Accused Mother Ruled Competent To Stand Trial

Mrs. Helen Schnaidt has been returned to Washtenaw County Jail without bond to await a Jan. 17 pre-trial hearing on two counts of first degree (pre-meditated) murder in connection with the strangulation deaths of her two daughters.

Mrs. Schnaidt, 23, was ruled to be mentally competent to stand trial on the charges by Judge William F. Ager, Jr. on the basis of a report from the Center for Forensic Psychiatry at Ypsilanti State Hospital, where Mrs. Schnaidt was examined.

The accused mother had been transferred to Ypsilanti State Hospital Nov. 15 after spending a week without bond in Washtenaw County Jail. She allegedly used a jump rope and an electrical cord to strangle her two daughters, Jean Marie, 3, and Arlene, 2, on Nov. 8, in the family's Railroad St. home.

Mrs. Schnaidt, who spent 45 days this summer and fall in Mercywood Hospital after admitting herself early in August, was under the care of Dr. Arcadio Ramirez, an Ann Arbor psychiatrist, at the time of the death of her daughters.

According to her husband, she attempted to telephone her doctor prior to the death of the two girls; however, she did not reach him until after the double slaying took place.

Ramirez notified Chelsea police, who found the two girls dead in separate bedrooms in the home.

Village Christmas Tree Has Problems

That rather malformed-looking Christmas tree partly obscured by the United Way sign beside Chelsea's U. S. Post Office is a fine example of holiday good intentions gone awry.

What was originally "a beautiful 25-ft. tree" according to Jaycee Bob Wheaton, was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mielke of N. Freer Rd. to the Jaycee organization for use as a community Christmas tree.

"We (Jaycees) thought it was a good idea to have a community Christmas tree, since Chelsea has never had one," Wheaton said Monday.

But somewhere along the line the "stately evergreen" that the Mielkes donated lost some of its natural grace.

Wheaton reports that somehow the top of the tree was "lopped off." "We don't know exactly how it happened, but it did; so we tried to just set it back on top."

Erecting the Christmas tree proved to hold hardships for the jolly Jaycees, too, since the unfrozen ground didn't provide much of a stable base for them to set the tree in.

The shaky base prompted another problem. "While we were trying to string the lights, we couldn't lean the ladder against the tree because it kept leaning back at more and more of an angle," Wheaton explains. "So we just sort of threw them on."

Because of the lack of a ladder, there aren't many decorations and lights on the top, since the Jaycees couldn't throw that far. And there's not much on the bottom, so that youngsters won't be tempted to take things off.

All in all, Wheaton characterized the tree as one "with a lot of stuff in the middle and leaning about 15 to 20 degrees."

He says that Jaycees continue (Continued on page six)

Social Service Ready With Christmas Help

If you had 30 families to feed and 55 kids to provide with toys for Christmas, would you be ho-ho-ing right now?

The sensible answer is undoubtedly a firm "no," but Mrs. Linda Ormsby, director of Chelsea Social Service, seems to feel she has things pretty well under control for her Chelsea "family."

She methodically ticks affirmatives off to each of the vital areas: yes, "there are enough canned goods for the food baskets—we can always use more, but there are enough"; yes, Social Service has sufficient funds to buy a new toy for each child on its list, although people may still submit used or new toys to the agency; yes, Chelsea Milling Co. has again donated a fine supply of baked goods mixes for the food baskets; yes, there will be meat with the food—this time venison orders instead of purchase orders.

"Everyone's been very generous," Mrs. Ormsby noted, especially the scout troops and some organizations. I feel like we have enough of everything."

Food baskets and toys will be distributed Friday, Dec. 20, all afternoon in Sylvan Town Hall. For those 30 families and 55 children, that's a mighty important date and time to remember.

Varsity Debaters Near Championship

Chelsea varsity and novice debaters hung onto first place through the second round of State League competition last Wednesday at Novi.

Once again negatives dominated the league contests, as only Chelsea's affirmative side pulled out a victory to establish a 4-0 record for the meet.

Final rounds of State League competition were scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at Chelsea High school. Following the meet, State League awards were to be presented.

A first-place finish by Chelsea will be the team's first such season since 1971.

Paul Frisinger Will Head Fair Board

At the annual meeting of the Chelsea Community Fair Board Dec. 10, new officers and board members were elected for 1975, a new set of by-laws were adopted, and the final report for the 1974 fair was presented.

New officers are Paul Frisinger, president; Irvin Trinkle, vice-president; Earl Heller, executive vice-president; Ed Keezer, secretary; John Wellnitz, treasurer; and Ruth Leach, executive secretary.

New members of the Board of Directors are Jerry Herrick, Dick Poljan, Richard Haist, John Klink, Ralph McCalla, Reuben Lesser, Jr. and Harold Trinkle. Other members are Charles Staphis, Joe Merkel III, Frank Sweeney, Chuck Koenig, Lloyd Grau, Keith Bradbury, Allen Brosamle, Art Steinaway, and Harold Gross.

Board members expressed their appreciation for all the help from those who gave of their time to make the 1974 fair the great success that it was.

Blood Bank Clinic Set For Saturday

"Give of yourself this Christmas—give a pint of blood" is the theme of the Jaycee blood bank scheduled for this Saturday, Dec. 21, at Chelsea Fair Service Center.

Jaycees have set their goal for the one-day blood clinic at 125 pints. Jaycee chairman Bruce Messing notes that the holiday season is one in which fresh blood is always particularly needed, due to the large number of accident victims.

Giving blood is a speedy process in which eight people are taken every 15 minutes. Those who wish in appointment for the blood bank should call Messing at 475-7026.

Churches Combine For Holiday Music Program

Choirs of First United Methodist and St. Paul United Church of Christ will present A Ceremony of Carols by Benjamin Britten three times during the holiday season.

The 60-member group, under the joint direction of June Warren and Bruce Galbraith, first sang the work at the Methodist Home on Wednesday. They will again sing at a regular worship service at First United Methodist on Sunday Dec. 22, at 10 a.m. and at the 11 p.m. Christmas Eve service at St. Paul.

A Ceremony of Carols is a unique work in that it is accompanied by a single harp. It has been performed many times all over the world.

The joining of forces by these two choirs is intended to offer a musical gift to the citizens of the area. Guests are invited to either service.

Matmen Rout Brighton, 41-15

Chelsea wrestlers turned what was predicted to be a close contest with Brighton last Thursday into a 41-15 rout, but finished in third place in their own Chelsea Quad Saturday after emerging victorious in two of the meet's dual encounters.

At the Brighton meet, Chelsea grapplers literally ground-up an overpowered Brighton squad that recorded victories only at 98 and 105 pounds.

Mark Bucholz at 98 pounds wrestled well, but lost by a pin late in the second period. Jim Alexander at 105 pounds suffered a pin loss.

Bulldogs then came to life at 112 pounds, when Jim Stahl wrestled to a draw with the 105-pound champ from the Dexter Tournament, Dale Schoenberg put Chelsea into high gear when he defeated Joe Schlumm 9-3 at 119 pounds.

Captain Mike Agopian then closed the gap in the score with a first-period pin, and Doug Reed recorded the go-ahead win, 15-13, with a superior 12-0 decision.

At 138 pounds, Dave Keiser scored a second period fall victory; then Mark Pennington wrestled very cautiously to come through with a 0-0 draw.

At 155 pounds, Captain Darryl West scored a first-period pin. A sub-par Tim Reed went on the mat at 167 pounds, and scored a third-period fall victory. At 185 pounds, Dennis Bauer wrestled to a 4-0 win.

The final match of the evening produced a fine ending for the match, as Kermit Sharp, wrestling against the man who pinned him at the Dexter Tournament, earned a fine 7-6 win that boosted his record to 6-1.

Coach Richard Bareis had nothing but praise for all of his wrestlers, pointing out that their wrestling was both aggressive and smart, which can make Chelsea "very tough."

Kermit Sharp's recent fine performances earned particular mention from the coach. Coach Bareis attributes much of his heavy-weight's development to Dick McCalla, who has been working with Sharp.

At the quad meet, however, Chelsea wrestlers ran into some strong competition from Belleville after downing Lake Fenton, 27-23, and Albion, 29-28.

In the opening match, Jim Stahl began the competition by recording a 10-0 decision at 119 pounds. Nick Keiser then took a 6-4 decision at 119 pounds, while Mike Agopian recorded a 7-3 decision at 126 pounds.

Doug Reed then turned in an 8-0 decision at 132 pounds. At 155 pounds, Darryl West recorded a fall win. Dennis Bauer managed a 4-0 decision at 167 pounds and Kermit Sharp was good for a 9-6 decision at heavyweight. At 185 pounds, Eric Prinzling earned a 6-6 draw.

In their second dual with Albion, winners for Chelsea were Jim Stahl, 11-0 decision at 112 pounds; Mike Agopian, a 17-1 decision at 126 pounds; Doug Reed, a 6-1 decision at 132 pounds; Darryl West, a fall victory at 155 pounds; Dennis Bauer, a fall victory at 167 pounds; and Kermit Sharp, a forfeit win.

Bulldogs found rough going against Belleville, however, as they lost 33-22. Winners for Chelsea in the losing cause were Jim Stahl, who won 5-0 at 112 pounds; Mike Agopian, who earned a 9-2 decision at 126 pounds; Darryl West, who recorded a pin at 155 pounds; Dennis Bauer, who took a 24-0 decision at 167 pounds; and Kermit Sharp, who received a forfeit victory at heavyweight.

Final standings in the quad showed Belleville in first place with 108 points; Lake Fenton, second, 96 points; Chelsea, third, 78 points; and Albion, fourth, 46 points.

Five Chelsea wrestlers winning undefeated medals Saturday were Jim Stahl, Mike Agopian, Darryl West, Dennis Bauer, and Kermit Sharp.

Coach Richard Bareis was pleased with the caliber of the competition that Chelsea faced. (Continued on page six)

Holiday Get-Together Planned for CHS

Grads Attending College

A get-together for honor graduates of Chelsea High school who are continuing their education in any form and seniors interested in continuing theirs is scheduled for this Friday, Dec. 20, from 2 to 3:25 p.m. in the high school library.

Former students planning to attend should contact the counseling office in order that the necessary amounts of refreshments will be available.

Cagers Display Poise, Balance In 3 Big Wins

Those red-hot Bulldog cagers made it six in a row Tuesday night by edging out Pinckney, 58-53. Coach Tom Balistrere called the win "a fine team effort, characterized by excellent ball handling, fine execution in pressure situations, and excellent defense."

The Pirates took an early lead in the contest, 19-14, but Bulldogs exploded for a big 20 points in the second quarter to take over. By half-time, Chelsea had established a three-point lead.

Nip-and-tuck was the name of the game for the entire second half until, with two minutes remaining, Bulldogs went ahead by three points, which held good for the rest of the contest.

High scorer in the game was co-captain Rick Sweeny, who hit for 17 points, and also contributed 10 rebounds. Gary Wonders came in right behind Sweeny with 16 points, and was also good for six assists. Other scorers were Alber and Guenther with 10 counters, and Kiel with five. Alber pulled down eight rebounds and Kiel, seven.

Singled out for praise from Coach Balistrere were a number of Bulldogs. Playmaker Gary Wonders, the coach said, did "an excellent job" on defense and ran the various offensive plays very well. Rick Sweeny earned the coach's esteem for "another fine night on the boards" and for his 17 points.

Co-captain Dave Alber was credited for his "fine hustle, team leadership, and coolness" and also for several crucial successful free shots near the end of the game. Ron Kiel earned Coach Balistrere's notice for his "aggressive floor and board play" and also for hitting crucial free throws in the waning moments of the game.

Coach Balistrere noted that Randy Guenther came off the bench and did an "outstanding job and worked well under pressure." Randy Musbach, who was good for five assists, did a "good job running the offense" according to the coach.

Randy Davis again came into the game as a sub, this time for Kiel and Sweeny at alternate times, and "performed very well."

Friday night Chelsea will travel to Saline.

Possibly a number of sports fans around Chelsea hold the same feeling about Coach Tom Balistrere's game plans that a certain young Chelseaite does—or did, until Monday morning.

The lad expressed the opinion that one of the Bulldog cagers hadn't played up to par Saturday night: "I mean, he only scored six points."

The coach replied in all philosophical earnestness: "But don't you see? That's the point. Last week Sweeny scored 25 points and Kiel scored seven. This week Kiel scored 26 and Sweeny scored six. That's just it: we're playing as a team; we're hitting the open man."

And true to the coach's creed, the Bulldogs roared to a pair of big victories last Friday and Saturday over Novi and Brighton—with a changing assortment of high scorers and rebounders, and probably the entire team as heroes. The Bulldogs' second consecutive league victory, looked like a romp at the end of the first quarter, when Chelsea had rolled up a 22-6 lead, and had become an absolute cake-walk by the half, when Coach Balistrere's boys had stretched their lead to a presumably insurmountable 44-15.

"Defense was the big factor in this game," Coach Balistrere noted. "Our press was really working for us."

Every player who appeared in the contest deserved a share of credit for this win, the coach said. Leading off the list was senior co-captain Dave Alber, who, in addition to scoring a team-high 20 points, added 10 rebounds, and in general played "his usual steady ball game—he gave a good performance." Rick Sweeny, the Bulldogs' other co-captain, popped in 16 points and pulled down 10 rebounds of his own to record "another excellent job," according to Coach Balistrere.

In his first starting assignment for the varsity, Randy Guenther totaled eight points, chalked up six rebounds and added four assists for good measure. "Randy did an outstanding job that showed the steadiness and qualities of a good ball-player," Coach Balistrere noted.

Randy Musbach earned praise from the coach for his fine offensive efforts and steady performance that has marked his play in all the Bulldog contests in the young season.

Playmaker Gary Wonders encountered early foul trouble and didn't see much action in the game. His replacement, Dave Watson, contributed a fine performance in his first varsity role as floor leader, Coach Balistrere said.

Ron Kiel continued his steady board game that has contributed "a great deal to the team's current success," Coach Balistrere commented. Bill Rademacher, who (Continued on page three)

Three Earn All-League Honors

Two Chelsea players, Kathy Kuhl and Char Steinaway, earned first-team berths on the South-eastern Conference all-league girls basketball squad, it was announced Thursday. A third, Julie Asmussen, earned an honorable mention in the voting by the league's coaches.

Also voted to the first-team all-league squad were Kim Toth, Brighton; Lynette Bow, Lincoln; and Laura Valentine, Novi.

Second team members are Lisa Ledwidge of Dexter; Denise Nap-cr, Lincoln; Pat Robinson, Novi; Brenda Hosler, Saline; and Mary Kay Crossey, Saline.

Earning honorable mention were Laura Till of Brighton; Sherri McCall, Brighton; Nancy Pearce, Dexter; Carol McCurdy, Lincoln; Janet Cook, Novi; and Judy Jahnke, Saline.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Nether hall, nor snow, nor age nor the price of sugar shall keep my old lady from her appointed rounds. She has been chosen to cook and come Christmas she is going to cook. I give up trying to calm her down years back, Mister Editor, and I come to realize that when she's done I look forward to eating and enjoy the eating more every year.

She had me addressing and stamping Christmas cards the other night, and I fell to thinking about what the dead letter boxes at all the post offices are going to look like around the first of the year. I figure they are going to be a heap of greetings and best wishes that die for want of a stamp. Every year, you know, you get a few postage due cards and letters on account of people getting in a hurry and forgetting to put on the postage. Now the post office people say they won't deliver postage due mail anymore. They say they will return it if they can find the sender, so some of us may be getting our own Christmas cards at New Year's.

With just me and the old lady around the house out here in the country, Mister Editor, I have a heap of thinking time. And with the weather closing in the sessions at the country store Saturday nights ain't running as long as usual. I saw a filler in the paper the other day that started me thinking. It said that in 1973 the United States admitted 400,000 people from other countries. These are people who wanted to come here to live, to better themselves, to get out from under a gun, to try and give their children more than they have. I don't know how many Americans left in disgust for other countries, but I'm willing to bet we took in more than we lost. It may be old time to wave the flag and talk about things like freedom to celebrate Christmas, freedom to do what we want the way we want, but to me the spirit of this holy season is tied direct to what America was in the beginning and, down deep, she still is.

Incidental, the fellows at the country store Saturday night took up this report by a United Nations study group where they said it is possible to control the world on the TV screen. The report warned of brainwashing whole countries by flashing message from satellites to the TV without folks watching even knowing about it. For instance, one country could flash "tired" on all the screens and everybody would feel popped all day and not know why. The message would come on the screen so quick you would see it but not know you see it, was the way Ed Doolittle told it. Ed said this trick already had been showed to work in selling on TV. You keep flashing "popcorn" and everybody in America gets the urge to run to the kitchen and pop a batch, Ed said.

Personal, I reckon that explains my old lady this time of year. They been flashing "cook" and "buy" during all them soap oprys she can't miss.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

What's Cooking In Michigan

By Larrestine Trimm
Michigan Dept. of Agriculture
Marketing Information Specialist
Tired of the hustle bustle of holiday shopping? Think Michigan foods for Christmas giving. You can prepare unique, individual gifts for relatives and friends in the festive warmth and calm of your kitchen.

Marketing officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture say many Christmas and New Year's holiday traditional foods are in good supply. Among plentiful Michigan-grown products available are red meats, turkey, dry beans and apples.

Shiny red apples are a welcome treat for fruit lovers. Add a jar of homemade apple jelly, a wedge of sharp Cheddar cheese or a bottle of Michigan wine for an extra personal touch.

Freshly baked blueberry or cherry tarts in cellophane wrap, with a brightly colored bow, will delight that sweet-toothed relative. Your favorite hostess will cherish specially prepared jars of marinated Michigan mushrooms, spiced apple rings or pickles.

Warm the spirits of neighborhood carolers with mugs of hot spicy milk punch, tingly apple cider or creamy eggnog. Make a crock of brandied baked beans for an elderly friend. Introduce a weight-watching buddy to low calorie dairy products like fruit-flavored yogurt.

Holiday giving need not end with your Christmas list. Invite club members or old school friends over for homemade coffecake or cheese fondue. As a gesture of goodwill, donate Christmas cookies or turkey to a needy family.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Snowmobile season swoops in once again.

With it comes a reminder—and some information—from the Department of Natural Resources. Jan. 1, 1975, marks the start of a new registration cycle, the Department points out, and all machines must be licensed for another three-year period.

There's also a requirement that both automobiles towing snowmobiles and the machines themselves must have motor vehicle permits before entering a state park. The permits are normally available at the park entrances.

If you're wondering where to take the snowmobile this year, the DNR has some suggestions in a brochure that may be picked up at regional and district headquarters, the DNR Detroit Information Office, Highway Information Office and the Lansing office of the Michigan Tourist Council.

The publication includes maps with legends pinpointing locations of snowmobile trails, their length and a phone number for questions about condition of the snow.

Nine new trails, adding 233 miles to the state's snowmobile trail system, have not yet been listed in the guide.

They are: Greenhills, Michigan State Forest; Chandler Hills, Jordan River State Forest; North Branch, Osage State Forest; Bear Lake, Kalkaska State Forest; Silver Creek, Black Lake State Forest; East Devils Lake, Alpena State Forest; Gladwin Refuge, Tittabawassee State Forest; St. Helen to Roscommon, Houghton Lake State Forest; and North Missaukee and Lake City North, Missaukee State Forest.

Employees in Politics?
Should public employees have the right to become politically active—and remain on their jobs at the same time?

The Michigan house said yes to that question earlier this month, when members voted 33-9 for a bill sponsored by Democrat Howard Wolpe of Kalamazoo. The measure authorized public employee involvement in politics without the workers first having to obtain a leave of absence from their jobs.

The bill didn't make it through the Senate, however.

Wolpe isn't giving up. He says he'll reintroduce the legislation in January and is "confident" the new Legislature will pass it.

"This is a basic constitutional issue," Wolpe says, adding that current practices "deny to public employees a right which is available to other citizens."

In addition to allowing public employees to become candidates for any elective office without that leave of absence, the bill grants them the right to work for any candidate or issue in an election, to be a delegate to a state district or county political convention, or to be a political party committee member.

More for January
At least two other topics—school strikes and fair campaign practices—may be on the agenda when the legislature rings in its new session next month.

House Speaker-elect Bobby Crim, D-Flint, is seeking a law providing for binding arbitration in school disputes. Crim, a former school teacher himself, says binding arbitration would be the "court of last resort to see that our kids and our teachers are back in the classroom."

There's particular concern about possible teacher strikes next year, since many two-year contracts written in 1973 will be expiring. The fair campaign practices commission bill already is in the hopper in Lansing, but there's no time between now and the end of the session to do much about it.

The bill's sponsor, outgoing Republican Sen. William Ballenger of Lansing, says he hopes it will be reintroduced in January, or be made a part of a Common Cause initiative proposal dealing with campaign reform.

Ballenger's bill would grant the commission the legal status—and money to operate. It also would empower the commission to conduct hearings into complaints, make and keep records of testimony and impose fines.

The resignation of Thomas Young as Chelsea's fire chief was accepted "with regret" at the Village Council meeting last Monday evening. Young has taken over the Clinton Hardware Store, in Clinton, beginning last Friday, and he and his family will eventually move there when suitable living quarters can be found, he stated. Ted Balmer was appointed fire chief to succeed Young.

Farmers' Guild, Local 254, held its election of officers at a meeting held Wednesday evening, Dec. 13, in the Grange Hall at Lima Center. Officers elected are Ernest Hopkins, president; Oscar Bareis, vice-president; Leo Merkel, secretary; Carrol Ordway, treasurer; and Ezra Lesser, Oscar Widmayer, Kenneth Proctor, and Reuben Lesser, directors.

Center Dave Crocker and forward Stan Knickerbocker paced the Chelsea attack in Friday's defeat of Hartland, 74-37, as each netted 20 points. Tobin added 14 and Schrader, 11.

The Rev. P. H. Grabowski, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church here since 1922, tendered his resignation to the congregation at the close of the morning worship service Sunday. He has made no announcement of his future plans, giving as the reason for his decision to resign the fact that his doctor had advised him that for the sake of his health he must curtail his activities to some extent.

Extensive repairs are being made at the plant of the Chelsea Electric & Water Department in order to take care of the increasing load distributed through the plant. Two new switchboard panels have been installed, which will take care of an increase of one-third in plant capacity and will relieve the present overloaded condition of the distributing system.

Soloists at Tuesday nights' Christmas Program planned by the vocal music department of Chelsea public school will be Robert Strieter, Tom Lyons, Patricia Burg, Wesley McAtee, Rosemary Wallace, Jane Chriswell and Margaret Harper.

The brothers and sisters of Miss Sophia Schatz spent Tuesday evening at her home, in celebration of her 80th birthday. Miss Schatz received a shower of postcards.

Cagers Keep Pace...

entered the game as Kiel's replacement, also turned in fine play, according to the coach.

Junior Steve Lyerla, playing his first varsity contest after being laid off with an injured foot, "did a good job on the boards. Steve shows potential to be a fine varsity prospect," the pleased Balistrere added.

Also seeing action in the game and earning praise from the coach were Randy Davis, rated by the coach as "probably our top sub"; Tom Hafer, who replaced Dave Alber and "did a good job and played very well"; and Rick Robbins, who contributed "a fine job on the boards."

Coach Balistrere concluded, "Without a doubt, the team play the Bulldogs have been displaying is the key to their current success. This game was a fine team effort and everyone deserves praise for their efforts."

Saturday's saga of team play by the Chelsea squad was repeated, again with a successful outcome, as the Bulldogs raced to a quick lead and held it to trounce Brighton, 80-61.

"I was particularly pleased with the strong play of our Bulldogs in this game against a fine Brighton team, a team considered by many to be one of the better ones in the league," Coach Balistrere said.

Chelsea jumped to a first-quarter 18-12 lead, primarily on the scoring efforts of Alber (6 points) and Kiel and Musbach (four points each), then returned in the second quarter with more Alber and Kiel punch (eight points each) and a lot of "good team basketball." Half-time score was 36-27.

Going into the third quarter, senior guard Wonders, who had fallen into foul trouble in the first half, returned to pump in six points in the third quarter and Kiel added another seven. The team's strong lead, coupled with fine passing and team play, produced a 54-40 third quarter lead.

"Final quarter was the big quarter, when Bulldogs turned in 26 points to coast to their final 19-point margin. Dave Alber hit for 12 points in the final-period effort, and Ron Kiel added another seven.

Kiel and Alber shared scoring honors in this contest, with 26 points each. Kiel recorded a perfect shooting percentage from the floor (10-for-10) and hit 6-for-7 from the foul line. "This was the best game I've seen Ron play," Coach Balistrere said proudly. Kiel also led the team with 12 rebounds and managed to get loose from the Brighton press for a number of easy, turn-around baskets.

Dave Alber again earned the coach's praise for his "usual steady, good brand of ball. His coolness and steadiness as floor leader is essential to the Bulldogs' success," the coach said.

Gary Wonders was touted for his fine floor play and outstanding passing. He also lead the squad in assists, with 10.

"A beautiful game" was the way Coach Balistrere described Randy Musbach's performance. Musbach led the team when Wonders, the team's usual floor leader, encountered early foul trouble. Musbach, the coach said, was "instrumental in the floor balance of the Bulldogs' offense."

Randy Guenther, who again saw a good deal of action, "contributed in all categories equally well," according to the coach. Guenther was cited for his fine rebounding, his assists, and his aggressive floor play.

Rick Sweeney, who pulled down 10 rebounds and scored six points, performed most significantly in this contest on defense, according to Coach Balistrere. "Rick's best effort of the night was the fact that he held Brighton's leading scorer to 12 points."

Randy Davis, who subbed for Sweeney when he ran into early foul trouble, also played an "instrumental part in the Bulldogs' win," Coach Balistrere said.

Steve Lyerla again saw action, this game as a replacement for Ron Kiel, and "played well," in the coach's estimation.

Tom Hafer entered the game as Dave Alber's replacement and scored on a free throw. Coach Balistrere credited the team's current 5-0 record "to a large part, to our defensive play, which has been a dominant factor in every game." And of course, there's also the excellent camaraderie and team spirit which every one of our ballplayers displays."

Tomorrow (Friday) the Bulldogs will travel to Saline for another SEC encounter that will conclude cage action until Jan. 7.

From Franca Mannen, Winslow, Ark.: At 84 I can still remember going one mile away, down the most beautiful country wagon road I ever saw, to visit my grandmother. It was a road through shady virgin timber, lined and bordered in summer with all sorts of wild flowers.

And how we enjoyed grandmother's biscuits. Made only with soda for leavening, no baking powder, and with fresh sweet butter for shortening, baked in a dutch oven before the big fireplace.

We'd see grandmother smoking a little five cent clay pipe she got from my Dad's store. She lit it from a coal in the fireplace.

We enjoyed sleeping in the little trundle bed on cold winter nights with only hard slats, no bed springs, only a corn-shuck mattress that rattled. We'd watch the fireplace at night. Those are joys long to be remembered.

Waterloo Church Ladies Aid Holds Christmas Pot-Luck

Waterloo Village United Methodist church Ladies Aid Christmas potluck dinner was held at the home of Eloise Schulz Dec. 11 at 12:30 p.m., with nine members and one guest present.

After dinner the group made angel dolls for nine shut-ins and also will give baskets of fruit. President Bessie Barber called the meeting to order. Prayer was led by the Rev. Barnes, scripture reading was presented by Zella LaVan, Shirley Case, and the Rev. Barnes.

The Rev. Barnes conducted installation of new officers for 1975. Pastor Barnes lit white candles for Christ; a yellow candle was lit by Shirley Case in the absence of sunshine chairman Nellie Prentice; a green candle was lit by Vera Rietmiller, treasurer; a blue candle was lit by Mary Clark, secretary; a pink candle was lit by vice-president Isabelle Coulter; and a purple candle was lit by president Eloise Schulz.

A gift of a Christmas tree terrarium was presented to past president Bessie Barber for recognition of her service for three years.

The meeting closed with the benediction. Next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 8 at the home of Zella LaVan.

DINNER PARTY

Eight guests attended a formal dinner party Friday night at the home of Judy Eubanks. Guests feasted on roast goose with apple stuffing, wild rice, mushroom casserole, stoneground whole wheat rolls, flaming cherries jubilee, and home-made wine.

NORTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

THIRD GRADE—

Teacher: Mrs. Lawver

We have had many birthdays this month. Happy birthday to Ronnie Marshall, Tracy Evisizer, Teresa Bort, Kelly Byers and Carla Sears.

The class has been busy with Christmas decorations these past weeks and looking forward to Christmas vacation. Merry Christmas!

Teacher: Mr. Smith

In the last week or so, we have been studying the human body and its organs. We have all made a large picture of the body and each day we add a new part and color it.

We have been practicing hard for the chorus program that the 3rd grade will put on for our parents. Next week will be full of Christmas fun when we have our Christmas party. Mr. Smith already received an early Christmas gift for Mark Forath. Mark gave him some delicious fudge and a wooden sanding block. We all wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year and look forward to snow on Christmas Day.

Teacher: Miss Sanders

We have a new addition to our classroom—a cute little guinea pig named Butterball. She is still kind of shy but she is starting to get used to us. She likes to eat lettuce, apples, and carrots besides her regular food. We have been busy making Christmas decorations this week. We've made snowflakes, Christmas presents, stockings, and snowmen from construction paper to liven up our classroom. We are all looking forward to our Christmas party next Thursday and to the long vacation after that.

We are starting to do carrying and borrowing in math. It is hard but it is also fun. In social studies, we are learning about Miami. In Miami it is warm in the winter. It is kind of hard to imagine Christmas time without snow.

FOURTH GRADE—

Teacher: Mrs. Hafer

Reporters: Chris Martin and Bill Hanna

We have the 4th grade Christmas program Tuesday at 2:30. Mrs. Frame and Mrs. Martin will help with the Christmas party on Thursday. We are making modernistic angels for the Christmas tree in the gym. Our bulletin board in the room consists of things we are wishing for Christmas.

We are studying Japan, and here are some of the things some students have brought in: masks, a kite, dolls, a small boat and a safe; also a fishnet float. Mrs. Galbraith brought in some slides about Australia and told us about their trip there last summer.

Our only birthday in December is John Packard.

We have been working hard sanding and varnishing a Christmas gift for our parents. Merry Christmas!

Teacher: Mrs. Pletilla

We have a baby guinea pig in our room now. Mrs. Jan Pratt gave her to us. She is four weeks old and her name is Butter. Melanie Lee is going to take care of her during Christmas vacation.

We are busy practicing for our music program on Dec. 17. We hope all of our parents will come. Our hope is now decorated and ready for our Christmas party. That will be on Thursday, Dec. 19.

This has been a month of parties, so far: Eric Eeles, Norman Brown, and Neal Vorus have all had birthdays this past month.

Teacher: Mrs. Schmidt

CONSUMERS' CORNER

The "new" pork is leaner and meatier—with more protein and fewer calories per pound than ever before. Pork is one of the best food sources of thiamin and a key dietary source of other B vitamins and minerals, especially iron. Pork has only about 70 calories per ounce of separable lean cooked meat. The new lean pork is the result of continual improvement in breeding, feeding and production practices by animal scientists and producers. Also, today's pork is marketed at a younger age. Tender, juicy and delicate in flavor, today's pork is lean and very digestible. Pork is also priced right for today's budgets and is delectable roasted, broiled, braised, or cooked in liquid.

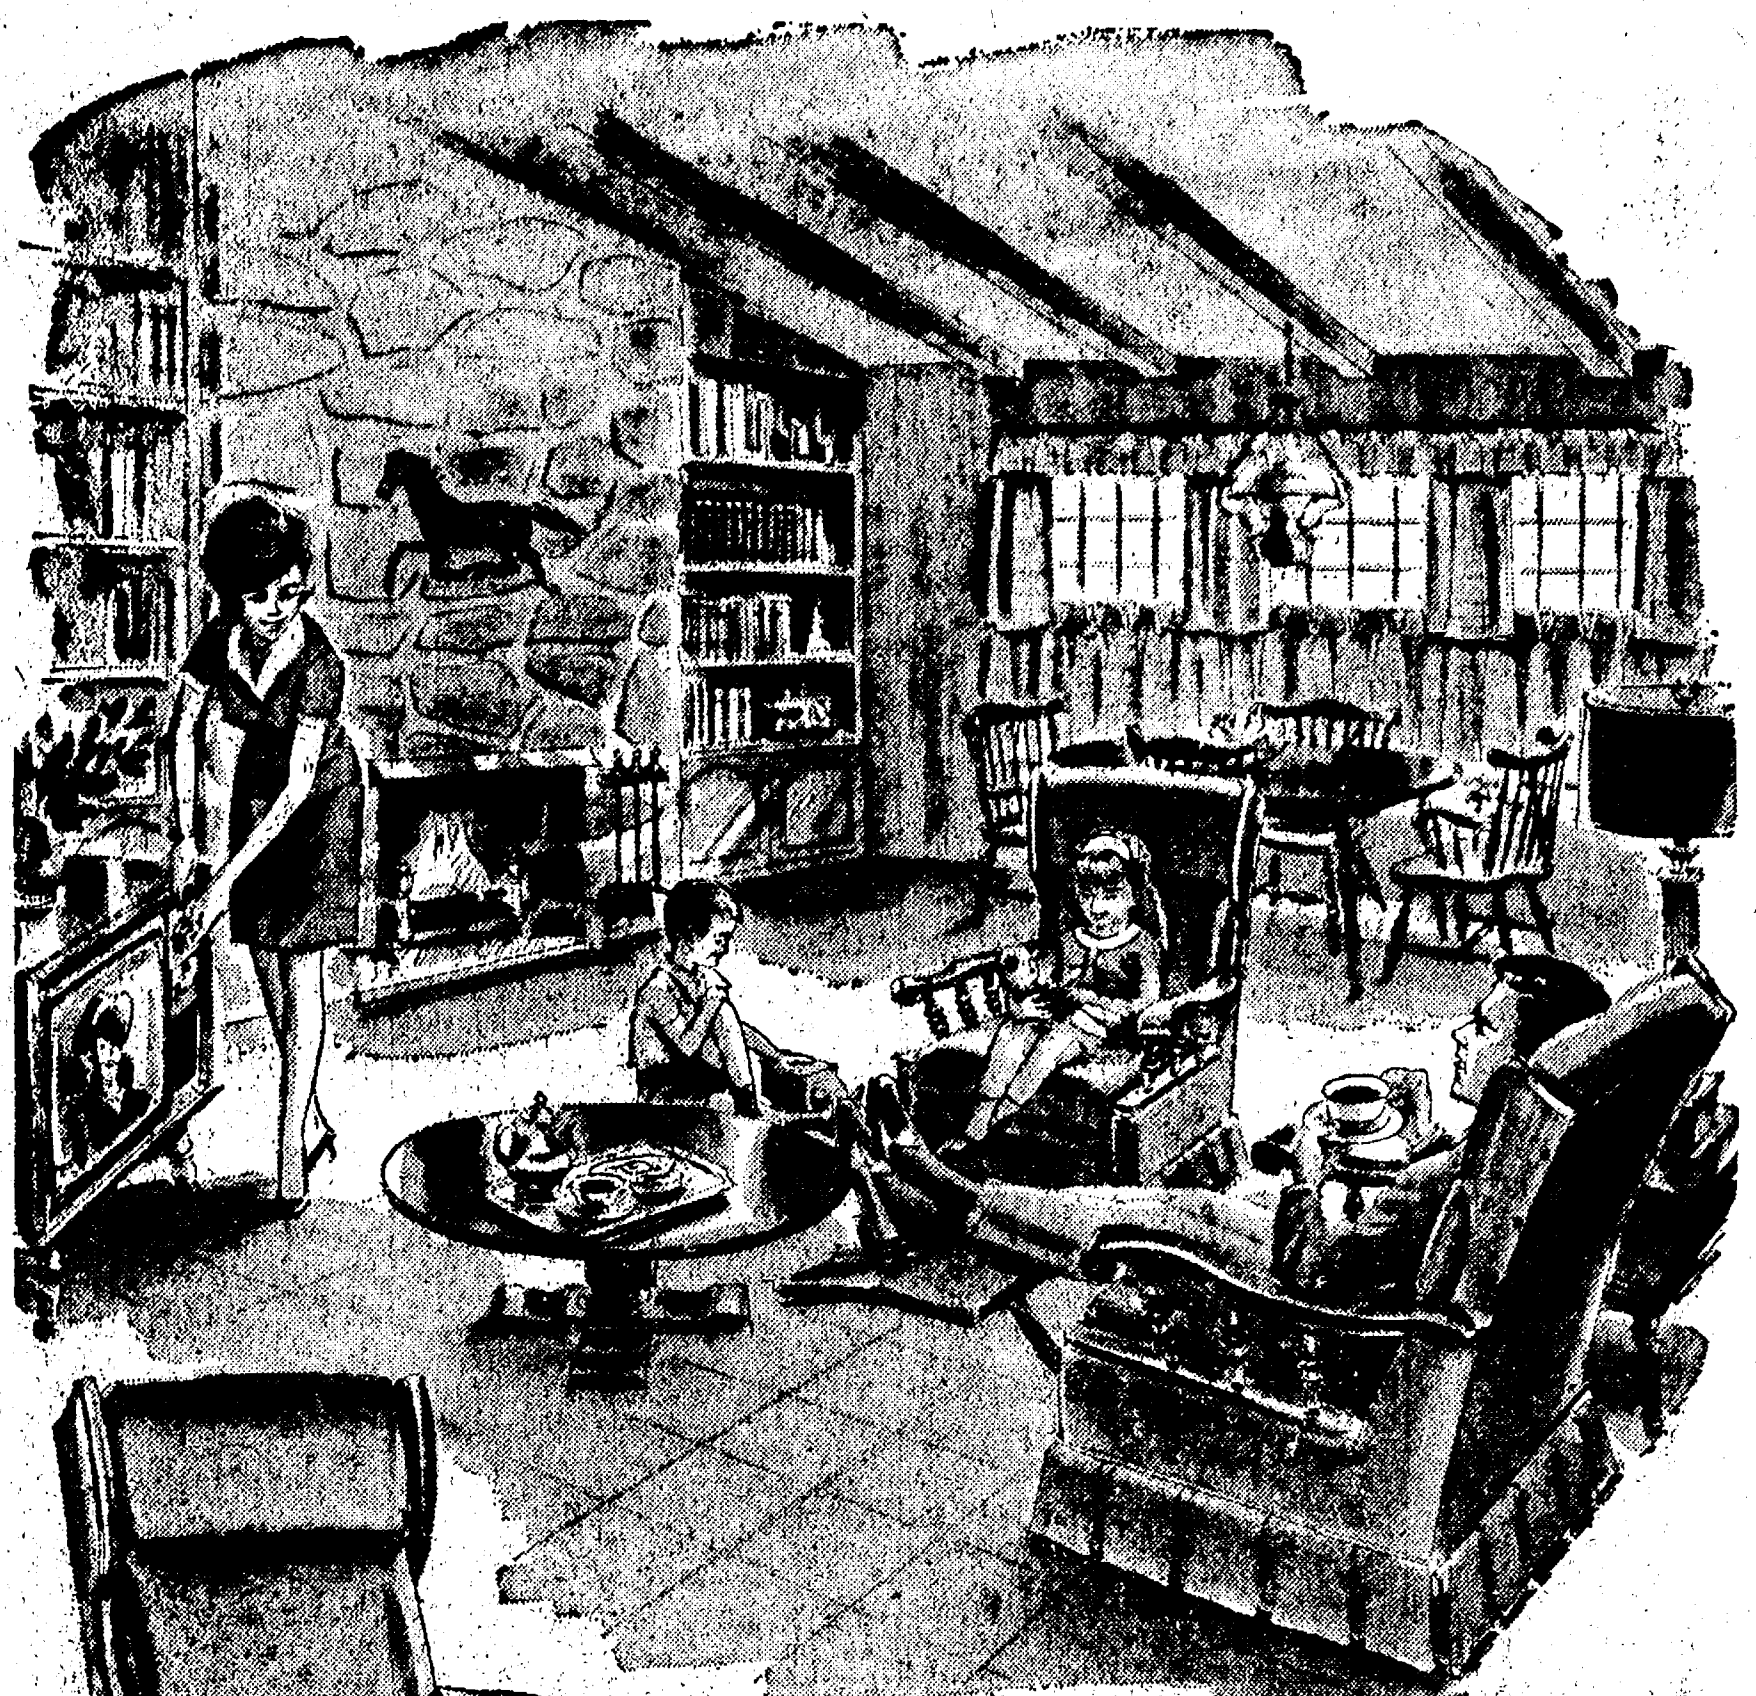

Here's a recipe for quick dilled onions: Save the leftover liquid from your favorite dill pickles. Heat to the boiling point. Pour over 1/4-inch thick onion slices. 8 to 10 hours. Store in a covered dish in the refrigerator for quick, convenient serving. Uses the full slices in sandwiches, or separate into rings as garnishes or in salads.

Broken Window

A 2 ft. by 4 ft. storm glass front window at Gar-Nett's Flower and Gift Shoppe on E. Middle St. was broken Saturday evening when a piece of ice was thrown through it.

A witness told officers that, while standing in front of Chelsea Drug, she heard glass breaking and saw three young boys run from in front of the shop. She telephoned police, who are questioning the three suspects.

DEATHS

Mrs. William Prichard Sylvan Township Resident Dies at Area Rest Home

Mrs. William (Nelle) W. Prichard, of 1187 Chelsea-Manchester Rd., died Sunday, Dec. 15, at Cedar Knoll Rest Home, Grass Lake, at the age of 89.

Born Feb. 24, 1885 in Saunemin, Ill., she was the daughter of Abraham and Edith Potter, Winters. She was married to William Prichard Feb. 17, 1909 at Saunemin, Ill. The couple came to Chelsea in 1915, and farmed on Prichard Rd. until 1947, when they sold their farm to the Chrysler Corp. Mr. Prichard preceded his wife in death, June 23, 1958.

Mrs. Prichard was a member of First United Methodist church. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Erwin (Dorothy) Wenk and Mrs. Helen Harrison, both of Chelsea; eight grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday, Dec. 17, at 2 p.m. at the Staffan Funeral Home by the Rev. Clyde H. Dickinson. Burial followed in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Mrs. Frank Hepler

Former Ann Arbor Resident
Dies at Methodist Home

Mrs. Frank (Lillian) Hepler of the Chelsea United Methodist Home died Sunday, Dec. 15, at the age of 80.

Born Jan. 16, 1894, she was the daughter of James and Ida Davis Ford. She was married to Frank Hepler May 27, 1915. He died Nov. 15, 1952. Mrs. Hepler came to the Home from Ann Arbor, Feb. 10, 1967.

She is survived by one son, Frank C. Hepler of New Haven, Conn.; one daughter, Mrs. Shirley Pray of Ann Arbor; and several grandchildren.

Cremation has taken place. A memorial service will be scheduled at a later date.

Jaycee Sponsored Cribbage Tourney Starts Jan. 13

Chelsea Jaycees' annual cribbage tournament will begin Wednesday, Jan. 13, and continue for four consecutive Wednesdays, Jaycees have announced.

To register, participants should be at St. Mary school at approximately 6:30 p.m. the first night of the tournament. Play will be from 7 to 10 p.m.

Jaycee representative Bob Wheaton noted that "the last person to show up runs the risk of not being able to play—since everyone needs a partner—so come early."

Wrestlers Win ...

"While we didn't do as well as we wanted to," the coach said, "this quad did point out some areas of improvement for the team. We need to improve our pinning, since we're getting too many big decision wins, without getting pin points."

"Also, Chelsea will have to get some help at 98 pounds and 105 pounds," Coach Bareis concluded. "It's very difficult to come back when you start out down 12-0."

Coach Bareis expects that some help will become available in the 98-pound class, in the person of Dave Stahl, but not much help is in sight at 105 pounds.

This afternoon (Thursday) Chelsea will host South Lyon in an SEC encounter. Also, this weekend, novice wrestlers will compete in the Ann Arbor Novice Tournament.

Beach Intramural Basketball Underway

More than 130 Beach Middle school students are dribbling, passing, and shooting their individual and team ways through this year's version of the Beach intramural basketball season, which began last Wednesday with seven games.

"We start out with an emphasis on learning," says Pat Clarke, intramural director. "And then we have a single-elimination tournament at the end in which the emphasis is on winning."

A total of 90 boys are playing for six boys teams, while 72 girls—up a good deal from last year—needed eight teams.

Currently sharing first place in the girls league after a single game of play for each squad are the Welshans, Arnett, Enderle, and Miles teams, each with 1-0 records. In the ranks of the winless after their first contest are Bassett, Satterthwaite, Lamb, and Burns teams, all with 0-1 records.

High scorers in the girls league for the week were Veronica Satterthwaite and Caroline Enderle with six points, and Nanette Push with five.

All jammed up in first place in the boys league are the Bareis, Burg, and Overpeck teams with identical 1-0 records. Young, Leach, and Sabo teams are holding down the bottom of the league with 0-1 records.

Big point men for the week for the boys league were Joe Verway and John Dunn, who each hit 11 points, and Chuck Young with seven points.

JV Cagers Squeak Past Pinckney

Chelsea's junior varsity cagers evened their record at 3-3 with a close, hard-fought victory Tuesday over Pinckney, 45-40. John Toon hit four key free throws in the last minute to ice the victory.

Randy Sweeney and Don Morrison led scoring with 12 each, Anthony Houle followed with nine and Toon had seven in his first start of the season. Dean Thompson scored five points and had three steals.

Houle and Sweeney led the rebounders with nine each while Morrison had seven and freshman Chris Smyth had six.

Friday, Chelsea will attempt to snap Saline JV's 24-game winning streak when the Bulldogs travel to Saline. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

Beach Choir, Band In Concert Tonight

Beach Middle school's 7th and 8th grade chorus and 8th grade band will appear together tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in the school's cafeteria for their first joint Christmas concert.

DiAnn L'Roy will direct the chorus and Ronald Harris will direct the band.

Novice Debaters Qualify for State Tournament

Chelsea novice debaters downed a slate of five Class A and one Class B novice teams to qualify Saturday for the Novice State Tournament Jan. 11.

At the Novice State Qualifying Tournament, at Central Michigan University, in which 68 teams were entered, Chelsea's novice squad recorded the necessary 6-2 record by defeating Southfield Lathrup, Muskegon, Grand Ledge, Plymouth, and East Lansing, all Class A schools, and Class B Dundee. They lost to a pair of Class A groups, Taylor Truman and Grand Blanc.

Novice team members are Kim Brown and Rob Wenk, affirmative, and Steve LaBarbara and Barb Hinderer, negative.

Chelsea novice debaters last qualified for a state tournament in 1971.

Rummage Sale Proceeds To Aid Bangladeshi Poor

A relief project for the starving of Bangladesh has been undertaken by the young people of Immanuel Bible church, who are gathering used clothing, furniture, dishes, and all kinds of saleable items for a rummage sale, scheduled for Jan. 10 and 11.

Funds earned from the rummage sale will be sent to missionaries, the Rev. and Mrs. Ronald Perrine, who minister in Bangladesh. To contribute items for the sale, call 475-7673 or 475-7952.

The rummage sale will begin Friday, Jan. 10 at 5:30 p.m., and continue, beginning at 8:30 a.m., Saturday, Jan. 11, in the former Buick garage, 116 N. Main St.

Waterloo Church Ladies Aid Holds Christmas Pot-Luck

Waterloo Village United Methodist church Ladies Aid Christmas potluck dinner was held at the home of Eloise Schulz Dec. 11 at 12:30 p.m., with nine members and one guest present.

After dinner the group made angel dolls for nine shut-ins and also will give baskets of fruit. President Bessie Barber called the meeting to order. Prayer was led by the Rev. Barnes, scripture reading was presented by Zella LaVan, Shirley Case, and the Rev. Barnes.

The Rev. Barnes conducted installation of new officers for 1975. Pastor Barnes lit white candles for Christ; a yellow candle was lit by Shirley Case in the absence of sunshine chairman Nellie Prentice; a green candle was lit by Vera Rietmiller, treasurer; a blue candle was lit by Mary Clark, secretary; a pink candle was lit by vice-president Isabelle Coulter; and a purple candle was lit by president Eloise Schulz.

A gift of a Christmas tree terrarium was presented to past president Bessie Barber for recognition of her service for three years.

The meeting closed with the benediction. Next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 8 at the home of Zella LaVan.

DINNER PARTY

CONSUMERS' CORNER

The "new" pork is leaner and meatier—with more protein and fewer calories per pound than ever before. Pork is one of the best food sources of thiamin and a key dietary source of other B vitamins and minerals, especially iron. Pork has only about 70 calories per ounce of separable lean cooked meat. The new lean pork is the result of continual improvement in breeding, feeding and production practices by animal scientists and producers. Also, today's pork is marketed at a younger age. Tender, juicy and delicate in flavor, today's pork is lean and very digestible. Pork is also priced right for today's budgets and is delectable roasted, broiled, braised, or cooked in liquid.

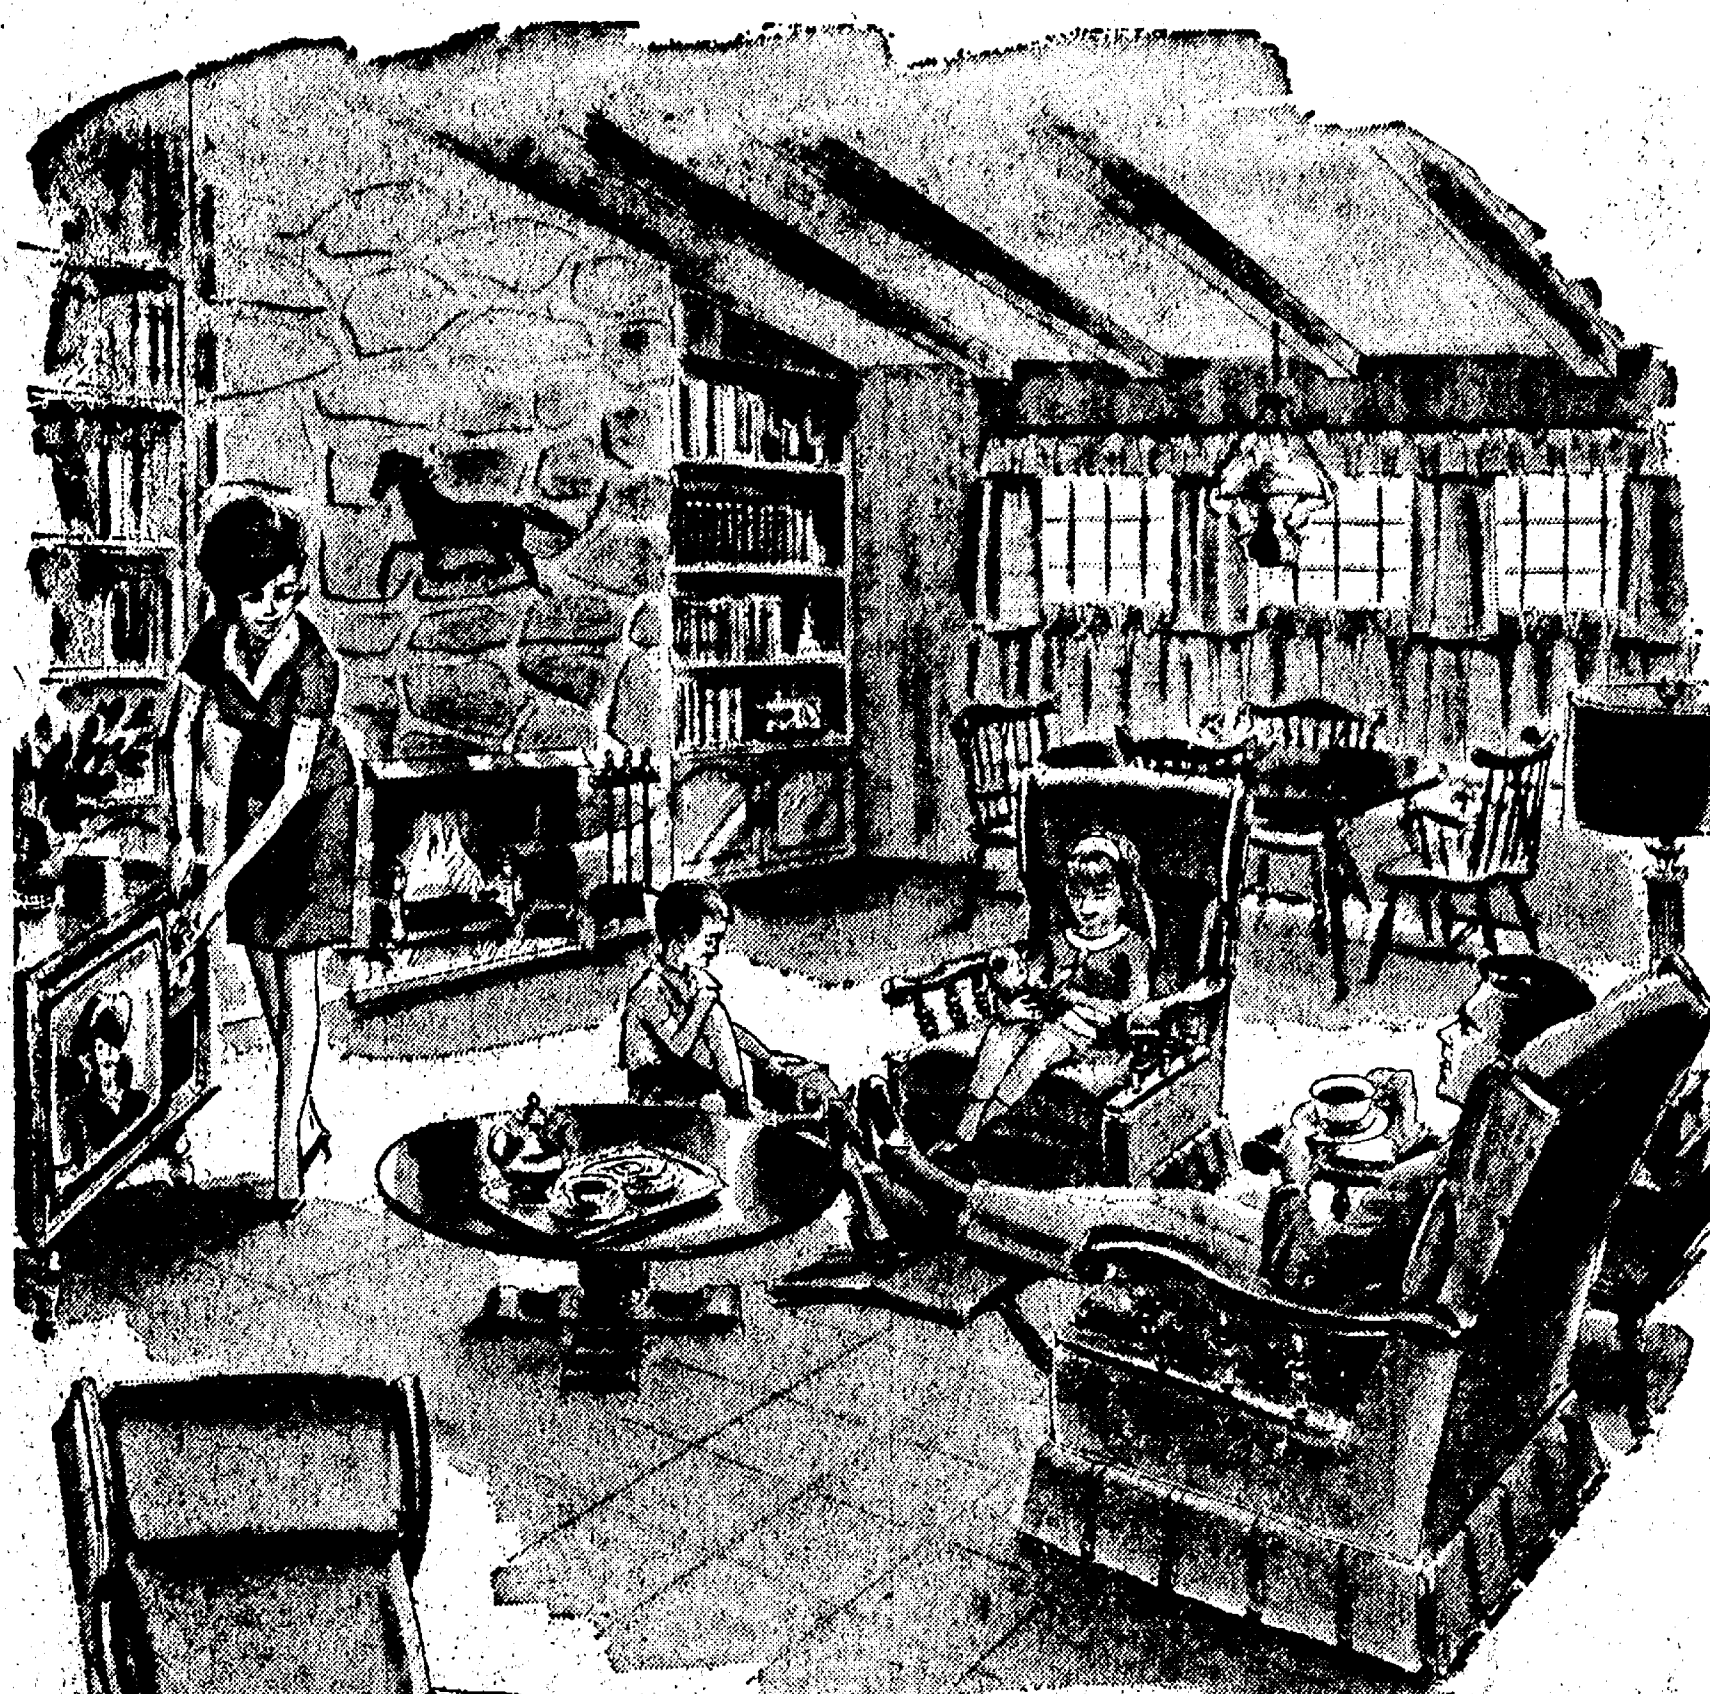

Here's a recipe for quick dilled onions: Save the leftover liquid from your favorite dill pickles. Heat to the boiling point. Pour over 1/4-inch thick onion slices. 8 to 10 hours. Store in a covered dish in the refrigerator for quick, convenient serving. Uses the full slices in sandwiches, or separate into rings as garnishes or in salads.

Try-Outs Held for Spring Musical

"Once Upon A Mattress," a play based on the fairy tale "The Princess and the Pea," with music and lyrics by Mary Rodgers and Marshall Barer, has been announced as this year's Chelsea High school musical.

Performances are scheduled for March 20, 21, and 22 in the high school auditorium, with tickets going on sale March 3. DiAnn Roy will direct the play.

Tryouts were held Friday and Saturday in the high school auditorium for the 10 leads and other parts.

The King and Queen will be played by Dennis Peisch and Cindy Turcott. Their son, Prince Dauntless, will be played by Howard Salyer. Jodi Daniels will play the part of Princess Winnifred.

Lady Larken will be played by Sue Leach, while her lover, Sir Harry, will be played by Steve Figg. Doug Beaumont will play the Jester, Dennis Bauer, the minstrel, and Jim Powers, the wizard. Sir Studley will be played by Dale Heydlauff.

Other members of the royal court will be played by Brenda Salyer as Lady Luce, and Elaine Musolf as Lady Mabele. The court dancers will be played by Skip Foytill as Sir Harold, and Liz Habelschwaert as Lady Beatrice. Theresa Ottman will be the Nightingale of Samarkand. Lady Dorothy will be played by Anne Treado. Matt Diedrich and Matt Merkel will be Sir Christopher and Lord Howard. Nancy Wonders will play the parts of Lady Dora and Princess No. 12.

Kathy Treado will be Lady Rowena, and Lady Merrill will be played by Tammy Puglisi. Lady Lucille will be played by Judy Powers, and Sir Daniel will be played by Dave Schaible. Sir Steven will be played by Steve Pennington, and Lord Patrick by Neil Cockerline. Keith Cockerline will play Sir Thomas.

Lords and ladies will be played by Sue Hsieh, Martha Blanchard, Brian Knickerbocker, Michelle Maistre, JoAnn LaFontaine, Mark Warren, Carolyn Shardein, Shelley Warren, Rob Wenk, Julie Tite, Terri Knickerbocker, John Daniels, Julie Prohaska, and John Storey.

Local Riders Garner Honors in Winter Season's First Show

Oak Ridge farm's opening show of the winter schooling horse show season was the scene of fine performances by a number of locally-based riders.

Scott Alder was big winner of the day, as he qualified for the finals immediately by winning the first Michigan Hunter-Jumper Association medal class and then riding Bacardi and Masquerade to eight other placings.

Astrid Dally, riding Bright Pathways, took a third place in the medal, won junior equitation class, earned a blue ribbon in the green working hunter class, and received five other placings as well.

Riding Stoney Ridge Farm's Country Sunshine, Sue Gates took a first place in baby green hunter category, then earned a second place in the warmup with her own mount, Evermore Ruler.

Kate Donkin earned a total of eight awards on two different mounts. She took four awards with Israphel, including a win in junior hunter, and four more with Bittersweet, including a blue ribbon in junior hunter.

Taking a third in the MHJA's Amateur medal was Lin Donkin, who also placed first and sixth in amateur working hunter, in addition to second and third in adult equitation.

Country Mile and Kim Alder took a green working hunter class and also received a second in junior hunter, and a fourth in green hunter, and a third in junior equitation.

Whitney Walz, on Nimble Fiddle, took second in junior equitation, plus second and sixth in B level jumper, fifth in junior hunter, and sixth in regular hunter.

Pat Behrman took a third place in amateur hunter, and a pair of fifths, in green working hunter and adult equitation.

Julie Williams had thirds in novice equitation and a fifth place in C level-jumper with Ojibway. Olds Schupp had second and thirds in junior hunter with Tumbleweed, plus a fifth in junior equitation.

Sharon Fox had a fourth in C level jumper with Major Hawk.

Small Shed Burns

A small shed behind Sharon Ann Manor was destroyed Saturday night by fire. Fire Chief Jim Gaken said that the shed was apparently built by children. No one was injured.

JV Cagers Split 2 Over Week-end

Junior Bulldog cagers split a pair last week-end with SEC opponents, bouncing Novi, 59-40, but falling to Brighton, 67-52.

Coach Paul Terpstra's JV players showed aggressive defense and improved shooting from the floor and foul line in their triumph. Pacing Junior Bulldog scoring was Anthony Houle, who hit for 15 points, John Toon, who was good for 14, and Don Morrison, who bucketed nine.

Tony Robards led rebounders by pulling down 10. Randy Sweeney added another seven rebounds, and Robards was also good for nine steals.

Free throws made the deciding difference in the Brighton contest, as the other set of Junior Bulldogs outscored Chelsea's version from the foul line, 21-8.

Coach Terpstra rated Randy Sweeney's performance as "outstanding," noting that he was good for 30 points and 10 rebounds. Sweeney shot at a 62 percent clip from the floor.

Houle added 10 points to the losing cause, and Robards was again strong on the boards, pulling down nine rebounds.

D. Robbinses Win Sales Award Plaque

A personal sales award plaque has been presented to Dan and Barb Robbins, 13200 Trist Rd., Grass Lake, by David Sebring, direct distributor of Amway Products.

In presentation of the award, Mr. and Mrs. Robbins were congratulated on the performance of their distributorship, and given special recognition for their outstanding sales achievement record.

Biddy Basketball Program All Set for Jan. 4 Registration Date

Instruction, competition, and recognition—the big three of Chelsea Recreation Council's biddy basketball program—are back on the sport scene again this year, hoping for an even larger turnout than last year's 121 players.

Biddy basketball is designed for youngsters who will be seven years old by March 15, through those 12 years old. Participants will be generally divided by age in all segments of the program.

First four weeks of biddy basketball are spent with personalized and individualized instruction for each player in all aspects of basketball, including offensive drills, defensive drills, shooting, dribbling, etc.

After these first four weeks, the young cagers will be divided into three leagues: the National Basketball Association, consisting basically of 11-, 12-, and some 10-year-olds; the American Basketball Association, composed primarily of 10-, 9-, and some 8-year-olds; and the World Basketball Association, designed basically for seven and eight-year-olds. Program director Jon Schaffner notes, however, that the players are divided more on ability than on age, in order that they play against others of comparable ability.

After division into leagues, each league will be divided into four equal teams. Each team will run drills for 45 minutes prior to their regularly-scheduled Saturday game. All players must play at least a full two quarters—a complete half—in each game.

NBA teams, directed by Wayne Welton, will use a regular basketball and play its games on standard 10-ft. baskets. ABA, under the tutelage of Jon Schaffner, will use the regulation biddy baskets, which are 8 ft. 6 in., and smaller biddy basketball, as will the WBA, which is to be directed by Bill Ackley.

An extra-added event on the final Saturday of the program is a trophy day, in which participants will be divided into five age groups, 7-, 8-, 9-, 10-, and a combined 11- and 12-year-olds group to compete in four categories: speed, dribbling, timed bounce, and shooting.

Top five players in each category of each age group will receive ribbons and the over-all top three boys in each age group will receive trophies. To be eligible to participate in the trophy day, a player must be signed up for the program by the fifth week.

Registration for this year's program is scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 4, from 9 to 10 a.m. in Chelsea High school's gym. Registration fee is $3 per boy, with a maximum of $6 per family.

Included in the fee is the cost of a game jersey with numerals, team name, and league name for each player to keep. All players will also receive a certificate acknowledging participation.

"We hope to make the biddy basketball program for 1975 even better than the very successful program of 1974, in which 121 players participated," says Jon Schaffner. "We have four new adjustable biddy basketball goals, five new biddy basketballs, and of course the brand new game shirts which each player will get to keep."

Schaffner also reports that coaches are needed for the 12 teams. "If you want to work with youngsters in a good wholesome sport, we want you," he says. "The directors will work with you as coaches and help you show the players the drills we would like to have you run."

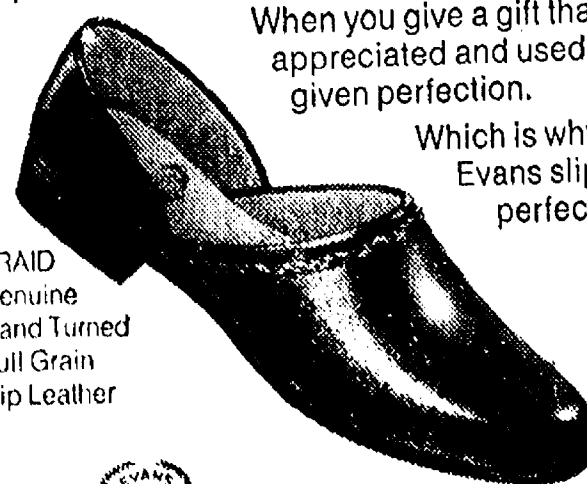

Coaches need to spend two hours every Saturday morning working with approximately 10 "very enthusiastic" players. To volunteer for coaching, call Jon Schaffner at 475-8802, or attend the registration session Saturday, Jan. 4.

Following registration Jan. 4, practice on drills will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. For the remaining 11 Saturdays of the program, biddy basketball will be scheduled from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Discusses Cosmetics

For Sensitive Skin

Exchanging information with a friend is one way to find out what might be good for your super-sensitive skin. Another way that might help you figure out what hypallergenic cosmetics are all about is to write for a reprint from the Food and Drug Administration. Single copies of Hypallergenic Cosmetics are free from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Some consumers think hypallergenic means "nonallergenic," when it actually only means the products should be less likely to cause adverse reaction. According to the fact sheet, there is no known way to produce a cosmetic that would be nonallergenic to everyone.

Also discussed are the various terms you'll find when you shop. In addition to hypallergenic, there's "suitable for sensitive skin," "less irritating," and another might be labeled, "allergy tested." Industry procedures for testing these cosmetics vary. The different tests used are described in the fact sheet.

Hypallergenic Cosmetics is one of almost 250 Federal publications of interest to consumers listed in the winter edition of the Consumer Information Index. The Index, published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration is available free from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colo. 81009, and from Federal Information Centers located throughout the country.

In a recent study comparing the noise hazards of various recreational activities, the noise levels encountered by listening to "live" rock bands was very close to those generated by motorcycles, drag racing and sport shooting. This is particularly noteworthy, hearing specialists point out, because the temporary hearing loss frequently experienced by people exposed to intense rock music could become permanent after repeated exposure.

Out of every dollar spent by the average U. S. consumer for food, 7 to 12 cents goes for packaging and labeling. If the weekly grocery bill is $50, that's between $3.50 and $6 for the "pretty packages." Consumers are surprised to learn that, in some cases, the cost of the container is more than the farmer gets for producing the food inside.

With increased costs of labor and materials, packaging and labeling has become the third largest item of cost in the consumer food bill. Consumers are discovering some truth in the old adage, "Pretty is as pretty does."

It's not likely that, in our sophisticated society, the plain brown wrapper will make a comeback. But a move to standardize, simplify and reduce the costs of food packaging would seem a step in the right direction.

★ Plain Brown Wrapper

Once upon a time there was a plain brown wrapper. It was economical and practical, though not very pretty. Even after it had served its term of service as a package, it could be torn up and used as drawing paper for a pre-school artist or to write notes to the milkman. Both sides could be utilized because it was just plain.

Now the plain brown wrapper has all but faded from the scene. Today it's the target of suspicious glances; it must contain a sexy novel or a bust developer to warrant an unadorned, unidentified package.

There were a number of reasons for its demise, other than its shady reputation. Consumers wanted a little more class than the plain brown wrapper had to offer. They responded to pretty packages. The fruit may have tasted the same, but it looked so much better in a see-through plastic covered tray. And so the plain brown wrapper found itself replaced by foils and plastics and pretty boxes. Consumers were happy, but they wondered why the cost of food was going up.

Then along came the demand for truth in packaging. Labels had to be redesigned and re-tooled so consumers would know exactly what they were getting for their money. Packages in thousands of shapes, sizes and colors were made available to shoppers, with labels telling the truth. This multiplicity created some inefficiencies in automated warehouse systems (designed to save time and costs) and confusion to shoppers (what's the best buy—a 13½ oz. box of cereal, or a 1 lb. 3½ oz. box of cereal?), but consumers got what they wanted. And they wondered why the cost of food kept going up.

Out of every dollar spent by the average U. S. consumer for food, 7 to 12 cents goes for packaging and labeling. If the weekly grocery bill is $50, that's between $3.50 and $6 for the "pretty packages." Farm Products Overseas Sales Jump Sharply
Sales of Michigan farm products overseas increased 62.5 percent last year, according to B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

The value of Michigan farm products sold to foreign markets during fiscal year 1973-74 was $294.8 million, up $112.8 million from $182 million in fiscal 1972-73. Ball cited this as "a great boost in income for the State of Michigan. We have held our position as 22nd in the nation," he said, "a good showing when competing with such year-around producing states as Florida and California."

Michigan's largest seller overseas, according to Forrest Strand, MDA Marketing division chief, was feed grains which brought $85.6 million, almost double the amount received the previous year.

Other big sellers were Michigan wheat and flour ($55.4 million), vegetables and preparations including dried edible beans ($51.3 million), and soybeans ($34.8 million).

Commodities sold abroad included fruits and preparations, $7.9 million; dairy products, $3.3 million; meat (excluding poultry), $3.6 million; hides and skins, $8.9 million; poultry products, $1.4 million; lard and tallow, $5.4 million; other items, $37.2 million.

I Remember...

From Mrs. Nelson Davis, Saginaw, Mich.: Times to be remembered were those early twilight evenings on our farm, which is now a part of the Saginaw Valley College campus.

I remember Papa would come in from the barn, lift the chimney of the lantern and blow it out. Then he'd go through the dining room. There, he would pull the lamp, which hung from the ceiling, down close to the center of the table, strike a match and light it. Later the sparkle of the dishes, warmed with food, would add to the warm glow of the dining room. I remember the dark oak, high-backed chairs, of a room that was mellow with age.

When the dishes were cleared away, our school books came out, along with a big dish of apples and a pan of fresh popped corn (to help us along with our homework).

Juvenile Court Seeks Gifts for Christmas Fund

The Washtenaw County Juvenile Court has begun its annual Christmas donation fund drive this week, according to Hon. Francis L. O'Brien, Juvenile Court Judge.

The Lawyers' Wives of Washtenaw county will again do the shopping and wrapping of gifts for the court youngsters during the holiday season. Mrs. Carolyn Farmer is in charge of this year's project.

Money collected during the holiday drive will go toward Christmas gifts for needy court youngsters as well as other court-related activities not covered under the regular court budget.

In the past, funds collected were put to a variety of uses during the year including birthday presents and graduation gifts for children under supervision, rewards for good performance at school, lumber for a group project, General Educational Development (GED) Test fees, clothing for deservng court-supervised children, batteries for a child's hearing aid, etc.

George E. Foltz, Director of Court Services, explained that county and state funds seldom cover costs incurred by the court ward living in a low- or marginal-income home.

Contributions to the Juvenile Court fund may be sent to "Juvenile Court Donation Fund," 2270 Platt Rd., Ann Arbor 48104.

Get America's No. 1 selling compact in the first place.

'75 Plymouth Valiant Brougham 4-Door Sedan

In the First Place, small-car handling and parking. Good handling in town, but holds the road on the highway.

In the First Place, room for 6, not 4. Our little Plymouth Valiants seat 6 people nicely.

In the First Place, Electronic Ignition. Virtually eliminates ignition tune-ups, and it's standard.

In the First Place, No. 1 selling compact car. Altogether, it's no wonder America's No. 1 selling compact car comes from Plymouth.

CHELSEA VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGSDecember 17, 1974
Regular Session.

This meeting was called to order by President Pennington at 7:30 p.m.

Present: President Pennington, Administrator Weber, Clerk Neumeier, Trustees: Wood, Galbraith, Dmoch, Gorton and Borton. Absent: Trustee Johnson. Others Present: Police Chief Meranuck and Zoning Inspector Goltra.

The minutes of the regular session of December 3, 1974 were read and approved.

Motion by Wood, supported by Borton, to adopt a resolution recommending approval of transfer of location of 1974 Tavern and SDM Licenses of Donald Thompson from 20700 Old US 12 to 20600 Old US 12. Roll call: Yeas all. Resolution adopted.

A discussion was held regarding the proposed amendments to the Zoning Ordinance. No action was taken at this time.

Motion by Dmoch, supported by Galbraith, to hold all 1975 Village Council meetings on the first and third Tuesdays of the month at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Administrator Weber reported on the progress of the Village's effort in complying with the Special Conditions set forth in the NPDES permits. He also reported that a report on a Power Contingency Plan due the end of the month is being prepared by Finkbeiner, Pettis and Strout, Ltd., consulting engineers.

The third quarter budget report for the 1974-75 fiscal year was submitted for review.

Motion by Galbraith, supported by Dmoch, to authorize payment of bills as submitted. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

Motion by Galbraith, supported by Gorton, to adjourn. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned.

Thomas Neumeier,
Village Clerk.Finding Security
In Retirement

Heart disease is the most common cause of disability among people receiving social security disability payments.

Social Security pays monthly benefits to over 2 million people under 65 who are severely disabled and cannot work for a year or more. Thirty-one percent of those have severe heart disease.

Arthritis, gout, and amputations account for sixteen percent of the disabled people getting benefits. Accidents are responsible for eight percent, respiratory diseases seven percent, and disorders of the nervous system and sense organs six percent.

Social Security disability payments are paid only to severely disabled people whose impairment will prevent them from working for at least one year in any type of employment.

Several things are taken into consideration when the Social Security Administration makes a determination of disability. The age of the applicant, his education, work experience, and severity of the disability are a few considerations.

In some cases Social Security helps pay for vocational rehabilitation of disabled workers.

Study Sees Pollution in County Lakes

A recently released study of the Portage and Base Line Lakes in northwestern Washtenaw county has provided new insight into pollution problems of inland lakes. The study, sponsored by the Washtenaw County Drain Commission, is based on an inventory of existing conditions and the responses to a series of questions asked of local residents concerning the maintenance and operation of their septic tank-drain field systems.

The conclusions reached in the study note that a vast majority of disposal systems in the area are polluting the lakes and that a majority of households around the lakes have numerous health code violations. It has been determined that the poor septic tank-drain field conditions described in the report are causing more problems for lake water quality than for individual homeowners.

While homeowners in the area have indicated a receptivity to sewer construction as a way to alleviate the pollution problems, the Drain Commission's study outlines alternative procedures for relieving the problems. These alternatives include lowering lake levels in the winter and spring to increase the effectiveness of drain fields and establishing functional on-site disposal systems through the implementation of a county administered Home Sewage Improvement Program. To evaluate the various solutions to the lake conditions, the report calls for the creation of Citizen Advisory Committees, and the establishment of Inter-County Drainage Districts as a way to enlist the help of government agencies.

Jerome Fulton, Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner, expressed the belief that the study provides a number of suggestions which may be used to improve conditions at many of Washtenaw County's 53 inland lakes which are experiencing similar problems. A limited number of the studies are available without charge from the Washtenaw County Drain Commission.

The Bivouac, Raupp Campfitters and The Peak will provide equipment, free of charge, for skiers at the Tuesday and Wednesday evening sessions. Midwest Natural Foods Distributors will take the skis to the various sites on these nights. Thursday evening instruction clinics will be held for those who have their own equipment.

Henne Field in Saline, Fuller Recreation Area in Ann Arbor and West Middle school in Ypsilanti are the three lighted areas which will serve as instruction sites.

In order to accommodate all participants, the first session, Tuesday, Jan. 7, will be held in Ann Arbor, the Wednesday, Jan. 8 clinics at the Ypsilanti site, the following Tuesday, Jan. 14 lessons in Saline and again in Ann Arbor on Wednesday, Jan. 15.

Providing weather conditions permit and snowfall is two inches or more, the first set of clinics on Tuesdays and Wednesdays will begin at 7 p.m. and end at 8:30 p.m. The second set of clinics will follow at 9 p.m. and run until 10:30 p.m.

Participants in the 7 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday sessions should arrive at their assigned site at 6:30 p.m. to allow time for equipment distribution. Likewise, those enrolled in the 9 o'clock clinics should arrive at 8:30 p.m. Because Thursday evening participants will have their own equipment, the first clinics on those nights will begin at 7 p.m. and the second set at 8:30 p.m. rather than 9 p.m.

The first hour of the sessions will be devoted to instruction with the remaining time being used for "touring." For all those interested in the instruction clinics, a form has been provided for immediate registration purposes. These forms are available at the WPCARC office, 2355 W. Stadium Blvd., Ann Arbor. A $2 check or money order payable to Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission must be enclosed with the completed form. An acknowledgement card will be returned to all persons registered for the program confirming the instruction time and date for which they are enrolled.

Enrolling in this season's program is possible only through this advance registration process. Since the instructors can help only a certain number of skiers at one

Christmas Trees Are Truly A
Michigan Conservation CropBy Clark A. Eacker,
District Conservationist
U.S. Soil Conservation Service

For a Christmas tree to suit your family's tastes, there is nothing better than a Michigan grown tree. Michigan Christmas tree growers harvested more than 5,000,000 trees last year. This ranks Michigan first nationally in the production of Christmas trees. At the same time, they have put at least 100,000 acres of the more rolling, less fertile land to good use. Hundreds of people who live in rural Michigan help grow these trees for our holidays.

Quality trees come "true to nature." They are not all identical. There are enough differences to please the person who really wants something beautiful. A perfect natural Christmas tree is fresh. It has not dried out, will resist fire, and will keep its needles.

A definite procedure can be followed in helping to make the Christmas tree more safe in the home: One or two inches can be cut from the base as soon as the tree is brought home; the tree can then be placed in water. It is also best to find the coolest part of a room for the tree and to keep the water level above the newly cut base at all times. Heat reflecting lights should not be used. When colored lights are used on the tree, check them for safety.

Buyers are primarily harvesting Christmas trees from plantations of Scotch Pine, White Spruce and Douglas Fir. To make a plantation of evergreen trees into premium Christmas trees requires work in shaping each growing year. Very few of our trees come from the native woods.

Christmas trees are marketed in many ways. A popular type of management is a "cut-it-yourself" or "choo'se-and-cut" operation. Some are sold by the growers on their own retail lots. Others are harvested and shipped to local day by calling the reserved number. Any cancelled sessions will be re-scheduled until all those registered for the program have been served.

This season's ski program also includes a cross-country ski directory available from the WPCARC office free of charge. This booklet provides a list of skiable areas throughout the county as well as information on where to buy or rent equipment.

In addition, ski enthusiasts may contact the WPCARC for a season cross-country ski shoulder patch. The cost, $1, may be included in the registration fee checks to the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission.

stores and Christmas tree lots throughout the state. Many more are grown for the out-of-state trade by contract or to be sold in a wholesale market.

A natural Christmas tree may also be put to work after Christmas. It may be used for a bird haven or feeder. It may also be used to divert the wind from a plant that needs protection from the wind. Groups of discarded trees may be used to make wildlife brushpiles. Or, several trees may be put together to make a temporary windbreak. In recent years, the purchase of living Christmas trees has become more popular.

As you admire your nicely decorated Christmas tree this season, remember that it didn't just grow. It displays a tale of events that speak well for man and the land. Indeed, your Christmas tree does tell a conservation story.

CLEANED OUT
Christmas means a lot of cleaning up. First you clean out the checking account, then the savings account.Senior Citizens Should Be Enlisted
To Help Record Community History

East Lansing, Groups and organizations in Michigan communities would do well to document the stories of their communities through oral history projects involving their senior citizens.

The suggestion was offered by Philip A. Korth, Michigan State University associate professor of American Thought and Language, speaking at a Michigan Council for the Humanities Conference at MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

The Michigan council is inviting non-profit organizations to take advantage of the National Endowment for the Humanities' funding for state-based projects. The theme is "the Michigan economy: A humanistic understanding of production, consumption and leisure."

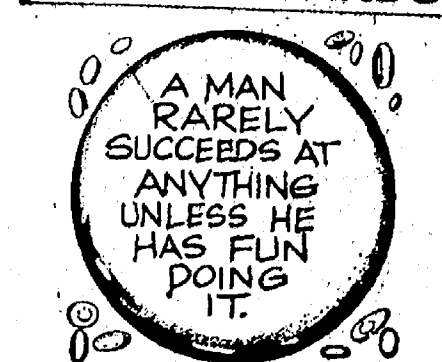

Korth suggested that local residents in their 60s and 70s could "unlock their legends and their memories," and "illuminate attitudes, sentiments and values" of prior decades.

Specifically, he recommended that oral histories be produced—with cameras and tape recorders operated by local volunteers who can be easily trained to handle the equipment and conduct interviews—on the defunct lumbering and copper industries of Michigan, the two World Wars, the Great Depression, and other major events.

The MSU professor showed an audio-visual record of his interviews two summers ago with participants in the 1934 Autolite strike in Toledo for union recognition. This past summer he interviewed participants in a major 1934 Minneapolis strike.

"In many communities," Korth said, "there are people now in retirement who can offer first-hand news of how things happened, how people felt, and what the oral history, as it never can be done in objective history."

SEC ROUND-UP:

Chelsea, Milan Each Win Twice To Retain Conference Lead

What may have been the big surprise of the young Southeastern Conference season put a brand-new perspective on the league race Friday night when Milan romped all over Saline, traditionally one of the toughest teams in the circuit, 83-58.

Also zooming into the top-rated contenders list was Chelsea who pounded out victories over Novi and Brighton in the action-packed weekend.

FRIDAY'S GAMES

Saline 58, Milan 83
A game-long Milan full-court, man-to-man press did the job on Saline's Hornets Friday night in the first 1974 meeting of the two SEC powerhouses.

The Hornets, last year's league champions, who boast returning veterans like all-league center Dan Scott, and all-league guard Tim Slepky, were forced into an incredible 32 turnovers by the stingy Big Red defense.

High point man for Milan in victory was Stan Joplin with 28 points. Adding 13 points each were Jay Cummings, Tony Hernandez and Bill Kordupal.

Saline, now 2-1 in the league, was paced by Tim Slepky's 18 points.

Chelsea 66, Novi 44
The press reared its effective head in the Chelsea-Nowi contest, too, as Chelsea retained its undefeated record to keep a hold on the league lead.

Numerous turnovers, coupled with quick baskets and fine balanced scoring from Dave Alber (20 points) and Rick Sweeney (16) did the job for the Bulldogs.

Bill Gioria was high Wildcat man with 14 points.

Brighton 65, Dexter 50

Brighton's Scott Bandkau and Steve Golden, each with 17 points, teamed up with Dave Lewallen, who added 14, to make the Bulldogs' offensive effort the one that counted over Dexter.

Although Dexter took the battle for rebounds, Brighton rolled up a 32-23 first half score and remained in charge for the rest of the contest.

High point men for the Dreadnaughts were Bill Musso and Dave Sing with 13 points each.

Lincoln 2, South Lyon 43
A tight man-to-man defense and lots of points were the keys to the Railsplitters' dumping of South Lyon Friday night.

Top scorers for Lincoln were Keith Parks with 15 points, Doug Roome with 14, and Johann Barboir with 13.

The victory, Lincoln's first, put them at 1-3 for the year.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

Milan's scoring punch paved the way to another monstrous victory Saturday night, as the Big Reds produced a 54-point winning margin in their defeat of the Lions.

Pacing the victors in their third straight SEC triumph were Bill Kordupal with 17 points, and Jay Cummings and Jim Dittin with 16.

Greg Stevens hit for 16 counters for the Lions.

Chelsea 80, Brighton 61

Dave Alber and Ron Kiel each hit for 26 points in Chelsea's trouncing of Brighton that kept them tied for first in the SEC.

The victory, Chelsea's fifth in a row and third in SEC action without a loss, was highlighted by a team shooting percentage of nearly 50 from the floor.

High point men for Brighton's Bulldogs were Dave Lew Allen and Dave Lawson with 16 each. Scott Bankau and Steve Golden each added 10 points to Brighton's cause.

Saline 83, Novi 53

Saline took advantage of Novi to ease the pain of their 25-point loss to Milan Friday night, inflicting a little pain of their own on the winless Wildcats.

Third quarter action told the entire story for the Hornets, as they outscored the Novi five, 31-7, to establish a good share of their margin of victory.

Top Hornet point-getter for the evening was Tim Slepky with 23 points, while Dan Scott added 18.

Bill Gioria paced Novi's scorers with 19 points.

Lincoln 73, Dexter 63

It was another tight one for the Dreadnaughts, who seem to be specializing in that sort of thing this season, as foul shots in the final two minutes of play put the game into Lincoln's win column.

Scott Hubbard poured in 28 points for the Railsplitters, while Mark Mast topped Dexter point totals with 25.

Red Cross Swim

Classes Scheduled

The winter session of Red Cross Swim classes have been scheduled. Conducted through the co-operation of the Ann Arbor Recreation Department, classes for Adult-Swim and Senior Lifesaving will be offered.

The Adult Swim is open to all persons 18 years or older and for all levels of swimming ability from non-swimmer through advanced. Classes will meet at Huron High from 9 to 10 p.m. on Wednesdays, starting Jan. 8. Mrs. Jeanne Dean is the Red Cross volunteer coordinator for the fourth consecutive year.

The new Red Cross Advanced Lifesaving and Rescue Course will be offered to the public for the first time starting Jan. 8 at Clague Middle school. It will be conducted by Red Cross volunteer staff headed by Bob Morris. Each session will start at 7:30 p.m. with the course continuing for 10 weeks.

Enrollment in the course is open to skilled swimmers at least 15 years of age. Students enrolling in the course will be required to purchase the text. They will also be required to supply mask, fins, and snorkel and a personal flotation device. First Aid and CPR will be included as a part of the total program.

A $4 pool usage fee is payable to the Ann Arbor Recreation Dept. The Red Cross, a United Way participating agency, makes no charge nor receives any funds for this course.

To register or for further details on these courses call the Washtenaw County Red Cross Safety Programs Department at 971-5300. Ask for Mrs. Fry or Mr. Mollett.

Pinckney Area Youth Completes Recruit Training With Navy

Navyman Donald A. Courdway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Courdway, of 1915 Pleasure Dr., Pinckney, graduated from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

He is attending Yeoman "A" School, Meridian, Miss.

The training included instruction in seamanship, military regulations, fire fighting, close order drill, first aid and Navy history.

Standard First Aid Class Series Starting Jan. 7

The new Red Cross Standard First Aid and Personal Safety course will be offered by the Washtenaw County Chapter, starting Tuesday, Jan. 7. Classes will meet weekly from 7 until 10 p.m. for six weeks and will be held at the Red Cross Operations Center, 2729 Packard Rd., Ann Arbor.

The new course is extended in content, skills and length and represents a real change from the "green book" course that was so familiar for years. In addition to the basic life-saving skills such as artificial respiration, bleeding control, and treatment of shock, basic bandaging, splinting, and transportation skills will be taught. Emphasis will also be placed upon accident prevention techniques and recognition of potential hazards.

Although there is no charge for the course, which will be taught by a volunteer instructor, class members will be required to purchase the textbook ($1.95).

Pre-registration for the class is necessary and may be done by calling the Red Cross office Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. Enrollment is limited with class assignment on a first-come-first served basis.

Red Cross is a participating agency of Washtenaw United Fund.

December's Decked With Frosty Fun Across Michigan

Finale month of '74 brings snow coated action, icicle excitement, and the sparkle of Christmas joy, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

The enchantment of Fantasyland lights the hearts and lifts the spirits of all ages through Dec. 24 at Kennedy Memorial Center, Lincoln Park. This annual, old-fashioned Christmas display presents animated scenes, streets of toy shops and candy stores, a circus, giant doll house and don't be surprised to see elves and pixies everywhere.

The city of Marshall, reminds us that there is only one Santa and his arrival in Marshall was heralded by the annual Christmas parade and lighting ceremony Dec. 2. Because of an annual all-out effort to "glitter 'n' glow" in the tradition of the season, Marshall has become known as "The Christmas City."

Detroit's Christmas Carnival, Dec. 7-24 in Cobo Hall, is planned for the delight of the little people. The hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and admission is free. Santa Claus himself will host the affair, and to make sure that everyone's wishes are properly received there will be special telephones for young visitors to call direct to one of Santa's helpers. Other attractions will include live animals in a natural setting and a naturalist to tell you all about them, puppet shows, a playland and play area, children's art exhibit and life-size nativity display.

The spirits of Christmases past are revived each year at Greenfield Village, Dearborn. Village buildings are decorated in keeping with their particular period in history, and the air fills with the happy sound of sleigh bells and carolers and enticing aromas of holiday cookery. Christmas in Greenfield Village and the annual demonstrations of Crafts At Christmas in the Henry Ford Museum, began Dec. 7 and will continue through Dec. 31.

Still another Yuletide favorite for all is the "Christmas Trees Around The World" exhibit at the Nature Center in Kalamazoo, Dec. 9-26. Twenty Merry Christmas trees are decorated in the authentic tradition of as many different countries. In addition to the ornate arborvitae, there will be special displays of Christmas lore particularly related to plants and animals associated with celebrations of the season.

On the action scene, enthusiastic snowmobilers take to the oval and cross country tracks of the Snowmobile Olympus in Ironwood, Dec. 13-15. The Olympus has been rated as one of the top 10 races for the past four years. This year's Olympus will be co-sanctioned by the American Snowmobile Association, Michigan International Snowmobile Association and the South Wisconsin Snowmobile Racing Association and governed by MISA rules.

The flash of silver blades on the feet of graceful athletes striking for the finish line will provide thrills and excitement for spectators at the Gold Cup Speed Skating Championships, Dec. 14, Wyandotte.

Fun, food and games are some of pleasant "pluses" for snowmobiling families participating in the Snow Country Caravan, Dec. 14 in the Cheboygan Area.

The ice rink will be the center of attraction again on Dec. 15 with the Indoor Speed Skating Championships at Wolverine. More competition is scheduled for Dec. 21-22 when the skaters will line-up for the Motor City Speed Skating Championships at Farwell Field in Detroit.

Those who appreciate the artistry of photography will certainly appreciate the Mary Appelhof Exhibit, Dec. 3-24, at the Institute of Art in Kalamazoo. The exhibit displays the beauty of Michigan's woods and waters captured by the sensitive eye of the photographer's camera. The sensitive touch and moods of Michigan artists will be displayed Dec. 8 through Feb. 29 in the Michigan Focus exhibit at the Institute of Arts in Flint. And Michigan's unique Arttrain will be stopping in Pontiac Dec. 9-15.

On stage, Lynn Redgrave stars in "My Fat Friend" Dec. 9 through Jan. 11 at the Fisher Theatre, Detroit and the Performing Arts Center will present "The Wizard of Oz" Dec. 13-15 and Dec. 20-22.

Then of course there is skiing and snowmobiling, old fashion sleigh rides, professional hockey and harness racing, hunting and fishing. In short, December is delightful for everyone in Michigan. Make sure you enjoy every snow white moment of it. Write for a free copy of the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events and the Michigan Winter Sports Guide available from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 48913.

CHRIST'S MASS

Christmas—the name—derives from the Old English "CHRISTES MAESSE," meaning Christ's Mass. Our present spelling most likely came into use around the 16th century.

COFFEE CONSUMPTION

On a typical midwinter day close to 70 percent of all persons over 10 in the U.S. drink a cup of coffee. Those between the ages of 30-59 have the highest per capita consumption rate.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

We are writing this letter to you as we know you are not partial to certain people in this town. Our question is this: Why is Miss Chris Alber singing in the High School Choir when she is no longer going to high school? This concert is supposed to be for high school students.

We don't think the school system is giving the kids a chance to better themselves when someone who is out of school sings the lead part. This is a good way to lose all interest in singing for the kids. I they know they can't try out for the lead part.

Sincerely,
Concerned Parent.

To the Editor:

To the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners or Whomever it may concern.

I am surprised that the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners would favor permitting the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority to take 4,800 acres of some of the best farm land in the State of Michigan for a park at a time when we are facing a hungry world. It seems that when the purpose is more recreation area some are all for it regardless of the sacrifice and the consequences. We do not need this kind of park in Washtenaw county.

It has been predicted that we will have mass famine within the next 50 years. Today's grandchildren will face the terror of hunger here as many do in other parts of the world today. We have the smallest food reserve at the same time that we have the largest population ever. We are in present trouble for both food and feed for livestock and another dry year like 1974 will result in serious trouble.

It is time to act, and quickly. Why not try to prevent famine rather than to encourage it? Not only will thousands of acres of good farm land in the proposed park area be lost but another vast amount of good productive low land in the surrounding area will be ruined when the water level is raised to create a 650-acre lake.

Our country is barely keeping pace with population now. Our food supply and reserve is the lowest in 26 years. It makes no sense to take further acreage out of production when the government has itself abandoned allotments to encourage greater productivity. Parks can be, and should be, carved out of less productive land as many excellent parks have. Isn't that what we should be doing—making the best use of the resources we have?

We are constantly being told to increase production but this takes fertilizer and this is so expensive few can afford it in the quantities needed. Much of the corn last spring went into the ground without fertilizer and it was reflected by less yield.

The Mill Creek Research Council has opposed this park proposal and has given you many reasons and some good honest facts why you also should oppose it. It is time to reconsider. You know that in World War II the Germans had the big battleship they called the Bismark which they claimed was unsinkable. Churchill said "we have got to sink the Bismark" and they did, in fact, sink it.

We are now in a similar position. The production of food should have priority. One who is hungry needs no areas for recreation. For the good of our community; for the good of our country; for the salvation of all humanity, help us stop this proposed Mill Creek Park now. You will earn the gratitude of all.

Thank you.
Sylvester J. Weber.

To the Editor,

To the officers and members of the Kiwanis Club of Chelsea:

We would like to thank all the people who worked so hard with the Sing-a-long that was presented at the Chelsea High school on Sunday, Dec. 8. It was a real great program. We hope this can be continued year after year.

Chuck, Doris and Karen Blanchard.

To the Citizens of Chelsea

I was born and spent most of my life in a number of small, western towns. The towns of which I speak were extremely friendly. Every man was a neighbor and the words stranger or newcomer didn't exist. If a person needed a helping hand, one wasn't hard to come by, and not just in matters of emergency. The police force was used mainly to escort funerals and for traffic control. The officer who walked a beat issuing parking tickets found it unnecessary to carry a side arm. As I grew up, I concluded all small towns were basically the same, mainly friendly and peaceful. So to you, the people of Chelsea, I must say congratulations. This town has all but destroyed my conclusions about small towns.

We have lived in Chelsea for just over six months. Basically, we know the same number of people as we did when we first moved here. We found the town handed over and then we found the reason. Since we have been here, we've had a window busted out of our home, the antenna broken off of our pick-up along with the gas cap stolen, our car has been egged, and obscene gestures have been made at my wife.

No one was out to get us, it was all just random vandalism. You want more? Two cars, while parked in the municipal parking lot, were splattered with red paint. Stories in The Chelsea Standard continually tell of vandalism. Even the front doors of the Police Station were recently egged. Football games carry a certain degree of vandalism. The toilet papering of trees is not a pleasant sight to see and if the "gift" wrappers were made to clean it up, there would be considerably less done.

What is the cause of all this? It is too easy to blame the vandals. The responsibility must be carried further than that. Parents should care enough to know what their children are doing. During the warm months, teens stand around on the corners uptown getting raider parties together. Where are the parents? What would happen to the "boldness and daring" of these youngsters if a carload of parents would drive up to these meeting corners and dish out the old "give them the rod and save the child" routine?

Yet the teens aren't the 'only ones to blame. I have heard of children, not even out of grade school, verbally abuse their elders and try to destroy property. And I have seen some of the "adults" in town with less grace and manners than a jackass. These are supposed to be example setters? Come on people, take your blinders off and look around.

People in Detroit are afraid to walk dark streets at night. Yet they are at an advantage over us for they at least have an idea of what to expect. That's Murder Capitol; whereas this is supposed to be a friendly little town. I wonder what the recent snow storm victims who stayed here think of us? I wonder what they would think if they really knew the town? The word hypocrite would probably come into the picture quite often.

If parents and people in general don't care enough to stop this vandalism, then I can see no other alternative than to take the cuffs off the police and start a curfew, enforcing curfew and loitering laws right to the letter. If this proves ineffective, then I believe the old vigilante committees might be revived. I've talked with enough people, who are fed up, to where a sufficient committee could be formed.

I'll not sign my name to this letter for when the pranksters start seeking revenge, who could I count on for help?
Sincerely,
Concerned.

Cager of the Week

RICK SWEENEY (22) is Chelsea's Bulldog cage team's co-captain for this season. Sweeney, a 6'4" center, is presently playing his second varsity basketball year and has high hopes for Chelsea's current season. "We should do pretty well — we've got a good coach — Coach Balistrere really knows his stuff — and a lot of seniors who know what they're doing. We also have some good juniors coming up who can take over if we run into foul trouble or something." Sweeney, a varsity track man since his freshman year at Chelsea, competes in high jumps and hurdles. After graduation, he plans first a trip for post-high school relaxation, and then plans to work. The son of Frank and Nancy Sweeney, he has four brothers, Ron, Rod, Ryan, and Randy, and a sister-in-law,

St. Louis School Notes

St. Louis school's Roosters have won two out of their last three basketball games—they defeated Manchester and Dexter, but fell to St. Thomas by one point.

Recently the boys have had a number of guests. Girls from St. Mary's church and First United Methodist church went out to the school to sing Christmas carols; patients from Chelsea Community Hospital came out to sing with the boys and also brought cookies to refreshments; University of Michigan students, with the help of Ann Arbor Kiwanis Club members, put on a program last Saturday. Also, Saturday night girls from Chelsea will go out to the school to have a Christmas party and social with the boys.

A new snowmobile was presented to Fr. Umberto and the boys by Jack Biewer, whose son formerly attended St. Louis school. His son, who now attends public school and works for his father's business, brought the snowmobile out to the school.

Fr. Louis and the boys have been kept busy decorating the Christmas tree, the lobby, and the classrooms. The large tree for the lobby was donated to St. Louis school by Chelsea Rod and Gun Club.

Christmas dinner for the school will be served Thursday by Sister Mary and Mrs. Robbins.

Sunday the boys will present their Christmas program, under the direction of Fr. Umberto. The boys will present a skit and the band will play Christmas songs. The program is open to the public. The boys will go home with their parents Sunday and return to school Jan. 5.

Christ-MESS: five minutes after the gifts are opened.

Tape Player Removed from Van Left Overnight

A $200 Craig stereo tape player with FM radio was reported stolen Sunday from a van parked overnight at the Wolverine Lounge, Chelsea police reports say.

John Marzec told police that he had locked his van before leaving it in the Lounge parking lot at approximately midnight the night before. When he returned, he found that the tape player had been removed from the dash area.

Officers reported that there were no signs of forced entry to the van. They are continuing their investigation.

Snowball Thrown Through Window

A recurring snowball proved suspicious enough to Mrs. Mary Kalmbach last week to call the police.

Mrs. Kalmbach told officers Monday that a snowball or iceball had been thrown through a front bedroom window of her home on East St. Saturday at approximately 5:30 p.m. Thinking that it was an accident, Mrs. Kalmbach said, she did not report it.

However, Monday, another snowball was thrown through the cardboard covering the broken 12 in. by 18 in. window. Mrs. Kalmbach spotted a boy, described as probably 13 or 14 years old, running away from her home and called Chelsea police.

Officers have a description of the boy, who may or may not be connected with the original breaking of the window, and are continuing their investigation.

Frosh Cagers Lose to Saline, Down Brighton

Chelsea's freshman cagers have split a pair of contests so far in the young season's competition. In their opening game with Saline the Little Bulldogs suffered through a poor night's shooting to a 59-53 loss.

Leading scorers in the Chelsea cause were Randy Harris with 14 points; Gerald Benjamin with 13; Rod Sweeney with 9; and John Daniels with 6. Benjamin and Kurt Owings shared honors as top rebounders with eight each.

Voted most valuable player in the opening contest was Randy Harris.

Last Thursday against the other set of Little Bulldogs from Brighton, Chelsea came out on top, 48-38, primarily by virtue of a fine first quarter, when they leaped to a fast 20-2 lead.

Although Brighton came back before the end of the quarter to make it 22-10, the local team's strong start held up. "Most of the rest of the game was pretty even after that quarter," Coach Jim Tallman said. "We slowed down and they didn't improve."

Gerald Benjamin earned MVP honors in this contest, after rolling up the team-high total of 14 points. Randy Harris added 12 points in this game, while Kurt Owings and Rod Sweeney were each good for 10. John Daniels earned the coach's praise for "a good job as floor leader in organizing the defense."

Doctors today recommend a weight gain of 24 to 30 pounds during a normal pregnancy, the March of Dimes reports, depending on the mother's original weight.

PRICES FROZEN?

That seems to be a popular subject these days with the major supermarket chains. Polly's, being a home-owned independent organization, is concerned deeply with the economic situations and shopping budgets of the citizens of Jackson. That's why we at Polly's don't believe the freezing of certain selected items prices is necessary. Our pricing policy has always been one of keeping the main items on your shopping list priced as low as possible. With our new in-store coupon policy we try to keep a milk, bread, egg, butter, coffee and other necessity items at a price which is at our cost or below cost. Flour, sugar, coffee, cake mixes and many other items on our shelves are always priced at our cost or below cost. Our meat prices are by far the lowest prices in town, and at the same time offering you the finest quality available. We do not claim to be the lowest priced store on every item in the store, but we are more competitively priced in all areas of the store than anybody else in town. So, even though we are not announcing a freeze on certain items, we guarantee you we will not raise the price on any item unless absolutely necessary and that we will remain more competitively priced than any other market in town. Check & Compare and you will be pleasantly surprised to find out that Polly's saves you more on your total food bill here's proof.

ALL ABOUT FOOD

F. A. KENNEDY

What did the Indians do at peace conferences? Well, our western Indians, sat around and puffed on a peace pipe. But our east coast Indians had a different custom. They sat around and ate cranberries!

They prized the cranberry so highly they made it their symbol of peace. In fact, the high chief of the Delawares, whose main job was keeping peace among the sub-tribes of the region, was even called the Pakimentzen, which means "The Cranberry Eater."

The Indians also had other uses for cranberries. They used them as a source of red dye for their blankets. And they used cranberry juice in poultices to treat poison arrow wounds.

However, they called the little red berries sassamanesh. The Pilgrims changed the name to cranberries — largely because the cranes loved to eat them — and the name was later simplified to "cranberries."

Until recent years, cranberries were sold fresh only, and were thought of almost entirely as a Thanksgiving and Christmas dish. But now that cranberry products are canned and frozen, they have grown into year-round favorites.

And they may come into greater use. Ocean Spray, a 1000-farmer co-operative which produces roughly 85% of all the world's cranberries, has more than 4000 recipes in its company files, including one for cranberry catsup and one — believe it or not — for cranberry perfume!

Incidentally, if you ever want to grade fresh cranberries, simply bounce them. The good, firm berries will bounce high. The soft, squishy ones will never make it. And that's my cue to remind you to buy your cranberries from Polly's... if you want "more bounce to the ounce!"
