Hockey Fans Still Hope for Cold Weather

Hoping for the good graces of the weather is all the Chelsea District Hockey Association (CDHA) has been able to do the past several weeks. Owen Loasby, one of the CDHA organizers said Saturday.

"The rink has been flooded and it's looking quite good, but with the warm weather forecast coming up, there's not much hope for any skating action for a while," Loasby said.

Volunteers, with the co-operation of the fire department, have been working on the rink at the Chelsea Community Fairgrounds to ready it for action. Loasby said he expects lighting for the rink to be installed next week.

Meanwhile, four teams have been organized and uniforms ordered in anticipation for some skating later this season—if it freezes. The CDHA is in its first year and was organized last fall. Loasby said some aspects of organization are still in the planning stage and groundwork is being done.

Bulldog Cagers Hand Dundee 82-63 Defeat

The Chelsea Bulldogs hosted the Dundee cagers Friday night and handed the Viking squad a defeat to the tune of 82-63.

Led by the scoring efforts of Ron Sweeney, Todd Sprague and Wayne Welton, the Bulldogs victory brings their record to 5-1 over-all and 4-1 in league competition.

Chelsea jumped to a first quarter lead with Sprague's early six points. Sweeney, Tim VanSlambrouck and Jeff Schmidt each added four more points to provide Chelsea with a 22-17 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The Bulldogs kept their scoring drive moving as Sprague sank six more points toward his game total of 16 and Sweeney and Welton, who sank 15 total points, contributed four each to lead the Bulldogs to a comfortable 45-31 lead at half-time.

With Chelsea leading by as much as 16 points in the second quarter, all the Bulldogs played in the first half, with most of them entering the scoring column.

The Bulldogs got off to a slower start in the third quarter as the Vikings eventually matched them point for point. Sweeney led the Chelsea scoring in that quarter, piling up eight of his total of 22 points.

The fourth quarter was more of the same, as Chelsea opened up leads of 18 and 20 points, only to see Dundee narrow the gap to 32. The Vikings, however, never proved a serious threat to the Chelsea squad, with the Bulldogs scoring when they needed points and maintaining a comfortable lead.

In addition to the excellent scoring efforts, the Bulldogs were aided by the fine playing of Tim VanSlambrouck, Chick Lane and Jeff Schmidt.

The Vikings' leading scorer was Dick Boldt with 17. Mark Schultz piled up 16 points and Rich Gibson 10.

Chelsea dominated the boards to the tune of 45-34, with Sweeney, Schmidt and Lane leading the way with eight, eight and seven, respectively.

MARRIED 70 YEARS: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abdons celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary Saturday. The Abdons live at 447 Railroad St.

Frank Abdons Quietly Mark 70th Wedding Anniversary

Frank and Myrtle Abdons spent their childhood days as neighbors in Greenup, Ky. They were married when he was 19 and she was 13. That was 70 years ago, and the Abdons are still together at 447 Railroad St. They were married Jan. 8, 1902, in Greenup and moved to the Chelsea area that spring where they both lived out on a farm. Abdon came to Michigan as a hired hand the year before he was married, but returned to Kentucky to "take his bride." Since then he has worked on the railroad and in manufacturing shops around Chelsea, until his retirement 24 years ago.

The Abdons moved into their present home in 1902. The back yard is filled with wood that Abdon still chops for their wood burning kitchen stove—a task which "just seems to come naturally" to Abdon. He often walks four or five miles a day to keep in condition.

Mrs. Abdons' activities are limited by arthritis, but she said Frank spoils her.

"He brings me coffee every morning in bed and then goes out to chop wood for the stove," she said.

The Abdons' anniversary celebration was marked by a letter from President Nixon, received Wednesday. The President said: "At a time when it often seems little stress is put on the importance and great spiritual benefits of marriage, we are sure your long life together is an inspiration to all who know you. With our congratulations and warmest wishes, sincerely, Richard Nixon."

Abdon's great-granddaughter, Lisa Ellen Gentner, sent a note to the President telling him of the Abdons' anniversary.

The Abdons have six living children — Mrs. Floyd Gentner and Robert and Russell Abdon of Chelsea, Richard Abdon and Mrs. Burton Wright of Dexter, and Mrs. Carol Pierce of Langaville, O. Also in the Abdon family are 19 grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

Abdon also has two brothers, Vern, 87, who lives at the Pickel Convalescent Home in Chelsea, and Fred, 82, in Greenup.

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

The need for adequate sources of retirement income for America's senior citizens who are no longer actively employed is one of our serious problems. Certainly Social Security was never meant to be a total retirement income. Personal savings have rarely been adequate and despite efforts on the part of business, unions, state and local governments there still remain only a scant number of American workers who are covered by pension plans. Clearly Congress is faced with the challenge of developing pension legislation; and you can expect the 92nd Congress, when it reconvenes at the end of this month, to attempt to meet his ask.

The debate will center to some extent on whether or not pension plans should be regulated. A good case for regulation can be made on the fact that many workers never do receive pension benefits even though they have worked for years in a company with a pension plan. These people are searching for more assurance that they will actually be eligible for some form of benefits. A former Assistant Secretary of Labor in 1968 summed up the argument for pension regulation like this: "In all too many cases the pension promise shrinks to this—If you remain in good health and stay with the same company until you are 65 years old, and if the company is still in business, and if your department has not been abolished, and if you haven't been laid off for too long a period, and if there is enough money in the fund, and if that money has been prudently managed, you will get a pension."

In a further discussion of the pension issue, it becomes apparent that there ought to be some form of vesting provisions to protect the employee. Vesting is the guarantee to an employee of a share of the company's pension fund even if he employee leaves the company before reaching retirement age. Recently, the White House developed its own pension protection plan and proposed a so-called "rule of fifty" which would work like this—when a worker's age plus his term of service equals 50, one half of all the pension rights he has earned become vested in him. Each succeeding year the employee spends with the same company, he adds 10 percent to his own vesting. This would attempt to solve what is a basic problem in our present private pension system—the fact that when a worker is discharged from his job, laid off, reverts, or moves to another job he loses his pension. The New York Times in a recent editorial addressed itself to these "phantom pensions" when it pointed out that "private pension plans now cover the majority of American workers, but the security which these plans seem to offer is often a delusion."

This is the main reason why we need to develop private pension legislation. It is an urgent need we have in this country; and it would be my hope that it will receive the serious attention by what hopefully will be a pension-reform minded 92nd Congress.

Leftovers Ahead

The news resulting from the 1972 legislative session will look somewhat familiar to those who followed the 1971 session.

The major perennial issue is how big the state budget is going to be. This year's tab finally totaled roughly $2.03 billion for state operations, and the latest

Gov. William G. Milliken says increases in revenues from current tax rates should be enough to cover the increased cost, and since it is an election year, the chances of another tax increase are nil.

The fact it's an election year also should prevent the lawmakers from haggling into the month of September over the budget, since House members have to go through a primary election in August. As a result, a recess by early July is expected.

Issues confronting the lawmakers, as aside from the budget, those they grappled with to some degree in 1971 and didn't resolve.

High on the list of priorities is Milliken's transportation package, which ran into unexpected trouble in the House despite the combined backing of Democratic Speaker William Ryan and Republican Leader Clifford Smart.

The Governor's plan would increase the gasoline tax from 7 to 9 cents a gallon. Of that total increase, six tenths of a cent per gallon would go to fund the planning of a mass transit system for the state's urban areas.

Opposition to the plan comes from elements of the highway lobby and oil companies, and from such surprising quarters as the House black caucus, which sees mass transit as another route for whites to escape to the suburbs and ignore inner city problems.

Ryan has been working hard to change the opinion of at least some black caucus members, who usually see eye to eye with him on major issues.

And Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs also has been pushing the program hard and Milliken says he'll veto any transportation package that doesn't include money for mass transit.

Another sticky issue confronting lawmakers is Congressional reapportionment. Neither party could cook up a plan the other would buy before the December adjournment, and both will make another try in January.

Democrats are trying to find a formula which would cut into the 12-7 majority Republicans now

Editor's Note: Answers your questions about every day traffic-related problems. Write Michigan Traffic Safety Information Council, c/o Michigan State Safety Commission, Department of State Police, East Lansing 48824. The "Safety Valve" will try to answer all inquiries. However, not all will be printed.

Question: For New Year's I swore off getting any more traffic tickets. If I send a certified notarized copy of this to the Driver and Vehicle Administration Department will they wipe my record clean? N. O. R., Kalkaska.

ANSWER: "If wishes were horses..." we'd all have a winner. Unfortunately those computers at the state driver record center are heartless. They record and erase only what official documents from the courts and other legal channels provide for them. Points for traffic convictions are active for 24 months after acquiring them. After seven years the record is purged.

But congratulations on your resolution! We sincerely hope your friends will help you carry it out.

Question: I saw somewhere where I could get my snowmobile registered at a reduced rate if I registered in 1971. That's too late now. What's to happen if I just don't register it? T. L. Peck.

Answer: If you use your snowmobile on your own property or on property controlled by you—or in a scheduled special event of limited duration for which a permit has been granted by the governmental unit having jurisdiction, then O.K. But if you start venturing across country or sashay down the road to the neighbors, you could just be stopped by a deputy sheriff or other peace officer, and that's TROUBLE. It's cheaper to pay the $9 for a three-year registration certificate. Besides, you will be contributing toward construction of more public snowmobile trails and facilities.

Question: I was given a ticket for rolling past a "stop" sign. There was absolutely no one in sight. That is absolutely silly and should be stopped. D. R. C., Diamondale.

Answer: Oddly enough, people still get killed or hurt "rolling through" STOP signs. It is hard to believe they would do it deliberately, so it might be called "the terminal end of a bad habit." You do it once—nothing. Again—nothing. Pretty soon you get to expecting nothing—then "Bam!" right out of nowhere comes this guy!

Those stop signs are expensive to put up and maintain. They only put them where it is a good place to STOP, then look and proceed if traffic is clear.

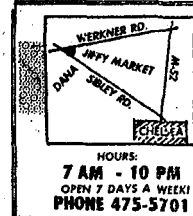

Question: Aren't school buses required to pull off on the shoulder to pick up passengers? I'm all for kids, but why should they block the road? M. E. D., Iron Mountain.

Answer: Take it easy. On those dark, foggy, winter mornings and afternoons, kids are hard to see and bus drivers are all the more protective of their charges.

Law says school bus drivers should pull off road "if possible." Frequently this time of year road shoulders are too soft for heavy bus or piled up with snow. Sometimes snow conceals a ditch close to the road. Law sensibly provides for varying conditions. If you still think you have a legitimate complaint, consult with the transportation supervisor or principal of the school lettered on the bus.

Post Office Has Book on Income Taxes

A booklet that gives information on how to fill out Federal income tax returns is presently being sold at the Chelsea Post Office. Postmaster Richard Schaules announced Monday.

"Your Federal Income Tax" was written by the Internal Revenue Service and contains examples illustrating how the tax law applies in actual situations. A special feature of the booklet is the sample, completed return, Form 1040, keyed to pages where explanations may be found for each entry on the return.

Schaules also announced that the local office is co-operating with the Immigration and Naturalization Service in assisting all local aliens to comply with the Alien Address Report requirements. In compliance with the Immigration and Naturalization Act, each alien must report his current address not later than Jan. 31, 1972. Report forms will be available at the main post office, Schaules said.

Schaules also said the United States Postal Service has announced a new schedule of third class rates effective Jan. 24. Chelsea postal customers having questions concerning the new rates or other mailing questions may phone their local post office.

Travel is certainly educational. Among other things, it teaches us a better appreciation of home.

Jaycee Week Proclaimed For Village

Chelsea village president A. E. Fulk Monday proclaimed Jan. 16-22 as Jaycee Week in Chelsea.

The purpose of the week is to focus attention on young men and the work they do toward bettering the Chelsea community.

The week celebrates the founding of the Jaycees in 1915, when Henry Giessenier saw a need for a young men's civic group and organized the first chapter in St. Louis, Mo. The Chelsea Jaycees chapter was formed Jan. 11, 1955. Built on the foundation of creating opportunities for leadership training through community betterment projects, the Jaycees are active in 6,400 communities in the United States.

Locally, Jaycee Week activities include Bosses Night, honoring Jaycee bosses who support the aims of their Jaycee employees. The Bosses Night dinner will be Jan. 18 at Kale's Waterfall Supper Club in Ann Arbor. The Jaycee Distinguished Citizen award will also be presented that evening.

Michigan Jaycees welcome young men between the ages of 18 and 35. Michigan chapters are the first to welcome 18-year-olds into their ranks. These chapters are sponsoring an amendment in the national Jaycee constitution to reduce the membership age from 21 to 18 years of age.

Youth Fellowship Will Participate in U-M Deer Count

The high school fellowship group of First Congregational church has been invited to participate in an annual deer count Saturday.

Dan Robbins, youth group advisor, said the group will travel to the E. S. George Reserve near Pinckney, which is managed by U. of M. School of Natural Resources.

The fenced enclosure can adequately handle a winter deer herd of about 80 animals. Each year the herd grows to more than 120 animals and the count is made to determine how many must be culled out to maintain the proper balance.

Those with questions concerning the count may call Robbins at 475-7810 or 769-6910.

Patients Needed By U-M Dental School

The University of Michigan's School of Dentistry will need a number of additional patients for teaching dental prophylaxis (cleaning of teeth) during the current winter term.

There is a nominal fee for this service which includes the following: cleaning of teeth, tooth brush instructions, flossing instructions, a new tooth brush for the patient.

For an additional fee, patients may also receive topical fluoride applications whenever it is recommended.

Persons interested in getting their teeth cleaned may apply now by calling 764-1544, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

To the Residents of Chelsea:

Dear Friends:

The new Chelsea Office of Ann Arbor Federal Savings soon will be open. With the opening of this office, you now will have nearby the special services only a Federal Savings and Loan can offer—higher interest earnings on savings, and more ample and more readily available funds for home building and remodeling. Important, too, you will have the warm, personal kind of service for which Ann Arbor Federal Savings is known.

Nationwide, the Savings and Loans are generating tremendous sums of money for developing communities. In Washtenaw County in 1971, Ann Arbor Federal Savings provided over $55 million in new mortgage loans, primarily in single family dwellings. During 1971, Ann Arbor Federal paid out over $6.7 million in interest to depositors. These extra dollars mean more homes for your community, more sound growth and more of the extras that make life worthwhile.

We are planning a grand opening soon after the middle of January for the new office. You will be delighted, I am sure, to find the latest in convenience facilities and electronic service and safety devices. A drive-up window offers convenient, express service. You will see a special black safety light which identifies your signature and allows only you to make withdrawals from your account. You are invited to examine the latest computerized equipment which will speed your transactions, and give you instant status reports on your account.

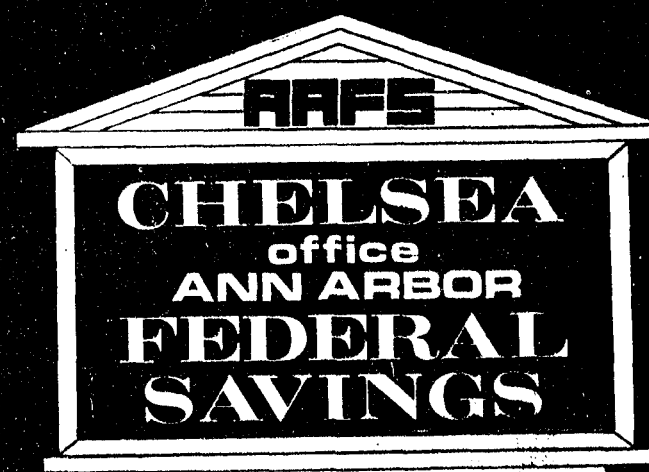

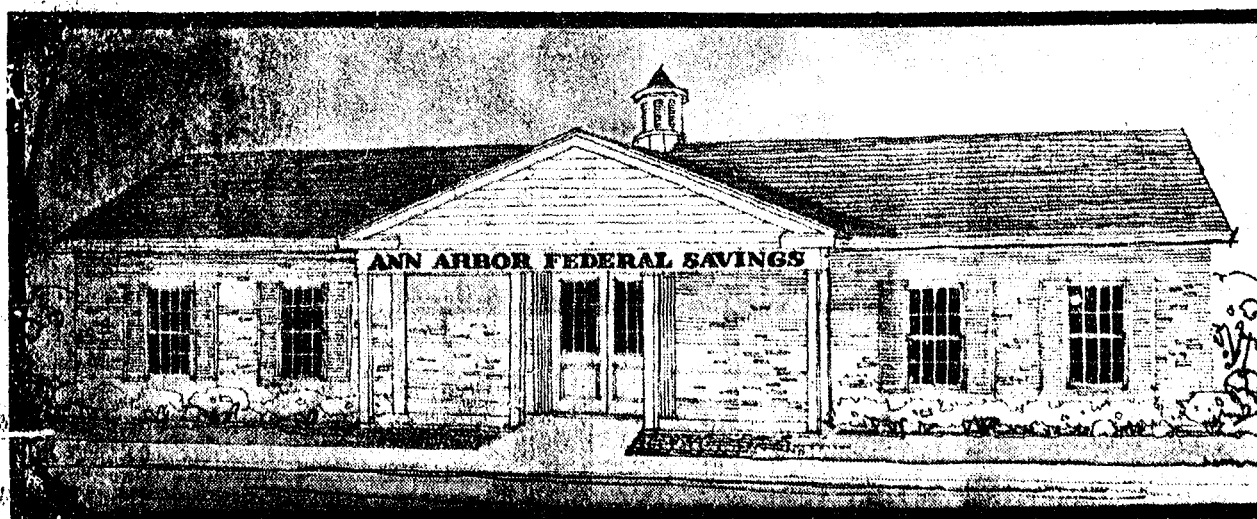

There will be gifts, prizes and refreshments for everyone. Watch for the opening date and details in the newspaper.

I hope I shall have the opportunity to meet you personally during our grand opening week.

Cordially,

Roy E. Weber

Tiger Broadcast Teams Returning For Next Season

Tiger broadcast teams will remain intact in 1972—with George Kell and Larry Osterman on television, Ernie Harwell and Ray Lane on radio.

Osterman and Lane have been signed to new two-year contracts, it was announced by Jim Campbell, executive vice-president and general manager, while Kell and Harwell continue on long-term contracts signed earlier.

Osterman, sports director of Station WKZO-TV, Kalamazoo, starts his sixth season on the air for the Tigers. For Lane, sports director of Station WJBK-TV, it will be his eighth. Both Kell and Harwell will be in their 13th seasons as Tiger broadcasters.

An "account book" is now available for small tourist and resort operators through the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University.

Compiled by Dr. Robert W. Copies of the book may be obtained for $1 each by writing to the MSU Bulletin Office, P.O. Box 231, East Lansing 48823.

MNT LEAVES ADD FLAVOR TO LAMB

Fresh mint leaves give lamb a lovely garnish. Clusters of perky sprigs of these leaves can be used like parsley, one at each end of the platter. If desired, nestle some fruit such as preserved kumquats, broiled lemon, or orange slices next to the leaves.

Farm Laborers Now Covered By Workmen's Compensation

Michigan farmers must pay workmen's compensation insurance on employees, unless they are members of the employer's family, reminds Leonard Kyle, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

"An agricultural employer hiring three or more regular employees for 35 hours or more for 13 consecutive weeks must have workmen's compensation insurance for these full-time employees," says Kyle. When hiring one or more full-time employees for five or more consecutive weeks, medical and hospital coverage must be provided for all personal injuries arising in the course of employment.

Kyle says, "A farmer should consider his social, moral and legal obligation to his employees." Agriculture is one of the more hazardous occupations, and every agricultural employer should have some type of insurance coverage to protect himself from lawsuits by any person who might think he is liable for their injuries. "The insurance would probably be a good investment even if it isn't compulsory," says Kyle.

Every farmer should know the laws of this state regarding workmen's compensation, especially if he hires workers, even on a temporary basis. Information on these laws may be obtained from the Department of Labor, the Department of Agriculture, or locally from your county agent.

SOUTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

KINDERGARTEN—

Rooms 1, 3, 6
Teachers: Mrs. Bower, Mrs. Michelson, Mrs. Blaricum
It's good to be back in school seeing our old friends again and doing things together. Everybody enjoyed the snow day, because we didn't have snow during our Christmas vacation.

With colder weather we have to dress warmer. Good health is very important to everybody. We will be talking about how we can try to stay healthy. Good food is one thing that is important to everybody. We will make stew. Our stew has meat and vegetables in it. Children who can bring some vegetables. Maybe the doctor and nurse will come in to talk to us. Perhaps they'll talk to us about doing what the doctor and our parents say when we are sick.

Would you like to visit our store? We will bring empty packages and cans to furnish our grocery store and talk about the different foods and where they come from.

It was fun sharing our new Christmas toys and experiences after Christmas. Everyone had something fun to show and tell about Christmas.

Happy New Year everyone!

FIRST GRADE—

Room 5
Teacher: Mrs. Thodeson
Tom Donkin brought his Tomten Troll to school. He also brought two interesting books: The Tomten and The Tomten and the Fox by Astrid Lindgren. We learned that the Tomten is a kind, little Swedish troll who walks around a lonely old farmhouse at night talking to the animals in Tomten language which only the animals can understand.

We have a new girl in our room. Her name is Cheryl Fisher. Many of us know her already, because she was in our kindergarten last year.

We are learning the months of the year and our birthday date. We have a birthday train with our pictures on it. We have no birthdays in January and February.

GARY ALBRECHT, President
MRS. CHARLES POPOVICH, JR., Secretary

after a great Christmas vacation. We received many gifts that we like. Our party was fun here at school. Thanks to our room mothers—Mrs. Bertke, Mrs. Bower and Mrs. Musbach.

We have a new boy whose name is Kim Allen. He came from North school.

Our guinea pig, Tillie, had three babies. They are cute and cuddly. We haven't named them yet.

We started our dinosaur unit. Steve, Randy, Matthew, Lynette, Celeste and Ann brought some books about dinosaurs.

We remembered our reading words and continue to work and learn new vocabulary everyday. We really have to think when we do our number work. We are learning about so many different things.

Kristin went to Florida and brought back a shell for each of us.

We will each make a snowman for our January calendar.

SECOND GRADE—

Room 10
Teacher: Miss Smolenski
Last week was cut short by a very sudden snow day. Most of us spent it outdoors playing in the snow. It was quite exciting when we all came back to school with many interesting tales to tell. We have taken special time each day this week for show and tell. It appears that Santa Claus was very good to all the children.

Our room recently had a new quiet area added. We have a yellow and orange rug surrounded by our bookcases. All in all, it has been a very useful spot for every child in the room.

In all our reading groups we are almost ready to start a new book, which is really going to be fun.

DAIRY COWS REQUIRE LOTS OF FEED

Dairy cows require a tremendous amount of food to produce large amounts of milk. Some cows consume 18,800 pounds of silage, 1,100 pounds of hay and 5,400 pounds of grain in a year. In addition, she grazes about 128 days. From this she manufactures 12,843 pounds of milk and 481 pounds of butterfat, on the average.

Brenda is the pianist for the group and also sings alto. Beverly sings soprano, and Leon sings baritone. U M Professor Feels Elderly Patient Has 'Right To Die'

Ann Arbor—Medical advances avoiding prolonged illness, pain, have been a mixed blessing for the aged.

New drugs and treatments may prolong life, but for many elderly patients they prolong physical deterioration, dependency, pain and mental anguish as well, states Prof. Emeritus Clark K. Hopkins of the University of Michigan College of Literature, Science, and the Arts (LS&A).

"Faced with these indignities," he contends, "an individual has as much of a right to die as a right to live."

Hopkins, who taught archeology and classical art for 31 years at Michigan before retiring in 1966, is currently compiling reports of the U.M.'s archeological excavations from Selenia on the Tigris River.

Although "euthanasia," the Greek term for "good health," does not yet have a large following, the U.M. professor has succeeded in bringing the issue out in the open and that, after years of avoidance, is an achievement.

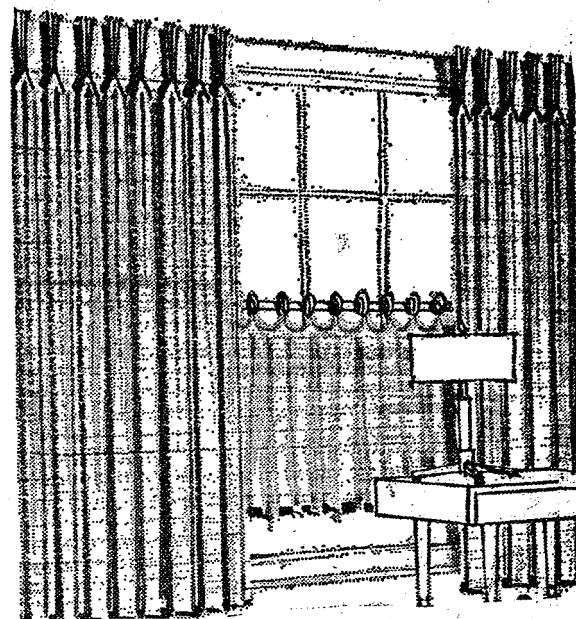

He puts his concerns before the 1971 White House Conference on Aging in a resolution urging that "termination of artificial means (such as oxygen tanks and intravenous feeding) for the prolongation of life no longer be termed murder or suicide but death by natural causes."

Furthermore, "faced with the indignity of deterioration, dependency, physical pain and or mental anguish, the patient has the right to ask that drugs be mercifully administered to hasten the moment of death," including cases in which the patient no longer retains consciousness, but has recorded his wishes in writing.

The resolution was voted down two to one in the conference's Section on Spiritual Well-Being; but another conference subgroup on Youth and Age did pass a less definitive proposal "that all persons, particularly the aging, be given the legal right to choose to die naturally and in dignity,

CONSUMERS CORNER

GOT A QUESTION about a store's prices?

The price commission is now requiring stores to prominently display base prices during the post-freeze economic stabilization program. The requirement applies to all food products (except unprocessed agricultural products such as eggs, potatoes, apples) and to the 40 items in each department that have the highest sales volume, or those items that account for 50 percent of each department's total sales, whichever is less. Base prices—generally the ceiling prices permitted during the freeze—must now be posted.

Retail stores may increase prices above freeze levels so long as the percentage of markup does not exceed the percentage of markup that existed during two of the last three fiscal years. Also store profit margins can not exceed those which prevailed during the freeze. But no price increases are allowable until a store complies with the price-posting requirement.

GOLDEN PAVILION IN KYOTO: Saturday's travelogue presentation "Incredible Japan," will feature both the modern and traditional aspects of this oriental country. The travel series is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

From Alfaretta Courtright, Alvin, Tex.: So you think this winter is cold? I remember a winter in northwest Kansas, when we remodeled the house. Just as we had the windows out the temperature dropped to 26 degrees below! We did everything to keep warm. We used old lumber in the stove that smoked; we put on coats and mittens and still our teeth chattered. The only place we kept tolerable warm was in bed, and then only tolerably. Naturally we put back those windows, but it slowed down the remodeling.

When it was almost Christmas, we had invited company before it got too cold. I made acres of cookies and mountains of green Jell-O. We washed the clothes and hung them out on the line, and they froze stiff as it started to snow. We tried them off the line and brought them into the house. The long Johns stood like tall ghosts awhile and then sank like dampened spirits. It snowed and snowed, and blew the telephone lines down. The snow drifted across all the roads. For days we sat around eating cookies and green Jell-O because nobody showed up.

The less-demanded, economical cuts of beef, pork, and lamb are just as nutritious as the more popular steaks, chops and roasts. They are just as tender and appetizing, too, when cooked by moist heat.

Anti-Litter Film Available from Highway Dept.

"The Litter Monster" is loose, and is being shown throughout the state. But don't worry, "The Litter Monster" is on our side.

Actually "The Litter Monster" is the title of a new 16mm film distributed by the Michigan Department of State Highways. It is intended to be viewed by elementary through junior high school-age youngsters. It is an excellent environmental tool for schools, recreation agencies, church and other places where children gather.

The Highway Department hopes the film will help discourage littering of parks, lakes and streams, highways and streets and other public places. The movie may be borrowed without charge from the Public Information Office, Department of State Highways, PO Drawer K, Lansing 48904.

Prints are also available through Department of District offices in Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Port Huron, Jackson and Southfield. There are some new citrus cuisines in the experimental stage. There is the "tanger," which is a cross between a tangerine and an orange; an "oramon," an orange-lemon mixture; a "tangermon," which crosses the tangerine and the lemon and a "limequat," which is a descendant of the lime and kumquat.

Lima Township Residents Seek Ways To Defeat Park

The controversy over the proposed Mill Creek Metropolitan Park has been marked by a myriad of studies, plans, petitions and resolutions both pro and con.

The most recent development concerning the proposed 4,000-acre park was the Lima Township Board's approval of an $8,000 planning grant from the proposers of the park, the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA).

The grant will finance a four-phase land use study, which according to Mrs. Harry Denham, clerk for the Lima Township Planning Commission, will speed the development of the much-needed plan without affecting the township's position on the park.

"The plan is working for the best interest of the township," Mrs. Denham said. "The township must have a long-range plan and zoning ordinance, and the study will also help determine the impact of the park on the region."

Mrs. Denham said the plan calls for two or three long-range designs for the township land, one of which will include the park. From these, the township will choose one of the alternatives presented.

The studies are expected to be completed by this spring, she said. Mrs. Denham stressed that the acceptance of the grant does not indicate the probability of the park's construction.

The residents of Lima and other nearby townships are now attempting to organize legal opposition to HCMA's park plans.

One form of legal action would be to organize all the residents within the proposed park to force HCMA to condemn all the land needed for the park, Mrs. Denham said.

According to Mrs. Denham, this would have a two-fold purpose; it would prevent HCMA from buying the land parcel by parcel, thus pressuring those residents most reluctant to sell, and would force HCMA to prove the necessity for the park as a whole.

Beside legal battles, the only other course of action Lima residents opposed to the park would have is to convince HCMA to change their minds.

The HCMA Board of Commissioners is expected to make its final decision in late spring or early fall. Presently, HCMA is conducting a title search of all the properties they would need to buy. The pieces of property would then be appraised to determine the cost of the land. When this is completed, the HCMA board will decide whether to proceed with the present plans.

Butterfly pork chops are cut from the boneless pork loin and resemble a butterfly in shape. The cut is approximately 2 inches thick, and pockets for stuffing can be cut in each "wing" of the chop. They are prepared by braising or broiling. Often stuffed chops are baked after browning in a frying pan.
