JV Cagers Post 2 Wins Before Holiday

The Chelsea JV basketball team celebrated the beginning of Christmas vacation with two hard-fought victories. On Friday, Dec. 19, they defeated Milan, 55-42, and Saturday, Dec. 20, they overwhelmed Ypsilanti, 48-40.

Against Milan, the Bulldogs overcame a 12-point half-time deficit with a furious second half rush, outscoring the Big Reds, 37-12. Leading scorers for Chelsea were Greg Howard with 15, Jeff Daniels with 14, and Chick Lane with 10. Tom Lixey led Chelsea in the rebound department with 15, while Chick Lane and Jeff Schmidt each added 8.

Against the Little Raisin Splitters, the JV's compiled a 26-13 half-time lead and then survived Lincoln's full court press in the second half to hold on for the victory. Greg Howard led the Bulldogs with 16 points, while Jeff Schmidt chipped in 13 and Tom Lixey 12. Lixey grabbed a season high of 21 rebounds.

This Friday the Bulldogs take on South Lyon at the Chelsea gym beginning at 6:30 p.m.

PLANNING DIMES CAMPAIGN: March of Dimes chairman, Mrs. Charles Koenn (center), Joe Verwey who is in charge of canisters and points, out slots in the dime board to be filled for the January March of Dimes to Mrs. Thomas Thalner, Jaycee Auxiliary president (left), and Mrs. Charles Koenn (center), Joe Verwey who is in charge of canisters and boards. Canisters and boards will be distributed to Chelsea, businesses later this week.

March of Dimes Campaign Activities Start Next Week

January is March of Dimes month in Chelsea and the general chairman, Mrs. Charles Koenn, and her committee members are doing all in their power to involve the community. Details for the campaign for all of Washtenaw county as well as for Chelsea will be finalized at the because by that time an effective preventive vaccine had been developed for polio as well as effective treatment measures. The Washtenaw County chapter of the foundation is very closely aligned to the national organization because of the foundation's many research and treatment functions at the University of Michigan. As an example, there are more than 100 Birth Defect Centers in the United States, one of which is in Ann Arbor under the direction of Dr. Donita Sullivan of the University of Michigan.

Money collected this month all over the country will in part go for research into the causes and preventions of birth defects. A national board made up of distinguished members of the medical profession decides which projects throughout the country merit the aid of the foundation. An area resident, Dr. James Wilson of Ann Arbor, recent retiree from the U-M pediatrics department, serves on that committee. In addition to the 25 percent of the money collected which goes for national research, the remainder of the money collected will also go toward beneficial programs: half of the remainder to programs of national origin, the other remaining half to programs of local origin. Local (Continued on page eight)

During the month, canisters and dime boards will be found in business establishments in town, and many local business and professional people will be sent special letters asking for gift donations to the fund. Mrs. Thomas Thalner, chairman of the gift letters project, estimates that some 150 letters will be sent out.

Some 2,000 letters will also be sent to area residents asking for donations. These letters were stuffed and prepared for mailing for the Chelsea area by the Jaycee chapter within the Federal Correctional Institution at Milan.

In addition to receiving mail, citizens will be asked to participate in special community activities. During the third week in January a bowling tournament at Chelsea Lanes will add funds to the campaign. Each night those bowlers who wish will pay $1 to the March of Dimes. The donor's score will then be entered in a tournament competition. At the end of the week, those with the compiled highest scores will win trophies, donated by Chelsea Lanes. There will be a first, second and third-place trophy awarded in each of the men's and women's divisions.

Youth groups will also enter in the month's activities. Teens from the high school have a chairman, Jane Mann, who along with others will decide upon various projects, the proceeds from which will profit the March of Dimes. Boy Scouts will again sell peanuts on the streets Friday and Saturday afternoons, Jan. 23-24, as well as at the home basketball game Saturday night, Jan. 24.

Towards the end of the month the Mother's March will take place. Area mothers will go from door to door collecting for the foundation. The March of Dimes in Chelsea is part of a nation-wide drive for funds to benefit the National Foundation of the March of Dimes founded in 1938 by the late Franklin Roosevelt and his law partner, Basil O'Connor, who still acts as president of the foundation. These two began the foundation "originally to develop some way" of stopping or at least treating polio.

In 1959, the foundation turned its efforts in the direction of birth defects. This move was made

Inflation Control Still Rated Major Problem For Nation During '70

Labor Contract Settlements May Be Crucial to Business

BABSON FORECAST BY BABSON REPORTS, INC. WELLESLEY, MASS.

The debut of a new decade has not been a particularly pleasant experience for this nation in the memory of the vast majority of its present populace. In four of the past five such historical intervals, the economy was subjected to varying stresses for at least a part of the first year of each decade. 1920 was a bad year for both business and the stock market; 1930 was an even more terrifying experience on both fronts; 1940 witnessed a sharp slump in the stock market during the spring, with business suffering a mild easing in the forepart of the year before embarking upon the upsurge of World War II; 1950 was a change of pace as the post-World War II boom provided a fertile environment for both the stock market and general business, but the "jinx" returned in 1960 when—despite the much-heralded promises of the surging "sixties"—a year-long downslide in business occurred, and the stock market was in a reactionary phase for most of the year before rallying in late summer.

Inflation, Major Issue

Presuming, therefore, that American military commitment in Vietnam can gradually be toned down and that none of the other smoldering trouble spots erupt into full-scale fighting, the primary task in 1970 once again will be to curb inflationary pressures. With its tremendous momentum, there is little hope that the inflationary spiral can be brought to a standstill in 1970.

Less Feverish Inflationary Pressures—Once strongly entrenched, inflation is hard to contain. The task is rendered all the more difficult by the social problems which must be tackled at the same time. The Administration and the monetary authorities, thus, must tread a narrow path, lest over-zealous, anti-inflation measures create an economic "overkill." Nevertheless, with the over-heated economy already becoming more temperate, inflationary pressures are likely to rise at a slower pace relative to 1969.

Still Higher Prices—Although inflationary pressures should subside as 1970 progresses, it would be well not to expect over-all price deflation. Indeed, indexes of wholesale commodity prices and (Continued on page three)

Judge Conlin Assigned to Detroit Court

Patrick J. Conlin, district judge of the 14th judicial district, has been assigned by the state supreme court's office of court administration to serve as judge of the recorder's court in the city of Detroit for the month of January 1970.

This assignment was done in pursuance of the supreme court's effort to reorganize and update the courts in the city of Detroit. Recorder's court is the court of general criminal jurisdiction in the city of Detroit. Judge Conlin wishes to apologize to the people in the 14th judicial district that may be inconvenienced because of his assignment by the supreme court, but has arranged for Judge Edward Deake and the presiding Judge of the 14th judicial district Henry A. Arkinson to sit in his absence. Henry A. Arkinson has recently been elected presiding judge of the 14th judicial district for the year 1970 at a meeting of the Judges Conlin, Deake and Arkinson on Dec. 19. Presiding judge has charge of administration of the district courts, and acts as liaison between Court and board of supervisors and county administration.

The clerk of Judge Conlin's court will be available at the usual time to accept traffic violations and civil pleadings.

Cpl. and Mrs. Orin Wireman of Colorado Springs, Colo., arrived Friday to visit relatives. Mrs. Wireman is the former Gail Foster.

Medicenter Administrator Attends Training Session

It was "back to school" for Village President Hal Pennington, newly appointed administrator for the Chelsea Medicenter, when he recently attended a two-week administrator's conference in Memphis Tenn.

The conference, conducted at the headquarters of Medicenter of America, Inc., was devoted to training administrative personnel in Medicenter procedures and the latest techniques in the health care industry.

The Chelsea Medicenter, a 100-bed recuperative care facility, is located at 775 S. Main St., just north of and adjacent to Pierce Park, and is owned and operated by Chelsea Medical Center, Inc., a group of local business and professional people of whom Dr. Michael Papo is president.

Designed to furnish care to the non-acute, convalescing patient, the Medicenter will be staffed, equipped, and operated to provide the necessary recuperative and rehabilitative services needed to help patients on the road to recovery. His Honor, the administrator, assumes his new position at the Medicenter after serving as Director of Labor Relations at Dana Corp. for the past 10 years.

While in Memphis for the conference, Pennington said, "Our primary function will be to assist the patient in regaining his former state of health and to alleviate the over-crowded conditions of Chelsea's excellent medical community." (Continued on page five)

CORPORAL DENNIS STOFER, in a ceremony at Glenview Naval Air Station, Glenview, Ill., was awarded the Navy Achievement Medal (with Combat V) by Major General Robert P. Keller, commanding general of the fourth marine aircraft wing at Glenview on behalf of the U. S. Secretary of the Navy. Stofer was cited for "outstanding professionalism and initiative."

Cpl. Dennis Stofer Wins Navy Achievement Medal

The Navy Achievement Medal (with Combat V) has been awarded to Corporal Dennis Stofer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stofer of 237 Adams St., by the Secretary of the Navy. It was awarded to Corporal Stofer for meritorious service in the Republic of Vietnam from Dec. 13, 1968 to Aug. 14, 1969.

Major General Robert P. Keller, Commanding General of the Fourth Marine Aircraft Wing at Glenview Naval Air station presented the medal and citation to Corporal Stofer on Oct. 24.

The citation noted that Corporal Stofer "distinguished himself by his consistently high level of efficiency." It continued that "on April 25, 1969 his (Stofer's) company was occupying a defensive position on Hill 55 in Buang Nam Province when it came under intense enemy mortar fire. With complete disregard for his safety, Cpl. Stofer unhesitatingly maneuvered across the fire-swept terrain to his mortar position, and displaying exceptional initiative, delivered a heavy volume of counter-mortar fire on the hostile emplacements thereby assisting in the successful defense of his unit's containment."

Cpl. Stofer, who entered the marines after completing two years at Michigan State University, was sent to Vietnam in July of 1968 for 18 months. He is presently stationed at the Naval Air Station, Glenview, Ill., as an administrative clerk.

THE LANSING REPORT
 FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

A happy Holiday Season to all of you. May your coming Holiday Seasons of the 1970's be most replete with hope, peace, charity, and christian practices.

Our country is now nearing 200 years of independence. We are the world's most powerful nation with a majority of the world's scientists, doctors, researchers, and inventors. Military weaponry now mandates the one-world concept. We can no longer be isolationists. And our clear responsibility is to provide as much world leadership as we can. If we don't, someone else will and alien philosophy, an alien theology, an alien social structure holds out little allure for the great majority of Americans.

We—the maligned establishment of today—rightly merit some of the skepticism and scorn of the younger population. We have permitted the world to become overpopulated, the air and water to become over-contaminated, and the bodies of half the world's population to become underfed. We have done great things but we have had these shortcomings.

Our nation and the United Nations, which also needs a face-lifting—face several problems that can brook no procrastination. The world's present 3 billion people will number 6 billion by the year 2000. There will be less land on which to grow food. We will have to more than double agricultural production, particularly since over half the world is presently on a less than subsistence level. Farming the sea is one of the greatest potentials for the future. The Japanese people already are doing this effectively.

Environmental control is top priority. It is a problem of our own making. We must purify the air we breathe and the water in our lakes and streams. We must set aside parklands and conservation areas for this doubling of the population which the next generation promises. We must rationally ration our natural resources for coming generations. interests must be ruthlessly pushed aside.

We must restructure our urban-suburban-regional governmental organization to meet modern needs. We can't have, for example, 500 contiguous townships, villages, cities, and counties all making different rules on air pollution control. Regional councils of government—developing a long many lines, voluntary or involuntary—are a natural development. But in this growing bureaucracy and population sprawl the rights of the individual citizen must be jealously safeguarded.

These bigger problems to which I refer are properly international and national in scope but they must also be implemented at the state level.

Congress legislates welfare programs, housing programs, and many others that call for state implementation and financing. State legislatures, notorious understaffed, and sometimes taken in by these programs, may inherit unforgotten dollar commitments. We fortunately have an excellent congressman in Marvin E. Chappell, who keeps us informed on federal programs.

In 1970, we will have many state programs of major importance. Various reforms in our educational structure will be considered, and some I shall support. Insofar as parochialism is concerned, I have voted against this issue and will continue to oppose Governor Milliken on it.

On abortion law reform, which I am sponsoring, I do have Governor Milliken's support.

On development of a major state-wide transportation policy, including implementation of transit, I have been chairman of a Joint House-Senate committee developing these programs and, happily, we have increasing support from the Governor's office.

Governor Milliken has asked me to serve on his committee recommending a downtown stadium for Detroit and to serve as a member of the host committee for the visit of Premier Price of British Honduras to Michigan in February.

Important new banking legislation will continue to be one of my major responsibilities as chairman of the Senate Committee on Corporations and Economic Development.

On the Commerce Committee, of which I am a member, we will have much legislation to consider affecting insurance, utilities, and liquor control measures.

It is my desire to have small advisory teams in communities in the 18th Senatorial District with whom I can work directly on any of these issues. Whatever your party and however much you may have disagreed with my views on some subjects, remember that I am still your Senator and that we probably do agree far more than disagree on potentially good things for Michigan. Therefore, let me know if you would like to actively help in any way in developing new legislative concepts, in solving personal problems involving state government, or in generating active support for specific legislative acts.

Again, my warmest wishes to all of you for the present Holiday Season and for the decade of the seventies.

Housing Needs

Both state and federal officials have been giving a great deal of attention recently to the problem of finding decent housing for all Americans.

Gov. William G. Milliken estimates Michigan has a need right now for 6,000 more housing units than exist. He said construction of these units would cost $1 billion.

The state government already has begun a program, directed by the State Housing Development Authority, intended to provide this housing in future years.

Immediate goal of the authority is to build 2,500 housing units costing $50 million this year. The housing would be used by low and moderate income families able to pay off mortgages at a small rate who would be unable to pay off a regular mortgage.

The lower mortgage rates, which would be spread over a 40-year period, are made possible by several factors.

First of all, the authority is a state agency and thus can issue tax free bonds and notes to finance construction of the housing.

Since the bonds are tax free, they are cheaper, and the cost of financing construction is cheaper.

Conventional construction financing, for example, now runs between a 10 and 15 percent interest rate, compared to the 6 to 6 1/2 percent rate on the bonds.

Also, the mortgage issued to the home buyer ordinarily would carry an interest rate of 8 1/2 to 9 percent. But the authority can isue bonds for 6 1/2 to 6 percent. These two factors alone result in a "spectacular effect on the cost of the total house," according to the authority.

Cost of constructing a $19,000 home can be cut by $1,700, or some 9 percent, if it is financed through the authority. The result is to make it possible for persons who otherwise would be unable to own a home.

A system of mortgage subsidies also is included in the plan. The authority says the total cost of living in a $19,000 three-bedroom house referred to above, including mortgage payments, utilities, maintenance and other costs runs to $225 per month.

Under a federal subsidy program, the cost can be cut by as much as 40 percent, dropping it to $135 per month.

Translating these costs into income levels, the authority says, the combined federal and state program will provide assistance for families in the $6,000 to $9,000 a year income bracket. It will aid elderly couples living in a one-bedroom unit with a $4,000 to $8,000 annual income.

It said a special supplementary subsidy from the federal government also allows some families in the $4,000 to $6,000 range to participate.

The director of the State Housing Development Authority, William G. Rosenberg, says, however, that what is being done now is only a start—there's more that has to be done.

"I think it is very important in going into these kinds of programs to state unequivocally that the tools currently available to the authority will service only some segments of the population that need housing," he said in a recent report.

"Until the federal government makes additional subsidies available," he said, "the authority is without the necessary tools to provide housing for the lowest income citizens, which must at this time continue to rely on the public housing program for their needs."

"When and if additional federal subsidies are available, we will do everything possible to incorporate the lowest income people into our program," he said.

Rosenberg also said new state programs are being undertaken immediately regardless of what the federal government does.

To start with, he said, the housing authority will ask the legislature for authority to issue an additional $250 million in bonds to finance more housing on its own.

"We know that Michigan's hous-

Mid-Town Mayor

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
 Well, the fellows at the country store Saturday night was getting ready to welcome the new year, so the session was took up mostly with resolutions. Clem Webster said last year he made a resolution not to make no more resolutions, but this year he was back with a brand-new resolution policy guaranteed not to rot, stink, float, sink or run uphill.

Clem said he was Nixonizing his resolution policy to keep up with the Republicans that has changed the name of ever program and policy foreign and domestic. He told the fellows that Nixonizing means changing for the sake of change, and to give new meaning to a old word, or to give a new and longer word to the same old meaning. For instant, ever time he breaks a resolution, he will quick name two more, one to take the place of the broke one, and one to get the public eye off the other two.

retail and consumer prices in general are more likely to trend higher in 1970, reflecting the tendency of price changes to lag changes in the economic climate. Moreover, because of the squeeze on business profits compensatory price increases are likely.

Cost Push—Perhaps the most crucial factor in the outlook for higher prices is the full calendar of labor negotiations slated for 1970. On the basis of generous contract settlements during the past year, new labor pacts will undoubtedly carry hefty wage increments.

Money Supply—One of the signs pointing to the ease of inflationary pressures in the money-supply. Reflecting the restrictive credit curve. Reflecting the restrictive credit policies adhered to by the Federal Reserve in 1969, the nation's money supply (bank deposits and currency in circulation) in recent months has leveled off, blunting one of the most potent sources of inflationary pressures. The staff of Babson's Reports does foresee a renewed upturn in the money supply in the early months of the year now underway, since the nation's leaders will still be preoccupied with price increases. Thereafter, however, if the anticipated downturn in general business and the consequent unemployment upsurge become sensitive areas, the Federal Reserve may be expected to ease credit.

Labor Rules Prospects

An allusion had been made earlier in this column to the influence of labor conditions upon business in 1970. Indeed, if international conditions maintain a relative status quo, what happens on the labor scene could determine 1970 business. Many major and secondary labor contracts expire within the next 12 months. The most crucial are the labor talks involving the Teamsters and the Auto Workers. If the trucking industry is paralyzed by a nationwide strike next spring, raw materials and finished goods cannot be transported. Lay-offs and curtailed work weeks in many industrial lines would then result. To the extent that the automobile industry directly and indirectly (through the automotive equipment suppliers) employs many workers and consumes a considerable amount of raw materials, a prolonged tie-up—either industry-wide or in a succession of strikes against each of the "Big Three" auto producers—could be very damaging to the economy which at that time might be either in the initial stage of a recovery or on the verge of regaining its vitality.

Whether or not labor tie-ups of varying length do occur, the outlook is for costly wage settlements. With the profits-squeeze now being experienced by most businesses, management can be expected to bargain harder in order to keep the lid on cost increases. Thus, in 1970 labor and management will lock horns in perhaps the most determined stand on the part of both parties in many years.

Labor leaders are expected to push hard for direct wage increases during 1970. Fringe benefits, with the exception of medical programs, will take a back seat to increments in take-home pay. Management, on the other hand, may concede large pay boosts, but in exchange the tendency will be to seek one-year contracts rather than the multi-year pacts, hoping that an economic breathing spell during 1970 will take the pressure off labor demands.

1970 Business Profile

The latter part of 1969 saw industrial activity turn downward. Even before that development, corporate profits after taxes had already receded over (starting in the second quarter of 1969). The Babson Staff anticipates a further slowdown in business in 1970. There is no anticipation of a serious recession, although we cannot rule out such a possibility if prolonged labor tie-ups upset supply-demand ratios. However, if there are no radical disruptions on the labor front or on the international scene, the general expectation is that business will experience a gradual slippage during the first six to nine months of 1970. If the automobile industry can come to terms with the United Auto Workers without too much trouble, a noticeable pick-up in general business could emerge in the closing months of 1970.

Gross National Product—The Babson Staff forecasts a 4 percent to 5 percent rise in the total dollar value of goods and services which will be produced in 1970 compared with 1969. However, this is in terms of current dollar value, which will reflect the further inflationary rise in price tags expected for the next 12 months. But on a physical volume basis (adjusted for price changes) Gross National Product is not likely to show much change compared with the deflated 1969 GNP.

The components of the Gross National Product figure should be generally firm. The most important segment is personal consumption expenditures, which should continue the upward trend. This reflects not only the increase in price structures but also the natural growth of demand from the shift in the nation's population profile, plus the higher levels of personal income and income per family. However, the sizable increases of recent years in personal consumption expenditures will not occur in 1970.

The next important segment of the GNP is private domestic investment. Here, also, 1970 should see only a small increase over 1969. High borrowing costs, tight credit, and the pinch on corporate profit margins are likely to dampen capital investment.

State and local spending will be one of the stronger elements of the Gross National Product in 1970. The fight to cure major social ills must be waged at the state and municipal levels, with help from the Federal Government. Factors which should lift state and local spending include the need for more public housing, urban redevelopment, improved mass transportation facilities, and highway betterment to prevent traffic strangulation of urban centers. In addition, operating costs of standard municipal facilities for public protection, education, and sanitation are all up sharply.

Federal spending will be the soft spot in the GNP structure. In all probability, Federal spending in 1970 will be little changed to a shade lower because of cut-backs in military spending and stretch-outs in large dollar volume federal projects. However, any savings in military outlays will be absorbed by higher expenditures in the civilian segment of the economy.

Industrial Production—As indicated in the introductory part of this section of the forecast, we currently expect the downturn in industrial production which began last September to persist through at least the next six months, with a possibility that it might extend through the summer. Industrial production is generally measured on a physical-volume basis and does not reflect price changes.

At this point, the Babson's Reports staff does not foresee a deep recession. Instead, the expectation is that factory output will trace a gradual downward path in the first half, and a leveling off or the start of a revival in the third quarter, at a seasonally adjusted rate. In the final 1970 quarter, industrial activity should show definite up-side progress. Over-all, the Babson's Reports staff projects a possible slippage of about 5 percent to the low point of factory operations, with the subsequent revival narrowing the net decline for full year 1970 versus 1969 to around 3 percent.

Building and Construction—The building and construction field will not show much vigor until the monetary authorities shift to a less restrictive credit policy. Thereafter, this sector of the economy should pick up momentum and end the year on a strong note. Activity in the home-building field is expected to pace the smart resurgence of new construction outlays. But unless the ease in credit occurs early in 1970, new housing starts for the full year will do well to equal the number of units started in 1969.

Business Profits—To the extent that businesses are unable to lift prices and cut costs sufficiently to offset increases in labor and other operating costs, corporate profits after taxes in 1970 may slip below the rate of earnings for 1969 as a whole. Barring an industry-wide tie-up of auto producers by the UAW, or a protracted series of strikes against each of the "Big Three" auto manufacturers in the fall of 1970, the anticipated upturn in business some time after mid-year, plus the probable expiration of the surtax, should help to stem the erosion of corporate profits in the last six months.

Employment—It now appears that the downside in business is not likely to be of sufficient magnitude and duration to create sharp cut-backs in employment during 1970. Management is particularly aware of the difficulty of acquiring skilled, competent, and conscientious help and hence the tendency will be to keep existing crews intact wherever possible. But the average length of work weeks will be trimmed further during the winter and spring weeks of 1970, which will automatically curtail additionally the amount of overtime.

Unemployment—The ranks of the jobseekers, nevertheless, will show a definite increase in 1970 over that of 1969. Slowing business will take the greatest toll upon unskilled and marginal workers. The jobless rate may rise to 5 percent of the civilian labor force before business can "turn the corner" in 1970.

Consumers to Rescue

Prospects for consumer spending in 1970 seem none too promising particularly for durable goods. The Babson's Reports staff projects a slight downward bias in physical volume of retail trade until industrial activity perks up. Total dollar volume of retail sales, however, again will be bolstered by higher prices.

However, the growth and structure of the nation's population, demographic changes, and wage hikes will augment consumer buying power—the corrosive effects of inflation upon the purchasing power of the dollar notwithstanding. Thus, having already trimmed their sails in 1969, consumers may evidence buying interest sooner than seems justified right now.

Money Rates

There is little doubt that the most onerous phase of the rise in interest rates which has plagued us for the past five years has reached a crest. Although corporate bond offerings in the closing weeks of the 1969 still carried generous coupons and yields, the outlook favors some easing in money rates in 1970. Perhaps the most significant reduction will occur in the cost of short-term loans. The cost of long-term money should ease some, but not to any significant degree. There simply is far too much demand for long-term capital for projects which have been postponed by the exasperating credit squeeze, and for upcoming social programs.

Mortgage Rates—Mortgage borrowings are in the long-term category. Therefore, while modest reductions in mortgage borrowing rates are very likely to occur in 1970, pent-up demand for housing (both single family units and apartments) pretty well assures demand for mortgage money once interest rates start to slip.

Business Loans - Because of the anticipated further slowdown in industrial activity, demand for business loans for the greater portion of 1970, should moderate relative to 1969. Inventory accumulation will naturally be considerably diminished, if not actually temporarily replaced by inventory liquidation programs. For these reasons, short-term money rates - including the prime rate, yields on Treasury bills, commercial paper, and other short-term debt instruments - will decline until business perks up again.

Bonds, Preferred Stocks

As we enter 1970, prices of bond and preferred stocks are well depressed, and yields are the most generous in over a century. Therefore, these two types of securities provide very attractive investment for those who are in need of a high current income, but the prospect of an upward adjustment in market prices for bonds and preferred stocks as money rates decline clearly indicates that there is also the opportunity for capital appreciation.

Maximum Income - Where the highest possible yield is necessary (in the case of investors who are entirely dependent upon investment income) and for certain institutional accounts, there are many high-quality bonds and preferred stocks which can be purchased to tie down the generous yields now available.

Income Plus Appreciation - Many investors are not completely dependent upon current income. For these investors, bonds or preferreds, which carry a relatively low coupon rate or dividend rate can provide both generous current yields plus capital appreciation potential.

Investors who are interested in a reasonable investment income plus some capital appreciation beyond the immediate future (the latter factor representing an inflation hedge) should not overlook good convertible bonds and preferreds. The stock market decline has pulled most convertible securities down to the point where their current yields are quite attractive. Those issues trading close to, or right at, their conversion value stand the best chance of moving upward in price when their respective common shares stage a rebound.

Common Stocks

The unerring market barometer of 1969 hardly seems to be a source of inspiration for investors, particularly with business and corporate profit prospects uninspiring for the first half of 1970. The long experience of the Babson Organization, however, has shown time and again that the best profits can be garnered from bargain hunting forays when the stock market has been knocked down and the "buy high, sell higher" sophisticates are quivering in their boots. "Mod" economics notwithstanding, there is no substitute for the hard-nosed investment philosophy of "buy low, sell high," as this approach carries

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend a heartfelt thanks to all our kind friends and neighbors for their many expressions of sympathy and gifts to the trust fund during our recent bereavement in the loss of our daughter, Wilma. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Paul.

THANK YOU

I would like to thank all the relatives, neighbors and friends for their flowers, gifts, calls and visits; also, the kind people who brought Bill food and who brought him to see me while I was in the hospital. It is all very deeply appreciated. Cora Beach.

the least downside risk and a maximum of upside potential.

Growth Areas - The research staff of Babson's Reports currently favors investments in such stock groups as life insurance, savings and loan, leisure time, consumer electronic data processing software, pollution control, solid waste disposal, integrated circuits, and certain of the precious and platinum, and aluminum) for investors interested in longer range growth.

Oversold Issues for Rebound Potential - Investors who require some base of current income often find themselves shut out from the growth stocks. But there is nothing like a good market shakeout to open up capital gains opportunities for every investment objective. Over a short span of time, the downtrodden prosaic and more cyclical issues can provide just as encouraging profits as the growth issues offer. In this corner of the bargain counter, we of the Babson's Reports staff point to the values and recovery potential of such common stock groups as the oils, the natural gas producers, and the building materials and construction equipment issues. The "oversold" label can be tacked on to other groups, including the stocks of companies in the aircraft, rubber products, and the original equipment auto parts field. And do not overlook the well-trampled conglomerate stocks, and the long-suffering agricultural equipment shares.

Ghandi's Influence on India To Be Studied on TV Program

East Lansing - Michigan's prison system and an innovative living situation for teen-age girls are the topics for this week's "Assignment 10," Friday, Jan. 9, at 7 p.m. on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

Correspondent Terry Braverman interviews key people at Opportunity House, where teen-age girls live together as a family. The interviews highlight the philosophy and effect of this unique institution.

The state's penal system is examined next, as correspondent Bob Runyon talks with inmates of the Ionia State Reformatory and with Gus Harrison, state corrections director. An interview with Probate Court Judge James Kallman suggests ways in which citizen participation can help the court system and the over-crowded prison situation.

GANDHI'S INDIA

"NET Journal" replays the drama of the late Mahatma Gandhi's life and evaluates his influence on "Gandhi's India," Sunday, Jan. 4, at 4:30 p.m.

The first portion of the program depicts important moments in the course of Gandhi's life, utilizing films and featuring narration by eminent British actor Sir Alec Guinness.

The life of Gandhi and the history of India were closely entwined in the turbulent times of growing national awareness. Events such as the Round Table Conference in 1931 or the Salt March in 1930 belong as much to one as to the other.

An analysis of Gandhi's influence constitutes the second half of the documentary. Interviews with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi; Lord Mountbatten, last viceroy of India; and Ramamurti, a disciple of Gandhi, shed light on the progress that has been made in Gandhi's primary objectives.

MUSICAL EXPRESSION

The spiritual and musical heritage of the black American finds a uniquely moving vehicle of expression on "Trumpets of the Lord," a "NET Festival" production, Sunday, Jan. 4, at 2:30 p.m.

The program is a musical adaptation of the late James Weldon Johnson's book, "God's Trombones," a compilation of seven sermons in free verse. Jones drew his material from American Negro folklore. The musical, set in the isolated churches of the deep South, is a flowing mixture of traditional spirituals and impassioned poetry.

James Earle Jones, Lex Monson and Jane White head a cast of veteran performers.

NATURALIST

The life and works of America's greatest naturalist are examined on "Audubon," Sunday, Jan. 4, at 1:30 p.m.

The program begins in France, where John James Audubon was born the illegitimate son of a businessman. From the start, Audubon preferred the study of birds

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Thank you... for your letter. You asked for a report on my observations and impressions of Christmas. They are many and varied, good and bad, encouraging and sad. Here in cropped words is a brief outline. It is sad to see the miracles and mysteries of Christmas invaded by the fraud of crass commercialism. The holiday hysteria of searching, surging crowds in the selling season used to start at Thanksgiving. Now, in many areas, it has been stretched to start at Halloween. It saddens me to see war toys given to impressionable children. Glorifying a make-believe violence of war is the very opposite of the 'peace on earth' message of Christmas.

I am glad however to see and sense the Christmas spirit of multitudes of people who show and share the meaning of Christmas. I am glad to see so many families attending church services together, hand in hand and worshipping together. No hilarity; simply a joyous commemoration of the holy day celebrating the birth of the Holy Infant, so tender and mild... My own ho-ho-ho and a Merry Christmas seems so meaningless when heard against the - "Behold, I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord"...

PIANO

MSU music faculty member Ralph Votapek is featured this week on "Young Musical Artists," Wednesday, Jan. 7, at 7 p.m.

Votapek holds both bachelor's and master's degrees in music. His awards include the Naumburg Award and first prize in the 1962 Van Cliburn International Piano Competition. He has appeared with many famous orchestras - the New York Philharmonic and the Los Angeles Philharmonic among them. Votapek has also toured Canada, Central and South America, Europe and the United States.

The compositions performed are the Sonata in A Flat Major by Haydn, plus "Rondena" and "Triana" from the Iberia Suite by Isaac Albeniz.

FOLK TALE

"NET Festival" presents "The Soldier's Tale," a fascinating musical drama written by Igor Stravinsky, Sunday, Jan. 4, at 11 p.m.

The story concerns a soldier-deserter on his way home from the wars and his temptation by the Devil, who, characteristically enough, is after the soldier's soul. Thereby winning back his violin for the Devil's book of riches starts off the first round. Years later, unrecognized by his family and friends, the soldier tricks the Devil into taking his last money, thereby winning back his violin and a beautiful princess as his wife. He is restrained only from crossing the border to go home, for this act would cost him his soul. But the Devil tempts the Princess to urge him to do so. Finally, for love of her, the soldier accedes.

Marleon Marsh, John TenCate Speak Vows Saturday in Holland

Mrs. John Vernon TenCate

Nuptial candlelight ceremonies performed in the First United Methodist church of Holland, by the Rev. Hilding Kilgren on Saturday, Dec. 27, united Miss Marleon Linda Marsh and John Vernon TenCate in marriage.

Miss Marsh is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon R. Marsh, 713 Wildwood Dr., Holland, formerly of Chelsea. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon D. TenCate, also of Holland. The bride's maternal grandmother is Mrs. Orva Slane of Chelsea.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length empire styled gown of antique satin having bishop sleeves. Venice insertion lace trimmed the front and back bodice, cuffs, and outlined the chapel-length panel train that fell from the back waistline. She wore a Flemish cap of Venice lace that released a double train length veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Pamela K. Marsh was her sister's maid of honor and was attired in a floor-length gown of hot pink crepe having pleated bishop sleeves. Her floor-length veil of matching hot pink was released from a crepe band trimmed with fresh flowers. She carried a single red rose.

Sorority sisters and classmates of the bride's at Central Michigan University served as her attendants. Attired identically to the honor attendant were the Misses Deborah Van Putten and Susan Cunnick of Holland, Susan Reeves of Kalamazoo, Judy Kowalec of Warren, and Nancy Magsig of New York. Serving as the junior attendant in a similarly styled gown was Miss Nannette Marsh, sister of the bride.

Miss Marie McIntyre assisted the bride as her personal attendant. Mrs. Rudolph Mattson was organist while Miss Catherine Parker sang, "The Love Theme from Romeo and Juliet."

Daniel TenCate, brother of the bridegroom, was best man with groomsmen being Rich Vander Broek, Greg White, Steve Deloof, John Hartom, and David Bonnette, Eric Marsh and Mick Marsh, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

The mother of the bride wore an aqua matching dress and coat ensemble, while the mother of the bridegroom chose an emerald green dress. White orchid corsages accented both costumes.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce van Leuwen, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marsh, aunt and uncle of the bride, presided at the reception held after the wedding at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Mike Marsh, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Danile TenCate, sister-in-law of the bridegroom arranged gifts, while Mrs. David Bonnette, sister of the bridegroom was in charge of the guest book.

The bride is a speech major at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant and is affiliated with Sigma Kappa sorority. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. The newlyweds will make their home at 685 Jenison, Holland, until February when they will be at home in Mt. Pleasant.

Mrs. James Richard Hosler

Chelsea Couple's Granddaughter Married in Ceremony at Jackson

Kay Elaine Britten and James Richard Hosler exchanged marriage vows at a 1 p.m. ceremony at St. John's United Church of Christ, Jackson, Saturday, Dec. 27. The Rev. Lyle Weible officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenwood Britten of Jackson, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Breitenwischer of Chelsea. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Hosler of Rives Junction and the late Forest W. Hosler.

The bride entered the sanctuary wearing a white velvet empire style gown with Juliet sleeves and alencon lace trimming which she had designed and made herself. Her elbow length veil was attached to a Juliet cap. She carried white poinsettias with variegated holly streamers on her Bible.

Maid of honor was the bride's MSU college roommate, Marilyn Bombalicki, while the bridesmaids included Katherine Weller of Jackson, and Dawn Graham and the bridegroom's sister, Gina Hosler, both of Rives Junction. All wore white delustered satin empire style gowns with floor-length red velvet coats, red velvet pillbox hats with white fur trim and carried white fur muffs with red poinsettias and variegated holly.

Thomas Hosler of Rives Junction, assisted his brother as best man. Groomsmen were another brother, William Hosler, and Jay Henry Case, both of Rives Junction, and the bride's brother, Mark Britten of Jackson.

Julie Surbrook and Lori Hosler, nieces of the bridegroom, served as flower girls and Eric Britten, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. Kirk Breitenwischer and his brother, Scott, of Houston, Tex., who are cousins of the bride, were acolytes.

Following a reception at the Moose Lodge in Jackson, the couple left for Fort Benning, Ga., where they will make their home.

Major Home Repairs Costly, But Valuable

Modernizing a wiring system, insulating, laying concrete and roofing sound like major undertakings for the home owner-repairman.

Yet these are some of the major problems in modernizing homes, according to Carlton Edwards, housing specialist with the Co-operative Extension Service at Michigan State University.

Edwards offered a few words of advice on these problems, and a source of help:

"Plan wiring for all anticipated uses," he advises. "It costs less that way than adding it later."

He noted that insulation provides more comfort in both winter and summer, so should be worth the investment and work. It reduces heat loss in the winter, eliminates drafts and cold corners. In summer it reduces the amount of heat coming in through the walls.

Of roofing, Edwards alerted home repairers to the many types available. Wood shingles, if they are a durable kind and properly laid, make a satisfactory, attractive and well-insulated roof. However, he notes that slate and asbestos shingles have the advantage of being fire-resistant.

Edwards pointed out that few reliable sources of information on these major repairs are available. He's compiled a reference kit on just such home repair and remodeling problems. The kit also includes installing and painting wood siding, choosing aluminum storm windows, controlling moisture and protecting a house from fire.

The kit, "Home Repair and Remodeling" is available for $3 from the Plan Service Office, Agricultural Engineering Building, MSU, East Lansing, 48823.

DEN 9, PACK 445

On Dec. 22, Den 9, Pack 445, met at the home of Mrs. Andrew Ford, the den mother, for a Christmas party and lunch. They finished their Christmas presents for their parents: screwdriver holders for the dads and necklace racks for the moms. The previous week home decorations had been made. Family names and pictures were placed on home-made door knob covers, while plastic pop bottles were covered with material and sequins to become candle holders.

The den took a present to Richard Worden, den chief. Later in the evening, the pack had its meeting. The Rev. William Keller of the Chelsea Lutheran church presented a Christmas talk. Movies from Michigan Bell Telephone Co. on the Christmas spirit were shown.

The pack also finalized its Christmas giving. They donated a Christmas tree to the Stop & Shop supermarket; each cub brought a can of food to be distributed to the needy of Chelsea through the Chelsea Jaycees; and the pack donated 10 Christmas trees to the needy of Chelsea, again to be distributed by the Chelsea Jaycees.

Fashion Notes

Ribbed materials are used extensively this season for light weight suits and two piece dresses. These are fashioned of various cool fabrics and are ideal for the girl who travels.

Sleeveless garments continue to be favored but for those women or girls whose arms are too thin or too large a short sleeve is more becoming and quite smart.

White lace tent dresses over tinted under-slips are being shown in some shops.

White or cream colored jackets, worn over black or brown shifts, are stylish. Hat and gloves match the jacket while shoes and bag are black or brown.

HE WON'T SAY ANYTHING ABOUT GETTING MARRIED...

THE WEEK'S LETTER:

"I have a problem and I wish to have an opinion, please. I met this boy in 1967 and we went steady for a year. He two-timed me, and then we broke up. We kept dating, however, and acted just like we were still going steady. I went out with another guy, and now I feel guilty. We had made plans to get married, then started arguing so much we called it off. I want to marry him. He promised to marry me. He now says he loves me very about getting married. Am I being too pushy?"

OUR REPLY: If he promised to marry you, but won't say when, you may be in a rocking chair before he takes you to the altar. If you have been dating for two years and he has promised to marry you, you are entitled to more than a promise. Tell him so, and, if he still refuses to set a date, you can be pretty sure that he never will. One thing you can be sure of—if he really loves you, he won't let you get away . . .

Many Subtle Ways To Help Children Like New Foods

If you're like most mothers, you're probably looking for ways to teach your children to like different kinds of foods.

"Your child is more apt to accept a new food if he's not overly tired, or excited," the specialist said.

"Enthusiasm is contagious," Mr. Fairman says. "If you show that you really enjoy the new food, your child will be much more inclined to like it, too."

This practice is used in nursery schools. Fussy eaters are seated at the table with children who enjoy eating.

Mrs. Fairman emphasizes that children are small, and things that are average size to adults, are overwhelming to them.

Being involved in some way with a new food is another way of making it seem more acceptable to the child.

Two more things are important when dealing with children and food, the specialist says.

Also young children fear hot foods, Mrs. Fairman says. Don't be afraid to offer them food that is only lukewarm.

Sixteen families attended the Dec. 20 meeting of the Young Homemakers.

All-Out Attack Scheduled Against German Measles

A campaign to immunize more than 16,000 children in kindergarten through the third grade in Washtenaw county against Rubella (German Measles) will begin in the third week of January.

The drive is being sponsored by the Washtenaw County Medical Society. The drive will involve 50 elementary schools throughout the county and the vaccine will be given to youngsters at no charge.

Dr. Otto K. Engelke, County Health Director, said the parents or guardians of the children in kindergarten through the third grade age group must give written authorization to have their children participate in the clinic.

The health director, who described Rubella, as a "devastating disease" which can kill or maim unborn children when it strikes an expectant mother, said that 100 percent participation in the immunization clinics by eligible youngsters is essential if the disease is to be checked. He said that the Rubella is usually carried and contracted by children in the kindergarten through the third grade group and then transmitted to mothers.

Dr. Engelke said that Rubella "has probably crippled more children in recent years than polio, scarlet fever, chicken pox, mumps, and regular measles combined as a result of expectant mothers becoming infected with the disease."

He added that Rubella tends to hit a peak in numbers of cases about every five to seven years. The spring of 1970 is seen as the start of the next peak period. A previous epidemic in the United States in 1964 killed about 30,000 babies and crippled another 20,000, Dr. Engelke said. In Michigan the epidemic left an estimated 370 killed or severely crippled. Dr. Engelke termed the 1964 epidemic "the biggest outbreak in a generation."

The free anti-Rubella clinics are possible because the Michigan legislature voted to spend more than $1 million to purchase vaccine for immunization of all Michigan children in kindergarten through the third grade.

Clinics are scheduled in Western Washtenaw County elementary schools as follows:

Jan. 26—Dexter, Manchester, Pleasant Lake.

Jan. 29—North and South Elementary schools, Chelsea; St. Mary's school, Chelsea; St. Louis school, Chelsea.

High Living Costs

The high cost of living is a topic that comes in for a good deal of discussion these days. Most everyone is against it—except of course when higher costs affect one personally in terms of his own wages.

Take note that the cost of living is now 5.8 percent higher than it was a year ago, according to the U. S. Labor Department. That means it costs about a dollar and six cents to buy what a dollar would buy a year ago. So what do we know that's good?

In 1969 consumers will spend only about 16.5 percent of their income after taxes for food—the lowest in the world. This will be down from 16.8 percent in 1968 and from 20 percent in 1960, the Secretary of Agriculture told a joint Congressional committee hearing the other day.

That's worth remembering. Even though the cost of living is rising every month, a smaller share of our incomes is going for food than ever before.

This good news for consumers comes in spite of the Department of Agriculture's report that the high cost of farming continues to go up. It is costing the nation's farmers more money than ever before to produce their 1969 crops, and their taxes are higher than ever. Farmers are paying more interest too on farm mortgages, in addition to the wage rate increases of farm labor.

So you can take the government's word for this—the farmer isn't the man responsible for the high cost of farming.

Farmers, along with retirees who take a cut in their pensions every time prices increase, are inflation's primary victims.

Meanwhile, keep faith because according to President Nixon, the nation is on the road to recovery from inflation. Added encouragement stems from the Monthly Economic Letter published by the First National City Bank of New York which reports, "Slower growth of sales and employment and a dip in industrial production indicate a lessening in the demand pressures that fuel inflationary price increases."

An honest man, after reviewing his own life, will be inclined to let youth chart its own course.

State orders ban on sale of DDT

LANSHING—The State Agriculture Commission has blocked the sale of DDT in Michigan, but a federal official in Ann Arbor said pesticide levels in Lake Michigan fish haven't risen since 1965.

The action by the Agriculture Commission in pesticide levels, either up or down, Carr said. 'Analysis of the fish shows there is little change in the total DDT content in whole fish, no matter at what location or how late in the season the fish are taken,' Carr said.

1969. On earth important things were also happening. Among them was the resolute movement for a sort of environmental reform—a spirited drive for cleaner waters, clearer skies, leisure-time outlets from the tension-packed routine of the workaday world...

Fight Against Pollution Shows Progress

LANSHING—The year 1969 saw, with wide-eyed wonder, then walk to the moon for the first time. With a comparatively lower-keyed residue of pride, it also saw men put their best feet forward on earth in quest of a better life here below.

Environmental reformations revolution of 'new-wave' untroubled people came out stronger than ever before in a drive for cleaner waters, clearer skies, leisure time outlets from the tension-packed routine of the workaday world...

DOWN WITH DDT

One of the year's big turning points for that new wave of confidence emerged when Michigan, as a showdown state, became the first to cancel registrations for the general sale of DDT, the prime target in the seething battle against persistent pesticides.

RECREATION NOT WRECKREATION

IF 1969 was the year for people to redouble their efforts against pollution in Michigan—and it was—it also was time for them to find a safety valve from the pressures of everyday life—to seek recreation instead of personal or physical wreckreation.

CLEANER WATER COMING

At the polls in 1968, Michigan voters overwhelmingly passed a $395 million bond issue for clean waters in this state, and in 1969 that mandate was being carried out in full swing.

ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY COUNCIL

On a broader scale, Gov. Milliken formed an Advisory Council on Environmental Quality and charged the council to zero in on effects of pesticides, noise pollution, air pollution, water pollution, and solid wastes.

DNR Year-End Report...

(Continued from page 10) facilities in and near major cities of the state. These projects, for which $25 million of the program has been earmarked, are pegged to developing "close-in" state facilities to provide urban dwellers with broader-based recreation opportunities.

Under the third and final segment of the recreation bonding program, the DNR asked the state legislature for $14.3 million for the first schedule of capital outlay improvements covering state parks, fisheries, wildlife, and forest-recreation projects.

Of that total request, the DNR sought $7,660,000 in bond money to finance top-priority state park projects and $3,845,650 to boost fishery work and $686,200 for forest recreation projects during the 1969-70 fiscal year.

SALMON CATCH HITS NEW HIGH

In a year when new strides were being made for people to do their "recreational thing," Lake Michigan's salmon fishermen never had it so good. They caught an estimated 275,000 coho and chinook salmon with a total weight figured to approach two million pounds.

Both figures were substantially higher than last year's and completely dwarfed angler returns on the Lake Michigan front in 1967, the first, wild year for runs of mature coho in this state.

Of the 175,000 salmon taken by anglers in 1969, nearly half were caught in Lake Michigan streams and DNR fisheries men believe the take there was boosted by the Department's relaxed regulations on foul hooking. Hot spots for stream action on salmon were the Muskegon, Manistee, and Pere Marquette rivers.

For those licensed salmon fishermen who weren't lucky enough to land a fish, the DNR gave away 32,000 "ready-for-cooking" coho and chinook which had a collective dressed-out weight of more than 200,000 pounds.

If 1969 wasn't enough to spread smiles across the faces of salmon fishermen, they could look ahead to 1970 when the DNR foresees "vastly improved" returns on both coho and chinook.

GOOD WORK REWARDED

For any year so rewarding to conservationists and so packed with promise for the future, it was only fitting that good works should be noted. And they were.

One of the most esteemed ones came from the Outdoor Life magazine which gave its annual conservation award to Michigan's Department of Natural Resources and its Director Ralph A. MacMullan for their "successful fight to restore sport fishing in Lake Michigan—and their unflinching efforts to curb persistent pesticides in the Lake Michigan watershed."

An article in that magazine backstopping that award and the efforts behind it noted:

"The state's conservation leaders, looking back over the past and taking pride in such major accomplishments as bringing the Lake Michigan fishery from cellar to rooftop, are confident about the future. If the job of resource protection can be done (and it must be done), they believe that Director MacMullan and his department, with public backing can do it."

Perhaps, that statement more than any other, describes the tone of 1969—the dream for a better life geared to natural resources. To paraphrase it: "The job of resource protection can be done with public backing, and that support was never more evident than it was in 1969."

As footnotes to the highlights of natural resource management this year, here are some capulized newsmakers which deserve mention:

—New zone management plan covering sport and commercial fishing in Michigan's Great Lakes waters approved as latest, most comprehensive approach toward boosting recovery of fish stocks in those "inland seas."

—DNR officials pledge to come out fighting "harder than ever" in 1970 for legislation to establish the proposed Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore in Benzie and Leelanau counties after shelving of the measure this year.

—First results of lamprey control work will be seen on Lake Huron in 1970, clearing the way for the DNR to step up its trout plantings in the area's tributary streams.

—Tourist trade in Michigan balloons to all-time high estimated at $1.2 billion.

—State parks in Michigan draw record crowds of over 18 million day visitors and 400,000 camping families.

—So-called "North Slope" of the northern Lower Peninsula shows "great potential" for oil and gas rights in that part of the state.

—The most efficient fish factory ever built in Michigan, the $1.5 million Platte River Anadromous Fish Hatchery, goes into production for first time.

—Michigan firearm deer hunters score estimated harvest of 99,000 animals.

—Michigan's forest fire losses slashed by 10,000 acres from 1968.

—Thus, the year 1969 ends for natural resource-minded people. It ends not without controversy, setbacks, and soul-searching. Those notwithstanding, it bows out with new hope, the kind of we-can-do-it determination that carried men to the moon on that never-to-be-forgotten day of July 20.

Michigan Bell Plans Giant '70 Expansion

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has unveiled plans for a massive 1970 expansion and improvement program aimed at meeting the continuing unprecedented demands for communications services.

Kenneth J. Whalen, Michigan president, said the company's 1970 financial outlay is set at a record $260,245,000. It tops this year's by some $26,000,000 and marks the first time that the company-wide expenditure will exceed the quarter-billion-dollar figure.

"The size of next year's construction program reflects not only the company's confidence in the future of Michigan, but also our determination to provide the amount and quality of communications services necessary to serve the public," Whalen said.

Whalen disclosed that part of the 1970 program will be financed through the sale of a $150,000,000 debenture issue, largest in the company's history. Directors of Michigan Bell already have authorized the sale and, if all regulatory approvals are obtained, bids are expected to be opened next February.

To handle the new orders for phone service and to fill increased requests for better grades of service such as private lines, the company plans to install about 13 billion conductor feet of exchange cable.

Cultural Advancement?

Arriving on these shores, I inspected the natives. They are a wild unruly lot, given to gathering in large groups, beating loud discordant rhythms on their drums, raising strange foreign banners and marching while screaming abuses at the governing masses. They eschew war as a nation, having no feeling of national participation; however, groups do at times, band together to attack other societies with great vigor, during which much damage and even murder occurs. This is excused by explaining that they are fighting for peace.

Their appearance is bewildering since the females dress in pants as do the males. They often appear barefooted or in sandals. Their skin is darkened by over-exposure to the sun and they will move across the country to warmer climes in order to indulge in sun bathing. They wear their hair long and for the most part loose and uncombed. During their dances, it hangs wildly over their faces and shoulders. They adorn themselves with beads, necklaces, bracelets and other trinkets; even boring holes in their ears to hold these bangles. An exchange of these tokens symbolizes a feeling of peace between the recipients.

They live in communities, wherever they can be alone; often in woods or secluded canyons. Usually having no formal marriage ceremony, couples live together for a length of time, only as long as it is advantageous to them; after which time, they move on to other partners. The female usually retains custody of any children of this match, caring for them as best she is able. No organized work is done to support life. Begging and stealing is common among them and in fact, looked upon with approval. The prevailing feeling being that if you are not caught, it demonstrates your cunning, courage, and ingenuity, and is a good joke on the person preyed upon. They pretend to detest the ownership of property, yet are quite precise in the type of furnishings needed to maintain the appearance of their surroundings.

They smoke a type of dried and ground plant, which produces a calm, sometimes followed by hysteria, which they often associate with visions. They have no formal religion although certain groups band together to practice various physical exercises which they believe purifies the spirit.

In assessing the future of these humans, it is difficult to imagine anything but extinction. The lack of cleanliness alone will eventually breed incurable disease. Unable to support life by organized labor of any type and having no experience of purposeful achievement, they will be crowded out by a more efficient and ambitious peoples. As overbreeding occurs, vacant property will become scarce and there will be no place for these people to maintain their independence; and since they will not be able to merge with a more orderly and energetic race, they will be pushed aside to perish.

Catholic Social Services Adds Marriage Counselor to Staff

Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw County, 117 N. Division St., Ann Arbor, is expanding service. It has just been announced by Miss Marguerite M. Parrish, director of the agency and Edward Conlin, chairman of the board of directors, that the agency is supplementing its wide range of family and children's services, with an expanded department of pre-marital and marriage counseling designed for the entire community, to be directed by Dr. Herman Jacobs.

Well-known in Ann Arbor as a social worker and as the former director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at the University of Michigan and as a social worker, Dr. Jacobs is a certified marriage counselor, licensed by the State of Michigan Board of Marriage Counselors. This past year he has been associated with the Catholic Social Services, concentrating on cases of marital problems, and counseling marriage partners both individually and jointly as couples.

Dr. Jacobs has been engaged in counselling throughout his social work career and university student work and is a charter member of the Academy of Certified Social Workers. He holds degrees from New York University, Columbia University, the Graduate School for Jewish Social Work and a doctorate from Wayne State University.

In the course of his professional life, he has held administrative and educational positions in community centers, taught at Wayne State University and Eastern Michigan University and lectured extensively in universities, for church groups and other community societies and organizations in the Ann Arbor area, Detroit and New York City.

Inquiries regarding types of service, fees and appointments may be made by telephone, 662-4534 or in person at the agency.

Dr. Jacobs' wife, Rachel, is a school social worker with the Detroit Board of Education. They have one son and four grandchildren.

AGA CERTIFICATION

The A. G. A. certification seal on gas appliances indicates that an appliance design has complied with standards of the United States of America Standards Institute for safety, performance and durability. All ovens, broilers and burners of certified range light without matches. If the oven or broiler pilot goes out a control automatically shuts off the gas supply to the oven or broiler burner. This safety feature is the same for all other appliances that light automatically.

Research Project Seeks To Reduce Number of Cracked Turkey Eggs

Better turkey cages could mean fewer bad eggs, more turkey on the table and more money for hatcherymen.

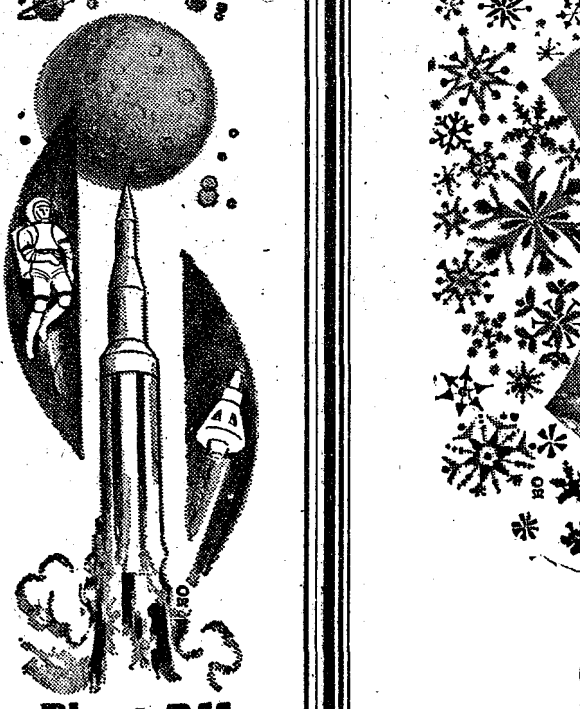

Michigan hatcheries have long been plagued by high percentages of cracked turkey eggs. A change of laying cage design, under study at Michigan State University, may go a long way toward reducing the problem.

Poultry scientist John Wolford, working with MSU agricultural engineers, developed the new cage floor, which is coated with shock absorbing rubber.

"Turkey hens stand up straight when they lay eggs," said Wolford. "This means that the eggs fall a long way, and those with weaker shells are often damaged."

Variations on the cage floor idea are still being tested, but original models have reduced the percentage of cracked eggs by as much as 50 percent.

Lake Michigan Sportcatch Hits New High

Lansing—Lake Michigan's sport fishermen never had it so good as they did this season when they caught an estimated 175,000 coho and chinook with a total weight figured by the Department of Natural Resources to approve 2 million pounds.

This season's estimated salmon sport take from the lake and its tributaries is based on a creel census conducted by the DNR.

It is substantially higher than last year's harvest and completely dwarfs angler returns on the Lake Michigan front in 1967, the first wild year for runs of mature coho in this state.

In 1968, Lake Michigan anglers landed an estimated 100,000 salmon. During the history-making season before that they took about 35,000 coho.

Figures from the DNR's creel census this season indicate that 132,000 coho, estimated to weigh 1,250,000 pounds, were caught by Lake Michigan's sport fishermen. Added to those impressive figures are 43,000 chinook weighing an estimated 650,000 pounds, the first angler returns on adult "Kings" from Lake Michigan.

Of the 175,000 salmon taken by anglers, nearly half were caught in Lake Michigan streams where state fisheries men believe the harvest was boosted by the DNR's relaxed regulations on foul hooking.

PROPER GROUNDING NECESSARY

By using electric tools with third-wire grounding or approved double insulation, the danger of electric shock will be greatly reduced, advises the Michigan Bureau of Safety and Regulation.

UNPLUG BEFORE REPAIRING

Don't attempt to adjust or repair electric tools while they are plugged in, warns the Michigan Bureau of Safety and Regulation.

Farm Abundance Not Automatic But Result of Work

Agricultural abundance is not automatic but it is a product of the farmers' skill, hard work and large initial investment, according to Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin.

"Farm and city people are probably more dependent upon each other now than at any previous time," he said. Secretary Hardin noted that manufacturing the supplies and the equipment used by farmers creates jobs for 1.1 million workers in towns and cities. The hauling, storing, processing, marketing and selling of the products of agriculture creates jobs for another 10.7 million workers.

Hardin, a former dean of agriculture at Michigan State University, said "It is important that we emphasize to the American consumer that agricultural abundance is not automatic, but that it is the product of farmers' skill, hard work, and the large capital investment."

"The average consumer needs to realize the direct interest he has in helping to maintain a strong, stable, productive and prosperous agriculture; he needs to understand how sound farm programs promote a strong agriculture and how strong farm agriculture is basic to a national economy of abundance."

"As more and more of our people come to depend on fewer and fewer farmers for their most basic economic needs, the importance of the individual family farm will grow even greater."

Display house plants in a graduated step arrangement. Keep one plant at floor level, raise the second on a pedestal or an inverted clay pot, and top the arrangement with a third plant on a table or window ledge surface. Keep all the plants in red clay containers, with matching saucers. They are best for plant health, and don't distract from the fresh, living appearance of potted greenery or flowers.

Area Lutheran Churches Combine for Holiday Services

St. Thomas Lutheran church and Zion Lutheran church (Rogers Corners) will hold a joint New Year's Eve service at 7:30 p.m. on New Year's Eve at St. Thomas. The combined choirs from the two churches will sing during the service. Pastor Daniel Mattson from St. Thomas will be the liturgist, and Pastor John Morris from Zion Lutheran will present the sermon. This service, along with a joint Christmas service held last week, marks the establishment of fellowship between the two congregations.

Altar and pulpit fellowship between the American Lutheran church, of which Zion is a member congregation, and the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, of which St. Thomas is a member, was declared by the two synods during this past fall. The declaration of altar and pulpit fellowship is a result of the recognition that the two synods are in essential agreement on matters of doctrine and practice.

Zion and St. Thomas have existed as congregations for a combined period of nearly 225 years. Although there has been occasional contact between the two congregations, the declaration of altar and pulpit fellowship makes a regular program of co-operation possible. The Christmas candlelight service, first of the joint efforts, was held Christmas Eve at Zion Lutheran church. Pastor Morris was the liturgist, while Pastor Mattson presented the sermon. The New Year's Eve service will be at St. Thomas, located at 10001 W. Ellsworth Rd. The public is invited to attend.

Both pastors have expressed hope that all Lutherans in Washtenaw county will seek out ways of sharing the unity which they enjoy. Pastor Mattson commented, "The practice of fellowship between the American Lutheran Church and the Missouri Synod points out how God's love and forgiveness creates unity which transcends all man-made obstacles." Pastor Morris in a similar spirit said, "We look forward to closer co-operation between our two congregations and our two synods. The Church can only become stronger as the barriers which keep people apart are broken down."

Things left undone in 1969 do not disappear when a new date appears on the calendar. The wise man will begin the New Year with a fair appraisal of himself and the world in which he lives. A New Year is born January 1; yet we as individuals enter this new era essentially the same—with the same strength, with the same weaknesses.

The best beginning for a New Year is the simple resolution that one shall make a better effort to be a better person, to live a better life. If such a resolution is fulfilled, 1970 will be a year of success and achievement.

Witnesses To Attend Battle Creek Sessions

The Chelsea Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses was informed this week about a three-day training program to be held at the W. K. Kellogg Auditorium, Battle Creek, Jan. 16-17-18. The announcement was made by Raymond P. Tyskiewicz, Sr., presiding minister of the group.

Plans to attend the three-day conference will include the Chelsea Congregation, along with 16 other congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in southern Michigan. Forthcoming arrangements will require the cancellation of all local mid-week and week-end meetings during the time of the Battle Creek sessions.
