Baseball Title Hopes Dashed By Carleton

Chelsea's hopes for a Class B state baseball championship were dashed Saturday, June 10 when the Bulldogs lost to Carleton Airport in the second game of the day, 5-1. The Bulldogs defeated Hillsdale in the first game, 6-4. Dave Laskasiak and Wayne Welton pitched the game, giving up only two hits. The Chelsea batsmen came up with six hits and only one error. Things came to an end when Carleton Airport came up with six hits and one error to pull out the game. Ron Sweeney went the distance for Chelsea. Although Chelsea batsmen had five hits, they were slowed by four errors. The loss brought an end to the Bulldogs' 11-game winning streak. The team has an over-all record of 26-4.

Coach Carl Genske is already preparing next year's team but it will be a hard job, as he is losing all but two of his regulars through graduation.

Babe Ruth A Team Defeats Manchester

Chelsea Babe Ruth "A" team defeated Manchester "B" by an 11-3 score behind the strong three-hit pitching of Bill Clark and Perry Johnson. Chelsea struck for four runs in the first inning on two walks and a double by Mike Nadeau and a triple by Perry Johnson.

In the second inning, two walks, followed by Mike Nadeau's triple, netted Chelsea two more runs. In the third inning, a walk to Steve Siebert was followed by a bunt single by Anthony Houle.

After two more walks to Mike Fouly and Paul Wood, Chelsea had forced in another run when Mike Nadeau delivered the third of his four hits to drive in two more runs to make the score 9-4. Chelsea scored two more runs in the 6th inning on singles by Mike Nadeau and Dan Morrison.

The outstanding defensive plays of the game came from Perry Johnson and Mike Nadeau, who combined to pick off three Manchester runners.

PARTNERS NOW: Daniel Murphy, after working at Chelsea Drug since he was 13 years old, is now a partner with Charles Lancaster, owner since 1948.

D. Murphy Becomes Partner Of Lancaster's in Drug Store

A familiar face at the Chelsea Drug Store since he was 13 years old, Daniel Murphy has become partner in the business with Charles M. Lancaster, owner since 1948.

Murphy was born in Northfield township. His family moved to Chelsea when he was 11 years old, and his mother, Mrs. Thomas Murphy, still resides here.

He began at the drug store by sweeping floors, running errands, and doing jobs that nobody else wanted to do. He continued to work at the store through high school and college, coming home from Ferris State College in Big Rapids on weekends to work. He graduated from Ferris in 1958 with a bachelor of science degree in Pharmacy, and returned to work at the drug store as a pharmacist.

Murphy met his wife, the former Carol Jean MacDonald, a professional dancer from Detroit, at the drug store. "She came in here one day to buy ear drops, and she needed a prescription, so I wouldn't sell them to her. But at least I met her."

They were married in 1959. The Murphys have five children: Dana, 12; Patrick, 10; Ross, 8; Casey, 3; and Brady, 2. They recently moved to 116 East St.

Murphy, a Democrat in a Republican stronghold, has served as Sylvan Township clerk for seven years. For the past 10 years he has been chief pharmacist for Mercywood Hospital in Ann Arbor. He is a member of St. Mary Catholic church, where he is in the Knights of Columbus.

Lancaster married the former Helen Grabowski of Chelsea. They have four children: Paul, 22, a graduate of Elmhurst College in Illinois, and a teacher for the past year; Mark, 21, a recent graduate of Eastern Michigan University; Laurel, 18, a sophomore at Albion College; and Tim, 16, a senior at Chelsea High school.

Lancaster has been deeply involved with community affairs during his 24 years in Chelsea. He has served as director of the Spaulding Foundation and the Chelsea Social Services. He has been president of the Chamber of Commerce and the Fair Board. He has been secretary of the Board of Education. He has served as a member of the Recreation Council, president of Kiwanis Club, and the Washtenaw County Pharmaceutical Association. He is presently treasurer of the Church Council of St. Paul United Church of Christ.

Lancaster was born in Festus, Mo., and graduated from high school in Granite City, Ill. He earned his pharmacy degree from the St. Louis College of Pharmacy in St. Louis, Mo. During World War II he served in the hospital corps of the Navy.

After returning to civilian life he assumed the assistant management of Cunningham's in Monroe, and later was manager of Cunningham's in Ann Arbor.

Pilot Program Underway in Meals for Aged

Church Women United of Chelsea, the Jaycee Auxiliary, and the Chelsea Methodist Home hope to get a regular program of meals for the aged started by September, 1972. The Home is sponsoring a pilot project offering very limited services to see what kinds of problems will arise.

The following is a list of items that will be incorporated in the program when it gets into full operation: 1) They plan to serve one hot meal a day seven days a week, year-round. 2) Cost to each person who can pay will be $1.15 per day. Requirements will be that a person be over 60 years old and reside within the Chelsea School District. 3) Volunteer drivers will pick up those who are able each day to eat together in a pleasant environment. Special dietetic requirements, such as diabetic, low sodium diets will be met. Meals will be served in a small dining room at the Methodist Home. Movies, talks, music, and other programs will be planned for participants' enjoyment. Programs will be short. 4) Those who are not able to get out for the group meal at the Home will be served in their own homes. (Nutrition studies done with elderly people have shown that each person gets more nutritive value out of a meal when eating with another person than when eating the same meal alone.)

This program is designed to be of help to anyone who finds it difficult to prepare his or her food and maintain a well-balanced diet, whether temporarily after hospital discharge, or on a permanent basis. They expect to feed 50 people eventually.

A Project Director will be hired to work with the Methodist Home, co-ordinate the volunteer drivers, routes, answer requests for service, handle bookkeeping, and other jobs. This person will also be needed to plan and carry out the social and educational aspects of the project. Application is being made for government funds under the newly signed Title 7.

The steering committee consists of Carolee Hoffmeyer, chairman, Anne Steinaway, Mary Ann Merkel, and Sybil Johnson. The Advisory Board consists of the above-named women and Edward H. Terry, executive director of Retirement Homes of the Detroit Annual Conference of the United Methodist Home; Dr. David Peterson, School of Gerontology, University of Michigan; the Rev. John R. Morris, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church; Arthur Steinaway, Jaycee; and Dr. Charles F. Krause. Others may be added in the future.

Irwin, Schafer Re-elected to School Board

School board election results — Incumbents Donald Irwin, and Robert N. Schafer, were voted to serve four-year terms on the Chelsea Board of Education following the annual election Monday, June 12.

A scant 20 percent of the eligible voters turned out for the election. Fred Mills, business manager, reports that only 406 of the 2,000 voters participated in the election.

Tallies are: Donald Irwin, 238; Robert N. Schafer, 235; Thomas B. Lancaster, 181; Jack Merke, 1 write-in; Byce Fauble, 1 write-in; Clark Bushnell, 1 write-in; Doug Stewart, 1 write-in; and three spoiled ballots.

Women's Softball Team Still Needs Player Personnel

The Chelsea women's softball team played its first game Thursday, June 8, losing to Parkview Hospital of Ann Arbor, 23-19.

Pitchers for the Chelsea women were Nadine Packard and Noreen Collins. Hitting was sparked by home runs by Dee Dee Ringe, Debbie Stahl, and Nadine Packard.

Although a loss, Coach Jerry Ringe feels that the team has made much improvement and predicts that the team will have a successful season.

The women will face another team from Ann Arbor Thursday, June 15 (tonight) at South school at 6:30 p.m. They are still building up team strength, so if anyone's missed out so far and wants to join, come on down.

Church Women Seeking Food For Migrants

Church Women United of Chelsea, in response to an appeal from the Michigan Migrant Ministry, is sponsoring an emergency food collection for migrants in its member churches.

Despite the governmental programs which assist migrants, commodities will be needed for emergency distribution to "fill the gaps" these programs do not fill, according to the Michigan Migrant Ministry.

One of the reasons for these "gaps" will be the new regulations for the Food Stamp Program, in effect this summer, which will in many cases delay the initial purchase of food stamps up to 30 days.

The following foods are particularly needed: flour, rice, dry pinto beans, masa harina (corn meal), oatmeal, dry cereals, coffee, sugar, salt, canned milk (no powdered milk), peanut butter, jelly, cooking oil, and canned vegetables and fruits. No home canned foodstuffs or dented cans may be distributed, according to Department of Agriculture regulations.

Other items much needed and not supplied through the food stamp program are detergent, bath soap, toilet tissue, and blankets.

Key women of Church Women United assisting with this program are: Mrs. LeRoy Buss, St. John's UCC; Mrs. Harold David, St. Paul UCC; Mrs. Harold Eismann, Zion Lutheran; Mrs. Judson Goltra, St. (Continued on page eight)

DON TURNER, who left Chelsea May 22 on an extended tour of Canada and Alaska, views the historical marker that tells the history of the Mackenzie Highway.

Don Turner Reports from Peace River Valley in Canada

Word has been received from Alaska-bound Don Turner, who left Chelsea May 22 for his annual adventure. Turner reports that he has been "cutting up the miles toward the northland."

Turner crossed the border into Canada at Sauk Ste. Marie and headed west on the Trans-Canada Highway, stopping at Arrewa Nipigon Kakabehca Falls, Ont., then moving into Mantaba, Saskatchewan. He traveled on to Alberta where he headed north to the McKenzie Highway, which leads to Canada's Northwest Territories. He has stopped at several interesting and historical spots.

The McKenzie Highway, Turner notes, is named after one of Canada's noted explorers, Alexander McKenzie, who laid claim to all of Northwest Canada for Britain in 1792 and '93, when he reached the Pacific Coast at ter making a wrong turn and taking the river that led him to the arctic in his search for a water route to the Pacific Coast. The large river that drains north-west Canada to the arctic also bears his name.

After reading James Oliver Curwood's books of the far north, Turner has been interested in the area covered by the books, especially in "Northwest Mounted" and "The Valley of Silent Men."

He is now in the area covered by the latter. It is in this region that the book starts, west and north of Edmonton, Alberta, around Highway 43. The McKenzie Highway starts at "Valley View," going by Peace River, which winds north by Highway 35 at Grimshaw.

It is not, he states, the end of the world. "If you look again, this whole area is part of Canada's great farm ranching and wheat belt. Now it is quite an oil and gas center, with more exploration under way in that line."

He stopped to fish at "Lady Evelyn Falls" in the Northwest Territories, where there is a campground noted for its fishing. Pike, pickerel, and the arctic grayling are found just below the falls. "So," he reports, "I had some fun. The arctic grayling is my favorite fish in the north."

Turner informs us that Lady Evelyn Falls flows a lot like Michigan's Tawasmenon Falls in the Upper Peninsula, both in size and the direction that it faces. Its height is 68 feet. After getting his fill of catching and eating arctic grayling and pickerel, Turner went on to Hay River, a small but old settlement. (Continued on page three)

Dare Edwards Granted Patent On Oven

Chelsea has its very own invention-maker in Dare Edwards, 5450 Conway Rd. Edwards has received U. S. patent 3,644,708 for his portable heating oven for pre-heating rigid vinyl sheets.

Rigid vinyl sheets are used in the housing industry for external covering purposes. It is often necessary to shape rigid vinyl material on the job in order to adapt it for use.

Edwards has devised a simple, inexpensive, lightweight portable electric pre-heating oven. With his invention, the vinyl sheet is inserted through the open door of the oven and placed on the heat transmitting plate and under a heat retaining and equalizing board.

After the sheet has been placed in the oven it will be uniformly heated to working temperature, in six to ten seconds, depending on the number of bends needed to fabricate the desired shape.

In the past, homes that were being covered with solid vinyl had to have special-trim work done with aluminum. This practice has been unsatisfactory to homeowners. New homes being covered with solid vinyl siding may now have inexpensive solid vinyl trim fabricated on the job to fit the woodwork with the factory finish all have desired in the past.

Swimming Lessons Available Through Recreation Program

The Recreation Department will offer swimming lessons every morning. For information, contact Jim Tallman, 475-7088.

There will be swimming in the afternoon, with a 35-cent bus fee. The bus will leave at 1 p.m. and return at 3 p.m. It will leave the high school and make stops at the old junior high site, and at the corner of Chestnut and M-52.

PLANNERS FOR HOT MEAL PROGRAM: These women are involved in the preparations for a hot meal program for the aged, hopefully, in progress by September. Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

In this era of instant communications, instant foods, and instant travel, the American people have begun to expect instant everything. We expect candidates to have instant solutions to our domestic problems. We expect our Presidents to be the miracle men who will instantly solve all international tensions and create a stable peace.

Our reactions to the recent summit conferences bear this out. As I said following the summit in China, we somehow expected 25 years of enmity to disappear in a day. It didn't, of course, but substantial progress was made. Following the Moscow summit, once again there has been a faint feeling of disappointment. Surely a great deal was accomplished. But all our problems have not been instantly solved; all our years of conflict have not come to a sudden end.

On no issue is this kind of reaction more evident than the Strategic Arms Limitation Agreement. When the SALT agreement was signed by the President and the Soviet leaders, we heaved a collective sigh of relief. Suddenly the specter of nuclear war was lightened; it was as though a great burden had been lifted, not only from us, but from all the people of the world.

Then in the week following the first surge of emotion we began to examine the agreement a little more closely. The debate in Congress and throughout the country has illuminated the fact that the agreement is quite limited in nature. It is clear that the arms race has not come to a sudden halt—it has merely been slowed. Our military expenditures may, in fact, not be reduced considerably by the agreement. The Pentagon has already come to the Congress to ask for increased funds for new weapons systems.

That is, of course, just what the President told us when he came back to the United States. The agreements reached in Moscow are only a foundation—they are not a final solution. They are a start—not an end in themselves. There are many proverbs in our language which express it—a journey of a thousand miles starts with a single step; mighty oaks from little acorns grow.

The SALT agreements are not a millennium. They are, nonetheless, extremely significant. They are deserving of our strong support and should be ratified immediately. They should also serve as an inspiration to us to work for further agreements, to reduce the arms race and the terror of nuclear war even further. That is a goal to which the entire nation should be committed. We must not lose sight of that goal in the debate over the specifics of this pact.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: You recollect in my piece a few weeks back I reported where the fellers had looked up the matter of all the minorities clubbing together to be majorities. That discussion must of stuck with Clem Webster, cause he come to the session at the country store Saturday nite with more on the minority-majority question.

Clem got on the agender fast and allowed that the American in the middle was gitting to be a minority, and furthermore if the country keeps on the way it's headed the Middle American is going to be as extinct as a dodo. Clem was of the opinion that the feller in the middle gits it going and coming from all sides. And being in the middle, Clem allowed, is a problem from age to income and evertthing between.

The young git schooling and training, and no end of problems is fixed for them. The old git a heap of attention, Clem said, and some real benefits besides not having no income pay taxes on it. It's them in the middle, the working, tax-paying average citizen, that don't git no relief, was Clem's words.

Actual, Mister Editor, all the fellers is well on the downhill side of 70, and none ever made enuff in their working years to be called middle class, middle income or a thing, but Zeke Grubb, fer one, was agreed with Clem. They is a heap of benefits for older folks, Zeke allowed, like help with doctor's bills, so he couldn't go along with Zeke on that point. But as fer the Middle American gitting the squeeze, went on Zeke, that was hitting the nail on the head.

Use to be, said Zeke, everybody was afraid of being pore. Now, with all the house rents, medical and dental care, college expenses and evertthing else based on income the only way to git ahead in this country is to be pore. The less you got the more you git, said Zeke, and all the feller in the middle can do is pay the bills.

Practical speaking, broke in Clem, the average working man is in bad shape cause he's got what you could call awkward income. He makes too much to qualify fer programs so he can live as good as the pore, and he don't earn enuff to live as good as the rich that can hire lawyers to look fer tax loopholes. It actual has got where a feller on a job can't afford to git a raise cause the Government would take out more than the employer put in, Clem allowed.

The fellers went round and round on the matter, Mister Editor. Final, Bug Hookum said he had saw where the idee of designing yore own check is big all over the country, like one feller has a picture of him kissing his new wife on his alimony checks. Bug said Middle American needs a picture of Uncle Sam holding his hand out.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Drive Doomed

Those who want to see Michigan adopt a one-house legislature must wait at least two years to get the job done.

The drive launched more than a year ago by State Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, is far short of the 300,000 signatures it needed to get on this November's ballot.

The indecision which was rampant in the legislature for most of last year over the income tax increase and other matters sparks hope in some backers that the drive might yet succeed.

That hope was fanned further early in the effort when the Michigan Jaycees said they'd help circulate the petitions for the one-house drive.

But the steam went out of the movement about the time the first snow hit the state last fall, and it never got back on the track.

There are several reasons for the failure of the campaign to get the one-house issue on the ballot this fall.

The most important centers around money—Swallow just could not generate enough of it.

Experts say it costs around $50,000 to conduct a petition drive to place successfully a constitutional amendment on the ballot. That kind of financing just couldn't be found. Nearly all potential sources for support have a stake in legislation, and they couldn't afford to get current legislators mad at them.

Swallow had to rely on $1 and $5 contributions, and there just weren't enough of them to hire the staff required to oversee such a drive and make sure petitions get to those who want them and are collected properly.

A second reason is that the Jaycees were not decisive or unanimous in their efforts to help the drive.

After the state organization voted to help the drive, many local chapters wanted to debate the subject rather than begin immediately to circulate the petitions. Some local chapters voted not to go along with the state unit. Most of them just never put much work on it.

Also hurting the drive were the efforts of many legislators who started working on people in their home districts to make sure they didn't help with the petition drive.

Many legislators believe that voters would adopt the one-house proposal with glee if it ever got on the ballot, and they worked to make sure it didn't get there.

So now, it's wait till next time as far as the one-house backers are concerned. And they can take some hope and solace from the fact they get further this time than they ever did before.

Milliken Surprises

Gov. William G. Milliken, who has accumulated a quiet spoken "nice guy" image in his years in public life, has been surprising people lately with a much more militant stance on public issues than he has ever taken publicly.

The most notable incident came recently when the Governor pointed out Senate Highways Chairman James Fleming of Jackson and delivered a barrage of criticism at him.

Milliken lambasted Fleming because his committee had failed to do anything with the Governor's transportation package, which passed the House in February.

He felt Fleming was only trying to kill the package and said it was time for him to get moving.

Not only that, but the Governor said his public criticism of Fleming was only "one of the levers available to him as Governor, and that he planned to pull however many levers it took to get the bills out."

Aides say his more public demonstrations of displeasure came only after a series of more private attempts failed to produce any action.

"He has talked that toughly in private to other legislators before," said one assistant. "For example, he did it when the package passed the House. It's the first time he has had one legislator stalling like this on such a major issue and as a result became the first time he publicly spotlighted one person like that."

Most of Milliken's problems as Governor have been of his own making—that is, they have centered around programs such as education reform and transportation reform that he proposed. The proposals, designed to meet mushrooming problems, have called for a great deal of change, something that always meets resistance.

By his tougher public stances, the Governor is showing he truly means to get his programs passed.

Drain Commissioner J. Flook Will Not Seek Re-election

Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner, John H. Flook, has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election "because of health." Flook is a double amputee.

Flook, who has served as Drain Commissioner since 1954, said: "during the 18 years that I have been Drain Commissioner, I have developed this office into a multi-million dollar operation exceeding all other county departments in work performed, with nearly $5 million worth of new construction this year, all necessary to the health, property, and well-being of the people of this county and to the maintenance of the ecology."

"In addition, the office currently has an estimated $20 million worth of drainage work in various stages of engineering... all of which has been formally requested by home owners or municipalities within the county."

"Of all the work done in these years, the most rewarding was the Portage Lake Level project, which culminated in construction of the Portage Lake Dam, which is unique for its size. This is a visible accomplishment. Most of the rest of my work is underground and out of sight."

"I have served as Drain Commissioner longer than anyone else in the history of Washtenaw county and am proud of the work accomplished during that time, especially since administrative cost has consistently been one of the lowest of all county offices. Since 1954, the population of Washtenaw county has doubled, yet the Drain Commission now consists of the exact same number of persons it did then—four—to deal with planning, construction, maintenance and repair, and records, of about 500 miles of county drains.

"I am grateful to the people who have supported me over the years. Now, however, I find that because of health I can no longer keep up the increasing responsibilities of the office, as the Board of Commissioners in recent years has refused to provide the necessary funds and personnel to adequately serve the public."

"I sincerely hope that a qualified person with engineering and construction work experience will be elected to the office of Drain Commissioner."

"I wish my successor good luck."

Thought For Food

Honor Dad on Father's Day by featuring steak - his favorite food! For father alone, choose a generously cut individual steak such as club, strip, T-bone, Porterhouse; rib eye or tenderloin (filet mignon). To serve the rest of the family, select similar steaks of appropriate size or choose a thick sirloin or Porterhouse steak and carve into steaks for individual servings.

The dress with the two-piece look is popular this spring. This is accomplished by making the shirtwaist type bodice, one color and the skirt another.

A 1940 style is in again for evening. It is the long dress with the halter neckline, bare back and very full skirt.

Was that new outfit really worth the money?

Turner in Peace River Valley

Leaving Hay River, Turner took a run to Pine Point, a mining settlement east of Hay River. There he met a family that is interested in his camper. After showing them how it operated, he was invited to their home for a "legal moose supper."

Commenting on his new friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weber and family, Turner says, "One can't beat the hospitality down here in the north. I have made several new acquaintances. Peter is one of the superintendents of the Lead and Zinc Mine at Pine Point, and lives in a nice modern home. He has a nice family, of which the youngest, Garry and Nelson, still live at home."

After leaving the Webers, Turner set his sights for Fort Smith, another historical spot of the north. It is 147 miles from Pine Point, and the Webers had told him to stop at the Angus Fire tower, some thirty miles up the road toward Fort Smith.

There are no campgrounds marked along the 147-mile route, the ranger at the Fire Tower said it was OK for Turner to park for the night by his cabin. Turner found Allen Reed, the ranger, to be an "interesting chap." He was formerly from England, but had come to Canada some years back and spent his summers looking for forest fires in the huge expanse of bush country in the north. He is under the supervision of the National Park Service at Wood Buffalo National Park, with headquarters in Fort Smith, which is close to the Alberta provincial border.

Turner found this area to be quite fascinating. He relates, "The Slave River that drains to Great Slave Lake was one of the rivers used by Alexander Mackenzie. It was at the large rapids, called Pelican Rapids, that all freight and supplies had to be portaged around in the days of riverboat travel, so it became quite a town sight and was the capital city of Canada's Northwest Territories. This kept up 'til 1967 when it was moved to Yellow Knife, a community of 6,500 people, on the shores of Great Slave Lake. Its economy comes from mining."

Wood Buffalo National Park straddles the boundary of Alberta and the Northwest Territories, and is the nesting sight of the nearly extinct whooping crane, a large white bird resembling the sandhill crane found near Chelsea, except that they are all white with black markings on their wings and a rusty patch on their head. There are only 38 known left in the state.

Turner mentions, "I was hoping for some pictures of them, but the chief ranger told me that no one was allowed to go closer than three miles of the area, and even aircraft were not allowed to fly lower than 3,000 feet over their nesting areas. They are hoping that the birds will make a come-back in population, but at present it is touch and go. They were hunted to near extinction for their plumage."

Turner relates how Buffalo Park gets its name. "The park gets its name from the wood buffalo or bison that still roam wild here in this huge wilderness area. They are the last remaining wild herd in North America. There are some 1,200 in the park, and quite a number outside the park, and some hunting is now done each year. I met the only guide and outfitter that is allowed to hunt them, Frank Laviolette of Fort Smith. I am carrying some of his literature, and if anyone reading this article would like to try hunting them, write to: Frank Laviolette, P.O. Box 163, Fort Smith, Northwest Territories, Canada. He will send you literature."

Turner reflects that it must be quite a challenge to hunt wood buffalo, since he has never seen any animal as large as the ones that roam the brushlands up there. He says that they can disappear into the black spruce so quick that one can't imagine how an animal so large can just melt away.

He reports that some of the bulls weigh a ton, and are quite dark. The cows and the calves are more scary than the bulls, and he relates that he couldn't get any good pictures of them.

When Turner decided to leave Wood Buffalo Park and head for Yellow Knife, he found that he couldn't get across the McKenzie River, as the ice was too thick for the Ferry to cross, and cars and trucks were backed up for a mile. We leave our wandering reporter headed for the Yukon and then on to Alaska, from which he promises to send us more news of his adventures.

LOG CHURCH AT DUNVEGAN MISSION: This picture was taken where the MacKenzie Highway crosses the Peace River. It was near here that Alexander Mackenzie and his men spent the winter of 1792. The next summer, they reached the Pacific Ocean by following the Peace River to its headwaters and then following the rivers flowing to the Pacific.

BORDER MARKER: This is one of the border markers on the MacKenzie Highway that Don Turner has passed on his travel to Alaska.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT
 Father's Day questions — for everyone in the family . . .
 Is Dad "around the house" as often as he can be, or is he "around town" when he could or should be home? . . . How often and for what length of time does he talk to and/or play with his children? . . . Do the children joyfully anticipate such meetings or do they feel and/or say "Dad spoils everything" . . . Does he arbitrarily feel the fact of fatherhood automatically entitles him to love, respect and obedience of his children? . . . Does he make a conscious effort to help instill attitudes, qualities and traits he desires in his children — or does he usually leave that task to mother? . . . To what extent does he show qualities of integrity, morality, humor, compassion, patience and understanding? . . . Is he more generous with material things than the giving of himself with love and time? . . . Does he avoid tensions and hostilities in the home? . . . Is he proud of his children? . . .
 In our opinion, most Dads (by a large majority) measure up pretty well on this sort of score card. We salute and honor them on Father's Day . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone 475-4121.

So take this coupon to your nearby American Oil Dealer. Negotiate a deal with him. Get his best price. And on top of that, we'll give you 50 free gallons of gasoline with the purchase of four new Atlas passenger tires. Or 25 free gallons with the purchase of two. You know they've got to be good — because when you buy a tire from us, we both live with it.

All tires must be sold by June 30, so we at Fred's Standard Service are going to sell you the first tire at full price and the second for HALF PRICE! Shop around first, then come and compare our prices!

SUNDAY'S SERMON

★ Father's Day

Today, in an age of violence and distrust, a good example-setting father is needed by every family group. Unfortunately, there are some families, that due to a tragedy, are without a father. Then there are other families, by far more numerous, which have a father, but are living a tragedy. Why? Because the father doesn't fully realize or doesn't live up to his important responsibilities. What are these responsibilities? They are love, understanding, and trying to be a good example. These things are more important than all the fancy cars, clothes, and materialistic items that a parent can give a child. Love and understanding are difficult for some people, because they can't buy it, they must give of themselves—their time, their patience, and their concern. It must be worked at, but the rewards are well worth it. Another important aspect of being a good father is setting a good example. Our children try to imitate and copy us. Therefore they will end up doing as we do, rather than doing as we say. But if try to set a good example, by doing as we say, we are not only strengthening our own family unit, we are training those in our households to be strong, good citizens in our community and our nation. It's up to you. Think about it.

Production Report Received for Cows In Lowell Spike Herd

A report of milk production levels attained by dairy cows in the area has been received from Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The actual food production output, recorded in the DHIR program, by these local Registered Holsteins is:
Nickie - Plate Senator Grace, 6869709, a four-year-old, produced 30,600 lbs. of milk and 973 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days. Green-Vale Lucy Anthony, 6785837, a three-year-old, had 19,060 lbs. of milk and 748 lbs. of butterfat in 327 days. Both are included in the herd tested for Lowell Spike, Manchester.
These new production figures may be compared to the estimated annual output of 9,388 lbs. (4,366 quarts) of milk and 345 lbs. of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow, notes the National Holstein Association.
Production testing is made available through the co-operative efforts of the state and local testing associations and Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Dairy-men enrolled in the program pay for the service.

18 Girl Scouts Complete Red Cross First Aid Course

Girl Scout Troop 689 has finished a six-week training course in First Aid under the direction of Don Haywood. Haywood is affiliated with the Ann Arbor chapter of the American National Red Cross and the Ann Arbor Fire Department.

Eighteen girls have worked with techniques including treatment of various wounds, shock, broken bones, burns, and poisoning. Re-suscitator Annie came to visit the troop, providing an opportunity for each girl to participate in artificial respiration.

Haywood stressed to the girls the involvement of drugs in treatment of patients and the hazards of drug abuse.

"The most important objective of first aid teaching is accident prevention and applied safety-mindedness," said Haywood. "The second is to teach what to do and what not to do in case of accident or sudden illness."

Troop leader Mrs. Carol Hoffman indicates those girls receiving certificates have had adequate practice on skills in class and have satisfactorily completed the theoretical work.

Film on County Alcohol Safety Action Program Now Available

Local community, church, and service groups can now schedule a summer showing of "Guilty Victim: The Problem Drinker Behind the Wheel," newly produced in Washtenaw county by local filmmaker, Bob Ferguson of Ann Arbor.

The film is a documentary on the Washtenaw Alcohol Safety Action Program and features interviews with several county residents who are involved in the project's Antabuse Program. (Antabuse is a drug which helps a person stop drinking because it will make him sick when combined with alcohol.)

These clients of the Washtenaw Council on Alcoholism tell on film how the program has altered their lives since they were screened by court counselors for the program.

With the new court procedures outlined in the film, these drunk driving offenders and many others over the past year and a half were given the option of probation and participation in a treatment program, once it was determined that, for them, alcohol had become a serious problem.

Viewers will see how some of their neighbors are being helped through group discussions and education as well as through the use of Antabuse, to find a more satisfying future without alcohol dependency.

Showings can be arranged by calling Nancy Boyer at the Washtenaw Council on Alcoholism (971-7900). She will arrange for a speaker to show the film and answer questions about the Alcohol Safety Action Program. Programs can also be planned to cover any aspect of the drinking and driving problem.

SAD STATISTIC
Over 70,000 children under the age of five are involved in accidental poisonings each year.

THE CHELSEA STANDARD, THURSDAY, JUNE 15, 1972

St. Louis School Notes

The boys returned home Friday night from their trip to Washington, D.C. They stopped to visit the Don Guanella school in Pittsburgh, Pa., from Monday through Wednesday. While there, the boys saw the Liberty Bell, Independence Hall, and Valley Forge.

While in Washington, the boys and staff stayed at the Catholic University, which was a big hit with its cafeteria where they could choose their own food.

They toured the White House, thanks to arrangements made by Rep. Marvin Esch. They also visited Arlington Cemetery and the grave of John F. Kennedy, the Washington Monument, and the FBI Building.

While enjoying a picnic lunch, the boys were surprised to notice all the "bums" that were begging for food.

Sunday, June 11 the boys presented their concert, which was well-attended.

Tuesday, June 13, the boys traveled to Detroit for their annual excursion to Bob-Lo Island. They were the guests of Joe Vitale, whose orchestra plays on the "Columbo," one of the boats over to the island.

Once on the island, the boys enjoyed rides and treats provided by their many friends, especially the policemen.

On Wednesday, June 14, the Women's Fellowship of St. Paul's furnished a picnic lunch for the boys and staff. It was at this time that awards were presented for the year.

On Saturday, June 17, the boys will travel to the State Olympics in Adrian. Approximately 20 will be participating.

Sunday, June 18, is the date that the boys return home with their families for summer vacation.

Army Announces Enlistment Bonus Option

The United States Army announces a special bonus plan for young men enlisting in certain careers in the infantry, armor and artillery. The plan calls for payment of $1,500 for a four-year enlistment.

The bonus is payable in full following successful completion of basic and advanced training. This normally occurs about four months after enlistment, depending on the career field selected.

Men with prior service are eligible for the bonus plan if they have less than three years active service, have not previously received a reenlistment bonus and meet certain other requirements.

Besides professional training, young men in the bonus plan will also be eligible to volunteer for the widest range of enlistment travel options ever offered by the Army. These include guaranteed assignments in Europe, Alaska, Hawaii, Far East and Panama, as well as Units of Choice in different parts of the United States.

The Army now starts enlisted men at $288.00 a month, with increases following basic training. It also continues to offer the traditional benefits of free meals, housing, clothing, medical and dental care, along with 30 paid vacation days a year.

For further information on the Army's new bonus plan, call Sgt. Joseph Allgood at 665-3731 or stop by his office at 212 S. 4th Ave., Ann Arbor.

Undersheriff Owings Discusses County Law Enforcement

Harold Owings, Jr., undersheriff of Washtenaw county and Chelsea resident, described with slides the operations of the Sheriff's Department to members of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club Monday, June 12. Although he is running for sheriff in the August primaries, Owings avoided politics and spoke on the subject at hand, concentrating on the streamlining techniques initiated by the department.

He stated, "I feel we have a very fine and sophisticated law enforcement agency. But we have to work within our budget, determined by the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners." Owings elaborated on the use of computers in the law enforcement field. The Sheriff's Department has established its central location and training area at the old Holy Ghost Seminary on Washtenaw Rd., Ann Arbor.

Here a new innovation, an IBM computer set-up, is capable of letting the man at the desk know exactly where the cars are located, and whether they are on a normal patrol or on a special call basis. Owings explained, "We usually have seven to nine cars out throughout the county. The computer consists of a large map with lights to show where the car is, and the activity it is engaged in. This cuts down on the number of men needed to sit behind the desk." The county jail utilizes closed-circuit TV and radio to monitor the cells. This, he said, also eliminates taking men off the streets to patrol the jail. The jail has a permanent capacity of 113 prisoners. At present, it holds 130 prisoners, many waiting to stand trial. "90 percent of the prisoners are in for felonies and murders," Owings related.

The Sheriff's Department also uses computers to provide a complete cost and found system. Washtenaw county officials share information with other law enforcement agencies—both within and outside the county. "The Sheriff's Department is the perfect one for this activity because we are equipped for a fairly large area. Local agencies are too small to be really effective," he said.

The Department utilizes nine full-time detectives to check up on felonies and murders. One of the Washtenaw division men developed a simple blood analyzing kit now used by many other law enforcement agencies. With this kit, a detective can determine whether a sample 1) is blood, and 2) is human blood. The sample is then sent to the crime lab in Lansing for more detailed analysis.

The Washtenaw agency has one of the seven regional training centers for law enforcement agencies, and in Owings' opinion, "one of the more modern."

Patrol cars are equipped with all the safety features possible, and have high-powered engines for pursuit. They are made of heavy-duty materials to help sustain collision. They contain more than riot equipment, "because sheriff's men do more than bust student's heads, which is what a lot of people think." Owings stated that they have first-aid equipment that prepares the deputies to handle accidents and major disasters.

Each man in the department is required to complete a "Pursuit and Precision" course every three years to keep up on the methods and procedures used when following and capturing suspects.

Falling Tree in Village Causes Power Failure

It wasn't Mrs. O'Leary's cow but a fallen tree that caused the glowing sky and the electrical power failure Monday, June 12 at 1:50 a.m.

Village Administrator Frederick Weber stated that the tree, which fell on Washington St., hit three electric lines on the top of the pole. Since these were some of the primary lines for the village's power, the town experienced an electrical power failure.

The lines were isolated, the power was shut off, and repairs were made, Weber said. The tree falling made a great noise, and the burning lines and shower of sparks lightened the sky throughout the area.

"Most of the village was back in service by 7 or 8 a.m.," Weber stated.

Some damage was done to the transformers, separate from the burning lines. Michigan Electric Co. has been doing the repair and investigation work on that end of power failure.

The Rev. Harry Weeks Elected To Membership By Methodists

The Rev. Harry R. Weeks, Gregory, minister of the Salem Grove and North Lake United Methodist churches, was elected to full membership in the Detroit Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church Wednesday, June 7 at the 31st consecutive session of the conference, in Dawson Auditorium, on the campus of Adrian College.

The Rev. Weeks was ordained in the United Methodist Church Thursday evening by Bishop Dwight E. Loder, resident bishop of the Michigan area of the United Methodist Church.

The son of the Rev. and Mrs. Alan Weeks of Deckerville, the Rev. Weeks was recommended for a license to preach by the Charge Conference of the First United Methodist Church of Ann Arbor, and was received as a probationary member of the Detroit Annual Conference and ordained a Deacon in the United Methodist Church in 1970.

The Rev. Weeks graduated from Harbor Beach Community High school in 1956. Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky., awarded him an AB degree in 1960, a BD degree in 1965, and a ThM degree in 1966. He received a MA degree from the University of Michigan in 1971.

Mrs. Weeks is the former Genevieve Rose McCollum, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McCollum of Jeddo. The Rev. and Mrs. Weeks are the parents of three children: Richard Alan, 8, Lois Robin, 4, and Harry Randall, 1.

Bishop Loder, when reading the list of ministerial appointments on June 7, assigned the Rev. Weeks to serve the Salem Grove and North Lake United Methodist churches.

Charged with Larceny

Examination was set for 10 a.m. June 28. Collinsworth was released on $100 cash bond.

Consumers Council Warns Against Cosmetics Promotion

An item from the Michigan Consumers Council recently pertains to some activities which have been going on in Chelsea recently.

The Council warns that Turner Enterprises is still in action despite a decision by the Michigan Court of Appeals enjoining one of its subsidiaries, Koscot Interplanetary, Inc., from selling cosmetics distributorships.

Chelsea area people have been offered out-of-state trips in which they will learn about the "vast money-making opportunities available in Turner Enterprises and about the experiences of the company's founder, Glenn W. Turner.

This out-of-state tactic is a red flag warning to consumers. According to the Council the Michigan Court found Koscot in violation of the deceptive advertising statutes, lottery laws, and public policy of the state of Michigan, so they move their "likely prospects" to Ohio by bus, after meetings in Ann Arbor, putting them up in a motel, and giving them the "motivation" with income claims presented at "Golden Opportunity meetings." After viewing Koscot's marketing plan in its most favorable light, the court said, "We are constrained to conclude that the defendant's scheme is a blatant attempt to extract money from investors through the use of misrepresented facts, exaggerated claims and statistics, undisclosed facts and false advertising.

The scheme, offered to employees in Chelsea business places over the past few weeks, according to the court "has all the earmarks of a lottery" because any money made will be purely by chance.

One profits, apparently, only if he can sell other distributorships, and the sale of cosmetics, the court said, is almost nil.

The court reports more than 300 distributorships and supervisoryships already sold in Michigan. At from $2,000 to $5,000 each, this indicates that at least one million

Todd Sprague Honored At Open House Party

Todd Sprague, a 1972 graduate of Chelsea High school, was honored at an open house hosted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Sprague, Sunday afternoon, June 11. Fifty friends and relatives attended the celebration. Todd will be attending the University of Tulsa in Oklahoma in the fall, where he plans to major in political science.

dollar's of Michigan money is already tied up in this distribution superstructure.

Law enforcement agencies are investigating these recruitment efforts and the Consumers Council urges prospective investors to exercise a special degree of caution. The state of Kansas stopped both whole and retail Koscot and subsidiary operations and ordered the company to refund all monies recovered.

This spring, for the first time in its 80-year history, Central Michigan University graduated a class with three valedictorians. The three—two Michigan women and a male student from Austria—had perfect all-A scholastic records.
