Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

They is some pritty rough weather around the country right now, Mister Editor, and for some reason winter was on the mind of some of the fellers at the country store Saturday night. The session was give mostly to bits and snatches of fact and fiction, but they might of been a few grains in the chaff.

There was Ed Doolittle, fer instant, that allowed this is the time of year fer the hot stove league, in ever sport. Practical speaking, it is a time to say instead of do and folks, allus is more likely to join in til it comes to the doing.

Sitting around in the store, Ed said he recollected that Thomas Jefferson found time to invent while he was writing and saying all them things that made him famous. Ed said Jefferson invented the swivel chair, and sitting and talking being the relaxing sport. It is, he figured the swivel chair was a long way to be doing all the good old Thomas done. You give a man a swivel chair, said Ed, and he feels the call to set himself up as the head of everything. You walk in a bank and see the feller swinging his back in his chair and turning slow from one side to the other, and you may as well go look somewhere else fer help.

Zeke Grubb was agreed with Ed that dealing with a feller in a swivel chair is like shopping beans in the hop of a moving bottle. You can't pin down a man that keeps swinging ever which way. Furthermore, said Zeke, he was of a mind that taking swivel chairs out of offices of all politicians would go a long way to putting them to stick by their promises instead of swinging from one excuse to another.

Clem Webster said winter reminds him of the story of the feller that had a housefull of younguns. When he was ask why he kept having em, he said it was on account of the train. He said the freight rattled by his house ever morning at 4 o'clock and it was too early to get up and too late to go back to sleep. Clem said January is that train running through the year. It's too late to do all the things we didn't get done last year, and it's too early to get started on this year, so we just set and talk, was Clem's words.

weighed 40 pound. Ed got Zeke said he was reminded of the feller that claimed his catch was so big that it took the fish wagon 40 pound. Ed got Zeke on this board of directors of the liars club some years back, and the fellers was agreed fer good reason. Zeke's fish story hung to Ed's mind the feller that told the judge he got caught fer speeding cause he was in a hurry to get to his mother-in-law's house.

Like I said, Mister Editor, the session was used fer catching up loose ends. I hope the feller that hold that long week without their advice, say, Uncle Lew.

Abortion Fight Looms

For the third year in succession, members of the Michigan legislature will come face to face this year with the emotionally charged issue of abortion reform.

A bill to revamp the Michigan laws governing abortions, did each of the last two years in the Senate. But the votes which highly charged debates which left combatants on both sides of the killed the bill came only after Gone from the Senate floor this year is the lawmaker who has stood at the center of the abortion reform fight the past two years—State Sen. Lorraine Beebe.

Mrs. Beebe, the only woman member of the upper chamber, was defeated in a bid for re-election largely because of her beliefs on the abortion reform issue since she lived in a heavily Catholic district.

The battle is being carried in the Senate by State Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, who helped Mrs. Beebe on the measure in past years.

It is worthy of special note that this is the first time an active effort will be made to get an abortion reform bill passed by the House. It will be floor managed there by Rep. Richard Allen, R-Thaca, and its fate is uncertain.

The House Speaker William A. Ryan, a devout Roman Catholic, has promised a "hands off" approach when the bill goes through the chamber and no one is sure how the vote will go.

Bursley already has introduced his bill in the Senate and he is predicting success.

"I think there's a whole new atmosphere now," he said. "I believe the time is right this year, and we will see an abortion bill passed."

Bursley's bill would allow any Michigan woman to obtain an abortion for any reason up through the 15th week of pregnancy. If the woman was more than 16 weeks pregnant, an abortion would be permitted to save the life of the woman.

If the woman is single and under 18, the bill provides that her parents be asked for their consent. It also contains a residency requirement of 90 days in the state to prevent Michigan from becoming an "abortion mill."

If a bill of some sort does make it through both houses, it can be expected to be signed by Gov. William G. Milliken, who has come out in favor of a proposal along the lines of the Bursley bill.

To date, 22 other states have liberalized their laws within the past three years to varying degrees.

The biggest change was made in New York, which now allows a woman to have an abortion for any reason, and does not require that she be a resident of the state. The other changes range down to one approved in Mississippi which allows abortions to save a mother's life and in cases of rape.

The granting of autonomy to Oakland University has caused Michigan State University to drop from 11th to 15th place in its rank in size among American universities. MSU still is the largest school in Michigan, however, just edging out the University of Michigan, which ranks 16th nationally at the present time.

The granting of autonomy caused the MSU full-time enrollment to drop from 39,244 to 34,029. This puts it comfortably ahead of the U. of M. which has an enrollment of 31,388.

Also, in the top 30, in the nation is Wayne State which ranks 26th with an average enrollment of 22,370.

The figures, released by the educational journal, "School and Society," put the State University of New York in the top enrollment slot, with 209,375 students.

They also showed eight of the 10 largest schools in the top 20 schools in terms of size, with only Iowa and Northwestern missing. The largest Big Ten school is Wisconsin, which has 52,108 students.

THANK YOU

I wish to extend my thanks to my relatives and friends for the cards and calls while in the hospital and since my return home. Mrs. William Beach

RUG-HOOKING IS A VERY OLD CRAFT explains Mrs. Gerald (Helen) Canter, shown above as she works on an item of hookcraft for her home. Mrs. Canter instructs a class in this unusual technique for the Dexter Community Continuing Education Program. She says it involves making rugs for the home, using old woollens as well as new materials. The art of dyeing is part of the course, resulting in beautiful colors that are necessary. Her husband likes to supervise the dyeing process, she says, especially measuring the dry dye, using a 1/32 measuring spoon! Finished articles are considered heirlooms, but they are washable and priceless. Mrs. Canter trained under Pearl McGown, well-known teacher and designer from Massachusetts. The local instructor has exhibited her work at various shows and fairs, winning a number of ribbons and other awards. One of her latest award-winning pieces is an owl, titled "Lonely." This won first place in its category, entered with items from five states and Canada, at a Greenfield Village exhibit. Mrs. Canter's class meets Saturday mornings at Dexter High school. She is employed in the parasitology section of Parke-Davis, Ann Arbor.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Fred Hadley wishes to thank all their friends and relatives for their consideration during their time of bereavement.

The children of Fred Hadley.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all my friends for the cards, flowers, fruit, cookies, gifts, and Christmas money which I received while I was in the hospital. And also, I would like to thank Dr. Krausse, and all the nurses and aides for being so nice to me.

Thanks again,

VFW Post Entertains District Commander

VFW Post No. 4076 of Chelsea hosted Bill Goodwin, District Commander, of Lansing, at their last meeting.

Laurence Boyer represented the post at the Washtenaw County Council meeting held Monday night, Jan. 18 in Ann Arbor. Mac Packard represented the post at a district meeting held in Jackson on Jan. 10.

Local post and auxiliary members are holding a party at the Veterans' Hospital in Ann Arbor on Jan. 27, for the patients there. Jim Gaken and members of his band will furnish music for the entertainment there. Food will be furnished by the auxiliary, with Mrs. Mary Kniss as chairman.

The local post is paid up in dues, one hundred percent, it was reported.

Mrs. Goodwin was a guest of Mrs. Packard while the meeting was in session.

Theory is all right for the books, but it takes practical expression of ideals to make life better.

Fall in Battle of Free Throws

The third quarter was played very evenly with Dundee holding a 55-50 lead at the end. Jeff Hughes led the fighting Bulldogs in this period as he turned in his best game of the year. The Bulldogs began to find themselves in foul trouble as Howie Treado, Jim Wojcicki, and Jeff Hughes picked up their fourth fouls.

Wayne Welton led the drive for the Bulldogs in the fourth period as he hit on four long jump shots. But the Viking free throws were too much and the Bulldog record fell to 5-4.

Chelsea finished the game with four men scoring in the double figures, as Jim Wojcicki hit for 18, and Wayne Welton, 16. Ron Sweeny and Jeff Hughes each had 12.

The Bulldogs now wait until Friday to entertain Novi and then travel to Manchester for a non-league game on Saturday, Jan. 30.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

The Berlin wall of shame will forever be pictured in history with horror. The barricade of stone, barbed wire, electrified and mined, was designed not only to keep people from getting in or out of east and west zones, it also was built to curtail the minds of people. It succeeds in restricting travel. It failed to suppress the instincts of men. No such wall can suffocate a soul or prevent enlightened ideas from breaking through.

This is a lesson from history some people in our midst should remember. They are trying to build verbal walls to suppress individual freedom. They want the right to be heard on, their side of the wall but refuse the right of others to be heard on the other side of the wall. They want to create their own walled-in domain to house their demands. Our national attitude of permissiveness that allows hecklers to shout loud catcalls and obscenities at public officials needs a change. Our Bill of Rights protecting free speech provides a right to build bridges for communication. It does not provide a right to build walls to silence communication. . . . ## Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Congratulations to the Chelsea Jaycees on their selection of Dr. J. V. Fisher as the community's outstanding leader. I know of no one more deserving of the award. Dr. Fisher is one of those rare people who is truly dedicated BOTH to his profession and community.

Sincerely yours,
Frederick L. Barkley.

To the Editor,

I read, with great interest, though I must admit, some bewilderment, the letter submitted to the editor last week by a member of the Love Generation. I don't know the author but she sounds like a bright, intelligent young girl with good ideals and a good goal in life.

However, there are some things I don't quite understand about your philosophy. As a member of The Establishment, I guess I am not enlightened enough. Please believe me, I am not against you kids in any way. I am only puzzled by you.

One of the things I don't quite understand is your definition of the word "love." I guess your generation and ours have different meanings for this word.

It looks to me like the Love Generation has no love for parents or home, little love for their country and they don't confess to much love for God. What does this leave? Their own kind? This is no great ideal, to love someone in your own image, with your own ideals, and who agrees with you completely. But how do you like your own kind? By giving your friend a joint of marijuana or selling him a fix? I am confused as to why you are the "Love Generation."

You mentioned in your letter that we parents are narrow-minded. You want to be different, open-minded. I would like to be enlightened on the definition of the words, open-minded, as you see it. We are trying to understand you, to see your point of view. Can you say the same? Are you trying to understand us and our values? It seems to me that you can see only your own side of things and are not open-minded to anyone else's views. If you cannot see anyone else's view except your own, how are you planning to create world peace without war. As you go through life everyone is not going to see eye to eye with you, and you cannot iron out the world's problems if you won't even listen to them or discuss them. Of course I may be wrong. I have four teen-agers of my own but I must admit I am confused on this issue also.

Then we come to pollution. I agree with you that our generation and those before us have really made a mess of things. But please, let's be fair. We did these things out of ignorance and not because we did not love our kids or wanted to harm them. And in all honesty you must admit that we now realize this and are trying to remedy our mistakes.

You said in your letter that your generation would not kill your children by polluting the air. So why don't you stop? And in spite of all your knowledge you still kill and maim your unborn children by drug abuse. Ignorance is our excuse—What is yours?

Now we come to wars. I agree with you that we have made a mess of things in this category also. But let's be open-minded. We did not go to war purposely to harm you but only in a mistaken belief that we were going to make a better world for you. We, and your grandparents before us and your forefathers going way back to the Pilgrims have had this same ideal, the same as you, a peaceful world. I guess we goofed, but then you must admit that your forefathers did build a great nation with all of their mistakes. I hope your generation will continue to build rather than to continue to destroy.

You preach love and the end to war. Yet in your first two paragraphs of your letter you seemed to be lining up sides in preparation for battle, the Love Generation against The Establishment. We are not your enemies. Let's try to co-operate and work together to build rather than destroy.

You seem to be very antagonistic towards us. How do you see us really? As old fogeys who got up day after day, year after year, and chugged off in our autos (purposefully polluting the air) to go to work to support the kids you seem to think we hated.

Now how do some (not all) of you look to us? Unwashed bodies, long hair, bare feet—(talk about pollution) walking about preaching love and living off what The Establishment has provided. Now I know what you are going to say. "We are not all like that." I agree. But we old folks are not all alike either. We have many different sets of values and morals. So don't jump us all together and stereotype us as you don't want us to do you. You said you would be better than us. You should be. You have more knowledge, more education, more advantages and are more in touch with world affairs than we ever were. You have all the tools (bought by The Establishment) that are necessary to create a fine new world. You have the opportunity to profit from our mistakes.

I hope you don't feel that I am against you kids. On the contrary I highly approve of the majority of you. You have high ideals (we did, too, at your age) and if you practice what you preach we should see some changes made. And please be open-minded with The Establishment. We are not your enemies, only greatly confused, and most of us are trying to understand you. All I can say in our defense is—"Help."

From a baffled
Member of The Establishment.

TEACHER TOPICS

As a teacher and a parent in this community, I see great things happening to bind and close the understanding gap between school and home.

The new teacher aid program which the elementary school association is starting, will make a very strong bond where the parent can share his talent with the teacher in helping to further the children's education. Such activities as tutoring, art work, reading stories, and office work are only a few ways that an interested parent can share his time to help and work with the children. Time and a real concern of wanting to give your talent could flow into a very warm relationship in our school and town. Some schools in Michigan have collected these talents and used them in a club situation with the children. Mrs. Irene Mann, an elementary counselor from Royal Oak talked to our Chelsea teachers during our special MEA about the fine results that have come about from people in her community giving their instruction in such school clubs as cooking, grooming, notecards, cheer leading, sewing, painting, biology and many more.

Mrs. Mann said these children choose the club themselves and as a result there is no discipline problem and a lot of learning with good results. In our own Junior High school, the community had a chance to see and participate in a book fair and art show. We were very proud to see the fine group that turned out for that successful affair.

Isn't the whole answer found in three words, "giving our time" to make the first move. Parents can help put school projects across with our typewriters, sewing machines, telephones, our understanding and encouragement. If we are parents that show a real interest in our children we will find time to know their teachers as dedicated people that they have to be in order to be successful in the teaching field.

As the old hymn goes, "Take time to be holy" let us all take time to be interested, concerned and helpful to each other.

Mary Lou Bower.

Chelsea's junior varsity fought back into the winning column Friday evening, Jan. 15, with a 58-53 victory over the Saline Little Hornets.

Although the Hornets shot for a better percentage from the floor, and the line than Chelsea, the Bullpup cagers out-rebounded Saline by 12 while taking 21 more shots from the floor.

Chelsea got off on the right foot, taking a 12-8 first quarter lead, and held onto a 25-24 half-time edge. Saline came storming back after the intermission to outscore Chelsea, 17-8, and claim a third period lead, but the Bulldog cagers, undaunted by the eight point deficit, staged a fourth quarter rally and took over the lead with less than three minutes left in the game.

Bruce Guster turned in a fine offensive performance, as he tallied 21 points, grabbed seven rebounds, and did a fine job of ball handling.

Tim Treado led Chelsea on the boards, grabbing 16 rebounds, while scoring 12 points and stealing seven Saline passes.

Dan Bertke was the number two rebounder for the Bulldogs, climbing the boards for 14 caroms. He was followed by Dan Boham, who totaled eight rebounds.

Other scorers for Chelsea were Bertke, with 10; Boham with six; Chris Phinney, with five, and Jeff Daniels, with four.

Tomorrow evening, Friday, Chelsea will play Dexter, and on Saturday they will play Dundee. Both games are away and will start at 6:30 p.m. This will be the Bullpups first match against Dexter, and their second against Dundee. The Dundee game marks the start of the second half of the basketball season. Chelsea won the last game against Dundee, 45-41.

Line score:

Chelsea ..... 12 13 8 25-58

Freedom To Market

In labor-management confrontations industry abides by the National Labor Relations Act. Agriculture, however, is not provided with any such law. Farmers literally take a beating and fail to get justice because of the inability of present laws.

But justice is being sought by 12 Arizona table grape growers. They are leading an effort by filing a $3 million suit against the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, UFWOC, an affiliate of the AFL-CIO.

The core of the struggle is from UFWOC's alleged violation of the Sherman Anti-trust Act, Arizona anti-trust and anti-boycott laws, and interference with common law rights. It also seeks injunctive relief from any further boycotting, according to the complaint.

Support could be forthcoming from a recent Supreme Court decision. Anti-trust evidence often difficult to prove could become easier as the high court has clamped new restraints on unions that exert pressure on a neutral employer or other third party. The more clearly defined restrictions as reported in the Wall Street Journal is that secondary boycotts now violate the law even when not completely successful in halting the sale of products by a neutral company.

According to the Arizona grower complaint, UFWOC enlisted the support of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America and the Retail Clerks International Association and various locals of the two unions in pressuring wholesalers, jobbers and retail grocery stores into refusing to handle or sell table grapes from the growers. Arizona growers not only were shut out of the market, but the consumers were deprived of the opportunity to buy fresh table grapes.

Agriculture is still like a lamb in the woods. Legislation is clearly needed to calm our turbulent marketplace. And farmers, as much as anyone, deserve equal rights as guaranteed by the Constitution. Farmers are less than five percent of the population, but this does not shrink the injustice of the lack of national protection which other industries enjoy.

Each American should concern himself. Virtually any product at the grocer's is vulnerable to union manipulation. The UFWOC monopoly on harrasment must be curbed. Let us hope that the outcome to the struggle of the Arizona farmers will pave the way for all farmers in bringing freedom to the marketplace.

EXPANDING

In Kingston, Jamaica, industrial projects accounted for more than half the loans approved by the Jamaica Development Bank in its first year of operation.

CUB SCOUTS BRAVE COLD: Erik Pichlik, seated, and Michael Payne, bundled up against the cold, wait hungrily for the coffee can stew, on the fire, to cook. The stew which is meat, a diced carrot, and a diced potato with some onion and water is an old camper's trick, and, warmed in the fire, provided the boys with a hearty hot meal. The Pack cookout, for Cubs and dads, took place Saturday afternoon, Jan. 23, at Camp Newkirk near Dexter.

Cub Scout Pack Enjoys Camp-Out

Saturday, Jan. 23, marked the event of Cub Scout Pack 445's winter cook-out. Boys and their dads assembled at Camp Newkirk, outside of Dexter, and prepared, stew cooked in coffee cans over an open wood fire.

After finishing lunch and a game of football, the Cubs and dads assembled for a nature presentation by Tom Hodgson, one of the state Department of Natural Resources officers assigned to the Waterloo Recreation Area.

After showing the Cubs examples of wildlife in this area, Officer Hodgson took the boys on a nature hike along the Huron River. Many small animals and plants in their winter forms, were located and found interesting to the 33 Cubs and fathers who attended.

The cook-out and hike were especially exciting for the Webelos because they marked the beginning of a week-end camp-out at the Scout Camp. Attending the campout were Webelos Keven Heller, Tim Bareis, Mike Rowe, Karl Bell, Tim Bareis, Dennis Thompson, Bobby Luck, Andy Pitzner, and George Bentley.

Fathers who assisted were Cubmaster Jerry Heller, Pete Pitzer, Oscar Bareis, and Al Luck. Young Tom Stock and Jeff Asmusen, adults assisting the dads were. Highlights of the camp-out included the cook-out and nature hike with the Cubs, archery shooting and a fun-filled evening involving a cow in the cabin.

Ice skating and tobogganing were the main events, and later they played some pool.

The Rev. and Mrs. Siebert from St. Paul church, and their guest, Piero Santagostino, a student at the University of Michigan, and a native of Italy, attended the event. "Santagostino found himself right at home with his native language. He enjoyed the visit very much with the fathers and the sisters, all of whom are from Italy.

Hot chocolate and donuts were served. This was the first visit the school had ever received from St. Paul United Church of Christ, and it was a very rewarding experience. Officials at the school indicated that they hoped for more social contact with the church in the future.

Later that evening, the Senior Pilgrim Fellowship Youth Group under the direction of Ron Sweezy came for a social hour. They played records and danced and had some contests, and also played some basketball. They passed a treat around to all the boys.

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1971

OLD MAN WIND-ER blew this winder out at the Stop & Shop supermarket on Tuesday. Gusts caused the temperature in the store to be quite chilly before the "open air-market" could be reconverted into a supermarket. Among the casualties of the day were the signs in front of both The Pub, and Gambles Store. A most spectacular gust took half of the large illuminated sign that overlooks the expressway at E. C. Shell station, on M-52 at I-94.

THE BIG WIND which blew into town Tuesday morning, blew out the window at the Laundromat located on M-52. Witnesses of the scene said the glass simply shattered into the building at approximately 7:30 a.m. Peak gust for the day was tallied by the U. S. Weather Bureau at Metropolitan Airport as 55 mph, while the average gusts for the day were mild breezes of 41 mph.

JUNIOR HIGH NOTES

Seventh and eighth grade classes are sponsoring a "nickel carnival" from 3:30 p.m. until 5 Friday afternoon, Jan. 29. Purpose of the project, which will be held in the cafeteria, is to raise money to go to the play "School for Wives," which is playing at the University of Michigan. Mrs. Jane Cummings, French teacher at the Junior high is sponsor of both projects.

Booths at the carnival will include a slave auction, where seventh and eighth grade students may be purchased for a day, a fortune telling booth, a grab bag stand, and a "jail" where for a nickel a person may have anyone locked up for 10 minutes. To get out of jail, a nickel's bond must be posted. Activities at the carnival will be an updated version of "Pin the Tail on the Donkey," the old "Drop the Clothes Pin in the Bottle" trick, a penny throw, and a clown booth.

Seventh and eighth grade students in the band will be traveling to Livonia on Saturday, Jan. 30. They will compete against other students at their same level in playing instrumental solos and ensembles. The students at Beach school are all busily at work practicing for the big event.

A new activity schedule is scheduled to start Tuesday, Jan. 26. This schedule will run for nine weeks, when the students will be allowed to choose another activity. Two of last term's activities have been changed, although several more have been added.

There will be no school on Friday, Jan. 29. The semester ended this week.

Steve Bennett,
Junior High school reporter.

Phoebe Circle Holds Meeting at Methodist Home

Phoebe Circle of the United Methodist church of Chelsea met at the Methodist Home Jan. 20 for a pot-luck dinner at 12:30 p.m. Twenty-one members of the circle were in attendance and 12 members of the Home were guests.

Mrs. T. Solomonson and Mrs. W. Coffron were co-hostesses. Mrs. Lyman Adams baked and presented a birthday cake to Mrs. Mabel Ariz who will celebrate her 95th birthday Jan. 31.

Mrs. Ben Donaldson, chairman, called the meeting to order and introduced the guests.

Mrs. Irma Van Valkenburg and Mrs. Lillian Heppeler became new circle members.

Several members expressed their desire to remain on the prayer chain list and others wanted their names added.

Mrs. Robert Harris gave the devotion. She read the 13th chapter of First Corinthians on "Love." Prayer was offered and members joined in saying "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Harris gave a report on the Heart and Hand House located in Phillip, W. Va. It is a mission to an Appalachian area and sponsored by the United Methodist Church.

Directors of the Heart and Hand House are the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Gutschman. They state that the purpose is to help people who need help. Their work covers an area of 50 to 60 miles at the present time.

Important needs for this area are children's shoes, baby layettes and good used clothing, blankets and other bedding. Discussion followed the talk.

It was decided to take an offering to be used toward purchasing some shoes or boots for children. $25 was collected and has been sent to the Heart and Hand House.

The Feb. 17 Circle meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harris, with Mrs. Floyd Roderick as co-hostess.

Mrs. James Gaunt will present the program, on the Delta Ministry.

Mrs. Calvin Summers opened the business meeting with a prayer. Sunshine chairman, Mrs. Edwin Gaunt, reported on sending many greeting cards to the shut-ins, and also flowers to Mrs. Dillman Wahl who had been in the hospital but is now home.

Mrs. Dan Ewald reported on the retreat for the Junior High to be held Feb. 5, 6 and 7, at the Methodist church. At the next meeting, Feb. 17, members are to bring discarded Christmas cards, which will be taken to the Methodist Home.

Mrs. Summers turned the program over to Mrs. Dan Ewald, who opened the program with a poem, "The Best Is Yet to Come." Program theme was how the middle life prepares for later years.

Meeting closed with a chain prayer.

TODDY and FRAN There's nothing wrong with January except it's a let-down, dull, depressing, cold, windy, slushy and unpredictable. Nothing we can do about much of this except make it easier for you to bear. To beat the weather bit, choose our salon where you park adjacent to the door, free and easy, and the wind and the so-called rain in your new hairdo is minimized if not eliminated. As for the depressing let-down, you don't need your beauty counselor to tell you what a fresh hairdo does to offset that! Do you? We'd love to prove our point.

CROSSHATCHED AREAS indicate the off-limits areas for snowmobilers who are now allowed to operate their vehicles within the Waterloo Recreation Area. For those in doubt, Park Supervisor Glenn Kraai suggests they stop by the ranger station and pick up a copy of the map, and ask directions from the ranger on duty. A description of the areas excluded from open snowmobiling is included with the article.

Snowmobile Operators Gain Privileges on State Lands

Snowmobilers are finally in door areas used for conservation education are still off-limits, officials claim.

According to Park Supervisor of the Waterloo Recreation Area, Glenn Kraai, areas that are off-limits in Waterloo Area include hunting lands, campgrounds, outdoor conservation areas, and the favorite tobogganer's area, Sack-rider Hill.

Kraai also stated that a ground cover of at least four inches of snow is required before there can be any snowmobiling in the park.

Those who have questions concerning adequate snow cover may call the Ranger Station, 475-8307, to check. Areas that are off-limits are posted around the perimeter, Kraai indicated.

The park supervisor cautioned to those winter sports fans who enjoy whipping through the woodlands on their motorized sleds that the newly-opened lands will be unfamiliar to many riders, and he advised common sense, and safety precautions to those traveling through the woods for the first time.

Police Apprehend Hit-Run Driver

The Chelsea Police department wrapped up yet another mystery on Wednesday, Jan. 27. Patrolman McDougall of the Chelsea force at that time apprehended the driver who, on Jan. 18, hit the car belonging to Frederick Fairbrother, 8275 Clear Lake Rd., Grass Lake, and ran. The offender, Miss Nancy Lee Pugh, 28, 7711 Ann Arbor Rd., Dexter, struck Fairbrother's car as it was parked on Washington St., and panicked, speeding away from the scene.

An anonymous tip alerted Chelsea police to the name and location of Miss Pugh, which led to her apprehension. Taken to court, Miss Pugh pled guilty, and paid $54 fine and costs for leaving the scene of a property damage accident. Approximately $540 worth of damage was done to Fairbrother's car, officials stated.

For every minute that passes, two Americans die of heart and blood vessel diseases; every day, more than 2,700 die; every year over 600,000 perish of heart attack, and 200,000 die of stroke, says the Michigan Heart Association, a Michigan United fund agency.

First Violations Ticket Is Issued To Snowmobiler

Chelsea Police Department Patrolman Schneider nabbed the village's first snowmobiling offender, Friday evening, Jan. 22. Apprehended on W. Middle St. was Norman Fletcher, of North St. Fletcher was ticketed on a charge of operating an unregistered snowmobile.

Chelsea police took the occasion to remind all citizens of the village that snowmobiles may not cross private property within the village (except with permission of the owner), nor may they cross lawn extensions. They must be registered if operated off the premises of the owner, and they must display their registration numbers on both sides of the vehicle, in compliance with state law. All snowmobiles operated at night must have visible head and tail lights.

The venerable law officers also cited a village ordinance, No. 8 (passed in 1896), which requires that all residents and business people must remove all ice and snow from the sidewalks in front of their home or business establishment. Violators of this ordinance are liable for prosecution, civil and criminal, for failure to comply with the ruling.

Personal Notes

Mrs. Eva Dancer of Lima Center spent several days this past week with her sister Mrs. Ezra Heininger of Four Mile Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Notten of Notten Rd., spent Friday afternoon with his sister, Mrs. Ezra Heininger.

Consumers Help Restore Electric Power

Some of the citizens of Chelsea may still be wondering if they should resurrect an old pot belly stove and a supply of firewood after the interruptions in electric service that occurred Jan. 11 and 20.

According to Village Administrator, Frederick Weber, the first electric interruption was an Act of God. It was caused by failure of a piece of equipment in the village power system. There is no way of knowing when such equipment will fail, but usually power interruptions are not caused by failures of this equipment.

The morning of Jan. 11, Consumers Power Co. was called to help. They responded immediately with a crew and aerial basket truck. After assessing the extent of the trouble, another crew was called to bring the necessary equipment to make a temporary repair to restore service.

During that week, the village contracted a private contractor to furnish and install new equipment to replace that which failed. Then, on Jan. 20, Consumers Power Co. crews were scheduled to return and remove their temporary equipment and restore service through the new equipment.

In the past 20 years—a time when medical research has been at its highest—the heart attack death rate for persons under 65 years has declined by 20 percent. The Michigan Heart Association, a Michigan United Fund agency, has earmarked half its income for research.

Record sales mean record resale value.

People are going for Duster in record numbers. Sales are up 58% for first quarter-'71 model year. And if you think we're loading the dice, last year they were 181% ahead of comparable sales the year before. Which is a big reason why Plymouth's small cars are leaders in their field in resale value.

They've certainly had time enough to learn by now. That with compacts, it's not just the low price but how much value comes through for the low price that really counts. And when you compare our Duster to their Vega you'll see what "Coming Through" is all about. Because Duster not only has more room, more trunk, bigger tires and brakes, and more power than Vega; it's still as easy on gas as it is on your budget. The big difference between Duster and Vega? Come through our place and see for yourself. It's not the price.
