Vandalism, Thefts from Autos Reported

George Foster reported David McCormick that his car had been vandalized for the time in the Medical Center lot. This time the two rear view mirrors were off. The police are investigating.

Keezer filed a complaint with the police this week that boys had thrown a lump of her car, cracking the windshield as she drove toward the on Mayer Dr. Although she and tried to get the names of the boys, they eluded her.

There was apparently no on their parts to hit the car. George and Doris Sweeney, with a hit and run accident in parking lot of the high school, night, as the football game coming to an end.

He noted the license number of the car that slammed into one of his cars, causing it to damage their vehicles.

Because of their vigilance, tracked down the car and the owner, Tony Cornett, reckless driving. He posted bond to assure his appearance court Oct. 18.

Thomas Stock, owner of Village Sales, reported on Monday the night before two wheels and tires had been stolen from a car parked behind his dealership.

The carburetor of a dealership which was parked in the lot also found missing.

Wash of Bicycle Thefts Occur On Week-end

Wash of bicycle thefts irritated Chelsea citizens this week, but all bikes have been recovered. The bike makers are still at large. Two 26 inch girls' bikes were taken from the garage of the Stevens residence on Lincoln St., Friday or Saturday. They were taken by Chief George Meranuck.

CHS Homecoming Activity Underway

Once again all the beauty and spirit of Chelsea High life came to the fore, as Homecoming activities under way this week.

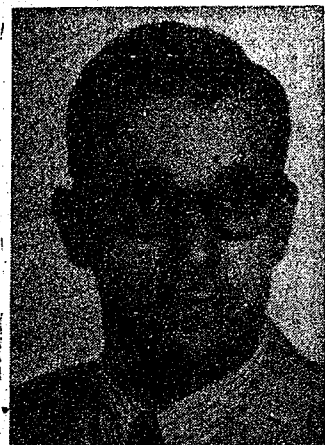

Homecoming Queen candidates already been elected, with a class naming two girls who representative of their class. The girls' first official duty is to be the snake dance tonight.

They will be escorted by their peers during the half-time ceremony tomorrow night when the ball team's choice is crowned queen.

Tuesday saw the serious business of the annual Tug of War. The boys faced the sophomores, and the freshmen pulled at the juniors the first round of the contest. The winners went to it.

The powerful senior class tugged with the fierce freshmen, and won. Wednesday night the girls got to the act with their preliminary wader puff battle, the seniors arguing the freshman, and the sophomores tackling the juniors.

A combination is a switch this year, so that girls wouldn't have the same fearful opponents year year.

FRITZ WAGNER

Fritz Wagner Working on PhD At U. of Wash.

Fritz Wagner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Wagner, 319 Congdon St., has recently passed his PhD General Examinations in the Department of Urban Planning at the University of Washington in Seattle. This qualifies him as a doctoral candidate.

He is presently Assistant to the Chairman of the Urban Planning Department while he writes his dissertation. He hopes to complete his paper by August when he will return to Chelsea for a month's visit.

Kiwanians Entertain Octogenarians

In their annual manner, the Chelsea Kiwanis Club honored members of the exclusive octogenarians club at their Monday night meeting.

Honor Society Fun Night Set For Saturday

Chelsea High's National Honor Society will be earning money "the fun way" Saturday night at the high school gym. They are sponsoring a Fun Night for upper elementary and junior high students.

For a 25 cent admission fee, individuals may play volleyball, dodgeball, and ping pong. Also, the ropes, weights, and trampoline will be available for use.

The National Honor Society members assume that all that activity will sharpen an appetite or two, so they will provide a bake sale, too.

This is the first of four such fun nights the group plans during the year. Last year, the group was able to contribute $400 to the scholarship fund through their fund-raising efforts.

JV Gridders Put Down Lincoln, 34-0

Chelsea JV's continued to rumble down a path paved with shut-out victories, this time flattening Lincoln along the way. The Rail splitters hosted the game Thursday, Oct. 5.

Chelsea kicked off the game with an offensive show of strength. They held Lincoln and then returned the punt back to Lincoln's 28-yard line. Eight plays later, the Bulldogs scored when Randy Guenther targeted Paul Wood, who snagged the eighty-yard pass and made the touchdown.

After the extra point attempt fell short, Lincoln tried to get going, only to be cut off by Curt Winan's interception. Winans ran it all the way home, but the score was nullified because of a penalty.

Blood Bank Clinic Slated Friday, Oct. 20

Mrs. William Rademacher, this year's chairman of the local Blood Bank, has announced that the Red Cross mobile blood bank unit will visit Chelsea Friday, Oct. 20. It will be parked at the Congregational church, and donors will be welcomed from 11 a.m. until closing at 5 p.m.

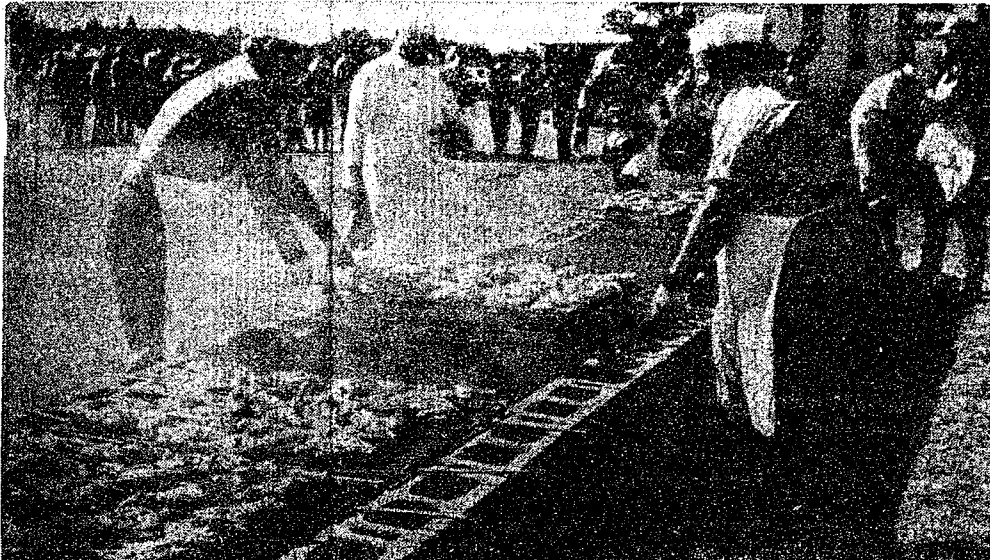

Mrs. Rademacher is eager to explain that those between the ages of 18 and 65, who live or work in Chelsea, may give blood at this time. They and their immediate family will then be eligible for blood from the Red Cross if ever they should need it.

There are certain requirements that must be met, however, before an individual can give blood. An individual who has given blood within the last eight weeks, for example, cannot give again at this time.

If a person has a history of jaundice or hepatitis, or has had contact with someone who has had these diseases in the last six months, he cannot give. Similarly, a history of malaria will disqualify a giver. An immigrant from a country in a malaria area is also disqualified.

Pregnancy within the last six months, a history of heart attacks, or any malignancy excepting minimal skin cancer will also keep a person from giving.

If a prospective donor has suffered repeated fainting spells, or has suffered prolonged bleeding (Continued on page eight)

Evangelists Quartet Will Perform at Methodist Church

A joyous sound will be heard frequently this weekend at First United Methodist church as the Evangelists Quartet appears in concert. Three separate programs are scheduled to provide all interested persons an opportunity to see and hear this talented group.

Saturday, Oct. 14, at 7:30 p.m. the group will star at Youth Night, a special youth program sponsored by the Senior United Methodist Youth Fellowship. Invitations have been sent to youth fellowships of 39 churches, including all area churches. A Coke party will be held in the church Social Center after the program.

A second concert, which is open to the public, is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 15 at 7 p.m. This is to be an evening of inspirational song. The Evangelists will also appear at the worship service Sunday, Oct. 15, at 10 a.m.

The Quartet is composed of students from Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky. Members are James Fant, Columbus, Ga.; Sterling Am...

Girls Chorus Will Appear With Band

The Chelsea High School Marching Band is still being applauded for its performance at Western Michigan University's Band Day, Saturday, Sept. 30.

Carl Doubleday, assistant chairman of concerts and special events, and Robert Fink, chairman of the Department of Music, write, "What a thrill it was to see so many students from a single school actively and successfully participating in musical activity."

"Your marching band speaks well for your school system in general, and for your musical program in particular. Please convey our enthusiastic congratulations to the band. They were most impressive."

The band will have another opportunity to impress an audience closer to home this week-end. Friday night they will put on a pregame show in conjunction with the Girls Chorus, directed by Miss Diane L'Roy, as they entertain with "Save the Country" by Laura Nyro.

During the Homecoming ceremony at half-time, the band will supply a romantic touch with "Something" by the Beatles, as the Queen and her court are presented.

Cross Country Team Wins First League Meet Against Novi

Chelsea's cross country team came running home with its first league win, a 34-25 victory over Novi's runners, Thursday, Oct. 5.

Although Novi's very talented Dave Miller, who runs the two mile during track season, dashed across the line first, only two seconds off the course record, Chelsea's pack was not far behind.

Robbin Boyer came in fourth with his best time at home, 19 minutes and two seconds. Doug Schrotenboer was 13 seconds later to bag fifth place. Jeff Sprague and Dave Frame were sixth and seventh respectively, both recording their best times on the home route.

Mark Heydlauff made his best time of the year as he came in ninth. Dan Heydlauff and Brad Smith followed in 10th and 11th places, also covering the three miles in their fastest times.

Coach Pat Clarke accounts for the series of "bests" with two factors. "The team was running in a bunch which tends to bring up the slower times, especially since the race was paced faster that day."

The coach also feels the team is acquiring the experience it lacked. "This is the time of year when boys really start coming around." The runners had about a week and a half of solid training to prepare for this meet, and the practice showed. Tuesday saw the runners at Michigan Center.

Nevertheless, the Jaycees sold every single one of their chickens, though only 1,900 dinners were taken. The remaining sole slaw, made from Hank Ortring's recipe, was given to St. Louis school. Hank had whipped up 300 pounds of his specialty.

Once again, the Jaycees are indebted to their experienced chefs, Jim Gaken, Joe Doering, and Hank Ortring. "We could do it without them," says Rowe, "but it would be very difficult."

Rowe says that the Jaycees may try cooking all 2,000 chickens in two hours next year in two pits, instead of spreading the time over four hours. They were still serving at 4:30 Sunday.

Those wanting color tour maps may call Walt Brown.

Paul Frisinger Named Fair Board Vice-President

The Chelsea Community Fair Committee held its annual meeting Tuesday, Oct. 3, at the Fair Services Building and elected Paul Frisinger as vice-president.

New directors from Chelsea are Charles Stapish, Joe Merkel, III, and Lloyd Grau. William Baldus will represent Dexter.

The group discussed the purchase of more land and the construction of another building. No action was taken at that time.

Bulldog Grid Machine Rolls Past Lincoln

Powerful Novi Coming Friday for Crucial CHS Homecoming Contest

Bulldog gears were working well together Friday night when Chelsea's powerful machine rolled over Lincoln, 24-0.

It took some time to get up to top speed, however. Fans waited until the last 12 minutes of the first half to see a score. The touchdown came when Bruce Guster ran a punt 72 yards, leaving Tim Lancaster a two-yard hop over the line. The extra point attempt failed, closing the half with Chelsea's 6-0 edge.

In the third quarter, John Mann nailed Jeff Van Riper with a 25-yard pass, allowing the end to score. Again the extra point attempt proved futile.

Tim Lancaster made the next score from six yards out after Jeff Marshall recovered a Lincoln fumble on the Lincoln 18-yard line.

The final score of the game was also Lancaster's. Chelsea punted to a fumbling receiver. Lancaster swooped down on the free ball on the eight-yard line and drove it home.

The offense stacked up a total of 362 yards, 247 of which were covered on the ground. They flew ahead 35 yards with passing, and trampled over 80 yards on punt returns.

The defense once again gave an excellent performance with the three interior linemen, Dave Tucker, Jeff Schmidt, and Steve Worden, topping the bill. Linebacker Mike Merkel, end Dan Schultze, and safety Jeff Marshall all deserve applause. Together they held Lincoln to 119 yards total offense.

One of the most critical moves of the game was a glorious tackle by Bruce Guster in the first series of the game. Lincoln's ball carrier had broken into the open and when the safety did his job, was on his way to a touchdown.

Coach Bareis says, "If they'd gotten that flying start, it might have made for an entirely different ball game."

Dan Houle, Randy Young, and Howard Haselschwardt were the tackling forces of an improved offensive line. Mike Nadeau and Rick Miller also saw action on their ends, and handled it admirably.

"We were working together," says Coach Bareis. Asked if he had changed the training plan after the Saline defeat, the coach replied, "Not really. We just went back to fundamentals."

The Bulldogs will have to hold fast to those fundamentals during the test Friday on their homecoming field.

"We've got to do better to beat Novi," the coach says. "And we've got to beat them to stay in line for the championship."

Lima Residents To Join In Development Study

Although the threat of Mill Creek Park has receded in many people's eyes, the growth of Lima township is still very much of an issue.

The Lima Township Planning Commission (LTPC) is once again calling citizens to Lima Community Hall, Oct. 17 to join in consideration of the township's future. At 8 p.m., Johnson, Johnson & Roy, the planning consultant firm which last May 11, produced the impartial study jointly commissioned by Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) and the township, will present their tentative guidelines for the township's development. This recent plan was requested by the township alone.

LTPC conceives of the Tuesday night meeting as the follow-up on the neighborhood sessions held last summer to hear citizens' ideas, worries, and plans. The intent is to tap as much citizen involvement as possible.

The Johnson, Johnson, & Roy suggestions will be aired at this meeting in hopes of encouraging additions, and revisions at this time so that the plan will be more readily acceptable at the formal public meeting forecast for late November.

If the final draft of the growth plan is accepted, it will serve as a guideline to LTPC, not only when they are deciding on building and expansion requests, but when they draw up a new zoning ordinance. The present ordinance was issued in 1961 and is seemingly inadequate to deal with the complexity of a growing Lima township today. A new ordinance would be drawn up by LTPC with advice from the Johnson firm and experts from the county.

The new growth plan which the consultant firm will be offering for (Continued on page eight)

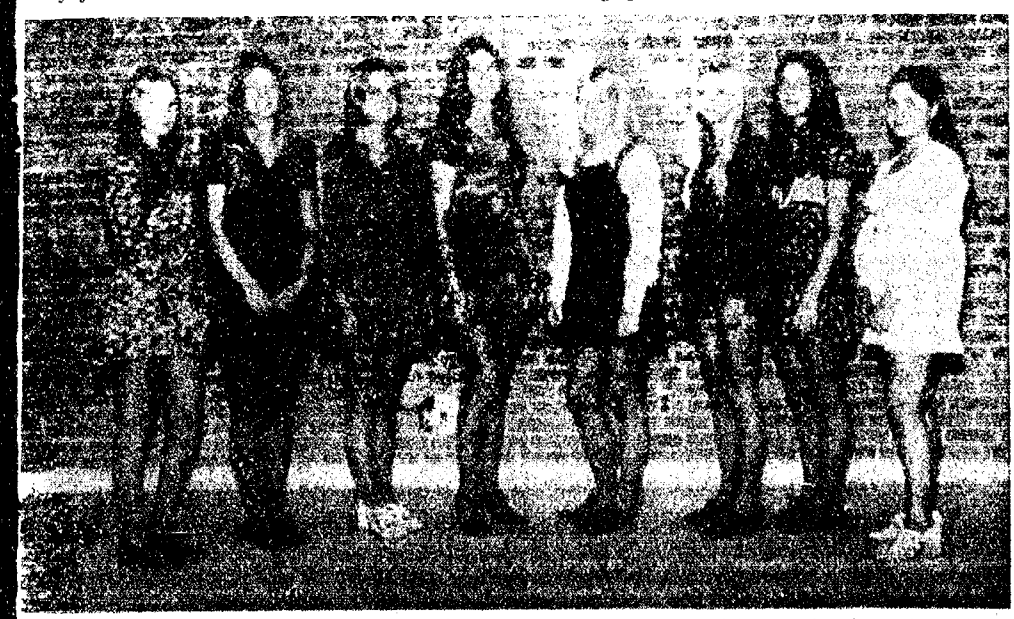

Four Injured In Semi-Trailer, Auto Head-On

Four persons were injured in a head-on collision on M-52 between Polly's and Ann Arbor Federal, Wednesday Oct. 4.

It was 10:55 p.m. when a passenger car carrying four young men south swerved into the path of a semi-trailer truck, driven by William N. Zuziak, of Thornton.

Zuziak was shaken but unhurt. Not so lucky were the occupants of the other car. The driver, Lyle Henry Lightner, 19, of Jackson and Mark Edward Taylor, 19, of Grass Lake, were admitted with serious injuries.

Roger Sherwood, 23, of Grass Lake, and William Taylor, 23, also of Grass Lake, suffered less severe injuries, but still required hospitalization.

FENY, MEENY, MINEY, MOE: The Chelsea football team may have difficulty choosing just one queen from such a well qualified selection. Each class elected, according to Donna Clarke, a chairman of the Homecoming activities, "two girls who were most representative of their class." Candi-

LEARN BY SEEING AND HEARING: South school students received a lesson in music appreciation Friday, when Barry Fote demonstrated the art of playing the cello. The attentive youngsters

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers at the country store was calling em as they saw em Saturday night. Clem Webster allowed at the start of the session they ain't nothing called by their right name these days, and he was strong for gitting back to calling a spade a spade instead of a manual operated excavating tool.

Ed Doolittle, that was a Republican even afore it got respect, called Clem's bunch. Ed said he had saw where a hand of Democrats fer Nixon is calling themselves McGovern-wasms, instead of McGovernisms. And that's putting the name to the game, was, Ed's words.

But Clem got the floor back, and he reminded the fellers of where the Bible says this King of Babylon had a aching back and had to sleep on a board. What the King had was rumatism, allowed Clem, and to this day they ain't found out anything that will do it much good. The next best thing was to change the name of the problem, so now we call it artheritis. Folks used to be ashamed to say they had rumatism, but now it seems everybody tells about his touch of artheritis, declared Clem.

Zeke Grubb was agreed with Clem. Zeke said we changed the pore to the disadvantaged and the rich to the affluent, and we got so many Government programs fer giving and gitting it's hard now days to tell which is which. As the names of ailments, Zeke said he was discussing his artheritis with his old lady jest the other night, and what she said he's got is motorcycle pendicitis, a c a u e when she's got a chore fer him around the house pains run all over him everywhere at the same time.

And fer names, declared Zeke, you can't beat some of the things they call old folks, not to mention senior citizens and golden agers. Zeke reported he had saw this piece about what folks do after they retire and they was called such as "non-actives" and "players of roleless roles." Trying to eat Social Security don't git on a feller's nerves as bad as being called a roleless role, said Zeke.

Actual, broke in Ed, a feller needs goals no matter how old he is. Ed said he remembered hearing this old feller say once that his aims in life was to work and stay out of jail, and that took up all his time. Even if you got plenty of money, Ed went on, jest counting it reminds a feller he's a was instead of a is.

Personal, Mister Editor, I don't worry what they call me, as long as it's three times a day. As fer calling em like you see em, I see where this girl in North Carolina has got "36-24-38" on her personalized car tag. She paid $10 extra to git that plate, but I bet ever "non-active" and active feller she meets on the road gits her message.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

4-H Bonanza Tel-A-Thon Event Slated

4-H Bonanza which will be held at Michigan State University on Oct. 13 and 14 is in full swing in Washtenaw county, according to Richard Loiz and K. Ross Childs, industry chairman and Herman Koenn, agriculture chairman for Bonanza.

Radio Stations WAAM, a d WPAG are cooperating by hosting a tele-thon to receive donations on Wednesday, Oct. 11 for WAAM and Thursday Oct. 12 for WPAG. Donors are asked to call the stations directly and make their donations. All donations will be acknowledged immediately on the air. Donations may be made by calling the following numbers: WAAM, 973-1695 or 971-1105; WPAG, 662-4591 or 662-4592.

County donations include: paintings by Marie Sutherland, a Norwegian Elk Hound by Paul Risinger, a buck stitched show halter and lead by Schneider Western Supply, four roosters by Ruth Thompson, can donation by Pomana Grange, plus other donors who have donated rabbits and other interesting items. Donations may be made prior to the tele-thon by contacting the Co-operative Extension Service office in Ann Arbor, 663-7511, Ext. 227.

Bonanza is a monumental public auction of products donated by citizens and organizations all across Michigan. Proceeds will be allocated by the Michigan 4-H Foundation to enrich and expand the 4-H program in Michigan counties.

Initial plans call for the expansion of the state leader training center and initiation of programs to teach additional youth through 4-H.

Bonanza will be kicked off with a gala benefit banquet Friday night Oct. 13, beginning at 7 p.m. Art Linkletter will emcee the banquet which will feature nationally famous talents such as Sue Anne Langdon and the Conti Family. An added feature will be the auctioning off of Nayda, the famous arabian mare. Tickets to the banquet may be purchased for $20 ($15 is tax deductible) at the local 4-H Office, Room 1, County Building.

Saturday will feature the gigantic free public auction and the colossal flea market in Jenison Field House.

Police Car Damaged in Wild Chase

A car from the Dexter Police Department was damaged in a high-speed chase Sunday, Oct. 8. Officer Daniel Clow was driving the car on Central St. when a red Ford Fairlane stationwagon turned off Baker Rd. onto Main St., saw the police car, and took off at a high rate of speed.

Officer Clow gave chase, following the car down Dexter-Pinckney Rd., to Island Lake Rd., where the car turned onto Island Lake Rd. Clow was driving in excess of 105 mph in pursuit of the vehicle when his car hit a sharp curve at the point where Island Lake Rd. becomes Riker Rd. The police car failed to make the curve, striking a sign, sliding down the embankment, and finally coming to a stop after hitting a fence.

Clow was uninjured. The police car received damage to the driver's side. Chelsea police captured the driver of the speeding car on Maple Ct. off M-52 shortly afterward.

Candidates Abound

Michigan voters have a veritable smorgasbord of candidates to choose from when they cast ballots for the new members of the Michigan Supreme Court this coming Election Day, Nov. 7.

No less than nine persons will be on the non-partisan ballot. Quite a few of these have reasons to think they might be one of the two who will be picked to fill eight-year terms on the state's highest court.

At this point no one in Lansing would want to put much money on any pair of candidates. Too many variables are involved.

Leading the list of candidates, are the four chosen by the two political parties. Michigan, because of an illogical method of picking Supreme Court members, still has political parties nominate candidates for the high court.

Most notable of the candidates picked by the parties is probably Probate Judge Mary Coleman of Battle Creek. Mrs. Coleman is the first woman ever nominated to run for the high court. She was picked at the Republican convention after she scared off all the men candidates.

She is no "token" candidate, either, having a solid record in the juvenile field. Her campaign is helped quite a bit by the fact that the grandmother of the Michigan Republican Party, Ellie Peterson, is running her campaign.

The other candidate picked at the Republican convention is Circuit Judge James S. Thornburn of Troy, a veteran jurist.

Democrats, on the other hand, have nominated a man who, if elected, would be the first black member of the high court. He is Recorder's Court Judge Robert Evans of Detroit, who has worked two years to secure his party's nomination.

The other candidate picked by the Democrats is Wayne Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore of Grosse Pointe Park.

Normally the contest for the court would be decided between these four candidates, with the winners the ones who could generate the highest name recognition between now and election day. But, this is no ordinary election year.

In fact, it's just possible the two parties might be shut out this year, though no one would bet on that, either. Arrayed against the major party backed candidates are five others. Three of them already have a good name recognition factor going for them.

Perhaps best known is Zolton Ferency, the former Democratic State Chairman and gubernatorial candidate who fell from favor when he grew to dislike the Vietnam War before it was popular to do so.

Ferency was nominated for the court by the newly formed Human Rights Party, a party he was instrumental in founding. As a former candidate for state-wide office, he has much name identification, an important ingredient in an election like this.

Those who argue that since he lost his last election, he can't win this one, it should be remembered that Justices G. Mennen Williams and John B. Swainson both lost their last partisan contest before they ran for the court and both won their court seats by wide margins at least partially because voters recognized their names.

Another candidate with a well known name, though he didn't make so himself, is Appeals Court Judge Charles L. Levin. Levin is a cousin of former State Sen. Sander Levin of Berkley. The Sandy Levin name became well known when he ran as the Democratic candidate for governor and almost won in 1970.

Judge Levin figured early this year that he didn't have much of a chance for the Democratic nomination and decided to get his name on the ballot without carrying favor from either major party. Instead, he went out and formed his own party, the Nonpartisan Judiciary Party. Naturally, his party nominated him.

He also filed suit challenging the validity of the current system which requires that a political party nominate a candidate. Any action on that suit prior to election day also would help focus attention on Levin.

Another candidate with a familiar name is another Appeals Court Judge — Vincent Brennan. The Brennan name is well known, and one current court member, former Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennan, already bears it.

And since there are already two Kavanaghs on the bench, Thomas M. and Thomas G., the thought of another Brennan isn't impossible. Brennan also formed his own party—the Independent Judiciary Party—to get his name on the ballot.

The remaining two candidates are William Beer of Berkley, nominated by George Wallace's American Independent Party, and William A. Ortmann of Farmington, nominated by the Conservative party.

Gridders of the Week

RICK MILLER, a junior and a punter for the Bulldogs, started out playing ball "on the other side" for Dexter. Now Rick thinks that moving here three years ago "was the best thing we've ever done." At one point, Rick's gridiron skill took him all the way to Detroit where he competed in the regional Punt, Pass, & Kick contest as a 13-year-old. During the summer Rick keeps in shape for football by working on Harold Trinkle's farm. He and his two brothers and three sisters also live on a farm, but they don't farm it. Rick will be seen again on the basketball court this winter, and on the pitcher's mound this spring.

DAN SCHULZE (64) started playing football in the 7th grade, never thinking that he would ever like it. "It's just a sport, but I grew to like it a lot." As a senior, Dan is beginning to think about what he wants to do next year, but he hasn't decided yet. Right now, he's got his mind on the Novi game, which he is looking forward to, not just because it's Homecoming. "Homecoming is fun, but the game this week is important because the stakes are high." Dan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schulze. He has a married brother in town, a sister who is a freshman this year, and a little brother.

Cross Country Team Downs Mich. Center

The Chelsea harriers upped their record another notch Tuesday when they left Michigan Center in the dust, 23-32.

Jim Storey was again leading the pack when he came across the line with his best time yet, 17 minutes and 18 seconds. Doug Schreiner bested his own record time coming across a minute and two seconds later, in fourth place.

Robin Boyer was close behind in fifth place, with his best time, 17:22. Jeff Sprague recorded the same time, but lagged just a little. Sixth place. He too ran faster than he ever has before.

Dave Frame stayed with the pack and came in 12 seconds later, also recording a personal best time.

Dan Heydlauff recorded his best time in 14th place, at 20 minutes and seven seconds. Mark Heydlauff was only seven seconds slow or in 16th place. Dave Coltre also, scored for Chelsea in 18th place with a time of 21:38.

The number of personal best times suggests that the team is now learning its own worth. The team's 3-4 record should improve if their last two meets are a valid indication. Today Chelsea raced with Dundee, at home.

JV Gridders Win Big Over Lincoln, 30-0

During the next series, Lincoln refused to let Chelsea make their 10 yards, but when the ball changed hands, Chelsea held just as doggedly. Chelsea then charged deep into Lincoln territory, returning the punt to the 14-yard line. From there, Doug Reed drove over the line making the score. It was left at 12-0 when the extra point attempt failed.

In the second quarter, Doug Reed made tracks again, capping a 43-yard drive with a four-yard touchdown run. He ran again for the extra points.

Not much later, Randy Guenther shot off a beautifully directed pass to Paul Wood, who completed it for 35 yards.

Again Chelsea returned a Rail-splitter punt to their 36. In four plays Doug Reed was going 10 yards to score. Steve Kincer carried for the conversion, piling the score up to 28-0.

In the early part of the second half, Chelsea almost blew their chance after a blockbusting 61-yard drive, when they fumbled on the two-yard line. The moment was saved by fleet-footed Randy Guenther who scooped up the ball and skipped on in. This topped the tally at 34-0.

The clock ran out on an evenly-matched contest between Chelsea's bench and the JV Railsplitters.

In their third shut-out in succession, Chelsea's formidable defense machine was led by Doug Reed with 15 tackles. Roger Stewart racked up nine tackles and blocked a punt in his contribution to the effort. Jack Blackworth and Steve Figg blocked nine and eight men, respectively.

Dennis Bower tripped up seven opponents, while Tom Ball and Dave Keiser each successfully tackled six. Mark Pennington and Ron Kiel each downed five Railsplitters, while Terry Ellenwood did in four men.

Tonight Chelsea travels to Novi. They carry a grudge, having suffered their first loss there last year. They intend to make up for it.

COMPETITION

Competition is a great thing for the shopping public. Once again, because of competition, there is going to be a great change. A change that will give the shoppers of Chelsea more for their money. The reason for this big change is the fact that the big supers have opened 24 hours a day. The selfish greed of the supermarkets for large volume sales and profits has now made the supers "the ma and pa store," "the neighborhood grocery" or the popular convenience store; thus depriving many small stores their right to make a living and causing hardships upon them. Being open 24 hours each day has helped to shatter the quiet, peacefulness of small communities at nighttime and holidays. Because of the above and my recent loss of sales due to competition thru the 24-hr. opening—

NEXT WEEK COMES THE BIG CHANGE — WATCH FOR IT.

Pvt. Francis O. May Completes Army Basic Training at Ft. Knox

Pvt. Francis O. May, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. May, 11751 Joslin Ave. Rd., Gregory recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U. S. Army Training Center, Armor, Ft. Knox, Ky. He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

Pvt. May received his training with Company C, 11th Battalion of the 4th Brigade.

The 20-year-old soldier is a 1970 graduate of Stockbridge High School.

Pinckney Area Youth Completes Army Basic Training at Ft. Polk

Pvt. Polk, La.—Army Private Louis G. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Marshall, 9490 Cedar Lake Rd., Pinckney, Mich., has completed eight weeks of basic training at the U. S. Army Training Center, Infantry, Ft. Polk, La. He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and army history and traditions.

He received the training with Company A, 2nd Battalion of the 4th Brigade.

The 18-year-old soldier is a 1972 graduate of Pinckney High School.

Because of efficiencies in farm operation, Michigan's vast crop production is achieved on the small number of acres since 1880.

District Court Proceedings

Week of Sept. 27-Oct. 3

In the 14th District Court during this week Robert Brown, Gregory, was found guilty of assault and battery charges. He was sentenced to six months of probation plus a fine of $100 and costs.

Colet Crayton, Chelsea, who was charged with failure to pay fines and costs while on probation, explained that she had complied with the court's other orders, but that her financial situation is very bad. The court released her from having to complete payment.

Joseph Krupp, Ann Arbor, faced speeding charges but the case was dismissed when the prosecutor and the Michigan State Police did not appear.

Steve Walther, Manchester, pled guilty to drunk and disorderly charges and paid $50 and costs.

Norman Fahrner, Chelsea, pled not guilty to speeding charges. His trial is set for Nov. 15.

Truman Stephenson, Pontiac, faced charges for driving under the influence of liquor, for the third time. He was told to arrange for his own attorney because he does not qualify for a court appointed attorney. His examination will be Oct. 11.

Roger Kushmaul, Chelsea, tried to defend himself from speeding charges. He called witnesses but the court chose to believe the ticketing officers. Kushmaul was fined $21 and costs.

David Arrver, Detroit, did not appear to face charges of unlawfully driving away an automobile.

Phillip Altepeter, Manchester, pled guilty to speeding, and must pay $51 and costs by Oct. 5.

Wilbur Matthews, Indiana, was referred to Probation Court after pleading guilty to driving under the influence of liquor. The court took away his learner's permit.

Earl Richards, Saline, was arraigned for receiving and concealing stolen property. After hearing two witnesses, the court bound the case over until Dec. 1, and set bond at $1,000.

Gerald Nortley, Milan, did not appear in court to face charges of failing to yield on an access road. A bench warrant was issued.

Michael Hewitt, Saline, was arraigned for carrying a concealed weapon. His case was bound over until Oct. 6, and bond was set at $2,500 cash.

Richard Wagner, Whitmore Lake, appeared at his violation of probation hearing and was put back on probation.

Carl Walton was charged with the felony of attempting to threaten and defile a female. The defendant requested an examination after he has hired an attorney. Bond was set at $5,000 cash, and the trial was set for Oct. 4.

Ralph Brown, Jackson, failed to appear to face drunk and disorderly charges in the morning, but came in the afternoon, having misunderstood the time. He pled guilty and paid $50 and costs.

Dewey Lee, Pontiac, pled guilty to driving under the influence of liquor. He was referred to Probation Court with a bond of $30.

Glen-W. Mast, Dexter, pled guilty to speeding and was fined $21 and costs.

Ricky Tanner, Pinckney, pled guilty to having no registration on his person, and to speeding. The first charge was dismissed with costs, and the defendant paid $21 and costs on the second.

Mark I. Bell, Pinckney, pled guilty to having no registration on his person. The case was dismissed with $6 in costs.

Richard McCullough was fined $15 and costs for failing to maintain equipment.

Ronald Drake, Ann Arbor, pled guilty to having no license on his person. His case was dismissed with costs.

The assault case against Paul Hines, Dexter, was dismissed when the witness did not appear.

Ricky Ledwidge, Dexter, pled not guilty to having defective equipment. His trial will be Oct. 10.

Ronald Hastings pled guilty to reckless driving and he was fined.

Charles Clement faced two separate charges, drunk and disorderly conduct and leaving the scene of an accident. He was fined $35 and costs on the first, and $75 and costs on the second.

Glenn Mulligan, Ypsilanti, was charged with speeding. His guilty plea brought him a fine of $15 and costs.

Thomas Felts, Whitmore Lake, pled guilty to driving with a revoked license and was fined $75 and costs.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
 BY LOUIS BURGARDT

Promises are often based on the premise—"You do something for me and I'll do something for you." That sort of promise can at times be ruinous. Here is a good illustration—

"The streets of our country are in turmoil. The universities are filled with students rebelling and rioting. Communists are seeking to destroy our country. Russia is threatening us with her might and our country is in danger. Yes, danger from within and without. We need law and order. Without law and order our nation can not survive. Elect us and we shall restore law and order." . . . The promise was made in Hamburg, Germany, 1932 — by Adolph Hitler!

Before accepting a promise it is best to consider for what purpose it was given — and how and why you can reasonably expect it to be kept. A good safeguard was expressed by Lord Halifax — "A wise man, in trusting another, must not rely upon his promise against his nature." . . . THANK YOU

Mom, Dad, and I would like to thank all those people who sent gifts, cards, and who visited while I was in the hospital and since coming home. A big "special" thanks to Pat and Shirley for all their help. Also, thank you to the Rev. Siebert and the Rev. Dickens and the Chelsea State Bank.

Randy, Jim, and Barb Kirchbaum.

THANK YOU

I would like to thank all my friends and neighbors for the cards, flowers, gifts, and kindness shown me while I was in the hospital and since my return home. It was all greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Lydia Zahn.

THANK YOU

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the following for their help with the Jaycee's Chicken Barbecue, Sunday, Oct. 8. A thank you to Mrs. Marge Miller, co-leader of Troop 58 and the Girl Scouts, Mrs. Jean Botsford, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Ford, and all the Jaycees and children who worked Saturday folding 2,500 boxes. And a big thank you to the Chelsea Auxiliary, Jaycee wives, and friends for all their hard work on Sunday. And the biggest thank you goes to the community for your support in helping us help our community. Thank you all,

Sandy Brown
Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary
Barbecue Chairman

THANK YOU

These words cannot convey the gratitude we feel for the many kindnesses of all the ones at the Chelsea Community Clinic, Staffan Funeral Home, and the kind words of the Rev. Barnes, and all our neighbors and friends during the passing of my husband and our father.

Mrs. Sylvester Parker.
Betty Lou Parker.
Mr. and Mrs. Steven Easudes, and son.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin, Jr., and daughters.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mrs. Mary Haydu wishes to express their most sincere thank you to all our friends and neighbors who were so thoughtful to us in our recent bereavement, the death of our mother.

Very gratefully,
Mr. and Mrs. (Julia) Dave Pastor and family,
Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Haydu, Jr., and family, and all other relatives.

THANK YOU

I'd like to thank all my relatives and friends for the many cards, flowers, visits, gifts, and messages of cheer while I was a patient at Chelsea Community Hospital and since my return home. A special thanks to the Doctors and the staff at the hospital and to the Rev. Dickens and the Rev. Keller for their visits and prayers. Also, the members of Our Savior church who remembered me with cards.

Gladys Klumpp.

THANK YOU

I wish to thank my family for their visits, gifts and cards sent to me while I was in the hospital.

Dorothy Mepfans.

INDUSTRIOUSNESS IS THE KEY: This competent work crew, the Chelsea High school Key Club, assured order in the high school parking lot by painting parking space lines last Saturday. They figure that they painted almost 300 lines, and "almost all of them are straight." This is the second project of the year, the first being transportation

CEA-Board Negotiations

This is the third of a series of public news releases by the Chelsea Board of Education for the purpose of informing the public of the events the board has been involved with through the process of contract negotiations with the Chelsea Education Association (CEA).

A resolution was adopted by the School Board leaving its final offer open to 12 noon Sept. 13. This offer was rejected by the CEA by a vote of 45-40.

All certified teaching personnel are included in the Master Contract offer. Also included was the right of a teacher to file a written rebuttal within 10 days to any reprimand or disciplinary action and shall become a part of the teacher's personnel file.

Under Article XVI "Professional Compensation" the following items were offered:

1. Increased mileage allowance from 10 cents to 12 cents per mile.
2. A BA schedule of $8,100 to $12,636 in 10 steps.
3. A MA schedule of $8,900 to $13,851 in 10 steps.
4. Full coverage Blue Cross-Blue Shield or MEA Super-Med. The cost of this coverage on the opening date of these medical contracts, Oct. 1, would be paid by the board.
5. If a teacher is covered through a spouse for hospital insurance, the single coverage amount may be used for other insurance or annuity programs. (The only change here is the larger amount for single coverage.)

6. $26.50 per day instead of $25 for substitute teachers.

The increases in the BA salary schedule range from $300 on the beginning step to $1,170 from the 9th to the $10 step.

The increases in the MA salary schedule range from $330 on the beginning step to $1,293 from the 9th to the 10th step.

The median salary increase for the 1972-73 staff, based on the offer of the Board of Education is $750. Twenty percent of the teachers will receive increases of $1,038 or more.

William F. Storey, president.

St. Louis School Notes

Jim Brock, father of a St. Louis school boy, appeared in an interview with WJR personality Hal Youngblood this week, as he promoted the St. Louis school record album which is to be released soon.

The album, which features the boys singing, will be sold to raise funds for a new bus.

Father Germano, Father Fortunato, Mrs. Judy Fryback, Mrs. Ann Wilkerson, and Mrs. William Peirce took 30 boys to WAAM radio station this week, where they were given a tour by Richard Carr. They saw where commercials are made, and other facilities. Carr said "hello" to them over the air which thrilled them.

To celebrate the Tiger's victory, Sister Mary Giblin and Mrs. Pat Robbins baked a cake and decorated it with a tiger. The boys are avid fans of the Detroit team.

In recognition of Fire Prevention Week, Fire Chief Jim Gaken, and firemen Adams and Smith came to the school to talk about fire safety. They brought a truck with them which was used to give the boys a ride around the parking lot.

Today the boys will visit Michigan Bell Telephone Co. in Ann Arbor.

Thanks to the generosity of Mrs. Dr. Mary Ellenon, of the University Medical Center, and the Boy Scouts, the entire school was able to get tickets for the Michigan Navy game last week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burgess, and Fathers Fortunato, Germano, and Umberto chaperoned the boys at that winning game.

Jonathan, Delicious, McIntosh and Northern Spy are major apple varieties grown in Michigan, totaling 750 million pounds in 1970. Estimated value to our 2,700 growers was $29 million.

4-H Clubs

TERRIFIC TAILORS

Terrific Tailors is one of four 4-H clubs in Washtenaw county to earn an Award Banner for accumulating 4,500 participation points during the year. Their summer activities, the Chelsea parade float, and their exhibit at the County Fair contributed to their impressive total.

At their first meeting of the fall, Oct. 7, Diane Luick became the newly-elected president. She will get support from vice-president Alice Juergens, secretary Sue Heller, and treasurer Cheryl Barrels. The new historian is Karen Schramm.

The group discussed future projects and admired their new banner before adjourning.

WIDE-AWAKE

Wide-Awake 4-H club met Saturday, Oct. 7. Acorn tray favors were made for patients at Chelsea Medical Center.

President Heidi Enderle presided over the meeting. The County Achievement program, held in Ann Arbor, Oct. 5, was discussed and congratulations were extended to Diane Sott for being awarded the Clothing and Bread Project medals.

A new member, Kyle Kensler, of Manchester, was introduced to the group.

Suitable patterns, styles, and materials were discussed. Each member is to bring their pattern and material to the next meeting, Nov. 4.

The following demonstrations will be given at the November meeting: Lynette Schiller, hems; Diane Sott, hook and eye; Barb Hinderer, buttons; and Heidi Enderle, basting.

Refreshments were served by Therese Thompson and Lynette Schiller.

SCHOOL LUNCH MENU!

Week of Oct. 16-20

Monday, Oct. 16 — Hero burgers, buns, french fries, catsup, buttered wax beans, cherry dessert, milk.

Tuesday, Oct. 17 — Lasagna, buttered green beans, bread, butter, banana cake with topping, milk.

New Books at the Washtenaw County Library

ADULT NON-FICTION

"About Television," by Martin Mayer. (Harper & Row, 1972): The full story—the people and places, the technology, talent and money—of the spectacular machine that changed everyone's life.

"Bobby Fischer's Chess Games," by Robert J. Fischer. (Doubleday, 1972): This book records every serious chess game accessible to the editors that Bobby Fischer has played since 1955.

"The Complete Snowmobile," by Clarke Wallace. (Scrivener, 1972): This book explains the equipment and clothing used in this popular sport and includes details on safety measures and racing.

"Face to Face," by Frank M. Cortina. (Columbia Univ. Pr., 1972): The author investigates the lives of four people caught up in the disturbing reality of the drug scene.

"A Nation of Strangers," by Vance Packard. (McKay, 1972): The author deals with an urgent problem: the massive uprooting and the fragmentation of our society which is turning us into "a nation of strangers."

"On the Other Side: 23 Days With the Viet Cong," by Kate Webb. (Quadrangle, 1972): The personal experiences of the author who was imprisoned with five men in Cambodia while the whole world thought she was dead.

"The Psychic World of California," by David St. Clair. (Doubleday, 1972): The story of the extraordinary developments in California in various forms of the occult.

"Dark Horse," by Fletcher Knebel. (Doubleday, 1972): Knebel allows political tension, suspense, and insight to move his timely journalistic tale.

"A Health Unto His Majesty," by Jean Plaidy. (Putnam, 1972): A romantic story of the lusty days when 17th-century England thrust Puritan rule aside to call Charles Stuart back to his throne.

"Out of the Dark," by Norah Lofts. (Doubleday, 1972): A murder story in Victorian gothic setting has frequent dramatic surprises.

"A Portion for Foxes," by Jane M. McClary. (Simon & Schuster, 1972): This novel takes place in the beautiful fox-hunting country of Virginia in the 1980's, when the old and in some ways still lovely aristocratic traditions of the past were beginning to show a seamy underside.

The Washtenaw County Library has this selected list of new books and many more available through the County Bookmobile and mail requests. The library will mail books directly to your home. Please ask for the Reference Department (Phone 971-6050).

Eat Before Shopping

Don't go shopping with an empty stomach, suggests Michigan State University consumer marketing specialist Maryann Beckman.

A survey shows that women who had not eaten for five hours prior to their weekly food shopping spent about $5.76 more than usual, Mrs. Beckman explains. Those who had eaten within two hours of shopping spent an average of $7.48 less than usual.

WAVES ON SHIP

The Navy has announced that it was widening opportunities for women and opening the way for eventual use of co-ed crews aboard U.S. warships. This will end nearly 200 years of Navy tradition.

WANTED!

Persons to undertake the following tasks on a ten month basis per year. No investment necessary. College education and willingness to seek further improvement required.

- Hours 8:15 - 3:30 daily
- Must be willing to take work home approximately two hours per evening and time on weekends.
- Must be willing to assume outside responsibilities after normal hours. Some compensation available for these tasks.
- Must be skilled in personnel relations and be able to handle emergency situations.
- Must assume some responsibilities for public relations.
- Must have a teaching certificate valid in the State of Michigan and is willing to seek employment in the Chelsea School District.
- Last but not least, these persons must assume the responsibility for the education of the children in the above mentioned community.

The above represents a partial list of the tasks your teachers perform in a years time. You might have noticed that one big thing is absent, that is, the salary for performing this job. At present the salary is $7,800 for a beginner with no experience, and a maximum of $13,338 after ten years of service if a masters degree or its equivalent is obtained.

Chelsea has always prided itself on having a good public school system, the backbone of which is a good teaching staff. Let's compare what Chelsea has offered with other communities of similar size in the area as well as those in our athletic conference.

Please note on the Board's proposal Chelsea is tied for fourth at the beginning and sixth at the masters maximum. The Association's proposals would change the status considerably.

It is our belief that the community has not lost its pride in providing a quality education for its children. If we are not to slip behind as the Board would have us do, we must attract new teachers, of the same calibre as we expand, and keep the experienced people we already have. In order to do so we must remain as competitive in salaries as we are on the football field. Your Board can afford either Association proposal without raising taxes. Why not let them know how you feel. Call a Board member today!

Sincerely,
Chelsea Education Association

A PRIZE BEAUTY QUEEN: Here Art Sias, son of his half-Holstein, half-Herford heifer, which has taken two red ribbons at Chelsea Fairs, and three at county 4-H fairs. Altogether he has collected seven to nine ribbons for this 4-H project, he unassumingly admits. "She's an unusual cross breed so there's not too much competition." Art is active in two 4-H clubs, and also belongs to FFA.

Art Sias Receives Prized 4-H Leadership Award

After eight active years in 4-H, Art Sias, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sias, made his first trip to the county Awards and Recognition Night in Ann Arbor, Oct. 5 where he was awarded well-earned recognition in several areas.

Although Art was one of the 4-H club members who worked hard to organize the evening's program which entertained 200 members at Clague Middle School, he had no idea he was to be one of two recipients of the "I Dare You" award. This leadership prize consists of a book not surprisingly titled "I Dare You," by William H. Danforth, founder of Ralston-Purina. The winner of such recognition is to read the book, which challenges one "To think tall, be tall, live tall, and stand up for it," and then pass it on to someone else.

Art's name came up again when he was recognized for his participation in the 4-H Citizenship Short Course. He was one of nine county youths to spend time learning about the county government before flying to Washington, D. C., for a week of instruction in the workings of the national government.

Art thinks one of the most valuable parts of that experience was meeting other 4-H youth from all over the country. Art was also recognized as a member of the County Awareness team. The group presents slide shows and tapes to interested parties in hopes of spreading the good word about 4-H and what it can do.

A member of the Parkers Corners Craftsmen and Scio-Lodi Junior Farmers, Art first joined 4-H "because of my parents' interest in it." Art's mother would not deny their part in her son's success because she believes, "In order for the kids to be successful in 4-H, they have to come from families where the kids come first."

She believes that the best clubs are those where the parents attend meetings along with the children.

Mrs. Sias speaks from years of experience. She, too, received recognition at the awards banquet, but she laughs, "I think it was a mistake." It seems that she received the same 15-year leadership pin last year.

One thing is certain, she deserves specific recognition for 13 years as leader of the Alma-Scio Cooks.

In all the years, Mrs. Sias has had nothing but good experiences in 4-H and has met no one but "good people." She feels the 4-H experience is valuable because it gives young people a good self-image and helps them find who they are. She does not forget that "The kids also learn something worthwhile through their projects."

Mrs. Sias does not believe the 4-H clubs have a "new" appeal to city children these days because she can always remember city people in the groups. However, she does feel there has been a shifting of emphasis in 4-H clubs. "It used to be that we really liked to see kids finish whatever they started. Now, they don't so much care if the kids see things through, as long as they try something new."

Mrs. Sias laments this "relaxing of standards" but once again feels it is the parents that make the difference. She thinks if there were more training sessions on the county level to keep the adult leaders on their toes, the clubs could maintain higher standards.

The Siases were not the only Chelsea area residents to stand up and be counted at the awards night. Dorothy Ottoman also received a 15-year leadership pin, and Mrs. Claudia Lindemann was honored for five years of work.

Gloria Greenleaf, Doris Butler, Mrs. Lynn Donkin, Mrs. Diane Barton, and Lloyd Grau each took home a pin and a certificate for their year of leadership.

A group of 200 listened to Dr. Gordon Beckstrand, recently the director of 4-H in Michigan, speak before the 75 awards were given.

The Terrific Tailors earned an Award Banner and Diane Sodi of the Wide-Awake club won recognition for bread and clothing projects.

The contest is sponsored locally by Palmer's.

Regional Planning Committee Studies Zoning in Townships

Most of the recent Chelsea Area Regional Planning Committee meeting was devoted to a continuation of CARPC's investigation into the plans and problems of neighboring planning commissions.

After Thomas Dmoch announced that the Village Council will notify township supervisors of council actions regarding rezoning, boundary changes, and the use of special permits, John Tandy took the floor to explain the planning activities in Dexter township.

Having drafted its first zoning ordinance in 1981, Dexter's zoning board is presently writing the second draft of the revised ordinance. Dexter is seeking the advice of a council of professionals on the technical matters, but the township wants its residents themselves to decide policy for future land use.

The Dexter board desires the preservation of a rural landscape with a low population density, i.e., one family unit per acre. Tandy stated that the residents are trying to discourage the development of a bedroom community and the proliferation of signs and billboards.

Dexter's unresolved problems include increasingly crowded conditions around the lakes from a growing number of year-around residents, and the enforcement of zoning ordinances.

Tandy continually stressed the need for local control of local problems, and the importance of protecting the interests of the majority of the residents.

He concluded that the old zoning ordinance has value and has prevented some unfortunate situations from arising, but that the new ordinance, which will be adopted in 1973, will be better designed to prevent future problems.

Questions about the possibility of state control over ordinances, the zoning for mobile homes, and the reaction of insurance companies to certain types of zoning regulations followed.

The representative from Lyndon township, L. D. Guinan, took over with a description of the beautiful hills, lakes, recreation lands, and farms that make up Lyndon. He also mentioned his appreciation of the Irishmen who settled the area. Lyndon's first zoning ordinance was enacted in 1958. In 1958 zoning was voted down, and was not readopted until 1968. Currently the township is rezoning much of its land from agricultural usage to low density housing.

Guinan explained that one-third of the township is owned by the State Conservation Department, and that only five full-time farmers now make their living from the land. He concluded his

of any kind, he will be unable to give.

Teeth extractions within two days of the donation, or oral surgery within two weeks will also make giving impossible.

If an individual has been vaccinated within two weeks of the time of giving, or if he has too many red blood cells in his blood, he will not be able to participate in the program at this time.

A diabetic on medication will have the same difficulty. A penicillin injection within a month, or any antibiotics within two weeks will also disqualify a donor.

One's general health is also a factor. An active cold will make an individual an undesirable donor. Gifts must also weigh more than 110 pounds. The program also cannot take blood from individuals who were in Vietnam during the past three years.

The first question that will greet a volunteer blood-donor is "Have you eaten lately?" The Red Cross people ask that morning givers eat a light or fatty breakfast, and that those who come in the afternoon eat similarly at lunch.

The entire process takes about an hour which, according to the Red Cross, is not much time considering the importance of your contribution.

consideration Tuesday is not expected to diverge greatly from the main concepts presented with the May analysis.

Then, the main thrust was the desire to preserve agriculture as the dominate factor in the economy. The planners hope to respect the low and water related lands, limiting development on lands adjacent to the creek.

Development will be allowed only where the soil is suitable, according to the Soil Conservation service analysis.

Finally, the planners recognize the rich historic heritage in the township and they feel it should be preserved.

Michigan Ablaze With Fall Color

Although Jack Frost already has touched the fringes of some forests, this state's peak fall color viewing season is not expected to begin until the end of September, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The sumac plant—whose brilliant red signals that 85 species of hard and softwood trees are about to go from green to shades of yellow, orange and scarlet—is just starting to turn in the north. There are more than 19 million acres of Michigan forests and woodlands where the tourist may view color this fall, states Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. "Fall color will be reflected in 11,000 inland lakes, along 36,000 miles of river and stream and 251 miles of Great Lakes shoreline," Ratke estimates. 600,000 families should take special trips now through October to view colors, and they should spend $50 million, a five percent increase over last fall.

How long the color season lasts in any area depends on the weather. Cold weather with heavy frost and strong winds means a short season, while warm weather with sunny days helps color remain in an area up to two weeks.

The annual fall spectacular begins to peak in the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula in the Upper Peninsula near the end of September, adds Ratke. "The show then begins a 50- to 75-mile-a-week march southward."

This means that those who wish to follow the colors can begin viewing in the Upper Peninsula this month, and continue watching until the show ends 400 miles later in southern Michigan at the end of October, says Ratke. He adds that the average couple traveling 300 miles on a color tour can expect to spend $70 to $100 from Friday night to Sunday night.

Almost anywhere that a person travels in the state, special color tours have been arranged by chambers of commerce. All a person has to do is stop at the local chamber office and ask for information and special maps. Auto Club's calendar for view-

Cider Mills Across State Flourish When Fall Arrives

If anything confirms the arrival of fall, it's cider and doughnuts, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

There are dozens of cider mills and presses throughout the state which cater to customers and do a flourishing business from October through December, or even later. Many attract huge weekend crowds.

Cider mills or businesses are found in most counties across southern Michigan.

One of the newest is at Parshallville, yet it's in one of Michigan's oldest buildings—a century-old grist mill that stopped grinding flour and corn only a few years ago.

From the four-story mill whose original career was all but finished, William A. Richards and his wife, Sue, have created a historical showpiece. They have installed apple-pressing equipment, visible to spectators through a glass window, in what was once a storage portion of the mill. They also have installed gift shops, of an early American nature.

While changed, the old Livingston county mill retains much of its early flavor. The old, ponderous machinery is intact and is used for demonstration purposes.

For 43 years, the mill was operated by Tom Walker, the third generation of his family to be the miller there. He retired three years ago, partly because of health, partly because the old milling business wasn't the same.

Parshallville is 10 miles north of Brighton and a mile off US-23, going west from the Clyde Rd. exit. Roads to the mill are well-marked.

The Parshallville mill, now called "Tom Walker's Grist Mill" by the present owners, is open from 10 a.m. to dusk Tuesday through Sunday from now through November. It is closed Mondays.

Another popular mill in eastern Michigan is the Franklin Cider Mill on 14 Mile and Franklin Rds. in Franklin Village. The mill also is among the oldest in Michigan, dating from 1837, the year Michigan became a state. Like Parshallville, it was a flour and grist mill in its earlier days.

Original lumber in the Franklin mill was white oak, white pine and black walnut, all hewed and finished by hand. Except for the roof and siding, it is still intact and in good condition. The apple press now being used is of European origin, and is believed to date from the early 19th century.

Other cider mills which will operate this fall, their addresses and hours include:

Franklin Cider Mill—7450 Franklin Rd. at 14 Mile, Franklin, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily except Sunday to 8 p.m.

Rich View Fruit Farm, a half mile west of Martin (near Allegan), 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

Hilltop Cider Mill—Hartland Rd.,

a half mile south of State Rd. School, Fenton, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

Almont Cider Mill, 622 Van Dyke (M-53), Almont, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. Closed Monday.

Maple Lawn Cider Mill, Cleveland Ave., five miles north of Galien, near Buchanan, 8 a.m. to dusk daily.

Your local Auto Club office or Chamber of Commerce may know of other cider mills or presses operating in your area.

Because of possible time changes and local conditions, it might be advisable to phone before starting out to visit these places.

Nearly nine cents out of every dollar spent for farm-produced goods goes to pay for packing costs. Of the consumer's $101.6 billion bill for these foods, a whopping $8.3 billion was spent for containers and packaging materials needed to get them from the farm to the table. Paper products topped the list, accounting for 42 percent of packaging costs. Metal containers accounted for 22 percent; glass, 9 percent; plastic, 9 percent; wood, textiles and miscellaneous, 18 percent.

Federal Food Assistance Is Available

Red Cross is heavily involved in a national campaign to identify and enroll elderly and disabled individuals who may be eligible for Federal Food Assistance.

Mrs. Malcolm Balkley of Dexter, is Red Cross volunteer recruitment chairman for Washtenaw county, while Mrs. George Frisinger is in charge of the program in the Chelsea area.

Project FIND was devised by Dr. Arthur Flemming, chairman of the White House Conference on Aging. The program began when Social Security checks were received in August by more than 27 million individuals throughout the country. Each person received an explanatory brochure and a postcard which they could return should they need assistance.

Approximately 13 cards were returned by local residents. Volunteers will telephone or visit those individuals who are interested in learning more about their possible eligibility for Food Assistance.

Anyone in the Chelsea area who is interested in being contacted should either mail their card to Project FIND or they may phone Red Cross at 971-5300.

Almost daily in the papers you read how the financial affairs of this County are being handled. Deficits over several years, budget over-spending, co-mingling of funds, inaccurate or no figures, documents lost or misplaced, officials bickering about their responsibilities, and more. It is time for qualified people in positions of responsibility and leadership.

Career Education Program Develops in Washtenaw County

Career Education encompasses the total spectrum of education starting at the kindergarten level and continuing through the community college and beyond. It is a total integration of the college, general and vocational curriculum which in effect, relates all education to career development.

Career Education provides career orientation at the elementary level, Career exploration at the junior high or middle school level, and specific skill development at the senior high level with the culmination coming with a two-year certificate from a community college or a four-year degree.

Recently, Career Education has been given a very high priority by the U. S. Office of Education. This has been primarily due to Dr. Sidney Marland, U. S. Commissioner of Education, who has taken an analytical look at Education in the United States. His analysis has brought to light some very revealing facts.

In the March 1972 issue of the American Vocational Journal, Dr. Marland related these statistics: "Of every 10 students in a high school two receive occupational training and three go to college (although one of these drops out). To put it another way, during 1970-71, 850,000 elementary and secondary students dropped out of school. 750,000 general education students graduated from high school but did not attend college and were not prepared to enter the labor market. There were 850,000 high school students who entered college in 1970. These three groups comprise an estimated total of 2,450,000 young people who should have had an opportunity for a realistic education in career development but did not."

The Division of Vocational Education and Career Development Service in Lansing, in keeping with this emphasis, has designated 49 Career Education Planning Districts (CEPD), throughout the state. Washtenaw county has been designated as CEPD No. 43.

These CEPD's have been given the responsibility for developing annual and long range plans for the development for Career Education in Michigan schools.

Since the fall of the 1971-72 school year, the superintendent of the local districts, the intermediate District Superintendent and the President of Washtenaw Community College have been committed to the planning and implementation of the Career Education concept in Washtenaw county. Through their efforts, a spirit of co-operation has developed in Washtenaw county between all of the educational agencies.

One of the first steps in the planning phase was to form an advisory group of lay people. The Co-ordinating Council was formed with the membership representing each district in the county.

Industry, business, labor, law enforcement and educators served on this council and were very much involved in this planning process. In Washtenaw county, the first phase of this planning effort focused on the secondary occupational program. These are the programs that will prepare a student to enter the labor market by providing him with the necessary entry level skills.

The plan, calling for co-operative sharing of teachers and facilities, was submitted in March of 1972 and recently received final approval from the State Department of Education. In sharing programs, many of which will operate past the normal closing time of 3:30, more efficient use may be made of existing costly facilities, thereby eliminating the expense involved in new construction. At the same time many more students will be given the opportunity to acquire job skills.

This shared-time concept, as it is being called, will be financed with State funds on an "added cost" basis.

$8 million has been allocated by the Michigan legislature for the added cost of operating occupational programs in Michigan during 1972-73. Washtenaw county is eligible to receive $247,752 of this added cost money.

The Veterans Administration periodically advises veterans that the agency is not affiliated with private cemetery operators offering veterans burial plots "free" or "at nominal costs."

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER:

I am writing in response to your reply to the letter of a girl in the eighth grade. She wrote that several of her girlfriends always have boyfriends, but she doesn't. Well, I am also a girl who was just in the eighth grade and I feel your advice to her was simply horrid!

First off, you told her that she was not mature enough for a lasting friendship with a boy if her intentions were just to keep up with her girlfriends. No one said this was her intention, but even if so, maybe she feels left out. Everybody wants to be accepted by someone or by a crowd, because they want to feel that they belong.

You called both my boyfriend and I immature, by your reply. And we have been going together for over a year! Why don't you give kids a chance to grow up? Don't try to make our decisions for us. Advice is O. K. as long as you present both sides of a story, after all, kids like to be given a choice, too. I'm glad I never follow your advice, and I bet you won't print this letter.

OUR REPLY: We still stick with our advice for the letter that you are commenting about. We didn't call everyone in the eighth grade immature, only those in the frenzied circle of frequent romances. We also feel that our reply does just what you are asking about: we suggested she have a chance to grow up by trying to get out of that immature cycle and concentrate on developing a mature personality and outlook. Otherwise, she might just go on looking for shallow, frequent romances without every truly possessing one of life's greatest joys - love.

If you have a teen-age problem you want to have discussed or an observation to make, address your letter to "For and About Teen-Agers," Community and Suburban Press Service, in care of this newspaper.

4-H Bonanza Slated Saturday

Members of the Chelsea area 4-H clubs are among the 117,000 4-H members in Michigan who will benefit from the 4-H Bonanza to be held Saturday, Oct. 14, at Jenison Field House, Michigan State University.

"Not only do we hope that the 4-H Bonanza will increase our potential for membership in the Michigan 4-H program, but also our potential for training volunteer leaders who provide inspiration and challenge to increase the talents and aspirations of youth," says Ralph E. Kirch, executive director of the Michigan 4-H Foundation.

Bonanza will open with a dinner Friday, Oct. 13 hosted by entertainer Art Linkletter. Also attending the banquet will be television personality Sue Ane Langdon, Al Kaline, Gordie Howe, the singing Conti family, astronaut David McDewitt and many of Michigan's business and agriculture leaders. Tickets are available to the public.

But the main event of the 4-H Bonanza is the auction Saturday, Oct. 14, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. More than $100,000 worth of items have been donated for the auction.

Items to be auctioned off include a tractor, various household appliances, an Apache camper, sailboat, minibike, heifers and steers, registered horses, dairy calves and cows, sheep, swine, field crops, vacations, and many more items.

Among the more unusual of the items are a 238-pound Petoskey stone, a $50,000 Arabian mare, and a heifer donated by hockey star Gordie Howe.

Admission to the auction is free and includes entertainment by Linkletter, Miss Langdon, and others.

In addition to the auction, many smaller donated items will be sold at a flea market. Samples of all donated items will be on display during the auction, and will represent more than 50 Michigan businesses and organizations.

Proceeds from Bonanza will be used for 4-H program enrichment and expansion. Part of the money will be used for the expansion of Camp Kett, the leadership training center for Michigan's 20,000 volunteer 4-H leaders. Other funds will be used for the sponsorship of 4-H adult and teen leader training conferences, seed money to initiate new 4-H programs (such as for the disadvantaged) until permanent funding can be obtained, and support of Michigan's 4-H Awareness teams.

Washtenaw county chairmen for Bonanza are Richard Lotz and K. Ross Childs, business and industry, and Herman Koenn, agriculture.

VETERAN LOANS
The Government said it was offering low-interest business loans of up to $50,000 and counseling to low-income Vietnam-era veterans. It also stated it would direct Federal contracts to veteran businesses.

The record $286 million in insurance dividends due 4.1 million veterans this year are not subject to federal income tax, the Veterans Administration advised recently.

Association for Retarded Children Serves as Co-ordinator

Editor's Note: This is the next to the last article in a series describing the functions and services to Chelsea by the Community Chest member agencies.

When asked how many Chelsea citizens he has helped this year, Norman Quackenbush, director of the Association for Retarded Children, emphatically explained, "We provide a service to the entire community by attempting to assure education and training facilities for retarded individuals." He convincingly argues that the service he offers has little to do with head counts.

"We do not operate any facility here. We work as a co-ordinator, a referral service for parents," Quackenbush operates that referral service on the motto, "If we can't refer you to help immediately, we will make it our personal project to find someone who can, and we will get back to you." That is a small task with a staff of two.

Although the Association does not support any facilities itself, it does take the responsibility to see that facilities are provided. "We feel the special education students in the public schools today are our concern because we urged just such programs 10, 15, 20 years ago."

The association is also partly responsible for the teachers who teach these special classes because, "we make sure universities are training that kind of teacher."

Quackenbush is an advocate for retarded children not only with legislatures and educators, but with mental health agencies, public health agencies, and any where the mentally retarded individual's case needs to be argued.

Although advocacy is its principal activity, the association also offers the direct service of transportation for students to three programs, a day training program, a multiple handicapped program, and an adult activities program in Ann Arbor. Two Chelsea residents are transported in Association vehicles to the latter program.

Social Security Benefit Checks Reflect Increase

Social Security benefit payments to residents of Michigan will be increased by a total of $373 million in calendar year 1973 as a result of the recently-enacted 20 percent benefit increase, Ann Arbor district manager, Robert A. Kehoe, has announced. In 1973, the first full calendar year during which the higher benefits will be payable, the 1,129,000 social security beneficiaries in Michigan will receive a total of $2,196,000,000 in benefits. Washtenaw county has a total of 20,364 beneficiaries with 1,145 of them residing in Chelsea.

The first checks to include the 20 percent increase will reach beneficiaries next Tuesday, Oct. 3, the regular date for the delivery of checks for the month of September—the month for which the increase is effective. Kehoe said that beneficiaries need not take any action because the increase will come to them automatically, and reminded that since there is no retroactivity to the increase, there will be no special "catch-up" check in addition to the regular monthly checks. All increases will not be precisely 20 percent, he added, because the amounts will be rounded to the nearest dime in most cases. He also added that some people who received reduced benefits (generally those who filed prior to age 65) may receive an amount in variance with 20 percent because the increase is figured on the original unreduced amount and then added to the reduced figure the beneficiary actually receives.

Another Chelsea resident, a little girl, was greatly aided by the Association last year. She was ready to begin school at the Special Education Center on Jackson Rd., but there was no transportation available for her. It took Quackenbush until January to "break a bus free for her," but he finally did it. From then on she was transported daily, at considerable cost to the agency, in her own private bus. "And I'll do it again if there's no other way for her to get to school," says Quackenbush.

Quackenbush wants to make it clear, however, that it is state and federal funds that run the buses; The Community Chest funds keep the office going. "Without this office, there wouldn't be all the programs for the disabled citizens we now have."

Frosh Grid Team Downs Lincoln, 20-12

Lincoln High's young Railsplitters axed Chelsea Freshmen Wednesday, Oct. 4, with a 20-12 defeat, slicing what was an even 1-1 record into 1-2 for the season.

Chelsea received the kickoff, and fumbled the first play. Lincoln capitalized on this break by scoring their first touchdown, and making the extra points.

Another Chelsea fumble offered Lincoln's team a second try, which they successfully took, pounding out a score of 14-0.

Dave Murphy brought Chelsea back into the ball game with an 80-yard touchdown dash on an intercepted pass. The pass for the conversion, however, was incomplete.

Neither team could move the ball decisively in the second quarter, so Lincoln went off with a 14-6 lead at half-time.

The Railsplitters came back with a powerful blow, again hammering a Chelsea fumble home for a touchdown. This proved to be Lincoln's last score, although they tried a field goal later in the third quarter.

Chelsea gathered some offensive momentum in the fourth period, which climaxed with a pass from Kevin Kelly to Jim Boyer for a 43-yard touchdown play. The kick was wide.

Bulldog linebackers John Storey and John Elliott were largely responsible for keeping Lincoln stymied after their two touchdowns.

Chelsea's many fumbles were especially costly in the face of Lincoln's quick defensive line. Chelsea will continue to pay dearly for this game because of the loss of Dave Murphy. The leg injury he acquired Wednesday night will keep him away from the battlefield the rest of the season.

The Freshmen tangled with Michigan Center yesterday, and are now looking forward to breaking the three-year losing streak they have had against Tecumseh. They will attempt revenge at home Oct. 18.

SIAMESE TWINS: N. H. Miles displays a rarity found in his family garden. This golden, rice vegetable, which measures almost a foot long, and seven inches across, appears to be two perfectly shaped cucumbers fused together. Miles speculates, "Two, instead of one, small cucumbers must have poked through the flower." The cucumber, which was planted by daughter Karen, was discovered after the frost Monday night killed the vines. Miles has shown this twist of nature to many people, but only his neighbor, Sylvester Weber, whose father used to grow seed cucumbers by the acre, had ever seen such a mutation before. "We just resumed family gardening this year," says Miles. "It is a lot of work, and you can buy it cheaper, but the pleasure of picking and eating your own vegetables is worth it."

Postal Service Will Offer 'Speedy' Special Delivery

A system to speed up special delivery of airmail and first class letters, flats and small parcels will be added to the U. S. mail on Oct. 1.

Chelsea Postmaster Richard Schauls said postal authorities recognize the need to improve special delivery service. He noted that Postmaster General E. T. Klassen recently told a press conference in Washington, D. C., that "special delivery service for many years has been a disgrace."

At that time Klassen announced plans to install a nation-wide improvement program based on the use of a self-identifying plastic "speedy bag." The speedy bags will be used within the mail system to keep special delivery mail from losing its way among millions of other pieces of mail.

Postmaster Schauls noted that a six-month test program executed at 4,500 post offices in the West "has shown a reliability rate in the high 90s."

Speedy special delivery bags are made of polyethylene and are 20" by 30". The Postal Service eagle and the words "speedy" and "special delivery" are imprinted in green.

"All special delivery letters, flats and small parcels normally dispatched in mail pouches will be placed in speedy bags," Postmaster Schauls said. "The speedy bags then will be placed in a mail pouch or loose pack in such a manner that approximately four inches of the green imprint on the speedy bags is exposed when the pouch or loose pack is closed."

"Upon arrival at the destination or next processing office, pouches containing speedy bags are opened first and the speedy bag is removed and immediately taken to the distribution area for priority processing," Postmaster Schauls explained.

He said that studies have shown special delivery mail to be delayed within post offices when it gets intermixed with standard first class mail. This caused it to miss special delivery "runs," he said.

Postmaster Schauls pointed out that the public also frequently contributes to slow movement of special delivery mail when special delivery boxes or other mail deposit points without checking whether there will be an expeditious pickup afterwards.

"Special delivery mail is best deposited at a post office where it can move promptly to the station that will finally deliver it," he said. "Mallers should consider whether a particular item should go via air mail special delivery to insure fastest possible movement in transit as well as at the destination," he said.

Washtenaw Soil Conservation District Hosts Regional Meet

By Julius Pigott
U. S. Soil Conservation Service

The Washtenaw County SCD was the recent host for this year's regional Meeting of Soil Conservation Districts held at the Pittsfield Grange Hall on Saline-Arn Arbor Rd. Attending the meeting were representatives from Soil Conservation Districts throughout southeastern Michigan.

Theme of this year's meeting was "Strengthening the District's Role in Pollution Abatement Due to Agriculture and Land Use Changes." Slides were shown by Soil Conservation Service District Conservationist Clark Eacker of Ann Arbor on urban erosion and measures being taken to correct them.

Urban construction sites were singled out as one of the main sources of pollution. Education of the public, and city and township ordinances were determined to be possible corrective measures. Don Schaner, assistant secretary of the State Conservation Committee, stated that the state trend is sediment control ordinances. Ralph Hart of Ingham county SCD related that working with developers on a voluntary basis could also be beneficial.

Solid wastes and animal wastes were concluded to be the second most important problem. Education of proper manure spreading was felt to be important. It was pointed out that Monroe County Commissioners are asking the Monroe county SCD to be a member of their Sewage Treatment Committee.

The third major pollution source was determined to be abrupt land use change and unwise use of land. Districts were asked to direct their activities toward the major pollution problems and priorities in their counties.

A business meeting was held after lunch while Russell Beeman of the Washtenaw County Extension Service entertained the Director's wives with a flower arranging demonstration. Merrill Smith, Monroe county SCD chairman, was re-elected for a two-year term of regional director and Robert Rumm, South Livingston county SCD chairman, as alternate.

Next year's host for the Regional Meeting will be Macomb County Soil Conservation District.

Homemaking Hints

Corrugated paper furniture in the latest development in the low-priced furniture field. You can buy tables, stools, seating units—even clocks and lamps—in bright colors. They are lightweight and can be knocked down.

Here's a recipe for Lamb Salad with Curry that will serve four, but if you don't have two cups of lamb leftover, have the recipe for two servings: To two cups diced cooked lamb add one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup diced celery, one chopped hardcooked egg, eight pitted, ripe olives, sliced and one teaspoon chopped pimiento. Chill. Add one teaspoon curry powder to one-fourth cup of mayonnaise; mix with other ingredients and serve on lettuce.

Wintertime or not, a roast just must come to the table every so often or the family feels a bit slighted in the menu department. When you're purchasing a roast get a big one. Meat leftovers, most usable anytime, are really at a premium at the end of summer and during the early fall, when the days are still hot and humid.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Munro

R. Munros Observe 50th Anniversary

There was a reunion as well as a wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Ross Munro of 223 Washington St. this week-end. Their daughter Karen, Mrs. John Makis, and her husband and year-old son, Chris, arrived from Boston for the occasion.

From Peoria, Ill., came their son, Loren, with his four children and wife, the former Joyce Malott. Her mother, Mrs. Eugene Malott, lives in Chelsea on Old US-12.

Mr. Munro married Viva Myers Oct. 10, 1922. He worked at Federal Screw Works until he retired a few years ago.

The anniversary was remembered with a small family gathering.

Legion Auxiliary Meet Attended By District Officers

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held Oct. 10, at the Legion Home on Cavendish Lake. 12 members and guests attended.

Three members, Mrs. Delphine Bolanowski, Mrs. Mary Johnson, and Mrs. Ruth Christwell attended the Fall Conference in Flint the latter part of September.

Dues are now due, and should be paid to Mrs. Gay Bolanowski, membership chairman, of Grass Lake.

The District President, Mrs. Frank (Cara) Buick and secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Trapp, were guests at the meeting. Mrs. Buick gave a report on the plans she has for the year.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 7, at the home of Mrs. Gay Bolanowski, 542 Oakdale, at 8 p.m.

Capitli-Kayser Engagement Told

Alia Capitli and Theodore Kayser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kayser of 4701 Kalmbach, are planning a November wedding here in Chelsea.

The bridegroom-elect is presently working in Ann Arbor where his fiancée is attending Preston Academy. The bride-to-be has parents, Tranquillino and Rufina Bastista Capitli live in the Philippines.

The wedding will be Nov. 18 at Barnabas Episcopal church, with a reception following.

Boiled tongue is an "ace" in the refrigerator for meat platters or combining with salads for a cold meal. It's easy to cook and all a fresh or smoked beef tongue is convenient for future use. Just cover with water, cover tightly and simmer until tender, 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 hours. Plunge tongue in cold water, remove skin and slice as desired.

VFW Auxiliary Receives Citation for Community Service

A regular session of VFW Auxiliary No. 4076 was held Monday Oct. 9, in the Rebekah Hall, with 13 members and two guests present.

Mildred Sebrell, sixth district president, and Donna Bennett of Auxiliary No. 701, Lansing, were introduced.

The local auxiliary received a citation from the Department of Michigan, as did the president, for community service during the last year.

Elected into membership were Wilma Parker, Grass Lake, and Jean Potoczny, formerly of Flint, who is now transferring to the local auxiliary.

Reports of the Pow Wow held at Boyne Mountain were given by Mary Knies and Geraldine Klink.

Five dollars was donated to the local Community Chest. Ten dollars will be given to the Dorothy Mann Memorial, at Bar Harbor, Me., for cancer research. Mrs. Mann was a past Department of Michigan president, and now deceased. Ten dollars was also sent to the National Home to be used for fire detection equipment in the house mother's cottage.

The sixth district meeting will be held Nov. 5, at Erie Auxiliary Post No. 3943. Several members plan to attend the third annual Veterans Day Sunday service on Oct. 23, in Pinckney, at the Congregational church.

Chairman Imogene Slocum, Ruby Bauer, Gail Bauer, and Mary Kaye Slocum will organize the October social meeting, Oct. 23. The next business session will be Nov. 13, at 8 p.m. in Rebekah Hall.

Medical Care Auxiliary Plans Semi-Annual Meet

The Washtenaw County Medical Care Auxiliary will hold their semi-annual meeting at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 18, at the Juvenile Court Center, 2270 Platt Rd. Executive Board members will meet at 1 p.m.

Sam Breck, public relations director of the John Gard Co., will be the principal speaker.

The meeting is open to all interested persons, members and their friends.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the general meeting.

Twenty-seven percent of Michigan citizens derive some part of their income from agriculture.

Federation of Women's Clubs Fall Meeting Slated Next Monday

The Washtenaw Federation of Women's Clubs will hold their fall meeting on Oct. 16, at the Calvary United Methodist church, 1415 Miller Rd., Ann Arbor, under the direction of its president, Mary Wood, of Saline, and with the Westside Ann Arbor Woman's Club acting as hostess.

There will be a brief board meeting at 12:30 p.m., with registration at 1 p.m., and the business meeting at 1:30 p.m., followed by a tea served by the hostess club.

The program chairman, Mrs. Alfred Coxon, president of the Southeastern District Federation, will introduce the speaker, Helen F. Gilbert, chairman of the International Affairs Department of the Southeastern District Federation, who will give a presentation on her department.

Rebekah Lodge

Members from the local Rebekah Lodge No. 139 traveled to Parma, Ohio, Tuesday night. Drivers were Mrs. Loydell Keezer, Dorothy Keezer and Marian Pickell.

Filling the cars were Nadine Packard, noble grand of Chelsea Lodge, Elsie Hinz, Ida Nixon, Nina Lehman, Edith White, Eulalie Packard, Lucille Alstetter, and Lina Reul.

Mrs. Corrie Dunlap, Helen Sibbey, and Virginia Johnson were along to be initiated into the Chelsea lodge. Parma's Degree Staff performed the obligations. Approximately 39 attended the meeting.

The next District Officers Visitation will be held at Parma, Oct. 24, at 8 p.m.

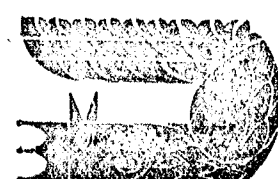

Mrs. Loydell Keezer and Mrs. Elsie Hinz are delegates to the 86th Assembly of Michigan Rebekahs Lodge at Grand Rapids from Oct. 10-13. Mrs. Packard will also be going.

Mrs. Keezer will be awarded the Decoration of Chivalry, the highest honor bestowed on any Rebekah. It is given annually at the Assembly.

THE MUSIC MAN: Dwight Bolanowski has been responsible for the sound of music at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Dexter for the last two years. A Chelsea High school graduate with the class of 1971, he will leave the keyboard Monday to join the Navy.

Veteran Church Organist at 18 Leaves for Navy Service

Dwight Bolanowski, at the ripe age of 18, has retired to start a new life. His old career, which lasted two years and three months, ended Sunday when he stepped down from the organ at St. Joseph Catholic church in Dexter, for the last time, at least for a while. Monday he flies to San Diego to begin a life in the Navy. "If I like it, I'll make a career of it," he says.

Dwight's music career began by chance six years ago when his parents walked into a music store "just to look." They came home with a small Gulbransen organ on which Dwight taught himself to play "Silent Night." Soon he was taking lessons, and his parents bought larger organs twice to keep up with his skills. Now they have a horse shoe-shaped instrument that makes the entire house shake when Dwight turns it up. "But I don't do that very often," he says.

Dwight may have inherited a facility for music from his father who plays by ear. "There were times when I couldn't get a piece, and Dad would just sit down and play it right off,"

Dwight recalls with some exasperation. It was also Walter Bolanowski who was instrumental in finding Dwight the job at St. Joseph church.

When Father Thaddeus J. Bozenski met the older Bolanowski at a K. of C. meeting in Ann Arbor, he mentioned that he was looking for an organist. "I went over and played a couple of tunes," says Dwight, "and got the job."

Even though Dwight was still attending Chelsea High at the time, he was no amateur on the organ. He had already won honors at two talent nights, sponsored by the Civitan club. With a medley of songs he won first place in the senior division, first time around, and a second the next year.

Dwight soon found he was not only playing for the church services but organizing a choir with the help of Father Bozenski. And he began playing for weddings and receptions, too.

Even with this demanding schedule, Dwight never felt pressured about practicing. For one thing, he only practices when the mood is right. "I can't face it when I'm not in the mood." But there are other times. "Sometimes I can play for one and a half hours when it seems like just a short time," says the organist.

Dwight also admits, "There were times when I'd come home from school angry, and I'd sit down and take my tension out by playing. Then I'd feel better." Dwight has played almost every church organ in the area, and he concludes, "St. Paul's is really nice." It is a pipe organ, which he prefers to electronic organs. He had to get used to the delayed sounds, which is "hard because you hear your mistake after you've played it, and there is no way to correct it."

He gets overwhelmed when he thinks of truly great organs like the one the Mormon Tabernacle Choir sings with in Salt Lake City. He marvels, "It has 10,500 pipes. I'd get lost underneath all that!"

He was always very happy playing at St. Joseph's, partly because there is a choir loft there. "I sit up behind the congregation, and they can't see me if I make a mistake."

Dwight took lessons for five years from many teachers. "It's good to keep changing teachers, because each one can teach something different," he explains. He left one teacher, however, for a more personal reason. "He started growing long hair and a beard, and I couldn't stand to sit by him."

Dwight continues to learn. "I like listening to other players because no one plays a piece the same. You can always learn something new."

Dwight's interest in "something new" was a main reason for his enlisting in the Navy last April. "It will be different, and I want to see the world," Dwight says.

His choice of the Navy was also influenced by his experience on a "beautiful boat" in the Bahamas, during his senior trip. "I never thought ships could be so nice," he says.

Dwight cannot pursue his music full-time in the service because they require skill on three instruments before accepting a recruit into the music program. Dwight hopes to keep in practice on a chapel organ, if he can find one available.

After his nine weeks of basic training, he plans to be home for Christmas. Waiting for him at home, besides his parents, will be his sister Delphine. He has an older brother and an older sister, both of whom are married.

Although Dwight is looking forward to his new life, he says he will miss the many people he has met through his organist position. "In that job, the entire congregation knows you."
