Bulldog Cagers Top Columbia Central, 72-50

Chelsea cagers saved their best for last Saturday night—a 29-point outburst in the final quarter—which enabled the local squad to trounce Columbia Central, 72-50, in the 1974 season opener.

Led by senior guard Gary Wonders' 19 points and a fine defensive effort by the entire team, varsity Bulldogs triumphed over Columbia Central for the first time in several years of meeting between the two teams.

Bulldogs led throughout the contest, although at one time their lead was cut to a single point. After leading by six points at the half, 31-25, and five at the end of the third quarter, 42-37, Chelsea's 29-point uprising in the final period came as welcome relief.

Chelsea's defensive efforts were also at their peak in the final quarter, as Columbia was held scoreless for five minutes.

Starting line-up for Chelsea was Gary Wonders and Randy Musbach, guards, Ron Kiel and Dave Alber, forwards, and Rick Sweeney, center.

Coach Tom Balistrere praised Kiel for his "strong, aggressive board work that was a key factor in the victory." Kiel pulled down 11 rebounds, but encountered foul trouble early in the contest, a pair of fouls in the first quarter, and Coach Balistrere substituted first-year man Randy Davis for him in both the first and second periods. Davis, Coach Balistrere said, did "a good job."

Coach Balistrere added special words of praise for his two co-captains, Dave Alber and Rick Sweeney. "Whose leadership and poise were a key to the Bulldog victory."

Spelling his two guards, Wonders and Musbach, who were cited for their "fine defensive play" were Howard Salyer and Randy Guenth who also gave fine efforts to the contest, said Coach Balistrere.

Rounding out the game, Salyer and Musbach handled the guard spots, while Bill Rademacher and Tom Hafer held down forward duties and Rick Robbins took over at center.

Leading scorers for Chelsea were Wonders, Alber with 16 points; Kiel with 11, Sweeney with 10; Musbach with eight; and Salyer and Guenth with four.

Dominating the boards for the local team were Dave Alber with 17 rebounds; Sweeney with 12; and Kiel with 11.

Randy Musbach recorded the top number of assists for the team, six, followed by Wonders with three.

Bulldog's shooting percentage from the floor was 52 percent, while foul-shooting percentage was a fine 78 percent. Kiel recorded an 83 percent average from the foul line, while Alber and Salyer boasted 100 percent on free throws.

"Most of the credit in this game should go to the defensive squad," Coach Balistrere pointed out Monday, "since their fine defensive efforts forced numerous Columbia Central turnovers."

Coach Balistrere also complimented "the fine spirit and enthusiasm displayed by this year's blub." All healthy players saw action in the contest, he said.

Listed among the unhealthy who sat out the game were junior guard Dave Watson, who is recovering from a broken nose; and forward Steve Lyerla, who is nursing a fractured toe, both of whom are expected by Coach Balistrere to see action next week; and Jack Hackworth, who was originally vying for a starting position on the team before incurring a football knee injury. Hackworth, expected to sit out the season, is assisting Coach Balistrere as a statistician.

Others assisting the coach are camera crew Mike Check and Joel Sprague; statisticians Jim Storey, Elaine Musolf, and Jodi Daniels; trainers Jeff Kiel and Dave Leach; and managers Dave Marsh, Steve Dresch, and Joel Krichbaum. Expected to be powers in this year's Southeastern Conference cage title race are Chelsea, Milan, and last year's league champ, Saline. Coach Balistrere said that the league's coaches expect Brighton also to prove a strong contender, while Lincoln and Dexter will be improved. Novi and South Lyon, improved. Nove and South Lyon, the coach said, must rebuild this year.

Friday the Bulldogs will entertain Lincoln at home in their SEC opener.

Games Postponed

Both Chelsea High school wrestling and basketball contests, scheduled for Tuesday night, were cancelled due to weather conditions and rescheduled for Wednesday night. Chelsea Varsity and JV basketballers defeated Stockbridge in the local gym. Chelsea grapplers traveled to Jackson Lumen Christi.

PEARL HARBOR SURVIVOR John Klink looks over memorabilia of the Pearl Harbor attack prior to leaving for California and the 33rd annual reunion of Navy survivors of it. Klink (shown in insert as he appeared soon after enlistment in 1940) was aboard the USS Medusa, which was not hit during the bombing.

John Klink Remembers Horror Of Pearl Harbor 33 Years Later

There was a time when every school kid across the country could tell you that Dec. 7, 1941 meant Pearl Harbor.

Thirty-three years later there are probably still a lot of people who remember all the details of that day, but undoubtedly none more vividly than some 7,000 Navy veterans who are gathered at the Disneyland Hotel in California this week for the 33rd annual reunion of survivors of the attack.

John Klink, 18026 Bush Rd., is one who has rejoined his former comrades this week to "remember Pearl Harbor." He has attended other reunions of the group of survivors, and displays books collected from them, books full of chilling photographs captured later from Japanese aircraft of the death and destruction of American men and ships that occurred during the Pearl Harbor attack.

Klink enlisted in the U. S. Navy Nov. 12, 1940, a date he recalls quite well. "In those days," he remembers, "every young man was interested in what branch of service he could enlist in, and when, Nov. 11, they want to know is how to get out of it."

He spent his basic training at the U. S. Naval Training Center in Great Lakes, Ill., then was sent to California. From California, on Feb. 4, 1941, he joined the crew of the USS Chester, which was based in Pearl Harbor, and was transferred to the USS Medusa some time prior to the Japanese attack.

He was scheduled to go on liberty pass on Dec. 7, Klink recalls. That particular liberty pass was one he didn't get, however. During the air attack, his ship, the Medusa, was the target of six near-miss bombings and two strafing attacks. The crew of the Medusa accounted for the destruction of two dive bombers and one small sub, according to records from the War Department.

Klink spent 22½ years working with the Washtenaw County Rd. Commission, retiring Jan. 14, 1969. But always, every year, on Dec. 7, he remembers his part in that day and that attack that Franklin D. Roosevelt said would "live in infamy."

Bazaars Highlight Christmas Activity

Everybody from Cub Scouts to Eastern Stars are indulging their Christmas spirits to the hilt this week, each doing a little bit to make it the season to be jolly.

Scheduled in the area within the week are no less than five bazaar type sales, Christmas tree sales, and of course, an appearance by Santa Claus, in the Village.

Shoppers' appetites for bazaar should only be whetted today (Thursday) by St. Barnabas church's bazaar, which begins at 11 a.m. at the church. A wide selection of knitted craft and baked goods will be sold, and sandwich luncheon will be available for those making a day of it.

Saturday, Dec. 7, should be the day that causes bazaar-goers to tear their hair out, as three are organizations have scheduled their offerings of goodies for that day.

At Sylvan Town Hall, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Chelsea Child Study Club members will sell hand-made items—knitted, crocheted, arranged and just plain created—and baked goods for the benefit of McKune Memorial Library and Spaulding for Children. A special feature of the Make and Bake sale is a children's table with items priced at $2 and under.

Scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Masonic Temple on W. Mid St., also on Saturday, Dec. 7, is the OES bake sale and bazaar, featuring the craft and baking talents of Eastern Star members. Baked goods, Christmas decorations, needlework, poinsettias, and wreaths will be the fare at the Fraternal Order of Eagles Auxiliary's bazaar at the FOE Hall, 7530 Jackson Rd., also scheduled for this Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

And for those Christmas shoppers who don't quite satisfy their hunger for the hand-made and home-made this week-end, another bazaar and bake sale, this one sponsored by St. Mary Catholic church, is scheduled next Saturday, Dec. 14, at Sylvan Town Hall.

With Christmas shopping all finished—or just out of mind—Cub Scout Christmas tree sales will continue through next week for those ready to hoist the seasonal evergreen into its place in the household.

Cub Scout Packs 415, 445, 435, and 455 will be selling their trees daily from 5 to 9 p.m.; Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m., in Meabon's parking lots. Tree sales are Cub Scouts sole fund-raising project of the year.

Another big event on the Christmas calendar will recur this Saturday and next when Santa Claus appears in all his seasonal glory at the site of the former Buick

Blizzard Dumps Record Snowfall On Area Sunday

If experience is indeed the best teacher, then Chelsea should have this snowstorm business down pat.

And in fact, this past weekend's gargantuan snowstorm that smothered southeastern Michigan in 18 or more inches of the white stuff proved exactly that—Chelsea does.

"Things moved pretty smoothly here, mostly because we had that previous experience with the St. Patrick's Day (1973) snowstorm," Chief of Police George Meranuck said Monday morning through the rather hazy eyes of a man who has spent a night without sleep.

Admittedly, this year's crowd of stranded motorists hardly compared to that of the St. Patrick's Day storm; refugees then were estimated at upwards from 1,000 while Sunday's was a paltry, but equally cold and destitute, group of somewhere over 500. And Sunday's storm, while reported to be the second heaviest in Michigan weather-reporting history with a total of 18 inches, failed to hit the Chelsea area as devastatingly as the St. Patrick's Day blizzard. In other areas, however, Sunday was rightfully called a "snow disaster."

Taking charge of this particular snowstorm operation was Village President Hal Pennington who arrived on the job in the early evening and stayed at it until most of the wayfarers were placed somewhere around 1:30 a.m. Village trustees Sam Johnson and Richard Borton assisted him in his organizational efforts.

Some motorists began their search for lodgings in the Village at approximately 7 p.m., Chief Meranuck said, but the greatest influx came at 9 p.m., when State Police closed I-94 at Baker Rd. The weary travelers then turned around and came back to Chelsea, with some stragglers still arriving at 2 a.m.

The minimum number of people who were housed in the Village overnight Sunday, Chief Meranuck reported, was 514, the number who were registered at the Police Department. Of those, 129 were housed in some 34 private homes; 50 were sent for the night to First United Methodist church; 104 others found refuge at First Congregational church; and 231 settled into the Fair Service Center for a long winter's night.

Reported numbers varied from location to location, Chief Meranuck and others said, because many travelers originally assigned to a particular spot were later placed in private homes.

Rail Service Delayed - Sometime in January

Everyone who's been anxiously awaiting news of when Amtrak will begin its scheduled stops in Chelsea, hoping maybe for a rail jaunt into Detroit for Christmas shopping, had better postpone those yuletide plans for another year.

A rail operations analyst in Lansing, Jeff Schindler, said Tuesday that the earliest possible initial date for commuter stops of the Jackson to Detroit commuter train would occur sometime in January.

"Currently Amtrak just doesn't have the equipment," Schindler said, "and they won't have it until after Christmas. We (Rail Operations Group) are trying to get a firm commitment from them about when the Detroit to Jackson service will start. Hopefully, it will be sometime in early January."

Originally, Amtrak stops in Chelsea—scheduled to be an eastbound commuter train early each morning and a westbound commuter train at approximately 6 p.m.—were expected by late October by representatives of the Michigan Association of Railroad Passengers (MARP) which prompted the renovation project of Chelsea's nearly-100-year-old depot, unused for passenger service since the 1950s.

The depot itself, looking pretty spiffy these days in its light green against dark green paint, isn't exactly ready for use either, and its complete renovation was timed for late October, too.

Restorers ran into problems with the old place, the most major of which was the discovery that it needed a new roof, which is not as simple as painting and plastering.

The new roof, however, is nearly completed. Only a couple more days of good weather are needed, according to Sam Johnson, an organizer of the effort, to finish the far side and south edge of the roof.

Dry wall was erected in the small interior waiting area early this week, since only a small section of the interior of the building will be used as a waiting area for passengers; the rest will continue as a storage facility for Gambles, which leases the building and has allowed MARP to use a section for a passenger area.

A work bee will be scheduled sometime soon, Johnson said, to paint and finish the waiting area. According to a statement made early in the renovation campaign by John DeLora, chairman of MARP workers will attempt to make the partition and molding as close as possible to the original design of the building.

Johnson noted Tuesday that local people wishing to make contributions to the depot restoration fund may still do so as "we will probably run a little short."

Major expense in the restoration was the new roof; large amounts of paint, lumber, glass, and the ever-necessary "elbow grease" were donated by folks hoping to return the historic station to some of its former grandeur.

And, even though no trains are stopping there yet, it does look pretty grand.

Chelsea Police sent 70 cots stored in the basement of the Municipal Building to the Fair Service Center and President Pennington showed up later with food for the group.

Jaycee President Norm Colby, who said that a group of Jaycees manned the Service Center all night, reported that by morning, "We had enough donations so that we could go out and buy breakfast for everyone. Everything was okay by then," he said.

Service Center stragglers were all out and, apparently, back on the trail home by 1 p.m. Monday, Colby, another all-night man, said.

At First United Methodist church, Jim Hoffmeyer said Monday morning that the 35 people who had spent the night at the church had eaten breakfast—"We suggested that they go out and buy food, bring it back, and use our facilities to cook; That's cheaper"—and were expected to remain through lunch before beginning their homeward journey.

Hoffmeyer echoed Chief Meranuck's appraisal of the job done for the travelers: "Everything went really smoothly around here—I guess because we knew better what to expect in this kind of situation, since we'd been through it before." The smaller number of people stranded helped, too, Hoffmeyer agreed.

Bill Geddes, chairman of First Congregational church's Board of Trustees, was manning the telephone Monday morning and rated things at his church "Definitely smooth—compared to that St. Patrick's Day storm."

Of the 104 people assigned to the church, 82 stayed overnight there, Geddes said; the rest were placed in private homes. Chelsea Police provided 24 cots for the overnights; not luxury accommodations, but definitely the best around.

"There are just too many people to thank for their co-operation—and all the people who were taken in anywhere were extremely grateful," Chief Meranuck said Monday. "We even had homes that we didn't get to place people in—we had 50 offers of lodging by private residences and only put people in 34 of them."

Also aiding in the general order that prevailed around the Village Sunday night and Monday morning, Chief Meranuck said, were members of Chelsea's public works crew, who did "a tremendous job cleaning the streets; Inverness Snowmobile Club members, who came into town and helped out; Chelsea Kiwanians, who contributed widespread organization and assistance; owners of four-wheel drive vehicles, who responded to pleas for assistance transporting travelers; and several local owners of trucks with snowblades, who cleared the fairgrounds parking lot.

"There are just too many to thank," the chief concluded, "but just about everybody gave of their time and services."

In addition, a special table will be provided designed especially for children's budgets, with all items priced for gift-giving under $2.

Coffee will be served all day during the sale. Proceeds go to McKune Memorial Library and Spaulding for Children.

THE BIG SNOW of '74 left buried cars, impassable streets, and incredible numbers of snowmen in its wake this week, after dumping some 18 inches of wet, heavy snow across the southeastern portion of the state. Chelsea, once again, played host to some 500 unexpected visitors, travelers stranded on the highways, and local schools shut down Monday and Tuesday due to impassable rural roads.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Years ago this woman came in the store with this poodle dog in her arms. Both of em had this puffed up hairdo and they had their hair and toenails painted the same color. I got the idea that people was trying to make their pets in their own image. But snap judgments has a way of coming unfastened. From what's been going on recent I ain't sure who's trying to change who.

Mister Editor, it's bad when folks eat dog food cause they're hungry, but it's worst when they eat the stuff cause they like it. It worries me that some folks think it's cute to wear a dog flea collar, but it's downright scary when they wear em cause they got fleas. It use to be if you told a man he was going to the dogs it was a insult, but the way things is going now it's a compliment.

I been wondering how to explain the difference between real horse sense and the common kind. I saw by the papers where up in Canada at one of their wild west celebrations they come up with a contest to see which could walk 100 mile the fastest, a man or a horse. It was the man, not the horse that thought up the contest. If you come across a better way to tell what's horse sense and what ain't, I hope you'll pass it along to everybody.

General speaking, people git it in their heads that whatever way it wasn't a shame to git lice on you, but my Ma allowed it was a hang dog shame to keep em on you. She would scrub us all over and boil our clothes till we was raw and it was too rough on the lice to try to live around us. But the idea of wearing a lice collar no more come to her than it did to put deodorant on us to keep us from stinking. Her telling was if we was clean we wouldn't stink, and if we wasn't clean they weren't no use in covering up the stink with perfume.

Zeke Grubb said at the country store Saturday night that one big mistake everybody makes nowadays is treating the pain instead of the cause of the pain. If we hurt we take a pill that may ease the pain but don't do a thing for the bad tooth. It appears to me that wearing flea collars is like that, and this piece I saw said pet stores in San Francisco sold stocks collars with jewels on em and in all colors cause they're such a hot item for people to wear. One store owner said she wore em herself, so I'll guess she put the collar on to show her dogs that people wore em so they were alright for dogs.

Animals are getting the worst of the image deal. I see where a feller in Davenport, Iowa took a mitten his dog had chewed on to a art show and won a prize. He better not tell his dog or the pore mutt will git nervous like that chimp in the zoo that had a breakdown from trying to imitate the people that was imitating him. How many ways can a dog chew a mitten?

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer B. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Fitz Follows Fitz
A freshman senator is following his uncle as Democratic leader in the Michigan Senate. Democrats, who hold a 24-14 majority in the upper house come January, named Sen. William B. Fitzgerald as their leader at a recent caucus. He succeeds retiring Sen. George Fitzgerald, who led Democrats during the current session.

Fitzgerald moves into the Senate after serving in the House since 1971—in the seat he won after his father died in office. Some folks are even suggesting the young Fitzgerald as potential gubernatorial material in four years.

The now 32-year-old bachelor, a lawyer from Detroit's west side, appears to be something of a "bright light"—as well as a new face—in Michigan's Democratic Party. How he fares in the Senate leadership post could ultimately decide how bright a light party chieftains decide he is.

There's talk in Lansing also of gubernatorial possibilities for the new Speaker of the House, Rep. Bobby Crim, D-Davison.

Crim, who is well liked generally and considered a competent leader, had thought of running for the Democratic nomination this year, but changed his mind after testing the political winds.

About Those Exports
With food prices ever climbing higher, consumers may well become irritated with thoughts of Michigan exporting farm products to other countries. "Leave the goods here and maybe they'll help bring food prices down," might be the suggestion.

Michigan Agriculture Director B. Dale Ball doesn't quite figure it that way.

"It is completely unrealistic to think that we might keep all of our home grown food within the U.S. for the benefit of U.S. consumers alone," Ball says in a recent column printed in a department publication. "There are too many products essential to our economy that we must import—and pay for," he continues.

What he's talking about is balance of trade.

Products imported by the United States must be paid for by exports, Ball contends.

"Just as we all have to balance our family budgets or go broke, the United States has to balance its world trade budget," Ball says. And, he adds, "In recent years, farm exports have been the bright spot in our balance of payment picture."

Ball points to Japanese imports as one example, citing such items as cars, cameras, cutlery and clothing.

People use, enjoy and appreciate the availability of these things, he says. "And to help keep this flow of goods coming from Japan and other countries, we must keep the flow of United States-produced goods in these avenues of world trade."

A working agricultural world trade program, he says, will make everyone better off in the long run.

Michigan exported some $12 million worth of farm products last year, and that figure is expected to climb to some $250 million worth during 1974.

placements yourself—the Michigan Energy Office may be able to help.

The office maintains an emergency operating center to "assure that no Michigan homeowner or essential institution is without fuel to meet daily needs." The office number is 517-373-8250.

Officials there urge that before calling, citizens contact their local suppliers and any other suppliers who might be able to take on new customers. They stress that their office is for emergency situations.

Beans, Beans, Beans
Good news for bean soup lovers. Prices may be coming down. So reports the Agriculture Department.

Forrest Strand, chief of the department's marketing division, says prices paid to farmers these days are far below last March—13 cents a pound compared to 50 cents or more, only eight months ago.

"Prices in the retail stores are beginning to drop but apparently not low enough to entice the consumer," he adds.

Marketing officials maintain, however, that consumers can expect still lower prices for dry beans now so that the price to growers is down so far.

Greenland Is Featured in Second Travel Film of Series

"Greenland: An Odyssey," a film by Jay Gierkey, will be the second feature of this year's Chelsea Kiwanis Club Travel and Adventure Series at 8 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 7, at Chelsea High school auditorium.

Included in this epic journey through the largest island in the world are places like:

—Narsarsuaq and surrounding area where Eric the Red's settlement was established 1,000 years ago and the Eskimo village of Igallik.

—Jakobshavn and its ice fjord which spews 20 million tons of ice a day! You'll hear the moaning of hundreds of polar sledge dogs which outnumber the population here, 185 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

—Godthab, the capital of Greenland, with its 4,500 residents.

—Upernavik, one of the most northern towns in the world only two hours by jet to the North Pole.

—Holstenborg, with its snow mountains and Sondre Stromfjord, site of the U.S. Air Base Distant Early Warning (DEW) stations.

Eighty-five percent of its 840,000 square miles is ice cap. The ice cap is made of snow that fell when Jesus walked in the desert, and the snow that fell 100,000 years ago when the woolly rhinoceros and the mammoths walked about shivering on the arctic tundras of Europe. It is said that if the ice cap would melt, the oceans of the world would rise 23 feet!

By contrast Greenland's blue icebergs and snow-capped mountains are complimented by the gaily painted wooden houses, flower gardens and fishing boats bobbing in the waters of its tiny harbors, as you will see.

Jay Gierkey was born in LaPorte, Ind., where he was reared, and learned to fly before he learned to drive a car at age 14. And, for a while at age 16, he was the youngest licensed pilot in Indiana.

After the service, he wanted to try something different. He worked as a disc jockey for a number of years and a free-lance television host. With these talents he soon became a professional still photographer and added yet another talent, cinematography. He was chief cameraman for a large motion picture production company. He has to his credit many television commercials, industrial and sports films. In the still photography realm, he has had many pictures published in newspapers and magazines.

Prenatal care for a pregnant woman is many things, says the March of Dimes—good nutrition, the right balance of exercise and relaxation, good personal hygiene, and seeing a doctor regularly.

Snow Forces School Closing For Two Days

Thanksgiving vacation, which usually comes as a blissful but all-too-short interlude in the midst of a long holiday-less expanse of school days, was extended by two joyous days this week for youngsters in the Chelsea School District.

Sunday's giant snowfall, although virtually cleared from Village thoroughfares by Monday, held onto the rural areas a bit more convincingly both Monday and Tuesday. Buses were unable to travel the uncleared country roads those two days, which forced cancellation of classes at all levels of school in the district.

Wednesday, however, Ralph Brier's entourage of bus drivers turned out in full force, with all buses running to return students to their work-day worlds.

For those who are counting, Christmas vacation begins Friday, Dec. 20, at the close of the school day.

YOU AND YOUR CAR

By the Automotive Information Council

★ Children Require Special Restraints

While seat belts offer adult passengers the best possible current means of protection in an accident, they are not suitable for children under 50 pounds and under the age of four or five. Because the human pelvis is not fully developed until that age, a child secured by a lap belt will not be restrained by the action of the belt snugging up against the front of his hip bones. Instead, in an accident, the child will tend to submerge under the belt. This puts pressure on the soft abdomen and can cause internal injuries.

Special child seats developed by auto manufacturers and others are proving to be the safest means of transporting young children in an automobile. These seats, designed and tested for crash protection, utilize a chest harness to restrain the youngster in the seat. The entire child seat itself is strapped to the car seat with the car's lap belt.

Child seats which meet Federal Safety Standard No. 213, as evidenced by a statement on the product label, provide a higher relative degree of safety than seats that do not meet this standard. Traveling beds and child seats that hook over car seat backs are not considered safe in the event of a collision. Equally unsafe is the child that is held in his mother's lap. Most people do not realize the tremendous forces that are produced in a collision. If an automobile is traveling at 40 miles per hour and comes to a sudden stop—as in a severe crash—the occupants still are traveling at 40 miles per hour. And even if the mother was wearing a seat belt, the force of the im-parent would fling her child out of her arms, exposing him to hitting the dashboard, roof or windshield, or even being thrown out of the vehicle. With auto accidents the leading cause of accidental death of children, proper restraints are essential.

When the child has outgrown the special seat restraint, he can use an adult lap belt. Shoulder belts should be used only if they do not cross the child's face or neck. In all cases, the child is safer in the rear seat than in the front.

Cavanaugh Lake, was destroyed by fire about 12:30 Sunday afternoon, with only a few pieces of furniture being saved. The blaze was apparently caused by overheated pipes.

At Monday night's Kiwanis football banquet, the new captain for 1941, Lawrence Dietle, was announced, as well as the varsity letter winners, O. Schiller, G. Knickerbocker, F. Novess, A. Policht, L. Dietle, Jr. Miller, R. Schmidt, N. Niehaus, R. Perkins, R. Kern, E. Slane, R. Strieter, C. Downer, J. Merkel, and D. Gadd. Reserve letters were awarded to D. West, M. Schiller, and H. Orthing.

Charles Downer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Downer, is one of eight Washtenaw county youths who are feeding animals for the Michigan Junior Fat Stock Show in Detroit, Dec. 10 to 11. Charles, a member of the 4-H organization, is a sophomore at Chelsea High school. He will enter a pen of three Shropshire lambs at the show.

Loren Koenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Koenig, will also enter the lamb-feeding contest.

Alton Grau, Jr., of Freedom township had the unusual experience of finding a dandelion blossoming under the snow last week. Returning veterans to Chelsea High school's basketball squad are F. Novess, S. Policht, A. Policht, Jr. Miller, and Knickerbocker. Reserves from last year expected to bolster the first team are Kern, Slane, Kusterer, Strieter, and Gadd.

In the elementary news, it is reported that those who were neither absent nor tardy during November were Robert Bertke, Wendell Marshall, Richard Merkel, Janet O'Dell Shirley Pierce, Nancy Schieweger, Joyce Scott, and Evelyn Woods.

ask THE GOVERNOR

by William G. Milliken

Question: How do you feel about President Ford's proposed surtax?

Answer: I am pleased that the President has indicated that he will move forcefully during the next several months to deal with our number one domestic problem—inflation.

However, as I have said before, I would prefer that the special surtax start at a higher income level than the $15,000 recommended by the President.

Additionally, I believe that other changes in the federal taxation structure should be made, including ending the present discrimination against unmarried taxpayers.

With Congress being asked to consider various strong fiscal measures to counter the rate of increase in inflation, it is even more crucial now than several months ago that the underlying federal tax burden be shared equitably by all citizens so that any additional liability falls upon all citizens in an equitable manner.

Clearly, the federal income tax structure is unfair as it currently exists—especially regarding the taxes levied on single individuals, as compared with married taxpayers.

For example, at a taxable income of $12,000, single taxpayers pay $370 more in federal income than do their married counterparts; as taxable income rises, so does this inequity.

Should Congress enact the surtax as a part of an anti-inflation package, and if it is applied to the current federal income tax, this surtax will be disproportionately and inequitably borne by the single taxpayers in the country.

I have urged the two taxation committees in the Congress to give the important matter of equitable sharing of the Federal income tax burden the highest priority in their deliberations.

Question: Do you have any new information about how the energy crisis and inflation have affected tourism in our state?

Answer: Yes. A Vacation and Leisure Travel Patterns study—a part of a series of tourism activity research projects financed by $80,000 in grants from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission—indicates that price increases and energy shortages have not affected Michigan as much as other leading tourist states.

Hopefully, this trend will continue because of relatively high individual income in Michigan, and the wide variety of excellent attractions available here.

Compared to Florida, California, and some of the other areas which had a very good year because it depends on tourism, Michigan has had a very good year because it is an established market area and lies close to large population centers.

That survey showed that gas shortages and rising prices have tended to affect mostly long-distance travel.

Almost 94 percent of the survey participants said they expect to take the same number of trips—or fewer—than in the past five years. And at the same time, about 75 percent expect to spend as much or more time on vacation trips; but closer to home.

Question: Now that the Vietnam bonus has passed, what do I have to do to get my payment?

Answer: It will be some time before implementation of the newly enacted Vietnam bonus program is completed. Before payments to veterans can begin, we need legislative approval of a bill to implement the mechanics regarding administrative procedures, payments procedures, and the sale of the bonds. I intend to move quickly in asking for legislation to accomplish that task. I was pleased with approval of the bonus proposition. Voter approval of that proposal clearly recognizes the sacrifices made by our Vietnam-era veterans during a long and unpopular war.

Data on Aging

Dr. Vern Bengtson, of the University of Southern California Andrus Gerontology Center, recently released some significant data about aging. His research indicates that several conventional myths regarding old age may no longer be valid. Among his findings:

- Some studies reveal that health actually improves upon retirement.
- Sexual interest does not necessarily cease in the later years.
- IQ's do not decline as people grow older. In fact, some aspects of intellectual functioning actually increase.
- Old age does not imply institutionalization: of those citizens over 65 only 5 percent are presently in nursing or care facilities.
- Contrary to popular belief many retirees enjoy taking up their "rocking chair" type existence; and thus don't have to stay active to be happy.

Chelsea High School Notes

By Ellen Bonus
Senior Publications Student

The art classes at CHS are doing their part to give the school a pleasant appearance.

They're painting pictures on some of the walls in the halls and classrooms.

For example, in the Government classroom, art students will paint a large map of the world, and in one of the hallways, they'll paint a country scene with a rainbow spreading over it in the air.

According to Mrs. Lazubnik, art teacher, "This project is more worthwhile for the kids than just painting pictures in class."

The publications class at CHS is also doing some extra things besides the regular classroom work of putting out The Unstandard.

They've taken a field trip to the Jackson Citizen Patriot to see how a newspaper is put together, and on Oct. 31, Mrs. Newhouse, and four of the students, Ellen Bonus, Karl Schirmacher, Kurt Allis-house, and Beth Tobin, attended a special all-day journalism seminar at Michigan State University.

They attended lectures about topics such as photo-journalism, interviewing, school press laws, and many others.

The class also plans to publish a science-fiction magazine.

The nurses aide class at CHS is doing many things to help prepare them to become nurses.

In addition to the classroom they do with their instructor Mrs. Closson, they also spend several days a week at the Medical Center helping the nurses.

They have practiced taking blood pressures, temperatures, and pulses on teachers and students at the high school.

Thursday, Oct. 24, 250 biology students took a field trip to the Detroit Zoo.

Some of the highlights of the field trip were: The Giant Sloth that kept spitting at people, the duck that chased people and bit them, and the race run between the sophomore Biology I boys and the penguins around the penguinarium.

While at the zoo, the students had to work on labs. Some of the questions they had to answer were: describe unique features of the animals, describe adaptations of the animals which enable them to survive in their natural surroundings, and describe some of the life processes such as movement, growth, respiration, and sensitivity.

This is the second year the field trip has been arranged, and is considered very worthwhile by the students.

The only new club at CHS this year is the International Club. It includes foreign exchange students and CHS students who are interested in learning about foreign cultures and customs.

They plan to have parties with exchange students from other schools, eat in a German restaurant, see a foreign language film, attend concerts, and visit a museum.

Mr. Rossi enjoys participating in past years. Mr. Rossi was junior class advisor.

This teacher has a family life, too. His wife is qualified to be an elementary school teacher and can start teaching next year. He has two daughters, aged 4 years and 1 1/2 years. Living in Chelsea is much to his liking because it's a quiet town, and people are friendly.

USS Washtenaw County Memorabilia To Be Presented for Permanent Display

Through the co-operation and assistance of the United States Navy and the Huron Valley Council, Navy League of the United States, of Ann Arbor, has obtained items of memorabilia from the USS Washtenaw County (LST-1166), which has been scrapped. These memorabilia will be presented to the people of Washtenaw county by the Huron Valley Council as a permanent display in the main lobby of the Washtenaw County Building in Ann Arbor on Saturday, Dec. 7, at 11 a.m.

Snowfall Data Compiled By Michigan Weather Service

For some Michigan residents, home is where they hang their snowshoes. Others, who live in the southern part of the state, must plan ahead for week-ends of skiing, sledding and snowmobiling.

Preparing for winter activities in Michigan involves more than choosing the right winter vacation time, said B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

For businesses catering to winter sportsmen, it is important to know when the right kind and right amount of snow can be expected. Snow removal programs must be prepared for action when that first substantial snowfall occurs.

Some outdoor construction work must be scheduled for completion before bad weather sets in.

MDA's contribution to winter preparedness is the Michigan Weather Service, whose meteorologist Fred Nurnberger says, "Unlike the National Weather Service, we do not forecast the day to day weather. We compile data from more than 200 co-operative weather stations located throughout the state and can tell what has happened in the past and what can be expected to happen in the future."

Nurnberger said the collection of snowfall data is a challenge to even the heartiest observers and a task made more difficult by the high winds and drifting which frequently accompany snow in Michigan.

"In spite of adversities," he said, "the data taken by our volunteer observers, individually, exhibit close agreement over a period of 50 to 75 years."

Areas experiencing the greatest depths and longest durations of substantial snow cover are located along the shores of Lake Superior.

Some birth defects can be detected before a baby is born, according to the March of Dimes. Using techniques such as ultrasound, electronic monitoring, and amniocentesis, doctors can check the baby's development while it is still in the uterus.

The ship returned to Japan late in 1972 and underwent major modifications in connection with a test hull project. On Feb. 9, 1973, the USS Washtenaw County (LST-1166) was decommissioned and redesignated MSS-2 (Minesweeper, Special). After being utilized in the test hull project the ship was deactivated and sold for scrap in 1974.

Finding Security in Retirement

SOCIAL SECURITY

Before social security payments can start, an application must be filed. When you are nearing 65, or if you become disabled, get in touch with your social security office. It is important for you to inquire at your social security office 2 or 3 months before you reach 65—not only for retirement purposes but Medicare as well, which are available whether you retire or not. Thus it is always to your advantage to apply before you reach 65, even if you don't plan to retire. If you have high earnings which would increase the amount of your benefit in the year you are 65 or later, your benefit amount will be refigured. You will always be sure of receiving benefits at the highest possible rate. When a person who has worked under the social security law dies, some member of his family should get in touch with the social security office. Long delay in filing an application can cause some loss of benefits, since back payments for monthly cash benefits can be made or no more than 12 months. An application for a lump-sum death payment must usually be made within two years of the worker's death.

Mobilizing health facilities and manpower to provide more effective maternal and infant care is a major goal of the March of Dimes.

Gridders of the Week

JERRY MILLIKEN (65) is a 5'10", 170-pound junior guard who has just completed his first year of varsity football for the Bulldogs and was rated most improved lineman by his fellow players. In the past, he has also played junior varsity football and last year lettered in track. In his spare time he enjoys riding his 650 cc. Yamaha. He expects that after graduation from high school he will go to work with his father. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Milliken, he has one sister, Karen.

JIM BOYER (82) is a 5'10", 165-pound junior end who figured prominently in a good deal of Bulldog scoring near the end of this past season, his first on the varsity. Boyer, who also played junior varsity and freshman football for Chelsea, last year held down first base for the Junior Bulldog baseball team. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Boyer, he has two sisters, Bonnie and Heidi, and two brothers, Jeff and Joel.

Student Records Available For Inspection By Parents

A federal law that has prompted Harvard University to begin purging its student files of assorted data compiled over the years has also yielded a statement from the Chelsea School District's legal advisors.

In response to the Family and Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, Thrun, Maatsch and Nordberg of Lansing have advised that "all parents and guardians of students under 18 years of age and all students 18 years of age or over have the right . . . to examine the official records, files, and data of the school district directly relating to the student. They also have the right to challenge any of the contents of said records to insure their accuracy and fairness."

Chelsea High school principal Charles Lane said Friday that district official records contain "anecdotal notes and comments from teachers, test results, and a complete academic record" of all students from kindergarten through graduation.

Lane reported that in the past 19 years, the only request of which he was aware by a student or parent of an under-age student to examine the official records came last week. "The academic data was always available to the students and parents; examination of the records has just never come up before."

General policy of the school district, Lane said, has been in the past to release what it deemed "pertinent information" to employers and schools requesting it. Thrun, Maatsch, and Nordberg's release states further a new policy that "no records, files, or data directly relating to an individual student shall be made available to anyone without the consent and notification of the student or of the parents or guardian of a student under 18, except (1) the teachers and officials of the school district who have a legitimate educational interest in such information; or unless (2) there has been a federal request for submission of student records in connection with the student's application for financial aid. The student or parent will be notified if officials of a school to which a student intends to enroll desire access to student records, or if a court has ordered access to such records. For other investigation of student records, parental or student consent is needed."

Procedures for examination and challenge of specific data included in a student's record, including hearings on such a challenge, were expected to be established by the Board of Education at Monday night's meeting, and will be made available upon request.

High school counselor George Bergman noted Friday that the new regulation reflects his personal belief in the "sanctity of the individual."

"I personally have always been very leary of negative reports going into someone's files, knowing that many times they are temporary, but at some later date might be read by some school or employer, which could use them to spoil someone's life," Bergman said.

OSHA Record Information Session Slated

Area employers will have an opportunity to receive detailed instruction on the recordkeeping requirements of the federal Occupational Safety and Health Act and Act 154, 1974, Michigan at meetings to be held Thursday, Dec. 12 at Washtenaw County Road Commission, 555 N. Zeeb Rd., Ann Arbor.

These informational meetings are a joint effort of the Michigan Department of Labor and the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, and similar sessions are being conducted in 32 cities throughout the state.

Employers in attendance at the programs will receive specific information which will assist them in fulfilling the OSHA and STATE requirements for recording employee occupational injuries and illnesses. Safety consultants of the State Labor Department will conduct the sessions.

Employers may attend any one of two programs scheduled to start at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

A recordkeeping requirement booklet will be given to each employer in attendance at the meetings, which will last approximately one hour. There is no charge.

December State Aid Payments to Schools Received

December State Aid payments which will be received by school districts in the 18th Senatorial District were announced last week by State Senator Gilbert E. Bursley.

Chelsea School District will receive $87,130, while Dexter Community Schools will receive $54,730.

Other districts in the area and their corresponding amounts include: Clinton Community Schools, $53,070; Tecumseh Public Schools, $297,210; Pinckney Community Schools, $257,610; Ann Arbor City School District, $174,950; Ypsilanti City School District, $458,030; Lincoln Consolidated School District, $157,760; Manchester Public School District, $30,739; Milan Area Schools, $212,119; Saline Area School District, $57,320; Whitmore Lake Public School District, $73,400; Willow Run Public Schools, $348,730.

Payment dates during the school year are Aug. 1, Oct. 1, Dec. 1, Feb. 1, April 1, and June 1.

Old Time Bowling Team Together Again

After 25 years, one group of old timers is still intact—and back together again.

Five members and one substitute—Tony Steers, George Steers, Marshall Steers, Donald Fox, Art Behnke, and Frank Mueller—who bowled together in "the old days" at 20th Century Bowling Alley, Ann Arbor Recreation and Michigan Recreation, all in Ann Arbor; at Riverside Bowling Alley and Willow Run Bowling Alley in Ypsilanti; and at Dexter Bowling Club in Dexter, the only one of those establishments still in existence, are now bowling in the Old Timers League at Colonial Lanes in Ann Arbor.

The old timers are sponsored by Palmer Ford of Chelsea.

NORTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

KINDERGARTEN—

Mrs. Michelson, Teacher
Did you know that we are in the movies? Mr. Lane took pictures of us when we had our Thanksgiving feast and "wow-wow!" We had a very good day. We are thankful for mothers helping us so much—Mrs. French, Mrs. Brightwell, Mrs. Ellenwood, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. Kidd.

Thanks to Mrs. Coelius! We think our corn husk dolls are neat. And so are our buckskin suits, our tom-toms, our pilgrim hats and Indian headresses. When we ate wheat kernels, they tasted like popcorn. Corn bread and applesauce with milk taste yummy too. That was our feast.

Mr. John Tierney and Miss Linda Postle from Mr. Mayer's class brought the Pep Band to play and to show us their instruments. They brought "Mickey Mouse" with them. Who said, "Boy! that was neat." They were sure loud—no! like the other instruments (string instruments).

Mrs. Miller tells us Duso stories about how we feel about things. Mr. Meyer comes too. Mrs. Ross made donuts with the afternoon class. Randy Ferry's mother will help the morning class. Friday Dec. 6, Miss Glynn made arrangements for morning children to sing in the chapel at the Methodist Home (afternoon children sing for Senior Citizens in the spring). Mrs. Dye, the music teacher, will be there. Thursday, Dec. 12, Mrs. Bernath has arranged for us to visit the public library. The morning children at 9:30 a.m. The afternoon children at 1:30 p.m.

We are planning Christmas surprises and beginning to make decorations and we sing, sing, sing. We do still have to work too. We will ask Chief Meranek or Mr. Connor to visit us soon.

Have you seen the geese, or a pheasant or deer? Have you seen the sun rise? Or set? Have you ever felt the vibration of a huge steam roller or a little mixer? Have you seen the Christmas decorations downtown? Who said "I am thankful for the sunshine?" And "I am thankful for food?" And much more in our room.

FIRST GRADE—

Teachers: Mrs. Packard
Happy Birthday for December 10 to Mark Watson.

Our November measuring and cooking went well but several of the children would like the corn bread recipe, so here it is:

Mix together in a bowl:
1 box Jiffy corn bread mix
1 box Jiffy biscuit mix
2 eggs
1 cup of milk

Melt 1 pad oleo in fry pan (250 degrees). Cook for 30 minutes covered, vent open last 5 minutes.

For December the three school weeks will go fast. We have many special plans. Watch for surprises. There will be a musical program Monday, Dec. 16, at 9 a.m. More details later. After the second week in December you are welcome to come and see our beautifully decorated rooms.

During this busy season take the time to see Christmas through your children's Eyes. Merry Christmas.

SECOND GRADE—

Teacher: Mrs. Walton
We are not enjoying the mud created by our building project, but somehow we find our way to the playground and back.

We have a new bulletin board called "Do You Know?" It has questions and riddles for us to answer. There is also a bulletin board where Mrs. Walton puts especially good papers. Maybe everyone will try to do better now.

One of Mark's gerbils died last week, so his mother came to take the other one home. We buried the gerbil near the school.

Some of us are going to our grandmothers or to other relatives for Thanksgiving. Some are staying home and having company. We all have many things to be thankful for.

We have three birthdays in December: Alan Friday, Brent Bauer and Samantha Collinsworth.

Club and Social Activities

MODERN MOTHERS

Modern Mothers Child Study Club held their annual home-made item auction Tuesday, Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. at the home of Marilyn Chastain.

Attending were 27 members and 29 guests. Home-made items included macramé hangings, baked goods, crocheted and knitted articles, dried and pressed flower arrangements, corn husk and calico wreaths, gingerbread houses, and many Christmas decorations and ornaments. More than $300 was netted for the club treasury.

Auctioneers were Lenore Matloff and Gloria Greenleaf, who were assisted by Jeanne Rlemen-schneider, Sue Kett, and Pat Coelius.

Refreshments were served by co-hostesses June Flanagan, Amy Vaught, and Sherri Blank.

Next meeting will be Dec. 10 at the home of Lois Shively for a "Traditional Christmas Buffet."

SENIOR CITIZENS

On Nov. 26, Chelsea Senior Citizens met at their meeting hall on Park St. with 11 members present. The group decided not to hold a social meeting this month and not to exchange gifts. Instead, a basket will be made up for Chelsea Social Service.

Christmas and birthday pot-luck will be held Thursday, Dec. 19, at 6:30 p.m. with Gladys Klumpp, Velma Doherty, and Leona Evans on the committee.

Newlyweds May Find It Necessary To Reorder Many of Their Priorities

"Reorder your priorities. Your primary obligation now is to your spouse," is the advice to newlyweds from a veteran instructor in marriage and family life at Michigan State University.

Thelma Hansen, who teaches one of the first courses on relationships in marriage and family life in the College of Human Ecology, says newlyweds must understand—with marriage they must change their roles.

"The newlywed has to make the break from the role as a child in the parents' home or individual out on one's own," Mrs. Hansen explains, "and with the new role, come privileges and obligations."

Meeting this role can be made easier if each person has a well-defined job description for husband or wife.

"When you take a job, you are well aware of fringe benefits and responsibilities," Mrs. Hansen continues. The same groundwork for marriage would be beneficial for the newlyweds.

One of the hangups which newlyweds can handle immediately in their new roles is the one dealing with parents. "You've got to remember that being a parent is a growing process, too," Mrs. Hansen continues.

Having their children marry and leave the nest is an important step for parents to cope with. And the newlyweds can ease the tension if they bring the new situation out in the open.

Mrs. Hansen recalls she was relieved when her son-in-law and daughter who live out of town informed her they planned to alternate visits between her home and the in-laws' home.

"I know what I could expect," Mrs. Hansen continues, "and I could plan on the times the family would be together." Besides always letting the parents host gatherings, she says newlyweds should make sure that they invite their parents over for dinner or an evening.

Parents may not just stop by or call and invite themselves, because they are unsure of the new relationship and where they fit in. Mrs. Hansen warns newlyweds.

"So try inviting your parents over," Mrs. Hansen continues. "No doubt they will be pleased to be part of your new relationship and furthermore you can feel a solidarity in your new role as a married couple—having visitors in your new home together."

Mrs. Hansen suggests that newlyweds adopt traditions which have proven useful to others in keeping their marriage going and alive.

She uses the Mormon Church ritual of holding a "family night" as an example. "One night each week the family shuts off all outside activities and devotes time to other family members and topics for discussion, recreation, eating, whatever they decide to do as a group on that particular occasion."

"These gatherings are particularly good when there are children," Mrs. Hansen says. "By having the children get used to causing fun with their parents and not set them apart from the general stream of their lives."

It can also be a good thing for newlyweds. Sometimes they will be so busy that setting aside that one evening to talk things over is important, Mrs. Hansen continues.

One thing to be talked over, she says, is the accumulation of "things." Mrs. Hansen warns the newlyweds who are probably devoting a lot of their time to deciding what they need and what they'll buy that "possessions" can tie persons down to very rigid positions. "For instance once you get them, you've got to take care of them," Mrs. Hansen concludes. "Caring for a house, a big yard, two cars, a dog, a cat or two, plus a summer home up north, may take time away from formulating and maintaining a good relationship rather than enhance the togetherness of family members."

25th ANNIVERSARY
Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Allen will be honored at a 25th wedding anniversary open house next Sunday, Dec. 15, from 2 to 5 p.m. at their home at 17250 Garvey Rd.

The Allens, who have lived in the Chelsea area for 11 years, were married Dec. 10, 1949, in Kiel, Wis.

Hosting the open house will be the couple's two children, Susan Allen and Janice Bisard.

Specialized care of the expectant mother with various health problems can improve the outcome of her pregnancy, reports the March of Dimes.

'Spoon River Anthology' To Be Presented Dec. 10-11

A small-town cemetery may not sound like the most entertaining setting for a play, but in the case of Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology," it is one that reveals the inner workings and characters of a small town.

The play, which was adapted from Masters' book of some 250 "epitaphs" of inhabitants of the mythical town of Spoon River, will be presented next Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 10 and 11, at Chelsea High school auditorium by the high school drama class. It is the first school-wide drama class production of a serious play in some 10 years.

In a form that has been called "imaginative, but essentially pessimistic," the souls of those who have lived in the town indulge in one last chance to "speak their piece" to the audience. Through their words, a better understanding of the life of residents of a small town is gained.

Chelsea High school's production of "Spoon River Anthology," which originally appeared in 1914, was a St. Louis publication in 1914, will be directed by high school drama teacher Mrs. Martha Hahn, with technical and musical direction by DIANN L'ROY. Included in the cast will be a majority of the high school drama class members and "seriously interested" high school students.

Music for the play will consist primarily of guitar and chorus accompaniment to the spoken words of the characters. Most members of the cast will have more than one character to portray and will have to change characters by voice, gesture, and props.

Cast members of the production are Dennis Bauer, Lynn Castle, Matt Diedrich, James Dowhal, Paul Dowhal, Kathy Foreman, Dawn Freysinger, Janette Harris, Nancy Heppburn, Steven Scott Hovater, Annette Huttling, Karen Kern, Penny Kinser, Sue Leach, Brenda Lovely, Bernice Pearson, Dennis Peisch, Brock Rasmussen, Renee Schneider, Brenda Shadoan, Barbara Strachan, Anne Treado, and Kathy Treado.

Tickets for the play are available at Chelsea High school during lunch hours, and may also be purchased at Chelsea Drug.

Social Service Asks for Help In Preparing for Christmas

All those Chelsea Social Service goodies that got passed out to needy folks prior to Christmas don't just appear from Santa's workshop.

"I hate to keep going in the newspaper saying 'call, call, call,'" says Mrs. Linda Ormsby, Social Service director. "But I also hate to have people call the last week before Christmas with news of people who really need help—and maybe not be able to provide for them."

Last year, 38 families received food baskets from the local agency and 83 children were provided with one or more toys to make certain that they learned the meaning of the giving and receiving spirit of Christmas.

Mrs. Ormsby, wary of the woe-ful economic picture that has engulfed the nation, began directing her pleas several weeks ago to the community for information about possibly needy families.

"But so far," the director says with an odd emphasis on the positive of the negative, "It doesn't look like it's going to be a bad, bad, bad, Christmas in Chelsea."

So far, Social Service has received reports from Girl Scouts—"They're just doing a wonderful job"—and from several local organizations that they will contribute food or toys for the Social Service Christmas baskets. "Everything is coming right along—but we still need donations—and names of needy people," Mrs. Ormsby emphasizes.

Friday, Dec. 20 is the day chosen for distribution of both toys for children and the family food baskets, she says. "This is the first time we've had it on a Friday usually it's on Saturday—but this year the parents will be able to come in and pick out the toys while the children are in school."

Used or new toys that people wish to contribute to Social Service may be dropped in a box that will be placed in the Municipal Building next week. "We also would still like some donations of money, if possible, because I really like to make sure that each child has at least one new toy. Not an expensive toy—just one new one," Mrs. Ormsby added.

"Donations of winter clothing are also something we can always use," she continues, "Both for adults and children—I think children appreciate new clothes for Christmas, too."

Food baskets prepared by Social Service will contain the traditional canned goods and fresh fruit, she says, but this year no meat purchase orders will be provided.

"Since we're really short of money this year, we'll give people venison orders instead," Mrs. Ormsby explained, noting that Social Service receives venison contributions from the Department of Natural Resources from illegally killed deer.

With distribution day at Sylvan Town Hall for toys and food only two weeks away, however, Mrs. Ormsby urges local residents with donations, or information about those who may need donations, to contact her as soon as possible, either at the Social Service office on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, (475-1581) or at home.

DEATHS

John P. Cook

Dies Last Wednesday At Chelsea Hospital

John P. Cook, of 19941 Old US-12, died Wednesday, Nov. 27, at Chelsea Community Hospital at the age of 85.

Born June 21, 1889 in Detroit, he was the son of Thomas and Rose Cook. He married Agnes Urbanetz June 20, 1917. They came to Chelsea in 1925 and moved to the Old US-12 address in 1928.

He worked for several years at Chrysler Proving Grounds. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church and the Knights of Columbus. He was also a member of Chelsea Farm Bureau, treasurer of Mt. Olivet Cemetery Association, and a long-time volunteer music teacher at St. Louis School.

He is survived by his widow; two sons, Gerald of Taylor and Donald of Melbourne, Fla.; one daughter, Mrs. Marvin (Jeanette) Kirk of Manchester; 19 grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday, Nov. 30 at St. Mary's Catholic church at 11 a.m. by the Rev. Fr. Phillip Dupuis. Burial followed in Mt. Olivet Cemetery. The rosary was recited Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the Staffan Funeral Home.

Leo J. Heatley, Sr.

Former Dexter Resident Dies Monday in Florida

Leo J. Heatley, Sr., of Rainbow Park, Fla., formerly of Edison St., Dexter, age 87, died Monday, Dec. 2, at Jackson Memorial Hospital, Dade City, Fla.

He was born Jan. 30, 1887 in Lyndon Township, the son of Henry V. and Marie Farrell Heatley. He had been a life resident of the Dexter area.

He was a member of St. Joseph Catholic church and the Knights of Columbus.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Louise Devine Heatley, on Aug. 24, 1959.

He is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Earl (Mary Agnes) Weinkauf of Chelsea, Mrs. Robert (Ruth) Farrell of Half Moon Lake, Mrs. Anthony (Lorraine) Roulo of Wayne, Mrs. Wally (Theresa) Rohm of Westland, and Mrs. Thomas (Alice) Hill of Portage Lake; two sons, Louis of Detroit and Leg J. Jr., of Farmington; 27 grandchildren; 13 great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

He was also preceded in death by a daughter, Florence, and by 10 brothers and two sisters.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday, Dec. 5, at 10 a.m. at St. Joseph Catholic church with the Rev. Fr. Francis Kaleciak officiating. Burial will follow in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Chelsea. Rosary was recited Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. at the Hosmer Funeral Home.

Dr. G. Riethmiller

Receives Award from Principals Association

Dr. Gorton Riethmiller of Chelsea became the first member of the State Board of Education ever to receive the Distinguished Service Award of the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals (MASSP) at the group's annual fall meeting Nov. 14 in Grand Rapids.

Citing Riethmiller's "outstanding contributions" to education in Michigan, MASSP noted that he served as teacher and administrator in the Highland Park Public Schools for 29 years and as president of Olivet College for 13 years and had provided "steady, wise, and dedicated direction" to education in Michigan during the two years he has been president of the State Board of Education.

Riethmiller has been a member of the State Board since 1969. After choosing not to run for re-election, he was appointed Nov. 12 to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Michael J. Deeb, who resigned. That term expires Jan. 1, 1977.

Recreation Basketball Organizing

All managers interested in entering teams in Chelsea Recreation Council's men's basketball league should plan to attend a meeting next Wednesday, Dec. 11, at 8 p.m. at the home of Recreation Director Tom Balistrere.

A weekly schedule of two games per team is anticipated to begin soon after New Year's according to Director Balistrere. Games are expected to be scheduled Mondays and Thursdays.

At season's end, individual trophies will be awarded to the championship team. Post-season play-offs will include all teams in the league.

Entry fee will be $140 per team, Balistrere says. Anyone with questions prior to the meeting, or anyone who is unable to attend, may call him at home or at Chelsea High school.

Personal Notes

Douglas Connelly remains in critical condition in intensive care at University Hospital after injury in an accident Saturday morning. He is the son of the Conrad Connellys of Park St.

BIRTHS

A daughter, Tanya Marie, on Monday, Nov. 25, at McPherson Hospital in Howell, to Robert L. and Jeannine Jones of Pinckney. Grandparents are Francis Jones of Kentucky; Virginia and Ira Jarvis of Pinckney; and Shirley and Howard Cicotte of Westland.

Historical Society Plans Charter Night

Chelsea Area Historical Society will meet Monday, Dec. 9, at 8 p.m. at McKune Memorial Library, at which time all those present and signing the Articles of Incorporation will be considered charter members. All interested Chelsea area people are invited to attend.

Officers elected at the group's November meeting are Mrs. Robert Alishouse, president; Mrs. Robert Borton, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Thornton, treasurer; and Mrs. Fred Petch, secretary. Directors are Dr. Wilfred Lane, Harold Jones, and Mrs. Robert Daniels.

The organization hopes to bring together people interested in history, particularly the history of the Chelsea area. Discovering and collecting any material which might help to establish or illustrate the history of the area is expected to be the group's major function. Classes of memberships available will be individual active, associate, life, and patrons.

Although the Society is currently meeting at McKune Memorial Library, the group hopes to acquire a permanent home to restore, furnish, and make available to the public.

To the Editor:
Now that everyone eased their consciences by "giving" the Vietnam veterans a "bonus," let us see what really happened. The people voted to bond a $205 million debt. For example, on this debt bonded at 10 percent, the interest would be $20.5 million per year. In 10 years, $205 million would be paid for interest, never paying a cent on the principal debt. The principal to remain a loan on the paychecks of the ones you expected to help and on their children and their children's children and forever.

This interest places cheap unearned wealth in the hands of unscrupulous opportunists who claim loans for given loans and gifts do not buy favors from the recipients and does not help destroy the country our founding fathers left for us to keep in 1776.

How many of you would have voted for this if you had known? Not me!

Wilson, third. In back are Jaycees Bob Pratt and Bruce Messing. Theme of this year's blood bank is "Give of yourself for Christmas—give a pint of blood."

Jaycees Seek Donations for Community Blood Bank Clinic

A goal of 125 pints of blood has been set by Chelsea Jaycees who are planning a blood bank clinic for Saturday, Dec. 21, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Chelsea Fair Service Center.

Under a theme of "Give of yourself for Christmas—give a pint of blood," Jaycee chairman of the event, Bruce Messing, notes that the holiday season is one in which fresh blood is particularly needed, as hospitals are annually deluged with holiday accident victims.

Since a blood drive has not been conducted in the area for some time, Messing said, "this drive should actually make up for what Chelsea owes the Red Cross blood bank."

Donors may either contribute their blood into the general bank for anyone in need, or may designate it for a particular person, Messing added.

Posters made by junior high school art classes have been placed around Chelsea advertising the blood bank, Messing said, which have attached boxes in which local residents interested in donating may submit their names.

People who have donated blood in past years at Jaycee blood banks will also be contacted soon by Jaycees, Messing noted.

Donating blood is a speedy process in which eight people are taken each 15 minutes, the chairman added. People who are not otherwise contacted for an appointment to give or have questions may call Messing at 475-7026.

Attendance Up In All Fall Rec. Classes

Final class meetings are scheduled this week and next to conclude what Recreation Director Tom Ballistrere terms a fall recreation season "with excellent attendance in all our classes."

A total of 42 Christmas-conscious students enrolled for Christmas Crafts, a returning class taught by Gloria Greenleaf and Jeanene Riemenschneider. Ballistrere noted that the teachers were to be complimented "for their fine handling of such a large class."

Volleyball attendance also surged up, Ballistrere said, as 35 participants joined in Larry Christensen's co-ed volleyball league.

Charlie Waller's new course, Introduction to Bridge Playing, concluded on a successful note with a duplicate tournament, Ballistrere said. A total of 10 players turned out for the class.

More than 30 recreation-minded women found refuge in Terry Schreiner's Ladies Night Out, a course designed around basic recreational skills and designed for women in the community.

Approximately 22 people also signed up for Barbara Van Rie's ceramics class, Ballistrere said, in concluding his overview of the fall Recreation Council offerings.

Winter courses offered through Chelsea Recreation Council will begin the week of Jan. 6, Ballistrere said. Complete course listings and information will appear in next week's issue of The Standard.

Christmas Film Slated At Methodist Home

"Story of the Other Wise Men," a religious Christmas film will be shown at Chelsea United Methodist Home Monday, Dec. 9, at 7 p.m. in the chapel.

The film is based on the popular Christmas book of the same name by Henry Van Dyke. The public is invited to attend.

CHRISTMAS WISHES have better chances of coming true after being delivered in person to Santa Claus, these two youngsters believe. At left is Rochelle Beeman, six, a kindergartner in Manchester who is the daughter of Linda and David Haas; at right is Bonnie Bentley, eight, a second grader at North school who is the daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley. Other children with visions of sugarplums or more substantial items on their minds may consult the jolly old elf this Saturday, Dec. 7, from 1 to 3 p.m., when he appears at the site of the former Buick garage at 116 N. Main St.

Judge Declares Moratorium on Garnishments

Judge Henry D. Arkison, presiding judge of the 14th district court, has given an early Christmas present to many persons this season.

He has issued a court order ordering a moratorium on garnishments of wages effective from Dec. 1, 1974 through Jan. 1, 1975. This means that those workers whose wages have been curtailed for payment of certain debts will get relief from the garnishment, at least until Jan. 1.

Cards of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS
Many thanks to family and friends for the cards and well-wishes while I was in the hospital and since I came home. Thanks to doctors and nurses at the hospital and to all the pastors who called on me. It was all appreciated very much.

Emma Seitz.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank the friends and acquaintances of Dick who showed their concern during his illness. We are grateful for all the remembrances and expressions of sympathy extended at the time of our bereavement.

Family of Richard O'Hara.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to express my deep and sincere appreciation to everyone who remembered me with all their cards, flowers, gifts, and visits and other acts of kindness while I was in the hospital and since my return home. I also wish to thank the Rev. Lowe, pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd in Ann Arbor, for his visits and prayers. A word of cheer, an act of love, helps heal the broken wound.

Esther Lucht.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish in this way to thank the Chelsea Police Department, Chelsea bus drivers, Rockwell employees, the children, teachers, and principal of South school, and my neighbors, friends, and relatives for plants, cards, and visits and the kindness shown me during my stay in the hospital and since my return home. This is all greatly appreciated.

Carroll Clark.

I REMEMBER
THE GOOD OLD DAYS

From A. R. Maynor Woods,
Philadelphia, Pa.: I remember what a quiet, peaceful day Sunday was. Most people did their chores - cooking, cutting wood etc. on Saturday. If they had reason to cut wood for cooking or fires on Sunday, the sound of the ax cutting into the wood came sharp and clear across the miles, reminding us that our neighbors weren't too far away if we needed them.

I remember too, the stillness of Sunday and the lonely sound way across a field, of someone whistling. To hear such a sound was odd, because Sunday was a day of sacredness and quiet.

I remember how content we children were to play in the yard, on the ditch bank, or gather hickory nuts, crack and eat them until our stomachs were fit to pop! That's how I remember Sundays in "the good old days."

WEBER HOMES

ing room, kitchen, three bedrooms and bath.
Downstairs we've created "flexibility" in design. A rumpus room for the pool table or electric train, a TV room with natural gas Franklin fireplace, 1/2 bath, laundry area, and a 11'x16' storage area. Rumpus room and storage area can easily be converted into additional bedrooms. Ready for occupancy Feb. 1.

GOOD FAT?

Fat is needed in the diet because it adds flavor and fullness to the meal. It also contains certain essential vitamins — A, D, E, and K. They are absorbed by the body only in the presence of fat.

14 DOZEN CHRISTMAS COOKIES were baked, rolled, and decorated by patients at Chelsea Community Hospital last week under the direction of Mrs. Betty Vail, recreation therapist at the facility. Some 50 patients contributed their talents at cookie-making to assure goodies enough for both the patients' Christmas party at the hospital next Sunday and boys at St. Louis School in January.

Cartoon Show Proves Big Hit With Kids

What more could a youngster ask than an afternoon of cartoon and prizes after Thanksgiving? Probably the only other thing kids could ask for will be added to next year's version of Chelsea Recreation Council's annual cartoon show and prize give-away—a visit from Santa Claus.

This year's cartoon show, held Saturday, which was already "bigger and better" than last year's version, according to Recreation Director Tom Ballistrero, will be supplemented next year by a visit from Old St. Nick himself.

Awarded at this year's show, which was attended by more than 25 parents and children, were a total of 34 prizes, including $10 worth of silver dollars to 10 boys and 10 girl winners.

Receiving silver dollars were Mike Eisele, Dale Patsch, Roger Loucks, David Dyson, John Koepele, Shane Brown, Daid Thompson, Chad Paxton, Sharon Brown, Andy Ahrens, Mark Liggeski, Jane Wood, Joann Tobin, Karen Kiel, Julie Proctor, Pat Luck, Brenda Barber, Shannon Gimney, Lori Inbody, and Brenda Kinney.

Girls who added to their collections of games and toys by winning prizes at the cartoon show were Dawn Scripter, who took home a "Thunderbolt" game; Becky Bollinger, tops; Beth Kenny, "Storm Cloud"; Michelle Novak, "Teeny Bopper"; Patrice Villeneuve, "Headache"; Christy Centilly, doll; Brenda Sodi, model horse; Bethel Snyder, "Mr. Potato Head"; Trina Brown, badminton; Nancy Case, Interior Decorator; and Anita Smith, Big Boy truck.

Boys who came away from the show materially better off in their toy department were Mike Smith, who won a Jeep; Chris French, hockey set; Tracy Borowski, "Skate and Ski"; Glen Prinzing, "Hands Down"; Kurt Bryalaughton, "Aggravation"; Larry Bosh, miniature play Honda 70 motorcycle; Matt Grau, Mickey Mouse bank; Chris Wolter, sports cycle; and Tommy Steele, Jr., yellow sports car.

INFANTS AND IRON

Infants may require additional iron since there is only a six month supply stored within the body at birth. Check with your doctor to see if your child needs an iron supplement.

INFLATION

This year I'm going to give my wife something worth $50—guess it'll have to be a $100 bill!

Red Cross Plans Special Holiday Blood Bank Clinic

With the holiday season approaching, the American Red Cross is scheduling an additional clinic in order to be sure to have adequate blood supplies on hand.

A special clinic will be held on Monday, Dec. 30 in addition to the regular Friday, Dec. 13 clinic. Another clinic is set for Jan. 10. Anyone wishing to donate blood may call 971-5300 for an appointment. The clinics are open from 1 to 7 p.m., at 2729 Packard Rd., Ann Arbor.

Bands Plan Christmas Concerts

Tuning up for Christmas are the bands around the Chelsea School District, according to Band Director Warren Mayer.

Next Thursday, Dec. 12, at Beach Middle school, local bands will present their first in a series of four Christmas concerts scheduled for the area.

Featured in Thursday's concert will be 7th and 8th grade strings and 8th grade wind instruments, which together compose the orchestra, and 8th grade string instruments in a single number.

Featured in this concert will be a selection from Handel's "Messiah," which will include 35 string instruments, "Merry Bells of Christmas," "Arietta," by Erickson, a combination of several tunes, "Christmas in Distant Lands," two Christmas spirituals, "Rise Up, Shepherd," and "I Wonder As I Wander," "Let It Snow," and "Holiday Sleighride."

Conducting the orchestra will be Truoke Ameigh, while assisting Director Mayer with the 7th graders will be two student teachers, Linda Postle and John Tierney.

Other concerts scheduled for the Christmas season are Dec. 16, the high school band concert at Chelsea High school; Dec. 17, the 5th and 6th grade band concert at Beach Middle school; and Dec. 19, the 8th grade band and chorus at Beach Middle school.

LONG ROAD

Creating the snow-people, made possible by Sunday's heavy, wet snowfall, were, from left, Vaughn Mills, Sheila Tarasow, Mrs. Alfred Barber, Scott Mills, Michelle Kamyszek, Kathy Barber, Debbie Kamyszek, and Brenda Barber.

St. Louis School Notes

Of St. Louis School's 60 students, only 24 had returned to the school from Thanksgiving vacation by Tuesday because of Sunday's ferocious snowstorm.

Sunday night, the school played host to a number of families of returning students who were forced to stay overnight by the storm, and to several travelers forced off the highway. With the empty dorms and food ready for all the boys, there was definitely enough to go around.

Boys who had returned to the school spent Monday and Tuesday playing in the snow, making cookies, and just generally "hanging in there" waiting for their fellow students.

Dec. 10 Deadline For Reporting Corn Crop Loss

Washtenaw county farmers who have protection on corn and soybeans and feel that they have not produced their guarantee under the terms of the contract should be advised that the final date for reporting a loss is Dec. 10. This is the word received from Albert Dalton, Jr., Contract Service Center director for the Indianapolis center.

It should also be noted that anyone who has not completed harvest should also give notice by the above date, if a loss is anticipated.

The Indianapolis center services approximately 20,000 farmers who are policyholders carrying FCIC all-risk protection. FCIC offers protection on the following crops in Washtenaw county: corn, soybeans and wheat. Office for the county is located at 1123 W. Chicago Rd., Coldwater 49036.

THOUGHT THAT COUNTS

That son of mine is something else. He gave me a really wonderful card for Christmas. It took him months to make it—cause it reads

ALL ABOUT FOOD

F. A. KENNEDY.

Have you ever stopped in at your friendly neighborhood bank to buy a loaf of bread? Of course you haven't. But have you ever stopped in at your friendly neighborhood supermarket to cash a check? Of course you have.

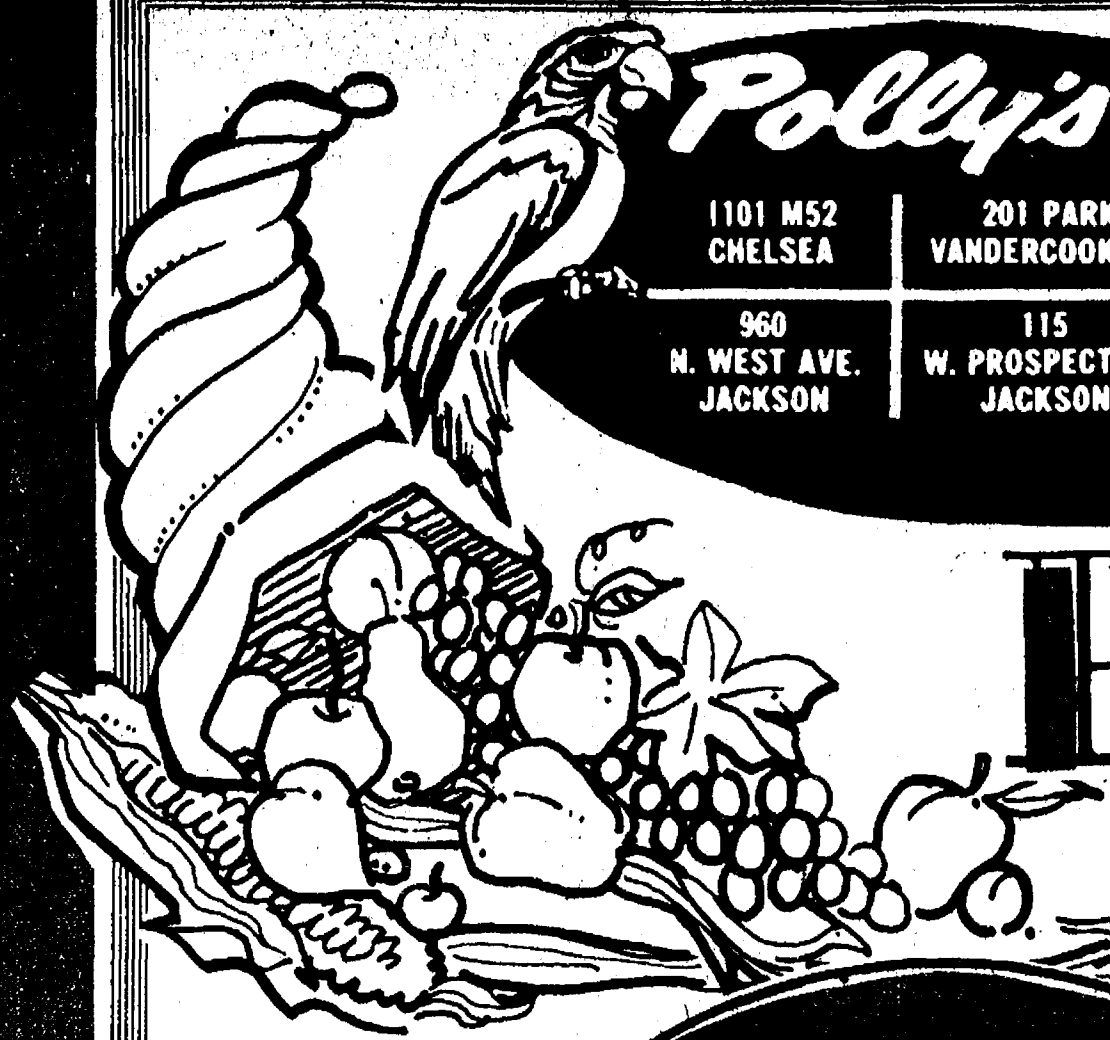

The fact is that supermarkets cash a lot more checks than banks these days, not all of which (the checks, not the supermarkets) are good. And the problem is that most supermarkets operate on a profit margin of barely more than 1 per cent... so it takes nearly $5,000 in sales to offset one $50 bad check.

This is why supermarket managers have to be ever more careful about cashing checks. Many automatically photograph anyone cashing a check... a practice that has already resulted in a good number of arrests and convictions. And some even keep an ink pad handy, and will ask a stranger to put his thumbprint on the back of a check.

Of course, even careful store managers have been duped. One check passer, for instance, stationed a buddy in a pay phone booth, and then gave that number to a supermarket manager as a reference. When the unsuspecting manager called the number, the buddy answered and assured him that the check was okay.

In other cases, store managers have been appallingly careless or gullible. For instance, several have accepted checks signed "U. R. Stuck" and "U. R. Hooked." And more than one red-faced merchant has had to admit that he accepted a check drawn on the "West Bank of the Mississippi!"

Now I'll tell you about one kind of check we at Polly's always welcome... and that's a check on our prices and values. Such a check can only result in more business for us and more savings for you. And that's what I call a good check!
