Rehearsals Are Underway for Sound of Music

Chelsea High school auditorium busting with activity as stage crews and cast prepare for the summer production, "The Sound of Music," to be presented July 28 at 8 p.m. at the auditorium. Miss DiAnn L'Roy is producer and director.

Tickets for the performance are on sale. They may be purchased at the Chelsea Drug store by sending the money and a addressed stamped envelope. Sound of Music, P. O. Box 81, Chelsea, 48118.

Rehearsals for the play were held on 13 and 14, and resulted in a cast of 30, most of whom have acted in previous performances. "The cast and crew are made up of present and past students, and others who are interested. So is the orchestra," said Miss L'Roy.

Miss L'Roy said that the goal is the play to be self-supporting, they have limited funds to work with. "Our musicals in the school year were done very well, and we hope to achieve the same quality as any performance that one would see at the Fisher Theatre in Detroit. The cast, crew, and orchestra are experienced, and are donating their time. The cast includes people from every cast from every play that I've helped put on since I came here in 1967."

The cast has been practicing three nights a week. The pace will quicken to five nights a week as the production date draws near. The group has ordered some wall props, and are constructing two sets on their own. Some of the costumes will be rented, and others will be designed by an Ann Arbor woman, and made by individuals of the play crew. "We hope to give a polished performance," said Miss L'Roy. "We charge a premium price, and we strive for a premium product."

AMBULANCE SERVICE RETURNS: Since Saturday, July 1, the Chelsea-Dexter area once again has ambulance service stationed in the area. Fontana-Taylor Ambulance Service has been contracted by Washtenaw county for 18 months to provide emergency service. Pictured here are the two attendants presently stationed at the Chelsea substation at 140 W. Middle St., Dennis Grillo and John Thoman, both of Ann Arbor. The attendants rotate every two weeks, working 24 hours on, then 24 hours off.

Fontana-Taylor Ambulances Serving County

As of Saturday the official ambulance service for Washtenaw county became Fontana-Taylor Ambulance Service of 3950 Platt Rd., Ann Arbor. Persons in the county requiring an ambulance should call 971-2349.

A contract between the county and Fontana-Taylor for an 18-month period guarantees the availability of a first class emergency medical transportation system, around the clock, every day, anywhere in the county.

According to the County Health Department, Fontana-Taylor is operating in compliance with the standards recommended by the American Medical Association, American College of Surgeons, U. S. Public Health Service, American Ambulance Association, Michigan Department of Public Health, Washtenaw County Emergency Medical Services Council and the Washtenaw County Health Department.

There are five properly equipped ambulances strategically located throughout the county to provide minimum response time for emergency calls and maximum convenience for private patient and invalid medical transportation.

Each ambulance is a new 1972 customized GMC van type vehicle with 53-inch head room capable of carrying four stretcher patients at one time. The vehicles are air-conditioned, carry internal and external lighting capabilities, running water, and all the equipment recommended by the American College of Surgeons Committee on Trauma, and exceeds the standards of state and county health departments. Stretchers may be loaded either from the rear or side and the vans also carry extrication equipment such as porta-power and Scuba equipment for water emergencies.

Health department officials report that two trained attendants will accompany each ambulance who have been trained in American Red Cross Advanced First Aid, emergency childbirth procedures, CPR, a company training course of 40 hours with advanced personnel having completed the Emergency Medical Technician-Ambulance course of 80 hours, Military Medical Corps, National Ambulance Training Institute or their equivalent.

Each ambulance carries two-way radio communication with the dispatch center and the six hospitals in the county.

The county Health Officer, Otto K. Engelke, M. D., and Richard D. Muhs, emergency health services co-ordinator, have indicated that it is to the advantage of all taxpayers in the county to use the Fontana-Taylor Ambulance Service whenever possible, noting that volume keeps costs and rates down.

Fee structure for the service includes a basic charge of $28 plus $1 per loaded patient mile; oxygen $7.50 per 1,000 pounds or less PSI plus $1 per 100 pounds or fraction thereof after 1,000 lbs.; EKG monitoring $10; Scuba equipment $10; and Porta-power $5. The rates are in accordance or less than national averages, according to Engelke.

Additional information on the ambulance service may be obtained by contacting the County Health Department. Stickers bearing the telephone number of the service for emergencies may be obtained from Fontana-Taylor. The number again is 971-2349.

Char Powers Sends Report from Greece

Editor's Note: The Chelsea Standard received its first letter from Charlotte Powers, a Chelsea resident who is in Greece studying agriculture methods. The letter reads as follows:

"Kalimera," or rather, good morning! I've finally arrived at my first host family's home, under the IFYE program. I am now on the island Rhodes, the largest of all the Dodecanese islands, in a small village called Malona.

Life in the villages is much different than our village of Chelsea. Here there are only 300 persons, and I think everyone of them are first cousins.

Homes are small—the average being three rooms. My host family has a large room with a built-in bed which must be at least 20 feet across. Everyone sleeps there. Another room is the dining room, now a guest room for me. And off to the side is the kitchen.

The outside of the homes are gaily painted pinks, blues, and yellows, while inside they are white-washed.

The major differences between homes in the states and here is that in this village running water in homes is fairly new, and only a few homes have indoor bathrooms.

Greeks have got to be the friendliest people in the world. The first evening I was here the entire village came to greet me.

Any they have all been very patient trying to teach me the language.

Driving in Greece is another experience I'll never forget. The roads were designed for donkeys but since the invention of cars they just have to make do. Only one car can drive through at a time—and it's a thrill when another is heading your way. They just wait until the last possible moment before pulling off to the side. And corners? No problem, they just keep their horn loudly and zoom around without stopping. They're all very confident drivers on these mountain roads—about 60 mph.

Saturday night we went into a discotheque in Rhodes. It was funny to hear all American music—the Greek kids enjoy Jimi Hendrix the most. The atmosphere was exactly like that of the states, a bar, dance floor, and flashing strobe lights. Only my host sister was very bewildered—she had never been to one before.

Greek girls do not date—at least those from the villages. They have their husbands chosen for them by their parents and then they marry.

I'll tell you more about that custom next time—right now my host mother wants me to make bread—"yahsu".

Methodist Church Gets Face-Lift Job

The First United Methodist church on Park St. looked like new as it welcomed its congregation last Sunday after undergoing a two-week face-lifting job.

The Rev. Clive Dickens, pastor of the church, reports that Guaranteed Maintenance Corp. of Marion, O., was contracted to remortar the bell tower and sandblast the exterior of the church and apply a silicone treatment for waterproofing. The work, which cost more than $5,000, began the third week of June and was completed Saturday, July 1.

The masonry work is part of the major renovation project undertaken by the congregation. The first step in the renovation program occurred last fall when the church's chimney was rebuilt at a cost of $1,500. At this time, the organ was also renovated at a cost of $1,200, and some interior decoration was done.

Future restoration plans include landscaping, replacing the steam heat system with a hot water heat system, and more interior decoration work.

Marching Band Practice

Warren Mayer, Chelsea band director, has announced that the 7th and 8th grade bands will combine for a marching rehearsal, Thursday, July 6 and 13, at 8 p.m. at Beach Middle school, instead of the regularly scheduled meeting.

Four Teen-Agers Nabbed Monday In Stolen Auto

Four teen-age suspects were taken into custody Monday, July 3 at 2 a.m. after Chelsea police spotted them driving a car which had been reported stolen.

Don Coppernoll, 258 Harrison St., called the police station at 12 midnight and stated that he had found his 1960 white Chevrolet missing from the rear of 113 Main St., Municipal Parking Lot. He went on to say that the registration to the auto was with the owner, Jean Jones of 304 S. Main St.

Approximately two hours later, Chelsea police spotted a car matching Coppernoll's description, and took the four suspects into custody. One is being detained at Washtenaw County Juvenile Court and the other three were released into the care of their parents.

Last Day for Registering Is Friday, July 7

With the August primary rapidly approaching, potential voters must be sure they're registered. Since the recent Michigan Supreme Court ruling is presently in effect, anyone who hasn't moved to a new township and who voted in the 1968 presidential election or any following elections, is considered registered. The ruling struck down the requirement which stipulated that qualified voters must have participated in the previous two elections.

The various township clerks have reminded those unregistered citizens that Friday, July 7 is the last day to make registration application.

Lila C. Bauer, Lima township clerk, has announced that she will accept applications by appointment until Friday, July 7, and is available on Friday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. at 13000 Scio Church Rd. She may be reached at 475-2250 or 761-9830.

Daniel J. Murphy, clerk for Sylva township, has announced that he is available until Friday, July 7 by appointment, and is available (Continued on page six)

Wild Chase By Police Brings Female Arrest

Margaret Louis Chapman, 26, of 5054 Young Rd., Jackson, and an unidentified male suspect led Chelsea patrolman Bruce Sibert on a high-speed chase throughout the village, ending with her arrest after attempting to flee on foot Monday, July 3, at 4:35 a.m.

While on routine patrol, Sibert observed a four-door 1963 Pontiac leave the Shell gasoline station at M-52 and Brown Dr. at a high rate of speed northbound on M-52. The same vehicle turned onto Old US-12, where sight was lost of it.

Sibert turned off Old US-12 onto northbound Wilkinson, and observed what is thought to be the same vehicle fail to stop for a stop sign at Wilkinson and Wellington, and proceed northbound on Wilkinson at a high rate of speed.

The patrol car's emergency warning lights were turned on and an attempt was made to stop the vehicle. The suspects' vehicle increased its speed as it proceeded eastward on W. Middle St.

At E. Middle and M-52, the suspects' vehicle failed to stop for a red flashing traffic light, and proceeded southbound on M-52. At M-52 and Grass Lake Rd., the vehicle turned westbound onto Grass Lake Rd., and later turned onto southbound Sylvan Rd.

Approximately two miles south of Grass Lake Rd., the vehicle stopped, due to a broken left front tire. At this time, one white male, the driver, fled on foot eastward into a field, and one white female, later identified as Margaret Chapman, fled westward into a wooded area, but surrendered herself approximately two minutes later. She was placed under arrest for being drunk and disorderly at the scene. The act was witnessed by Deputies Blazinek and Conklin of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

The total distance of the chase was 10 miles, and speeds in the village got up to 80 and 100 miles per hour.

The female suspect was taken to the Washtenaw County jail, and was later arraigned before a judge, where she entered a plea of not guilty. Trial is set for Aug. 2.

Martin Straub Awarded Freedoms Foundation Medal

Martin I. Straub of 6969 Madden Rd., a 1972 Chelsea High school graduate, was among the 15 Detroit area citizens and organizations that received national honors from Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge during the annual July 4th Independence Day Celebration at Greenfield Village, Dearborn.

Straub, who will be attending the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., in the fall, received a George Washington Honor Medal for his 1971 Memorial Day speech in a youth public address group.

Dr. George C. Roche, III, president of Hillsdale College, Hillsdale, and latest recipient of the Freedom Leadership Award from Freedoms Foundation, presented 11 George Washington Honor Medals, two Honor Certificates, and two Valley Forge Teachers Medals to the honorees of Birmingham, Dearborn, Detroit, Chelsea, Madison Heights, Monroe, Riverview, Southfield, and Sterling Heights.

The Freedoms Foundation awards recognize individuals and organizations that have distinguished themselves for bringing about a better understanding of the United States democratic Republic and its free enterprise system, and for emphasizing responsible citizenship.

Those honored were among 1,822 selected for recognition by the Freedoms Foundation National and School Awards Jury, which is composed of state supreme court justices and principal officers of national patriotic, civic, service, and veterans organizations.

This year's awards jury chairman was Dr. Maurice B. Mitchell, University of Denver chancellor. General Harold K. Johnson, USA (ret.), a survivor of the infamous Bataan Death March, World War II, and a former U. S. Army chief of staff, is president of Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge.

President Richard M. Nixon is honorary chairman of the organization and the Council of Trustees, composed of a cross-section of Americans prominent in education, business, industry, the judiciary, and government.

Established in 1949, Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge is a non-profit, non-political, and non-sectarian organization. In addition to the awards program, Freedoms Foundation conducts a wide spectrum of educational activities, from elementary school guidelines to graduate college credit courses.

Pinckney Man Dies in Sunday Auto Crash

The Fourth of July week-end brought the death of a Livingston county man and injured another.

Ernest A. Valdick, 69, of 9260 Cedar Lake Rd., Pinckney, became the week-end's first traffic fatality Sunday night, July 2, when his car failed to negotiate a curve on the Dexter-Pinckney Rd. near McGregor Rd. in Dexter township.

Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies said Valdick was driving about 45 mph when his vehicle suddenly careened off the road and struck a tree. He was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

David L. Hieber, 20, of 4530 Jackson Rd., Scio township, was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital on Saturday, July 1, after his car went out of control and collided with a vehicle driven by Norman E. Curtis, 52, of Manchester. Sheriff's deputies said the accident happened on Steinbach Rd., north of Pleasant Lake Rd., in Freedom township. Curtis and two passengers in his car escaped injury, they said.

EMERGENCY ROOM AFTER CRASH: This is the inside of the Chelsea Medical Clinic's Emergency Room after a car driven by Robert Daniel Brown of Gregory ran into its walls Thursday, June 29. Brown was weak from loss of blood after putting his arm through glass doors, and passed out as he neared the Clinic's Emergency Room, where he was headed for treatment. The impact pushed in bricks from the outside, cracked the walls on the inside, and caused the granular insulation to spill into the room.

Irate Father Rams Hospital After Severe Glass Cuts

Robert Daniel Brown, 32, of 8636 Plainwell Dr., Gregory, has been cited for reckless driving and malicious destruction of property under $100 after putting his arm through a glass door and running his vehicle through the walls of the Emergency Room of the Chelsea Medical Clinic, Thursday, June 29.

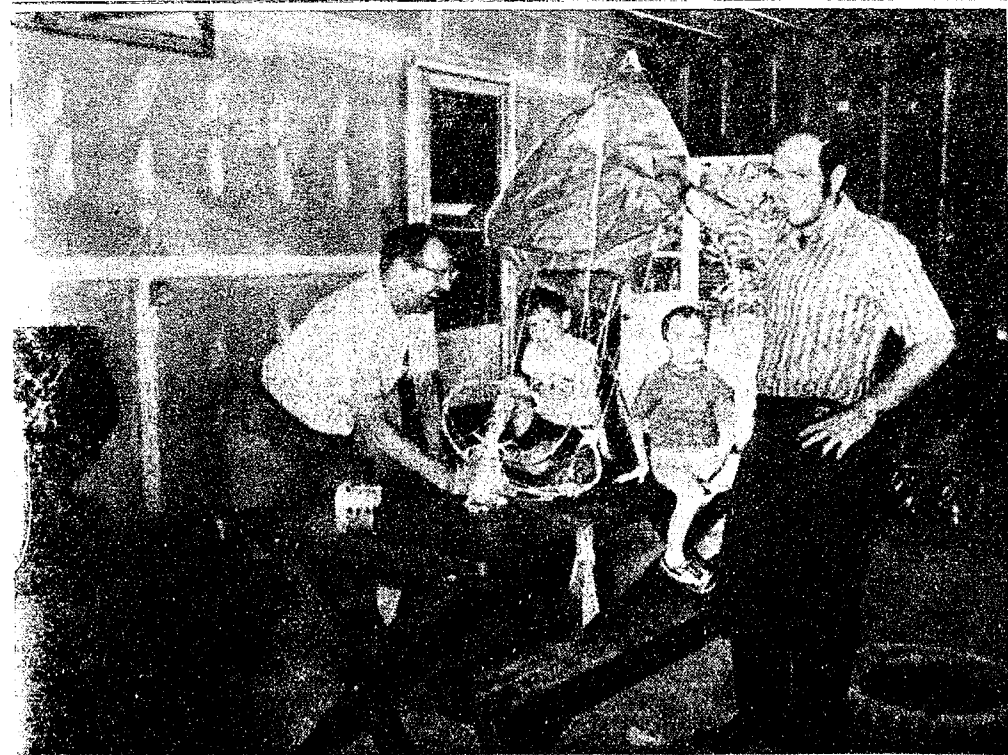

Penelope Brown, 237 Railroad St., called the Chelsea police at 7:20 p.m. and stated that her ex-husband, Robert Brown, came down to the back door and stated that he wanted to see his minor children. After she told him to get away, he rammed his hand and through both glass doors and left.

Patrolman Peebles arrived five minutes later and found blood all over the back door and porch. It was apparent that the suspect had lost a lot of blood and had cut himself very badly. After seeing the blood, Peebles went to the Chelsea Medical Clinic to see if the suspect had reported for medical treatment.

At the Clinic, the officer found that the suspect was in what doctors stated was a very serious condition from loss of blood. Also, the subject had run his vehicle into the walls of the Emergency Room, causing extensive damage to the building, but only sustaining a cut lip as additional injuries. He was so weak from loss of blood that he had to be given transfusions and was taken by ambulance to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. He was released from the hospital Sunday, July 2.

In addition to the two warrants arising from this incident, Brown has two pending warrants, one for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor and one for assault and battery. His lawyer successfully moved that the trails for those two charges be adjourned from July 5 to July 26.

WEATHER BALLOON: Herman Koenn and his grandsons Charles and Matt Koenn inspect the remains of a weather balloon found by Charles Koenn, right, of 2200 Hayes Rd. The balloon was released over Flint on Friday, June 23, and came down in a field beside Koenn's residence the same night. He has returned the instruments to the U. S. Weather Bureau in Joliet, Ill.

Weather Balloon Discovered

"At first I thought it was a kite," said Charles Koenn, 2200 Hayes Rd., commenting on his discovery of a U. S. weather balloon and instruments in a field beside his home Friday evening, June 23. "A few more feet and it would have landed in the swamp."

The broken balloon, with its orange colored paper parachute, carried a notation requesting the discoverer to return the instruments carried by the balloon to the U. S. Weather Bureau in Joliet, Ill., which he did.

By reading the instruments, Koenn was able to determine that the balloon had been released that same morning over Flint, and had reached an altitude of 47 miles.

Koenn stated that, besides other instruments, the packet contained a collapsible antenna, humidity and pressure reading gauges, and a battery, which remained warm throughout the night.

Now Koenn and his family have the orange parachute and the battery as souvenirs of the experience.

Washington Report by Congressman MARVIN L. ESCH

The largest mammal in the world, the whale, is close to extinction. Airplanes have been used to round up polar bears so that so-called sportsmen could kill them—seriously depleting their numbers. Baby seals, which are among the most appealing animals in nature, have been killed in massive numbers. Not only has this threatened the species, the most cruel methods of death imaginable have been used—the baby seals have been skinned alive while their mothers look on crying pitifully.

Man's cruelty to and abuse of animal-life is almost inconceivable yet it has existed for centuries. With modern technology, the animals do not stand much of a chance unless the government moves in to protect them. At long last the federal government is getting ready to do something about this.

resentatives passed legislation which would put a five year moratorium on the killing or capture of all sea mammals (with a few exceptions for scientific research or zoos). During the five year respite, the Department of the Interior and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration are assigned the responsibility of conducting research into the problems of ocean mammal life and their preservation for the future.

The Senate is now considering similar legislation which increases the protection period to 15 years. This stronger legislation is expected to receive approval in the near future and I am hopeful that the House will accept the strong Senate language.

Although these bills affect very few of us directly, they are symbolic of a new commitment on the part of our nation to protect wildlife and preserve the environment. That is a vital mission from which we will all benefit in the long run.

Color Film, Speakers Available To Explain HCMA Programs

A 30-minute presentation describing the activities and facilities of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority—which presently operates nine "Metroparks"—is available to service clubs and other community organizations.

The presentation—highlighted by a 20-minute color film—illustrates the programs at the six major HCMA sites (Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park near Westland, and Willow Metropark near New Boston) plus three smaller parks, including Delhi and Dexter-Huron. This presentation is a part of an informational effort by the Citizens Committee for Continuing Progress in Recreation to inform voters in Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties of an Aug. 8 referendum on increasing the 1/4-mill property tax—that finances the HCMA—to 1/2-mill to be levied outside the 15-mill tax rate limitation.

The additional 1/4-mill property tax is being sought to carry out the Authority's plans to develop at least three new major metropolitan parks in the five-county area during the next 15 years and to lease and rebuild Belle Isle Park which is now operated by the City of Detroit.

"This new film dramatically shows how the Huron-Clinton park facilities provide boundless recreation to more than 9 million persons annually," Mack W. Worden, chairman of the Citizens Committee, declared. Worden is a General Motors vice-president.

To arrange for a speaker, contact E. E. Sullivan, 10-205 General Motors Building, Detroit, 48202, or telephone 556-3079.

Fever Strikes

Potomac fever is a disease which strikes only politicians.

It has only one symptom: a great desire to go to Washington as an office-holder, most usually in either house of Congress.

One of the prime breeding places for the germ which causes Potomac fever traditionally has been the state capital. An officeholder sitting in the legislature quite easily can envision himself promoted to the biggest legislature of them all.

In this particular election year, an especially virulent form of Potomac fever is apparent in Lansing. A total of nine members of the state legislature are running for Congress. Many others toyed with the idea before discarding it.

Members of the state senate have a more comfortable position from which to run. They are in the midst of a four-year term so if they lose their Congressional bid, they still have a two-year term left in Lansing.

Six of the 38 senators are taking advantage of this free shot at a Congressional seat and several of them are conceded good changes of pulling off a win.

Perhaps the most well-known statewide is Senate Appropriations Chairman Charles O. Zoller, R-Benton Harbor. Zoller, one of the most powerful men in Lansing, is challenging U. S. Rep Edward Hutchinson in a district made less safe for Hutchinson by redistricting.

Both men are well to do and are expected to spend a great deal of money in the contest—rated a tossup at this time.

One other senator is running out-state. He is Jerome Hart, a Democrat from Saginaw, who is challenging incumbent Republican James Harvey.

The district was reshaped by reapportionment and has a more Democratic tinge than before. Whether it's enough to pull Hart through remained to be seen.

Two Senators are competing in the newly-created 18th district just north of Detroit. Democrats Daniel Cooper of Oak Park and James Gray of Warren are among those competing for the Democratic nomination in what was drawn as a decidedly Democratic district.

The district was originally drawn to favor Cooper, a liberal suburbanite who developed strong anti-busing tendencies when busine became such a hot issue. Gray is more conservative and could give Cooper a good fight. The winner will have to defeat former GOP Sen. Robert Huber in November.

Two other Senators with slim chances are Republican Donald Bishop of Troy and Democrat William Faust of Westland. Bishops is running for the GOP nomination against State Rep. David Serotkin of Mount Clemens in the district represented by Democrat James O'Hara.

Faust is running against incumbent Democrat William Ford of Taylor.

Besides Serotkin, the state representatives running are Republican Jim Brown of Okemos and Democrat Marvin Stempien of Livonia.

Brown is giving GOP Rep. Charles Chamberlain his first primary fight in 16 years, and observers are unsure how deep Chamberlain's support will be. Stempien will challenge Republican Marvin Esch in November in a race rated a toss-up.

Just the law of averages should provide success for at least a few of the state legislators—providing fuel for Potomac fever by other legislators in the future.

Obps

The decline and fall of the presidential candidacy of Maine Sen. Edmund Muskie surprised many people in politics and in the business of analyzing politics this year, of course.

The Lansing scene proved to be no exception.

Not long before he pulled out of the primaries, Muskie was endorsed by a group of legislators named, quite logically, "Michigan Legislators for Muskie."

The list included nine of the 19 senators and 19 of the 58 house Democrats. It included both House Speaker William A. Ryan and Senate Democratic Leader George Fitzgerald, both men with a lot of experience and savvy in politics.

Which only goes to show that even the experts aren't right all the time.

DRAGONS?

Dragons, among the oldest creatures in mythology, abound in the folklore of nearly all races. Chinese dragons often are auspicious allies of the gods, guardians of their treasures, and symbols of fertility. In some stories they can be evil, or even portrayed as stupid. In contrast, Mediterranean and European dragons invariably devoured maidens and were afflicted with fiery breaths.

Donna Pfeiffer loves her Gas furnace.

Especially in summer.

Because she had a Gas air conditioner added to her Gas furnace. And so the same dependable and economical blue flame that warms her home all winter now cools it all summer—using the same blowers, ducts and registers.

Now it's a total comfort system that's quiet, clean and economical. In fact, a Gas air-conditioning system costs only about half as much to operate as an electric system. So, if you have a Gas furnace, you're already a long way toward a great year-round comfort system.

Don't wait. Call your local heating and cooling contractor or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company representative today. He'll show you how easy it is to love your Gas furnace... winter and summer.

on Schaffner Attending Math Teachers Institute at Lehigh University

Jon Schaffner, of 40 Chestnut St., is one of the 48 secondary school educators currently attending Lehigh University's 1972 Summer Institute for High School Mathematics Teachers at Bethlehem, Pa. The institute is supported by the National Science Foundation.

The program, under the direction of Dr. Douglas H. Taylor, assistant professor of mathematics at Lehigh, is in its 12th year of operation on campus.

Scheduled to conclude Friday, July 28, the program offers an in-depth study of such areas as probability and statistics, higher algebra, higher geometry, and intermediate analysis for senior high school mathematics teachers with at least three years of teaching experience.

Objectives of the institute are to augment the background of teachers who entered the profession earlier, and to strengthen their capacity for motivating and stimulating high school students to consider careers in mathematics. Many of the participants take the course for credit toward a master's degree.

counselor-in-training at Camp Nu-Na-Hak at Nyac, Alaska.

The announcement was made by F. Richard Schneider, chief social worker in Bethel, Alaska. Schneider, a former Chelsea resident, made the announcement from Bethel.

Howard was given a complete scholarship to attend the leadership development training program of the Department of the Interior project. The counselors-in-training were selected for their outstanding leadership, potential, academic achievement, and promise for future development.

Camp Nu-Na-Hak is located in one of the largest gold dredging camps in the country. It is a completely functional gold camp which has not been used since 1964. At one time, it was one of the largest gold camps in Alaska, and is located in the foothills of Kuskokwim mountains about 80 miles east of Bethel. The camp is accessible by plane only.

Camp Nu-Na-Hak is a unique camping and enrichment experience for Alaska native youngsters from 35 remote Eskimo and Indian villages. The camp is a children's community for youngsters who have achieved academically and have leadership potential. Most of them are bi-lingual in Eskimo and English.

Howard is part of a group of 20 counselors-in-training selected from across Alaska, the United States, and Canada. He received the top award as outstanding counselor-in-training during the first session of camp which has just ended.

His summer address is: Camp Nu-Na-Hak at Nyac, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Box 347, Bethel, Alaska 99553.

HOWARD SALYER, 15-year-old son of Mrs. Roma Salyer of 225 Jefferson St., is pictured teaching four Eskimo boys arts and crafts. The program at the camp includes all the usual activities, plus special activities as gold panning, geology, Eskimo culture, dancing, and rocketry. F. Richard Schneider is the director of the project, and has a staff of 50 for the 60 children in attendance at any one time.

Participants were from Chelsea, Wayne, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Dearborn Heights, Garden City, and Big Silver Lake.

The show included trick skiing, slalom skiing, barefoot skiing, disc skiing, acrobatics, a five-person pyramid, criss-cross slalom, and kiteflying for the grand finale. Katsefaras, organizer of the exhibition, placed eighth in the Cypress Gardens National Kite Flying Contest, and demonstrated his talents to the Big Silver Lake audience.

Boston Pops Orchestra Back On TV for Another Season

East Lansing — Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops are back for yet another season of entertainment with a whole new raft of guest performers starting at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, July 9, on WMSB (Channel 10), Michigan State University television.
Fiedler and the Pops lead off the series with a salute to their longtime composer-arranger, Leroy Anderson.
Anderson began his career with the Pops 35 years ago with a "little piece" called "Jazz Pizzicato." Up to that time Anderson had been playing in dance bands and arranging for the Harvard University Band. He had graduated from Harvard magna cum laude in music and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Over his years with the Pops, Anderson has composed many other popular classics such as "Sleigh Ride," "The Syncopated Clock" and "The Typewriter" and has become one of the best known composers of light, contemporary pieces for orchestra.
Fiedler opens the program with Copland's "Fanfare for the Common Man," two pieces from the "Grand Canyon Suite" and another Copland piece, "Hoe-Down." Then, the salute to Anderson begins with "Blue Tango," "Jazz Pizzicato," "Fiddle Faddle," "Serenade," "The Typewriter," which Anderson conducts, and "Bugler's Holiday."

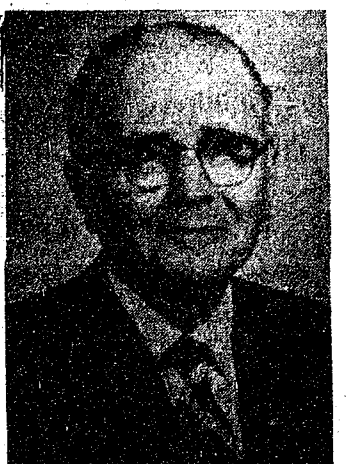

In the weeks to come Doc Severinsen, Robert Flack, Ferrante and Teicher, Roberta Peters, Chef Atkins, the Boston Ballet, Charlie Byrd, Steve Allen and Lilit Gampe will join the Pops in concert.
Other WMSB highlights include:
JAZZ SET
Jazz authority Chris Albertson hosts a new 13-week series of jazz concerts which begins at 1 p.m. Sunday, July 9.
Albertson, whose columns on jazz have appeared in the New York Times and Down Beat magazine, has received two Grammy Awards for his recent series of Bessie Smith albums produced for Columbia Records. He also won the Grand Prix Du Disque at the 1971 Montreal Jazz Festival and was named one of Billboard Magazine's "Trendsetters of the Year" in 1971.
The Keno Duke Quintet opens the series with a performance of works composed by the Quintet members.
Keno Duke started the quintet 14 years ago. The present quintet began in 1970 as a co-operative group, the Jazz Contemporaries. The quintet includes Duke on drums; Frank Strozzer, alto sax; Julius Watkins, French Horn; Dennis Mooradian, piano and Larry Bass.
FILM ODYSSEY
Spanish director Luis Bunuel's internationally acclaimed classic "Los Olvidados" makes its appearance on Film Odyssey at 10 p.m. Sunday, July 9.
Termed as "brutal and unrelenting" by the New York Times and called "without equal" in expressing social concern for children by the British Film Institute, Bunuel's film studies the slums and slum children of Mexico City in 1950. A tough and unsparring look at conditions as they were, "Los Olvidados" documents the hopelessness of a life which seems to

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Can any one deny that much of what is wrong with our world today is largely due to personal faults of people? No matter where you go, you see all sorts of faulty people. A fact of life — often ignored — is that other people see faults in us just as we see faults in others. Just as we form conclusions about other people, others form conclusions about us from what we do, what we say, how we act.

When we remind ourselves not to judge others lest we ourselves be judged, we know it is good philosophy; in fact, a religious commandment. When we recognize that fact we most certainly should realize we can not influence other people to do right things when we ourselves are doing wrong things. Bad examples propagate bad behavior. Good examples propagate good behavior. It is psychological realism. If that is true (and we are sure it is), why is it not more widely understood? . . . ## Raccoon Tops List of Foolish Jaywalkers

Lansing—Reputation for intelligence notwithstanding, the raccoon apparently is a worse jaywalker than the turtle, rabbit or any other animal—at least in Michigan.
Highway maintenance reports show 445 raccoons were killed on 114 miles of state highways in Ionia county during 1971.
The reports show 140 turtles, 77 deer, 116 pheasants, 49 muskrats, 82 skunks, 45 rabbits, 67 woodchucks, 163 squirrels, 66 dogs, 67 cats, 137 opossums and 22 foxes killed on state highways in Ionia county.
Other highway victims included five mink, one badger, 12 owls, 10 partridges, seven hawks, one quail and eight crows.
The animal-kill record was kept by the Ionia County Road Commission, which maintains state highways in that county. Ionia is the only county which compiles such records. The Department of Natural Resources reports that approximately 9,000 deer were killed on all highways in Michigan in 1971.

Keno Duke started the quintet 14 years ago. The present quintet began in 1970 as a co-operative group, the Jazz Contemporaries. The quintet includes Duke on drums; Frank Strozzer, alto sax; Julius Watkins, French Horn; Dennis Mooradian, piano and Larry Bass.

Mrs. Keith E. Salyer and family would like to send their sincere thanks to all friends and relatives who were so helpful and kind during our bereavement.

Mrs. Keith E. Salyer.

These words cannot convey the gratitude we feel for the many kindnesses of so many persons during the past few weeks. Although nothing can relieve our sorrow nor begin to fill the void Wanda's death has left, the generosity of the community has helped to sustain us. We shall be forever grateful to all of you.

Chelsea Girl Scouts Sign for Summer Camp

Jane Sias of 650 N. Steinbach Rd., is attending the week-long "Wider Opportunities" session for Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts at Camp Linden, the 400-acre resident camp operated by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. The camp opened Wednesday, June 28, with a full enrollment of 160 Girl Scouts.

Attending the two-week session for Brownie and Junior Scouts are Teresa Marie Hoffman of 112 W. Summit, Venita Irene Scott of 604 Grant, and Vickie Lynn Smith of 118 E. Middle St.

The girls are the first to use the $150,000 Hunter Lodge, the dining hall, and the recreation building completed in time for the opening session. They will also be the first to take hay ride trips to overnight campsites.

In another innovation, Junior Scouts, ages 10 to 12, will this year take back pack overnights. In these excursions, scouts carry their food, water, tents, and other equipment to a remote area of the camp and stay for a two-day primitive camping experience.

A young French woman is one of the camp's 22 counselors this summer. Miss Anne Motin, 21, of Nantes, France, is working at the camp for the entire summer, under the auspices of the national Young Women's Christian Association. Camp director is Bill Schief.

Openings for Camp Linden are still available for session IV, which runs from Aug. 9 to Aug. 23, the Council office reports.

To allow more girls to sample Girl Scout camping, this year the one-week sessions are being held along with two-week sessions from now until July 12.

Other Girl Scout camps include Camp Crawford, south of Ypsilanti, primarily used as a day camp. Its capacity is 250 girls. The council also uses Camp Hilltop in Ann Arbor.

Chelsea Glass Works Opens In Former Balmer Garage

Truman Johnson and Don Sargent, both of Jackson, have established Chelsea Glass Works at 140 W. Middle St., the former Balmer Garage building, which they share with Fontana Ambulance Service.

The new firm will handle all kinds of glass work—residential and construction, commercial, store fronts, automotive (including windshields), and the repair of screens.

Neither Johnson nor Sargent

are newcomers to the glass business. Johnson was employed by Jackson Glass Works for the past eight years, and Sargent the past seven years. They were acquainted with Gary Matson, former owner of Chelsea Glass Co., and bought his stock and truck in mid-June.

Since that time, they have been remodeling the shop and gathering more stock. They have three trucks, a display-office room, and a service room. Now, however, they are all set to get down to business.

Johnson and his wife, Linda, who live at 134 Avondale, Jackson, have one child, Sargent and his wife, Janet, have two children. They live at 8762 Grayling, Jackson. "If the business goes well, we'll probably move to Chelsea," the new entrepreneurs stated.

Applesauce and pork make such a great combination. Pork chops with applesauce is a favorite with many people. Here's an interesting way to give a pork loin roast a delicious coat for any meal. Simply spread the roasting loin with spiced applesauce during the last half hour of cooking. It's sure to please!

Many Interesting, Historical Bridges Found in Michigan

sands of miles of creeks, rivers, ravines and inland have made this state a land of water, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

There are more than 3,000 bridges in the state highway system with thousands more on roads and city streets. The state alone has some 560 bridges.

Engineers of the Michigan Department of State Highways have listed some of the outstanding and unusual bridges for the state.

One of the longest bridges in the world is the high Cut River Bridge, 4.3 miles northwest of Brevort on US-2 in Mackinac county. Built in 1947, the cantilever truss-type bridge has three 555-foot spans.

Visitors who use a parking area provided at the east end of the bridge can walk back and descend into the deep ravine. From the bottom looking up the scenery is spectacular.

Visitors who use a parking area provided at the east end of the bridge can walk back and descend into the deep ravine. From the bottom looking up the scenery is spectacular.

Another Mackinac county bridge singled out by the panel of highway engineers, is the Pine River Bridge on M-37, 12 miles southwest of Harrietta. Built in 1948, it is a deck plate girder type.

Back in the Upper Peninsula, highway engineers have included three more bridges.

Interesting rock formations are the attractions at the Chocoy River Bridge on US-41, about seven miles southeast of M-28 in Marquette county.

Also listed are two bridges on M-26 over the west and east branches of the Firesteel River. One is 1.3 miles northeast of M-38, the other 1.9 miles northeast of M-38. Both were built in 1952.

The highway department also includes as outstanding the bridges which lead into the I-196 and I-296 interchange in Grand Rapids.

Perhaps one of Michigan's best-known bridges, at least to motorists who use I-75, is the bascule-type Zilwaukee Bridge just north of Saginaw.

The counter-weighted bridge spans are opened to allow passage of river traffic, sometimes causing a backup of cars for several miles or more in either direction. Completed in 1960, this bridge is an important link in the I-75 freeway system. It is scheduled to be replaced by a high-level bridge.

Less spectacular spans are the weathered, wooden covered bridges of a century ago. There are six covered bridges still standing in Michigan, and each is a tourist attraction by itself. They are:

—The Langley Bridge near Centerville, crossing the St. Joseph River, St. Joseph county.

—A bridge two miles northeast of Niles on the farm of the late E. M. Norris, in Berrien county, on private property.

—White's Bridge which crosses the Flat River near Snyrna in Ionia county. (Built in 1867 at a cost of $2,000, the bridge still has its original timbers except for sills which were replaced about 15 years ago. The bridge derived its name from Levi White, a carpenter and early Michigan pioneer.)

—The Fallasburg Park Bridge over the Flat River north of Lowell in Kent county, off M-91.

—The 125-foot-long bridge crossing the Thornapple River at Ada, on M-91, Kent county, built in 1866.

—Greenfield Village, Dearborn, the Ackley Covered Bridge, traversed by visitors on foot or in carriages, which straddles an artificial pond. (Built in 1832 in Pennsylvania, the 75-foot bridge was acquired by Henry Ford and moved to his outdoor museum of Americana in 1938.)

The Langley, White's and Fallasburg Park bridges still carry vehicular traffic.

Except for the covered bridges which are primarily tourist attractions, the Michigan Department of State Highways warns motorists not to stop on any bridge to view either the bridge or the scenery. It is dangerous.

world, it combines both the swing and bascule types.

Bridges not so familiar to most Michiganders include these:

The Rouge River Bridge, just south of Detroit, opened in 1867. A deck plate girder structure, it was the costliest single project ever constructed by the Michigan Department of State Highways.

Capable of carrying 120,000 vehicles a day, it is a vital link in the I-75 freeway system as it enters Detroit.

4-H Clubs Need Adult Leaders

It's hard to refuse a kid when he is anxious to participate in a 4-H club. But this has happened at least 47 times this year in southeast Ann Arbor.

One 4-H club already with over 40 members, has turned down 47 kids who wanted to join because there was no more room and a lack of volunteers to provide leadership for the interested youth.

According to Duncan E. Sanford, Extension 4-H Youth Agent, "There are hundreds of kids that would like to be involved in 4-H activities, but there doesn't seem to be enough adults and teens willing to help guide their activities. Typical excuses are 'I don't know anything about 4-H, or I couldn't teach anything about the 4-H projects, or I'm too busy'."

"All 4-H amounts to," says Sanford, "is people helping people to learn about topics of their interests through action activities. The accent is on learning by doing, not by lecture or theory. Most any adult or teen is capable of learning things that 8- or 9-year-olds can learn."

"Therefore, if a person is interested in helping kids, they can learn right along with the kids. Two or three hours a week with 7 or 8 youths is the average investment of time necessary for a successful 4-H volunteer leader."

Four-H has learning plans for over 200 different project units, along with leadership guides. Add interest in kids, three hours of time and a willingness to try and the result is a group of happy enthusiastic kids and parents.

According to Sanford, any person who would like to make a group of kids' summer happier, and more worthwhile, should call him at 683-7511, ext. 227 or visit him in Room 1, County Bldg., Ann Arbor.

For a speedy, yet satisfying dinner, turn two cans of beef stew into a casserole and stir in a package of cooked frozen or drained canned vegetables. Top with biscuits from a refrigerator package and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes, or until biscuits are done.

Water Accidents Cost 39 Deaths Since January

Michigan has had a reported 59 water accidents in the first five months this year which have caused 39 deaths and injured 13 persons, according to State Police water safety unit records.

These were reductions of 12 in accidents, four in deaths and 16 in injured compared with the same period last year.

The 59 accidents included 36 involving fatalities, 13 causing injury, and 10 having property damage only.

The deaths included 16 swimmers or waders, 12 who fell into water, four who broke through ice, two boat operators, one boat passenger, two divers, one who attempted rescue and another unclassified as to activity.

Six victims were under five years of age. Six drownings occurred while fishing and another three happened in swimming pools.

State Police records annually show the warm weather months May through September to be the worst period of the year for deaths and injuries in water accidents.

For this reason, the State Police again emphasize the importance for all water activity participants to learn, review and update their precautions for safety in all phases of water sports.

Thought For Food

This summer, the "soft environment" is the new concept in house furnishings and accessories that give a mood of comfort, quiet, and easy living. Carpeting, comfortable furniture, quilted fabrics, durable press and no-iron draperies, muted colors - all are part of the soft look.

Chopped ripe olives or sweet pickles blended with minced ham may be served in a mound on a lettuce leaf for an appetizer. Surround with saltines or wheat crackers. Or, hollow out cherry tomatoes and fill with minced ham seasoned with dill weed, celery seed or cut olives.

New Owners Now Operating Boondocks Golf Course

The sale of the Boondocks Golf Course near Grass Lake was announced recently by Bill and Marcy Haney of Grass Lake.

Purchaser of the nine-hole layout at 13202 Curtis Rd., Grass Lake township is The Boondocks, Inc. President of the corporation is Dr. Louis Marx of Ypsilanti. Vice-president is Kenneth B. Randall of Belleville.

The course was designed by Haney with construction beginning in 1967 and the course opening for play in 1970. The operation was managed by Mrs. Haney during the 1970-71 seasons.

Current plans of the new owners call for Randall to supervise the golf facility. The Randalls plan to move in summer of 1972 into the home on the golf course premises.

The Haney's have purchased a home near Dexter and will move in May.

Randall has tentatively set April 29 as the day by which the course will be open to the public. A grand opening is to be held in late May or early June with an exact date to be announced later.

Also being finalized is a slate of tournaments which Randall has indicated will include a repeat of the annual Boondocks Scramble that in past seasons featured one of the most attractive first-place awards in the area.

Expansion is in the future plans of the new owners, but no major immediate changes are foreseen in the scenic layout. From the regular men's tees, the course plays at 3,100 yards, with a par of 35; several players are tied for the course record with 33.

From the championship tees, the course stretches to more than 3,400 yards, five ponds come into play, and no one has yet equalled its par of 36.

Two shorter sets of tees permit playing the course at 2,800 and 2,500-yard lengths which avoid the ponds and minimize other hazards.

The course was constructed as a family project over a three and one-half year span, with all work being done by Haney and his wife and four children except for the construction of the ponds and the shaping of greens.

"The greens have recovered beautifully after the prolonged drought that hurt many of us last season," said Haney. The undulating Pennicross bent grass greens were rated by many area players as among the best and most demanding in the area.

When asked the reason for selling the course, Haney said, "We built the course for the experience and enjoyment of building the course, not with the intention of having and operating it."

"The course has done just what we had hoped it would do; it has preserved a hundred pleasant rolling acres of wooded lands and streams for a use that other people may now appreciate and enjoy."

"It was simply a question of priorities in the personal lives of Marcy, the kids, and me that made us decide to sell the course at this time. All of us have other things we want to do with the time that would be required by each of us if we continued to operate the course."

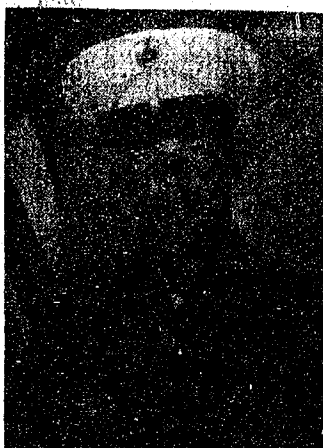

"As far as giving up something that we have created, our feeling is that we participated in the most creative aspect of the venture—the conception of it and the conversion of it from old farm and scrub land to something that continues to develop as a natural recreation spot where people may spend leisure time and where the wildlife is not chased away, the trees not cut down."

"We are encouraged that the new owners share our feelings about the game of golf and the almost urgent necessity for people to start preserving things in the most natural way possible. And we are gratified that they intend to strive to offer the people of Grass Lake and the surrounding area the most pleasant golf facility possible."

Haney is on the staff of the University of Michigan. He is managing editor and director of publications of the Institute for Social Research. He is a free-lance writer, having published stories and articles in national publications.

His book on area history, "From Spirit Lake to Goose Lake," was released last year and has been commended by historians, reviewers, and general readers.

He plans to spend more time on in-process writing projects and publishing a new volume titled "Tenants and the Urban Housing Crisis," to be released in June by The New Press, which is directed by Haney.

Babe Ruth C Team Sports 3-0 Record

Chelsea C Babe Ruth baseball team is now sporting a record of three wins and no losses, after defeating Manchester B by a score of 5 to 3, defeating Chelsea A, 7 to 6, and trouncing Chelsea B, 9 to 2.

Todd Orthing and Dave Alber, the pitching and hitting stars of the Manchester game, came through again with the bat in the Chelsea A game.

John Houle and Todd Orthing pitched a strong game, aided by Randy Musbach's performance of stealing two bases and David Leach's suicide bunt, all of which added up to a fine team effort.

A misjudged fly ball gave Mike Nadeau a triple, but the big centerfielder came through with a long home run.

Mike Fouty and Mike Tobin had timely hits for the losing team. In the Chelsea C-Chelsea B contest, Dave Alber and John Houle allowed only three hits while walking only two batters.

Dave Murphy and John Houle produced long doubles, knocking in four runs in the first two innings, and hustle on the base paths and a defensive game prevented the team from being threatened after that.

ASK THE GOVERNOR

by William G. Milliken

Question: I am a Michigan farmer who last year had to spend over 50 percent of my income to pay for property taxes. I think that that figure is simply ridiculous. Why can't something be done to help us farmers? Before long, it will be so bad that all of us will have to sell out!

Answer: I am working with the Michigan Farm Bureau and other groups in the Michigan Education Association's coalition petition drive which, if successful, would place the question of property tax relief on the ballot in November. If adopted by the people of the state, this amendment to the Michigan Constitution would provide substantial property tax relief for all Michigan citizens, and would reduce property taxes by an average of more than 50 percent for farmers across the state.

Figures from the U.S. Department of Agriculture show that from 1950 to 1970, the total net farm income for the entire state decreased from $299.1 million to $269.6 million. Over the same 20-year period, however, the average percentage of total net income paid by farmers for property taxes rose from 4.9 percent, or $15.6 million, to 23.5 percent, or $82.5 million. Thus, while total net farm income in Michigan decreased nearly 10 percent from 1950 to 1970, the amount of property taxes paid by farmers more than quadrupled, forcing many Michigan farmers to sell their lands and greatly reducing available disposable income for others.

I am firmly committed to getting the question of property tax relief on the November ballot, but need your help in doing so. We need at least 200,000 signatures on petitions by July 10 in order that the people of the state will have the opportunity in November to decide the crucial issue of property tax relief and open the door to true educational reform in Michigan.

Question: I read in the newspaper earlier this year that some kind of special park permit will be available for senior citizens this year. Is that true?

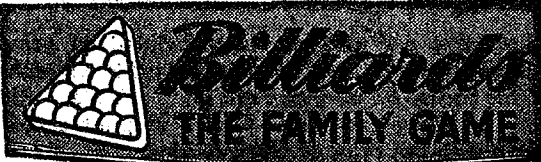

Answer: Yes. Michigan this year became the first state in the nation to offer a special state park annual motor vehicle permit for residents 65 years of age and older. This special senior citizen permit may be purchased at any state park for $1, rather than the regular $5 charge, and allows senior citizens to enter any of Michigan's state parks and recreation areas until Jan. 1, 1973.

Question: Does state government provide any kind of water safety programs?

Answer: The Michigan Department of Natural Resources each year spends more than $500,000 on water safety through Marine Safety Programs in each county of the state. These programs are administered by the County Sheriff's Departments under the guidance of the DNR. As defined by statute, County Marine Safety Programs must encompass a wide range of responsibility, including the maintenance of law enforcement patrols, search and rescue operations, boat safety inspection, and boating safety courses as required by law for persons 12 to 16 years of age.

Additionally, the Michigan State Police operate and maintain an underwater recovery unit and offer, when requested by a local organization, instruction and assistance in water safety educational endeavors.

The importance of these efforts is underscored by the fact that during 1971, 636 water accidents in Michigan resulted in 269 deaths and 257 injuries.

Mrs. Robert Bruce Adams

Cynthia Hercules, Robert Adams Married in Ann Arbor Church

Andrew's Episcopal church in Ann Arbor was the setting for the marriage of former Chelsea resident Miss Cynthia Ann Hercules and Robert Bruce Adams Saturday, June 17. The Rev. Jacob Andrews of St. George Episcopal church in Milford officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Floyd T. Doyle of Milford and Hercules of San Mateo, Calif. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. Mrs. Frederick M. Adams of Birmingham.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her step-father, chose a gown of white sheer silk organza with a Venice lace bodice and a chapel train. The full sleeves were capped with the Venice lace, and the lace was repeated in appliques on the skirt and train. She wore a Camille headpiece of Venice lace and pearls and a short veil of illusion. She carried a semi-colonial bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and blue delphiniums.

Miss Marianne McLoughlin of New York, attended as her cousin's maid of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sisters, the Misses Sally and Holly Adams of Birmingham and two of the bride's sorority sisters, Mrs. Schlaybaug of Mt. Clemens and Miss Joanne Myers of Ann Arbor.

Another cousin, Miss Amy Henderson of Port Huron, was the ring bearer. The bride's twin sister, Miss Susan Doyle, was the flower girl. Susan's twin brother Joseph was the ring bearer.

The attendants were dressed in floor-length multi-colored floral gowns with royal blue predominating. They wore white straw picture hats threaded with royal blue ribbon and carried white straw baskets filled with multi-colored flowers. William Staples, Jr., of Birmingham, attended as best man. Seating guests were the bridegroom's brothers, Fred and Dick Adams of Birmingham, the bride's brothers, Jim and Bob Hercules, of Milford, and a fraternity brother, Bob Jongeward of Ann Arbor.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Doyle wore a street-length melon colored dress of silk crepe with matching sandals and a corsage of baby's breath and roses in melon shades. Mrs. Adams chose a street-length gown of aqua silk shantung and matching shoes.

Attending the wedding were the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. William Warren of Port Huron and Mrs. D. C. Doyle, Sr., of Saginaw. Following a reception at the Hilton Inn in Ann Arbor, the couple left for a wedding trip to Harbor Springs. They will be living in Lansing, where the bridegroom is attending graduate school at Michigan State University.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Adams are graduates of Albion College, where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, and he a member of Delta Tau Delta. For the past year, Mrs. Adams has been teaching high school English and French in Three Rivers.

SUNDAY'S SERMON
★ Summer
Another season is officially here — summer. It represents many things to many different people. Ask a child what his favorite season is, and he'll usually say summer. School is out, but that's only one of the reasons children and most people love summer. Summer is a time when we are close to nature and when we should be closer to God.

In the summer, somehow, it is easier to break down the barriers between people. Life isn't as formal as it seems during the colder winter months. We are more open to exciting events. But are we as open with God as we are with our neighbors? God is easy to approach, even in summer. He asks so little of us, yet gives abundant life to us.

Summertime means picnics and fun to many people. It should also give us time to say a word of thanks for these wonders of God's creation that we so freely use and enjoy. A prayer of thanks takes but a few moments. Why not try it right now?

Red-Cross Starts Christmas Project for Troops in Vietnam

Ann Arbor—There are still some 200 shopping days before Christmas, but hundreds of Red Cross volunteers across the country are not waiting. They are already embarked on the seventh annual "Shop Early Vietnam" project to provide gift bags for every U.S. serviceman and servicewoman in Vietnam at Christmas time 1972.

Washtenaw county business firms, church groups, and civic, patriotic, and fraternal organizations co-operate with the local Red Cross chapter in procuring the bags and contents for them. Washtenaw County Chapter has been provided by Red Cross national headquarters with specifications for the bags themselves and with lists of suggested contents. While volunteers are sewing bags, co-operating businesses and organizations will be asked to contribute articles to be placed in them by other volunteers. The bags will be made in various colors, of cotton material sturdy enough to withstand the tropical heat of Vietnam and remain usable for their owners' personal effects after the original contents are used.

Washtenaw County Chapter's quota is 80 bags this year as compared to 1,000 a few years ago at the height of the Vietnam War. Suggested items for the bags for men are plastic soap cases, small packages of note paper with self-sealing envelopes, small address books, plastic toothbrush holders, Terry cloth washcloths, nail clippers, plastic cigarette cases, combs, mailing-size voice tapes, small vacuum-packed tins of nuts or candies, small plastic snapshott holders, kitchen-size plastic bags, pocket games and decks of cards, pocket or diary-type calendars, "wipe and shine" shoe polish, and "wash and dries," shoe polish.

At least eight of the following articles are to be included in special gift bags for servicewomen: Cold water soap, sewing kits, foot "peds," emery boards, hand lotion, night caps, shower caps, creme sachet or cologne, bobby pins, straight and safety pins, small packets of facial tissues, "wash and dries," talcum powder, sachet packets, small powder puff, floral designed note paper with self-seal envelopes, nylon and plastic headcovers, packet-type deodorants, calendar type towels, dry-cleaning pads, ballpoint pens, tins of nuts and candies, small games and puzzles, and pocket or diary calendars.

Don Peak, executive director of the Washtenaw County Chapter, said the gift bag program is intended to be a tangible way for Americans to say, "We care about our troops in Vietnam."

LYNDON TOWNSHIP
Mrs. Norman Bott and daughter were Sunday guests of her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Gauthier of Rives Junction.

Portage Lake Landowners Challenge Beach Club Users

A storm is brewing that threatens to roll the water of Portage and Base Line Lakes as the property owners around those lakes come up against the owners, operators and users of the Newport Beach Club.

At issue in the fight, which is heading to the courts, is the ownership of the bottomlands of Portage Lake by persons or corporations other than the riparian property owners on that lake and the rights of the property owners on Portage Lake to enjoy the use of that lake "free and uninhibited by any unreasonable use or overburden thereof by other riparian owners" namely the Newport Beach Club, Inc.

According to one of the property owners there are currently more than 200 boats operating out of the Newport Beach Club in conflict with the Huron Watershed priority concerns of misuse or overuse by the public and congested boating.

What threatens to muddy up the issues even further is the fact that several members of the Portage and Base Lakes Association board are affiliated in one way or another with the Newport Beach Club, Inc.

Club, namely Tom Ehman, John Laird, Dwight Barstow, and Mrs. Dan Lyons.

Douglas Smith, a member of the Association board, has aligned himself on the side of the property owners and feels he has been "ostracized by the board from various committees" because of his beliefs. According to him Ehman claims he bought the bottom lands in front of Portage Shores, where the Newport Beach Club is located, in 1968. It is the feeling of members of the Association who own property around the lakes that this is impossible for anyone to do. They maintain that even if all the property owners around the lake hit the waters at once they would not total the number of boats launched out of the Newport Beach Club on an average week-end, nor would they on any given special holiday.

The question of Marine Law, rights of sail over motor or motor over sail, the rights of fishermen, the question of overuse during times of regattas at the Boat Club which interfere with the free use of the lake by property owners around it, the continued commercial expansion around the lake, and various other matters are involved in what is now going into the courts.

Property owners challenge a conflict of interests on the part of Ehman and Laird particularly, and what they see as arbitrary decisions by the board with a majority of members connected with the Newport Beach Club, along with legal questions concerning original permits for the use of the lake by the Beach Club and questionable dredging of a canal and launching of motor boats by other commercial enterprises.

Another meeting of the board of the Lakes Association is slated for Aug. 5 at which time there will be a general meeting and election and no doubt some decisions or more storm warnings, depending on legal action.

General Practitioner Popularity Growing in Medical Profession

By Joseph V. Owsley

Ann Arbor—After years of declining to a relative handful among the multitude of American physicians, the general practitioner has a new title and is riding a growing surge of popularity in the medical profession.

Once the victim of specialization, the GP has joined them.

Now he's a specialist in family medicine, with new credentials and clout. And he's working effectively with medical schools to bring new persons and new knowledge to his specialty.

The family physician specialty has two major goals, according to Dr. Joseph V. Fisher, M.D., of Chelsea, who is president of the Michigan Academy of Family Physicians and the unofficial chief evangelist for his colleagues in Michigan.

Upgrading the knowledge of all family physicians is the first goal. This is being accomplished through a vast expansion of continuing education courses for family physicians.

For example, at the University of Michigan, the Medical School's department of postgraduate medicine within the past three years has added a new series of courses which span the academic year. Relevant and popular, the topics are picked by the doctors themselves.

The second goal is to attract more medical students into training for family medicine. The success of the recruiting program has amazed the physicians.

At an evening meeting early this spring in an Ann Arbor hotel, some 700 medical students and their present or future spouses jammed the conference rooms just to meet and talk with family practitioners and their spouses about the realities of this medical career. The turnout would have been unheard of five years ago.

The occasion was a joint meeting of the Family Practice Clubs of the medical schools of U-M, Wayne State University and Michigan State University. The first such club in the state was organized at U-M under the sponsorship of the academy three years ago.

At that time, a survey of senior medical students at the U-M indicated only 17 percent were interested in family medicine. The figure is now near 30 percent and, Dr. Fisher estimates, when junior classes are counted the figure climbs to 40 percent in most medical schools.

He credits much of the resurgent interest to the increased dedication of today's breed of medical students. Physicians call office practice "frontline medicine" and the response has been phenomenal to this new call for volunteers, Dr. Fisher said.

Besides successfully recruiting to fill vacant ranks, family doctors are upgrading their profession by returning to university campuses for regular refresher courses to meet the exacting new standards they have set for their specialty.

For example, at a recent week-long review course, some 180 family doctors from Michigan and other midwest states heard 41 lectures from the U-M Medical Center faculty and other guest experts in subspecialties. They were among the 2,700 physicians who attend postgraduate courses annually at the U-M Medical School.

For family doctors, who cannot afford the time to get away to a university, the U-M postgraduate department is packaging classes in a brief case and sending them out to small hospitals all over the state.

U-M is now producing 24 self-instruction programs per year which a doctor can put into an inexpensive slide projector and tape player to teach himself innovations in clinical medicine any time he has a few minutes to spare at a local hospital.

The Michigan Academy of Family Physicians is involved in both innovating and planning new instruction programs at the U-M, according to Dr. Neal A. Vanse-low, M.D., new chairman of the Department of Postgraduate Medicine and Health Professions Education.

About 3,200 physicians in the United States have passed the examinations of the American Board of Family Practice after preparation through these varied courses.

The specialty is the 20th to be recognized by the American Medical Association. Its members have to pass an exam every six years to remain qualified.

Although interest in family medicine is growing, there remain some major drawbacks in the minds of medical students. The heavy responsibility and long hours of the lone physician have caused many to shy away into more comfortable circumstances of other specialties.

However, group practice and its many variations, in which several doctors share an office and the responsibilities for patients, have gone a long way to alleviating this concern, according to Dr. Cecelia Hissong, M.D., of Dearborn, a member of the commission on education of the Michigan Academy of Family Physicians.

Another fear of future physicians is that they never will be able to master all the knowledge required of a family physician, she said.

"After four years in medical school in which students go for instruction from specialist to specialist, some become convinced they will never know enough to enter family medicine," she said.

"We want them to know they can handle it and that they themselves can take care of 90 percent of the medical problems they find."

But to give the necessary experience before entering private practice, she said, the Academy is promoting the establishment of more family practice residencies in hospitals and medical schools.

These are three-year graduate programs which, among other things, have the resident spend progressively more of his time in a model family practice care unit which closely simulates a practicing physician's office.

The resident is given increasing responsibility for a growing case load of families to which he gives total health care, with advice and some supervision by faculty.

He also learns how to care for himself, pacing his work load, how to supervise the technicians, nurses and clerks he will need in private practice, and how to administer bookkeeping and a myriad of other paperwork chores which will make demands on his time.

There are nearly 80 of these residency programs established across the nation. Five are in Michigan at Flint, Saginaw, Dearborn, Lansing and Midland, where the program is affiliated with the U-M Medical School. Another U-M affiliate residency is being set up in Ann Arbor and surrounding Washtenaw county.

On the undergraduate medical school level, there now are senior year preceptorships in which medical students leave the campus to continue part of their education in the office of a family practitioner. They gain valuable experience in the spectrum of disease not generally seen in a university hospital.

All three medical schools in Michigan have set up four- to 12-week preceptorships with the cooperation of 200 private physicians.

A further taste of family medicine is offered by the medical students themselves who have organized, with the Michigan State Medical Society, a summer orientation program for freshmen and sophomores.

The students are paid $80 per week, plus board and room, for eight to ten weeks during the summer to train with family physicians at small community hospitals.

Under the guidance of Medical School faculty, U-M students have organized two local clinics offering similar experience.

A "free clinic" has been established in downtown Ann Arbor for the "street people" of the university area and a community clinic has been set up at nearby Whitmore Lake, which lacks its own private physicians.

The medical schools now offer a new emphasis on the social sciences to produce not only a competent, skilled physician, but a well-rounded, concerned human being.

Billboard Permit Applications Available Throughout State

Lansing—Billboard owners may obtain permit applications and other forms required under Michigan's new billboard control law at various state, county and municipal offices starting July 5, the Department of State Highways has announced.

Under the new law, a state permit is required for most of the billboards along Michigan's nearly 7,000 miles of Interstate and primary highways. The exceptions are signs offering to sell or lease the property on which they stand and signs advertising activities conducted or maintained on the property on which they stand.

Also exempted are directional and other official signs, including those pertaining to natural wonder, scenic and historical attractions if they are authorized by law and comply with Department regulations on size, lighting and spacing.

The permit cost is $3 per year for each sign.

Permit applications will be available at the State Highways Building in Lansing and at the Department's nine district offices and 35 maintenance garages. They also may be obtained at offices of the 62 county road commissions and 164 municipalities which maintain state highways within their respective boundaries under contract with the Highway Department.

Permits will be processed only at Department district offices. Deadline for applications is Sept. 3.

The new law allows cities, villages and charter townships, and other townships of more than 50,000 population, to adopt their own ordinances to regulate the size, spacing and lighting of billboards. However, they must be at least as restrictive as the state law.

State highway officials advise billboard owners to determine if such ordinances exist in the communities where the signs are located.

Henceforth, all billboards on Interstate and primary highways must be located in a business area or in an unzoned commercial or industrial area and must conform with size, spacing and lighting requirements. All signs that were erected legally and which have since become non-conforming under the new law will be removed upon payment of just compensation to the billboard owners and to the owners of land on which they stand. The federal government is expected to pay most of the cost.

Signs that were erected illegally will be removed at the expense of the owners.

Highway Department officials estimate that more than 15,000 billboards will come down over the next few years.

IDEAL HERD

Michigan State University agricultural economists say the ideal dairy farm in Michigan is a 400 to 700 cow operation employing five to eight men.

4<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> passbook savings

5<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub> 5<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> or 6% passbook certificate

You should have two savings accounts: one for your short term needs and one for your long term needs and goals.

For short term needs you should have a 4<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> Passbook Savings Account. This account pays high interest on regular, insured passbook savings and your money is always readily available. You are paid interest from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal at the rate of 4<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> per year, effective annual rate 4.58%. So with this account you can accumulate money for taxes, travel, medical, education, the emergencies and the fun things and withdraw any amount at any time without losing interest.

You also need a higher interest paying Passbook Certificate

Account for the long term needs such as retirement, investment, and security reserve. You can choose a certificate that pays an annual rate of 5<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub> on amounts of $1000 or more with one year maturity, a 5<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> certificate in amounts of $5000 or more with two year maturity, or a 6% certificate with 3, 4, or 5 year maturity in amounts of $5000 or more. These you put away and watch grow. You won't want to withdraw the funds before maturity because you forfeit interest.

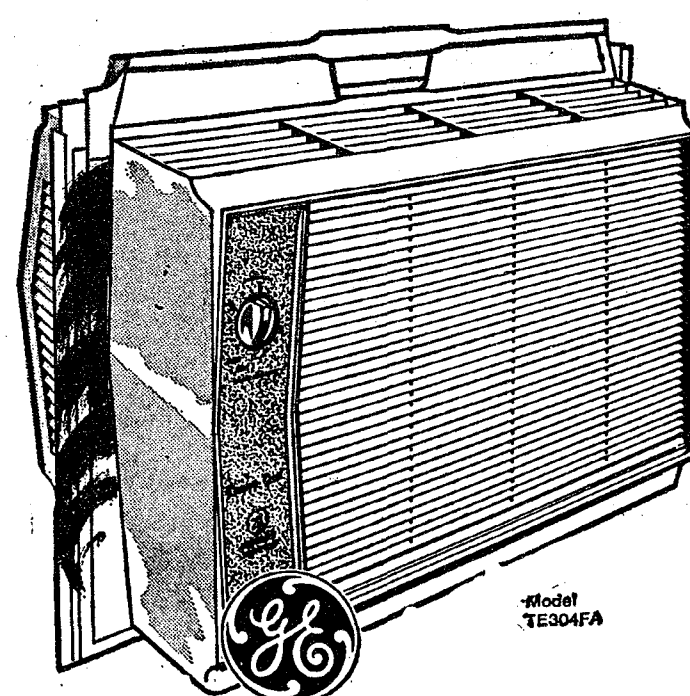

We highly recommend a two account savings program and will be happy to discuss the various options available to you.
