Both County Millage Issues Turned Down

Both Propositions Soundly Defeated With Very Few Voting Tuesday

Area voters heavily defeated two millage proposals in election Tuesday. Preliminary results show that all local townships "rejected" a plan that would have gone into effect Jan. 1, 1970, and for improved parks and recreation.

Full-county vote showed that the plan was surprisingly light in local opinion, as well as in the need for law enforcement in Washtenaw county, as well as the need for land for recreation, and for improved parks and recreation.

County totals for the first election on "law and order" were "yes" votes and 8,980 "no" votes.

Proposal II on parks and recreation lost by a smaller margin, 6,875 "yes" and 12,125 "no" votes. The plan would have provided for a one-quarter mill for parks and recreation, but won a harder battle, but won in Ann Arbor. It was heavily defeated by the outlying townships.

Local voting results by township are as follows:

Township	Yes	No
Ann Arbor	37	112
Dearborn	37	98
Detroit	5	53
Flint	20	76
Grand Rapids	31	109
Lansing	8	57
Warren	29	85

Bulldog Team Opens Season Friday Against Stockbridge

The Chelsea Bulldogs open the new football season as hosts for a game this Friday night with Stockbridge. Varsity head coach Phil Bareis is looking forward to a strong season with a team that includes many returning players. Nine seniors and eleven juniors will be returning to the varsity bench this year.

Bareis returns for his fourth year as head coach for the Bulldogs. He received his BS from Western Michigan University in 1969 and served as head coach at Clinton High school for four years before coming to Chelsea. A 1955 graduate of Chelsea High, he lives with his wife, Helen, and their three children at 740 N. Main.

A new man joins the Bulldog staff in person of Jim Tallman, Jim, a recent graduate of Michigan State University, graduated from Clinton High in 1964 and played football under Bareis. He will coach the freshman team and look forward to working with his former coach, Jim and his wife, Gerry, live at 533 N. Main. "I find the team morale real good," says Tallman. "I'm looking forward to teaching and coaching in Chelsea."

Tallman will also be coaching the Junior Varsity basketball team. Bob Pursel, assistant varsity coach, begins his third year at Chelsea High this fall. He graduated from Kalamazoo College, playing both football and baseball. He teaches mathematics as well as coaching. Pursel is a member of the Jaycees and lives with his wife, Sheryl, at 147 Orchard St.

Richard Bareis assists his brother as a varsity coach. After graduating from Western Michigan University in 1969, he taught and coached at Dexter High and Junior High school. In 1965, he began teaching industrial arts at Chelsea High as well as coaching the football team. He lives with his wife, Arlene, and their three children, Cheryl, Diane and David, on Dexter-Chelsea Rd.

Jon Schaffner is head coach of the Junior Varsity team this year. He graduated from Morehead State University in Kentucky in 1963. He taught at Harrison Junior High in Grand Rapids and Middleville High school before coming to Chelsea last year. In addition to his work with the team, he teaches mathematics at the high school. His wife, Ann, and their two children, Eric and Jill, live with him at 40 Chestnut Dr.

Tom Morrison is assistant to Eastern Washington University in the Junior Varsity coach. He left Cheney, Wash., in 1958 to teach and coach basketball at Dexter. He came to Chelsea in 1961 and teaches commercial subjects at the high school. He lives with his wife, Violet, and their children, Suzanne, Don Edward and Jeanette, at 287 Glazier Rd.

Captains of the varsity squad are both seniors, serving for the first time as the lead men. Richard Bollinger has lived all his life in Chelsea and has two brothers and an older sister. He had been interested in football since he first played in 7th grade and is looking forward to another season. He hopes to study auto mechanics at Ferris State University next year. An ardent mechanic, he has built a "dune buggy" using a Chevy engine. Richard works with his father, Paul, at Bollinger Sanitation, and lives at 415 W. Middle St.

Tim Covia, another long-time resident of Chelsea, is also captain for the first time. He is the middle man in a family of three sisters and one brother. He will probably study physical education in college in order to become a coach. The wrestling team has counted him as a member for three years, while he has spent (Continued on page three)

Fact Finder Set for Teacher Contract Issue

CEA Petitions Labor Department To Help Settle Contract Conflict

A fact finder has been appointed by the Michigan Labor Mediation Board in an attempt to resolve the contract dispute between the Chelsea Education Association and the Board of Education. William Gould, a professor at the Wayne State University of Law, will assume the duties of weighing the evidence of the conflict.

The CEA petitioned the Mediation Board for fact finding Saturday in the belief that making public the recommendations of an impartial third party will encourage resolution of the issues in dispute. In a resolution last week, the CEA announced that it will abide by the recommendations of the fact finder. The Board of Education has made no comment as to whether they will adhere to the recommendations in the fact finder's report. Such a report is not legally binding on either party.

The CEA has stated that if the board rejects the recommendations of a fact finder after CEA acceptance, teachers in all schools will not return for work the Monday following submission of the report.

Teachers in the Chelsea school system began the fall semester last week despite the absence of a contract. They apparently will continue on the job throughout the fact finding.

The main point of contention between the school board and the CEA involves the procedure for settlement of a grievance. The two factors of the grievance procedure which are in question are the definition of what shall constitute a grievance and the establishment of binding arbitration.

In the first case, the CEA has asked that a grievance be defined to include any item covered by the contract. The Board of Education, on the contrary, wishes to reserve the right to set certain issues beyond the scope of arbitration and not open for question in a grievance situation.

Issues that they might want to exclude from grievance procedure might be the unwritten policy for general operating procedure, extra curricular activities, dismissal of probationary teachers or how teacher evaluations are used.

In addition, the CEA wants arbitration of a grievance by an independent third party to be binding upon both the school administration and the board, and the teachers. The board, on the other hand, wants to have the final say in the case of a grievance. Donald Young, chief negotiator for the CEA, asserts that a grievance procedure that covers everything in the contract is necessary to help guarantee that the teacher has a fair chance to be heard in event of a misunderstanding or conflict.

Another issue for which the teachers seek recognition from the board concerns academic freedom as noted under two clauses in an article, Teacher Rights, of the contract. The CEA desires the board to recognize the right of a teacher to a personal life outside of the classroom.

A third point still being disagreed upon is the orderly method that would be used to reduce personnel in the event of a financial crisis. The CEA sees seniority as the preferred method in determining who should stay and who must leave. The board wants to dismiss probationary teachers first, where a teacher with seniority could assume the former's responsibilities. In the event that even teachers with seniority must be dismissed, seniority within the classification would be used. This means that each school department (English, math, etc.) would be considered separately, with teachers who had been the shortest time in that department dismissed first.

A fourth issue which had been tentatively settled is apparently up for question once again. CEA negotiators say they thought the board had accepted the idea of a one-year term of contract instead of the three-year contract that just expired. However, in a meeting last week, the board indicated that the length of term was still under dispute and had never been settled.

The CEA is seeking alterations in the 1969 contract in an effort to close the gap between the position of teachers at Chelsea and those of nearby schools. "Teachers who have come to Chelsea from other schools recognize the discrepancy," said Young. "They feel the need for revision to bring Chelsea up to a competitive position with other districts."

Both the Board of Education and the CEA had previously requested and received mediation. State mediators have twice met with teachers and board members in an effort to agree upon a contract. While some differences were settled, the sessions failed to result in an agreeable contract.

It is not known when the fact finding will begin or how long the hearing will last. Nor will hearing and public reading of a report necessarily result in a contract. It will be up to the CEA and the Board of Education to use the information and recommendations as they see fit.

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

As Congress returns to Washington following the August Congressional recess, we face a great deal of work and a great number of issues. Up to this point, the 91st Congress has passed very little major legislation and has moved at a snail's pace in considering the great issues facing the country.

Although the Government has now entered the third month of the new fiscal year, the Congress has not yet enacted even one appropriations bill. This incredible lack of action on the part of the Congress means that agencies throughout the government have no idea just what their budgets will be for the upcoming year and how to make plans for the disbursement of funds. The Congress cannot expect government agencies to spend their monies efficiently if the Congress itself refuses to be efficient in appropriating those funds. I have introduced legislation to change this system of appropriations to a more rational basis and I am hopeful that the incredible slowness of the Congress on these vital bills will bring further support to my proposal.

A number of major Presidential proposals for reform in the federal government have not yet been acted on. These include conversion of the postal service into a wholly government-owned corporation to work on a business-like basis, reform of the electoral college system so that the President and the Vice-President of the United States may be elected by a direct vote of the people, revision of the draft system to assure that all young men are treated fairly and equally, and reform of the food stamp program and other programs designed to fight hunger in America.

The House of Representatives has already enacted major reforms in the tax structure which will close many tax loopholes and lower taxes for the middle-class working man. Although this legislation is not perfect and I would have liked to see a number of amendments, I believe it is a major step in the right direction. The Senate Finance Committee will begin hearings next week and many changes are still expected.

Shortly before the Congress recessed, the President proposed a major overhaul of the welfare system to encourage welfare recipients to return to work and to provide minimum federal support for all families. In conjunction with the welfare reform, the President also proposed a massive new manpower training program to assure that jobs and job training will be available for all welfare recipients so that their skills may be upgraded to meet the requirements of our highly industrial society. Hearings are expected to get underway on these important measures shortly.

In the field of transportation, the Congress has not yet acted on new proposals to extend and improve mass transit systems throughout the nation and to expand greatly our air transportation facilities. Of particular importance in the field of air transportation are a number of proposals to emphasize safety factors and improve working conditions of air traffic controllers.

The next few months should be busy ones for the Congress. Hopefully more vigorous action will be forthcoming from the Committee Chairman who, partially because of inaction, has delayed action on many of the important issues facing the nation.

As the Congress considers these and other issues in the weeks ahead, I hope that all residents of the Second Congressional District will take an opportunity to get in touch with me to give me their views—either through letters to my Washington office, phone calls, or visits to my offices in Ann Arbor and Monroe, or personal visits with me during my upcoming trip throughout the District. Your views and comments are most helpful to me.

Loan, Purchase

Rates Set for '69 Corn Crop

Price-support loan and purchase rates for 1969-crop corn in Washtenaw county are the same as last year it was announced today by Earl Doletzky, chairman of the Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The chairman said corn price support rates, announced recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, are based on a national average of $1.05 per bushel. The rate for Washtenaw county has been set at $1.10 per bushel. County rates vary throughout the nation because of historic differences in prices between locations. Changing trends in production and use, transportation costs and other factors cause variations in local prices, Chairman Doletzky explained, and a review of these factors and of local operations of the price support program is made each year before county loan rates are established.

He said no changes are made in county loan rates in major producing areas from those in effect for 1968.

In some areas, however, downward adjustments were made in the loan rates to more nearly reflect local cash price relationships. A reduction of 1 to 2 cents in the loan value was made in all eastern and southeastern states, and from 1 to 5 cents in a few limited areas in the southwest where loan rates exceeded the level of cash prices. The chairman also said the schedule of premiums and discounts for 1969-crop corn will be unchanged from those in effect for the past several years.

Reform Gains
Supporters of legalized abortion are gaining ground slowly around the nation in their attempts to make it easier for a woman to have an abortion.

Bills to reform abortion laws were introduced in 24 states during the past year, and four of the states enacted them. Michigan was one of the 20 in which the bill was either killed in committee or on the floor of the legislature.

The four states which liberalized the grounds on which abortions may be performed by licensed physicians were Arkansas, Delaware, Kansas, and New Mexico. Six states had adopted liberalized abortion laws prior to 1968. They are California, Colorado, Georgia, Maryland, Mississippi and North Carolina.

Thus, one-fifth of the states in the country have reworked their abortion laws in recent years.

Grounds for abortion—usually included in the reform bill—are when pregnancy endangers the physical or mental health of the mother.

When the pregnancy results from rape or incest; when there is a likelihood that the child will be born defective. Opposition to the liberalization of abortion laws has been led by the Catholic Church, which condemns any abortion as the murder of a defenseless human being. Many, though, certainly not all, Protestants and Jews support the reform proposals.

Backers of abortion reform in Michigan saw their hopes go down in a 16-17 vote in the Michigan Senate this year.

They have not given up, however, and the drive for reform is expected to be renewed next year.

The backers plan to hold a series of public hearings on the subject before next year in addition to working among other legislators to get the reform passed.

Michigan isn't the only state where the proposal met narrow defeat and where it is expected to be back.

In New York, where an intense struggle is predicted, abortion reform lost in the state assembly on a 78-69 vote.

Trees Planted
It might amaze most Michigan residents to know that the state highway department does quite a bit of tree planting and landscaping.

For example, the department has just started an $8.25 million project to plant shade trees, flowering trees and shrubbery along 304 miles of Michigan's interstate highways in the next four years. The project is financed with 90 percent federal funds and 10 percent state funds. Actual work on the newest project is not scheduled to begin until next spring.

Landscaping is considered an important safety factor on the sprawling interstate system.

Highway planners place trees along the road to break up the monotony of a long drive along the divided highways. They also put curves in highways where they aren't needed in an attempt to keep drivers from growing drowsy. The result is a road which the driver "drives" on, instead of merely aiming the car straight ahead for several hours. The hoped for result is safer driving for everyone.

Motorcycle Dangers
It's more dangerous to have an accident while driving a motorcycle than while driving a car.

That fact, which is understood by Michigan motorists for last year, where the death rate for all motorcycles is just under five deaths for every 100 million statistics vehicle miles driven, the rate for motorcycles is 40 deaths per 100 million miles.

Based on deaths per 10,000 vehicles registered over the last five years, the average mortality

Howard Herrick and his wife, Myrna, were found beaten to death on their farm near Stockbridge Monday. They had apparently been killed by an escaped convict from Jackson Prison.

Labor Day weekend saw only one minor accident in this area, rate for motorcycles is 11.3 while deaths for all vehicles is 5.4.

Safety officials say the reason for this is very simple.

"When you have an accident on a motorcycle, there isn't anything there to protect you," explained one expert. "In a car, you've got the car body itself and you can have a pretty bad wreck and not get hurt."

"But when you're traveling 50 miles an hour on a motorcycle and hit something, you're in bad trouble because you're going to hit the pavement, a pole or something at that speed with your body," he said. "And your odds aren't very good in a situation like that."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb don't usual git in a lather, but he shore was hot under the collar Saturday night at the country store. He told the feller he had studied this Arab camel driver business up one side and down the other, and he had decide he would walk a mile just to poke that leech in the eye.

What Zeke was on his high horse about, Mister Editor, was that feller Lyndon Johnson brung over to this country for a visit seven year ago. You recall Ford gave him a truck so he wouldn't have to drive camels. He couldn't learn to drive the truck when he got home, so the American Government rented it from him for $170 a month. Now our Government has cut off his rent and give the truck back, and he is madder than a wet setting heno ver being done wrong.

Zeke had done some figgering, and he reported that during them seven year, we had paid $14,290 for the use of that truck. "They ain't nobody in this or any other country what wouldn't jump at a deal like that, allowed Zeke. A free truck and $14,280 to let somebody else use it and keep it up, and then git the truck back in running shape. Even if you had to buy the truck, like folks that rents them little scooters to the post office for $4 a day, he's a mighty good return on your money."

That sassy little Arab got paid enuff to buy at least four trucks, Zeke went on, and that's just about the sory of this country's foreign aid. We spend 10 dollars to give away one, and them we give it to spits on us as soon as they spends the last cent.

Zeke was of a mind we had ought to let the camel drivers and savages be happy in their misery, poverty and ignorance, and he said that goes double for civilized leeches like France. Old DeGall allus was the worst of the bunch when it come to slapping us in the face for saving his hide, was Zeke's words. It is sayings a-bout riding a free horse to death, biting to hand that feeds you, and killing the gold goose, Zeke said, and the rest of the world had ought to read up on 'em.

The fellers was general agreed with Zeke, and Ed Doolittle recalled the politician that got this feller and most of his family on the public payroll, paved the road by his house, and got his boy out of the army, and got him a grant to build a fish pond. Zeke the feller turned on him at election time. How come, the politician wanted to know, after I done you all them favors? I know all that, the feller said, but what have you done fer me lately?

Look around this country, said Ed, and you'll find it ain't what has been done, it's what ain't been. The $170 a month, added Ed, is just about what Nixon says everybody ought to have jest fer being borned.

Yours Truly,
Uncle Lew.

Highway Safety Feature

CLIMBING LANES - This right-hand climbing lane for slow moving vehicles permits heavily-laden trucks to labor uphill in low gear without interfering with faster vehicles. It also removes the temptation to pass on hills, a hazardous and often illegal procedure. As you travel in Michigan, look for these climbing lanes, a reminder that the Department of State Highways, through continuing planning and research, is providing for your motoring safety. CARD OF THANKS
The 1969 Chelsea Community Fair was a great success thanks to the efforts of many people.
They worked long hours to put together and carry out the largest fair to date.

The livestock and produce exhibits were all of excellent quality. The grandstand performances, the horse show, the tractor pulling contests, and the Queen contest, all added to the pleasure.

A special thanks should be given to the people and the Boy Scouts who worked at the gates and the parking lots. A fine job was also performed by the Chelsea Police, the Auxiliary Police and the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department during the fair.

The fine parade on Wednesday was the result of a great effort, especially of the Jaycees and the Kiwanis Club members. The wonderful Saturday parade was under the supervision of the Chelsea Fire Department.

The co-operation of the high school classes and their teacher advisors in their many activities from manning booths to selling helicopter rides, is much appreciated.

The many merchants and equipment dealers who exhibited at the fair are given thanks. And we appreciate the fine people who worked so hard in the "Red School House Restaurant."

We want to pay special tribute to all chairmen and committees for a job well done.

We most certainly want to thank the Chelsea Standard, and Radio Station WPAG for their splendid job of getting out publicity for the fair.

Thanks to a fine community for making it all possible.
Chelsea Community Fair Board
Herman L. Koenn, president.

CARD OF THANKS
I would like very much to give my thanks to the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea for their thoughtfulness in presenting me with a lovely Cassette tape recorder. My parents also express their thanks.
Homer Allen.

CARD OF THANKS
Thanks to everyone for all the kindnesses while I was in the hospital for surgery. Special thanks to Grandma and Grandpa
C. for taking care of Neil.
Betty Quigg.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for their gifts and cards while I was ill.
Mrs. James Bristle.

The morals of the world will not improve until the average man and woman, in finding out what a man has, will want to know how he got it.

Production Mark Told

For Local Holstein Cow
Brattleboro, Vt. - Green Acres
Graphic Poppy 6331484, a four-year-old registered Holstein in the herd tested for Lowell Spike, Manchester, has produced a noteworthy record of 16,870 lbs. of milk and 605 lbs. of butterfat in 262 days.

The information is made available through the co-operative efforts of the state and local testing associations and Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Dairymen enrolled in the program pay for the service.

This level of production may be compared to the average U. S. dairy cow's estimated annual output of 8,821 lbs. (4,103 quarts) of milk containing 325 lbs. of butterfat. Official testing participation increases the value of the herd and provides recognition for record breaking performance.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
By LOUIS BURGHARDT

When you think about it, there is nothing mysterious or complex about "human nature." Human nature is nothing other than human habits. Human nature is therefore changeable the same as human habits are changeable. Surprisingly, human nature is often mentioned to excuse personal offenses and misbehavior.
It is equally surprising that the inherent goodness in man is seldom mentioned as human nature.

The human habits of love, tolerance and respect are certainly as much of human nature as the faults of greed, distrust and other obnoxious vices. Actually, when you look around, you see far more love, trust and selflessness than hate, distrust and selfishness. In these troublesome times in human relations, it still is true that goodness exceeds the bad. And more importantly, it is good to stress that bad habits can be changed to good habits if a will to do so exists. In short, "human nature" can be changed. Just change "human habits" . . . BURGHARDT

Mrs. Iza Carty Continues VA Hospital Volunteer Help

The Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor benefits from the work of many dedicated people, including Mrs. Iza Carty. Mrs. Carty, of Park St., has been a constant volunteer at the hospital for the past 16 years.

Mrs. Carty spent the early portion of her service on shopping trips for the personal needs of the veterans. Her dependable, cheerful help with this chore continued until the day she broke an ankle. The accident forced Mrs.

Carty to give up her buying excursions for a desk job with the hospital Escort Service. Mrs. Carty now sits at the main information desk of the hospital greeting visitors and offering directions.

During her many years of sacrifice, Iza smilingly accepted whatever tasks appeared because of her desire to "serve those that have served us so well."

Iza says that the hospital "ly needs volunteers" to help contribute a portion of the time. "All it takes is a volunteer effort once a month to be a regularly scheduled participant." People who wish to help contact the director in the volunteers Office at the VA Hospital 663-8541.

State Fair Still Has Same Purpose

Do you ever hear a talker at a fair? "Hurry, hurry, hurry, the most gigantic, colorful, stupendous show ever!" Now it was at the recent Michigan State Fair. Powerful engines and roars, and shows-out stuffy air from its labor. Pop on and off on revolving rides in a beat tuned to loud "rock" guitar, pickin' of popular music. Shrills might come from youngsters on swirling rides and fall on ears of the milling crowd before the temporary avenues of midway. To be sure, the excitement was exciting.

The 120th annual Michigan State Fair which opened for 10 days in Detroit is one of the great fairs in the nation. In the state fair holds the tradition of being America's oldest, it began in 1849.

The theme for the 1969 fair appropriately was "Consumers' Choice." Likewise 120 years ago the purpose for the beginning was for the promotion of agricultural and house-manufacturing interests of the state to the consumer.

On the rural side of the ledger, this year's fair was no different from previous livestock competitions of sheep, swine, dairy and farm animals along with culture and floriculture displays were presented.

In keeping with the theme of fair, producers of all products were also represented from automobiles to xylophones. Displays showed ingenuity. It was a show event. However from farmer's viewpoint I believe we have noticed the diminishing emphasis on food and the decrease in the fair's emphasis on agriculture is no different to the staggering responsibility farmers have in feeding the world. How this responsibility is carried out, how products reach "John Q. Farmer's" kitchen table, needs to be told because of its everyday importance to the well being of people's lives.

For the millions who visit fairs year throughout the country, hope that the story of agriculture, the nation's largest industry, reaches their ears.

INSTANT SOUND SYSTEM was provided by Park Rangers Don Stewart and Richard Foster at the annual Ox Roast, for more than 2,000 Republicans at Delhi Metropolitan Park, Sunday afternoon, Sept. 7. After the planned system decided not to operate, park rangers quickly drove their patrol car forward and rigged up a "Do-it-yourself-Governor Milliken" system so that the governor and other speakers might proceed with the afternoon's program. More than 900 persons were served, and at least as many more spent part of the afternoon at the event. It was termed the most successful of the annual Ox Roasts sponsored by the Republican Party in recent years. Many dignitaries at the state as well as the county level attended Sunday's festivities.

New Wheat Varieties Now Available

Two new soft wheat varieties, one white and one red, will be available to Michigan growers as certified seed this fall.

The new white wheat, Yorkstar, is similar to Genesee, an old favorite in Michigan. But it is about five inches shorter, and consequently is more resistant to lodging, according to Michigan State University crop scientists.

Avon and Genesee have returned excellent yields of quality wheat and are still recommended in Michigan. MSU scientists say the Yorkstar outyielded Genesee by about five percent, but test weights per bushel were about two pounds less than Genesee.

Arthur is the newly developed red wheat from Purdue University that yielded 15 percent more than Monon in Michigan tests in eight locations last year. Crop scientists at MSU recommend it for the same areas as Monon, the southern two tiers of Michigan counties where red wheat is handled by local elevators.

The owner, Nor-Rich Farm, Norman and Richard Brasseur, Dexter, has been notified that Gab Alfarad Susan Jane, 4201663 (VGI) has produced 107,452 lbs. of milk and 3,988 lbs. of butterfat in 4,272 days since becoming two years of age.

Notation of this notice, to be computed as upon personal service of a declaration as commensurate of suit, and the further sum of five dollars for each description, without additional cost or charges. Provided, That with respect to purchasers at the tax sale held in the years 1938, 1939 and 1940 the sum stated in such notice as a condition of reconveyance shall only be all sums paid as a condition of the tax sale purchase, together with ten per centum additional thereto. IN THE OPEN

By Lee Smits

Outdoor recreation is the basis for Michigan's No. 2 industry, No. 1 being, of course, automobile production. The Natural Resources Commission and the N. R. department are responsible for the state's management of the No. 2 industry. Frequent reports are made to stockholders and customers in the form of press releases and a bi-monthly magazine. The July-August issue of the MNR magazine gives a vivid overall picture of what is being done to preserve and promote Michigan's outdoor assets.

The first page carries cheerful information from a department fire-fighter, Steven Such, supervisor of the Forest Fire Equipment Station at Roscommon. In 1930, when the population of Michigan was less than 5,000,000 there were more than 5,000 forest fires, burning 200,000 acres. In 1968, when population had gone up to 8,000,000, there were 1,200 forest fires damaging 16,000 acres.

For about half a century forest fire was the chief problem confronting the forces of conservation. Logging was then Michigan's principal industry and logging railroads were a prime cause of forest fires. Forest fires seemed to be a permanent menace. In 1969 Michigan's most bothersome outdoor liability is pollution of air, earth, water. All kinds of pollution, including deadly pesticides. Therefore, it is encouraging to know that what looked like an incurable evil in 1900 has been brought under control.

The lead article in the magazine is by MNR Director Ralph A. MacMullan, whose working philosophy is the science of ecology—the inter-relationship of living species.

The Director says: "Since I agree that the survival of modern man depends on his developing an understanding of the natural world that surrounds him, one way to develop that understanding is through a basic interest in wild animals. I believe we have every reason to bring wildlife to the city dweller and vice versa. Obviously the place to begin is in the schools. My first recommendation is that we develop experts in the skills of bringing certain kinds of wildlife into all elementary grades."

Turn a page of our MNR magazine and we find the reconstruction of a busy day in the trading post of John Askin in old Fort Michilimackinac. A rather novel way of attracting Indian trade is described. Askin encouraged shoplifting by leaving small items such as beads, combs, brooches, hand mirrors within easy reach. Indians would pass over traders to patronize a store where thievery was made easy.

Next, a double-page spread in color picturing the breeding habits of fresh-water muskies, sea lampreys, blackflies, bullfrogs. The propagation and planting of muskellunge in Michigan waters is described by Paul V. Chal-lain, who credits Lake St. Clair with being about the best fishing ground for muskies in America.

The appeal of our MNR magazine grows as pages are turned. "I Know A River" is the title of a beguiling piece by Mrs. Diane Eleoate of Ludington, telling of a family hiking trip in the Porcupine mountains.

Fishing in the Great Lakes has taken on a new interest with the success of coho planting. For gathering information on fish populations the department has an amazing boat, the "Steelhead." Bob Harrington presents a photo story of how the "Steelhead" operates, tracing the movements of trout and salmon, netting specimens and studying their migration and food habits. The staff of the "Steelhead" has positive proof that trout and coho devour alewives, so that the noxious die-off of alewives along the east shore of Lake Michigan should be eliminated in due time.

Next a lively yarn about snakes by Ben East, veteran outdoor writer, vividly illustrated. Our sprightly magazine winds up with where-to-go advice for fishermen in the months of August and September.

Anyone with an interest in any phase of Michigan outdoors is sure to enjoy the magazine. It costs only $2 a year, subscriptions obtainable from the Department of Natural Resources, Lansing, Michigan.

Mr. Smits' column is presented through the courtesy of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

If you agree with everything the editor writes you have no more sense than the editor.

CONFIDENCE
Confidence can be highly important. Sometimes a "vote of confidence" is the deciding factor in whether a government continues or loses its power to function effectively.
Less dramatic, but equally important on the local scene, is the fact that a business establishment cannot maintain a successful operation unless it has the confidence of local customers. When you patronize a local merchant over a long period of time, you do because you believe that because you value and service these qualities apparent in all transactions. Citizens have the right to expect good government. Customers expect value in service for every dollar. A successful political leader, as well as the successful businessman, must perform to continue to meet the approval of the people. We rather like this way — don't you?

Living Greatest Tigers To Be Guests at Sept. 21 Game

Detroit—Living members of the Greatest Tiger Team, selected by the fans in connection with Baseball's Centennial celebration, will be saluted at Tiger Stadium Sunday, Sept. 21.

John E. Peterson, owner and president of the Tigers, has invited the group of seven to be his guests at the Tiger-Red Sox game that day to receive the plaques of the crowd in a program ceremony and to receive gifts as tokens of appreciation of their contributions to Tiger history.

Peterson will personally congratulate the Greatest Players after the game. The players will be: Ernie Harwell, Tiger play-by-play broadcaster, details their achievements and honors.

Those to be saluted in person are: Charley Gehring, Hank Greenberg, Al Kaline, George Kell, Danny McLain, Hal Newhouse, and Billy Rogell. Deceased members of the Greatest Tiger Team are Ty Cobb, Mickey Cochrane and Harry Heilmann.

To mark the occasion, fans attending the game will receive free illustrated Greatest Tiger Team folders, as souvenirs of the event. "I welcome this chance to honor the greatest names in Tiger history," Peterson said in announcing Greatest Tiger Day. "They have brought distinction to their team and their city; they are richly deserving of recognition."

Feats of the Greatest Tigers are legend.

Gehring, the Mechanical Man as the Tiger second baseman 1924-42, had a lifetime batting average of .320 was league batting champion and MVP in 1937; and was elected baseball's Greatest Living Secondbaseman following his Greatest Tiger selection. He was named to Baseball's Hall of Fame in 1949.

Greenberg, a four-time batting champion, home run king and two-time MVP during his 1930-46 days as Tiger firstbaseman and outfielder, was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1956.

Tigers Will Enter Team in Florida Instruction League

Detroit—For the ninth straight year the Tigers will field a team in the Florida Instructional League, it was announced this week by Don Lund, director of player development.

A 24-man squad will be drawn from the six clubs in the Tiger farm system and will be based in Dunedin, Fla., where it has been for the past six years.

The team of 10 pitchers, six infielders, six outfielders and two catchers will report to Grant Field in Dunedin Sept. 20 for a week of workouts prior to the Sept. 27 opening. The 45-game schedule will close Nov. 18.

Wayne Blackburn, who piloted the Tigers' 1967 entry to the Instructional League pennant, will be the manager of the 1969 club. He will be assisted by John Grodzicki, who will serve as pitching coach.

Sixteen major-league clubs, along with a team from Mexico, will make up the league, which will be split into two divisions for the first time. There will be no inter-divisional play until the championship game between the division winners on Nov. 19.

Five Florida cities will host the league entries. In addition to the Tigers at Dunedin, there will be five clubs in St. Petersburg (Twins, Mets, Cardinals, Astros and Expos), four each in Sarasota (Red Sox, White Sox, Indians and Royals) and Bradenton (Reds, Pirates, Senators and Mexico), and three in Clearwater (Phillies, Orioles and Yankees).

The Tigers have won three pennants (1961, 1963, 1967) since their entry into the league, and 12 of the present Tigers played for Instructional League pennant-winning clubs: Jim Northrup, Mickey Stanley, Willie Horton, Gates Brown, Pat Dobson, Joe Sparrma, Denny McLain, Mike Kilkenny, Bill Freehan, Tom Matchick, John Hiller and Dave Campbell.

Estimated Tax Payment Affected By Surcharge

Detroit—Thomas A. Cardoza, acting district director of Internal Revenue in Michigan, today advised individuals paying estimated tax that they must reflect extension of the 10 percent surcharge in their installments due on or after Sept. 15.

Prior to the extension, Cardoza explained, the 10 percent surcharge was to expire June 30, which resulted in an annual effective rate of 5 percent for 1969. Since the extension raises the effective rate to the full 10 percent, estimated taxes will have to be recomputed, with the additional tax to be divided equally over the remaining installments.

Taxpayers can recompute the installments due on the amended computation schedule they received as part of their estimated tax package last February. For a calendar-year taxpayer the next installment is due Sept. 15. Cardoza said a number of taxpayers who have already made the estimated payment failed to include the required Voucher No. 3, which was a part of the estimated tax package sent them last February. If Voucher No. 3 is not properly completed and included with the payment, the payment cannot be credited to the proper account.

Cardoza said taxpayers who previously expected their estimated tax to be less than $40 and, therefore, would not have to file declarations of estimated tax will now have to do so if the surcharge extension increases their estimated tax to $40 or more. Estimated tax forms are available at local Internal Revenue Service offices.

'Dog Days' Add To Mildew Dangers Throughout Home

This year's "dog days" might more appropriately be called "mildew days."

"The high temperatures and humidity prevailing this summer are encouraging the ever-present mold spores in the air to settle and grow on shoes, clothing, furniture, and books," warns Helen Fairman, extension home economist for Washtenaw, Lenawee and Monroe counties.

Unless preventive action is taken, molds will flourish, producing musty odors and discoloring fabrics, leather and paper. "Often," she says, "fabrics and even wool are so severely eaten by mold that they rot and fall to pieces."

Preventive action primarily entails getting rid of dampness.

"While dehumidifiers are most successful in eliminating moisture, properly installed air conditioning is also efficient," the home economist advises.

During continuous wet weather, articles stored in poorly ventilated closets are particularly susceptible to mildew. "If clothing is hung loosely, however, allowing air to circulate around it, mold growth can be curtailed," she points out.

"It's also important to thoroughly dry clothing that has been dampened by rain or perspiration before putting it in a closet."

When a dehumidifier or air conditioner is not available, Mrs. Fairman suggests occasionally leaving closet doors and dresser drawers open. This allows the air to circulate and keeps moisture from gathering.

"In addition, several moisture-absorbing chemicals are available from department and drug stores and from building supply dealers."

Two of these, silica gel and activated alumina, are not harmful to fabrics and may be used over and over if dried between times.

A third chemical, calcium chloride, is capable of holding its weight in water. But, Mrs. Fairman cautions, it can cause holes if it comes in contact with textiles.

The most important practice the home economist reminds is to keep clothes, closets, drawers and basements clean. Soil on articles only encourages mildew growth.

The most annoying thing about using a ball of string is the way it rolls all over the place when you pull out several feet at a time. To keep the twine in place when you're tying up plants in the garden, pop it into a clay saucer and invert a clay pot over it, threading the end of the string through the drainage hole. You can pull out as much as you like, as far as you like, and the ball will stay put under its restrainer.

County Library Moving to New Washtenaw Center

The Washtenaw County Library is moving to a new location in the County Service Center at 4133 Washtenaw Ave.

The County Library regrets that the Free Film Service will be cancelled from Sept. 9 to Sept. 30. This service will be resumed Oct. 1.

On Sept. 22, the County Library hopes to be set up in the new quarters and ready to resume its functions as County Library and Washtenaw Area Library System Headquarters.

The Bookmobile will maintain its regular schedule although no new reference or Interlibrary Loan requests will be taken.

The County Library regrets this temporary inconvenience to its patrons and hopes to be better able to serve these patrons from the new location beginning Sept. 22.

Edward Lewis Family Enjoys Three-Week Tour of England

The Edward Lewis family have returned from a three-week visit to Great Britain. Ed, his wife, Jean, and their three sons, Steve, Jon and Brian flew to England on July 29.

The family was invited to England by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Humphrey to be their guests in Brentwood, about 20 miles outside of London. Humphrey is president of the newly-acquired branch of the Ann Arbor Science Publishers which Lewis manages.

According to Mrs. Lewis, they saw everything that was worth seeing in London, and nearly all of England. And their itinerary would seem to corroborate this assumption. Mrs. Lewis had made a master list of the places they wanted to visit and managed to check off every one.

To begin with, the inn in which the Lewises stayed is said to be haunted by Katherine of Aragon. It is very old, having been built in 1512.

Transportation was no problem for the family. "The train system is marvelous," says Mrs. Lewis. "You can get nearly anywhere by train and it is relatively inexpensive." They also rented a car in which Ed Lewis bravely ventured into the "backward" English road system. Everyone drives on the left side of the road with the resultant confusion for foreigners over right-of-way laws, road signs and the oddity of driving on the "wrong" side of the highway.

The family spent much of their time in London, that famous and ancient metropolis that is the third largest in the world. They watched the changing of the Royal Guard at Buckingham Palace and fed the pigeons in Trafalgar Square. Piccadilly Circus, the fine downtown area, abounded in hundreds of people dressed in "hippie" costumes.

"The people and the police are much more tolerant of their non-conformists in England," says Mrs. Lewis. "Bobbies (the English police) carry nightsticks but no guns."

Red Cross Sets Fall First Aid Class Schedules

Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross today announced their schedule of First Aid Classes for this fall.

Standard First Aid will meet for six weeks starting Wednesday, Sept. 24. Classes start at 7 p.m. and last for two hours. This course is designed to meet everyday emergencies that the public may encounter. Lifesaving skills and accident prevention will be stressed. This course is extremely valuable to parents, teachers, and outdoorsmen.

Advanced First Aid classes will meet Monday nights starting Sept. 15. This course will last for five weeks with each class meeting from 7 to 10 p.m. Enrollees in the advanced class are required to hold a current Red Cross Standard certification.

The First Aid Instructor Training course designed to train teachers for First Aid classes will meet for three consecutive Mondays and Wednesdays starting Oct. 20. These classes will run from 7 to 10 p.m. A current Red Cross Advanced card is a prerequisite for enrollment in the instructor course.

All classes will meet at the Red Cross Operations Center, 2729 Packard Rd., and will be taught by Red Cross volunteer instructors. No charge is made for these classes. The Washtenaw County Chapter is a partner member agency of the United Fund.

Good paint brushes are often ruined as a result of improper or delayed cleaning. It takes only a few minutes to properly clean this valuable tool which is good for years of satisfactory service. Immediate cleaning is a must after applying a fast-drying water base paint. . . and it can be done with soap and water.

Parents might do well to take a tip from their children while driving. A survey recently taken by an insurance company indicates that approximately twice as many teen-agers use seat belts as their parents.

Mrs. James Evan Knott

Andrea Monheit, Lt. James Knott Wed at Congregational Church

Andrea Sue Monheit was married to Lt. James Evan Knott Saturday at the First Congregational church, Chelsea.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Monheit of Southfield. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Evan Knott and the late Mr. Knott of Kernwood Dr.

The Rev. Daniel Kellin performed the double-ring ceremony which was attended by 150 close friends and relatives. Ronald Branham gave the bride away.

White gladioli and daisies were the background for the candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Daniel Kellin played the love theme from "Romeo and Juliet" for the processional.

The bride wore a classic full-length sheath of egg-shell linen. The long sleeves were accented with lace at the cuffs. Lace also outlined the neckline and the empire waist. An illusion veil was secured by a Dior bow of linen. The bride carried a posy of white carnations and yellow baby roses trimmed with ribbon streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Virginia Peretti of Ypsilanti. She wore a street-length A-line dress fashioned of mint green dotted swiss. Lace accented the long sleeves and mandarin collar. Her nosegay of white carnations tipped with green echoed the bridal flowers.

Ronald Schieve of Ann Arbor served as best man. Ushers were Donald O'Dell and Dennis Johnston.

Cong. Esch Meets With Area Citizens

Marvin L. Esch, congressional representative from the second district met Monday with townspeople in Chelsea. He arrived in his mobile office at 5:30 p.m. and spoke individually with six citizens who had waited to see him.

Esch is spending two weeks visiting Livingston, Washtenaw, Lenawee and Monroe counties and Plymouth-Northville. He hopes to cover all of the Second Congressional District before the new session of Congress demands his attention in Washington.

In his visits to six Washtenaw county villages during the day, Esch found the war in Vietnam to be the main topic of concern. "People want the U. S. to get out of Vietnam," says Esch. "They are not sure how best to disengage, but they want to see signs of our men coming home as soon as possible."

Esch answered demands for action on the war by stating that he feels the president is moving adequately. Esch would want to see 250,000 to 300,000 troops moved out within the next six to nine months as signs that the U. S. plans to end their participation in the battle quickly. During the summer, the total troop commitment of 550,000 men has been reduced by several thousand, he notes.

Esch and seven other representatives had earlier issued a statement calling for "gradual, reciprocal withdrawal" from the conflict in Vietnam. "Right now, I'm in a wait and see position," says Esch.

Pollution is another subject recently mentioned by those speaking with Esch. "The Michigan Water Resources Commission is dealing primarily with inadequate sewage treatment plants along the Huron River," says Esch. "The state has appropriated $335 million to improve Michigan waterways which was supposed to be matched by the federal government."

Although the federal clean water bill was enacted, the Appropriations Committee in Congress has failed to provide the funds necessary to carry out the plans in the bill. Esch estimates that $1 billion more will be needed to even begin cleaning up the nation's dirty water.

The income tax package and the proposed action is also worrying many citizens. Esch says. "They are concerned about the current rise in prices. In addition, people come to Esch's mobile office with many personal problems. 'Sometimes, the best reason for persons who are lost in bureaucratic tangles with the government,' says Esch. 'I like to meet with people of such problems when they may be resolved faster than if I had written about them.'

Esch works as a liaison between the individual and such vast departments as the Social Security Administration, the Internal Revenue Service or the Army. He has more than 200 active personal cases on file at the present.

The idea of a mobile office is a good one, Esch believes. "The response this time was much greater than before," says Esch. "We usually get two or three people at each village, but this week we've been getting five and six." More people are coming out to see him because of the war dragging on, he feels.

With one-quarter of his time spent in Michigan, he feels he has more contact with his constituents than many of his fellow congressmen. He hopes to continue the visits throughout the year.

Psychiatrist, Civic Leader Named to Spaulding Board

The Rev. Warner Siebert, president of Spaulding for Children specialist adoption agency, announced the election of two new members to the Board of Directors.

Dr. Harold Lockett, child psychiatrist of Ann Arbor, will add his expertise in the area of mental health to the board. "Because we serve so many children with stormy pasts, his skill and wisdom will be of great help," said Siebert. Dr. Lockett, currently president of the Ann Arbor school board, is on the staff of Hawthorne Center and has a private practice in Ann Arbor. He resides at 319 Brookside Dr.

Mrs. Millard Pryor, long active in service to children here and in Ohio is a welcome addition to his growing agency, and brings experience and perspective to Spaulding, stemming from years of work with other child welfare agencies. She has been associated with the American Association of University Women and the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Pryor started a citizens group to upgrade child welfare in Ohio. She lives at 715 Spring Valley, Ann Arbor.

AVERAGE LIFE SPAN NOT AS LONG AS YOU ARE LED TO BELIEVE

Dr. Walter L. Palmer, professor of medicine at the University of Chicago Medical Research Center, said although science has made big advances in treating childhood diseases and keeping babies and young people alive, the older population is not living longer.

In 1860, Palmer said, a 55-year-old man could look forward to an average of 15 years and SIX months of life, but nationally today he can only expect an average of 15 years and FIVE months. From these figures it can be seen that the average life expectancy of a 55-year-old is actually one month LESS than it was 100 years ago.

The major causes of death of people over 55 are diseases of the heart, cancer, circulatory disturbances, and similar ailments of aging. These conditions must be remedied before life expectancy can be increased, said Dr. Palmer.

Many of these conditions respond readily to chiropractic care. For this reason Chiropractic patients live longer. The earlier in life care is started the more this becomes true. Chiropractic adds years to life and life to years.

THE LANSING REPORT FROM
senator
GIL BURSLEY

Comparison of President Nixon's proposed new welfare program with Michigan's existing program discloses that Michigan welfare recipients would fare much better under this state's program.

President Nixon's program—which must be approved by Congress before going into effect—provides payment of a minimum of $1,600 to a welfare family of four persons.

That figure out to a basic $133 a month. Currently a Michigan welfare family of four persons receives $246 a month—or $113 a month more than what the federal government would guarantee if President Nixon's program were adopted.

Only 11 states—led by New Jersey's $392 a month—pay welfare recipients more than Michigan. It goes as low as Mississippi's $55 a month for four persons.

Despite that, many of Michigan's welfare recipients complain that they are not getting enough relief.

Of the states closest to Michigan, two pay more and two pay less. Illinois pays $279 and Minnesota pays $266 compared to Michigan's $246 while Ohio offers $193 and Indiana is low with only $150.

President Nixon's proposal generally received favorable response, even among many liberals although, of course, the liberals complained that the proposed payments were not high enough.

Even while Washington is thinking of expanding its welfare system, Great Britain—noted for its "cradle-to-the-grave" welfare system—is beginning to cut back.

Over the years, England has found that, despite unprecedented ed sums for welfare, more than a million people are still below subsistence level.

It is reported that between 30,000 and 60,000 British family men have found it more profitable to live on unemployment money and other government help than to go to work, even though jobs are available.

This sort of thing has been the history of welfare in this country. It is a matter of how much the working people are willing to give up to those who don't.

Another proposal that President Nixon has made that has generated interest among the states is that of the federal government sharing some of its income with individual states.

On first look, Michigan wouldn't profit very much. On the basis of a billion-dollar split for the first year pegged on population and tax burdens within individual states, Michigan would receive only $40 million.

This is much more than the $2 million which Vermont and Wyoming would receive but much less than California's $109 million and New York's $103 million.

But on the per person basis, however, Michigan would rank 40th among the 50 states because of its relatively high total of state and local revenues.

President Nixon indicated, however, that he expected the total federal program in support of the states to increase manifold during the coming decade.

But this program, as with any program, isn't a giveaway operation.

It costs more than $1.30 in Michigan taxes going to Washington for every $1 that Michigan gets back from Washington.

Chelsea Teacher Earns MS Degree at Oregon State

James Hoffmeyer believes in going out of his way to educate himself. In the last four years, he has traveled more than 16,000 miles to earn his third college degree. After four summers of traveling between Chelsea and the east and west coasts, Jim became a Master of Science at Oregon State University, Corvallis, Ore., this August.

Jim, a science teacher at Beach Middle School, has been sponsored by the National Science Foundation during his study. He spent the first summer at the New York State College in Oneonta before choosing Oregon State to complete the degree.

The National Science Foundation offers full tuition and expense scholarships for science teachers who have three or more years of teaching experience. An applicant chooses the summer institute program from the many offered by the nation's universities and applies to the Foundation for acceptance. Only a few out of the thousands of applicants are chosen every year.

Jim already had a master's degree from the University of Michigan in education when he elected to start the long haul toward a second. "It was too hard to pass up the grant," says Jim, "when it included a trip out west for the family as well as a chance to improve my education."

But the basic reason for Jim's return to academia is his earnest attitude toward his work. "Any professional teacher must realize that he has to also be a professional student," says Jim. "A good teacher never stops learning."

At Beach school, Jim has been working for a year planning a new science curriculum for the sixth and seventh grades that he teaches. The curriculum utilizes an approach initiated by the Midland schools which emphasizes student experience over textbook learning. The Midland program was used for the first half of the year in Chelsea, but Jim has written the entire second half on Ecology and Conservation himself.

The Chelsea Education Association also claims some of Jim's time as a member of their executive board. In addition to his academic responsibilities, he serves on the Administrative Board of the First United Methodist church.

In his spare time, Jim likes to camp out with his family. His wife Carolee and their three children, Merry 12, Holly 9, and Paul 7, found lovely camping spots along the Oregon coast. The Hoffmeyers lived in a hill-top home belonging to a university professor who was out of town. With this arrangement, Carolee thankfully had little packing since household goods were already there. "It was a lovely home, overlooking the city, with the Cascade mountains behind us," she says. "Deer often strayed down behind the house close enough for us to watch them."

The Hoffmeyers completed their trip west by visiting relatives in San Jose and Oxnard, Calif. They also spent a day at Disneyland near Los Angeles. They are glad to be back, but find it somewhat difficult to adjust to the hot, muggy climate they found in Michigan when they returned. The climate is beautiful in Oregon, says Carolee. "We had warm, dry weather all summer."

Arriving four days before the new school term began, Jim and his family had little time to get back in their normal routine. But with Jim's interest in school and community affairs, his life will be anything but "Normal" this year.

Arrival of Fall Brings Storied Harvest Moon

Ann Arbor—The autumnal equinox and the Harvest Moon are among the astronomical highlights of this month, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

Autumn will arrive officially at 12:07 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 23. On this day the sun, which has been moving steadily southward, will cross the equator.

Contrary to the common belief, Prof. Losh points out, the day and night will not be of equal length on the day of autumnal equinox. This will come three days later, on the 26th, because of refraction, or the apparent lifting of the sun by the earth's atmosphere. From the 26th on, the daytime will grow steadily shorter.

The Harvest Moon, or the full moon that comes nearest the date of autumnal equinox, will rise on Sept. 25. The peculiarity of this full moon, as distinguished from others, is that the delay in its rising is slight—from night to night, Prof. Losh explains.

This delay varies considerably during the year, because of the angle that the moon's path makes with the eastern horizon. The delay is the shortest in the fall, about 20 minutes, compared to more than an hour in the spring.

Consequently, the nearly full moon, rising at approximately the same hour for several successive nights, gives bright moonlight in the early evening for an unusual number of nights, a traditional aid to harvesters, Prof. Losh says.

The Harvest Moon is likely to appear larger than usual and reddish near the horizon. This is due to the earth's atmosphere, and not to the moon itself.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

★ World of Change

Any intelligent person who has spent as many as three decades upon this earth should be aware that we are living in mankind's greatest era of change.

Progress in science and medicine comes so fast that textbooks and manuals can be outdated before they are printed. Rebellious youth forces a constant review of the "establishment" and the "institution."

Words that are slogans of the day are such as "onward" and "upward."

One cannot argue with change. It is inevitable. Yet, as man reaches ever upward, ever outward, he should not litter the road to progress with the good traditions and the good ideas of yesterday.

As man seeks to find what lies in the world of far-out galaxies, let us hope he also strives to save as much of the good, old-fashioned things as merit saving.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER:

"I have a problem and I would like very much if you will help me with it. I go with a boy who is well over 6 feet tall, while I am barely 5 feet tall. I like this boy very much, but I think he is too tall for me. When I ask my family and friends if he is too tall for me, they just say that he is pretty tall and they give no opinion because I am the one who goes with him and it is my own decision to make. Will you please tell me if he is too tall for me?"

OUR REPLY: You are trying hard to get someone to tell you that he is too tall for you. Better be careful. Some 5½ foot tall girl who likes him will probably give you this opinion. Our reply can be no different than your parents. There aren't any or guidelines related to the decision is yours to make. The decision is yours to make. DON'T PASS HIM BY-- HE MAY BE SICK

Certain illnesses have symptoms which would make it appear that a person might be intoxicated. This is particularly true of Diabetes and Epilepsy. Don't just walk by when a person passes out. A delay in treatment could have serious consequences.

Today many people wear a tag, a bracelet or carry a card that identifies them as having an illness or a serious allergy. When you find this identification, call medical help quickly — it could save a life. If you have such a condition yourself be sure you carry the identification.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.
