Wrestlers Face Dexter High in Race for Title

Both Teams Go into Tonight's Contest Undeclared in Conference

Chelsea and Dexter high school wrestling teams are set for a rematch of last year's battle for the Southeastern Conference Championship. Both teams stand 5-0 in league competition and will settle the matter tonight on the Chelsea mat. The action will begin at 7:45 in the high-school gym.

The second half of the battle settled Saturday at Dexter, when the six teams assembled for the conference tournament.

The Bulldogs are hoping to hand out the same treatment tonight that they inflicted on the Dreadnoughts last year, when they took a 27-14 win. Dexter came on strong in the tournament to share the title with the Bulldogs.

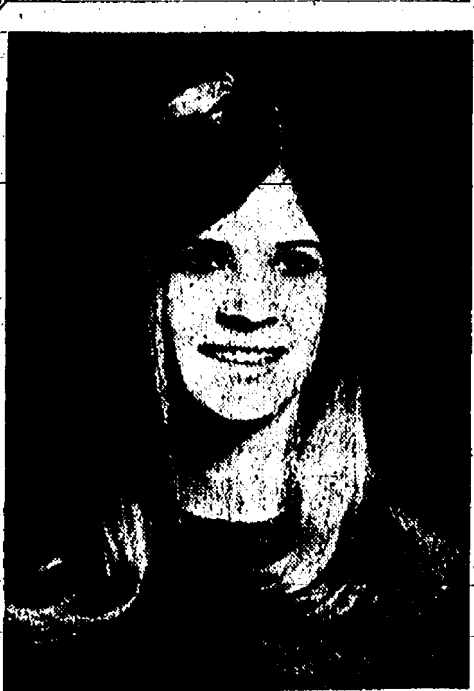

Chelsea coaches Burley Hendricks and Doug Matz said today that it looks as though the contest for the title will again be very close, with either team capable of claiming the meet tonight and the tournament Saturday.

One cause for optimism for the Bulldogs was the strong performance among the lighter weights in a tough dual meet with Saline last Thursday. Chelsea turned back an inspired Saline squad that had the outcome in doubt until heavyweight Jim Boylan pinned the Hornets' Dave Ernst to give the Bulldogs the win, 27-21.

Chelsea's Jim Wenzel, 103, scored an important win by pin. Tom Tibb, 112, and Steve Ersten, 120, came through with decision wins that helped to cool the Hornets and provided a cushion against the three pins and two decision Saline victories.

Saline held a 15-11 lead when Bob Koenigster, 138, went to the mat with the Hornets' captain. Koenigster sent him down to defeat by scoring a two-point reversal in the second round and putting on a tough ride for the entire third round.

While the Hornets took the 154 and 165 matches to make their total of 21, Chelsea's undefeated Captains, Mike Gaken, 175, and Kerry Kargel, 145, extended their season records to 20-0. Kargel was frustrated in attempts to post a pin by his opponents' "passive resistance" that found him clinging to the mat, leaving no opening for effective wrestling, according to Hendricks. Having experienced the same problem earlier in the season, Gaken hustled to a pin in the first round to give Boylan room to put the meet in the Chelsea column.

Marijuana Use By Students Is Suspected

A two-month investigation of marijuana use among Chelsea High school students resulted in a list of suspected users and suppliers and confiscation of a quantity of material resembling the tobacco-like stimulant for chemical analysis.

Chelsea Patrolman Louis Schneider, investigating officer, said he is confident the material is marijuana, and awaits results from chemical analysis at Michigan State Police laboratories. Another batch analyzed Monday contained marijuana and herbs.

Schneider began the investigation after individuals reported pot-smoking at the high school. During Jan. 17-20, Schneider determined that the illegal drug was not actually being smoked on school property, but accumulated a list of approximately a dozen suspected users and two suppliers.

Schneider said six individual "reliable sources" confirmed the entire suspect list through reports Jan. 21-31.

Pills and a loose weed-like material similar to marijuana were taken by Schneider to the Ann Arbor Police Department for tests. The capsules contained a habit-forming depressant and stimulant, but the weed was alfalfa.

Ann Arbor police and Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department have offered their co-operation and facilities to Schneider.

No arrests have been made, although Schneider thinks he will be able to make several arrests within the next few weeks. He said his main concern is with the drug source.

Grass Fires Mean Spring Is Coming

Chelsea firemen extinguished five grass fires and a fire caused by an overheated oil burner this week.

Firemen were called to the Iko Kozminski residence, 4805 Perkins Rd., Saturday evening to put out a fire in an overheated oil burner. Damage was confined to the burner and minor smoke damage in the house trailer.

Five from burning rubbish spread to grass on the property of Bill Wojcik, 8011 M-52 Sunday night. Several acres of grass burned, including that on adjoining property belonging to John Weber.

Monday Chelsea firemen put out four grass fires, including two along the Penn Central railroad. Sparks from a train were suspected of causing a fire at 11:58 a.m. at Chelsea-Dexter road and a 4:16 fire on Garvey, between Kalmbach and Hoppe Rds. Damages were confined to small strips of grass along the railroad in both cases.

Two additional grass fires were at 2:32 p.m. along I-94 near Baker and at 3:44 p.m. on I-94 west of M-52. The evening fire was possibly caused by a truck flare.

Washington Report
 by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

The integrity of our college classrooms—that is, the right of the teacher to teach and the pupil to learn—is being threatened today by those forces who would utilize totalitarian tactics to disrupt our campuses, and in fact, our entire country.

College administrators, and all of us responsible for our system of higher education, must be determined to take immediate steps to protect the integrity of the college classroom from the militant destructionists, while at the same time making certain that we do not over-react and thus become part of the threat to academic freedom ourselves.

These were my conclusions following the testimony of Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, Acting President of San Francisco State College, before the Higher Education Subcommittee this week. During the five hour cross-examination and dialogue period, I had an opportunity to discuss in depth one of the major problems facing our country—how can we protect academic freedom and dissent in our colleges and universities while dealing effectively with those dissidents who are bent not on dissent, but on disruption and disorder.

Dr. Hayakawa reviewed in detail the experience he has had at San Francisco State College in dealing with student unrest. I believe some of his comments are of broad interest.

The real threat to academic freedom today is not from external forces but rather from disruptive influences within the walls of the college campus itself.

We have several white radical or ultra-liberal groups. Their numbers total something around 200 when their offices are mobilized. Their central control is probably vested in less than 50 people. These 50 or so are intelligent, experienced and effective in the field of organizing or disruption. We cannot eliminate any of these people without exercising due process, which includes finding them guilty of offenses. Most, if not all, of the white activist leaders have been arrested at least once each.

Of our 800 or 900 black students, I would estimate that less than 100 have been involved in the recent disruptions, although many more attend rallies under pressure from their leaders. The bravest young people on our campus are the non-violent young black students who keep on attending classes at the risk of physical attack from black militants and in the face of distrust on the part of the majority of white students. I have praised these young people before in public and appreciate the opportunity to repeat my feelings of admiration for them today.

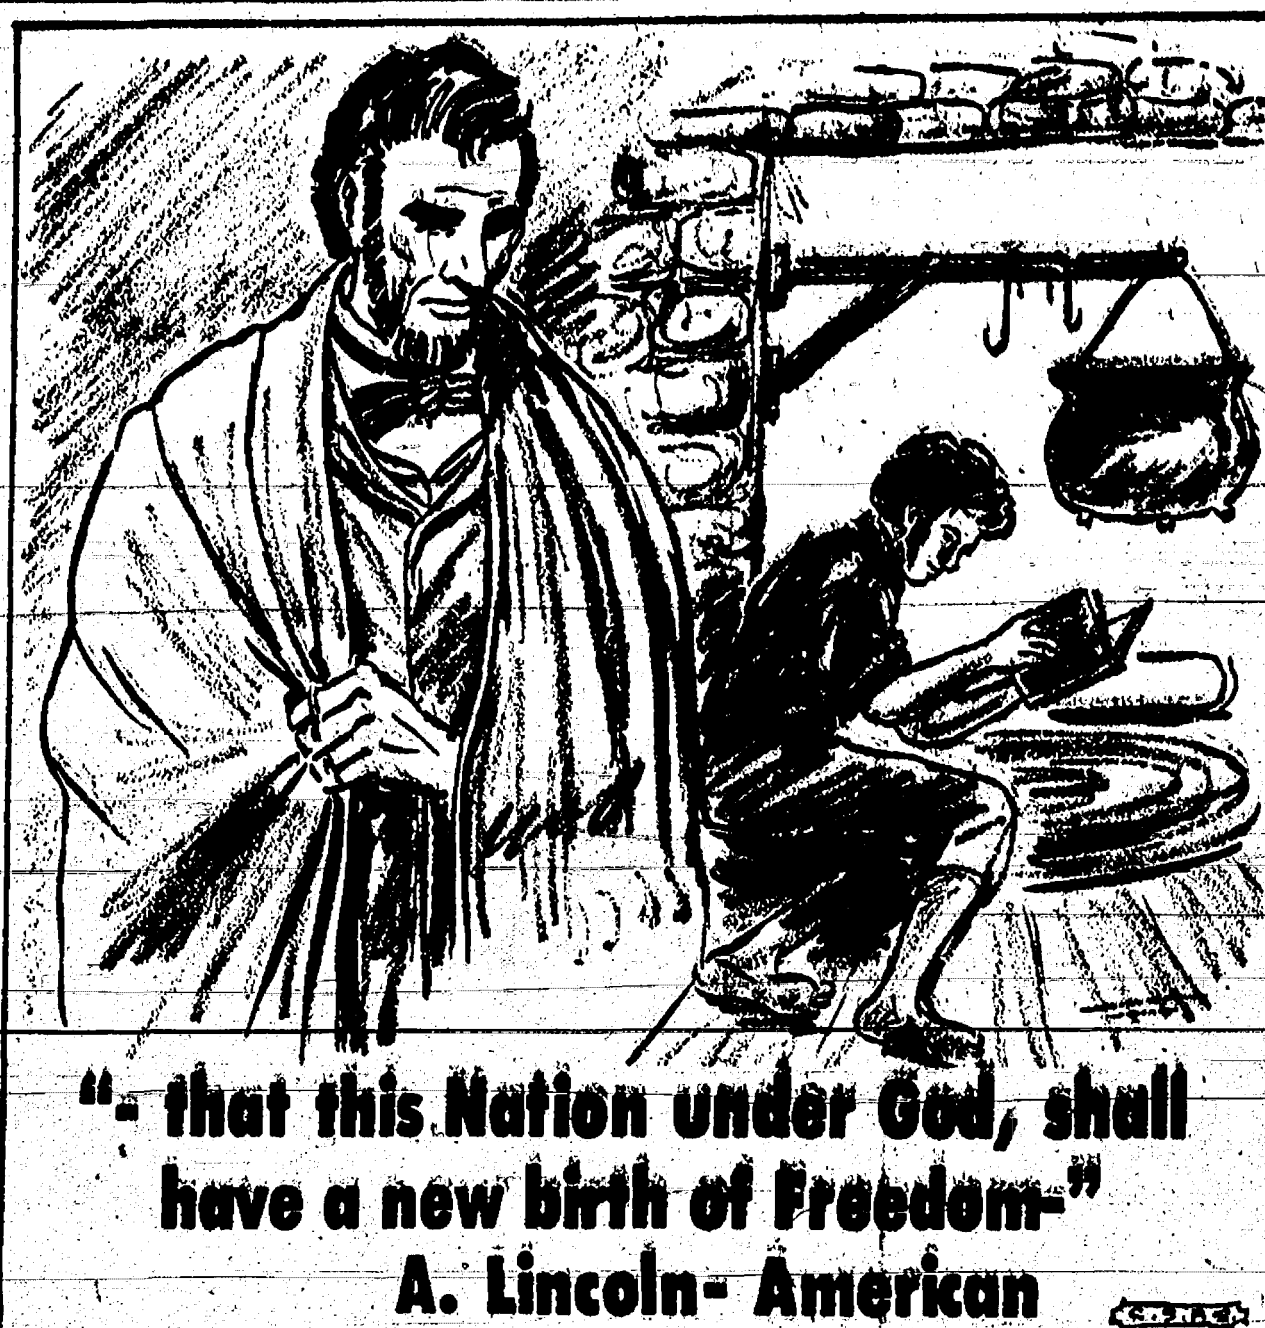

There is an important difference between black and white activists. Generally speaking, the black students are fighting for a place in society. White activists, such as the Students for a Democratic Society, are fighting to destroy the society, even though they have nothing better to propose as a substitute. It is only during periods of particular kinds of strife that both groups find enough in common to join forces as they have on our campus this year. And when they do join together, the bonds are weak. The alliance is to execute tactics, not to achieve common objectives.

Additionally, the acting President emphasized that the media may in and of themselves be a contributing factor in the problem. "Frequently, the young people protest at noon, and then hurry home to see themselves on TV on the 6 o'clock news. This publicity gives them a feeling of significance out of proportion to the real issues and problems we face."

Certainly, the college administrators must face their responsibility in dealing effectively and immediately with the problem of maintaining order on their campuses. They must reexamine the channels of communication to assure that they are open to those students and faculty who have legitimate grievances.

During the coming weeks, our higher education committee will be examining this educational crisis in greater detail and hopefully will determine how the Federal Government might assist the college administrators in the country to perform their tasks more effectively. If my will prevails, this investigation will be conducted by our committee with a minimum of publicity and a maximum of objectivity.

"Building Battle"
 Plans to build a new state Capitol could touch off a bigger political battle than the debate 122 years ago over moving the seat of government from Detroit to Lansing.

Legislators on both sides are taking firm stands, and as the plan unfolds it seems certain that others who want to retain the present Capitol, or are against a $50 million expense for a new one, will be drawn in.

After two years of closed-door huddling over the design, the joint legislative capital outlay committee recently unveiled the new Capitol plan.

Designed by the Detroit architectural firm of Smith, Hinchman and Grylls Associates, it contemplates a seven-level, four-building structure covering the equivalent of four city blocks.

Legislative, judicial and executive buildings would form a "trilogy" atop a massive all-purpose office structure four blocks west of the present Capitol. Total space would be 850,000 square feet.

There would be no traditional dome but a 185-foot tower with a glass-enclosed observation-deck at the top would jut from a plaza area.

"We rejected the historical, traditional concept of placing the functions of government under a classical dome as outdated and not suited to our times," said Sigmund F. Blu, one of the designers.

"Michigan is a progressive, dynamic state. The people richly deserve a Capitol which expresses those qualities."

The legislative building, with House and Senate chambers akin to the United Nations General Assembly Room, would be a large, shoe-box shaped structure, with cylindrical spires breaking a smooth outside design at the four corners.

The Governor's private office and ceremonial reception room, and office and other work space for the entire executive office staff, including the Bureau of the Budget and other units of the Governor's office.

The buildings would be framed in reinforced concrete with an exterior of polished granite. There would be no windows in the upper structures.

Director A. N. Langfus of the State Building Division estimated it would take up to five years to construct the complex. He said the buildings would contain the most up-to-date heating, lighting, ventilating, air-conditioning and communications systems, including closed-circuit television. The all-purpose building would include a large auditorium and cafeteria and 20 elevators for easy access to the upper level.

The first Michigan Capitol was located at Griswold, State and Shelby Sts. in Detroit. In 1847 state government was moved to Lansing following a stormy legislative session. The present Capitol was opened in 1878.

Opposition is expected from forces who want to preserve the 91-year-old Capitol for historical purposes.

Sen. Thomas L. Brown, R-Lansing, is expected to lead the fight against construction of the proposed plan. He said the present building should be rebuilt and enlarged for half the money needed for a new structure.

One thing that everybody agrees on is the deteriorating condition of the present statehouse. Jumbled wiring, rickety elevators and dingy corridors abound.

A section of the fourth floor has been condemned by the State Fire Marshal, yet it is crisscrossed with legislative offices from which escape would be difficult.

Sen. Dudley K. Holmes, treasurer of the Chelsea Girl Scout organization, and general chairman of the annual Girl Scout cookie sale, has announced that the sale this year is to be carried out in accordance with a new plan. Girls will take orders for the cookies for the two weeks from Feb. 22 through March 8 and will deliver cookies March 21.

The Village of Chelsea took possession of the Vogel building on E. This structure will house the fire department, the Electric & Water department offices, police department, public library, etc., and plans will also include public restrooms in the basement. Following thorough inspection of the building after it was vacated by the supermarket, village officials were enthusiastic over the prospects of making this newly acquired property into a municipal building.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that much as it pained him to face it, he was full convinced President Nixon has give up on him. The first thing the Congress done when it went back in session, said Ed, was double the President's wages, and that don't leave no chance for a cost cutter gitting dent's wages, and that don't leave no chance for a cost cutter gitting appointed Commissioner of Agriculture or agent in charge of gitting rid of Government agencies.

But Ed allowed he was like the old feller at the church revival. When the ongerration found out he couldn't arry a tune in a buck-ey they tried to keep all the song books out of his reach. The old feller said he knowed he couldn't sing, but he shore did like to holler for the Lord. Ed said he was going right on hollering for the right and agin the wrong in this country fer his own enjoyment.

Besides, Ed went on, he wasn't shore the Democrats ain't made such a mess of this country that nobody can run it. Ed said he had saw where Mr. Nixon is working with a fissale budget of $195 billion the newspapers says is "roughly in balance" if we keep that sirtax. "Rough" shore is the right word, allowed Ed.

Ed wasn't about to pass up a chance to mention Abe Lincoln, seeing as how this is the month fer his birthday. What old Abe use to say, allowed Ed, was that bad promises is better broke than kept. Mr. Nixon never promised to do away with the sirtax, said Ed, and he figgered not making promises was better than breaking 'em or keeping 'em.

Furthermore, Ed allowed, this country has been jumping from the frying pan into the fire and back agin ever since Democrat Woodrow Wilson fixed up the League of Nations to keep the peace forevermore. Ed said he could remember when we were allus at a "crossroads" where we had a choice of ways to go, but now the column writers keeps us on "the brink of disaster" from one day to the next, and the only way we can go is from bad to terrible.

If a feller expects to get along this day and time, allowed Ed, he's got to toe the line, keep his back to the wall, his ear to the ground, his shoulder to the wheel and his nose to the grindstone. He's got to keep his head level and his feet on the ground, all the time looking for a cloud with a silver lining. And if you find a little bit of silver, said Ed, the tax man scoops that up.

Clem Webster put the stopper in the jug when he told Ed that under Democrats or Republicans, Washington reminded him of a zoo cause that's where the bull is shot, the buck is passed and everybody gits a bum steer. Yours truly, Uncle Lew

Value Showdown:

Match these features against what competition gives you for the same kind of money, and you'll have a better idea why more people are buying Chevrolets again this year.

Built-in "guard rails"

There's a strong steel beam built into every door of every 1968 Caprice, Impala, Bel Air, Biscayne, Kingswood, Estate Wagon, Kingswood, Townsman and Br. okwood. We call it a side guard beam, and it looks like one of those guard rails you see along the freeway.

That's what it's there for: To guard you. To strengthen the door and put a more solid wall between you and the outside world.

Not a glamorous feature. But you'll have to admit, worthwhile.

Computer-selected springs
 Maybe you'll order your new Chevy equipped to the hilt. Or maybe you'll order it with hardly anything on it. Either way, you're going to get your full measure of our renowned ride.

Because we go to the trouble of programming each car's equipment load into an electronic computer.

The computer then tells us exactly which springs to use, depending on the car's weight and the way it's distributed. Chevrolet, the only car in its field with computer-selected springs.

Fenders inside fenders
 We could have skipped this. (The other cars in our field do.) But we're as anxious as you are to keep your beautiful new Chevy looking beautiful and new.

Up inside the regular fenders we've placed a second set. They do all the in-fighting. Catch all the splashed-up rain, slush and road salt. Stop the kicked-up stones.

While your "outers" just sit there looking pretty.

Astro Ventilation
 The other two cars in our field give you air intakes down by the floor.

So do we. We also give you two up on the instrument panel. And all four of them are adjustable so you can regulate the flow of air just the way you like it. Even with all the windows closed, you'll be comfortable inside. You get air without wind. Without noise.

Astro Ventilation is standard, now, on all the big Chevrolets.

The theft-thwarter
 On the steering column there's a lock. Only Chevrolet has it, in Chevrolet's field. You turn the key and it locks three things: Your ignition. Your steering wheel. Your shift lever.

When you own a car this tempting, you don't dare take chances.

Biggest standard V8 in our field
 Ask any car enthusiast, he'll tell you: Chevrolet builds great engines. Especially V8s.

And this year there are six great V8s available for the big Chevrolet. Standard: Our 235-hp 327-cubic-inch Turbo-Fire.

Another thing: We've lowered the price of several of our bigger V8s along with our automatic transmissions and power disc brakes. Which makes it possible for you to buy a '68 Chevrolet for even less money than you could last year.

Show up for our Showdown. You can't lose.

Putting you first, keeps us first. Impala Sport Coupe

Report on Proposed Mill Creek Reservoir Expected This Fall

The long awaited report by the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers on the proposed Mill Creek reservoir system is expected to be completed this fall.

Earlier plans are now being re-vised using corrected flow-rate data. It was found that earlier statistics were in error due to leakage at Barton Dam near the gauging station. The new data was collected by the U. S. De-partment of Interior Federal Wa-ter Pollution Control Commission during their recent Huron River basin study.

The study, released in October, set back the reservoir proposal by recommending that all Huron River communities plan to become part of the Southeastern Michi-gan regional sewage interceptor system, and alternative to the sprawling Mill Creek reservoir. The study results mean that the water quality control benefits of the Mill Creek project will have to be revised to conform with the Federal Water Pollution Control Commission, or federal funds will not be available. "Without federal funds, money provided by the bonding issue passed in November will not be available for the project."

For this reason opponents of the reservoir feel that this year will prove to be the best op-portunity to encourage the Corps of Army Engineers not to recom-mend it.

The engineers' study, which may or may not be a recommendation for the reservoir, will be sub-mitted to the district engineer of Chicago. He will call public hear-ings in Washtenaw county and pre-sumably send it to congress if he approves and if the study calls for a reservoir.

The "Public Works Appropria-tions Committee of Congress will decide whether federal money will be appropriated for the project. Communities that would benefit from the water quality aspect would have to pay amounts pro-portional to their benefits. Al-together, federal, state, and local monies would be used for the project, if approved.

The project is supported by some local interests in order to maintain independence on the Hu-ron river and in order to keep Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti using it for sewage. The cities have already invested capital for their present systems and would only have to pay for extensions if the reservoir were built.

The federally advocated regional system is supported by the Nation-al Sanitation Foundation for all southeast Michigan.

Federal funding is expected to be available for broad base regional activity, with state funding con-tingent upon receipt of federal funds. In addition, this would re-quire loss of agricultural land upon which individuals and as-sorted businesses depend, or tax loss to the state.

Warren has been spearheading a resistance movement to the re-gional interceptor recommendations and wants to continue in-dependently of the system. This Macomb county community was disappointed when approval was denied for state and federal as-sistance in financing the ex-pansion of sewage treatment plant under the bond issues passed in No-vember. Plans had been made for expansion of the 20-year-old plant on which a $10 million debt still remains to be paid. Warren of-ficials are threatening to take legal action to prevent state finan-cing of any pollution programs un-less Warren's needs are first met.

Warren is encouraging Ann Ar-bor, Pontiac and other south-eastern Michigan cities join in their resistance to the regional system.

The situation is complicated by the 1971 deadline set by the Michi-gan Water Resources Commission that decisions must be made by then for improvements in certain communities' sewage treatment fa-cilities. Chelsea has a system ex-pected to be adequate for at least 10 years, but Dexter will have to make concrete plans to update their sewage system by 1971.

An important decision was made in 1964 by the Huron River Water-shed Inter-governmental Commit-tee to support the water quality and quantity purposes of the multi-purpose Mill Creek reservoir study. At that time most com-mittee members were unaware of the magnitude of the proposed project. Land requirements have grown from approximately 12,500 acres to nearly 15,000 acres with the addition of recreational land. Approximately $400,000 has been spent to date on the study, and if constructed the project will cost an estimated $30 million.

Lima, Scio and Dexter township residents were generally unaware of the Corps of Engineers studies until test boring rigs moved into the Mill Creek basin late in 1964. In March, 1965 a meeting was held by the engineers and local officials to explain the proposal. Later that spring concerned resi-dents organized the Mill Creek Research Council to inform them-selves on all aspects of the pro-posed reservoir project.

The Mill Creek Research Coun-cil board is now planning the fourth annual meeting. A pro-gram designed to bring members up to date on recent developments is planned. Dues for the coming year may be paid to William Chandler, treasurer, 705 Howard Rd., Chelsea, until Feb. 24.

Donors of Kidneys Boost Self-Esteem . . .

MAY WELL BE more blessings than to receive, say two University of Wisconsin psychologists who have studied the donors of kidneys in transplant operations. They found "impressive increases in self-esteem and changes of life" in interviews with kidney donors. "When the subject was asked to compare the having donated a kidney to other acts in their lives, other importance or consequence, most of them could not do the psychologists reported.

INTERNATIONAL REGISTRATION to collect information on the progress of all heart transplant operations has been advocated by a University of Chicago cardiologist. He pointed out that although nearly 100 operations have been performed, almost no information is available on the progress of patients following the initial surgical period. "It is time," he said, "a scientific appraisal of the results of such surgery to determine if it is worthwhile from the patient's point of view."

ARTHQUAKES of large magnitude do not necessarily cause most intense surface effects, says the U. S. Geological Survey. The effect in a given region is to a large degree on local geology and subsurface geologic conditions. An area underlain by unstable ground—sand, clay, or other unconsolidated materials—is likely to experience much more noticeable effects than an area equally distant from an earthquake's epicenter but underlain by firm ground such as granite.

A HOMING PIGEON at the Institute for Biomedical Research occasionally wears a contact lens, not because of impaired vision, but for research on its visual system. The contact lens prevents the pigeon's eye from drying up during visual experiments while light patterns are directed into the bird's eye. The lens keeps the eyelid pulled back and prevents the cornea from drying during the tests. Findings on the bird's eye view are expected to be completed in several months.

Latest Farm Equipment Will Be Shown at MSU Farmers' Week

Farmers will have the opportunity to view the very latest in fruit and vegetable equipment when some 100 manufacturers exhibit wares at Michigan State University, March 17-21.

The exposition is being sponsored by the MSU Department of Agricultural Engineering as part of the university's annual Farmers' Week. Everything from tillage to packaging equipment will be shown on the 12-acre exposition mall located in the heart of the MSU campus, according to Dr. Burton F. Cargill, MSU agricultural engineer.

Educational presentations on mechanized production and handling of onions, potatoes, mushrooms, fruits and other vegetables also will be featured.

Dr. Cargill notes that the exposition, mostly housed in circus tents, will be the first of its kind to be held on the MSU campus.

Farmers' Week annually attracts 20,000 to 50,000 people. The event is strictly educational in purpose, and is the largest event of its kind in the United States for farmers, farm families and friends of agriculture.

About Your Social Security

By Robert A. Kohoe

District Social Security Manager

Q. Another person has become the legal guardian of the man whose benefits I receive as representative payee. Will this effect me as the man's representative payee?

A. It is important that the Social Security Administration continue to see that the benefits are used in the best of interest of the beneficiary. This would mean that the Social Security Administration needs to know the reason for a guardian being appointed. The representative payee should notify the local Social Security office that a guardian was appointed in order that they may determine whether there should be a change of representative payee.

Q. I recently moved here from another state. My Social Security checks are being sent to my old address. How do I get the checks to come to my new address?

A. Please contact your nearest Social Security office. They will have your records changed to show your new address. You should also contact your post office so that your checks can be forwarded to your new address until your record with Social Security can be changed. When you applied for Social Security you should have been given a reporting card to be used in the event you changed your address. The address on the reporting card (SSA-1445) was that of a Social Security payment center. This card can be used but be sure to cross out the address of the payment center and show the address of your nearest Social Security office. You can find the telephone number and the address of your district office in the telephone book.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Editor's Note: This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the Detroit District Office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I've taken over my mother's support from my brother. Who gets to claim her as a dependent this year?

A. Under the support test for claiming a dependent, the person who provides more than half the total support for the calendar year is entitled to claim the exemption. To determine whether you or your brother qualify, add up your mother's food, clothing, shelter and other expenses for the year. Then find out whether you or your brother supplied more than half of them.

If neither you nor your brother furnished more than half of this support but your combined contributions totaled over half the support, then you may want to consider the multiple support agreement. Such an agreement enables one of you to claim your mother as a dependent providing certain conditions are met.

Be sure to check this provision of the law, as well as the other dependency tests, before you file your return next year.

Q. I was just billed for a tax I've already paid. What should I do about it?

A. Return the bill along with a copy of your cancelled check

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORDS

BY LINDA NORRIS

An American tradition that has never waned—in fact, it has gained in popularity over the years and is enthusiastically received even in today's mod world—is the art of square dancing. . . . There's nothing like a do-si-do to get one in the mood for enjoyment and with it goes country music. . . . with this in mind, Cliffie Stone, one of the great country 'n' western stars, has come up with a new LP, "Square Dance U.S.A." in which he does some of the day's favorite country tunes to a square dance beat. . . . Included are The Unicorn, Something Stupid, Patter, Little Girl, That Old Black Magic, Gentle On My Mind and When Your Baby Smiles at You.

Wynn Stewart has a winner in his new Capitol album. . . . Done to a well turn are such numbers as In Love, A Thousand Wonders, Tough Row to Hoe, I'll Die Tryin', Louisiana Blues—Harp—Man, My Own Little World, Don't Lay Your Head on My Shoulder, Happy Blues, Missing You and Kiss-A-Me, Love-A-Me.

And still with the country set, ever popular Ferlin Husky gets with it again in his new White Fences and Evergreen Trees, a collection of love songs with a bitter-sweet base. . . . He does Anytime You're Ready, With Pen in Hand, Gone, Love's Been Good to Me, Heart Full of Love, I Know You're Going Away, Folsom Prison Blues, Love Takes Care of Mr. One Way to Live, Flat River, Mo. and the title song.

Local officials have received notice from H. E. Spangler, in charge of the National Employment Service Office in Ann Arbor, that his office will control the placing of men on the I-19 highway project west of Chelsea. Spangler will be in Chelsea this week, when it is hoped all unemployed of the community who have not registered will do so. It is estimated that approximately 120 men from this community will be employed on the grading and drainage work for the new right-of-way.

Chelsea defeated her old rival, Milan, in the most thrilling game of the year Friday night. The Chelsea basketballers were a bunch of fighting clashing tigers that never quit fighting until they won the game. Between halves Coach Johnson gave the boys a little pep talk that sent them back to the battle with a determination to win.

Last Monday the 10th and 11th grade pupils of speech class gave a mock trial. Miss Tapp was the defense lawyer for Miss Heim and Ronald Spiegelberg was the lawyer of the plaintiff. CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses extended to me at the time of the illness and death of my husband, Eugene A. Garvey. It is deeply appreciated.

Mrs. Eugene Garvey.

THANK YOU

My sincerest appreciation to Vicki Wilkerson for originating and organizing a most successful teens project for March of Dimes, and to the Jaycees and their wives who participated in this function. I would like to specially thank the Chelsea Auxiliary Police. Without your generous service, the March of Dimes would not have been possible.

Sincerely,

A recent Michigan State University survey shows that out of 375 Michigan farm machinery dealers, only 26 have programs to rent or lease equipment. Of these, 18 rent farm machinery on a short-term basis and only eight offer both short and long-term arrangements.

THANK YOU

I would like in this way to thank neighbors, family and friends for plants, bouquets, cards, visits and food that has been brought in while I was in the hospital and since my return home. All these kindnesses are sincerely appreciated.

Alene Steinbach.

THANK YOU

Thanks to local businesses for displaying March of Dimes canisters during the entire month of January. Also thank you to the generous citizens of the community for their contributions.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

It seems wherever you look, here or abroad, something is wrong. Few things seem right. Throughout Asia, the Middle East, place after place in Europe, and here at home—Washington, New York, Chicago—you name it. Problems exist everywhere. Inflation, sickness, heart disease, mental disorders, violence, lawlessness, pollution, dissenters, demonstrators, and again—you name it.

Yet, with it all, somehow or other, with all these sticky problems, life is STILL livable. Could it be that these problems, bad as they are, are really not as bad as they seem to be? Have we created a fear of fear? Are we blinding ourselves in a darkness of despair by refusing to open our eyes to the sunshine of exuberance, good cheer and hopefulness? Do we believe that because lots of tranquilizers are being bought and used, that EVERYBODY is using them? MOST people don't use them! Remember that! Remember too, that while all of us may be living in a dangerous age, it need not be a disastrous age for any of us. Speaking for ourselves, we firmly believe a new order will be reborn with righteous ness and justice. We hope to see it and be a part of it. What about you? Girl Scout Cookie Sale Starts Feb. 21

Local Girl Scouts will be scouting for cookie customers from Feb. 21 to March 8 as part of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council cookie sales program.

Five of the 50 cents per box purchase price is profit for the troop, to help finance troop camping, service projects and other troop activities. Last year troops in the council netted slightly less than $18,000 to use in this way, according to Mrs. Paul Mann, cookie captain for Chelsea, Dexter and Saline.

21 cents per box is council profit, used for the camping program, including developments at Camp Linden and partial payment of camping fees for needy Scouts.

"Just over half the purchase price is a 'donation' to the operation of area Girl Scout organizations, two cents is sales tax and the remaining 22 cents is paid to Burry for cookies," according to Mrs. Mann. The scouts have set their council goal at 270,000 boxes, an increase of 12,000 over the 1968 goal that netted $55,000 for the council. This money is supplemented by United Fund contributions and calendar sales profits.

Chelsea troops sold 8,176 boxes last year. Members of the five Chelsea Girl Scout troops will visit houses in their own neighborhood for orders during the two-week period. This year no extra orders will be taken after the regular sales period is closed.

Cookies will be delivered April 16 to 26.

New Owners Take Over Beauty Salon

The Village Beauty Salon, 109 N. Main, was purchased from Mrs. Jean Sweet by Mrs. Gerald H. Pannone last week.

Loretta Wahl Pannone, who took another big step recently, marriage, said she and her husband plan to redecorate the shop. Pannone, rumored to be artistic, is designing a new sign for the outside as one of his first projects.

The shop was established by Mrs. Sweet six years ago when she bought "Rose's" above Chelsea Restaurant. She moved it to the present location after the site was vacated by the Chelsea Medical Clinic with the opening of the new center last year.

Mrs. Pannone graduated from Preston's Beauty Academy, Ann Arbor, in 1964 and has since completed a hair coloring course in Detroit and been employed as a beautician at Groomwell in Ann Arbor and at the Village Beauty Salon.

The entire staff has been retrained, including Judy Patrick, Fanny Kuhl, Mary Adams and Yula Montgomery. Mrs. Sweet will work part-time.

An Odd Contrast
Farmers are amazed by recent reports showing that labor union members strongly distrust the ability of union members to help make policy. The study, conducted by professors of the Universities of Michigan and California, revealed that union leaders feel their rank-and-file members are largely inattentive to making proper decisions concerning their own welfare and that of the unions.

In sharp contrast, the same day a report was released that 500 farmer-delegates to the annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau were writing statements on a wide array of agricultural and public problems ranging from political conditions to pesticides.

Built on the concept of a voluntary membership speaking for itself, the entire policy-development process for the farm group lies in the hands of elected member-leaders. The process may appear to be cumbersome and costly, but it is commendably complete.

According to Arthur Bailey, Okemos county farmer and chairman of the policy committee, policy development for Farm Bureau people often begins with individual members meeting in community groups where they talk over their problems and take a stand on issues. From there, recommendations go to county annual meetings open to all members, where they receive a stamp of either approval or disapproval.

According to Bailey, these county recommendations then came to the farmers of his state policy development committee who spent "hundreds of hours" acquiring facts and informing themselves on issues and problems facing agriculture.

"Before it was all done, we had more than 50 resource people—versed in many areas of public concern, appear before us. We attended many county annual meetings personally, and received over 1,000 formal policy recommendations from members throughout Michigan."

These proposals were sorted, combined, and in some cases rewritten by the state committee before placing them before the farmer-delegates for disposition. Thousands of miles, thousands of hours, and thousands of farmers were involved in each final decision of a process which should accurately reflect farmer thinking concerning the needs of changing agriculture.

Martin Miller Attends Fire Dept. Banquet in Hamburg, N. Y.

Martin E. Miller attended the annual banquet and ball of the Hamburg Volunteer Fire Dept. of Hamburg, N. Y., Feb. 8.

Miller was an active member of the department in metropolitan Buffalo, from May, 1915 until 1919, when he was given his exemption. The festivities honoring the wives of the active and exempt members of the department were held in the Lake Street headquarters of the four-station department. The dance theme was "astronomical" and featured glittering stars and spheres.

Mrs. Miller was not well enough to accompany him.

National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test Slated Feb. 18

Chelsea High school students who expect to graduate and enter college in 1970 can register now to participate in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

The first step for students who wish to enter the national competition is to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, given in school Tuesday, Feb. 18.

Participating students should register and pay a $1.25 fee at the school office. Promising students will be sponsored by the school to pay for the test.

The test is given at the school. The handbook contains information concerning the performance of other students throughout the country and college and financial information.

Students earning the highest scores will compete as semifinalists for Merit Scholarships. Approximately 970 other groups sponsor scholarships through the Merit program. Approximately 18,750 students have won scholarships in the 13 programs to date.

Chelsea High school has sufficient materials to accommodate up to 120 students. Chelsea High school guidance counselor said students not earning a Merit Scholarship will benefit by the experience in preparation for college admissions testing. He said additional scholarships and other financial aids are often awarded non-recipients.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

Very seldom do you ever read or hear compliments for anything or anyone least of all "teens."

We, the members of The Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary, in carrying out the annual March of Dimes campaign asked the high school student council to carry out one activity in support of our campaign.

A very enthusiastic young lady, Vikki Wilkerson, undertook the project. She planned, presented and carried out "Battle of the Bands" the first such activity in our schools.

We ran into a great deal of disunion and apprehension among the adults of our town and school system as it was to be an open dance (students welcome from other schools). They anticipated slashed tires, brawls, fights, drinking, windows broken, restrooms demolished and a great deal of wrong doings and destruction.

Having faith in this world of ours, but mostly in the behavior of teens we went ahead with all established plans, undertaking full responsibility.

On the night of the event we had seven Jaycee couples, two of whom were teachers, a school janitor and two volunteer Auxiliary Police, present as chaperones.

The dance was to start at 8:30 and a few of us were there at 7:30. Much to our amazement many teens were already waiting to get in. There were at least 450 teens present at 10:30 including school areas such as Grass Lake, Manchester, Dexter, Ann Arbor, and others.

All of them were neat, clean, beautifully dressed, but most of all courteous and friendly.

During the evening these teens proved our point. Have faith in them as individual people and trust them and they will behave and demand others to act so as well.

Some comments we received were "Gee there were so many of you watching us but we didn't feel policed." "Thanks for have this for us it was great." Could you do it again next year? But perhaps the most significant was from a little girl who had been there all evening who said "Thank you to all of your organization for letting us have something no one cares about—trust."

The teens, every one of them, need to be trusted and we trust them with today and the future. We have faith in them.

I, as one individual watching and working for my community would like to hear more about the good the multitudes of teens are carrying out rather than the little number that calls attention to their misdeeds. How about the teens that belong to clubs, organizations and classes that adopt orphans and support them themselves; come to the aid of a family burned out of their home; flood victims and any number of times they just plain help. Surely this is the teen who feels responsible and ready for the day.

May I thank these teens who attended our dance and proved to our town the kids of today are good, well-behaved young people. To the adults may I ask that as you sit in your meetings, discussing all the bad points of doing something for kids, that you stop and try to bring out many of the good reasons. Just try it once and remember to trust these kids. The thanks you will receive for furnishing a night of something for them to do will make it all worth the time, effort and whatever you may have put forth to do it.

About 1900 years ago a fellow by the name of Paul wrote that he had a "thorn in the flesh." No one has ever been sure for what Paul's "thorn in the flesh" was, but many seem to think it was a physical defect. Despite his "thorn in the flesh," or maybe because of it, Paul became one of the most outstanding characters of all history. Now there is not a single one of us who does not have some sort of handicap, or a "thorn in the flesh." Most of us like to blame our shortcomings and failures on that handicap, but we should not. I would like to pass along to you a list of people who have been bothered by the "thorn in the flesh."

Child Gets Image by Watching Parents

Child first gains ideas of what are like at home. By watching parents and their behavior toward each other, a child gets a picture of the adult world. According to Margaret Jacobson, a life specialist at Michigan State University, every child is differently toward adults, depending on his own personality and the feeling about himself. A child reared in an atmosphere of love and affection can more easily love others. He also learns from examples. When children are best learned through parents and their images of others. Social skills can be taught by children take part in meetings, greeting guests who visit home," she suggested. "They play a little part in hostessing, passing around napkins or doing a new toy.

Child asking a small child to play and become the center of attention. To the shy child this is so devastating that he may have callers. The forward child who enjoys being the main attraction may take advantage of the situation. Each effort is often spent in children to say, "Thank you," "Please," or "I've had a nice time." These social graces are easily learned if they are part of the child's daily life in the home, said Dr. Jacobson. Child doesn't learn by himself. He must not pick up a candy in the grocery store or pick neighbor's daisies. Such social skills must be explained. Children need help in learning social requirements of their day. Eventually they must learn cooperation, honesty, and respect. But learning to be socially acceptable takes time," specialist said.

Child should have contacts with different kinds of people. By knowing persons of cultures and backgrounds other than his own, he grows accustomed to differences in later life he will be able to make his own judgments of people, free of prejudice.

CLEAN BRUSHES

When working with interior or exterior latex paints, it's a good idea to wash your brush in clear water occasionally. This will prevent quick-drying latex paint from building up and hardening at the base of the bristles. When you have finished work for the day, thoroughly wash out all brushes so they will be clean and ready for the next day's use.

Motor Vehicle Funds Show 30% Increase

Cheelsea is scheduled to receive $10,650 from fourth quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund distributions, according to the Michigan State Highway Commission.

Henrik E. Stafseth, state highway director, said net highway fund receipts during October, November and December totaled $86 million, an increase of approximately 30 percent compared to the same period in 1967.

The increase is attributed to the cent-a-gallon increase in state gasoline tax taking effect Jan. 1, 1968, and vehicle weight tax increase taking effect several months ago when the 1969 license plates went on sale.

Washtenaw county received $538,526. County incorporated cities and villages received the following amounts: Dexter, $5,793; Ann Arbor, $223,681; Saline, $7,470; Manchester, $6,245; Milan, $12,285 and Ypsilanti, $57,013.

JV Cagers Win at Lincoln

Cheelsea JV cagers hustled to a 50-44 win over Lincoln Friday by reduced turnovers and accurate shooting.

42 percent floor and 67 percent free shooting compared rather favorably to the 39 and 46 percentages offered by Lincoln, and gave Cheelsea the chance to extend their season record to 8-6, with a 5-4 league competition record.

Jim Hercules lived up to his name by grabbing 17 rebounds and adding 16 points to the boards. John Taylor showed "hustle" on both offense and defense, according to Coach Paul Terpstra as he plunged in 17 points and snatched 12 rebounds.

Coach Terpstra also said Wayne Welton completed two free throws at a crucial spot.
