

Polls Indicate Close Race for Governor in Tuesday Election

Although local township races generally leave something to be desired in their excitement level, next Tuesday's election still harbors some thrills among proponents and opponents of the four proposals on the ballot, and for numerous candidates at the state and national level.

Democrat Sander Levin and running mate Paul Brown are challenging incumbent Republican Gov. William Milliken and James Damman in the race for governor, and polls released early last week showed Levin with a tenuous lead.

Third party candidates for the governorship and lieutenant governorship are Hugh M. Davidson and Josephine A. Chapman, American Independent Party; Robin Maisel and Ruth C. Gettis, Socialist Workers Party; James C. Horvath and Alfred W. Wegener, Socialist Labor Party; Zoltan Ferency and Regina McNulty, Human Rights Party; Eldon K. Andrews and Al G. Terwilliger, Conservative Party; Thomas Dennis and William Allan, Communist Party; and Peter A. Signorelli, and R. Wayne Evans, United States Labor Party.

Also to be decided at the state level are contests for secretary of state and attorney general. Democratic incumbent Secretary of State Richard Austin is facing Republican opposition from former state senator N. Lorraine Beebe, while Attorney General Frank Kelley is being challenged by Republican Myron H. Wahls.

Minor party candidates for secretary of state are Henry W. Kroes, Jr., American Independent Party; Rachele Fruit, Socialist Workers; John Gill Motzer, Socialist Labor; James F. McClure, Human Rights; Robert G. Lee, Conservative; and Judith S. Crowell, United States Labor.

Third party candidates for attorney general are Ray D. Markel, American Independent, and Clarice Jobs, Human Rights.

In the 23rd District contest for the Michigan legislature, three men are vying for the position, Michael Conlin (Republican), Earle Stevenson (Democrat), and Norman Brehob, (American Independent Party).

State Senator Gilbert Bursley is seeking another term in the Michigan Senate, with opposition from Democrat Peter Eckstein. In the 6th District Congressional contest, Republican Cliff Taylor and Democrat M. Robert Carr are vying for the seat.

Also appearing on the ballot for 6th District representative are the names of Margaret M. Hayes, Socialist Workers; Michael Ballard, Socialist Labor; Howard Jones, Human Rights; and Randolph A. Wedder, United States Labor.

Minor party candidates for state senator are Lisa R. North of the Human Rights Party and Theodore D. Held of the United States Labor Party.

Four proposals will also appear on the ballot: one to limit the use of the motor fuel tax fund; one to provide a bonus for Vietnam veterans; one to repeal the state sales tax on food and prescription drugs; and one to initiate state-wide transportation systems bonds.

Proposal A would alter Article 9, Section 9 of the State Constitution to limit use of the motor fuel tax fund to highway purposes as defined by law, omitting use for "any highway patrol purposes by law enforcement agencies." The proposal, if approved, would also limit the use of motor fuel tax funds for public transportation to one-eighth of the amount received.

Proposal B is a referendum relating to bonuses for Vietnam veterans, which would provide a combat veteran with a service bonus of $800, or a veteran, other than combat veteran, with a service bonus of $15 per month for each month of service, not to exceed $450.

To provide for such bonuses, the proposal asks for the state to borrow the sum of $205 million and issue its general obligation bonds, therefore, with repayment from the general fund of the state.

Proposal C is a proposed constitutional amendment that would repeal the sales tax on food and prescription drugs, and provide for compensation to local governmental units for the resulting loss of revenue.

If approved, the amendment would remove all sales tax on food and drugs except for prepared foods intended for immediate consumption and alcoholic beverages. To compensate units of government other than the state for the resulting revenue loss, each present allocation of sales tax revenue to such units will be increased by one-fifth.

Acceptance of Proposal D would allow the state of Michigan to borrow $1.1 billion and issue its general obligation bonds to finance the planning, acquiring, constructing, and equipping of various land, air, and water transportation systems, other than operating and maintenance expenses. Repayment would be from the general fund.

Also at the state level, voters must choose two members of the state Board of Education. Major party contenders for the board are Barbara Roberts and Roger Tilles, Democrats; and James F. O'Neil and Florence F. Saltzman, Republicans. Other candidates for the board are Vern G. Morse and Bernard J. Skibinski, American Independent; Gertrude Hawkins and Burton Lee Artz, Socialist Workers; Frank Troha and Richard Burgis, Socialist Labor; Karen Lee Baize and Lordell J. Taylor, Human Rights; Peggy Goldman, Communist; and Sheila Jaber, United States Labor.

Also to be elected are two members to the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan, two members of the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University, and two members of the Board of Governors of Wayne State University.

On the ballot for U-M Board of Regents are Sarah Power and Thomas A. Roach, Democrats; Dona Scott Parker and David F. Upton, Republicans; Joan C. Johnson and Daniel Eller, American Independent; Steve Breder and Claudia Hommel, Socialist Worker; Joseph C. Toth and James J. Horvath, Socialist Labor; Diane L. Kohn and Ellen Hoffman, Human Rights; Arlen R. Hellwarth and A. R. Hercz, Conservative; and Barbara A. Gettel, United States Labor.

In contention for the MSU Board of Trustees are John B. Bruff and Raymond W. Krollowski, Democrats; Frank Merri-man and Ken Thompson, Republicans; John W. Purcell, Sr., and Ronald Anthony Antosch, American Independent; Patrice Gajewski and Frank E. Brough, Socialist Workers; Thomas E. Girard and Edgar Thomas, Socialist Labor; M. Therese Des Camp and Bradley K. Sullivan, Human Rights; and Susan L. Cook, United States Labor.

Running for WSU Board of Governors are Mildred Jeffrey and Michael Einheuser, Democrats; Norman Otto Stockmeyer and Frank B. Walker, Republicans; Paul John Altesleben and Alice Charlotte Hengy, American Independent; Michael D. Kelley and Arturo Ramirez, Socialist Workers; Lowell E. Miller and Terry Lindsay, Socialist Labor; M. Elizabeth Bunn and Albert Steigerwalt, Human Rights; Emory J. Hrabovsky, Conservative; and Bruce J. Wood, United States Labor.

In addition, two Washtenaw county propositions will appear on the ballot. The first will ask the voters whether the county should adopt an Optional Unified Form of County Government, with an appointed county manager.

Another county proposal asks for a renewal of a one-mill tax levy for five years to support the operating expenses of Washtenaw Community College and to provide for purchase of equipment for occupational training programs.

Running for two six-year terms as Washtenaw Community College trustees are Republicans William Mays, Jr., and Anthony J. Proccassi. Voting for a single four-year term as Washtenaw (Continued on page four)

Halloween Party Tonight For Children

Goblins, ghosts, witches, and the usual seasonal assortment of costumes are coming out of mothballs for their once-a-year display—Chelsea's Halloween trick-or-treating and parade.

Trick or treat is scheduled to begin from 5 to 8:30 p.m. as the beginning of the festivities. To assure the safety of the candy-hungry youngsters in the village, Chelsea Jaycees will patrol wearing white armbands to identify themselves as "goblin patrolers."

Later in the evening, from approximately 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., members of Chelsea's citizen band emergency radio group will patrol the village and surrounding areas in cars, identified by white flags from the radio antennas, to be available to assist in any non-Halloween spirit situations.

Costume judging in the Kiwanis Club-sponsored festivities will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Municipal Parking Lot, with the little beggars being awarded prizes in categories of most original, spookiest, most comical, and most typical of Halloween. Prizes of $3, $2, and $1, will be awarded to first, second- and third-place winners in each of the four categories.

After the joy of victory or the agony of defeat, the little beggars will form into the Halloween parade, which will also feature the talents of one of Chelsea Fire Department's fire trucks and the Beach Middle school bands.

The parade will follow a route from the parking lot to East St., north to E. Middle St., west to Main St., south to Park St., and back to the parking lot.

To top off an evening of goodies, cider and donuts will be served following the parade in the parking lot.

Already winners of the Halloween season are 19 local school children who earned $5 first prizes in Chelsea Recreation Council's Halloween picture and poster contest.

Judged to be the best at each grade level by high school art teachers Mrs. Laurie Lazebnik and Mrs. Terry Kamler were Greg Brown and Kathy Morgan, kindergarten; Steve Rosentriener and Renee Guenther, 1st grade; Joe Merkel and Laura Koepele, 2nd grade; Blake Alder and Jody Klink, 3rd grade; Jeff Koepele, Margaret Merkel and De Ann Calvia, 4th grade; Caroline Tracy and Diane Bareis, 5th grade; Steve Wilson and Radine Cheever, 6th grade; Linda Harat and Teresa Hoffman, (Continued on page four)

Shoplifters Nabbed at Jiffy Market

A group of alleged shoplifters caused quite a ruckus at Jiffy Market last Friday night, and three of them will face criminal charges because of it.

Jiffy owner Gene Shoemaker reports that he observed a woman shoplifting wine, cigarettes, and cheese, from his establishment and stopped her at the door. As a Jiffy cashier attempted to call police, another woman grabbed her, while a third stripped to facilitate a search. Shoemaker, however, held them all at bay until Sheriff's deputies, Chelsea police, and a state police car arrived.

"All in all," said Shoemaker, "we had quite a time out here." One of the women will be charged with larceny from a building and the other two with drunk and disorderly. Washtenaw County Sheriff's deputies said Tuesday. Shoemaker said that he signed a warrant for their arrest Monday. The three are from the Pinckney area.

Hunters Cautioned To Be Careful With Cigarettes in Woods

A recent rash of grass fires has prompted Fire Chief Jim Gaken to warn hunters to watch their cigarettes and how they extinguish them.

"We've had an awful lot of grass fires way back in the woods lately," Gaken said. "And we think hunters might be responsible. They really have to be careful with cigarettes."

INDIVIDUAL SPEAKER TROPHIES were brought home by Brad Glazier (left) and Kurt Allshouse of Chelsea's debate squad for their performance in last Saturday's Jackson Community College tournament. Glazier earned a second place trophy and Allshouse a fifth. The entire team finished fourth.

Varsity Girls Cagers Tie for League Lead

Chelsea's girls varsity basketball team moved back into a tie with Brighton for first place in the league Tuesday night, by defeating Lincoln, 29-27. Brighton, meanwhile, lost to Novi.

Chelsea fought back after leading 12-4 after the first quarter and then falling to 12-11 in the second to retain the lead.

High scorer in the contest was Mollen King with nine points. Debbie Berke, Julie Asmusen, and Kathy Kuhl added six, and Shawn Spaulding hit for two.

JV Girls Cagers Roll Up Highest Ever Point Total

Chelsea's junior varsity women rolled up their highest point total ever Tuesday night in their 34-31 defeat of Lincoln.

Penny Collinsworth was high scorer with 10 points, although Coach Cindy Bradbury noted, "The best part about this game is that we got some scoring out of the other players"—including Theresa Breza and Sharon Donovan, seven points; Karen Keiser and Nancy Knott, four points; and Sue Heydlauff, two.

Next week, both squads will play two games at home. Tuesday they will entertain Saline, and Thursday Lincoln will come to town for a rematch of this week's contests.

Nutrition Program Will Start Nov. 6

Chelsea's OEO-sponsored senior citizen nutrition program will "definitely begin" on Wednesday, Nov. 6, according to Mrs. Ellen Par-minter, organizer of the local project. Meals will be served from 11:30 to 1:30 p.m. daily.

Earn Trophies at JCC Debate Tourney

A pair of local debaters, Kurt Allshouse and Brad Glazier, both earned speaker trophies last week-end for their performances in the Jackson Community College debate tournament.

Glazier earned a second-place trophy and Allshouse a fifth-place trophy while the Chelsea varsity team finished 4-2, good for fourth place. Both were negative-side debaters.

Also debating for Chelsea's varsity were Brenda Shadon and Keith Cockerline on the affirmative side.

Junior varsity debaters also

Band To Salute Musicals at Grid Show

Chelsea grid fans who aren't expecting a whole lot of excitement out of the Dexter-Chelsea contest Friday night just might be able to get enthusiastic about the half-time show, which will salute musicals that have been performed in Chelsea.

Among the numbers that Band Director Warren Mayer has planned for the show are "Give My Regards to Broadway," "76 Trombones," "As Long As He Needs Me" and a dance routine to "Mame."

Bulldogs Ride Over Milan on Aerial Attack

Will Face Arch-Rival Dexter Friday Evening in Home Contest

Led by fine passing from quarterback Todd Ortring and some consistently tough defense, Chelsea downed Milan Friday night, 34-7, and retained hold on a three-way tie for second place in the South-eastern Conference.

By virtue of their 14-13 loss to Lincoln Friday, Novi's Wildcats were unable to clinch undisputed hold on their third consecutive SEC title. Although Novi is assured of at least a share of the title, squads across the county—including Saline, South Lyon, and Chelsea—burned with optimism at the loss.

A Novi loss to Milan this week and a win by any of the second-place squads would create a tie for the title.

In Friday's game with the Bulldogs, the Big Reds, fighting not only to keep a share of the second-place tie, but also for a win for their Homecoming crowd, scored first, driving some 50 yards. The touchdown came on a 10-yard pass from Al Tallas to Kevin Keefe, and Greg Keilman kicked the extra point.

In this Milan scoring drive, the Bulldogs' fine tackle Jack Hackworth suffered a knee injury that required surgery Monday.

Defense remained in charge at this point, causing Milan to fumble, with Roger Stewart recovering for the Bulldogs.

Two running plays then netted three yards before quarterback Ortring lofted a 22-yard pass to split end Paul Wood for the six points. Ishmael Picklesimer kicked the extra point to tie the contest at 7-7 at the end of the first period.

During the second quarter, Chelsea defense held Milan in check, largely due to Dave Keiser's fine interception of a Big Red pass.

Bulldog offense then came to life in the second half, taking the kick-off and driving to Milan's 13-yard line before a fumble halted the drive.

Defense, led by Doug Reed, Tim Reed, Jim Boyer, and Dennis Bauer, stopped the Big Reds and forced them to punt to Chelsea's 40.

Todd Ortring then alternated the pass and run, completing passes to Paul Wood for 21 yards and 14 yards, and then hitting Jim Boyer for 23 yards and the TD. Chelsea defense then held Milan, with Dave Keiser intercepting a pair of passes, and Randy Guenther and Jim Marshall each grabbing one.

Defensively, Dennis Bauer recorded 13 tackles; Doug Reed, 10; and Rodger Stewart and Howard Salyer, nine.

Chelsea gained 154 yards on the ground and 115 in the air. Six passes of 12 attempts were completed.

Tim Reed gained 48 yards rushing and Dave Keiser, 37.

Tomorrow, (Friday) Chelsea will entertain Dexter at 7:30 p.m. Dreadnaughts remain in the cellar with Brighton with a 1-5 record.

United Way Hits 70% of Goal

Nearly $10,000 in contributions has found its way into Chelsea United Way's coffers since last week's edition of The Standard, Mrs. Pat Borders, campaign chairman, has announced.

Currently the amount collected and pledged toward the local goal of $29,994 stands at approximately $21,000 or 70 percent of the goal.

Mrs. Borders reported Tuesday, "Just about everything is in," she noted, "except for some contributions from commercial, professional, and industrial. And, of course, if anyone still wants to contribute, we're still accepting contributions, in person or by mail."

Agencies benefiting from Chelsea's local drive include Chelsea Recreation Council, Huron Valley Child Guidance, Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, Boy Scouts of America-Portage Trails Council, Chelsea Bands, Home Meal Service of Chelsea, Chelsea Social Service, American Red Cross, Washtenaw Association for Retarded Children, Salvation Army, Catholic Social Services, Michigan United Way, and Child and Family Services of Washtenaw County.

World Community Day Service at North Lake Church

Local church women, organized under a 1974 theme of "Discover the Aspiring Majority," will meet tomorrow (Friday) at North Lake Methodist church for their annual celebration of World Community Day.

World Community day, under the auspices of Church Women United, was organized in 1942 as a "world day of peace." In succeeding years it was given the name World Community Day.

Local program chairmen for the day are Peg Hamilton and Pat Stirling. Peg Hamilton will lead the worship, with participants Char Balistrere, Ruth Leach, Connie Schwarm, Laurie Reid, Catherine Staffan, and Ellie Reynolds. The theme of this year's World Community Day, "Discover the Aspiring Majority," relates to the fact that women are now a majority of the world's population and as such should "examine their values and goals, discovering the aspirations that bind them together." Next year, 1975, has been designated United Nations International Women's year, Church Women United notes.

World Community Day program is scheduled from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Pot-luck luncheon will be served at the church, and baby-sitting will be provided. Children should bring a sack lunch.

Methodist church will provide the banners for the day, and St. Mary Catholic church has provided the flyer invitations for area churches.

Cross Country Team Finishes Strong Third in Conference

Chelsea harriers topped off their 5-5 league dual meet record last Wednesday with a third-place finish at the Southeastern Conference League Meet at Cass Benton Park in Northville, a combination that earned them sole possession of third place in final league standings.

Chelsea's 62 points trailed the efforts of South Lyon, 64 points, and Brighton, 48 points. Complete meet were Saline, 76; Dexter, 128; and Novi, 155.

John Storey and Dave Dawson led Bulldog efforts, and became the first two runners from Chelsea ever to finish in the top seven in the league meet, a standing that earns them spots on the all-league team. Storey earned third place with a time of 16:56 and Dawson earned seventh with a 17:09.

Other local placings included Phil Frame, in 18th place with a 17:51; Rick Haller, 18th, 17:57; Morris Johnson, 19th, 17:58; Dean Thompson, 25th, 18:30; and Bill Rademacher, 31st, 18:52.

In the junior varsity meet, Chelsea also earned third place, with 57 points.

Finishing in eighth place to lead the JV harriers was Matt Heydlauff with a time of 18:55. Other placers were Dan Shirilla, 10th with a 19:00; Jeff Sweet, 12th, (Continued on page four)

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Never let it be said, Mister Editor, that the fellers that git together at the country store are shy about taking on the big decisions in life. Saturday night they discussed the World Food Conference coming up in Rome in November. They studied the matter up one side and down the other, and they announced that all the world has got to do is git the food where the mouths are.

For instant, Ed Doolittle said he had saw by the papers where up to a million people in India will starve between now and March. In America, Ed allowed, you can't buy nothing with a dime and not much with a dollar, but inflated folks is a more dangerous problem than inflated economy.

If we could git some of our food to India, we might not have so many wimmen wiring their mouths shut so they can't eat, allowed Ed, and if some of them countries rich in oil and poor in food would wake up, we could git the prices of our energy down so we would git on with the business of raising more food.

And if it ain't bad enough that folks in India is starving, Clem Webster reported where he had read that they is five rats fer every person in India, and that the rats eat eight million tons of grain over there ever year. And ever year, they kill 80 per cent of the rat population, but ever male and female rat that's left turns out 900 more. It looks like they jest can't be enough food to go around fer the folks and the rats. Clem said he had read that in Vietnam rats are caught and eat, so India and Vietnam ought to work out rice-rat swap at the Rome food meeting.

Some things in this world git turned around fer the better, broke in Zeke Grubb. He had saw where this doctor sends out notes with his bills, telling patients to reduce their pay according to their income, and he suggests a 20 per cent cut fer old folks on Social Security. If this idea was to catch on, declared Zeke, it might be possible in this country to practice medicine and not git union coming out strong fer minimum fees like the lawyers have done.

And another good turn was reported from Durham, North Carolina, where a doctor is holding a series of 12 sessions to show folks how to treat themselves. Fer $45-a-person, he shows them what they can do to save his time. He figgers 10 cases of heartburn and 10 head colds a day treated at home by the patient will give him a chance to help folks who can't help themselves.

Contrary, it looks like the public-supported Amtrak train is side-tracked. Bug Hookum had a clipping about how Amtrak workers have spent $750,000 riding airplanes to places the Amtrak trains run. That's as bad as word that we got to quit using deodorant soap that kills germs, cause germs that make us smell bad are replaced by germs that make us sick.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

SUNSHINE BREAKTHROUGH
Michigan State University scientists have found that the ultraviolet part of sunshine breaks down a troublesome environmental phenyls (PCBs). With most of this large family of chemical compounds the product after breakdown is less dangerous than the original chemical. This process, photodegradation, appears to be the only successful way to break down PCBs. Photodegradation has also allowed scientists to separate PCBs from DDT. Both compounds often occur together and are usually very difficult to separate.

Tax Relief or Mandate?

A vote for Proposal C, to remove the sales tax on food and prescription drugs, could mean a wee bit off your grocery bill. That says "could," and not "will," because some folks figure retail stores might just absorb the tax removal. It's suggested also that buyers might not notice the removal of the tax if there's another round of food price increases.

What is virtual certainty is this: day will mean a bigger bite in the form of higher taxes elsewhere.

That's because the taxes bring in an amount estimated between $200 and $450 million. The money would have to be made up somehow. The talk now is of an income tax increase of some 0.6 percent, from the current 3.9 percent on personal income to 4.5 percent.

Backers of Proposal C, including the Michigan Citizens Lobby which organized the petition drive to put the question on the ballot, and Democratic gubernatorial contender Sander Levin say the money could be made up by cutting government spending without a tax increase.

"You cannot absorb that kind of revenue loss without disastrous cuts in vital state programs," counters Gov. William Milliken, who is seeking re-election.

He specifically mentions education, which takes nearly half the state budget now, public health, mental health, consumer and environmental protection, agriculture, corrections and police protection, and revenue-sharing with communities.

A private organization, the Citizens Research Council of Michigan, goes along with the governor's assessment. "Circumstances preclude any possibility of absorbing the sales tax loss in either the current or next fiscal year," the Council says.

Some other things to consider: —Michigan taxpayers will, if Proposal C is approved, be making up in other taxes what out-of-state travelers in Michigan now pay in sales tax.

—Removal of the tax will cost something to administer, since the state would check stores for compliance.

—If the legislature increased the income tax to make up for lost revenue, it is not unreasonable to assume they might add just a little more to pay for something else.

Among harshest critics of Proposal C is the Michigan State

Passage of Proposal C on election Chamber of Commerce, which calls removal of the sales tax a "meat-ax method" of controlling spending and taxes.

Approval by the voters would create fiscal chaos for Michigan and not give the tax relief that its sponsors are trying to peddle," says Chamber President Harry Hall.

Anybody who thinks that you can remove more than $200 million from revenues without imposing another tax is either naive or intentionally deceitful or both."

New Fish Prospect
Suckers and carp plentiful but under-used in Michigan, could provide the state with a whole new fish industry.

Gov. William Milliken, who requested and got approval for $100,000 from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission for the project, says development of such an industry could create "hundreds of jobs" and "make available in Michigan a less expensive fish product that could help stretch food budgets in these times of rising food prices."

Patterned after a Japanese venture, the project would involve using deboned and minced fish for fish sticks or cakes. "With competition growing for the worlds available protein supply, Michigan no longer can afford to waste this source of abundant fish product," the governor says.

He figures also that such a commercial project could benefit the state's sports fish industry. The now unwanted fish to be taken from the Great Lakes and other waters would leave more room and food for the growth of the sports fish, he explains.

Security for your investment dollars is more important than ever. A 7% Certificate Account is the smartest way to protect your dollars from inflation and a falling market. $10,000.00 invested in a 7% Certificate Account will grow to $13,461.14 in just four years, with interest compounded. The same $10,000 invested in the stock market in the last two years would have shrunk one third or one half or more. Bonds fluctuate. Gold and silver fluctuates. The best hedge against inflation is a non-fluctuating AAFC certificate. Of the investments mentioned it is the only one insured by an agency of the Federal Government.

The 7% per annum Certificate is a solid investment that actually provides an effective annual rate of 7.71%. It is available in amounts of $1000 or more for four years. There are lots of new ways to invest today, but one of the best ways to safeguard your capital and guarantee income is a Certificate Account at Ann Arbor Federal Savings.

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate savings accounts.

Gridders of the Week

DOUG REED (32) is a 5'7", 150-pound halfback for Chelsea's Bulldogs. Reed, now seeing his second year of varsity grid action, has also played varsity baseball and wrestled for Chelsea. Last week against Milan, he recorded 10 tackles as one of the leaders of the local defense. He is uncertain of his plans after high school graduation, although certain he will attend college somewhere. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reed, he has two younger brothers, Tim, and Greg.

TERRY ELLENWOOD (64), also a second year varsity man, has been playing football since 7th grade. The 5'11" 150-pound senior guard has also wrestled for Chelsea High school. After graduation, he plans to attend Northwestern Michigan College and has hopes of eventually becoming a game warden. Prospects for Chelsea High's grid future look bright he thinks; Terry sees his team cruising easily through its final two games. The son of Mrs. Katherine Ellenwood and the late Wesley Ellenwood, he has two brothers, Gary and Don.

Management Workshop Scheduled

"Managing for Profit" is a unique two-day workshop in which management personnel and business leaders are being invited to participate. Hundreds of business leaders throughout Michigan have already participated in this program which will be offered for the first time in Washtenaw county on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 12 and 13. Classes will be held from 8:30 a.m. (sharp!) until 4:30 p.m. at Howard Johnson's, Carriage Room A, 2380 Carpenter Rd., Ann Arbor.

A registration fee of $20 per person will cover the cost of workbooks, lunches, coffee breaks and program incidentals.

Developed and conducted by the agricultural marketing staff of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, the program provides an opportunity to improve and update management skills with a minimum of time away from business. The program, which is designed to help individuals improve basic management skills, has proven invaluable to a wide range of business leaders. Even experienced businessmen have proclaimed the course to be a "very valuable refresher" of good management practices.

The program relies on a variety of educational techniques including the new concept of "programmed learning." Part of the time will be spent working in small groups, using the case method to work out solutions for the problems faced by the "Acme Company."

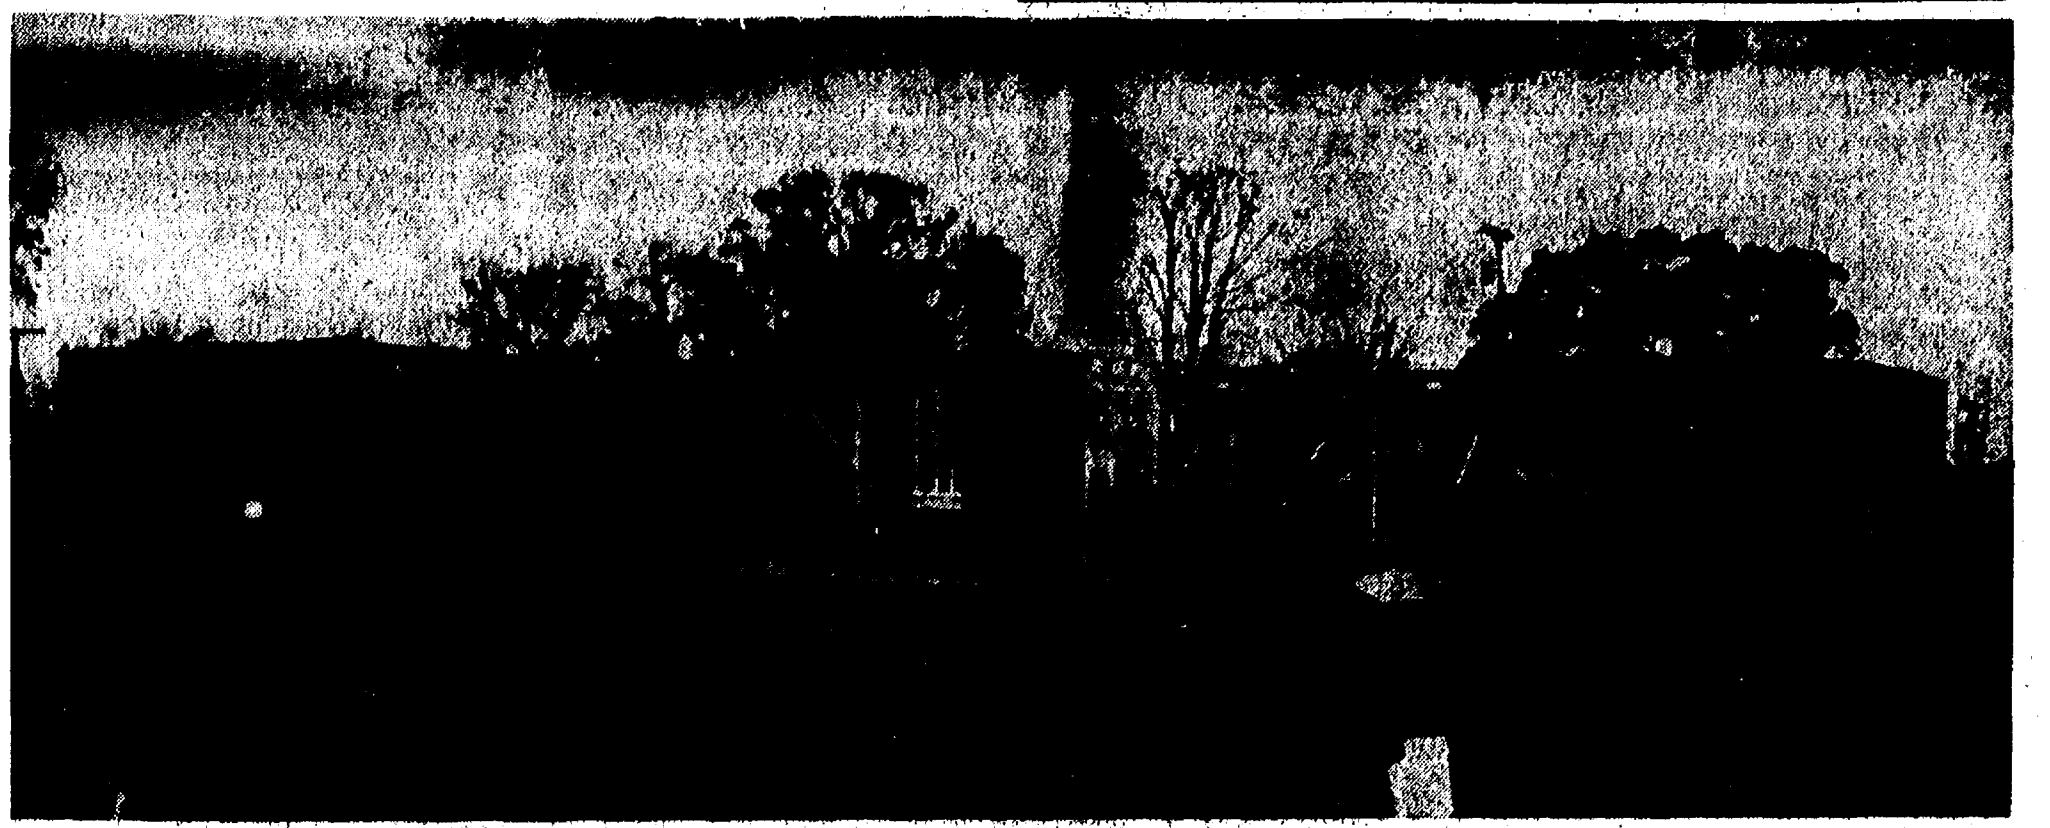

Pre-registration with remittance of the registration fee is required so plans may be made for the exact size of discussion groups, lunches, etc. Deadline for registration is Wednesday, Nov. 6.

Persons seeking further information about the course, or wishing to pre-register should contact the Cooperative Extension Service, 994-2457, Room 1, County Building, Ann Arbor. Enrollment will be limited to the first 30 registrants.

Ask the GOVERNOR

by William G. Milliken

Question: What's being done to cut down on crime in our state?

Answer: During the past several years, I believe that Michigan has made substantial progress in combating crime.

Crime in our state has decreased by 4 percent in the past three years. It was increasing nationally by 1.5 percent during the same time period.

But, despite the progress we have made, I believe that government has no more important responsibility than the protection of the public. If people do not feel safe in their homes and safe on the streets, the pursuit of happiness is cruelly transformed into a massive flight from danger.

I have asked the legislature for the tools to wage the most comprehensive anti-crime campaign in the state's history. We already have increased our spending to fight crime by almost 100 percent since 1969, but we need—in addition—legislative approval of programs I have outlined.

Those programs include:
a) Subjecting offenders to progressively more severe mandatory sentences for each repeat offense.
b) Imposing mandatory minimum sentences for those guilty of aggravated or felonious assault.
c) Imposing an additional five years—at least—on anyone convicted of a felony while in possession of a handgun.

d) Enacting a program to compensate the victims of violent crime for losses not otherwise covered by insurance or other compensation. I believe that when the legislature returns, it is imperative that they act upon my proposals—proposals that would enable us to wage the most massive battle against crime in our state's history.

Question: I'm a senior citizen, and because my husband is so sick, we can't get out of the house to pay very many bills. Now the electric company tells us they're going to shut off our power. Can't something be done to help people like us?

Answer: Something has been done. Just recently, a new "consumer bill of rights" was adopted by the Public Service Commission. The new rules which constitute that bill of rights were one of my consumer protection priorities for this year.

They clearly define the relationship between regulated utilities and residential gas and electric customers, and represent, in my judgment, the most comprehensive and progressive series of regulations governing the relationship between customers and utilities ever adopted by any regulatory agency. Among many other things, the rules provide new protection for ill or infirm customers, eliminate late charges and arbitrary standards for security deposits, require utilities to describe fully the customer's rights and responsibilities, and will foster better relationships between the company and the customer.

Question: I'm in the fifth grade and my class is wondering if we can really help fight inflation by cleaning up our plates like President Ford said: What do you think?

Answer: In a world faced with a tremendous problem of inflation and the overwhelming potential for hunger and starvation, President Ford's suggestion is certainly a good one.

I recognize that it is not going to be easy for Americans to change their habits. One national study recently pointed out that 9 percent of the average American food budget is wasted because food is not entirely consumed.

While a change in our habits will not come easily, I agree with the President that it is necessary. If we are going to win the battle against inflation, all of us are going to have to participate in every way that we can.

By not wasting food you and your classmates will contribute to winning that battle.

Hearing loss problems generally fall into one of two categories, hearing specialists point out. Obstruction of the auditory canal or middle ear preventing sound waves from being conducted properly to the inner ear is known as a "conductive loss." A "sensory-neural loss" occurs when sound waves reach the inner ear but are not properly relayed to the brain.

What's Cooking in Michigan

By Larresline Trim

Michigan Dept. of Agriculture Marketing Information Specialist.

Do you know how the U.S. Department of Agriculture grades beef? It may help to understand the standards before learning how USDA proposes to change them.

According to Marketing officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, federal grading of beef is a voluntary service for which users pay a fee. Most beef which qualifies for the top two grades—U. S. Prime and U. S. Choice—is federally graded for quality. Only about one-fourth of beef eligible for the Good grade is graded.

Grading is not done by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. MDA's responsibility is to see that meat is wholesome and free from disease, and state inspectors check all animals slaughtered in Michigan's 164 slaughtering plants.

Quality grades predict the "eating quality" of meat, which is indicated by color, firmness, texture and marbling (flecks of fat within the lean) of the meat in relation to its maturity (age of the animal when slaughtered). Slaughtered cattle also is graded for yield (percentage of trimmed retail cuts the carcass will produce) and for conformation (shape of the carcass).

Marbled beef is considered more tender, juicier and tastier. It is the result of grain-feeding the cattle. USDA says edible beef may be produced with less or no grain-feeding, which would lower the cost of producing cattle.

The proposed changes in grading beef are detailed and complicated but the major revisions are: 1) Conformation would no longer be considered. Conformation does not affect eating quality of beef but does affect yields of retail cuts. Under the present system, if a beef carcass has Prime grade quality but has only Good grade conformation, it is graded Choice. Under the proposed standards, beef in each of the grades would include only beef of that quality.

2) All carcasses graded would be identified for both quality grade and yield grade. The less trimmable fat, the higher the yield grade, and the more the carcass is worth. Carcasses of the same weight and quality grade can vary in value due to differences in yields of trimmed retail cuts. USDA said pricing which reflected such differences "could provide a powerful incentive for producing . . . cattle . . . that have the genetic ability to produce carcasses which combine high cutability and high quality lean." Production of these cattle would require less grain and this would lower production costs.

According to USDA, the net effect—increased production at less cost and less waste fat—could be reflected in lower prices at the retail level.

3) For beef from cattle under about 30 months of age, the minimum amount of marbling required in each grade, except Good, would be set at the level now required for the youngest carcasses that qualify as beef, instead of increasing with increasing age. For beef from cattle over about 30 months old, increased marbling would still be required with increasing maturity within each grade.

4) For the Good grade, the youngest carcasses would have to show more marbling.

If you as a consumer wish to comment on the proposed revised standards, you may write USDA. Send your letter in duplicate to the Office of the Hearing Clerk, Room 112 Administration Building, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMER

From Mrs. Cecil Newcomb, Windsor, Nova Scotia, Canada: I remember my first years on the prairies, acres of golden wheat beside acres of blue flax, gophers, owls on fence posts, horses, shacks, long distances.

Especially horses. We had fifteen. I climbed gingerly to the back of a quiet old farm horse to ride to the letter box over a mile away. When I heard a big rumble, I pulled to the side of a road, expecting a car to pass. But it was not a car. Our five colts had found an open gate. They dashed past on a dead run and my quiet old farm horse joined them. I got him stopped and turned around for home. My husband went to the letter box that day.

From that day on, I took two horses and rode in a wagon to get the mail.

BROWNIE TROOP 145

On Oct. 16, Troop 145 had a family night. Our parents, brothers, sisters, and grandparents came. The second year Brownies put on the Brownie play which we all enjoyed. The first year Brownies were then invested. Brownies joining our Brownie ring and receiving their pins were Gayla Bauer, Marie Ann Kapolka, Julie Koch, Laura Koepele, Audrey Robertson, Phoebe Strong, and Lisa Hendrick.

On Saturday, Oct. 26, our troop went to Huron Farm Cider Mill and watched them make sweet cider. Then we went to Becky Schluppe's grandparents' home to pick apples. From there we went to Laurie Heller's farm and had a noon cook-out and had a hayride in the afternoon.

Frosh Grid Team Stunned By Tecumseh

In spite of what Coach Bill Bainton called "excellent defensive play," Chelsea freshmen gridgers dropped a tough one to Tecumseh Thursday, 26-12.

Tecumseh, now 7-0 for the season, opened the scoring midway through the first quarter when they broke off tackle for an 88-yard touchdown.

Chelsea returned in the second quarter, when Steve Pennington dashed 55 yards to the Tecumseh two-yard line, and Matt Fisher carried over for the TD to tie the score at 6-6.

Tecumseh then took the ensuing kick-off 64 yards through a stunned Chelsea squad for another TD. The extra point was good, to make the Tecumseh lead 14-6, which stood up at half-time.

Defense then ruled until the final five minutes, when the Indians began by forcing a turnover on the Chelsea 35, and after a short drive scored their third touchdown.

Little Bulldog Brandy Rinehart then ran the kick back to the 40, and on the first play, Chuck Broderick grabbed a Jeff Powell pass for a 60-yard TD. An on-side kick attempt failed, and Tecumseh took the ball at their own 45.

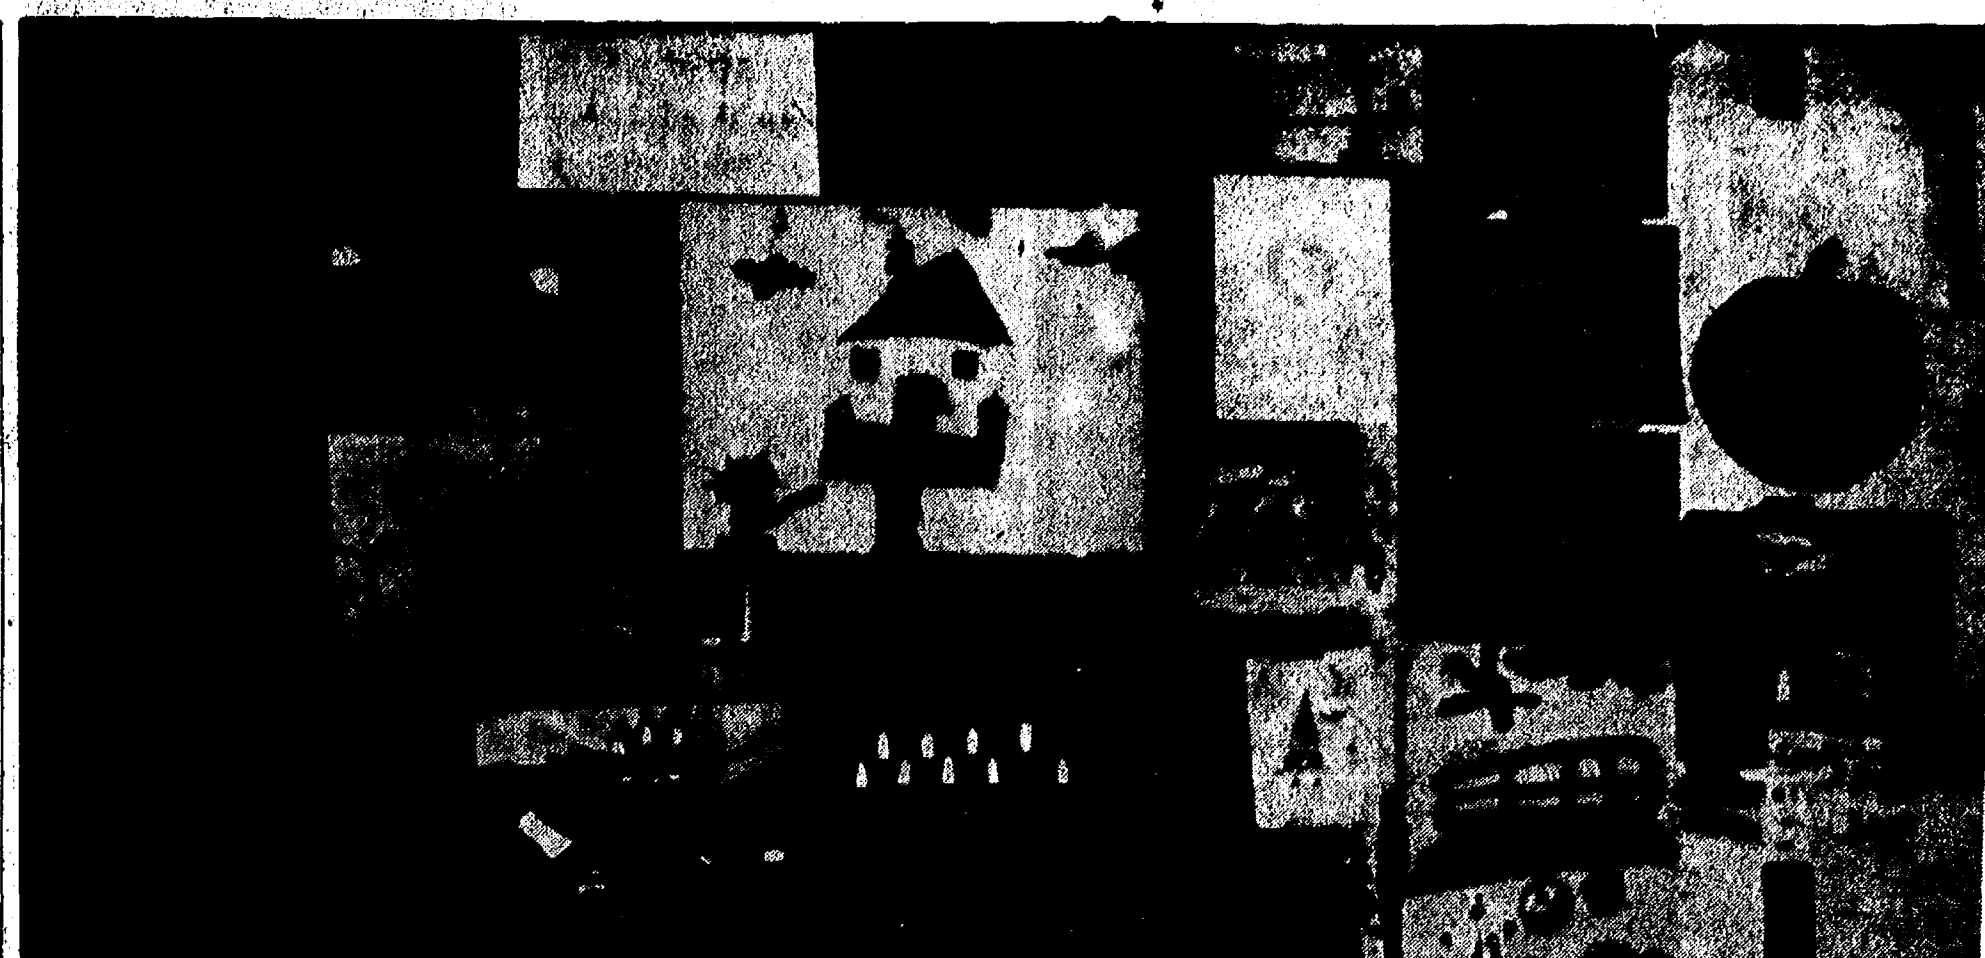

From there, the Little Indians drove through the desperate Bulldog defense for a touchdown to put the tally at 26-12. Chelsea tried again, but a pass from Powell to Ed Paul was intercepted, and the clock ran out.

"I'm really proud of our team," said Coach Bainton. "They gave it all they had. Only one other team had scored twice on those guys—Ann Arbor Pioneer."

Little Bulldog effort was led by linebackers Jason Lindauer, Jerold Benjamin, and Matt Fisher, and ends Todd Weber and Brad Smith, who held several times deep in their territory.

Chelsea's record now stands at 4-2, with the final game of the season played Wednesday night at Napoleon.

JV Bulldogs Give Milan 36-12 Beating

Junior Bulldogs continued their winning ways last Thursday with a 36-12 pounding of Milan that featured John Toon running for 239 yards in 14 carries for a 17-yard-per-carry average.

Milan began the scoring in the first quarter, when they kicked off and recovered the ball and marched in immediately, to make the tally 6-0.

Boy Scouts Enjoy Camp, Canoe Trip

Boy Scout Troop 465, including 13 scouts and four adult leaders, spent last week-end camping along the Pine River at Cool-water campgrounds, about four and one-half hours from Chelsea near Baldwin.

The group slept in tents Friday and Saturday, and on Saturday canoed about 50 miles on the Pine River. As the sun was out and warm, the scouts enjoyed the ride on the fast-moving river. Many rocks and tree limbs disrupted the canoeing but not one canoe turned over.

Some of the wild animals seen by the scouts were ducks, mink, partridge, and deer. On Saturday night the temperature dipped to a low of 21 degrees. At that temperature the water jugs froze over, the peanut butter was hard to spread, and the milk was very cold.

Elderly Couple Receive
Minor Injuries in Saturday Collision

A Chelsea man and his wife suffered minor injuries Saturday evening at the intersection of Old US-12 and M-52 when their car pulled in front of an oncoming vehicle.

John Cook, 85, and his wife, Agnes, 76, of 19941 Old US-12, both suffered minor injuries in the accident. Cook was treated and released at Chelsea Medical Clinic emergency room.

Officers said that Cook was proceeding east in his 1974 Plymouth on Old US-12, and failed to yield at the intersection. A car southbound on M-52, driven by Dale Schoenberg, 18, struck the Cook vehicle when it pulled into the intersection. Cook told police that he did not see the Schoenberg car.

CHS Harriers Make Rapid Progress During Season

Chelsea harriers have ended the season with an affirmative rating from Coach Pat Clarke: "We've made pretty good progress this year for such a young team."

Bulldog runners finished the regular season with a 5-5 dual meet record, tied for third place in the standings with Saline. In last Wednesday's league meet at Cass Benton Park in Northville, the local squad took third to earn sole possession of third place in final league standings.

"We're only losing one senior this year, Rick Robbins," Clarke noted, "although the other two really good teams in the league, Brighton and South Lyon, are returning everyone for next year's team."

In addition to their respectable league finish, Bulldogs earned a ninth place in the Olivet Invitational, third in the Manchester Invitational, and eighth in the regional meet.

Band Members
Begin Annual

Student orders are to be turned in by Nov. 5, with delivery scheduled before Thanksgiving. Payment will be collected upon delivery of fruit cake orders.

Mrs. Donald Baldwin is chairman of fruit cake sales, assisted by Mrs. Harold Dresch, Mrs. John Fall, and Mrs. George Sweeney.

Those wishing to order fruit cake should contact a Chelsea band member or Mrs. Baldwin at 475-8245.

Follow-Up Study Continues on
'74 CHS Grads

The second annual follow-up study of graduates of Chelsea High School is continuing with approximately one-third of the graduates of the Class of '74 returning their questionnaires so far.

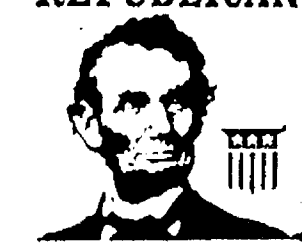

All the forms must be forwarded to the Intermediate School District by Chelsea High School by the middle of November so time is rapidly running out. The greater the number of returns the more value the information will have to the school for future planning.

All students are urged to complete the questionnaire as soon as possible and return it to the high school.

Brehob Addresses

Chelsea Kiwanians

Norm Brehob, American Independent Party candidate for State Representative from the 23rd District, appeared before the Chelsea Kiwanians Monday evening at their regular meeting. He explained his primary reason for running was his concern that individual freedom would soon be lost, first to expanding state government, and eventually to an all-encompassing Federal government, if concerned citizens only talked about the danger without acting. Brehob also explained his position on the four propositions which will appear on the ballot.

From Mrs. Cecil Newcomb, Windsor, Nova Scotia: I remember the first automobile in our parts. Mother and I were sitting in rocking chairs on our veranda when we heard a noise such as never before. It grew louder and louder, then this strange looking thing came into view. An automobile! Three days later we were still going to the road to admire the wide tracks the machine had left in the dust.

Some months later a man living four or five miles away bought an automobile. We could always hear it coming. My sister and I used to run down and "just happen" to be looking over the gate when it passed. What the driver and his family thought when two young girls were always at that gate we will never know.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ Calf Slaughter Termed Revolting

The few desperate cattlemen who slaughtered and buried their calves to call public attention to their plight have given agriculture a "black eye" and have made it tough for the majority of farmers who value their producer-consumer relationships.

Throughout the recent, trying period of inflation, farmers and consumers have maintained a good understanding, through communication, of each other's problems.

That's why a majority of those involved in agriculture are concerned about consumer reaction to the negative, grandstand play of a few farmers. Most of them believe that negative actions, such as the recent slaughtering of calves, breed negative reactions. They understand how consumers are "turned off" by the sight of appealing, soft-brown-eyed, defenseless calves being shot and buried. They, too, are turned off by such irresponsible action.

Consumers should be relieved to know that in Michigan—61,000 families belong to Farm Bureau, and nationwide—over two million. And these farmers who belong to the largest farm organization believe in a more appropriate, positive method of solving their economic problems.

While they share the very real concerns of the livestock farmers who resorted to the appalling action, they abhor their tactics of getting the message across that they are in a serious predicament. There's no question that livestock producers are in trouble. They have suffered price drops of 30 to 40 percent during the past year and, at the same time, their costs of production have increased close to 20 percent—which means they are losing money on practically everything they send to market. But their grotesque action won't solve the problem.

Farm Bureau families believe the ideal solution would be a better price incentive for livestock farmers to continue producing meat and a moderate price to consumers—two goals which are not incompatible. They favor a positive approach to move livestock, such as "Give Meat for Christmas" campaigns, and other promotional efforts to encourage meat consumption.

This kind of action, no matter how positive, won't bring back those baby calves—but, hopefully, it will reassure consumers that most farmers do not resort to cattle massacres to solve their problems. The black eye they must share because of the actions of a few of their number is very painful...even if they were only innocent bystanders.

SOUTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

ART

Teacher: Mrs. Coulam

Our kindergartners have learned that water paint will not stick to wax crayon if we color very hard. We colored islands with exotic trees and then painted blue water and sky right over the island. Our islands did not sink! We have made bright orange jack-o-lanterns from paper plates for Halloween.

In 1st grade we have made clay heads. They will be fired in a kiln to make them strong and hard. Then we will dye the heads and string them together for an Indian necklace.

We have also made some beautiful designs with oil pastels, a greasy type of crayon which draws very smoothly.

In 2nd grade we made neat rubbings. You can make a rubbing from anything that feels bumpy or uneven rather than smooth and flat. We used buttons, string, sticks, paper clips and rubber bands. There were some very surprising results. We created clay dishes, imprinted with the veins of a leaf and cut to shape of that leaf. These will be fired in a kiln, so they won't crumble when we handle them. For Halloween we made some great papier mache pumpkins.

In 1st and 2nd grade combined open art period, we have colored the most fabulous jungle safari, you would ever hope to see. We have a tiger, playful monkeys, spotted giraffes, and two crowned cranes. We are now painting colorful designs on some of our plain waste baskets, since the trash barrels downtown look so good.

READING

Teacher: Mrs. Maitland

The Reading Room parents met Oct. 21 for their annual fall get-together. Pumpkin invitations, name tags and decorations were used. Doughnuts, bundt cake, candy, nuts and cider were enjoyed as the parents got acquainted with each other.

The special teachers who work with the children were introduced: Marie Adams, speech; Lee Delcamp, helping teacher; Marie Friedemann, nurse; and tutor, Beth Tobin. Each told briefly what her particular work is. Mr. Wojcik was also presented.

The reading teacher, Mrs. Maitland, explained the child's folder, the charts, and the program being carried on. Mothers were requested to keep the child's calendar up to date and return it at the end of each month.

The staff and workers of South school were entertained at the close of the parents' party.

KINDERGARTEN—

Room 3

Teacher: Mrs. Bower

October has been a busy month for all of us in room 3. Scott Frisinger and his family invited us out to their woods for a nature walk. We all saw beautiful trees, gathered nuts and leaves and had a perfect day. Many thanks to the Frisinger family for their kindness.

Oct. 15 we walked to Chelsea's fire station and saw all the fire trucks. We heard about how we all can practice fire safety. Chief Gaken and Fireman Adams let us each hold the fire hose. We want to thank them for our fine day and the good suckers we enjoyed on our way home.

Our room is now filled with Halloween preparations. Orange is the color of the month. Black cats and witches are in many of our stories.

Danielle Osborne and Mark Melish are new students in our afternoon class. Mrs. Lee Delcamp is our new helping teacher at South school. We are all enjoying her assistance each day.

Keep Halloween safe and happy!

Room 1

Teacher: Mrs. Van Blaricum

Halloween crept upon us this year! We have been busy watching the leaves turn and fall to the ground. Each day someone finds a woolly bear caterpillar for us to see. On our walk to the fire station we saw squirrels gathering nuts. Many thanks to Chief Gaken and Fireman Adams who showed us through the fire station. We enjoyed it all and learned much too.

We have been talking about colors, and we are bringing in different magazines with pictures to put on our color charts. We have also made color books which we have taken home when we could name all the colors.

Open house is always fun and we kept some of our pictures at school for our parents to see. The cats, witches, owls and jack-o-lanterns looked great flying from the lights!

Halloween is always fun. We bring our costumes to school and then dress up to parade around. Many thanks to the room mothers for the goodies and for giving us their time. It is always nice to have parents in the room. We welcome you to visit us. Let us know when you want to come, so we can let you know about our schedules. We leave the room for art, music and physical education.

Our birthday people for October are: Lynn Eder, Katie Ryan, Robby Burg, Lori Dettling, Chris Rush and Tammy Yost.

FIRST GRADE—

Room 19

Teacher: Mrs. Schiller

Our days are so busy! Everyone has finished their first reading book and many are already in their third. We know lots and lots of words now, and we can even figure out new ones if we think about the letters and the sounds they make. In arithmetic we are adding and subtracting numbers. Sometimes we forget what the symbol is telling us to do.

We sponged painted fall trees full of color. In science we made a book about how seeds travel. We are bringing in signs of fall.

It was fun getting our room ready for open house, even though we sometimes had to do our handwriting over to make it our best. The pumpkin-poem mobiles made the room look like a pumpkin patch. Thanks for visiting our class! Happy Halloween!

Room 17

Teacher: Mrs. Thpdeson

Last week Jim Eisenbaiser brought in a chrysalis. The next morning a Monarch butterfly had emerged and was drying its wings. We watched it for awhile and then let it go outside.

We enjoyed the Wizard of Oz program. We made pictures of our favorite scene. After a nature walk we saw fall colors we sponged painted fall trees.

Mrs. Williams brought Shauna's pet skunk, Daisy, to school one afternoon. Daisy is very affectionate. She likes all kinds of food especially spaghetti.

We are studying how plants and animals prepare for winter. Plants are shedding seeds which travel by many ways. Martha Koernke brought in a neat collection of seeds mounted and labeled. It is on display on our science table.

No October birthdays but Happy Halloween everyone!

Room 4

Teacher: Miss De Vries

Miss De Vries' class is getting very excited about open house and Halloween. However, we still are working hard and learning a lot.

In reading we are having a great time with our gumball machine. Only our machine is special. It has words instead of gum!

In math we have mastered addition and subtraction up to the number five. Now we have begun to work with money. In our math books are neat candy stores that we visit and buy lots of goodies.

We now have 231 Campbell Soup labels! We are doing a good job collecting them. Someday we might even get 1000.

Room 4 has had two birthdays this October: Heidi Ratzlaff and Kelly Robertson. All the ghosts, bats, owls and spiders in Room 4 wish you a spooky Halloween!

Room 1

Teacher: Mrs. Thornton

Reporters: Shelly Boham, Kirk Eubanks, John Jedele, and Brenda Rush

October birthday: Kim Collins. October has been a very busy and fun month. We have enjoyed our picnic, the puppet show, open house, and Halloween. The puppet show was fun and a little scary. The puppets looked quite big on the stage, but after the program we got to see them, and they were small.

We are going to learn about tens and ones in math class. We know how to add and subtract now. We continue to learn many new skills in reading. We are very proud of our reading and doing our worksheets. In handwriting we are copying a poem about a little squirrel. This can be hard work!

We have enjoyed the many rocks that Mrs. Morin brought to show us. She is telling and showing us how rocks are polished. We are also trying to collect different kinds of seeds.

The builders are starting to build the addition on the school. It is interesting to see the big machines and trucks.

We are so happy that Mrs. Smith, our reading helper, is with us this year. She likes to write books that we can read. We get to take the books home.

Have a happy Halloween!

SECOND GRADE—

Room: 5

Teacher: Mrs. Lopez

We all enjoyed our trip to the fire station and want to thank the Chief and all the firemen. They explained all about the fireman's job and even gave us a candy treat. We are especially grateful to Mrs. Leisinger and Mrs. Stoddard who went on the walk with us.

We have been busy making puppets for the characters in the books we read, and it was fun to show them.

Many children have brought instruments to demonstrate sound for science class. Mike Coffman and Kelly Hawker brought bells. Tom Sturgeon and Tony Bush brought their guitars. Others have made instruments as the drums and rattle to show the class.

We are happy that our class has contributed 270 Campbell labels to the drive. Let's all remember to save those labels!

Room 10

Teachers: Mrs. White and Mrs. Schluppe

Our class has been reading books and writing our own stories as well. For each book we read, a foot (of construction paper) is taped to the window. Mrs. White has taught us a word game called Conductor. It is fun!

We have a new member in our

Circuit Court Proceedings

class. She is Roxie, our guinea pig. She looks like a skunk! Last week we walked to the fire station. Chief Gaken, Yvonne's father, showed us many things. We had a bucket brigade and sprayed the fire hose.

In math we are learning to measure in inches and feet. We are also starting to learn about fractions.

We hope you have a safe and happy Halloween!

Lester H. Harrison, 55, of Chelsea, stood mute to a charge of assault with intent to rape. Not guilty plea was entered by the court. Trial date will be set by the court.

Robert Smith, 19, of Cassidy Lake Technical School, was sentenced to serve from nine months to five years consecutive with his current term for escape from prison.

Robert L. Barry, 48, of Chelsea, was sentenced to serve from three years and four months to five years, with credit for 47 days already spent in jail, at a penal facility to be determined by the Michigan Corrections Commission for carrying a concealed weapon in an auto.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

I find it necessary to set the record straight after reading the letter of Mr. Clive Dickens. Mr. Dickens has several misconceptions which can only serve to confuse the citizens of Chelsea.

First, he seems to have the opinion that the Michigan Association of Railroad Passengers is a bunch of train nuts who go around painting old depots. MARP is a political organization, whose top officers are registered legislative agents, and who work toward improving rail service in Michigan. Since we are state-wide (with members in Chelsea) we are not an "outside organization." We have thus far gotten one new train for Michigan (Port Huron-Chicago), and will have succeeded in getting two more by the end of the year, including the one which will be stopping in Chelsea. We chose to paint the Chelsea depot, not because "it's there," but because (a) the station is an inherent historical part of the community, (b) to demonstrate that ordinary citizens will personally work for renewal of rail service, (c) because the state of Michigan (which is funding the new train) had no money to provide for shelter for the passengers. After realizing that passengers would be left out in the elements, MARP found that Sam Johnson was leasing the station from the Penn Central for storage for gambles. Mr. Johnson, after hearing the situation, offered to allow the passengers about 15 percent of the interior area so they wouldn't have to wait in the rain and snow. Mr. Johnson isn't getting anything for this, and in fact, has contributed generously out of his own pocket. The other citizens who have helped are doing so for the same reason.

Mr. Dickens seems to feel that because crossing signals can't be installed at this time, that no civic projects should be undertaken on Penn Central property. Since when do two wrongs make a right? I have seen the crossing at Freer Rd. and agree that it needs a signal. But what on earth does that have to do with the depot project? Penn Central isn't getting any benefit from the depot project—the passengers are.

Mr. Dickens must bring himself to realize that the Penn Central is presently losing almost $55,000 per day. It cannot begin to afford the installation of signals at its thousands of grade crossings in several states. As for the attitude of the Penn Central, I have worked with executives from the railroad on several other projects in the state, and have found them to be extremely co-operative, helpful, and civic minded; they have gone out of their way to help not only MARP, but other groups, cities and villages.

The fact that the depot project is going forward so rapidly does not mean that the community of Chelsea cannot begin a drive for a crossing signal—such a fund drive would make an excellent community project. In the meantime, Mr. Dickens might be interested to know that MARP is a participant in an Interstate Commerce Commission Proceeding (Ex Parte No. 277, Sub-No. 2) which is seeking to upgrade tracks. In this proceeding, thousands of pages of testimony have been filed, and MARP is recommending that one of the first steps should be the replacement of grade crossings with bridges and/or viaducts, or their elimination entirely. This would involve every grade crossing over which passenger trains run. Final decisions on the matter have not yet been made, but several of the railroads have agreed with MARP's position that one way or another, crossings should be eliminated when the tracks are upgraded.

If Mr. Dickens is serious about the Freer Rd. crossing, perhaps he should join MARP instead of nay-saying our efforts in other areas.

Sincerely yours,
John DeLora,
Chairman, Michigan Association of Railroad Passengers
Grosse Pointe.

Dear Editor:

The recent letter deploring the campaign to renovate the Penn Central depot as a case of misdirected priorities in relation to the need for other crossing signals implies that the two projects are closely related. They are not. The installation of each crossing signal set would cost on the order of $10,000. Rail unions and rail management do not allow volunteers to do any work whatsoever on railroad right-of-way or signal systems.

The federal Congress has favorably considered legislation to provide federal highway money to aid in the installation of crossing signals, since they are at least in part necessitated by highways and automobiles.

It would seem entirely inappropriate to mount a campaign to raise through small charitable contributions $10,000 or more to give to the railroad for signals.

In contrast the depot and grounds are being leased for principally non-railroad use. The wooden 92-year-old building is a remarkably unaltered example of American railroad gothic, an art form just coming into prominence among architects and historians. The depot is closely tied to the history of Chelsea and the recollections of its people.

However, the building is rapidly deteriorating due to the effects of neglect and weather. With the announcement that Chelsea had been selected to receive AMTRAK service, efforts to renovate the depot were greatly intensified. The proposed alternative to renovation was a three-sided tin shelter costing the taxpayers at least $1,000. AMTRAK and the State Department of Transportation could not fund the historical renovation of the building. The Penn Central, although genuinely sympathetic and helpful in other ways, could not afford to renovate the building. The Village of Chelsea government could not afford the cost either. The final alternative was to ask for private contributions. The original cash requirements were estimated to be $2,000, but the receipt of material donations has now reduced this sum to $1,500. A fund drive has raised 70 percent of the required amount and renovation is underway with volunteer labor. Chelsea should be proud of this accomplishment.

For this $1,500 Chelsea is saving an architecturally and historically significant structure while also providing itself with a depot for passenger service. The renovation has already sparked the establishment of the Chelsea Historical Society. The building is certainly suitable for petition to be listed on both the Michigan and National Register of Historic Buildings. The owners of the building, the Penn Central, will be far more inclined to eventually sell or perhaps give the building to the city, or a resident sympathetic to the cause, or the Chelsea Historical Society. This seems to me an entirely noble use of $1,500 which does not detract in any way from the high priority rightfully afforded crossing signal installations.

John Guidinger.

ALL SPRUCED UP, although no trains are stopping yet, is Chelsea's historic railroad depot, which now sports a pale green and forest green paint job and gold-on-black signs. The depot is being renovated by interested local people and members of the Michigan Association of Railroad Passengers (MARP) which initiated the project. Currently the primary need to complete the restoration is for workers to repair the badly-leaking roof. Those interested in giving a hand (particularly those inclined to carpentry) at the depot should volunteer themselves at the depot Saturday mornings and Sunday afternoons.

ENERGY SENSE:

Bicycle History Traced

By John C. Sawhill
Federal Energy Administrator

Do you know the history of the bike you ride? Well, we happen to be at a very important juncture in the history of America's more than 70 million pedaling machines, so let's take a look at where all this pedaling began and where it's going.

We can thank a Frenchman, Monsieur de Sivrac for those week-ends of pleasure we spend on the bicycle. He invented the bike back in the 18th century by throwing a rough wooden bar on two wheels and attaching a padded saddle. His contraption, called the "celerifere" was a far cry from today's ten-speed beauties. It had no brakes, no steering wheel, no pedals, but it was a start.

We had to wait until 1816 before a German, Baron von Drais, mounted the front wheel of his bike in a fork that could be swiveled, to give the world its first bike with steering. The Baron's bike which he modestly called the "Draisine" later appeared in England with such luxurious extras as an adjustable saddle, cushioned arm rests and handle bars.

It's not until the 1890's that we can jump across the Atlantic to find that the bicycle had become truly popular in America. With free-wheeling brakes added to the bike in 1896, it became a widely used mode of cheap transportation, especially for urban Americans who could not afford the expense of maintaining a horse and carriage.

The bicycle gave America its first taste of the freedom we associate with individual mechanized transportation. But with the invention of the automobile and the availability of abundant, cheap petroleum products, we Americans in the twentieth century left bicycles to our children and styled our lives and livelihood around the automobile.

Today, in the new era of high cost energy, the role of the bicycle is changing. Parents are still buying bikes for their children, but they are also buying bikes for themselves.

This year more bicycles will be sold in America than new cars, and by 1980 there may, very well be more bikes pedaled each day on American roads than automobiles driven.

For years it's been that way in Europe where the bicycle was invented and where gasoline has always cost about twice what it costs here.

So it looks like we Americans are learning a lesson Europeans have known for years—that pedal power is one healthful, practical way to beat the high cost of petroleum energy.

Cooling systems in today's cars have to meet the greater heat-producing demands of anti-pollution devices and accessories like air conditioners and automatic transmissions. A mixture of about 50 percent anti-freeze, 50 percent water allows the coolant temperature to operate well above the normal boiling point of water. As a matter of fact, dashboard warning lights in late model cars are set to turn red when the coolant reaches a temperature of 245 to 257 degrees F.

As important as freeze-up and overheating protection, today's anti-freeze contains special rust and corrosion inhibitors which prevent the formation of sediment which can clog passages in the cooling system and cause engine damage from overheating. Anti-freeze usually "wears out" when the coolant level low—motorists add plain water instead of the recommended 50-50 anti-freeze-water combination. This dilutes the anti-freeze, resulting in a loss of some freeze-up and corrosion protection.

If sediment is present, it is advisable to have the cooling system drained and flushed and fresh anti-freeze installed. If no sediment is present, the coolant should be checked for sufficient anti-freeze strength.

The corrosion inhibitors in anti-freeze become "used up" in time. How long they last depends on several factors including mileage and how clean the cooling system was when the present anti-freeze was installed.

Car manufacturers' recommendations for changing the coolant vary from two to three years for late-model cars. Some anti-freeze manufacturers, on the other hand, recommend a yearly draining, flushing and refilling of the cooling system with fresh anti-freeze as the best possible means of preventive maintenance.

★ The Multi-Functions of Anti-Freeze

Anti-freeze has come a long way from the days when motorists relied on alcohol to keep the water in their cars' radiators from freezing. The problem was that, when the engine got hot, the alcohol boiled away, and with it the motorist's anti-freeze protection. Today's "permanent" type anti-freeze with ethylene glycol as a base is made for year-round use, and when mixed with an equal amount of water in the car's cooling system, protects against both freezing and overheating by lowering the freezing point and raising the boiling point.

Cooling systems in today's cars have to meet the greater heat-producing demands of anti-pollution devices and accessories like air conditioners and automatic transmissions. A mixture of about 50 percent anti-freeze, 50 percent water allows the coolant temperature to operate well above the normal boiling point of water. ## Travel Trimmings Highlight Turkey Month

The crisp autumn days and bright things with frost, and the crunch of leaves underfoot and the cheer of football fans. Season with antique shows, silent movie classics, sports events, red-coated hunters and a sprinkle of Christmas and you have November in Michigan.

According to the Michigan Tourist Council's Calendar of Travel Events, the month opens with hundreds of things to do yourself and you can see them all at the Hobby, Arts and Crafts Show, Nov. 1-3 at the Eight Mile Armory, Detroit. In addition to the arts and crafts created by amateurs and professionals, the show will feature daily seminars, workshops and instruction. All items displayed will be for sale.

Coin and "cotton" take the spotlight Nov. 2 in Kalamazoo. Both the Tri-County Rabbit Show and the Kalamazoo Coin Club's Coin Show will be holding forth in the County Center Building. "The Patsy," starring Marion Davies, will be the Nov. 3 presentation of the Henry Ford Museum's Famous Early Movies series from the silent days. On Nov. 10, another 1928 silent classic, "The Cameraman," starring Buster Keaton in one of his finest comic roles. In the Museum itself, a special exhibit, "Styles and Tastes in the Decorative Arts, 1885-1915" will be on display through Nov. 24.

The 5th annual Fall Fine Arts Show, Nov. 6-10, in the Meridian Mall, Okemos is a showcase for professional artists. The works will be juried and many will be for sale. Recent paintings by Paul Roberts, Western Michigan University Professor of Art, will be on exhibit Nov. 8-27 at the Kalamazoo Institute of Art, Kalamazoo.

Yesterdays' tastes and treasures are the star attractions at the 27th annual Antiques Market and Sale, Nov. 14-16 at the Masonic Temple, Temple and Second Sts., Detroit. In addition to a wide variety of antiques and collectibles for browsing and buying, visitors may take home home-made treats from the Pantry Shelf, pick-up hand-made Christmas gifts and decorations, see demonstrations of canning, rushing and other forgotten crafts and enjoy a number of other out-of-the-ordinary attractions. Antiques come to the fore again Nov. 30-Dec. 1 with the Genesee Valley Antiques Dealers Association Show and Sale. The show will be held at the Hamady Junior High School, one block east of the I-75 and Pierson Rd. exit near Flint.

Deer season opens in Michigan Nov. 15 and that's the signal for Grayling's annual Red Coat Roundup, Nov. 14-16. Highlight of the event is the traditional community buck pole. To be eligible for buck pole prizes, all hunters must have a 1974 Red Coat Roundup button.

Michigan Speed Skating competition opens its season Nov. 30-Dec. 1 with the City Indoor Championships at Alpena.

The first sparkles of Christmas begin showing up this month with a Christmas Walk and Green Sale, Nov. 15-16 in Battle Creek. Next, on Nov. 24, Frankfort holds its first annual Christmas Lighting ceremony. Santa arrives in Milford Nov. 30, escorted by the annual Christmas Parade and one of the season's top favorites, Fantasyland at Kennedy Memorial Center, Lincoln Park, opens Nov. 30 for the enchantment of all ages through Dec. 24. This old fashioned Christmas display includes delightful animated scenes, impish elves and pixies, a street of toy shops, candy store, bell ringers and a giant doll house inhabited by 500 dolls. And last, but definitely not least, Hudson's "fantabulous" Thanksgiving Day parade in downtown Detroit.

For a complete listing of November's events in Michigan and a look at what's coming up in December, write for a free copy of the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 48926. Michigan residents, out of the Lansing area, can call-toll free-for travel and vacation information by dialing 1-800-292-2620. Residents of Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania dial 1-800-248-9610.

IMPROVING PLANT EFFICIENCY

Many years of basic plant research are about to pay off in increased crop productivity. Michigan State University biochemists are evaluating synthetic chemicals that slow down photosynthesis—the breathing process of plants. Reducing photosynthesis makes more energy available for plant growth and crop production. The technique could be used to increase growth and production in all crops. These synthetic chemicals should be in widespread commercial use within the next 10 years.

STEVENSON

NEW LEADERSHIP EARLE STEVENSON IS PREPARED

Maturity, Education, Business and Planning Experience

Earle's FINANCE background can work to:

- Rewrite the total State Tax Structure, as was done with the Constitution in 1963, and submit the package to a vote of the people.
- Establish permanent, business-type WATCHDOG CONTROLS to eliminate waste before it happens.
- Provide more jobs by modernizing Michigan's antiquated investment laws:
 —help industry to get expansion capital
 —encourage non-automotive industry to get start-up capital
 —help public utilities reduce their borrowing costs to slow the increase in rates
- Increase competition by new anti-trust laws to help cut inflation:
 —non-competitive distribution costs, not the farmer, are the main reasons behind rising prices
 —better balance interests of consumer versus public utilities

Earle's ENGINEERING background can work to:

- See that all alternatives are considered so as to weigh cost against engineering feasibility
- Mass transit is expensive, the public should not be deceived! But, innovative engineering needs encouragement to make it happen
- Proper planning based on Engineering, Not Emotion, can result in practical solutions.
- Consumer protection legislation requires a balance between engineering feasibility and economic reasonableness
- Local water and sewer programs need state engineering and financial aid to insure lowest costs to villages and townships

Can Earle turn Lansing around? No ONE man can.

Earle is a natural leader among leaders and can be the beginning of a NEW LOOK in Lansing.

We need at least ONE ENGINEER in Lansing
 We need NEW LEADERSHIP in Lansing
 We need EARLE STEVENSON in Lansing

Exotic Steer Calves Head MABC Sale

Forty-five top exotic-cross steer calves headline Michigan Animal Breeders Co-operative Club calf steer auction Nov. 9. According to Robert Brubacher, MABC Beef Sales Specialist, the calves are hand-picked to compete in next summer's steer shows. The calves are a result of crossing the large breeds of Simmental, Maine Anjou and Chianina on beef cows from Michigan and Indiana. The second MABC Exotic Harvest Opportunity Sale features over 150 head of three quarter, half bloods—bred and open heifers of the three major exotic breeds, with the steer calves auctioned immediately following the heifer sale at the Michigan Livestock Exchange, Manchester. For further information and catalogs contact Michigan Animal Breeders Co-operative, (517) 351-3180.

"Bob Carr won more than my vote."

"Labor Day weekend my little grandson was killed in an auto accident. We wanted my son, Steve, to come home for the funeral but he was in the Army on maneuvers. We called his commanding officer, the Chaplain, the Red Cross. Nothing.

"Finally, we called Bob Carr. He and his staff took time from their busy campaign and worked all day to help me get Steve home. I know that without Bob's help, Steve never would have made it in time."

SEC ROUND-UP:

Possible Four-Way Tie Develops With Novi's 1st Loss Since 1971

The unthinkable is coming into mind in the Southeastern Conference, where Novi's Friday loss to Lincoln raised the possibilities of a four-way tie for the league championship between the Wildcats, Chelsea, Saline, and South Lyon.

Only a Novi loss next Friday and a victory from each of the other squads will allow this eventuality to emerge, however, but SEC squads all around the league are brushing off the playbooks in anticipation.

Lincoln 14, Novi 13—Novi's Wildcats lost their first game since 1971 Friday night, under not the most desirable of circumstances.

Novi, trailing with seconds remaining, scored on a Pat McAllen-to-Mike Collins pass to put the score at 14-13, then elected to kick, planning on a tie and then an overtime.

A bad snap, however, forced Novi to attempt to run, and Rail-splitter defensive end Ron Dumas downed the ball-carrier just outside of the endzone.

Lincoln scoring came in the first and third quarters, when Tim Hess ran 70 yards in the opening period, then grabbed a 64-yard pass from Brian Polzin in the third quarter. He also kicked both Lincoln extra points.

Chelsea 13, Milan 7—Bulldogs eliminated Milan from title contention Friday, dumping them back behind the second-place pack at 3-3.

Tough Bulldog quarterback Todd Orthing engineered both of Chelsea's touchdowns, uncorking a 21-yard scoring pass to Paul Wood and a 24-yard number to Jim Boyer. Isthmian Picklesmier kicked one extra point.

Milan opened the scoring on a 10-yard Al Tallas to Kevin Keefe pass, added a Greg Keilman kick for the point-after, and then stagnated the rest of contest.

Saline 8, Brighton 6—Hornets took a squeaker from Brighton to maintain their second-place status, although Brighton put up a ruckus near the end of the game, with a touchdown and unsuccessful two-point run attempt.

Saline scored first early in the game, when Larry Lindeman chased and caught Bulldog quarterback Bob Schmidt in the end zone to score a safety.

The Saline 2-0 lead held up until the third quarter, when Al Kaufman dove three yards to complete a Hornets scoring drive.

Brighton's TD with two minutes remaining in the game came on an 18-yard pass from Bob Schmidt to Paul Almashy. Tim Colley's attempt for two points failed.

South Lyon 12, Dexter 6—Defense ruled the entire South

Lyon-Dexter encounter, except for the first quarter, when both squads rolled up their only points. Dexter opened the scoring when Mark Cunningham went into the end zone on a one-yard keeper that completed a 60-yard drive. Lion Mitch Vibber responded to the Dreadnaught points with a 40-yard TD run. Later in the quarter, a Dexter fumble initiated another Lion drive, which ended with a Ray Foley pass 19 yards to Dan Cherecko for the touchdown.

With the victory, South Lyon remains enmeshed in a second place tie at 4-2 with Chelsea and Saline.

Anti-Freeze Becomes Valuable, Scarce Item This Winter Season

Possible shortages in anti-freeze supplies coupled with skyrocketing prices make it essential that motorists take immediate steps as part of their winter car care program to insure that their auto's cooling system is in top working order, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Auto Club points out that while an engine tune-up for winter driving probably isn't necessary, provided motorists have followed maintenance programs in the owners' manuals, a thorough inspection of the car's cooling system is a must.

A broken radiator hose could result in the loss of up to $10 worth of scarce anti-freeze," states Robert Smith, Auto Club's Emergency Road Service manager.

An Auto Club spot check on the availability of anti-freeze at Michigan service stations shows that it has become a rare and valuable liquid in some areas, with prices nearly doubling from last year.

"Of 50 stations surveyed in the Metropolitan Detroit area and eight out-state cities, 70 percent are uncertain if anti-freeze supplies will last through the winter," Smith points out.

"In fact, only eight station operators are expecting to receive at least the same anti-freeze allotments as last year," he adds. "The remainder either anticipate reduced supplies or are uncertain about their allotments."

"Equally discouraging to motorists is the price, which has increased considerably because of the skyrocketing cost of crude oil, from which anti-freeze is derived," he says.

The average price for a gallon of anti-freeze at Michigan service stations has zoomed from about $3 to $4 last year to $6 to $8, with anti-freeze selling for as much as $9.95.

Although Auto Club warns against panic buying, which could cause even more severe problems in anti-freeze availability, motorists are urged to have their cooling systems inspected.

Radiators should be checked to be sure the coolant protects to at least 20 degrees below zero. In most cars, a mixture of half coolant and half water will protect radiators to 20 to 34 degrees below zero.

"Persons who still have anti-freeze in radiators left from last winter should check it for strength as well as insuring that it is free of sediment and has enough rust inhibitor," Smith warns.

Hoses, radiator and pressure cap should be inspected, as well as the thermostat. An improper thermostat for winter operation could result in excess engine wear and improper heater operation.

Auto Club emphasizes that motorists who have neglected car maintenance may need an engine tune-up.

"Since a car's battery and electrical system are the key ingredients in cold-weather starting, special emphasis must be placed on these areas for safe, trouble-free winter driving," Smith states.

The battery should be inspected to be sure it will carry a full charge, and it is free of cracks and corrosion. Battery cables also should be clean and tight.

The average battery is capable of delivering only 61 percent of its power on a zero-degree morning, yet it must start an engine that offers almost two-and-a-half times more resistance than in summer.

Since more than 44 percent of winter car problems are caused by ignition system failures, other major parts of this system also should be thoroughly checked, including points. If they are old and worn, they won't deliver peak power to each spark plug, especially during cold weather.

Spark plugs should be cleaned or replaced if worn. A corroded plug puts unnecessary strain on a battery since it needs more electricity to function than a new clean plug. Attention also should be given to the alternator and voltage regulator to help prevent mid-winter electrical problems.

These winter checks also should be made: —Tires should have adequate tread depth. Snow tires may be installed where conditions demand. —Engine oil should be switched to multi-weight 10W-30 since this thin oil eases cranking resistance of the motor's moving parts on cold mornings.

—Wiper blades should be in good working shape and a winter solvent should be added to the windshield washer reserve bottle. —A general safety check emphasizing brakes, headlights, exhaust, heating and defrosting systems should be made.

Motorists also should remember to keep the fuel tank as full as possible during cold weather to avoid water condensation in the tank resulting in frozen fuel lines.

WORK OF ART? When Whistler completed the portrait of a celebrity, the artist asked him how he liked it. "I can't say as I do Mr. Whistler, you must admit it's a bad work of art."

"Yes," replied Whistler, "but then you must admit you are a bad work of nature."

Vacation Farms

Sought Which Take City Visitors

Are there vacation farms in Michigan? B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, would like to know.

In many states, Ball said, farmers invite city folk to live with them for a week or two, join in the chores if they like and enjoy the fresh air and fun of the open spaces.

"It is good to learn there is more to farming than planting seeds in the earth and watching them grow," Ball said. "When a city child drinks milk he may believe it originated in the supermarket. Watching the cows being milked will be a revelation. Eating his vegetables might become a pleasure when he's seen ears of corn on the stalks, crisp cucumbers on the vine and has helped to dig potatoes in the field."

Feeding the chickens and petting the calves are other joys for children on the farm, Ball added. Ball said getting back to the soil is also a good experience for adults. "Everyone is concerned about food these days, but not everyone understands the work involved in growing food. Living on a farm for a brief period would bring about person-to-person contact between farmers and consumers," he said.

If any Michigan farmers take paying guests, they are asked to drop Ball a line, addressed to him at Michigan Department of Agriculture, Lewis Cass Building, Lansing 48913.

YOU & YOUR CAR

★ Seat Belt Usage Would Cut Car Cost

Before the government-mandated interlock seat belt system was introduced on 1974 model cars, only 20 to 25 percent of U.S. motorists buckled up regularly. That figure has climbed to from 50 to 55 percent seat belt usage among motorists having the interlocks, but the latest surveys indicate that even that number of seat belt wearers is starting to decline as more people attempt to "beat" the interlock system.

It's human nature for a person to believe he will not be involved in an automobile accident, but the fact remains that motor vehicle accidents are the fifth-ranking cause of death among all ages and the leading cause of death among people age 24 and under. The estimated cost of automobile accidents in 1972 in terms of insurance premiums, maintaining medical services, etc., was $50 billion.

According to the Automotive Information Council, the first priority still should be increased efforts to reduce the number of accidents by removing the human and mechanical causes such as driving while intoxicated, driving too fast for conditions and failure to maintain vehicles in good mechanical repair.

A mandatory seat belt law under which motorists would be fined if they were not buckled up in a moving car equipped with seat belts has been introduced in 30 states, but is currently in effect only in one city in Ohio and in Puerto Rico.

In Victoria, Australia, a seat belt-use law cut traffic fatalities the first year by 20 percent—the first decline in traffic fatalities there in 38 years—and greatly reduced the severity of accident injuries. Eye injuries, for example, showed a decline of 300 percent.

A mandatory seat belt use law is an alternative to such auto occupant protection as the current interlock system, which adds about $80 to the cost of the car, and the proposed air bags that automatically inflate on frontal impact, and add about $300 to the cost of the car plus another $70 to maintain the system even if it never deploys. Air bags, furthermore, do not inflate on side impact accidents, so vehicle occupants would still need to wear seat belts for maximum protection.

Clinton Fisk Receives First

4-H Horse Leadership Award

The first recipient of the Knapp Memorial 4-H Horse Leadership Award is Clinton Fisk of Manchester, Washtenaw county 4-H leader. The award for outstanding contribution to the Michigan 4-H Horse Program was presented at the Annual Conference of the Adult 4-H Horse Leaders at Kettner Center, Tustin, on Oct. 18.

Clinton has been involved in 4-H for 13 years. He has lead leather, woodworking, archery and photography in addition to horses. He has served on the horse and leathercraft developmental committees in Washtenaw county, serving four years on the Horse Committee.

He served for three years on the State 4-H Horse Developmental Committee, serving as secretary of this group. Clinton has judged horse shows, and also public speaking demonstrations, and Share-the-Fun Contests, in various counties of Michigan. For many years Clinton has been the voice of the State 4-H Horse Show as head announcer. He is the dean of Michigan Judging Contest tabulators, and has worked in the background of many state judging contests.

The Knapp Memorial 4-H Horse Leadership Award was established in 1973 to honor the late Nina Knapp, and her husband Ralph, who contributed much to the Michigan 4-H Horse Program.

Nina and Ralph both cooked for many years at the 4-H Trail Ride. Nina was one of the early members of the State 4-H Horse Developmental Committee, and served a long tenure on this committee. Nina was also head bookkeeper at the State 4-H Horse Show for many years. Ralph and Nina have also served faithfully as 4-H leaders in Van Buren county where Nina served as chairman of the county horse show.

Since its enactment, property taxes in Brighton, for example, have risen by 4 mills. ECKSTEIN: Favors the B.E.S.T. plan, which he helped write, eliminates all existing local property taxes for schools. It requires an equitable distribution of school aid funds from a corporate profits tax, a statewide industrial property tax, and the individual state income tax. Favors allocating all lottery funds to education.

SALES TAX ON FOOD

Incumbent: Voted to kill, by referring to committee, the resolution to let voters decide whether or not to repeal the sales tax on food and medicine. ECKSTEIN: Helped write Proposal "C," which will repeal this "tax on life itself," and led the petition drive in this area to place Proposal "C" on the November ballot.

CAMPAIGN REFORM

Incumbent: Voted against a limit on radio and TV advertising expenditures, against a limit on total campaign expenditures, and against limits on size of contributions to campaigns. ECKSTEIN: Advocates strict limits on contributions and total amounts spent in campaigns, and elimination of political mailings by incumbents at taxpayer expense.

POLLUTION

Incumbent: Has not pushed to cut the bureaucratic red tape which keeps Michigan polluters free from prosecution. ECKSTEIN: As environmental advisor in 1970 Democratic gubernatorial campaign, developed proposals to sue Dow Chemical Company for dumping mercury compounds. Assisted a group of air pollution victims in Howell to present their case for the first time before the Air Pollution Control Commission.

Finding Security in Retirement

FALLS

Although persons of retirement age total only about 10 percent of this nation's population, they suffer from approximately 80 percent of all home fatalities. Among those 75 or older, more are killed by falls than by motor-vehicle accidents. Listed below are some easy ways to fallproof your homes:

- Add abrasive treads or carpet to stairs to prevent slipping.
- Make rugs slip proof.
- Improve staircase handrails. Provide extra support at the top and bottom stairs.
- Light hallways well and keep them free of obstacles.
- Locate light switches directly inside the door of each room.
- But freshly waxed floors thoroughly.
- Wipe up spilled liquids and liquids immediately.
- Use a non-slip rubber mat in your bath. Add well-anchored grab bars 40 inches above floor.

- Keep bath tubs low, preferably with flat bottoms.
- Install windows that open and close easily. They should be clear of bulky items from the inside.
- Locate electrical outlets about thirty inches above floor and, out of way of furniture.
- Keep furniture standing firmly.
- Balconies and porches should have strong railings.

BUTTERFLIES

Though butterflies love to travel, they are very clumsy compared to bees. They do not store food for the winter but travel to warmer regions to hibernate in hollow trees and dark crannies of houses, or just die.

WORK DIVISION

Pueblo Indians divide man's work into woman's work according to materials. Earth is hers, wood is his. She makes pottery, builds an adobe, etc. He carves tools, timbers and so on.

"I need people like Cliff Taylor to help me and the Congress in our fight against inflation."

- President Gerald R. Ford.

Cliff Taylor wants to work with President Ford in fighting inflation. Because like President Ford, Cliff believes that one of the major causes of today's high taxes and high inflation has been the twenty years of unbalanced budgets and deficit spending by our Democrat-controlled Congress. Cliff believes that the essential first step in fighting inflation is to balance the federal budget. So that's what Cliff will work to do for you in Washington.

But more than that, Cliff Taylor will be casting an independent vote for you in Congress. As the Republican nominee, Cliff owes no debts to special-interest groups or political kingmakers; he has proved this in several ways. First, on the day he announced his candidacy, Cliff revealed his personal income, holdings, and taxes paid; second, he received widespread support in the primary election; and third, Cliff has had a policy of not accepting more than $2,000 in campaign contributions from any individual or interest group. He even returned $3,000 to one group when they tried to go over that limit.

Also, during the past several months, Cliff has personally walked to over 15,000 homes throughout the district. From this, Cliff knows what's on your mind and what you want your representative in Congress to do about it.

Cliff Taylor, then, is a man who understands the major problems facing us today. He'll be able to act on them in Congress, free from the pressure of any special-interest group. And most importantly, he'll be able to represent YOU in Washington.

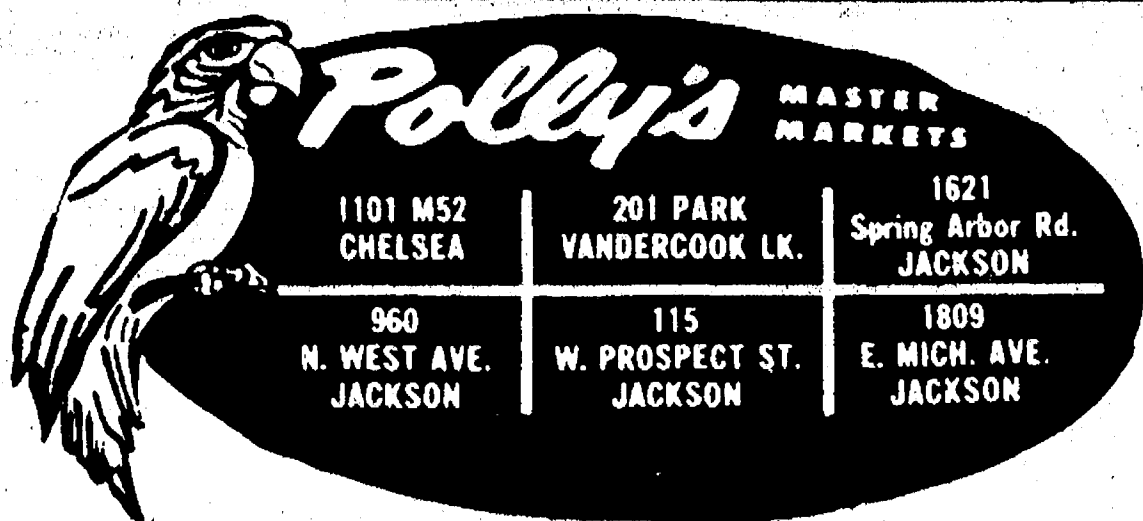

After all, isn't that what you really want in a Congressman?

- Here is a new and appealing way to help children learn words and their meanings. The Charlie Brown Dictionary is no ordinary work but a fresh, happy, educationally sound collection of words and definitions.
- Children love the over 600 Charles M. Schulz drawings of Charlie Brown and the Peanuts gang that brighten the pages. They respond to the definitions that are easy to read and understand.
- Charlie Brown himself, Snoopy wearing his dish as a hat, Linus with his security blanket, Lucy giving advice,

- all help to motivate children to learn about the over 2,500 carefully chosen words defined in these volumes.
- In addition there are 53 pages of world and state maps and facts to make geography come alive.
- The Charlie Brown Dictionary uses a new educational technique developed by Wendell W. Wright, Ph.D., Dean of the School of Education, University of Indiana. The result is a true children's classic of eight colorful, hard cover volumes that belong in every home.

Bursley Record

18th Senate District

Serving Parts of Lenawee, Livingston, Jackson and Washtenaw Counties

A Voter's Guide to Gil Bursley

*Here's A Look at State Senator
Bursley at Work in Lansing and in Your District*

ACCOMPLISHMENT

Introducer or a principal sponsor of over 100 bills enacted into Michigan law. Nationally recognized "Bursley Act"—a breakthrough in educational reform—named after Gil by the Legislature.

INTEGRITY

How does the average citizen determine integrity of an incumbent? Look at the record!

For 14 years in primary and general elections Gil has reported every campaign contribution and every campaign expenditure. Gil's floor motion to make 1974 campaign reform bill effective this election passed Senate—failed in House. He is working to put Milliken-Common Cause proposals for political reform on 1976 ballot. He has made public disclosure of his personal finances.

EXPERIENCE

During his more than 25 years of public service Gil Bursley has been an Army officer and military attache, a United Nations Observer, an American Consul, a press attache, a broadcasting consultant, a University official and a Michigan state legislator. He has served overseas, in Washington, and in Lansing.

LEADERSHIP

As Assistant Majority Leader and previously Assistant President Pro Tempore, Gil Bursley has the respect and cooperation of senators from both sides of the aisle. He has chaired more standing, select and interim committees than any other incumbent legislator. Bursley is presently known throughout the country for his leadership in educational legislation. Bursley had already been recognized internationally for his accomplishments in promoting Michigan's foreign trade.

ON THE SENATE FLOOR . . .

STUDENT FINANCIAL AID—Michigan's State Scholarship Fund legislation was Gil's creation, starting in 1964 . . . a life saver for thousands of Michigan students entering both public and private colleges.

ANN ARBOR TRANSPORTATION—Bursley sponsored the Metropolitan Transportation Act of 1967 which created SEMTA. He chaired Senate committee on mass transportation.

A single person or a large group, Gil says they should all be heard!

WHERE INDIAN TRIALS—Crossed the Huron River in Ann Arbor. As President of the Washtenaw SAR and member of the Michigan Bicentennial Commission, Gil helps ceremonial replacement of historical marker.

WITH YOUNG SALINE MUSICIANS—Senator has been honored in Saline for his long support of Musical Youth International.

SENIOR CITIZEN—Speaks out against high property taxes. The Senator solicits support for his highest legislative priority—rolling back school property taxes by one third through S.B. 1290.

ON SITE INSPECTION—At Saline's restored Mill Pond, where his help was vital in shortcutting state red tape.

CONCERN FOR THE ELDERLY—Involves visits at many retirement homes, convalescent homes and senior citizen activities. Bursley was an active supporter of the state employees and teachers retirement act in 1974.

EMERGENCY HEALTH CARE—A high priority for Gil Bursley, a member of the Health and Social Services Committee. He sponsored bills licensing social workers and physical therapists. He's a member of the U of M Medical Alumni Visiting Committee.

THAT QUESTION OF TAXES—Is an old one to Senator Bursley, former vice-chairman of Taxation committee. He currently sponsors Senate-passed bill requiring state to pay 6 percent interest on income tax refunds.

LOCAL PROBLEMS—Assists on the spot. For several years he has been a friend and advisor to Lima Township's Mill Creek Research Council. Senator Bursley sponsored the Local River Management Act, under which Huron River communities organized.

SCHOOL TEACHERS AND ADMINISTRATORS—Discuss the Bursley Act, a model finance bill. State aid to local schools has increased every year since Bursley became Chairman of the Senate Education Committee. Gil has the endorsement of the Michigan Education Association.

PLANNED PARENTHOOD LEADERS—Received Bursley-sponsored Senate Resolution honoring Dr. Alan Guttmacher, Founder of Planned Parenthood. Gil has active endorsement of ZPG.

EMU STUDENT LEADER—Discusses Bursley's pending legislation on "beer in the union", scholarships, guaranteed loans and student representation on governing boards.

THE ONE ROOM SCHOOL HOUSE—Where he talks with Gorton Riethmiller, President of the State Board of Education.

DISCUSSING UNIVERSITY AFFAIRS—Senator meeting here with U of M Regent candidate, Dona Scott Parker.

"I need Gil Bursley in the Senate; Michigan needs him there." - Governor Bill Milliken

ANN ARBOR'S SESQUICENTENNIAL—It was honored this year by Bursley-sponsored legislative resolution. Gil has previously done this for Dexter, Saline and Ypsilanti on their anniversaries. He's a member of the Michigan Society of Mayflower Descendants.

MOST MODERN—Is this medical machinery at Chelsea Medical Center's new surgical unit. Dr. Papo explains it to the Senator, long-time sponsor of health legislation.

KNOWING THE FARMERS'S VIEW—Is essential to Gil Bursley who served two years as Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture and Economic Development.

PRESENTING THE MICHIGAN FLAG—Here at Lincoln Consolidated School. It is one of dozens presented personally by the Senator to private and public schools.

ADMIRING A PRIZE WINNER—At the Saline Fair. Gil Bursley, strong supporter of 4-H activities, was principal sponsor of the Humane Slaughter Law.

TALKING HORSEMANSHIP—Visits here with Michigan Quarterhorse Association Queen.

CHILDREN—Rate high with the Chairman of Education.

AT SALINE—Police and protection problems of a rapidly growing community are discussed with the Chief.

VOICE OF BUSINESS—Heard here through Howell Chamber of Commerce leader.

SENATOR VIEWS FACTORY OPERATIONS—He sponsored the Industrial Revenue Bond Act and the State Research Fund. He supported extending unemployment compensation benefits and eliminating the "waiting week."

A Veteran Campaigner, Bursley Takes His Message To The People

Gil Bursley has always stressed personal integrity and open communication with the people.

When he first entered the Legislature he originated the legislative newsletter—now a regular Lansing feature.

Later he initiated the legislative questionnaire and the feedback has contributed to much good Michigan legislation.

His statewide public hearings on education and economic development have led to citizen input being listened to and integrated into legislation.

His committee hearings in Lansing have always been open to the public.

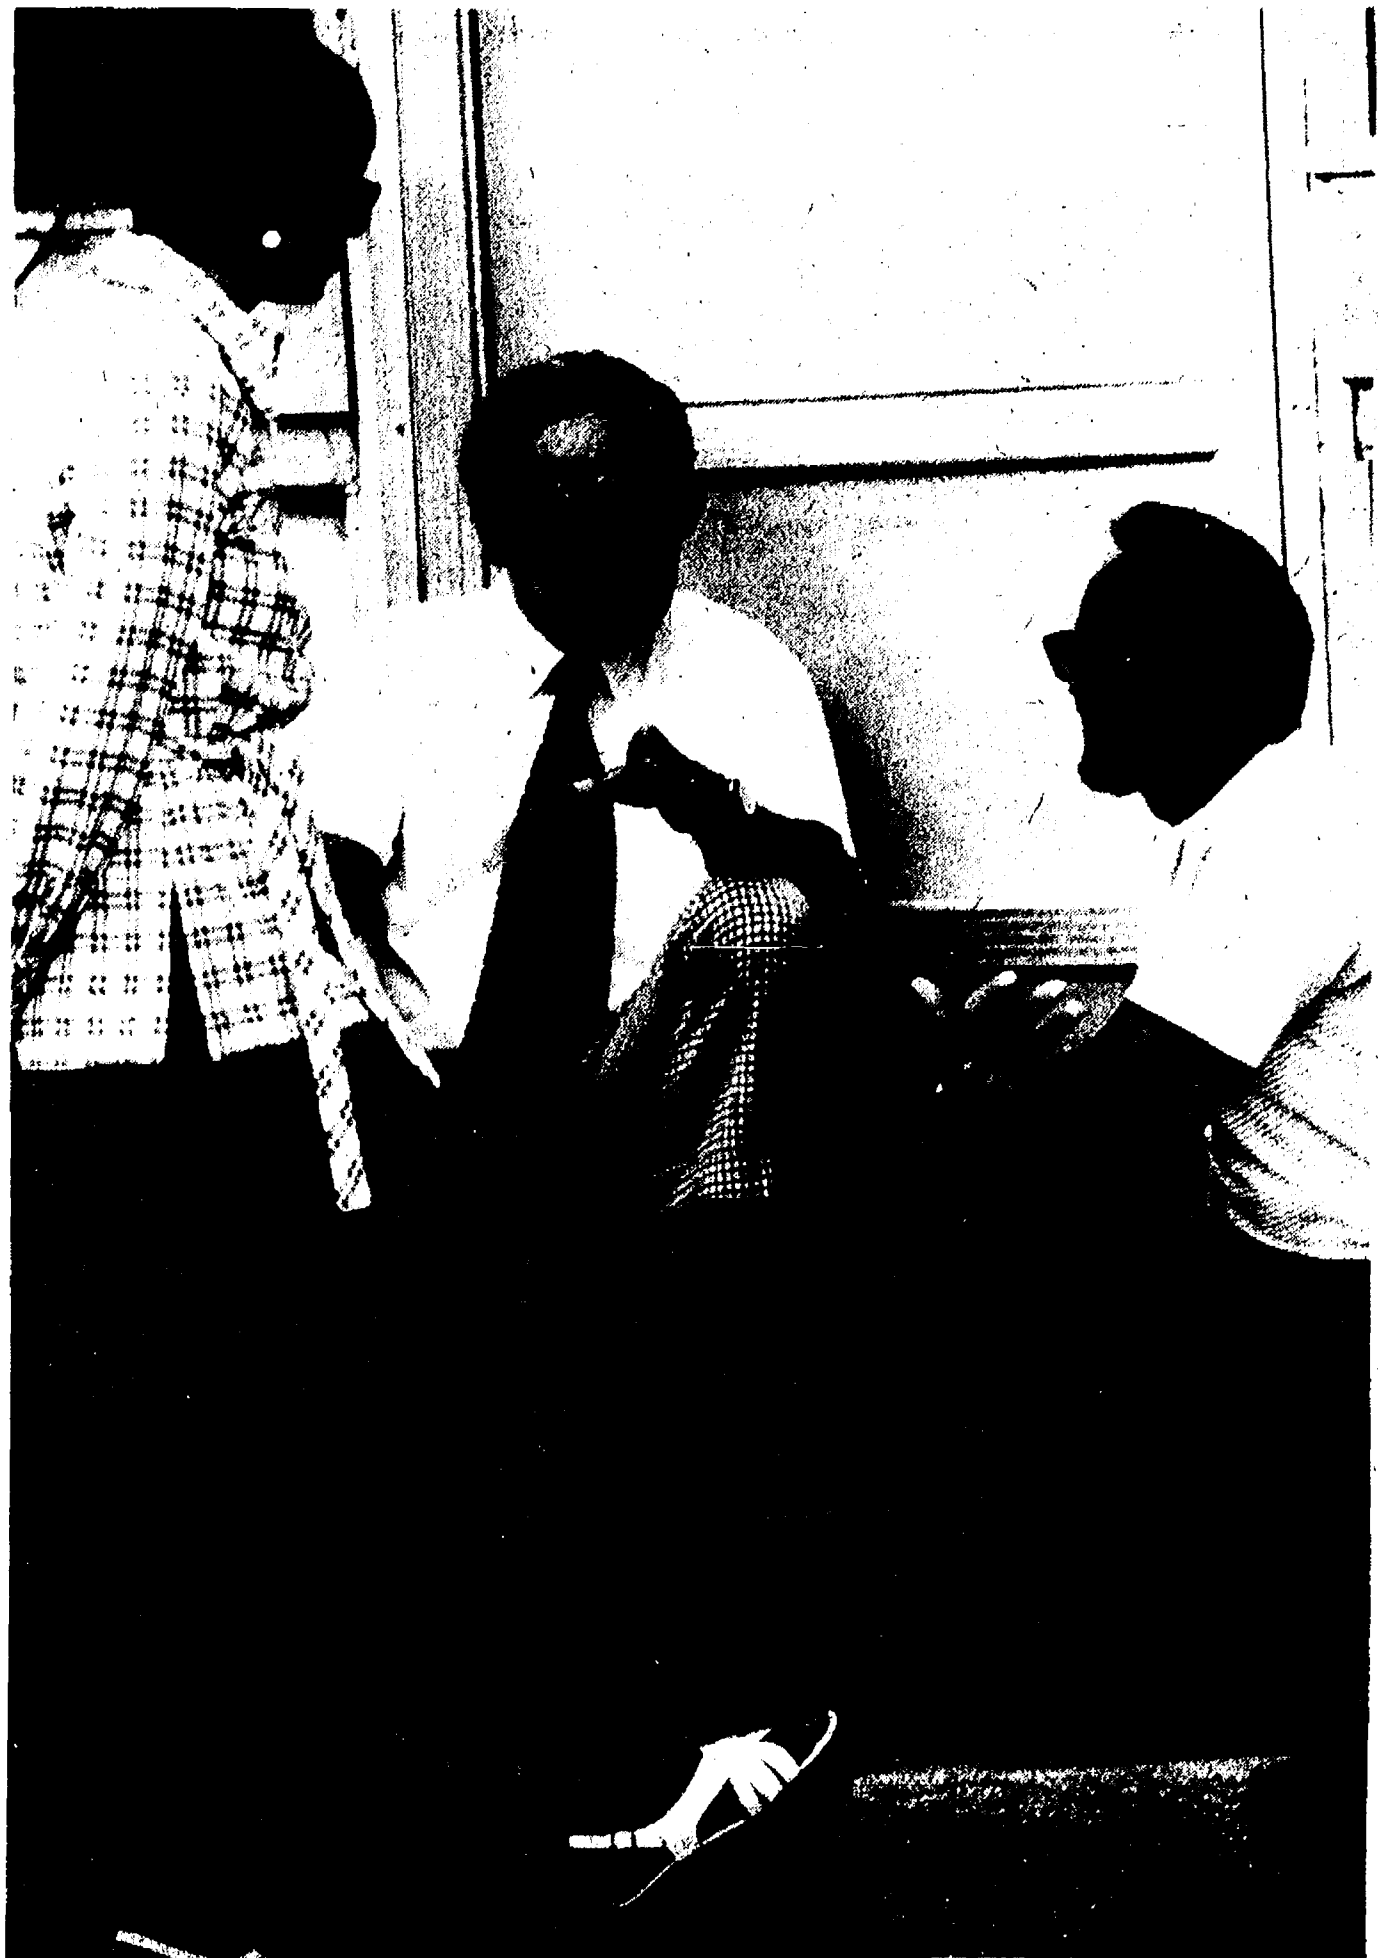

Student interns have been a regular feature in his office and their contribution is measured in terms of existent Michigan law.

Gil stresses voting.

Vote for the best qualified person! Vote for the public interest!

Vote your conscience!

But vote!

"I'm running for re-election primarily because important pending legislation for which I have major responsibility is still under active consideration and can be passed in 1975. These are matters of real concern to citizens in this area as well as in the state as a whole.

1. Rolling back the property tax for school operations (S.B. 1290)

2. Reimbursement by the state to municipalities whose tax bases are eroded by state-owned tax-exempt properties (S.B. 1305)

3. Political campaign reform in financing, conflict of interest and lobbying.

4. Improved programs and support for special education, career education, academically talented, early childhood, etc.

5. Sound and effective environmental and ecological legislation.

6. Reorganization of school districts to achieve better education and better results for the dollar.

7. Streamlining and improvement in legislative parliamentary procedures.

8. Legislation to offset or minimize effects of long-term price inflation in Michigan.

9. Establishment of Commission on Michigan's Future (Effects of land use policy, population growth, health needs, etc.)

I want to leave office when respect for government is at a high point—not a low point.

And I need your vote, November 5th. Thank you.
