Rattlesnake Killed On Clear Lake Rd.

A massasauga rattlesnake was spotted on Clear Lake Rd., Thursday night, Aug. 13, by Ed Beissel, 2250 McKinley Rd. The snake, approximately 3 1/2 feet long with four or five rattles, had been hit in the head by a car. It was still alive when Beissel examined it, but died shortly afterward.

Chelsea Girls Score High in Track Meet

Four Chelsea girls earned trophies in the Taylor Township Track Meet, Saturday, Aug. 15.

Janet Sibley set the record of fastest ever run by a Chelsea girl with a 1:27.7 anchor leg on the medley relay. She also ran the second place 440 relay and made a high jump of 4 feet 10 inches.

Bonnie Wengren was second in discus with a throw of 78 feet 8 inches, and placed fourth in the 100-yard dash. She ran the lead off leg of the winning mile relay with a very good time of 64 seconds, and ran the second place 440 relay.

Peggy Kraai placed third in the 100-yard dash and ran the winning medley relay.

Pat Poetner placed fifth in the 100-yard dash and ran the winning medley relay.

The girls were competing for the Wolverine Parkettes Track Club, U. S. cross country champions in both girls' and women's divisions. Bonnie Wengren will be running on their cross country team this year and will have a chance to place in the nationals.

This fall, the girls will compete in three local cross country meets at Chelsea.

Jaycees Operating Dunk Tank at Fair

A once-a-year opportunity to dunk your friends and neighbors will be presented by the Jaycees at the Chelsea Community Fair again this year.

Area businessmen and Chelsea High school cheerleaders will take their chances as sitting ducks on Aug. 25-29. A fun, if wet, time is expected by all.

Paul Maurer, 224 Jefferson St., is in room F-9339 of University Hospital. Friends wishing to visit Paul should follow the arrow to 9-Private on his floor.

CAROLYN K. WILKERSON, daughter of Mrs. Norma Wilkerson, Spring Lake Dr., and Kenneth Wilkerson, 611 N. Main, received her Bachelor of Science in Nursing from the University of Michigan, Aug. 9. Miss Wilkerson, a 1966 graduate of Chelsea High school, is a member of Sigma Theta Tau, national honor society in nursing. She has accepted a position in pediatric nursing at the University of Colorado Medical Center, Denver.

Arson, False Alarm Keep Firemen Busy

An abandoned house and house trailer belonging to John Simpson, 221 Washington St., were almost totally destroyed by the time the Fire Department was called to them at 3:50 a.m., Tuesday, Aug. 18. Firemen found some clues that indicated an arson, but it has not been determined who set the blaze.

At 7:23 p.m. the previous evening, a Buick station wagon owned by Harry Morrison, 208 Wood Court, Wilmette, Ill., was damaged by fire caused by an overheated wheel bearing on I-94.

A false alarm summoning the department to a non-existent fire in Lanewood was received Friday, Aug. 14 at 8:51 p.m. The caller gave the name of another person and an address different from that of the name he gave. As yet, the caller has not been identified.

Bike Safety Day Planned For Saturday

Chelsea Jaycees are sponsoring a Bicycle Safety Day, Saturday, Aug. 22, at the Beach Junior High school. Starting at 9 a.m., with the licensing and repair of bicycles, the Jaycees will pursue a busy day that promises to be fun and rewarding.

Bicycles which need repair prior to the day's activities may be brought to the grounds the day of the events. Any child who has a bicycle in need of a part, should bring the part along, and local Jaycees will install it. Any bicycle that is registered with the Chelsea Police Department will be repaired free of cost at that time.

Starting at 12:30, the Jaycees will move into a round of contests that will be both challenging and fun.

There are four age groups for the competition: sixth graders and older will form one group. A second group will consist of fourth and fifth graders. Second and third graders will be a third group, and anyone who is in the first grade, or younger, may compete in the fourth group.

Contests will be held in each age group, and will include five different activities.

The first contest will be a braking contest. The contestant must coast a bit, and then brake. The shortest stopping distances will win.

A second contest will feature balance. The contestant must balance on his bicycle for a slow ride. It's a real "look ma, no hands!" contest. The person with the longest time wins.

Steering one's bicycle through an obstacle course is the third race. The cyclist who is fastest at this game wins.

And, of course, a contest wouldn't be a contest without an old-fashioned, beat 'em to the gate, race. Fastest time wins.

There's even something for the bright, but uncoordinated contestant. A quiz on bicycle safety, proper signaling, and so forth, will be the last, and not at all the least of the day's activities. There will be a prize awarded to the person who performs best in this category, as well as a prize for runner-up.

Two Boxcars Flip Off Tracks Early Thursday

Two boxcars of the Penn Central Railroad flipped off the tracks west of the Cleveland St. crossing Thursday, Aug. 13, at 8:20 a.m.

According to railroad spokesman Robert Devine, a shifted load in one of the cars caused the accident. The load apparently shifted east of here, and the car began to lean as the westbound train passed through town at 55 mph.

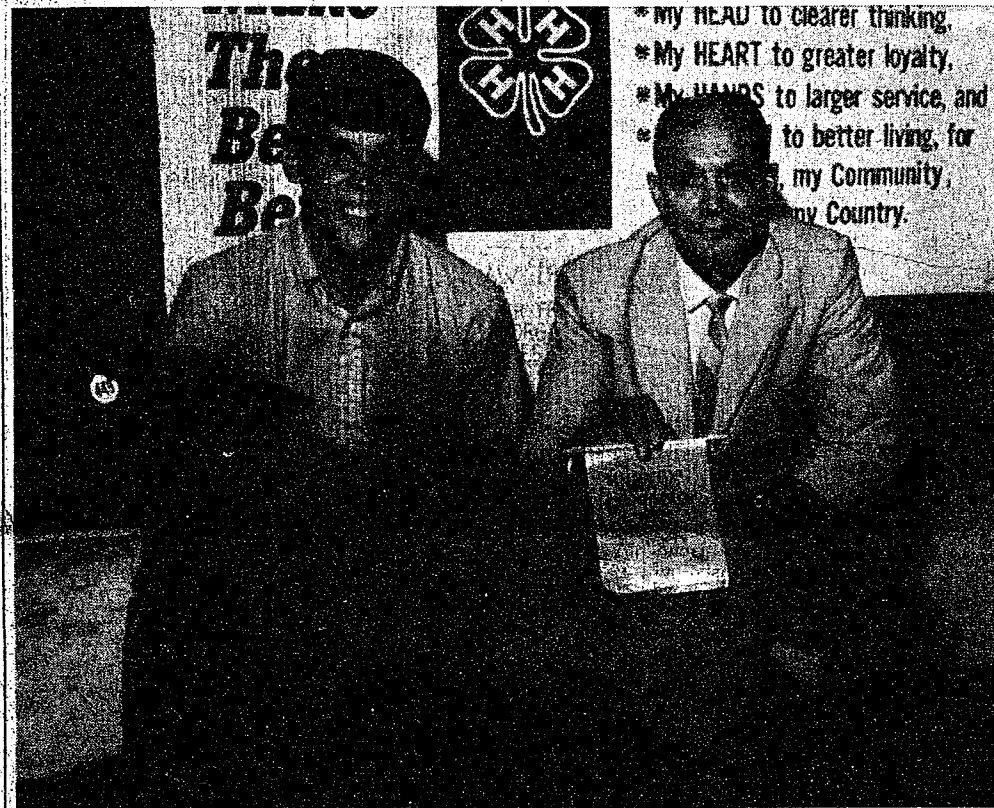

No one was injured, and westbound traffic was diverted to the eastbound track until the track was cleared at 9:30 p.m. One boxcar which could not be moved back onto the track has been righted and will be removed by the railroad.

Kid's Day Starts Festivities

Five fun-packed days for area residents begin Tuesday, Aug. 25, with Children's Day, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea.

The Kiwanis Club project, chaired by Dr. Gene T. Miller, is providing all the prize money for a day that promises to be a child's or an adult's dream come true.

Fairgoers will see exhibits on display and enjoy rides and concessions by Ingalls Amusement in the afternoon. Children will ride at reduced rates. The afternoon will be topped off with a bicycle give-away for boys and girls.

Visiting Artist Finds Chelsea Interesting

Chelsea, citizens may take the depot building pretty much for granted, but to artist Daniel Passino it's an excellent subject for a painting.

Passino, 4142 Drummond Rd., Toledo, O., calls himself "a part-time painter and a full-time painter." His works, both watercolors and oils, include landscapes and street scenes, and he has done pastel portraits at the Ann Arbor street fair for the past six years.

During the past week you may have seen Passino working on watercolors at different places in Chelsea. He came here at the suggestion of Mrs. George Frisinger, co-owner of the Chelsea Art Center, S. Main at Old US-12, who met him three years ago at the Dundee Art Fair and invited him to visit the gallery, an outlet for local artists within a 150-mile radius.

Turner Renews Friendships While Delayed in Petersburg

Don Turner dates his eighth letter from Petersburg, Alaska, Aug. 1. He writes:

Dear Readers:
I arrived in Petersburg on the Alaska ferry Taku, Tuesday, July 28. I guess it was lucky for me that I had planned a stop here, as the ferry ran aground at Prince Rupert, B. C., and quite a bit of damage was done to the ship, as well as to the camper trailers. A few of the people on board were injured.

At this time I don't have the report as to what caused the accident, but apparently the skipper of the ship missed a channel marker and the ship ran aground (was right up in the trees) on an island or peninsula. All the passengers were evacuated. At high tide, three tugs pulled her free. Her fuel tanks were ruptured and she had several holes in her bow. She will be out of commission for about two months.

There are three of these ferries, all alike. They resemble ocean liners, and carry about 100 cars and 500 passengers each. They run between Prince Rupert, B. C., and Skagway, Alaska. After the tourist season, however, they run down to Seattle, Wash.

The first three ships built and put into action were the Taku, Matanuska, and the Matishpa. The fourth ship to be put into service is the Wicksham, a foreign built ship. Foreign built ships can't pick up and discharge passengers within Alaska, so the Wicksham is limited to her use, and due to her build, she can only load at three ports along the Marine Highway, as this ferry system is called.

The loss of the Taku is going to present some problems to me in getting down to Prince Rupert, B. C. from here. The ferries are crowded now, this being the height of the tourist season. With the Taku out of commission, it puts more load on the other two ferries that can dock here. So I may be here for some time.

I can't think, though, of a better place to be stranded than in Petersburg. It is a pretty little town of 1,500 to 2,000 people. The town grew around a cannery built here in 1898 by a Norwegian named Peter Bushmann, and many local residents were born in Norway.

The economy is based on fish, crab, and shrimp fishing, with some logging done in the area. The people are friendly and fishing is the main topic of conversation. When the fishing fleet is in port, the town is really hopping, as most of the crew goes out on a spree. I stopped here on my first trip to Alaska, and made a number of friends, so it's like going home to look up some of my old buddies! Dave Omer, Bill Lane, Charlie Enes, and my friends, Captain Roland and Helen Burrows, owners and operators of the ship, Blue Star.

The Blue Star is a catamaran steel double-hulled ship, built by Captain Burrows. It is the only ship in the area that is able to navigate among the huge icebergs of LeConte Bay, where the large LeConte glaciers dump thousands of tons of ice into narrow fjords that gradually meet as they drift out toward Aurangell Narrows.

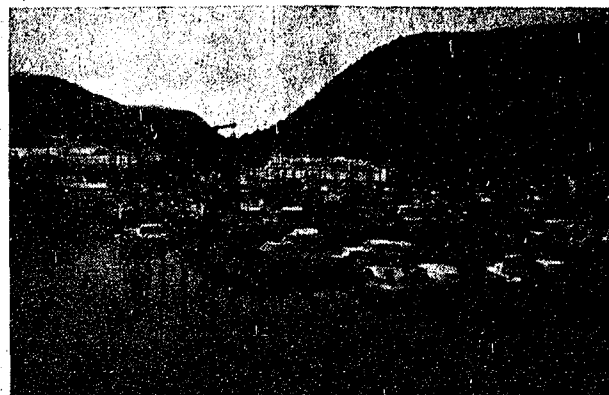

goats are sighted on the cliffs, towering above. Bears are often seen on the shore, and hundreds of harbor seals go slithering off the ice flows, and swim about the ship.

Captain Burrows: nosed the Blue Star up on a rock, so I could step ashore and take pictures as he maneuvered among the icebergs. To climax the tour, Helen Burrows serves a very delicious dinner on the return trip to Petersburg, which is a distance of about 25 miles.

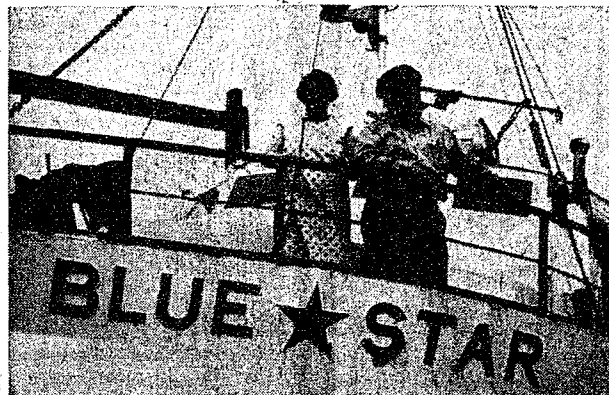

The Blue Star may be chartered for other events, such as brown and black bear hunting, and for fishing, during the hunting season, and off tourist months.

I highly recommend a stop at Petersburg for anyone traveling through southeast Alaska, especially the LeConte Bay tour with Captain and Helen Burrows, and the Blue Star.

Another must on your stop at Petersburg is the Beachcomber restaurant and bar, owned and operated by Biarne and Alma Waller. Here one gets real Norwegian hospitality. The food is excellently prepared in a spotless kitchen and served by a really friendly waitress. The whole place is artistically decorated in a rustic setting overlooking the Aurangell Narrows.

The walls and some of the tables are done in worm-eaten Sitka spruce and yellow cedar, forming an artistic pattern that is hard to describe. This worm-eaten paneling was sawed from logs sunk in Aurangell Narrows for a time and then sawed before the seaworms devoured the seaworms devoured by accident, but the imagination and artistic abilities of these charming people helped them turn the logs into a beautiful place. It is located about your miles out from downtown Petersburg, a real hide-away.

I must be running along now, as it is time for the ferry, and I hope to get aboard. The next article will be on the Canadian Northwest.

Your Northern Reporter, Don Turner.

Washington Report

By Cong. Marvin Esch

This nation has been unduly slow in extending voting rights to all its citizens. Yet, it has steadily moved in that direction, a remarkable tribute to the belief of Americans in the democratic process.

The latest in a long-line of extensions came recently when Congress lowered the voting age to 18 for all federal, state and local elections. As usual when something so fundamental as voting laws are altered, there was a great feeling of trepidation among many people. Nonetheless, and at a time when national polls revealed unrest among the young, as the nation's most perplexing problem, the Congress and the President took this historic step.

At the same time, Congress provided for a uniform 30-day residence requirement for voting for President and Vice President. This means that many people previously squeezed out of their voting rights by inordinately long residency requirements, frequent occurrence in our mobile society, will now be able to exercise their franchise in national elections.

Several other notable voting extensions have occurred in this century. In 1920 women were finally granted their voting rights, to double the number of franchised citizens in the United States.

During World War II, military personnel and civilians serving with the Armed Forces were permitted to vote by absentee ballot for the first time. This right was permitted to lapse after the war but was reinstated in 1955 in a combined move by Congress and the states.

The Voting Rights Act of 1965, which generally forbade use of spurious means to deny Negroes their voting rights, was another remarkable stride forward.

That leaves one significant group to go: residents of the District of Columbia. They can vote for President, Vice President, and their own school board, but they have no representation in Congress and cannot choose their own city officials. Since coming to Congress more than three years ago full voting rights for District residents has been one of my chief goals.

Farm youngsters will receive more recognition at the 1970 Michigan State Fair, with their own Junior Show. The fair runs from Aug. 28 through Sept. 7 at the Fairgrounds in Detroit.

Mrs. James M. Wheeler

Sharon Wing, James Wheeler
Are Wed at Methodist Church

The Dexter Methodist church was the scene for the marriage of Sharon Louise Wing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy H. Wing of 5351 Dexter Rd., Ann Arbor, and James M. Wheeler, Saturday, Aug. 15. The Rev. Wm. J. Rosenbury officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Patrick J. Doody of Dexter, the vocalist, sang "The Lord's Prayer," and was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. John North.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Charles Wiedman, Sr., and the late Ray Wheeler.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length white Chantilly lace over silk tulle designed with long, full sleeves. The neck, bodice and cuffs were trimmed with a Venice lace band. A large satin bow held the shoulder-length veil of silk illusion and she carried a white bible topped with an arrangement of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Diane M. Wing, sister of the bride, the maid of honor, and Mrs. Craig Sayers of Dexter, the matron of honor, wore identical gowns in yellow tulle with lace bell sleeves and a back panel of lace. Their headpieces were yellow net veils with matching bows and they carried natural wicker baskets of green and yellow daisies and yellow sweetheart roses.

Miss Martha Isbell of Ypsilanti, and Miss Carlie Cosgray of Gregory, niece of the bridegroom, were the bridesmaids. They wore gowns and carried flowers identical to those of the maid and matron of honor in light green tulle with matching green veils.

Miss Bonnie Wheeler of Owosso, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl and was dressed in green. Andrew Livermore of Grass Lake, nephew of the bridegroom, carried the rings.

Harvey Wheeler of Owosso, served as best man for his brother.

When the newlyweds return from a trip to Mackinac Island, they will reside at 9275 Huron River Dr.

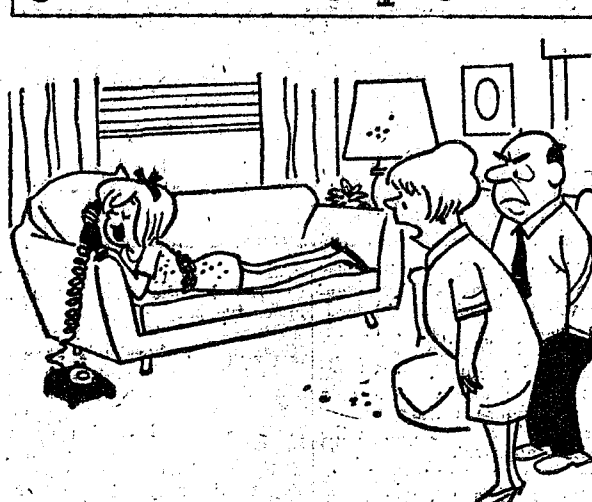

For traveling, the bride wore a white, long sleeve dress with appliqued red and blue flowers, a sleeveless navy blue coat with navy accessories and a white rose corsage.

The new Mrs. Wheeler, a graduate of Dexter High school, attended Washtenaw Community College and plans to attend Eastern Michigan University this fall.

A graduate of Dexter High school, the bridegroom is employed by Cribley Well Drilling of Dexter.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

When God created the universe and the things in it, He provided protection for the lowly, slow moving turtle. In modern language, we might even call it a form of social security. God gave the turtle a shell for his house, a protection against elements and enemies. The turtle has only to put his neck out to eat. Far more important, though, is the thought that even the turtle MUST stick his neck out to go forward.

God made the eagle too. The eagle roams and soars through spacious skies. Without being told, the eagle instinctively builds a home on high mountain peaks. Miles mean nothing when with strong, undaunted courage, the eagle flies through and fights storms, snow and wind when winging for food.

The turtle has its place and purpose. But, isn't it significant and shouldn't we be proud that the eagle, not the turtle, is the emblem of America? Incidentally, whether you agree or disagree with this or any other comment you read in these articles, feel free and welcome to phone or write us about your thoughts... Too Many Cooks

There is the old adage concerning the fact that too many cooks ruin the soup.

While perhaps a plenitude of cooks did not entirely bring the Penn-Central Railroad to its financial knees, there now seems ample evidence that they were not overly helpful.

It is, of course, a shock, and one that sends out recurring shock waves when anything as big as the sixth largest corporation in the country goes into bankruptcy.

Perhaps in the fullness of time there will develop some substantiation of the charges that incompetent management played a large part.

But before this is done, perhaps it is well to seek to define the management.

There are perhaps few industries that are as closely supervised as railroads. And perhaps any management restrained by too much supervision is bound to fail.

The Federal Interstate Commerce is the main Big Brother of railroading, but in addition every state has its own version of a railroad commission that also gets in management hair.

In addition, every

THE LANSING REPORT

FROM
GIL BURSLEY

In quick action during its brief August session, the Michigan Senate moved into the national leadership position in terms of environmental legislation.

Three major bills were passed by the Senate and are expected to receive House concurrence of Senate amendments, as well as the Governor's approval.

House Bill 4021 will accelerate enforcement of our water pollution laws by making voluntary agreements for pollution abatement between the Water Resources Commission and polluters enforceable in court. This bill contains the "Truth-in-Pollution" provision requiring mandatory reporting of all objectionable materials which are discharged into our waters. This provision will help eliminate the danger that large amounts of materials, such as Mercury, will contaminate our environment. Cost of the expanded surveillance program will be borne in part by the dischargers who make the program necessary.

Senate Bill 1574 will establish Great Lakes shorelands as a natural resource for Michigan. The bill also provides for shoreland zoning by local units of government to control erosion damage, subject to minimum restrictions, with provisions for state assumption of the responsibility if it is not exercised at the local level. Further, the bill provides for a comprehensive shoreland plan for Michigan and engineering studies to evaluate erosion factors.

The third bill authorizes the Natural Resources Commission to establish a system of designated wild, scenic, and recreation rivers. Such river areas, including tributaries and small lakes, must possess outstanding water conservation, scenic, fish, wildlife, historic or recreational values and local units of government are encouraged to zone or otherwise establish controls on lands adjacent to the designated natural rivers. Prior to designating a river as a "natural river," the Commission will hold public hearings. The state would, of course, co-operate with the federal government in the administration of rivers which may be designated under the federal wild and scenic rivers act.

These three bills, together with the recent enactment of Public Act 127 of 1970, which allows private individuals to sue corporations and government agencies guilty of polluting the environment, puts the state of Michigan in the forefront in the attack on pollution.

We are moving ahead to protect our environment and to live up to our state motto: "If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look about you."

Senators Keep Busy Even During Time Legislature Is Not in Session

When the state legislature ends a session, it does not mean that individual senators stop working. In fact, in some instances, it may mean even more work for senators.

Take the case of Sen. Gilbert E. Bursley (R-Ann Arbor), for instance.

When the legislature is in session, he is busy with debate on the floor and is chairman of the Senate Standing Committee on Corporations and Economic Development, vice-chairman of the Education Committee, and member of the Commerce, Senate Business and Interstate Co-operation Committees.

Temporarily, he does not have to worry about floor debate because the legislature will not be back in session until Sept. 15.

But in addition to carry-over work on his standing committees, Sen. Bursley has five assignments this year on Senate interim committees, which are studying such varied subjects as mass transportation, population growth, the Michigan probate code, airports and air transportation, and campus unrest.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q. I occasionally entertain customers by taking them on a fishing trip. Can I deduct anything for the cost of operating my boat?

A. Unless you use the boat more than half the time for business purposes, only gasoline, oil, and other out-of-pocket expenses incurred during the trip for it may be deducted.

If the boat was used more than 50 percent for business, a portion of your costs of operating the boat, such as depreciation, repairs and general operating expenses, may be taken as a business expense. Records showing the date of each business use, number of persons entertained and similar information must be kept to substantiate that the boat was used more than 50 percent for business use.

Q. My college says in a brochure it sent me that if I make a charitable donation of stock on which I show a profit, I won't have to pay any tax on that profit. Is that right?

A. Yes, a tax deduction may be taken for the full market value of the stock on the date the donation was made. And there would be no income tax on the increase in value.

Q. Does the taxpayer get paid any interest on the amount due him when the government is late issuing an income tax refund?

A. Yes, interest is added to overpayments that are not refunded within 45 days of the due date of the return or the date the return is filed, whichever is later. The interest rate is six percent per year.

Q. Of the total 126,315 shareholders of Detroit Edison stock at the end of 1969, 85,197 lived in Michigan and 72,140 of those are Edison customers.

The Governor has also asked Senator Bursley to serve on a special New Towns Committee which is studying the pros and cons of one or more "new towns" in Southeastern Michigan.

A record 100 million kilowatts of new generating capacity is on order and scheduled for operation in the U. S. during 1966 through 1970 and later. This is greater than all the electric utility capacity in service at the end of 1969. Consumers Power Co. is constructing a nuclear power plant 35 miles west of Kalamazoo which will 000 kilowatts.

Former Vice-President, Panel Will Discuss China in the '70's

East Lansing—The Beaux-Arts String Quartet of New York, gives "A Concert at the Vineyard," Sunday, Aug. 23, at 2 p.m. on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

This Sunday afternoon concert was given before a capacity audience of 900 at the historic Paul Masson Winery near Saratoga, Calif., during the 1968 "Music at the Vineyard" series. Founded in 1958, the summer series of outdoor concerts is performed in a small amphitheater in front of the winery overlooking the Santa Clara Valley.

The Beaux-Arts String Quartet has won unanimous acclaim throughout the United States, Europe and the Far East. For three consecutive seasons, the group was quartet-in-residence at the Festival of Two Worlds in Spoleto, Italy, and gave highly praised concerts in Paris, Berlin, Brussels, Cologne and Salzburg. It was also the only American representative at the Osaka Festival in Japan.

For this concert, the Quartet performs Prokofiev's Quartet No. 2 in F Major (Opus 92), Mozart's Quartet in B Flat, K. 458 ("The Hunt"), and with Nina Lugovoy as guest pianist, Dvorak's Quintet in A Major (Opus 81).

"NET Journal" brings together former Vice-President Hubert Humphrey and four Asian affairs specialists for a view of "China in the '70s," Sunday, Aug. 23, at 4:30 p.m. and Friday, Aug. 28, at 12 noon.

Once feared by Americans as the "yellow peril," Communist China today is viewed with less trepidation. On this program, the panel speculates on whether this change in attitude may be attributed to a muting of its polemics by the Chinese or to a riddance of what one China expert terms America's "neurosis about China."

Joining Humphrey in a look at China's role in world politics are Ezra Vogel and James Thomson of Harvard University, John Lewis of Stanford University, and Donald Zagoria of Hunter College.

MUSICAL COMPUTER—

The sound of the future mixes with the sound of Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops on "Evening at Pops," Sunday, Aug. 23, at 10 p.m.

Joining the Pops is the Moog Synthesizer, a musical computer developed by Gershon Kingsley. The computer is capable of reproducing almost every sound.

The concert includes the world premiere of Kingsley's "Concerto Moogo," selections from Handel's "The Water Music" and another Moog piece called "Popcorn." The Pops round out the concert with Saint-Saens, Brahms and music from "West Side Story."

ISLAM—

"NET Festival" explores the history and beliefs of Islam, the fastest growing religion in the world, on "In the Name of Allah," Sunday, Aug. 23, at 3:30 p.m. and Tuesday, Aug. 25, at 12 noon.

Islam, with 600 million believers spread over 26 nations from Morocco to Malaysia, rivals Catholicism as the world's largest religion. Yet, for the most part, people of the Western World know very little, if anything, about it.

Using recitations from the Koranic scriptures which govern all human experiences, and the city of Mecca as a model community, this program follows major events and daily rituals in the life of Muslim.

Studying the education of Muslim youths, the program guides viewers through the mosques, temples and universities of Mecca for a look at the city's architecture and art. Cameras witness birth, circumcision, confirmation, marriage, divorce and death, plus the rituals and ceremonies surrounding each.

You've been spending $2.64 a day to keep the war going.

If you're the head of an average American family, you paid approximately $600 of your tax money last year for the war in Southeast Asia. And inflation, caused by the war, meant you were out another $350. That works out to about $2.64 a day out of your pocket.

If you find it hard to make it financially these days, the answer's simple: you're buying a war!

But there is something you can do. Your Senator is going to have to vote on an amendment called "The Amendment to End the War." It's sponsored by U.S. Senators McGovern, Hatfield, Goodell, Hughes, and Cranston and supported by 19 others, so far. It puts some rational brakes on the war. It does it in a lawful, orderly way. Through your elected representative.

And all you have to do is write your Senator, care of the Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. Just say "I can't buy the war any more. Please vote for The Amendment to End the War." Write your representative, care of the House Office Building, and urge him to vote for the House version of the amendment.

And if you have a spare dollar, send it to The Amendment to End the War, Box 1 A, Benjamin Franklin Station, Washington, D.C. 20044. It will help us print more ads like this one.

If you don't have a spare dollar, have courage. We're working on it.

Now spend 6¢ and try to end it.

Dear Senator;
Please vote for

Standards include existence of a planned program for both troop and patrol; executed program for patrols; correct pitching and rolling of tents; and proper food handling and clean-up. Educational Loans Now Available Through FHA

Washington—Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) today announced that the Michigan Rural Rehabilitation Corp. has received federal approval to establish an educational loan program.

The program will provide loans of up to $1,000 a year at six percent interest to children of families which receive some income from farming, Hart said.

"The amount of an individual loan will depend on the degree of need of the applicant," he explained.

Loans may be used for any type of continuing education program, Hart said.

Applications should be sent to Nyle Katz, Executive Director, Michigan Rural Rehabilitation Corporation, 150 1/2 W. Michigan Ave., Marshall 49088.

Hart praised the initiative of the corporation's board of directors in finding a creative way to help the children of farm families. "The corporation was founded in 1933 to help rehabilitate poor farm families. These activities were assumed by the Farmers Home Administration in 1947.

However, the corporation, by keeping administrative expenses to a minimum and by reinvesting its unused funds, built savings of about $900,000.

Last December, the board of directors, headed by Floyd Matthesen, of Benton Harbor, president, voted to investigate ways "to put the money to good use."

The board came up with the idea of the educational loan program, and last week the Farmers Home Administration, which must approve any major expenditure, gave the plan its approval.

Mrs. Kenneth Duane Blaess

Roxanne Shears, Kenneth Blaess Wed at Congregational Church

Roxanne Colleen Shears and Kenneth Duane Blaess were united in marriage on Aug. 15 in an early candlelight ceremony at the First Congregational church of Chelsea. One hundred and fifty guests attended the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Daniel Kellin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland DeVoe of 19501 Old US-12. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Blaess of 730 Taylor St.

Vocalist was Bruce Galbraith, singing "A Time for Us," "One Hand, One Heart," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride wore a bouffant gown, fashioned of Chantilly lace with a fitted bodice and Sabrina neckline. Her trumpet sleeves were scattered with sequins, and a white sash with streamers decorated the waistline. She wore a matching cathedral-length mantilla secured with a lace-covered Juliet cap and carried a Roman-style bouquet of tropicanna and yellow roses with white roses and carnations.

Fall Lawn Care Should Start in August

East Lansing—Fertilization and dethatching in early September and removal of leaves soon after they fall are critical to good fall lawn care, contends Dr. James Beard, Michigan State University turfgrass researcher.

Fertilization in early September will enhance turfgrass growth during the cooler temperatures of the fall and insure maximum recovery from any thinning caused by heat, drought and diseases, Beard says.

"But you should avoid late fall fertilization, because it stimulates growth of leaf tissues and increases the chances for winter injury by low temperature, desiccation (drying up) and snow mold diseases," warns Beard.

"You can fertilize after grass growth has ceased without reducing winter hardiness. This practice will stimulate your early spring growth."

Dethatching of turfgrass areas is best practiced in late August or early September in order to allow enough time for the turf to recover during the fall. Steps should be taken to remove thatch, the accumulation of dead grass stems and roots, whenever the accumulation exceeds 1/2 inch on Kentucky bluegrass.

Beard says removal of thatch will help prevent disease and damage from heat, drought and cold.

During late fall, leaves should be removed immediately from turfgrass areas, Beard adds. This is particularly important for grasses growing under shaded conditions, because the leaves can screen out available light and cause thinning of the turf.

LAUNDRY PROBLEMS?

If you do only a small amount of laundry each week, a do-it-yourself commercial laundry may be more economical than your own laundering equipment. Research showed it costs a person about 67 cents a load to use a commercial laundry, including the price of laundry aids. At home, costs varied with the number of loads a homemaker did in a week's time. Three loads cost about 75 cents a load. Only after five loads did the price per load go below that at the self-service laundry.

Want to make a "blue ribbon" pie for your family? To do so I would suggest you start with a flaky, fork tender "JIFFY" pie shell and use a chocolate chiffon filling. A sure winner!

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON PIE (6 servings)

- 1 eight or nine inch baked "JIFFY" pie shell
 - 1 package "JIFFY" Fudge Frosting Mix
 - 1 1/2 cups whipping cream
 - 1 package unflavored gelatin
 - 3/4 cup cold water
 - 1 cup sliced almonds, if desired.
1. Chill frosting mix and cream about 1 hour in small mixer bowl.
 2. Soften gelatin in water; dissolve over hot water. Cool to room temperature.
 3. Beat chilled frosting mixture just until it starts to thicken. Gradually add gelatin. Beat until stiff.
 4. Fold in almonds and mound mixture into pie shell. Chill until firm.

FLOOR REFINISHING

If floor refinishing is on your agenda, remember that many solvent vapors are inflammable. If you are using any products which contain volatile solvents, use caution. Avoid using electrical equipment that hasn't been checked for non-sparking operation. Be sure to turn off pilot light on stoves and furnaces. Open all doors to disperse solvent vapors.

The truth is the ultimate goal of all mankind, and is worth the effort to obtain it.

MOST BAD BREATH CAN BE CONTROLLED

Once considered an almost unmentionable subject, bad breath is now more openly discussed. There are many possible causes of bad breath and therefore many different ways to control it. If it is a problem stemming from a condition in the mouth your dentist can suggest an effective method to lessen or even eliminate it. Certain mouth washes and other products can be useful in everyday care.

Other causes of bad breath can come from the stomach or lungs and in some cases has been related to emotional stress. Once the cause has been determined a way can usually be found to stop it. Do not be afraid to discuss bad breath with your physician or dentist.

Out-of-Season Coon Hunters Apprehended

Two out-of-season raccoon hunters were apprehended Wednesday, Aug. 12 after a complaint of barking dogs and shooting was phoned in to Conservation Officer Don Boyer from an unidentified lady at Half Moon Lake.

While investigating the 3 a.m. call, Boyer located a car on Hank Rd., Dexter township. He was approached by three men with dogs who claimed they had been running fox. None of the men carried a gun.

Suspicious, Boyer traced drops of water from the men's hip boots into the woods and found a freshly-killed raccoon behind a tree. He then called the police, and Chelsea Officer MacDougall held the men while Boyer conducted a half hour search before finding the gun.

Pleading guilty before Judge Patrick J. Conlin, Chelsea, to killing a raccoon during closed season were Earl E. Pitts, 43, and George Goldston, 48, both of Inkster. Pitts received $50 fine and costs and $5 restitution for the raccoon. Goldston received $50 fine and costs. The third man pleaded not guilty by reason of being an innocent bystander, and the case was dismissed.

Home Delivery Of Mail May Be Possible

"A new postal regulation means home mail delivery to many rural and small town Americans for the first time," Congressman Marvin L. Esch (R-Mich.) said today. The rule applies to communities with a population of less than 2,500 persons which have a first-, second- or third-class post office.

"In our district of Michigan," he said, "this means an added number of people in such communities as Fowlerville, Pinckney, Clinton, Onsted, Britton, Carleton, Petersburg, Dexter, and Manchester can get home delivery."

Under previous rules, only persons who lived at least a half mile from post offices in such communities were eligible for rural delivery service. Residents who lived less than a half mile away had to pick up their own mail at the post office. Now, the minimum distance for home delivery has been cut from a half mile to a quarter mile.

Said Esch, "For the past three years we have been concerned with this problem. Several constituents in Lenawee and Livingston counties, in particular, asked me to work for broadened home delivery service. Several such requests were made to me during my public office hours held in these counties. Since I, along with other Congressmen, have worked for greater coverage, I am particularly pleased with this new policy."

"I am pleased primarily because many people who found it a hardship to travel back and forth from their home to the post office can now receive their mail directly at home. All persons who do not now have home delivery but who believe they qualify for this service under the new policy should contact their local postmaster. He will make the necessary arrangements."

Michigan Farm Bureau

★ California Grape Growers Unionized

Capitulation of 26 major California table grape growers to the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers is not the end of a battle, "but just the beginning," American Farm Bureau president Charles B. Shuman said recently.

"What every citizen must know," Shuman said, "is that a powerful union alliance has been able to destroy markets for farmers and force them to sign over their work force to the union without giving them a choice."

"The device of market intimidation and seizure has temporarily succeeded," Shuman said. "If this device is not broken by legislation and exposure, it will dictate the market decisions for every farmer and consumer in America. It will determine farmer access to consumers. It will control an increasing share of the U.S. food market as a lever for vast new bargaining efforts in a dozen directions."

"The price of food will inevitably increase," Shuman said, "even as the price of freedom is foreclosed." Every farmer must now ask himself, "Is my commodity next?"

Shuman's response came shortly after 26 large growers in the San Joaquin Valley had agreed to terms with Cesar Chavez and the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, bringing a total of California grape acreage under UFWOC contract to an estimated 75 percent.

For the growers who signed it was the end of a five-year struggle marked by bitterness that was deceptively absent at a Delano news conference in UFWOC headquarters—a symbolic of growers who had finally "come over."

For Chavez, a prepared victory statement was sabotaged by the news that the Teamsters Union had organized 5,000 lettuce workers in California's Salinas Valley. Teamster progress in organizing lettuce and citrus workers in the Coachella Valley of California was also reported. Chavez said a campaign by UFWOC to counter Teamster gains in the Salinas Valley would begin immediately. He produced a telegram from AFL-CIO president George Meany designating UFWOC as the sole bargaining agent for farm workers in California. The Teamsters do not belong to the AFL-CIO. "Indications are that the new shape of battle in the fields will be jurisdictional warfare between the Teamsters and UFWOC."

Farm Program Payments Completed

Most of the farmers who participated in the 1970 Wheat and Feed Grain programs in Washtenaw county have now received their program payments, according to Earl Doletzky, chairman of the Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

"Farmers earn program payments by diverting portions of their cropland to conservation uses, and complying with other program requirements," Doletzky explained. "Diverting unneeded cropland helps maintain a balance between supply and demand, preserves the excess acres for future use when they are needed, provides a more orderly supply of farm products to consumers, and helps to assure equitable prices to farmers."

"Throughout the nation, more than three million farmers earned the farm program payments," Doletzky said. "Payments were disbursed during a six-week period beginning July 1. In past years the payment period has extended over a three-month period from July through September." Doletzky said.

"Compressing the payment period into half the normal time required close co-operation between farmers and ASCS personnel," Doletzky said, adding: "Speaking for the entire farmer-elected committee, I am proud of the way everyone has co-operated to get the payments out early as we had promised farmers that we would do."

"Because of budget restraints, partial payments could not be made this year during the spring sign-up period for the Feed Grain Program," Doletzky explained. "When this decision was made, the Department told farmers that full payments would be made as early as possible. That commitment has now been largely fulfilled," Mr. Doletzky said.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

★ The Real You

There's an old mountain expression that goes something like this, "If you could buy him at face value and sell him for what he thinks he is worth, you could make a fortune." In other words, a man who holds himself in too high an esteem may think a lot more of himself than he merits in the eyes of his contemporaries.

The wise man will appraise himself with a careful eye. Too often someone will go through the motions of being a "good guy," a good citizen, and a churchgoer, but will not let this attitude of life govern his actions in business, politics and other endeavors. He believes the world sees only that part of him which he displays most proudly. He is wrong.

If you would evaluate yourself, consider the whole YOU. Remember that all of your actions, attitudes, every thought must be taken into consideration. You cannot have a public personality and a private personality. You may project an image, but unless it is real and sincere, it is nothing more than a shadow of the real you.

Here's a tip on car cleaning. To get grillwork really clean, use an ordinary bottle brush dipped in thick detergent suds. The brush makes it easy to work around those narrow strips of metal in the grillwork, and lots of other places, too.

No excuse is as good as a satisfactory performance.

MSU Team Studies Iron Requirements For Growing Pigs

Iron requirements of young pigs are not dependent on whether the plant or milk protein is the major dietary protein source. According to Bill Ames, Washtenaw county extension agent, dietary soybean doesn't tie up iron and make it unavailable during the digestive process, as is the case with zinc.

Michigan State University research shows that iron uptake is not decreased when baby pigs are fed diets containing soy protein. In fact, there was a slightly greater retention of iron in pigs on the soy protein diet as compared to pigs on casein protein diets.

The MSU study indicates that baby pigs on soy protein diets are better able to utilize dietary iron than baby pigs on casein diets.

About Your Social Security

Social Security benefits paid to residents of Washtenaw county totaled $1,654,000 a month as 1969 ended, Robert A. Kehoe, Ann Arbor social security district manager, has reported.

A benefit increase, signed into law by President Nixon on Dec. 30, 1969, has since raised the monthly rate of payment by 15 percent for the 16,956 social security beneficiaries in Washtenaw county, Kehoe noted.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in this area, 11,029 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 4,234 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 1,692 are getting benefits as disabled workers or the dependents of disabled workers.

Kehoe pointed out that although the majority of social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60.

In the State of Michigan, 223,203 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. The 128,844 who are under 18 are receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits.

Of the 15,704 who are 18 through 21 years of age, most are getting benefits under a provision which permits the continuation of their child's benefits past his or her 18th birthday, and up to age 22 if he or she is attending school full time.

But in the 18 to 22 age group, Kehoe said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the "broad family protection" that is provided working people of all ages under the social security program.

A number are the children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 18 and who will probably never be able to go to work and become self supporting. The benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely and benefits are also payable to their mothers if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

Another small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who are receiving social security benefits as disabled worker. Under a 1967 change in the law, disability benefits can be paid to a person who becomes disabled for work even if he has less than five years of work under social security. As little as a year and a half is required in the case of a worker who becomes disabled before age 24.

BOARD STRENGTH
A 12-by-12-inch board, burned continuously for one hour on all four sides, would still be stronger than a 9-by-9-inch board never touched by fire. Even when exposed to fire, thick wood members retain their strength for long periods of time.

St. Louis Pupils Place in International Special Olympics

Four boys from the St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys competed in the International Special Olympics for mentally handicapped children in Chicago, Aug. 13-15.

Held in Soldiers Field, the swimming, track and field events were sponsored by the Chicago Park District and Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., Foundation. Four thousand children, 100 of them from Michigan, competed.

Competitors from Chelsea were Gillis Rice, and Mike Swinhart, who took a second place ribbon in the third division 50-yard dash, Gary Ponta, second place in the first division 50-yard dash, and Rex Lawrence, winner of a silver medal in first division 50-yard freestyle and second place ribbon in the 25-yard freestyle.

Thursday evening, Aug. 13, competitors and chaperones rode shuttle buses from Special Olympics headquarters at the Conrad Hilton Hotel to Soldiers Field for opening ceremonies. Michigan's delegation was led past the reviewing stand by Joey Giardello, former boxing champion from New Jersey. Following flag-raising and torch-lighting ceremonies, speeches of welcome were given by dignitaries including Chicago Mayor Daley and Mrs. Eunice Kennedy Shriver.

Competitive track, field and swimming events were held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 14 and 15, at Soldiers Field and Eckhart Park. Special sports clinics manned by world famous athletes were also available at this time.

The opportunity for the Washtenaw county children to take part in the Special Olympics was made possible through the interest, help and financial contributions of individuals, clubs and service groups responding last spring to the plea from the Washtenaw County Special Olympics Committee for help in financing.

Next year there will be several regional events throughout the United States, in addition to local

Hole-in-One Scored in First Shotgun Tourny at Boondocks

The first annual summer Shotgun Tourny produced all sorts of fireworks at the Boondocks Golf Course in Grass Lake.

Not only did several teams use the unique "preferred shot" feature of the event to turn in par-breaking scores, the closest-to-the-pin competition was won in the most convincing manner possible, as Tom Brzezinski scored a hole-in-one.

The ace was the first both for the new course and for Brzezinski of 3409 Ranch Blvd., Jackson. He accomplished the feat with a 9 iron playing the 155-yard second hole. Witnessing the shot were his playing partners Dave Arnold, Frank DePula and his brother.

One of the fine young players in the area led his team to a 27 and second place. Dick Loring's team reeled off seven straight birdies enroute to their fine score that stood up until late in the day.

The event was so popular that the players that many foursomes played two rounds and some three in an effort to improve on their performances. The winners took home $40 in gift certificates and prizes were also given to the runner-up and for winners in other events.

Chuck Mohlman walloped a 290-yard drive on the ninth hole to win honors in that category and a door prize for predicting the winning score went to Jake Knoedler.

Progressive Soil Survey Work Moves into Saline Township

By Tom Thrall, Soil Conservationist

The Washtenaw County Soil Survey, sponsored by the Washtenaw Board of Commissioners, has recently progressed into Saline township. The survey is being conducted by soil scientists from the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station for the purpose of mapping and classifying all the soil types of Washtenaw county.

Residents of the northeastern part of the county probably have observed the men boring into the earth with their hand augers, collecting samples. The men get plenty of exercise as they make about 75 borings (five feet in depth) per day and have been averaging 320 acres daily.

"Already more than 220,000 acres have been mapped" according to Neil Stroesenreuther, party leader, "and the survey is going very well. The entire project has been scheduled for six years, and presently we are in the third year. We expect to be working in Saline township for the next month. After finishing there we will move into York township."

Information gathered from the survey will be invaluable for future urban, agricultural, and recreational planning and development in the county. According to Clark Backer, District Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, the survey will furnish the following information:

—Farmers, using the soils maps as blueprints, can be assisted in planning the kind of management which will protect their soils and provide good yields.

—Zoning and planning commissions will find basic soils facts valuable for planning the best land use and development in the public interest.

—Land appraisers can use soil maps to aid in land evaluation. This is important for making loans and investments, selecting home and business sites and for the equalization of tax assessments.

—Engineers can use the compiled information for the selection of sites for roads, buildings, ponds and other structures.

—Home builders, realtors, and subdividers can be helped by studying soil maps and locating soils that will best serve their purpose. For example, septic tank effluent does not filter through some soils. Other soils may indicate a high water table or an area of frequent flooding.

Co-operation from the land owners has been excellent. Landowner's permission is obtained before a survey is taken of the property and each party member carries credential for identification. The soil scientists also travel in marked, official vehicles.

Groups or individuals interested in the soils information gathered may contact the Soil Conservation Service at 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor.

Motor Vehicle Highway Fund Payments Up

The State Highway Commission announced Aug. 13 that second quarter receipts to the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund, up nearly $14.2 million over the same period last year, are being distributed to Michigan counties, cities and villages.

State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth attributes the increase of 19.3 percent during April, May and June to several factors, including the one-month extension for obtaining license plates, an increase in the rate-of-weight tax for trucks, and the normal increase in the number of motor vehicles and miles being driven.

After fixed costs are deducted from the receipts, 46 percent goes to the Department of State Highways, 34 percent to the state's 83 counties and 20 percent to the 528 incorporated cities and villages.

Receipts allotted to Washtenaw county were $577,291, $97,516 more than 1969. Chelsea received $10,670, $1,672 above the 1969 total.

Surrounding towns' receipts were as follows: Ann Arbor, $228,312; Dexter, $5,806; Manchester, $6,286; Milan, $12,293; Saline, $7,049.

Highway Fund receipts are derived from motor vehicle license plate fees and state tax on gasoline and diesel fuel collected by the Department of State.

MULTI-NATIONAL SAFETY REMINDERS and "Bring 'em Back Alive" is the message which Automobile Club of Michigan is delivering to this state's motorists through foreign-language bumper stickers being distributed at various ethnic festivals. Young ladies in the accompanying photo are dressed in native costumes which correspond to the languages shown on enlarged bumper stickers they hold. Actual-size, three-by-four-inch stickers are being distributed as part of Auto Club's positive program to promote Michigan tourism along with traffic safety. This summer Auto Club is encouraging car travel to various folk festivals and at the same time pointing out that long distance highway driving is safer than staying home where eight of every 10 traffic deaths happen, even on holiday week-ends. Holding enlarged bumper stickers which show five of the languages being promoted are: (front to back): Susan Surlatta, of 13421 Bloom, Detroit; Patricia Churchill, of 11083 Whithorn, Detroit; April O'Dale, 6780 Merriman, Inkster; Adrienne Benvenuti, 19706 Mauer, St. Clair Shores; and Mary Ann Thiele, 555 Ballantyne, Grosse Pointe Shores. Languages represented, in addition to English, are Polish, Hebrew, Italian and German. Dutch-language bumper stickers, not shown, were released to the public at Holland's recent tulip festival. Foreign-language stickers are available free to any person at Auto Club offices across Michigan.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The attached letter was sent to U. S. Senators Griffin and Hart, Rep. Marv. Esch, State Senator Gil Bursley, and State Representative Tom Sharpe.

I feel the issues related are pertinent and request they be printed in your editorial section.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Robert J. Updegraff.

Thank you, my legislators, for your limited response to my letter concerning "Financial Responsibility." Those of you who did answer proved only that you are and will remain purely politicians. I want action not just words.

Our government in Washington and Lansing costs us too much. The buildings themselves are too big, too fancy, and too expensive. The bureaus in the buildings, as verified by the recent evaluation of the Pentagon, are too large, too expensive, and completely lacking efficiency. It appears that ~~you are going to continue to do~~ little else but protect your own position and those of the other overpaid, confused, protected, and under-worked bureaucrats. I did not elect you to waste my tax money on exorbitant administrative expenses for the several worthwhile and more useful functions performed by government. Two examples, just for clarification, are:

1. The recent hiring of a Harvard graduate to head a bureau, for which he will be paid $8,000. Why? Because some sharp bureaucrat made that the scale for the job; not because he required that much or was worth it.

2. The proposal that the government undertake development of a new power source for automobiles. Governmental development programs, devoid of the check of a required return on investment, go on forever with the only result more money spent.

Stop wasting my money!

You are exhibiting another part of the cause of so much of our current problems: "Me First-ism." You are the elected leaders of our country but instead of setting the example of hard work and selfless concern for doing what is right you spend most of your time perpetuating yourself in office and providing yourselves with luxuries and retirement benefits. The emphasis on looking out for "Number 1" has caused our unions to try to outdo one another in the amount of the raise they demand, our corporations to set progressively higher goals for profit and ROI, and our people to worship those who make it with the least amount of apparent effort. We must start now to reverse this trend and return to respect for those who do something extra, give more than 50 percent to compromise, and work for what they get.

Do something now! Cut administrative costs! Get rid of some of the excess! I want to hear soon that costs have been reduced at least 10 percent, and soon after that another 10 percent. If that means reducing the size of bureaus, do it. If you will not take these steps, tell me so I can support someone who will.

Sincerely yours,
Robert J. Updegraff.

If you lose interest in life, you are dying.

TEACHER TOPICS

By Leonard Solomon

One of the items to be re-opened this year in negotiations between the Board of Education and the Chelsea Education Association is the Probationary Procedure. In accordance with the contract, the teachers, in June, requested that this article be re-opened.

Changes requested would not affect the general teacher but would concern only the part of this article which covers extra-curricular activities. The new language in the contract, sought by the Association, came as a result of a request of its grievance committee. This brings us to the history of this portion of the agreement.

When the final portions of the contract were settled last year as a result of Judge William Aggar's help, it was the Association's understanding that people who held positions on the extra-curricular probationary position scale (coaching, etc.) would be evaluated, and if they were to be dismissed, such dismissal would be based upon these evaluations. The last sentence in the article clearly implies this. In return for this, we gave up our demands that these people would be able to use the grievance procedure to grieve their dismissal. The Association assumed that the evaluation procedure set up in a previous part of the contract would be adopted to the extra-curricular positions.

At this same time, the board was operating under the assumption that no such evaluations were necessary.

The situation came to a head when the board informed Head Coaches Richard Bareis and John Schaffner that they would no longer hold their coaching positions in 1970-71. Both Bareis and Schaffner requested hearings in front of the board, and both filed grievances on the basis that they had not been evaluated nor had they been given the specific reasons in writing as to why they were being released as required of the board by May 15, 1970.

In subsequent action, the board acted to reinstate Bareis, indicating in the motion to reinstate that he had not been properly evaluated.

Schaffner's case is presently being taken to binding arbitration. Mr. Sugerman, the arbitrator, has been appointed and the date for the hearing will be set shortly.

As a result of these circumstances, the association has requested evaluation procedure for extra-curricular activities, which would clear up the misunderstanding and provide the administration with guideline dates, etc. The procedure

Arson Blamed For Fire at Delhi Park

Arson at Delhi Metropolitan Park caused an estimated $3,500 in damage to the building which contained restrooms, and an additional damage amount not yet totaled for the contents of the building. Park Ranger Don Stewart said Tuesday that a blaze was reported at the Delhi park facility by a citizen to the Dexter Fire Department Monday evening, Aug. 17, shortly after 7 o'clock.

Witnesses related vital information to police authorities about the arson activities. A can which contained a type of lacquer-thinner was among the pieces of evidence taken from the scene.

Investigation is continuing by fire, park, and police authorities.

Coin Collector Reports Theft of Valuable Items

Mrs. Robert Kaercher of Island Lake Rd., reported the apparent theft of coins from the Kaercher family home last week. The report filed with deputies of the Washtenaw County Sheriff Department listed many coin collectors' books among the missing items, as well as some plastic bags containing silver dollars and half-dollars.

The listing filed with deputies Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 11, contained the following missing items: three books of Indian head pennies, ranging in date from 1920 to 1935; seven books of nickels, another seven books of dimes, and seven books of quarters, as well as an additional seven books of 50-cent pieces.

Approximately 50 silver dollars in a plastic bag were also on the missing list, and another plastic bag containing 20 half-dollars with dates in the 1900-1904 years.

Detectives from the department are continuing investigation into the reported theft.

"We were made for each other" said the couple of lovebirds who later realized both should have been recalled.

Traffic Lights To Be Erected In Dexter

Dexter will soon be displaying a pair of traffic lights, the first in the village's history.

Superintendent of Public Works Vic Sindlinger explained Tuesday that the pair of traffic lights were apparently ordered while he was on vacation this summer, but he understood they would be arriving soon, and would be installed within three months of the order date.

The lights will be placed at the intersection of Baker and Ann Arbor Sts. and at the place where Ann Arbor St. and Broad St. meet in the center of the business district.

The lights have punched a sizeable hole in the village budget, as the original amount budgeted for these signals was just about half what it now seems they will cost.

EARLY CROP

Beans were one of man's first cultivated crops. The wild bean probably came into the ancient civilized world from the shores of the south Caspian Sea or North Africa.

SCIENCE TOPICS

GERMAN COPPER MINERS in the Middle Ages called it "kupfer-nickel" (devil's copper) because it was an unwanted nuisance, an ore that looked like copper but didn't yield any. Today, known simply as nickel, the metal is still a puzzle in medical science. Of trade metals found in the human body, few have baffled researchers more. It seems necessary in some way; chickens raised without it develop leg deformities. Yet nickel is a cancer producer, found in tobacco smoke, car fumes and the air of some industrial plants.

THE ABILITY to diagnose, at an early stage, an unusual form of cancer of the thyroid gland, medullary carcinoma, has been achieved by a team of scientists from several universities and hospitals. The diagnostic test developed by these researchers involves the use of a radioimmunoassay method which measures the concentration of a hormone—calcitonin—in the blood of patients.

NEW EISENHOWER STAMP: Congressman Marvin L. Esch (R-Mich.) (left) accepts an album of new Eisenhower stamps from Postmaster General Winton M. Blount at postal headquarters in Washington, D. C. The stamp, issued Aug. 6, is the department's new 6-cent "work horse" stamp that is now the main stamp for everyday use by millions of Americans. They are being sold in various forms, such as sheets of 100; as coil stamps, in over-the-counter booklet pages and vending machines. The new stamp is a further national honor for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. It augments the Eisenhower commemorative stamp issued last October.

Good Shopping Sense Comes Only with Study, Experience

"Everybody likes a bargain, but there's more to shopping sense than bargain hunting," says Lucile Ketchum, Michigan State University's home management specialist.

Shopping sense involves knowing what, how, where and when to make purchase for your family.

As a good shopper you need to take time to know what you and your family really want. It sounds simple. But how many times have you bought a certain kind of dress for your daughter and then found out it wasn't what she wanted? Or, how many times have you bought something for the house that didn't fit in, or was hard to care for, or left no money for something else you wanted?

You are rare if you can buy everything you want, Miss Ketchum believes. Most homemakers must carefully choose which things and services to buy with their scarce dollars.

This decision is the basis of good shopping sense.

The "how" of shopping sense includes planning ahead and discussing the plan with the family, especially if the purchase is a big one. It includes getting information about quality and performance, and comparing products and prices. A shopping list will save time and confusion. It will also help avoid excessive impulse buying.

The specialist suggests choosing a store that stands behind its products. Which store has the right price for you? Which offers price savings that more than balance the cost of traveling to get there? Are savings worth the cost in time? Do you forfeit a guarantee or store backing with price savings? What services are important to you? Are they worth the cost?

Answers to these questions will help you decide where to shop.

In deciding when to shop, Miss Ketchum suggests taking advantage of sales that offer real value for reduced prices. Seasonal sales, such as white sales, annual anniversary sales in long-established stores, some year-end sales and weekly grocery "specials" are this type. Buy if the goods offered meet your needs. But check to be sure prices are really sale prices.

Shop early in the sale to be sure of good color and size selection. Early in the day and early in the week is a good time to shop. This helps you avoid the frustration of crowded stores and difficult transportation.

And of course, Miss Ketchum says, try to avoid shopping when you are tired. It's hard to make decisions, and your judgment isn't at its best when fatigue takes over.

"Contrary to some people's beliefs, shopping sense isn't a natural endowment, the specialist says. It's a skill you build with thought and experience. The reward? Satisfaction and pleasure in shopping and the knowledge that you're using whatever resources you have to the best possible advantage for your family."

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMER

From Harry Hastings, Paramount, Calif.: I remember, just after the turn of the century, in the little village of Genoa, Wis., I watched with the other boys of my age as the steamboats pushed huge rafts of logs and lumber down the Mississippi and returned upriver after more rafts. These steamboats were many and varied. I remember some of the names—the Wanderer, Clyde "Lizzy" Gardner, Isaac Staple, Van Sant, North Star, Glenmont, Ben Hershey, Eclipse, and many more. There were huge packets and excursion boats. I remember one, the G.S., met a terrible fate. Each boat had a different whistle and the melody of those whistles still remain in memory's ear after more than 65 years. Plumes of steam would gush up from the boats as they whistled to pass each other on the river.

Each boys dream was to captain or engineer one of them. Those boats have long since gone as have most of those who were boys of my day.

I am well past three score and ten but memory is still vivid. I was born in a log house and walked three miles to school in the Bad-Axe Valley, sometimes in deep snow and bitter cold.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER:

"I have a problem with a girl. I have been trying to get her as a girlfriend. But, she is seeing other boys a lot. I don't know which one is her boyfriend. It seems she only likes me because I give her money and do other small favors. I really like her a lot. I'm thirteen, and she is, too. What do you think I should do? Please try to give me a sensible answer."

reason. Cut off the money and the favors, and you have had the course. Sensible people know that you cannot buy friendship or love, at any price. You can make this girl "appear" to like you more by doing more things for her. But try it and you will discover that the more you give, the more she expects you to give. You're better off to find someone who likes you for what you are, not for what you have, or what you have to give away.

OUR REPLY: You won't like it, but here is the best answer we can give you: be sensible. If you are smart enough to know she only likes you because you give her money and do other small favors, you also know that she isn't going to like you for any other

If you have a teen-age problem you want to have discussed, or an observation to make, address your letter to "For and About Teen-Agers," Community and Suburban Press Service, in care of this newspaper.

"The Place To Go for Brands You Know"

If you're looking for the big car buys of the year...

"See your Chrysler Dealin' Man"

Chrysler Newport
Big inside. No other American production car has more interior room. Big on power. A 383 cubic inch V-8 that runs on regular gas is standard. Big on engineering. Torsion-Quiet Ride blends torsion-bar suspension, unibody construction and a new Sound Isolation System for performance combined with silence. All this. Yet Newport is priced just a few dollars a month more than the most popular smaller cars comparably equipped. See your Chrysler Dealin' Man during final clearance. You'll find he can put you behind the wheel of a big, luxurious Chrysler for a lot less than you think.
