

Tax Equalization Factors Mean We'll All Pay More

Last week four black-bordered advertisements ran in The Standard that probably caused more people uneasiness than anything that's appeared within these pages for some time.

The ads—from Sylvan, Lyndon, Lima, and Dexter township supervisors—gave notice of Boards of Review scheduled for each township, during March, and in the proverbial small print at the bottom stated four categories—real property ratio and corresponding factor, and personal property ratio, and another corresponding factor.

Of those four, it is the real property ratio and factor that would seem to cause some livid taxpayers in surrounding townships, for they symbolize more taxes for the coming year, due to increased property assessments.

Defining terms is probably necessary here. "Real property ratio" is the figure that, according to compiled assessment figures for the township and going real estate prices, is being used to assess property.

The figure, according to the formula for obtaining state equalized valuation, is supposed to be: 50 percent of present market value equals state equalized valuation.

Soaring real estate prices—

"property around this community is selling like mad at outrageous prices," says Sylvan township supervisor Maurice Hoffman—coupled with ever-present inflation, have upped the market value of property to such a degree that what was once a sensible and accurate equalized valuation is presently nowhere near 50 percent.

Lyndon township supervisor Thomas C. Lewis cites what he calls a typical case—a two bedroom home on one acre that sold for $37,000. Closed deals like this one, when repeated as they are all across the county, set precedents for soaring prices county-wide.

It is at this point that the "factor," corresponding to the real property ratio, enters the picture. The factor is the figure by which the present assessed valuation must be multiplied to obtain the amount that should actually be the assessed valuation, given the going market value of the property.

For example, in Sylvan township, the factor is 1.17, lowest of the four aforementioned townships. For a home presently with assessed valuation of $10,000, multiply that figure by 1.17 to yield the new assessment figure, which will reflect rising market costs.

Obviously, since taxes are levied in mills per thousand of assessed valuation, a rise in valuation means a rise in amount of taxes paid, unless millage figures are adjusted to reflect more funds gained for fewer mills requested.

Logically, then, it seems that, for example, the three mills voted in December to finance school additions and remodeling should be reduced to some lower figure.

"Logic," however, does not always hold true, since state aid is decreased as the assessed valuation of a school district rises.

Taxpayers quite possibly will then be in the predicament of living in the same home in a school district with the same millage rate, but paying more taxes for the same things, because school aid has been slashed.

Complicated it certainly is, and the situation was reflected in the decision at Monday night's Board of Education meeting to refrain from setting a final operational millage figure for the bonding election March 26 in order to await "the latest possible information regarding state aid."

Factors vary in surrounding townships from Sylvan's low of 1.17 to Lyndon's 1.46. Says

Supervisor Lewis, "Last year we had a factor of 1.0—meaning that no change in assessment was needed—and this year they (Washtenaw County Equalization Department) tell me the factor is 1.46. Somebody was wrong somewhere."

In Lima township, the factor is 1.24, and in Dexter township, it is 1.26.

Supervisor Lewis, admitting that "this year will probably be rough," notes that he has had some 1,200 notices of assessment changes printed recently and wishes he could "go to Florida or something," before taxpayers receive them.

Boards of Review for the four townships are scheduled to meet March 11 and 12 for appeals and conferences with taxpayers at various locations, listed in other sections of this issue of The Standard.

Any taxpayer who is dissatisfied with his assessment may appear before the local Board of Review on one of these dates to request adjustment. If he still feels aggrieved after the local Board of Review has given its decision he has the right to appeal to the State Tax Commission. Such appeal must be made before the first Monday in May.

Wrestlers Win League Meet for Conference Title

Chelsea wrestlers took their second league meet in as many seasons last Saturday at Saline, and added further frosting to their victory by recording the first time in competition between Chelsea and Dexter in the sport that Dexter had not gained at least a share of the league title.

Bulldog grapplers found Dexter's men again their toughest competition, but Coach Richard Bareis noted proudly of his squad, "Coach Al Ritt's team put forth a fine effort, but it couldn't match the over-all effort of Chelsea's team."

Standings for the afternoon revealed the local matmen far in front with a total of 93 points. Trailing were Dexter, 69-1/2; Brighton, 68-1/2; Saline, 51; South Lyon, 45-1/2; Milan, 35-1/2; Novi, 33; and Lincoln, 21.

Chelsea dominated the meet to such an extent that first place was assured by the end of consolation finals.

Coach Bareis noted that once again, Chelsea's "fine reserve strength" emerged when Dennis Bauer was unable to compete at 158 pounds because of illness, but Tim Reed filled in for Bauer and "performed very well."

Coach Bareis also cited the nine wrestlers placing in the tournament as another example of his squad's balance.

Winning league championships in competition were Nick Keiser (108 pounds), who had to go into overtime to gain a 4-3 win in the finals; Mike Agopian (122 pounds), who recorded one pin and "a superior decision" before defeating Jon Stone of Dexter, 7-2; John Beeman (129 pounds), who recorded two pins before winning in the finals, 12-4; and Darryl West (145 pounds), who defended his 145-pound championship of last year by recording two pins and a 7-2 win in the finals.

Gaining runners-up honors with "fine efforts" were Dale Poertner and Ken Keiser. Coming back through consolation brackets to gain third-place finishes were Dale Schoenberg (112), Tim Reed (158), and Rex Miles (heavyweight).

Coach Bareis summed up the squad's performance this year as "a fine team effort all year, culminated by a fine tournament win, and as usual, many fine performances by many wrestlers something every coach strives for."

Coach Bareis did, however, express concern over the semi-final match between Don Jackson of Novi and Chelsea's Tim Reed. "Tim wrestled a strong match and was leading 1-0 with only seconds left when the official awarded an escape point on a very questionable call," Coach Bareis reported. "Tim ended up losing in overtime, but deserves a lot of credit for his effort."

Also contributing points in the win were Jim Stahl and Don Boil. (Continued on page six)

Debate Team Places 9th in State Meet

Chelsea debaters finished in ninth place last week-end in the two-day Class B state tournament at Central Michigan University, in competition with 24 other Class B schools from across the state.

Debating for Chelsea were Brian Smith, Steve Bennett, Keith Cockerline, and Dale Koch.

Top 10 teams in the competition were Marshall, Cranbrook, Dearborn Divine Child, Essexville, Dearborn Divine C. Ild, Essexville Garber, Richland Gull Lake, Cadillac, Chelsea, and Muskegon.

Next year's debate topic was also announced: Resolved, that Congress should make significant change in the method of selecting and electing the vice-president and president of the United States.

Secy. of State Chelsea Office Now Full Time

A permanent Secretary of State branch office has been authorized for Chelsea, Secretary of State Richard H. Austin has announced.

The office, located at 107 W. Middle St., will officially open as a five-day branch office Feb. 25. It replaces a temporary branch office that operated three-days a week at that same location.

The office will service the Washtenaw-Jackson county area and will transact all Secretary of State business including license plates, driver license, vehicle titles and registration, and recreation vehicle title and registrations.

Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Mondays, and from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays.

15-Year-Old Attempts Theft Of Money Bag

A 15-year-old Gregory youth who allegedly attempted to steal some $600 from a bank bag at Tailfeather Creations Monday afternoon was unceremoniously taken into police custody within minutes after the attempt, Chelsea police say.

Christine Duerr, an employee of Tailfeather Creations, told Chelsea Chief of Police George Meranuck and Officer Dettling that the youth had entered the store and asked to use the bathroom. When she went into the back room to check on the store's money bag, which contained the $600, she found that the money was missing.

She called to the youth in the bathroom, which adjoins that back room, to give her back the money. He threw the money out to her, at which point she stated that she played of the store to call police instead.

When officers arrived he volunteered to tell them exactly "how he did it," but officers questioned Miss Duerr instead. The suspect (Continued on page five)

NEW FACES AT VOGEL'S are those of Jack and Friedelle Winans, who took over as owners of the store last Friday. The pair, pictured surrounded on all sides by the boxes of merchandise that were almost a trademark of Helen Vogel's store, report that it's almost "like Christmas" opening boxes and finding what merchandise their new acquisition possesses.

Vogel's Store Now Under New Owners

Some things in Chelsea are so much a part of the proverbial "old days" that it would seem near to sacrilege to modernize.

Vogel's Store is a prime example—and rest assured that modernization is not imminent.

"The very last thing we're going to do is modernize this place," says Jack Winans, who with his wife, Friedelle, has assumed ownership of the store.

"We would never carpet the floor or anything—people would think it was Briarwood and wouldn't come in."

Briarwood it is not. With its well-worn wooden floors, mammoth wooden display tables, and incredibly high ceiling, the store seems to have changed but little since the days when it was H.S. Holmes Mercantile Co., (established 1872) or, in later years, Vogel & Wurster.

Friedelle Winans is quick to point out the heritage of her business that she's discovered in the few hurried days since she and her husband took over. She bustles through her establishment to Foster's to obtain a faded photograph of the store that Bob Foster dates at somewhere around 1910; she displays a couple different eras and types of wallpaper beneath a pair of shelves; she marvels at an oversized wooden thread cabinet that was no doubt quite an extravaganza facility in its day.

The enthusiasm she and her husband hold for their new business is hardly limited to its antique potentials, however. "We've been going through boxes, trying to find out exactly what we have here," Winans reports. It's like Christmas—every box has something different.

Although the Winanses are generally delighted with their finds, the boxes themselves are one aspect of Vogel's that is slated for change.

"Helen (Helen Vogel, owner of the store for nearly 30 years until her recent death) had quality stuff in this place," Winans reports. "So much of it was in boxes, though, that some people must have been sort of intimidated. Of course, people who knew her well, people who had been shopping here for years, would just come in and start going through the boxes, and find what they want. But we want to get the stuff out on the shelves."

The Winans' plan for the store is to "expand downward," according to Jack—that is, establish a more departmentalized approach to the goods they have, organizing into women's, children's, domestics, and so on, to facilitate shopping—and also managing.

"Right now we still don't know where everything is," Mrs. Winans notes almost wistfully glancing at the rows of boxes behind the counters. "The girls who work here do, though, and they're a big, big help to us."

Saturday, only her second day in the store, she was moving bolts of material and organizing some shelves of merchandise, but complained good-naturedly that "Every time I think I have something all organized, we find another box, with more of the same things in it. It's getting so I just want to hide those boxes somewhere..."

The major portion of daily management will fall on the shoulders of Mrs. Winans, who will "tend store" in the afternoons. Her husband, a teacher at Tappan Junior High school in Ann Arbor, intends eventually to devote all of his time to the store.

Jack Winans, whose business experience consists of assisting his brother, George, at Winans Jewelry Store across the street when a youngster, has the greater credentials of the two as far as retailing goes.

For Mrs. Winans, the idea of "owning your own store" is a fascinating one that goes back to her childhood. "I can remember playing grocery store with my mother's canned goods when I was a little girl—I think everybody dreams about running their own store. This will be a (Continued on page five)

Bulldog Cagers Down Milan In Hectic Battle

Chelsea's Bulldogs continued their winning ways last Friday with a 43-42 edging of Milan on a Dave Alber free throw with only five seconds remaining in the game.

The game, extremely close throughout, saw the Big Reds leading at the half, 20-17. In the third quarter, however, the Bulldogs recorded their big one, scoring 15 points to Milan's eight. Rick Miller, Dave Alber and Tim Treado paced the scoring in this crucial quarter, which ended with Chelsea leading, 32-28.

In the final period, the two squads wrestled for the lead until at 37 seconds remaining in the quarter, Milan led it at 42-42. Coach Balistrere called a time out, and the Bulldogs returned to the floor to work the clock down until only a few seconds before the final buzzer, when Alber shot from the floor and was fouled.

His first shot was good; the second failed and Milan grabbed the rebound and attempted to put themselves in the lead. Their shot was no good, however, and the amazing Bulldogs had reduced Milan's hold on second place to a tie, both teams at 9-3 for the season.

"And then we jumped around a little bit on the floor," Coach Tom Balistrere reports of the after-effects of his team's heady victory, their fifth in a row.

"I was very pleased with the play of the entire team," Coach Balistrere continued. We had very balanced scoring, and I was pleased with the boys' poise and the way they followed the game plan to the letter.

"There wasn't any particular outstanding person in the game," he added. "It was an outstanding game because it was a fine effort by everyone. I want to stress again that it was the unselfishness, fine team play, attitude and spirit, that won this for us. I'm proud of all 14 guys on this team—they all contributed."

The squad's shooting percentage for the game was 42 percent; 18 for 40 attempts.

Leading scorer was Alber with 13. He was aided by Gary Wonders with nine, Rick Miller and Tim Treado with eight, and Ron Kiel with five.

Pacing rebounders was Treado with 19. Miller added nine, and Wonders, eight.

Gary Wonders was also responsible for six assists.

Tomorrow night Chelsea will entertain traditional rival Dexter in the high school gym, while Milan travels to the deck of the incredibly passive Novi Wildcats.

Assuming that both second-place squads win, that will push the race for SEC runner-up into the last week of the season—when Chelsea meets undefeated Saline, and the SEC title already clinched, and Milan tangles with lowly Dexter.

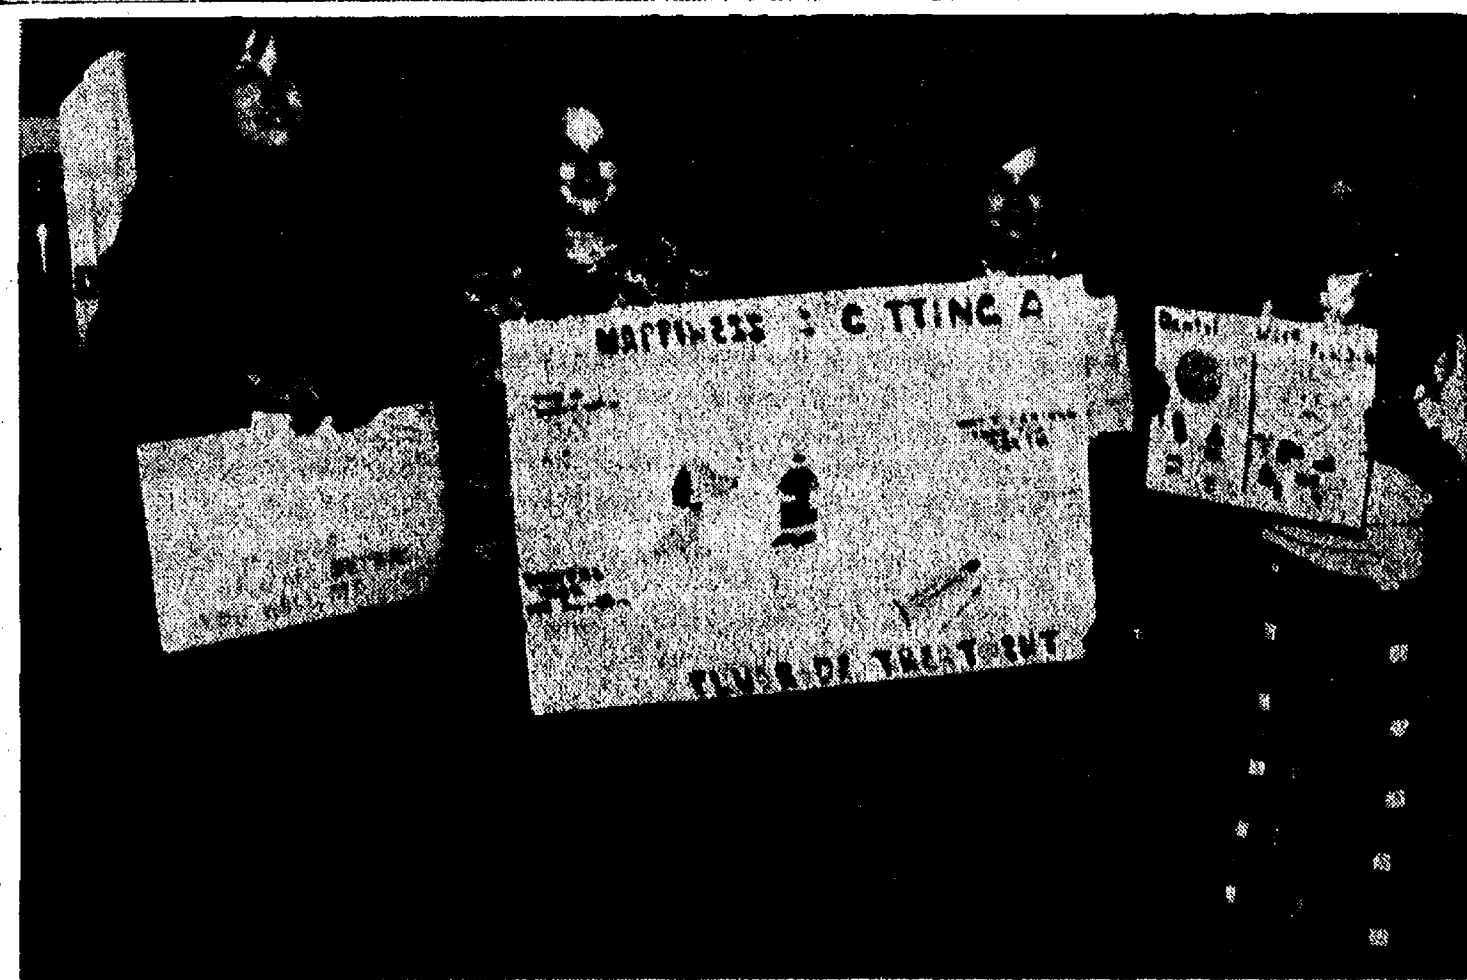

Congregational Church Marks 125th Birthday

It was to be a time for "remembering, rejoicing, and rededication," and some 250 people turned out to make certain that the occasion, the 125th anniversary of the First Congregational church, was observed in a style suiting the event.

At the 11 a.m. worship service, Lionel Vickers, a church member for 63 years, presented reflections on the past. Holy Communion was then celebrated, using the old pewter chalice and, for those who had been church members for 50 years or more, communion was served from the old wooden communion trays.

Those members qualified as 50 or more years members are Ethel Pielemeier, Mildred Hinderer, Esther Belser, Lionel Vickers, Paul Maroney, Warren Spaulding, Lettie Kaercher, Flora Schieferstein, Otto Hinderer, Floyd Gentner, Helen Lindermann, Dahue Riker, Merle Barr, Sr., David Beach, Dwight Beach, Clarence Vogel, Esther Turnbull, Lucille Barr, Audrey Harris, Harold Brooks, and Dora Haselschwerdt.

William Geddes, chairman of the trustees, was toastmaster, and introduced the 50-year members and other special guests, including the (Continued on page three)

In preparation for the fluoride treatment program scheduled for this summer, Chelsea Jaycees sponsored a poster contest Feb. 1-9 with the program in mind. Some 30 posters were entered in the contest by 5th graders using fluoride treatment and dental week as themes.

Receiving first prize of $10 in the competition were Julie Luck and Lisa Lakatos. Second prize of $5 went to Radine Cheever and third, $2.50, to Kathy Herrst. The posters were on display last week-end at Merkel Furniture and Chelsea Card & Gift Shop and will be displayed again during the fluoride treatment program in the summer.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

It's hard to realize that for more than two months three fellows got away from it all and took a real long look at this old world. They set out there in space and just went round and round. Them reced space travelers weren't even here for the Super Bowl, but they probably will get to see a TV rerun in the summer.

Serious, Mister Editor, the fellows at the country store was talking Saturday night about the time we live in. Most of the fellows was alive when the Wright Brothers first left the ground in a airplane, and they never cease to be amazed at flying in space in the same life-times. And changes just as big has come about in everything we do.

For instant, Bug Hookum was talking Saturday night about these vacation resorts for dogs and cats. He said he saw by the paper where folks are paying up to $8 a day to send their pets to these places that give em breakfast in bed, stereo music, parties and maid service. Bug said the American Pet Motels is a national chain, and it shows we has come a long ways since the days we thought our dog was living good if he had a dry spot under the house and a few leftover biscuits thrown to him once a day. Now a heap of folks would love to be living their dog's life.

Clem Webster recalled not many years back when cigarettes was recommended by doctors and baseball players. Now, allowed Clem, these same people are telling us to walk a mile, not fer a Camel, but fer a breath of clean air. It's hard to realize, said Clem, that soda pop that now is fer fun was a medicine not long back, and that nobody nowadays tells you to put tobacco juice on bee stings. What was good for us is bad, and they ain't much around now that's legal, low in polysaturates and otherwise healthy that was even thought of a generation ago, was Clem's words.

What thought Clem of cigarettes was this offer he saw at St. Louis printing plant has made. They are giving a $300 bonus to workers that quit smoking for two months, but the folks have to pay the money back if they start agin in a year. Clem figured if the company charges interest on the money, they got a good thing going. More folks than ever is smoking, Clem said, and more is quitting, which means a lot of em is quitting more than once.

When the astronauts got back from space they must of been surprised to learn that whiskey now is good for us. According to this piece Zeke Grubb reported to the fellows on a study at a Illinois University shows that drunks stand the cold better than sober folks, the item didn't say if the feller that wrote the report was ready for the cold. Fugal, Zeke said, it ain't enuff that booze gits a new image, he has saw where snuff dipping is making a comeback amongst school younguns that quit smoking.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew

Senator Bursley Urges More for Vo-Tech Education

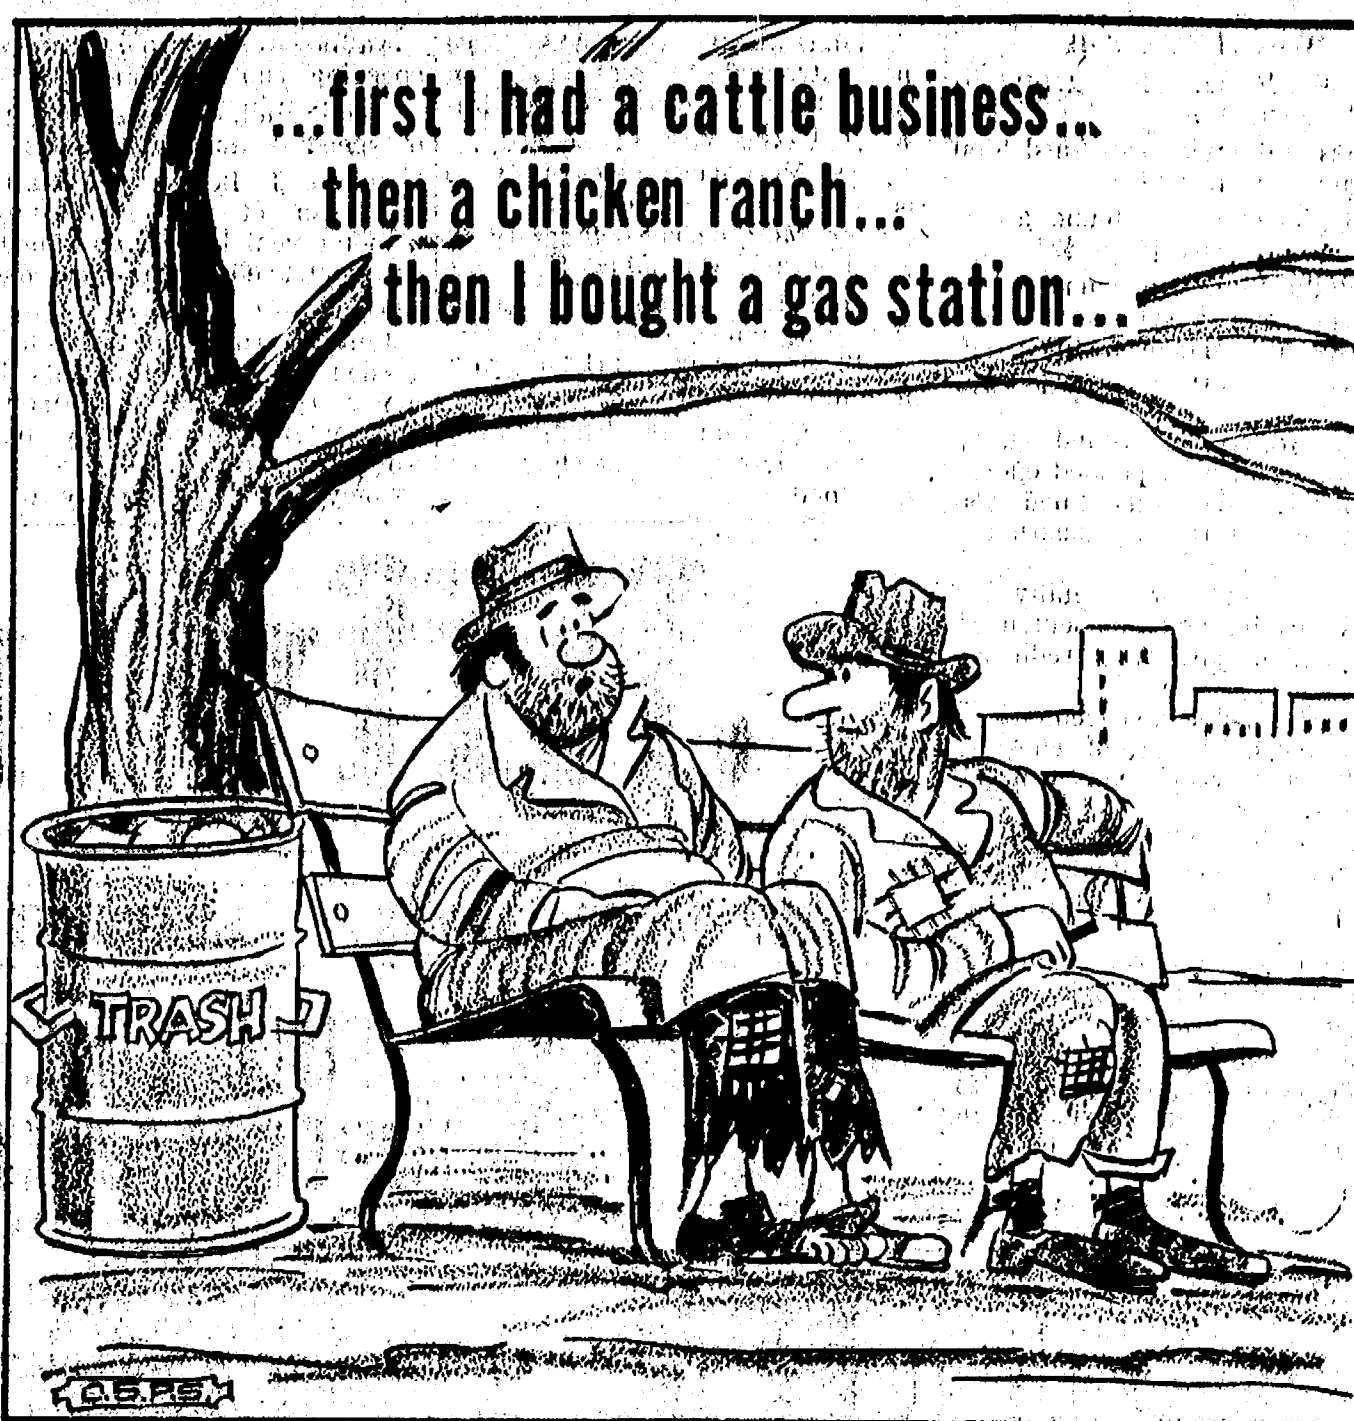

Senator Gilbert E. Bursley, (R-Ann Arbor) has introduced legislation to increase state appropriations for vocational-technical education to $20 million.

Senator Bursley, Assistant Majority Leader of the Senate and chairman of the Senate Education Committee, noted that this represents a 2 1/2 million increase over the $17 1/2 million appropriated for 1973-74.

In addition, Senator Bursley recently introduced and won Senate Education Committee approval for his increase in state funding of vocational transportation.

"I feel the state must do all in its power and within its fiscal means to assist the local and intermediate districts," Bursley said. "If the realities of the budget situation permit a larger increase than the amount I have proposed I will work through every means available to me to increase these figures."

"When you consider that the State of Michigan appropriated nothing for vocational-technical education just four short years ago and has appropriated amounts of $3 million, $8 million and $17 1/2 million in the years since, you can see a commendable degree of progress."

Vote on Pot?

Rep. Perry Bullard, the Ann Arbor Democrat who has been pictured in newspapers smoking what he says is marijuana, is working on a petition drive to put the "pot" question on the November general election ballot.

Bullard's petition, if it gets that far, would seek a state-wide vote on removing criminal penalties for using marijuana.

Under the proposal, there would be no criminal sanction against anyone over 18 who uses marijuana in private. And local governments would have jurisdiction on prohibiting the use of marijuana in public. They could, however, punish its public use by a fine of not more than $100.

Meanwhile in Oregon, where there is what's called "The most lenient marijuana possession in the country," a petition drive of a different sort is going on. This one is just the opposite.

Last year, the Oregon legislature enacted a law with little controversy providing that persons found with up to one ounce of marijuana could not be found guilty of a crime. Under that law, they could be punished with no more than a $100 fine. They could not get criminal records.

The Los Angeles Times reports that law enforcement officials say they have found no significant increase in the supply of marijuana—or any other illegal drugs—that can be attributed to the new law.

Cong. Chamberlain Distributes Annual Questionnaire

Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain (R-Mich) has announced that his annual questionnaire is being mailed into the Sixth Congressional District this week.

This year's survey includes questions on gasoline rationing, auto-emission controls, Presidential impeachment and resignation, funding of Federal campaigns, national health insurance and spending priorities.

As soon as the results are tabulated, they will be released to the media throughout the district.

Michigan "Shows"

Full-time legislators, they call themselves, and that's what they seem to be when compared with those of some other states.

The Citizens Conference on State Legislatures reports that Michigan's legislature is expected to hold the third longest session of any of the 50 states this year.

Only Illinois and Pennsylvania are expected to have longer ones.

There's really no telling how many days Michigan lawmakers will spend in Lansing at their jobs, what with elections this fall and campaigns for primaries and general balloting before them.

But chances are they'll meet at least through June, then regroup for short periods before and after those elections.

That's a far cry from Utah, where lawmakers are permitted 20-count 'em, 20—calendar days in which to get their work wrapped up.

Food From Michigan

Turkey, cherries and blueberries went over well in London. That's the word from the Michigan Department of Agriculture, in a report on state participation in a recent food show in Great Britain.

B. Dale Ball, Department director, says one Michigan firm sold 120,000 pounds of frozen cultivated blueberries through distributors in London and Liverpool. Another Michigan company expects an order for some 35,000 pounds of miscellaneous turkey products. And some European firms, he says, are already bargaining for a share in the 1974 Michigan cherry crop.

"One of the prime objectives of (the Department's) marketing division is to encourage this kind of activity as a means of establishing markets abroad because they are essential to the economic growth of our state," says Forrest chief.

"Overseas sales of Michigan Farm products," he adds, "increased about 43 percent from 1972 to 1973. Total value for 1973 was $1.65 million, compared to $2.3 million during the first six months of 1973."

More About Energy

Tacking on the extra hour of daylight at the end of the day instead of in the morning (DST) may not be saving the huge amounts of energy that some expected.

But cutting the speed limit will do a lot for saving gasoline, says the Michigan Highway Department.

The Department's Bureau of Transportation Planning recently analyzed the situation, using 1972 statistics for fuel consumption and total miles driven at differing speeds. And that analysis, the Department says, shows that Michigan motorists can save about 178 million gallons of gas a year by observing a 55 mile-an-hour maximum speed limit.

Actual surveys, the Department adds, show that average speeds were reduced "significantly" on Michigan highways at the end of November and beginning of December. At the same time, there also was a sizeable reduction in traffic volume—up to 20 percent on major freeways.

Greatest reductions in traffic volume on freeways came at I-95 east of Grand Rapids, US-127 near Mason, I-75 north of Flint and I-94 of Jackson.

Michigan Highway Traffic Volume Decreases By 9%

Lansing—Traffic on Michigan's state highway system in January was nine percent below that of January, 1973, with Sunday traffic in January down by 31.4 percent, the Department of State Highways and Transportation reports.

Surveys of driving speeds at selected points on Michigan freeways showed an average statewide reduction of 6.3 percent during January this year, compared to January, 1973.

The board discussed the 1974-75 budget in detail but did not set the millage request for the March 26 election because of a desire to have the latest information possible regarding state aid for 1974-75 before setting the amount.

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Toy of Lansing, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul J. Gerhart and daughter of Ann Arbor, and local attorney Harold Jones, whose father, the Rev. Carl S. Jones, was a minister for the First Congregational church from Jan. 1, 1899, to April 30, 1905.

Numerous books dating back to the 1800's, including the original record of the organization of the church on Feb. 21, 1849, were on display. Also, other artifacts included in the display were a piece of metal from the original church bell found after the fire of 1894, chalices, an old light fixture, deacon's bench, and the Estey Reed organ.

Members also donated many pictures of their ancestors, confirmation classes, programs and other items of interest for this display of "Our Heritage."

Each church family received a 125th anniversary booklet, which included the original Centennial Booklet material prepared by Mrs. M. W. McClure in 1949 and the history of the past 25 years.

Celebrants also enjoyed a catered dinner, served by the Senior and Junior Pilgrim Fellowship groups, and music by The Villagers' choral group from Chelsea High School, under the direction of DiAnn L'Roy.

Biddy Basketball Leaders Undefeated

In the third week of actual competition between teams in the Recreation Council's biddy basketball league, undefeated teams continue to lead each of the three associations.

In the World Basketball Association (WBA) for 7- and 8-year-olds, The Colonels team boasts a 2-0 record; in the American Basketball Association (ABA) for 9- and 10-year-olds, the Nets and Rockets are tops with the same record; and in the National Basketball Association (NBA), the Bullets lead; also with the same record.

Four more Saturdays of competition are scheduled before the three separate league all star games on Saturday, March 23.

Biddy basketball, which is designed to stress learning as well as competition, features scaled down balls and baskets for the younger (and smaller) players. Rules also assure that all members of each team will see action in each game.

Each Saturday, teams meet at 12 noon for an hour of fundamentals before their games.

On Friday, Feb. 8, 33 members of the 4-H Scissorstes group went to Greenfield Village and spent the night. Our chaperones were Mrs. Cattell, Mrs. French, Mrs. Shadon, and Mrs. Borton.

After dinner on Friday, we took a horse-drawn sleigh through the village. Then we swam for an hour and played in the gym. We ate our meals at the Clinton Inn and stayed in Lovett Hall.

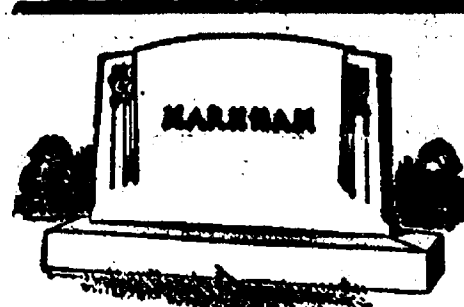

On Saturday, we toured the museum and village. We got home late Saturday afternoon.

lot of work, but it's going to be fun, too," she predicts.

The perils of ownership seem not exceptionally formidable to the couple. "Right now we're trying mainly to find exactly what we have. Some salesmen have already been in the store, but we're not ordering anything until we know what's here, and can decide what we want to continue to order and what we can cut out," Mrs. Winans says.

"And we have some friends in the business who are going to help us with our buying, the first time we go to Detroit, which should really help us quite a bit," she adds.

"We know that the quality of goods Helen bought was really high—she went to New York to do her buying—and we want to assure people that we'll continue with this same quality," Mrs. Winans says.

Her husband agrees. "Helen didn't have anything cheap here, and we intend to carry the same good lines and the same good stuff."

The heritage of Vogel's store—which amounts to more than its high ceiling and wooden floors—thus seems assured through this change in ownership.

was then taken into custody and his parents called.

The boy's father came to the police station later that evening. His son was read his Miranda rights and admitted the theft. He also admitted that he had taken no more than $5 from the store on three different occasions.

Lynn Tenbusch, a worker for the Washtenaw County Youth Services Bureau, spoke to the youth and hopes that he will receive professional counseling. She also suggested some form of counseling for the boy's parents to cope with the problem.

The boy was released to the custody of his parents with further action in the case pending.

What's Cooking In Michigan

By Larrestine Trimm
Marketing Information Specialist
Michigan Dept. of Agriculture

Two food regulations many consumers may not be aware of have recently become effective, according to marketing officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The standards mean increased consumer protection and will help assure you of getting what you pay for.

The first is FDA standards for frozen cherry pies which became effective December 31, 1973. At least 25 percent of the total weight of the pie must be cherries if the term frozen cherry pie is used on the label and not more than 15 percent of the cherries can be less than .25 percent cherries or more than 15 percent blemished cherries must state that fact on the label.

The label must also list optional ingredients, if used, and the picture of the pie on the package must be a truthful illustration of what the pie will look like once it's prepared properly.

Michigan produces 75 percent of the nation's red tart cherries, most of which goes to processors.

The second regulation of consumer interest is the labeling of retail cuts of meat. Standardized meat labels are being used by many supermarkets to assist the consumer in buying cuts of meat. An industry-wide committee of agribusinessmen and trade organizations has worked together for over a year developing standardized meat labeling. They succeeded in reducing the number of commonly used names for meats to a master list of 315.

Adoption of the official name list by supermarkets is voluntary but it is expected all major supermarkets will be using it by year-end.

New labels will indicate the kind of meat (beef, pork, or lamb) the section of the animal from which it comes (loin, rib, chuck); and the recommended retail name (chuck roast, Porterhouse steak).

INCREASED BENEFITS FOR DISABLED VETERANS
Increased benefits will be reflected in February VA pension checks for nearly 2.7 million disabled veterans and survivors of deceased veterans. A cost-of-living increase in these benefits is authorized by a law signed by the President Dec. 8, effective Jan. 1. Administrator of Veterans Affairs, Donald E. Johnson, said the increase will average 10 percent for 915,000 war-time veterans and 859,000 widows on VA pension rolls. Increased pension payments will go to 842,000 children of veterans. Increases are also scheduled for 69,000 parents drawing dependency and indemnity compensation. Pensions are paid on the basis of need to veterans permanently and totally disabled from on-service causes, and to widows and children of veterans who died of non-service-connected disabilities.

The Worst Winter Weather Brings Out the Best in Carpet Prices.

A Traditionally Slow Season

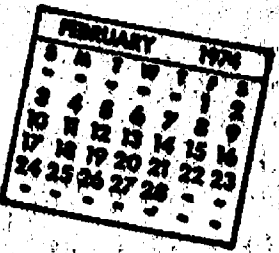

Our carpet sales are slow in February. And the reasons aren't hard to come by: mud and money. February has the worst weather of the year. And it suffers from financial belt tightening that follows Christmas giving and January sales. We've known this for years, and our manufacturers have too. But we've finally decided to do something about it.

February Carpet Sale: February 20 - March 2

We spoke to the people who manufacture one of our favorite lines: Wunda Weve. We told them that our customers are looking for bargains this time of year. Make us a good offer, we said, and we'll pass it on. The result? 15% to 20% off our usual price. That's 15% to 20% off, in just about any color of carpet you want.

Wallet Stolen From Girl's Purse

A wallet belonging to an employee of Tailfeather Creations was stolen Thursday apparently by a pair of youths who entered the store while the employee was occupied with work.

Christine Duerr, 17, told Chelsea Police that she realized her wallet had been stolen when she noticed that her purse which she had left near a counter had been moved. The wallet, a light blue coin purse type with studded rhinestones, contained $10 in cash some change and approximately $11 worth of "sundries".

Although the wallet was found later that afternoon on E. Middle St., the money had been removed. Miss Duerr reported that two youths unknown to her, had entered the store when she was working and she noticed the theft after their departure. One youth was described as approximately 14 years old, 5'5" tall, slender, with long blond hair shaggy at the ends, wearing a dark blue jacket. The second boy was described as 15 years old, 5'9" tall, and slender. She said that she could not recall seeing either suspect before.

Penn Central Goofs Again, Downs Signals

A Penn Central engineer moving seven freight cars along the siding behind Chelsea Lumber at Main St., moved his cars right over the bumper at the end of the track and hit the warning lights and gates, knocking the signal post onto the hood of a southbound car.

Mrs. Sandra Brown, 18 Chestnut, reports that she was driving across the railroad tracks in her 1969 Ford station wagon when the post fell on the car's hood. As soon as the post fell, Mrs. Brown said, "then the lights and bells started ding-ding—not before."

No one was injured in the incident, although the post narrowly missed the vehicle's windshield. Mrs. Brown, who with her three children was enroute to Chelsea Hospital to visit her son, was particularly upset because two of her three children were in the front seat of the automobile with her.

John Cassidy, engineer who was moving the cars, termed the incident "slack operation."

Mrs. Brown, who doubts that she and her husband "will get very far with Penn Central," says that she has had no word from the railroad regarding the accident. She said that she intends to contact the company, however.

DAVE ALBER'S CRUCIAL FREE THROW swishes through the hoop, edging Chelsea ahead by one, 43-42, which was to be the winning score. Alber, shooting one and one, missed his second attempt and Milan rebounded, but was unable to score. Alber led the Bulldogs in scoring output, but Coach Tom Balistrere termed the victory an "outstanding team effort" stemming from "unselfishness, hustle, good spirit and fine attitude."

Four Top Winners in District Music Contest

Four Chelsea High school band members landed in the first division last Saturday in the District 12 Solo and Ensemble Festival at Henry Ford Community College and will compete in the state festival in March.

The four were Duane Luick, who performed a trumpet solo; David Klemer, presenting a tympani solo; and Kim Longworth and Patricia Spencer, who joined for a woodwind duet.

Local competitors who received second division rankings for solo performances were Ellen Bonus, piano; Carol Spencer, viola; Skip Spencer, clarinet; and Sue Pfeifle, piano.

Second division duet musicians were Julie Chapman and Denise Wirtz, clarinet; Dora Alexander and Sue Dowhal, flute; Lynn Smith and Kathy Pierce, flute; Karen Keiser and Debbie Haworth, and Annette Gaken and Gail Gilbreath, clarinet; and David Klemer and Skip Foytik, snare drum.

Selections prepared for the district festival will be featured at the high school's Winter Concert, scheduled for next Thursday, Feb. 28, at 7:30 p.m., in the auditorium.

Concert Band, directed by Ronald Harris, will open the program with "Manhattan Beach March," by John Phillip Sousa, followed by "Variation Overture" by Clifton Williams, composed in 1961, and the finale from Symphony No. 5 by Franz Schubert.

Two pop compositions will close this portion of the concert, "Morning Has Broken," by Eleanor Farjan and Cat Stevens, and "Black Magic Woman" by Peter Green. Warren Mayer, will perform "The Little English Girl" march by Delle Cese, "Overture in B Flat," which is this year's required festival number, "Sinfonia Nobilissima" by R. Jager, selections from "South Pacific," and Red Skelton's "Red, White, and Blue March."

Specially featured will be Duane Luick's trumpet solo, David Klemer's tympani solo, and Kim Longworth performing her own composition for flute and guitar accompaniment.

This Saturday, Beach School 7th and 8th grade bands will compete in the junior high level District 12 solo and ensemble festival in Dearborn.

Some 40 events have been entered by junior high band members. Band directors note that the judging and rating of each contestant on criticism sheets will aid in furthering the musical education and playing ability of each student, making it a "most beneficial activity."

Band members should note that the bus will leave at 6:30 a.m. Saturday and return at approximately 6 p.m.

GI BILL ELIGIBILITY
Post-Korean veterans are down to about their last semester of eligibility under the GI Bill, but an extra year remains for those interested in farm co-operative training, apprenticeship or on-the-job training, and those qualified for advanced flight training. The standard eligibility period for GI Bill training for all veterans is eight years after separation from military service. However, post-Korean veterans, those with service from Feb. 1, 1955 through May 31, 1968, were not eligible until the current GI Bill became effective June 1, 1968. As a result, the eight-year period for this group expires May 31, 1974. Additional educational benefits were added to the GI Bill in 1967, thus the extension of the expiration date to 1975 for the specialized benefits.

A comic drew a big chuckle from an audience when he said, "The wages of sin . . . is the price a confession magazine pays for a story." When sin is satirized and brings laughter in this fashion, it seems like Satan is doing a good job in 5'8" GARY WONDERS is no match size-wise for a 6'4" Big Red when he's standing still, but self-propelled a couple feet into the air he seems to be giving him a run for his money. Hustle like this was ever-present in the Bulldog's fine 43-42 squeaker over Milan that launched them into a tie for second in the SEC.

SEC ROUND-UP:

Saline Clinches Conference Title, Chelsea Moves into Tie for 2nd

Saline continued undefeated with an overtime edging of Brighton, 73-70, and clinched the Southeastern Conference title for the second time in three years.

With no suspense left in the title race, interest goes to the battle between Chelsea and Milan, now deadlocked in second place, by virtue of the Bulldogs' defeat of the Big Reds Friday night.

Saline 73, Brighton 70—

It took an overtime, but South Lyon eventually managed to top Brighton, 73-70, to clinch their hold on the SEC title.

Brighton started fast, jumping to an early-game 16-9 lead, but trailed the Hornets, 33-30, by half-time.

After finishing regulation play at 68-68, Don Scotten hit for a pair of baskets in the overtime session to give Saline its 12th victory.

Chelsea 43, Milan 42—

LOWERING THERMOSTATS?

Talk about co-operation! I've heard of lowering the thermostat to conserve energy, but this is hard to believe. When I woke up this morning it was 50 degrees in my apartment. I called the apartment building's janitor and he came right up and helped me bang on the radiator.
