First Armed Robbery Hits Shell Station

It finally happened — Chelsea's first armed robbery. Friday, June 23 at 4:25 a.m., the Chelsea Shell station, 1630 12th St. The suspects took $216.05, attendant Douglas W. McDonald reported to Chelsea police that had pumped $4 worth of gas in a 1962 brown four-door Cadillac containing three black men and it into the station to receive money from the driver and attendant. The third suspect, named in the rear seat in a slumped position. The attendant furnished that he thought the third man appeared to be drunk. Outside the station, the driver, named McDonald, with a short, red, blue steel revolver, and led him into the men's wash room, located on the west side of building. While the driver walked the attendant to the wash room, he robbed him of $22 from his billfold. At the same time, the other suspect emptied the cash register of its money. McDonald was ordered to remain in the wash room for 10 minutes. After waiting the stated length of time, he called the police. The direction of travel of the vehicle was unknown. Several sets of tire marks were seen in the wash room and cash register and wash room door knob. Chelsea Officers Sibert and Downing were called to the station, which they had checked just minutes prior to the robbery. McDonald described the suspects:

The driver was 30-35 years of age, 5'6"-5'8", with a medium complexion, brown eyes, and a medium length, processed black hair. He had visible teeth missing, and was pockmarked. He had a muscular build and was clean shaven. He was clothed with a sailor hat with the word "Chef" on it in black letters and a brown waist jacket. The second suspect was described as being about the same age and height as the first suspect, with black kinky hair that was long on top. He too was clean shaven. The third suspect was described as being unshaven for several days. The officers made a request for a road block to the Blockade Communication Center via the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department at 4:42 a.m. The blockade was terminated at 5:44 a.m.

Sharon Church Old Fashioned Day Slated

North Sharon Bible church has invited the public to its second annual "Old Fashioned Day," Sunday, July 2. According to Pastor Bill Enstien, "This year's events will be bigger and better than last year's highly successful day."

Old fashioned singing and preaching will characterize the Sunday school hour at 10 a.m., and church at 11 a.m. A pot-luck dinner will follow on the church grounds. The public is invited to visit the outdoor antique display from 1 to 3 p.m., under the direction of Floyd Proctor. In addition, games for all ages, pony rides, and outdoor singing are planned for the afternoon.

At 3 p.m. a motorcade will be headed by the church's two new bright-red buses, and will end at McAtee's pool, where an old-fashioned outdoor baptism will climax the day's activities. Old-time duds and centennial clothes are welcome. The evening service will be held at 7 p.m. as (Continued on page seven)

Mark Montange Wins State Title in Wrestling Tourney

Mark Montange, 1964 Ivey Rd., won the 115-pound class championship in the AAU Junior Olympic Freestyle Wrestling Tournament held at Ann Arbor Pioneer High school Saturday, June 24. Approximately 120 youths participated in the state-wide event. Mark won his victory by pinning four of the five opponents he faced, and defeating the fifth, 4-0.

The senior at Chelsea High school will face his next competition Saturday, July 8 at Walled Lake, where he will compete in the State AAU try-outs for national competition.

Gary Montange Shot in Leg at Drive-in Movie

Gary Montange, 20, of 19640 Ivey Rd., was shot in the upper thigh of the left leg with a sling from a .22 caliber hand gun by a man who robbed him and threatened to attack his 16-year-old girl friend.

The shooting occurred at approximately 11:15 p.m. Sunday, June 25 at the Ypsi-Ann Drive-In Theater, 4875 Washtenaw Ave., in Pittsfield township.

An armed robbery warrant has been issued for a 19-year-old Ypsilanti man. Ypsilanti city police are working with the Sheriff's Department in attempting to locate the suspect.

Montange told Sheriff's Department detectives that he and his girl friend were seated in his car watching a movie when a man walked up to their car and began pounding on a window. The man had a gun in his hand and ordered Montange to roll down the window.

When he complied, Montange said, the man made a grab for the teenage girl and threatened to attack her. He then demanded money and after Montange gave him $10 in cash, the man shot him in the leg.

The gunman then leaped into a car which was parked nearby and drove out of the lot. Detectives said that witnesses reported seeing the bandit talking to two men behind the Montange car at one point, and they are also being sought.

O. Richardson Loses Eye in Softball Game

Odus Richardson of North St. suffered a serious eye injury Saturday afternoon, June 24, while playing in the second annual PNR Sports Invitational Softball Tournament at Saline.

Richardson, who was playing for the Pub, a Chelsea-based team, was struck in the eye by a thrown ball. He was racing down to second base in a double-play situation when he was hit by the throw to first base.

He was rushed to the Saline Community Hospital and later taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where the injured eye was removed.

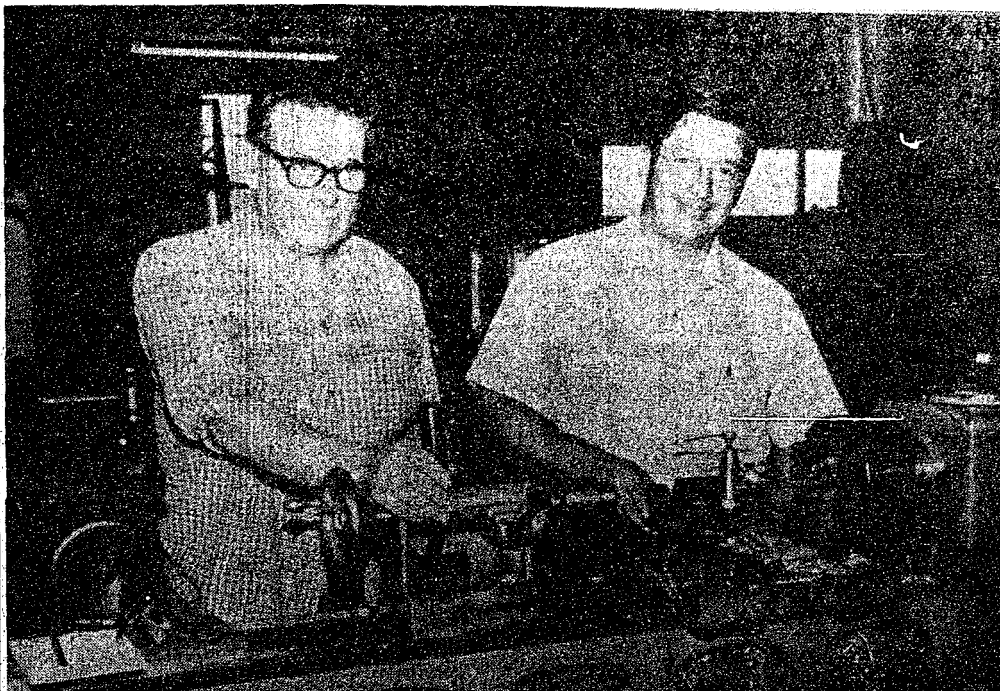

Richardson has played softball in the area for the last 12 years. He has played for Dexter, Chelsea, Ann Arbor, and Saline. He is employed by Longworth Plating Service.

Softball managers and players are organizing a fund drive for Richardson, and checks may be sent to: Odus Richardson Fund, in care of PNR Sports, 5179 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor 48103; or given to Oren Wireman, who will forward them to the fund.

Managers and players of the Saline league are sponsoring an Odus Richardson Night July 16 in Saline. Clark's 100, a major league team in Ann Arbor managed by Lefty Ross, will play a team of Saline league all-stars. Details will be available later.

Richardson is in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Room 733, Bed 1.

Sgt. David McCormick of the Chelsea Police Department entered St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Saturday, June 24 to undergo a hernia operation. He is in room 662, bed 1.

LEARNING A NEW TRADE: "I love music, I think it's great, but I love this too," says Byron Pearson, right, who is learning the tool and die business from his father, Bud Pearson, who has a shop on 50 Freer Rd. The younger Pearson has been a professional trumpet player.

Trumpeter Turns Talents From Music to Tool Making

What would prompt a professional trumpet player, who's traveled all around the states to return to Chelsea and take up the tool and die business?

"Well, I've experienced just about everything that there was in the city and music world, and I decided that Chelsea was the place where I wanted to live. I grew up here and my family's here. I've been thinking about it for a long time," explains Byron Pearson, 31, who has come back to Chelsea and formed a partnership with his father Bud Pearson, who owns a shop at 50 Freer Rd. "It's good to have him back," says his father.

The younger Pearson began playing the trumpet when he was in the 3rd grade. He attended Interlochen Music Camp for the three summers he was in Chelsea High school. He went to the University of Michigan, where he played in the marching and concert bands.

For the four years that he was in the U. S. Marine Corps, Pearson was solo trumpeter for the Marine Corps Band. In this capacity he traveled all over the U. S., cut some publicity records, and played at all White House functions.

He returned to the University of Michigan and received his bachelor of music degree in 1969. For the past six years, he has been Associate First Trumpet for the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra.

He has never limited his style of music, and has played jazz, classical, and rock music. He recently recorded with Blood, Sweat and Tears on their Album IV.

Since the symphony's season lasts only 37 weeks, he has played with other bands, and, most recently, taught in the Saline band program during the summer months.

He met his wife, Patricia, in Columbus, O., and was married in 1963. She works for the National Space Administration in New Orleans, where she is a data controller for Saturn V. She will come here in August. They have a daughter, Cathy, who will be 8 in November. "I didn't like all the traveling around without my family," he relates.

His father, Bud Pearson, came to Chelsea in 1940 from Detroit, and worked at Central Fibre Products as plant superintendent until 1946, when he started his own shop on W. Middle St., where the laundromat is now situated. In 1949 he moved to N. Main St. and in 1984 to Freer Rd., where he has been ever since. He and his wife, Juanita, have another child, Mrs. Elaine White, who lives in Houston, Tex. He relates, "Things are working out pretty well. We have a lot of work to keep us busy."

Citizens Group Studies Needs In Community

A small group of Chelsea citizens attended the Chelsea Community Planning meeting Friday, June 23 at Sylvan township Hall, and set their priorities at job training, a teen center, and transportation. They also decided to get involved with the school board and more OEO meetings.

The meeting was sponsored by the local Advisory Council to the Washtenaw County Citizens Committee for Economic Opportunity (WCCCEO).

All present agreed that the high school emphasizes curriculum for the college-bound students and some on-the-job training, but felt there should be more. Participants suggested a petition to the school board for vocational training, and more attendance at school board meetings.

Participants also wanted to find out the exact job situation in Chelsea. It was suggested that the workers use the teen center as a job-clearing house.

Citizens expressed the belief that no low-cost housing exists in Chelsea, and many landlords do not allow children or pets.

All agreed that transportation for shopping, doctors' appointments, and health services was needed to improve services. Concern was voiced over the lack of free clinics in Chelsea. Some expressed the desire to see volunteer services from doctors and nurses, and perhaps some classes teaching mothers to shop, budget, and cook lower-cost nutritional meals. Transportation to services offered elsewhere in the county was discussed.

Those present discussed progress in establishing a Tenn Center, and all the various programs which could be started once it is established. There was a question concerning how much money in the Community Chest is spent on teenagers, and if individual donations might be solicited.

The belief was expressed that the one co-op nursery in Chelsea is too expensive for working mothers. Interest is being sought out for a nursery run by mothers with a common interest.

The possibility of getting St. Louis school as a host institution for foster grandparents from Chelsea community was discussed. Transportation, and the possibility of having a bus one day a week for trips to Ann Arbor health services and shopping facilities was discussed.

One lawyer was situated in Chelsea (Continued on page seven)

Big Fireworks Display Slated At Fairgrounds

The sky above Chelsea will speak its message of celebration as residents of nearby areas and Chelsea citizens gather at the Chelsea Fairgrounds to commemorate the signing of the Declaration of Independence Tuesday, July 4.

An ice cream social, sponsored by American Legion, Herbert J.

McKune Post No. 31, will precede the fireworks display, sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club and the American Legion. The social, scheduled to begin at 5 p.m., will feature hot dogs, barbecues, popcorn, ice cream, and cake-giving viewers something to munch on while waiting for the fireworks display, which will begin at dark, around 8 or 8:30 p.m.

Elton Quentner, an Auxiliary policeman, will again be in charge of the fireworks. He has handled them since the fiery display was started as an annual tradition in Chelsea.

Legion Post Commander Donald O'Dell will again be general chairman.

Ambulance Again Located In Chelsea

"Evaluate the road accessibility, the population density, the accident ratio, the proximity of good medical facilities, and the expected population growth—and you put an ambulance in Chelsea," stated John Fontana, owner of Fontana Ambulance Service, in announcing that the Chelsea area will once again have ambulance service, beginning July 1.

Fontana has been contracted by Washtenaw county for 18 months to provide emergency service to the county. The Chelsea substation will be located at 140 W. Middle St.

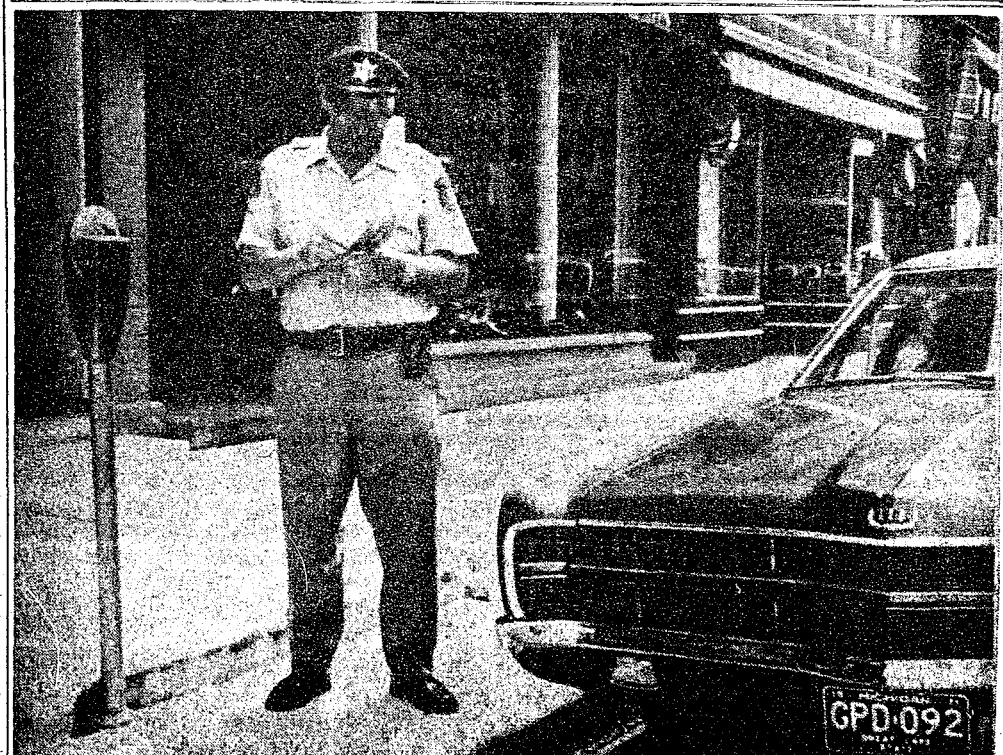

Fontana stated that the company will place one ambulance each in Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Pittsfield township, east Ypsilanti, and the southern part of the county, either around Saline or Manchester.

Fontana emphasized that the Chelsea substation will only contain the ambulance, attendant, and driver. Billing and requests for emergency service will still be handled by the main office, 3950 Platt Rd. in Pittsfield township. The phone number to use for contact is 971-2349.

Five Debaters Will Attend Special Clinics

Five Chelsea High school students will be attending debate instruction institutes at Eastern Michigan University and the University of Michigan July 30 to Aug. 1. The students, who are paying their own way, will hear lectures on the coming year's debate topic and the methods of debate presentation. They will live on campus and have practice sessions.

Carol Fairbrothers and Donna Clark, both members of last year's novice state championship team, will attend the institute at the University of Michigan. Michelle McClellan and Patricia Ball, returning debaters, and David Klemer, who will start his first year of debate in the fall, will attend (Continued on page seven)

BEEN TICKETED LATELY? Auxiliary Policeman Calvin Summers has been employed by the Village Council to assist the Chelsea Police Department in enforcing the parking meter ordinance. It is hoped that after a few weeks all of our poeons who have become negligent in feeding the meters will once again start dropping coins in exchange for a parking space in the business district and when we do perhaps we will again be able to locate parking space when we need it—and the meters will once again become a paying proposition for the village.

Mixed Feelings Found on Parking Meter Enforcement

If you haven't been putting money into the parking meters when you go downtown, you'd better watch out. The Village Council on June 6 authorized Calvin Summers, auxiliary policeman, to ticket those offenders of parking regulations.

Summers works two hours a day, no specified hours, doing spot checks on the village's 105 parking meters. Chief Meranuck explains, "I've been asking for some enforcement help for a long time. There were a lot of complaints that the meters were not enforced. So far, it's been working out quite successfully."

Village Administrator Fredrick Weber says, "The Council has talked about this for quite a while, and discussed it at many meetings. The village has to have the meters enforced by ordinance. The meters pay the interest to the bond holders, because there had to be some guarantee of revenue when the bonds were taken out. We took out the bonds to pay for the maintenance and improvement of the public parking lots."

Village President Mac Fulk reports, "The present police force did not have enough time to properly enforce the meters. We have had continual complaints about over-parking, both by merchants and shoppers. There are mixed feelings on the subject. But we decided that since the ordinance calls for us to enforce the meters, we would approach a more intensive policing of them. There will be a trial period of a maximum of three months, and then the Council will decide if we are going to keep up the enforcement of the meters, or stop."

Summers reports that he has had many people come up to him on the street and tell him how glad they are that the meters are being checked. "I haven't had a single complaint from anyone that I've given a ticket to. The only complaints that I have had are from merchants who tell me that I'm driving business away from them," he relates.

Summers feels, "People just ignore the parking meters as if they are not there. The village has invested a lot of money in the meters, with the purpose of insuring a rotation of space in the downtown area. I usually give out about 15 tickets a day as I patrol the meters, located on Main, Middle, South, and Park Sts. The fine is 50 cents if paid promptly, $1 after the first hour, and $2 after 48 hours. I am just giving enough tickets to make sure that people become aware that it's a violation not to put money into the meters."

WHO'S GETTING STAINED? It's hard to tell which is getting more stained, the Service Building at the Chelsea Fairgrounds or the boys of Boy Scout Troop 425, who are staining the building as a community service project under the direction of leader James Branham, Monday, June 26. The project will be finished at a later date. Pictured above, left to right, are: Jim Branham, Brad Meyers,

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Much praise and tribute is given our initial fore-fathers in every 4th of July celebration — and rightfully so. Without detracting from their wisdom, strength and sacrifices, we think later generations of other groups deserve special mention also.

Hundreds of thousands of immigrants studied, worked hard and earned their rights of American citizenship. Many of them deserve their citizenship MORE than some native-born. These groups adopted our country because of a belief — instead of a location of birth.

The 4th of July seems an appropriate time to mention appreciation for their contribution to our American way of life. It seems proper to acknowledge their wisdom and talents that helped to develop our nation's strength and greatness. All native-born are indebted to generations of naturalized citizens for preserving our freedom. Does it not seem strange the debt is so seldom mentioned? . . . ## Cub Scouts Tour Local Hunt Club

Cubmaster Gene Ahrens was activity leader for the Pack meeting held Sunday, June 25. Cub Scouts and Webelos cubs, accompanied by their families, Pack Committee people, den mothers, and cubmaster all gathered at Veterans Park in Chelsea, and from there proceeded to Louie's Game Preserve on North Territorial Rd. East.

The trip through the preserve was made on foot, a distance of approximately five miles, according to the manager. At about the half-way point, rain came, sloshing through the resulting slippery mud and singing in the rain, all continued on and arrived back to where the cars were, soaked to the skin, but ready and eager for the next leg of the trip, which was Lyndon Park, Washtenaw, also on North Territorial Rd., West.

Once at the park, all children had time for fun on the playground while things were readied for the business of the day and refreshments. LeRoy Dreiman was welcomed into the pack and received his bobcat pin and wolf book. Andy Ahrens received a one-year service star and a perfect attendance bar. Mike Bice was awarded his wolf patch and given a bear book. Todd Sprague received a wolf patch and a gold arrow.

The boys voted a large herd of deer racing around the preserve as the best of the game animals.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Concerned Citizens:

Last week in The Chelsea Standard there was a large article on the front page concerning a meeting that was to be held the 23rd at 7 in the township hall. This meeting was for the purpose of discussing among other things, the teen center.

The whole community was invited and a special invitation was sent to all the businessmen and store owners, yet less than 30 people came.

About half of those people were teens and not one of our local store owners and businessmen came! Not only were we snubbed by them but not one town official came, or school administrators, or any of the different churches' clergy were present.

Now I realize that Friday night is a big night in our bustling community but I'm sure you people could not turn yourselves away from the re-runs on television or the local beer gardens to come to the meeting.

If you had come you would have found out how to save money in a food co-op, or how some people would like to start a car pool. Many things discussed could benefit everyone in our community. Maybe we should of publicized the fact that there were free cookies, coffee and lemonade for people participating; next time we'll have to give away a door prize or a side of beef!

I'm really sure that everyone enjoys having kids loitering around town getting into trouble. After all, it gives our police something to do!

Maybe you store owners would be happier if I came uptown and made a nuisance of myself by loitering in your store and bothering your employees.

What does it take to get people moving, a kick in the rear? Maybe if the town were destroyed by a flood people would react a little, just maybe.

The only time you so-called concerned citizens get concerned is when your precious yards and homes are endangered!

Come on people, get out of your pools of stagnation don't let the world pass you by!

If our founding fore-fathers had displayed the same kind of interest and spirit as you concerned citizens display, we would still be

Jeff Reed.

Numerous Summer Theaters Offer Stage Plays, Musicals

More than a dozen established summer theaters in Michigan will offer stage plays and musicals this season, with many featuring professional actors, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

However, there are other towns which offer community theaters featuring local talent operating during the summer. Auto Club points out.

Dean of the summer theater circuit is the Barn Theatre near Augusta, between Kalamazoo and Battle Creek, now open for its 27th season with 12 plays scheduled through early September.

Located west of Augusta on M-96, the theater is a concrete-and-wood proof of Jack and Betty Ragotzy's success story. In 1949, after three years of operating in Kalamazoo, they obtained and moved to their present site, a never-completed dairy barn.

Today's Barn Theatre, an impressive red structure, is surrounded by a complex of other production buildings, acres of green grass and white fences.

One of the most colorful summer theater productions is in downtown Coldwater, near the junction of US-12 and I-69. Seven Broadway plays are offered through August in the Historic, 600-seat Tibbits Opera House.

Built by Coldwater Mayor Bart S. Tibbits in 1882, the Opera House for nearly 30 years presented some of the big names of the theater. Converted to a movie house in the 1920s, the theater later was slated for demolition but was purchased by local citizens to restore as a community enterprise.

The Tibbits Opera Foundation, a non-profit organization, was organized in 1963 and nearly $170,000 has been invested so far in the continuing restoration program.

Since 1955, Ruth Bailey Swigart, a Cincinnati housewife, has been the energetic organizer and manager of the successful Cherry County Playhouse in Traverse City, one of the state's best-known summer theaters.

Now in its 18th season, the Cherry County theater traces its beginnings to tent performances which nonetheless attracted some of the big names in show business—Joe E. Brown, Andy Devine, Reginald Gardiner, Edward Everett Horton, Pat O'Brien and Cesar Romero among them.

The 1972 season, which runs from July through early September, will include Frank Sutton, Buddy Ebsen, and Pat Paulsen among its performers.

The Traverse City playhouse is part of the multi-million dollar Park Place Motor Inn, at East State and Park Sts., two blocks south of US-31.

Another feature of the Cherry County Playhouse is the children's plays on Friday mornings presented by the Cherry County Junior Players. If you have shopping or errands in Traverse City, it's a safe place to leave your youngsters, according to the theater management.

For 12 years, the Grand Rapids Circle Theater operated in hotels, but in 1964 arrangements were made with the Grand Rapids Department of Parks to lease the pavilion in John Ball Park. The theater opened in its new home a year later.

The 1972 season is now under way and continues through the end of August. The Lollipop Theater, with a separate director, presents plays for children. The Circle Theater also awards an annual scholarship to a college student pursuing a theatrical career.

Another theater housed in a barn is the Red Barn Theater, three miles south of Saugatuck. Eight plays are offered through early September. The management also offers puppet shows for children on Wednesdays and children's theater, daily workshop and classes.

The Ledges Playhouse is in Grand Ledge, west of Lansing, in Fitzgerald Park. Picnicking facilities are available. The theater, which calls itself mid-Michigan's only professional company, features a naked auditorium with 380 plush seats. Plays run through early September.

At Houghton Lake, in the center of a scenic region surrounding Michigan's largest inland lake, is the North Central Playhouse, also sometimes called the Pioneer Playhouse. It is east on M-55 in Prudenville and is open through Labor Day.

Among other summer theaters in Michigan:

The Croswell Opera House, Adrian.
The Clark Lake Playhouse, Clark Lake.
The Stone Village Theater, Jackson.

Manistee Civic Players, Manistee.

Community Barn Theater, Okemos.

Sister Lakes Playhouse, Sister Lakes.

For brochures describing each summer theater and its schedule of plays, write or call the manager of the theater in which you may have interest.

Crash Program Set By ARC for Blood Donations

A crash program to boost blood donations has been announced by the American Red Cross of Southeastern Michigan, which includes Washtenaw county.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Washtenaw Chapter, 2728 Packard Rd., Ann Arbor, to accommodate donors every weekday (except July 4th) from July 3 through Sept. 1.

The daily collection program has been undertaken in order to supply the blood needs of area hospitals throughout the summer season. In past years, summer donations have slumped just as vacation accidents caused need for blood to skyrocket.

A quota of 50 to 60 donors per day has been set for Washtenaw county Red Cross Chapter.

Persons willing to donate blood are asked to call Chapter headquarters, 971-5300, so that their appointments may be scheduled with no waiting time. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays; and from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Red Cross chapters participating in the accelerated program, besides Washtenaw, are those of Macomb County, Garden City, Berkeley, and Detroit.

A study of sleeping habits conducted by a Michigan State University student recently indicated that married women get more sleep than other groups, followed by single men, married men and single women in that order.

Strawberry Harvest Hitting Peak This Week

Michigan's strawberry harvest will be about 8,000,000 quarts this season, a Michigan State University marketing specialist estimates. That's about 28 percent less than last year, but still an abundant crop at reasonable prices, Mrs. Sheila Morley says.

Strawberry acreage is declining because the plants aren't suited to automated harvesting, the specialist explains. But many growers are promoting pick-your-own sales as an inexpensive solution.

You'll know a quality strawberry by its sweet aroma, full red color and attached cap. The cap seals in juice and retains the flavor and nutrients, especially Vitamin C. Make sure the caps are "perky," green, not dry, brown or shriveled; the specialist suggests.

Berries with white tips are under ripe and will not ripen after being picked. Very red berries lacking sheen or aroma are over ripe and probably flavorless.

Be wary of wet berries, for the underlayers may be moldy. Also, avoid damp, juice-stained containers—the fruit may be over ripe or crushed.

Michigan's strawberry season lasts from about June 1 to July 10, with the peak harvest between June 10-25.

Sort and remove any spoiled or soft fruit, then refrigerate the unwashed berries until just before serving. Wash the berries before removing the caps, then serve promptly.

One-half cup of fresh strawberries has 28 calories and supplies one-half the adult daily requirement of Vitamin C, plus calcium, iron and riboflavin.

Convention Impresses Kiwanians

"I was very impressed, and got a lot out of the entire convention," says Charles Cox, one of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club delegates to the Kiwanis International Convention in Atlantic City, N. J.

Cox said that two things stood out in his mind regarding the convention: the defeat of a lottery motion and the good caliber of speakers and instructors. "The motion was up to allow Kiwanis Clubs to hold lotteries if they are allowed by the state. But it was defeated, as it seemed to go against everything that the club stands for. We're no money-making organization."

Cox noted that Ralph Keyes of Ann Arbor was elected to the position of international trustee; one of the eight in the organization. "That was quite an honor for him," stated Cox.

Cox explained that the Kiwanis International ties in all the local clubs all over the world with a theme and major emphasis program. The most recent and successful major emphasis program has been "Get Involved," which urges the clubs to become involved in activities in their community.

He cited as an example of local benefit from the international organization the Forney Clement Fund, which was started by Ralph Keyes to aid handicapped children. Most of the money has gone to the Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor, but donations come in from all over the world.

Turner Finds Great Fishing At Watson Lake in Yukon

Editor's Note: Don Turner sends his second letter. May 20 from Watson Lake, Yukon, Canada. It reads as follows.

Dear Readers:

Since my last report, I have been traveling toward that great land, Alaska. Of course, I have to stop from time to time to renew old acquaintances, as I have made many friends in the years I have been traveling this route.

At Dawson Creek, British Columbia, the start of the world-famous Alaska Highway, I stopped to attend a Kiwanis Club meeting, as I had done in previous years. I looked up the president of the club, Cecil Jones, and was asked to help out in one of their many projects. But really, I did little more than take pictures of the event.

Their project that evening was a good-will venture. You see, they were serving free "moose burgers" to one of Wally Byam's Airstream caravans that was starting up the highway. Dawson Creek Kiwanis Club has a Kanteen, and cooked the moose burgers and served them along with coffee and pop. There were more than 200 airstream trailers in the caravan, representing 29 states from coast to coast, and from border to border. There was no charge for the burgers, but a donation box located on the serving line received quite a number of remittances from the more than 400 grateful travelers of the caravan.

The leader, or leaders, of the caravan, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Vega of Cerritos, Calif., were most efficient, and had everything in order. They had loud speakers to announce events and let all members of the caravan know what was going on. Yes, these caravans are very well organized. Grace is said before meals, calisthenics are performed each morning, and they seldom travel on Sunday so that church may be attended.

Dawson Creek Kiwanis Club, with a membership of 35, is a five wire group of fellows and always make me feel at home. A duplicate of the pictures that appears in The Chelsea Standard is being sent to Kiwanis International, as the Dawson Creek Kiwanis think their project is a first. Let's hope it makes the Kiwanis Magazine.

Leaving Dawson Creek on June 10, I made a few stops along the highway, arriving at Watson Lake, Yukon, on Monday, June 12. I have made many friends here over the years, so my first contact was Jake Melnychuk, owner of the Venture Hotel, which has a taxi service. Jake had a fishing camp at Too Bally Lake, Yukon, but had just sold it to two of my friends whom I had made before, so I went over with Jake and the new owners to open camp at Too Bally Lake.

Too Bally Lake is about 80 air miles from the town of Watson Lake, and is about nine miles long, averaging a mile wide. The only way to get there is by float plane. A trail once led from Smith River air strip, built by the U. S. Army, but now is all grown in. The army cut this trail during World War II in an attempt to build an air strip at Too Bally, but gave it up for some reason. I have written about this lake in my other travels up this way, and this is my fourth trip there. I call this place my second home.

The facilities here consist of just a small trapper's cabin and a tent set on a high knoll overlooking the lake, with wild orchids and other wild flowers growing by the cabin. Trumpeter swans fly over each morning, sending their trumpet-sounding calls by which they get their name. Moose often walk in the shallow water in front of the cabin, and a sunset seen from the cabin around the close of a loon announcing the close of day fills my soul with peace.

But I suppose that quiet charm at Too Bally will be broken as the new owners, Larry Schnig and John McConell, are planning to build four new log cabins there this summer, and eventually they will have a fairly modern fishing camp. I wish them luck and success, although I don't like to see commercialization come to this quiet place.

Large lake trout, pike, arctic grayling, and white fish all are taken at Too Bally, and one can usually catch a limit of five per day in a few hours. I will recommend this spot to anyone, especially those traveling the Alaska Highway. If one has a few extra days and a few extra bucks, I suggest you try a trip to Too Bally. There are two air services, available at Watson Lake. Just stop and ask for "Jake" at the Venture Hotel. He will give you all the particulars.

I find the Alaska Highway in the best condition I have ever seen it, and a few places have paving for four to five miles each direction. So maybe someday the entire highway will be tar topped.

I must be running along now, will keep you informed as to my wanderings.

As Ever,
Your Wanderer Reporter,
Don Turner.

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JUNE 29, 1972

NEW YUKON FRIENDS: Don Turner visited with John McConell and his family — his wife and children, John, Jr., and Marvin. McConell is one of the new owners of the fish camp at Too Bally Lake.

COMMON MODE OF TRAVEL: The float plane is the mode of travel to many distant lakes in the Yukon. This one came in to pick up Don Turner at Too Bally Lake. Overgrown paths and wild underbrush make other means of travel difficult.

WHAT A CATCH! Larry Schnig and John McConell, new owners of Too Bally Lake Fish Camp, stand by the nine pike they took in about one hour's fishing.

State Police Are Ready for Holiday Rush

Michigan State Police patrols will focus special attention on high risk road areas and heavy travel hours in efforts to minimize accident potential during the July 4 holiday period, said Col. John R. Plants, department director.

The patrols, including aircraft in daylight hours, will provide maximum coverage from 3 to at least 9 p.m. daily beginning at noon, Friday, June 30, and extending through midnight, Tuesday, July 4.

Plants emphasized the importance for motorists to give full attention to safety rules. He cautioned drivers that the increasing traffic at this time—more cars, more miles driven—raises the potential for accidents.

The director said the average death toll is 30 for July 4 periods in Michigan in the last five years, 1967-71. Last year this holiday period claimed 29. The Memorial holiday week-end this year had a toll of 20.

Plants cited several suggestions for motorists to strengthen their safety potential: Drive at reasonable speeds; do not follow other cars too closely; give proper signals in advance of turns or stops; pass only when assured it's safe to do so; and refrain from driving after any immoderate drinking.

State Police vehicle inspection personnel and other officers will join the patrol activity. Pass days of most officers have been cancelled to add extra manpower for the patrols.

HCMA Parks in Area Have Busy Holiday Week-end

The three HCMA parks in Washtenaw county had some 39,134 visitors this past Memorial Day week-end, compared with 35,294 in 1971. Daily totals for the three parks were: Hudson Mills, 14,895; Dexter-Huron, 9,331; and Delhi Metro Park, 14,908. These parks range from 45 to 800 acres in size and are primarily picnic-playground areas.

Hot summer weather hitting the 85-degree mark or higher during the three-day Memorial week-end is reported to account for the unusually high attendance at the park sites.

Ranger Dick Foster reports that the local parks were just as crowded the week-end before the holiday and this past week-end, but that there were no major problems in handling the crowds.

Pig Bowl Early Plans Underway

Washtenaw county law enforcement agencies are already hard at work on this year's Pig Bowl, the annual football game between Washtenaw county and Ann Arbor law enforcement officers, slated for Oct. 1 at Hollway Field, Pioneer High School, Ann Arbor. Proceeds are used to buy toys for children of families who cannot provide them.

Using the theme, "No child without a Christmas," Sheriff Douglas Harvey and other law enforcement agency representatives, including Chelsea Officer McDougall, and Dexter's Chief Ray Smagacz, gathered for a planning session in the Sheriff Department's Training Center in Ann Arbor. Planners have been at work since January.

Harvey stressed the need for complete co-operation between all agencies, and involvement by all for a successful project. Brochures, posters, and tickets will be distributed Aug. 1.

Proceeds from last year's game bought $10,000 worth of toys for needy children. In Chelsea, toys were distributed through the Social Services to 67 boys and 61 girls.

Harvey asked all law enforcement agencies to supply names of children, send a representative to the committee meetings, and provide a representative in uniform for the half-time show. He also requested that local police officers deliver toys, in order to help the total law enforcement image.

Tickets to the game will be available after Aug. 1 at the Village Police Station. The stadium seats 10,000 so there will be plenty of tickets available. Admission to the game is $2 or a new toy. Children under 12 are admitted free of charge.

Figures cannot lie, especially in modern beach creations.

Buddies Renew Golf Rivalry After 32 Years

There are just some things that you never get around to doing, even though you always mean to. Lawton Steger, 354 Washington, and Claude S. Rogers of Ann Arbor, old golf cronies in college, decided to get together and see how their games had fared since the last time they played, which was in August of 1940, just before Rogers entered the service.

The two attended Chelsea High school together, and along with John Keusch, 409 Washington, lived together in Ann Arbor while they attended the University of Michigan.

"We played quite a bit of golf at the Inverness Golf Course in those days," reminisces Steger, who is a vice-president and general manager of Federal Screw Works Chelsea plant. Rogers and Keusch became attorneys.

So with Paul E. Mann, president of the Chelsea State Bank, rounding out the foursome, the men decided to see how their games had fared in the last 32 years on Wednesday, June 21 at the Inverness Country Club. Steger reports, "Although Claude beat me 32 years ago, we're not letting out our score. It did come close to adding a stroke for every year since we played. But we had a lot of fun."

Village Motors Team Defeats Rockwell, 15-3

Village Motor Sales Little League baseball team defeated the North American Rockwell team on Tuesday, June 27, by a score of 15-3. The hitting attack was led by Jeff Eder, with two home runs, and Dan McGill and Jim Bollinger.

Pitchers for the game, doing an outstanding job, were Kurt Owings and Al Dalton. The game was played at the Chelsea High school field.

FERTILIZE IN JUNE

To maintain good spear production, fertilize asparagus plants with a complete fertilizer (5-10-10, 5-10-5, 6-24-12, or 10-10-10) in late June, say horticulturists at Michigan State University. They recommend applying 2½ to 3 pounds per 100 square feet of garden area.

Pretty soon a new generation of college graduates will take over the country.

New Mill Creek Park Listed in HCMA Plans

Authority Outlines Program for Development, Increase in Millage

Mill Creek Metropolitan Park is still far from becoming a reality. At the last public meeting of the board of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA), held June 8, it was decided to call for a second appraisal study of the proposed site. The real estate firm of Abercrombie & Ypsilanti is presently being questioned about taking on the appraisal. No funds have been allocated for the park, and the board has not said in public meetings that the park will definitely be built.

The proposed Mill Creek Metropolitan Park would include some 4,000 acres of countryside located in Washtenaw county south of the I-94 freeway west of Ann Arbor. Most of the land is in Lima and Freedom townships. The board hopes to develop the site similar to Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford and Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica. The existing three HCMA parks in Washtenaw county—Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park, Dexter-Huron, and Delhi Parks—are now attracting more than 680,000 visitors annually.

The HCMA, a regional park agency serving the citizens of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw, and Wayne counties, hopes to develop three new metropolitan parks in its five-county area and to lease and rebuild Belle Isle Park (now operated by the City of Detroit) as a Metropolitan Park.

HCMA is asking the citizens of its district to approve a proposal to increase the 1/4 mill property tax—which presently finances the HCMA—to 1/2 mill to be levied outside the 15-mill tax rate limitation upon the counties. This proposal will be put before the voters in the primary election of Aug. 8. The proposition was placed on the ballot by Act 145, Public Acts of 1972, which was recently passed by the Michigan State Legislature and signed into law by Governor William G. Milliken on May 26.

In addition to the Mill Creek and Belle Isle proposals, HCMA has proposed a site called North Branch Metropolitan Park, which covers 3,000 acres along the north branch of the Clinton River in Ray township between 26 and 31 Mile Rds. This site is in Macomb county, and HCMA said that it would help provide increased facilities since both Metropolitan Beach and Stony Creek Metropolitan Parks are each now attracting more than 2 million visitors annually.

Although HCMA is not yet able to identify the site for its proposed third park, it would be located somewhere in the north central section of Oakland county.

It plans to use this site to fill the gap in the Huron-Clinton system between Stony Creek Metropolitan Park and Kensington Metropolitan Park.

Each site is expected to cost $12 to $15 million over a period of 15 or more years, including cost of land and facilities.

This year the residents of the five-county district will pay $5.5 million in taxes to the HCMA and will be received from revenue producing facilities at the parks.

The HCMA Board of Commissioners may levy a tax of not more than 1/4 mill, which is included in the taxpayer's county tax on his property and turned over to the authority by each county. Under the new proposal, the HCMA 1/2 mill would be assessed outside the county tax and each citizen will know exactly how much he is paying to support the parks. The majority of the voters of the district must approve the added millage required for the new park expansion program for it to become effective.

Dr. Papo Retains Membership in Family Physician Academy

Michael Papo, M.D., of 775 S. Main St., has completed continuing education requirements needed to retain active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors.

The Academy, formerly called the American Academy of General Practice, has requirements which call for members to complete a minimum of 150 hours of accredited continuing medical study every three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership.

The Academy, which is the country's second largest medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

Judge Elden Elected Head of Scout Council

Judge S. J. Elden, of the 15th District Court, was elected president of the Portage Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the Council's annual meeting held on June 20. He succeeds Dr. David Pontitz to that post.

Judge Elden is a 26-year veteran of scouting; having been active in the program through the years except for a three-year stint in the Army Air Force during World War II. Following the war he attended Wayne State University, where he organized and was the first president of the Wayne University Chapter of the National Scout Service Fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega. While there, he also organized and became Institutional Representative of a scout troop for polio patients at Herman Keifer Hospital in Detroit.

After graduation and settling in Ann Arbor, Judge Elden joined the commissioner's staff of the Portage Trails Council, and was later elected council commissioner, in which capacity he served until he became council chairman of organization and extension. In 1960 he became chairman of exploring for the council and he served in that capacity for the next 10 years.

Judge Elden, an Eagle Scout, holds several training awards, including wood badge, Scouting's highest training award, and he is also a holder of the Silver Beaver, Scouting's highest award given by a local council.

In his acceptance remarks, Judge Elden said, "This is a significant year for the scouting movement. Great challenges face us as we put into action meaningful advances bringing scouting to the disadvantaged, as we plan and discuss extension of our council boundaries and as we work together to reach more youngsters of scouting age, utilizing more volunteers delivering a modern restructured program."

Other officers elected to serve the 1972-73 term are vice-presidents John W. Barfield, Rock Martin, James Perkins and Byron Rogers; council commissioner, Roland W. Spaulding; and treasurer, William McPherson, IV.

James Hoffmeyer, 146 Orchard St., science teacher at Beach Middle school, is one of the 7,000 delegates attending the National Education Association's convention in Atlantic City, N. J., June 25 to July 1.

The Chelsea Education Association elected Hoffmeyer as delegate, and he will report to the Executive Council of that body in August concerning the proceedings of the convention.

The delegates are scheduled to hear the major Democratic and Republican presidential candidates Thursday, June 29. Sometime during the convention, the NEA will be presenting its first Friend of Education award to former President Lyndon B. Johnson. Johnson will be receiving an engraved plaque and a piece of specially designed jewelry.

While at the convention, Hoffmeyer will attend business meetings and special hearings concerning the new constitution of the NEA, which will affect more than 1,150,000 members across the United States. He will also attend Michigan caucuses every morning with the other 900 Michigan delegates. Michigan has one of the largest representative bodies, due to their unified membership policies.

Girl Scout Council Has New Home

On July 12, the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council will move from their offices of the past 10 years at 310 S. Huron St., Ypsilanti, to larger quarters at 19 N. Hamilton St., Ypsilanti, formerly the Conger-Bush funeral home.

The brick and frame building will more than double the office space and triple the parking space of the present building and provide important new facilities for volunteers and staff.

The move was originally recommended by a Long Range Planning Committee under the chairmanship of Wyeth Allen of Ann Arbor, which projected aims and needs of the Council through 1980. The 1970 report showed that the number of Girl Scouts in the Council's area, Washtenaw, Livingston, western Wayne, and northern Monroe counties, will grow from 11,900 in 1970 to 16,000 in 1980. Current enrollment is 12,500. The present office was purchased when total enrollment was less than 6,000.

On the basis of this report a request for assistance was made to the Kresge Foundation in Detroit. Their response was a challenge grant of $50,000, pledged last year with the understanding that the Council raise the rest of the money needed within a year. This was done through a few additional gifts and sale of property to Consumers Power Co., and sale of the old office building. No operating funds were used.

In the new building, the 6,600 square feet of floor space will be divided into four units: administrative offices, field directors section, meeting rooms, and a troop supplies and mailing room. The 66 by 66 foot parking lot will accommodate 20 cars.

For the first time Council President Mrs. James A. Kennedy, of Ann Arbor, will have an office and Executive Director Mrs. Jo Stevens, will have a private office from which to direct fiscal control, fund raising, program development and the operation of the three Girl Scout camps belonging to the Council.

A new reference library for troop leaders and staff will be installed in the Field Directors Section. Field Directors direct girls to troops and recruit volunteer troop leaders and their co-ordinators, Troop Services Directors. Field Directors assist leaders by preparing training materials, advising on program and personnel problems, informing them on developments in Girl Scouting in other parts of the country and in general providing expertise and encouragement to these women on whom the success of Girl Scouting largely depends.

A second floor apartment will be converted into meeting rooms for Troop Services, Directors and leaders for training sessions, program planning seminars, and conferences with National Girl Scout officers. A well-equipped kitchen will make possible the serving of light meals.

The staff of the troop supplies and mailing room will have enlarged space from which to send badges and pins to Girl Scouts, mail to 3,000 adult members' the monthly publication "The View of the Valley" edited by Mrs. H. M. Crooks (Nan) of Ann Arbor, and provide troops with tents, movie projectors and other equipment.

An open house for the new headquarters is planned for September.

A rural one-room school house has been moved to the campus of Central Michigan University where it will be restored as a reminder of an important era in Michigan educational history.

WATER NUMBER ONE FACTOR

Water is the number one factor in producing vegetable crops. A good soaking about once every five to six days is better than lightly watering every day, say horticulturists at Michigan State University. High rows or ridges, and a runoff place for excess water to run off contribute to a successful garden, they add.

W. H. Stander Enters Race For Sheriff

William H. Stander, 35, of 3815 Cushing Court, Dexter, has announced that he will seek the Republican nomination for sheriff.

Stander, a 1955 graduate of Dexter High school, served four years in the United States Air Force as an Air Policeman, seven and one-half years with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department and four years with the Detroit Police Department.

During this time he was attending several police schools, including the 14-week Detroit Police Academy. He has a degree in Police Administration from Schoolcraft College and is currently attending Wayne State University and Mercy College in Detroit.

Married and the father of four children, Stander is a member of Washtenaw Lodge 65 F&M and several other fraternal and social organizations.

In discussing his candidacy for the office of sheriff, Stander voiced the feeling that changes or improvements are needed in order for the Sheriff's Department to better serve the community; as in personnel recruitment, improved management and operation procedures, planning and research, jail operations, juvenile division, community relations and better co-operation with other police agencies.

★ Which Way?

Some politicians consider proposed federal legislation to lower the minimum wage a sure way to win votes, even though such raises may increase unemployment by pricing less skilled workers out of the labor market.

The recent action of the U. S. Senate Labor Committee to raise the basic minimum wage from $1.60 to $2.20 an hour can have an adverse effect on the number of jobs available for our young people just out of high school.

It can also cause consumer prices to increase as the wage rates are applied to the cost of production.

According to Yale Brozen, professor of business economics, Graduate School of Business, University of Chicago, "The major group suffering unemployment as a consequence of the minimum wage are minority teenagers. Their unemployment numbers have gone up each time the minimum wage was increased, as it was in 1950, in 1956, again in 1961, and still again in a series of increases between 1967 and 1971."

Such minimum wage rate increases also destroy opportunities for relevant job education for youths because of diminished beginning job opportunities for teenagers. These are the jobs in which teenagers normally acquire the skills which make them more productive and enable them to progress to jobs where they earn far more than the minimum.

It just doesn't seem to make much sense to appropriate millions for job training and summer jobs for disadvantaged youth while politicians push for minimum wage increases.

At a time when our government is working to stop inflation and the general public is deeply concerned about consumer prices, politicians in Washington are taking steps which will push the inflationary spiral upward.

It is time our elected officials act realistically for the good of the country rather than from a strictly vote getting perspective.

Carl Koch Seeking Republican Nomination for Sheriff

Carl F. Koch of Webster township has announced he will seek the Republican nomination for Sheriff of Washtenaw county.

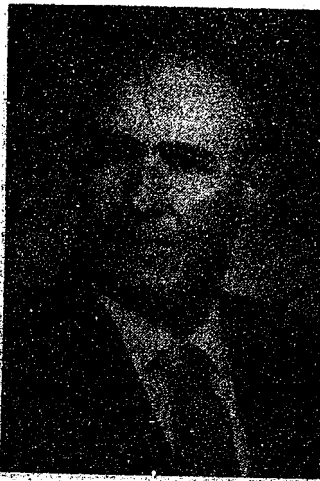

Koch has 15 years experience as a law enforcement officer starting his career in the early 50's as an auxiliary policeman with the Civil Defense of Chelsea.

He was a patrolman with the Ann Arbor Police Department for two years, resigning to take a position with the Chelsea Police Department where he remained for four years, attaining the rank of sergeant.

In August, 1963, Koch accepted a uniformed deputy appointment with the Sheriff's Department under former Sheriff George Peterson. He was promoted to sergeant in 1965 by Sheriff Douglas Harvey and held that post until March of 1968 when fired by Harvey for allegedly failing to make out an accident report involving his own personal car and a patrol car being driven in the county parking lot by a jail trustee with no operator's license.

Koch states, "My experience as a police officer in a large and small department could be put to good service as sheriff of Washtenaw county. If elected, the laws of the State of Michigan will be enforced firmly and equally without undue force. Insured security for the prisoners, improved rehabilitation programs; working closely with the courts; to better inform the law enforcement officers about the problems that face the up and coming generations; greatly increased service to the public in regards to handling personal injury accidents, etc., would be my goal."

"I feel that the public should not have to wait a half-hour or more for service with the manpower more than doubled in the last eight years. The present sheriff has been intimidating the deputies for years and I feel it's time the men were allowed to do their jobs to the best of their ability," he commented in a written statement.

Koch, who lives with his wife and six children, says he has seen Washtenaw county grow from a farming county into a metropolitan area of today and realizes the many problems facing the law enforcement officers. He said he "feels it's time to have a level-headed sheriff to enforce the laws of Washtenaw county."

RUSSIANS SALUTE AMERICAN

Russian space scientists have saluted Dr. Charles Greely Abbot— at age 100, America's oldest practicing scientist as well as a world renowned authority on solar radiation and a former secretary of the Smithsonian Institution— by naming a crater on the dark side of the moon "Abbot." The crater was found and photographed by a Russian unmanned space vehicle.

Robert Shankland Seeks Nomination As District Judge

Robert L. Shankland, senior member of the Ann Arbor law firm of Shankland, Hiller, McConnick & Barnett, has announced that he will seek election to the post of District Judge in the 14th District. This District encompasses all of Washtenaw county with the exception of the City of Ann Arbor.

Shankland, who presently resides in Ann Arbor township, is a third generation resident of Washtenaw county. He was educated in the Ann Arbor Public Schools, graduating from Ann Arbor High school in 1946. He received his AB degree from Eastern Michigan University in 1953 and attended the U. of M. Law School as a Leckie Scholar, while employed full time at the Old Argus Camera Corp. on Fourth St.

He received his JD degree from the Law School in 1956 and commenced private practice as an individual in 1957. He later became associated with his present firm, where his primary activity consists of litigation of automobile negligence and personal injury cases.

During 1959 and 1960, Shankland served as Justice of the Peace for Pittsfield township, and throughout this period served as acting Municipal Judge for the City of Ann Arbor, as an assistant to the then Municipal Judge, Francis L. O'Brien. In addition to this judicial experience, he is presently serving as an arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association. Shankland holds membership in the Washtenaw County Bar Association, the State Bar of Michigan, the American Bar Association, and the American Trial Lawyers Association. He is a past member of the Board of Trustees of the Washtenaw County Legal Aid Society, and was formerly active in PTO organizations and Cub Scouts. He has four children, two of whom are grown and married and two of whom are still in school.

New Regulations On Lifesaving Devices on Shells

Racing shells and sculls will be given some relief from the recent federal regulations concerning lifesaving devices.

On April 17 all recreational boaters, with a few exceptions, were required to carry Coast Guard approved lifesaving equipment in a readily accessible location while on the water. The new requirement, an interim regulation to the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971, excused the Racing Shells and sculls from carrying lifesaving devices provided that an accompanying boat carried enough lifesaving devices for all of the participants.

The Coast Guard lessened the regulations when it was seen that the accompanying boats experienced very great difficulty in carrying the required number of lifesaving devices. Also, since many of the racing shells are over 40 feet, the accompanying boats were required to carry the even larger ring buoys or life preservers.

The requirements for racing shells and sculls now are as follows: (1) Any Coast Guard approved flotation devices are satisfactory regardless of the racing vessel's length. (2) There need not be one lifesaving device on board per person if an accompanying vessel remains in close proximity and carries one lifesaving device for everyone in the two largest racing vessels.

For more than four vessels, in addition to the lifesaving devices required for the two largest vessels, the required number of lifesaving devices may be found by using this simple formula: Take the total number of vessels, subtract four, divide by five, round-off to the nearest whole number and multiply by the average number of persons per vessel.

Livingston County Geologist Seeks Congressional Post

Glenn Miller, a life-long resident of Livingston county and a professional geologist, has announced his candidacy for the U. S. Congress, 6th Congressional District, on the Republican ticket.

Miller stated, "I am upset with today's permissive attitudes, with the injustice of our court systems, and the liberal attitude that everyone is entitled to a welfare dole of $4,000 a year whether they work or not."

He believes that busing children out of the neighborhood schools is a serious problem to Michigan and the country. He said, "I am a conservative who believes that the Constitution should be defended."

Miller states that he will be a representative in Washington that will do something. He stated, "I want to dedicate my time and influence as a member of Congress to correct things, all of the problems."

Miller, 42, is a graduate of Michigan State University. He now operates the Sterling Drilling Co., Brighton, as a soil engineering firm. He has four children—Ruth, Glenn, Nancy, and Susan, ranging in age from 12 to 16. "This makes me very concerned about the young people of this state," he said.
