Blood Bank Clinic Falls Short of Needs

was a real disappointment," Mrs. William Rademacher says, "I really know the reason, but it was the worst turn out we've ever had."

It was the first day of hunting for blood, a coincidence which has plagued the blood drive but Mrs. Rademacher doesn't account for the lack of donors.

Stumped, she says, "I don't know how to make them give if they're not inclined." The disappointing figures reveal the blood bank collected 77 of blood from the 97 people made the effort to give. The mobile staff was forced to return 20 would-be givers for various reasons. This contribution is significantly lower than the 93 112 Chelsea residents gave last year.

What adds to Mrs. Rademacher's concern is that Chelsea "was ready in the red." Last year, pints of blood were needed for Chelsea residents, draining their life-saving account dry. Chelsea will very likely overdraw itself again this year.

In spite of her disappointment, Mrs. Rademacher has not lost sight of the generous contribution made by those who did come, and by those who spent their entire day working last Friday. She extends a sincere thank you to all those who came and gave in their way.

The Bloodmobile was manned by three nurses: Mrs. Julia Thornbury, Miss Gertrude Young, and Mrs. Gerald Blanchard. Mrs. Audrey Musbach, Mrs. Donald Baldwin, and Mrs. Clifford Heydauff worked at the registration table. Dr. Linda Cohen was on hand from the Chelsea Medical Clinic.

Mrs. Chester Keizer was in charge of the following aides: Mrs. Lyle Haselwerdt, Mrs. Haskell Warden, Mrs. Donald Eder, Mrs. Toivo Rihhimaki, Mrs. Homer Nixon, Mrs. Erwin Haist, Mrs. Larry Chapman, and Mrs. Howard Miller.

Mrs. Warren Eisenbeiser supervised the canteen with the help of Mrs. Leslie Eisenbeiser, Mrs. Richard Ringe, Mrs. David Longworth, Mrs. Lawrence Wacker, Mrs. William Eisenbeiser, Mrs. Roland Spaulding, Mrs. Thomas McClellan, and Mrs. Aldwyn Hayes.

Mrs. Larry Dietle, chairman of the luncheon, was assisted by Mrs. Charles Lancaster, Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mrs. Paul Belser, Mrs. George Knickerbocker, Mrs. James Shadon, Mrs. Margaret Dietle, Mrs. James Daniels, Mrs. Robert Daniels, Mrs. Joseph Marzec, and Mrs. Paul Schaeble.

Chelsea residents are reminded that they may contribute to the Bloodmobile at any of its locations throughout the county, and still have the donation credited to the Chelsea account. Perhaps it is not too late to pump some life back into this drive.

Sam Brown Injured in Auto Crash

Sam Brown, whose barber shop occupies the corner of Main and Middle Sts., was involved in an automobile accident a week ago which will keep him at home for a while.

He was on his way to secure a boat for the winter when his car suddenly crossed his path on 16 Mile Rd. Unable to avoid the collision, Brown plowed into the other car, doing considerable damage to the vehicles.

Brown was able to walk away from what could have been a tragedy, but later went to the hospital for x-rays. Although there were no broken bones, several muscles were torn on his right side. Brown also suffers from several lacerations and bruises.

"He's sore!" says Tom Clough, Clough, who works in the Brown barber shop, is there to man the scissors and shears while Sam recuperates.

BLOODHADS OAA To Hold Annual Meet At Rod & Gun Club

The Loyal Order of Confirmed Deer Hunters and Deer Slayers of America Amalgamated has planned their annual meeting for Wednesday night, Nov. 1, at 7:30 p.m. This club was organized more than 20 years ago by a number of Chelsea businessmen who were so members of the Rod and Gun Club. They got together and decided that a full evening was necessary and should be devoted to telling of their experiences and various methods of getting the big buck.

The first meeting was held in the "rod and gun" club.

Bulldogs Have No Trouble With Dundee

Chelsea swamped Dundee, 25-6, on the losers' home turf Friday night, in what was the last confrontation between these two ball clubs since Dundee moves into a new league next season.

The Bulldogs were off to a flying start and 12 points in the first quarter. The scoring was performed by Bruce Guster and John Mann on runs of one and three yards. These score situations were expertly set up on punt returns by Guster and Tim Lancaster.

The second quarter saw as much Chelsea action as the first. A sharp offensive line comprised of Randy Young, Daryl West, John Tandy, Dave Tucker, Mark Grambau, Jeff Van Riper, and Mike Nadeau, repeatedly pierced Dundee's defense, allowing two sustained drives and a gain of 13 points.

Bruce Guster scored from the two-yard line while John Mann made his hit with a nine-yard pass to Mike Nadeau. Ishmael Picklesimer booted the extra point.

While the offense was successfully forging ahead, the defense was handing out negative yardage to its overwhelmed opponents. The defense was led by Jeff Van Riper, Dave Tucker, Harold Allen, Mike Merkel, Tim Lancaster, and Dan Schulze.

The Chelsea club employed the two-platoon system in the second half which allowed many young players the opportunity for valuable game experience. Those doing a good job were Chuck Foytik, Dale Poertner, John Houle, Art Paul, Keith Hume, Kevin Armstrong and Doug Hansen.

Chelsea will face South Lyon in its last home contest of the season Friday night. This will be parents' night for the varsity and cheerleaders.

EXCELLENT SPEAKING and clear thinking carried these Chelsea High debaters to victory Saturday as they competed in a state tournament at Huron High school in Ann Arbor. Betsy Belser, a senior, walked off with the first-place trophy in the JV division, and also earned acclaim for accumulating 109 out of a possible 120 points. She was the high scorer among 120 contestants. She is flanked here by other winners, (left) Brian

Smith with his first-place trophy for first affirmative speaker in the novice division, and (right) Steve Bennett who won a second-place trophy as the second affirmative speaker in the novice division. CHS Debaters Score Well In First State-Wide Tourney

Chelsea High school debaters proudly brought home more than their share of honors from the state-wide tournament at Huron High, Ann Arbor, Saturday.

Betsy Belser, the most convincing talker of the day, proved she is not a girl to argue with. She not only received the first-place trophy in the JV division, but she earned the highest number of points, shutting out the 120 contestants in all areas. She talked her way into 109 out of a possible 120 debate points. In one of her rounds she earned a perfect 30.

Betsy and Jeff Sprague, the negative side of the JV team, chalked up an undefeated record. Their counterparts on the affirmative side, Polly Van Bollinger, had a harder time of it, and were unable to score.

The novice team exercised its new but effective talents very successfully. Those arguing the affirmative side won three of the second-place trophy in his division. Coach William Coelius points out that "it's quite unique" to have a duo wrap up two prizes.

Dave Klemer, Greg Haller, Keith Cockerline, and Dale Koch, the negative side of the novice team, were also in excellent form. They came through their rounds undefeated, making the complete team record 7-1. This brought the second-place novice team trophy home to Chelsea.

This week's varsity couple, Michelle McClellan and Jennifer Lane, had a hard time making their point, and came away with one win and three losses in the difficult switch-side debates.

Coach Coelius is "very, very pleased" with the Saturday showing. He will be taking another group of talkers to Jackson Community College Saturday to participate in another state-wide tournament where they will once again face students from all classes of schools.

There is no fixed line-up yet for the debaters. Those who did well last week-end will certainly have other opportunities to compete, the coach says, but he is still substituting and rotating students so that everyone has a chance to have his say.

Chelsea's hope-inspiring 35-yard drive in the second quarter was tripped up by a fumble.

The third quarter was like an instant replay of the first. Dundee, on a first down, hovered inside the five-yard line, only to be driven back to the 25 by the adamant Chelsea defense team. Again it was a Dundee screen pass on the fourth down that let them increase their lead six points.

Chelsea's sputtering offense was balanced by the expertise of the leading defender Dennis Bauer with 15 tackles, and Rodger Stewart with 14. John Wagner and (Continued on page three)

Solicitation For UNICEF Set Sunday

If a child here in Chelsea is orphaned or sick or hungry, we all rush to help him. UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, provides us with the opportunity to give the same kind of help to children all over the world. Some of these children are the victims of war or natural disasters; others live in countries where malnutrition, disease and illiteracy are rampant.

We can't rush over with a meal, or take these children into our homes, but we can make a contribution on Halloween which will alleviate some of the misery in which they live. Even a quarter goes a long way to help.

For 25 cents UNICEF can provide: enough antibiotic ointment to cure five children of trachoma; or enough seed to produce 3,000 tomato plants; or enough BCG vaccine to protect 25 children against tuberculosis; or a basic education kit for a primary school child.

Please help our children help other children this Halloween. Teach them that we care about all children by giving generously when you hear, "Trick or Treat for UNICEF."

This year some children will have home-made canisters with the UNICEF label. They will be coming to your home on Sunday, Oct. 29, between 2 and 3 p.m.

Cross Country Team Downs Mich. Center

Chelsea cross country racers ended their season Tuesday with an impressive display of spirit. Even though they lost their second- and third-place runners, they gave it an extra try, and won the meet, passing Michigan Center, 32-23.

Coach Pat Clarke points out, "When you lose the heart of your team, and still score more points than you did in the last meet, you are doing very well." Clarke was referring to the 25 meager full Chelsea team made against Michigan Center when the two squads met earlier in the season.

In the Tuesday meet, Jim Storey took first place as he has done consistently. Jeff Sprague, who is usually Chelsea's next placer twisted his knee during warm-up, and though he tried to compete, he was forced to drop out of the race.

Second place was not lost to Chelsea, even though their third strongest man, Robin Boyer, was out sick. Doug Schrotenboer made up for the missing members (Continued on page three)

JV Gridders Downed By Dundee, 12-0

In spite of a fine performance by Chelsea defense, the Bulldog JV's fell to Dundee, 12-0, Thursday, Oct. 19.

Dundee threatened early with a first down on the one-yard line, but Chelsea defenders would have nothing of it. They rose up and pushed their opponents back to the safer 10-yard line. They held them there.

Later in the first quarter, Dundee threatened again, this time with a screen pass that led them to Chelsea's two-yard line. From there Dundee scored, but flunked the extra point test, leaving themselves a six-point lead.

Chelsea's hope-inspiring 35-yard drive in the second quarter was tripped up by a fumble.

The third quarter was like an instant replay of the first. Dundee, on a first down, hovered inside the five-yard line, only to be driven back to the 25 by the adamant Chelsea defense team. Again it was a Dundee screen pass on the fourth down that let them increase their lead six points.

Chest Fund Hits 80% of $27,000 Goal

Pat Whitesall, this year's chairman of the Community Chest United Fund Drive, was "delighted" a week ago when the clock marked the half way point, and the coffers were 50 percent full with pledges. This week, the collection continued to bring in donations on schedule. The campaigners are nosing toward their goal with 80 percent of the hoped-for $27,000 pledged.

And yet the volunteers, who have been at it for three and one-half weeks, cannot slide home. They know that 80 percent is not enough, when every cent of the proposed goal is necessary for the vitality of the 12 agencies supported by the Community Chest budget.

The campaign has moved ahead smoothly this year, free of the difficulties the new price-wage freeze caused a year ago. Although the economic restrictions are still in effect, they do not seem to inhibit donors who have now lived with them a year.

Campaigners have been busy in all areas of the community. Jean Riemenschneider has just about blanketed the residential areas, thanks to her large staff of volunteers. They have gathered promises worth $1,813.94. Their area goal is $2,061.15.

Schools are being covered by Barbara Wenk and her assistants. They have brought in $1,148.50 which approaches their goal of $1,357. The school teachers were some of the hardest hit by the price-wage freeze a year ago.

Conrad Hafner has been laboring in the industrial section, and still has $2,000 worth of pledges to work out. He and his workers have collected $18,407.35, a sturdy sum.

Paul Frisinger and assistants have been asking the commercial interests in town for their contribution. They need to collect pledges worth $2,310, and they have succeeded in rounding up $2,292. The campaigners in the professional area have not filed their latest report.

Halloween Party Slated Tuesday Night

Once again the goblin-loving Kiwanis Club is organizing its annual kiddies parade and costume contest, its successful Halloween project for more than 25 years. Tuesday night, Oct. 31, that evening of ghostly happenings, will be the occasion of the spooky procession.

Following the official trick or treat period from 5 to 6:30 p.m., costumed ghosts and ghoules will begin gathering in the Municipal Parking Lot. The costume judging will be at 6:30, with the parade following at 7 p.m.

The parade will move from the parking lot down East to Middle St., and from Middle to Main, and back to the parking lot. The Junior High band will march with the little ghosts, supplying haunting melodies. The Chelsea Fire Department will also be along to add to the fun.

After the parade, at approximately 7:15, costume prizes will be given to the winners, and cider, donuts and noisemakers will be there for everyone.

Costumes will be judged in four familiar categories: most original, most typically Halloween, funniest, and spookiest. First, second and third prizes in each category will be awarded.

Robert Benedict, this year's chairman of the event, says that the usual 600 noisemakers, 100 gallons of cider, and 140 dozen donuts have been ordered.

No doubt the hungry, thirsty spooks will perform their magic, making it all disappear in minutes.

DON'T BE AFRAID: These UNICEF solicitors will use the Halloween season to share, not to speak. They will be among the many Chelsea children to go from house to house Sunday afternoon, asking for donations to relieve the suffering of children all around the world. County Planner Will Speak to Area Planning Group

Don Pennington, a senior planner for the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission, will be the primary speaker at the Nov. 2 meeting of the Chelsea Area Regional Planning Committee.

Pennington has entitled his presentation "The Dynamics of Growth and Development as it applies to the Chelsea Region." The program will consist of three parts: (1) a discussion of regional, county, and local growth; (2) a slide session that depicts points of interest; and (3) a question and answer session.

This meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Sylvan Township Hall in Chelsea. The public is invited to attend and make comments.

Frosh Grid Team Loses To Tecumseh

Chelsea's freshmen gridders lost a defensive battle to Tecumseh, Oct. 18, in the next to last contest of the season. Hard-hitting defenders on both sides kept the score a low 6-0.

It was early in the second quarter that Tecumseh scored with a long run on an option play. They threatened again in the same period but Chelsea defenses held them at the three.

Chelsea did its share of sword rattling in the same period when a 40-yard pass from Kevin Kelly to Mark Rickelman moved the ball to the Tecumseh 24-yard line. The threat ended two plays later with an interception on the 20.

The only other teasing moment for fans was in the closing minutes of the game, when Chelsea drove deep into Indian territory. The Bulldogs had a first down on the eight but couldn't punch it in. Tecumseh took over and allowed the clock to eat up the remaining time.

The Bulldogs played a nearly faultless defensive game, continuing on page three ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS: These dedicated volunteers not only seem to support this sign, they have proved as much by giving generously of their time the last three and one-half weeks, driving the Community Chest United Fund campaign toward a successful conclusion. So far their efforts have tallied 80 percent of the desired goal. From left are Paul Frisinger, captain of the commercial district, James Hoffmeyer, publicity chairman, Marketta Satterthwaite, captain in the rural area, Pat Whitesall, chairman of the drive, and Conrad Hafner, industrial area captain.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The feller got me to thinking when they was talking recent at the country store about calling him by his right name. Right after that, I saw this piece in the paper where younguns couldn't think of nothing better to do than throw rocks through $800 worth of winders in stores. The children had done it was called juvenile delinquents.

Have you noticed, Mister Editor, when kids that git in trouble with the law come from well-to-do homes, they are called problem children? When their folks are poor, they're called juvenile delinquents. It ain't no wonder these younguns come up with strange words for that they want to say.

This feller stopped by the country store one night last week and was talking about his teenage grandson that claims to be in a "shook up" condition most of the time. He said he talked to the boy, and all he could git out of him was that teenagers usual git shook up after such "delightful disasters" as them Olympic games in Germany. The best he could figger, the boy was caught between the good and the bad that went on over there. I can see how anybody could git shook up over that.

Actual, the regular run of news items is enuff to keep a feller shook. I saw where this New York columnist said the military services pays more on storage on out-of-date equipment than the stuff was worth to start with. For instance, the Army pays $200,000 a year to keep rope in a warehouse, and the rope has been stored so long it ain't fit to use. I figger if you look again, you'll find more red tape than rope in that warehouse.

Another kind of talk that I git tired of, Mister Editor, is the line about "local boy makes good." You hear where some country feller went off to the city and prospered. I allus figger it's harder for a man to make good where everybody know him and is watching him. Usual at home a feller has one or two strikes on him cause everybody knows his grandpa was a horse thief and they remember he was caught slipping washers in the collection plate.

Saturday night at the country store, the fellers was talking about the old days, and Ed Doolittle recollected how men and wimmen carried their change in them snap-on pocketbooks. The wimmen kept theirs fastened to one of their petticoats, Ed said, but even his old lady never would tell him where exactly. Anyway, Ed said, you don't see them change purses any more, but he told the fellers that he never could recall seeing anybody carrying their change that way go on relief.

Mister Editor, I see where Connecticut is giving out-of-state folks on welfare one-way tickets home. Snap - open pocketbooks would be cheaper.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Hope for Junk
One of the uglier by products of the automotive age has been the abandonment along rural roads of junk cars whose owners find it cheaper to just ditch them than to try to repair them any more.

The problem has been especially critical in northern Michigan where thousands of junk cars threaten the beauty of prime scenic resort and recreation areas. Now the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, an economically oriented agency consisting of representatives of northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and operating with federal funds, thinks it may have a solution to the problem.

The commission allocated almost $50,000 this year to begin a program whose object is to rid the roadsides of these rusting, abandoned hulks.

Object of the demonstration project is both to remove all abandoned junkers in a county by county operation and to establish safeguards so cleaned up areas stay clean in the future.

To operate such an ambitious project on such a small budget, the commission is using specially trained teams of prison trustees for the labor force and is using surplus government heavy duty equipment. The use of trustees from the state's prison system has a side benefit in that the trustees learn how to handle heavy equipment, a job skill which can be valuable upon their release.

And in addition to removing eyesores from the roads, the project also has health by-products. Old hulks lying rotting provide excellent homes for rats and other vermin and the gasoline and oil in the cars help pollute nearby waters. This makes it rougher on rodents, but pleasanter for people. Crews which began work earlier this year already have finished in the first area they went into: Benzie county. In that one county seven-man team of volunteer prison trustees collected 389 junk cars and other large pieces of metal litter.

The crews are now working in Emmet and Cheboygan counties and plan to continue working in those counties until the first snowfall of the year. By that time they hope to have collected a total of 5,000 pieces of junk from the roadsides for the year.

The collection process itself also involves college students and volunteers who help local authorities spot junk cars and obtain the necessary releases. The junk cars are then taken to collection sites by the prisoners. The radiators, motors and gas tanks are cut out and the remainder of the hulk put into a portable crusher and transported to scrap yards.

The project also has a full-time director, Daniel R. Hinkley of Big Rapids, who was a Mecosta county health officer for six years. Hinkley managed a junk car removal program in his home county last year which removed some 4,000 cars from the roadsides.

The commission hopes to expand the program in Michigan next year and at the same time extend it into Wisconsin. Minnesota already is pursuing a removal program financed by a $1 per car tax on license transfers which is expected to bring in $800,000 a year to fund the program.

Gridders of the Week

DAVE TUCKER (78), first donned shoulder pads when he was a mighty third grader in a small town in Ohio. He started out as a tackle and remained one as his family moved to Columbus, and then on to Chelsea. Although his family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tucker, and Dave's little sister, arrived on the first day of school last year, it wasn't too late for Dave to make the team since he had contacted the coach in advance, and attended football camp with the team. Dave likes Chelsea and doesn't imagine that he'll be moving gain before he graduates next year. That means he'll be seen again on the basketball court and in the outfield in the spring. Dave is college bound, but he doesn't know the particulars yet. More immediately, he hopes to make his acting debut in Chelsea's stage when "Oliver" opens. It's difficult to size up his theatrical aspirations, however. When asked which role he wanted, he said "I'd make a pretty good tree."

HOWARD HASELSCHWARDT (77), a tackle, learned the hard way it's not always easy being the ball carrier. While carrying the ball through a drill recently, he broke his right wrist as he was tackled. Although this will keep this valuable member of Chelsea's defense off the field the rest of the season, it, hopefully, will not damage Howard's delivery from the pitching mound in the spring. He enjoys golf and waterskiing when he's not supporting Chelsea team efforts. Howard, who is the only boy in the family, surrounded by two older and two young sisters, thinks he may go to college, but there is still time for this junior to decide.

by turning on the speed to end with a 18.34 time. "We needed it, and he did it," says Clarke.

Dave Frame also made a valiant effort that paid off. Clocking his best time, and bagging his best place, Frame came in fifth. Mark Heydlauff too, broke his own record to come in seventh at 19.15. Dan Heydlauff helped Chelsea win with his finish nine seconds after his cousin. Also placing was Brad Smith, recording his best time, 20.22.

This hard-fought finale followed a less successful meet at South Lyon last Thursday, Oct. 19. There they were defeated, 43-20, on their own course.

Nevertheless, Jim Storey gave the school a great deal to be proud of as he came pounding home, smashing both the course and varsity records. His 17.05 for the three hilly miles is 43 seconds off the old course record, and 13 seconds off the varsity record which was clocked on a less difficult route.

He was followed by seven South Lyon men before Jeff Sprague entered his ninth place finish with his best time at home, 18.26.

Tenth place was Robin Boyer's with a time of 18.36. Doug Schrotenboer came across in 12th, with Dave Frame and Mark Heydlauff also placing for Chelsea in the next two spots.

The season closes with a 6-5 record for the runners. They still have two opportunities to compete before they retire for the winter. They will attend the regional meet at Holly, Saturday, before the hosting the League meet Nov. 1, at Inverness.

Rick Sweeney also helped the defensive effort with their 12 and 10 tackles, respectively. Doug Reed caught eight opponents, and Tim Orbring downed seven.

The JV's will have their hands full when they wrestle with South Lyon this afternoon. The undefeated South Lyon team defeated Milan, 48-0, last week. If Chelsea can manage to whomp this formidable club, and then go on to down Milan, the JV's will be tied for the conference championship.

Missionary Christmas Will Be Observed at Immanuel Bible Church

"Missionary Christmas" will be observed at Immanuel Bible church Sunday evening, Oct. 29, with a buffet supper, beginning at 5:30 p.m. After the meal, a missionary, Art Dickinson, of Taiwan, will address the group.

Christmas music and special numbers will be part of the program. The congregation will tape their holiday greetings for each of the missionary families the church has a part in supporting.

A special offering will be taken to be divided equally among the church missionaries for a Christmas gift.

Runaway Girls Returned from Clearwater, Fla.

Two Chelsea girls, who were first reported missing Oct. 18, were returned to the area Tuesday, after being apprehended in Clearwater, Fla.

The juveniles, aged 14 and 15, were traced through a telephone call they had placed to a friend in Chelsea. The local police in Florida were then notified.

One of the girls flew back at her parents' expense while the bill for the other must be paid by the state. She is its ward as a result of her long run-away record. The two are now being held at the Juvenile Detention Center.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Do you believe everything you hear or read these days? Surely not. The world is filled with unscrupulous propagandists who ballyhoo shameful causes, people and purposes. Tricky words and slogans are used to misrepresent the truth to a popu- lace believed by propagandists to be naive, gullible and emotion- ally influenced.

Ironically, the word "propaganda" was originally a religious term used to propagate the faith. A guy named Joseph Goebbels, Nazi "Minister" (an odious title to be sure) of Propaganda in the Hitler era helped to change the meaning and purpose of propaganda. In later years the Communist propagandists made Goebbels look like a novice. And in all frankness even some of our own high ranking officials have at times conned our own people. Verbal atrocities coldly assassinate characters through witch hunting innuendos and half truth insinuations. No wonder propaganda in a general sense has fallen into ill-repute.

It is said there is a weld between propaganda and credi- bility. It is always best to look for the stronger weld between credibility and truth . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone 475-4141.

Fellowship Hall Dedication Slated at North Lake Church

North Lake United Methodist church will realize a 15-year-old dream with a Service of Consecration for their new educational fellowship building Sunday, Oct. 29 at 11 a.m.

The worship service will be held in the sanctuary followed by a procession to the new building for the Act of Consecration.

Chelsea Median Family Income Listed at $11,358

Last week, the Census Service Center released figures concerning the median family income for all cities and villages in a seven county area of southeastern Michigan. The data reveals that Chelsea has a median income of $11,358. This is not an average income, but the "middle" income made in 1969.

This situates Chelsea's median below the figure stated as the median family income in the area, $12,053, but above the median family income for the entire state, at $11,032.

Chelsea has a higher median than the cities of Detroit, at $10,045, and Pontiac, at $9,681, and their populations above the 50,000 level. Yet Bloomfield Hills, which is in the same population category with Chelsea, with 3,672 residents, boasts a median family income of $46,715. Grosse Pointe Shores is another relatively small community with a soaring median family income. Its 3,034 residents have a median income of $32,565 per year.

The data on Chelsea reveals that its median family income is not particularly divergent from other communities in its neighborhood. While Ann Arbor's $12,819, is above Chelsea's, Ypsilanti's $10,710 is below Chelsea's. Milan's is not far away at $11,794 which in turn is not much lower than South Lyon's median family income at $11,812 per year. Saline's median family income is $12,900, and Novi's is $13,342.

The Michigan Historical Commission has presented the church with a historical marker which will also be dedicated at this time. After the consecration service, a dinner will be served by the church women for members and friends of the church.

The Rev. John Mulder will be the special speaker for the service. The title of his message is "What Are We Consecrating?" The Rev. Mulder is administrative assistant to Bishop Dwight E. Loder in the Detroit Conference of the United Methodist Church. He served as a pastor in the United Methodist Church for 14 years, then in 1966 became District Superintendent of the Saginaw Bay District. In 1971, he was appointed to his present position.

In retrospect, North Lake United Methodist church has had a long history. 137 years ago, the Methodist Episcopal Society was organized at North Lake. From 1833-1846, the society met in the homes of members. A one-story building was erected in 1846, the first church building. The present sanctuary was built in 1866 to serve the spiritual needs of the community. In the 1920's the Grange Hall from up the road was added to the sanctuary to provide more room for educational and fellowship purposes. Because of new growth in the area and need for better facilities, a new educational fellowship building was erected. This Building is located just behind the existing church structure. Volunteers have put in hundreds of hours of labor, and the church wants to take this Day of Consecration to thank everyone who has helped in any way.

For the information of those wishing to attend the dedication, the church is located on North Territorial Rd., five miles west of the Dexter-Pinckney Rd., and one-half mile east of Stofer Rd. and Hadley Rd.

16 MILES, 64 YEARS—Ken Proctor of Shield Rd., at 64 years, was the oldest participant in Dexter's "Walk for Mankind." He completed 16 of the 18 miles, with a backing of $2 per mile plus a $5 donation.

The hot-dog roast and bonfire were appreciated by empty stomachs and cold feet. We really had lots of fun.

October Plentiful Foods

Stretch your grocery budget by shopping the Plentiful Foods List published each month by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, suggests Maryann Beckman, a Michigan State University consumer marketing specialist.

The list highlights foods that are in peak season or good supply and usually low priced, she explains.

October's list includes fresh apples, canned applesauce and apple juice, rice, dry beans, wheat products, broiler-fryer chickens, turkey and eggs.

More than 12,805,100 persons have visited Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica since it opened in July of 1964.

Mrs. John Koepke and Mrs. Frank Ciacciole gave the lesson entitled "Food and our Environment." At the conclusion, refreshments were served by the hostesses.

At the next meeting, Nov. 21, at the home of Mrs. Mildred Huehl, a meal of Chinese food will be served to complement the lesson, "Chinese Food and People."

LYNDON STUDY CLUB

At the Lyndon Study Club meeting, Oct. 19, at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Boyce of Stockbridge, 13 members, five guests, and two children feasted on a pot-luck dinner.

The business meeting was led by Mrs. Robert Bassett. It was decided that the November and December meetings should be condensed into one gathering, Nov. 30. This will be a Christmas party at which members will exchange $1 gifts.

Five people paid their dues before adjourning until November when Mrs. Robert Bassett, Mrs. Norman Bott, Mrs. Thomas Lancaster, and Mrs. Mary Clark will be the hostesses.

SENIOR CITIZENS

The Senior Citizens October birthday party was held at the Korner House, Thursday, Oct. 19, with 25 members there to celebrate.

LEILA C. DAUER, Township Clerk

Who are your friends, Charles Chamberlain?

The people of your District want to know

Were you thinking of the 30,000 elderly in this District when you voted AGAINST the Social Security increase in committee?

Why did you vote to CRIPPLE the Clean Water Package and every other piece of environmental legislation? Enough to earn a place on the 'Dirty Dozen' by the Environmental Action Committee!

In 1967, why did you give your seat on the powerful Ways and Means Committee to allow a freshman Congressman from Texas to take your place and represent the BIG OIL AND BIG BUSINESS INTERESTS?

What happens to our already oppressive taxes when you vote repeatedly in closed session to maintain the TAX LOOPHOLES which rob our Treasury of billions of dollars in revenue?

Why do you RUBBER STAMP every military expenditure regardless of cost over-runs and duplication? Knowing full well that such irresponsible spending results in higher taxes and higher prices for the people of this District.

From your past record, it is clear your friends are the big money and big business interests. You have repeatedly worked AGAINST the working people of this District.

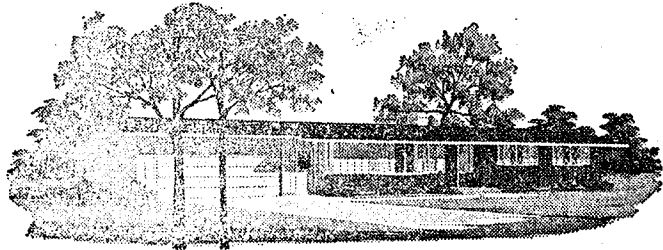

And that's why this is brought to you by a growing number of Republicans and Democrats who want Robert Carr elected to Congress.

Carr for Congress

Her sister Cheryl Grau served the punch. Mrs. Michael Grau, sister-in-law of the bride, poured the coffee.

There was also a birthday cake for the bridegroom which was cut by the bride's cousin, Miss Barbara Sisco, from Inkster.

S. Weber Recalls Harvesting Cucumber Crops for Seed

When N. H. Miles discovered a mutated cucumber in his garden a few weeks back (see The Chelsea Standard, Oct. 21), he took it to his neighbor Sylvester Weber, not realizing that he was a cucumber expert. Weber doesn't call himself an expert, but he will admit that he's seen plenty of cucumbers, normal and mutated ones, over the many years he's been a farmer.

Weber remembers back a half a century to when he was still at home working the family farm in the area which is now the Chrysler Proving Grounds, with father Simon and two brothers. In those days, they would put out as many as 15 acres of cucumbers just for seed. At that time several farmers in the neighborhood, Martin Merkel and Ed Schulze are a couple he remembers, were contracted by Weber's uncle who worked for Rice Seed Co. to plant crops just for the seed harvest.

Then the planting was done all by hand, one seed and a hand full of fertilizer to each mound. The harvesting, too, was done by hand, so the farmers, "eight or ten of us," Weber remembers, worked together with their horse-drawn wagons to pick the golden-ripe vegetables.

Occasionally, the Weber men tried their hands at raising tomatoes, melons, and even corn for seed, but with the lack of automation these crops proved impractical. "Sweet corn was quite a little job," Weber recalls, "because the husking was all done by hand." The tomatoes were unsatisfactory because they had to be transplanted and then picked as often as three times. "If we didn't pick them in time, we'd lose the seed."

Cucumbers, being hardy, could be harvested all at once. "They stand up better," says Weber.

Most of the men would work gathering the cucumbers in baskets and tubs which were dumped in the wagon. The wagonload was then hauled to the grinder, a pretty fancy gadget for those days, provided by the seed company and shared by the seed-croppers. "Once my brother and I had to go clear over to Fishville to pick it up in our wagon," Weber explained.

The farmers set up the "machine" by first digging a pit and lining it with burlap. The grinder, two rigid rollers between which the cucumbers were crushed, a revolving wire screen below and a hopper above was erected over the pit.

This simple but effective crushing device was automated by one-horse power. The horse, walking in a circle, propelled the grinder through a series of tumbler rods. The operation in a sense was automatic since "After the horse got used to it, he would keep going around by himself."

Only two men were needed to man the machine, leaving the rest free to collect more basket loads of cucumbers. One man shoveled cucumbers into the hopper, which funneled the vegetables through the crushing rollers. Another man was there to shovel away the rinds when they fell through to the screen. The finer material, pulp and seeds, fell all the way through the 1/4-inch mesh into the pit.

When the entire crop was ground through, the pulpy material was left in the burlap pits to work. In warm weather the seeds would soon begin to work themselves free from the cucumber meat. Once they were sufficiently loosened, the mixture was transported in barrels to the wash.

Weber and his brothers usually built a 14 by 16 foot wash box, though the size depended on the quantity of the crop. The box was placed in the creek, and partitioned with four-inch slat boards. With the boards, the men could govern the flow of water over the seed-pulp mixture.

When the mixture was first dumped in, it was stirred up with the water. The heavier seeds sunk while the pulpy material floated up, out, and down stream, as the boards were slowly removed one by one. After three such washings, a harvest of seeds could be gathered from the bottom of the box.

The next chore was to dry the seeds. One year the Webers attempted to do this themselves. It involved building 12 by nine foot drying racks to be draped with burlap. The seeds were spread out there outside to dry, and then they were carried into a shed where constantly tended fires continued the drying process. "When the weather isn't good, drying is quite a job," says Weber. This experience convinced them that it was worth driving over to Waterloo to take the seeds to Walter Vickery for drying. Weber recalls that there were lots of cucumbers grown for seed in that area.

The final product, burlap bags full of dried seed, was sold by the pound to the seed company. The price depended on the variety of plant. Weber remembers that his family often grew "The Long Green" which did not produce a large number of seeds, but brought the highest price, just because the seeds were more rare.

Weber has lost contact with seed companies. "We got into different kinds of farming," so he has no idea how seed harvesting is done today. But he knows it must be different. "Everything is different now. We used to milk our cows by hand. We didn't have tractors, just wagons with wooden wheels and metal rims."

Weber now lives on Scio Church Rd., only about two miles from the original family farm. In the intervening years, he has raised mostly livestock. "I used to raise a lot of sheep," he says, "usually 300 ewes. We fed our own lambs, and a lot of cattle."

He says he now has to let up some, but he's still busy with 130 sheep and cattle to feed. That's quite a job in itself.

ODYSSEY

A Total Play and Learning Experience For All Ages

By KAY GARDELLA

CALL ME PANCHO:

Since we're speaking of sports, how about a game of tennis on television? Or hockey, maybe? Or even football, would you believe? We tried tennis the other day and literally had a ball. How we did it is simple. We tried out Magnavox's Odyssey, the all-electronic game simulator that switches your regular TV programming to the game to be played.

As always, there's an attachment that sits on top of your set — the master control module, it's called — plus two hand-operated special attachments for you and a partner to play the game. There are, so far, 12 different games that can be inserted via printed circuit game cards into the Odyssey module, depending on your choice. Retail price is in the $100 area.

What's interesting about this is that it's one of the many developments that will allow you to use your TV set actively, as well as passively. The hand attachment, for instance, that you use to play the game with has a horizontal and vertical dial on it, plus a button in the middle that recalls the ball from out of screen limits and puts it back in the playing zone.

In playing tennis, or any other game, you find yourself frantically twisting the left and right-hand dial, batting the ball across the net like Pancho Gonzales, and getting just as involved as you might on the court. Anyway, it's fun and now you can play games with television instead of vice versa.

Chelsea Village Issues 17 Building Permits In 1971

It only makes sense that in Chelsea's progressive spirit, then, can be measured to some extent by the 17 building permits it issued in 1971. All but one of these permits allowed the construction of a single family dwelling, the other being a multi-family unit.

This large proportion of single family units is not the norm in the seven-county region of southeastern Michigan. Since 1965, more than 40 percent of the new dwelling units built each year have been in multiple unit structures. There was a gain in 1971 of 8,162 in multiples over the previous year. Ann Arbor, for example built 648 multi-family units, and only 560 single family units.

And yet Chelsea is not unlike its surrounding communities in this respect of favoring single family housing. Dexter saw only two new homes in 1971, each housing one family. Freedom township approved 10 single family houses in 1971, while Lima allowed 30. Neither township recorded a permit for the construction of an apartment building. Lyndon and Sylvan township witnessed 26 and 11 new homes, respectively, but neither issued permits for new apartments within their boundaries during that year.

Manchester, on the other hand, seemed to be following the trends so evident in Ann Arbor. Manchester township issued eight permits each, for single family dwellings. Manchester itself issued two single family building permits, and five in the multi-family category.

Saline, too, is building about as many multi-family units as single family homes.

Milan was extremely partial to multi-family structures in 1971, when it saw only three new homes and 29 apartments spring up.

In spite of all this evidence of construction, Washtenaw county recorded fewer home units authorized in 1971 than in the previous year, showing a small drop of 65 units.

Demolitions in the southeastern region in 1971 numbered 4,522 in relation to 3,958 in 1970. As usual, the majority of these (3,053) were in the City of Detroit. Chelsea demolished one building in 1971.

Volunteer Helpers Needed To Fit Ice Hockey Rink

The past two week-ends have been busy for a small band of volunteers at the Fairground's hockey rink site. The area was first filled and graded, and then the boards were erected, in spite of the week-end rains.

Help is needed this coming week-end with the repair work and painting that still needs to be done. Organizers also hope to construct a ramp and a liner inside the rink. This will entail a good deal of work, so a great deal of assistance is needed.

A 9 a.m. start is scheduled for both Saturday and Sunday.

The enthusiasm for the coming season is running high. Because of the larger enrollment in the program, more players can be accommodated in the extended number of teams. Would-be players are asked to apply now. Currently there are openings in every age group.

Volunteers for this week-end's work force are asked to bring paint brushes and shovels. A wheelbarrow or two would also be a help.

Stroke Club Organized To Help Victims

How does a person adjust to his community, to his friends, and to his spouse after he has suffered a stroke? How does he learn to cope with the physical handicaps a stroke may leave—difficulty in walking, in using his arms, speech impairment?

Stroke victims and spouses, numbering approximately 70, attended the first meeting of the Washtenaw County Stroke Club in September to find out.

"Most people are on their own once they leave the hospital or physical therapy," says Mrs. Marly Verhoeven of Chelsea, temporary co-chairman of the club. Her husband, James, 30, suffered a stroke late last year.

The club was initiated early this year by Dr. Edwin Smith, doctor of physical medicine at University Hospital, social workers, speech therapists and physical therapists.

"We felt there was a need in the community for these people to get together and help themselves," says Cathy Scott, a physical therapist at Chelsea Medical Center, and one of the club organizers.

"The club," says Mrs. Verhoeven, "is the first and, as far as we know, the only one in the area." She adds that Detroit and Battle Creek have similar programs.

Stroke Club members will next meet Saturday, Oct. 21, at which time four general committees will be formed. The first of these will be for spouses, who "will learn how to live with the stroke patient and share their feelings about it," says Mrs. Verhoeven.

Another concern is recreation. "Most patients after a couple of months, are dismissed from therapy programs," says Mrs. Verhoeven. However, many still "have trouble physically, walking and using their arms." The club hopes to provide trained help and possibly use of a gym to develop greater use of arms and legs.

Because of speech impairment resulting from strokes, "a lot of stroke victims have lost some friends—people don't associate with them as much." For these people, the club will serve a social function.

A fourth area of concern is educational programs. Such programs would stress the groups the county has which meet the needs of stroke patients and would institute instruction on personal hygiene and other topics.

Volunteers might also be available to help around the house and "build up the ego."

Miracle Foods For Athletes Not Needed

The foods you serve your young athlete in training need not differ from the rest of the family's, except in amount, says Michigan State University Consumer Marketing Specialist Ada Shinabarger.

Distribute the basic four—meat, fruit and vegetables, milk and bread and cereals—evenly among three meals, the specialist advises. Vitamins aren't needed unless the doctor detects a deficiency.

Serve foods high in carbohydrate during the 48-hour period before an endurance event. This insures replacement of carbohydrate stored in the body. Athletes may also require more water and should season foods with more salt.

Serving the athlete a cube of sugar or other special foods just before game time usually provides more psychological than physical stimulation, Miss Shinabarger says.

St. Louis School Notes

The boys of St. Louis school watched some familiar characters in new forms, Sunday, when a troupe from Sheryl's School of Dance entertained the boys with a routine called "Mickey Mouse and his Friends." The girls danced and sang the old favorites, the Mickey Mouse Club song, the Donald Duck song, and put on a show like a bunch of true mousekettlers.

The show was sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Esch, of Detroit, whose daughter, Debbie, was one of the dancers. Their son is a student at St. Louis School.

Monday, Miss Carol Lennox and her class went to WAAM radio station for a tour of its various studios and commercial centers. On their way back to Chelsea, they detoured for lunch at Miss Lennox's apartment.

Mrs. Ann Wilkinson and her class went for lunch and the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Push of Stockbridge. The Pushes have a foster son, Jack Smith, at St. Louis school. Jack and his friends spent a day seeing the delights of the farm.

Mrs. Push saw that the boys did not leave empty handed. She sent them away with a large box of brownies and some home-made apple jelly.

Yesterday was the Feast Day of Don Guanella, founder of Priests of the Service of Charity. A mass for the occasion was celebrated, and then the boys sat down to a special luncheon of turkey and trimmings.

Wednesday was also Miss Claire Sullivan's birthday, which gave the boys another reason to celebrate.

Friday the boys go home to their families for the week-end.

County Historical Society To Meet at Webster Church

Washtenaw Historical Society members will hold their monthly meeting in history-rich Webster church, Thursday, Oct. 26 at 8 p.m. David Pollack will be the featured speaker and his talk will focus on the history of Washtenaw county's "oldest church."

The white frame building on Webster Church Rd. was constructed in the early 1800's with some original adobe supplied by the famous Daniel Webster. The cemetery on the side and in the back of the building contains an interesting history of the area.

Members who wish rides to Webster church are asked to call 483-8331.

Special Dedication Service Slated Sunday At Webster Church

Webster United Church of Christ will hold a special service Sunday, Oct. 29, to dedicate a new dogel and altar candle holders in memory of the late Rev. William Hainsworth.

A graveside service and interment of the Rev. Hainsworth's ashes in Webster Church Cemetery will follow the dedication service.

The Rev. Hainsworth was pastor of the church from 1940 to 1950, the longest of any pastor in the history of the church.

W. R. Peterson Publishes Book on Cadillac History

William R. Peterson, son-in-law of Chelsea residents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harper, has recently published "The View from Courthouse Hill," a detailed account of the growth of Cadillac.

Peterson is well acquainted with his subject since he was raised in that area at the end of the lumber era which made Cadillac an industrial center for the logging and industrial trade. He worked at a night factory job while attending Albion College, where he graduated Phi Beta Kappa. He received his master's and juris doctor degrees from the University of Michigan.

After college and law school teaching and practicing law in Kansas City, he returned to his native Cadillac. In 1959 he was elected Judge of Michigan's 28th Judicial Circuit, a position he still holds.

Continuing his teaching interest, he is a special lecturer in the University of Michigan extension division. His professional interests center around judicial and penal improvements and civil rights.

"The View from Courthouse Hill" describes how villages, townships and counties depended for political survival on a kind of reckless-fortitude, outrageous maneuvering and downright chicanery seldom matched in the larger and more mature seats of government.

A blurb about the book states, "Here are recorded the acts of valor and venality that brought one 19th century American community out of the woods, bursting with economic vitality and political muscle, into the 20th century."

Char Powers Nears End of Her Greek Farm Life Study

Editor's Note: This letter from Char Powers was forwarded on to us from the Extension Service which has sponsored her five-month trip through Greece.

October 12, 1972
Veria, Greece

Hi. Gads, just checked my calendar—only 20 more days in Greece, so I'd better drop you one last line before I get home. I spent last month at the American Farm School, an agricultural boarding school for young Greek boys. My IFYE brother, Mike, was also there and we had a riot comparing notes on our different host families since we hadn't seen each other since June.

Our visit at the AFS was a well appreciated R & R. We had hot water for real-live baths and corn flakes and cow's milk (instead of goat's milk) for breakfast. Oh, can't forget the tuna-fish sandwiches and potato chips! But am afraid we got spoiled... I'm back "in the bush" again—some desolate little village with none of the luxuries. Since it has rained almost continually the past week, we haven't been able to get in to the fields to pick the last part of the cotton crop. The only big problem is how to get to the out-house, since it's such ugly weather.

Veria is in northern Greece and it's cold now. Especially at night, since Greek village homes don't have central heating. Most Greeks don't bother at all with even one warm room, but I finally convinced my host mother to light the gas heater in the kitchen so I wouldn't freeze to death.

At the end of the month Mike and I get six days in Athens before we start our journey home. The State Department has been generous and gave us a two-day trip to Tel Aviv, Israel to live in a kibbutz, so ought to get a taste of an even different life, providing we don't get hijacked.

Our program allows us 10 free days for travel, so Mike and I will try to meet up with the Turkey and Africa IFYE's and stop a few days in Rome, Paris and London. After all that I'm going to have to take an American vacation to recuperate. This "ordeal" as I call it, has been quite an experience! You never realize how lucky Americans are until you get outside the states. I really encourage all the 4-H'ers to get involved in some kind of international exchange, be it 4-H Caravan, IFYE or YOP or just hosting an exchange. After an experience like that, you suddenly realize you aren't as worldly as you once thought.

Be seeing you all soon. Take care. Sounds if the whole country is busy! Oh, anybody interested in a Greek pen-pal? That write in English of course... tell Duncan because I have a few interested Greeks. Chances are you could even meet someday—either on your own or on an exchange.

Char.

Hunting Good But Not Many Good Hunters

"The quality of the hunter has declined quite a bit," says Bob Like, conservation officer for western Washtenaw county. "Today's hunter wants everything too easy. He wants to drive his car out to the middle of the field, shoot the pheasant, and get back in his car."

This is one of the reasons Like sees for a kill thus far this year which is below last year's, despite the abundance of birds.

"The hunting is good. We have a lot of birds and very few hunters. They hunt for a couple of hours and go home," says Like. He notes that other events like the world series are competing for the hunter's time.

Pheasants are quite plentiful but a challenge for the hunter because there is too much standing corn for easy shooting, says Like. Also, "there are tricks to hunting pheasant hunter's haven't put forth the effort to learn."

Other legal game includes ducks, rabbits, and, for bow and arrow hunters, deer.

"Ducks have either not been down yet or not stayed very long," Like adds.

He also reports several illegal kills on deer by hunters who were in the field after other game, saw deer and "just had to have something to kill."

Several farms in the Dexter area and a couple near Chelsea have been opened to hunters under a new federal program. Farmers are paid from $1 to $3 per acre by the government to open their farms to hunters. However, few farms are participating because of a lack of funds from the federal government.

Hunters who would like lists of the open farms may stop by the Soil Conservation office on Jackson Rd.

The small game hunting season ends Nov. 10.

Newest fad is the banana and coconut diet. You won't lose any weight, but after two weeks you can climb any tree in the neighborhood.

National Guard Wages War On Pollution

Ann Arbor's Company D, 156th Signal Battalion of the Michigan National Guard will be going into battle soon. The battle will be fought to save area lakes and reservoirs and the enemy will be pollution.

Eighteen Guard units throughout the state will participate in this battle which will be fought in co-operation with the Michigan Water Resources Commission and the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Guardmen will engage the enemy beginning Oct. 25, by collecting water samples at designated locations. All samples will be shipped to the EPA's National Environmental Research Center in Corvallis, Ore., for analysis. A final report on the survey findings, prepared in conference with state authorities, will be used by the Michigan Water Resources Commission as a basis for appropriate action.

According to Captain Kenneth L. York, commander of Ann Arbor's National Guard unit, seven Guardsmen from the unit will collect 15 water samples each month for one year from 15 locations along tributary streams feeding into or out of the following area lakes and reservoirs: the Huron River, Ford Lake and Belleville Lake.

Captain York has appointed Staff Sergeant Clarence D. Nutt as project officer for the local survey. Co-ordinating officer for all participating Guard units in the state is Col. Albert W. Lesky, Military Support Plans Officer, Michigan Department of Military Affairs.

On a state-wide basis, an estimated 2,200 water samples will be taken during the year from 171 locations along Michigan rivers and streams which flow to and from selected water bodies.

According to Ralph W. Purdy, executive secretary, Michigan Water Resources Commission, this intensive, year-long monitoring effort represents an addition to Michigan's current eutrophication control program. Sampling will be focused on identification of the nutrient sources of Michigan lakes and impoundments selected for the survey, to determine any needed additional control measures to be instituted beyond the state's current phosphate removal requirements for municipal wastewater treatment plants and industries.

Cultural eutrophication occurs when excessive nutrients are added to bodies of water. Growth of aquatic plants is stimulated by an over-abundance of nutrients, especially phosphorus, resulting in conditions which can interfere with fishing, swimming, boating, and aesthetic values. The aging process is accelerated, leading to the ultimate succession of a lake to a swamp. Phosphorus enters water bodies from general land runoff, soil erosion, urban storm sewers, certain agricultural practices, some septic tank systems, discharges of municipal wastewater treatment plants and certain industries.

The Michigan program is being undertaken in conjunction with EPA's National Eutrophication Survey and lakes have been selected according to existing State information. Principal sources of any excessive nutrients entering the lake will be located and measured.

Electric Power Shortage Seen for Michigan in Future

Like Japan and England, Michigan must import the raw materials for its manufacturing processes and export finished goods.

Power is one of these imported commodities, and in the next few years most kinds of power—electrical, gas, oil—will be in short supply, explains James Woodruff of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

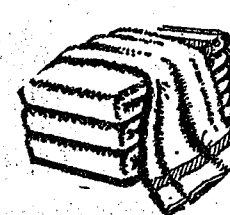

"As Michigan becomes the center of a Detroit-Chicago-Toronto megalopolis, only nuclear power will be able to save the state from a perilous situation," Woodruff says.

He discounts the emotional controversy attached to building nuclear power plants, saying that radiation is well under control and that nuclear plants can operate more cleanly than fossil plants.

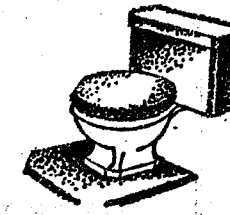

Furthermore, he says, nuclear plants are often blamed for thermal pollution of our lakes when, in fact, all power plants produce heat.

Conlin 1st choice of Washtenaw County voters

Patrick J. Conlin received more votes than any other candidate in the August primary election for the Circuit Court. Here are some reasons why:

He's a man of Ideas and Integrity who speaks out on the issues

Accountability "I'm always ready to discuss with anyone, the positions I take as judge. The way I see it, a judge is simply one human being who must make decisions affecting other human beings."

Expansion of Public Defender's Office "The county Defender's Office must be expanded to meet the needs of the growing number of defendants who prove they can't afford a private attorney. The county court system would have ample funds for this."

Administrative Reorganization "We've outgrown the administrative structure, resulting in crowded dockets, unreasonable delays, lengthy adjournments—and the court records system is outdated. We need a computerized record keeping system, and a professional Court Administrator. The court system would have funds to finance these reforms without additional cost to taxpayers."

Fair and Firm Handling of Each Case "A judge must treat each case on its merits. Defendants' rights are vitally important, yet rights and duties of prosecution and police are no less important. Accountability is the key. If a judge has not maintained a humane attitude—or if he has bent over backward to favor either side—he should expect to be publicly challenged."

He's a man of ability and judicial experience

- A lifetime Washtenaw County resident and U-M law school graduate
- A trial lawyer 1961-68, with more trial experience than any other candidate for Circuit Court
- 14th District Judge since 1969—youngest person ever elected judge in Washtenaw County
