Cagers Lose Heartbreaker To Saline, 69-65

Chelsea's Bulldogs fell to a three-way tie for second place Friday night by dropping a heartbreaker to Saline, 69-65.

Bulldogs, undefeated until Friday's encounter, launched themselves into a quick 13-point lead over the Hornets in the opening minutes of the game.

Although Chelsea's lead diminished to three points at the half, the local squad re-established a commanding 11-point distance between themselves and Saline by early in the third quarter.

At that point, however, the Bulldogs' shooting game went stone-cold and Saline's press slowed them down a good deal besides.

Turnovers and missed easy shots also took their toll on the Bulldogs' scoring opportunities in the final, futile quarter.

High scorers in the contest for Chelsea were Dave Alber and Gary Wonders with 16 points each, and Ron Kiel with 13. Kiel also pulled down 10 rebounds.

Saline's top point men were Tim Slepisky with 22 points and Dan Scotton with 21.

The defeat, the Bulldogs' first after rolling up a fine 6-0 record, put them at 3-1 in the Southeastern Conference, good for a second place tie with Saline and Lincoln.

Milan assumed sole control of first place Friday night by defeating Dexter.

JV Cagers Down S. Lyon, Fall to Clague

Little Bulldogs went 1 for 2 this week in cage action, downing South Lyon, 40-34, but falling flat against a tough Ann Arbor Clague squad, 80-40.

Thursday's defeat of the Little Lions was paced by Kurt Owings, who scored 12 points, and Jerry Benjamin, who scored 10.

Also adding points were Randy Harris, nine, and Dave Schrotenboer, six.

Defense was led by Benjamin's nine rebounds. Also contributing "good jobs" for the defense, according to Coach Jim Tallman, were Dave Schrotenboer, Matt McGee, and Steve Pennington.

Earning the team's most valuable player rating in the win was Mark Feeny.

High scorers for Chelsea in last Tuesday's romp by Clague were Gerald Benjamin, who hit for 13 points; Kurt Owings, who was good for six; John Daniels with eight; Greg Ringe with four; Dave Schrotenboer with three; and Steve Pennington with two.

Varsity Champions: Chelsea's varsity debaters landed in first place at the close of the State League season by virtue of their fine 6-2 record. The squad, Chelsea's first varsity champion since 1971, includes, in front, Brenda Shadoan and Keith Cockerline, and in back, Brad Glazier and Kurt Allshouse, pictured with Coach William Coelius. All debaters earned individual speaker trophies, in addition to their first-place team trophy.

Area Churches Plan Special Holiday Events

Amidst all the gifts and tinsel the religious meaning of Christmas remains foremost in the minds of Chelsea churches, many of which have scheduled special Christmas Eve services tonight or tomorrow, Christmas Day.

At St. Paul United Church of Christ, an early service tonight, (Tuesday), beginning at 7:30 p.m., will be entitled "A Night for Dancing" and will feature the Junior and Senior High school choirs in a pageant-type program. This worship service will also include communion.

Several special masses are church in observance of the holiday. At both the 6 p.m. and mid-night masses Tuesday evening, a 15-minute program of carols by the choir will precede the celebration of each mass. Masses are scheduled Christmas Day at St. Mary's at 8 a.m., 10 a.m. and 12 noon.

In celebration of the new year, St. Mary's has scheduled a 6 p.m. New Year's Eve mass, as well as masses for 8 a.m., 10 a.m., and 12 noon on New Year's Day.

Zion Lutheran church's entire Sunday school class will appear in tonight's 7:30 p.m. family worship service, presenting "Because Christmas," a program of recitations, songs, and carols.

St. Paul's organist, Truoke Ameigh, will present an organ recital at 10:30 p.m., followed by the evening worship service at 11 p.m., which will be a presentation of Benjamin Britten's "A Ceremony of Carols." Choirs of both First United Methodist church and St. Paul United Church of Christ will perform in this work, under the joint direction of June Warren and Bruce Galbraith.

Following "A Ceremony of Carols," St. Paul's will conduct communion again and complete the evening with a candle-lighting service and its traditional Christmas Eve service.

No "New Year's Eve service" is scheduled at St. Paul's.

First United Methodist church's major Christmas program was presented Sunday, when "A Ceremony of Carols" was performed at the regular worship service.

Christmas Eve at First United Methodist will be observed by a simple 45 minute carol service by candlelight, stressing quiet meditation. The service will begin at 7 p.m.

New Year's Eve joint service for St. Thomas Lutheran church and Zion Lutheran church will be conducted at St. Thomas.

At 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, a festival-worship service will be celebrated in recognition of the events of the day.

A presentation of "The Christmas Story," a program in scripture and song, will be the highlight of tonight's candlelight service at First Congregational church, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The service, which will include worship and Holy Communion, will conclude with a family Christmas hymn sing and the symbolic ritual of the lighting of the candles.

Grapplers Down South Lyon, Fall to Aggressive Tecumseh

Chelsea grapplers downed South Lyon Thursday, 34-30, with a line-up that included four inexperienced wrestlers, but were caught by an aggressive Tecumseh team Tuesday, 36-22.

Chelsea's heavier weights came through with the needed points to counter losses at the light weights in the South Lyon match-up, although Coach Richard Bareis noted that some improvement was shown at the 98-pound weight, in which Dave Stahl was able to avoid the fall, thus saving two team points. At 105 pounds, Jim Alexander found his way into the third period before being pinned.

Jim Stahl again won a one-sided 14-6 decision at 112 pounds, and at 119 pounds Rick Beeman showed an aggressive attitude before being pinned in the second period.

Mike Agopian came back with a 14-1 superior decision win, and Doug Reed kept the Bulldogs going with a 6-3 win at 132 pounds. Mark Pennington then registered a 9-2 decision at 138 pounds, but Joe Branham, wrestling at 145 pounds, lost a 10-0 decision, but did a good job of avoiding the pin.

Chelsea's big win came when Darryl West was able to score a third period fall over one of South Lyon's undefeated wrestlers. Tim Reed scored a fine 6-0 decision that put Chelsea ahead, 22-20; then Dennis Bauer and Kermit Sharp sealed the victory by scoring pin wins at 185 pounds and heavy-weight, respectively.

Undefeated Novice Debaters roared to a perfect 8-0 record in State League action this season to again return as novice champs. Above, from left, are team members Rob Wenk, Kim Brown, Barb Hinderer, and Dave Pletcher, all displaying their individual speaker trophies and their first place team trophy.

Biddy Basketball Still Needs Coaches

Starting Jan. 4, all the aspiring young basketball players looking to turn into star Bulldogs like the current bunch over at Chelsea High school will begin instruction and competition in Chelsea Recreation Council's biddy basketball program.

Designed for participants who will be seven years old by March 15, through those 12 years old, the program will consist of 12 weeks of instruction, six games during that 12-week period, and a trophy day. In addition, each player will receive a game jersey to keep, and will play at half-time of one of the junior varsity home games on a Friday night.

Registration for biddy basketball will be conducted Saturday, Jan. 4, from 9 to 10 a.m. Fee for the program is $3, with a maximum of $8 per family regardless of the number of players registered.

After the first several weeks of intensified instruction in all phases of the games, participants will be divided primarily by age, but more importantly, by ability, into three leagues and placed on one of four teams in each league.

In actual competition between teams, each player must play at least one full half of every game. The two younger leagues will use the regulation biddy baskets, which are 8 ft., 6 in., and smaller biddy basketballs, while the older league will use the standard 10-ft. basket and regulation balls.

Jon Schaffner, director of one of the leagues, notes that biddy basketball organizers are still in need of coaches for the program.

"If you're interested in spending a very enjoyable two hours for 12 Saturday mornings, please contact me or just show up Jan. 4," he says.

Following registration Jan. 4, practice on drills will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. For the remaining 11 Saturdays of the program, biddy basketball will be scheduled from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Anyone interested in registering for the program who expects to be out of town Jan. 4 should contact Schaffner or one of the other league directors, Bill Ackley and Wayne Welton, sometime before the registration date.

Coach Richard Bareis had praise in this contest for the fine over-all efforts by all the wrestlers. "Our young light weights are improved," the coach said, adding that, "Dave Stahl and Joe Branham put forth real strong efforts in avoiding the pin."

"Our heavier weights look real strong and with the coming of the New Year's weight increase, we should be even stronger," Coach Bareis predicted.

Last Tuesday, however, Chelsea grapplers learned the disadvantage of going up weights, as they were caught by a young, aggressive Tecumseh team. Bulldogs were unable to come back after falling behind 18-4 after the first four weights.

A bright spot showed at 98 pounds, even in a fall loss, as Dave Stahl put forth a good effort. At 105 pounds, Jim Alexander was defeated by a fall. Jim Stahl then pounded out a 12-0 superior decision.

At 119 pounds, Doug Craft was pinned, but Nick Keiser at 119 pounds won 7-3 and Mike Agopian scored an 8-3 win at 132 pounds.

Doug Reed lost a decision, 5-3, at 138 pounds, and at 145 pounds, Mark Pennington was defeated in a close 4-3 match.

Both Varsity, Novice Debaters Win State League Championship

Ten trophies all at once might just seem an extravagance of excellence, but Chelsea debaters, who hauled home that many from last Wednesday's final State League meet, don't seem to mind at all.

For the first time since 1971, varsity debaters managed a league championship for themselves, while novice debaters continued on their generally ho hum course and earned a fourth consecutive league championship.

In addition to claiming the varsity championship trophy, all four squad members earned individual trophies. Brenda Shadoan received a first-place individual trophy for first affirmatives, Keith Cockerline, a first-place trophy for second affirmatives; Brad Glazier, a first-place trophy for second negatives; and Kurt Allshouse, a second-place trophy for first negatives.

Glazier established a league record for total speaker points by piling up 167 out of a possible 180 during the season.

At Wednesday's meet, varsity debaters continued on the strength of their early season wins and posted a 3-1 match to finish at 9-3.

All novice team members earned first-place individual trophies for their parts in the team's perfect 4-0 afternoon that concluded an undefeated season.

Trophy winners were Dave Pletcher, first affirmative; Rob Wenk, second affirmative, who rolled up the highest speaker-point total in State League; Kim Brown, first negative; and Barb Hinderer, second negative.

Letters to Santa Have New Touch

Although in the good old days there probably really were kids who had pre-Christmas visions of simple things like sugar plums, Chelsea youngsters' letters to Santa show that today's children are more likely to dream about Evel things.

Evel Knievel things, in a word, appear to be the hottest item around town for those young daredevils, as called from letters in Santa's Chelsea mailbox.

Shannon Carpenter, of 223 Madison St., puts his Evel request right at the top of his list, "an Evil Knievel motorcycle" and then later adds "Evil Knievel Scramble Van."

Shannon tells Santa that "I would be pleased if you would bring these things" and includes "magic eight ball, Veiv master gift pack; talking spider man, lome Ranger, a puppy dog, magic cards, hot wheels, Tube socks Muscle shirts pants, fantastic four Book, t-shirts all."

But prepared to give as well as receive, Shannon adds in his P.S. that "I'll have some cookies and milk for you and some carrots and celery and water for the deers."

Flint Woman Held On Prescription Fraud Charge

A 20-year-old Flint woman will appear in 14th District Court today to plead to two counts of fraudulently obtaining a prescription at Chelsea Drug and a Manchester establishment.

The accused, Shelley Hill, was taken into custody last Monday in Manchester when she was attempting to have a prescription filled for Ambenyl Expect 2x11, a cough syrup that contains codeine. She is believed to have been the same person who obtained a similar prescription at that pharmacy a short time before.

According to police reports, the prescription presented at the two drugstores was on forms from a (Continued on page three)

Uncle Lew from Lima Says

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle's daughter that works in the city is spending the holidays with her folks. Ed told the fellows at the country store Saturday night that the first thing she done when she got in the house was drink three glasses of water. She said she had been reading about all them "chemicals" in the city water, and she just couldn't wait to get home and drink some plain water right out of the ground. She said after them reports on New Orleans water this common country variety that ain't homogenized, enriched and chemical treated left a better taste in her mouth.

Ed said he had been following the Environmental Protection Agency's call for closer checks on all water treatment after them New Orleans tests showed that from the standpoint of getting cancer, folks there would be better off drinking water straight out of the Mississippi. But Ed said he recollects just a few years ago this same outfit was telling us we were fast running out of air to breathe, and we were going to have to cut off all our engines and not built no fires until we got the air cleaned up. Then come the fuel shortage. Ed allowed and sudden old coal heaters and wood cook stoves was being encouraged to save oil and electricity, and the air could take care of itself. Ed said we best take the EPA serious, but with a big grain of salt.

The fellows was general agreed with Ed that the EPA and all agencies that deal with the public health has got to stretch a point to make one. Jest like doctors have to build a big safety margin in their medicine, these outfits has got to make a situation sound terrible jest to get our attention. If the bottle says one pill ever four hours, the doctor knows, some of us feller if one pill is good three would be wonderful, so he got to plan it so three won't kill us. When the EPA says the single family home is the ruination of America, it's jest trying to let us know we ought to think more carefully about how we use our land cause, like the old preacher said, the good Lord ain't making no more of it. Still, allowed Clem Webster, we got to guard agin too much control, like where we go it so a man can't feed his own table scraps to his own hogs that he is raising for his own use, was fer strict control of the other guy. It's fine to outlaw him burning his leaves, but if I decide to burn a pile of tree trimmings, that's my business, was their line of thinking. What we need, declared Clem, is to get back to where to say a feller is sound as a dollar meant he was well, not sick, and where candy wasn't coming out with less sugar nd whiskey with less proof.

Speaking on this line, Ed said we ought to get back to living in such a way that when it comes time to preach our funeral, the preacher can do it without running the risk of going to hell fer lying. Mister Editor, that ain't a bad creed.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

New Investment Certificate Offered

A new federally insured investment type certificate paying an effective annual yield over 8 percent will be offered in Dexter and Chelsea beginning Dec. 23.

Roy E. Weber, president of Ann Arbor Federal Savings, states that the association will offer the new long-term certificate recently authorized by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. The certificate, which will pay an annual rate of 7 1/2 percent will earn an effective annual rate of 8.03 percent. The minimum deposit will be $1,000 for 12 months and is insured to $40,000.

Weber emphasized that the interest penalty for early withdrawal applies to this certificate as it does to all other long-term certificates.

Jobs for Tomorrow
Does anyone care about the future of Michigan and its communities?

That's the question asked by Dr. Daniel Kruger, professor of industrial relations at Michigan State University.

"America's love affair with the automobile seems to be in drastic revision," says Kruger. "And if the auto industry is not so vibrant as it has been, what else do we do?"

Kruger believes communities should take a hard look at where they stand today, where they want to go tomorrow and how they can get there.

With newspapers and other leaders as a conscience to stimulate interest, communities should delve into those questions, he suggests.

"We should look at what we community and their problems," Kruger says. "We should see if there are any growth possibilities within the existing base."

A look at zoning regulations, for example, might show that a business would not be able to relocate within a community if it so desired. There just might not be any place it could go without leaving the city boundaries.

And there's the problem of electrical power, as just one more example. Kruger mentions the prospect of businesses moving elsewhere if they cannot be guaranteed adequate power to carry out their operations.

Communities must be rallied to consider these problems and ask themselves what they want from the future, Kruger says.

Same All Over
Individual citizens can influence the goings-on of government.

So says Democratic State Rep. Thomas Anderson of Southgate, chief sponsor of a recently approved bill dealing with motorists' hand signals.

Anderson says a Wyandotte Public Schools driver education teacher, Morley P. Bingham, contacted him about the state of Michigan's driving signals. "Michigan," he said, was the only state in the country not using the federal uniform traffic code standard hand signals for vehicle turning.

So Anderson came up with a bill that calls for these hand signals:

For left turns, the hand and arm are to be extended horizontal.

For right turns, the hand and arm are to be extended upward.

At stops, the hand and arm are to be extended downward.

The bill eliminates the present all-purpose horizontal hand signal used by drivers with no signaling devices on their cars. That all-purpose signal was used to indicate stopping, starting and turning in any direction, Anderson notes.

Beware of false advertising by some ambulance companies.

That warning comes from Rod Palmer, president of the Michigan Association of Ambulance Services and Emergency Medical Technicians.

Palmer says only three Michigan areas—Kent and Washtenaw counties and the city of Southfield—are currently permitted to provide intravenous injections and other services limited to those who've completed advanced emergency medical technician training.

Where are They?
"Twas a bad year for gypsy moths in Michigan, and that's good," says the Department of Agriculture.

Recovery of traps last summer shows a "drastic reduction" in the insect population, the Department reported recently.

Dean Lovitt, plant industry division chief, says that trapping to find infestations in 1974 covered nearly the entire state. Some 122 moths were found in nine counties—compared to 15 times that many in 21 counties last year.

Donley W. Boyer, 10 Sycamore Dr., conservation officer in the Chelsea area since April, 1946, has been promoted to the position of District 14 Law Supervisor at Pontiac Lake of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

A new name has been added to the ever-growing list of Michigan Centennial Farms in this area. The farm, belonging to Mrs. Ezra Heininger, 2571 Lima Center Rd., has been designated a centennial farm by the Michigan Historical Commission.

March of Dimes kick-off dinner will be held next Monday at the Moose Lodge, 390 Maple Rd., Ann Arbor, according to Mrs. Arthur Steinaway, Chelsea's general chairman.

Chelsea was one of only two Class B schools to place wrestlers in top four places in last week's Ann Arbor Pioneer Novice Tournament. Placing were Dale Poirer, who won five straight matches before a loss to take second place; Steve Worden, a heavyweight, who was also able to land in second; Keith Kargel, who won five out of six matches to earn third place; and Rod Branham, who picked up three pin wins to end up in third place for heavyweights.

Letters to Santa Reveal Some Real Sharp Young Operators

cheeks (not to mention his "ho ho ho") but Mrs. Claus is another story. But of course she's always shied away from publicity anyway, so how would we know?

Tony Royston (or Rolston; it's spelled both ways in the letter) Flintoft expects to go full tilt into the Evil Knievel experience and asks for "Evel Knievel Stunt Motorcycle, Evel Knievel Crash and Stunt Car, Evel Knievel Stunt Van."

Not entirely the child of commercialism is Tony, however, who asks for two presents that should warm the hearts of anyone despairing of today's youth: Lincoln logs and pajamas. He also assures that "I have been a very good boy all year long—I think."

Shannon Fredette is one who keeps to the simple things in life, however, and doesn't mention Evel or spider man or any of the rest of them. In fact, he spends half of his letter explaining that he's "been a pretty good boy this year. I've tried to brush my teeth and help my mom and dad. I haven't been picking up my toys, but I will try harder to do what my Mom and Dad say."

His requests keep to everyday things—he needs "new pajamas and underwear and T-shirts and socks"—and would like puzzles, books, pencils, and pencil lead.

And Shannon, at least, is one who's convinced that Santa is close to home—Santa's address is "North Pole, U.S.A."

Probably the most accommodating of the lot is Pam Brown, 18 Chestnut Dr., who makes certain that she asks all the proper questions a hostess should. Santa should probably RSVP if he's wise, as Pam inquires: "Do you want hot chocolate or chocolate milk on Christmas Eve? Mom made lots of cookies and we are going to leave you a whole bunch, remember? We have carrots for the reindeer, mostly for Rudolph because he's the leader."

Her list names hoped-for gifts like "A sit n spin, Mickey Mouse Candy Factory, a baby doll, Raggedy Ann Alarm Clock, a pretend stove," and last but certainly not least "a real Lassie."

And, with the final accommodation of a true believer, she adds, "We'll leave the door unlocked because we don't have a chimney."

GOOD WISHES

Holiday greetings are heading your way from Santa... and us. Thanks to all.

We will be closed from Dec 31 to Jan. 21.

RON KIEL is Chelsea's 6'3" senior forward who is playing in his second year of varsity basketball for Coach Tom Balistrere. Kiel, who was co-captain of the 1974 Bulldog grid team, recorded his best game so far on Dec. 13 against Novi, when he hit for 26 points and pulled down 11 rebounds. In that game Kiel shot a perfect 10-for-10 from the floor and 6-for-7 from the foul line, in what Coach Balistrere called "the best game I've seen Ron play."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kiel, he has two brothers, Jeff and David, and two sisters, Sherry and Karen.

Holiday Church Services...

No special service is scheduled at the Congregational church for New Year's Eve, but worship Sunday, Dec. 29 will be centered around the theme of the coming of the new year.

Carols will precede the 7:30 p.m. family worship service to night at Our Savior Lutheran church. On New Year's Eve, a communion service is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

At Waterloo Village United Methodist church, children of the Sunday school classes will present the Christmas Eve service at 4:45 p.m., under the direction of Mrs. Max Stever.

Waterloo First United Methodist church, also under the pastorage of the Rev. Altha Barnes, observed its Christmas service Sunday with a Christmas program by the young people of the congregation.

A Christmas Eve service of lessons and carols is scheduled to night at 7:30 at North Lake United Methodist church by candlelight. No special service is scheduled for New Year's Eve.

Several churches which scheduled their Christmas programs earlier this month include First Assembly of God, Chelsea Baptist church, Immanuel Bible church, and North Sharon Bible church.

New Year's service at Immanuel Bible church is scheduled for New Year's Eve, while First Assembly of God will welcome the new year at 9 p.m. New Year's Eve with a program by the Rev. Roger Ketterman of Jackson, who will show slides of the Holy Land. An Agape service of breaking bread will also be conducted at this time. Chelsea Baptist church has scheduled a progressive dinner for New Year's Eve.

RODNEY PETTEYS

New County 4-H Agent Appointed

Don Johnson, county extension director, today announced the appointment of Rod Petteys as extension 4-H agent for Washtenaw county, pending approval of the Michigan State University Board of trustees at their Jan. 17 meeting.

"We're quite excited to have Rod on our staff," says Johnson. "With his varied experience and management talent, we look for great things to happen in our 4-H programs."

Petteys has been with the Co-operative Extension Service for 12 years. In Ohio, he taught vocational agriculture and served as an area 4-H agent, a position involving planning and co-ordinating for a multi-county youth program. In Michigan as Oakland county 4-H agent, Petteys helped develop the largest program in the state. During his three years in Oakland county, participation increased three-fold.

Petteys and his wife, Dolores, have four children. He will be office in the Washtenaw County Building at Ann Arbor.

WHY NOT

If last year is any indication, resolutions are only made to be broken.

Christmas Trees for Ecology...

Many people believe that the cutting of trees for Christmas "robs" nature and destroys a portion of our forests each year, but the truth is that nearly three-quarters of such trees are raised specifically to be cut at Christmas time. Most of the remainder are "thinnings"—young trees cut in forests to improve the growth opportunities for other trees.

Forestry experts and nurserymen point out that young, growing trees give off more oxygen and absorb more carbon dioxide than mature ones, so that the cultivation of Christmas trees actually helps the ecology. In contrast, they say, the manufacture of artificial trees uses up valuable energy and natural resources, which are not recoverable.

After Christmas, discarded trees can be used in various ways to benefit the environment. Even if you live in a city, ecologists suggest, you can help by getting in touch with a local conservation organization or commercial nursery.

CONSUMERS' CORNER

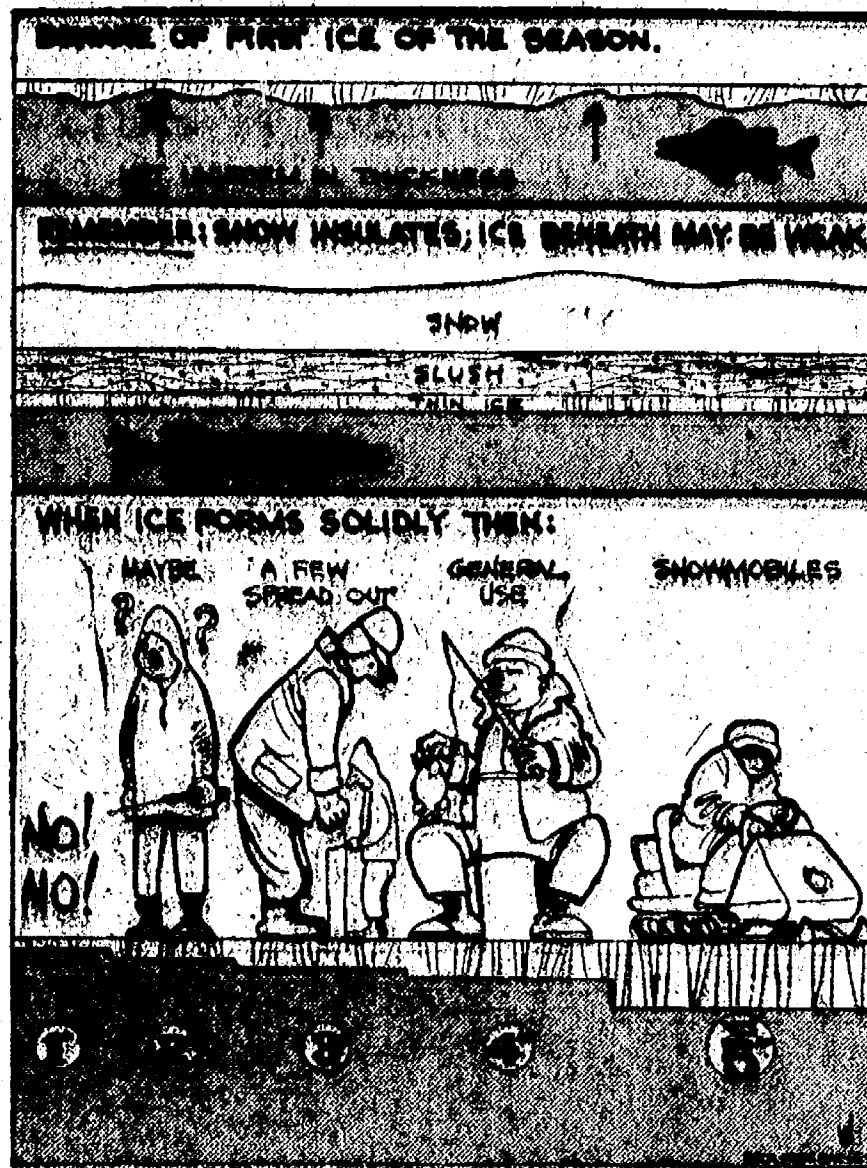

NEW BUILDING SUPPLIES

Polyurethane foam, air and fiberglass may take their places alongside wood and brick as important building materials of the future.

In fact, these lesser known materials, already being used in housing, are inspiring new shapes and forms. For example, there are no corners or sharp angles in a foam house. Spaces flow gently and freely from one into another.

The foam house first begins as a series of inflated plastic balloons. Layers of urethane foam are sprayed over these balloons until the foam shell is about two inches thick. Then the balloons are deflated.

The result? Spare, clean-lined living spaces with a pleasant rough texture. To give the house bright-colored pillows and carpeting.

Use Caution on Winter Ice

State Police Director Col. George L. Halverson couched a warning about early winter thin ice dangers with a report that Michigan's 728 water accidents this year have already claimed 235 lives and injured 308 other persons.

Twelve of those deaths were attributed to falls through ice, one already this fall and the others last spring and winter, while another 59 fatalities resulted from various falls into water during the year.

Halverson said early winter ice too often may look stronger than it really is. "To safely bear the weight of humans, ice should be three to four inches thick. He urged parents to be especially vigilant in cautioning children about ice dangers, particularly in view of the holiday vacation time.

"Safety precautions also should be observed by those persons who use powered sleds or other vehicles on ice surfaces. Equally important should be provisions for rescue in event of accident where ice or water activity is involved, Halverson said.

The state's water accident total for the first 11 months this year is 41 less than the 769 in the comparable period in 1973. Deaths are down by 21 compared with 276 in this time last year while the number of injured is down by two.

Most of the state's 11-month toll of lives involved swimmers and waders, with 111 of these deaths reported. Other drownings involved 29 boat passengers and 36 boat operators. Water accident deaths also included two persons who attempted to rescue others.

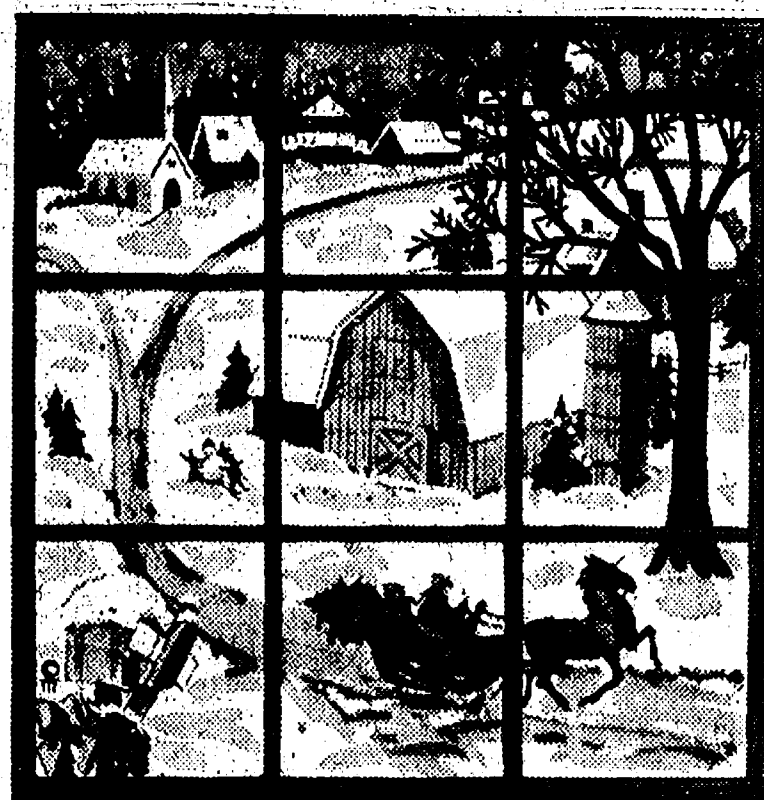

Store Nuts Carefully

If you've completed your Christmas baking and you have some extra nuts left over, be sure to store them properly, said Marilyn Mook, Michigan State University Extension food specialist.

Place the nuts in a plastic bag and store in the refrigerator, or if you won't be using them for a long time, put them in your freezer.

Remember, unshelled nuts may also be wrapped in a plastic bag and stored in the refrigerator or freezer.

Pope's Yule Instructions St. Nick Restored

Pope Gregory I in his instructions to missionaries on Christmas festivities sent out from Rome in the year 601: "The people should celebrate a religious feast and worship God by their feasting, so that still keeping outward pleasures, they may more readily receive spiritual joys."

When Queen Victoria married German Prince Albert, Christmas visits of St. Nicholas (and the gift-giving) came back to England three centuries after Henry VIII had banned the traditions when he broke away from the Catholic faith and formed the Church of England.

SEC ROUND-UP:

Saline Hands Chelsea First Loss, Moving Milan into Lead

Saline was put in the unlikely position Friday night of helping a rival Milan into sole control of first place—but helped themselves a bit in the meantime.

Hornets nipped previously-unbeaten Chelsea, 69-55, leaving Milan the league's only 4-0 team. While Saline moved into a three-way tie for second by virtue of the victory.

Saline 69, Chelsea 55— Bulldogs went into the Saline contest with the memory of the Hornets' 25-point loss to Milan still fresh in their minds, but may be that memory had somehow turned into underestimation.

Saline fell behind Chelsea early in the contest, but eventually pulled in front in the third quarter, and then let their press finish the job. Dan Scotton led the Hornets defensive effort with 18 rebounds and led the team in scoring with 22 points.

Top scorers for Chelsea were Dave Alber and Gary Wonders with 16.

Milan 76, Dexter 47—

Dexter's league record dropped to an unexciting 1-3 level Friday night with their 20-point loss to league-leading Milan.

Dreadnaughts fell victim to an early Big Red lead that they could never quite overcome, which paved the way for Milan's entry into the league lead—all alone for the first time.

Top point men for the winners were Jay Cummings and Stan Joplin, who were each good for 16 points. Dave Sing paced the Dreadnaughts.

Lincoln 69, Brighton 59—

Surprising Lincoln came through with over-all tough defense to march solidly into a second-place tie with a fine 3-1 league record. Rainsplitters restrained Brighton's scoring efforts in the early part of the game, then set off on their own scoring binges, which included Scott Hubbard with 23 points and Doug Roome with 12 and Gary Rye with 11.

Lincoln held the edge in rebounds over the Bulldogs, 50-38.

Novi 80, South Lyon 60—

Novi moved into the bright light of victory in Friday night's contest between two previously winless squads that left South Lyon firmly entrenched in the cellar.

High Wildcat scorer for the evening was Bill Barr, who hit for 21 points.

'Christkindi' of Switzerland Reappears at Holy Season

Christmas has a unique significance in the German and French speaking regions of Switzerland because the "Christkindli," or Christ Child, is believed to walk on earth during this season.

Instead of Santa Claus, the "Christkindli," represented as a beautiful, radiant, angel-like being with wings carrying a magic wand and wearing a shining crown, distributes Christmas gifts and Christmas trees glittering with fanciful decorations.

Although the "Christkindli" is commonly believed to personify the Christ Child, he is sometimes represented as an angel bearing a light or a star just as an angel heralded the birth of Christ at Bethlehem. On the other hand, the "Christkindli" has some of the characteristics of a sprite, as suggested by the wand and the wings, which can be linked to pre-Christian beliefs. Some suggest he may stem from the pagan custom of representing the New Year as a radiant and beautiful child.

Like Santa, the "Christkindli" also arrives in a sleigh drawn by reindeer, so there would appear to be some intermingling of Christmas legends here.

St. Nicholas is represented in several ways in different parts of Switzerland. In some, he is called Father Christmas and comes with his wife, Lucy (representing St. Lucy whose feast day is December 13) to distribute gifts. He wears the traditional Santa Claus costume while Lucy wears a round cap over her long braids, a laced bodice and a fancy apron.

In the central part of Switzerland, St. Nicholas is represented

Bee Hive Rental Fee Increasing

East Lansing—More than 100 enthusiasts were briefed on beekeeping Dec. 10 while the Michigan Beekeepers Association debated 1975 hive rental prices.

The session for beginners was sponsored by the association in co-operation with Dr. E. C. Martin, Michigan State University Co-operative Extension agriculture specialist.

Martin credits part of the growing interest in hobby beekeeping throughout the state to ecological concern and natural food interest. "Consideration for higher hive rentals stems from increased costs inputs to the beekeeper. In a prepared statement, the association stated "due to increased expense, the Michigan Beekeepers Association goes on record as recommending a price of $18 or more per colony for pollination purposes."

Some of the increased expenses cited included: higher costs for bees, hive materials, honey processing energy, transportation and basic supplies.

Bees Important

Bees help put Michigan farmers in the money. The Michigan Department of Agriculture says bees pollinate nearly $100 million worth of crops in Michigan.

Michigan's 107,000 bee colonies produced 8,239,000 pounds of honey last year. That's not just sweet talk, says the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

DEATHS

Howard E. Walz

Retired Michigan Bell Employee Dies in Arizona

Howard E. Walz, 72, of 18 Cavanaugh Lake Rd., Sylvan township, died Thursday, Dec. 19 in Tucson, Ariz. He had been in poor health for sometime.

Born Aug. 29, 1902 in Jackson county he was a son of John and Mabel Harvey Walz. He was married to Ruth Hulce on Jan. 20, 1923. She preceded him in death on July 20, 1971. He married Muriel Helvey in 1971, who survives.

Mr. Walz was a member of Olive Lodge No. 15, F&M and a life member of the Telephone Pioneers of America, Wolverine Chapter No. 10. He had been employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. for 35 years, from 1927 until his retirement in 1962.

Surviving, in addition to his widow, is one son, John Walz and a brother, Floyd Walz, both of Chelsea, 10 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Also surviving is a step-son, Elmer Guest of Westerville, Or., and a step-daughter, Mrs. Barbara Jones of Ypsilanti, and 10 step-grandchildren.

Two sons preceded Mr. Walz in death, Donald Walz on Oct. 15, and Reynolds Walz on May 23, 1943, and a brother, Clare Walz on May 18, 1969. Also preceding him in death was a step-son, Richard Guest, on May 9.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 22 at the Burghardt Funeral Home with the Rev. Clive H. Dickinson officiating. Burial followed in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Wrestlers Split Week's Matches

Joe Branham suffered a pin loss at 155 pounds, while at 167 and 185 pounds, Darryl West and Dennis Bauer scored fall wins. At heavyweight, Kermit Sharp suffered his second loss of the season by a fall.

Coach Bareis indicated that while being up a weight class was part of the problem, the main reason for the defeat was the fact that Chelsea had too many inexperienced wrestlers in the line up. Bareis said that Chelsea's light weights are very small in numbers, and until this problem is corrected, the Bulldogs will have some troubles this year.

Three Area Students Win Academic Honors At Kalamazoo College

Three local residents were among 77 students at Kalamazoo College to receive high honors (3.75 grade point average or better) during the winter quarter. Sophomores receiving high honors were Michael Hergert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hergert of 4998 South Lake Rd., Grass Lake, and Michael H. Thomson, a former Chelsea resident, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Thomson of Grosse Pointe. Jill Kipfmiller, a junior, also was awarded high honors. She is the daughter of Mrs. Joan E. Kipfmiller of 1190 Jackson Rd.

Nature Guide Now Available From MUCC

An illustrated 110-page nature guide written by one of Michigan's leading naturalists has just been published by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

"Great Lakes Nature Guide" was recently completed by Dr. Paul A. Herbert, director emeritus of conservation at Michigan State University, a founder of the National Wildlife Federation and MUCC and founder of MSU's first school of conservation and a naturalist-scientist with 50 years experience.

The low-cost easily read quick reference contains descriptions and illustrations of more than 400 forms of life from mosquitoes to elk, frogs to salmon, oaks to ivy, warblers to turtles—in layman's language.

"You will enjoy the outdoors much more if you can identify what you see," said Dr. Herbert. "Our book describes and shows what you can find in the Great Lakes area and where."

Latin names have been included but other technical and uncommon terms have been avoided.

If a reader has doubts about identification of something listed in the book, he may send it to the MUCC headquarters where a staff biologist will make every attempt to provide identification.

The nature guide is easy to carry, folds to fit your pocket and can be kept handy in tackleboxes, glove compartments and elsewhere.

Single copies are available for only $1 each postpaid from Nature Guide, Box 2235, Lansing, 48911. Quantity prices are available to dealers, clubs, schools and other groups.

Social Service Distributes Toys, Food to 55 Children in 30 Families

All the things that make for a merry Christmas were at Sylvan Town Hall Friday afternoon—and disappeared in quite short order.

Chelsea Social Service's annual Christmas food and gift distribution, which provided this year for 30 families and 55 children, opened at 1 p.m. with tables stocked to overflowing with food, toys, and clothing and closed up three hours later with its Christmas mission again accomplished.

"Everything went really well," reported Mrs. Linda Ormsby, Social Service director. "I was really pleased with it all."

Once again, the distribution proved to be a community effort at a time when, admittedly, giving things away is not as easy as it used to be.

Five local Brownie troops collected money, either by doing jobs around homes or by contributing their troop dues, and bought oranges that were included in the food boxes. They also made decorations and provided "stocking-stuffer" type items that spruced up the boxes' fare.

Congregational church women made and wrapped popcorn balls and candy for the food baskets, and all of Thursday's leftover baked goods at The Village Bakery also joined the goodies in families' baskets.

Chelsea High school students again collected canned goods in the area, and Chelsea Milling Co. once more came through with a more-than-adequate supply of boxes for packing the food and Jiffy Mixes to add special touches.

Meat for each of the food orders this year was in the form of venison orders, since Chelsea Social Service receives from the Department of Natural Resources meat from illegally killed deer in the area.

Donations of food, however, compose only a small part of the large outpouring of Christmas cheer that is evident yearly at Social Service's distribution. Obviously, food is a necessity of life, but gifts of toys take more than simple charity; they need the obvious addition of love.

From the creative folks who annually dress dolls to exquisite splendor for Ann Arbor Federal Savings' doll-dressing contest came six entries, each of them undoubtedly a winner in any child's mind.

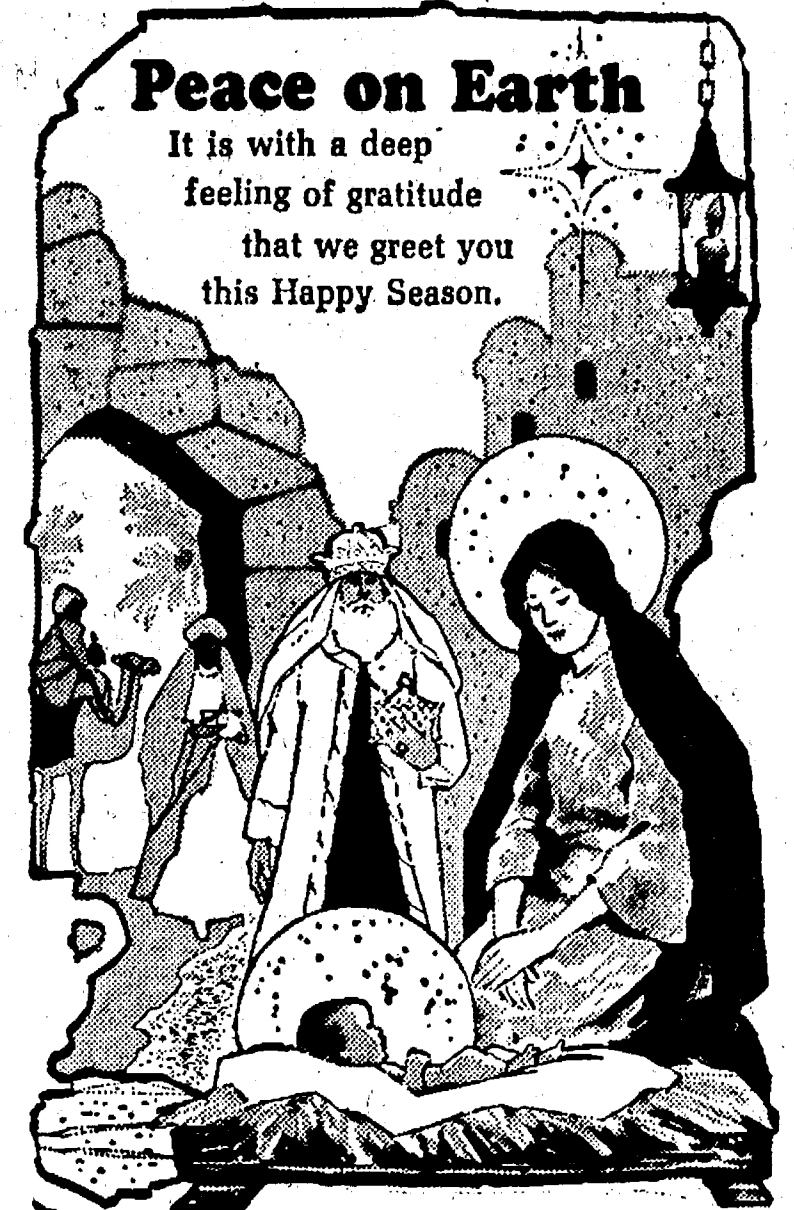

Other dolls in simple baby clothes, and prepared for all eventualities with their own layettes, weren't quite so magnificent—after all, how many babies wear magnificent clothes?—but seemed more the type to get cuddled and talked to and babied.

Other gifts that jammed the tables for parents to choose for youngsters, who otherwise might not have much of a Christmas, ranged from a Wankel rotary engine model to tiny bracelets and necklaces for dressing up. The typical things, games, playing cards, blocks, sleds, trucks, and cars—they were all there, all in good shape if used, all absolutely sparkling if new.

And at one side, looking store bought new, were home-made mittens and hats to make certain that the warm glow that comes from gifts from Chelsea Social Service isn't the only warmth that a youngster feels.

Indeed, all of the things that make for a merry Christmas were there—all given graciously, and all received gratefully.

Michigan 'Live Cut' Christmas Tree Business Still Thriving

East Lansing—Only about half the Christmas trees in Michigan homes last year were live-cut, but those Michiganders who go out after a live tree still make it a family experience.

Although there has been a gradual increase in the number of artificial trees in recent years, this year may be a good one for live-cut trees, predicts John Trocke, Michigan State University extension marketing agent.

"A nice looking artificial tree can run into a lot of money," Trocke says. "For economic reasons, many people may return to live-cut trees this year."

Last spring, more than 2,000 consumers across Michigan answered questions about their knowledge and use of various products—from turkey sausages and vine-dried raisins to chrysanthemums and Christmas trees. This was part of a 1974 consumer preference panel sponsored by Michigan State University's Consumer Marketing
Information Program.

The results of the survey have been compiled and are available to the participants, the public and interested agribusiness firms.

About half the participants reported buying a live-cut Christmas tree, 35 percent bought an artificial tree, and 5 percent bought both.

The increase in tree prices from last year will be relatively insignificant, says Trocke. The cost of transportation is up somewhat, but this increase won't affect almost a third of all real tree buyers.

"The reason for this is that 28 percent of the people who buy real trees go where they can cut their own. This kind of tree buying has been on the increase in recent years and has advantages for both consumer and tree grower."

For the grower, transportation and cutting costs are eliminated.
The consumer, too, profits from the elimination of the middle man.
Many families also enjoy the traditional tree cutting expedition, made more convenient by the large number of "cut your own" enterprises in Michigan.

Another 28 percent of tree buyers go to independent lots, 18 percent buy from organizations, and 17 percent from retail garden centers according to the survey.

The results also indicate that tree buying is a family affair, no matter where it's done. The parents (or parent) and kids participate in choosing the tree, say 1 percent of respondents. In another 25 percent of families, both the husband and wife go tree shopping.

What are the motives behind the choice of a real or artificial tree?
The major factor favoring the real tree was its "realness" and aroma.
The tradition or enjoyment of the family experience was also cited.

People buy artificial trees despite what they feel is the artificial appearance of many. Panelists said artificial trees are less messy, less of a fire hazard, and there is no need to buy a new tree every year. Those who buy real trees agreed that falling needles are a major problem.

According to Trocke, the "fire hazard" of having a real tree shouldn't be a problem. When looking for a tree, consider freshness, he advises.

"If Christmas trees are properly taken care of, there is minimal danger of fire hazard."

Proper care means storing it outside where it's cold, then cutting off the bottom quarter inch of the trunk and watering it thoroughly when it's brought into the house, Trocke says.

Although the Christmas tree industry has suffered somewhat from the use of artificial trees, Trocke says that the trend is leveling off. The change hurt mainly the import and wild tree sales; the multimillion dollar cultivated tree industry in Michigan is thriving.

"Incidentally, December isn't the only month that we should appreciate our Christmas tree," Trocke comments. "The land used to grow trees often wouldn't be used for anything else."

"Our Christmas trees can be considered an ecological resource making good use of the land, contributing to the atmosphere and supplying food for wildlife from planting time until they come of age."

Early Copy Needed for New Year's Edition

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Remember the "soaring sixties"? We may be mistaken, but we don't recall any such slogan for the 70's. One thing is certain. A need for spiritual awakening, for spiritual strength exists—now more than ever. In view of present day situations, locally, nationally and abroad, would it not seem appropriate to sponsor the need with the thought—"The Spiritual 70's"?

The uncertainty, pessimism, hopelessness and futility of these present days surely indicate a need for spiritual reliance and development of spiritual strength. For the balance of the 70's—would it not be a good idea—quoting St. Paul—"If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit. Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another. Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such a one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted." ...?

With the milestones of the past behind us, we wish all of you a HAPPY NEW YEAR with the hope of Spiritual strength for all in the coming year. . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME,

Italy Celebrates Religious Christmas Festivities Representing Many Origins

The celebration of Christmas in Italy, perhaps more than in any other country, illustrates the multiple origins of the festivities we observe in modern times.

Christmas in Italy is primarily a religious festival highlighted by the Christmas Novena, a series of church services on nine nights preceding Christmas and culminating in a Midnight Mass on Christmas Eve.

A feature of the observance is the display, usually from Christmas Eve to Epiphany (January 6th) of the creche or Persepio (the word means manger or stable), a Nativity scene with more or less elaborate landscaping and figures of sheep, cattle and shepherds, as well as Mary, Joseph and the Christ Child. At Epiphany, figures of the Three Kings with their retinues, bringing gifts to the Child, are added.

These Nativity scenes originated in the thirteenth century with Saint Francis of Assisi, who decided to make the Christmas Eve Mass a re-enactment of the birth of Christ, and for many centuries they remained essentially an ecclesiastical presentation, with local churches vying for the most decorative creche. In more recent times, Nativity scenes have moved into private homes as well.

In the early years of the Christian faith, persecution made public observance of Christmas impractical, and it was not until several hundred years had passed that the birth of Christ was given an official date for celebration. It is by no means certain that December 25th is the actual anniversary of the birth of Jesus, but it was an appropriate date for the observance. It coincided with the Winter Solstice celebrations of the northern world, with the Roman Saturnalia, and with the Jewish Hanukkah, Festival of Lights, providing a firm historical base, familiar to everyone in the then-known world, for a major festival.

ZAMPOGNA AND CENNAMELLA are played by Italians dressed as shepherds in front of the Christmas manger at the 'Piazza Navona' in Rome. Similar to a bagpipe, and made of sheepskin, the zampogna was used in the days of ancient Romans. The cennamella is a small flute, in a custom now fast disappearing, bagpipers from mountains of the Abruzzi and Latium come to Rome to play traditional tunes at the start of the Christmas season celebration, usually on November 29, the day commencing the Novena of the Immaculate Conception. (Photo courtesy Italian State Tourist Office.)

EARLY CUSTOMS

It is not surprising, therefore, that many customs derived from earlier celebrations have become a part of the Christmas observance in Italy. The coming of the Winter Solstice, marking the beginning of longer days, was observed in pre-Christian times by the decoration of houses with greens, and this custom, taking on added significance as a symbol of the rebirth of hope in the coming of Christ, is observed in Italy with sprigs of holly and mistletoe.

Similarly, the seasonal giving of gifts, already traditional in the Roman custom of giving branches picked in the grove of the goddess Strenia, was appropriately converted to the giving of "Strenne," Christmas or New Year's presents, following the later tradition of the gifts of the Magi to the Christ Child and symbolizing the gifts to mankind brought by Jesus' birth.

CHRISTMAS TREE ORIGIN

The Christmas tree, which originated in Germany, has come slowly into popularity in Italy, especially around Florence, in the Ceppi, or Christmas pyramids, composed of shelves of various sizes fixed to a pole. (The word "ceppo" means tree trunk and, by usage, a Christmas gift). On the shelves were placed decorations of greens and small toys and presents.

It is possible that the ceppo may have been a replacement for the Yule log. But the burning of the Yule log, another custom of pre-Christian origin, is not unknown in Italy, where there is the pleasant legend that the Virgin Mary enters the homes of the humble at midnight, when the household is at Mass, to warm her newborn Child before the blazing log.

ITALY FOCAL POINT

The fact that Italy contained the capital of the Roman world and, as a logical result, the headquarters of the Christian Church, has given Christmas in Italy a particularly rich observance.

Arctic Reindeer Flourish, Crucial to Man's Survival

Reindeer flourish in large numbers near the Arctic Circle in Europe, Asia, and North America: Norway, Sweden, Finland, Russia, and Alaska are all places where herds of at least semi-domesticated reindeer are accustomed to working with man, particularly the Laplanders.

The reindeer provides a vital source of food, clothing, and even transportation for many peoples living on the edge of the arctic world. Among other things, reindeer milk is as rich as the cream of cow's milk, although available in much smaller quantities.

There are several species of reindeer in North America, where it is called the caribou, ranging from the woodland species, which is found in wild northern woods, through the barren ground caribou, which is the slightly larger but close cousin of the European reindeer, to the Peary caribou, living north of the Arctic Circle. The present domesticated reindeer of Europe and Asia, where it can be found in single herds of up to 30,000 is a descendant of the barren ground species of those regions and has been successfully introduced into Alaska as a stock animal. These tame reindeer are gentle and easily handled.

Reindeer and caribou feed primarily on mosses and lichens in the subarctic regions, a type of fodder which takes time to replenish itself. As a result, reindeer and those who depend on them for a livelihood are nomadic and have no permanent home, since they must move at frequent intervals to find an adequate food supply.

Wind, water and careless people are stealing our land. To learn how you can help prevent soil erosion in Michigan, contact the State Soil Conservation committee, Michigan Department of Agriculture, Lansing, 48913.

Without bees, a blueberry bush might produce one to three pounds of berries. The Michigan Department of Agriculture says, with pollination, the same bush can produce as much as 50 pounds.

Because of the Arctic habitat, near his North Pole headquarters, reindeer provide an ideal means of transportation for Santa Claus, but he can hardly claim a first for using them: cave paintings and bones found in prehistoric sites in Europe are evidence that the reindeer has been more or less domesticated since the time of the cave-men. But Santa Claus might qualify as an early supporter of women's equality, since the reindeer or caribou is unique among the deer family in that the females as well as the males grow antlers. Both sexes shed their antlers in the spring, like other deer.

Ass Essential To Every Domain

Although the ass, such as the one ridden by Mary, is sometimes described as a lowly beast, fit for those of humble station, there is considerable evidence that the docile and useful ass was ridden by many rich and prestigious people as well as the poor. The Bible often mentions the ass as a common part of many households.

Holy Journey Necessitated By Decree

JOURNEY OF THE MAGI—This symbolic tempera on wood by 15th century artist Sassetta, in part, depicts the rugged roads of Siena, Italy, in part, the difficult conditions of travel during Biblical times. Here the Wise Men (on horseback) apparently are following the guiding star, lower right, to the Infant Jesus. From the Metropolitan Museum of Art, bequest of Maitland F. Griggs, 1943.

Animal Waste Seminars Set For Farmers

East Lansing—The next few years are going to be extremely important to Michigan livestock and dairy producers in terms of pollution control.

This is the reason. Michigan State University is sponsoring 13 animal waste conferences throughout the state beginning Jan. 14. "Coming governmental pollution guidelines are going to have a decided economic impact on the farmer. We hope that through these meetings we can show the producer how to design a good system for his particular operation," says Dr. Theodore Loudon, MSU agricultural engineering specialist.

The conferences will be held at Powers, Gaylord, Mt. Pleasant, Frankenmuth, Tustin, Grand Rapids, Bad Axe, Sandusky, Kalamazoo, Albion, Coldwater, East Lansing and Berrien Springs. Producers should check with their local county extension agent for details.

"During these meetings, we will be making presentations that will illustrate complete, smooth working systems available for collection, movement, storage and land applications of animal waste," Loudon says.

"After reviewing the components, we'll show an example of the thought process a farmer will want to go through in planning a system off his operation," Loudon says.

He adds that if the producer is not careful, he could wind up with a combination of good equipment comprising a system that is difficult to use.

"Whether the producer decides to build a liquid or semi-solid manure handling system, he will want to make sure it will be flexible to accommodate or adapt to future expansion," Loudon says.

The sessions will also detail factors which should be considered in applying the waste handling system to local soil types, terrain and other environmental considerations.

"Another important factor in these sessions is that we will put the local farmer in touch with the agency and the personnel with whom he will be working when he designs and constructs his system," Loudon says.

The sessions will examine waste handling from all engineering, economic and crop production aspects. Speakers will be from MSU, U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service and Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Telephone Your Club News To 475-1371.

"And it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be taxed..." So begins the Bible story of the birth of Christ in Saint Luke's Gospel. "All the world," of course, meant the Roman Empire of the time, and the "taxation" referred to was basically an "enrollment," according to biblical scholars, a census, leading ultimately to a land tax; so it was decreed that "All went to be taxed, every one into his own city."

And so, Saint Luke goes on to tell us, "Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child."

The Bible gives us little more than those bare facts about the journey which ended at a manger outside Bethlehem. It has remained for biblical scholars and archaeologists to try to fill in the details as best they can from facts known or guessed about the Palestine of that time and from other indirect evidence in the Bible itself.

Although Joseph was a Judean by ancestry, he lived and plied his trade as carpenter some 70 miles to the north in Nazareth in Galilee, where Jesus spent his early years, thus becoming identified as Jesus of Nazareth.

There was a good road leading southward from Nazareth to Jerusalem and Bethlehem, for this was no "backwoods" area but one traversed by merchants and their caravans as well as functionaries of the Roman Empire, all following in the footsteps of invaders and travellers of many years.

A journey of some 70 miles over mostly hilly country without a car might give many of us pause today, particularly in view of Mary's condition. According to tradition, Mary rode a good part of the way on an ass, a common beast of burden and one certainly more appropriate to the task than either camel or horse, even had these been available to Joseph.

A journey of that distance, with Joseph walking and leading the ass, would be bound to consume several days, so it is likely that the travellers made provision for spending some nights along the way and, also, carried sufficient food and water in case supplies were not always available.

Although Nazareth was a fairly sized town, it was reported to have had only one good source of water, known today as Mary's

Well, from which it would have been prudent to obtain a "canteen" before setting out on a journey. Wells and springs were to be found infrequently in the hills, particularly toward the end of the dry season, which historians believe was the most likely period for the trip of Mary and Joseph. As to food, there would have been no problem in procuring rations of bread, olives, and other provisions for the journey from an area as rich in agriculture as Galilee.

Arrival at their destination in Bethlehem did not bring an end to "roughing it" for the travellers, for there were so many who had no room for them at the inn. Therefore, this predicament led Mary and Joseph to the manger, a cattle shelter outside Bethlehem which symbolizes the birth of Jesus.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Regarding the letter of Dec. 10 from "Concerned," People with a negative attitude like his will never look at the more positive aspects of a situation. Certainly there are things in Chelsea that need improving, but vigilantes are not the answer. Yes, parents should set the example for their children, but sometimes even the most concerned parents cannot prevent their children being influenced by others. We have been in Chelsea for two and a half years and have made friends. We make it our business to participate and support the activities of our children and all the community. We like it here and intend to stay. If we all could turn back the clock and remove all the contemporary problems, we could probably turn Chelsea back to a sleepy little town. However, if the world is troubled so are small communities like Chelsea. As for storm victims, the two families of six people with whom we shared our home left Chelsea thinking it was some place special! And it is!

Sincerely,
Ann E. Feeney.

To The Editor

and Citizens of Chelsea:
I would like to express my sincere sympathy to the members of the Schmitt family. I will take this time to wish them and all of us a better new year. Also I would like to respond to last week's letter concerning the lack of hospitality of the people of Chelsea, which was signed: Sincerely Concerned.

My wife and I have also lived in Chelsea for just a short time (8 months). Before moving here we lived in Detroit. Granted, both cities have problems, but I think the difference in the two cities is the personal and friendly atmosphere which Chelsea offers. More importantly, Detroit's bureaucratic machinery discourages involvement of its citizens.

"Sincerely Concerned" is correct in stating that there is a problem with Chelsea's younger element, which is true with all American communities to some extent. He or she expresses the need for the enforcement of curfew and loitering laws. And if the enforcement of these laws fail, "Sincerely Concerned" suggests the use of vigilante committees. Come now, we all know that curfew and loitering laws don't get to the bottom of the real problems with Chelsea's young people. These laws temporarily suppress the problems. And I refuse to even reply to the radical suggestion of vigilante committees.

"Sincerely Concerned" talks of some very real problems but doesn't offer any valid solutions. I agree that something must be done to reach the heart of the problems. As with all problem-solving there must be an open line of communication. I suggest the involvement of young and old in establishing a youth center or crisis center for Chelsea citizens, a sort of place where young people can become actively involved in place people could take their problems from simple loneliness to any needed advice without an appointment. It would be staffed by qualified para-professionals.

I ask, where does a young person in Chelsea go for help if he or she needs it?

This center could be very useful to our young people. It could make them feel a part of our city and give them a chance to become active in some of our problems. Working alongside of our senior citizens they could learn from and respect each other.

With a new year approaching let's hope and pray that next year at this time there is no need for people like "Sincerely Concerned," being plagued with these unnecessary problems if we all take an active interest in our city's most valuable asset—our young adults—we could become a truly progressive community.

Sincerely Concerned,
Donald and Cheryl Spector.

PURITAN YULE

Puritans and Calvinists refused to celebrate Christmas in 17th century England. Celebrations were banned and charged with being anti-religious sentiment. People payed penalties for missing work on Christmas day. Christmas did not become a legal holiday in New England until 1856.

Tips To Make Yuletide Brighter

The Christmas card made from a photograph of children or family group is highly popular as a means of bringing a sense of togetherness when geographical separation makes the real thing impossible.

The best time for such pictures, naturally, is when presents are being opened and the family group is together, sharing and showing their joy in Christmas surprises.

A good second opportunity may be found when the family is gathered at the table for Christmas dinner. Other possibilities include "stockings hung by the chimney with care" and children playing indoors or out with new gifts.

Whatever subject you choose, better do it today—tomorrow may be too late to capture the best "shots" to share with others. In most cases, Christmas cards become waste paper. Before you consign this year's cards to the trash can, consider removing personal messages from them and turning them over to a church or other group whose members devote their time to creating attractive scrap-books with the cards.

Many beautiful and colorful cards, carefully selected and arranged in these inexpensive and easy-to-make scrap-books, provide hours of enjoyment to older people and others whose activity is curtailed for one reason or another.

You might enjoy making a scrap-book for yourself. Whatever the case, the second life given these Christmas and greeting cards can be rewarding and useful.

Don't Let An Accident Mar A Happy Holiday Season

With the coming of the holiday season, also comes the season to add a little safety to your life. A holiday marred by tragedy isn't the most joyous. Even a slight accident can sadden what would be a most enjoyable time of the year.

The flurry of the holiday season can add many pitfalls to an otherwise safe household. The addition of family members and friends, a Christmas tree and decorations can result in injury, fire or worse.

The flurry of activity, however, enjoyable, makes it harder to cope with everyday stresses. Add to this the presence of Christmas decorations, the increase in travel and the cold, slippery weather conditions and it's no surprise that the danger of falls, fires, or traffic accidents is greater during the holidays.

Having guests for the holidays? Will it be an old-fashioned family gathering or an evening of Christmas cheer? Remember, you owe it to your guests to keep the party a safe one.

Are some of the guests elderly? If so, keep the floor clear of Christmas clutter, fasten down or remove scatter rugs.

Or how long has it been since you have had toddlers in the house? If the little ones are to be guests at your house, put away the cleaning solutions and make sure that medicines are out of reach, along with sharp objects such as knives, scissors, and wires from decorations.

If you're cooking a big meal, many want to help and too many cooks in a kitchen can result in a fire.

In raising a cup of cheer with your guests, remember that more than half of all fatal traffic accidents involve people who have been drinking. Keep in mind this "one hour rule"—one drink per hour, any more and no driving. Take a bus, a cab or have a sober friend drive.

Should you be the sober friend and be driving on the road, drive defensively and keep your eyes alert for revelers on foot.

Have a happy and a safe holiday.

Think safety!

AMERICAN WAY

The Duke of Windsor once noted the thing that impressed him most about America was the way parents obeyed their children.

Thoughtful Host Keeps Eye On Guests Who Must Drive

A taste tempting array of food and a watchful eye on the bar are safeguards a holiday host can take to insure that party guests arrive home safely, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Since Christmas and New Year's are mid-week holidays this year, and more motorists will be staying near home to enjoy private parties than usual, our annual advice to be 'First A Friend, Then A Host' (FAFTHA) is especially important this year," said James G. Moffat, Auto Club general manager.

Moffat noted that an estimated eight out of every 10 state motorists will drink sometime during the holidays and drive, adding that:

"Every party host should feel a moral obligation to get his guests home safely."

To aid the holiday party-giver, Auto Club is offering to the public a free recipe booklet filled with tips on how to prevent partygoers from drinking to the point of becoming unfit motorists. Titled "Your Party Guide to Good Eating and Safe Drinking," it is available at the 55 Auto Club offices throughout Michigan.

"By offering food at a party, and plenty of it, you can help draw the guests' attention away from the bar," the booklet stresses. A tangy cheese spread, a hearty beef stew and an easy-to-make non-alcoholic punch are among the menu suggestions the recipe booklet features.

Last year, 13 persons died on Michigan highways during the 102-hour Christmas holiday and 24 were killed during a similar period during New Year's. Auto Club notes that approximately 50 percent of these deaths involved motorists known or suspected of drinking.

Michigan motorists are expected to travel an estimated 340 million miles on state highways this year during both Christmas and New Year's—much less than usual because the holiday periods will last only 30 hours each.

The Christmas holiday officially begins at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 24 and ends at midnight Wednesday, Dec. 25. New Year's begins at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 31 and runs to midnight Wednesday, Jan. 1.

Auto Club suggests this five-point plan for a safe, successful holiday party:

1. Plan an ample selection of hors d'oeuvres and party "nibblers." Alcohol has a quicker effect when consumed on an empty stomach.

2. Keep your party's liquor supply out of sight and coffee and other non-alcoholic beverages in plain view.

3. Never press a drink on an unwilling guest. Hospitality means respecting his wishes if he says "no thanks" or "make it coffee."

4. An hour before the party ends, stop serving alcoholic beverages and provide your guests with a substantial meal.

5. If you feel a guest has had too much to drink, don't let him drive home. Arrange for someone else to give him a ride or call a taxi.

Moffat said that party guests can help prevent overindulgence in alcohol by following Auto Club's advice to "eat 'em mashed and you won't get smashed." Before heading to a party, they should eat a starchy dish such as mashed potatoes or baked beans that acts like a sponge by retaining alcohol in the stomach and slowing its rate of absorption into the bloodstream.

"Once at the party, guests should spend a good half hour sipping the first drink," Moffat said. "During the evening, they should drink at a moderate, even pace and nibble on food."

Auto Club's FAFTHA recipe book suggests a party game called "Walk-a-Line" to help hosts determine if guests are sober enough to drive home safely. Have guests walk a 10-foot strip of tape or a party streamer after a few drinks. If they can do so easily without weaving, then they are still in relatively good shape.

Intensive Care, Delicate Surgery Also for Pets

East Lansing—Hospital intensive care and delicate surgery are medical realities for dogs, cats and other small animals, as well as for humans.

Four training sessions at Michigan State University introduced practicing veterinarians to new techniques in various humane procedures this month.

On Dec. 17, a class of 15 practitioners studied techniques for small animal intensive care—fluid and oxygen therapy, blood transfusion, intravenous catheter placement, tracheostomy and mechanical ventilation and a class of 20, pet nose, ear, mouth and throat surgery.

Diagnosis of diseases in the small animal's digestive system was reviewed Dec. 18. On that day and the next, 16 veterinarians studied emergency eye surgery, plus pre- and post-surgery medication.

The training in MSU's Veterinary Clinic is sponsored by MSU's Department of Small Animal Surgery and Medicine and the University's Continuing Education Service.

Telephone Company Expects Heavy Volume of Holiday Calls

Michigan Bell is predicting a record number of long distance calls on Christmas Day.

Christmas is the busiest holiday of the year for the telephone company and this year calling volumes will be greater than ever, the company said today.

Last year, when a great many Michigan residents stayed home over the holiday because of the energy crunch, long distance calling increased more than 13 percent, said Harry M. Kenworthy, Bell's local manager. "The company expects holiday calling will increase about 10 1/2 percent this year."

If people don't travel as much over the holiday, they are still going to want to talk to their families," Kenworthy said, "and that means long distance calls will increase again this year."

He predicted that Michigan residents will make about 1,120,000 long distance calls this Christmas compared to slightly more than one million calls last year.

The majority of long distance holiday calls originating in Michigan last year were made to other points within the state, Kenworthy said. The same pattern is expected this year with about 670,000 long distance calls within the state and another 450,000 calls to other states.

About 100,000 long distance calls are expected to be handled by operators, with the remainder dialed by customers, he said. Statewide, some 2,600 Michigan Bell operator service employees will work on Christmas Day helping customers with their calls, Kenworthy added.

Nation-wide, the Bell system anticipates about 13.5 million interstate long distance calls (calls between states) will be made.

Across the country, the telephone industry opens up normally unused circuits and rearranges circuits usually used for heavy business day calling to make available the maximum number of transmission paths for Christmas calls. Despite this, customers likely may encounter busy circuits during the heaviest calling periods, Kenworthy said.

He has a few tips on how telephone customers can save money and help speed their calls.

First, for the lowest possible rates, dial your own calls. Next, the telephone network will be very busy on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day until very late each night. You can avoid the Christmas calling rush by phoning earlier in the week. And, if you don't have the telephone number that you need in the distant city, then call Directory Assistance in the distant city before the holiday rush so you will have the number when you are ready to place the call.

On Christmas Day, itself, early morning calls or afternoon calls have a better chance of going right through. This means, mostly calls made before 8 a.m. and calls made between 1 and 5 p.m. in the time zone of the family or friends you are calling.

Yule Greetings Derived from European Words

The word "Christmas" means the celebration of Christ, short for Christ's birthday.

"Noel" similarly is a shorthand word, coming to English through French from the Latin "Natalis," short for "natalis dies" or natal day. With a capital letter "Natalis" refers to Jesus' natal day.

The Italian "Natale" and Spanish "Navidad" (or Natividad) follow the same pattern. But "Weinachten," the German word for Christmas, means Holy Night or Blessed Night and refers to the Nativity only by implication.

"Yule" is an Old English or Anglo-Saxon word for Christmas, and there are similar words with similar meanings in German and the Scandinavian languages. Originally it probably referred to a pagan winter festival and became associated with the Nativity with the onset of the Christian era.

BAD BUSINESS

Business is pretty bad at the neighborhood bar. The owner was caught stealing from the bartender.

Many Faiths Converge on Bethlehem at Christmastime

It is customary in the United States to celebrate the birth of Jesus on December 25th, the date observed by the Roman Catholic Church and most Protestant denominations, but not all Christian faiths adhere to that date.

In Bethlehem, Christ's birthplace, the Roman celebration begins on Christmas Eve, December 24th, highlighted by the traditional Midnight Mass, and continues on Christmas Day. The Greek Orthodox Church, however, observes January 7 as Christmas Day, marking the occasion with similar ceremonies. January 18th and 19th are the dates for the observance in the Armenian Church. The three faiths have their own churches and chapels within the Basilica of the Nativity in Bethlehem and each observes Christmas on its own day with services in the Grotto of the Nativity at the exact spot where, it is believed, Jesus was born.

The separate observances are bolstered by a long history which ecumenism may find it difficult to erase. For centuries the Churches disputed possession of the sanctuary, originally built by the Roman Emperor Constantine in 330, and precedence in worshipping there. The Greek Catholics took possession of the building in 1672. The Roman Catholics have shared it since the mid-19th century with the Greeks. Armenians have their own chapel and monastery in this city of about 25,000 population.

Since the different observances all involve numbers of celebrants, processions, traffic control, and other civic problems, the authorities of Bethlehem and the surrounding area would be just as happy if Christmas were celebrated universally on one day, but it is unlikely that such unanimity will be achieved soon in the face of the Churches' different traditions.

STAMP OF APPROVAL

Since the Postmaster feels so bad about the price of stamps going up again he's promised to coat the glue with bourbon.

SOUTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

READING—

Teacher: Mrs. Mahland
Frosty the Snowman on our classroom door already has 18 names for those who have read at least five books in December. Each of these also took a carrot-nosed Frosty home. Everyone wants a Frosty in order to have a pair in January when Mrs. Frosty will be the reward.
The children have been making Christmas cards of trees and bells with appropriate poems they have read in class.
Jay Marshall has three stars on his vocabulary graph, which means that he has learned 300 words so far this year.
December calendars of home reading and word study may be filled in and returned after vacation. The new January calendar may be started before the child returns. When new Christmas books have been read, make a trip to the public library. Keep up the habit of reading every day.
Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all the readers!

KINDERGARTEN—

Room 1
Teacher: Mrs. Van Blaricum
Merry Christmas! We have had a great time preparing for the big day. Our party was great and included the breaking of a piñata and many special treats. Many thanks to the room mothers who helped us.
Learning doesn't stop just because we are on vacation. When we return we will share our experiences during show and tell. Some exciting vacations are being planned, so we will have many varied experiences to draw upon for learning. Even our guinea pigs are enjoying a change of scenery.
When we return Jan. 6 we begin talking about health and taking care of ourselves. We will weigh and measure each child also.
Our December birthdays are: Susie Keezer, Ronnie Hafley and Kathy Barber.

Room 3
Teacher: Mrs. Bowser
Many thanks to all of the mother helpers we had during December. They certainly helped to make our holiday at school a very happy time.
Our Christmas library walk was a lot of fun. Mr. Davenport from the Ann Arbor library showed us the Christmas film The Cricket on the Hearth. We met the kindergarten children from North school that day and had a nice time getting acquainted.
On Dec. 6 we all sang for our friends at the Methodist Home. Helping others to be happy at Christmas is always important.
We hope mother and dad enjoy the gifts and decorations we sent home and everyone has a very Merry Christmas!

FIRST GRADE—

Room 2
Teacher: Mrs. Thornton
Reporters: Kelly Borowski, Kim Collins, Darrel Elkins, Jimmy Schutte
What a great Christmas party we had! We really liked the special treat that our mothers made for us. Thank you Mrs. Mc Clear, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Ryan and Mrs.

Kattula for making our party so much fun. Mrs. Morin brought a Santa pinata that we got to break. We also had a surprise party. Friday, Dec. 20 was Mrs. Morin's (our student teacher) last day, and she had a gingerbread boy for us. They were good to eat. We hope she will have fun teaching in her classroom.
We went over to the high school to see a Christmas play and got a candy cane from a special machine that Santa's elves made. We enjoyed the play very much.
Thank you for inviting us.
January birthdays: Christine Akin and Christopher Tarasow.
Have a Merry, Merry Christmas and a Happy, Happy New Year!

SECOND GRADE—

Room 5
Teacher: Mrs. Lopez
Our class party was Dec. 20, and we thank all the mothers who helped make the goodies.
Andy Koszegi and Greg Stoddard celebrated their birthdays in December.
We have been busy decorating our room for the holidays with paper chains, snowflakes, and Christmas pictures. We also made glittering trees to take home for a decoration.
In mathematics we are learning to tell time. We enjoy using our feltboard clock to practice.
We enjoy writing stories on all kinds of subjects, and we are making a booklet with all of our stories in it.

Room 10
Teacher: Mrs. White and Mrs. Schlupe
So far we have had a very busy year with our last week before Christmas keeping us especially busy. We made hanging plant signs for our mothers' Christmas presents. For our fathers' presents we painted bread dough ornaments. Both gifts turned out very well, we hope they are enjoyed!
We finished our alphabet books and have been working hard in all subjects. We were so excited about Christmas that it was hard to concentrate on school work. Our Christmas program was on Dec. 19; it was fun.
For our party the last day before vacation we had a grab bag and lots of goodies, after which we went to the gym and sang Christmas carols with the rest of the school.
Our class wishes everyone the happiest of holiday seasons!

Room 8
Teacher: Mrs. Hamilton
The little elves in Mrs. Hamilton's room have been very busy getting ready for the holidays. They have really decorated their room nicely. One bulletin board is Winter Wonderland. The boys and girls have drawn a village complete with snowmobiles, ice skating rinks, skiers and even Santa's workshop.
Stockings hanging on a fireplace tell a story about a little boy who wasn't too sure what he would find in his stocking on Christmas morning.
In the reading corner the children have made mittens for the mitten tree. These mittens have reading skill tasks on the back. The children take turns choosing a mitten and completing the task.

In science the study of electricity and light has involved the students in many experiments. They have learned how light travels and how light is reflected. Their final experiment was to show that white light is made up of many colors. For aiding our study of electricity we would like to thank Mr. Satterthwaite and Mr. Potter for making us a platform with a battery and bulb to light up.
We have had fun making gifts for our parents, and we even found time to write a letter to Santa. We were really surprised when we all received letters back from him.
From Mrs. Hamilton's class—A Very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

RUTH CIRCLE
Ruth Circle of First United Methodist church met at 12:30 Wednesday, Dec. 18 at the Crippen Memorial Building.
A pot-luck luncheon was enjoyed by 1 members and one guest. Hostesses were Mrs. Bessie Buxton, Mrs. Audrey Jarvis and Mrs. Helena Switzer. The dining room was decorated in keeping with the Christmas season.
A short business meeting was held with Mrs. Elaine McCalla presiding. Mrs. Eva Baldwin is hospitalized at this time. Dr. Alma Fowler was a guest.
Mrs. Marian Harper gave a program on "The Three Seasons of Christmas" by Marjorie Tuell. The group sang several Christmas carols with Mrs. Harper at the piano. The meeting was adjourned with a prayer.
Ruth Circle will meet Jan. 15, at 1 p.m. at the Crippen Building.

Save on Holiday Baking
Even with the high cost of sugar, you can afford to do your Christmas baking. "You can cut down the amount of sugar used in most cookie recipes," says Marilyn Mook, Michigan State University Extension food specialist. "Your cookies may not brown as much, but they'll still taste good."

FIRST CARDS
John Cabot Horsley designed the first known Christmas cards as examples for Sir Henry Cole in Britain, 1842.

IRS Offers Help on Income Tax Returns

Ann Arbor—Taxpayers living in the Ann Arbor area may obtain assistance with their 1974 federal income tax returns Monday through Friday each week at the IRS office here starting Jan. 2, according to local district director's representative, Ben Foley.

Internal Revenue Service personnel will be available to provide federal income tax information from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Ann Arbor office is located at 2548 Packard Rd., Building "A".

The IRS will also offer toll-free telephone service again this year to make it more convenient for taxpayers to obtain information and advice. Telephone service will be offered weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday service will be offered at a later date. Assistance phone numbers for Michigan are listed in the instruction booklets mailed to all taxpayers, according to Foley.

Many taxpayers will be able to use the "short form" 1040A again this year. The IRS estimates that about 30 million taxpayers will be able to use the half-page form.

Taxpayers who plan to pay someone to prepare their return are reminded that the law requires the person to sign the form as preparer. The new forms again include a line for the preparer's social security or identification number, says Foley.

Taxpayers who pay to have their returns prepared should be careful to select a qualified preparer, he said.

Candy Maker Caution

Even with the high cost of sugar, do not cut down on the amount used in candy recipes, warns Marilyn Mook, Michigan State University Extension food specialist.

"If you use less sugar, your whole candy batch may fail and then you've lost everything."

ALL ABOUT FOOD

F. A. KENNEDY

My Christmas message will be brief this week and with little emphasis on the subject of food.

Back in the mid-1800's, Charles Dickens wrote many Christmas tales. One of his best was A CHRISTMAS CAROL.

This, as you recall, is the tale of a rich, miserly, hard-hearted old fellow, who is awakened in the end from his selfishness to feelings of generosity and human kindness.

William Thackeray, who lived when Dickens wrote his Christmas tales, said: "Was there ever a better charity sermon preached in the world than Dicken's A CHRISTMAS CAROL? I believe it occasioned immense hospitality throughout England; and was the means of lighting up hundreds of kind fires at Christmas-time; caused a wonderful outpouring of Christmas good feeling; of Christmas punch-brewing; a slaughter of Christmas turkeys and roasting and basting of Christmas beef."

As you can see through the quotation of Thackeray (exactly 130 years ago), I finally got around to food. Not really... the point is that stories with a happy ending generally result in good cheer and feasting.

Christmas is not only a time of good cheer and feasting, but hospitality. Many of you will be sharing your Christmas dinner with friends and loved ones. It has been said that to share the food from our kitchen with all who come to our home, is the friendliest gesture we can make.

In closing, all of us here at Polly's are hoping that your Christmas and New Year will be filled with every happiness. And if you find someone who doesn't have the Christmas spirit, maybe you should give him the "DICKENS" story! Merry Christmas!
