

Environmental Impact Statement Says Nothing To Hurt HCMA

The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation's preliminary draft of its environmental impact statement on Mill Creek, an item long-awaited by opponents of the proposed Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority metropark there, has not been one of the splashier developments in the park's continuing story since it was made public two weeks ago. No hardy members of Mill Creek Research Council have hailed it as best evidence against the park, and they are not likely to do so.

The preliminary draft environmental impact statement, which will be the subject of a public information meeting Tuesday, July 23 at Beach Middle school, is a none-too-encouraging document for those anticipating, or at least desiring, a ringing endorsement of their anti-park stand.

Continuing positions argued by Mill Creek Research Council and other metropark opponents that the park would remove valuable agricultural land from production and valuable taxable property from Chelsea School District's tax rolls, are flatly ruled invalid by the report.

Noting that "the area has experienced an unremarkable agrarian history," remaining amazingly stable through the years with an increase of only 14 farms from 1880 to 1964, the EIS cites a 1971 survey conducted jointly by the Agricultural Stabilization-Conservation Service, Co-operative Extension Service, and Mill Creek Research Council.

Using estimates of 1970 agricultural production for farms to be affected by the Mill Creek park proposal, the survey found that of 5,947 total acres, only 3,670 were in actual use as cropland and pastureland. The rest were idle.

"Relative to the full agricultural production of Washtenaw county and the state," the report concludes in refuting MCRC's agriculture argument,

"the production is of very little significance."

In regard to the potential loss in revenue for Chelsea School District, the EIS points to an analysis conducted by the school district and the Washtenaw County Planning Commission, pertaining to the 1970-71 school year and the area then projected to be affected by the park, a total of 4,092 acres.

Based on that year and acreage, the report rates the "worst possible" loss that could be suffered by the Chelsea School District would be $47,170; the "best possible" gain would be $85,986.

Figures used to obtain these results were a State Equalized Valuation of $965,000 for the 4,092 acres affected. That would amount to a total tax loss for the school district of $21,423.

In the "worst possible" situation, which would be that all the displaced students in the park area moved from the Chelsea School District and no new students moved into the area, the total amount lost ($21,423) would be compounded by a $25,747 loss in state aid in funds for the district at the $47,170 figure. The figure amounted to 2.54 percent of the 1970-71 operating budget.

Under the best possible situation, the report theorizes that if the largest total of new students that have moved into the district in the past five years (177) moved into the district the year that the land was removed from the tax rolls, the net loss in tax revenue would amount to $21,423, but state aid would increase by $107,489, making a net gain in revenue for the district of $86,066. This figure equals 4.04 percent of the 1970-71 operating budget.

Both the county and the environmental impact statement agree that "... the initial loss to the school district is still anticipated to be slight if a all." The current project, 3,501 acres, possessed a state equalized valuation in 1971 of $921,773, which would amount to a decrease in income to the school district of $20,463.

The environmental impact statement is, however, entirely optimistic about the Chelsea School District's future, plus or minus a Mill Creek Park.

"State equalized valuation in the school district will increase because of increased land development within the school district. More tax dollars will be generated to assist the school system in either paying debt retirement sooner than retirement date or mortgage figures can be reduced to maintain the present established annual payment."

In addition, the report notes that losses to the school district will be spread over a five-to-ten-year period. The loss in tax revenue to the district also, must be weighed against the assured free educational future-study type services provided by a park of this nature, the report says.

Mill Creek Research Council's contention that the strip land along roads that act as a buffer to the park are obnoxious to the township's rural quality is accepted in theory by the report—"strip development would not be in character with the existing rural land use"—but the report continues that "it is expected that these lands will have high value for rural residential development as lots of about one acre."

"Urban impact is likely to be increasingly disruptive, rather than supportive, of farm operations," the report continues. "Attempts to maintain farm operations through public policy and regulation will be increasingly in conflict with economic forces. Creation of the Mill Creek park will have an inherent tendency to encourage already significant pressures on farm operations."

The report presents the assertion that possibly the only way for an area such as Mill Creek to maintain its "rural environmental quality" is through a take-over by an agency such as Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

The statement says, "HCMA prefers that the park exist in a rural setting and will support county and township efforts to maintain a rural land character on adjacent land. But, the long-term success of all public policy initiatives must be held in doubt, given the strength of market forces in the American economic system." The report notes that even Lima township's land use policy statement accepts this principle in part, in a section that states, "the future may dictate that development in these areas, in lieu of farming, is the more appropriate activity."

Considered to be possible detrimental environmental impacts in the report were primarily the danger involved in an electric line within the park area, and a gas pipeline that runs beneath part of the proposed lake.

The electric line, the Milan Majestic Transmission Line of Detroit Edison, currently exists as a 345 KV double circuit line, and is planned to become a 765 KV single circuit line, within 1,000 feet of the proposed dam-site.

Detroit Edison, however, with the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation in apparent agreement, rates that line as "primarily a visual intrusion." Edison's assurances state that the line will cause no problems with radio transmission, unless directly under the communication line; that the noise level will be low enough to reach only a maximum of 500 ft.; and that other 765 KV lines have shown no adverse effects on animal or plant life.

Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co., however, owns a 20-in., high pressure natural gas line which crosses through the main (Continued on page three)

Recreation Crew Will Clean Up Business Area

Chelsea Recreation Council's Earn, Learn, and Play Program will take to the streets this Friday, and the streets will be better for it, according to Recreation Director Tom Balistrere.

In a high-visibility project called "Main St. USA," Balistrere's army of Earn, Learn, and Play workers, who have been busily painting bleachers, planting flowers, tidying ballfields, and building a conservation wall for the past two weeks of work, will move onto Main St. Friday morning to clean up the downtown area in one quick swoop.

Balistrere says his working youngsters will begin at the southern edge of the central business district, at Chelsea State Bank and Palmer Motor Sales, and will sweep the sidewalks and area in front of each establishment. The group will also gather up litter in each area. The project will continue down Main to Heydlauff's and Sylvan Hotel.

Director Balistrere asks that each business establishment along the route provide a broom and dustpan for his workers to use. Special trash barrels, painted by the youngsters, will be provided, and each worker will be equipped with a litter bag.

The Earn, Learn, and Play group will attack Main St. at approximately 9:30 a.m., Balistrere said. He expects that at least 100 youngsters will participate in this latest civic activity. Friday's Special Day activity planned after the work session is a "Grand Picnic Day" at Half Moon Lake.

Vandals Smash Windows with Firecrackers

Windows of two separate homes were broken Sunday night by unknown subjects who tossed objects through them, Chelsea police report.

The first incident occurred at 12:05 a.m. at 110 E. Middle. A resident of the home told officers that he was watching television when he heard a loud explosion and shattering glass from the bedroom, where his wife was sleeping.

A lighted firecracker had been thrown through the window, police said. The broken window, measuring approximately 24 in. by 36 in., was valued at $30. Police have no suspects in this incident.

In a similar incident reported less than an hour later, police suspect that several youths riding in a red Volkswagen may be involved.

Waterloo Methodist Church Observing 100th Anniversary

Not much has changed to the exterior of Waterloo over the years, but this Sunday, July 14, when the church bell rings out at 10:30 a.m. to call people to worship, the chimes will mark the 100 years that this building has served the community.

The church was completed and dedicated Nov. 15, 1874, with Bishop Edwards of Maryland officiating and Rev. B. Hamp present as presiding elder.

Little alteration has been made to the outside of the church, but in the interior, electric lights have replaced the old Coleman lamps, a new furnace has been installed, new floors and carpeting have been laid, and new furniture including pulpit, lectern, altar, piano, and organ, have been added. Tinted glass has replaced plain glass in the windows.

The bell that will call people to the church's 100th anniversary celebration has a history itself. It was given to the church by a St. Louis woman who wanted it to once again call people to worship. It had come from a small country church that had closed.

Two major changes have been in the name of the church itself; in 1958, upon completion of a merger with the Evangelicals, it became known as the Evangelical United Brethren church, and in 1968, upon merger with the Methodists, it became the United Methodist church.

Aspects of the church that have not changed over the years have been the groups who have served it. Young people's groups that have been active through the 100-year history of the church have been the Young People's Christian Union, the Christian Endeavor Society and the Youth Fellowship.

The church's women's society, although active throughout the years, has undergone name changes to correspond to the change in affiliation. Initially, as now, the group was the Ladies Aid Society; upon merger with the Evangelicals it became the Women's Society of World Service, and upon merger with the Methodist it became known as (Continued on page six)

Dr. John H. Dawson, president of Adrian College since 1955, will be the guest speaker at the 100th anniversary celebration of the United Methodist church of Waterloo, Sunday, July 14. The service will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Dr. Dawson is a graduate of Wesley Theological Seminary in Washington, D.C., earned M.Ed. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Pittsburgh, was a member of the First Harvard Institute for College Administration (1955) and has received an honorary doctorate from Albion College.

He was the first president of the Michigan Association of College and University Presidents and has also been president of the Michigan Association of Private Colleges and Universities and the Michigan Association of Protestant Colleges.

Currently he is a trustee of Kiski School, and a member of the board of governors of Wesley Theological Seminary and the Governor's Commission on Higher Education. He is also a member of the executive committee of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Michigan.

Dr. Dawson has been very active in the work of a number of boards and committees of the United Methodist Church and in 1971 was elected to the University Senate of the United Methodist Church.

Employment Service Has Jobs for Kids

Chelsea's Youth Employment Service, under the direction of the Office of Economic Opportunity of Washtenaw County, is a little-known agency that may prove helpful to local youth with summer time hanging on their hands.

The service, directed by Tom Sullivan, processes applications from young people, ages 14 through 21, who apply at the agency and finds them employment at local nonprofit organizations. Employment is for 20 hours per week, at a rate of $2 per hour. Employees are paid through the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Currently, some 40 local young people are employed at Chelsea Medical Center, Chelsea United Methodist Home, and surrounding state facilities like Waterloo Recreation Area.

A total of 22 more people can be employed for the summer through Youth Employment Service. Those interested should complete an application form at YES office, upstairs at 140 Park St., the former Methodist parsonage and now the Teen Center-OEO-Senior Citizens house, and the service will locate employment. Office hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Falling Tree In Holiday Storm Damages 2 Cars

Two 1974 Oldsmobiles parked in the emergency parking area at Chelsea Community Hospital were damaged last Thursday when a tree blew over on them during the sudden holiday storm.

The damaged vehicles belonged to Dana Kesling, 7400 Dexter Township Rd., Dexter, and O.R. Ogden Adkins, 3700 Jefferson, Clark Lake. There were no injuries in the incident.

100TH ANNIVERSARY: United Methodist Church of Waterloo will complete its 100th anniversary celebration this week with an address by Dr. Dawson of Adrian College and a reading of a history of the church. Little change has occurred over the years to the outside of the structure, although interior modifications like electric lights, a new furnace, new floors and carpeting, and new furniture have been added.

NEW LOCATION: Chelsea's Secretary of State office employees have a new location, 102 S. Main St., but will continue to supply the same services to local residents: all the full service functions of a Secretary of State branch office, including driver licensing, motor vehicle licensing, and title and registration of motor vehicles, boats, and recreation vehicles. Above are Doris Watkins, Robert Marsh, manager, and Anne Stelthaway.

License Bureau Has New Home

Chelsea's Secretary of State field office has moved to a new, more spacious location at 102 S. Main St.

Under the management of Robert Marsh, who has been the manager of the branch since it opened on a part-time basis in September, the office will conduct all Secretary of State transactions, including driver licensing, motor vehicle licensing, and title and registration of motor vehicles, boats, and recreation vehicles.

The office, at the site of the former Senior Citizens' Korner House, will continue to conduct business from 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Monday, and from 8:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

They ain't nothing that'll peril up the fallout shelter business like a trip by the President. Ever where he goes, he promises to share all our nuclear knowledge and the national case of the jitters gets worse ever time his airplane lands in a new country and he opens his mouth.

The fellers was talking about Nixon's travels during the session at the country store Saturday night. Clem Webster was wondering what he will give the Russians since they already got more bombs than we have, and they don't need any wheat. Clem said he had thought it up one side and down the other, and he had decided that the President figures if he can get ever country in the world playing with their nuclear reactors it'll get our minds off what went on and what's going on in the Nixon Administration.

Ed Doolittle, that even voter Republican when FDR run the second time, was strong disagree with Clem. Ed said the President makes his best showing in dealing with other countries, so you can't blame him for leading with his strong suit. As for the promise of help with peaceful use of nuclear power, Ed said, Lord know: them countries can use the help, and they're floating on a ocean of oil we need, so we may as strike a bargain.

As for the fallout shelters, Zekr Grubb was of a mind that digging holes in the ground to get away was as old fashion as wearing a asafidee bag. What you got to do, allowed Zekr, is get out of this world like them scientists are planning in New York. He had law where a conference of experts see colonies in space not far off, and they say it's possible for the hole human race to move to another world in 100 year. Zeke figures by that time nuclear bombs will be as out of date as a bow and arrow.

But turning, to down to earth problems, Bug Hookum reported on a study of garbage done by a group of students in Tucson, Arizona. Based on a survey of 3,500 homes and the stuff they throw out, the class figured we throw away enough to feed another country just like ours. If we would be more careful with the world we've got, allowed Bug, and be more mindful of how we use what nature provides, we wouldn't have to be concerned about moving to other worlds to find food and peace.

Talking about food, Mister Editor, I know you are happy to see research has showed that old newspapers is good for somepun besides putting down fer the dog and wrapping garbage in. In Japan they chop up the papers, mix em with molasses and feed er to cows. So the day may not be 'a far off when we can digest our news more ways than one. Or we can at least drink the milk of human kindness that flows through ore editorials.

Speaking of cows, I see where students in Atlanta has challenged them in Beaver, Oklahoma for the 'ow-chip throwing title. That event will be well covered, I reckon.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Information Meet Set for July 17 By Watershed Council

The Huron River Watershed Council will sponsor a public information meeting on Monday evening, July 15 at 8 p.m. at the Freedom Township Hall, 1150 Pleasant Lake Rd. The meeting will focus on South Branch Mill Creek. A slide presentation illustrating the character of the area, the services the creek provides and some of the potential problems that may relate to the creek and its drainage basin or watershed (creekshed) will be the main feature of the evening.

The Huron River Watershed Council is conducting this meeting as part of a research study called the Creeksheds Project. The project, funded by the Office of Water Resources Research, U.S. Department of the Interior, is studying methods for equipping those having an interest or responsibility for managing local water resources with the perspective, understanding and tools appropriate to the particular conditions and circumstances of the local area.

The research method is to select creek communities representative of three general situations: Built-Up, Agricultural and Fringe. The project staff will work with citizens and officials in each community to define and progressively refine an approach or strategy to improve local water management practices related to the creek in question.

The results of the study should be of assistance to other communities in similar situations where a better understanding of how to go about managing or protecting what is valued is desired.

The group camping site at Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville is used by tent campers such as the Boy and Girl Scouts and other organized youth groups with day camping. For details contact the park office or the Authority's Detroit office at 961-5365.

★ MICHIGAN MIRROR ★

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Come to Michigan

Michigan is trying to sell itself to residents and non-residents alike as a great place to vacation this summer. You've probably seen some of the full-page ads touting the state's wonders.

But there's a smaller scale ad campaign being conducted in some less widely read publications, like Business Week and the midwest edition of The Wall Street Journal.

Michigan is trying to drum up more industry.

"We've had some bad publicity in several areas—about high wages workmen's compensation practice and rates and the lack of financial incentives for business," says one Commerce Department spokesman.

"We're seeing somewhat of an end to that now, but there has been an imagery problem."

In an attempt to end that problem, the department is spending part of a $450,000 legislative allocation to promote the state as a good bet for business locations.

"You can get cheaper labor than Michigan's," but you'll make up the difference in aspirin," declares one of the ads.

The copy goes on like this:

"Let's say you pick a state where you can hire workers cheaper. It's not hard to do. And you move your business there to save some money."

"You locate your plant site, hire some local guys and open. Your business depends on labor skilled enough to bend a pipe into a perfect figure eight. Your first day, you find out you haven't got a guy in the shop who's capable of a perfect figure one."

"Feel that throbbing around your temples? Take a couple aspirin."

Optometrists in Arms

Stinging comments come from the Michigan Optometric Association in the wake of a report from the governor's Office of Health and Medical Affairs. The report, dealing with vision and eye care services in Michigan, recommends among other things, that establishments of a school of optometry by the state be deferred.

"This recommendation is absolutely wrong and totally disregards the future vision care needs of the citizens of Michigan," declares a position paper from Association representatives.

"Neither state-supported student contracts, nor reciprocity, offer a significant solution to the future Michigan optometric manpower crisis."

The Association lauds a recommendation that programs for post-graduate training in optometry be established at state universities.

But, it contends, "it would be extremely difficult to establish post-graduate training in optometry at any location other than an optometry school. In reality, an optometric post-graduate training center must follow the establishment of an optometry school, not precede it."

Optometry, the position paper says, "has very little alternative but to view (actions) in preparing the recommendations) as a deliberate stall and an attempt to weaken or eliminate the profession of optometry."

Toll-Free to Lansing???

Want to call your legislator, but shrink from the prospect of a higher telephone bill at your house? Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, thinks constituents should be able to phone their senators and representatives in Lansing without having to foot the tab on their home phone bills.

So he's introduced legislation that would provide toll-free phone numbers to state officials and departments in Lansing.

"Citizens, who are rightfully cynical and mistrustful about their elected and appointed state official can talk with them directly without putting a strain on their pocketbooks," if the system is approved, Bullard says. This way "both citizens and officials will benefit by the opinions and information exchanged in such calls."

Bullard suggests also that people who are having problems and need to deal with the services of state departments can "help out through 'red tape' themselves" with a toll-free phone system.

Boy's Bike Stolen From Carport

A boy's 10-speed Schwinn varsity bike was stolen from a carport at 229 Clardale Ct. sometime during the evening of July 1, Chelsea police report.

Officers said that the bicycle's owner, Todd Gardner, discovered the theft the morning of July 2.

The bicycle was described as orange in color, with red as its original color, with leather seat, and black cloth tape on the handle bars. The cable for the back brake is broken, so there is no back brake, the owner told officers. Serial number is F240174.

south projecting arm of the proposed lake. This line, through funding by HCMA, will be moved west a short distance and would cross the reservoir at a much narrower point. Total cost of this project will be $20,000. Sole impact of this construction will be soil disturbance that will result in blowing dust or erosion at the time of construction, the report says.

The report sees as almost inevitable, however, an increased urbanization of the Chelsea-Dexter-Lima township area. "The Chelsea location would be most suitably designed to accommodate an ultimate population of 50,000," it says, since 59 percent of the total assessed valuation for the area is from commercial and industrial property, while 41 percent is residential. The report does, however, recognize Chelsea's Comprehensive Development Plan for "controlled and restrained growth," and expects that the population will not reach that level.

The report concludes that, "It must be considered that the most probable effect of the park will be to increase rural residential, as opposed to true farm area, on adjacent lands, and to hasten the arrival of the time when development may be judged by the local political officers to be the more appropriate activity."

The public information meeting scheduled for July 23 is, according to John D. Cherry, regional director of the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation office in Ann Arbor, for "comment on the content of the preliminary draft EIS as to whether it adequately assessed the impact of the proposed Mill Creek project."

Copies of the environmental impact statement are available for inspection at various county locations, including McKune Memorial Library.

Vandalism...

Broken in this incident was a 24 in., by 24 in. window at 521 Arthur, valued at approximately $25. A resident of the home reported that he was watching television when an object came through his window.

A neighbor informed police that he had seen several youths run past his house in the direction of South school at the time of the damage. Patrolman Dettling, on routine patrol near South school, said that he had seen several youths run from behind the school and leave in a red Volkswagen. Police have no further information as to their identities.

Boys Baseball Leagues into Third Week

Now in full swing after two weeks of play, boys baseball, in Pony League, Little League, and T-Ball divisions, boasts three undefeated teams, one in each division.

WYNN, JOHN, AND RUTHIE, the musical name of this group, now appearing at Holiday Inn West Bank in Ann Arbor, is actually Wynn Kanten, Ruthie Hooper, and John Braun, a group familiar to locals who have made the scene in the

'Wynn and John' Release First Album With Request for More

When you're sitting in Holiday Inn West Bank you don't expect some guy in a put-on down-home accent to whoop from the stage to an up-front table. "Hey, Chelsea! Everybody who lives on Congdon St. has to applaud for us!"

But whoop he does, and applaud they do, at the West Bank as they did at the Casa Nova, and all the way back, some years ago, at Paul Bunyan.

The group is Wynn, John, and Ruthie, Ruthie being the latest addition to a group well-known in these parts, and the man calling the cheers, at least this time, was Wynn Kanten, who lives at 133 Van Buren with his wife, the former Sis Wagner, and daughter Kelly. The other two parts of the group, John Braun and Ruthie Hooper, are Ann Arbor residents.

"Chelsea people really helped us out when we first started at Paul Bunyan," Wynn recalls. "Friends of ours would come out to see us, and buy drinks, and well, that's what makes you commercially successful, at least. Our motto used to be that the more you drink, the better we sound."

Then a duo known as Wynn and John, the pair who had never played together prior to two days before their audition at Paul Bunyan initially signed on for seven weeks in September of 1971, but stayed four months.

From there it was an engagement at the Harbour Inn at Harbor Springs during the winter—"mostly we just went up there so we could ski"—then back to playing at places in Adrian, back to Paul Bunyan, then to the Casa Nova in Ypsilanti.

The Casa Nova is the source of "Wynn and John, Live," a recently released album that was actually recorded in the latter part of September, 1973, just before Ruthie added her part to their name.

The Casa Nova seems to be the place most "at home" for the group. "We really got to know people there—you know, Wednesday nights was the howling crowd and the 11 o'clock shift at the factory, Thursday night was Jaycees, Fridays was a younger crowd with dates, Saturday was the real hard drinkers."

"You get so you can tell exactly what to do with people. Like some nights, they'd just be listeners, and you could do anything you wanted," he explains. "And then other nights, you'd know they really wanted to stomp, and if you played anything else they'd come up and tear the strings out of your guitar."

A feeling of audience rapport is apparent on the group's album—almost too much so, Wynn might say. "People who never came to the Casa Nova, maybe they wouldn't really get into it that much, since on some of the songs we just break up right in the middle," he says.

The album jacket adheres to that "our group" feeling with the explanation that the album is not-too-distant past at Paul Bunyan's. An album featuring Wynn and John, "Wynn and John, Live" is on the market at Heydlauff's and another, "more artistic album," is hoped for in the fall.

The album itself was put out through the Casa Nova as publicity for the place, but more than a publicity tool, however, the album contains creditable "straight" versions of "Alone Again," "Country Roads," and "Rocky Mountain High."

A cut called "Ypsitucky" penned by Rudy Janci, provides some down-home whoops of its own. "You know how there are so many jokes about hillbillies in Ypsilanti? Well, this is just our way of playing for them."

Another familiar number, "I'm Back in the Ozone," becomes, by a raucous final verse, "back in the out-house again," accompanied by stomping, clapping, yelling and almost accompanying singing.

John, who definitely has a very mellow voice, delivers a sugar-sweet version of Elvis Presley's "I Can't Help Falling in Love." Another "straight" cut is an old Neil Young Buffalo Springfield-era composition, "Flying on the Ground."

Now at the West Bank until the end of July, the group will move back to the Casa Nova in September, this time with Ruthie, for more carousing with the almost home-town seeming crowd.

At other places, Wynn admits, things are less than homey. "We played at Win Schuler's for a while, and they told us not to get people excited because they still had to go eat—and of course most of their money comes from the restaurant. When we left there, we sort of told them that we really didn't think we were for them."

At the West Bank, he says, some of the old crowd from Paul Bunyan often cruises over "and sometimes we can really get everybody going. But it's a different crowd than what we're really used to."

What is the same is the music, with the addition of Ruthie, who joined the pair on stage one night with "Do You Want To Dance?" and stayed.

For Ruthie, and Wynn and John, you have to catch the West Bank. For just a sampling of their style of "pop, modern, country, folk-n-roll" music and ad-lib comedy, their "Wynn and John, Live" is more than adequate for starters.

Moore Cemetery Restoration Being Sparked By Small Group

Moore Cemetery is a tiny, quiet resting place on Wernker Rd., just north of Waterloo Rd., where some 50 original settlers of the area are buried.

Unlike some 19th century cemeteries, this one has not gone to rot and ruin; on the contrary, it boasts a wire fence and a small temporary sign, both relatively new additions.

Descendants of those buried at Moore Cemetery met last summer to discuss plans for improvements to the cemetery, and although attendance was sparse—

"I think we only had people from four families," says John W. Canfield, president of the Moore Cemetery group—the group decided that the now-completed improvements in the cemetery were needed.

"It was never really bad, like other cemeteries," says Moore. "Oh, the fence was coming down a bit, but Roy Satterthwaite has taken care of it for years and years and it always looked pretty good."

Canfield says that currently the group is attempting to locate descendants of those buried in the cemetery to learn whether they intend to make use of the remaining plots. "It was stipulated when the cemetery was incorporated that descendants of those original people could always be buried there," he says. "We want to locate the descendants and see if they want any of the plots. If they don't, we'd like to sell some of them and establish a perpetual care fund with the money we raise."

Most of the maintenance work at the cemetery, Canfield says, has been done by Satterthwaite. "Not too many families come out any more," he reports.

Family names that appear in the cemetery that Canfield and his fellow officers of the Moore Cemetery want to locate are Buehler, Canfield, Clark, Coy, Mohrlock, Moore, Otto, Page, Sibley, Slater, Smith, Spafford, Wilcox, and Willsey. Any descendant of a person buried at Moore Cemetery with one of these names should contact either John W. Canfield, in Ann Arbor, or Mrs. Helen Lindemann, secretary of the group, or Mrs. Homer Nixon, treasurer, both of Chelsea.

Canfield says of the cemetery, "It really is a beautiful place, quiet and well-kept," and even a passing glance from a speeding car along Wernker Rd. will support his statement.

Shaded gently by trees are graves—most of them obviously older, tall, thin, white slabs with engraving into the stone that are prevalent in 19th century cemeteries, with verses barely decipherable: "Oh, mother, thy gentle voice is hushed, Thy warm true heart is still."

One of the oldest headstones in the cemetery, which was incorporated in 1867, is one for a William A. Pier, who died in December of 1847 in Mexico at the age of 19, apparently in the Mexican War.

Others have not withstood the test of time and weather so well. At least one family's plots, those of the Otto family, no longer exist, Canfield said, although records show that there were Otto burials.

The most recent burial in the graveyard was that of Herbert Moore, who died in 1956. He is buried with his wife, Ada M. Moore, who died in 1949.

Canfield reports that the Lyndon township clerk possessed a record of burials in the cemetery until 1910, which has since been turned over to Moore Cemetery secretary Mrs. Helen Lindemann. Canfield himself has checked headstones against records and feels that now the group "has a fairly complete list of the burials here."

A meeting of officers, descendants and those interested in Moore Cemetery is scheduled for Sunday, July 14, at 2 p.m., at the cemetery, Canfield said.

PEACEFUL AND WELL-KEPT Moore Cemetery on Wernker Rd., north of Waterloo Rd., is the concern of John W. Canfield, left, and Leroy Satterthwaite. Canfield is president of the Moore Cemetery group, which is attempting to contact descendants of those buried in the tiny 107-year-old cemetery, while Satterthwaite has been instrumental in upkeep of the cemetery for many years.

Leaders Continue Winning Ways In Holiday Week Softball Action

In a short holiday week of softball action, Men's Recreation Fast-Pitch teams remain bunched at the top, with five teams separated by only one loss for the league lead. In slow pitch, Walt's Barber Shop continues undefeated in first place.

In Monday's fast pitch games, Dunlavy Farms edged Chelsea Milling, 7-6, to drop Milling below the .500 mark. O'Haver recorded the win for Dunlavy.

Tuesday Thompson's Pizza took a game from St. Paul's by forfeit in the early contest. While Westgate Auto pulled one out from 3-D Sales, 8-7, in the late game. 3-D led from the first, when they scored five times, but Westgate tied it up in the seventh. Westgate then came back in their half of the extra inning to earn the win, when Bo-ham led off with a ground rule double that cleared the right field fence on one bounce. Tucker then singled him to third, and Boham scored to end the game when Hinz fled out to left field.

Slow-pitch action showed no surprises, as all top teams upheld their winning records. Monday saw Chelsea Methodist down Mark IV Lounge, 7-5; Village Motor Sales edged past Fortune Industries in a high scorer, 20-18; Chrysler earn its first win via a forfeit from Wolverine Bar; and Walt's Barber Shop trounce the Eagles, 14-9.

Tuesday second-place IPSCO only a game out of first, pulled away from the Independents, 13-5; Rulea Farms pounded McCalla Feeds, 22-14; and Fortune Industries trounced Wolverine Bar, 14-3. St. Paul's . . . 0-7.

Manchester Prepares for Chicken Broil

Manchester is preparing for the 21st annual Chicken Broil, Thursday, July 18. Serving starts at 4 p.m. on the Manchester High School Athletic Field.

This small Washtenaw county community (1,700 people) on M-52 gives visitors a real treat the third Thursday in July. Manchester is famous for its charcoal broiled chicken halves basted with butter and slightly salted.

The process was perfected at Michigan State University and Dr. Howard Zindell will be on hand to help Roland Grossman check the broiling process the same as he did at the first broil 21 years ago. Jaycees and Optimists head the big committee. Every man and boy helps.

About 550 men and boys make up the work crew. Chairmen Luther C. Klager and Eugene Bentschneider head this big committee. Profits are always earmarked for youth projects. This is the reason everyone is willing to work.

A village dump was converted into a park, lights, fencing, bleachers, electric scoreboard are additions to the athletic field. Improvements at the park and at the library were all made possible by the chicken broil.

Trimings for the dinner include about 70 gallons of especially prepared dressing for the two tons of cabbage for the slaw to serve 10,000. Potato chips, red

INFLATION?

A little boy asked his father this question while they were shopping in the supermarket: "How come everything has gone up except my allowance?"

School Board Briefs

Present at the Chelsea Board of Education meeting Monday, July 1 were President Haseleschwartz, Trustees Koehn, Hodgson, Schafer, Daniels, and Stirling, Business Manager Mills, Principals Lane and Wojcicki, and Trustee-elect Tobin.

Meeting was called to order at 8:10 p.m. by President Haseleschwartz. The minutes of the meeting of June 17 were approved as presented.

The board accepted the resignations of Miss Truick Amelgh, Edward Lauph, Miss Cathy Moore, and Mrs. Kathryn Peterson, all effective July 1.

After a presentation by David Mills, Director of Special Education for Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, and Whitmore Lake of the Special Education Program for 1974-75, the board approved the program as presented.

The board authorized Business Manager Mills to file an application for authorization to borrow up to $400,000 for operating money, and authorized the President and Secretary to sign the notes. This money is to be borrowed against anticipated state aid.

The board agreed to provide buses for Band Camp.

The board authorized spending for 1974-75 to continue at the same level as for 1973-74.

Meeting was adjourned at 11:30 p.m.

Buildings hit by a tornado often appear to explode. The phenomenon is caused by the sudden drop in air pressure when the storm's center passes by, which in effect gives normal air inside the building the force of compressed air, and blows the structure apart.

Mrs. Lloyd Charles Hafner

Margaret Haworth, Lloyd Hafner Speak Vows at Ann Arbor Church

Margaret Ann Haworth became the bride of Lloyd Charles Hafner June 29 at Bethlehem United Church of Christ in Ann Arbor, in a ceremony conducted by the Rev. Theodore Trost, Jr.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Haworth, 10681 Rosedale Rd., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hafner, 143 Lincoln St.

For the ceremony, the bride chose a white organza gown, featuring re-embroidered lace fashioning the mandarin neckline and adorning the bishop sleeves and skirt. Her costume was topped by a lace-edged chapel-length mantilla. She carried a bouquet of white miniature roses with light blue miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Chosen maid of honor was Miss Donna Alber of Chelsea. She wore an empire waist dress with blue bottom and white top, with blue ribbon trimming the upper part of the dress. She carried three yellow sweetheart roses, trimmed with baby's breath.

Acting as bridesmaids were Miss Loretta Hiltz, Miss Vickie Joseph, Miss Deborah Haworth, a sister of the bride, and Miss Diane Haworth, a sister of the bride. They appeared in dresses of the same design as that of the maid of honor, but in gold with yellow top, trimmed in gold ribbon. Each bridesmaid carried one peach sweetheart rose, trimmed with baby's breath.

Best man was Stephen Foster of Chelsea. Acting as ushers were William Hafner, a brother of the bridegroom, Tony Hafner, a brother of the bridegroom, Leonard Hafner, Jr., a cousin of the bridegroom, and Bill Haworth, a brother of the bride.

For the ceremony, the mother of the bride wore a long, sleeveless A-line dress with pink bottom and pink and white top. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in a long dress of multicolored floral print, with long sleeves.

A reception followed the ceremony at Chelsea Rod and Gun Club. Assisting were Miss Carolyn Lyons, who served the punch; Mrs. David Haworth, who served coffee; Miss Carol Hafner, and Mrs. Lavern Hafner, who cut the cake; and Miss Beth Lovelace, who attended the guest book.

Following a trip to Niagara Falls, the couple will reside at 533 N. Main St.

AN OVERHAUL
OF OUR
LONG OVERDUE

We allow a few communities to capture the bulk of the industrial wealth of the state and require other communities to carry the bulk of the burden of state service.

- ★ All industrial taxes should go to a state fund to be distributed to communities on a need basis.
- ★ The State should make payments to cities and school districts servicing state institutions based on the number of people residing in the communities because of the presence of those institutions. (Universities, colleges, state hospitals, etc.)
- ★ Bursley's proposal for a shift from a property tax to an Income Tax will not increase the money available unless he increases the rate dramatically. One does not make more pie by cutting it differently.

"The Bursley State School Aid Formula has not enriched tax-poor areas enough to make any difference. By directing our attention to the sharing of nothing, we are distracted from the fact that there is nothing to share."
