Michigan Week Activities Start This Week-End

Defeat of Millage Request Forces Consideration of Cuts in Program

Chelsea Jaycee President Wins State Award

Government Day Monday Features Mayor Exchange With Pinconning

Defeat of the operational millage at the election May 5, demands that the board of education consider whether to re-submit the budget $550,000, the amount represented by the 11.88 mills.

The administration was requested by the board to balance the budget for 1969-70 by recommending cuts in personnel and programs equal to $550,000. The board of education, at a special meeting at 8 p.m., Monday, May 19, will consider eliminating the following items from the budget if the millage is submitted again and is defeated:

From the elementary schools: eliminate kindergarten entirely; half-day sessions for grades 1-3; eliminate remedial reading, library service, playground supervision at noon, vocal music, and purchase of library books. 23 teachers would be released by these cuts and the budget would be reduced by approximately $190,700.

From Beach school and Chelsea High school:

Eliminate all programs in Art, Home Economics, Band, Vocal Music, French, Latin, Agriculture, Physical Education, Library Service, Counseling, Industrial Arts, Athletics, purchases of library books, Driver Education and Shared Facilities. 25 teachers would be released by these cuts and the budget would be reduced by approximately $228,000.

All capital outlay, representing $30,000 on the five proposed additional teachers costing $40,000 included in the 1969-70 budget would be eliminated. Limitations in the bus service on the regular daily runs and the elimination of field trips would reduce the budget by approximately $10,000.

As the total of the above cuts equals only $498,700, other personnel and program cuts would have to be considered to make a total reduction of $550,000.

The decision of the board to re-submit the operational millage issue to the voters or to balance the budget by making the above cuts in programs and personnel will have a significant effect on the education of the pupils in the Chelsea Public Schools in 1969-70 and the following year.

Chelsea Jaycee President Walt Brown was named as one of Michigan's 10 Outstanding Jaycee Sparkplugs at the 44th State Jaycee Convention May 10.

This award was the result of Brown's work in the local Jaycee chapter and the community, written examination administered May 9 and an oral exam taken on Saturday. Both exams were on Jaycee history and programs.

The Sparkplug award is given to Jaycees who have been chapter members for more than 12 months and have completed a number of qualifications, such as being a project chairman, attending state meetings, signing up new Jaycees and participating in other Jaycee activities on the local, district, regional and state level.

In addition to being elected local Jaycee president for 1969-70, Brown has been chairman of 12 projects during the past year and is active in the community. He recently was appointed to the Chelsea Planning Commission, was one of the Ann Arbor United Fund Plant Chairmen, is a member of Jackson Road Businessmen's Association and Institutional Representative of Cub Scout Pack 445.

Michigan Week final plans were made at a meeting Monday night. Here, Conrad Hafner, left, the mayor's exchange Monday; displays of historic Michigan Week chairman, and Ed Akin, go over significance and many other activities.

Scholarship Committee Weeks Funds

Navin Files For School Board Position

Rubbish Piles Delight Rummage Collectors

By June approaches, seniors at Chelsea High school begin to file plans for their futures. Some will enter military service, some will seek employment, and some will seek further education.

A recent survey of post-high school plans of Chelsea seniors indicated that 95 of them, or 75 percent of the class, wish to go to college or technical school.

Of this group, 54 indicated they will need some financial assistance to achieve their educational goals. The cost of a year college education in Chelsea ranges from $5,000 to $15,000 and two year technical school from $1,500 to $15,000.

With these figures in mind, the Chelsea scholarship committee has begun its annual spring campaign to persuade local industries, groups, and individuals to contribute toward the educational expenses of some of these students.

After have been sent to area schools explaining the program and asking for financial support, the scholarship committee desires that donations last.

George Navin has filed a petition for candidacy for a school board position in the June 9 election.

He is the third person to file for the two positions. During April William Storey and Howard Haselschwardt turned in petitions for the election.

Navin is a service man at Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., Ann Arbor. He has a daughter in high school and one in grade school in Chelsea. He and his wife, Betty, own a home at 406 Wilkinson St. His family has owned a cottage near Chelsea for 40 years, and Navin moved here 18 years ago. He graduated from River Rouge High school.

He is a member of St. Barnabas.

Last Sunday night many sections of Chelsea resembled a drive-through rummage sale with free merchandise according to reports by local residents.

Individuals and small groups in cars cruised slowly up and down streets peering into the darkness at stacks of miscellaneous furniture, brush, household and yard items.

The piles contained an assortment of old items that had outlived their usefulness to the owners and had been put out for the annual spring rubbish pick-up by the public works department.

Each spring the public works department announces two days when they will take away anything that village residents can get to the curb. Since pick-up started early Monday morning, the piles of broken goodies appeared at curbs all over town Sunday.

And Sunday was a rummage paradise, according to accounts by Chelsea residents. For example, a Volkswagen whose driver was selecting items from Lanewood rubbish piles was reportedly so overloaded that local residents feared there would be no room for the driver. It almost equalled the famous station wagon of spring, 1968, in number of items.

Some families turned on their yard lights to illuminate their wares, while others were oblivious to the nocturnal occurrences. By late Sunday night "at the best junk was gone" one observer explained.

Light, portable pieces of furniture and other small household items were the choicest pickings. A few less desirables also disappeared. For instance two old and bald tires were claimed from a pile on Main St.

Timidity prevented some individuals from throwing away their inhibitions and helping themselves to an admired object. Window frames on North St. evoked favorable comments, and an ancient and an ancient rocking chair rocking chair would have been claimed by an enthusiastic woman had not her family forbid it.

Although someone jokingly suggested that the public works department postpone collection until the end of the week, there were apparently some curbside items that nobody would take.

The non-wooden items still sitting, rejected, at curbs were collected Monday by six village employees in three dump trucks and started to the landfill.

Wooden items were taken Tuesday, since they go in a separate pile and are not required to be covered as deeply to conform to health regulations.

The fate of the adopted items is unknown. Perhaps area handymen and do-it-yourself buffs are at this moment refinishing, repairing and restoring them occupying an important spot in their home.

Scholarship Offered By UAW Locals

Work Bee Set Sunday at Nature Center

Kindergarten Round-Up Slated Friday

A $300 scholarship is available to any boy or girl whose parent is an active affiliate of the UAW local No. 437 or 1284. This is the fourth year the scholarship has been sponsored by the locals in order to illustrate their support of those who seek advanced education or training.

The applicant need not be a student in the Chelsea school system.

Financial need is not a main limiting factor. In order to eliminate duplication of awards, winners of other substantial financial aids are not eligible.

Selection will be based on the applicant's grade point average, testing results, personal record and the individual's desire to further himself.

Application forms may be obtained from the local union president or the unit chairman. Forms should be returned to the Chelsea School District Scholarship Committee by May 28.

Half of the scholarship is to be awarded to the winner upon submission of evidence that he has been admitted to an advanced program. The remainder of the scholarship is available upon "satisfactory" completion of the first semester of the school year.

Ray Canine and Mitchell Picklesimer are the co-ordinating chairmen of the scholarship and may be contacted for further information.

The Chelsea Nature Center is planning a community work bee at the nature center Sunday afternoon.

Assistance from area residents would enable the committee to tackle such tasks as trail cutting, tree-felling, scattering of wood chips on trails, creek cleaning, brush cutting and correction of the drainage pipe problem.

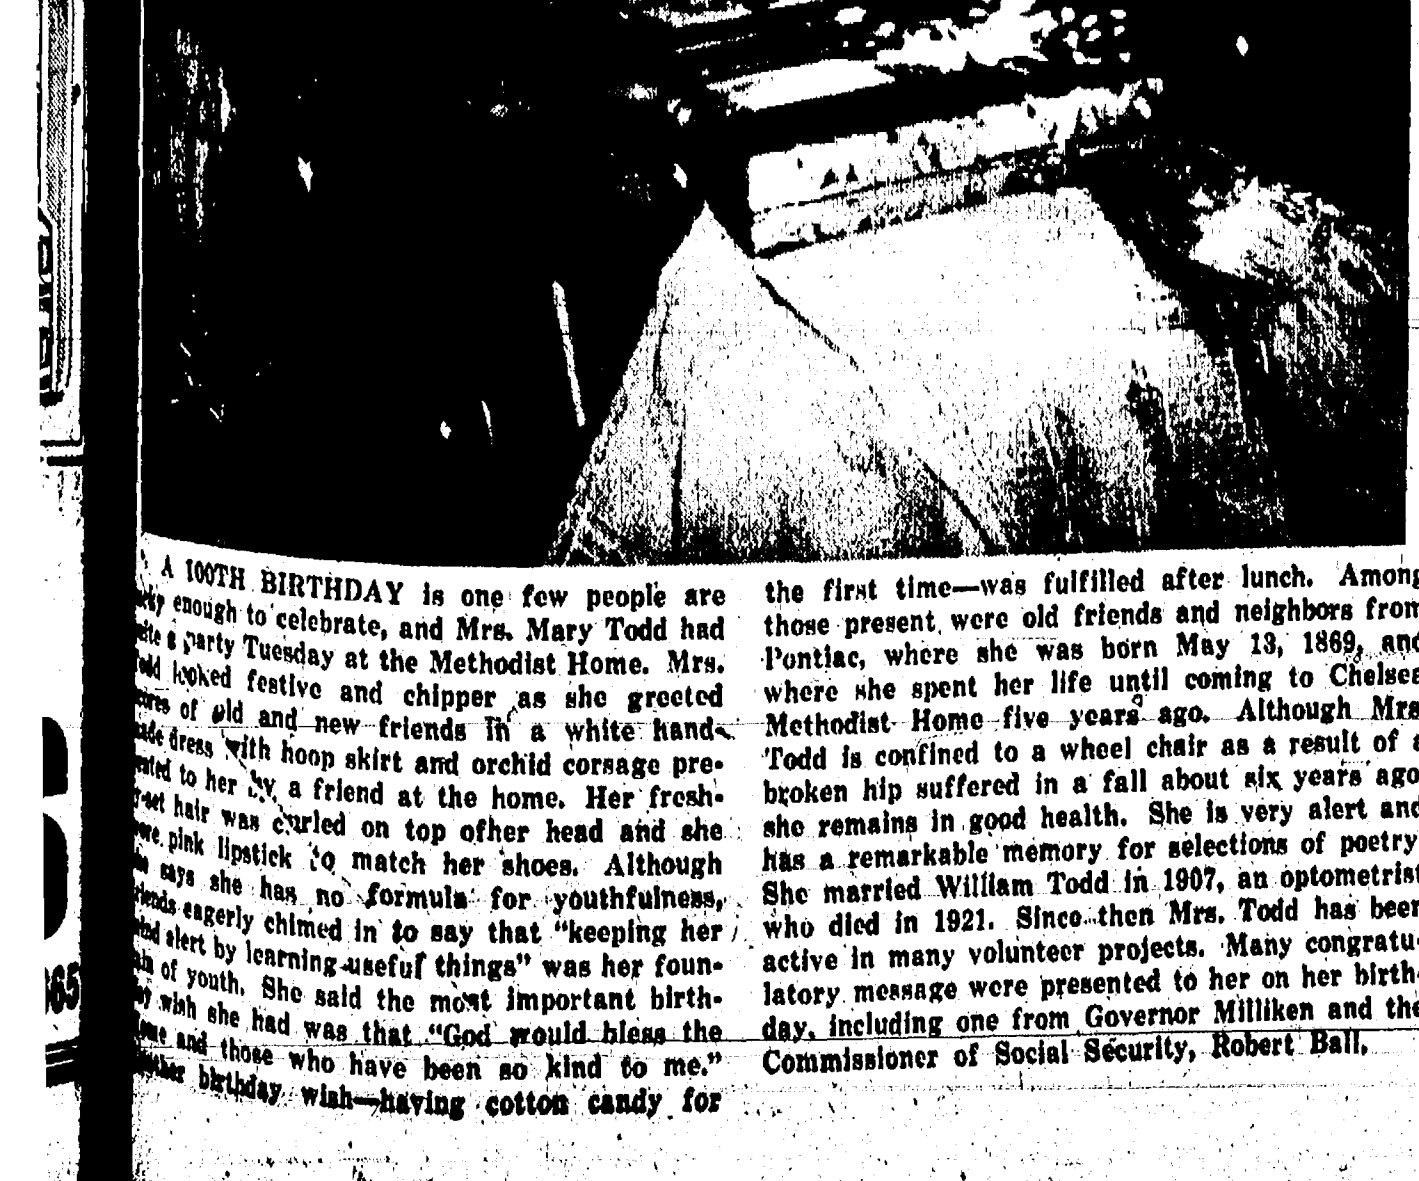

Persons interested in contributing to the development of the nature center should meet at the Beach Junior High school parking lot between 1 and 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

The Chelsea Kiwanis Club has challenged the Jaycees to see which organization will have the largest number of representatives at the bee.

Kindergarten Round-up will be held at South Elementary school Friday. Rural children and parents should come from 8:00 to approximately 10 a.m., and town children and parents from 1:30 to approximately 3 p.m.

Supervised play, snack and other activities are on the agenda for the children, and parents will be invited to participate.

A 100TH BIRTHDAY is one few people are lucky enough to celebrate, and Mrs. Mary Todd had a party Tuesday at the Methodist Home. Mrs. Todd looked festive and chipper as she greeted scores of old and new friends in a white hand-dressed with hoop skirt and orchid corsage presented to her by a friend at the home. Her fresh-cut hair was curled on top of her head and she wore pink lipstick to match her shoes. Although Mrs. Todd is alert in mind to say that "keeping her mind alert by learning useful things" was her fountain of youth. She said the most important birthday wish she had was that "God would bless the children and those who have been so kind to me."

the first time—was fulfilled after lunch. Among those present were old friends and neighbors from Pontiac, where she was born May 13, 1869, and where she spent her life until coming to Chelsea Methodist Home five years ago. Although Mrs. Todd is confined to a wheel chair as a result of a broken hip suffered in a fall about six years ago, she remains in good health. She is very alert and has a remarkable memory for selections of poetry. She married William Todd in 1907, an optometrist who died in 1921. Since then Mrs. Todd has been active in many volunteer projects. Many congratulatory messages were presented to her on her birthday, including one from Governor Milliken and the Commissioner of Social Security, Robert Ball.

THE LANSING REPORT
 FROM
GIL BURSLEY

Last week the legislature passed another of its bills—the Banking legislation requires a final day for reporting bills out of committee in the house of origin.

The preceding days had been devoted almost entirely to committee hearings with little floor activity. We now have several hundred items on the floor for debate and final vote during the coming two weeks.

The annual School Aid bill passed earlier by the Senate was reported out of the House Appropriations Committee on Monday. The House will have to straighten the bill before it comes to the floor or by referring it back to committee. It is essential that they do this soon so that local school districts may know what their financial resources will be for the coming year.

Parochial aid was written into the House version of the bill. I am very much opposed to parochial aid, primarily because I think we should reform and improve our methods of financing public schools before we even consider any parochial programs.

I have proposed a constitutional amendment which would let the people vote, in November 1970, on whether they want the state to support non-public schools. I think on a subject of such constitutional significance, a subject affecting basic educational policy, that there should be this opportunity for the people to express themselves.

The bill on abortion law reform which I am sponsoring was reported out "without recommendation" which means it is up to me to get 20 votes to place it on the Senate calendar. It will be very close.

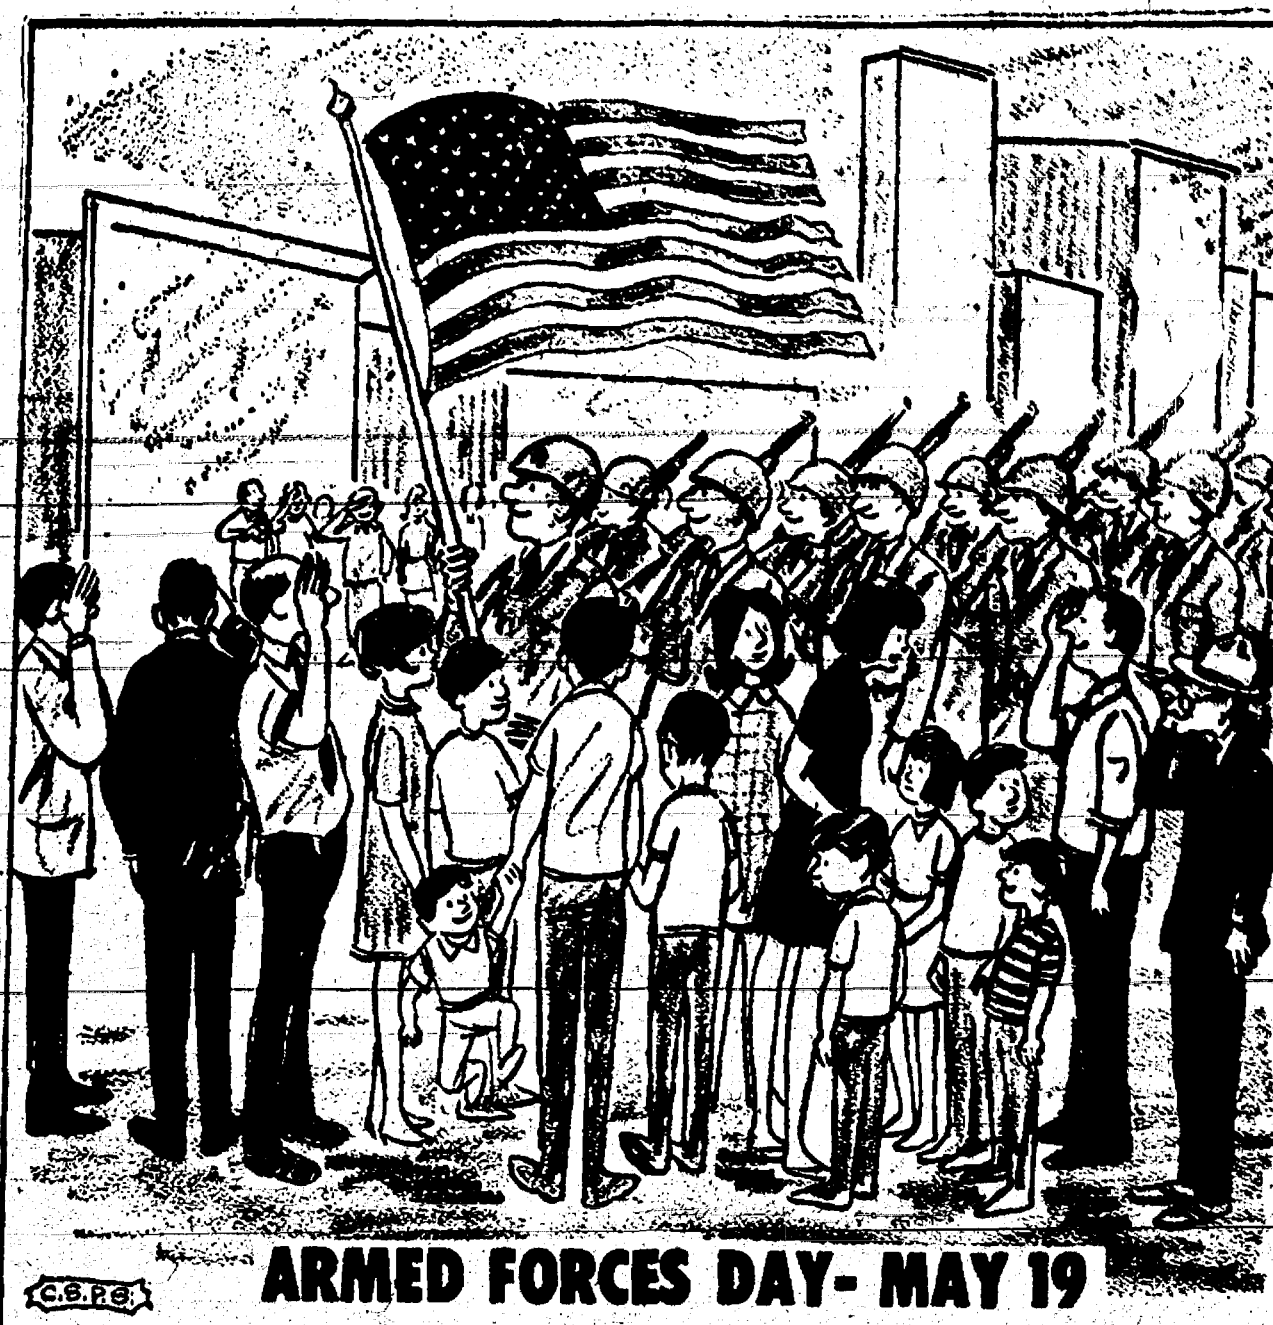

Major legislation which I am sponsoring is a bill to establish a state bank holding company and provide for their regulation. The two bills covering this subject are now before the Senate. Banking legislation requires a final day for reporting bills out of committee in the house of origin. The preceding days had been devoted almost entirely to committee hearings with little floor activity. We now have several hundred items on the floor for debate and final vote during the coming two weeks.

Another controversial measure of which I am the chief sponsor is a bill that will permit the Liquor Control Commission to waive the 500-foot rule if no church or school files an objection within a specified period. This bill represents a lot of negotiation with various groups. It now has the support of the Michigan Temperance Foundation as well as some of the liquor interests. It's quite a day when we find these groups united in their support of a bill.

I want to pay especial tribute to the House members from this district. They are all becoming identified with important issues. Representative Ray Smith is the legislature's most knowledgeable member on the water pollution bonding program; Representative Tom Sharp has focused attention on the legal profession in such manner that it is more effectively policed; Representative Roy Smith is leading a crusade to finance public schools through increased income taxes and reduced property taxes; and Representative Bob Stiles is recognized as one of the most vocal advocates of responsible fiscal policies.

Younger Smokers

Health hazards notwithstanding, cigarette smokers are getting younger and younger in Michigan, a recently-completed survey of 951 school children shows.

According to the study, many youngsters begin puffing at age nine, and some as early as six. Some eighth graders in a Detroit area school claimed they smoke marijuana or know classmates who do.

The survey was conducted by teenagers under auspices of the Youth Advisory Council, an arm of the Governor's Youth Commission of Michigan.

Interviews were conducted at 75 schools in 25 cities, with concentration on schools in Detroit, Reed City, Southfield and Albion.

Among major findings were: About 13 percent of those questioned said they were now smoking.

Fewer than half of the pupils said their schools were teaching about the relationship between smoking and health. Some of the teaching, they said, took place in informal rather than classroom instruction.

The relationship between smoking and health was given as the main reason for not smoking. About 16 percent of those interviewed specifically mentioned the possibility of smoking.

More than 70 percent of the pupils said either their mother or father or friends smoked.

About 59 percent of the smokers were boys and 41 percent girls. Boys made up 55 percent of those interviewed.

Only a few said they smoke up to one-half a pack or pack a day.

About half the pupils who said they are not now smoking reported they have tried it, and about 95 percent said their parents would not approve of smoking.

Most of the youngsters could remember a favorite cigarette commercial on television, and most mentioned "the music and humor" in the jingle. A majority also remembered seeing television commercials against smoking.

Earlier Attention
 Dr. James Sweinhart of the University of Michigan School of Public Health said the survey indicated education about smoking should start at the grade level instead of high school level.

"It shows we haven't been doing a good job in the schools on smoking education and should do something about it," said John Doherty of the Michigan Health Council.

"We've got to start education at a lower age level, try to deprogramize smoking and get mom and dad to set a better example," added Robert Waite of the Michigan Division of the American Cancer Society.

"Dr. Erwin P. Bettinghaus, assistant dean of communication arts at Michigan State University, said the survey cost only $200 to $300 and took 3 1/2 months to complete.

He said it showed that while Michigan law specifies the schools shall conduct informational sessions on smoking and drug usage, less than half the students interviewed said their schools do teach this. They claimed that "no smoking" signs in hallways and other "informal" reminders are the extent of their instruction.

How many cigarettes does the average 9-12-year-old smoker consume?

"About three to five a day," according to Bettinghaus. Some, however, said they average half a pack daily.

"But you have to remember," Bettinghaus added, "that the average 10-year-old doesn't have the opportunity to smoke that much. So if he could find the time to smoke, he would be in the same position as a heavy smoker."

CHS Hosting Regional Track Meet Saturday

Thirty-nine high school track teams from the Detroit, Jackson and Lansing areas will compete Saturday at the Regional track meet at Chelsea High school.

17 class B schools, including Chelsea, and 22 class D schools will participate in preliminary events, beginning at 10 a.m. and finals, beginning at 1 p.m.

Chelsea was selected as host school because the all-weather asphalt track is considered one of the best in the area of the schools competing.

Regional Manager and Chelsea Athletic Director Bruce Galbraith thinks that Chelsea has a good chance to place or win in the class B competition since local trackmen are strong in many events.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle told the fellows at the country store Saturday night that business and industry has come down with terrible diseases called the franchises and the conglomerates. Ed said he don't know nothing about the new ailments, but, from what he sees in the papers, they is the worst things to hit this country since that epidemic of defense contract kickback.

The Government is special worried about the conglomerates, Ed said, because it hits the real big outfits. Big companies swallow up little ones when they git the conglomerates, and the Government is afraid the big company gitting bigger will corner the market on whatever they make or sell.

The franchises work different, and the Government ain't working day and night to find a cure for it. The Government looks at the franchises somepon like they do smoking, allowed Ed, they jest warn folks it might be harmful to their health. The franchises puts a feller in business for a price, and by setting-up businesses all over the country it gits more of the business and makes it harder on the small operator, Ed explained.

After listening to Ed a spell, Bug Hookum told the feller that runs the store to watch out for the franchises cause it was hitting ever kind of business. The storekeeper said he weren't worried cause the franchises don't go where they ain't no market. He said he had saw where the franchises was in everything from fried chicken and car mufflers to dance halls and pet shops.

What the franchises do is set up standard equipment and a standard way to do whatever they git into, from pool halls to filling out income taxes. This way, the public can expect to find the same kind of hamburger from one end of the country to the other.

Bug said he had saw where one franchise fried chicken outfit has jumped over in the franchise babysitting business and they is having a little trouble using a standard operation cause, like a official said, younguns has emotions and chickens don't.

Clem Webster was of a mind the franchises ain't as dangerous as some say. Clem had saw where the "typical franchise holder" pays $25,000 to work a average of 12 hours a day. In the first place, they ain't too many 12 hour workers around these days. Clem said, and in the second place them that ties up $25,000 in somepon probable will do right by their customers in hopes of gitting his investment back.

Actual, Mister Editor, Clem said the franchises may be a cure instead of a disease. He saw where this druggist went out of business after 40 year because he wouldn't put in a line of garden seeds, goldfish, toys and camping equipment that ever modern franchise drugstore has these days.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Latin Club Holds Roman Banquet Tuesday Evening

Approximately 40 toga-and-sandal clad Latin Club members met Tuesday evening at Chelsea High school for "The Trojan Games," this year's Roman Banquet.

Auctioneer Bobbie Dvorak sold approximately 15 first-year students to second- and third-year students for mere pennies. The slaves, who brought less than 50 cents each, had to wait on their "masters" during the evening.

Prizes were given for the six best dressed Romans, followed by an evening of games and merriment. Pin the dagger on Caesar, foot races, and a grape stuffing contest were a few of the Roman-style events during the evening. 33 big purple grapes that fit in the mouth of Larry Bauer won that contest for him. The group trooped out to the football field for wheelbarrow races, where three fleet-footed boys rushed Lisa Perfers and her wheelbarrow the length of the field and back to win first place.

Latin Club members enjoyed a Roman meal, served on risers approximately eight inches off the floor. Ham, shrimp, cheeses, fruits, nuts and honey were main items on the menu.

Soil Stewardship Week Being Observed Nation-Wide

Soil Stewardship Week, a nationwide observance which places emphasis on man's obligation to God as stewards of the soil, water and other related resources, will be celebrated locally, May 11-18, according to Don Zeeb, chairman, Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District.

This year's observance with the theme "Confronting the Issues," under scores the responsibility which each citizen has in dealing forthrightly with current issues involving stewardship of renewable natural resources.

The Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District and some 3,000 companion districts throughout the nation along with their state and national associations are sponsoring the event for the 15th consecutive year.

Members of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District board of directors are Don Zeeb, Ann Arbor; Bill Fishbeck, Ann Arbor; Archie Bradbury, Dexter; Orrin Gribach, Saline; and Dale Lindemann, Dexter.

The Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District will distribute to churches of all faiths in the District booklets created particularly for this year's observance.

Although the 1969 theme in the attractively illustrated booklet, emphasis is placed upon confronting today's issues in this complex world.

Fishing Violations Are Plentiful in District Court

$5 a pound is a lot to pay for fish, but many Michigan fishermen are doing it—in court. Warm weather seems to have enticed large numbers of fishing fans to take pole in hand and frequent local lakes, without benefit of a license or open season.

Base season will open May 30, one day earlier than last year to legalize catching bass on Memorial Day. Pike season opens today.

Persons pleading guilty to fishing without a license in District Court Tuesday morning, and paying $11 fines, include Robert J. Krall, 32, Detroit; James C. Frye, 21, Taylor; Robin B. Sweet, 38, Detroit; Ernest E. Rangler, 22, Ypsilanti.

Fred Davis, 54, from Ann Arbor, pleaded guilty to possession of a northern pike during closed season and paid $11 fine and $5 liquidated damages for the pike. Lonnie Young, 22, of Manchester, pleaded guilty to possession of a northern pike during closed season, and paid $11 fine and $10 damages.

Mark A. Groden, 26, of Ann Arbor, pleaded guilty to possession of a black bass during closed season and paid $11 plus $10 damages.

Helping Hand Offers Aid for Youngsters

Spring and good weather are a blessing for all, but increasing outdoor activity at this time of year also increases danger to children from strangers.

Helping Hand Homes are available throughout Chelsea for children who need assistance of any kind at any time. Parents are urged by Jaycee Auxiliary to inform their children of the correct procedure to follow in time of danger.

The program attempts to screen the homes to insure that only reliable ones display the helping hand symbol. Parents should walk to school with their elementary child and show him where the signs are, and point out to junior high and high school-aged children that the program is also for their protection.

The auxiliary lists a few rules to teach children in their relationships with strangers, including, refusing all gifts or rides even if the person says that "mother sent him," and having a teacher or school office person check anyone wishing to take him home.

Present names in the file have been contacted and information updated. Helping Hand Homes should review the do's and don'ts on the sign and contact Mrs. Art Steinaway at 475-8815 if more information is needed.

130 homes have the signs, but the auxiliary feels that more are needed.

Chosen Delegate To UCC General Meeting in Boston

Mrs. David Strieter will be a delegate to the Seventh General Synod of the United Church of Christ in Boston, June 25 to July 2.

Mrs. Strieter is an active member of St. Paul United Church of Christ, secretary of the UCC State Women's Fellowship and member of the Christian Education Associates of the Ann Arbor Association.

The biennial General Synod is the legislative body of the two-million member denomination, a union of the Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed churches. It includes approximately 800 lay men and women and ministers of the church from every part of the United States.

The 1969 Synod will be considering controversial proposals for structural changes in the denomination based on experience under a constitution and by-laws adopted eight years ago. It will be choosing a new chief executive to succeed the Rev. Dr. Ben Mohr, Herbarster, president since 1961.

A seminary president, the Rev. Dr. Robert V. Moss, Lancaster, (Pa.) Theological Seminary, has been named by the denomination's nominating committee. A pastor, the Rev. Dr. Arthur D. Gray, Church of Park Manor, Chicago, will be nominated by a committee of ministers for racial and social justice.

Also before the United Church delegates will be resolutions on revision of the selective service system, amnesty for draft evaders, taxation and elimination of white racism from the church and nation.

Track Team Nosed Out By East Jackson

Chelsea track team claimed the runner-up trophy at the Michigan Center Relays Saturday evening while East Jackson took home a first-place victory by defeating Chelsea by a scant half point.

Chelsea had 28 points to East Jackson's 28½ in the 12-team relay meet, run in chilly, rainy weather.

Chelsea's only first was in the pole vault event, won by Jim Wojcicki, Larry Blackwell and Dan Hoover.

Second place was claimed in shuttle-hurdle relay by Jim Wojcicki, Steve Ersten, Mike Bassett and Larry Gorton.

In the two-mile relay Doug Weatherwax, John Hepburn, Dan and Mike McGinn set a school record and took second place with 8:36.9.

The high jump team of Karsten Kargel, Mike Bassett and Lance Burghardt was second. Another second was taken by the 880 relay team of Larry Gorton, Jim Wojcicki, Ted Bennett and Mike Schnadt.

The mile relay tied a school record of 3:34.9 but lost by a yard to East Jackson in the event that decided the meet. Chelsea team members were John Hepburn, Dan Hoover, Doug Weatherwax and Mike McGinn.

The long jump team of Rick Slane, Jim Wojcicki and Mark Collins placed fourth.

Chelsea lost two other meets during the past week. Tuesday, Chelsea lost 61½ to 56½ to Saline, but Chelsea Coach Bert Kruse was dissatisfied with the judging of the meet and is considering filing a protest.

One of the issues during the meet was the disqualification called against the Chelsea mile relay team, which had finished first. Officials said a Chelsea runner cut in too soon and the relay was awarded to Saline, thus giving them the winning points.

The other loss was Thursday, when Chelsea took a 61½ to 56½ defeat from a fired up South Lyon team. Coach Kruse said that Chelsea men were not up to par and also hurt by disqualifications and other mistakes.

These two losses have dimmed the chances of Chelsea winning the league title. With a league record of 3-2 and overall record of 6-2, Chelsea still could tie for first if they win the conference meet at Dander, May 22 and Saline finishes third.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER:
"What can a teenager do when his parents just aren't with it? It's running away from home the only answer? My parents are square. They see what is going on with the younger generation, but rather than trying to understand it, they make jokes. When I want to participate in what's going on at the teen scene, they lead me down with silly things to do around the house or just put the latex on the front door and ground me. It isn't fair. I don't want to run away. I like it around here except for the fact my parents won't let me go my own way. So, what's to be done about it?"

no one is looking out for you—and you haven't learned how to look out for yourself.

If you have a teenage problem you want to have discussed or at observation to make, address your letter to "For and About Teen-Agers," community and suburban Press Service, in care of this newspaper.

OUR REPLY:
The things you have to do around the house aren't so silly. Your parents would prefer that this be your "Thing." To you it is a drag, to them it symbolizes fulfillment of a parental obligation—which is to provide you with a sense of responsibility. That world where everyone is "free" to do only that which pleases for the moment is a dream world. If your parents didn't "care" they would not have provided for you as they have. Your home could have been a tent, or a tree-house. You may think this would be fun. But, you have no idea how cold and dreary the world can be when Registration will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Chelsea High school parking lot and the race will begin at 1 p.m. Entry fees will be $2 for driver and navigator and 50 cents for each additional passenger.

Judging criterion will be precision of time the vehicles pass various check points as specified in directions, so the car finishing in the shortest time will not necessarily win.

The race will take approximately 90 minutes to drive. At the end of the race checkpoint information will be compiled and trophies will be given to the four most accurate rallyists.

Proceeds will help pay for a two-week debate institute at Eastern Michigan University for interested students. During the two-weeks, participants will live in dorms at Eastern and have concentrated study of the new debate proposition "Resolved: That Congress should prohibit United States unilateral intervention in foreign countries."

Authorities from all over the U. S. will speak to the debaters, and debate coaches from high schools and Michigan colleges will take part in the institute. Chelsea Debate Coach William Coelius will be a dorm counselor.

Junior, Senior Prom Activity Fills Week-End
It was a busy week-end for Chelsea High school students who attended all the prom week-end events scheduled last Saturday and Sunday.

Juniors, seniors, their dates, and teachers congregated at CHS for a banquet, dance, movie, breakfast, and worship service Saturday night and Sunday morning, and hayride-picnic Sunday night.

Approximately 170 juniors and seniors enjoyed a banquet and program, surrounded by the feudal splendor of the gym transformed into a castle and courtyard.

Caryl Thornton, junior class vice-president, welcomed the senior class and gave small gifts to Caryn Thornton, food chairman; Ann Travis, arrangements chairman; Regina Herdy, music chairman; Marsha Johnson, invitations; Kathy Powers, senior vice-president; and Richard Bollinger, construction chairman.

Kathy Powers, senior vice-president, thanked the junior class. Tom Ballistrere, English teacher and basketball coach at CHS, served as the main entertainment for the banquet.

"The Abraham," began playing at 8 p.m. and faculty and students danced until midnight. Six sophomore servers and two buglers dressed in appropriate attire were on hand to serve their elders.

After a break for food, about 30 or 40 hardy souls arrived at the auditorium to view "The Great Race," a movie produced by Tom Ballistrere and financed by the junior class.

The Rev. Warner Siebert spoke at a half-hour church service after the movie, and Miss Di'Ann L'Roy and Bruce Galbraith performed several duets.

A breakfast by the junior class rounded out the evening and all students had departed by 8 a.m. Students reassembled at 5:30 p.m. Sunday at the home of Linda Bauer for a hayride. Howard McCalla furnished haywagons to take the group to Koenig's gravel pit for a picnic until dark.

ON MODERATE LIVING
A report from the Bureau of Labor Statistics says it costs an average of $2,570 a year for a city family of four to keep a "moderate" standard of living. This "moderate" family budget did not allow for savings and consumer credit costs.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Do you avoid walking under ladders? Do you think a black cat crossing your path means bad luck? Do you believe Friday the 13th is an unlucky day? Do you believe a broken mirror is an omen of disaster? Do you knock on wood? Do you throw spilt salt over your shoulder? If so—can you really and honestly explain why?

Superstitions have fretted people with fears and follies a long, long time. The world wide habit of believing in supernatural influence dates back to Plato's time; 400 years B.C.—perhaps longer. Some people are very superstitious. You will never convince them that superstition may be nothing other than an unfounded idea or a coincidence. In fact, superstitions are often funny and it requires a sense of humor to witness the antics and behavior of some people who are superstitious. Mostly, superstitions are harmless—as long as a custom or legend does not disturb a mind with incredulity or contempt of Divine Power. . . .

Something Special Noted About Girl Scout Leaders

At first glance Girl Scout leaders don't look any different from ordinary mortal women.

Take, for example, the 27 who attended the Western Washtenaw Area Association Meeting May 8 in Saline. They looked like a group of nice wholesome wives and mothers.

Reports on Dads' Day, the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council and day camping were given.

Mrs. Troy Brazell, field representative, explained the various units comprising the Girl Scout organization.

Then, as the ladies divided into small groups for "buzz sessions" a change was noted. Polite, idle chit-chat was dropped. Voices became serious and probing. Leaders zeroed in on problems with the directness of business executives.

One leader stated, "Yes, our ministers preach to us each Sunday, how as parents, we must take an active interest in our children. Yet, they are reluctant to let the Scouts use a room in the church for meetings."

Another, "If parents believe in the Girl Scout organization they must give us their support. We can't do the job alone."

Still another, "We've got to work on ways and means of keeping the older girls in scouting."

The dedication of these women isn't that of a flint-eyed Carrie Nation. It's more subtle and, in its way, stronger.

Mrs. Carmer Slocum, for instance, has been in scouting for seven years. She started out as a Brownie leader. She was also Day Camp Director for several seasons and is now Troop Service Director for the Chelsea area.

"I entered scouting because I wanted to do something for kids. Give them a good start," she explained.

Imogene is also active in the Boy Scout organization.

Mrs. Leslie Eisenbeiser, troop committee leader, has been active in Girl Scouting for 13 years. She says she enjoys being with the girls, watching them grow and savor new experiences.

"I became attached to them. They are like my own family."

Mrs. Edwin J. Sutter has chalked up 14 years in Girl Scouting, mostly as a leader. She is another dedicated one. She doesn't like to talk about herself but rather of "her" girls. She has been a Senior Leader for the past year.

Mrs. Joseph Verchereau has been Cadette Leader for the past year. This talented lady excels in baking and sewing. Home-made bread is not a rare treat but a weekly event for her lucky family. She particularly enjoys helping the girls work on their badges.

Mrs. Robert Updegraff is an assistant Brownie leader. Her statement, "I want to do something for the children," pretty well sums up her attitude.

These are just a few of the dedicated Girl Scout Leaders who are doing their "thing."

Fashion Notes
The average homemaker spends only about $26 a year on soaps and detergents for bathing, laundering, dishwashing and other personal and housekeeping cleanliness purposes.

Before you repaint a grease splattered wall, be sure to clean the wall thoroughly. Then use a coating to help the paint stick and to keep the grease from coming through. Aluminum paint is a good covering. Repaint with oil base gloss or semigloss paint. Either one will resist grease stains and wipe off easily.

Historical Society To Show Victorian Wall Decorations

The Waterloo Area Historical Society will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday, May 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Stockbridge Presbyterian Christian Education Building.

The Farm Museum created by the Society has now been open five summers. It has been so warmly received that the Society feels like celebrating and is inviting the general public to come to the meeting and join in the celebration.

A special feature of the meeting will be an exhibit of prints, samplers, mottoes, and wreaths made of seeds, hair, feathers, flowers, etc., the creations ladies made and hung on the walls of their houses in great-grandma's day.

A particularly interesting item will be a frame intricately decorated with flowers, fruit, and leaves. The piece looks like wood carving but actually each petal, leaf, etc. was shaped from leather and the whole finally lacquered. This is a recent acquisition of the Farm Museum.

Mrs. Jesse Batchelor, Mrs. Lawrence Lindemer, and Mrs. Curtis Patterson are arranging the exhibit. Anyone in the community having objects to loan to the committee may call Mrs. Batchelor, Phone 851-3921.

Time will be provided for viewing the show at 7:30 before the business meeting and at its close. As a part of the program Mrs. Batchelor will speak briefly about some of the items shown.

Three new members will be elected to the board of directors of the Society, and accomplishments of the past year will be reviewed.

St. Paul's Holds Mother-Daughter Banquet Thursday

Thursday evening, May 8, 235 mothers and daughters were present for the mother-daughter banquet held in the church dining room of St. Paul United Church of Christ.

Table decorations included bouquets of spring flowers and individual multi-colored, floral-decorated programs and favors. The latter were made in the form of tiny bibles, topped with flowers.

Mrs. James Williams, as toastmistress, introduced Conservation Officer Donley Boyer who showed color slide pictures of wild flowers native to this area. The program proved interesting to both the adults and children present.

Group singing was also enjoyed. Recognized as the oldest mother present was Mrs. L. P. Vogel, who attended as the guest of her daughter and grand-daughter, Mrs. Ralph Osterle and Jane.

The youngest mother honored was Mrs. James Sexton, and the grandmother with the most grandchildren (14) was Mrs. George Bauer.

Each was presented a small planter filled with greens and flowers.

Men and boys of the church served the dinner and did all the clean-up work.

Women's Circles were responsible for the various preparations, as follows: Sugar and Spice Circle, preparation of the meal; program and programs, Koinonia Circle; favors, Needle and Thread and World Wide Circles; and Busy Bees and Helping Hands Circles who worked under the direction of the dining room chairman, Helen Rothfuss.

As a safety precaution, always pull the connecting plug from the electric outlet when an electric knife is not in actual use. The user, or a child could be badly cut if the starting button is accidentally touched.

THE DANGER OF "WHIPLASH" NECK INJURIES OVERLOOKED

This is a frequent condition resulting from automobile collisions and other accidents which produce a sudden push from behind the body. The resulting snap or jerk of the head and neck is termed "whiplash." Bear in mind however, the jar does not have to be great to cause extreme trouble.

The snap of the neck is sometimes great enough to cause a vertebrae or two of the neck to slip slightly from their normal position with resultant pressure upon the spinal cord. Pressure here may cause neuralgia of the neck and shoulders, and headaches. There may be interference with circulation to the nose and throat, making the individual more susceptible to "colds." Certain forms of paralysis become apparent sometimes weeks after the original injury.

Past experience with traction for such neck injuries, has been shown to be unreliable. The new approach is through specific chiropractic setments after careful x-ray and neurological examination. The Chiropractic adjustment is as exacting as the surgeon's scalpel in brain surgery. The results of specific chiropractic adjustments in this vital neck area are equally as dramatic.

Prepare properly before you paint. Check the caulking around windows and doors and re-caulk if necessary. Never paint over a solid surface—hose down, dust and clean the area you plan to paint. Use a detergent to clean up greasy spots. Places that are peeling or cracking should be sanded down to the bare wood and a primer applied. When using an oil-base paint, always paint on a dry surface. Latex paints may be applied to a slightly damp surface.

Motor Vehicle Fund Shows Sharp Jump

Record first quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections are being distributed to Michigan's counties, cities and villages, according to the State Highway Commission.

Chelsea has been budgeted $18,211, compared to $13,695 during the same period last year and $11,002 in the first quarter in 1967.

Chelsea's portion will be applied to local streets in town other than M-52, which is maintained by a separate fund.

Other county towns were allocated similar increases. Ann Arbor will receive $341,286, an increase of approximately $63,000; Dexter will receive $8,817 compared to $7,573 and $6,891 during the same periods in 1967 and 1968.

Manchester will receive $9,502, an increase of approximately $1,300. Milan has been budgeted $18,002, $3,400 increase. Saline will receive $11,377, up from $9,630 received during the same period last year. Ypsilanti has been allocated $86,897, an increase of approximately $14,000. All county towns register steady increases over the past three years.

Washtenaw county will receive $804,903, an increase of approximately $150,000 over the first quarter of 1968.

State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth said net receipts during January, February and March totaled $31.46 million, compared to $110.76 million in the same period of 1968 and $98.81 million in 1967.

Most of the increases are attributed to the "Good Roads" tax package enacted in late 1967.

A penny-a-gallon gas tax increase took effect Jan. 1, 1968, and license fees were restored to the pre-depression rate when plates were sold last fall.

The Highway Fund is made up of all state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes, and license plate fees. After deduction of collection costs, 15 percent for the State Waterways Commission and $3.5 million annually for the Mackinac Bridge Authority to reduce the bridge fares, 46 percent goes to the Department of State Highways, 34 percent to the 83 counties and 20 percent to the 528 incorporated cities and villages.

BASKETBALL COACHES: New head basketball coach Jon Schaffner will occupy this desk next year. Schaffner, freshman basketball coach and head JV football coach this year, was appointed to fill the position that will be vacated when Tom Balistrere, seated, leaves Chelsea to become a coach at Albion College. Schaffner is not new to coaching.

'The Coach' Leaving Chelsea For Albion College Position

Students call Tom Balistrere "The Coach." It's a fitting name for him.

In the first place, he has been head basketball coach and freshman football coach since coming to Chelsea last fall.

The name fits for another reason, too. He likes to coach the young people he deals with, on the court or off, in personal adjustment, problems, relationships with parents and other areas not directly related to winning games and adding points to Bulldog scores.

"It has always been a strong interest of mine to help young people mature," Balistrere explained. He takes an interest in instructing students and has given several talks to groups of young people.

The Junior class chose him to speak during the prom-banquet last week-end. His talks, usually of a serious nature, are spiked with humor.

During his leisure time, Balistrere likes to carve wood and walk Brutus, his 200-pound St. Bernard. He reads to keep up with current events and teenage developments. "I do a lot of research into young trends and tendencies—it helps me to understand kids."

Young people who work with Balistrere often come to see him for some non-sport "coaching." He always instructs them to tell their parents what they tell him, believing that the parent-child relationship is the key factor in eliminating problems in youth.

His own parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony F. Balistrere, of Harrisburg, Pa., were important figures in his own development. "They weren't afraid to say no when relationship is the key factor in youth development," he believes. Balistrere is a firm believer in the necessity of discipline; furthermore, he believes young people want it.

"They don't want to be shoved, but they need guides to let them know if they're on solid ground or quaking." This is the role of parents, community, faculty and administration. "When they think they are old enough, at 13 or 17 to make important decisions without help or supervision, they're asking for trouble."

Balistrere speaks with pride of the community of Chelsea, particularly the students here. He and his wife, Charlene, bought a house here before learning that he would be offered a much-desired coaching position at Albion College next year. "I've noticed that parents here have a sincere interest in their children," demonstrated by support of their athletic activities among other ways.

He believes Chelsea High school has a good academic and sports program and handles discipline in a way that encourages high achievement in scholarship and character.

The Balistreres have already purchased a home and moved to Albion. They commute to Chelsea daily, a 45-minute trip. The coach will become assistant varsity basketball coach, head tennis and soccer coach and freshman basketball coach. He is eager to take on his new responsibilities at his alma mater and says he would rather coach there than at any other college since "their athletic philosophy and mine coincide."

By this he means they use athletics to teach men a method of living, rather than sports for sport's sake alone. Balistrere emphasizes the training that sports can play in the development of characteristics and co-operation.

The job offer is quite an honor for 25-year-old Balistrere, since most college coaches are at least in their early 30's. Also, it demonstrates the favorable impression Balistrere made as a student and athlete there several years ago.

He transferred to Albion after two years at York Junior College, York, Pa., where he was all-league in baseball and was a member of the basketball team.

During the next two years he completed majors in English and physical education and was all-league in basketball and baseball. After graduating in 1966 he coached basketball, baseball and football at Fraser High school, where he was named "Coach of the Year."

He finished his MS in physical education at Eastern Michigan last year. After investigating coaching positions in Pennsylvania and Maryland he decided to settle down here until he could get a college coaching position. "It looked like an excellent place to raise a family and settle down," he explained.

Chelsea Shows Increase in Home Building for Past Year

Authorization for new dwelling units in Chelsea increased from 11 in 1967 to 17 last year, although authorizations for new dwellings in Washtenaw county dropped dramatically for the second consecutive year, during 1968, and authorizations dropped 7.6 percent below the 1967 totals in the Detroit area.

The statistics were gathered and tabulated by the Planning Division of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and compiled in a residential construction report of Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Washtenaw county registered a 17.4 percent decline in new dwelling unit authorizations between 1967 and 1968, an even larger drop, 18.4 percent, occurred in 1967, compared to 1966. Last year a total of 2,494 permits were issued compared to 3,020 permits in 1967.

Multiple housing units accounted for a substantial part of the total with 1,383 units, or 54.6 percent of new authorizations. This is down from 58.5 percent in 1967. Ann Arbor led in new multiples with 598, followed by Pittsfield township with 292, Ypsilanti township with 89, Superior township with 47, and Ypsilanti with 37. No other community in the county, including Chelsea, had a multiple dwelling authorization.

The county leader in single family units was Ann Arbor with 368, followed by Ypsilanti township with 224, and Superior township with 105. Other communities had 53 or fewer units.

Chelsea had a total of 17 new single-unit authorizations and no demolitions, a substantial increase over the 1967 total of 11 authorizations, 10 demolitions and a net increase of one housing unit.

In 1966 Chelsea authorized 13 single-family units and 35 units of multiple family housing, demolished two and gained a net of 46 units.

Most of the surrounding communities and townships registered declines in residential authorizations during the past year. Dexter authorized only two single units, compared with seven in 1967. In Dexter township, 21 units were authorized, compared with 20 in 1967. Freedom township authorizations dropped from 12 in 1967 to seven in 1968. In Lima township, 12 new single units were authorized last year, compared with 14 in 1967. Nine new single units were authorized in Lyndon township last year, compared to 15 in 1967.

Seio township authorized a total of 43 single family dwellings and two two-family units. Sharon township increased from four new authorizations in 1967 to five during 1968. Sylvan township authorized 11 units during 1968 compared to eight during 1967. Webster township authorizations dropped from 37 in 1967 to 17 in 1968.

Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Ypsilanti township showed several drops in single unit authorizations between 1967 and 1968. Ann Arbor authorized a total of 368, less than a third of the number approved in 1967. Ypsilanti dropped from 312 to 38 and Ypsilanti township dropped from 548 to 224.

The report showed a decrease in the tri-county Detroit area from 29,911 units in 1967 to 27,652 in 1968. Comparable figures for the entire six-county region studied showed a loss of 8.4 percent, or a reduction of 2,785 units.

According to the report, the decline cannot be attributed to any one factor, but possibly a combination of the protracted construction strike, shortage of money and a cross-the-board inflation. Single-family homes reached an

Junior High Choir Rated 'Excellent'

Beach school Seven th Eighth Grade Choir received second division rating in the Michigan School Vocal Association District 11 Choral Festival in born Friday.

Director DiAnn L. Roy said that this represented a good thing for Chelsea since many students had never competed before. "Most of the 14 choirs had seventh and eighth graders, and were from suburban schools," Mrs. Roy commented.

They also received a division, or "excellent" rating in the five-division scale in reading.

The choir will sing some same music plus other in a 30-minute presentation at the Beach open house May 20.
