

HCMA Musters Some Park Support at DNR Hearing

For nearly 4½ hours, Thursday, opponents and advocates of the Mill Creek Park project explained their hopes and fears to William Laycock, Department of Natural Resources (DNR) regional manager, who led the public hearing.

The DNR, which is now considering Huron-Clintons-Metropolitan Authority's application for federal funding for the park, called the hearing in order to assess public opinion before making its final decision.

About 150 individuals made it to Pioneer for the hearing, in spite of the awkward scheduling at 3 in the afternoon. Many came and went before having the opportunity to state their stand. Approximately 40 individuals talked during the proceedings.

The park, which will take 200 acres of Freedom township and the remainder of the 4,900 acres from Lima, was opposed Thursday by many of the same groups that were represented at the Lansing hearing in February.

Their arguments run from concern about the water quality in the area, to the loss of farm land. Others, notably Charlene Knight of the UAW, rallied against HCMA building a park that would not serve the residents of Detroit people who have paid for it.

Miss Knight pointed out that boating, golfing and picnicking facilities would be of little use to people who can't afford a car. She chastized the HCMA for forgetting Wayne county which has paid $50 million of the $73 million poured into HCMA projects. Of that, $35 million million was footed by Detroit alone.

But HCMA was not without supporters at the hearing. Three speakers came from the Milford area, which already has a HCMA park, to say what a good neighbor HCMA is. They referred to times when there has been co-operation between park police and local authorities in handling a case and argued that the park gives much more than it takes from the community.

A Milford farmer said that parks are not the only threat to farm land. He felt much of the furor over the park should be directed at land taxes.

John Greensled, of the Michigan Recreation and Park Association, was there to testify that the Mill Creek Park plan was picture-perfect. He was joined by other park technicians who praised the park's look on paper. Tom Fegan voiced the Washtenaw County Planning Commission's support of the project and challenged the accessibility figures quoted by SEMCOG when speaking against the park.

David O. Laidlaw, director of HCMA, spoke, as he did in Lansing, on the need for parks as a means for saving land from urbanization. His argument is that, although the land is presently used for farming, it will soon be taken over by the urban sprawl.

He was echoed by Miss E. Genevieve Gillett, one of the founders of HCMA who is now with the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board to the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners. She warned that the 1-94 strip between Detroit and Chicago will turn into a megalopolis in the coming years.

"Park land and open space is imperative for the future, especially this close to Ann Arbor, and we would be very remiss not to preserve it for the future," she said.

The future is the concern of the opponents, too. John Caulkins, deputy director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, read a letter from the department's director which favors keeping the farm land. Future generations will need all the farm land they can get, according to a department prediction.

Milt Brown of the Michigan Livestock Exchange supported that argument. Rebuffing Laidlaw's statement that displaced farm land could be replaced elsewhere, Brown said beef and milk have to be produced in the corn belt. Land further north or in the south simply cannot be converted to fulfill the needs supplied here, he said.

He suggested that HCMA take a more creative approach, and find marginal land that is not already in good use.

The question of an environmental impact statement was once again brought to the fore when the DNR representative explained that the department would not draw one up since the Federal government must if it takes on the responsibility of funding the project.

Dave Ingersall of the Mill Creek Research Council responded to that with, "The Council continues to question the assumption that Washington knows best. But it doesn't. We're the ones that will have to live with the ptk."

Others argued that the park is a regional issue and should be evaluated as such. One of these was Ed Coy, Lima town ship supervisor. He said that people have accused Lima of using delaying tactics. He stressed that the delays were justified. "We're going to have to live with the outcome so we want to make sure it is based on the most conscientious consideration."

While admitting that the township has ulterior motives in pressing for an investigation, he said the county also has selfish reasons for wanting the park approved. Mill Creek park, if it materializes, will be a free park for county residents who don't have to sacrifice their land to it.

Another speaker for the regional cause was Fred Mills, business manager for Chelsea School District. He explained the park will harm the district by cutting in to its tax base. While this would chop off only two percent of the district's revenue, that small two percent amounts to an ample $50,000.

It would also harm the school district's bond retirement program, says Mills. With fewer people in the area to pay the debt, the load on each remaining citizen would be greater.

Other local residents who talked before Laycock were Margaret Sias, Sylvester Weber, the Rev. John Morris, Bob Heller, Bob Wirtz, Linda Koch, Don Reney, and Jerold Mayers.

To the testimony given Thursday will be added written statements submitted by individuals who were unable to attend the Ann Arbor hearing.

DNR will consider all the arguments before making a judgment on the park, but there is no way of knowing when that judgment will come.

Ann Arbor Federal Robber Arrested Within 7 Hours

History was made at the Chelsea branch of the Ann Arbor Federal Savings Friday afternoon, when a bank robber got away with $5,000.

But, say Chelsea police, the suspect did not get far. As the result of the vigilance of two Chelsea citizens, FBI agents had a suspect in custody the very same evening.

James Harvey Maurice, a 26-year-old Ann Arbor resident, was arraigned Monday in Federal District Court in Detroit on a charge of bank robbery, a federal offense. His bond was set at $25,000.

According to Police Chief George Meranuck, $4,829 of the little over $5,000 that was taken from the bank at 1:40 p.m. Friday, was recovered at the time of Maurice's arrest Friday evening.

Maurice has admitted to robbing the Ann Arbor National Bank & Trust branch at Packard and Stadium of $1,000 and to three other armed robberies in the Ann Arbor area.

Maurice was apprehended after Robert Riemenschneider gave police the license plate number of the orange Hornet seen at the scene of the crime. Riemenschneider noticed a "strange looking man," according to police, park an orange car on Summit St., about 1 p.m. The man put on sunglasses, and entered Chelsea State Bank.

Riemenschneider noted the license number and made a mental note of the man's description but dismissed his suspicions when no commotion followed. It was three hours later that he heard of the Savings and Loan branch robbery, at which time he called Donald E. Nissle, branch manager, to compare descriptions.

Riemenschneider's description not only conformed to Nissle's recollection of the bank robber, it matched the description given by a Chelsea woman who had seen the man run from the bank, dash across Polly's parking lot and into the waiting orange Hornet on the north side of the supermarket.

According to police, the suspect had entered Polly's market after leaving the Chelsea State Bank. The suspicion is that he intended to rob Polly's or the State Bank, but the crowds scared him away.

He reportedly entered the Ann Arbor Savings and Loan branch sometime after 1 p.m., where two customers and two tellers were conducting business. Nissle was preparing to go to lunch.

The caucasian male in his mid-twenties demanded money of one of the tellers and warned her not to activate any alarm or cameras. His hand in his pocket, which looked as if he had a gun, was enough to convince her to follow instructions.

As she went to get a bag for the haul, at his request, he dashed from the bank to his car. The hat that had covered his long blondish hair flew off in the process.

Chelsea Police and the Sheriff's Departments were immediately summoned. Road blocks on all major arteries in the area were erected and a thorough investigation swung into action. Three FBI men arrived shortly to interview all witnesses as Washtenaw Detective Lieutenant Harold Owings took fingerprints. Sheriff Fred Postill was also on the scene.

Dusting for fingerprints, the film in the cameras and the road blocks revealed nothing. Without Riemenschneider's observations, the alleged criminal would have been difficult to identify.

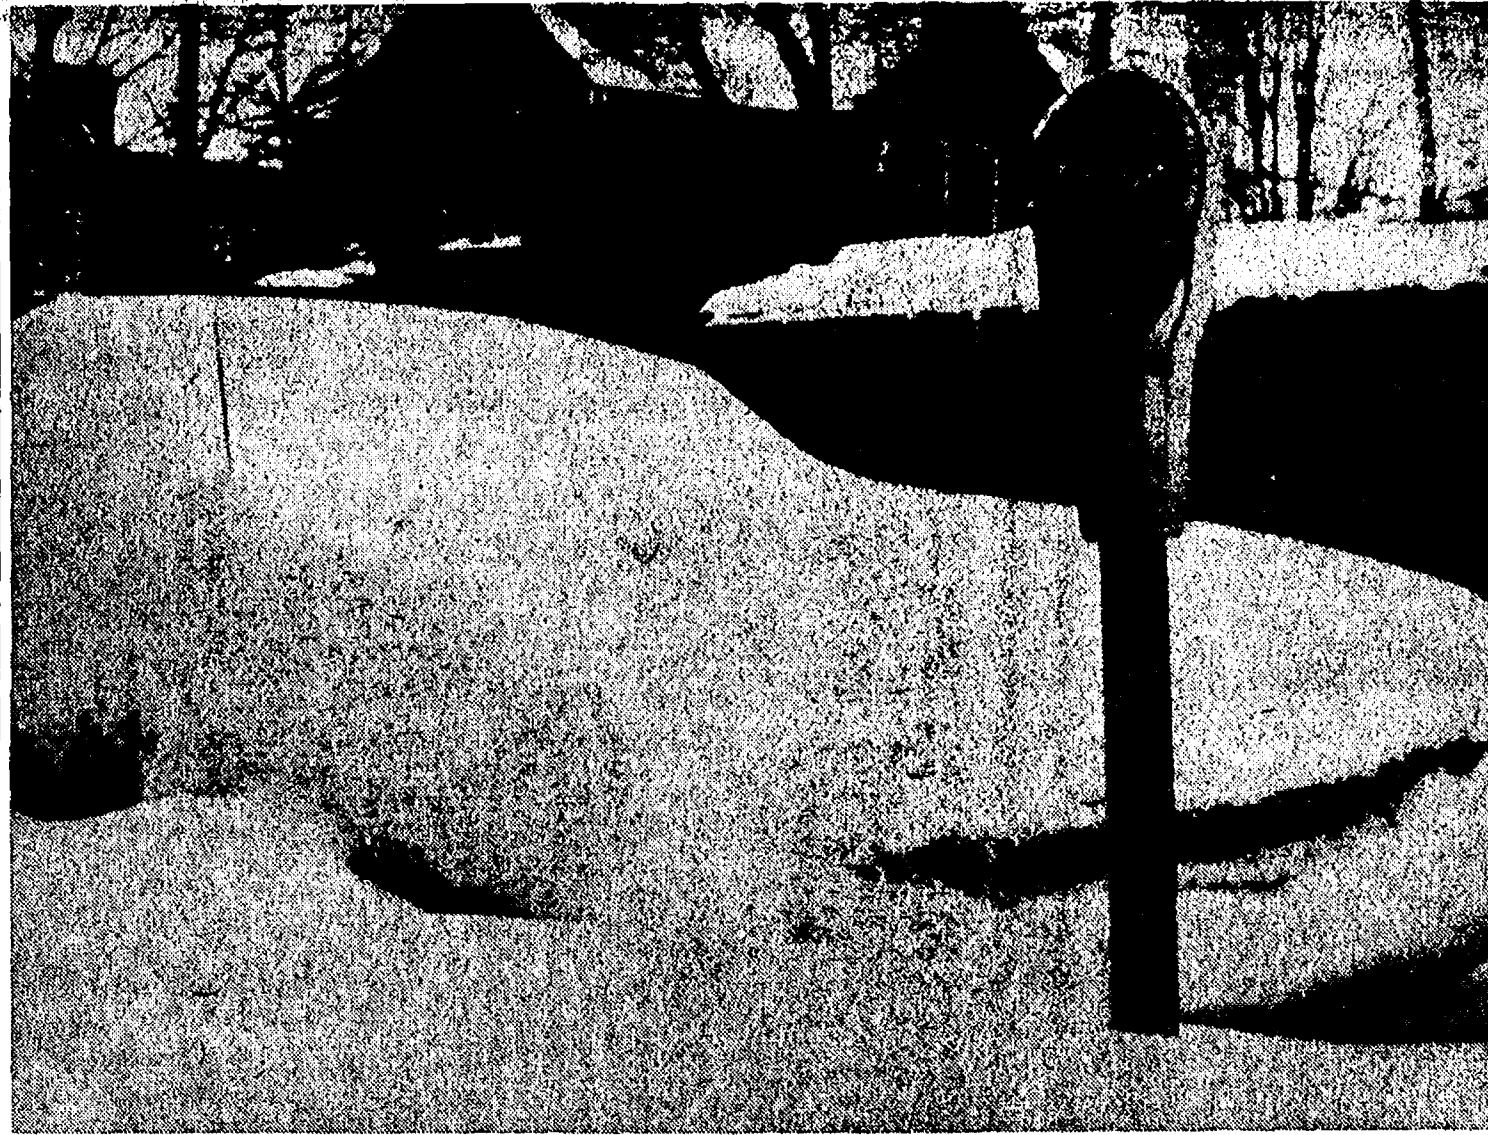

While Chelsea banks are required to maintain as stringent security as any bank, they are not considered prime targets for robbers since they do not command the business metropolitan banks do.

Maurice, who has been arraigned for transporting 80 pounds of marijuana in Texas, was not armed at the time of his arrest at his Olivia St. home in Ann Arbor. According to Chief Meranuck, a toy gun was found in his apartment.

Many Rural Homes Lose Electricity

Terrific winds and high-piling snow posed little inconvenience for some villagers who were warm and snug in well-stocked homes, but for others, who lost power, heat and light, the two-day storm was an ordeal.

Reports are that establishments along M-52 south of Old US-12 were without power for six or seven hours, Saturday. A few homes in Lanewood subdivision suffered the same fate. Except for a few isolated homes, the remainder of the village had power during the storm. In contrast to the outlying areas, Chelsea was very lucky. (Continued on page eight)

A PILE OF SNOW WITH A SMILE: An expired meter didn't mean much last week-end which is just as well. The ticketing officer would have had difficulty attaching the citation to the windshield.

A SMALL ROBBERY that occurred on Cavanaugh Lake Rd. Saturday surprised police because they knew "not much was moving out there." This picture shows why. Only 100 yards west of the railroad crossing at the Methodist Home, trucks and cars were engulfed in drifts.

Church Frolic Proves To Be Week-ENDER

"That's an over-night they'll never forget," said the Rev. Warner Stebert, pastor of the St. Paul United Church of Christ. The Junior Youth Fellowship's Frolic some "lock-in" lasted a little longer than expected.

The youngsters were supposed to be home by 8 Saturday morning, according to original plans, but the storm made leaving a little less than easy. Most of the 30 adults and children were evacuated by snowmobile.

Their being stranded in the church would not have been any worse than the plight of the 1,000 travelers forced to spend the night in Chelsea, except St. (Continued on page five)

A Story of Civic Pride and Action:

Community Rallies To Help in Paralyzing Week-End Blizzard

Last week-end's howling blizzard that dumped approximately 18 inches of snow on the Chelsea area framed many stories. Police, Food Commission employees, Jaycees and hordes of volunteers who labored to provide food and shelter for more than 1,000 stranded travelers can tell of sleepless days and eventual pride.

Residents in the surrounding areas, trapped in their homes, some without heat or light, others without food, can speak of helplessness. The sick who were kept from medicine and doctors by drifts can speak of fear. Stranded motorists recall the cold and frustration.

But as individual memories dim, one image will last. St. Patrick's Day was the day snowmobilers came into their own in Chelsea. No longer considered a noisy nuisance, they were welcomed into the village as the only means of transportation.

Chucked one snowmobiler, "Any other day I would be ticketed for riding my machine down Main St. Today, I'm not only allowed, I've got the right-of-way."

The privilege came, Saturday, out of necessity, and the right-of-way followed out of respect. By Saturday afternoon the confession, "I never thought much of snowmobilers before, but now I've changed my mind," was heard repeatedly.

As early as mid-morning, members of the Inverness and Cavanaugh Lake "Lakers" Snowmobile clubs and many unaffiliated snowmobilers were dinging into the village and onto the highway, offering aid. They gave directions and transportation to stranded motorists, a vacated rural residents who had lost power, and ferried provisions to farmers, and doctors to the sick.

Thanks to them, the emergency shelters at the Fairgrounds, Chelsea High school, First Congregational church, Our Savior Lutheran church, 3-D Sales & Service, Stuckey's, Ann Arbor Centerless, and elsewhere, were kept in food and medical supplies.

Others delivered gasoline to motorists who chose to stay in their cars, motors running, heaters on, believing that they would soon be on their way. The Norman Luboff Choir was of that opinion and, though they accepted food brought by snowmobilers on, believing that they would not come into the village. They were gone Sunday.

The range of the snowmobilers' deeds was immense, as was his energy. As late as 3 a.m. Saturday night, motors were still heard taxing persons to the high school. Their services were critical to the welfare of thousands through Sunday, and as late as Wednesday, some rural residents were still dependent on them.

"These snowmobilers are incredible," said one refugee, Sunday, at the Fairgrounds. "They come in after hours of helping people, and they still drop money in the basket for a cup of coffee. I say keep your money, we can't repay you enough."

While the snowmobilers were moving into action, the Washtenaw Road Commission was losing momentum. They were crippled by the loss of their 20-ton truck, which was crowded off into a ditch while sanding Cavanaugh Lake Rd., and mocked by the winds that blew away what sand they were able to get down.

Their plowing efforts were foiled by drifts that devoured their work as soon as it was done, and by abandoned cars that cluttered the highway like so many stumbling blocks.

Said one weary employee, Saturday afternoon, "We've been out since 11 o'clock Friday night, and we've nothing to show for it except some torn up equipment and tired men. People still aren't going anywhere."

He was right. Driving conditions were the worst in the county's history. I-94 was not completely clear until Monday evening. Although, all but about 30 stymied travelers were able to get on their way by Monday morning, back roads remained blocked through Wednesday. Schools were expected to finally reopen today, Thursday.

For the duration, the refugees found adequate if not luxurious accommodations. A spontaneous community response provided travelers a welcome such as never before seen in the village. Families of all colors, shapes and sizes were rescued, fed and housed against the blizzard winds which gusted 45 to 60 mph.

"The Jaycees deserve a great deal of the credit," says Police Chief George Meranuck, "for getting the ball rolling. They jumped right in and got the Fairgrounds open. After that the community followed the example."

The Fairgrounds Service Center building slept 175 persons Saturday night, in three shifts. The high school bedded down 585 on wrestling mats in the gym. The 75 sheltered in the First Congregational church's basement had the luxury of sleeping on padded pews in the sanctuary.

Our Savior Lutheran church offered a roof for nearly 80 persons who had originally sought refuge in the Chelsea Lanes. They slept where they could. First Methodist opened its doors to 50-100 scouts who had hiked from Green Lake. Travelers joined them.

It was reported that 50-100 persons found shelter at Bud Ringe's 3-D Sales & Service and that 15 more stayed in Ann Arbor Centerless plant. A hundred kept warm at Stuckey's and 100 more made Lima Township Hall their home after their vehicles were claimed by the storm.

The lucky ones found themselves welcomed into Chelsea homes. More than 50 households submitted their names to the police department, offering to take in as many as 10 strangers. Other villagers went to the shelters, introduced themselves, and brought families home. Invariably, the volunteers at the shelters had at least four guests in their homes.

Their offer of hospitality, like the opening of community churches and the high school, was a spontaneous gesture, organized by no one organization. Said Don Ald Peak, executive director of Washtenaw Chapter of the American Red Cross, "Chelsea did a marvelous job. It just shows how well volunteers can function when they want to."

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle rode the bus to the city to visit his daughter that works in a office. He was reporting on his trip at the country store Saturday night, and he touched on a matter that took up most of the agenda. How much longer can this country keep going, Ed wanted to know, with everybody's hand stuck in somebody else's pocket?

When he was in the bus station in the city years back, Ed said, he had to pay to get in the toilet. But there was hot water and he could shave and freshen up, and there was a stack of paper towels. On his last trip, went on Ed, the locks had been took off the toilet stalls cause the court said that wasn't fair to poor bus riders. But there was no hot water, and no paper towels. There was a feller standing by the toilet door with some towels on his arm, and he would let you use one if you tipped him a quarter.

Actual, said Ed, he allus had disagreed with eating places that add 15 per cent to the bill for tip, and he never had felt right about his old lady tipping a boy for carrying a bag of groceries from the store to the car when he was walking right beside her and would rather of carried em. Tipping, to him, declared Ed, was showing appreciation to somebody for doing somepon extra, not jest for doing their job.

Practical speaking, went on Ed, we've final got everything turned around from do to dole, from doing unto others to doing others in. It looks like everybody is figuring a angle on how to git through the gate on somebody else's push, was Ed's words. Fer one, allowed Ed, he was glad to see President Nix. on give attention to cutting off some of the deadwood that take pursuit of happiness to mean at Government expense.

The fellers was general agreed with Ed. Even Clem Webster, that usual votes agin Ed at ever turn, said a Government that will spend $38 billion more than it takes in this year has got to change it's ways. But Clem said they is more to economy in Government than cutting out welfare programs while keeping on pouring money into big companies doing business with the military. And, went on Clem, hiring fellers away from outfits with big Government contracts to work up the federal budget ain't likely to mean cutbacks.

Farthermore, said Clem, we got Congressmen that is sticking their hands in everybody's pockets. He had saw this report where 74 of our Senators picked up an extra $570,000 in 1971 traveling around at public expense to make speeches, and some sold articles they wrote on public time and had their staff secretaries type up.

Personal, I recall what Senator Williams said some years back when asked about taxes. He said "they will continue." So will pocket picking.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Death and Drink

Imagine what would happen if there were a sudden outbreak of murders in Michigan.

For instance, murders started happening at the rate of more than six per day, every day for a whole year. Imagine further that half of these shootings, stabbings, beatings or whatever were perpetrated by people who were drunk. Not just who had had a few drinks, but were blind drunk.

The public outcry would be overwhelming. Legislation to control the sale of guns and other lethal weapons would roll through the legislature in the wake of this record of carnage.

But since that hasn't happened, we don't have to worry, do we? That's just too preposterous to even think about, isn't it?

No it isn't, because that is what happened on Michigan's streets and highways last year.

By Dec. 31, a total of 2,235 deaths had been caused by motor vehicles. And the final toll is expected to be higher when all accident reports and death certificates are checked. That is more than six deaths every day of the year.

Police state that alcohol is involved in more than half the deaths. They quote figures to that effect from the National Highway Traffic Safety office and agree that Michigan fits the national picture.

Although the problem drinker is most commonly involved in accidents, the social drinker is becoming an increasing problem too. Most dramatic increase is among the 18-20 year olds. In 1972 there was a 119 percent increase in alcohol involved accidents over 1971. This while the average for other age groups was up 13 percent. The 1972 "teenage" total was 8,115 accidents, 54 percent of them fatalities, over 3,010 the previous year. Last year was the first when young, relatively inexperienced drivers could legally become young, relatively inexperienced drinkers.

The highway deaths and accidents, including the high percentage related to alcohol, cause little public reaction. Unless there is a carload of people killed or some unusual circumstance, a fatal accident is hardly considered news in some places.

Why this lax approach? First of all, most everybody drives a car. That means there were millions of drivers who weren't killed in Michigan last year. Everybody figures it won't happen to him. It happens to the other guy.

As far as the drunk driver goes, a great number of drivers have, at one time or another, slipped behind the wheel after having had a few drinks and driven home. If a crackdown was started on drunk drivers, it might catch them sometime and "we certainly wouldn't want that, would we?"

That isn't to say things aren't being done to help people. Safety belts save countless lives every year and they'd save many more if they were used by everybody. Legislation has been introduced in Lansing to make seat belt use mandatory—in other words to require people to protect themselves.

And new cars are being made stronger all the time, with such things as side steel beams now required in them.

But even with all that's being done, Michigan's traffic toll could be a lot lower. Compare this state's toll with the total people killed in Sweden in 1971. Sweden, whose population of over eight million is about the same as Michigan's, had only 1,200 traffic deaths during the year—almost half of Michigan's last year.

There's one big difference between Michigan and Sweden. The Swedes don't mess around with drunk drivers. In Sweden, if you have been drinking and you are driving you go to jail. Period. No exceptions.

The result is that in Sweden, people don't drink before they drive. A partygoer who says "No, thanks. I'm driving" is left alone. In fact, a carload of people may draw straws to see who drinks non-alcoholic beverages at a party. They would be aghast at the thought of "one for the road."

SOMEWHERE UNDER THE SNOW is the roof and the ground met in a solid wall on one Dana Corporation plant on Buchanan St. Piles on side of the building.

St. Patrick's Day Blizzard Was A Blinger...

Palmer was able to break out the Red Cross Field Hospital equipment, bedding was scarce in the emergency quarters. Only 20 cots and 80 blankets were distributed, but food was no problem.

Palmer received authorization from the county Red Cross office to start purchasing food for the crowd, Saturday. Jiffy Market and Polly's stayed open to load the snowmobiles with supplies.

The tab, which the Jaycees were willing to pick up, has been pocketed by the American Red Cross which also offered to reimburse snowmobilers for their gas and oil.

Dave Rowe says that contributions collected at every shelter may pay for the astronomical as stranded persons broke appointments or reassured loved ones. If the Red Cross covers that bill, too, the money will go to the Red Cross as a contribution.

The food bill alone has come to $1,107.45 at first count.

The bill in no way measures the contribution made by the community. The heroes are too numerous to mention. Elsie Weiss who manned the high school kitchen all night Saturday and Sunday morning. Dave Rowe and Luke Rader kept a similar vigil at the fairgrounds. Dick Lapanowski was the main stay at the high school. Bill Wade and Doug Warren established a communication link between the police station and the fair grounds building, the processing station, when the phone lines became too clogged to use. This helped to silence rumors that could have become as numerous and over-blown as snow drifts.

But it was the nameless volunteers that staffed each shelter and the unidentified shapes underneath visors, helmets and space suits, astride snowmobiles, that deserve the greatest fame. According to Mrs. Richard Borton, the travelers earned their keep, too. They were seen preparing meals, shoveling walks for their hosts, and babysitting. A stranded gymnastics team from Farmington not only helped shovel out stalled cars, they put on a show at the high school. That helped relieve the long hours of waiting, the all-night card games, and the long que for the phone.

As in every emergency, the hospital facilities were taxed and generously given. Several doctors including Michael Papo and Jerry Waidyke climbed aboard snowmobiles and made rounds to the shelters. The hospital kitchen supplied food as well.

Only now are the inconveniences wrought by the storm melting away. Today, thanks to several days of bright skies and warm temperatures, the rural areas are finally cleared enough to allow the reopening of schools. In its final hours, winter 1973 became famous, and Chelsea learned what it could do.

Dana Corp. Posts Record Sales, Profits

Record Sales and earnings for Dana Corp. for the first six months of its 1973 fiscal year were announced today by Rene C. McPherson, chairman.

Sales totaled $472,000,000 compared with $397,000,000 for the previous year. Earnings from operations also reached an all-time high of $27,000,000 or $2.04 per share. This compares to the previous year's $21,100,000 or $1.52 per share.

Second quarter profits of $14,000,000 on sales of $240,000,000 compared to 1972 second quarter profits of $10,900,000 on sales of $203,000,000, per share earnings for the quarter were $1.4 compared to $0.78 a year ago.

McPherson attributed the record sales level to heavy schedules in all segments of Dana's markets world-wide. He noted also that the truck market, which is responsible for more than half of Dana's sales, is continuing to boom.

McPherson also stressed optimism in the continuation of the strong economy in those industries served by Dana.

The Dana directors declared a dividend of 34 cents per share on the common stock payable June 15, 1973, to shareholders of record May 31, 1973.

SOME INCENTIVE!

The Dorze people of Ethiopia believe that well-fed builders erect better houses. While one of their thatched-and-bamboo huts is under construction, they ply the craftsman with delicacies.

SNOW IN SYLVAN HOTEL PARKING LOT required a long stay of the guests. This Dodge Duster is up to its fenders in the heavy white stuff.

St. Louis School Notes

The boys and staff of St. Louis school celebrated St. Patrick's Day a day early with the sound of Irish music and the wearing of the green. "It was a credit to Ireland," said Mrs. Robbins. The staff's "No-Talent Show" followed, entertaining the boys with skits. Father Umberto was featured on the accordion.

A special lunch was served with many green accents to further celebrate the day. Father Umberto and the band played in honor of Mrs. Robbins and Clare O'Sullivan. The teachers presented Mrs. Robbins with a plant, which was appropriately green.

After the talent show, a social hour was held in the gym with Mrs. Robbins, Clare O'Sullivan and Rhoda Finger serving treats. The boys had been "thinking snow" so that they might use their newly repaired snowmobile, and it materialized with a vengeance. They had to exchange heat, light, and water for the blizzard, but the boys didn't seem to mind. They played hard, and dressed warmly so they weren't too uncomfortable for the hours without power. Mrs. O'Sullivan and Rhoda were able to get to school by snowmobile, but most of the staff was not able to get to school, Monday, so the boys had a holiday.

Monday was St. Joseph's birthday and the event was celebrated with a cake.

Paul had lost all power at 3 a.m. Saturday.

With the loss of electricity, the church was not just without light and heat, the water was soon to run out once the electric pump was stilled. Plumbing ceased to work.

Only two gas ovens were working to prepare a make-shift breakfast of coffee and sausage before the party-ers faced the cold rides home.

All the homes dependent on that Detroit Edison electricity line were similarly robbed of power, and remained that way through the worst of the days, Saturday and Sunday. Detroit Edison workers were ready and waiting to do the repair job, but couldn't get to the substation on Chelsea-Dexter Rd. That road was first on the Road Commission's list once it had cleared I-94 and M-52.

Stan Midgley Chucklelogue
Scheduled Sunday Evening

Stan Midgley will give his audience an amusing view of British Columbia, Sunday evening, a treat Chelsea almost missed because of the snow storm last week-end. He has agreed to reschedule his film for 8 p.m., Sunday, March 25.

His travelogue will focus on Emerald Lake, Rogers Pass, Victoria, the Gulf Islands, and the Columbia River Valley, all parts of the magnificent province Midgley toured by boat and bicycle. He also takes his audience into the past as he follows the gold rush road 400 miles to Barkerville, one of the biggest boom-towns in the country.

Midgley, the originator of the "Chucklelogue," is a graduate of Princeton University. For eight years he was a chemist in the pharmaceutical industry near Chicago. His hobbies were mountain-earring, bicycle riding and photography.

Among chemists, Stan soon became famous—but not famous as a chemist. He was famous because he rode his bicycle to work, 48 miles a day all summer long. Even more famous were the side-splitting vacation movies he brought back from his bicycle trips in Colorado and the other Rocky Mountain States. His photography was excellent even in those early days, but from the very first he added a delightful sauce of humor that left his audiences doubled-up with laughter.

In 1946, he entered a movie of a bicycle trip through the Bryce, Zion-Grand Canyon region in a nation-wide contest. It won the first prize of $1,000. That did it! His hobby became his vocation and chemistry has had to struggle along without Midgley ever since.

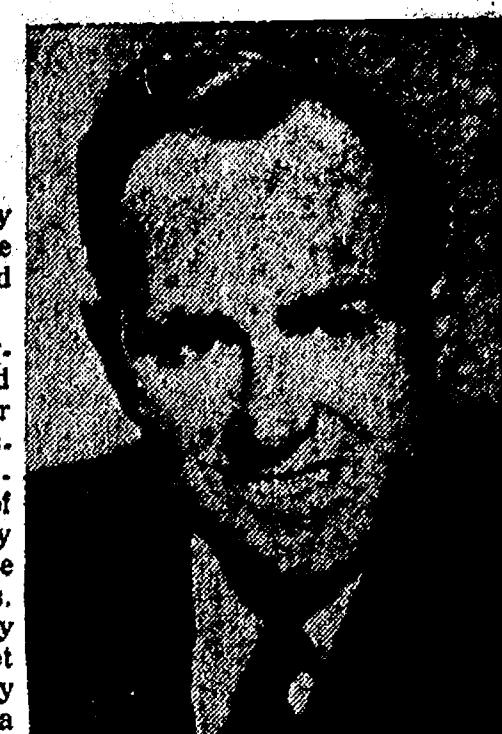

Today, after about 2,000 professional platform appearances and 200 appearances with film on television, the Midgley Chucklelogues are known from Coast to Coast.

Stan specializes in American subjects, usually the west. He claims there is so much beauty and interest right here at home that he has never been tempted to film abroad.

He appears on the most important lecture courses in the United States and Canada year after year. Few courses have the prestige of the venerable World Adventure Series at the Institute of Arts in Detroit where Midgley has appeared five consecutive Sundays for 10 consecutive years. March is now known as "Midgley Month" in Detroit. Do they get tired of him? Last year every show of "Midgley Month" was a sell-out.

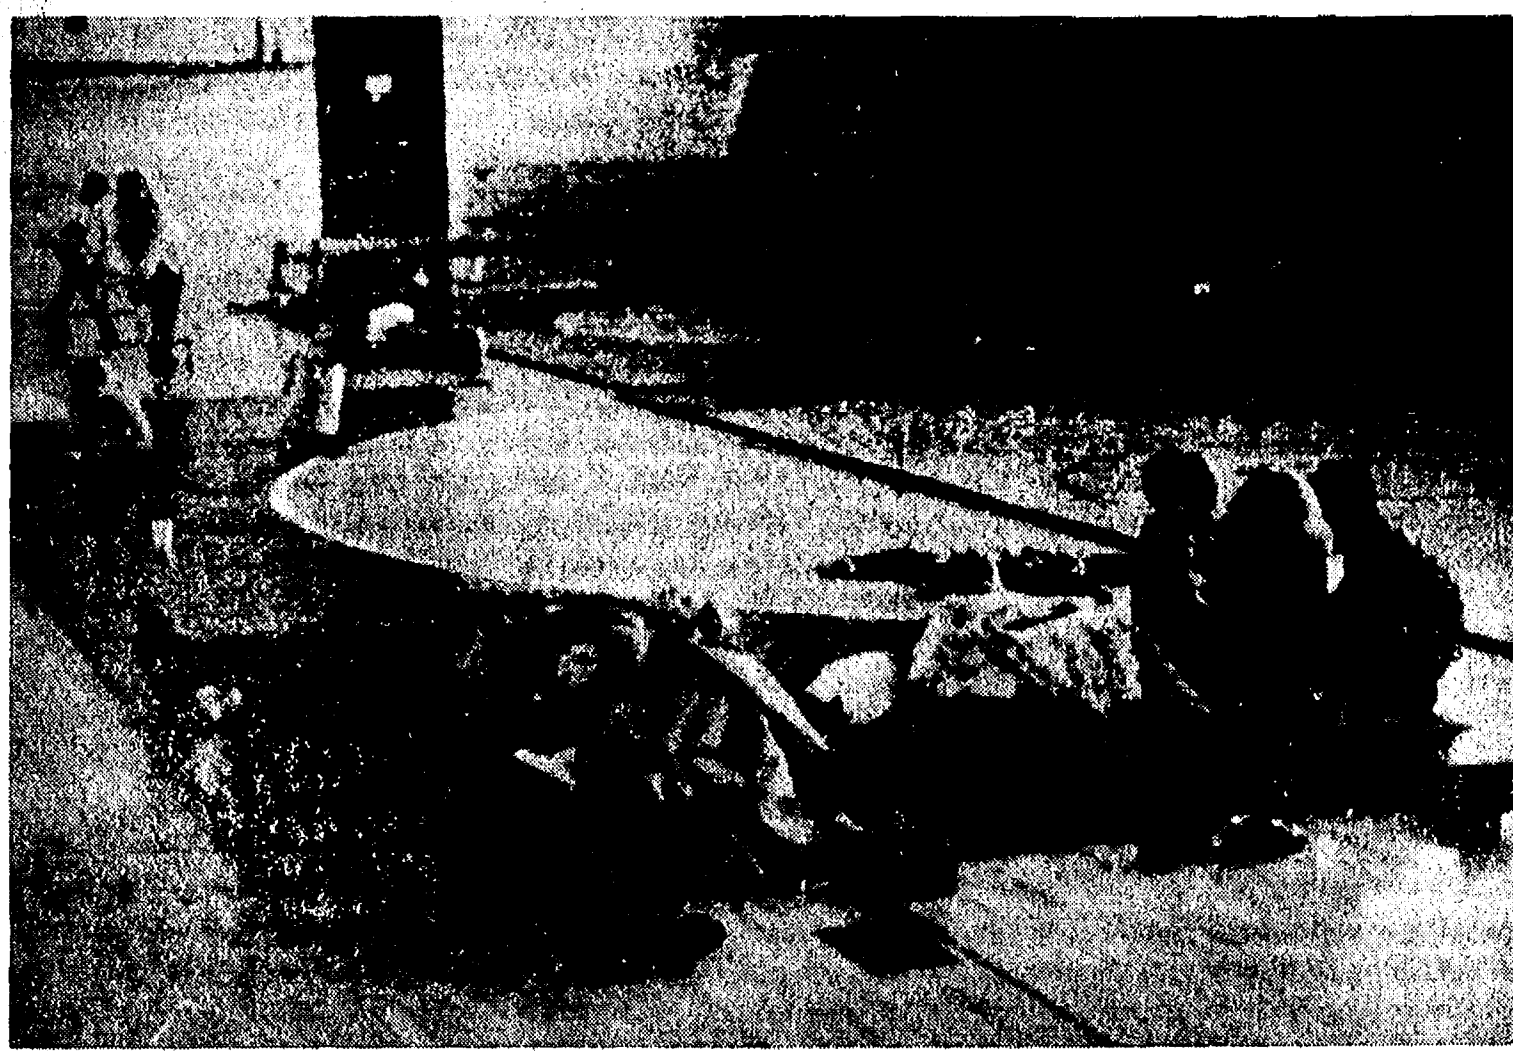

In addition to his beautiful photography, he loads his films with trick photography and "gags." Few lecturers give as humorous narration as the man with the well-deserved reputation as "The Mark Twain of the Camera," Stan Midgley.

THE HIGH SCHOOL GYM served as play area, exercise room and sleeping quarters for nearly 600 persons last week-end as the worst driving conditions in the county's history drove more than 1,000 travelers into Chelsea. Through the spontaneous efforts of private citizens the high school was opened Saturday afternoon after the facilities at the Fair Grounds began to overflow. The wrestling mats offered some comfort to the weary crowd.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Even though I am 900 miles away in Tulsa, Okla., I have been closely following the Chelsea High school basketball team and as everyone else in the community is aware of they are not having a real good season. While I was in Chelsea for six weeks from Dec. 22 to Feb. 1, I noticed a lot of discontent by the fans on the way the team was doing and even more so on the way the players were being coached. I had many people come up and ask me just what kind of a coach Mr. Kelly was and why the players were at odds with him. I suppose my answer might have shocked a few people but I came out and told them that the reason the team was not winning was because the attitude of the team as a whole was pathetic.

Very few players on the team really cared and the so-called "leaders" of the team were only leading the team astray. The reason the team could not win even the "easy" games, if there is such a thing, was because the experienced and reliable players just did not care enough to put out and win.

I know that in a community this small people talk a lot, but I think it is time that the people of the community were given the facts of this situation as well as the Board of Education members, superintendent, principal, and yes, even our vice-principal. I admit I had some rough times during my career on the Chelsea High school basketball team. However, I cared enough to play over these hardships as did many of my friends on the team.

Maybe this letter will stimulate some community response and then again maybe it will not. Whatever happens you now have a good portion of the facts. Now maybe you will think again about the team and arrive at a sensible conclusion as to the reason for the team's dismal showing this year.

Sincerely,
Todd Sprague.

Lima Planners Preside Over 3 Hearings

Lima Township Planning Commission presided over three public hearings Tuesday night, before their regular meeting. Only one of the three, the first one, brought results.

Harold and Nadine Weeks and a neighbor were present for the first hearing which was called to alter the zoning of the Weeks' land on Parker and Jackson Rds. A typographical error on the zoning map had left their store on land zoned for farming. Its zoning was changed to local business.

Detroit Edison Power Company representatives were bombarded with sharp questions during the second public hearing. It concerned the construction of two steel towers near Jackson Rd., in the township.

The opponents of the construction want the obtrusive towers placed away from the road so that they would be less likely to damage the appearance of the area.

The power company will return next Wednesday, March 28, with an architect to discuss the location of the towers. They maintain that the line has been drawn with the intention of causing as little obstruction as possible.

The third public hearing concerned Thunderbird Gun Club's request for a conditional use permit. The club wished to offer skeet and trap shooting. Opponents of the permit say that the noise and traffic as a result of the activity would make the area less desirable to residents.

The Township Planning Commission decided to postpone decision on the permit until they receive DNR recommendations on safety rules governing skeet and trap shooting. The permit request will be reconsidered at the special meeting, March 28.

OUR SAVIOR LUTHERAN CHURCH was among the community churches to open doors to homeless persons last week-end. While not boasting the conveniences of home, warm food and friendliness were offered to help mitigate the hard-

Police Apprehend Escaped Convict

The police department had been previously alerted to the escape of several inmates from the camp.

UP AND OVER: 10-year-old Katie Donkin puts "Bittersweet" over a fence. Katie and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Donkin of Cavanaugh Lake, are members of the Huron Valley Dressage Association, located on the farm of Mrs. May Mast in Dexter. Katie and her brother, Tommy, 7, actively assist in the daily care and training of the three horses owned by their family.

Local Dressage Association Building Training Facilities

The Huron Valley Dressage Association (HVDA), a group of area residents organized last fall for the purpose of training their horses in Dressage, has been successfully showing their steeds in spite of numerous difficulties.

Dressage, a system of progressive gymnastic exercises, builds muscles which produce a mount that is free of resistance, supple, in balance, and able to move easily and comfortably over any terrain.

The training involves mastery of various movements, a process which is similar to the teaching of ballet.

The HVDA has had to cope with an unexpected growth in its membership and the lack of an indoor riding facility. As a result, the members, who are communally responsible for the care and maintenance of their animals, grounds and equipment at the Cottonwood Farm north of Dexter, have set about building new jumps and other equipment to accommodate the increasing number of horses involved in the exercises. The inclement weather has not been a boon to their cause.

Despite pounded thumbs and blisters, sore backs from lifting 12-foot beams and 100-pound grain sacks, the riding group has been out every day training their horses.

Because of the building chores and the weather, the group has not been able to attend as many shows as they would have liked. They did, however, take five horses to the first show of the Winter Dressage Series at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club last January.

The Chelsea group placed as follows: Training Level Test 1: fourth place to Barbara Garn riding Woodhue, owned by Mrs. Ian MacLeod; Training Level Test 2: fifth place to Bittersweet, owned and ridden by Mrs. Lin Donkin; First Level Test 1: second place to Daktari ridden by Penny Bartlett and owned by Mr. and Mrs. Donkin; third place to Bittersweet and Lin Donkin; First Level Test 2: second place to Daktari ridden, this time, by Mrs. Francis Hinchcliffe. Mrs. Hinchcliffe also rode Daktari to a fourth place in Senior Dressage Equitation.

In January, the Donkins took their horses, Daktari and Bittersweet, to the first show in the Winter Series at Stoney Ridge. Katie Donkin showed Bittersweet to a second place in Maiden Equitation on the Flat and a fourth place over fences.

Mrs. Donkin rode Daktari to a first-place victory in Adult Working Hunter and placed Bittersweet third in Adult Equitation over fences. She also received a Reserve on Daktari in Adult Equitation on the Flat.

Miss Bartlett received fourth- and sixth-place ribbons on Daktari in the two Adult Working Hunter over Fences classes. The points accumulated by Mrs. Donkin and Miss Bartlett won the Adult Working Hunter Championship for Daktari. Miss Bartlett also placed Daktari fifth in the Open Jump class.

On March 10-11, the HVDA showed at Centaur Farm in Walled Lake, in a Michigan Dressage Association sponsored show. In Training Level 1, Barbara Garn showed Twilight, owned by Mrs. Bimi Merseau, to a second place. Mrs. Donkin was fifth on her horse, Bittersweet. Mrs. Hinchcliffe placed Twilight fourth in Training Level Test 2. Miss Bartlett placed Bittersweet third in that test.

Bittersweet and Miss Bartlett received the first-place trophy for First Level 1.

Although the HVDA has been very busy with their building projects and battling the elements, they organized a Dressage Clinic in February which was taught by Dr. H. L. S. Van Schaik of Cavendish, Vt., who is one of the leading authorities on Dressage in this country.

Before coming to America, Dr. Van Schaik rode with the Olympic Team of the Netherlands and won a silver medal. He trained Mrs. Francis Hinchcliffe of Dexter who is now Equestrian Advisor for the HVDA.

Thomas Donkin of Chelsea is business manager for the group and inquiries concerning lessons or training may be directed to him. With good weather becoming more of a reality, the group has many plans.

AS THE HOURS SLOWLY TICKED BY, these stranded travelers at the Fairgrounds chatted, played cards and got to know each other. Well-fed and warm, they were nevertheless hungry for news from the outside. Several men wanted to organize a group to dig out the vehicles left on I-94, but the lack of transportation kept them inside and helpless.

WITH FATIGUE AND RESTLESSNESS SHOWING, the guests at Our Savior Lutheran church nibbled on sandwiches Sunday afternoon while waiting for the roads to be cleared. Many were forced to spend Sunday night, too, in the church.

ALL-NIGHT CARD GAMES helped pass the time for some of the stranded motorists shown here in the high school cafeteria. Others watched the television set in the auditorium. Still others spent amusing hours, Sunday, trying to rearrange the high school parking lot.

NOT A WHOLE LOT of activity was seen in Merkel's parking lot last Sunday morning. A deep carpet of snow drifted up to first floor window sills as if to get a peak at the carpet sale inside.

Club, Social Activities

TO THE RESCUE

The Philadelphia Skating Club and Humane Society is the oldest ice skating club in the United States. Formed in 1849 as the Philadelphia Skating Club, it changed its name in 1861 when members began patrolling the Schuylkill River with coils of rope to rescue skaters who fell through the ice.

LYNDON STUDY CLUB

Lyndon Study Club met March 15, at the townhall with 19 members present. Two guests also attended the gathering. Hostesses Mrs. George Goodwin, Mrs. Guy Barton, Mrs. Annabelle Whitman and her daughter, June, were responsible for the tables decorated in a Chinese motif. The dinner was also in keeping with the Chinese lesson.

The meeting, called to order by chairman Mrs. Robert Basset, was turned over to a lesson by Mrs. Charles Fuhrmann.

Hostesses at the next meeting will be Mrs. Lawrence Shanahan, Mrs. Charles Fuhrmann, and Mrs. Nettie Hall. That meeting will be April 19.

A card was sent to William Hogan and a birthday cake and song were presented to Mrs. Annabelle Whitman and Mrs. Mary Clark.

Many Rural Homes Lose Electric Power...

Ed Sherburne, Detroit Edison district manager for a three-county region, reports that the townships west of Ann Arbor were the hardest hit of all of Washtenaw county. He explains that the power failures, which began as early as 10 p.m. Friday, were caused by downed lines and poles. The lines were often brought down by falling branches weighted down with wet snow. The poles fell victims of skidding cars that were out of control on icy roads. Some areas were without power for 48 hours, says Sherburne, because repair men could not reach the trouble spots. "We couldn't reach the downed wires except by snowmobile," he explains, "and you can't repair a pole with a snowmobile." Power wasn't fully restored in the area until 7:30, Monday morning, even though crews worked for 18 hours straight, caught some sleep and tackled the job again. This storm, the worst, says Sherburne, in the last seven years, left 6,500 customers without service. The area to the west of town that is serviced by Consumers Power was luckier. Fewer homes were powerless there.

LOOKING FOR EVIDENCE: Chelsea Police, Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department and the FBI converged on Chelsea's branch of Ann Arbor Federal Savings Friday, after a robber disappeared with $5,000. Here, Detective Lieutenant Harold Owings of the Sheriff's Department lifts fingerprints from the counter where the bandit made his demand for money. To the right, an FBI agent, one of three who arrived on Chelsea shortly after the heist, prepares to assist with the labeling.

Equipment Stolen From Parked Car During Blizzard

A raging blizzard did not daunt one thief this week-end. He took a tape deck, tapes and a tachometer from the automobile belonging to Donald Davis Bower 16016 Cavanaugh Lake Rd., sometime Saturday or Sunday. The loot was in the car parked near the intersection of Cavanaugh Lane and Ridge Rd.

In the United States, consumers spend about one-fourth of their total food dollars for red meats—beef, pork, veal and lamb.

Dana Appointments Made For Chelsea Plant Positions

Stephen J. Haydock, chief engineer of Mobile Products for the Dana Corporation's Power Equipment Division facility in Chelsea, has announced two new appointments, resulting from the merger of Dana's former Fluid Power Division located in Hillsdale, with its Power Equipment Division.

Custom Builder Opens Office in Chelsea Area

The fact that the Chelsea area is expanding is underscored by the kind of businesses that are opening up in the village. The demand for housing appears to be great enough to support not only real estate agents, but custom home builders.

The newest arrival to Chelsea's business community is Stan Wolak of Sherlock Homes, Inc. He is ready for business at 1196 M-52.

Wolak explains that his corporation, which has opened eight offices in the Metropolitan Detroit area in the last two and one half years, combines the skills of experts. He is the building specialist, while another partner is especially learned in marketing, another in financing.

They are equipped to build homes according to their customers' specifications, or they can design the home for the customer in addition to building to it.

"Our homes are 'stick built,'" says Wolak, differentiating from homes that are made out of prefabricated parts, or track homes.

Wolak is looking for a site of his own so he can build a home here in Chelsea. It will not be the first he has designed for himself.

Requests for grants should be sent to St. Paul Memorial Scholarship Fund, in care of St. Paul United Church of Christ, 14600 E. Old US-12, Chelsea. Applications and requests should be received by the fund before May 1.

Announcements of grants will be made on June 1. However, applications will be considered at all times in the case of great financial need.

All applicants must complete an application form to be considered for a grant.

In 1972, Chelsea gave 132 percent of the campaign's goal, according to Mrs. Keezer. They had hoped to collect a little less than $1,000 but when the count was made, more than $1,500 was found. Mrs. Keezer looks forward to a duplication of that success.

Mrs. Keezer explains that there is a great variety of film that may be acquired from the Washtenaw Chapter free of charge. "Some are geared for nine and 10-year-olds," she explains. The Cancer Society sends informed narrators with their films to answer all questions.

In 1972, Chelsea gave 132 percent of the campaign's goal, according to Mrs. Keezer. They had hoped to collect a little less than $1,000 but when the count was made, more than $1,500 was found. Mrs. Keezer looks forward to a duplication of that success.

Mrs. Keezer explains that there is a great variety of film that may be acquired from the Washtenaw Chapter free of charge. "Some are geared for nine and 10-year-olds," she explains. The Cancer Society sends informed narrators with their films to answer all questions.

A SIX-FOOT DRIFT made entrance to The Chelsea Standard building difficult last week-end, but some hearty soul did manage to deliver a howling score at the peak of the storm. With snow lapping at its door and icicles hanging from its roof, the old structure took on the appearance of a deserted fortress. It was.

Cancer Society Plans April Funds Drive

The American Cancer Society is gathering its forces for the annual April campaign. Mrs. Richard Keezer will head the charge in the Chelsea area this year.

Mrs. Keezer reports that the usual plan will be followed. Bar Buck competitions will be conducted in establishments around town, an activity won by Seitz's Tavern a year ago. The placards will appear during the first week of April.

A sidewalk canister collection will also take place sometime during the month. Mrs. Keezer is not sure yet who will take on this task. Last year the Senior and Junior Pilgrim Fellowships from the First Congregational church took over that part of the drive.

Mrs. Keezer also announced that a luncheon to benefit the Cancer Society will be arranged in Chelsea toward the end of the month. In the meantime, Mrs. Walter (Sandy) Brown is distributing literature as a way of educating the community about the campaign and the society's work.

She says that the increased population in Chelsea was too much for their supply of donation envelopes so some residents will not be solicited through the mail. She urges those who do not receive envelopes to send their donations to her at 1315 Freer Rd. She may be contacted there for information about Cancer Society filmstrips, also.

Mrs. Louis Galan of Dexter Elected To Head Girl Scouts

Mrs. Louis Galan of Dexter, Mich., was elected to a three-year term as president of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council at the council's annual meeting last week.

Mrs. Galan, a former Brownie and Junior troop leader, has served as second vice-president of the council since 1969, co-ordinating program and personnel planning activities. She is currently a member of the Board of Directors of Child and Family Services of Washtenaw county and the Washtenaw county March of Dimes. She is past-president of the Women's Association of the Ann Arbor Symphony and the Dexter Parent Teachers Organization.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council has become one of the first of the 362 councils in the United States to admit girls age 14 and older to full adult status in the organization. Delegates to the annual meeting, March 15, at Clague Middle school in Ann Arbor, voted 66 to 4 to permit teenagers to sit as voting members of the Council's Board of Directors and Area Associations as well as to act as official delegates to the local council and national conventions.

"We have felt that girls should have more voice in the direction of the council," said retiring president Mrs. James A. Kennedy. "Girl Scouts was founded as a teen-age organization and we are eager to strengthen the influence of this group in our council activities."

In other action, council delegates representing 12,000 Girl Scouts and 3,000 adult volunteers elected new officers for three-year terms, stated triennial goals and gave awards to outstanding volunteers.

Prior to the business meeting, the 150 people attending heard Prof. William B. Stapp of the University of Michigan describe his environmental education project being funded by Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit.

Elected to a three-year term as treasurer was Benjamin Koerber of Ann Arbor, president of the National Bank of Ypsilanti. He is a member of the council's finance committee and serves on the Washtenaw United Fund Budget Committee as well as the Ypsilanti Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Jane Bradbury of Ann Arbor was elected to fill the remaining year of Mrs. Galan's term as second vice-president of the council. She has been a board member and chairman of the program committee since 1971.

The highest award offered by the local Council, "Best Friend of Girl Scouting 1972" was presented to Mrs. James A. Kennedy of Ann Arbor. The award is given annually to the person who has done most to promote the aims of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. A former troop leader, Mrs. Kennedy also is a member of the national Development Task Force for Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Three Thanks Badges, the highest honor bestowed by the national Girl Scout organization went to Mrs. Lawrence Scott of Ypsilanti, Mrs. George Bauer of Plymouth, and Mrs. Harvey Savage of Romulus. All three women have served as troop leaders as well as held other vital jobs for the council. Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Savage have served as Girl Scout Day Camp directors as well as volunteer troop service directors for six years.

Mrs. Bauer has held leadership roles in both the Plymouth Area Association, the adult supportive organization of troops there, and on the board of the Council, where she is third vice-president in charge of field operations, acting as liaison between the field and the board.

Special awards went to Mrs. David Ponitz of Ann Arbor for setting up the organization's sustaining membership program called Friends of Girl Scouting; to Mrs. Rodney Deyo of Westland, secretary to the board for the past two years, and to Mrs. Louis Hurlik of 1368 Hartsough, Plymouth, for outstanding work as volunteer troop services director and senior troop advisor.

Other awards went to Mrs. James A. Kapelsky of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Max Wilkinson of Saline, for implementing experimental co-ed teen-age recreation programs in Sumpter township and Saline during the summer of 1972.

Council goals for the 1973-1976 period adopted at the meeting were to secure sufficient funding to maintain high quality programs to keep the program for troops flexible and girl-directed, to communicate effectively with the council membership, and to recruit leaders who understand and care about young people.

Eleven troop service directors were awarded decorative plates for having served since the establishment of the position in 1968. These included Mrs. Richard Gamber of Fowlerville, Mrs. Louis Pepler and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan of Westland, Mrs. William Pierce and Mrs. Josef Smith of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Cayton Symons of Milan, Mrs. William Ward of Flat Rock, and Mrs. R. B. Whitaker of Whitmore Lake. Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Savage were also honored in this group.

Members of the board of directors elected at the meeting are Mrs. Earlen Anderson of Wayne, Mrs. Harlan Benjamin of Milan, William J. Conlin and Wendell R. Lyons and Mrs. Frederick L. McDonald of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Edward Hancock of Northville, and Mrs. John W. Moehle of Plymouth, Mrs. George Simons and Mrs. Harold Innes, Jr., of Belleville, and William Anhalt of Ypsilanti.

New members of the nominating committee installed are Mrs. James Korabacher of Plymouth, Mrs. Richard Gamber of Fowlerville, and Mrs. Francis J. Maly of Ann Arbor.

Two Parcels Being Added to Waterloo Area

Purchase of additional land for the Waterloo Recreation Area has been approved by the Natural Resources Commission. At least that is the word from State Representative Hal W. Ziegler (R-Jackson), who made the announcement March 14. Waterloo Recreation Area administrator, James Andrus doesn't doubt the news, he just can't verify it.

Ziegler said that in a recent meeting the commission approved $84,500 in funds from the Public Recreation Bond Fund for the purchase of three tracts of land totaling 61.3 acres for addition to the area.

According to Ziegler, two tracts, which made up a single 40-acre parcel in Jackson county, have 1,500 feet of frontage on Burning Creek. The other tract, reportedly in Washtenaw county on M-52 has a stream valley and high, scenic hills.

"This is some of the area's most beautiful acreage," Ziegler said, "and I'm extremely pleased to see it being purchased for the enjoyment of all citizens."

David Buxton Granted WMU Scholarship By Paper Tech Foundation

David Buxton of Chelsea is among 52 Paper Science and Engineering students who are attending this semester at Western Michigan University on scholarships worth a total of $23,000. The paper Technology Foundation of WMU is responsible for the grants.

The stipends range from $200 to about $800 each, depending upon the course load, tuition costs to the student, academic standing, and out-of-state residence status. Thirty-five of the scholarships go to Michigan residents.

Andrus reported that his office could not pin-point the location of the Washtenaw county land because Ziegler's announcement was the first he had heard of the addition. "We often pick up a piece of land here and there," he said, "but don't know about it until the deed comes across my desk."

Andrus suspected that the land may have been picked up by the wild life section of the park, an area that is never developed. In that case, his office may not hear of the acquisition for some time.

He said deeds for land in Jackson county did come across his desk last fall which was the first he knew of the addition of those plots.

Mike Schaidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Schaidt of 650 Island Lake Rd., is among the senior art majors at Adrian College exhibiting work during March and April.

Mike's work will appear in the second of two shows, beginning April 2 and running through April 18. He will be one of five student artists featured in that showing.

Approximately 50 paintings, prints and ceramic objects will be on display at the college gallery located on the second floor of Mahan Hall. The shows are retrospective in that they include works prepared by the students during their four years at Adrian. The exhibits have been picked by the individual students and are an attempt to show the student's growth over the years.

Chelsea Youth Arrested on Car Theft Charge

Policemen, too, can be victims of crime, as Patrolman Jerry Shaw discovered March 7. His car was stolen from the Municipal Parking Lot in the early hours of the morning while he was on duty.

After an investigation, a warrant was issued for the arrest of Alan Machnik, a 17-year-old Chelsea youth. He was arrested March 14 and arraigned the same day. His examination was waived and he will be tried for the felony of car theft, April 18, in Circuit Court in Ann Arbor. He has been released on personal bond.

Shaw first noticed the vehicle was missing at approximately 3:15 a.m., Wednesday, March 7. The automobile was not recovered until Sunday, March 11, when county sheriff's deputies discovered it parked on Hadley Rd., slightly north of North Territorial Rd.

The car, which had been green, originally, was poorly disguised with a sloppy spray-paint job of silver and black, according to police. They also said damage had been done to the body of the car.

While not wanting to disclose the particulars of their investigation, the police said they have a good case against Machnik.
