Planners Seek Co-Operation Between Units

The Chelsea Area Regional Planning Committee opened its monthly meeting Sept. 7, with a discussion of a communication problem. James Liebeck said existing townships and the village of Chelsea.

Liebeck said he was not opposed to the specific issue, the annexation of a piece of township property by the village, but was concerned about the irregular boundaries that was being formed. He said the need for better co-operation between the local government.

Thomas Dmoch, speaking for the village, apologized for not contacting the township directly, stating that the case in question was public information, and the Chelsea Standard had published a notice of a public hearing.

Pennington explained the hearing procedure, and pointed out that this was the procedure that had followed. He also stated that the specific problem discussed was a boundary change and not a case of annexation.

Dmoch suggested that CARPC members become better informed of the procedural changes which involve annexation and boundaries. Ron Riethmiller suggested that become the topic for the meeting in November.

Walter Brown and Dmoch then presented a review of the recent planning efforts by the village, which began with the 1964, 1965, and 1966 planning programs. In June, 1969, Parkins, Rogers & Associates completed a comprehensive development plan for Chelsea, which is based on the population forecast of 6,000 for 1990.

Because of Chelsea's strategic location and its accessibility to road transportation routes, the village can expect economic growth, according to the planners. Now housing is a need and there is potential for an industrial park.

One major problem, in spite of the beautiful natural environment, is the slow drainage of ground water.

Almost all housing units are single family dwellings, the report said, and the amount of land devoted to general business and industry is more extensive than normally anticipated in a community of this size. Some conflicting land use occurs north of the railroad and west of N. Main St., where residential and industrial uses are mixed.

The Parkins-Rogers plan suggests more parking space behind the central business district, multiple family housing in areas on the south and west sides of the village, and industrial expansion to the northwest of the central business district be considered.

The report concluded that public facilities are adequate to meet existing needs, but in the future a new elementary school and a new playground for the school, tot lots, a swimming pool, an ice skating rink, an expansion of Pierce Park, and water and sewer improvements would be desirable additions.

Dmoch, also speaking for the village, discussed the ordinances of 1966 and the 1970 subdivision ordinance which makes provisions for open spaces.

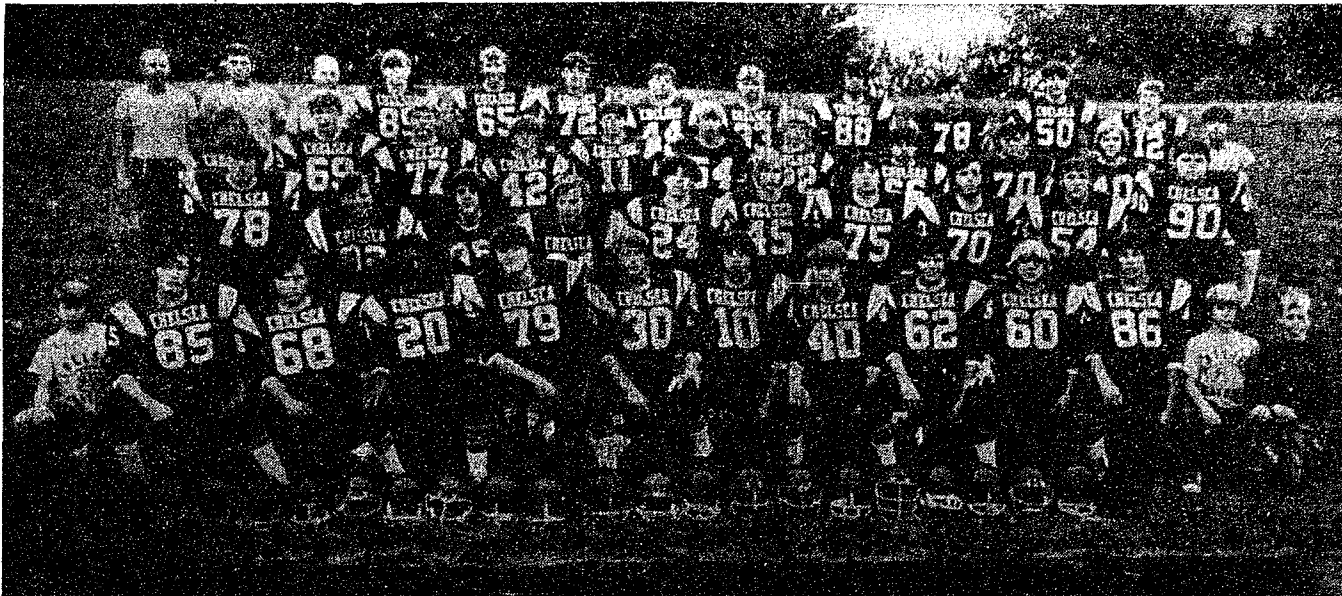

Dmoch stated that some public services are out-dated, although some progress is being made in rectifying these problems. An example of progress is the recently completed rewiring of the village primary electric system.

In the near future, the village must consider an additional water supply. Such needs are curtailing the orderly growth of Chelsea, Dmoch said. He went on to say that improvements of certain public facilities are slow in coming because of slow administrative approval by the state.

Dmoch hopes the village will revise and improve upon the Parkins-Rogers plan.

Liebeck presented an abbreviated report of the current status of the Sylvan township planning efforts, since the Chelsea presentation had been exceptionally long.

OFF TO FAST START: Chelsea High school varsity football team is well aware of the fact that every team they meet will be out to dethrone them from their position as defending Southeast Conference champs in 1971 and a No. 1 Class B ranking in the final Associated Press poll. Members of the varsity team are, front row, left to right, Dave Leach, trainer; Steve Bergman, Ron Adams, Bruce Guster, Jeff Schmidt, Tim Lancaster, captain; John Mann, captain; Keith Hume, Dan Houle, Mike Merkel, Jeff Van Riper, Jim Leach and Mike Bareis, managers. Gridders Open Season with Win

The season football opener was a real dog fight as Chelsea Bulldogs scrapped with Mason High Bulldogs on Chelsea's home ground and came away with the bone, winning, 10-0, Friday, Sept. 15.

The first whiff of victory came in the first period when halfback Bruce Guster intercepted a pass and started Chelsea's drive home. Bill Harrison kicked a 23-yard field goal to give the blue and gold team a three-point edge.

Throughout the first half, Chelsea's tight defense kept Mason at bay. The offense moved the ball fairly well but continually bogged down near the goal.

The second half exploded with a kick-off to Mason which was returned to Chelsea's three-yard line. Chelsea held the line. End Jeff Van Riper broke the deadlock by retrieving a Mason fumble.

With the ball in their possession, Chelsea inched back up the field and had to punt on the fourth down. Once again Mason was knocking on their door, having returned the ball to Chelsea's nine-yard line.

Another fumble, a result of Rick Miller's tackle, was recovered by guard Steve Bergman, and the ball was once again Chelsea's.

The game continued to be a defensive battle with neither side scoring until the fourth quarter.

On a third down, captain John Mann, the quarterback, fired one off to halfback Jeff Marshall for a 68-yard touchdown play. Bill Harrison booted the extra point to round off the score at 10-0.

Chelsea's offense accumulated 260 yards, losing 10 through penalties. Bruce Guster, the leading rusher, bulldozed through the Mason line, picking up 97 yards. Tim Lancaster racked up 43 yards, with John Mann almost equalling him with 42 yards.

Tenacious blocking by guard Ron Adams, tackle Howard Haselschwardt, center Randy Young, and end Mike Nadeau kept the Mason line at a distance.

Rick Miller led the defense with eight crushing tackles. Jeff Van Riper brought down six men, and Dan Houle tackled seven.

Coach Phil Bareis was satisfied with the team's performance on the whole. "We've improved since the scrimmage a week ago but, of course, our offense still needs work." The coach is looking forward to Friday, Sept. 22, when Chelsea meets Dexter at home.

Mason and Chelsea had not clashed for years, so the teams did not know what to expect. Halfback Bruce Guster said, "They weren't as tough as we'd expected."

Wallace Woods Find Polish People Friendly to Americans

Before Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wood landed in Warsaw they were excited and a bit apprehensive. How would it be behind the Iron Curtain? How would they hurdle the language barrier? How would they recognize relatives they had never seen?

The latter question was quickly answered when Mrs. Wood's two aunts and uncle greeted them with bouquets of roses, their faces alight with welcome. "They weren't hard to spot," Wood explained, "Warsaw airport is nothing like Metropolitan."

The Woods' Polish relatives were eager to see their American guests but they were also a bit frightened by the big city of Warsaw, which they were seeing for the first time.

Communication proved to be no problem. Although Mrs. Wood hadn't spoken Polish for 20 years, it came flowing back to her. "She's a marvel," Wood said.

The Woods traveled with their hosts by train, because few people own cars, to Olecko where Mrs. Wood's uncle owns a farm. It was difficult for Wood to determine the acreage because there are no fences. "It's about 50 acres," he said.

"It is not like a Michigan farm. There's not nearly the machinery. He owns one horse," explained Wood. The main crops are hay, sugar beets, and wheat.

There was a time when taxes in Poland were paid with crops, which was a hardship in lean years. Now the government accepts money.

The next stop was the home of Mrs. Wood's aunts in Filipow, a small town on the northeastern border. Behind the house, the Woods saw World War II bunkers.

Anti-German feeling is still strong in Poland. "I heard war stories I wouldn't want to repeat," said Wood.

The Woods continued their travels through Poland with a 10-day tour sponsored by Orbis, the official agency. It is much easier to get a visa when travelers join such a tour group.

The tour director, a 32-year-old interpreter at the American consulate, spoke perfect English to the Woods, and French to the other five members of the group, four of whom were French teachers.

From Warsaw they headed south to Zakopane, a small resort town, and on to Oswiecim, where they spent a day visiting a concentration camp from World War II.

Later they visited another camp in the eastern part of Poland which "was even worse," Wood said. "There they gassed all prisoners."

To get an inside view of Poland, the group went 700 feet underground in the salt mines of Wieliczka. They differed from Detroit salt mines that Wood had visited because they employed a hydraulic, rather than a manual system. The salt is extracted by distillation.

The Woods discovered that it is an advantage to be an American in Poland. "When people found out we were Americans, they were very friendly," Wood found the people "closed-mouthed" about the relationship with Russia.

The Woods did not feel at all restricted once they were in Poland. At night the tour group voted to decide the evening's activities. "We could do whatever we liked."

They noticed that the Polish people were also free to come and go as they wished, but that money for travel was scarce. "We met an attorney there who only earns the equivalent of $80 a month."

The tour guide said a Fiat, which would cost an American $1,200 in Poland, costs a Pole the equivalent of $6,000.

In Warsaw modern apartments are "going up like mad," Wood said. Workers are busy two shifts a day, but the waiting list remains three years long.

It is not unusual for newly-married couples to live with their parents while they wait years for their own place.

Warsaw, which has been reconstructed to look like it did before it was destroyed in the war, was interesting, the Woods thought, but it was the countryside that captured their hearts.

When asked if they planned to go back, Wood replied, "Well, it took us 33 years of married life to get there. I guess in another 33 years well try to go again."

Unfair Labor Practice Claim Filed By CEA

Unfair Labor Practice charges were filed by the Chelsea Education Association with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) against the Board of Education on Friday, Sept. 15.

The Chelsea Association alleges that the board has engaged in coercive and unfair tactics designed to by-pass the collective negotiations process. The Association feels this is a denial of legal rights as specified in the Michigan Public Employee Relations Act of 1965.

The CEA has requested that MERC establish a date for the hearing of the alleged charges as soon as possible.

The Association has also petitioned MERC for the appointment of a fact-finder in an effort to resolve the present impasse. Fact-finding is a procedure provided for by law in which public employee differences may be settled without disruption.

In fact-finding, a third neutral person (appointed by MERC) reviews the facts and issues non-binding recommendations. These recommendations are based upon evidence presented by the two contending parties and hopefully will serve as a basis for reaching settlement.

Board of Education president William F. Storey issued the following statement Tuesday:

"The Board of Education has received no recent notification from the CEA as to its present position on the 1972-73 contract. The CEA has indicated that it will be requesting the institution of fact-finding procedures. However, the board is concerned that the process of collective bargaining is not also being actively pursued."

"Any proposals, offers, or negotiations which the CEA may wish to tender will be received and considered by the board. We will remain flexible and wish to continue negotiations with the CEA at the earliest opportunity convenient to both parties."

Faith Lutheran Wil Dedicate New Church

After 28 years of worshipping in an old church and then a small chapel, the congregation of Faith Evangelical Lutheran church will joyfully dedicate their new house of worship on Sunday, Sept. 24, at 3 p.m.

The new two-level structure at 9575 North Territorial Rd., seats about 215 in the nave of the church. Built at an actual cost of about $125,000, its true value is nearly $145,000 because members of the congregation built all the chancel furniture; did all the painting and staining; did the finish landscaping and seeding; built the cabinets; obtained the pews, refinished, fitted and installed them; built the chancel platform; and donated the well and many other necessary items.

At 10 a.m. on Sunday, the congregation will hold a single, final service with Holy Communion in their old chapel on Baker Rd., which has served them well but has become too small to hold them now.

In the afternoon, the dedication service will begin with a trumpet call and door opening ceremony in the front of the new building. The congregation will then enter, following the pastors and councilmen.

Guest speaker for the occasion is the Rev. Daniel Gieschen of Adrian, chairman of the Michigan District Mission Board of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod. Liturgist for the ceremony is the Rev. John Huebner, pastor of the congregation.

Following the service, ladies of the congregation will serve a buffet supper. All are invited to attend.

Open House Will Mark Hunt, Fish Day

The Chelsea Rod and Gun Club will celebrate Hunting and Fishing Day, which Village President A. E. MacFalls has proclaimed to be the fourth Saturday of each September, with an open house at 7103 Lingane Rd., from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Trap shooting and tours through the 62 acres of club-owned land will keep some of the participants busy while others view the guns and recreational vehicles on display.

There will be talks and demonstrations concerning hunter safety and shell loading. Fishing and archery demonstrations will also be featured.

The club is worthy of this day of recognition because of its conservation projects over the years. Club president John Jones said the club has planted as many as 4,000 pine trees a year. The club maintains a picnic area, and is responsible for 2,000 acres of leased land under its hunting and game management program.

Ron Satterthwaite, Hunt and Fishing Day chairman, hopes that all hunters, fishermen, conservationists, ecologists, and people interested in recreation will join the club for the day's activities.

They are taking a hard look at the facts in the budget book, as visions of tennis courts dance in their heads.

Recreation Council Plans Expanded Program in Future

Here's good news for the baseball fans who hate to see gloomy fall evenings cutting into their game time. The baseball field is now equipped with lights, thanks to the Chelsea Recreation Council, so they can ignore the football season and play into the night.

The council has been doing good work, like providing the lights, for years, but it still has plenty to do, according to newly installed president Bruce Galbraith. With the help of vice-president Ann Schaffner, secretary Tony Bower, and treasurer Virginia Johnson, Galbraith hopes to turn what was a fairly informal operation into an organization that can give Chelsea a truly outstanding recreational program.

Galbraith hates to think of Chelsea residents traveling to Ann Arbor for recreation they could have at home.

The council, which includes the officers and two representa-

Hip Injury Puts J. Daniels Out for Season

Senior Jeff Daniels, one of Chelsea High's football team tri-captains, has been benched, perhaps for the entire season, by a recurring hip injury.

During practice Sept. 12, while Daniels was running through the last drill, the pain struck. There had been no contact with other players at that time. All it took was a quick pivot and Daniels was down with a fracture of the hip.

Such a fracture occurs when there is tremendous strain on the bone by the muscles. When the strain becomes too great for the bone, the muscles pull and rip a bit of the bone apart.

Daniels has suffered three fractures of the hip, this being the second on the right hip. Just last season Daniel retired from the basketball court with a similar injury in his leg.

The healing time for fractures is long. Neither traction nor a cast helps, so it is unlikely that Daniels will soon be back in the Bulldog line-up. His participation in basketball is also in question.

Daniels began recovery in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor Wednesday, Sept. 13, and stayed through Monday, Sept. 18. Doctors predict that he will be on crutches for four to five weeks.

A BIG WELCOME HOME sign greeted Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wood when they returned from a tour through Poland with boxes full of memories. Wood will soon be sharing his slides with the Kiwanis Club.

THE LANSING REPORT

GIL BURSLEY

I have received a great many questions about the Vietnam veterans bonus bonding proposal that will be on the general election ballot this coming November.

This ballot question, if approved by the voters, will authorize the state of Michigan to issue $200 million in bonds to provide veterans bonuses for educational benefits.

"Combat veterans"—those who are eligible to wear the Vietnam Service Medal or Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal—will be entitled to a $500 bonus.

Other veterans—defined as all who completed at least 180 days of honorable service after Jan. 1, 1961—will be entitled to a bonus of $15 per month of service up to a maximum of $360. If eligible veterans are deceased, payment will be made to their beneficiaries. Both combat veterans and other veterans will also be entitled to receive educational benefits of up to $500 per year for four years for tuition, fees and books at any accredited school.

Children of combat veterans listed as prisoners of war or missing in action will be entitled to receive the same educational benefits.

The cash benefits received by any veteran would be deducted from the educational allowances they receive.

These are the basic facts about the veterans bonus proposal that will be on the ballot this November. If any citizen has any further questions as to specific details, I would be happy to have them contact my office.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Zeke Grubb told the fellers at the country store Saturday night he has studied the situation up one side and down the other, and that this country reminds him of the feller that had been hit by a car and was laying in the street drawing his last breaths. A preacher was called to comfort the dying man, and the preacher bent over him and ask if the pore feller renounced the devil and all his works. The feller thought it over and said, "at this stage of the game, I don't want to make no enemies."

Zeke said it looks to him like this country is having as hard a time as that feller making up her mind which way to go. Furthermore, we can't even tell which way is which, went on Zeke. He said he was of the opinion that holding elections was about like wearing a assed-it bag around yore neck or carrying a four leaf clover in the back of yore watch. We don't know they'll do any good, but we don't know they won't, either.

What got Zeke looking on the dark side of everything was this piece, he had saw where we're bringing in pore younguns from other countries to show em our high standard of living, and we're taking younguns in this country on tours of Europe and Africa at taxpayers' expense. Zeke said that does it get more public money into the airlines that already is operating with more Government help than we can afford. Zeke said he saw where a antipoverty office in New Jersey spent $60,000 this summer to send pore younguns overseas for the "valuable experience," and it turned out the average income of the families of them kids was between $10,000 and $15,000 a year.

Actual, declared Zeke, the hole system is feeding off itself, and its bound to eat itself up. If them pore kids from other countries like what they see here, Zeke said, we are supposed to give it to em. Zeke said experience ought to be a good teacher, but we ain't learned a thing from giving money away. All our foreign friends turn on us when the money stops, and it allus winds up Uncle Sam again everybody. Zeke said it's just as easy to keep that match up without foreign aid as with it.

Ed Donlittle was agreed with Zeke. Ed said he saw where the Department of Health, Education and Welfare had paid $23,000 for a study on why kids fall off tricycles. All that research done, said experience ought to be a good allowed Ed, was give a good income to some feller with too much education to hold down a job. They ain't no end to the things that can be researched, Ed went on, and the need to research em allus increases according to the money assigned to it.

Personal, Mister Editor, I ain't surprised at anything that goes on in Washington, but any country that builds sandboxes and fake fireplaces for pets at interstate highway rest stops can't be all bad.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Home for Women Prisoners

One need remains dramatically unfulfilled despite all the building the state has done in recent years. Michigan has no facility to house women prisoners.

Instead, it pays the city of Detroit $9.50 a day per prisoner so the city can keep about 250 women convicts now in state custody in the Detroit House of Corrections, known as DeHoCo.

For years, state corrections officials have argued for a state owned facility for women prisoners. Construction actually began on a facility for women back in the 1920's in Meridian township east of Lansing. Progress only reached the point that a foundation was built.

Then the legislature decided it didn't have the money to finish it and the foundation was all that was ever completed.

One reason for the lack of a women's facility is the relatively small number of women convicts. There are more than 9,500 men in the various state correctional institutions now, compared to the 250 or so women. This might result because women are more law abiding or because judges are more tender with what used to be known as the weaker sex.

One sparkplug for a suitable state institution for women is Mrs. Florence Crane, chairman of the Michigan Corrections Commission.

"The history of this state's plan to build a facility for women state prisoners has been one of indecision and expediency in spite of the long-demonstrated need for such an institution," she states.

"Mrs. Crane says Michigan has 'largely ignored the needs of female prisoners for more than a century.' 'If there is any validity to the alarmed cries today for prison reform, then this project—which has been high on our priority list for many years—deserves immediate attention and adequate financing now,' she continues.

"Our desire is not simply to build an attractive new facility in which we would just be able to house state women prisoners, but to begin to fulfill our long-ignored responsibility to such prisoners in terms of programs, rehabilitation, and providing the same kinds of correctional assistance which is now available to male inmates."

The Corrections Department already has a good idea what it needs if the money becomes available.

Few women prisoners need maximum security detention. As a result, the department recommends a fenced facility with single story cottages and room for counseling, dining and other daytime activities.

A general education program would be operated in conjunction with the local school district. Courses would involve both general education and business skills.

Planners Seek Co-Operation...

Ordinances were first established in 1953 and improved upon in 1958 with the aid of the Washtenaw County Planning Commission. In 1960, an interim zoning ordinance was made permanent. During May 1969, the township developed a Planning Commission which will review plans for structures that might have significant impact on natural resources, traffic patterns, on adjacent land usage, and on future urban development.

Liebeck emphasized that the general development plan is a policy statement, not a zoning map, which establishes by law specific land uses and designated boundaries.

A zoning map is closely related to the existing land use plan, however. The land use plan is a projection of the community of the future, and serves as a framework within which discussion relating to development can be made realistically.

It was decided that there would be periodic reviews of the planning efforts.

Just before the meeting was adjourned until Oct. 5, Brown explained he could no longer serve as a ACRC member because of other obligations.

Requests Due Sept. 22 On Proven Wheat Yields

Raymond Girbach, chairman of the Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee announces that the basic provisions for proven wheat yields are continued under the Agriculture Act of 1970.

A producer may elect to establish yield for his farm based on actual production rather than use a yield established by the County Committee on a judgment basis only. The base period for establishing 1973 farm yields is 1969, 1970 and 1971.

To prove a yield, a producer must have produced wheat on the farm in each of these three years and be able to provide reliable proof of production. In order to assure consideration, a written request must be filed by Sept. 22.

Gridders of the Week

JV Gridders Lose, 12-0, To Mason

Mason High's junior varsity rolled over Chelsea, 12-0, in the first game of the season Saturday morning, Sept. 16.

During the first quarter, Chelsea's defense pushed Mason back 16 yards, while gaining 31 yards for their side.

Mason sprang to life in the second quarter, gaining 56 yards. The turning point was a pass interference penalty against Chelsea that gave Mason a first down on the eight-yard line. Mason ran it over on the first play to rack up six points.

Chelsea opened the second half with promise by returning the kick-off to Mason's 30-yard line, only to bog down. The quarter fizzled without a score.

Mason was hot again in the fourth. They connected with two passes for a total of 29 yards and a touchdown. They muffed the extra point pass attempt, leaving the score 12-0.

Two pass interference calls against Chelsea were very costly. The defense, led by Roger Stewart, with able assistance from Steve Figg, Jack Hackworth, Ron Kiel, and Gregg McClain, worked well throughout the game. Mason had to struggle to accumulate 22 yards rushing.

Perry Johnson plowed through Mason's line for 64 yards, more than half of Chelsea's total offense.

The team has been working hard on offense this week to prepare for the battle at Dexter, today.

Frosh Grid Team Blanked By Brighton

Brighton blanked Chelsea's freshman, 29-0, kicking off the season Monday, Sept. 18. Brighton remains undefeated, a record they have held for two years.

Chelsea's starting drive stalled deep in Brighton territory, and they could not get their machine going after that. Brighton capitalized on Chelsea's fumbles to lead at half-time, 22-0.

There was a sputter of hope in the beginning of the second half when Chelsea mounted an attack which left them primed on the Brighton three-yard line. Dave Murphy ran the ball over only to have the touchdown nullified by a penalty.

Chelsea tried again but Brighton recovered a fumble on the one-yard line and Brighton ran it back, changing the score up to 29-0.

Chelsea threatened again late in the game when a 30-yard dash on a fake punt by John Collins pushed the ball to the Brighton 25.

This drive broke down with a 15-yard penalty and an interception.

Among Chelsea's effective spark plugs were Dave Murphy who blasted through for nearly 100 yards, Don Sullivan who blocked very well in spite of a recent injury, and Dave Fletcher at end.

Upcoming freshman games will be on Wednesdays, the next being Sept. 27 at home against Saline.

JOHN MANN, a tri-captain and quarterback, played football since 7th grade. He has been baseball and basketball player for Chelsea High, and swims and golfs on his own time. Next year will be college bound, but right now he's looking forward to defeating Dexter. "We'll be able to handle them," he says.

TRI-CAPTAIN TIM LANCASTER (30) is a veteran on the football field who first broke in his cleats in 7th grade. When not on the turf, he's a pole vaulter, and wrestler, depending on the season. He likes both snow and water skiing and golfing. About the Dexter game, Tim says, "I can't say I know we'll beat them, but of course I think so. We'll just have to go out and play our game."

Adult Education Program Suspended

The Dexter Community Continuing Education (DCE) program will not be held in the Dexter school system this fall, says Dr. Norman Wilner, a member of the DCE board of directors.

He attributes the suspension of the program to dwindling area participation caused by competing programs in Ann Arbor and the surrounding area.

Is Property Selling? That's a question we are asked almost everyday. Frankly, the way a property "moves" when it is offered for sale depends a lot on how it is handled. For this reason, when you are buying or selling we suggest you give us a call. We are old enough to be experienced... young enough to be aggressive... large enough to be efficient... small enough to be personalized. Call Nicki Noel at 761-3515 or Ellis Pratt at 428-8046.

THANK YOU

I want to thank my friends and relatives for cards, visits, flowers, gifts, food, prayers and best wishes when I was in the hospital and since my return home. Thanks also to the Rev. Weeks for his calls and prayers, and Dr. Riley, nurses, and aides at Mercy Hospital. God bless you.

Claribel Kniss.

THANK YOU

Thank you seems so small to say for the feeling I have for all my relatives, friends and neighbors who were so good to me while I was in the hospital and since my return home. The flowers, gifts and cards were just beautiful. And I thank you all for the phone calls and visits. It means a lot to know you care.

Mary Parsons.

TROOP 69

Brownie Troop 69 held its first meeting Monday Sept. 18, at 3:30 in the Congregational church.

The strangeness of being a new brownie disappeared quickly with game playing and a troop birthday party. There was a flag ceremony and games.

The troop also listened to a record about brownies.

Earle, Ark — Daniel Deoca, 38, of Memphis was arrested just before he reached the engine of a freight train he planned to hijack. Deoca said he was "going to take the train to California."

Boy Scout Troop 476 Awards Given

Hard work paid off for the boys of Chelsea Scout Troop 476 who basked in the limelight of Awards Night, Sept. 18 at South school.

Troop leader Charles Stoner presided while Duane Hall and William Kalmbach presented the awards, many of which were earned during the summer days at Bruin Lake Boy Scout Camp.

After a flag opening and an introduction of the committee, Leon Wheeler officially became a tenderfoot in recognition of his mastery of the Scout Oath, the 12 Scout Laws, and the history of the flag. He also passed a knot tying test.

Steve Blaess earned the rank of second class after making three five-mile hikes and identifying animals and their trails. Doug Kalmbach, Dan Cobb and Jim Stahl achieved first class standing because of their survival skills.

Bob Burgess and Dennis Cosgrove are now Star scouts. They each have completed five badges, one community service, and one conservation service to merit this standing.

Mike Stoner, Don Hall and Robert Burgess will be handy around the campfire now that they have the cooking merit badge.

Don Oesterle received the merit badge for canoeing, while Peter Stahl and Dennis Cosgrove took waterskiing badges. Merit badges for the mile swim now belong to Doug Eisele, Mike Stoner, and Doug Wetzel.

For one year of service, Jon Oesterle and Steve Blaess earned service pins. Bob Burgess, Doug Eisele, Mark Kern, Don Hall, Larry Hafner, and David Wetzel all took home two-year service pins.

Three-yearers are Dan Cobb, Mike Stoner, and Mike Schanz. Bill Kalmbach and Steve Schanz earned six-year service pins, while Lee Hafner is the senior member with six years to his credit.

The last honor of the evening was received by Don Oesterle as he was taken into the Order of the Arrow Brotherhood.

A flag opening and closing was performed by the troop, led by Steve Schanz, senior patrol leader.

After the Court of Honor came to a close, the troop watched a film of the National Jamboree, and the mothers served donuts and coffee.

It's a poor brain that has to be fired by alcohol before it can function.

Wayne Police Nab Youth Admitting B&E at Mobil Station

Chelsea police closed the books Sept. 19 on the breaking and entering case that occurred at the Mobil gas station on I-94 and M-52 last July 22.

The culprit admitted the deed to Wayne County detective Sgt. Smith Sept. 18 after the 16-year-old was caught in the act of another breaking and entering attempt in Wayne.

The boy had stolen $166.50 and a case of Coca-Cola in cans when he broke into the Chelsea station last summer. At that time the boy lived in Ann Arbor. He is currently a resident of Westland.

They arrived in ttle Bavarian village, Kiet kl, in time to see a young proudly bearing the ic torch on his way to a, 50 miles distant. The village turned out to cheer with songs and fireworks, ough it was 3 a.m.

men, Shadoan, Papo, Eisd Vandervoort arrived lat-downtown Munich, two of without reservations. They fortunate to find hotel acations in spite of the s of visitors. The games opened with Mrs. Steger calls, "one of veliest events have ever the Stegers, and the res commuted daily by se almost all of the track id events, and some swim-

Stegers were in the stands y two Americans, Vincent ws and Wayne Collett, ed and chatted through nican anthem after win-he 400 meter competition, yone was embarrassed by actions," said Steger, "Es- y the Germans."

Vandervoort said that he and his companions saw soccer, track, wrestling, and equestrian events during their 10-day stay by buying tickets on the streets. It was also on the street that they first met the accomodating Moshe Weinburg, who made it possible for the Chelsea men to visit Olympic Village.

The Israeli coach got the group passes to the village so that Gilbert Frimet, attorney for the Chelsea Clinic could deliver a message to Mark Slavin of the Israeli wrestling team.

Although Mark, an 18-year-old who has just this year managed to immigrate from Russia, was not there, the Chelsea men spent Monday, Sept. 4, the day before the massacre in 31 Connolly Strasse meeting the members of the team.

The lovely architecture and facilities impressed the men as they observed the athletes play shuffle board and watch television. "It was very relaxed there," Vandervoort said.

They also glimpsed Kirk Douglas playing ping pong. They made plans with Coach Weinburg to meet at the wrestling arena where Mark was to compete the following morning. The Israelis never kept that date.

On that bloody Tuesday the Stegers and the Kuesches were in their peaceful village when they heard the news. The men who were staying in Munich went to the Olympic hill, which is made out of the rubble from World War II, to watch the drama on Connolly Strasse.

Dr. Papo recalls, "It was a complete turn around. The 'Gemutlichkeit' had disappeared." He remembers "It was shocking to be with all those people not saying anything."

The dramatic change the Arab terrorists had brought continued into the night when Dr. Papo noticed, "You didn't see people in the night spots. It was not the same city."

They went to bed at 3 a.m., German time, believing the rum- or that all hostages had been saved. They woke the next day to German headlines, "The World Grieves," and "Muencheners Cry."

The Stegers, Dr. Papo, and Mr. Vandervoort agree that the Olympics should have resumed after the day of mourning, but, as Dr. Papo said, "The competition wasn't joyous anymore."

"Especially the Germans felt real bad about the murders," Vandervoort said. Dr. Papo tells of two German acquaintances who were to come in from Frankfurt to see the Chelsea doctors that called to say they were too ashamed to come.

They were urged to come, and finally did.

Dr. Papo feels that if the security was inadequate it was because the Germans were trying to avoid any hint of the militarism that stained the last German Olympics. He points out that it was extremely difficult to get into Olympic Village legally. Unfortunately the wire fence was not much of a deterrent for those desiring illegal entry. The Germans took a gamble Vandervoort admits.

Dr. Papo suggests that the Israelis might have known better. They originally wanted to bring their own security but decided not to when the Germans assured them that "they would take care of it."

In spite of the tragedy, the Chelsea travelers echo Dr. Papo's feeling that "The friendliness of the Bavarians is unsurpassed in the world."

Vandervoort recalls the international camaraderie in the Hofbrau Haus. "Everybody in Munich was friendly."

On their way home, the Stegers learned one more thing. "We will never again try to fly home the day after the games," said Mrs. Steger. It took them two days because of the crowds and the strict security checks. They were searched twice before flying out of Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weber, and Mr. and Mrs. Hans Grossman joined the Stegers and the Kuesches for a day of Olympic sights while on a tour through Germany.

The Stegers spent a particularly memorable evening with the Mayor and groups of traditional German singers in their little village.

No teacher can do much with the brain of a student who doesn't want to learn.

Federated Women's Officers Entertained

There was plenty of salad munching Monday, Sept. 18, when the Federation of Women's Clubs Board of Directors entertained the presidents of member clubs at Millan Community House.

Board members served salad, creations of their own making at the 12:30 meeting.

After lunch, Mrs. Wilson Scott, an expert on antiques, displayed and explained a collection of glassware, vases and figurines.

Mrs. Walter Bullock of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Laurence Ward of Milan, and Mrs. Karleton Heilbronn were responsible for the arrangements and decorations which added the flavor of fall. Mrs. E. L. Free-land, president of Milan Women's Club and the board members were the hostesses.

Past Noble Grands

Mrs. Nina Lehmann, with the help of Mrs. Velma Wolfe, entertained the Past Noble Grand club of Chelsea Rebekah Lodge No. 130 on Sept. 14, at her home.

The eleven members attending and Miss Nadine Packard, the present Noble Grand, dined on cheesecake and played bingo. Mrs. Ann Coltre received a birthday wish in song.

Lodge members, Mrs. Ross Munro and Mrs. Wilbert Breitenwisher and their husbands will celebrate 50th wedding anniversaries in October. There will be a card shower planned for them.

Mrs. Gladys Breitenwisher could not attend because she was at the Medical Center. There was good news that Mrs. Helen French had been released from the hospital on Wednesday, Sept. 13, but that Mrs. Josephine Hochrein remained in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for the eighth week.

Mrs. Edith Hoffman won the door prize.

Members will don Halloween costumes for the gathering Oct. 24 at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Hale. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Alice Gilson.

Camera Club

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sooy treated the Chelsea Camera Club to the slides and narration of Mr. and Mrs. William Brodich's Holy Land tour at the monthly meeting, Tuesday Sept. 19 in Sylvan Town Hall.

The Brodichs, from Homer, had the opportunity to see places from which many tourists are barred because they were traveling with Mrs. Brodich's brother, a minister on a preaching mission in the area. Their contacts in the various congregations took them to beautiful places known best to the natives. Mrs. Brodich's command of the Bible history and geography made her narration very informative.

ESTES GOUDREAU: Miss Evelyn Estes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Erskine, and Dennis Goudreau of Farmington township plan a winter wedding. The couple is engaged to be married in Chelsea at the First United Methodist church on Jan. 6. After graduating from Chelsea High in 1968, the bride-elect went on to Eastern Michigan University to study elementary education. While there, she met her fiance who was studying business administration. He is now working in Livonia. The couple hopes to return to school after their marriage to complete their respective degrees. The bride-elect's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keil, are also from Chelsea.

Older Adult Group

The first Older Adult Group meeting of the fall drew 25 members and friends to the Methodist church Sept. 16 at noon.

The gathering began with devotions led by Edna Adam in the absence of President Elsa Paul. During a short business meeting the members arranged to have all their organizational needs met by volunteers who will serve until January.

Members were urged to note the new day and meeting time, Thursday at noon, on their calendars, since there will be no telephone calls to remind them.

The group now has an idea-box set up so that members may contribute suggestions.

Winifred Coffron, the founder of the group, received a warm thank you for her 11 years of service.

The group's next monthly meeting will be Oct. 19 at noon at the First United Methodist church.

Jaycee Auxiliary Collecting Stamps For Prison Project

President of the Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary, Judy Eubanks, opened the Sept. 19 meeting at the home of Sandy Brown with an explanation of the flag set, a gift from past-president David Rowe in appreciation of the auxiliary's assistance last year.

As a result of the Mental Health Program, the State Hospital received a large truck load of clothes. Sue Cail, S.M.P. cancelled stamp chairman, reported that a large number of stamps will soon be delivered to Jackson prison. The collection box will be relocated in the Chelsea Drug store.

Members now have trick-or-treat candy from the Michigan Kidney Foundation to sell.

Members discussed the upcoming chicken barbecue, the Chelsea Welcome program, voter registration, the project of obtaining pens and stationery for De-Ho-Coettes, and the stationery packet sale. Many members signed up to drive for the Home Meals of Chelsea program, which they co-sponsored with United Church Women and the Chelsea Methodist Home. The meeting adjourned with a "Traveling to Florida" program.

Recreation Council Names New Officers

Chelsea Recreation Council kicked off their Sept. 11 meeting with a thank you to retiring members Dr. Gene Miller and Ron Kiel. Out-going president Miller received a special commendation.

Earl Heller also received a hearty pat on the back for his work on the new lights at the high school baseball field. The lights are up and paid for.

Work continues on the new Little League fields at South school. The council hopes this project will be completed this fall.

Members decided to hold their meetings on the first Tuesday of each month. They will gather in members' homes, but the meetings are still open to the public. Anyone who wishes to come should notify the host in advance. Ann Schaffner will have the council at her home for the next meeting, Tuesday Oct. 3.

Bruce Galbraith came away the new president with Ann Schaffner next in command. Tony Bowen became the new secretary. Virginia Johnson will handle the finances, as treasurer.

The meeting came to a close after a discussion of finances and long-range planning.

tives from the Village Council and a co-ordinator from the School Board, is necessarily restricted in its planning by its budget. Village Council hands over $4,500 plus a capital outlay grant every year which is added to $6,000 from the Community Chest. Participant fees add a bit more revenue but the council's policy is to keep fees as low as possible.

A dollar membership in last summer's program opened up swimming, afternoon playground activities, arts and crafts, summer movies, and tennis to Chelsea children. The boys could try their hand at T-ball, Little League, or Babe Ruth ball, depending on their age. The girls also had T-ball and softball teams.

Adults may take knitting, sewing, or karate classes, or meet at the gym for recreation nights to keep fit. In the coming year, Galbraith hopes to see more non-team activities developing, along the lines of the Christmas decoration "mini-course" which is planned for November.

Galbraith acknowledges that the success of the council's programs is often dependent on the staff that mans them. Arts and crafts, for example, bloomed the last few summers because of the creative touch of Judy Parker and Barbara Jean Wenk.

Ken Larson, recreation director, keeps busy setting up the varied programs and finds the competent people to make them a success.

The council's current project is the land grading by South school. Three new baseball fields will spring up there, which will relieve the traffic jam on the one official field that exists now.

Next year the council has grand plans to construct two tennis courts at the high school. This would allow Chelsea varsity tennis team to host matches on the four courts. Galbraith sees these plans materializing only if the community pitches in the way it did when the ice skating rink was built.

The ice rink is valued at about $10,000, but with the help of volunteers, especially Owen Loasby, it went up at a cost of $3,000.

The cost of the courts has been estimated at $10,000. Chelsea Child Study club has sent more than $500 from their funds. The council hopes others will follow suit.

Quietly, behind closed doors, Galbraith dreams of building a community swimming pool, and sprinkling the Chelsea area with neighborhood parks, but that is admittedly "future talk."

Right now the council is keeping the gym open at night, paying the rent on the senior citizen's Korner House, and providing the kids with Disney-type movies for a quarter. That's a start.

St. Thomas Lutheran Church Marking 130th Anniversary

St. Thomas Lutheran church, 10001 W. Ellsworth Rd., Ann Arbor, will celebrate the 130th anniversary of its founding during special services on Sunday, Sept. 24. Festival services will be held at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m., and a dinner for members and friends of the congregation will be held at noon.

Speaker at the morning service will be Pastor Richard L. Schlecht, president of the Michigan District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. Pastor Paul J. Foust, director of stewardship and evangelism for the district, will speak at the evening service.

The noon meal will attempt to recreate the menu and setting of a church dinner from 1842. In addition, a display featuring tools and utensils used by the pioneer residents of Freedom township has been organized. After the dinner, a historical song fest featuring songs from different periods of the church's history, and a slide presentation on the theme "The People of God at Work and Worship: St. Thomas Lutheran Church 1842," will highlight the congregation's afternoon program.

The public is invited to all the activities planned for the day.

St. Thomas was founded in 1842 by the pioneer Lutheran missionary Friedrich Schmid. Sent to the United States as the first missionary to America from the Basel Mission Institute, Pastor Schmid arrived in Detroit, Aug. 10, 1833. In a ministry extending over the next 50 years, he preached to the scattered settlements of Germans in such widely separated places as Ann Arbor, Monroe, Saginaw, Lansing, and Marshall, to name only a few. The enormity of Schmid's accomplishment is pointed out by the fact that Schmid was too poor to afford a horse during the first seven years of his ministry in America—his salary was $100 per year at a time when a bricklayer was receiving $1.50 per day and most of his journeys were made on foot.

Pastor Schmid was also active in starting mission work among the Indians of Michigan, and during the course of his ministry he regularly trained students for the Lutheran ministry in America. From his family of 12 children, some grandchildren and their descendants still live in the Ann Arbor area.

Other churches in area founded by Pastor Schmid include Bethlehem United Church of Christ and Zion Lutheran church in Ann Arbor; Bethel church (UCC) in Freedom township; Salem Lutheran church in Scott township; and other congregations in Saline, Bridgewater, Manchester and Chelsea.

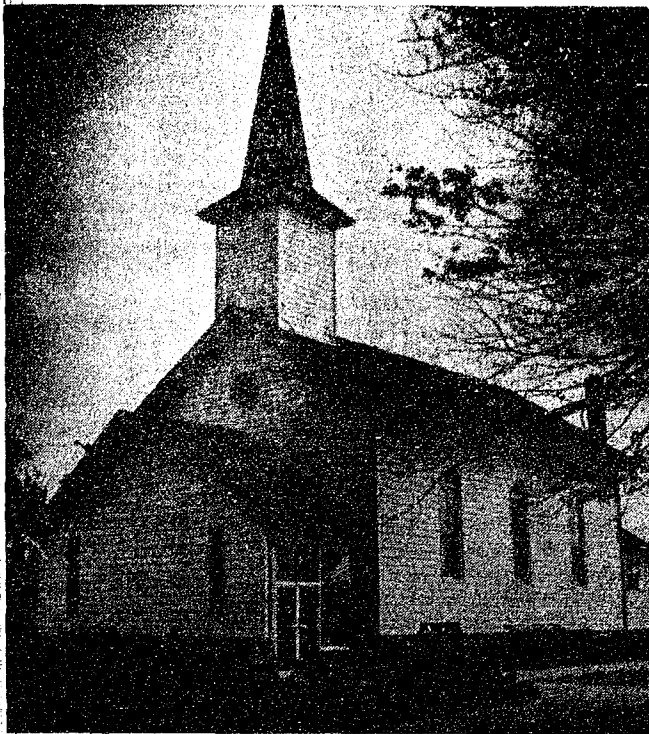

St. Thomas Lutheran, formerly known as "Thomaskirche," received its name from Thomas Roth, an early hunter and farmer, who donated the land on which the church building is located.

The congregation first worshiped in a log cabin built in 1843. This building served until 1874 when the present white frame structure was erected. The building was changed very little until 1963 when it was lifted on its foundations so that a basement, plumbing, and additional rooms at the front and rear of the church building could be added to accommodate the congregation's expanded activities.

In 1963 the congregation also became an official member of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. Although the congregation had been served by Lutheran pastors since its founding and by pastors of the Missouri Synod since the turn of the century, the congregation remained independent until 1963.

Since 1962 the congregation has been served by pastors of the Missouri Synod who have been engaged in graduate studies at the University of Michigan. Coincidentally, the three pastors since 1962 have been enrolled in the doctoral program in Old Testament studies in the University's Department of Near Eastern Languages and Literature. The congregation's present pastor, Daniel L. Mattson, has served the congregation since 1968.

The danger in ignorance is that so many have is without suspecting it.

SHE CARRIES HER AGE WELL: St. Thomas Evangelical Lutheran church at Ellsworth and Haab Rds., will commemorate its 130th year Sunday with special services.

Char Powers Finds Life in Greek Villages Interesting

For's Note: This is the latest of a series of letters from Char Powers, currently traveling in Greece.

Readers, the last month has been a big one, moving from place to place every few days. I've settled in the city of Thessalonika in northern Greece. In the past week I've lived with the director of Agriculture and his family. Their flat overlooks the sea. Every night around 5 or 6 p.m. we watch the boats go out to catch fish. Most small fishing operations have a large lead boat with three or four smaller boats tied behind. The small boats are the ones that throw out the nets and haul in fish. Early the next morning the boats return to port with fresh fish to sell to local merchants and the canning factory.

I had the opportunity to spend three days at the Agriculture Training Center near Kavala. 60 girls were brought in from nearby villages to attend seminars on chicken production. They attended lectures on the physiology of chickens, plus feeding and handling techniques. The training center's facilities are similar to a college dormitory with a cafeteria, recreation room, and flower gardens outside. This particular center also has a small (10'x8') church outside. It is customary among Greeks, especially those in small villages, to wear black if someone close to them dies. Many of the older women who have lost their husbands wear entirely black clothing for the rest of their lives. Other relatives, who are not so close, wear black for varying lengths of time, a year or less. Men in mourning will wear black arm bands in lieu of entirely dressing in black. Shopping is great here. If only I can resist the tempting items. Leather goods, like shoes and purses, are a real bargain. I did pick up some yarn at 60 cents a skein. Knitting needles are only 30 cents a pair.

It has really been a challenge trying to knit, especially since Greek women are such artists in the crafts of knitting, crocheting, and weaving. Every time a stitch even looks bad, my host mother makes me rip it out and start over. And I can't argue with her—I haven't learned those words in Greek.

Once Through Lightly In Cooking Vegetables College Representatives Will Meet with Students

Overcooking destroys the flavor in vegetables and releases strong-tasting by-products, warns Michigan marketing specialist Sheila Morley. Carrots, cauliflower and cabbage are especially susceptible to overcooking, Mrs. Morley says. The delicate flavor and crisp texture of oriental dishes may be attributed to almost undercooking the vegetables.

Albion college representatives will see interested parents and students Monday, Sept. 25 at 11 a.m. at the high school. Sept. 26 at 10:30 a representative from Michigan State University will meet with students and parents at the high school. Kalamazoo College representatives will meet with prospective students Oct. 3.

St. Louis School Notes

St. Louis school has welcomed two new staff members, Sisters Mary Giblin and Margaret Mazolini from the Order of Our Lady of Providence and most recently from St. Mary's school in Chicago. They have brought Miss Clare O'Sullivan, a long-time friend and work-mate, from Mt. St. Joseph's school, with them.

The three new staff members replace the Sisters of the Order of the Holy Family who have returned to Italy. Sister Uderica, who was with St. Louis school last year, transferred to a day nursery in Willis.

Two new student teachers, Mrs. Marsha Decoster of Grass Lake and Mrs. Debbie Carls from Ann Arbor, are finding their way around the school.

Parents and staff will share a pot-luck lunch at the school Oct. 1. Dr. Ellenon and staff from the children's hospital in Ann Arbor visited St. Louis and gave the boys tickets to the Michigan-Navy game. The boys can hardly wait to go. There is a movie and a field trip planned for the boys' week-end enjoyment.

PROCLAMATION

CHELSEA HUNTING AND FISHING DAY THE FOURTH SATURDAY OF EACH SEPTEMBER

Because of the outstanding contributions of American hunters and fishermen to recreation, conservation and the economy, they are deserving of special recognition.

Since the turn of the century, hunters and anglers have been the leaders in major conservation programs in our cities, states and Washington. These sportsmen-conservationists are responsible for the founding of state fish and game departments in all 50 states. They asked that they, themselves, be required to buy hunting and fishing licenses and that the money collected be used to support state conservation agencies. Hunters and fishermen asked for season and bag limits so that everyone would have a fair chance to harvest the annual crop of game and fish without damage to the basic breeding stock of any species. Further, sportsmen's programs have benefited hundreds of non-game fish and wildlife through habitat development.

Hunters and fishermen, unique in all America, asked that their fishing and hunting equipment be taxed and that the money be used for land acquisition, research and habitat management for fish and wildlife for the enjoyment of all Americans. Through their publications and organizations — such as the National Wildlife Federation, Ducks Unlimited, Izaak Walton League of America and many others — hunters and fishermen have led the nation in the battle for a better environment and the wise use of our natural resources.

Therefore, I, A. E. Fulks, President of the Village of Chelsea, do hereby proclaim Sept. 23, 1972, as Chelsea Hunting and Fishing Day and that this Day be an annual observance the fourth Saturday of each September. I urge all of our citizens to join with sportsmen-conservationists in a rededication to the wise use of our natural resources and their proper management for the benefit of future generations. Further, I urge all citizens to visit sportsmen's clubs on Sept. 23 Hunting and Fishing Day to learn more about conservation and outdoor skills.

Dated: Sept. 15, 1973.

A. E. Fulks
President, Village of Chelsea.

Art Steinway, was chairman of the event which saw chapters from Chelsea, Camden, Carleton, Leslie, Tecumseh, Reading, Saline, Hudson, Manchester, and Saline were in attendance. Walt Brown is National Director for Region J, one of 12 in Michigan, which includes approximately 20 chapters. Cross Country Team Wins First Meet Chelsea High's cross country team, in its second year as a varsity sport, and its first as a league sport, has stumbled two times on the rough road against more experienced teams, but won with an impressive 44:17 at Stockbridge.

In the opener at Manchester, Tuesday Sept. 12, the Manchester runners ran over the Chelsea men, 34:22. This was the first meet for all but one of the Chelsea team members.

Jim Storey led Chelsea's pack at fourth place with a time of 17 minutes and 39 seconds. Doug Schrotenboer edged into sixth with a time of 18 minutes, 14 seconds, with Dave Frame close on his heels, one second later.

Roger Boyer, the only returning runner from last year's team, came in eighth, 18 minutes and 23 seconds after the race started.

Although the boys have been practicing for three weeks, this was their first match. Manchester's top three men ran for that school last year.

With the Manchester experience behind them, Chelsea watched their Jim Storey break the tape at 18 minutes, 31 seconds, on the Inverness course, Thursday Sept. 14. Although they were on their own ground, a tougher course than Manchester's, the lack of experience once again took its toll, and Dexter took the meet, 35:20.

Robin Boyer crossed the wire in seventh place with a time of 20 minutes and one second. Eighth was Mark Heydlauff at twenty minutes, 19 seconds while Dave Frame breezed in six seconds later in the ninth slot. Craig Coltre's twenty minutes and 55 seconds earned tenth place.

Doug Schrotenboer pulled up half-way through the race with a muscle cramp and was carried off the course.

At the Stockbridge meet Tuesday, Sept. 19, Jim Storey once again shot across the line first with a time of 18 minutes and 32 seconds, but this time, his team was close behind.

Jim Storey, running officially for the first time, earned second with a time of 18 minutes and 52 seconds. Jeff Schrotenboer's third with 19 minutes and 12 seconds showed he was fully recovered from the cramps that had downed him during the Dexter meet.

Mark Scott, another man running for the first time, slipped in seven seconds later for a fourth. Two Stockbridge runners squeaked by before Tom Hepburn made seventh place with 19 minutes and 59 seconds in this his first race. Dave Frame was eighth at 20:16 with Mark Heydlauff in ninth place with 20:35.

The tenth position was also a Chelsea man, Craig Coltre who

Zion Lutheran Church Plans Mission Festival for Sunday

Zion Lutheran church will be the site of a mission festival on Sunday, Sept. 24 which will feature talks by Pastor and Mrs. Dennis Falk, who spent five years on the New Guinea mission front.

The festival will begin at 9 a.m. when Sunday school pupils of all ages meet for a slide presentation and talk given by the Falks. All lessons will be cancelled for that Sunday as the full hour will be devoted to the missionary team.

The festival worship service follows at 10:15 a.m. with Pastor Falk as guest preacher.

At noon, the congregation and guests will gather on the L. Koenigster lawn across from the Parish Hall for a pot-luck picnic. The meal will take place in the Parish Hall in case of bad weather.

Sunday school teachers will provide games for their classes while the adults take up Pastor John Morris's challenge to defeat him at horseshoes.

Pastor Falk will speak again at 3:30 p.m. when he will narrate a 20-minute home movie depicting life of New Guinea. Viewers will see New Guinea homes, dress, customs, and a baptismal rite. Pastor Falk will also show many native items and answer questions.

Zion Lutheran church will give the mission festival offerings, which are earmarked for benevolent work in world missions, to the American Lutheran Church.

Pastor Dennis Falk, who is now pastor of St. John Lutheran Church in Bridgewater, and his wife Yvonne were both born in southern Minnesota. He is a graduate of St. Olaf College, and Wartburg Seminary. They both studied linguistics at the University of Oklahoma in order to prepare themselves for service on the foreign mission field.

Their mission in New Guinea, which has approximately 850 dialects, was to bring the Christian Gospel to the native tribesmen still living in the stone age. They also organized and helped conduct classes to teach trades, English, practical housekeeping, and health and nursing.

Since their return from New Guinea in 1963 for health reasons, the Falks served eight years at the White and Indian Parish in Minnesota.

They have three children, Tim, a sophomore in college, Justine, a senior at Saline High school, and Nicole, their three-year-old adopted daughter.
