

Angry Outburst Heard Against Proposed Metro Park

At Lima Community Hall... ..And at Chelsea High

Heated discussion marked the Thursday night, Nov. 12, meeting at Lima Community Hall at which many local residents turned out to hear the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority staff explain their proposal for a new 4,087 acre metro park at Mill Creek. So large was the crowd, however, that a second meeting was quickly scheduled for Nov. 17 at Chelsea High school Auditorium to handle the overflow crowd, unable to even get into the building.

Many of the persons present were angry upon their arrival at the hall. Land owners living on the proposed site had already received letters from the Authority advising them that first steps towards actual purchase of their land would begin early in 1971. The large turnout was indicative that many of the citizens within the area, and outside the specific area, wanted more information concerning the project in order to better assess the park proposal in terms of personal and local impact, recreation needs, and acceptability of the plans.

Dave Bacon, chairman of the board of directors of the Mill Creek Research Council, who had arranged this meeting, introduced David Laidlaw, director of the Park Authority. Laidlaw began his presentation with a movie explaining that Huron-Clinton is financed by a 1/4 mill property tax per $1,000 assessed valuation on all real and personal property in their five-county area. Some state and federal assistance is also received. Huron-Clinton's nine present parks cover some 11,000 acres and are designed principally for day-use. The population is now approximately four million persons in the five county area, and is expected to increase in 20 years to nearly six million.

Laidlaw then told of plans for a park along Mill Creek, with a 650-acre man-made lake. These plans are very similar to a reservoir outlined by the Army Corps of Engineers, and the U. S. Bureau of Outdoor Recreation planned for nearly the same sections of land.

No provision is being made for flood control draw down, according to Laidlaw, as these are incompatible with recreation uses.

Discussion which followed the presentation was marked with anger, and distress. Gordon Sutton, first speaker, and the owner of one of the largest parcels sought by the Authority, was most concerned about the Authority's wanting to purchase his land. He spoke for the many farmers in that area, who would not want to sell their lands, but who may feel pressure from the Authority to do so.

Answering the question concerning why more use can't be made of state lands already marked for recreation, which are reasonably underdeveloped, Laidlaw indicated that the state lands serve other recreational uses, than the one which the Huron-Clinton authority has in mind.

Mention was made of the lands already owned by Huron-Clinton along the river, north of Dexter. These lands are local use for picnicking and recreational activities. 200 acres developed for such use are all that are needed at present.

Concern was expressed that some tax revenues for the Authority does not pay any local (Continued on page six)

At the second meeting, held Tuesday evening, Nov. 17, at 8 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium, approximately 450 people were in attendance. Anger sparked this meeting also, with feelings running perhaps higher than at the previous meeting.

David O. Laidlaw, Director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, again addressed the group. His presentation was the same presentation given at the earlier meeting. He stressed once more the four ingredients necessary for a good park, which are all present in the Mill Creek location. They are location; water quantity and quality; the terrain; and the wild areas, which would be suitable for a nature program.

He showed slides which indicated the current parks, from the various levels of government, which are scattered throughout the area, stressing that there is a definite lack of good day-use parks in this particular area, with respect to those facilities located north of Detroit.

Bulk of the evening's session was composed of questions, some of them more easily termed angry outbursts, rather than questions. Many of the questions dealt with similar issues Laidlaw covered in the first meeting. There was some emphasis placed on those park facilities which are already available in this area, specifically the Waterloo Recreation Area, and the Island Lake Area. Laidlaw indicated that both of these areas, which are both state parks, are operated under the auspices of the Department of Natural Resources. Laidlaw said that these parks were fine parks, but that they are not day-use recreation parks, and that wild-life recreation areas, and intensive day-use areas are not compatible.

A second question dealing with the Island Lake Recreation Area asked if the funding for the further development of that park goes through, would it serve the same general function as the proposed Mill Creek park. To this question, Laidlaw said that "yes" the proposed development would serve that purpose, however, that its location does not make it as accessible as the Mill Creek park due to the fact that Island Lake is on I-96, while the Mill Creek park would be on I-94, and that in view of an access from I-94 it would not be effective.

Laidlaw estimated that the land acquisition will take a number of years, due to limited monies of the Authority, and the personal re-location problems of the people who are living in the proposed park area, and will cost the Authority $5 million year. Development costs, spread over a period of 15 to 20 years, will run as high as $10 million.

He indicated that the Authority does wait in its land acquisition for personal problems, and that in the past, the Authority has assisted people in their relocation efforts.

In response to the question "What are people going to eat in the future?" he indicated that his problems did not concern farms, they concerned land for recreation, and he cited that the Department of Agriculture currently has land in land banks.

Concerning park attendance, he said that studies taken at other parks report that less than three percent of the people using those parks come from outside the Detroit Metropolitan (Continued on page six)

Public Meeting Slated Tonight To Study Park

Mill Creek Research Council is holding an open meeting, Thursday evening, Nov. 19 (tonight) at 8 p.m. in the Chelsea High school Auditorium for interested parties, to discuss the proposed Huron-Clinton Authority Mill Creek Park.

Purpose of this meeting will be to "feel out" the citizens concerned about the project, so that the Research Council may effectively deal with the situation.

Virginia Denham, member of the executive committee of MCRS indicated Monday, Nov. 16, that the Mill Creek Research Council is a group of citizens, who live in the Mill Creek watershed. Anyone who lives in that area, she stated, is a member, and is invited to come to MCRS meetings. There is a 12-member executive committee which has no political power, or legal power, aside from being an effective sounding board for the people it represents, and as such, as a pressure group.

Mrs. Denham indicated that the MCRS wanted to know the true sentiments of the people involved in the Mill Creek Park project, so members of the executive committee could approach Washtenaw County officials to try to effect a change if necessary. No county officials, nor Huron-Clinton members, have been invited to the meeting, as it is specifically for the Mill Creek residents and interested parties.

According to Mrs. Denham, the (Continued on page five)

Deer Hunting Pressure in Area Is Heavy

Deer hunting season opened with a bang for this area, according to Conservation Officer Donley Boyer.

First reported deer kill was a buck downed at 7:15 a.m. Sunday by Robert Walz. Legal shooting time is 7 a.m., so Walz's kill is most likely the first legal one of the season in this area.

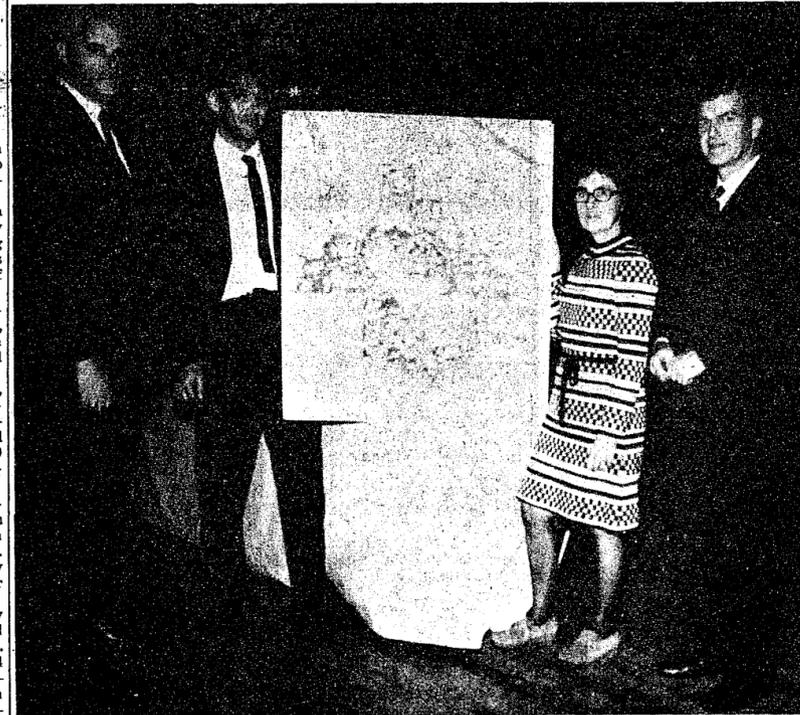

There was a great deal of "pre-season action," Boyer indicated, with several calls coming in the day and evening before official deer season opened.

Hunting pressure was heavy, Boyer reported, with 25 deer reported the first day. Boyer estimates that the tally would mean that all together close to 50 deer were most likely killed Sunday.

Four deer were killed in the vicinity of the Waterloo Recreation Area Headquarters, two of which were by park rangers at the Area. Hunting pressure was particularly heavy in that area, this year Boyer commented.

Largest deer reported in many years was a 10-point buck killed by John Raffaeali, of Manchester. Raffaeali's deer dressed out to 214 pounds, and had one of the largest racks on it Boyer had seen in many years. Raffaeali is a teacher in the Manchester schools. He is also a Hunter Safety instructor.

Conservation violations included three offenses of riding a motorcycle off roads in the Waterloo Recreation Area. Timothy Shipley, Steven Johnson, and Clintart T. Davis, all of Plymouth, pled guilty in 14th District Court to riding motorcycles off roads in the (Continued on page five)

OFFICIALS MET BRIEFLY following the Tuesday meeting held in the Chelsea High school auditorium to discuss measures to work out an effective solution to the problems posed by the proposed Mill Creek Metropolitan park. Key figures in the negotiations will be Tom Fegan, Director of the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission; Dave Bacon, chairman of the Mill Creek

Research Council; Mrs. Harry (Virginia) Denham, former chairman and member of the executive committee of MCRS; and David O. Laidlaw, Director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority. Laidlaw conducted an informative program, and answered questions concerning the proposed park at meetings held Thursday evening, Nov. 12, and Tuesday evening, Nov. 17.

CEA Grievance Turned Down By Arbitrator

Request for Reinstatement of Former Basketball Coach Denied in Hearing

Decision on the grievance filed by the Chelsea Education Association Grievance Committee concerning the termination of Jon Schaffner as head basketball coach of Chelsea High was received Monday morning, Nov. 16, according to Superintendent of Schools Charles Cameron.

Donald Sugarman, professional arbitrator of the American Arbitration Association, who presided at the private hearing between the Board of Education and the Chelsea Education Association in September, overruled Friday, Nov. 13, CEA's plea to have Schaffner reinstated.

According to Sugarman, "The Board was not required to follow the evaluation procedure for Jon Schaffner in his position as head basketball coach, and did not violate the Agreement by failing to follow those procedures."

Sugarman indicated that since approximately one-third of the teachers in Chelsea's school system were involved in extra-curricular activities, that the CEA's contention that teachers in extra-curricular activities be evaluated on a similar basis as teachers, as set forth in their master agreement reached in 1969, was invalid. He pointed out that with one-third of the teachers in the Chelsea schools involved in extra-curricular activities, there was small indication that teachers uniformly felt that should be evaluated during their participation, as there were no other grievances filed to that nature. Teachers would have known that they were not being evaluated, he maintained, as they claimed they should have been. The lack of grievances filed to this nature, indicates that CEA's interpretation of the Agreement clause pertaining to evaluation of personnel was not uniform.

Sugarman further noted that had Schaffner noted this failure to be evaluated during the time he was engaged in his coaching activities, and filed a grievance noting this failure, not more than 10 days following the end of basketball season, the outcome of the arbitration could have been different.

As the decision now stands, because of fine technicalities, Schaffner's appeal is disqualified.

Thanksgiving Service Slated Wednesday

Chelsea's Union Thanksgiving service, which will be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 25, will be uniquely different this year, according to host pastor, the Rev. Clive Dickens. This year's services, which are to be held at the First United Methodist church in Chelsea, will feature a significant lack of preaching.

Thanksgiving hymn sing will be the major attraction, according to the Rev. Dickens, in which all participants in the services may join. Choirs from the First Congregational church; St. Paul United Church of Christ, and the North Lake church, as well as other invited parishes, will sing anthems at the celebration.

The Rev. David Kleis, pastor of St. John United Church of Christ, at Rogers Corners, will give the Thanksgiving Prayer.

A filmstrip of the story of Thanksgiving will be shown.

According to the Rev. Dickens, this is the first time since the Union Thanksgiving services began in Chelsea, that the emphasis will be on worship other than preaching. The worship, which is sponsored by the Chelsea Ministerial Association, will begin at 8 p.m., at the First United Methodist church, 128 Park St.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS Neil Mast (left), and Jay Bradbury discuss the sentiments expressed at Tuesday evening's meeting called by the Mill Creek Research Council to hear plans by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority concerning their proposed park on the Mill Creek watershed area. Commissioners Mast and Bradbury indicated that they had voted to build the park within the county, although Bradbury claims he specifically asked not to have the park built in Lima township.

Jaycees Win 5 First-Place Awards at State Board Meet

Chelsea Jaycees traveled to Traverse City this past week-end, Nov. 13-14, to attend the Jaycees Fall State Board meeting. More than 1,300 Jaycees and wives were in attendance for the meeting. Those from Chelsea included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Updegraff, Mr. and Mrs. Art Steinhaw, Si Hopkins, Ron Branham, Tom Steele, Dave Clark, and Dennis White.

Clark, Steele and White promoted the Chelsea Jaycees' bid to host the state basketball tournament at the meeting. Armed with buttons, flyers, slide presentation, and a solid plan of action, the Chelsea Jaycees were successful and will be hosting the Michigan State Basketball Tournament on Feb. 21.

Chelsea Jaycees received five first-place awards in state competition for their work on local projects. To receive an award, Records and Recognition forms, or R&R as they are called, must be submitted. NOTE: From time to time this column will focus on individual teachers. Because of the special relationship that often exists between students and teachers, this article is contributed by a student writer.

A TEACHER SPOTLIGHT

By Gilda Gillespie
A doctor helps to make people well again, a lawyer counsels people in trouble, and a scientist experiments and discovers, but a teacher starts all of these people into their professions.

Of all the teachers I've had the teacher I remember and favor most is Mrs. Senne, my 5th grade teacher. She always took a special interest in under-privileged kids. She was and still is firmly committed to all children, and all of her students are treated equal, but the individual with individual needs is not ignored.

She is very concerned for the safety of the children. Being the Safety Patrol Leader, on bad mornings, she shares posts with the boys.

One thing Mrs. Senne can't stand is a student who is smart, but won't work to his full capacity. She is a firm believer that no one is a poor student without reason. She usually finds that reason and she never gives up on a student, although she has pointed out that you always have one or two students you just can't reach.

Mrs. Senne thinks there is a lack of communication between the teacher and the student, and she also feels a student should be able to express himself, but not in a rude way.

Before retiring she would like to have 20 years of teaching experience. Mrs. Senne has taught in several states and she feels it gives her a better point of view towards teaching in Chelsea. In two years her husband is going to retire. At that time they plan to leave Chelsea and move to Dade county, Fla., where Mrs. Senne will go on teaching for two more years. Then she will retire and travel in a trailer all over the United States with her husband.

These are the reasons why Mrs. Senne is special to me. Since the time I had her for a teacher a lot of kids have had her. She hasn't changed and anyone who has had her for a teacher, or even known her, could point out these same qualities in her.

Mike Hergert Finishes 5th in Debate Meet

Mike Hergert, novice debater on Chelsea's debate team, came home from the Ypsilanti High school debate tournament held Saturday, Nov. 14, with a fifth place speaker's trophy for his efforts at what turned out to be the largest novice debate tournament ever held in the state of Michigan. The tournament, which was held at Eastern Michigan University, attracted 83 Michigan schools.

Hergert competed with speakers from 50 other schools for his award for the affirmative position on the topic "Resolved that Congress should establish, finance, and administer programs to control air and water pollution in the United States."

Mike was on the Chelsea novice team which went 5-3 in the tournament, in the Standard Division, which consisted of 50 area schools. Chelsea debaters met with and defeated teams from Royal Oak Kimble High school, Comstock, Flint Southwestern, Flint Kearsley, and Livonia Stevenson, during the day-long tournament. Taylor Kennedy, Dearborn, Edsel Ford, and Lansing Waverly high school teams defeated Chelsea. Lansing Waverly was the winner of the entire tournament.

Coach William Coelius indicated that many of the teams Chelsea was slated to compete with did receive trophies for their records, which was an indication of the strength of his team's opponents. Teams who had a 6-2 record received trophies. Chelsea's team just missed walking off with some of the honors.

Debaters from Chelsea included Marty Straub, and Mike Hergert, on the affirmative team, and Bob Mester, and Dan Gaunt on the negative side.

Following their third round of meets with members of the ABC league, which is held at Jackson Parkside High school, Tuesday, Nov. 17, Chelsea's debaters were still number one, along with the team from Parma Western High school.

Standings to date indicate that Chelsea and Parma Western are tied for first place with records of 10-2, while Parkside is in second place with a record of 8-4.

Jackson High school has a 5-7 record, to place them in third place, while Homer is fourth with a 4-8 record. Springport and Lumen Christi are in the bottom places with records of 3-9, and 2-10, respectively.

This meet marks the half-way point in ABC league debates for the season, according to Coach William Coelius.

Life will be sweeter when you stop trying to remake your husband or wife.

Mill Creek Research Council Plans Park Discussion Meeting

(Continued from page one) background behind the proposed Huron-Clinton Authority park at Mill Creek stems from a regue by Washtenaw County officials to have a park in this county. Wash-tenaw county pays taxes to the Huron-Clinton Authority, along with four other counties, and officials report that the county felt it was not receiving a just return on the revenues paid into the Authority, hence the request for a park.

Other counties had also requested to have a park built within their boundaries. Washtenaw County officials feel that if the residents of this area truly felt that such a park would detract from the area, Huron-Clinton people would be approached and asked to build their park in one of the other counties.

MCRG has no power to approach the Authority, according to Mrs. Denham, but that it could speak with county officials, who could then effect a change if desired.

In order for county officials to feel that MCRG speaks for the people involved, much research and efforts must be made. Studies are being drawn up to compare the productivity of the Lima township farm lands, as compared to farm lands in other sections of the area, Mrs. Denham indicated. This would be a major factor when the MCRG approaches county officials.

Research into the possibilities of improving and expanding the Pinckney and Waterloo Recreation areas will be done, to make those areas serve the functions which it is hoped the Mill Creek Park would serve.

Further complications of the Mill Creek proposed project include the question of Detroit Edison's power line, which the Lima Township Planning Commission has been trying to force out of the area. The Detroit Edison line is planned to cut directly through the land which the Huron-Clinton Authority wishes to buy. Hence, the Detroit Edison question is still undecided, and must await the outcome of the decision concerning Mill Creek Park before the zoning will be changed.

Mrs. Denham indicated that in the event that the Mill Creek Park does become a reality, that the Detroit Edison line will most likely go through, as planned, within the park land, rather than try to cut through private lands. There are other utility lines that cut through that parcel, Mrs. Denham indicated.

She also stated that the Lima

Waterloo Recreation Area. They paid $25 fine and costs each, which was the sum that remained after their bond payments were deducted. They had been ticketed earlier, and failing to show when summoned, had been jailed.

Gary F. Dault, Grass Lake, pled guilty to using a light to locate game, while having a gun accessible in the car. He paid $21 fine and costs.

Melvin J. LaVake, Garden City, pled guilty to having a loaded gun in his automobile. He paid $21 fine and costs.

Dennis L. Sanborn, Dearborn, pled guilty to having an unplugged gun while hunting waterfowl. He paid $21 fine and costs.

Gilbert Flores, and Michael S. Stacey, both pled guilty to fishing without a license. This court appearance was past due also. They each paid $16 fine and costs.

Township Planning Commission was considering a zoning ordinance which would protect farmland, that was zoned for agricultural purposes. This is still in its conceptual form, but the Planning Commission feels that it should look into the problem with more depth.

Stolen Auto, Break-in Theft Are Reported

A stolen car, a car mysteriously moved from its driveway into the middle of the street, and a break-in at Spaulding Chevrolet, at 405 N. Main, on the night of Nov. 10, combined with an escape from the Cassidy Lake Technical School, weave a mysterious pattern for Chelsea Police.

The events, which occurred the same night, happened approximately between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. the next morning. They have been loosely connected to the break-out which occurred that same night at the Cassidy Lake school.

Mary Salyer, 19-year-old employee of the Chelsea Milling Co., parked her mother's car, a 1968 turquoise Chevrolet in the company parking lot, when she reported Miss Salyer, who lives at 18604 M-52, found the vehicle was missing the following morning, at 7 a.m., when she left the building to return home. She immediately reported the theft to Chelsea police.

At 9 a.m., William O'Dell, 131 Dewey St., reported that his vehicle was stolen from his driveway the same night. He claimed that his vehicle, a 1959 light blue Chevrolet, was in his driveway the evening before. The car was un-locked, but had no keys in it. Chelsea police found that the car had been towed away during the night, because it was parked in the middle of the street, perpendicular to the curb. Upon investigation, it was noted that the car had a jumper cable attached to the coil, indicating that vandals had tried to start the car, apparently unsuccessfully.

Coincidentally, Spaulding Chevrolet, located at 405 N. Main St., was also broken into that evening. Officials indicate that a piece of cardboard was removed from a broken window, and the thieves gained access to the building in that manner. $300 worth of merchandise was taken from the building, which included mostly tires, and air wrenches.

All cases are still under investigation. Police officials report, however, that in the event the youths who escaped from the Cassidy Lake school are apprehended, Chelsea Police would like to ask them a few questions.

TODAY'S THOUGHT By LOUIS BURGHARDT

A reader sent us the following letter concerning our thoughts on the publicity given to youthful delinquents... Read it—

"I agree there should be less publicity for those who apparently seek personal prominence through anti-social behavior. I think a distinction should be made however between type and purpose of publicity. I think the actual misdeeds should be publicized less—but if and when apprehension, arrest and conviction result, MORE publicity should be given to those found guilty. I think we should publicize the arrest and conviction for ALL guilty persons, regardless of age or who they may be. If a juvenile, for example, is old enough to attack, rob or kill, he is old enough to stand public trial — with his identity known. Likewise, publicity should be given the parents; their names and addresses made known. If we publicize crime LESS and publicize punishment MORE, I think there would be less need for both types and purposes of publicity."

It is an interesting letter... Don't you think so?... BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR 5-4141.

Bulldogs Lose Final Game To Northwest

Chelsea Bulldogs dropped their last ball game of the season to Jackson Northwest 32 to 0 Friday evening, Nov. 13, at Chelsea. This gave each team season records of 7 wins, 2 losses, with the Bulldogs' losses being their last two game of the season.

First half of the game was a good defensive ball game, according to Coach Philip Bareis. The Bulldog defense, led by Mitch Heard and Mike Powers, twice pushed the Mounties back after they had recovered fumbles in Bulldog territory.

In the second half, pass interception by Bob Salyers and Jack McClear prevented the Jackson team from driving to the Chelsea goal line.

Offense had trouble all evening, with the monster defense of Jackson Northwest. This was the first shut out for the Bulldogs since 1967, and was the final game for 18 seniors.

area. He said that a maximum crowd of 40 to 45 thousand people would be in attendance on an average week-end day. Week-day crowds would number from 15 to 20 thousand maximum people.

Sewage disposal systems have not been effectively worked out by the Authority. At other parks, where there is no major sewage trunkline, they have had to build their own disposal plants. In areas where such a line exists, they have paid their share and entered the major sewage disposal system. Laidlaw indicated that there are currently no firm plans for sewage disposal at this time, and that the Authority would take one of the two directions.

Meeting closed with a polling of the sentiments of the local County Commissioners who were at the meeting. Neil Mast and Jay Bradbury both expressed sentiments of concern that the site chosen was within Lima township, although both men admitted having voted for the park to be built within Washtenaw county.

Dave Bacon, chairman of the Mill Creek Research Council, who introduced Laidlaw, and was primary agent for arranging for this meeting, closed the meeting by reminding people to come to the Thursday evening meeting, tonight at 8 p.m. at the Chelsea High School Auditorium. The meeting place was changed due to the size of the crowd that showed up for this meeting and the previous one. Discussion of possible action to be taken will be held at that time.

Preparing New Winter Program

Chelsea Area Recreation Council met Nov. 9. Meeting was called to order by President Gene Miller. Treasurer Gil Johnson reported a balance of $926.46 in the treasury.

Motion was approved to authorize Ken Larson to purchase baseball medals.

Ken Johnson reported on the winter program, which will be announced very soon.

Resignation of Dave Murphy was accepted with the council's sincere expression of appreciation for his community services.

Regarding policies and methods of Huron-Clinton relative to land acquisition, Laidlaw indicated that it would take up to five years, depending in part on the availability of funds, to buy all the land needed for this proposed park. Owners would be paid a fair market price based on appraisals by qualified appraisers. They hope not to, but the Huron-Clinton Authority has used condemnation in the past in order to acquire remaining parcels of land in a desired tract, at the same relative prices paid to others who sold earlier.

A request was made that those county commissioners present each express themselves regarding the park proposal, and also the Planning Commission.

Jack Bradbury, who represents among others, Lima township, said that he would back the local people if they didn't want the park.

Herbert Ellis, chairman of the commissioners from Ann Arbor, stressed the need for orderly land use. He said there were lots of worse uses for land than for park purposes.

Neil Mast, another local commissioner, stated that he wanted to hear the arguments for and against the proposal, from the people he serves.

County planning director, Tom Fagan, pointed out that this is within one of the fastest growing regions in Michigan. Washtenaw county will have a population of more than four million people by the time this park is ready. He said there is a need for open space as well as for agricultural land. He indicated that portions of Lima township are in the same natural drainage basin as Scio township and that Scio is mak-

Parents Join In Fly-Up Ceremony

A Girl Scout first occurred Tuesday evening, Nov. 17, at North school for parents and members of Girl Scout Troop 82, according to Mrs. Thomas Klobuchar, newly invested leader of the troop.

A Family Fly-Up ceremony, with investiture and rededication, was held for the girls, and their families. According to Mrs. Klobuchar, this is the first time that these ceremonies, which are generally a troop activity, were held to include parents. This is a part of the new program which local Scouting agencies have started to include the parents of the girls in more of their activities.

Approximately 92 persons were present at the meeting. Girls who received their "wings," and first-year Brownie Scout membership pins, are Donna Bauer, Tammy Collingsworth, Paula Ellenwood, Cindy Klobuchar, Carrie Lane, Joan Liebeck, Mary Lynn Noah, Meg Pennington, Eileen Staphis, Cathy Villemure, and Janet Walz.

Girls who received one-year membership stars, and badges, for their participation in the Junior Scouts, are Linda Brown, Ann Marie Burgess, Laurie Campbell, Gail Erke, Sheila Erskine, Gayle Hume, Dawn Klobuchar, Joyce Liebeck, Diana Pletcher, Renee Poisson, Carolyn Schardein, Kim Slocum, Karen Toon, and Julie Worden.

Mrs. Keith Schuelke presented investiture pins to Mrs. Thomas Klobuchar, and Mrs. Wilfred Lane, who are new leaders of the troop.

Julia Worden was in charge of the flag ceremonies, while Carolyn Schardein, Kim Slocum, Diana Pletcher, and Gail Erke were the color guard.

Meeting closed with taps and the squeeze. Refreshments were served by Dinna Bauer, Linda Brown, Ann Marie Burgess, Laurie Campbell, Tammy Collingsworth, Paula Ellenwood, Mrs. P. Roy, and Mrs. K. Schuelke.

Mrs. Phil Hume, and Mrs. Wilfred Lane were in charge of supplies and decorations for the event.

property taxes to replace those which would be lost when this property goes off the tax rolls. The State of Michigan does pay their parks systems. All of the land is taxed in the Chelsea School District. Laidlaw said that previous experience has shown that the value of the land surrounding the parks tend to increase rapidly and that there would be commercial development which would come with the park. There would furthermore be no children to educate living on the site.

A major concern is the probable complications that residents would face week-ends and during the summer; when hordes of people would descend on the area. The pattern of park use in other parks is generally local use during the week, with those from Detroit and vicinity coming week-ends. About 50 percent of park use is presently from Wayne county residents.

The ability of I-94 to handle the anticipated increase in traffic load including boats and trailers was questioned. It was admitted that I-94 is an old freeway and it is not very wide.

Also of major concern was the question of the use of prime farm land for recreational purposes. Virginia Denham, member of the executive committee of the Mill Creek Research Council, indicated following the meeting, that the Council would be doing research into the proposed park, and that one of their prime concerns would be to gather information concerning the productivity of the Lima township farm land, as opposed to the productivity of the farmlands in the surrounding area.

Mrs. Denham indicated that once this step was taken, more valid assessments of the lands value could be made.

Laidlaw indicated at the meeting that the very qualities of this soil, in Lima township, which make it good agricultural land, are the same qualities which make it also suitable for the hard use a park of this nature would receive.

Regarding policies and methods of Huron-Clinton relative to land acquisition, Laidlaw indicated that it would take up to five years, depending in part on the availability of funds, to buy all the land needed for this proposed park.

Owners would be paid a fair market price based on appraisals by qualified appraisers. They hope not to, but the Huron-Clinton Authority has used condemnation in the past in order to acquire remaining parcels of land in a desired tract, at the same relative prices paid to others who sold earlier.

Jayettes Start Coupon Drive To Buy New Kidney Machine

Chelsea's Jaycee Auxiliary is beginning their new coupon collection program, for which they ask the support of the community. Under the title "Do Something, Help Save A Life," Jayettes hope to collect Betty Crocker Coupons found on the packages of General Mills items, to add towards the purchase of a new kidney machine.

Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary is a part of the District 22 of the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary. This District has saved more than 900,000 total points, which equals one and one-half kidney machines, which have been donated to the Michigan Kidney Foundation loan closet in Ann Arbor. "Operation Purchase," as it is called, is the largest state-wide assistance program the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary has undertaken. In less than two years, 8,060,000 total coupon points have been collected. This represents 18 machines, plus 250,000 points towards the 14th machine.

Chairman for this year's drive in Mrs. Arthur Steinaway, 2751 McKinley Rd. Residents are urged to look for the new containers with the "Do Something" posters on them, in which they may deposit their coupons.

Michigan Farm Bureau

★ Destiny Makers

When Elton R. Smith, president of Michigan Farm Bureau, requested a second for adjournment, delegate voices to make it official emerged from the rising throng preparing for the long drive home. The three day 1970 MFB annual meeting was adjourned and for the more than 1,400 delegates, members and guests it marked the creation of Michigan farm policy that men of the land will unitedly work for in '71.

President Smith, in his annual address at the mid-November meeting, stressed the need for an explosion of co-operation among all farmers in order to better accomplish the big off-the-farm jobs for the well being of agriculture.

And they need to be accomplished he warned because, "In this new decade, it could well be decided whether as farmers we will be led, as one leads a flock of sheep, or whether we farmers will continue to lead and be the controllers of our own destiny."

Challenges confronting the farmer, he said, include, saving good farm land for farming, working for property tax reform, curing farm labor problems and the need for more effective marketing cooperatives.

He said that farmers are still pioneers of the land, but unlike our forefathers of America, the farmer of today's frontier is with people, in educating them to the needs of their agriculture.

The agricultural leader and Caledonia farmer indicated that the well being of all farming, with its great quantity and quality of food that feeds the world, must be safeguarded carefully and intelligently by farm unity for the healthy growth of all.

Throughout the message folks listened intently and the magnitude and seriousness of their meeting was pinpointed even more when he said that in the next 30 years uncontrolled urban growth could destroy agricultural land in 20 of the best 22 farming counties in the state.

But throughout his message he underlined that farmers can have a successful future since farmers continue to join in common purpose in greater numbers each year. And with adjournment of the 1970 annual meeting, at the end of a hard three days of work, a new beginning for agriculture for '71 had begun.

Railroad Crossing Signal Repaired

Repairs to the Penn Central Railroad tracks caused a railroad crossing marker to be dismantled this past week, according to Robert Devine, spokesman for the company.

Work crews were re-lining the track at the East St. railroad crossing, when it became obvious that in order to complete their job, they had to take down the crossing lights, and semaphore. Once the new ties were in place, and the track back to normal, the workmen could replace the light.

Several days were necessary to complete the project. Devine indicated that this repair work completes repairs in Chelsea for the time being. There are no further work projects scheduled in the area at present.

We have been busy learning our number facts in Mathematics. We find it is fun to work with large numbers on the board.

Making turkeys and pictures for the hall bulletin board was fun, and we also made some turkeys for our room to remind us that Thanksgiving will soon be here.

We have had many animal visitors. John Helmer showed us his three baby rabbits, and Marcia Warren brought her dog to school.

The Billion Dollar Beer Mug

The Billion Dollar Beer Mug plays an important role in helping keep the American economy on the move, strong and dynamic! Before beer reaches the consuming public it employs 60,000 workers in the brewing industry alone and 1 million in collateral and support businesses and industries, paying $1.5 billion in state and federal excise taxes, over $2.7 billion in wages to employees, and distributors, and $1 billion for agricultural products and packaging. In Michigan and throughout the nation beer is good business.

Mrs. Ronald D. Haab

Jean Dansey Comes from England For Marriage to Ronald D. Haab

Miss Jean Dansey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dansey, of Harlow, in Essex, England, became the bride of Ronald D. Haab, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haab, of Grass Lake Rd., Friday, Nov. 13, at Zion Lutheran church. The Rev. John Morris officiated at the ceremony.

Wedding march was played by Mrs. Ernest Wenk, while Paul Schultz of Mt. Pleasant sang "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's street-length white crepe gown, featured a lace bodice, and lace sleeves. The empire waist met a floating back panel with Chantilly lace inserts. Her headpiece was a flower, surrounded with series of bows, and leaves, which were fashioned out of pearls. Her veil was illusion lace. She carried a bible, with a white orchid, with white streamers attached.
