There's no question about it. The school system in Chelsea is facing a major problem. Enrollment is increasing at a rapid rate, and the school system is unable to handle the increased enrollment. ### Bulldogs Win 15-14, Over Manchester

Rally in Second Half To Overcome 14-3 Deficit From Early Lethargy

It looked like bad times for Chelsea for a while against Manchester last Friday night, but the Bulldogs managed to pull it out with a Doug Reed lunge from the one-yard line with only two minutes remaining in the game. Final score was a tight 15-14.

Reed's six-point effort followed a 30-yard punt return by D. J. Pomeroy and a 15-yard penalty against Manchester's Dutchman for plugging on. The remaining 18 yards were covered in five plays.

In the first quarter, however, things didn't look quite so promising. Despite Rex Miles' 17-yard field goal, which put the local team ahead, 3-0, by the end of the quarter Manchester had racked up a 14-3 lead.

Manchester's first-period scoring, all it could manage for the evening, came on a two-yard drive for the TD, a successful extra point kick, a fine 43-yard pass, and another successful kick for the point-after.

Chelsea's other scoring, in the third quarter, was also contributed by Doug Reed, who plunged from the two-yard line after nine plays consumed 57 yards.

Offensively, Jeff Marshall recorded 105 yards rushing, while Ron Kiel, Randy Guenther, Doug Reed, and John Houle managed 43, 24, 23, and 19, respectively. Guenther completed two passes good for 26 yards, while Reed intercepted one pass and returned it 18 yards and Houle intercepted another and returned it nine yards.

Paul Wood grabbed a pass good for 14 yards, Jack Hackworth another for 12, and John Beeman, one for four.

Defensively the team was paced by Rick Miller's 14 tackles. Howard Haselschwardt and Doug Reed contributed nine, Dave Tucker, seven, and Dale Poertner and Jeff Marshall, six each.

Players cited by Coach Bareis as receiving first-year awards for their performances this season are Ed Vadas, Bob Clifton, Steve Kincaid, Perry Johnson, Terry Ellenwood, Les Sharp, Mark Pennington, Dennis Bauer, Rodger Stewart, Todd Ortring, Rex Miles, Doug Reed, Keith Vadas, Jack Hackworth, Paul Wood, Ron Kiel, and Randy Guenther.

Players receiving second-year awards are Steve Schanz, Darryl West, Kevin Webb, Ishmael Picklesimer, Chuck Foytlik, John Houle, Dale Poertner, John Beeman, John Tandy, Rick Miller, Howard Haselschwardt, Jeff Marshall, and Dave Tucker.

Trainers were Dave Leach, second year, and Craig Johnson, first year. Managers were John Dunn, Mike Wood, and Mike Bareis.

The 1973 Bulldogs concluded their season with a sparkling 7-1-1 record.

In all-league teams announced last week Dave Tucker was named to the offensive first team; Jeff Marshall made defensive first team; Paul Wood rated offensive second team; and Rick Miller and Dennis Bauer placed onto the defensive second team.

Youngsters Collect $323 For UNICEF

Oct. 28 was not the kind of day that would bring out charity in people.

You know. Rainy. Cold. Miserable. Definitely a hot-chocolate-and-a-movie on TV day.

Still, Oct. 28, was the day scheduled for UNICEF's annual Halloween drive, and more than 100 Chelsea youngsters turned out to can-

CHS Band Spectacular Slated Tuesday

Imagine sitting in a nice, cozy gymnasium instead of cold, hard bleacher seats, and listening to the Chelsea Marching Band.

Sound like a treat? Well, get ready for the 1973 Band Spectacular Tuesday night when, when the CHS Marching Band will perform all its hot numbers from the past season's half-time football performances.

"A fun concert" is promised by Warren Mayer, director of bands, who says that all sections of the band will feature, plus the extra added attractions of half-time fanfares like the majorettes and flags.

Starting on a patriotic note with "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "Grand Old Flag," the band will progress to its contemporary favorites of "Summer of '42" and "Maxwell Silverhammer," provide a few media memories with "Hawaii 5-0," "Pink Panther," and "Mission Impossible," get cultural with "Ode to Joy," turn to the ethnic with "Hava Nagila," and conclude on a peppy note with the school fight song.

This, the third annual Band Spectacular, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

Methodist Commitment Sunday Slated

Commitment Sunday at the First United Methodist church has been scheduled for this coming weekend, Nov. 18, according to James Hoffmeyer, general chairman of the financial crusade.

At that time members of the church are being asked to make their annual pledge for the coming year.

The year coming to a close has been one of the outstanding years in the long history of the Chelsea Methodist church.

Many needed improvements have been made on the church property. And under the leadership of Clive H. Dickinson, pastor, much has been done to promote the outgoing program of the church as well as the work of the church in the community.

The Committee on Visitation is under the leadership of Ray Schairer while Jim Lorenz is conducting the service.

NEW MANAGER at Waterloo Recreation Area is Einar C. (Ike) Lundberg, park manager, who is actually not a newcomer at all. Lundberg began his parks and recreation career at Camp Waterloo 17 years ago as a foreman, was transferred to various places across the state until returning for a two-year stretch, ending in 1955, as assistant manager. Most recently, Lundberg was park manager of Fort Wilkins State Park in the Upper Peninsula. He replaces Jim Andrus, who has been appointed to the district manager position in the Gaylord area.

Lundberg Returns As Manager Of Waterloo Recreation Area

Things have changed quite a bit around Chelsea since the last time Ike Lundberg spent considerable time here.

When he left the area in 1955, he recalls, the Jiffy Mix silos were just being constructed. "Fastest thing you ever saw," he chuckles, "The tops were finished and the foundation wasn't even dry yet."

It is with these and other familiar memories that Einar C. (Ike) Lundberg returns to the Chelsea area as new manager of Waterloo Recreation Area.

He actually began his career as a foreman at Camp Waterloo 17 years ago. Lundberg, who studied agriculture at Michigan State University, explains his entrance into the parks and recreation field this way: "That was, of course, before all this specialization—before you could actually major in parks and recreation management. At that time, I had the qualifications they wanted in the job, and agriculture is pretty close to the field."

He spent three years in each ranger position here, including the outdoor sport centers and Portage Lake, until being named assistant manager at Rochester-Utica Recreation Area, where he remained for two years.

From there he left the more city-orientation of Rochester-Utica for the sand dunes of Western Michigan at Pontwater's Charles Mears State Park and then on to Fort Wilkins State Park at Copper Harbor in the Upper Peninsula. He would probably readily admit that Fort Wilkins has been his favorite assignment yet. "We (he and his wife, Gerrie) spent six years there and we loved every minute of it."

At Fort Wilkins, where mainly July and August are busy months because of the less-than-tropical weather, he and his wife were involved in historical restoration work that is a prime concern in the area. Lundberg himself is a member of the Marquette County Historical Society, the Houghton County Historical Society, and a life member of the Fort Wilkins Natural History Association.

One of the big projects at Copper Harbor, Lundberg says, was restoration work at the Copper Harbor Lighthouse. The end goal was to transform it into a marine museum.

Some other peripheral interests of the new manager have been stimulated by his new position. Lundberg, a member of the Michigan Archaeological Society, has been more than a little intrigued by the J. Vincent Burg 1 collection of Indian artifacts. "When I was in Chelsea last, there were still in the drug store," Lundberg recalls, "these will be a wonderful addition to the new facilities we're planning here."

United Way Campaign Tops Goal of $29,150

Thanks to you . . . it worked. So say the organizers of Chelsea's version of the United Way campaign, which has come to a grand finale—more or less—at nearly $300 over this year's goal of $28,362.

Collected in the drive—"And there's still a little bit more to come in"—according to campaign chairman Mrs. Jeannine Riemschneider—was a whopping total of $29,150.97.

Paul Frisinger, president of the United Way of Chelsea, expressed his appreciation Monday to all the volunteers who made the successful drive possible. "We have reached and exceeded our goal of $28,362," Frisinger said. "Thanks very much for your time and energy."

Mrs. Riemschneider, too, characterized herself as "really pleased" with the results of this year's campaign, as she listed final totals by areas of canvassing.

Leading in contributions, of course, was the industrial committee, headed by Jack Barnes, which contacted the larger area industries. Barnes and his three canvassers, Jim Liebeck, Tony Bowen, and Tom McClear, collected $19,794.06 for the campaign.

The commercial canvassers, organized by Mrs. Pat Dittmar, collected $2,809. Canvassers were Helen Lancaster, Lynn Kendall, Eve Pollack, Andy Fleiselman, Joe Merkel, Doug Robeson, and Sam Johnson.

A grand total of $1,587.99 was collected by four separate groups of rural canvassers under four different chairmen.

Key Club Sponsoring Fun Night at CHS

Chelsea Key Club is sponsoring a fun night Friday, Nov. 16 from 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. at the high school. Refreshments will also be available.

Under the direction of Mrs. Sam Coomes, $494.01 was raised for the drive. Canvassers were Mrs. Peggy Hamilton, Mrs. Josh Rabbitt, Mrs. Agnes Hessler, Mrs. Bobbie Borowski, Mrs. Anne Steinaway, Mrs. Vi Smith, Mrs. Linda Ritter, Mrs. Shirley Rosowski, Mrs. Gayle Cordell, Mrs. Pauline Porath, and Mrs. Nancy Thame.

Mrs. Sharon Hodgson's group of rural canvassers brought in $351.40.

Junior High Gridders Post Perfect Season

Beach Middle school finished another undefeated football season by recording victories over its last two opponents, Milan and Dexter.

The Milan game, played Oct. 30, ended with a 14-0 victory. The 8th grade varsity started slowly but finally broke it open in the third quarter with a 65-yard touchdown run by Mike Young. Young also scored in the last seconds of the game with a short one-yard run after setting it up with a 35-yard sprint.

The last game of the season, played last Tuesday at Dexter, the varsity came up with a hard-fought 6-0 win. Dexter proved to be the toughest opponent of the season. Mike Young again scored the winning touchdown on a one-yard run in the third quarter. The defense had set the touchdown up, with strong play following a long opening second-half kickoff by Tim Welshans. Except for the opening series of downs, the Chelsea defense fairly well shut off the Dexter offense. Chelsea's offense, however, was not able to break open the big play.

The victory over Dexter gave the Beach varsity a season record

A FINE 7-2 OVER-ALL RECORD was the final product of the efforts of Chelsea's junior varsity gridders this fall, who ended their season with an impressive 33-14 trouncing of Jackson Northwest last Thursday. A SPEAKER'S BUREAU designed to provide board members and administrators to groups or small coffee group type gatherings that would like to be presented with facts, figures, and discussions, about the upcoming school millage election aided a meeting sponsored by the Modern Mothers Child Study Club Monday night. At that meeting, Fred Mills, business manager for the Chelsea School District, Bernice Packard, North Elementary school first grade teacher and member of the citizens advisory committee to the school board, and Robert Daniels, school board member, presented various aspects of the program and fielded questions afterward. Mills concentrated primarily on the financial aspects, Mrs. Packard on the advisory committee and its recommendations, and Daniels on the situation in the district and how the millage program is designed to improve it. To have administrators or board members speak to a group of any size interested in the millage election, call Barbara Brown, an organizer of the Speaker's Bureau, at 475-7874. Speakers are available for day or evening presentations.

MIKE KOSMINSKI was the order of the day Saturday, when Chelsea debaters took the Ypsilanti National Tournament in competition with 144 teams from 36 different schools. The three debaters pictured above, Brad Glazier, Brenda Shadoan, and Mike Kosminski, brought home individual speakers trophies, although the over-all team performance did not rate one. Brad received an eighth place among second negatives; Brenda placed fourth among first negatives; and Mike was rated eighth among second affirmatives.

Debaters Still Leading League

Halfway through the fall season of state league meets, Chelsea high school debaters still have their hands on the top spot. Coach Bill Coates reports that the squad's victory in the Ypsilanti National Tournament last Saturday kept his charges out in front with a 7-1 record, trailed closely by Ann Arbor Greenhills with 6-2. "It's a slim lead," Coates observed Monday with a coach's pride, "but it's still a lead."

The novice team is also leading the pack, with an undefeated record of 8-0, also followed by Ann Arbor Greenhills, again with a 6-2 record.

In Saturday's tournament, the varsity squad of Sharon Schiller and Terri Galbraith as affirmatives and Brenda Shadoan and Brad Glazier as negatives turned in a 6-2 performance.

A 5-3 score was recorded by the novice team of Paul Marshall and Mike Kosminski, affirmatives, and Kurt Allhouse and Jennie Rady, negatives.

Although the team showing as a whole did not rate a team trophy, three team members walked away with individual speaker trophies: Brenda Shadoan placed fourth among first negatives; Brad Glazier placed eighth among second negatives; and Mike Kosminski placed eighth among second affirmatives.

Chelsea competed against 100 teams from 50 different schools in the tournament.

Waterloo Area Manager ...

of the building's planned exterior, though, the nature center is primarily a thing for which Lundberg can only wait to become part of "his park."

Right now, however, he does have some things occupying his time other than planning for the new nature center. As park manager, he is the top administrator at the park, in charge of budget, administrative personnel, and a myriad of tiny jobs that all add up to a big one. Lundberg says that now, while the recreation area is relatively quiet, he is reading and catching up, meeting the men who work for him, and familiarizing himself with the facilities built since his departure in 1968.

Certainly the place is not entirely void of activity. Pheasant season has been continuing, which livens things up a bit, and firearms deer season begins today, of which Lundberg predicts, "That'll keep things moving around here for a while"—keeping up with violations by hunters, providing maps and directions, and generally being of assistance to the deer-hunting horde that descends on the 16,000-acre park annually.

In the spring, though, will be when the real activity crops up at Waterloo, when high school and college-age groups, a little wild, maybe from their newfound or nearly-found academic freedom, will be sharing campgrounds and picnic areas with more restrained family groups.

"Oh, sure, sometimes we have problems," Lundberg readily admits. "Our camp grounds are entirely family-oriented and we have rangers on patrol; if a younger group, or any group at all, for that matter, is still making a lot of noise a while after 10 p.m., we ask them to leave. But it's only a few—every once in a while you just get that one carload."

Most people, Lundberg says, realize that the park is theirs to take care of. "We've found in other places that the cleaner we keep the park, the cleaner they keep it in return. But when people see things piled up, they figure they can pile more up—that's how a problem like that gets started."

These worries, however, remain in the spring for the new manager—and besides, they won't really be new at all—like Lundberg's an experienced pro.

NEW TEXAS HOLIDAY

Austin, Tex.—The Texas Legislature has designated Aug. 27—the birthday of Lyndon B. Johnson—as a state holiday. To avoid the cost of an extra day off for state employees, the legislature combined the birthdays of Confederate President Jefferson Davis and Confederate Gen. Robert E. ## SOUTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

THIRD GRADE—

Room 15

Teacher: Mr. Dykstra

Our class started a reading football game. Each team member can take the ball 10 yards for every book report. The team with the most yards or touchdowns at the end of two weeks wins the game. The Lions face the Dolphins in the NFL, and the Steelers face the Tigers in the AFL. Team titles were picked by teammates.

Room 7

Teacher: Miss Haley

Miss Haley's third grade class had an exciting Halloween party! We had a candy hunt, made blackboard murals, and decorated cookies. Our thanks to our room mothers—Mrs. Patrick, Mrs. Potter and all the mothers who donated their time and energy.

After Thanksgiving we will be taking a field trip to the University of Michigan's Natural History Museum. Our guide at the museum will concentrate on informing us about: Indians and the early settlers, dinosaurs, and (Miss Haley's favorite) rocks and minerals.

In addition to our daily academic schedule we are each making a book in French and English. We're writing our French in cursive!

Room 13

Teacher: Mrs. Yager

Reporters: Tracy Barton and Scott Dault

Mrs. Yager's class is studying the Mississippi River in social studies. We have learned that wheat grows along the north part of the Mississippi and cotton along the south part of it. We saw how cotton looks when it comes out of the boll. It is very dirty. We saw a movie about what happens to cotton when it is picked.

We are learning about the planets in science. We have to learn their order. We know Mercury is closest to the Sun and Pluto is the farthest away. At the end of November we are going to the planetarium in Ann Arbor to learn even more about planets. We each have to pick one planet to do a report on.

Our November birthdays are: Darin Rowe, Mike Stahl, Anita Roderick and even Mrs. Yager has a birthday this month!

Room 11

Teacher: Mrs. Richardson

Reporters: DeAnn Colva and Kathy DeGeneres

We made the insides of human bodies for Open House. We made what the inside of the Mayflower looks like and made paper mache animals. We are writing a story to a record called Poeme Electronique. We are writing reports on people, animals and other things. Birthdays in November are: Sally Moore, Jana Knickerbocker, Jeanette Koch and Shawn Ball.

FOURTH GRADE—

Room 24

Teacher: Mrs. Huebner

Reporters: Tim Whitesall, Sally Hellmann, Diane Bareis, and Howard Whitaker

The Witch of Blackbird Pond is our class book this month. We're on chapter two. Some of the new words we've learned are: stench, flushed, disheartened, tantalize, and defiantly.

As soon as school begins each day, we have morning workers who work with a partner to improve themselves in writing large numerals or reading their weekly word lists. When a morning worker does this practicing, he receives a star on a chart by his name.

In the reading group called Gamma we have reading comprehension books. We have them from the Washtenaw Library for two weeks. We have a game chart that we record our scores in. It is real fun for us to do.

Mrs. Huebner is doing something special in English. We have pencils from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with whom we have exchanged letters once already.

DEN 7, PACK 445—

Today we had a new Cub join our den. His name is John Preston. Craig McLaughlin brought treats and led our opening flag ceremony. We are making turkeys out of seeds we have collected. We collected corn, green bean seeds, sunflower seeds, wax bean seeds and Indian corn.

Richard Gaul, scribe.

DEN 2, PACK 455—

We met at Kip Bertke's house. We opened the meeting with the flag ceremony. Dane Hardal brought treats. Mrs. Bertke gave us all parts to a skit which we will put on for the November pack meeting.

Jeff Haist, scribe.

DEN 8, PACK 445—

We talked about Akela. We cooked pumpkin seeds and a t o them—they're good. We made our own treats and made pioneer forts out of them.

Mark Stoll, scribe.

Evergreen Shedding Natural in Fall

Take a close look at your pine or arbutus trees this fall and notice brown needles dropping. Surprised? Don't be alarmed. It's normal for pines, spruces and fir evergreens to drop one year's growth each fall, according to Michigan State University horticulturist, Dr. Harold Davidson.

Natural needle drop occurs close to the center of the tree. Younger needles at the ends of the branches will remain green during this period of shedding.

Scotch pines will lose their three-year-old needles, while the red pines drop its four-year needles. During shedding, the trees look like they are dying. As soon as a hard wind or rain hits them, the old needles fall and the tree will look normal again.

Appointments for a "good time" are rarely broken.

LUNCHTIME AT NORTH ELEMENTARY
The school is a wonderland of children, teachers, and just a hint of the varied uses of the lunchroom. Neither elementary school in the district has a cafeteria facility, so at 12:10 every morning, while physical education continues at one end of the gymnasium, preparations for lunch begin at the other. This one room, then, serves the school as a lunch room, a physical education room, an assembly room, an audio-visual room, and from the looks of the far corner, as a storage room, too.

Schools Crowd Near Capacity

There is also the physical education room, the assembly room, and occasionally the audio-visual room. Teachers pointed out another situation common to both elementary schools—the use of general classrooms as specialty rooms. “We just don’t have good places for a helping teacher, for speech, for art or music, or the other specialty facilities.” To alleviate these problems, the proposed building program will provide, at South Elementary, two additional general instruction spaces, a special education space, an instructional media center (a successor to the library, as at Beach Middle school), three auxiliary spaces for arts and crafts, music and a combined helping teacher and speech correction facility; a cafeteria with stage, and storage and staff office space. North’s additions with passage of the millage would be roughly the same, although the proposed building plans provide for two kindergarten spaces and four general instructional classrooms, plus many of the same auxiliary spaces, including a cafeteria. At the high school, administrators hint darkly about possible half-day sessions in the not-too-distant future, if present enrollment trends continue. At Beach, classes will just keep getting larger for junior high school students with no more rooms to open for classes, and at the elementary schools, it will be more of the same—more crowded lunch hours, more years with 5th graders attending classes at the junior high school. There’s just nothing else that can be done.

Here Are the Answers To Questions on Millage Vote

Authoritative answers supplied by School Board, School Administrators, and State Representatives

Q. What is the formula by which taxpayer can compute his tax relief?

A. The formula is as follows: Property tax paid less 3.5 percent of income equals amount upon which to compute credit multiplied by 60 percent will give tax credit (not to exceed $500).

Q. Why was the election set for Dec. 17?

A. Applications for holding elections must be filed with the County Election Commission and approved at least 60 days before said election is to take place. Elections in county must be scheduled at least 30 days apart. The Ann Arbor School District had an election in Nov., and the Washtenaw Intermediate School District has one planned for January.

If the bond issue passes, building bids by contractors will be more competitive during the winter months. This could result in a substantial savings to the building program.

Q. Will the new road at the Junior High school be torn up to make way for a pool?

A. No. The architects plan to place the pool in an esthetic, convenient area that will not interfere with the road. Drawings will be available for viewing in the near future.

Q. Is the School Board meeting with the architects on a regular basis?

A. They have already met several times. The next meeting is

Q. Where can I obtain absentee ballots?

The presentation, the product of the zoning commission, gives an over-all view of the county’s industries, land, people, the University, and all the divergent contributions that makes it the unpredictable conglomeration that it is. ## Junior High Gridders Post Perfect Season

The teams have won 40 and lost only three. In his season wrap-up, coach Bert Kruse said, “This year’s squad again has some excellent potential. The squad possessed greater overall size than we have ever had before. Had the backs shown more quickness on many occasions, the scores of most of the games would have been much higher.” “If this squad had one drawback,” Kruse continued, “it was in getting them to play somewhere near their real potential. However, if this squad can maintain a solid interest in the game, they could turn in to a very solid varsity team in a few years.”

Don't delay! Our new low-cost home insulation program can cut gas heating costs up to 17%.

In just a few short weeks, many of our customers around Michigan have taken advantage of a new program to hold down heating bills and help save Natural Gas, too. The program was developed at the direction of the Michigan Public Service Commission, which is seeking ways to conserve Natural Gas and hold down utility bills by the wise use of energy.

The heart of the program is installing ceiling insulation in your home. It's quick. Economical. Easy. In fact, a recent government study found “the most significant opportunity” for homeowners to conserve energy was through “improved insulation of houses,” [which] “would benefit the individual homeowner by reducing winter fuel bills, summer air conditioning bills, size and capital cost of heating and cooling equipment, and air pollution.” The Michigan Public Service Commission has found that many homeowners could achieve fuel savings of as much as 17% by having six inches of insulation in their attics. Naturally, results for your home may vary due to architectural differences and your heating habits.

To help you realize fuel savings in your home, we've designed an easy home insulation program. Here's how it works.

First, you can install the ceiling insulation yourself. It's a simple do-it-yourself project—and the most economical way to put in ceiling insulation. Many customers can accomplish the task for less than $100.

To assist you in the project, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company has even prepared a helpful booklet that shows just how to do the job.

Secondly, you can call a contractor of your choice and arrange to have the work done. Or call Michigan Consolidated Gas Company. We'll have one of our participating insulation subcontractors install it for you, which can also be easy on your budget. Many houses with up to 1,000 square feet in the ceiling area can be insulated for less than $200. And, there's a payment plan to suit most every customer. You can pay cash. Or, you can pay just 20% down at the time the contract is signed—then simply have the remaining cost included in your gas bill. Pay it off on your next three gas bills with no interest or carrying charges.

Finally, you can pay for the job over an extended period at an interest rate of 1% monthly on the unpaid balance. (ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE OF 12%.)

Whichever you choose, you'll be taking an important step toward holding down your heating bills. And cutting down on the use of Natural Gas. Why not plan on doing it now. Contact us today for additional details. And if you're a do-it-yourselfer, ask for our free booklet.

Youngsters Aid UNICEF...

Yass for it, with a sort of postman's, neither-rain-nor-snow attitude. The kids took their orange and black containers and hit the streets that nasty Sunday, and brought back a total of $323 for the UNICEF campaign, an approximate $57 increase over last year.

This year's chairman of the drive, Ronald Borders joined with Church Women United, area sponsors, in expressing thanks for the generous response that met the young canvassers. "We were extremely pleased with the number of children who participated in the campaign," Mrs. Borders said, "especially due to the rainy weather. Chelsea should be very proud of its future generation."

Begun in 1946, UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund) relies totally on voluntary contributions - from governments, groups, and individuals-as its only source of income. The fund presently provides aid to developing countries primarily in the form of supplies and equipment. Assistance is directed not only at providing short-term emergency relief, but also to conquer some of the basic causes of childhood hunger, disease, and ignorance. Wide-range programs to combat and prevent disease have been instituted, as well as programs and assistance to attack the educational deficiencies which underlie numerous problems of emerging nations.

As Mrs. Borders noted prior to the drive: "A 25-cent donation to UNICEF will cure five children of trachoma, or buy 175 vitamins, a basic education kit for a primary school child, or protect three children from malaria for a year."

And Chelsea donated $323... just think what kind of miracles the world is in for.

Immanuel Church Launching Member Witnessing Program

A new program designed to help members overcome obstacles in witnessing to others concerning their faith is being launched by Immanuel Bible church.

Pastor LeRoy Johnson, in announcing this program, said, "We are only five or six years away from a world population of five billion people. The church is confronted with a gigantic task which seems out of proportion to its resources. The clergy knows how to go into homes where needs are and sit down with people and guide them, while the average Christian laymen doesn't feel comfortable in this type of endeavor."

I'm convinced, however, that we underestimate the understanding, the insight, the ability and the commitment of our laymen to Jesus Christ. They only need more training than we have given them."

A series of four films featuring Dr. James Kennedy of the Coral Ridge church in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., will be used to build the training program. Dr. Kennedy's church has grown in only nine years from a membership of 17 to more than 2,500. Each week more than 300 of its people are involved in a program of lay evangelism that has made this church one of the fastest growing in the world.

In these four films, Dr. Kennedy teaches, then illustrates the techniques that are taught to the people of his church. People from this area who are interested in more aggressively serving their God and their church will find help in viewing these films.

First in the series will be shown at Immanuel Bible church, 145 E. Summit St., on Nov. 18 at 7 p.m.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

"I'll never forgive you." Why? The scars or hurts, imagined or real, will never heal when or while there is a stubborn refusal to forgive and forget. There is certainly a peculiar quirk between our reasoning as individuals and as a nation. During a war, a hatred of the enemy exists. Afterwards, as a nation, we forgive and forget. The scars are removed and our one time enemies are friends. Yet, in person to person — day by day living — one time friends are enemies. It simply doesn't make sense.

A more disturbing reflection is how some people at times place themselves on a higher level than God. All of us are guilty of religious infidelities. But, when with humility, in an aloneness before God, we ask forgiveness for our faults, we know He will say, "I forgive." Since this is true, isn't it silly for people to refuse forgiveness to people for far less serious hurts? Whether you agree or disagree with this or any thought you read here weekly, your comments are welcome. Phone or write about them any time you wish. . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214
East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone 475-1551.

What's Cooking In Michigan

Consumers buying meat for their family are constantly faced with the question, "Should I buy regular cuts of meat or can I save money by buying meat in quantity and storing it in a freezer?"

Gridders of the Week

PERRY JOHNSON (44) is a junior halfback presently playing his first year of varsity football. He has, however, been active in football for a number of years and also participates in basketball and baseball, which leaves him little relaxation time between seasons. Outside of athletics, he is a member of the First United Methodist church, a member of the high school choir, and is active in the Key Club. In the summer, about the only spare time he has, he enjoys hunting and fishing. He intends to go to college and leans toward Central Michigan University. He is positive, however, that wherever he goes, he would like to play baseball. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilford Johnson, and has four sisters, Nancy, 26; Sally, 22; Margie, 21; and Sarah, 15.

PAUL WOOD (87) was honored by his teammates Monday night by the announcement that he will be co-captain of the varsity grid squad next year along with teammate Ron Kiel. Although this was his first year of varsity football at CHS, Wood has played for various teams for five years. At present, basketball practices are claiming a good share of his time, now that football season has ended. In his spare time, he is an active member of the Key Club. He is presently thinking somewhat vaguely about college, although uncertain which one to attend or what to major in. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood, at 646 Flanders, and has three sisters and three brothers: Janice, 26; Dave, 24; Jack, 21; Mary, 18; Mike, 11; and Jane, 8.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

There Are No Losers

An urban housewife scanned the daily newspaper while watching her favorite show on color television in the living room of her comfortable ranch home. Out in the driveway, a camper stood ready to whisk the family off for a week-end jaunt, and two snowmobiles waited in the garage for the first snow-fall. She grunted her teeth when she read the bold headlines: "U.S. Consumer the Loser..." The reason her groceries were so high, she was informed, was because of increased agricultural exports.

The remainder of the news article, which explained that the exports had made the U.S. dollar stronger, "did not compute"—what did the balance of trade have to do with her budget? She did not relate her TV set, the clock-radio which woke her or the car her husband drove to work that morning, to foreign trade. She did not realize that everyday her family enjoyed luxuries and necessities for a lower cost because these products had been exchanged for agricultural products.

No one country—not even the United States, can efficiently produce everything it needs, and when products are exchanged on the basis of each country producing the items it can produce most advantageously, consumers get the best product for the lowest price. Agricultural products happen to be the one thing that the United States can produce as cheaply as it can elsewhere in the world. It gives us bargaining power for those things which can be produced cheaper in another country.

Why is a favorable balance of trade important to the urban housewife who was angered by headlines which tagged her a "loser"? Because foreign currency obtained from our trade allows the U.S. to buy products in short supply here—such as petroleum products. Our country suffers from a serious balance of trade problem now, but it would be much worse if it weren't for a highly productive, export oriented agriculture.

Consumers may pay a little more for their food, but they'll be paying less for other products because of a growing world food demand—and the U.S. farmer's ability and freedom to meet that demand. It's a bit more sophisticated and complicated than exchanging heads for corn, but the concept is the same. The name of the game is Supply and Demand—and there are no losers.

Race Driver Looks at Our Driving Habits

The most important aspect of driving on either a race track or highway is to have control of the vehicle at all times. That's the opinion of leading professional driver Mark Donohue, who admits it is often very difficult to know what is good control and what is the maximum capability of the car.

Racing drivers, Donohue says, paid to learn the various characteristics of the cars they drive. They spend considerable time learning each car's handling characteristics, often working long hours with technicians to make adjustments to suit the track and his style of driving. The average motorist, of course, does not have the opportunity under normal highway conditions to realize the maximum maneuvering potential that is built into his family automobile. In avoidance situations he is more prone to jam on his brakes and lock his wheels than to try and steer around an obstacle such as a accident.

Donohue says studies show that the average driver uses only 25 percent of the evasive capability of his car. He says that these drivers, no matter how competent, will almost never make an extreme evasive maneuver to avoid an accident, especially if they have not previously experienced that particular maneuver.

Jamming on the brakes and locking the wheels, Donohue says, causes the driver to lose all steering capability of his car. It is, in fact, out of control. In some emergency situations, there isn't even enough time to apply the brakes and avoid an accident because the car is traveling too fast or the obstacle is too close.

Donohue feels that the solution lies in education, although drivers with 10 or more years of driving experience might have difficulty in breaking old habits to use new driving techniques. The place to start, says Donohue, is on a small scale with the new driver who can more readily adapt to this different concept of avoiding accidents.

JV Gridders Swamp Northwest In Wild 33-14 Scoring Spree

Howard Salyer and Dave Watson went wild on the gridiron last Thursday night, and Coach Jon Schaffner quite heartily approved. Salyer scored three touchdowns and Watson hit for two, plus an extra point run, to take care of all but one point of the Junior Varsity Bulldog's 33-14 defeat of Jackson Northwest in their final encounter of the season.

Watson started things off immediately by zooming 62 yards for a touchdown after receiving Northwest's opening kickoff, and then ran the extra points to put the score at 8-0.

Undaunted, however, Northwest recovered adequately enough to score promptly on a 50-yard pass play. Their extra point attempt failed, however, and the score at the end of the first quarter remained at 8-6.

In the second quarter, Salyer hit for his first of three on a one-yard plunge to put the tally at 14-6. Northwest attempted to recover after this one as they had in the first period, by turning to the pass play, but Dave Pletcher intercepted to stop the drive. Although he returned the ball 50 yards to Jackson's 20-yard line, Chelsea too, was frustrated in its scoring attempt.

But not for long. In the third period, it was Salyer again, this time scoring on an exciting 85-yard run for another big six points, to boost the Junior Bulldog total to 20-6. An attempt to run the points-after failed, however.

Northwest was again stopped short in a recovery attempt by an interception by alert Bulldog defensemen—this time Tim Reed. Apparently not at all weary from their efforts in the first three periods, the local team scored twice in the final quarter. Salyer finished off his night's efforts with another touchdown to move the score to 26-6, and this time, the extra point attempt proved successful, courtesy of some well-directed kicking by Jim Marshall.

Dave Watson, who started all the action way back at the opening kickoff, returned to the line-light in the final scoring of the contest with a 10-yard TD run, to finish Chelsea's scoring at 33 points.

In their final comeback attempt, Northwest scored with two minutes remaining in the game, and ran a successful extra-points play to make the final tally 33-14.

Defensively Chelsea was led by Jim Marshall with 14 tackles, Tim Reed with nine, Howard Salyer with eight, Mark Burnett with six, Don Sullivan and Eric Prinz with five, Mike Kozminski, Dave Pletcher, and Dave Schable with four each, and Nick Keiser and Don Hagen with three each.

Coach Jon Schaffner also cited fumble recoveries by Dave Pletcher, which set up Chelsea's second TD, and Jerry Milliken as fine points of the contest.

At the team's awards banquet, Coach Schaffner reports that Dave Pletcher was honored as the most valuable back, Jim Marshall as the most valuable lineman, and Jerry Milliken as the most improved ballplayer. "Jerry had never played football before this year, but ended up starting the last seven games," Schaffner said. The victory left the Junior Bulldogs with a 7-2 over-all season record.

Chelsea Patrolman Interrupts Brief Escape for Inmate

Once again a sharp-eyed Chelsea patrolman who works part-time at Cassidy Lake has spotted a walk-away on his way to parts unknown and brought him back within the law.

Last Thursday, while driving along M-52 near Waterloo Rd., Patrolman Robert Browning observed Anthony John Lyons hitchhiking along southbound M-52 toward Chelsea. Lyons is presently serving three to five years at the training school on five counts of manslaughter.

Browning recognized Lyons as an inmate and approached him, but he fled into a wooded area up on recognizing Browning, who is employed as a guard at Cassidy Lake.

Browning checked with school authorities to make certain his suspicions were correct, and alerted Chelsea police.

Lyons was apprehended by officers at the corner of Main and Middle Sts., when he emerged from a car in which he had hitched a ride. He was placed under arrest and transported to Washtenaw County Jail.

Panoramic View of Scenic Shown in Kiwanis Travel Film

The old adage about the grass being greener on the other side might hold true in a revised form for travelogue subjects. It just always seems that the history is more significant, the sunsets more beautiful, and the architecture more picturesque when traveling a few thousand miles from home.

Not so, would apparently be the rejoinder of Robert Brouwer, whose panoramic travelogue "America—Of Thee I Sing" will be presented as the second offering in the Kiwanis 1973 Travel Series.

Reviewers of the presentation have rated it as "on a par with Cinemascope." Such an estimation is primarily due to Brouwer's "revolutionary and unique presentation in which he uses three screens and four projectors." He also incorporates hi-fidelity stereo equipment and music and sound effects recorded on-the-spot.

Included in the travelogue are many of the scenic wonders of the United States, like mighty Niagara Falls, nostalgic, early American Sturbridge, exciting Disneyland, celebrated Gettysburg, and many others.

Brouwer, a resident of Grand Rapids who began photography as a hobby while actually engaged in the electrical contracting business, has recently been commissioned by travel officials in the Netherlands to produce a travelogue similar to this one on their country. They have agreed to underwrite all his expenses—an unprecedented arrangement in the travelogue field. Brouwer's America—and other will be presented Saturday, Nov. 17, in the Chelsea High school auditorium, at 8 p.m.

Tickets are available in advance at Foster's Men's Wear, Kuster's Food Market, Chelsea Lumber, Chelsea State Bank, Gambles, Palmer Motor Sales, Wallace Wood Insurance and Western Auto.

Dana Retirees Form Group Task Force

Armin Schneider along with some 28 Retiree Representatives from Dana plants all over the country gathered Oct. 25, for a Toledo Conference.

Schneider, retiree representative from Dana Corp., Chelsea plant, called the conference and the entire retiree representative system one that "shows Dana recognizes the contribution of retired employees. It makes one proud to be a retiree of Dana Corp."

In efforts begun last year to assure that retirees from this corporation would remain "part of the family," retiree Vic Kraus, Whitefish Bay, Wisc., with the aid and co-operation of Dana executives, instituted the "Retirees Task Force." Primary goal of this task force, since re-named "Retirees Representatives," was to improve communication at two levels, first between the corporation headquarters in Toledo and former employees, second between retiree representatives and plant personnel managers.

Headquarters—retiree communication has been accomplished through the periodic mailing of Dana Clippings and the Dana Digest, both of which bring activity information about product progress and general occurrence in the various Dana plants. At the second annual meeting of the retiree representatives, Dana executive Jim Miller noted the mailing of 12 Dana Clippings of 3,600 each, four Dana Digest of 3,600 each and one roster of 3,600 Dana retirees in the past year. A more complete and accurate retiree roster will be mailed next year.

Communication with plant personnel managers has yielded "a personal financial evaluation analysis" form that is expected to aid employees thinking of retirement in determining the financial feasibility of such a step. At the meeting, copies of the analysis were distributed and Kraus suggested that the form, after suggestions and alterations made by retiree representatives, eventually be presented to retirees approximately two months before retirement, to give "some idea of what to expect after retirement."
