Chelsea High Class of '51 Holds Reunion

Members of the Class of '51 at Chelsea High school met for a reunion for the first time in 10 years at a dinner held Sunday at the Rod & Gun Club. Although not quite all of the expected guests were able to make the event at the last minute, 32 of the 57 original class members, plus about an equal number of guests, did attend the cocktail hour followed by dinner and dancing.

Serving as hosts for the event were four class members, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Bauer of Williamston, Mr. and Mrs. George Heydlauff of 161 Orchard St., Assisting the Heydlauffs on the planning committee were Mrs. Wilfred Lane, Mrs. David Brennan, Martin Tobin, and Bud Johnson, who was in charge of arranging the music, and Miss Ruth Eiseaman, who assisted with decorations.

Duane Gentner of Chicago, who was president of the senior class, was toastmaster for the informal program. The invocation was given by another class member, the Rev. Frederick Fisher, who now has a parish in Rosebush.

Three teachers were able to return to celebrate with the class. Charles Cameron, superintendent of GHS attended, as did Mrs. Wiles (Esther Shell) Keller of Lafayette, Ind., and Miss Micheline DeRose of Lansing. The committee also received many letters from class members and former teachers expressing their regret that they were unable to attend.

Chelsea A Tied For Babe Ruth League Lead

Chelsea "A" and Manchester "A" have come out on top in Babe Ruth League play in recent weeks. The two teams are in a first place tie with 2-0 records. In a game Thursday, July 1, Chelsea defeated Dexter by a score of 5 to 4. Mark Policht pitched an outstanding game for Chelsea. Dan Bohan led the hitting attack with a single and a double, while Perry Johnson and Ron Clark contributed singles. The outstanding defensive play of the game came in the top of the seventh inning with the game tied at 4-4. The bases were loaded with one out and Dexter was at bat. A high fly was hit to right field which was caught by Perry Johnson. Johnson threw a perfect strike to catcher Paul Wood who caught the runner coming in from third.

Tuesday, June 29 saw action between Chelsea B and Dexter. Chelsea triumphed Dexter in a game in which Howard Haselschwerdt and Larry Sweet combined their efforts for seven innings of no-hit pitching. Tom Stock led the way in hitting with a home run and triple while Dale Poertner had a triple and a single. Doug Hansen contributed a double while John Collins, Howard Haselschwerdt, John Toon, and Don Messner all hit singles. Don Messner was a fine catcher in a winning game.

GEORGE SANDERSON of 2517 Notten Rd. reports that his wheat crop, while not heavy, is of good quality. Sanderson, who has 14 acres, brought in a load of 325 bushels Tuesday afternoon which tested a low 12 1/2% moisture and weighed 58 1/2 lbs. per bushel. Sanderson estimates his yield will average approximately 40 bushels per acre. The first load of 1971 crop wheat arrived Saturday at Chelsea Milling Co. It had been combined Friday and because of high moisture content at the time was processed through a dryer before delivery.

PERSEVERENCE PLUS shows forth in the life of Mary Gregg, center, who was honored at a reception Tuesday at Chelsea Methodist Home. She has "retired" after 17 years as organist at the home where she is also a resident. Pictured with Miss Gregg are the Rev. Leroy Lord, left, and the Rev. George Stanford.

Blind Organist Retires After 17 Years at Methodist Home

In recognition of 17 years of service as organist for Chelsea United Methodist Home, Miss Mary Gregg was honored at a reception at the Home Tuesday afternoon. Speaking in tribute to Miss Gregg, the Rev. George Stanford, former chaplain and now a resident of the home said, "I knew Mary Gregg and the way she served, and because of that I could serve a little better."

The Rev. Stanford added, with a chuckle, "My wife and I don't always agree, but when we heard about the reception for Mary, there was never any question but that we would go."

Another friend insisted, "It's not just her music that's inspired us, it's her life." Music, however, has been a part of Mary's life practically from the beginning.

She showed musical talent at such a young age that her parents felt they had to hold her back to prevent starting her too early. When she was 9 she had her first piano lesson, and continued on with her studies in music in spite of an illness which affected her vision when she was still very young.

The inspiration her friends have apparently received from Miss Gregg arises from her perseverance and determination to continue with a musical career in spite of a market visual handicap. She graduated from Detroit Conservatory of Music at the age of 23 and continued for two years of post-graduate work. Finally she accepted a teaching position and made music teaching her career.

Miss Gregg arrived at the Chelsea Methodist Home 17 years ago. At that time she had become blind, but she still accepted the challenge of organist at the Home when the previous organist was unable to continue. It was through her own enthusiasm and dedication that she was able to teach herself to play a new instrument in spite of her handicap and her age.

The Rev. Stanford commented at the reception, "How she knew all that music and how she stored it all in her brain, I'll never know. But I never once remember her complaining about this or that. I was impressed with her spirit of co-operation."

The program at the Home was opened with a few comments by V. O. Johnson, administrator at the Home, and the Rev. Richard Clemans, chaplain. The Rev. Leroy Lord, former administrator of the home and now a resident there presented Miss Gregg with a corsage, and Mrs. George Stanford, accompanied by Mrs. Albe Salmanson, presented a special song. After the Rev. Stanford's talk, guests all joined in to sing Miss Gregg's favorite song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

Miss Gregg revealed her strength and confidence, and her sense of humor which probably won her many of the friends present in her thank you comments at the end of the program. "I don't need to question all the nice things you've said about me," she teased, "I know they're all true because they came from you!"

Miller added that the cranes in Michigan are greater Sandhill Cranes which have been sighted in the upper and lower peninsulas and in Canada. The lesser Sandhill Crane which lives further west, is hunted, but the Michigan bird is protected.

Since Waterloo Recreation Area is the perfect nesting area for an apparent concentration of a difficult-to-sight bird, area residents should keep their eyes open the day after they cut their hayfields. Perhaps others will be rewarded as were the Frames.

According to Mrs. Frame, who said, "At first I thought they were deer," her husband had cut hay the day before and she supposed the cranes had come to the field at night to feed on insects. "When I saw the way they were walking, though," she added, "I knew they weren't deer! Finally, she said, the dogs and cows began to make such a racket that the birds were scared away."

Sandhill Cranes nest in the Waterloo Recreation Area, according to Mrs. Doris Behling of Ypsilanti, of the Washtenaw County Audubon Society. Mrs. Behling said the club makes a field trip in the fall to Baker Sanctuary near Kalamazoo where the birds gather for migration to the Gulf of Mexico and Texas. She added that the Phyllis Haehnle Memorial Sanctuary near Jackson is an especially good place to spot cranes. She thought, the Frames were quite lucky to have seen the birds, since "They are a very shy bird, secluded."

Sheldon Miller, vice-president of the Society, explained that their shyness was accentuated during the nesting season. He said that the approximately 50 breeding pairs in the Washtenaw county area seek cat-tail swamps for nesting. He agreed with Mrs. Behling that the birds are shy, but added that in addition to the 50 breeding pairs there are an estimated 100 non-breeding pairs in perhaps too young for breeding, the area. These birds are not as shy as the others, and since they seek fields in search of the insects and bugs they eat, they are more readily seen. He conjectured that the birds the Frames sighted were probably non-breeders since breeders would still be remaining deep in the swamps at this time since their young are still quite weak.

Miller added that the cranes in Michigan are greater Sandhill Cranes which have been sighted in the upper and lower peninsulas and in Canada. The lesser Sandhill Crane which lives further west, is hunted, but the Michigan bird is protected.

Mini-Bike Confiscated By Police

An incident at 2 p.m. Tuesday involving the confiscation by Chelsea Police officials of a mini-bike should serve as a lesson to area youths who persist in driving their mini-bikes illegally in spite of repeated warnings.

The impounded bike was being driven on the shoulder of Old US-12 near Manchester Rd. when Officer McDougall spotted it. The driver was a 15-year-old Chelsea boy.

The bike was later released to the boy's mother upon payment of the $3 impoundment fee.

Police officials stated that the local mini-bike crackdown has been made necessary because of the numerous complaints they have received about bikes being driven illegally. They are absolutely illegal when driven on public roads and may only be driven on private property and only with the property owner's permission. They add that illegal bikes may have to be towed instead of parked away in police vehicles. This would raise the fee that the owner would have to pay to retrieve his bike to $15.

A warning. Illegal bikers beware, if you won't stay off public roads for your own safety, think of your mother's pocketbook.

Mini-Bike, Police Car In Collision

Two Chelsea boys were taken to Chelsea Medical Center Sunday as a result of a low-speed head-on collision between a mini-bike and a Chelsea Police scout car. "We are having a problem with illegal minibikes," said Police Chief Meranuck, "and this is an example of what can happen."

County officials made the report which stated that Officer McCormick, on a routine check of property, collided with the mini-bike on property belonging to the Chelsea Medical Center. Officer McCormick rounded a blind curve and was unable to see the bike which was coming from the other direction. Robert Herrst, 14, of 780 Freer Rd., driver of the vehicle, was injured when his knee hit the grill of the car, but x-rays revealed no serious injuries. Passenger Joseph Ewald, 10, of 802 Flanders St., was thrown over Herrst's head and landed on the hood of the car.

Chief Meranuck stated that unlicensed mini-bikes are strictly illegal and may be driven only on private property and then only with the property owner's permission. He added that Herrst did not have permission to operate the bike on Medical Center grounds. In addition, the Chief stated, very few mini-bikes can be licensed, and those that can be driven legally on public roads only by licensed drivers.

It is hoped that parents and minibike drivers will adhere to these laws and use discretion in operating the bikes. Perhaps more serious accidents than the one reported last week may then be avoided.

Ladders Fall From Van, Hit Car Windshield

What was described by Chelsea Police Chief Meranuck as "one of those freak accidents" occurred at 1:15 p.m. Tuesday on N. Main St.

A set of ladders which were tied to the roof of a van driving south broke free, bounced on the pavement, and went through the windshield of a car coming north on the other side of the road. James D. Alexander of 224 W. Middle St. was driving the van, and George Kohur, Jr., of 32648 Winana Court, Westland, was the driver of the car. With Kohur were his two children, Renee, 13, and David, 8.

Kohur was taken to the hospital and is reported to have suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Miss Elaine Bristle visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bristle, 19020 Old US-12, recently. She is employed as a stewardess with Universal Air Lines in Middletown, Pa. Her brother, Ernest, accompanied her on her return to Pennsylvania for a short visit.

Washington Report

by Congressman
MARVIN L. ESCH

In recent months the plight of our veterans has been repeated time and time again. In most instances when we have a serious problem such as finding jobs for veterans it often turns out that more is said than done. In this instance I am pleased to be able to report that several important initiatives have taken place. For example, President Nixon has designated the Secretary of Labor Hodgson, the responsibility for a comprehensive program to be developed in the weeks ahead. I commend the President for his recently announced proposal:

This six point program includes the following:

1. Work with the National Alliance of Businessmen to increase the participation of business in providing new job opportunities for veterans.
2. Work with the Defense Department to "expand substantially" the job training and counseling program offered to veterans in the final weeks of their service.
3. Increase veteran participation in special manpower assistance programs and on-the-job training.
4. Require listing of all job openings with the U.S. Employment Security by all agencies and Contractors under Federal contract. Secretary Hodgson said this would be one of the most valuable parts of the new program by helping to match veterans with jobs.
5. Increase the effectiveness of the U.S. training and employment of service in placing veterans in jobs. "Each returning veteran must be reached and served by this effort," the President said.

6. Provide special Labor Department-Veterans Administration services for veterans who have been unemployed for three months or longer.

For my own part, I have introduced legislation which would provide for unemployment compensation such as that enacted by Congress after World War II and the Korean War. You will recall the "52-20 Club" which provided $20 a week for 52 weeks to unemployed veterans. Recognizing the inflationary trends of the last decade, the bill I have proposed would give veterans $75 a week for 52 weeks.

The recent Jobs Bill enacted by the Congress includes language which I inserted to the effect that Vietnam Veterans would be given special preference for all government manpower training programs and public service employment. I think that this single demonstration on the part of Congress should be an indication to our Vietnam veterans about to reenter civilian life that they are not forgotten men. As far as this Congressman is concerned, there is no higher priority item than to make certain that the Vietnam veteran satisfactorily makes the transition. To assist him in every possible way, I am drafting legislation that will establish the most inclusive veterans educational benefits program in our nation's history.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Our Government moves in wondrous ways, its works to perform. That was what the discussion at the country store about Saturday night, Mister Editor, and the fellers give it a good going over.

First off, there was Clem Webster with his expert opinion about giving the airplane outfit a $250 million loan to keep it from going bankrupt. Clem said a company that far under would do better to declare itself a foreign country and put in for aid, but he was of a mind that the loan was just another makework project.

If Lockheed's managers are so had to let the company get in such a fix while working mostly for the Government 30 year, Clem was of the mind that the outfit ought to be taken over by the Welfare Department and be done with it. This way, went on Clem, all the folks that depends on the company for a job could get on welfare and keep on working at their same job, and that really would be a new idea.

Serious, said Clem, running to the Government for aid, loans or advice ain't proved to be the best remedy for what ails you. He said Penn Central Railroad went busted, lost a bunch of boxcars and done all kind of wold investing in other business right under the nose of federal regulators and guidelines that may be the cause of most of railroad problems everywhere.

If the idea of making the Lockheed loan is to keep folks from getting laid off from work, allowed Democrat Clem, we might as well call it a New Deal WPA project. That's what happened at Cherry Point Marine Base in North Carolina, reported Clem. He said the Marines wanted to close a repair shop that worked 3,000 civilians, cause they didn't need it any more, but politicians and businessmen in the area got the Government to keep the shop going for the good of the economy, if not the Marines.

Ed Doolittle said it was bad enough that we got make-work in the name of national defense, but when the military spends $110 million extra so a British airplane can be put together her instead of buying it already built, that's plain stupid. Ed had said where the Marines wanted to buy the airplane, but Congress didn't like the idea of importing, so a deal was worked out where the airplane parts would be brought in England and put together there. That's make-work took to a wild extreme, was Ed's words.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Parochialism Forgotten

It hardly seems possible, but it's less than a year since the issue of parochialism was finally settled in Michigan.

The subject which split both parties down the middle in both houses of the legislature last year didn't even get a mention this year.

And the seemingly unreasonable antagonisms which built up in the fight over the whole question of state aid to parochial schools are nowhere to be seen.

"It's just a matter of practicality," explains one lawmaker. "That constitutional amendment just eliminated parochialism as an issue. And with all the other problems we've got to cope with, we can't afford to fight over dead issues."

He referred to the constitutional amendment passed by the voters last fall which banned parochialism in the state.

The situation is just another reminder of the way issues "grow great then diminish in Lansing. It has only been a few years, but it seems long ago that the battle of open housing or the question of a state income tax were fought tooth and nail on the floor of both chambers.

And a year from now, people will probably be saying, "Gosh, it seems like it's been a lot longer than a year since they were fighting over that income tax increase."

Maybe Better Buses

The best transportation methods for Michigan people should be identified following a new study by a California company. At least that is the goal of experts engaged to study mass transit problems here.

The firm, TRW System Group of Redondo Beach, Calif., will be paid $54,000 for the study, which is to be completed by the middle of September. The contract calls for TRW to evaluate and compare many new urban transportation concepts, and to recommend what it feels would be the most efficient system or systems with the highest potential for early operation.

It's been told the key factors to look for a cost of both the equipment and its operation, technology, and such considerations as its effect on the environment. Among the transportation methods being studied are light weight, rubber tired vehicles that operate on elevated guideways and monorail systems which are already in use in some parts of the world.

A special message was sent by Gov. William G. Milliken to the legislature last February saying that a well balanced public transportation system is "essential" to the economic health of Michigan and "offers opportunities to alleviate school and environmental problems."

The legislature is expected to go to work on his proposals for mass transit this fall. The most difficult part of the proposals will be to allocate half a cent of the state gasoline tax to rapid transit systems, rather than reserving the entire gas tax for highway construction as in the past.

The highway lobby is already hard at work trying to kill the idea before it gets any momentum, saying drivers of cars shouldn't pay taxes to set up transportation not using a car.

A New Tax Proposal

A completely different basis for taxing people is proposed by this writer. Individuals should be taxed according to height; perhaps a dollar per year for each inch over five feet six inches. If this does not bring enough revenue, a new dimension could be added: a dollar for each inch of waist measurement in excess of 32 inches. It is unlikely bust or hip measurements would fit into this overall recommendation.

Logic and advantage are easy to see: bigger people take up more space; use more air; are responsible for larger seats in movies. It is time they paid their way instead of getting a subsidy from the smaller citizen.

If a person wanted to diet, he could reduce his waistline and probably improve his health while he saved tax and money.

It is fair to mention that the advocate of this plan is five feet seven inches tall with a 35 inch waist.

Court Work Rises
The increased caseload which plagues the nation's courts increases the work of the Michigan Supreme Court as well.

Last year, the seven-member tribunal disposed of 1,235 matters by court order or opinion. That was a full 13 percent more than the year before, when 940 cases were handled.

Chief Justice Thomas M. Kayanagh says, however, that the total matters pending when this year started were down to 243, compared to 253 pending matters at the start of 1970.

The caseload continues to increase, he says.

Applications for appeal and related motions have risen 87 percent so far this year.

University of Michigan students have an average age of 23.1, nearly one-third are married and some 40 percent are graduate-level students. U-M men are 0.2 years older than U-M women (men's average age 23.2, women's 23.0). Graduate students are, on the average, 28.5 years old and under-graduates 20.2 years old.

Michigan Bell Report to Customers

A clarification of facts concerning your telephone service and usage

How much will the proposed new rates really affect your monthly phone bill?

New rates would apply almost exclusively to your basic monthly service charge. Don't be confused by numbers. You may have heard that Michigan Bell has proposed a rate increase of 20%, and you were understandably perplexed if you thought the 20% (more accurately 19.54%) applied to all charges on your total monthly phone bill. That, for example, if you made a lot of extra toll calls last month and your bill was as high as $20, it would increase another 20% to $24 after the increase. Not so.

The 20% increase would apply only to your basic monthly service charges and to special non-recurring services, such as installing an extension or other equipment. Any interzone or long distance calls made in addition to your basic monthly service charge would cost no more after the proposed new rates than before.

For more detailed information about your telephone service, please contact your Michigan Bell Business Office. We want to help.

Potato chips came into being in 1853. The chef at a New York gathering place became exasperated by a guest who kept returning orders of French-fried potatoes, insisting they were too thick. The chef tried slicing the potatoes paper thin. The result: potato chips.

High School Youth Earning While Helping Forest Rangers

Iron River—Some 30 Michigan high school students are earning $37.50 weekly this summer helping U.S. forest rangers improve campgrounds and other outdoor recreation facilities in this scenic, heavily forested area on the Upper Peninsula.

At night the students are housed at Camp Filbert Roth, a 210-acre site operated by the University of Michigan on Golden Lake. Here they share facilities with 49 U-M students who are attending the camp this summer as part of their academic training in natural resources.

For the high school youngsters "it's more than just a summer job," explains U-M Prof. John R. Bassett, director of Camp Roth. "It's also a chance to mix with our University students and to learn about forests and other natural resources."

Hopefully, he adds, the boys will be "turned on by their surroundings. Some may even decide on a career in natural resources."

The youngsters—most of them from high schools in the Upper Peninsula and a handful from cities in lower Michigan—are participating in the Youth Conservation Corps, an experimental program initiated this year by the U.S. Forest Service under authorization by Congress.

Camp Roth is one of 64 facilities around the nation chosen as sites for the YCC program. Approximately 2,600 youngsters are participating nationally.

Two new YCC dormitories at Camp Roth were dedicated June 26 in a ceremony by U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart and U.S. Rep. Philip E. Ruppe of Michigan and other government representatives. The dorms were constructed by the U.S. Forest Service after the U-M agreed to share other facilities at the camp with the young conservation corpsmen.

During their eight-week stay (June 14-Aug. 7), the high school students serve as assistants to U.S. forest rangers. They participate in such projects as developing trails, parking areas and campsites. Much of this work is being done in the surrounding Otsego National Forest.

According to the U.S. Forest Service, the new program's objectives are to provide environmental training and summer employment to youngsters of all social and economic backgrounds and to help improve the quality of public lands and waterways. Another Michigan site designed as a YCC camp is Ironwood Lodge in the Hiawatha National Forest in Chippewa county.

The YCC program is being evaluated nationally by the U.S. departments of agriculture and the interior. Based on their findings, Congress will decide whether to continue funding the venture.

Participating in the evaluation is a U-M Institute for Social Research (ISR) team including Prof. Beverly L. Driver, an outdoor recreation specialist from the U-M School of Natural Resources; John Scott, an ISR, sociologist; and Robert W. Marans, an ISR research associate. Marans serves as study director for the evaluation.

Camp Roth, in existence for over 30 years, is named for the man who headed the U-M forestry program when it began in 1903. The camp has been used by U-M students in their training in forestry and wildlife management and by U-M faculty conducting research in such areas as insect control, fisheries, biometrics and forest ecology.

Two Arrested On Drinking, Driving Charge

Two Chelsea men were arrested over the past week-end. Both were charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, both pled not guilty at arraignment at District Court Monday, and both face trial Aug. 11.

The first incident occurred at 9:55 p.m. Saturday. Chelsea Police Officers Siebert and McCormick answered a complaint of racing cars and squealing tires in the vicinity of Grant and W. Middle Sts. The officers went to the area and observed Benie Thomas of 421 1/2 W. Middle St., driving in such a manner as to cause squealing of his tires. Thomas, who is 32, was driving a 1969 Ford pickup truck. He was further observed failing to make a successful turn into his driveway and consequently driving on the grass. Thomas was arrested and later released in $100 bond.

Thomas' wife, Wanda, of the same address, was issued a ticket in connection with the same incident. The citation was for the creation of unnecessary noise while driving a red Chevrolet car in the same area.

Arrested Sunday was 24-year-old James Elmer Taylor of 228 Park St. The arrest was made by Chelsea Police Officers Peebles and Siebert at 2:05 a.m. on Park St. near the corner of Park and Madison Sts. Kaye Lou Taylor was with her husband in the 1970 Chevrolet Nova at the time of the arrest. The officers were making a routine patrol and property check. Bond was set at $100.

Camp Session Offered Deaf or Hard-of-Hearing

A week's camping experience is being offered Aug. 8-15 for the deaf and hard-of-hearing of all ages at Grass Lake. Although the camp is sponsored by Michigan District Council of the Assemblies of God, all interested people are welcome to attend regardless of denomination.

Children under 9 years of age must be accompanied by an adult, but campers of all ages are invited. Many activities, including craft work, have been arranged. A banquet at 5:30 p.m. Aug. 14 will be the concluding event of the week. Those who cannot attend the entire week, may sign up for a few days or for the banquet only.

Group Organizing

To Assist Washtenaw School Age Parents

A group of county residents has announced the formation of the Washtenaw Association of School Age Parents (WASAP) organized to insure comprehensive educational programs for school age parents within Washtenaw county.

Due to recent state legislation which prevents the expulsion of pregnant students, school districts will now find it necessary to develop curriculums within their schools suitable to the needs of these young mothers and fathers.

The staff of the Washtenaw Young Mothers Program (currently operating through the Washtenaw Intermediate School District) will be working with representatives from the schools and with WASAP in making recommendations to the local school districts.

Community resources that offer assistance to these students are being sought and also will be made available to the school districts. A state appropriation to fund the alternate programs (our WYMP, for example) as proscribed in recent legislation, Public Act 242 of 1970, is being actively supported by WASAP members.

WASAP is anxious to involve residents from all communities in the county. Interested citizens should contact Kay Forsythe of Ann Arbor (665-0746) if they would like to support and aid the goals of WASAP.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Duane L. Gentner and daughter, Lisa, of Hanover Park, Ill., returning from a weeks vacation camping in northern Michigan, spent the past week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Gentner, 81 Jackson St. The young Gentners attended the 20-year reunion of the class of '51 of Chelsea High school held at the Rod and Gun Club Saturday night. They returned to their home on Sunday, July 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton P. Glazier of Glazier Rd., traveled to Brighton Saturday evening to join his brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Owsley, and her sisters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin E. Heumann of Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnson of Aigonac for dinner. The occasion was the birthday celebrations of Mr. Owsley and Mr. Heumann. The latter's son, Douglas is visiting with the Glaziers this week.

COST QUESTION

A recent experiment showed that homemakers could save 25 hours, 13 minutes by using 41 convenience food items. On the other hand, when the same foods were prepared from scratch, the cost was 45 percent less. Question now—is it worth it?

DECORATED BATH FIXTURES

Decorated bathroom fixtures, once custom-made, are increasingly popular. All major manufacturers but one produce them. Decorations on fixtures range from dainty rings of flowers to bold slashes of color. Designs are available on lavatory bowls, toilet seats, tubs, water tumblers, tissue holders and soap dishes. They are, of course, slightly higher than either white or solid colors.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

In a group discussion not too long ago, it was asked why people curse in conversation. It was noted with amazement that some cursers are successful, brilliant men, capable of good speech. Cussing is a habit one acquires to add impact to words. Those who lack language with profanity do it because they fear normal expression lacks strength to put a point across. There is no question that the cussing habit can be broken.

One man in the group told an interesting story. He related how, years ago, his three year old boy stumbled and stubbed his toe. The child let out with an explosive barrage of cussing which shocked his mother and dad. Before they could say anything, the child slyly sensed their shock. In the quick of a wink, he changed from sinner to saint and started to sing, "Jesus loves me, this I know, for the Bible tells me so." The fellow told how he and his wife, while shocked, had to inwardly chuckle over the surprisingly quick transition of the little rascal. Since habits are mostly formed by association or example, especially with impressionable youngsters, both parents decided then and there to never use even mild profanity ever again.

The son is now a grown man. He is a fine person and an interesting conversationalist. His parents are too. . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone GR 5-4141.

Teen Challenge has launched a nationwide campaign to aid youthful drug addicts. The program was founded by the Rev. David Wilkerson, author of the six-million copy best-seller, "The Cross and the Switchblade." The book, which describes Teen Challenge, has been translated into 32 different languages and has been made into a movie starring Pat Boone.

The average drug cure rate for those completing the Teen Challenge drug-cure program at its 55 centers in the U.S. and abroad is 53 percent. Of these 27 percent elect a career in the ministry, often choosing to themselves become pastors or counselors in the program.

The services offered by the program are free and are made possible by charitable gifts.

Brethaupt holds a BA degree in music from Central Bible College in Springfield, Mo., and has traveled as a tenor soloist with Revivaltime Choir, the national radio choir of Assemblies of God. THE LANSING REPORT

GIL BURSLEY

Perhaps the most significant action taken by either house of the legislature this past week was the enactment, by the Senate, of a bill I am sponsoring to restructure Michigan's system of intermediate school districts.

The measure has the unanimous endorsement of the Michigan Association of Intermediate School Administrators. I might mention that I am extremely grateful to Superintendent Nick Ianni of the Washtenaw County Intermediate School District for his considerable assistance in working out the bill's provisions.

To understand why I regard the restructuring and revitalizing of our intermediate school districts to be of such prime importance, we have to take a look at the total picture of school "government" in Michigan.

Of school government—the local school district, the intermediate school district, and the State Department of Education.

Many of us are seriously, and rightfully, concerned about the fact that too great a portion of the price of education must be paid by the local district, which has no revenue source other than local property taxes.

We find general agreement that much of this burden must be shifted to taxes based on ability-to-pay, or income, and that such taxes are most efficiently levied from the state level.

But in working toward this badly needed reform, we have to recognize the inherent risk that strongly-increased dependence upon state financing could mean a strongly-increased state control.

The best safeguard possible, in this situation, lies with our intermediate school districts—which are probably the least known level of school government. By restructuring and strengthening our intermediate districts, as units designed to serve local school districts and vehicles for co-operative action among local school districts, rather than as administrative arms of the state level of school government, we can give our local school districts the means of performing needed functions that could otherwise be performed only by the state Department of Education.

We desperately need more vocational-technical education in Michigan, since three out of four students now in the 9th grade will be entering the job market on or before graduation, without further schooling of any type. We need expanded programs of special education for our handicapped children. In many areas, local school districts are too small to manage such programs on an individual basis.

Through strengthened and restricted intermediate school districts, our local school districts will have the essential means of preserving their traditional role as the most important and vital unit of school government.

Doug Craft pitched four innings of shut-out baseball for North American Rockwell as his team defeated Dana, 16 to 0, Wednesday, June 30. Craft did not allow a single runner past first base, and he struck out nine batters while walking only one. Don Morrison led the hitting attack for Rockwell by collecting four hits. The game was called because of the ten-run rule after five innings of play.

"Along with our top flight free entertainment," Keirns added, "The 1971 Michigan State Fair will have bigger and better agricultural exhibits, an exciting and expanded youth program, and one of the finest midways of any fair in the country."

"We expect Hope to help put over the million mark this year," said Keirns, pointing out that the

LIVING- AS YOU LIKE IT

...and get more from the GOOD YEARS

A friend recently asked: "What do you do with a retired husband who is a do-nothing?"

We think the best approach is to wait, then do what you can. Some men look forward to the hour of retirement. They spend hours before retirement telling co-workers how they intend to do nothing but sit on the front porch in a rocking chair and watch the world go by. They mean it, and they start their retirement days in this fashion.

With few exceptions, however, the rocking chair soon becomes hard and uncomfortable. So little of the world passes by that one is urged to get out and see what is going on up the street and over the hill.

Give him a little time. Then, be do-nothing husband: be patient. Give him a little time. Then, be subtle. Undertake, as your own project, some activity which you know interests him. You'll soon get his advice and, probably, his assistance. Don't be surprised if he offers to take over the project because he can do it better than you can, anyway.

TREASURY TO BORROW

The Treasury Department says it will borrow up to $500 million of U.S. currency from overseas branches of American banks. It is the second attempt by the United States to bring back to the U.S. some of the excess dollars from Europe.

VINTAGE YEAR FOR PLYMOUTH DUSTER

ONE OF OUR BEST YEARS.

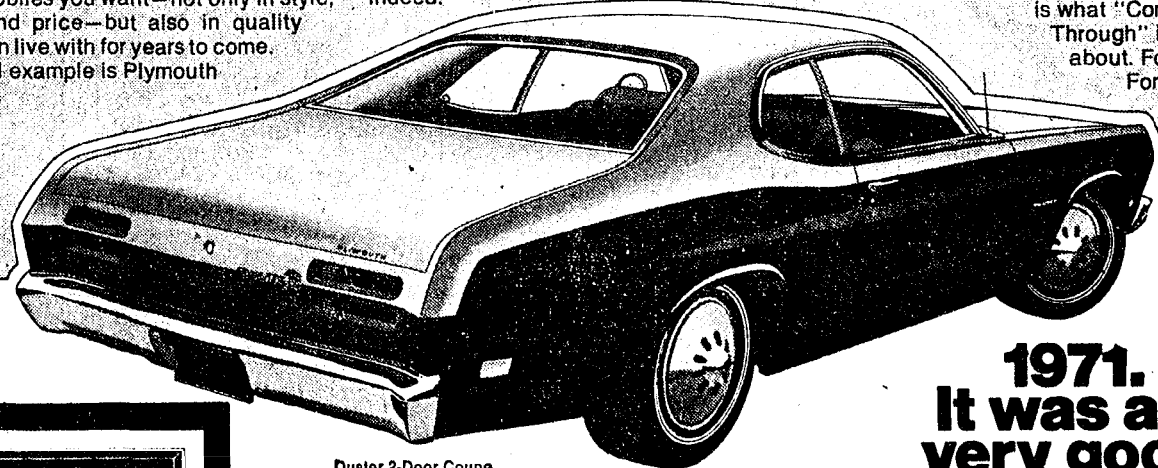

It takes something special to come up with a Vintage Year. But that's what '71 has been for Chrysler-Plymouth. Everything—from drawing board to final assembly—has come together in great fashion. We like to think our slogan "Coming Through" had a lot to do with it, because it's more than a phrase. It's a pledge, a dedication to one purpose: To come through for you with the kind of automobiles you want—not only in style, size and price—but also in quality you can live with for years to come. A good example is Plymouth Duster.

ECONOMY CAN BE BEAUTIFUL, TOO.

Plymouth Duster is a rare breed of economy car. Rare, because in this day of rising interest in little cars, Duster comes through small enough for easy handling and good gas mileage, big enough for families with baggage. Now add Duster's high resale value (a leader in its class, along with other Plymouth compacts), and you have a rare breed of economy car indeed.

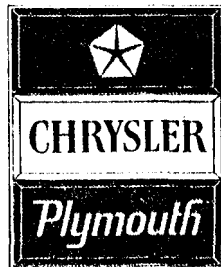

NOW, A GREAT SELECTION COMING THROUGH FINAL CLEARANCE PRICED.

While some years are good car years, '71 has been a Vintage Year for Chrysler-Plymouth. Quality shines and shows in every line. A drive in a Plymouth Duster or Satellite, Plymouth Fury, Barracuda or Chrysler, will prove how our '71 models have come through. Check our great selection. We think you'll agree: quality cars at final clearance prices is what "Coming Through" is all about. For us. For you.

County Democrats Urge New Medical Care Facility

Announcement has been made by Thomas J. Murray, Washtenaw county Democratic party chairman, of a resolution made by the party county committee to urge the County Board of Commissioners to build and establish a county medical care facility and human resources center as soon as possible. The center would provide services to senior citizens in the area.

Murray expressed the party's concern that elderly citizens of the area be provided with the best services that the community can provide.

The resolution stated the intention that area senior citizens be provided with facilities "comparable to or better than that now provided by most counties in the state of Michigan."

The meeting was held in the Ann Arbor Public Library.

It isn't always necessary to buy new lampshades when those in use become soiled and dirty-looking. Fill the tub with warm, soapy water, dunk the shades in and out quickly, rinse in cold water. Washing shades in this manner may damage the trim—but you can replace the trim for less than the cost of a new lampshade.

Confidence Men Reported Posing as Federal Employees

Robert A. Kehoe, district manager of the Social Security office in Ann Arbor, has issued a warning to all beneficiaries, especially those over 65, that a pair of confidence men have been operating in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area.

At least two instances have been reported where the pair of men presented themselves at the door and identified themselves as Federal employees representing Medicare. They told their victims that they had reviewed their files and that their Medicare coverage would lapse unless they paid amounts ranging from $30 to $100 on the spot.

Kehoe emphasized that it is highly unlikely that Medicare premiums would ever have to be collected in person in this manner. Furthermore, any Social Security Administration employee who does call at your home carries clear identification, bearing his photograph, and he or she will be very willing to present it.

If any other area residents have been called on by these confidence artists, or if anyone representing Medicare does call at your door, please report it to the Social Security office promptly, and they will refer it to the proper investigating authority. The office servicing this area is located at 220 E. Huron St., Ann Arbor, telephone 769-7100.

Having cook-out guests with different preferences in 'rare,' 'medium,' or 'well done' steaks or hamburgers? You can build charcoal fires in several red clay flower pots and cook your barbecue meats "to order" without mixups. Large clay pots from 8 to 12 inches make ideal individual habachis. Set them on matching clay saucers.

Forequarter Cuts Cost Less for Budget Grilling

Beef for the grill will be easier on the budget if you select forequarter cuts, suggests a Michigan State University consumer marketing information agent.

"This is the season when demand pushes the price of steaks up and the price of roasts down," says Mrs. Sheila Morley. "The most economical buys will be chuck roasts, chuck steaks, rump, sirloin tip and round roasts."

Other reasonably priced outdoor cooking favorites are chicken—young tender broilers—and turkey. "If your barbecue has a rotisserie, don't miss the treat of barbecuing a young turkey," Mrs. Morley advises.

Frozen fillets of fish are another grill top treat. "Best of all, they're never very high in price," Mrs. Morley adds.

To complete your picnic, patio or beach supper, there are plenty of budget supporting fresh vegetables and fruits on the market, and more to come.

Under USDA standards "Beans with franks in sauce" must contain at least 20 percent franks.

Homemaking Hints

Identification of imported foods is usually made for most products—Danish hams, Taiwan pineapple. But, if the product is further processed or packed in this country, you may not see an identification of the origin of the food.

If you plan to purchase a new range for your kitchen, consider the self-cleaning oven types on the market. Manufacturers estimate it costs seven to ten cents a cleaning, depending on local utility rates. This is comparable, and sometimes even less expensive, than using commercial cleaners in ovens that are not self-cleaning.

Harrassment, Destruction of Cherokees Told in TV Show

East Lansing — Johnny Cash stars as the tragic historical figure, Cherokee Indian chief John Ross, who led his people's terror-filled exodus from Georgia to Oklahoma, as NET Playhouse Biography presents "John Ross: Trail of Tears" at 11 p.m. Sunday, July 18, on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.

The exodus, during which thousands died and tribal conflicts totally divided the Cherokee Nation, was a result of the state of Georgia violating Indian treaties and seizing the Cherokee lands.

Despite the Cherokee's attempt to blend with the white man by adopting his methods, building ranches and farming the land as they had been told to do by George Washington himself, President Andrew Jackson ignored the pleas for justice brought to him by John Ross. The state of Georgia embarked on a policy of harassment and land seizure culminating in the round-up of Cherokees and their placement in stockades to await deportation. The exodus itself began in the fall of 1838 and continued through the harsh winter.

Other WMSB highlights include:

ARTISTS IN AMERICA

Artists in America, a new 11-week series featuring comprehensive film portraits of some of the most creative young people in all branches of the arts today, debuts with a program on Los Angeles sculptor Peter Alexander at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, July 18. Alexander is one of the new breed of artists whose basic artistic concern is with the technical processes, material and the dematerializing quality in the nature of light.

His works are controversial, involving purity of color and form with little or no embellishments. His plastic cubes, pyramids, wedges and strips of color have gained the greatest popularity in his own home city where they are thought to be representative of Los Angeles itself.

In future programs, Artists in America will profile soul and jazz singer Roberta Flack, cartoonist Jules Feiffer, writer James Salter, blues singer Sam "Lightnin'" Hopkins and composer Robert Erickson, among others.

REALITIES

"Above All Liberties," a unique docu-drama, will examine the constitutional principle of freedom of speech and its application through decades of American history at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, July 18.

Taped in Independence Hall in Philadelphia, the site of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the theory and practice of freedom of speech are illustrated through dramatization of the thoughts of historical figures, including George Washington, Ben Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and James Madison and more modern interpreters of the Constitution like Oliver Wendell Holmes, Earl Warren and William O. Douglas among others.

Actor Larry Blyden hosts the program, breaking in on the conversations of the characters to ask specific questions of them.

MASTERPIECE THEATRE

"The First Churchills" with Emmy winner Susan Hampshire

plays a return engagement as Masterpiece Theatre moves to 7 p.m. Fridays, beginning July 23. "The First Churchills," a BBC production which debuted on American public television last winter is a 12-part serialization of John Churchill, the Duke of Marlborough's career. Marlborough's ambitions culminate in his virtually ruling England during the reign of Queen Anne.

John Neville stars as the dashing John Churchill and Susan Hampshire, who won Emmys for her performances in the "Forsyte Saga" and "The First Churchills," plays Sarah Jennings Churchill, the Duke's beautiful and politically brilliant wife.

The production's elaborate costumes and sets reflect, as accurately as possible, life in 17th century England.

OUR VANISHING WILDERNESS

The ecological series, Our Vanishing Wilderness, closes with a program on new trends toward more intelligent uses of the earth's natural resources at 4 p.m. Sunday, July 18.

The program begins with a detailed illustration of what a food chain is, how it supports diverse forms of life and how interfering with it can bring havoc in unexpected ways. It also demonstrates that farmers and others can use the natural food chains to accomplish such ends as insect control by carefully maintaining the balance of nature.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

★ Better World

The world is far from perfect, but it isn't all bad.

Within the community, we seek to promote neighborly good will. Nationally, we seek laws which are designed to aid the needy, to guarantee equal opportunity for all. Among nations, we sign agreements of good will and commerce.

We are making some progress toward a better world. We can make more. We need, among other things, to get the problems down to grassroots level. We need involvement.

Many of us see the problems of community, nation and world. We recognize them and are concerned. Yet some of us are content to be mere witnesses for the right and the good.

Progress will come from active work and participation. The little we can do as individuals becomes multiplied as others follow the example. If we do no more than live by the Golden Rule, our efforts for a better world are obvious to all we know and see.

Pinckney Delays Hike on Sewer Tap-in Charges

Pinckney—The price hike for tap-ins to the new sewer has been put off by village officials to Aug. 1.

The original tap-in fee was $225 effective to July 1. The extension is designed to give homeowners a chance to hook in to the new system before the $75 price raise goes into effect.

Loy Bond, director of the Department of Public Works, said 103 tap-ins have been made to date and 66 additional users have paid for tap-ins. The expected number of users when all buildings have been joined to the system is 800.

FARMING COSTS

When gross farm income jumped $17 billion in the 1960's, net income actually decreased $3 billion. Use of modern scientific methods to keep production up to meet food needs of a growing population has caused expenses of U. S. farmers to skyrocket.

Manchester's Famous Chicken Broil Scheduled for July 15

About 11,000 are expected to attend Manchester's 18th annual Chicken Broil to be held from 4 to 8 p.m. Thursday, July 15 on the Manchester High School Athletic Field.

The event is sponsored by the Manchester Optimists and Jaycees.

Proceeds will be earmarked for developing new Kirk Park on a former village dump site. Playground equipment is also needed. Dr. Howard Zindel, head of the Michigan State Poultry Department, will supervise the broiling as he does every year.

Co-chairmen are Luther Klager and Rolland Grossman. Every available man—totaling about 400—help to keep Michigan's biggest chicken broil at the top of the list. Chicken halves will be checked as they slow broil over hot charcoal and are basted with Michigan butter. Two tons of charcoal are used and refrigerated trucks bring in the 19-ounce chicken halves to broil on double grids. There's cole slaw made with 68 gallons of especially prepared dressing, bagged potato chips, radishes and two tons of cabbage. It will take 100 pounds of butter chips for the rolls, 96 pounds of coffee and well over 5,000 half pints of milk. Pop and ice cream are available.

Tables and chairs seat 2,500 and there are two ticket lines. There is a special line for take-outs. Parking is available at the athletic field and Double A parking lot with free shuttle bus service for visitors to and from cars.

The Mounted Division of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department will direct traffic. Two softball games will furnish entertainment. Shelters will be provided in case of rain.

Since its publication in the early 1600's, Miguel de Cervante's masterpiece Don Quixote has been more widely translated than any other book except the Bible.
