Primary Vote Scheduled for Next Tuesday

Voters will go to the polls on Tuesday, Aug. 6, to vote for their choice of officials on the November ballot for state, county and township positions.

In addition to state candidates for governor, representative, and senator, the primary ballot will include candidates for county commissioner, township supervisors, clerks, treasurers, trustees and constables. Voters will also mark their ballot for judges in the court of appeals, circuit and district court, as well as for delegates to the county convention of each political party.

In most cases, local partisan voters will, in essence, be electing the candidates by their vote in the primary, especially in the case of the Republicans who must choose between two or more candidates.

All polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Aug. 6. Township electors will have a choice of candidates in many cases.

Sylvan Township

Three of four incumbents are running unopposed for re-election in Sylvan township.

Democrat Barbara Dresch will challenge incumbent Republican Fred Pearsall for the position of treasurer.

Incumbents running unopposed are Supervisor Maurice Hoffman, Democrat; Clerk Dan Murphy, Democrat; and Trustee Reuben Lesser, Sr., Republican. Only one trustee position is open for re-election at this time.

Sylvan township residents vote at Sylvan Town Hall, 122 W. Middle St.

Lima Township

Lima township residents will vote in the Lima Community Hall on Jackson Rd.

Unopposed are Republican incumbents Edwin J. Coy, supervisor; Leila C. Bauer, clerk; and Hilda Pierce, treasurer.

Dexter Township

In Dexter township the polling place is at the Dexter Township Hall, 6880 Dexter Pinckney Rd.

On the ballot are John M. Tandy, incumbent Republican, supervisor; Nicholas Holly, Republican, and William Eisenberger, incumbent Democrat, clerk. Lorinda Jede, Republican, is running unopposed for treasurer.

Freedom Township

All candidates for election in Freedom township are incumbent Republicans.

Officials running for re-election are David J. Meinhart, supervisor; Rena Gierbach, clerk; Walter Hieber, treasurer; Gilbert Luckhardt, trustee; and Steven Carson and Luther Nagel, constables.

Polling place for Freedom township residents is Freedom Town Hall on Pleasant Lake Rd.

Lyndon Township

All candidates in Lyndon township are also running unopposed.

Incumbents seeking re-election are Thomas C. Lewis, Democrat, for supervisor; Doris Furhmann, Democrat, for clerk; Norman Kaiser, Republican, for trustee; and E. Jay Hopkins, Republican, for constable.

The name of Nancy White appears on the ballot for treasurer; however, she has resigned from her position and William Hogan was recently appointed to fill her remaining term. Hogan's name will not appear on the ticket, but he will be a write-in candidate.

Sharon Township

On the ballot in Sharon township will be a slate of unopposed Republicans, three of them incumbents.

Incumbents seeking re-election are Allen Albert, supervisor; Duane Haselschwerdt, clerk; and Herbert Jacobs, treasurer.

Running for his first term as trustee will be Willard Blumenauer.

Sharon residents vote at Sharon Town Hall.

Manchester Township

Republicans are running unopposed for election in Manchester township.

Incumbents seeking re-election are Clarence Fielder, supervisor; Waldo Marx, clerk; Dorothy Burch, treasurer; Lyall Widmayer, trustee; and Earl Atter, Paul Eisler, and Lyall Moore, constables.

Three women are seeking a pair of township library board positions: Sharon Hunt, Lois Kuntz, and Doris Mahoney.

Manchester township residents vote in Manchester Village Hall.

Webster Township

Voting in Webster township will be at the Webster Township Hall.

On the ballot for supervisor are Republicans Raymond T. Dotts and Donald Zeeb. Incumbent Republicans, Wana Baldus, clerk, and Margaret Mynning, treasurer, are unopposed.

For the first time in 46 years the name of Carl Mast will not appear on the ballot in Webster. Mast has retired after serving as supervisor for many years.

Scio Township

In Scio township precinct 1 votes at the Dexter Fire Hall, predicts 2 and 3 at the new Scio Township hall, 827 N. Zeeb Rd., precincts 4 and 5 at Westland Furniture Co., on Maple Rd.

Two slates of Republican candidates will be on the ballot in Scio.

The Republicans for Scio are endorsing George L. Stauch, for

AMID MIDDY BLOUSES AND BLOOMERS, the ladies of River City move into the first of their presentations during their Ladies Dance Committee. From the primly correct Eulalie McKecknie Shinn (Michelle McClear), third from right, to the impish

Two Bikes Stolen, One Returned

Two bicycles were stolen and another was returned to its owner in this week's bike activity reported to Chelsea police.

Stolen from a garage at 151 Orchard St. were two Schwinn bicycles, one four years old and one brand new, Mark Heydlauff told police.

The new one, a brown, 10-speed Schwinn Continental, without fenders and with serial number 579-401, was valued at $145. The other, a Schwinn Varsity blue 10 speed, also without fenders and with serial number DE7599, was valued at $75.

Police said neither bike had a Chelsea license number. Heydlauff told police that he believed the bikes had been stolen by someone who knew that he regularly put them in the garage. Police have no suspects in the case, however.

In a brighter incident, a red 10-speed Schwinn Continental that had been observed on the Chelsea High school baseball field for four days by a local resident, was returned to its owner, Perry Johnson, last Friday.

Fast-Pitch League Tournament Finals Friday

Recreation Council's Fast-Pitch League will conclude its single-elimination tournament tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. at the high school hardball field.

Semi-final games will be played tonight, both early and late, to determine the contenders in tomorrow's championship game.

Former Chelsea residents Mr. and Mrs. Ted Balmer, who have been living in Deming, N. M., are now living at 513 North Halagueno St., Carlsbad, N. M., 882-20.

'The Music Man' Cast Superb In Opening Night Performance

When "The Music Man" opened last night in Chelsea High school's auditorium, there were no doubt many in the audience who had seen it four years ago as a CHS production, many who had seen the movie version, many who had seen it elsewhere on stage.

It is the perennial story of the ne'er-do-well who eventually does well, but definitely not by his own design.

Professor Harold Hill, played by Jeff Daniels in this Chelsea Play, production, is, by the assertion of his fellow traveling salesmen, "a fake," and he doesn't know the territory.

So, being a fake and not knowing the territory, he enters River City and makes a pair of wrong assumptions that determine his initially disreputable but eventually respectable standing in the community.

First, to accompany an apparently time-honored ploy of his own origin, the organizing of a band, he looks for a moral cause and finds it—a brand new pool table in River City, which had never had such a novelty before.

Then, hearing from a now-domesticated friend and former cohort in crime, Marcellus Washburn, played by Dave Clemons, that a local music teacher and librarian will certainly dispute his credibility, he sets out to woo her affections.

Both assumptions turn out less than fortuitously, however, as Hill finds, too late, that the mayor of River City, Mayor Shinn, played by Tom Schill, is also the owner of the pool table, and—worse yet—that Marian the Librarian is suspicious and immediately sets out to disprove his claim that he graduated from "the Gary Conservatory—Class of '05."

Through these initial trials, "The Music Man," Harold Hill begins his campaign to bring River City over to his side, and from the start, with his pinpointing of "trouble—that starts with 'T' and ends with 'P' and stands for pool" he has the locals in the palm of his hand.

He works on them all individually, it seems, winning over the mayor's blubbery, pretentious wife, Eulalie MacKecknie Shinn, (Michelle McClear) to enter his dance class, which turns the ladies of River City into robed "Grecian urns"; he enlists Marian Paroo's (played by Pat Powers) into the band, and the town is astonished when Winthrop, who never connects more than three words together, leads the cheers for "The Wells Fargo Wagon," that brings the band instruments; he organizes the school board into a never-ending barbershop quartet; he eventually prevents Marian from exposing his lack of credentials by the change he's brought in Winthrop.

All the cultivation of the townspeople, however, meant only to keep them off the scent of a crook until he can make his getaway with money collected for hand uniforms, all go for naught when he realizes his own different feeling for Marian, different than that for other "sadder but wiser" girls.

It looks like tar and feathers for our hero until the band arrives, tooting out the Minuet in G, learned from nothing less than Hill's own "think system."

Basketball Practice Starts Soon for Girls

Chelsea High school girls varsity and junior varsity basketball squads will open their fall season Sept. 12 with games at home against Stockbridge.

Coach Cheryl Turner reports that practices for any high school girl interested in joining the team will be conducted Monday, Aug. 19, from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. at Beach Middle school gym.

Needed for the practice are "enthusiasm, willingness to work hard, appropriate attire for basketball, and a recent physical examination signed by a doctor."

Vandals Break Heavy Plate Glass Window

A quarter-inch thick window at Lloyd Bridges Chevrolet, 405 N. Main St., was broken sometime during the evening of Monday, July 22, and the morning of Tuesday, July 23, Chelsea police say.

The damaged window, which is on the south side of the building and measures 68 in. by 61 in., was discovered by Charlie Fredette, parts manager at Lloyd Bridges. Police said a stone had been thrown through upper west part of the window.

Another employee of the establishment reported to police that he saw three teen-aged youths, estimated to 13 to 15 years old, throwing rocks in the vicinity. However, the three were not observed throwing at the Bridges window.

School Board OK's Drawings For Buildings

Final steps to begin Chelsea School District's building program, approved last Dec. 17 by voters, were taken at Monday's Board of Education meeting, when working drawings and specifications were approved.

The board reports that the working drawings are very similar to the schematic drawings of the additions, which have previously appeared in The Standard.

Present timetable calls for bids to be accepted Aug. 26, and contracts to be awarded Sept. 5. Groundbreaking is to occur within eight working days of the award of contracts.

Projected opening date for the additions remains the fall of 1975.

Included in the $4.8 million building program are major additions to North and South Elementary schools, a swimming pool at Beach Middle school, classroom additions to Chelsea High school, and extension of the high school's vocational education program.

CEA, Board Agree on New Labor Contract

Chelsea Education Association and the Chelsea School District have arrived at a tentative contract agreement for Chelsea teachers, it was announced Tuesday.

James P. Greene, personnel consultant with the Michigan Association of School Boards (MASB), who is chief negotiator for Chelsea Board of Education, and Leonard Solomon, chief spokesman for the CEA, reportedly arrived at a tentative agreement Monday.

Solomon will recommend acceptance of the "package" to the membership in a meeting scheduled for CEA members Sept. 1, a press release from the MASB said.

Greene has indicated that he will recommend ratification by the Board of Education during the early part of September.

Details on the settlement are being withheld pending ratification by the respective parties. The CEA and the board did indicate, however, that the contract is a one-year agreement, which would be effective July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1975.

Potential Fair Queens Should Register Now

Potential Chelsea fair queen candidates had better sit up and take notice, according to Chelsea's Jaycee Auxiliary, organizers of this year's contest.

"Queen candidates need to register NOW," says Judy Eubanks of the Auxiliary. She noted that candidates should be registered prior to band and cheerleading camps, to leave time for practices and that means final registration should be made by Monday, Aug. 5.

All registrants' sponsors must provide a car for the Tuesday kiddie parade and a float for the Saturday parade, Judy said. Any club, group or business is encouraged to enter a candidate or if any would like to participate but have no eligible candidate, contact Judy at 475-2382 or Anne Steinaway at 475-2923, as they are aware of some interested applicants lacking sponsors. Registrants should also contact Judy or Anne.

Rec. Director Praises Staff, Youngsters

At the close of the first year of his Earn, Learn, and Play program, Recreation Director Tom Balistrere handed out compliments to his staff members and village and school administration for their assistance in the program.

Balistrere cited Jim Tallman's "outstanding job in co-ordinating all the swimming events." Tallman was aided by two assistants, both rated "very capable" by Balistrere.

LOOMING SKYWARD is part of the steel framework of the dormitory building project now moving ahead rapidly at St. Louis school. The two-story wing, which will be attached to the rear of the existing school building, will include nine bedrooms on each floor, each designed to accommodate five boys, to create "a more family atmosphere," according to St. Louis director, Father Louis Frangl. The addition will also provide for attendant rooms, guest rooms, and a clinic room. The upper floor will boast a small chapel and a multi-purpose room, which may be divided into two small meeting rooms or used undivided for large gatherings. The addition, which is actually completion of the school as it was planned, is being built by St. Cyr & Associates of Livonia.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ever once in a long while someone comes along to renew all our faith in the human race, past, present and future. Recent, one of them somepuns happened to me and my old lady, and I'd like to share it with you.

The old lady got her leg scratched back in the spring, Mister Editor, and she's had a devil of a time getting the sore to heal. It pained so she had to take her weight off that leg and, much as I hate to remind myself, I've been doing a few extra chores around the house. She's coming along nice now, but the time she had with that scratch caused me to appreciate her a heap more around meal times, and it let us both get a fresh look at our neighbors.

On account of her sore leg, she couldn't tend her garden like she allus has, and what little digging I done didn't amount to much. Our garden just kind of dried up and blowed away for want of her attention. This worried her more than some, cause she says with groceries costing what they are and going to, ever bite we can raise is a bite we ain't got to buy.

One morning about two weeks ago, I had to run the old lady over to the church to check on flowers for Sunday, and when we got home we found a big cardboard box on the back porch. It was chock full of everything, you can think of that grows to eat. Fresh dug potatoes, corn, tomatoes, beans for snapping and shelling. There even was some beets that I figger the Lord lets live jest to hold the world together. And there was a note. It said "The good Lord, the good earth and the Rufus Webbers."

Mister Editor, you can't beat a team like that. The Webbers live down the road a ways from us, and they've got growing younguns to feed. We got to thinking about their kindness and we started feeling good about everything and everybody. And their sharing was just a start. In the past two weeks we've got garden stuff from everybody out our way that could think of things we didn't already have plenty of.

Actual, we weren't down and out. We had plenty to eat, and we wouldn't of gone hungry without the fresh garden vegetables. But it was the idea of the thing, that folks would be thoughtful enough to do that for us. The old lady perked up, and she's been scooting around in her kitchen like that cat scratched leg never was hurt. She's been canning, preserving and freezing and feeding me the leftovers. And she's been labeling all the stuff with the name of the folks that give it.

This way we git a bonus. When she opens a jar or thaws a package this winter, we can enjoy all over again that warm feeling that comes from having friends. In a time when so much of what we read and hear is about folks doing unto others afore they git a chance to do unto them, it does a body good to stop and look on the bright side. It's good to know it's still there.

Uncle Lew.

Cut Flower Life Extended With Little Care

East Lansing — Flowers from your garden will stay fresh looking longer if you follow these tips from William Carlson, extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University.

Cut flowers early in the morning or late in the evening when their stems are full of water, he advises. Choose flowers that haven't fully opened and cut them on a slant with a sharp knife or shears.

Remove all broken or bruised parts of the stems and leaves and cut the foliage off the lower one-third to one-half of the stem so that no foliage is below the water.

As soon as you've cut the flowers, place them in warm water (110 degrees F.) for a couple of hours. Use a clean container and a flower preservative available from your florist or garden center to prevent the growth of bacteria and fungus. In addition to the unpleasant odors these organisms can produce, they can cause the flowers to wilt by preventing the passage of water up the stem.

If you are unable to locate a flower preservative, mix one pint of water and one pint of Sprite or 7-Up and two spoon bleach and place the flowers in it. This solution will keep the flowers looking fresh several days longer than plain water.

"Your flowers will stay fresh looking longer if you place them out of drafts and direct sun and away from electric lights," Carlson says. "At night, put them in a cool spot."

"Victory for Women"

That's how many hail Michigan's newly-passed rape law reform.

The legislation, sponsored by Republican Sen. Gary Byker of Hudsonville, provides four degrees for rape charges, extends coverage to men and makes rape a crime of assault, rather than a sexual crime.

A most important factor of the new measure prohibits use of evidence concerning a victim's past sexual history—unless it involves the defendant or is required to determine certain medical facts.

In addition, the legislation says a victim's testimony need not be corroborated by other witnesses, and provides that "all campaign signs" placed on state highway rights-of-way will be removed immediately by maintenance forces.

The highway rights-of-way are public property and cannot be used for campaign advertising, officials explain.

What about possible false claims by women against men?

"There are almost no incentives for a woman to make a false claim of rape," contends a background paper prepared by the Michigan Women's Task Force on Rape, which gave strong backing to the changes in the law.

"The reality," the paper continues, "is that the risk for the victim usually far outweighs the rewards."

"Merely by reporting the rape she often risks dangerous physical retaliation by the accused rapist or his friends, immediate public humiliation and loss of her job or of the affection of spouse and friends."

Building a Ladder

Runs of salmon and steelhead will be able to gain access to the St. Joseph River soon under terms of what's being called a "historic and unprecedented agreement" between the Indiana and Michigan Electric Co. and the Michigan Natural Resources Department.

The agreement calls for the company and the department to share costs for construction of a fish ladder at I & M's Berrien Springs Hydro Dam.

The fish ladder, which will include a sea lamprey barrier to prevent upward migration of the lampreys, is expected to get underway later this summer and be completed in time for the 1975 runs.

The ladder, the department says, is expected to open up about 10 miles of mainstem, as well as several top quality small tributary streams to runs of chinook and coho salmon and to steelhead.

New fishing areas will develop in the Buchanan-Niles vicinity in the mainstream.

Department officials say some natural reproduction in tributaries is likely to occur, but that the fishery will be maintained by hatchery planting.

When the Hydro Dam was built, back in 1907, a fishway was included, but fish could not readily pass because of its design.

Watch Those Signs

Campaign signs on the highways can be confusing—maybe even dangerous for the motorist who tries to read what they say.

That's the word from Michigan highway officials, who are warning candidates that "all campaign signs" placed on state highway rights-of-way will be removed immediately by maintenance forces.

The highway rights-of-way are public property and cannot be used for campaign advertising, officials explain.

'Blow-Up' Season Hits State Roads

Memo to motorists: Watch out for pavement "blow-ups" on highways and freeways on long, hot summer days. The season's first hot spell is the time to be most alert.

Blow-ups of pavement joints usually occur late in the day after the sun has caused the concrete roadway to expand. To compensate for this expansion, engineers build periodic joints into highways. After years of use, joints sometimes become packed with dirt and moisture, causing deterioration that prevents proper joint operation.

Under horizontal pressure from heat and expansion and vertical pressure from traffic, joints can "blow," popping chunks of concrete onto the roadway and leaving jagged gaps in the pavement. State-wide, several hundred such blow-ups can occur in a single hot spell.

When you see a blow-up ahead, slow down and watch for loose chunks of concrete. If crews are not already working on the site, it is a good idea to report it to local law enforcement officials.

CONSUMERS' CORNER

CRIB SAFETY

Use the new baby crib safety regulations set up by the Consumer Product Safety Commission to rejuvenate an old crib. These can give you a guide for changes in safety.

First, check the overall condition of the crib. Missing slats and broken parts should be replaced and loose bolts tightened. And, if you decide to refinish the crib, use only non-toxic paint or other finish. A baby can suffocate by wedging his head between the mattress and crib. So be sure the mattress fits the crib frame snugly. If you can fit more than two fingers between the mattress and crib, then the mattress is too small.

Some infants have been seriously injured and even strangled by getting caught between the slats. Here's where a bumper pad helps. But be sure the bumper runs around the whole crib, and that it has at least six straps that tie or snap it securely into place.

As your child grows, check the mattress height. As soon as he can pull up into a standing position, put the mattress in its lowest position to keep him from toppling over the rail. In fact, when the height of the side rail is less than three-fourths the height of the child, it's time to stop using the crib.

Crib safety is important in "used" cribs—as well as new ones. So make the new safety regulations a check-up guide for the baby crib you already have.

Inside Chuck Roast

An inside chuck pot-roast is the inside chuck muscle (eye) of the blade portion of the chuck, which lies directly next to the rib section. A boneless cut, it is made by removing the blade bones, featherbones, back bone and rib bones which surround it. Fat cover, if any, is thin. It often is tied into a roll. Since chuck is less tender than the beef loin or rib, this cut is most often prepared as a pot-roast. It is braised slowly in a small amount of liquid, covered, on top of the range or in the oven until tender 3 to 4 hours. A variety of seasonings and braising liquids can be used. If the beef is of high quality, this cut can be prepared as a roast-cooked in an open roasting pan without the addition of liquid in a slow oven (325 degrees F).

"JUST A NEIGHBORHOOD CARNIVAL" was the way the kids described their venture last Saturday at the old junior high school property. The carnival, which included hula hoop, bean bag throw, dart throw, mini-putt green, ring toss, frisbee throw, and sponge throw, earned a total of $19, most of which will be sent to the American Cancer Society. Phillies, Athletics, Giants Win Baseball League Championships

Boys baseball action came to a big finale this week, with the Phillies, Giants, and Athletics earning championships in their respective leagues.

Only T-Ball's Phillies finished the season undefeated, sporting a perfect 8-0 record. Manager Gary Cattell said his players did an excellent job, all season in their quest for the championship.

To complete their season, Phillies walloped the Cardinals. In other T-Ball action, Mets defeated the Cubs, Expos squeaked past the Cubs, and Mets downed the Cardinals.

Little League's Giants were assured of a tie for the title going into last week, but they had to record a win to become champs. The boys responded to the pressure to down the Braves in their final game.

Manager Syl Wojcik said he was "pleasantly surprised" with his squad's season.

Pony League championship remained a battle until the end, as the league lead was decided in a make-up game after the close of the season. Both the Rangers and the Angels had finished their seasons with 5-3 marks when the Athletics, at 5-2-1, played out a tie game with the White Sox.

Athletics pulled the game out from the White Sox, however, thereby averting a three-way tie among the top teams.

Director Jim Ticknor expressed his thanks "to all the boys for their great play" and extended thanks to both managers and coaches who donated their time to the leagues.

From Mrs. Cecil Newcomb, Windsor, Nova Scotia: I remember rafting days. All winter men worked in the woods, cutting logs and hauling them out to the roadside. Before the snow was gone, toward spring, the logs were hauled to the top of the bank. When warm weather came the logs were rolled down the bank to the shore, hauled out to the flats while the tide was out and chained together in huge bundles that floated when the tide returned. All the men in the community worked together on rafting day, until each man's logs were rafted.

The women and children accompanied the men, riding to the shore in horse-drawn wagons loaded with baskets of bread, cakes, pies and big iron pots and kettles in which to make tea. Fires were made on the beach and clams were dug and cooked in the iron pots.

FLAME-RESISTANT SLEEPWEAR

You can't assume that all children's sleepwear now on the market is flame resistant. A Commerce Department flammability standard requires that all children's robes, pajamas, and nightgowns—in sizes 0 to 6X—manufactured after July 29, 1973 must be made from flame resistant fabrics. In addition, the Commerce Department is considering a proposal to develop a similar standard for children's sleepwear in sizes 7 to 14. Unfortunately, there will still be many articles of sleepwear on the market that have been manufactured before that date (sleepwear made of untreated fabrics made before July 29, 1973 must be clearly labeled by a Commerce Department standard that the garments are not flame resistant).

All in all, children's sleepwear requires consumers to keep their eyes open for lots of labels. The garment's hang-tag identifies sleepwear that is flame resistant. The garment's care label gives the washing instructions which must be carefully carried out to keep the garment flame resistant. After all that, you must still keep your eyes on your young- THE TRUTH? Buy now, pay later! Easy ways to protect them from fire credit is what makes a lot of hazards. Don't put all the responsibility on flame resistant people uneasy later. They should sleepwear. say, Buy now, Sweat later!

EDUCATIONAL
LONG OVERDUE

We allow a few communities to capture the bulk of the industrial wealth of the state and require other communities to carry the bulk of the burden of state service.

★ All industrial taxes should go to a state fund to be distributed to communities on a need basis.

★ The State should make payments to cities and school districts servicing state institutions based on the number of people residing in the communities because of the presence of those institutions. (Universities, colleges, state hospitals, etc.).

★ Bursley's proposal for a shift from a property tax to an Income Tax will not increase the money available unless he increases the rate dramatically. One does not make more pie by cutting it differently.

"The Bursley State School Aid Formula has not enriched tax-poor areas enough to make any difference. By directing our attention to the sharing of nothing, we are distracted from the fact that there is nothing to share."

Major Committee Chairmen Named for Girl Scout Council

The appointment of chairmanships of three major policy-making committees for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council has been announced by Mrs. Louis Galan, Council president.

New committee chairmen are: Mrs. John (Julia) Thornbury of Chelsea, chairman of the Finance Committee; Mrs. Paul (Judy) Neeb of Ann Arbor, chairman of the Committee on Volunteers; and Mrs. Laurie Pearlman of Ann Arbor, chairman of the Program Committee.

Mrs. Thornbury of 1343 Trinkle Rd., Chelsea, takes over the direction of the Finance Committee which administers a budget of $245,000 each year in serving more than 11,000 Girl Scouts in Washtenaw, Livingston, Monroe, Wayne and northern Monroe counties. An intensive care nursing professional at University of Michigan Hospital, Mrs. Thornbury has served as a member of the council's Finance Committee for the past two years. Before that she worked as a volunteer supervisor for the Chelsea area Girl Scout troops. She succeeds retiring chairman John Swisher, Jr., of Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Neeb of 3051 Lakeview Dr., heads the committee which develops policies relating to recruitment, placing and training of the council's 3,000 volunteers, including leaders and assistant leaders, resource persons, and members of Council committees and training staff. A former school principal and educational consultant, Mrs. Neeb has served as a volunteer supervisor for Girl Scout troops at Lakewood school. She also currently works as a volunteer for the Community Mental Health Center.

Prior to her appointment, the chairman of the Committee on Volunteers was Mrs. George Simons of Belleville. Taking over direction of the Program Committee which develops activity policies and goal concepts for the Council's 600 Girl Scout troops is Mrs. Laurie Pearlman of 514 W. Stadium, Ann Arbor. Mrs. Pearlman is a former staff member of the Council, working as Field Director for the Ann Arbor area from 1972 to 1973. A long-time Girl Scout, in 1967, Mrs. Pearlman represented Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. at an international conference of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides in Switzerland.

She currently is administrative services manager at Ann Arbor Computer Corp. She succeeds former Program Committee Chairman Mrs. James (Anni) Barden of Ann Arbor.

In announcing these appointments, Mrs. Galan said, "Our former chairmen, Mrs. Barden, Mrs. Simons and John Swisher, made enormous contributions to our Council. We are so pleased that we have been able to find successors who have broad professional experience and a sustained record of interest in Girl Scouting. We feel their help will be enormously valuable as we look ahead to further growth in our Council."

New appointments to the Council Finance Committee were also announced, including Duane Renken of 2145 S. Seventh St., former Ann Arbor School Board president; George Goodman of 1610 Gregory, Ypsilanti, mayor of Ypsilanti; Virginia Nordby, 2988 Burlington, Ann Arbor, member of the University of Michigan Law School faculty; Mrs. Edw. (Betty) Hancock of 42565 W. Eight Mile Rd., Northville, former troop services director in Northville; and Mrs. Lawrence (Anne) Scott of 19880 Willis Rd., Willis, a volunteer troop services director for the Council. Mrs. Scott serves as secretary for the Finance Committee.

SHORT SUMMER?

The summer can seem very, very short if you have a note due in the fall at the bank.

Leader Dogs Director Shares His Vision With Blind Persons

Harold L. Pocklington has vision and because of it nearly 2,500 blind people have received "eyes." About blind people, probably as much as anybody. He's been vice-president and executive director of Leader Dogs for the Blind, a United Way service, for nearly 25 years.

During that time, 2,415 blind persons have acquired dogs at the school. Pocklington has known them all and is still in contact with a great number of them. Some have been good friends for many years.

Still he deliberated for a long moment over the question, "What is the greatest single benefit to a blind person of a Leader Dog?"

But his reply was positive. "Independence. That's it."

Then, "The reason I had to think is because a blind person gets so many benefits from a Leader Dog. Confidence, companionship, mobility and security are some. "But I have learned that the thing that bugs blind people more than anything else is becoming a burden to others. They hate the feeling that they really can't do much of anything without putting somebody out."

"Just imagine how you'd feel if you had to sit and wait for some one to come and pick you up every time you went somewhere, or came back."

"Yes, independence is the great thing you can give a blind person and the best way to give it is through a Leader Dog."

Pocklington came to his present position because he is a life member of the Lions. For more than 33 years he has had perfect attendance at his club in Algonac. He was on the board of Lions International in 1966-67 and was named Good Will Ambassador, a rare honor.

It was the Lions who started Leader Dogs for the Blind when they purchased an old farmhouse just outside of Rochester in 1939. That house is still the center of the complex.

Pocklington was named to the board of directors of the school as a representative of the Lions in 1948. In 1950, he was named his present position. His success is apparent in comparative figures. In 1950 Leader Dogs for the Blind graduated 19 persons. Now the figure is close to 250 each year. There are 13 four-week classes with 15 to 20 members each.

But while the people are only at the school for four weeks, the dogs are in training a total of 16. Dogs are given basic and advanced training for 12 weeks before they meet their blind companions.

Pocklington says the school only accepts German shepherds, labradors and golden retrievers for training. "Or cross breeds, I they favor one of those three," he adds, "Collies are also good he says but the shedding can be a serious problem for a blind person. Boxers have the size and intelligence but they're too stubborn and drool too much."

Although the school receives dogs and students from all over the world, more than half the dogs and about half the students come from Michigan. Dogs must be between one and two years old and between 22 and 26 inches high at the shoulder. All dogs are contributed and less than one in three dogs passes the rigid training necessary to qualify for a Leader's job.

One out of 20 blind persons does not qualify, says Pocklington, because of failure to adapt to the dog. Mostly, human failures are due to physical disabilities such as hearing loss or the inability to walk the required distance of two miles a day.

Yet, Pocklington thinks it's important to give blind people a chance to try. "That's better than having them sitting home and wondering if they could do it."

Pocklington says that once a blind person gets a Leader Dog, the change in the life style is dramatic. He repeats what blind graduates have told him:

"People used to shy away from me. Now I find they want to meet me."

"It's true liberation to have a trustworthy companion at my side constantly."

"When I used a cane, clerks wouldn't wait on me. Now they rush to help."

"I'm a door-to-door salesman. My dog has doubled my sales."

And on and on. Pocklington has some compassionate advice for the sighted of this world. He knows that many of us feel uncomfortable when we see a blind person on the street and thinks that's because we feel guilty about wanting to help and not knowing how.

"The kindest thing anyone can do for a blind person," he says, "is simply to walk up to him and say, 'May I help you?'"

Pickelsimer Sisters Wed Saturday Afternoon In Joint Ceremony at St. Paul Church

Linda Pickelsimer became the bride of Gail A. Shears and her sister, Rita Pickelsimer, was joined in marriage to John R. White Saturday in double ring ceremonies at St. Paul United Church of Christ. Performing the ceremonies was the Rev. John Rinehardt, pastor of St. Paul church.

Soloist for the combined wedding was Miss Marie Houle, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and the prayer of commitment during the ceremony.

Parents of the two brides are Mr. and Mrs. Ishmael Pickelsimer, of 400 North St. Parents of the two bridegrooms are Mr. and Mrs. Roland A. White of 222 Washington St., and Mrs. Garland DeYoe and Robert H. Shears, also of Chelsea.

The brides came down the aisle escorted by their father to traditional wedding music. Linda wore a floor-length A-line gown, trimmed with wide lace and sequins down the front and curving in the back with a white satin bow at the empire waist. Rita chose a soft jersey empire gown with rounded neck and full length sleeves banded in wide lace.

Both brides wore cathedral French net veils which were also trimmed in wide lace. Linda's veil was attached to the headband of sequins, while Rita's veil extended from a mantilla-shaped headpiece.

Both carried bouquets of baby sweetheart roses, white carnations, baby's breath, and cascading ivy. Chosen as matron of honor for Linda was Mrs. Karen Miller, of Clinton, who wore a powder blue empire-waisted gown with stand-up collar edged in white lace, with sheer full-length sleeves ending in wide white lace cuffs. She carried a bouquet of blue and pink daisies and wore a matching hairpiece.

Bridesmaids for Linda were Mrs. Sandy Meyers and Mrs. Barbara Dorner of Chelsea, and Mrs. Roxanne Blaess of Saline. Dresses and accessories were identical to that of the matron of honor.

Rita's matron of honor was Mrs. Connie Tryand of Chelsea, who wore a sheer lavender flowered empire dress with ruffled neckline and full sleeves. Her flowers were lavender and white daisies with matching hairpiece.

Wearing identical gowns and accessories were Rita's other attendants, Mrs. Denise Williams and Mrs. Lucinda Lukasiak, both of Chelsea, and Miss Marsha Craker, of Traverse City.

Flower girls, identical twins Sherry and Michelle Rudd of Jackson, "cousins of the brides," were groomed in floor-length dresses with ruffled hems and long sheer sleeves, one dress banded in powder blue and the other in lavender. Both twins carried baskets filled with blue, pink, and white daisy petals.

Acting as best man for Gail was Otis Shears of Grant. Ushers were Tom Dorner of Chelsea, Jim Pearsall of Gregory, and George Bell of Pinckney.

Gail and his attendants all wore powder blue tuxedo jackets, blue ruffled shirts, and black trousers to co-ordinate with his bride's color theme.

John chose as his best man Douglas Dwyer of Chelsea. His ushers were Michael McClear, and Jerry and Ishmael Pickelsimer, Jr., all of Chelsea. Co-ordinating with Rita's colors, John and his attendants wore lavender tuxedo jackets, purple ruffled shirts, and black trousers.

Serving as ring bearer was Jimmy Williams of Chelsea, son of Mrs. Denise Williams.

The mother of the brides wore a full-length pink polyester knit gown with pink lace accentuating the top of the dress. Long sheer sleeves ended in lace at the cuffs, and she wore a corsage of pink carnations and white rosebuds.

Gail's mother chose a high-waisted princess style dress of turquoise crepe with flowered chiffon overlay bodice. She wore a matching corsage of carnations and roses.

John's mother wore a long princess-style chiffon gown of yellow and white daisies with a matching floor-length coat. Her corsage was color co-ordinated to match the ensemble.

A reception followed the ceremony at the UAW Hall in Chelsea, where the parents of the brides hosted a buffet supper for the guests. Individual four-tier wedding cakes for each couple, one decorated in lavender and the

Area Mail Processing Starts Aug. 3

Chelsea Post Office will become part of area mail processing, one of the newest innovations of the U.S. Postal Service on Aug. 3, it was announced today by Postmaster Richard Schaules.

"The program is intended to speed the ultimate delivery of the mail and to gain maximum efficiency through full utilization of central mail processing centers," Schaules said.

Dearborn Post Office, Postmaster Schaules pointed out, is a facility serving 49 associate post offices in Michigan.

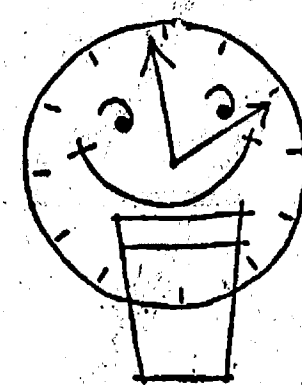

Area Mail Processing is a plan whereby eventually all mail originating at these offices will be consolidated at the central facility for complete preparation and processing for outgoing dispatch.

All mail deposited in street letter boxes designated for the deposit of mail for LOCAL DELIVERY ONLY, and all mail deposited in a receptacle in the local post office which is designated for the deposit of mail for LOCAL DELIVERY ONLY, will be postmarked with the postmark of the local post office. The mail for local delivery will be processed in that office. The outgoing mail with local postmark will be dispatched to the area mail processing center for distribution.

All mail deposited into Chelsea street letter boxes, which have not been designated for local deposit, or into the "OUT-OF-TOWN" letter drops at the selected associate offices will be transferred to the SCF for processing, and will bear the postmark designated for the Detroit or Royal Oak area, as appropriate.

Area mail processing will be applicable primarily to the mail originating at post offices within the SCF area, which is destined for delivery outside of the city of origin, in this case Chelsea. The sectional center facility area

A motorcycle was damaged Sunday when unknown persons apparently attempted to remove it from where it had been parked.

The cycle, a 1973 350 cc. Honda belonging to Michael J. Juergens, was found by police in front of 513 Wellington, with damage to the left brake on the handle bar and the mirror on the left side. There were also scratches on the left side of the gas tank.

Lukasiak Wins Babe Ruth League Title

From a disappointing 2-8 season in 1973 to Babe Ruth League champions in 1974 is the Cinderella story of Lukasiak team, which ended the season Monday with a 14-3 over-all record.

Lukasiak, made up of the same team members as last year's squad, ended the season five games in front of Lapanowski team, its closest pursuer.

Top hitter for the title-winning squad was Mike Check, who compiled 17 hits in 33 at-bats for a .515 average. Anthony Houle led the team in stolen bases with 36. Washtenaw 4-H Fair

Continues 'Til Friday

There weren't too many momentous victory reports coming out of the Washtenaw County 4-H Fair Tuesday—things like Chelsea 4-Hers had just swept every award at the show, or anything.

The 4-H fair actually began Tuesday, so entries that have already been judged and were basking in their ribbons tended to be categories such as food preparation.

One has only to imagine that no plate of bacon and eggs would win prizes after a day displayed on a table.

Tuesday was designated "Press Day" by the fair people, which meant that some of the county's flashes got to be led around by a 4-Her and shown the ropes.

"The ropes" consisted of a tour of all the display building and outdoor judging—some dog and horse showing was going on. The first building, which contains all the displays like photography, arts and crafts, conservation, veterinary science, woodcraft, and leatherwork, also includes the eating area and the show office.

Among the agronomy displays was an early-judged entry from Chelseate Dave Frame, a stalk of corn that seemed exceptionally tall for this area, as observed by one who generally spends little time observing corn at all.

Dave had received a blue ribbon for his entry.

Flower arrangements were receiving their due consideration by judges Tuesday afternoon, with entries ranging from one youngster's handful of an orange species that commonly grows in weed patches, to another carefully arranged bunch of fresh flowers in a dainty tea cup and saucer, to another girl's dried flowers that apparently had been spray painted something other than their original color.

Other buildings are devoted to housing livestock, horses, chickens, rabbits, and other forms of animal life, which are, according to their species, awaiting either some category of horse judging, livestock sale, or poultry judging.

Theme of this year's Washtenaw 4-H fair is "We Can Make It Happen," which is not carried out with banners and posted slogans around the display area or anything so commercial.

Since the fair is all 4-H, it seems a natural theme—they have made it happen.

The Simplicity System begins with a tractor.

Your yard is a lot more than a lawn, so you need a lot more than a mower. You need the Simplicity System. Choose your power: 8, 10, 13, 16 or 19 1/2 hp. Mowing widths 36" to 60". Year-round attachments for lawn, garden, gravel, snow. And feature after feature for trouble-free performance. You can't beat the System... the Simplicity System.

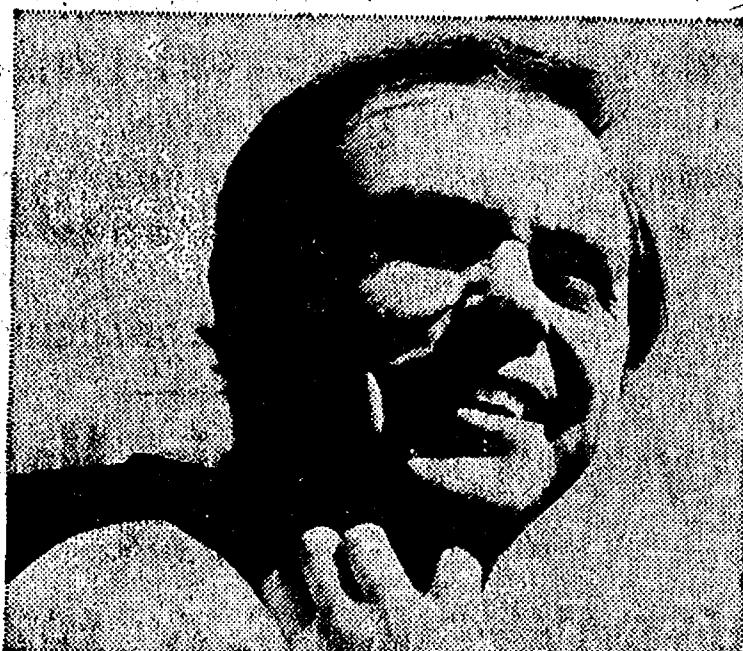

Father Nature's right-hand man.

MIKE CONLIN

State Representative
23rd District

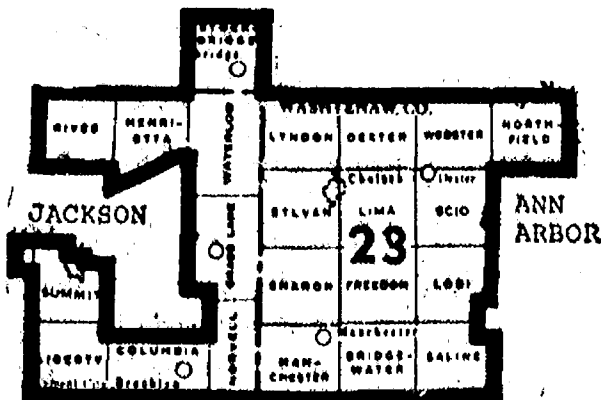

"More than ever before, voters are asking why the people now running the system can't or won't make it work. They are asking where the leadership is and why won't it lead... and they're saying it about both parties and about all levels of government. We need political and government leaders we can believe. We need programs that work... and if they won't work, let's get rid of them. This year, voters are looking for someone to get the system working again. I want to be your Representative in Lansing because I think I can help provide that leadership."

Mike, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Conlin of Ann Arbor, was born and raised in Washtenaw County. He graduated from Eastern Michigan University with a degree in Economics. His father is a senior partner in the law firm of Conlin, O'Hagan, Henry, Hurbis and Graf.

Mike is not an attorney and he is not a professional politician. He is a businessman with broad labor, business and government exposure on the local, state and national level. Mike wants to bring that background, along with a healthy dose of common sense, to the job of being your Representative of Lansing.

Mike belongs to Queen of the Miraculous Medal Parish in Jackson, the Jackson County Bicentennial Committee, the Disabled American Veterans, and the University Club in Lansing.

PRESIDENTIAL RAIL CAR

The last Presidential railroad car, named the Ferdinand Magellan, was bought by the government for $10 during the Truman Administration. Equipped with protective boiler plate and bullet-proof glass, it was used regularly by President Truman but President Eisenhower traveled on it only to Ottawa, Canada, and to the St. Lawrence Seaway dedication. Retired, it is now on display at the University of Miami.

TOO BIG? Jeff Baxter, another traveler Turner encountered at the Braburn Lodge, doesn't seem to think so—at least not yet—as he prepares to tackle one of Mrs. Laura Glosu's giant cinnamon rolls. Hamburgers, it seems, aren't the only big things on the menu.

Farm Pond Safety Campaign Started By Conservationists

Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District will place summer-long emphasis on farm pond safety as part of its recognition of National Farm Safety Week, July 25-31, says William Fishbeck, chairman. About 16,000 ponds have been installed in Michigan with Soil Conservation Service assistance. There are many more. Fishbeck estimates that Washtenaw county has a total of about 315 ponds.

The program is also being sponsored on a state-wide basis through the co-operative efforts of the Marine Safety Section, Department of Natural Resources, USDA Soil Conservation Service, State Soil Conservation Committee, and the MSU Co-operative Extension Service.

Since 1970, 53 persons have drowned in Michigan farm ponds and another 70 in gravel pits or drainage ditches, according to a report by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Almost 40 percent of these drownings involved 15- to 19-year-old males, but there were victims of all ages and sizes. Almost two-thirds of the drownings involved swimming, with activities such as wading, falls from bank, 6 r docks, or walking on thin ice resulting in the balance of deaths.

"Supervision of swimmers using a designated swimming area in a farm pond is a key to preventing tragedy," says Fishbeck. The rule that no one should swim without supervision is even more important in a farm pond since they are often built with steep side slopes to prevent weed growth. Swimmers can be over their head, yet be close to shore. Also, the steep slope often makes it difficult to climb out. That's why it's important to designate a swimming area where slopes are moderate. (In only one out of eight pond or gravel pit drownings in 1973 was supervision provided.)

A fellow swimmer is not adequate supervision according to the MSU Co-operative Extension Service. Last year they reported a number of drownings occurred when brothers or friends were swimming together and "he went under while trying to swim across the pond" or when "he disappeared in about 10 feet of water" or when "the little girl let go of the raft and her two friends attempted to rescue her but were unsuccessful." Supervision means constant observation by a competent swimmer trained in water rescue methods.

Rescue equipment such as a life ring buoy with rope attached and a 12-foot rescue pole should be available. A rope fastened to a floatable plastic jug half-filled with water so that it may be thrown to a swimmer in trouble can be helpful, provided people have practiced throwing it for accurate placement just beyond a swimmer in possible trouble.

During the next few months the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District will make a special effort to inform people about this hazard. For assistance in making a pond both a safe and economical resource, contact the District at 6101 Jackson Rd., Ann Arbor.

SUNDAY'S SERMON Values of Yesteryear

Many times over the years people have been heard saying, "What ever happened to the good old values of yesteryear?" People can talk for hours about this very subject. Some believe that by restoring the values of a century ago, all problems would be solved. This view misses the point.

What values then should we strive for? The answer is obvious. We should strive for the universal, timeless values God has passed on to us. Sure, many of the values of yesteryear sound appropriate, but we must remember that they had their own problems back then — wars, murders, stealing, poverty, disease and apathy. They, too, must have wished for the values of the "old days" — a century before them. But people and nations throughout all ages have always had problems, and probably always will.

What then should we do? We should all strive to seek the purpose God has given us for our lives. We must also seek to adopt His values — the values that span all generations — love, peace and happiness.

TOMBSTONE MOUNTAIN, officially Campbell Mountain, was named for Robert Campbell of the Hudson's Bay Company, but has been called Tombstone by generations of travelers who were guided by its odd shape. Turner reports that the mountain is now a guide to bush pilots, as it once was for miners and trappers.

ALMOST 40 YEARS SERVICE to the Northwest Mounted Police was recognized with the naming of the Dempster Highway in 1963 after W. J. D. Dempster. Dempster, a veteran of 36½ years in the Klondike area, is remembered for his successful trek to Fort McPherson in search of a party lost in the winter of 1911.

SMOKED PICNIC SHOULDER

Smoked picnic shoulder comes from the pork shoulder and includes the arm section and part of the fore shank. The curing and smoking process gives it the characteristic color and flavor of all pork cuts handled in this way. It is best prepared by roasting (baking) or cooking in liquid.

A DEPENDENT?

A merchant was brought before the Internal Revenue Service and asked how he ended up with one more dependent than he really had. He answered: "After all these years of paying taxes, can't I list the government as a dependent?"

NORTH COUNTRY REPORT:

Turner Finds Giant Burgers At Lodge Above Arctic Circle

Editor's Note: Don Turner's third letter from the North Country is dated July 12.

Dear Readers:

Excuse my tardiness in reporting my activities up here in the North Country! You see, I have been in the boondocks for the past two weeks and have had no where to mail a letter.

Leaving Whitehorse, Yukon the far part of the month, I had my sights set on driving up the famous Dempster Highway that is being built to Fort McPherson on the Peel River in Canada's northwest territories, 80 miles above the Arctic Circle.

The Peel River is a tributary of the Mackenzie River that flows to the Arctic Ocean.

To reach the start of the Dempster Highway, I drove 307 miles over the Klondike Highway that leads from Whitehorse to Dawson City, Yukon. But I must tell you of my gastronomical experience along the way. There are several good fishing lakes and streams along the Klondike Highway, and of course, I couldn't go by a likely looking spot without trying my luck. But my skill at angling didn't prove successful and by mid-day, hungerpangs were reminding me of my lack of ability at catching my dinner. At Mile 55 on the Klondike Highway, I saw the sign "Braburn Lodge."

I often stop and have a hamburger for lunch at such places as McDonald's, Big Boy, and Burger Chef, but I have never had hamburgers that could start to compare with what Hans and Laura Glosu serve at Braburn Lodge, Mile 55. Hans said their location was exactly half way between Hong Kong, and London, and people from both cities had visited their lodge.

Well, back to the hamburger. Other travelers stopped about the same time as I and ordered hamburgers. When we were served, we all had to laugh, and I think the pictures will prove the size of Mrs. Glosu's hamburgers. I am not the only one who has taken pictures to prove the size. Imagine a hamburger this size for $1.25, and hamburgers were not the only thing big at Braburn Lodge. Mrs. Glosu's cinnamon rolls were on a par with the burgers, and all were flavored to a "T".

Well, maybe the pictures and my story of the hamburgers may seem exaggerated, but this seems to be a trend of the Yukon people. They are all heart and insist on full measure whether they are giving or receiving.

After fortifying myself with the hamburgers, I traveled on to Mile 301, the junction of Dempster Highway and Klondike Highway. At Don McGilvary's Klondike River Lodge and Esso Service, I filled my gas tank and borrowed a can and filled it for the run to the Dempster Highway. Don McGilvary wouldn't take any deposit on the $11 can. He said, "I know you will bring it back since there is no way out except by here and you won't have enough gas left by bypassing me." You see, there are no facilities on the 178 miles you're allowed to travel on the Dempster and no way out except the way you came. So I am very grateful for Don's hospitality. He is building a new lodge-restaurant and motel, and will have a very comfortable place for the traveler in another year.

The scenery along the Dempster is something one has to see. Pictures in this article just can't describe it. At certain times of the year, spring and fall, herds of caribou cross through the tundra valleys, as a lot of the highway is above tree line.

I was too late for the caribou, but I did see two golden eagles, a wolf, two foxes, and lots of bird life, such as hawks and songbirds. The Dempster Highway gets its name from a Northwest Mounted Police Inspector, W. J. D. Dempster, who served more than 36 years in the Klondike area, and is remembered for his successful trek to Fort McPherson in search of the ill-fated patrol of NWMP led by Inspector F. J. Fitzgerald in the winter of 1911. For a number of years, the NWMP traveled the 400 miles from Dawson City to Fort McPherson, carrying mail and inspecting Indian villages along the way. This was in the winter of 1911, while traveling by dog team, that the four man party led by Fitzgerald got lost in a severe blizzard and perished from exposure and the lack of food. Inspector Dempster searched and found the remains of every one of the ill-fated party and brought back their remains, for which he was rewarded, and the highway was named after him, as it runs along much of the trail taken by the NWMP at that time, and some of the old trail may be seen along the way. There are a number of signs and markers along the way, and the rivers are full of fish, such as arctic Grayling, mountain whitefish, and arctic char. I caught a number of arctic Grayling. Some were more than two pounds, and real scrappers in the swift waters of the Blackstone and Ogilvie Rivers of the area, which parallel the road for a number of miles. The road is a real good gravel road, a bit narrow in places but for the most part quite smooth. At Seela Pass, elevation 3,700 feet, Tombstone Mountain can be seen, a landmark for travelers in the past and a guide to bush pilots today.

The tundra was covered with Alpine wild flowers and the mosquitoes are "something else." (Continued on page 16)

STRUGGLING WITH LUNCH may sound like no fun, but Doris Wohlfarth, pictured above with her giant hamburger from the Braburn Lodge, might disagree. Turner reports that Doris exclaimed to her mother, "Oh, Mama, this is the best one yet." If size is any indication, she may very well be correct.

CLIFF TAYLOR

A private citizen who's taking on the professional politicians

Cliff Taylor is running for the Republican nomination to Congress in the Sixth District.

He's running because he believes that Congress, controlled by the Democrats since the New Deal, has taken too much power away from private citizens, and state and local governments, and placed it in a remote Federal bureaucracy. Cliff wants to change that.

Cliff's also running because he thinks that Congress has too many professional politicians. Men and women who are out of touch with what the average citizen thinks. Cliff's two opponents in the Republican primary have spent most of their adult lives running for office. Cliff's taking them on because he believes that the concerns of private citizens must be more strongly voiced in Congress.

Cliff Taylor is well qualified to serve us in Washington. During the mid 1960's, he worked as a legislative analyst in Congress. This means that Cliff understands how Congress is supposed to function. But it also means that he gained his experience without collecting the fistfull of political debts that accumulate with many campaigns for public office.

Cliff Taylor will make a great representative for the Sixth District. He was raised here, he lives here, and he's worked here doing everything from working in a factory to practicing law. He knows the district, and the concerns of the people who live here.

Finally, Cliff Taylor is running a campaign that reaches out to people. On the day he entered the race, he revealed his complete personal finances. Since then, he's been going door-to-door eight hours a day throughout the district, meeting people like you, to find out what you think.

This is the kind of man we need in Congress — a private citizen who isn't afraid to say what he thinks, and who isn't burdened by past political debts. If this is the kind of man you want in Congress, vote for Cliff Taylor in the August 6th Republican primary. It's one of the best things you can do for your Congress.

CITIZENS FOR CONGRESS REPUBLICAN

Because Congress Has Too Many Professional Politicians

HUNGRY MAN DON TURNER takes on his hamburger bravely, without first cutting it in half, as less hearty souls might do. Turner seems to agree with a fellow diner who commented of his struggle in consuming all the food: "I would have had less struggle with the steer."

"IT'S A WINTER'S RATIONS" was the claim of one hungry traveler when he spotted the expanse of food delivered here by Mrs. Laura Glosu. The giant hamburgers, part of the fare at Braburn Lodge, at Mile 55 on the Klondike Highway, between White Horse and Dawson City, Yukon, are served on inch-thick slices of bread, with lettuce, tomato, and onion. The meat, Don Turner says, sticks out of all sides of the bread.

Girls Softball Title Still Up for Grabs

Girls Softball League continues all crowded up at the top this week. With games tonight and Tuesday remaining, only a single victory separates the top four teams.

In Thursday's action, Tomboys were led to a 19-11 upset victory over the Wildcats by Cindy Figg who banged out five hits, including two home runs and a two-bagger.

Jackie Lamb, Donna Bauer, Tammy Collinsworth, and Meg Pennington each collected four hits for the Tomboy win, while Nancy Knott slammed a solo homer.

For the sliding Wildcats, Anne Umstead clubbed a home run. Other Thursday action saw the White Sox pull out of their three-game losing streak by edging the Amazons, 29-26.

For the White Sox, Tracy Goins and Dawn Bucholz led the way, pounding out six hits each. Kim Dresch, Colleen Collins, and Goins also hit round-trippers for the winning cause.

Power for the losing Amazons was provided by Gayle Hume and Tammy Downer, who compiled six hits each, with Penny Collinsworth, Lori Miles, Downer and Hume collecting homers.

Tuesday the Wildcats bounced back from their defeat last week to pound the Queens, 28-14. Carolyn Schardein provided the offensive punch for the 'Cats, clubbing five hits, including a home run. Other strong hitters were Beth Flanigan, who homered, and Kathy Voita, who hit a pair of home runs and a double.

In the Queens' losing cause, Becky Dawson recorded a home run and Lisa Weber collected a pair of round-trippers.

Also Tuesday, the White Sox pulled a squeaker away from the Tomboys, 18-17. For the winners, providing homers were Jody Bennett, Tracey Goins, Colleen Collins, and Jane Barnes. Big Tomboy hitter was Jackie

In 1906, John Philip Sousa, "the March King," predicted that mechanical music would bring about the disappearance of the amateur musician and "a marked deterioration in American music and musical taste."

Turner Finds Giant Burgers...

Swarms of savage pests threatened to eat me alive and one can't imagine the discomfort on a warm still day. The only way I could fish in comfort was with a heavy shirt, leather gloves, head net, and smeared with mosquito dops. Even then I needed a blood transfusion when I got out of the area. But it wasn't as bad in areas away from the tundra.

There are two government camp grounds on the highway and not many people travel the Dempster. I saw only six other campers on the 176 miles I traveled.

But I will recommend it to those who want solitude and adventure, although the road maintenance people would help any one in trouble. Be sure your vehicle is in good condition and take lots of gas.

I want to visit Dawson City, the 1893 gold rush town, which is 27 miles from the junction of Dempster and Klondike, so I will be running along.

Don Turner

ALL ABOUT FOOD

F. A. KENNEDY

America leads the world in so many statistics, I suppose it's no surprise that we eat more frozen food than anybody else. But perhaps you will be surprised to learn how much more we eat. According to official records, we averaged well over 60 pounds per person last year, while our nearest competitors, the British, barely averaged ten pounds.

And while I'm on the subject, here's another remarkable statistic: More than 250 new frozen food items are introduced each year ... and only about ten find a permanent home in the freezer case. The rest get frozen out.

In any case, the chief appeals of frozen foods have always been their convenience, and the fact that they enable us to enjoy off-season treats ... strawberries in January, for instance. But nobody has seriously claimed that frozen foods are every bit as good as farm fresh. The problem has simply been that dehydration occurs during the freezing process, and both the taste and texture are affected.

But now an improved method known as flash freezing has ended that problem. And one kind of flash freezing — called particulate freezing — offers a second important advantage. In particulate freezing, each pea, bean, or berry is individually flash frozen in a matter of seconds. The advantage is that they don't all freeze together in one glorious glob. And you can easily pour off and thaw out as much as you want, and put the rest back in your freezer.

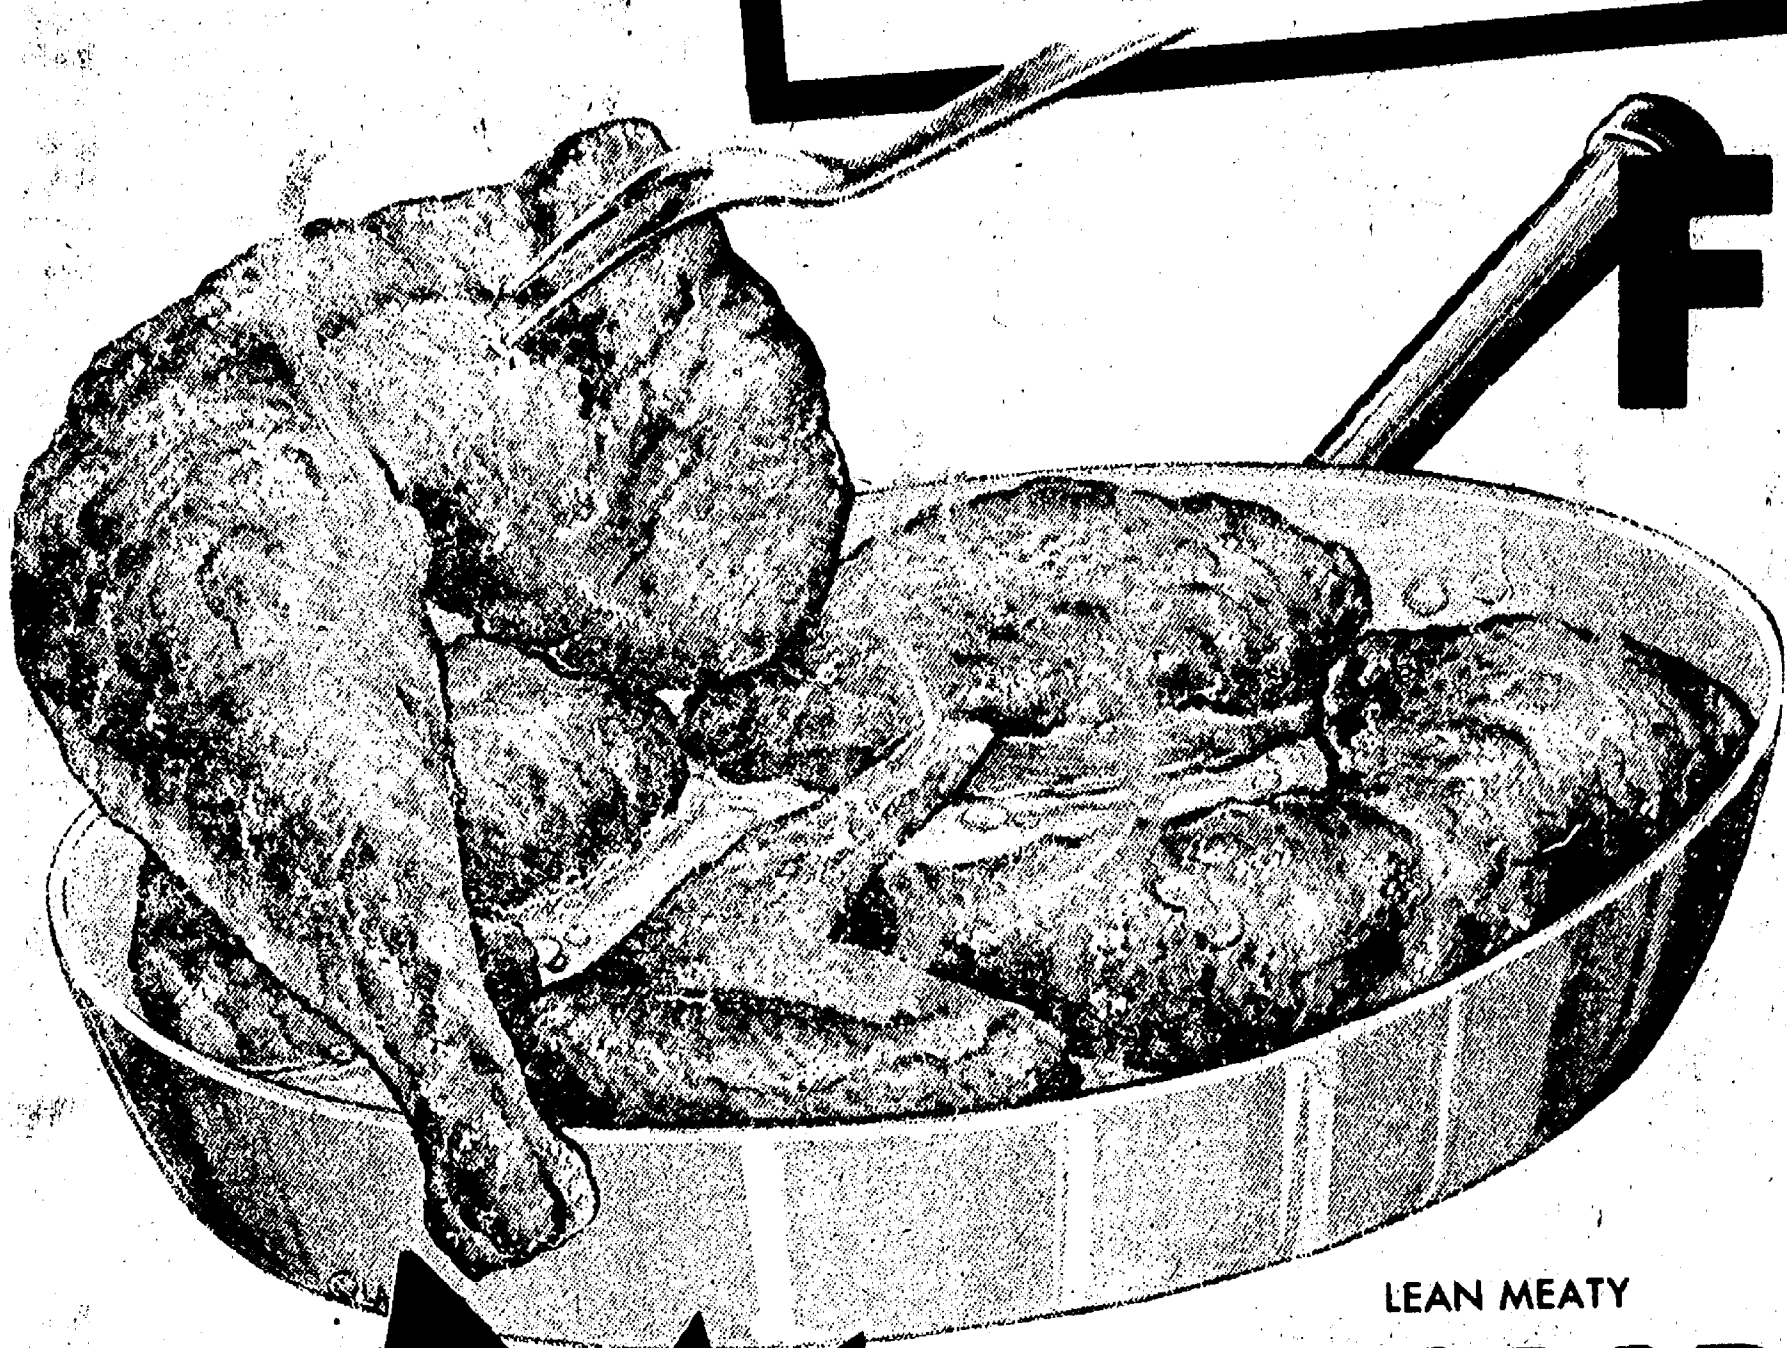

And if you don't have enough right now in your freezer, come visit Polly's. Contradictory as it may seem, that's where you'll find some of the hottest food values in town.

When someone starts talking about making the U.S. Congress
more effective ...

You'd better look to see who's doing the talking.

Bill Ballenger has a lot to talk about.

During his four years in the Michigan Senate and, before that, during his two years as State Representative from the 87th House District, Bill Ballenger has earned for himself the reputation of a fair and forceful young legislator with an uncommon ability to transform good ideas into results.

He has proven his ability as the only State Senator to chair two standing committees — the Agriculture/Consumer Affairs Committee and the Health/Social Services Committee.

He has proven his ability by moving more of his own bills through the Michigan Senate this year than any other legislator — legislation ranging from Campaign Finance Reform and Health Maintenance Organizations to legislation covering veterinarians, township bonding and consumer protection.

He has proven his ability as co-chairman of a bi-partisan Special Senate Study Committee on Political Ethics and a member of the National Legislative Conference's Committee on Legislative Ethics and Campaign Financing. The Detroit Free Press called the report of the Ballenger Committee "well-documented and well-researched" and suggested editorially that "Michigan ought to heed the call for reform." That newspaper also cited Bill Ballenger as one Senator who has "shown a strong desire to meet (his) public responsibilities" and "to act forthrightly on key state issues."

He has distinguished himself in the community. In January, 1972, he received the Distinguished Service Award from the Michigan Agricultural Conference for his consistent efforts to improve the lives of Michigan farmers. And in February of this year, the Michigan Jaycees named Senator Ballenger one of the Five Outstanding Young Men of Michigan.

Bill Ballenger is running for the United States Congress because he is not satisfied with the job Congress is doing for the people of Michigan and the Nation. And who is? A recent Gallup Poll revealed that only 21% of the American people approve of Congress' performance.

If we send Bill Ballenger to Congress — his energy, idealism and proven ability — Congress may never be the same again. Isn't that too bad?

A Congress that can receive pay raises automatically could learn a lot from the man who refused a pay raise as a State Senator.

In 1971, the Michigan state treasury had been largely depleted by a recession, protracted auto strikes and rising welfare rolls. The Governor had ordered a 2% across-the-board budget cut for all major state departments.

Yet despite these economic difficulties, the State Officers Compensation Commission granted the Legislature a pay increase. Senator Bill Ballenger declined the raise until the budget was balanced. "The present financial condition of the state," he said, "makes a salary hike for lawmakers unrealistic, inflationary and dangerous."

His example was praised. Said the Clinton County News: "Finally, someone in government has decided to be a little less piggy. It's just too bad we do not have others like him."

Indeed, it's too bad we don't have people like Bill Ballenger in the U.S. Congress — for Congress can receive for itself an automatic pay raise without ever having the issue come to a vote.

Due to a clever loophole in the 1967 law, Members of Congress can avoid the embarrassing prospect of going on public record in favor of a salary hike during an election year. In fact, the way it is now, Congressmen can pretend to the people that they were opposed to the pay raise all along, but were forced to accept it because of the system.

Bill Ballenger thinks the system should be changed. He would work for legislation to change the 1967 law, so that Congress would have to publically vote on all proposed salary increases.

"This would simply mean," he says, "that each and every Congressman would have to say 'yes' or 'no' to a pay increase. That is how it should be."

What do you think a man who serves on more committees than any other Senator and doesn't miss meetings is going to do about a congressional committee system that doesn't work?
He's going to help change it.

It's true. The committee system of the House of Representatives was created in 1947. Since then, there has been essentially no change and no improvement. Congress just isn't equipped to deal with today's problems.

Progress has been prevented on the key issues. Take the energy crisis. At the height of the crisis, there were 27 separate committees and sub-committees holding energy hearings simultaneously. The result? Nothing gets done. Congress has yet to enact an emergency energy bill.

For a while, there was hope that things would be changed. A special bi-partisan Committee was set up to study the antiquated committee structure of the House. After 14 months of work, that committee produced what House Republican Leader John Rhodes termed "a monumental plan aimed at reform."

But the committee reform amendments were derailed by House Democrats reluctant to part with a system that has served their own personal interests well. In a Caucus vote, taken by secret ballot, House Democrats sent the proposals to a Caucus subcommittee where one prominent journalist predicted they would be "whipsawed to death." Denied was the opportunity to bring the proposals to the Floor of the House for a vote.

Bill Ballenger knows the importance of a sound committee system. As the Chairman of two standing committees in the Michigan Senate — the only Senator with such a distinction — he knows that legislation is shaped in committee. Yet the U.S. Congress is shackled by an obsolete and ineffectual committee structure and the first real attempt at reform was mercifully beaten back by the majority party.

Send Bill Ballenger to Congress in November and he will fight to bring Congress into the twentieth century.

The answer to Watergate is to send to Congress people who are "above reproach".

That's how the Flint Journal referred to State Senator Bill Ballenger. Ballenger, the newspaper observed, "is putting his own fund-raiser under a public magnifying glass" by recording the names and addresses of all those who purchased tickets, even though Michigan law does not require that this be done. The Ballenger example, continued the Journal, proves that "there is still hope."

As Co-Chairman of a bi-partisan Special Senate Study Committee on Political Ethics, Bill Ballenger has been one of the driving forces for reform of the Michigan electoral process.

Last year, his bill requiring Michigan politicians to file public reports on the money they collect from fund raising events was passed by the Michigan Senate.

Most people would agree that the overriding lesson from Watergate is that we need meaningful campaign reform in this country, not just at the state level, but at the Federal level as well. Yet the U.S. Congress has failed to act.

As of July, no bill had been reported by the House Administration Committee, which has jurisdiction over all campaign finance reform legislation. This inaction prompted the citizens' lobby, Common Cause, to declare in a full-page newspaper advertisement: "There's Another Political Scandal in Town, But This One Belongs To The Democrats." The ad not only criticized the failure of the Committee to report a bill, but also points out that when a bill is reported, it will be done so under a "closed rule," which would make amendments impossible. "How can the House Democratic leadership allow itself to be implicated in such shabby maneuvering?" Common Cause asked.

The only real answer is to send to Congress individuals who are committed, in deed as well as in word, to meaningful campaign reform. Such a man is Bill Ballenger. He's proven his commitment in the Michigan Senate. He will continue to prove it in the U.S. Congress.

“Here and there, like voices in the wilderness, a few Michigan legislators have been trying to prod their colleagues to get moving on campaign financing reform... among them (is) Senator William Ballenger...”
