4 Junior High Boys Admit Taking Drugs

Wide-spread rumors of alleged drug use at the junior high school level in Chelsea were partially confirmed this past week in an incident which occurred Tuesday, May 25, at Beach school.

Four boys, ages 13 and 14 years, admitted to taking a half a pill each of a substance which was allegedly "microdot," supposedly a mild form of LSD. The incident came to light when one of the four became sick to his stomach, and reported to the clinic to be taken home. At home he told his mother he had taken the pill, and that it caused dizziness, and his stomach problems.

Three other boys, who had been with the boy in question, were then called into the principal's office, where they admitted to having taken the pills. None of the others reported any other symptoms other than minor dizziness.

The true identity of the pills could not be determined as all had been consumed by the boys, Chelsea police report.

A petition in Juvenile Court has been started regarding the 16-year-old boy who allegedly sold the pills to the youths. Chelsea police report that the same boy was formerly selling common parsley to local young people under the title of "marijuana."

No other action is being taken at this time, according to the police.

Beach School Bands Plan Public Concert

Class of 21 Confirmed At St. Paul's

Twenty-one young people were confirmed Sunday, May 30, at St. Paul United Church of Christ. Affirming their vows of faith and membership in the church were Carol Schroen, Cheryl Stepp, Sam Trachet, Terri Jones, A. J. Hale, Leonard Koch, Vicki Koch, Michelle Maistre, Fay Weirich, Gary Wellnitz, Karl Gauss, Julie Skittens, Dan White, John Wagner, Linda Shadon, Kathy Hart, Tim Guenther, Don Messner, Debbie Bertke, Brook Rasmussen, and Joanne Schneider.

The service culminated 36 weeks of training which was so successful this year, that according to pastor, the Rev. Warner Siebert, the program has been included in the "United Church Herald," national organ of the United Church of Christ.

Finals for this year's program occurred last Wednesday. The young people led family and guests in a worship service at 7 p.m., after which a team of class members met with groups of the church council, Board of Christian Education, and Youth Division Church School teachers, for a review of their academic year. They then presented their "Confirmation Projects," which included the creation of two hymns, one with music, which was recorded; a model of a contemporary church, architectural drawings of an old cathedral; a drug and cigarette display; surveys of churches within the community, including pictures; dioramas, charts, church member and confirmation surveys; and in-depth studies of St. Paul's structure, organization and constitution.

A reception, provided by the Women's Fellowship then honored the class and their accomplishments.

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

Last week I indicated that I would devote several reports to spelling out the major elements of the new welfare reform proposal of the House Ways and Means Committee.

President Nixon has called the present system a "monstrous, consuming outrage." It is scorned by California's Governor Ronald Reagan, as "a cancer eating at our vitals," and by Mayor John Lindsay, who sees it chewing up the city of New York. This living monster costs $14 billion annually and is getting costlier every day. You would think it would be easy to sink that kind of system, but it hasn't happened yet. President Nixon tried with the Family Assistance Plan and the House agreed, but that revolutionarily proposal foundered in the Senate. Now the House Ways and Means Committee has reported a bill that is equally as far-reaching and could become as controversial. But in my opinion its basic proposals are worthy of support and it would be unfortunate for the predictable censures from the right and left to undermine the prospect for welfare reform.

The bill's committee bill already has been given a prestigious and justifiable designation—H.R. 1. It tackles head-on the monumental task of dismantling and restructuring the present federal-local hodge-podge welfare system that has bankrupted cities, broken up families, and inflicted countless suffering on children across this land.

Sadly I must report that welfare benefits vary widely from state to state. Some are generous, while others are wholly inadequate. This pattern has had much to do with the migration of the poor from rural to urban sectors. A major criticism of the welfare system is that the working poor are severely penalized for holding jobs, while those who do not work, are better off financially by staying on welfare rolls. H.R. 1 goes to the heart of this difficulty by pursuing the benefit standardization and work requirements of the original Family Assistance plan.

What this bill will do is to reject the old myths of welfare for a better solution by separating those who can work from those who can't work, and stipulating that those who can hold jobs do so. This is the essential element of meaningful reform and is the only way we will succeed in bringing people back into the mainstream of society.

Another chief advantage is the built-in protection for states insofar as caseload is concerned. This clause simply states that no state would have to pay a higher welfare bill than it did during 1971. If more money was needed, the federal government would pick up the tab.

I believe the House committee acted judiciously when it decided in favor of the standard national federal benefit of $2400, rather than some kind of flexible regional cost of living formula. This ought to have the effect of stabilizing migration.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I saw in the paper the other day where this letter writer was taking newspapers to the woodshed for not printing enough good news. The letter said the papers had ought to print some bad news and all kind of bad news that was poison to the minds of our younguns.

Well, Mister Editor, I ain't about to tell you your business, but I am strong of the mind that this letter writer was trying to tell the wrong word. It ain't the papers that the problem, it's them that making all the bad news.

For instant, a few weeks back the papers told the good news about President Nixon holding a White House salute to agriculture and how the President was praising the farmers and ranchers for a 300 percent increase in output in the last 20 year. The President said America needs a strong agriculture economy, and that farmers deserve a better deal on what they produce.

But there was some bad news, and the papers reported it to. Farmers all over the country are unhappy with falling farm prices and rising prices everywhere else. They don't think Nixon is doing nothing about their problems but talk, and they say talk is cheaper than hog prices. Some farmers told reporters they figured Nixon was priming the pump for 1972, and he was going to have to do more than talk to get their votes.

This same letter writer said the papers made to big a deal out of Red China giving our ping pong players the red carpet treatment, but it seems to me that's the good news he said they wasn't enuff of. In the long run, I think the readers decide what the papers give a lot of attention to, just as shore as them that go to moving pictures decide what kind of movies are made.

For shore, Mister Editor, if nobody went to them XXX rated shows, they wouldn't be around very long. I'm not saying the papers is like movies, but it's a fact that bad news is read with more interest than good news.

The fellers were talking about this at the country store, and Zeke Grubb said he saw where this radio station in Virginia had tried to just use good news, and everybody found it so boring they had to go back to the regular run of good and bad to keep listeners and to sell time on the air.

Zeke was of the mind they had ought to be news of all kinds, but he said he was glad that bad news still is the exception instead of the rule, so natural people feller it closer. Lord help us, said Zeke, if good news gets scarcer.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

One House Pushed

Amidst all the talk one hears now days about making government more efficient and more accountable, one member of the legislature is pushing a proposal which he thinks could accomplish both things at the same time.

State Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, thinks Michigan ought to reduce the size of its legislature by eliminating one of the houses and having a one house legislature.

Though the idea is a strange one to most Michiganders, all 10 of the Canadian provinces function with only one house legislature. In this country, the state of Nebraska has been operating with only one house since 1937 and its residents like it just fine.

Under Swallow's proposal, Michigan would have a one house legislature made up of four persons from each of the state's Congressional districts. Since the state now has 10 Congressmen, the legislature would have 76 members.

All 76 members would be elected at the same time as the Governor.

"This would permit the people, on one occasion, to take a look at their state government and make a decision whether the government is doing a good job or a bad job," he says. "Some people argue we should split it, with half elected every two years. But that further complicates the situation as far as the citizen is concerned."

Swallow says the main reason for switching to a one-house setup is to make it easier for the citizen to watch what is going on in Lansing.

"Today, nobody has an opportunity to show what they can do or cannot do," he says. "If things don't work out, each party blames the other, especially now that the two houses are controlled by different parties. The poor citizen is confused."

"I sense a real feeling among people that they're losing their faith in government," he says. "They're questioning the credibility and effectiveness of the legislature. One house would give them a much better idea of what their government is doing."

The Constitutional Convention considered a one house legislature briefly in 1962 and then voted it down.

The main backer at Con Con was University of Detroit law professor Harold Norris. Norris also argued such a move would simplify government.

"Two house legislatures are more confused than deliberative," he said during the debate on the subject. "They frustrate rather than express the popular will."

Two houses manipulate and render citizens impotent and apathetic rather than reflect, or responsibly influence, the consent of the governed."

Swallow is fighting an uphill battle and he knows it. He needs nearly 300,000 signatures on petitions to get the issue on the 1972 ballot, since the legislature is not about to put on the ballot a proposal which would eliminate 72 of the seats which now exist.

Part of the difficulty in raising an organization is the fact that so many people who might help run a petition drive can't afford to offend the current members of the legislature, since they are interested in pending legislation.

"I can't count the number of people who have told me, 'you know, I think you've got a good idea there. But I can't help you because of that bill I'm interested in,'" Swallow says. "Getting the momentum is the toughest part," Swallow says. "When we get 200,000 signatures, people will see it as a serious effort, and they'll be more willing to support it."

More Money Wanted
The Michigan Tourist Council thinks the state ought to be spending a lot more to promote tourism than it is.

The council recently released figures showing Michigan ranks 32nd among the nation's states in terms of the money it spends per capita to promote tourism. And it said if the current budget of $1.1 million were doubled it would still only put the state 24th in the rankings.

Council Chairman Aubrey Strohpaul of Grand Rapids said the tourist budget last year generated $136 billion in tourist spending, of which $95 million was returned to the state treasury in taxes.

"That is a profit ratio of around $90 returned for every one dollar invested," he says. "In private business that would be regarded as an incredible formula for instant success."

Michigan's $1.1 million expenditure averages out to 12 cents per citizen. The leading state in spending per citizen is Hawaii, which spends $2.63 for each resident. Wyoming is a close second with $2.46 while Alaska is third with $1.89 and Vermont, fourth, $1.09.

Athletes Cited At All-Sports Spring Banquet

Members of the Chelsea spring athletic teams and their coaches and parents gathered Friday evening, May 21, for the annual Spring Athletic Banquet. Approximately 175 to 200 persons attended the pot-luck dinner affair, which hosted members of the school's track, tennis, golf, and baseball teams.

Following dinner, coaches presented awards to their top athletes. Coach Bert Kruse introduced members of his track team, and presented a four-year varsity letter to senior Larry Gorton. Third-year awards winners were seniors, George Cameron, Mitchell Heard, and Dale Robbins. Winning a letter in track for the third year, also were juniors Mark Collins, Dan Hoover, Jon Lantis, David Porath, and Randy Seitz. Second-year winners were juniors Kim Aronson, Dave Buxton, Roger Fitch, Jeff Hughes, Tom McKernan, and sophomores Bruce Guster, and Tim Lancaster. Winning their first Bulldog track award were sophomores Lee Ferguson, James McGinn, Chris Phinney, and freshmen Craig Coltre, and Jeff Marshall. Steve Wordon was the recipient of the Junior Varsity certificate.

Chelsea's track team finished first in the Southeastern Conference this year, for the fourth time in the past five years. Baseball Coach Carl Genske introduced members of his team, although he did not present the awards at that time. The baseball season has not yet ended, and the coach wished to wait until that time to present his awards.

Golf Coach Pat Wade introduced his team, which also took top honors in the Southeastern Conference this year. Winning a varsity letter for the third year was Mike Powers, senior. Second-year winners were juniors Dave Powers, Glen Musolf, and Mark Policht. Seniors Jim Wojcieki, and Jack McClellan, as well as sophomore Don Conklin, took first-year varsity credits.

Junior varsity players cited were juniors Tim Merkel, Ken Kusterer, and sophomores Craig Alten, Jeff Barnes, Randy Young, Tom Skitenhelm, Dan Houle, Bill Hanson, Mike Merkel, and Jeff Schmidt. Dennis Raymond, tennis coach at the high school, introduced his team to those present. Tennis is not yet a varsity sport at Chelsea, so no letters were given to team members. This is the first year that Chelsea has had a tennis team, and Raymond expressed great hopes for the team's future at the school.

Washington — President Nixon said recently the United States will strengthen its nuclear striking force if the current Soviet slowdown in missile deployment proves a prelude to a new Russian arms push. ## Rod Powers Saves Life of Accident Victim

Rod Powers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powers, 12930 Scio Church Rd., was credited with the saving of a life in an accident which occurred Friday morning, May 28 on the I-94 expressway, just west of the Saline-Ann Arbor Rd.

Powers, who is a truck driver for Chelsea Heat Treat Co., was headed east on the expressway when two large semi trucks collided in the westbound lane. One of the trucks struck the rear of the second truck, which was parked by the side of the road. The first truck caught fire immediately and threw the driver, and a 19-year-old passenger out of the flaming cab. The passenger, Wayne Scott, whose address is unknown, was thrown into a mass of burning debris between the two vehicles.

Parking his truck on his side of the expressway, Powers ran to the scene of the accident, where he found the passenger enveloped in flames. Taking a blanket from the cab of the other truck, he put it over himself and crept up to the man, pulling him from the burning wreckage. He then extinguished the fire on his clothes. Both the driver of the truck, Raymond Savoy, of St. Catherine, Ont., and Scott were taken to the University Hospital, where they were listed in serious condition.

These words appear on the National Memorial Arch at Valley Forge, Pa.

In these few phrases, we have the hopes of the entire colonial nation—the reason they searched for freedom—that yet unborn generations of Americans may enjoy the liberty and progress of a Democratic Union. Yet today, we look around and cannot help but wonder what this country is coming to. It seems as though every newspaper contains stories of radical-influenced campus unrest, drug abuse, racial tensions, strikes, protests, crime, and other all-too-bright illustrations of the United States of America on its way down hill.

In a Democracy, the minority

No, many other nations do not permit as much freedom as the United States. In fact, at the first session of the United Nations General Assembly in 1946, the Soviet Union was trying to establish international controls for returning all refugees from Soviet-dominated lands. Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt was the U. S. delegate at the time. She pleaded for tolerance, saying the refugees had the freedoms of thought and religious belief, according to the dictates of their own consciences.

The reply of the Soviet delegate was that nobody has freedom. He said that freedom is an empty word. He said it's futile to talk about freedom because everyone's freedom is restricted by law, and therefore, in effect, there is no freedom except as the state, by law, permits it.

Well, in a way he was right. Civilized communities restrict or qualify man's freedom by law. But what the Soviet delegate completely ignored was the DEGREE of freedom allowed by a Democracy versus the DEGREE of freedom allowed by Communism. In a Democracy, freedom is voluntarily restricted by law so that all men may benefit from it. If the legislature should enact laws which the majority of the citizens consider unfair, they may be repealed. This does not hold true for Communism.

Under Communism, only certain people are subject to certain laws. In a Democracy, all people are subject to all laws. According to the Due Process of Law, no citizen may be deprived of his life, liberty or his property, except as a punishment for a crime, and then only when a fair trial has been granted.

The Bill of Rights recognizes, not grants freedoms and forbids the government to take them away. Yes, a Democracy is the best form of government, which is evident by the fact the United States is the greatest world power today. But, even so, to be successful, the people must support the government.

Today we see examples of the people working against the government, people trying to destroy the American Way of Life. From these examples, it's a wonder that the United States of America still exists. But not all people are like the ones who work against the country. Even though these people seem to be imposing a great threat on the country, they are members of a minority, a group of people who are trying to escape today's world with the problems it possesses. They are afraid to face themselves and the rest of the world. They are afraid to fight for true freedom. Instead, they fight for what looks like freedom on the outside, but is really a disguise for Communism, or a dictatorship. These people are a minority who preach "power to the people," but fail to see that the people do have the power. The people are who run the country. I've shown you a minority who shall never inherit the United States as long as members of the so-called "Silent Majority" still face up to the world and come to grips with the problems of today with a clear, undrugged mind!

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Most men shie away from the dubious distinction, "Jack of all trades, master of none." Very few men are qualified to master a trade in numerous fields. It is truly significant that throughout history, only one Man has had recognition as Master of all trades. Tradesmen all over the world pay Him tribute in their own fields and bestow fitting titles to Him for His handiwork. Here are just a few examples:

As an architect, He is the Corner Stone . . . As a baker, He is the Bread of Life . . . As a biologist, He is life . . . As a builder, He is a Sure Foundation . . . As a doctor, He is the Great Physician . . . As a farmer, He is the Sower . . . As a geologist, He is the Rock of Ages . . . As a philanthropist, He is the Great Giver . . . As a servant, He is the Master of Perfection . . . As an educator, He is the Great Teacher . . . Yes, and even as a Funeral Director, He is the Great Comforter . . .

In all this world wide recognition, isn't it a shame there are still many people to whom He means nothing? . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR 5-4141.

Esch Report...

There is a good chance that no amendments will be permitted in the House on this proposal. That means Members will have to vote, either Ay or Nay, on its merits. A vote against is a vote for the status quo, which, in my view, is unthinkable.

This is a chance to move forward, break the dependency cycle, cut costs, and give help to those who are in need. It might be our last opportunity to put an end to the chamber of horrors we now call welfare.

Mrs. William Claude Pearsall

Linda D. Bauer, William Pearsall Wed Saturday at St. Paul Church

Linda Dianne Bauer and William Claude Pearsall exchanged wedding vows before the Rev. Warner H. Siebert at St. Paul United Church of Christ Saturday evening, May 29.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bauer, 76 Freer Rd., while the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pearsall, 34 Sycamore Dr.

Bruce Galbraith, vocalist, sang two solos for the occasion, "Wedding Prayer" and "We've Only Just Begun."

For her wedding the bride chose an A-line gown of sate-peau, with a wide pane schiffle embroidered bodice, accented with venise lace. A satin ribbon defined the waistline, trailing down the cathedral length train. Her cathedral-length veil was attached to a camelot headpiece, trimmed in venise lace. She carried a French nosegay bouquet accented with white roses, daisies, and baby's breath.

Miss Janice Bauer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in a roman, blue, chiffon dress, with matching print pants. Her shoulder-length veil was attached to a triple bow, and she carried a French nosegay of white daisies, pink sweetheart roses, and statice.

Mrs. Charles Fredette, aunt of the bride, Miss Debra A. Weiss, of Chelsea, and Miss Lynn White, of Gregory, attended as bridesmaids. They were attired in costumes similar to the Maid of Honor's.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bauer chose a powder blue dress, a neckline, and a natural waist with a crocheted lace effect bodice and cuffs. Bishop sleeves, a new skirt of georgette completed the line attached to a flared circular outfit, and she wore white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and baby roses.

Mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Pearsall, was attired in a pale blue and lavender dress accented with royal blue flowers. A sleeveless royal blue coat completed her ensemble and she pinned her corsage of white carnations and baby roses to her purse.

James D. Pearsall, brother of the bridegroom, was best man for the occasion, while James Bauer, brother of the bride, Jerry W. Pearsall, brother of the bridegroom, and James Lyster, all of Chelsea, ushered.

A reception was held at the Chelsea Rod & Gun Club following the ceremony for the newlyweds. Miss Eileen Bristle, cousin of the bride, served the wedding cake, while Miss Julie Skittlenhelm served the bridegroom's cake. Miss Romona Pearsall, cousin of the bride, poured coffee. Miss Susan Skittlenhelm, cousin of the bride, poured punch, and Miss Jeanette Bauer, cousin of the bride, attended the guest book.

Following a wedding trip of one week to the New England states, the new Mr. and Mrs. Pearsall will reside at 119 East St. The bride chose a traveling costume of navy blue and white polyester pants suit, accented with navy blue accessories, and the corsage from her bouquet.

Now in the U.S. we're eating 40 more pounds of meat per person than 20 years ago and set a new record in 1970 of 185 pounds. That means that the livestock and meat industry not only has been able to keep up with the population increase, but has produced more meat for each of us.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Editor,
Not meaning to sound disrespectful to Reverends Frinkle and Stacy, I just wanted to say that I didn't really feel their judgement of our new "Instead of" Baccalaureate was fair. I didn't recall seeing them attend so they didn't see the total involvement of everyone there. The services, with a theme of "Love" as the basis, was done in such an exciting and truly moving way that everyone in St. Paul's church became bonded together by the love radiating from everyone else. And, after all, isn't that really God's goal?

Sincerely,
Judi Baess, a participant in "Instead of" Baccalaureate

To the Editor:
Chelsea's Memorial Day address was an example of democracy in action. The speaker was of the younger generation — a Chelsea High student — and his address was the most appropriate and best I have heard down on the hill in years.

When he finished, it seemed that Marty Straub spoke not just for himself, his class, his community, but for America.
Ed Lewis.

Mrs. Thomas John Tuttle

Janet May Paul, Thomas Tuttle Wed Friday at St. Mary Church

Janet Mae Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Paul, 420 Garfield St., and Thomas John Tuttle, son of Leo Tuttle, of 120 Clardale Ct., and the late Mrs. Tuttle, were married Friday evening, May 28 at St. Mary Catholic church. The Rev. Fr. Francis Wahowiak officiated at the ceremony.

The bride's gown which was fashioned of white silk worsted, was Victorian style. Ruffled lace applied to the neck, cuffs, bodice, and skirt of the gown and leg-of-mutton sleeves accented the dress. She wore a floor-length veil of silk illusion, which was fastened in place by a garland of tiny fabric roses, stephanotis, and satin ribbons. Her bouquet was an arrangement of sweetheart roses, stephanotis, and baby breath.

Sister of the bride, Miss Robert Paul, of Chelsea, was maid of honor for the occasion. Her gown was styled in a similar fashion to that of the bride's in maize fabric, with embossed flowers, and short puffed sleeves. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies.

Mrs. Dale Lennox, sister of the bride, was a bridesmaid. She also wore a gown designed like the maid of honor's. She carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Mrs. Paul, mother of the bride, wore a pale blue polyester jersey dress, with long sleeves, and dark blue accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Best man for the wedding was Raymond Doering, of Ann Arbor, friend of the bridegroom. Ushers were Donald Dickelman of Ann Arbor, Gene Lewis of Gregory, and James Ducey of Chelsea.

Grass Fires Still Occur Despite Rain

Grass fires still dot the local landscape, in spite of the weather's efforts to control the problem.

Wednesday afternoon, May 26, grass was reported burning along Old US-12 at Lima Center Rd. Upon investigation, firemen discovered that an old car battery, tossed along the side of the road was the possible cause of the fire. A short circuit could have started the fire, they claimed.

May 28, Friday, a grass fire was reported along Old US-12, at Dancer Rd. Part of the land burned belonged to Lee Ferguson. Cause of the blaze is unknown.

Sunday afternoon, May 30, land owned by General Dwight Beach was on fire. Grass and some evergreen trees were destroyed in that blaze. Cause of the fire is also unknown.

Also on Sunday, firemen were called to extinguish a car fire. When they arrived on the scene, it appeared more like an overheated vehicle than an actual fire, fire officials stated. The vehicle was owned by James Wright, 444 E. South, Jackson.

Grass burning on Joslin Lake Rd. at North Territorial Rd. summoned firemen on Monday.

Tuesday, June 1, a child playing with matches started a fire in the garage of Robert King, 149 E. Middle St. Much damage to the garage was caused, although the contents were not damaged.

High School Journalists Cited By C-P

Sixteen high school newspaper staffers of the Jackson county area were honored by the Jackson Citizen Patriot at a banquet held at the Hayes Hotel on May 26.

Purpose of the dinner was to recognize the hard work and valuable service of many high school journalists, and to encourage further endeavors in the field of journalism.

Sue Dirlam, editor of the Bulldog Barks, the school paper, and of an alternate publication, "Barking Bulldog," was named the school's "Most Valuable Staffer." She is in her second year on the staff and is also co-editor with fellow junior Cathy Clark of the new free publication, "Wildfire."

Her advisor, Dennis Raymond cited her for her energy and the high quality of work done consistently through the year. Future plans for Sue include additional study in the field of journalism.

Recipients of the "Most Valuable Staffer" award who were chosen by their faculty advisors, and fellow staffers, were awarded a plaque and certificate by the Citizen Patriot and the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Main speaker for the evening was Herbert W. Spendlove, editor of the Citizen Patriot. He encouraged the young journalists to continue in the field, emphasizing the value of practical work on college and commercial publications and electronic media. This will also be helpful in increasing permanent employment chances in the field, he stated.

Thomas A. Riordan, managing editor of the Citizen Patriot, was master of ceremonies for the occasion, and G. William Hein, manager, welcomed the guests.

Music was provided by the Frost Junior High school stage band.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gentner, 316 Jackson St., were hosts to their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Gentner, and daughter, Lisa, of Hanover Park, Ill., this past week-end.

Methodist Home OK's Start on Final Building in Apartment Unit

At the Annual Board meeting of the Chelsea Methodist Home, held May 21, at the Home, plans were formalized to construct the final building in the master plan of the Home's Chelsea Village Apartment. A contract was awarded to Minion Construction Co. of Ann Arbor at that time for the construction of the Catherine B. Crippen Memorial Building.

The new structure, which is in memory of the former board leader and a supporter of the Home, will be located at the west side of the apartment complex. The new addition will house a general gathering room with fireplace, and smaller rooms for crafts, storage, kitchenette and rest rooms.

Construction is expected to be completed by late summer of this year.

Chelsea Village Apartments are located adjacent to the Home proper and are designed for independent retirement living. Although most of the 24 units, many of which are just recently completed, are occupied, Home officials indicated that a few apartments remain available.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

★ Success

Success does not wait on the corner for any man. Whenever we set out to do something, success demands a certain amount of thought, time and energy. The world often measures success only in terms of money or fame. We say that the rich man "has it made." If someone achieves recognition in a particular field of endeavor, we tend to place greater importance on the fact he has made a "name" for himself than we do on the reality that he did so by doing something worthwhile. We recognize the achievement more than we consider the blood, sweat and tears by which it was accomplished. We shall not all be rich, nor shall we all see our names written in the news of Broadway or the black and white of history's pages. We can, however, achieve a successful life. All we need do is live it. The formula is as simple as the Golden Rule, as clearly defined as the Ten Commandments.

Superior General of Priests at St. Louis School Entertained

Newly-elected Superior General of the priests at St. Louis school, the Rev. Fr. Olimpio Giampedraglia, of Rome, Italy, visited the school Wednesday, May 28 through Monday, May 31.

A luncheon was held at the school Sunday, May 30, honoring the Father General. Food, service, and table decorations were catered through Win Schuler's restaurant in Jackson. About 185 persons were in attendance for the occasion, including the priests of the school, and the nuns, parents of the boys, and friends of the school.

The Rev. Fr. Lewis Franghi, director of the school, introduced the Father General, and his secretary, who presented a brief speech in English.

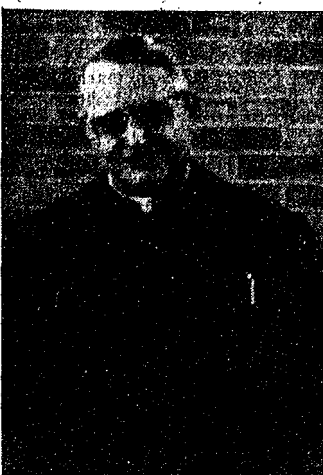

Stanley Pietryka presented the priest with a check for $100 on behalf of the Society of Friends of the School, while Mrs. Joseph Cook of the Society, welcomed him on behalf of the parents.

The Rev. Fr. Schlunkert of St. Mary church, Manchester, presented the Rev. Fr. Giampedraglia with a check, and praised the dedication of the nuns and priests at the school, citing the wonderful work which they are doing.

The band, under the direction of the Rev. Fr. Umberto, played a few Italian numbers, while a group of the boys presented the skit "Hansel and Gretel."

Guests at the gala luncheon were from Detroit, Jackson, Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Ypsilanti, Bay City, Lansing, Grass Lake, and Windsor, Ont.

Prior to his visit in Chelsea, the Rev. Fr. Giampedraglia had been in Philadelphia for the 10th anniversary celebration of the Don Guanella school.

Rev. Fr. Olimpio Giampedraglia

Also on his visit to the United States, which was his very first, the Father General visited the St. Joseph school in Chicago, and Northville, where he visited a "sister school" to St. Louis school, which are both run by the Daughters of Mary of Providence, an order of nuns which has the same founder as the Superior General's order, Don Guanella.

The Rev. Fr. Giampedraglia announced at the close of his visit that on his return to Italy, he will have a private audience with Pope Paul, where he will ask a special blessing for the boys, parents, friends, benefactors, priests and sisters, and all who are in any way connected with St. Louis school.

Cub Pack 455 Awards Given

Cub Scout Pack 455 participated in the Memorial Day parade to the cemetery Monday morning with 22 Cub Scouts and Webelos and three adult leaders. Cubmaster Duane Hall, and den mothers, Mrs. Charles Burgess, Den I, and Mrs. Summer Oesterle, Den II, in the line of March.

The pack has planned a spring hike and picnic for Saturday, June 5, and all Cub Scouts, Webelos and leaders are to meet at South school at 9 a.m.

At the monthly pack meeting held at South school May 26, graduating Webelos of Den II, under the leadership of Otis Titus, were in charge of the flag ceremony.

During the presentation of awards the graduating Webelos presented Mr. Titus with a plaque and a note of appreciation for his work with them the past year and Mr. Titus presented each of the seven graduates with a copper arrow he had made, listing all the awards they had received during their three years as Cub Scouts and Webelos.

The seven boys, who now go on to be Boy Scouts, are Jon Oesterle, Steven Blaess, Stephen Dresch, Donald Aldrich, Jim Owens, Jimmy Alexander and Brian Lewis.

Each of the seven graduates received his arrow of light Webelos badge.

Cub Scouts of Pack 455 who now become Webelos and were given their Webelos color and book are Mike Waldyke, Leon Wheeler, Mark Schanz, David Hall and Danny Kellin.

Awards earned by members of the pack were presented as follows:

Den I, Mrs. Charles Burgess, MSU BLACKS BLEEDING FOR ANEMIA RESEARCH

East Lansing—Black members of the Michigan State University community are leaving blood samples at the University Health Center to find out if they are genetic carriers of sickle cell anemia and to aid research into the disease.

The disease is a major health problem among blacks. When people with two mutant genes for the disease marry, they produce children who suffer from severe anemia, jaundice, liver disease and heart defects.

Dr. Ajovi Scott-Emanukpor, assistant professor of anatomy at MSU and leader of a research project on preventing the disease, estimates that as many as 10 to 20 percent of the American black population may be carriers.

TEACHER TOPICS

THE CHELSEA BANDS: ACTIVE THROUGHOUT THE YEAR
By Stuart Glazier

The Chelsea band program is one of the most unique and active programs of its type and size in the state. The two things that make it most unique are its proportionate size and its approach to learning through a team of two teachers working together as opposed to working separately in different buildings and at different grade levels.

In the past decade the Chelsea band program has grown to be one of the largest "Class B" programs in the state. At present, the band program involves nearly 500 students, with approximately 170 in high school, 240 in the middle school and 80 beginners in the elementary.

During the fall, all 170 high school bandmen participate in the Marching Band. After the football season is over the students are divided, by means of audition, into two separate organizations: the Symphony Band and the Concert Band.

The Beach school band students are divided into three groups by grade level: the 8th Grade Band, the 7th Grade Band and the 6th Grade instrumental music classes, which combine into a band during the last month of the school year. The beginning students in the 6th grade also start their instruction during the last month of the school year.

The activities of the band program are numerous and widespread in scope. The High School Band begins its yearly schedule with a week at camp in Kewadin. During this week the students learn the fundamentals of marching and prepare for their first football season, the band is kept busy preparing for performances at all home games. The Marching Band usually takes two trips during the football season, one to a college "Band Day" and one to a neighboring conference school.

After football season, all band students in grades 7 through 12 are busy preparing for at least two major concerts and at least two festivals a year. The festivals are of two varieties. In the Solo and Ensemble festivals, students compete for a rating by performing either as soloists or in small ensembles numbering from two to eight people. In the Band and Orchestra festivals, the entire band competes for a rating.

The Chelsea band program is not only active during the school year, but during the summer months as well. Students in grades 6 through 8 may participate in the Summer program which takes place during the latter part of June and July. In this program, 6th graders meet in small classes of like instruments while the 7th and 8th graders meet as complete bands.

There is also a civic band that meets weekly during the summer and is open, free of charge, to all high school bandmen and interested members of the community. This band usually performs at one concert in the municipal parking lot. When this is over, it is time for the marching band to go to camp and the cycle begins again.

A public school band program as large and active as Chelsea's is able to maintain itself because of the active support of the parents, school and community.

Woman Visitor Pinned Between 2 Parked Cars

Theresa Burnice Wolski, of Oak Lawn, Ill., was injured Thursday as she was accidentally pinned between the parked car, which she was driving, and another automobile. Mrs. Wolski was visiting her brother, Leo Tuttle, of 320 Clarendon Ct., and was driving his car, when she parked it in front of the Sylvan Hotel. Thinking the car was in "park" she left it, and circled behind it to get to the sidewalk. The car was actually in "reverse" and as she walked between the two automobiles, her vehicle slid backwards, pinning her.

Daniel Schnadt, 20038 Waterloo Rd., and other citizens at the scene of the accident assisted in freeing Mrs. Wolski, and notified the police, who transported Mrs. Wolski to the Chelsea Medical Center. It was learned at the Medical Center that she has a hairline fracture of her pelvis, and must remain off her feet for several months.

Stolen Car Recovered Through LEIN Check

A red Chevrolet was reported to Chelsea Police Friday evening, May 28, as it was blocking the driveway at the Chelsea Milling Co., next to the silos.

A LEIN check was run on the car, as no one appeared to claim it, and the police found that the car had been stolen from Juan Cervantes, 21438 Hamilton in Farmington. It was returned to the respective police agency for return to the owner.

Rider Mower Reported Missing By Owner

Robert Allen, of 144 Van Buren, reported the theft of his Fairlane rider mower to the police department, Friday, May 28. The vehicle, which is a 5 h.p., 22" machine, red and white, with a pull start, had been seen on the Wednesday prior to his report—and the owner noticed it missing on May 28. Chelsea police are still investigating the incident.

Owner of Farm Incorrectly Listed

An error was made identifying the farm located on Trinkle Rd., which is presently owned by Detroit Edison, and has been the scene of two fires recently. The farm has been referred to as "formerly owned by Oscar Bareis." In actuality, although Bareis lived on the homestead as a child, he has never owned the farm, and presently lives at 1741 Dancer Rd. The farm belonged to his father, George Bareis.

Baseball Team in District Finals of State Tournament

Although Conference play is over for the Chelsea baseball team, the Bulldogs are still in the running for the state match, following their defeat of South Lyon Saturday.

Meeting the Lions on home territory, the Bulldogs were successful in qualifying for the state district game to be held next Saturday at Northville. Final score for the afternoon was 4-1. Chelsea tallied six hits, and one error during the play, while South Lyon had four hits, and four errors.

Chelsea's first run came in the first inning, when Todd Sprague walked, and scored when the shortstop committed an error fielding the grounder coming to him, and throwing wildly to the first baseman.

The Bulldogs tallied one more run in the fourth inning, after South Lyon scored to tie the game in the top half. Ron Sweeney then opened Chelsea's inning with a triple, Wayne Welton walked, and Joe Aspiranti singled Sweeney home. Chelsea scored two more times in the fifth inning on a double by Randy Brier, a single by Todd Sprague, a single by Wayne Welton, and a fielder's choice by Joe Aspiranti.

Bulldog pitcher was Wayne Welton, who threw 73 pitches, and did what his coach termed "a real fine job."

Joe Aspiranti also had a good day, as he was two for three at the plate.

Chelsea defeated Dexter in Conference play Thursday, May 27, to secure undisputed second place in the Southeastern Conference. The Bulldogs won the game, 8-3, although they only managed one hit, garnered by Jeff Daniels in the seventh inning. Dexter committed 10 errors in the game, and gave up 10 walks to the Bulldogs, which proved to be their undoing.

Ron Sweeney pitched for Chelsea, while Jim Aseltine was Dexter's pitcher.

Girls Track Team Second In State Meet

Chelsea young ladies took second place in the state Girls Track Meet held Saturday at Lincoln Park. Team from Lincoln Park was first.

In the high school division, Janet Sibley won the state girls championship in the high jump with her jump of 4' 9". She also placed fourth in the hurdles.

Peggy Kraai placed second in the hurdles, while Bonnie Wengren took third place in the long jump, to set a new school record of 18' 7 3/4". She also took second place in the 100-yard dash, and second in the 220-yard dash, equaling the present school record of 28.9.

Chelsea's 440 relay team placed second in the state. Runners on that team are Peggy Kraai, Pat Poertner, Janet Sibley, and Bonnie Wengren.

In the Junior High division, for 9th graders and younger, Jill Peterson placed fourth in the 100-yard dash, while Roben Turns was fourth in the 220-yard dash. Lori Fritz placed fifth in the shot put, and Jan Nevil was fourth in the high jump.

The Junior-High school 440 relay team placed second. Team members on that event were Jill Peterson, Jan Nevil, Karen Lingerfelt, and Roben Turns.

This event finished the official high school season for the lady tracksters, although AAU events will continue throughout the summer.

Running in an AAU sponsored Wolverine Relays on Sunday, Bonnie Wengren participated in the first place discus relay. Competing with the Wolverine Parkettes track club of Lincoln Park, Bonnie also participated on the second place 440 relay team, and the third place medley relay.

At the Toledo Invitational Track Meet held Monday, Bonnie ran on the winning medley relay team. Her split for the 110 was 1:11.6, which was the second fastest time ever run for the Parkettes. The medley relay team broke the existing club record for that event, placing them in the top five slot in the nation for their time.

Cleveland Recreational Club and the Ohio Track Club have both won U. S. championships running that event in the past and were favored to win this year.

Bonnie was the only member of the Chelsea Club to participate in either of the AAU contests.

Tennis Club Competes in Regional Meet

Chelsea High school tennis club finished its first season with regional competition at Albion, May 21. The team's 3-1 season ended as the Bulldog courtmen placed tenth out of 11 places in the regionals.

In spite of the team's low standing in the tournament, Coach Dennis Raymond said his team was strong, considering the little experience they'd had this season. Last place finishers had played 12 matches, three times the number of Chelsea's schedule.

In a speech made at the high school spring All Sports banquet, volunteer coach Raymond appealed for the establishment of tennis as a varsity sport at Chelsea High school. He cited the fact that tennis is a sport which can be played by people of all ages. "As a varsity sport, tennis could have a larger season, and the team could concentrate on playing regular matches rather than trying to find a team to play," he said.

"Next season will be more successful than this season," Raymond stated, "because the team will be more experienced." He also noted that the team will be returning in its entirety as all of the members will be either juniors or seniors at that time.

With rising prices, farmers are also forced to pay more for goods and services. According to U.S.D.A. since the 1957-59 period costs have increased 33 percent for motor vehicles, 77 percent for hired help and 106 percent for taxes.

Royal.

Every inch a Chrysler. Yet with Royal, the deal starts $112 less than Newport, previously our lowest-priced series.

The Royal is just as big as our most luxurious New Yorker. And bigger than its competition — Buick LeSabre and Olds Delta 88. Outside and in.

Royal's 360 V-8 delivers more power, too. Power for freeway cruising without strain. Power for safe passing. All on regular gas.

Royal also gives you a better suspension system: torsion bars instead of coil springs. The ride is firmer. More controlled.

On a trip to the supermarket, you might not notice the difference. On a quick expressway lane change or a tight turn, you surely will.

Outside of Chrysler products, only two American cars have torsion bars — Cadillac Eldorado and Oldsmobile Toronado.

Another difference: Royal's body is welded into a single solid Unibody. It's the strongest way to build a car. And there are no body bolts to work free and rattle. Buick and Olds use the old body-bolted-to-frame technique.

A Chrysler priced to introduce you to Chrysler.

Yet for all this extra value, Royal is priced just about the same as LeSabre and Delta 88. Royal. With everything you expect of a Chrysler. At a price you don't.

Coming Through with more car, and more kinds of cars, within your price.

Fisheries Research Center Addresses Kiwanis Club

Dr. Howard Tait, of the United States Department of the Interior's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, addressed Chelsea Kiwanians Tuesday evening, June 1, at their regular meeting.

Tait, who used slides to illustrate his talk, spoke of the research projects being conducted in the Great Lakes. He showed slides of the sea lamprey, and other problems which have currently impaired the use of the Great Lakes as sport fishing areas. He also explained the projects currently underway at the Ann Arbor research center, of which he is the director.

A total of 24 Kiwanians stayed for the program, which followed dinner.

Next week's program will be a film, obtained from the Audio Visual Department of the University of Michigan, entitled "A Concerned Generation." The meeting will be held at the usual Monday evening time.

Police Arrest Young Man For Car Theft

Chelsea police made quite a haul this past week, apparently solving two crimes at the same time.

It all started Wednesday evening, May 26, when Robert A. Pickell, 19, of 621 N. Main St., reported that his car, which he had left in the parking lot at Chelsea State Bank, had disappeared.

The youth had left his car in the parking lot to join a friend in going into Ann Arbor. The vehicle was left at 8 p.m., and when Pickell returned at 11:45, it was gone. He had left the keys in the car, as well as a quarter of a tank of gasoline.

Police reported the car missing immediately. A few hours later, at 4:10 of the next morning, the Livingston county Sheriff's Department had located the vehicle, and the driver, in Fowlerville.

Driver of the vehicle was Gerald Lee Esch, 20, 120 South St. On his way to arraignment in court, Esch asked to change his clothes in his apartment. While in Esch's apartment, the police officer accompanying him noticed a tape recorder that matched the description of a recorder taken from South School on May 15.

The machine turned out to be the very recorder that South School principal Sylvester Wojcik reported missing Monday, May 17. Wojcik assumed the machine, valued at $150, had been taken on Saturday, as he had left the school unlocked while he was working on the school yard.

Esch stood mute at his arraignment, at which time the court appointed him an attorney. Charges were pressed on one count only— theft of a car.

If heehawing of the animals around the farm during feeding time gets a little loud and disturbs the neighbors over the next hill, then it might be time to water down the feed, the bourbon might be just a little stronger than the traffic can bear.

That's right, bourbon. Not from the bottle but from the residue created in the making of bourbon that is dried and fortified, and used for animal feed. The liquor industry is one good example of the increasing trend to bring creative and effective plans to alleviate environmental strain.

Putting waste disposal to use is a positive step long needed for all industry, although not long heeded by most. Waste disposal items are only waste because they are used, discarded, misplaced natural resources that suffer from neglect, but boom with potential for useful work in society through a relatively unknown new frontier discovered in the recycling of leftovers.

Waste product management will play a major role in solving many of the environmental challenges, according to a report from the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW). Even the unheralded peach pit is playing a part. At one processing plant in one 24-hour period peach pits became charcoal briquets. HEW reports that about 35 tons of charcoal have been processed from about 130 tons of pits.

Other fruit and vegetable waste is beginning to be utilized as stock feed. Tomato skins and seeds have been dehydrated, as have corn husks, cobs and trimmings for animal feed. Solid wastes, reports HEW, from the process of canning peas, corn, grapefruit, oranges, and some solids screened from the liquid wastes of other processes are being converted into a dried cattle feed.

In the poultry barns of Michigan State University experiments are with animal manure being composted, dried and pelletized as a feed supplement. Other uses of the waste product include its for better soil conditioners and as a fertilizer base.

These sprinklings of reprocessing waste explorations represent creative programs of not only agriculture, but of all industries working to erase the dilemma man finds himself in with his environment.

From Mrs. J. T. Spencie, Harrisburg, Pa.: "I grew up in Lansdale, Pa., and remember that we saved string, lead foil, orange wrappers from the Christmas oranges, rags, bones, and iron. When a buyer came through, the few pennies that were paid us, maybe as much as 35 cents, were distributed evenly among the three of us children and dropped into our banks. Mother complained when the milk was pink because a farmer had started milking too soon after the birth of a calf. Also, she changed milkmen frequently when she was convinced that one of them was adding too much water to the milk.

During World War I, mother sewed flags. I think the pay was around 25 cents a dozen for sewing all the stripes and the field together. Many people finished pants, meaning they sewed the band down inside the top and put on the buttons. Zippers had not been invented. I headed elaborate designs on georgette shirtwaists for 20 cents a dozen.

My father worked on the railroad for less than $25 a week up until World War I, and he worked every day in the month except Sunday. Steam trains gave off cinders that often burned holes in your clothes and always made you dirty.

Robert Balmer Researching To Develop Artificial Muscle

Dr. Robert T. Balmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Balmer, 115 E. Summit St., is trying to develop an artificial muscle, patterned after the human muscle, which could produce energy, perhaps enough to power a small car. Balmer's project is in conjunction with the massive search for a low pollution source of energy which has been continuing across the nation in view of the potential environmental crises.

The 1957 Chelsea High school graduate is presently assistant professor of energetics at the University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee. He holds three degrees from the University of Michigan, and one from the University of Virginia.

Balmer makes synthetic animal muscle out of a collagen fiber, a type of contractile polymer. Discovered about 20 years ago, many contractile polymers are biological molecules which react just like muscles in the body. When chemical "commands" are received, the polymers expand and contract to provide a potentially useful source of mechanical energy.

"The problem now is to accurately control these contractions and relaxations," he says. Once accomplished, Balmer intends to build a machine powered with the mechanical energy produced by the polymers.

The scientist's search is based on the fact that while machines consume gasoline, or other such fuel, containing chemical energy, nature produces mechanical energy, in animals via a nearly pollution-free route.

The Girl Scouts reported that everyone had fun this past year, and they all hope to return to the program next year.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Social Security is not just a retirement program for "older folks." It offers disability insurance protection worth $75,000 or $100,000 or more to young workers and their families. Equally valuable survivors insurance protection is also valuable.

Michigan Near Top in Many Farm Crops

First in five! Fifth or higher in 17 others! That's how Michigan ranks among the 50 states in production of more than 40 major food crops. Details appear in the 1971 edition of Michigan Food Facts, a brochure just published by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Publication was timed to coincide with the observance of Michigan Week, May 15-22, and copies of the brochure are available upon request from the Department's Information Education division, Lewis Cass building, Lansing 48913.

B. Dale Ball, department director, points out that agriculture, "through new technology and methods, has greatly increased the production of food and fiber. While only one out of a hundred Michigan citizens operates a farm, 27 percent of the state's residents derive some part of their income from agriculture."

The business of agriculture is the second largest source of income in Michigan. Farmers received $9000 million for their 1970 harvest. Processing, transportation and marketing increased this amount to $2.5 billion.

Michigan leads the nation in production of blueberries, red tart cherries, cucumbers for pickling, dry edible beans, and Eastern white soft winter wheat. Our state is also tops in two important non-food crops, sod production and Christmas trees.

THE LANSING REPORT FROM senator GIL BURSLEY

In our last session, the legislature enacted the "Great Lakes Shoreline and Management Act," designed to provide procedures for protecting and preserving our priceless Great Lakes shorelines from unwarranted exploitation and despoliation.

Current conditions suggest that Nature itself can threaten our shores on a scale with which state government cannot hope to contend.

Just seven short years ago, in 1964, the levels of the Great Lakes were at an all-time low. Conferences were being convened to discuss the low water problem. Ocean vessels were having difficulty using the St. Lawrence Seaway. Cottage and lakeside homeowners with backyard canals were finding their pleasure craft left high and dry. Industry dependent upon shipping was suffering, with low-water channels and docks left high and dry. Countless proposed solutions were being heard, including the suggestion that the flow of Canadian rivers could be reversed so that water from Hudson's Bay might be added to the Great Lakes.

Now the problem itself has been reversed: Water levels have risen fully 44 inches in the last seven years and are expected to rise another four inches by mid-June. High water damage has already been extensive. Some 20 acres of shoreline have vanished into Lake Michigan at Sleeping Bear Bay as a result of pounding waves and erosion. Reports of damage and heavy losses are being heard from below Benton Harbor on Lake Michigan to the Toledo area on Lake Erie. Residents fear the damage will be multiplied many times over if severe storms come. Already, Congress has appropriated $170,000 to study shoreline-protection possibilities south of the Michigan-Indiana border.

Why do the Great Lakes levels fluctuate so rapidly and so drastically? Scientists explain that the watershed drained by these lakes is far smaller, in proportion to their size, than the watersheds of most lakes. As a result, the balance between areas of drought and areas of heavy rain that keeps most lakes comparatively stable does not exist here.

What can be done? Most experts believe the only real answer lies in the construction of a gigantic dam somewhere on the outlet of Lake Huron—a project that carried an estimated price-tag of $1 billion in 1964 and would probably cost twice that amount today.

Until such time as the federal government can be convinced that stability of the Great Lakes levels is worth this investment, the alternate problems of high and low water will continue to be with us.

Dana's Chelsea Plant Takes On Manufacture of New Line

Announcement of new product lines for the Dana Corp. Power Equipment Division was made Friday afternoon, May 28, to the employees of the Power Take-Off Plant in Chelsea.

Speaking on behalf of the corporation, plant manager Lee Hess explained that the drop box and reduction units formerly produced in Dana's Warren plant have been transferred to the Chelsea facility, as the Warren plant is closing its doors.

The new products have similar components to those already manufactured at the Chelsea plant, although they are somewhat larger. They represent significant growth potential for the plant.

Dana officials at the Chelsea facility explained that the new product lines would help the plant in its efforts to bring back employees who had been laid-off. At present there are 65 employees laid-off from the plant, although for a time in March that total was 110.

Present plant employment is 339, including salaried staff. The present plant structure has a capacity of 300 workers, on three shifts of 100 each, so the new items will not create the immediate need to expand the plant's facilities.

Additions will be made, however, to the assembly area to accommodate the manufacturing of the new products.

The move is expected to be completed by Aug. 31, with first steps to be taken in early June.

At the present time, these products are sold primarily to the logging and construction equipment industries. However, C. H. Clawson, sales and planning manager, expects greater penetration into the agricultural, oil field, mining, and other related markets.

Track Team Closes Out Successful Year

The Chelsea track team closed out the season last week by taking part in the Jackson Jaycee Honor Roll meet held at Michigan Center. Chelsea had qualified individuals on relay teams in 11 of the 14 events. This closed out a very successful season for the team as they finished with an 8-0 dual meet record, defeating Jackson Lumen Christi and Michigan Center in a triangular meet, and then Dundee, Milan, Novi, Lincoln, South Lyon, Saline, and Dexter in succession.

Team highlights of the year included winning the conference championship outright for the fourth time in five years, the winning of the Eagle and Albion relays, a somewhat disappointing second place at the Cardinal Relays, and runner-up in the Regional meet at Michigan Center. A good showing was also made at the state meet, and at the two big indoor relays early in the season.

Individual highlights were recorded by Kim Aronson, who set a new school record in the 440-yard dash, almost every time he ran. His final personal best was 50.5. Dave Buxton showed continued improvement in the mile, and eventually broke the school record by running 4:34.1 in the state meet.

Two additional school records were set by the 880 yard, and mile relay teams. The 880 relay team of Larry Gorton, Mark Collins, Kim Aronson, and Jeff Hughes lowered the mark to 1:31.8 and along the way set meet records at the Eagle, Albion, and Conference meets. The mile relay team set a new school record at the state meet, running the event in 8:28.3. That team consisted of Larry Gorton, George Cameron, Jeff Hughes, and Kim Aronson.

Equally important as the setting of school and meet records was the development and rapid improvement of many of the other athletes. George Cameron, Mitchell Heard, Tim Lancaster, Randy Seitz, and Chris Phinney all showed steady improvement, and gave the team top performances, and depth. Steady and reliable performances were turned in by Larry Gorton all year, while Mark Collins, Jeff Hughes, Dan Hoover, and Roger Fitch were reliable point winners all season. Coach Kruse commented:

"According to Kruse, much of the improvement and success of the track men may be attributed to their good attitude toward track, and their willingness to work. He is hopeful that this attitude and willingness will continue next year, making the possibility of another successful team very apparent."

Spring Sports Banquet was held Friday, May 21, at which time the following awards were given:

Fourth-year award: Larry Gorton, senior.

Third-year award: Mark Collins, Dan Hoover, Randy Seitz, Jon Bantis, and Dave Porath, juniors, and seniors, George Cameron, Mitchell Heard, and Dale Robbins.

Second-year award: Kim Aronson, Dave Buxton, Jeff Hughes, Roger Fitch, Tom McKernan, juniors, and Tim Lancaster, and Bruce Guster, sophomores.

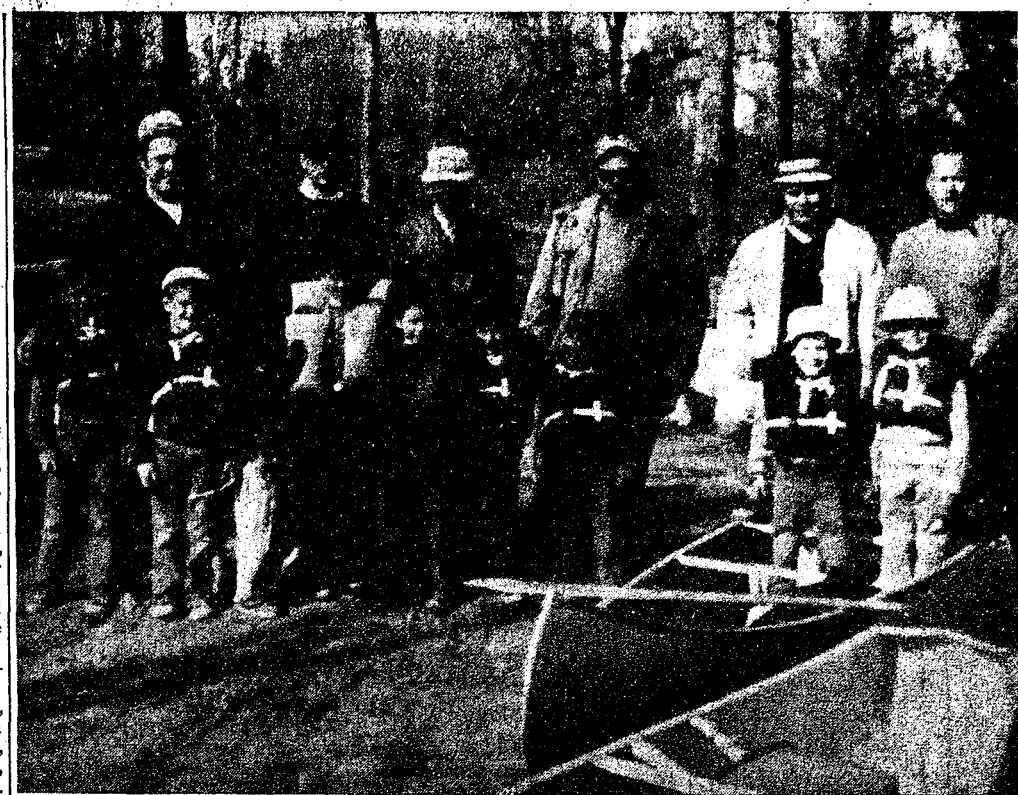

First-year awards: sophomores, Lee Ferguson, Jim McGinn, and Chris Phinney, and freshmen Jeff Marshall, and Craig Coltre.

Steve Worden also received a junior varsity award.

Week of June 7-12
Cook's choice for the rest of the semester.

Tiger Pitcher Hal Newhouse won exactly 200 games during his career with Detroit.

Indian Guides Join in Canoe Trip

Members of Chelsea's Indian Guides participated in the annual Indian Nations canoe trip down the Huron River May 21-23. Chelsea's "Mohawks" group put in at the Hudson Mills Park with other tribes from the Ann Arbor area after spending the Friday night at Camp Birkett, the YMCA Indian Guides camp at Silver Lake.

The Mohawks spent the evening cooking out over an open fire, and later enjoyed a night campfire by the lake, with songs and stories.

Members of the Indian Nations camped at Dexter-Delhi park for lunch and proceeded down the Huron River to finish the canoe trip at the base of the rapids of Delhi Park. All members "shot" the rapids with only one canoe having to bail out, to make it through the water.

The Mohawk Indian Guides are a fairly new group in Chelsea, serving the same age group as Cub Scouts. The program, however, involves both fathers and sons.

Chelsea's group has been involved in such activities as a fishing derby, kite flying contest, father-son banquet, canoe trip, and they sponsored the ecology booth at the North school Fun Fair.

Information regarding the Indian Guides may be obtained from any member.
