even less enjoyment." Speaking directly to busy mothers, Miss Field says that "choice" is the key to avoiding holiday headaches.

"Certainly, there are some choices you can't make... like whether or not to send Christmas cards. But you can choose to whom you send them and how much you spend on them."

"As the years have passed by, perhaps your Christmas has become crowded with various family traditions. As a family, choose which traditions you wish to observe this year, and which you'll save for next."

"You may not be able to attend all the organized festivities you've been invited to, so here again, make a choice."

"By thoughtfully choosing what you do, what you give and what you play, you can skip being too pressured, too broke and too tired to enjoy Christmas," Miss Field says.

Matmen Finish Behind Dexter in Invitational

Chelsea finished second to Dexter Dreadnaughts in the Dexter Invitational wrestling tournament Saturday as they accumulated 73 points to Dexter's 85.

Other teams and their scores include Clinton, 53; Northville, 45; East Jackson, 40; Saline, 38; Brighton, 33; Pinckney, 31; and Whitmore Lake, 9.

Chelsea Coach Burley Hendricks said he was slightly disappointed with the Chelsea performance at certain times but added that the Chelsea team this year is largely inexperienced in tournament wrestling, in contrast to the Bulldogs last year.

"Matz and I were happy to have the opportunity to see our men-in-tournament' conditions and confident that we can make the necessary adjustments to strengthen tournament performance before Parma-Western," Hendricks said.

Chelsea will be the defending champions at the Parma Invitational tournament Jan. 11.

Dexter took an early lead Saturday as nine Dreadnaughts won first-round matches. With such a large number surviving the initial round, Dexter was in a good position to continue winning during the afternoon.

Chelsea and the other teams failed to cut down this lead in matches with Dexter men. Coach Hendricks said that Chelsea's main strength is in the heavier classes and Dexter's is lightweights, a situation that damaged the Chelsea position. Drawing luck was such that the heavier Chelsea men could not challenge Dexter, while the lighter men were defeated in their matches with Dexter.

Co-captains Kerry Kargel and Mike Gaken were the Chelsea champs as Kargel pinned his opponent in both matches and Gaken dominated his opponents for decision victories. Unfortunately, neither had opponents for the first round and were advanced to the second round without wrestling.

Dennis Brown picked up a second-place medal at heavyweight as he easily pinned his first two opponents and lost by a championship match pin to Clinton's skillful Handy.

The coaches said that other bright spots were Jim Wencel at 103, who untracked himself from a losing streak to win three of four matches for a third place; and Tom Tirb at 112, who lost a narrow one-point decision to a Dexter champion. He won his other matches to place third.

Frosh Cagers Rack Up 2 More Victories

Chelsea freshman cagers added Stockbridge and Dundee to their growing list of victims Tuesday and last Thursday to bring their season's record to 4-0, in spite of narrowed ranks due to illness and the loss of top scorer and rebounder Ron Sweeney to the JV cagers.

Tuesday, Chelsea defeated Stockbridge, 50-36, minus Mark Thomson, Dave Buxton and Roger Fitch with scoring contributed by Jeff Hughes with 15 points, Randy Seltz, 13, Steve Flint 8, Greg Howard and Ed Koenigeter 6 each, and Tom Lixey, 4.

Thursday, Chelsea bounded over Dundee, 55-20. Randy Seltz was top scorer with 15, followed by Jeff Hughes 8, Howard, Koenigeter, Lixey and Sprague with 8 each, Flint with 4 and Roger Fitch and Mike Herkert with 2 each.

Rebounding dipped to a total of 49 in the Dundee game and rose to 61 during the Stockbridge game. Strong rebounding was demonstrated by Jeff Hughes and Randy Seltz in both games with totals of 31 and 35 respectively.

Coach Paul Terpstra commented that Ed Koenigeter and Greg Howard performed exceptionally well defensively and forced Stockbridge into many mistakes that fail to show up on the statistic sheet.

Chelsea JV's will host Saline at 7 o'clock tonight.

MATCH MAKER
The world's first match was reportedly invented in 1680, but was costly to manufacture and so dangerous it was not practical. The first really useful matches were known as friction matches, and were first made in 1827 by an Englishman, John Walker.

Gridders Gain All-State Honors

Chelsea senior gridders Craig Houle and Greg Stephens, chosen for honorable mention in the Class B, 1968 Associated Press All-State football team, both hope to use the abilities that won this recognition on a college or university team next fall.

Coach Phil Bareis hopes so too. Since he became coach three years ago, no Chelsea griddier has received a football scholarship, a situation he would like to change this year. The All-State honors plus the fact the Chelsea is the championship team will help attract attention to the Bulldogs.

Bareis said that university and college teams look for ability, scholarship to match the requirements of the particular school, physical attributes such as size, speed, strength, and other individual qualifications that vary with the school. Bareis has received letters asking for information about prospects on his team and is planning to send out films of individual seniors in action.

1968 Quarterback Craig Houle, a 175-pound, 6'1" senior, has been an all-conference quarterback. The season record shows 143 carries, 859 yards gained rushing and nine touchdowns. He completed 25 of 48 attempted passes for 380 yards and five touchdowns.

Tackle Greg Stephens, 185-pound 6'0" third-year Bulldog, was voted to the all-conference team, most valuable lineman with Mike Gaken, and is also credited with being a good offensive blocker. Stephens led the team in number of tackles, had two fumble recoveries and three pass interceptions.

They both attributed the successful Bulldog season to teamwork. "Teamwork, really, although we had good individual players too—the team was balanced" according to Stephens. Houle agreed that "everyone knew the fundamentals and did their job. They played with spirit and didn't give up."

The unfortunate Dexter Dreadnaughts were the victims of the big moments of both player's year—first Houle returned the opening Dexter kick-off from the 20-yard line to put six points on the scoreboard in the first few seconds. Stephens considered this game his best effort as he tallied two interceptions, a fumble recovery and nine solo tackles.

Houle and Stephens agreed with other Bulldogs that football involved hard work as well as those big moments. Stephens said he found defense hardest, especially living up to the coach's prodding to try to make 90 percent of the tackles.

Houle's hardest job was trying to find the secondary receiver when the first receiver was not open. His favorite play was the option. "I liked to run with the ball, especially option sweeps."

Stephens hopes to major in mechanical engineering, in line with his mathematics and electronics interests. Houle will probably follow up his physical education and drafting interests.

Christmas Scenes Made In Egg Shells

A hand-made Christmas scene containing a Creche and tiny figures inside decorated egg shells was given to the Chelsea Medical Clinic by Mrs. Mercedes DeLaTorre, a patient of Dr. James Botsford.

The scene, placed on the desk in the lobby last week is arranged on spun synthetic snow approximately 10 inches in diameter. The focal point is a stable containing the holy family and three wise men, and the infant Jesus held by a delicately decorated and painted egg shell.

Surrounding the Creche are nine other figures of angels, evergreens and wisemen, inside pastel shells decorated with beads, sequins and small jewels. An oval section of each shell has been removed from the front to display the contents.

Mrs. DeLaTorre, of 584 1/2 Lane St., has become a sort of master of eggshell-crafting, and makes other items from ideas she dreams up or finds in magazines. She made eggshell tulips using the same techniques as for the Christmas scenes for the clinic at Eastern. She uses broken jewelry for decorations. Her tools are a sharp instrument to puncture the shell and manicure shears to cut away the front. "You break quite a few before catching on, but it just takes some practice and patience," she remarked. "I just wanted to do something nice for the medical clinic, who have been so nice to me."

Mrs. DeLaTorre is a former Dexter and Ann Arbor resident who says she enjoys "the peacefulness found in Chelsea."

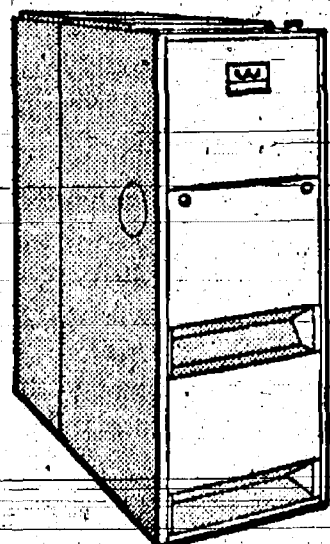

Chelsea Medical Clinic personnel say that Mrs. DeLaTorre's gift has prompted much interest and a number of favorable comments.

AGRICULTURE In ACTION

★ Election Reform

Perhaps enough time has passed since the national election to allow most people to consider what happened without becoming too emotionally involved. In the first place, the margin of popular vote was not as razor-thin as many would have supposed—next, the election may have provided as many telling points in support of the electoral college system as it provided against it.

For openers, Nixon won the presidency with approximately three times the popular vote—edge held by Kennedy in 1960 when he won over Nixon—providing just that much more of a "mandate" from the people. Still, fear that indecisive returns might throw a close election into the House of Representatives caused many people and responsible organizations to suggest changes in the electoral college system.

Farmers have examined the electoral college with an eye to updating it for some years and Bureau adopted a policy recommendation calling for a Presidential Commission to review possible methods of improving our political processes. In doing so, they noted how framers of our Constitution implied that public reaction should not be wholly trusted in such an important matter as the selection of the President of the United States.

At that time, educational levels were low; public communications barely existed and the electoral college was devised as a buffer to protect the country from possible unwise actions of the masses.

Is such a fear totally unfounded in these days of television, daily newspapers, electronic computers, political polls and high pressure voter-motivation techniques?

again this year the Michigan Farm Bureau, 1801, and 10, 1964 Illinois? What of the days and days of waiting for the vote to come in from Missouri? Are not these cases upon which strong support may still be built for the electoral college system—perhaps in modernized form?

Michigan farmers suggest that the college be retained with these improvements to bring it closer to the people: A Constitutional Amendment to provide that two of the Presidential Electors in each state be elected on a state-wide basis and to cast their ballots as prescribed by the state-wide majority; the remainder elected from Congressional Districts and to cast their ballots as prescribed by the vote of the district.

Freshmen Brighter, MSU Study Reveals

East Lansing—Today's freshmen are brighter, more able, better readers, can think better and have more ambitious educational plans than their counterparts of 1958, according to a nine-year study of student attitudes and values at Michigan State University.

Drs. Irvin Lehmann and Walker Hill of MSU's Office of Evaluation Services reported that today's students are generally "emergent" rather than "traditional," tend more to question concepts regarded as absolute by their elders and hold a more relativistic set of values.

The 1958 group, they said, placed greater value on hard work, traditional morality and respect for authority.

Hard work has never killed a man but there are any number of cripples who were injured trying to dodge it.
