

TEACHER STRIKE IS SETTLED

The first thing the Chelsea Education Association and the Board of Education wanted to do yesterday was announce a settlement. The next order of business was to catch up on lost sleep.

Chelsea students returned to school today (Thursday), after three days of a teachers strike. Negotiators Leonard Solomon, of the CEA, and Charles Cameron, for the board, faced each other over the long table in the board room, Wednesday, officially for the last time this year. The agreement they had been seeking for eight months was achieved by the middle of the afternoon.

The new contract, which expires June 30, 1974, covers both the present school year and the 1973-74 session.

It gives the teachers a 4.8 percent salary hike the first year, and a 4.5 percent raise the second. Beginning teachers at Chelsea schools now earn more than their counterparts in all surrounding rural school districts except Dexter. There, beginners with BA's take home $8,177 instead of Chelsea's $8,175.

The new contract stipulates maternity and general leave policies as suggested in the fact finder's report. The school district will pay the full health insurance premium for its employees, based on the maximum Blue Cross figure, another fact finder recommendation.

The bugaboo with which negotiators wrestled the last five days is handled with a simple statement: Chelsea teachers will have two planning periods of a class period length each day.

Appended to this statement is a letter of understanding. It states that the CEA and the board agree that Beach Middle school will retain its 1972-73 period schedule, a seven-period day, next year. Teachers instruct during five of those 50-minute sessions. Two periods are for planning.

The letter prescribes that an ad hoc study committee, composed of representatives from administration, teachers, and community, will decide the high school's period schedule for next year.

The teachers and the administration will choose their representatives. The citizens will be picked in a drawing. One will be taken from a hat full of the teachers' nominations, another from the administration's nominations, and the third from the combined pile.

The conclusions of the committee will be submitted to the board to be implemented as the board sees fit. Thus will the number of classes a teacher conducts next year be determined.

This was the unresolved issue that remained between the CEA and the board since Friday night. The teachers hoped to retain the present seven-period schedule, while the board wanted a contract that allowed a flexible schedule with periods of varying lengths. Under such a system, the teachers would not be putting longer hours in front of the class, but they might have to teach more than five classes a day.

The battle lines were drawn, even while negotiators met far into the night. Picketing teachers ignored the drizzle Monday morning, choosing to make their point rather than stay dry. The strike became official when all but 24 of 123 teachers stayed away from the classrooms. Only one teacher reported at Beach Middle school.

The board decided, Monday night, to invoke the Hutchinson Act, which allows the dismissal of public employees who participate in an illegal strike. They planned to fire teachers remaining on strike Monday.

If there had been no compromise, only capitulation or a court injunction instituted by a citizen group could have defused the time bomb. The injunction would have either sent the teachers back to school or stopped the board from firing its staff.

The deadlock came in the wake of the fact finder's report, which some thought a panacea. Instead, it proved a Pandora's box.

When the board decided not to abide by its recommendations, the CEA, "frustrated and disappointed," voted to strike, if a tentative settlement had not been achieved by Monday, Jan. 22.

The week-end negotiations, marathon meetings melting into Monday's early hours, resolved little, and brought new issues to the foreground.

Negotiators met Friday, presumably to discuss three aspects of the fact finder's report which remained unacceptable to the board: the salary schedule, a job jeopardy clause, and the maternity leave policy.

Almost immediately, the negotiations took a new turn. Both parties admitted an interest in a two-year contract. This meant they would consider salaries and conditions for 1973-74, as well as for the present school year.

Contract negotiations last summer and fact finding procedures this fall concerned the 1972-73 year only. The teachers have been without a contract since Aug. 31. The two-year contract became attractive if not essential because, "from a management point of view, the next year is already upon us," said Alan Conklin, Beach school principal.

During the 28-hours of meetings last week-end, the CEA and the Board traded salary offers and demands until Sunday morning when they agreed on a $8,175 starting salary for new teachers with a BA. While disagreeing slightly on the second year salary increase, and on the schedule for specialists, they agreed on health insurance premiums, maternity leave and general leave considerations.

According to the CEA, that left only one remaining issue of any significance. In a prepared statement, released Tuesday, the CEA said, "The board is insisting that the Middle school and the High school day consist of eight periods rather than seven as is presently taught."

Said Miss DiAnn L'Roy, CEA president, "That's the only issue of any consequence; it simply revolves around the board's demand to increase the number of periods per day, while decreasing the amount of time each student spends in each class."

The teachers argued that shortened periods and the added work load would decrease the amount of time a teacher could devote to each student. The CEA objection to the schedule change was "It's educationally unsound."

The board maintains that an eight-period day was never part of their final proposal. "Teaching six periods out of eight was merely an example," stresses Board President William Storey. The board offered two planning periods of an unspecified length. Currently, the teachers are guaranteed two 50-minute planning periods a day.

Superintendent Charles Cameron explains, "As long as the teachers must have two 50-minute planning periods a day, we cannot alter the seven-period schedule. We would like to construct a flexible schedule in which some periods are longer than others."

Robert Schafer, a board member, explains that a schedule change would in effect add classrooms to the school system. "If you use 50 classrooms seven periods a day, instead of six periods a day, you get 50 more classroom situations per day."

The board argues that more teacher-pupil periods equals more education. Of course, an altered schedule would mean shorter classes during the 8:15 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. day. Classes can be no shorter than 40 minutes according to North Central accreditation standards.

The board points out that none of Chelsea's rural neighbors offer their teachers two planning periods a day. And all but Dexter offer the beginning teacher less than the board's last offer.

Chelsea teachers admit that their starting salaries are competitive. They argue that the more advanced teachers are underpaid.

The teachers say that the board offers misleading figures. "We don't put in more hours, but we have larger classes," observes one Chelsea teacher. He also stresses that increasing the number of classes would be a strain on the students, as well as the teachers. "In the junior high, it is especially unreasonable since the students have no study halls."

President Storey says: "We are merely asking our teachers to act as professionals; to do a job comparable to their neighbors." The Chelsea teachers think they are doing a better job than their neighbors. "Just look at the results of the Michigan Assessment tests," several say.

Leonard Solomon, chief negotiator for the CEA, explained that they turned down the board's last offer Sunday, because, "An extra class of teaching a day was unacceptable to the CEA membership." Even though the board offered the six out of eight-period schedule as only an example, the CEA believed that arrangement was implicit in the last offer.

Both sides held fast to hope for a speedy settlement. They met again Tuesday night from 9 p.m. to 2:30 a.m. "New channels of communication were opened then," said Miss L'Roy.

Dr. M. Papo Granted Jaycee Service Award

The Jaycees' search for a distinguished citizen zeroed in on a man who had been nominated several times before; a man who had once asked not to be nominated, Dr. Michael Papo.

He was surprised and honored at a banquet at Fireside Inn, Tuesday evening. He was given a standing ovation by Chelsea Jaycees and their bosses, the other honored guests that night.

"To enumerate Dr. Papo's many contributions to the community would, indeed, take a long and lengthy form," commented Dr. William Hawks, who nominated Papo.

Many feel it was Papo's energy and foresight alone that developed the Medical Center into the nationally known institution of medical care it is today. The center is considered a prototype for future centers in other areas of the country. In some circles, Papo's brain child put Chelsea on the map.

Dr. Papo and Dr. James Botsford started medical practice in Chelsea in a converted store on Main St. The practice grew, blossoming into the Medical Clinic in 1967. In 1970 the Extended Care Facility was added, and a new addition is planned for this spring.

Dr. Papo was born in Yugoslavia and studied medicine in Rome. His studies were cut off by the war. In 1952, Papo came to the U. S. where he resumed his studies at Wayne State University. There, he obtained his Bachelor of Science Degree. Upon graduation, he entered the University of Michigan School of Medicine where he finished his medical education.

Dr. Papo was lured to "Bosses Night" under false pretenses. He was not to know of the honor until it was announced. The evening also marked National Jaycee Week.

Community Chest Elects New Officers

The many reins of Chelsea's Community Chest fell into new hands Jan. 17, when board of director and officer elections were held. Robert Thorton turned over the presidency to Conrad Hafner, who will lead the 1973 programs.

The new vice-president, replacing Hafner, is Paul Frisinger. Norma Popovich takes the treasurer's books and head-aches from Mrs. Donald Baldwin. The new secretary, Jim Hoffmeyer, succeeds Mr. Art Steinaway.

The board needed to elect seven new board members for three-year terms, but only six were found. They are: Pat Dittmar, Lloyd Grau, Homer Kuhl, Jack Barnes, Arlene Barais, and Bob Gaiser. The seventh will be elected at the February meeting.

The new members join a number of veteran board members who are in the process of completing their three-year terms. They are: Claude Arnett, Earl Klemer, Roy Greenleaf, Robert Kozma, James Liebeck, Mrs. Jerry Satterthwaite, Mrs. Timothy Whitesall, Mrs. Art Steinaway, M. A. Bowen, Robert INTERIOR DECORATING, carpentry, some yard work, and lots of cleaning kept these Youth Center workers busy last week-end and through the week. With the help of OEO counselor Mary Jan O'Hare, the high school students are creating an activity center out of the Methodist church's former parsonage. "We need every-

Youth Center Being Started in Ex-Parsonage

After a year of set-backs, legal hassles and disappointments, the Chelsea Youth Center is becoming a reality. "We finally have the key in hand," says Mary Jan O'Hare, teen counselor at the new center.

The lease, turning the old United Methodist church parsonage over to the Office of Equal Opportunity Advisory Board, was signed by the church and Washenaw county officials Wednesday, Jan. 17. With that, "Equinox" can not be far behind.

The OEO project was first bogged down with attempts to get county funding. Once that was achieved, it was difficult to find a suitable location for the center.

OEO faced some resistance from residents who feared such a center would attract out-of-towners. An answer to that objection was ready; only Chelsea School District students are eligible for the many center activities.

Mary Jan and her band of enthusiastic high school helpers got their first glimpse of the new center Friday. Clean up activities started Saturday. Even more students, putting the strike "holiday" to good use, arrived Monday.

The old parsonage is equipped only with a few drapes, according to Mary Jan. "In other words, we can just about use everything we get," piped in Gina Cotterman, a student OEO advisory board member.

The workers are hoping Chelsea residents will donate useable furniture, lamps, and material to make the house into a comfortable gathering place. The staff will be glad to pick up unwanted, usable objects. "If we can't use it," says Mary Jan, "We'll get rid of it for them. I bet we can use it," she concludes with emphasis.

Contributors may bring items to the parsonage at 140 Park St., or call the center.

Once the parsonage is equipped, hopefully within the next three weeks, the staff will hold a grand opening. The workers envision that event as the first of many activities at the center.

One of the first teen center projects will be a teen-age employment agency, a "rent-a-kid service" which can be tapped by those looking for temporary or permanent help that could be supplied by teen-agers.

The OEO tutoring program, which brings college students to tutor Chelsea school children, will also be conducted at the center, along with weekly "rap sessions" with the counselor and staff.

Mary Jan says they also hope to build a library and a magazine collection for a reading room in the parsonage, but that too depends on contributions. A pool table has been donated which they may be able to cover with a table tennis top for a variety of sport at the center.

Varsity Cagers Drop 2 More Close Games Over Week-end

Chelsea varsity cagers dropped two more games last week-end. It was a tussle with Milan Friday night, in which victory slipped by the Bulldogs in the last minutes of play.

Defeat appeared more imminent throughout Saturday's game. The Flying Dutchmen sailed home just ahead of Chelsea, 71-69, having never relinquished the lead.

Friday's thriller began with a Chelsea advantage built on Tim Treado's four buckets. The Bulldogs began the second quarter with a 14-10 lead, but fell behind, 32-29, by halftime. It was Rick Miller, John Mann and Tim Treado who kept Milan's edge as narrow as it was.

Miller led both the scoring and the rebounding, while Mann followed with five points. Treado deflected eight rebounds.

In the third quarter, the blue and gold team tied it up and then began to inch ahead, accumulating a seven-point margin. But by the end of the hard fought period, Milan had narrowed the gap to two.

Miller, Bruce Guster, and Jeff Daniels led the third-quarter surge with six points each.

Chelsea's 47-45 lead quickly evaporated in the final period. The two teams were neck and neck until Milan poured it on in the last three minutes of play. They rushed from 53 to 64, leaving Chelsea in their wake, with 53. In the meantime, Tim Treado, Jeff Daniels, and Bruce Guster had fouled out of the game.

Tim Treado was the leading scorer against Milan. His 16 points were backed by 12 each from Bruce Guster and Rick Miller. Miller did his stuff on the backboards, too. He was responsible for 18 rebounds.

Mike Smith led Milan's assault with 24 points, 11 coming in the last period. Stan Joplin added 17 points. Smith was also the leading rebounder, rounding up 23.

It seemed as if Manchester were playing two completely different teams Saturday night. First, there was a lethargic, uninspired group which trailed Manchester, 43-28, at the end of the first half. The team that played the second half was a pack of a different temperament.

Manchester jumped out to a first period lead of 18-13, propelled by Brad Roberts and Steve Bach. Chelsea's spark was Jeff Daniels who pitched in seven of Chelsea's 13 points.

Bible School Symphonettes To Appear Here

The Symphonettes of the Grand Rapids School of the Bible and Music will present a musical concert at Chelsea Baptist church on Jan. 28, at 7 p.m.

The Grand Rapids School of the Bible and Music is a technical training institute offering a concentrated education in the Bible.

Recently the school acquired a new campus located at 1331 Franklin S.E. in Grand Rapids. This campus has enlarged the potential of the school so that there is much room for growth in the future.

The group, directed by Miss Betty Harris, is composed of young ladies from six states. A variety of sacred music will be presented in their one-hour concert.

The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

No Number Please Now On Toll Calls

After Jan. 27, Chelsea one and two-party telephone customers will no longer hear "May I have your number, please," from the operator when dialing their own long distance calls.

That's when Michigan Bell converts Chelsea to the new Automatic Number Identification system (ANI) at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, Jan. 28.

Local Michigan Bell manager Harry Kenworthy said the new service will automatically record the number dialed, the length of the call and the number of the calling party, all without the assistance of the operator.

J. Kuhl Injured in Crash With Deer

Jerry Kuhl, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Armin Kuhl, suffered pulled muscles and whip lash when his car and two deer collided early Monday morning.

He was on his way to work, along Scio Church Rd. east of Suttons Lake, when the animals darted into his path. The impact caused him to lose control of his vehicle which then slammed into a tree.

The car was extensively damaged.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

One of the truck drivers that delivers stuff to the country store was running late Saturday night. He said his old lady weren't going to believe he had a flat tire, so he might as well have a pop and relax afore going home. He got to talking about changes in the driver's license test, and the fella got on a discussion of words and sign language.

The truck driver said he had saw where several states is changing their license test to try and make questions clearer understood. He said he was strong in favor of the change. He said he had been driving a truck under all conditions 23 year, and ever time he went for a license check he got bum-fuzzed by the questions. He said the states is trying to get one system of traffic signs and lights for the hole country, and trying to get their license tests uniform was in line with all the traveling between states folks do nowadays.

Actual, allowed Ed Doolittle, driving ain't so bad out in the country, but on the super roads where they got six lanes each way and one on each side to pick up the pieces you got to have nerves of steel to survive. Ed said it weren't no reflection on the truck driver, but he had saw where this university studied drivers two year and decided the best driver was a moron that don't see good. This way, Ed said, not having much mind' and eyes to use, he concentrates harder on using em. A smarter feller would have a little bit of his mind on his driving, and the rest on the gal in the car behind him and the sale he wants to make in the next town.

Practical speaking, declared Clem Webster, if they is a problem bigger than traffic in this country is sitting out of garbage, junk and the rest of our waste. And they is a lot of sign trouble in this area, Bug said. He had saw where this feller had been charged with dumping his garbage along the road. The feller said he done it, but he said he read the sign posted at the place where everbody had been dumping, and the sign said "No Dumping Violators Will Be Prosecuted." He figured if they weren't going to prosecute no violators he might as well dump, so he did. Clem said the states had ought to get together on putting some punctuation in them signs they're trying to get uniform.

Another matter the states could get together on, broke in Bug Hookum, is lotteries that some of em got. Newspapers and magazines that depend on the mail can get in trouble carrying stories about lotteries, even in states where they're legal. For instant, Bug said he had saw where federal law won't let papers that toll about legal lotteries to go through the mail.

Sometime its hard to see the reason in rules, said Bug, but he said he never has understood how you can sell cigarettes but you can't advertise em, and how you can sell firecrackers, in some states, but you can't fire em.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Increase in Area Housing Reported

A recently released report by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments shows net increases over 1971 in the number of dwelling units in area townships and villages.

The Southeast Michigan Dwelling Units Report is based on the number of residential building permits issued in the first six months of 1972. The increase in housing unit authorizations for southeast Michigan was 3,094 units above the same period in 1971. Of this total increase, nearly half of the increased authorizations were in Livingston, Monroe, St. Clair, and Washtenaw counties.

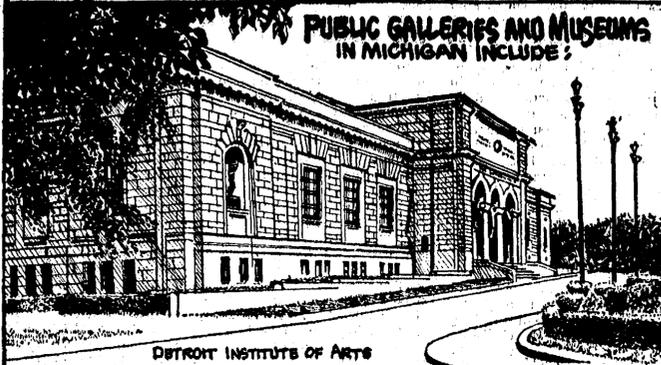

In Washtenaw county, the village of Dexter gained six detached single family units and 11 multi-family units. Chelsea gained only seven single family units. Permits were issued for 20 single family and 15 multi-family dwelling units in Dexter township. Scio township gained 17 single family units. Single family units in Lima township numbered 12 over 1971. Lima also gained eight multi-family units. Lyndon township gained 13 single family and 18 multi-family units. Permits for nine single family units were issued in Sylvan township, as well as for 10 multi-family units. Webster township increased by 30 dwelling units, 22 of them single family dwellings and the remainder multi-family units.

None of the areas reported issuing permits for construction of two-family units or demolition of dwellings.

Washtenaw county over-all gained 632 single family, 60 two-family, and 1,263 multi-family units for a gross total of 1,945 dwelling units. However, 37 demolitions brought the increase down to 1,908 units.

Leftover egg yolks and whites may be refrigerated in covered jars. Whites will keep, cold and covered, about 10 days. Yolks should be covered with cold water when stored and used within two, or three days.

State Police Recruit

Increasing the number of minority group members in its ranks is the goal of a recruiting drive underway by the Michigan State Police.

The state police, widely recognized as one of the nation's finest, has been under fire in recent years because of the almost complete absence of minority group members in its ranks. At one point, the Michigan Civil Rights Commission ordered it to not hire any more white applicants until it had achieved a racial balance similar to the state at large.

The organization still has a long way to go: it has 1,896 men at present and only 20 of those belong to a "major" minority group. Thirteen of these are black, a percentage of less than 1 percent, despite the fact that 11 percent of the state population is black.

The all-white makeup of the force was by no means a policy of exclusion of minority groups, though civil rights groups can point to cases 20 years ago when a black applicant was told not to bother because of his skin color.

The situation in recent years hasn't actively recruited new troopers. The State Police dealt with people who did apply rather than recruit anybody. Since its ranks were virtually all white and since most applicants came in from the same areas as other troopers, almost no minority group members applied.

Change has been slow, but it is coming. Of the 13 black state policemen, five were in the most recent class of recruits.

"We've intensified our efforts to recruit minority group members and we've launched a real hard-core promotional campaign that hopefully will appeal to Blacks, Mexican-Americans, Indians — all groups that might be interested and qualified to apply," explains Col. John R. Plants, Director of the State Police.

"We have 27 recruiters in the field and a specially assigned coordinating section within our personnel office," he says. "We are contacting various minority community groups, and recruiters appear at public events and colleges and universities.

"I'll always be interested in attracting men from minority groups, but only on the same basis as we look for all qualified applicants. All our applicants are given the same screening, the same tests and qualified in the same manner.

"It's imperative that we bring in more minorities so long as it's on an equal opportunity level."

Probate Revamp Urged

A less glamorous, but highly important issue now being pushed in the new legislative session is a complete revamping of Michigan's probate laws as proposed by Sen. Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw.

Richardson introduced the bill in 1972, too late to secure action in both houses on such a complex issue, so it had to wait until this year. It has 27 sponsors altogether in the 38-member Senate, which should guarantee its passage there.

State of the State Focuses on 'Good' Michigan Economy

Lansing—Governor William G. Milliken's annual "State of the State" message to the legislature said Michigan's current situation is "generally good." Said the Governor:

"More people are employed in Michigan than ever before. Personal income is at an all-time high.

"An improving economy and improved management practices will permit us to end the fiscal year with a substantial (state treasury) surplus."

The Governor proposed reductions in property taxes and income taxes paid by individuals, and Corporate Franchise Taxes and Intangibles Taxes paid by business.

He focused on needed steps, many of them Michigan Department of Commerce - oriented, to enhance Michigan's economic health.

"Even though about 93 percent of our work force is employed, we need more jobs in Michigan," Milliken said. "We need to care enough, both in the public and private sectors of our economy, to do whatever is necessary to place every person in a job who is capable of working and willing to work."

"An expanding economy means expanded job opportunities," the Governor said.

"As a result of our action last year, we are now in the midst of an accelerated program designed to encourage business expansion in Michigan, and increased sales of our products outside of Michigan, including overseas."

Specifics of the Governor's program will be spelled out in future messages and proposals, he said.

Humane Society Forms Public Relations Committee

The Board of Directors of the Humane Society of Huron Valley have formed a Public Relations Committee designed to improve its communications, inform the public of services available, field problems and make appropriate referrals, and obtain suggestions toward their goal of alleviating problems affecting animals in Washtenaw county.

For further information call 971-0112 (between the hours of 9 a.m. and 9 p.m.), or write Humane Society Public Relations Committee 2595 Seminole, Ann Arbor 48104.

Richardson says the bill, "while simplifying and updating the law concerning the affairs of deceased persons, missing persons, disabled persons and minors, seeks to promote a prompt and efficient system for liquidating estates and facilitating orderly enforcement of trusts."

The bill is a perfect example of the highly technical non-glamorous work which legislators find takes up so much of their time. It is, however, very valuable to people when they are faced with settling estates. A good law can save them time and money.

For every heated issue like the transportation package, there are a score of more technical issues which don't generate public attention but which can have a great deal of impact on the general public. Since probate courts handle estates of dead persons, they involve the lives of every citizen at one time or another.

This is the type of bill where the committee system can be valuable. The probate law is a highly complex law which few people really understand.

It requires the work of a committee specializing in the area of the judiciary to iron out the kinks and make sure the bill is in good shape. Amendments to such a bill on the floor tend to be few because of the technicalities involved.

Legislators in Lansing earn every penny of their salary when they work on legislation such as this.

Yellow shade of egg yolk depends almost entirely on the hen's diet and does not affect the food value or flavor of the eggs. According to Marketing division officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, today's commercial laying flocks are fed controlled rations so the egg yolks tend to be a more uniform shade of yellow.

Mrs. Walter Mohrlock, local chairman for the March of Dimes, reported Tuesday that contributions for the fund are coming in rather slowly. She said that several organizations had sent in their contributions but there were still many more to be heard from.

Building of an addition to the Chelsea Spring company's plant here is to begin the middle of March, according to a statement made this week by Lowell Davisson, local plant superintendent.

Fire of undetermined origin discovered Sunday evening, almost completely destroyed the house on the property of Waterloo Mink Ranch No. 2, on the east side of Francisco Rd., just north of US-12. Owner of the property is Louis Ramp of Waterloo, but the house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Steven Lake and their two small children. The family lost all of their clothing, and neighbors and friends are attempting to supply some of the needed articles.

Billowing clouds of black smoke originating about a mile west of Chelsea Saturday afternoon, attracted considerable attention, most people believing there was a disastrous fire of some kind. Investigation proved that the smoke came from well-controlled oil fires set by employees of the old oil pipeline which was put through this section about 10 or 12 years ago from Mt. Pleasant oil fields to Toledo.

Mrs. Adeline Eschelbach was honored at a dinner given Sunday, in celebration of her 87th birthday at the home of her daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kuhl where she makes her home.

Miss Elsa Hertler sustained a fractured pelvis, Mrs. Mary Hertler, back injuries, Mrs. Herman Schlecht, a broken foot, ankle, and shoulder and her daughter, Peggy, cuts and bruises, in an automobile accident which occurred about 5:30

Sunday afternoon near Lima Center on US-12.

34 Years Ago

In a recent visit here, L. P. Dow, a representative from the University of Michigan Bureau of Co-operation with Educational Institutions, commented upon a matter which will soon be put to vote before Chelsea citizens, the proposed addition to the school building, providing for manual training and home economics departments. At present, students and teachers are confronted with overcrowded classrooms in a purely academic curriculum.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dumouchel, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle D. Chriwell, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hinderer, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Maroney attended a meeting Sunday of the Second District Association of the American Legion and its Auxiliary at Adrian.

At a meeting of the members of Chelsea Community Fair held in Kolb's Hall on Monday, the following directors were elected: E. J. Claire, Roy Ives, Lloyd Heydlauff, Russell McLaughlin, and James Hendley. They were elected for a period of two years. Amendment was made to the by-laws to provide places on the directorate for two ladies. Mrs. Paul Schaible was elected for a two-year term while Mrs. Warren Daniels was elected for a one-year term.

James Hendley, the Rev. R. W. Barber, P. M. Broesamle, H. C. Schneider, Russell A. McLaughlin, and P. F. Niehaus were in Detroit last Thursday to attend the Mid-Winter conference of Michigan District Kiwanis International, held in the Masonic Temple and the 24th birthday of the Kiwanis.

Swim Lessons Course Underway

Adult swimming lessons and Senior Lifesaving course have been announced by the Washtenaw County Red Cross Chapter.

Both sets of classes started Wednesday, Jan. 17. The Adult Swim class is open to anyone 18 or over. Instruction will be provided for all levels of ability from non-swimmer to the skilled swimmer with an average of six students to each instructor. These lessons are designed to improve your skills, so that you may have more fun and be more confident at the beach or pool. It is also a good way to keep in trim over the winter. Adult classes will meet at Ann Arbor Huron High from 9 p.m. till 10 p.m. for 10 weeks. Regular attendance is not mandatory.

The Senior Lifesaving class is open to highly skilled swimmers with a minimum age level of 15. The Lifesaving class will meet at Forsythe Junior High school in Ann Arbor from 7:30 p.m. till 10 p.m. each week for 10 weeks. The Red Cross Senior Lifesaving certificate will be awarded upon successful completion of the course.

To register for either of these classes call the Ann Arbor Recreation Dept., 865-8821. A pool usage fee of $3 per person is required by the Recreation Dept., prior to the first meeting night. Those enrolling in the Senior Lifesaving will be required to purchase a textbook at the cost of $1.

3 Arrested Last Week on D&D Charges

Chelsea Police made three arrests on drunk and disorderly charges last week. Glenn Wendell Grover of Fowlerville was the first of the three.

Grover was taken into custody Jan. 17, after police received a call from an apartment dweller at 109 Middle St. The complaint, which arrived at approximately 1:30 a.m., was that Grover was standing in the hallway of the apartment, making a disturbance.

Chelsea patrolmen observed signs of intoxication in Grover's behavior. They transported him to jail where he posted $35 bond.

He appeared before Judge Henry Atkinson in 14th District Court and pled guilty. He will be sentenced Feb. 21.

The next day, Robert Wendell Floyd of Gregory and Vernon Wayne Goodrich of Chelsea were arrested on the same charge at 10:45 p.m., after a day of reports, and wild goose chases.

The police were notified at 2 p.m. that there was a ruckus at the Wolverine Bar. They were asked to come break up the fight. When the police arrive, the two men responsible for the disturbance had left.

A half hour later, police were again called. The same two individuals, Floyd and Goodrich, were allegedly in front of the Pub. Again the men in question were gone by the time patrolmen arrived.

The Wolverine called the police at 7:40 that night to say the two men who had been fighting in the establishment earlier had returned. Although police failed to apprehend them at that time, they were called off patrol at 10:45 that night because Floyd and Goodrich were waiting for them at the station.

The officers, having observed signs of intoxication, booked the men and transferred them to jail.

He said that operators will, of course, still be needed for person-to-person calls, as well as emergency assistance.

Kenworthy said the changeover to ANI will require modifications in wiring on some customers' premises.

"In almost all cases, these wiring changes will be made on two-party lines," he said. "We have been doing this since September, and should have been finished by the first of the year."

Kenworthy said the change will affect only one- and two-party Chelsea customers. Four- and eight-party subscribers will continue to be identified by the operator.

He said there will be no changes in dialing methods, local calling area or customer rates. And, he explained, customers will still be charged for all their long distance calls.

"The ANI system is one more step in providing Michigan Bell customers with faster and more efficient service," Kenworthy said.

Manchester steadily pulled away in the second period, stretching to a lead of 43-28 by the half. Scott Gornley accounted for 10 of Manchester's 25 points, while Mann was Chelsea's only bright spot. He hit three long shots to keep Chelsea in the game.

After Manchester netted the first two baskets of the second half, Chelsea came alive. By the end of the third quarter, the Manchester advantage was narrowed to 41 points. Marvin Guster steered the machine toward revenge with his eight points. Tim Treado added six of his own.

The hustling Bulldogs continued to dominate the game with Tim Treado and Bruce Guster spurring the drive with three buckets each. But time ran out. Marvin Guster's last-minute basket hiked the Bulldog score to 68. That wasn't enough to overcome Manchester's 71 points. The Flying Dutchmen sailed to victory by a hair's breadth.

Chelsea offense came to the fore at long last Saturday night. They hit 31 baskets to outscore Manchester from the field, 82-58. Manchester's strength was at the line where they outscored Chelsea 14-12.

John Mann led the Bulldog scoring with 17 points. He was followed closely by Tim Treado, with 16. Jeff Daniels with 15, and Marvin Guster with 14. Daniels was the most adept rebounder. His tally on the boards was 16. Marvin Guster snatched nine.

PUPPIES SUCH AS THESE are always available for adoption at the Humane Society of Huron Valley, located at 3100 Cherry Hill Rd., or phone 482-5585. This Shetland sheepdog (Sheltie) in the picture was brought to the shelter and a few days later had a litter of puppies. They are now about four weeks old.

TODAY'S THOUGHT By LOUIS BURGHARDT Some of our youth find it difficult to understand or believe the gloomy truth about the dreadful depression of some 40 years ago. Bread was a nickel a loaf. Two to five dollars fed families for a week with tolerable sufficiency. Cigarettes cost a dime. Lots of people 'rolled their own' IF they could budget the pennies needed 'for the makings'. Savings disappeared. Homes were lost. Jobs were scarce, almost impossible to find. When a man was lucky enough to find a job, his spirit, if not his voice exclaimed, 'I made it. I made it!' Parents and elders naturally made mistakes in those days. People since then have made and are still making mistakes. It does no good now, any more than it did then, to ceremoniously condemn others, and particularly parents and elders for unhappy, messed up, miserable situations in our world today. It does no good now any more than it did then to blame others for our environment or inherited problems. ALL of us, young and old alike, MUST strive together to solve our common problems. It is a lesson ALL of us must relearn from the past. . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone 475-1551.

Group Tours Now Offered Area Residents

The Ann Arbor Fun club, a travel group headed by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Parker of North Lake, will be getting off to such exotic places as the Caribbean Islands, Las Vegas, and Rome this year.

For the first time, Chelsea residents have the opportunity to join them.

Club tours were restricted to University of Michigan Hospital employees and their families until recent rule changes opened the opportunities to more people. The relaxed rules regarding affinity groups now allow Chelsea residents to take advantage of the special rates for singles, children under 12, and the usual adult double occupancy.

The Las Vegas trip is scheduled for March. For $189 plus tips and taxes, Chelsea residents may spend five days at the Thunderbird Hotel on Las Vegas's "strip." The package includes room, breakfast, and a big night with a steak dinner and a show.

Information about this trip, and other packages for vacations in the Caribbean and Rome may be obtained from Mrs. Parker at 7207 Webb's Landing, North Lake, or at 475-7693.

Boat Safety Classes Start

The Coast Guard Auxiliary is offering a class in Boat Safety and Seamanship for those interested in safe boating.

Flotilla 12-19 started this course Jan. 15, at 7:30 p.m., at the Washtenaw Community College, in Lecture Hall 2, of the Exact Science Building.

Registration will be made the first night of class. Further information may be obtained by calling 434-0052 after 6 p.m.

This course, new and revised over the courses given in previous years, lasts approximately 10 weeks and will be for 2 1/2 hours per class. The information covered will be boating language, boat handling, legal requirements, rules of the road, aids to navigation, charts and compass, marine engines, marlinespike seamanship, sailboats, weather and radio telephone.

Those who satisfactorily complete the course will receive a certificate. There is a small charge for textbooks and materials. The instruction is free.

North Sharon Bible Church Honors Babies

Babies up to two years of age will be honored in "Baby Day" services Sunday, Jan. 28, at North Sharon Bible church, on Sylvan and Washburne Rds. All parents and babies of surrounding communities are welcome to visit Sunday school at 10 a.m. and church at 11 a.m.

Each baby attending will receive a free colored picture in remembrance of the occasion. Each mother of a baby will be honored with a pick or blue "baby" corsage. During the first part of the church hour, the babies will be brought from the nursery to their parents. In a "Baby Parade," each will be introduced to the congregation.

The church hour will also feature an infant dedication service for parents who desire it. The two- and three-year-old class will provide special music under the direction of Mrs. Becky Proctor.

The church is sponsoring Baby Day to express its love and concern for all babies and parents of the community. A graded supervised nursery is available for all services at North Sharon. The Cradle Roll ministry is directed by Mrs. Pat Harris and Mrs. Pansy Kuhl.

To-your-door bus service is available free in the Chelsea area by calling the church at 428-7222.

Farmers Night Speaker Has Farm Background

Along with invitations to area farmers, a special and very flattering invitation was sent to Dale Fast. He was asked to be the speaker at Monday night's Farmers Night at the Kiwanis Club.

The flattering aspect of the invitation was that he had spoken to the group before, and they had wanted him to return.

Fast served six years on the State Board of Directors of the Michigan Milk Production Association, six with the Board of the American Dairy Association, and 12 with the Dairy Council of Michigan. He owns a 230-acre farm in Jackson county.

He drove 100 miles to speak to the group Monday night.

Girl Scout Association Meet Slated

The annual meeting of the Western Washtenaw Area Association of Girl Scouts will be held Monday, Jan. 29 at St. Andrew's United Church of Christ in the social hall. It will start at 8 p.m. Jean Galan will be speaking on "The Backbone of Scouting."

There will be an election of officers and a discussion about council meetings.

All registered adults with Girl Scout and Brownie troops, as well as leaders, are urged to attend this meeting.

It's strange how every mother is an expert cook, but no mother-in-law qualifies.

Strike Settled...

The final agreement came the following afternoon.

Earlier, the CEA president had prophesied, "This dispute is going to be settled at the table. Firing the teachers is only going to create great educational turmoil in this community."

The board was not eager to put the Hutchinson Act in effect. It's costly and unpleasant. And yet, they knew it could be done. There exists a precedent: one Michigan school district did fire all 45 of its teachers.

Public involvement in the controversy was disappointing according to the CEA. Very few people came to their information station at the UAW Hall, Tuesday.

On the other hand, a few citizens attended the long, grueling meetings as a mediating force.

Some citizens complain that the issues were never clear. "The board never told us anything," said one citizen.

"Three years ago, a citizen group got the court injunction that stopped the strike," said Paul Terpstra, CEA negotiator, "and they found out how expensive it is. $500 is a lot of money."

The teacher strike that closed schools for 18 days in 1969 ended when a judge locked the two warring factions in a room until a settlement was reached.

When asked what percentage of the CEA would have jeopardized their livelihood by staying away through Monday, Solomon replied, "I have no way of knowing. It would have been an individual decision."

The new contract is being ready for presentation to the CEA membership. Once ratified, the retroactive salary increases go into effect. Back pay is due from Sept. 1.

Teachers can choose to pick up the lump sum or have it spread out over the rest of the semester.

The CEA and the board have yet to decide the school calendar. The dates for making up the strike days will be decided at that time.

Attend Ag Conference in Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Heim of 14-487 Heim Rd., were among more than 400 farm couples who attended a national farm business conference in Honolulu, Hawaii, last week. The gathering was sponsored by Farm Wife News magazine.

The conference consisted of special seminars on farm management techniques, goal setting and agri-estate planning, plus tours of selected livestock and cropping facilities.

The farm couples flew to and from Hawaii in giant 747 jumbo jets, and stayed at the beautiful Sheraton Waikiki Hotel, located on famous Waikiki Beach at the edge of the Pacific. The conference included a mid-week flight to the island of Maui, where the farm group toured the research facilities of a major seed firm, and viewed no-tillage plots especially planted for the conference to show no-till crops in the growing stage.

According to the Heims, temperatures were in the high 70's and low 80's for the entire week. Just prior to departure, at the end of the week-long conference, the group toured Pearl Harbor and several more of Hawaii's scenic sites.

Farm Workers Now Covered By Social Security

Farmers who hire extra agricultural laborers have until Jan. 31 to send 1972 wage reports and social security contributions to the Internal Revenue Service, according to Robert A. Kehoe, Social Security district manager in Ann Arbor.

"A farm worker is covered by Social Security if an employer paid him $150 or more in cash wages for farm work in 1972—or if the employee did farm work for the employer on 20 or more days during the year for cash wages figured on a time basis rather than a piece-rate basis," Kehoe said.

Annual wage reports for farm employees are submitted by their employers on a form available at Internal Revenue Service offices. The form is mailed automatically to farmers once they have IRS employee identification numbers, according to Kehoe.

Social Security contributions for 1972 are 5.2 percent of the employee's covered wages plus a matching amount paid by the employer. The maximum amount of earnings that can count for Social Security and on which you pay Social Security contributions for 1972 is $9,000.

"An employer must keep a record of his farm employees' wages if he expects they will be covered by social security," Kehoe said. "The record must show the worker's name, his correct Social Security number, cash wages paid to him, and Social Security deductions from his pay." There is no option about paying the tax, if wages total $150, or the laborer worked on more than 20 days.

For questions about the forms, call IRS in Ann Arbor at 769-7100. Any other question relating to Social Security benefits and taxes should be referred to the Social Security office, 2929 Plymouth Rd., Ann Arbor 48107.

Patti Wallace won a warm up class with Irish Coffee, and also placed first in an equitation on the flat for riders 17-and-under.

In open jumper classes, Paul Mathews was first on Mrs. Kleinschmidt's Episode.

Dottie Sippel was a winner in a maiden equitation class and rode her horse, Skyline, to a first in an open working hunter class.

Emily Iglehart rode Mrs. Ehnis' Salty to a victory in the adult workig hunter class. Liz Onlin did similarly in green working hunter under saddle competition.

National Wildlife Federation Comments Mrs. Leon Chapman

Chelsea's Mrs. Leon Chapman has been supporting the National Wildlife Federation, with contributions and freely-given promotion for 15 years. This week she received a blue bound sponsor's certificate in appreciation of her years of help.

"I've always tried to support conservation," says Mrs. Chapman. "I guess I was interested in it because we always lived in the country."

After being first exposed to the National Wildlife Federation years ago, she began subscribing to the federation magazine, buying its stationery and Christmas cards. "I mention the Federation to as many people as possible," she adds.

The Federation's letter, which mentions that the organization runs solely on donations, thanked Mrs. Chapman for her generous support in the task of preserving the natural resources of the country. The accompanying sponsor's certificate "recognizes the assistance rendered to the cause of conservation."

Dana Merges Hillsdale Division With Toledo Unit

The merger of Dana Corporation's Fluid Power Division, Hillsdale, with the Toledo-based Power Equipment Division has been announced by W. E. Herring, general manager of the Power Equipment Division.

Hydraulic products will continue to be manufactured at the Hillsdale facility under the direction of Paul Harman, plant manager, with engineering and sales activity being centralized in the Power Equipment Division's Power Take-Off Plant in Chelsea.

Joe Weber, previously resident manager of the Fluid Power Division, has been appointed General Sales Manager of Mobile Equipment Products. This product group includes the Chelsea-manufactured power takeoffs and gear boxes as well as Hillsdale-manufactured hydraulic products.

Future plans call for coordinating the designing of hydraulic pumps in conjunction with that of PTO's in order to offer a tailored "package" to the Mobile Equipment industry.

St. Louis School Notes

A group of juniors from Chelsea High, with Larry Doll as captain, came to the school for a basketball game Jan. 15, and won. The Roosters, having gained a new boy, Tim Hensley, who is 6 feet three inches tall, are looking forward to a victory next time.

Boy Scout leaders and den mothers arrived once again at school Wednesday, Jan. 17, to conduct another St. Louis school cub meeting. David Bowbeer, district executive, Charles Burgess, district organization and extension chairman, Donald Doll, institutional representative, and Otis Titus, district award chairman were all present.

Tigers Shine At Motor City Sports Award

Detroit—Tigers will carry off a big share of the trophies at the 3rd annual Motor City Sports Award Dinner at Cobo Hall Jan. 18.

At the event sponsored by the Detroit metropolitan chapter of the March of Dimes:

Al Kaline will receive the Distinguished Athlete Citizen Award top honor of the night. In previous years, this award went to Charlie Gehring and Gordie Howe.

Billy Martin will be saluted as the Manager-Coach of the Year for setting a major league fielding record for shortstops.

From other sports, Graham Steenhoven will get the Distinguished Community Service Award and Micki King the Outstanding Athlete Award while player of the year awards will go to Charlie Sanders of the Lions, Marcel Dionne of the Red Wings and Bob Lanier of the Pistons.

Tickets for the dinner are $20 individually or $200 per table of 10 and may be ordered from March of Dimes Sports Award, 20100 Greenfield, Detroit, 48235.

$40 BILLION MORE
During 1970, American's spent $114 billion for food, accounting for some 16 percent of their disposable income. If American consumers were spending the same percentage of their take-home pay today as they did 20 years ago, they would be spending in the range of $40 billion more for food per year.

There is evidence that women who are heavy smokers run the risk of having low weight babies, according to March of Dimes.

which den mothers Mary Ann Burgess, Norma Seyfried and Alice Atkinson instructed the boys in saluting and the Cub Scout handshake. Bob Burgess circulated from den to den, assisting the mothers and offering some of his vast experience in scouting to the boys.

Bob Burgess presented 31 boys with the Bobcat pin which indicates that the boys have passed all requirements to be Cub Scouts. Doll was introduced as newly assigned institutional representative for the Knights of Columbus, sponsor of the St. Louis groups.

After the boys ate treats provided by their Den Mothers, Burgess led the closing ceremony with the Scoutmaster's sign of Reverence.

The boys and staff traveled to Crisler Arena, Saturday, for the Michigan-Purdue game. They were guests of Don Canham, athletic director at the University of Michigan. That evening the boys returned for a movie (complete with popcorn) shown by Father Germano.

The Rev. Fr. Klauke, parents and cheerleaders from St. Patrick's in Brighton accompanied their boys to a basketball game at the school Sunday afternoon. St. Patrick's was victorious by three points. After the competition, they were entertained by Father Umberto and his boys playing music from the St. Louis school album.

The Rev. Clive Dickins and counselors, Mrs. Gloria Greenleaf, Sandy Centilli, and the MYS group from the Methodist church came for a social hour with the boys, Sunday evening.

New Corporations Increase in Past Year

Lansing—Michigan Department of Commerce Corporation and Securities Bureau records show 9,202 profit firms filed articles of incorporation during 1972, compared with 8,270 the previous year.

State Commerce Director Richard K. Helmbrecht said the increase "indicates a resurgence of confidence in Michigan's business climate."

He cited the improved promotional and economic expansion program proposed by the Governor and approved by the legislature last year, and Michigan's new corporation code which makes it easier for firms to do business here, as two reasons why the economic climate should continue to show improvement.

"Statistical evidence of burgeoning business activity is most heartening," Helmbrecht said. "We look forward to seeing these corporate activity figures reflected in the number of jobs available in Michigan."

ASK THE GOVERNOR

by William G. Milliken

Question: Now that the State Lottery has been active for a while, are there any figures on the amount of money it has brought in for the state?

Answer: During the first five weeks of operation, the Michigan State Lottery averaged sales of five million tickets per week, with the largest volume of sales—5.9 million tickets—coming during the first week of operation. As of this writing, (Dec. 21), the State Lottery has taken in $9.85 million, with $4.2 million going in prizes, $400,000 going to the agents who handle sales and about $5.2 million going into the state's general fund. My office estimates that over the period of one year, the State Lottery should bring a total of about $60 million into the state treasury.

Question: Have road traffic crashes caused by alcohol among 18 to 20-year-olds gone any way up since the Age of Majority law was adopted. Why isn't anything being done to cut those crashes down?

Answer: It is true that alcohol-related traffic crashes among young adults have risen substantially during the past year. However, it is important to recognize that this problem is not confined solely to 18- to 20-year-olds, but is the number one traffic safety problem among all age groups. National estimates maintain that more than 50 percent of all traffic fatalities are linked in one way or another to the consumption of alcoholic beverages, and we have experienced an increase in alcohol-related traffic crashes among all age groups in Michigan this year.

Michigan has taken a number of steps to alleviate this critical problem, including lowering the maximum blood alcohol level in drunk driving cases from .15 percent to .10 percent and activating special enforcement forces in several communities throughout the state. Additionally, I am currently in the process of revitalizing my Task Force on the Drinking Driver Problem and charging it with developing additional solutions to this pressing problem.

However, above and beyond the steps that state government can take, each and every driver in Michigan bears a personal responsibility to help reduce the tragic toll of alcohol related traffic crashes.

Question: Now that the Legislature is done for the year, do you have any reaction to its performance?

Answer: In my judgment, the 1972 session of the legislature was the most fruitful I have seen since I first came to Lansing as a State Senator in 1961.

Of the 20 major pieces of legislation which were vehicles for programs promoted by me 18 were passed including vitally needed improvements in transportation, housing, the juvenile code, and environmental protection. We also saw adoption of a statewide construction code, nofault automobile insurance, a presidential primary and the Equal Rights Amendment to the United States Constitution—all of which were supported by me.

All in all, I believe that the leadership and membership of both houses deserve special commendation for 1972's fine record of bipartisan accomplishment.

Question: I am a hunter and fisherman living in the northern part of the state. I understand that Michigan now has some kind of a special license which would allow me to hunt and fish for anything on one license. Can you tell me a little about it?

Answer: Since 1971, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources has offered for sale a unique "Sportsman's License" which permits the purchaser to engage in all hunting, fishing, and trapping activities in the state, except beaver and otter trapping. This special license is available to all residents of the state who are 17 years of age or older, and is good from Sept. 1 to the following Aug. 31 for hunting, and until the following Sept. 30 for fishing.

The Sportsman's License sells for $18.50, as opposed to the $34 which would be charged if all hunting, fishing and trapping licenses were purchased individually. In 1971, the DNR reported sales of 56,096 of these licenses, and estimates that more than 80,000 have been sold during 1972. The 1972-73 Sportsman's License is now available at nearly all of the 2,900 licensing agencies throughout the state.

The Safety Value

Question: About how many "Driving Under the Influence" (more commonly referred to as drunk driving) arrests are made annually in Michigan? L. T. D., Chelsea.

Answer: In Michigan in 1972, through November, there were 26,122 such arrests made, an increase of 33.7 percent over 1971. This represents activity of all police agencies in the state.

Question: I thought the state would let you accumulate 12 points against your driving record before suspending it (as long as none of the violations incurred would require an automatic suspension or revocation). I got a letter from the Department of State calling me in for an interview when I only had nine points and when I didn't appear, the director sent me notice my license was being revoked. P. M. S.

Answer: This looks like you got caught by two different paragraphs from the Michigan Vehicle Code. One says, "If a person has accumulated 9 points as provided herein, the director may call said person in for an interview as to his driving ability and record after due notice as to time and place of said interview. In the event the person fails to appear as provided herein, the director shall add 3 points to his record."

The law continues, "... whenever any person has been charged against him a total of 12 or more points as provided in section 320a within a period of two years, the commissioner, after notice as hereinafter provided to such person, may conduct an investigation and require an examination of such person in the county where such a person may reside, and upon good cause appearing thereon, may thereupon recommend to the department the suspension or revocation of the license of such person or may require the immediate surrender of the license of each person, which together with a recommendation as to the period of suspension or revocation, shall be forwarded to the department. The commissioner shall, in all cases, prescribe the period of suspension and the recommendation of the commissioner in the premises shall in all cases, be binding upon and followed by the department." Nine plus three equals twelve!

Old-Time Railroad Depots Now Serve Many New Uses

Surprises are in store for those who like to see what has happened to old railroad depots around the state which no longer serve passenger traffic. Visiting them has become a growing pastime, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

These one-time railroad stations, most of them built in the 1880's and early 20th century, were exciting, busy community centers in their heyday. Many still are.

Take, for instance, the old depot at Indian River, built by the New York Central Railroad in 1877. It is now an antique and gift shop. For four generations, people were greeted or bid goodbye at this old depot. They came to Indian River to go to their summer homes on Burt, Mullett and other nearby lakes.

The little frame depot, painted a glistening white, looks different now. Baskets filled with red geraniums hang from corners of the eaves. Flower boxes below the windows are massed with red geraniums and pink and white petunias. A border of evergreens, junipers and arbutus is along the front.

The depot was sold in 1961 and since has been called "Of Cabbages and Kings," a gift shop which contains much railroad memorabilia. No structural changes have been made by the present owner.

Stay on M-27 as you travel north and you'll come to the old depot at Topinabee, used now as a community center by Topinabee township. A few miles farther along, leave M-27 at Mullett Lake Dr., and you will find that the Mullett Lake depot has been converted into a summer home.

At Marquette in the Upper Peninsula, the old two-story brick depot on Main St., now is the Marquette Community Center. The structure was built in 1901 by the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railroad.

At Petoskey, on Little Traverse Bay, a little wooden depot built in 1901 and last used by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, is now owned by the city and being restored as a museum.

The depot at Alden, near Manacelona, is still owned by the C & O, but has been leased to a group of its employees who use it as a summer cottage.

The station at West Branch, formerly owned by the Penn Central, has been a combination barber shop and hardware store since 1968.

Back in the southern part of Michigan, you might drive to Kalamazoo for a meal at "The Whistle Stop," a restaurant in the old Pennsylvania Railroad depot. Here the atmosphere is early 1900, with valuable antiques such as a signed Tiffany lamp, as well as the old depot's waiting room benches now upholstered in tufted leather to make comfortable banquettes for diners.

Other depots also have become restaurants, a growing usage.

One is the former Penn Central station in Ann Arbor, built in 1888. Remodeled, it features much railroad memorabilia.

The Grand Trunk Western railroad in Lansing is the latest large station to be turned into a restaurant. It is scheduled for opening in mid-November.

At Charlotte, the 1902 Michigan Central depot made a comeback 63 years later, also as an eating place. Now known as the Old Depot Ice Cream Parlor and operated by the Miller Dairy Farms of Eaton Rapids, a turn of the century atmosphere has been recreated in the old structure. Much of the interior decor has been retained, with other and newer furnishings also providing an oldtime motif. The bill of fare includes all ice cream and milk combinations, with "Super-Duper" sundaes, a large selection of sandwiches and soft drinks.

A depot now located near Romeo is owned by Bob Owen and operated as both a museum and sign shop. The depot formerly was located at Washington and owned by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, but a condition of the sale to Owen was that it be moved from the railroad right-of-way. The old depot was what was called a combination station, handling both passengers and freight. The depot is about three miles south of Romeo, on M-53 at Van Dyke and 29 Mile Rds.

Another station which has started a new career is the Ann Arbor Railroad depot in Howell, which has been converted into a museum by the Livingston County Historical Society and is open to the public. The old depot is a Michigan historic site.

Other small depots in the state, some nearly or already abandoned by their railroad owners, likely will be sold in the future and get a new lease on life. The trend from railroad transportation also may portend a new future for larger stations as well.

But one thing appears certain. Railroad depots will be with us for a long time, in one form or another.

Red Cross Lists Safeguards Against Injury from Falls

In the Home
Except in claspstick comedies, falls aren't funny.
"On the contrary, in real life they take life, and they are especially dangerous for men and women in the over-65-years bracket," Dr. James M. Winkler, Washtenaw county American Red Cross first aid chairman, points out.
"Of the 17,900 persons who were fatally injured in falls last year, 12,700—nearly 71 percent—were more than 65 years old," Dr. Winkler added. "This means that older persons should take extra care to avoid falling."

As a first step against accidental falls, Dr. Winkler urged people of all ages to take a Red Cross first aid course. These courses teach accident prevention by making people more conscious of accident causes and also enables them to give emergency care to the injured when accidents occur.
Dr. Winkler urged observance of the following precautions to reduce the hazards of falls indoors and out:

- Keep floors free from spilled foods or liquids. Wipe them up immediately.
- Fasten loose materials, such as throw rugs, to the floor, or use a non-skid backing on them.
- Repair or replace floor covering that causes uneven walking surfaces.
- Keep walking surfaces clear of tools, toys, pencils, and similar objects that can cause slipping and stumbling. An unobstructed walking surface is particularly important in poorly lighted passages and stairways.
- Use secure stepladders and stepstools to extend the reach. When using a stepladder or stepstool, maintain a handhold at all times. Do not use chairs, tables, and boxes as substitutes for ladders. Check ladders and stools for defects before using them. Lock and check the spreader before use.
- Provide for well lighted surfaces. Install adequate lighting where it is not already available. Provide switches at top and bottom of stairs. Use a flashlight when it is needed.
- Provide guards at top and bottom of stairs to keep young children off steps.
- Mark bottom and top of stairways to indicate both bottom and top steps.
- Provide sturdy handrails on all stairways.
- Provide and use secure handholds in bathtubs and showers. Equip tubs and showers with non-skid surfaces.

Outside the Home
When using a leaning ladder place it at a safe angle. The base should be out from the ladder's length, and should be placed on a secure, even surface so the ladder will not slip or turn.
Use footwear appropriate for the walking surface.
Don't carry objects that will block your vision. Have someone assist you in carrying large, bulky objects.
In alighting from a vehicle, wait until it stops before getting off.
In winter, clear snow from porches, steps and sidewalks to sand, rock salt, sawdust or ashes on ice-covered porch steps and sidewalks, and scrape ice from porch-stair railings to insure secure handholds.

Older Persons and Physically Handicapped
Persons with impaired sight need more light on walking surfaces. Also, move low pieces of furniture away from normal walking areas.
Individuals with tendencies to dizziness or fainting need special assistance in moving about and when bathing.
Persons with physical weakness need special supporting structure—"walkers" or furniture that is easy to use, beds and chairs that are of convenient height and will not slip or slide when used as a support.
Older persons should avoid sudden head movements that result in loss of equilibrium, especially when standing.

County Soil Survey Makes Progress in '72
By James Barnes, Soil Scientist
U. S. Soil Conservation Service
During 1972 the Washtenaw County Soil Survey Party completed new soil maps on 49,828 acres of county land. Sylvan and Bridge-water townships were completed, as well as portions of Lyndon mapped since the survey began in 1968 is 410,816 acres. During 1973, the final year of the survey, 47,424 acres remain to be mapped.
The soil survey is a co-operative project between the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners. The 1972 survey party consisted of Neil Stroessneuther and James Barnes of the Soil Conservation Service and Peter Davis, Ames Manor, and Dave McAlpine of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station.
The survey provides an acre-by-acre analysis of the county's soils. Soil scientists examine the soil and record characteristics that affect its use for agriculture, recreation, or urban development. These characteristics include texture, structure, natural drainage, percolation rate and lime content. This information is used to separate soils and is recorded on aerial photographs.
The resulting soils map is an invaluable guide for use in the reduction of environmental pollution. Health departments, planning commissions, and individuals will find the soils map useful to locate areas that have only slight limitations for septic tank disposal fields, lagoons, and sanitary landfills. Farmers can use the soils map to locate areas to spread animal wastes that have the least potential to pollute streams or ground water supplies. Developers can also make good use of these soil maps.
Soils map information for townships that have been completed are available through the Soil Conservation District office at 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor 48103.

Steven Worden, a senior at Chelsea High school, was recently notified that he is to be featured in the seventh annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students. The volume is the largest student award publication in the nation.

Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber H. Worden of 118 Lincoln St. He is active in scouts, football, wrestling, track, the school newspaper and the Youth Center. He is also distinguished as a National Merit Scholarship Semi-Finalist, and he was one of five Chelsea students to be invited to participate in the MSU Distinguished Scholarship Competition.

In addition to having his biography published in the book, Steve will also compete for one of 10 $1,000 scholarship awards funded by the publishers, and will be invited to participate in the firm's annual "Survey of High Achievers" later in the academic year.

Students from more than 18,000 public, private and parochial high schools throughout the country are recognized for their leadership in academics, athletics, activities or community service in the book. Less than two percent of the junior and senior class students nationwide are awarded this recognition.

Steve plans to attend Michigan State University next year. His major will be zoology.

CHS Grad in Ferris Band at Inaugural Parade

Chris L. Marzee, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marzee of Freer Rd., was part of the Bulldog Marching Band of Ferris State College that represented Michigan in the Presidential Inaugural Parade, Saturday, Jan. 20.

Chris's tuba boomed in one of only 45 bands in the entire parade. The 140-piece organization was the only band from Michigan to travel to the nation's capital for the festivities.

Travel plans called for the student musicians to leave Friday afternoon via chartered plane from the Kent County Airport in Grand Rapids and to return late Sunday night. They stayed at the National 4-H Center in Chevy Chase, Md.

In making the announcement of the Ferris band's selection, Governor William Millike said, "The Ferris State College Band will serve as an excellent musical representative of the state in the Inaugural Ceremonies. It will do an outstanding job, and we in Michigan are very proud."

The Ferris band has appeared frequently in half-time shows at Detroit Lions football games and these appearances have been seen on television by millions throughout the east and midwest.

Barn Burns Saturday on Jackson Rd.

A 56-year-old barn, rented by Jack Bradbury from Martin Steinbach, became an inferno fed by Bradbury's store of grain, hay, and farming equipment, Saturday. Two children playing with matches, are suspected of starting the fire.

James Gaken, Chelsea fire chief, and his force of 14 volunteers pumped nearly 7,000 gallons of water on the blaze at 11699 Jackson Rd. Two men and a truck came from Dexter's fire department to join the fight.

The combined effort of the firefighters kept the towering flames from spreading to a nearby shed and garage, but the 60-by-40-foot barn was completely destroyed. The flames were so hot that they melted tar in the siding around the nearby garage.

Jack Bradbury, a member of the county Board of Commissioners, who farms the Steinbach land, lost nearly half of his year's harvest in the fire. He estimates that 5,000 bales of hay, 3,000 bales of straw and 600 bushels of oats, barley and wheat went up in smoke. A field chopper, a grain blower, several elevators and corn crib fencing constituted the rest of his loss. He had stored other crops and equipment at his own place.

Martin Steinbach's tractor was saved when it was pulled from the burning structure, but other Steinbach property could not be salvaged. He had used the barn to store two old boats and a trailer, a large pile of old moldings, and a "fair sized" stack of newly cut and dried lumber, all of which were consumed by the fire.

Firemen were told that children had been playing with matches in the barn before the building burst into flame. Washtenaw county sheriff deputies and state police were at the scene taking statements.

The farm where the barn stood is rented by the Patrick Wade family.

IN THE FACE OF AN INFERNO: Paul Howard (left) from Dexter, Bob Smith (center) from Chelsea, and Keith Hostler, Dexter Fire Chief turn a hose on to the nearby garage in an effort to keep the flames and heat from igniting the building.

The barn fire was hopelessly beyond control before firemen arrived but they saved all other buildings. The blaze, Saturday afternoon was at the Steinbach farm, 16999 Jackson Rd.

Christmas Seal Contributions To Date Equal Last Year's

Contributions in Washtenaw county to the traditional Christmas Seal campaign have reached $26,607 through the first week of January which is 100 percent of last year's total, reports Walter A. Meier, M. D., president of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Over-all the state-wide contributions from 81 counties, excluding the Detroit metropolitan area, have reached $807,987—or 92 percent of the amount raised the previous year.

Dr. Meier asks Washtenaw county residents who have not yet answered their Christmas Seal appeal letter to please do so. "Although Christmas is over, the work of the Christmas Seal Association goes on 365 days-a-year working in the area of tuberculosis control, smoking education, emphysema research, fighting for clean air and providing other important state and local community health programs," he said.

As a part of their commitment to discourage smoking and to fight for the rights of the nonsmokers, the association participated in the National Education Week on Smoking during Jan. 7-13, to encourage the public to become aware of the health hazards of smoking. In addition, doctors, as members of the health team, were encouraged to take a more active role in smoking education. This is an example of just one of the many programs we promote and participate in during a year, said Dr. Meier.
