

Letter Writers Debate Question of Newcomers Treatment

Like some subterranean range war, a controversy has raged in the Letterbox column of The Standard for the past three issues that seems to dispute some of the basic small-town truths that Chelseaites hold near and dear.

In a surge of letters that has surpassed even last year's "Lanewood Dog" excitement, local residents have responded thick and fast to an anonymity calling himself "Sincerely Concerned," who has yet to divulge his identity to the panting public.

"Sincerely Concerned," in his initial provocative letter, refused to mince words in declaring "This town has all but destroyed my conclusions about small towns."

He detailed a horror tale of "random vandalism"—broken windows, eggings, an antenna broken and gas cap stolen from his pick-up—and concluded that young people were running rampant in the streets and could only be controlled by a law and order binge or vigilante committees to "give them the rod and save the child."

Ann Feeney, herself a Chelsea resident of only two and one-half years, she said, responded in a placating tone of look-on-the-bright-side and characterized her experience of Chelsea as a relatively satisfactory one.

Another set of newcomers, Donald and Cheryl Spector, delved more deeply into what they saw as the main problem in Sincerely Concerned's letter—that of a destructive youth element. The Spectors offered suggestions involving "an open line of communication"—a youth center or crisis center to involve both young and old, staffed with para-professionals.

In the third installment of this Letterbox drama, Sincerely Concerned returned last week with several "progressive suggestions": the forming of a Police Cadet Program; the purchase of a building for use as a recreation center; the organization of inter-city basketball teams.

This week, Ann Feeney makes a second appearance, a good deal more adamant than before; Mac Packard lists a number of possible options open to one "sincerely concerned" who would like to volunteer; and a third letter from newcomers, this one citing many of the same atrocities that livened up Sincerely Concerned's lead-off effort, and with an additional note to newcomers about Chelsea's unwelcome treatment: "today you know as many people as you will in, say, four years from now."

What is interesting to note is that the vandalism which prompted Sincerely Concerned's initial letter (presumably few people write letters to the editor to complain that their neighbors aren't friendly enough) has only been glancingly mentioned by respondents.

All seem to accept that it is the kind of thing "that happens," and direct their letters to Sincerely Concerned's implication that an unfriendly town makes for vandalizing offspring, and that this particular unfriendly town has not provided enough for its offspring to do.

Chief of Police George Meranuck, who noted Monday that he would rather not respond to any of the letters, or even seem to be responding to them, remarked that he, for one, thought it "very odd that all this is happening, but nobody ever sees anyone do it, and nobody ever reports anything. If my house were getting egged and vandalized, I'd sure tell somebody about it."

Chelsea police, the chief said, enforce as much as possible the village ordinance of an 11 p.m. curfew for young people 16 and under. The state law, he said, is 12 midnight for the same age group, which is what Chelsea officers generally apply on week-ends or after special evening events at the high school.

As for the actual vandalism itself, he said, perpetrators can possibly be charged with littering and malicious destruction of property in the cases of some of the incidents mentioned, but since both charges are misdemeanors, officers must either see the act themselves or have a witness who will sign a complaint. Neither are particularly likely eventualities, he admitted. "If things like this happen," Chief Meranuck continued adamanly, "We do investigate. We investigate all complaints. And if something happens repeatedly, we'll increase our patrols in the area. People don't have to be afraid to walk the streets at night in Chelsea."

Chief Meranuck believes that school sports, clubs, and activities, and those related to church, and Boy Scouts are certainly sufficient to satisfy anybody's yearning for "something to do."

"There are just some kids who won't participate in anything, no matter how much you find for them to do, and these are just the bad element," he says. "And I personally believe that most of the kids who are vandalizing around here don't even live here in town—they live in the country."

Chief Meranuck also notes that another of Sincerely Concerned's suggestions for a better Chelsea—a police cadet program —has already been attempted in the local department. It met with somewhat feeble response—around 12 youngsters turned out but lost interest, he said, when the department didn't consistently entertain them with life-or-death missions.

"The average parent doesn't complain about things like this," the Chief concluded. "If kids look around, they can find enough stuff to do."

Although she reports that she actually has very few calls regarding youngsters, Mrs. Linda Ormsby, director of Chelsea Social Service, states her belief that "There's a definite need for some type of place for kids to go—some place with surface counseling, entertainment, and recreation. But for some reason, youth centers in small towns seem never to catch on—although they do very well in big cities. There's a lot of talent in Chelsea—it's just a matter of getting it together to form something of this nature."

Several years ago, a Teen Center was organized at the former Methodist parsonage at 140 Park St., under the supervision of the Office of Economic Opportunity. It seems to share with Sincerely Concerned's first letter and with Mrs. Ormsby the idea of a place in the community where young people can just congregate, instead of a place where they're accused of "hanging around."

Problems with the Teen Center, says Mrs. Katie Harat, director of Chelsea's OEO, included a lack of programs, a lack of adequate supervision by the person supposedly supervising, a group too large to be manageable, and, an occasionally unsavory co-ed atmosphere that Mrs. Harat recalls (Continued on page three)

Commuter Train Service Slated To Begin Jan. 20

Everyone who's begun to believe that Chelsea's railroad depot was restored by fools so that freight and passenger trains could pass it by for the rest of its historical life should now be branded a confirmed and unadulterated pessimist by all the rest of us.

Yes, it's true, Amtrak's commuter train, originally scheduled to begin its Jackson-to-Detroit runs last October, will begin Jan. 20.

A statement made last Friday by Richard L. Tower, head of the Urban and Public Transportation section of the Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation, blames a "shortage of equipment" for the lengthy delay.

Although exact timetables are not yet available for the daily commuters, it is expected that the trains, consisting at first of two coaches pulled by a locomotive, will leave Jackson at approximately 6:30 a.m., arriving in Detroit at 8 a.m. Stops definitely will be Chelsea, Ann Arbor, and Ypsilanti, with a possible stop in Dearborn planned for some time in the future.

Return route, with identical stops, will leave Detroit at approximately 5:15 p.m. and arrive in Jackson at 6:45 p.m.

Presumably, figuring Chelsea one-half hour from Jackson and an hour from Detroit will make approximation of the Chelsea schedule possible until concrete information is available.

In Detroit, buses will run every 15 minutes from the station area to downtown for 25 cents.

Cost for the entire Jackson-to-Detroit route is $4 each way; however, Amtrak is offering a special commuter deal of $68.50 monthly for unlimited Chelsea-Detroit round trips.

Tower expects that three newly-refurbished cars will soon replace the ones which will begin the commuter runs. The cars are being rebuilt with a portion of a $477,000 state grant, which is also assisting in the upgrading of station facilities along the route.

Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation has budgeted some $70,000 to underwrite two-thirds of the expected operating loss, through June, of the commuter train, with Amtrak paying the final one-third. Amtrak and the state transit bureau are also sharing capital outlay costs on a 1-2 ratio.

Meanwhile, the Chelsea depot is waiting patiently in its new green splendor for its final renovation touches. A small section of the roof remains to be repaired, according to Sam Johnson, and the inside walls of the waiting room need paint.

Tuesday evening Johnson was unsure but thought that workers would be needed to paint the interior this week-end.

One more thing that's needed, according to Johnson, is about $100 for the depot fund. "We don't have all the bills in, but we think that's what it's going to take."

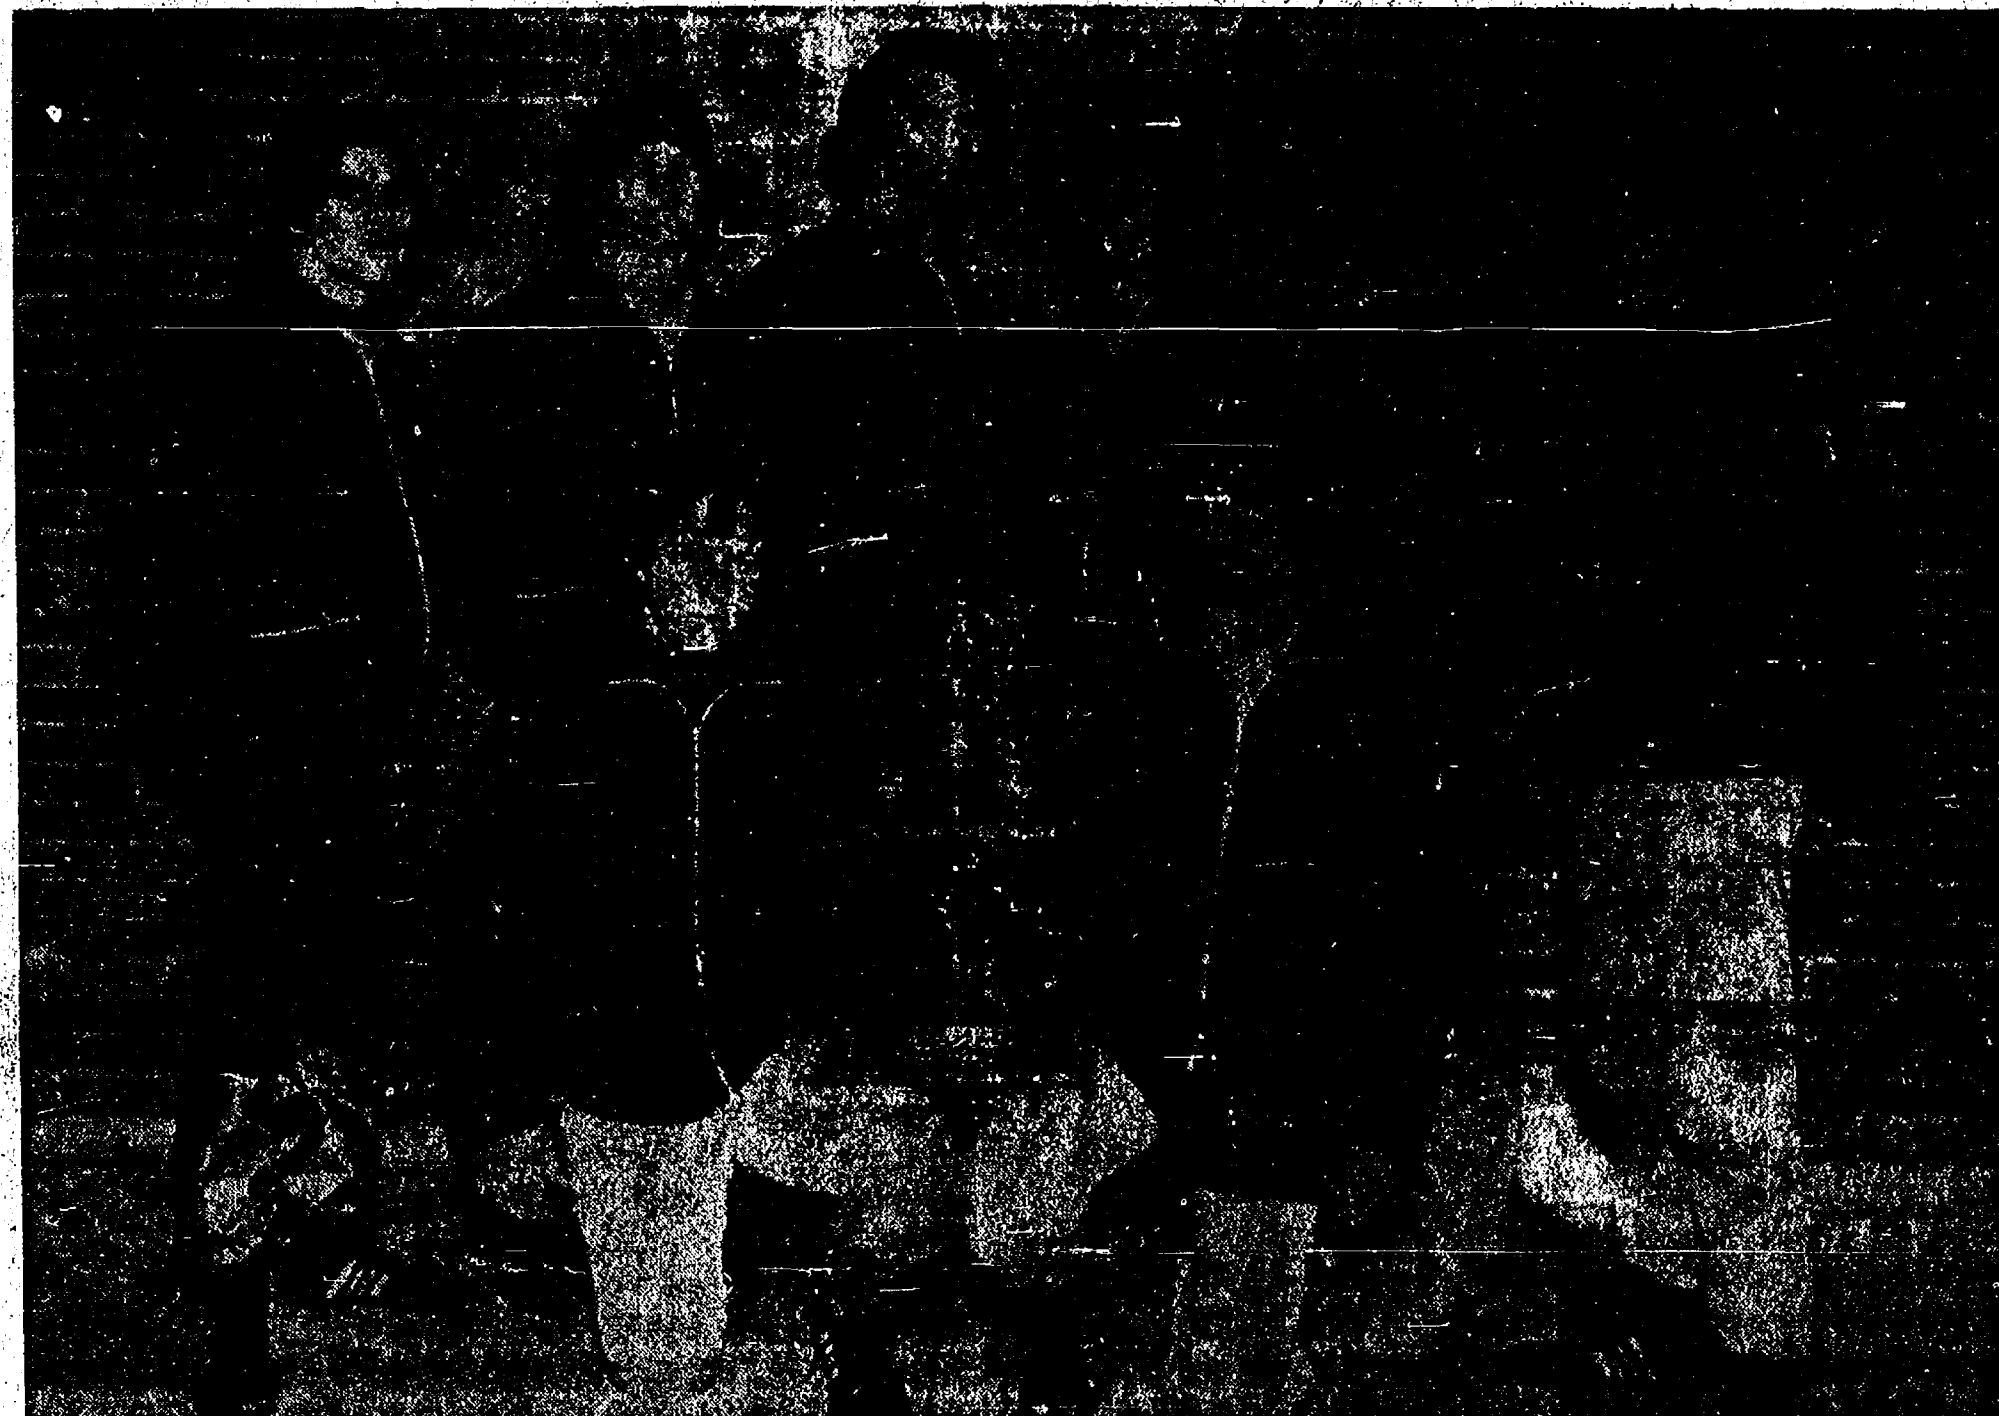

For such a big-time project that seems to be a reasonably small loose end!

F. Abdons Observe 73rd Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Abdon of 447 Railroad St., observed their 73rd wedding anniversary Wednesday, Jan. 8.

The couple were married in 1902 in Greenup county, Ky., but have lived all their married life in Michigan.

Mrs. Abdon is now a patient at Cedar Knoll Rest Home. Her husband and members of their family visited her during the day.

PAUL BENNET TOURNAMENT at Howell belonged only to the Bulldogs, as the team roared to a 92-point showing, outdistancing the nearest competitor by 22½ points. In front, holding the tournament trophy are Darryl West and Mike Agopian; in back are Doug Reed, Dennis Bauer, Les Sharp, Tim Reed, Eric Prinzing, and Jim Stahl. All but Prinzing, who finished fourth, wrestled their ways into the tournament finals in the Chelsea victory.

Cagers Coast Past S. Lyon

A second-quarter press that held South Lyon to a pair of field goals and allowed the Bulldogs to run up a big pre-half time lead was the key to Chelsea's 57-49 victory Tuesday night in their opening contest of the post-holiday season.

Now 7-1 over-all and 4-1 in the Southeastern Conference, Chelsea will tangle with league-leading undefeated Milan Friday night in Milan. Bulldogs are currently tied for second place in the conference.

Tuesday's game began with a close first-quarter score of 12-11, until the Bulldogs began their press. After the Lions' meager second half, Coach Tom Balistrere substituted freely to coast to the final score.

High scorers in the contest were Dave Alber and Rick Sweeney with 16 points each. Sweeney scored 12 of his 16 in the first half, while Alber hit for 12 of his 16 in the second half.

Also scoring were Randy Musbach, nine points; Gary Wonders, five; Ron Kiel, four; Tom Hafer, Jack Hackworth, and Randy Guenther, two; and Randy Davis, one.

Rebounders were paced by Sweeney, who pulled down 10. Kiel and Alber were right behind him with nine and eight, respectively.

Coach Tom Balistrere was particularly pleased with his squad's defensive effort, although he said, "This wasn't one of our best games. It was a good game throughout, but I think the guys were looking ahead to Milan."

Balistrere noted that everyone played in this contest, which is "the kind of game you really enjoy playing." Seeing action and contributing fine efforts, according to the coach, were Dave Watson, Tom Hafer, Rick Robbins, and Bill Rademacher.

Coach Balistrere called himself "extremely pleased" with Randy Davis' fine effort. Davis came off the bench in the first half and accounted for two steals, four rebounds, and did a fine job of hustling. Davis, the coach reported, "has been giving us really fine play all year." Steve Lyerla also "came in for us and played very well."

Among his starters, Coach Balistrere noted that in addition to his leading point total, Dave Alber shot a fine 50 percent from the floor and 100 percent from the foul line. "Dave played his usual good game for us," Balistrere said.

Rick Sweeney, in addition to his high point total, led the team in steals with five. Coach Balistrere also cited him for "fine rebounding."

Gary Wonders encountered early foul trouble, but still contributed his usual fine job as team leader, according to the coach. He also led the team in assists, with three. Ron Kiel also ran into early foul trouble and remained out of the lineup for a large part of the game. He shot 100 percent from the foul line, Coach Balistrere noted.

A "good floor game" came from Randy Musbach, Coach Balistrere said, including three steals, two assists, and a shooting percentage of 75 from the foul line.

Randy Guenther, another substitute, also came in and did a fine job for the team.

Among the ranks of the Bulldogs' injured, Jack Hackworth saw action for the first time of the cage season, after suffering a knee injury playing football. He played for several minutes and Coach Balistrere called himself "very pleased to see Jack back in action."

Not so pleasant, however, was news that Howard Salyer, on the injured list as the result of a pre-Christmas sledding accident, would have to undergo an operation. Coach Balistrere reports that it is unlikely that Salyer will be able to play for the rest of the season.

In anticipation of the Milan contest, Coach Balistrere reported that "we're looking for a good game. Milan was behind Lincoln at the half (Tuesday night). The guys are ready, and we're anxious to play this game," he said. "But whatever the outcome, I think that the title will be decided in the last week of the season, when we play Milan (Feb. 14) and Saline (Feb. 21). Those two should decide the championship."

Bad Checks Issued

Chelsea Chief of Police George Meranuck warns local businesses that bad checks signed by Sharon A. Liddle and Randolph Sheerin, drawn on Chelsea State Bank, have been passed at Rick's Market, Polly's, and Jiffy Market in recent weeks.

Chief Meranuck asks shopkeepers to be on the lookout for the checks, and advises businesses to refuse to cash them and contact Chelsea police if possible.

Matmen Romp To Tourney Win at Howell

Any questions about Chelsea's wrestling strength were resolved rather speedily Saturday afternoon when Bulldog grapplers rolled up enough points in just two rounds of wrestling to win the Paul Bennett tournament at Howell.

Seven Chelsea matmen wrestled their ways into the finals and another into the consolation finals, providing the local squad with a big total of 76 points, which outdistanced the runner-up's final tally by 6½ points.

Final team standings in the meet showed Chelsea on top with a whopping 92 points; followed by Jackson Parkside, 69½; Jackson Northwest, 58½; Dexter, 55; Fowlerville, 47; Milford, 45; Howell, 34; and Pinckney, 17½.

Once again Coach Richard Bareis' crew entered the tournament with a handicap, as they were unable to fill two weight classes.

That fact, however, proved to be no handicap at all, as Jim Stahl, Mike Agopian, Doug Reed, Darryl West, Tim Reed, Dennis Bauer, and Kermit Sharp all wrestled their individual ways into the finals, while Eric Prinzing picked up a fourth-place finish.

Coach Bareis labeled the tournament "a very enjoyable afternoon" as he and Assistant Coach Sam Vogel saw four of their grapplers win championships, and watched three other finalists wrestle well, but finish second.

New Owner Takes Over Tailfeather

Don't look for drastic changes at Tailfeather Creations now that the place has changed ownership. Janice Poquette, new owner of the artsy-craftsy haven, says there just won't be any.

"There definitely won't be any radical changes in the things we carry—we'll continue to carry the yarns, gift items and all the rest," Mrs. Poquette says firmly. "I may add a little more in the craft line, but I'm not exactly sure what, just yet."

Mrs. Poquette, who took over management of the store Jan. 2, has worked there part-time for a little more than a year, she says, and has grown to like the people who frequent the store. "Obviously I wouldn't go into a business where there were a lot of nasty people coming in all the time," she smiles. "I like Chelsea, and I like this shop."

This is her first business venture, she reports, and she notes that Pat Dittmar, who owned and operated Tailfeather Creations for four years, has been providing the kind of assistance that comes only from experience in the business.

"I've been doing all my own ordering, but Pat has been going over them to make sure things were right," she says. "On one, I had ordered a certain amount of yarn, but she said that some special shades go extremely quickly on a c.e. the instruction classes begin, so I ordered more. Those are the kind of things that are really helpful to me."

Classes conducted through the shop—including needlepoint, crochet, knitting, crewel, and bar-

Final matches began with Jim Stahl at 107 pounds, who was paired with a fine wrestler from Jackson Parkside and was simply outwrestled by a score of 9-2.

Captain Mike Agopian, wrestling at 128 pounds, cruised through his match, ending with a third period pin. At 134 pounds, Doug Reed wrestled well but lost, 2-1, in a very conservative match.

Darryl West was entered in the very tough 147 pound class, and scored a pair of pins before coming up with a 10-6 win in the finals. At 157 pounds, Tim Reed earned his first tournament championship with a fine 6-5 win in the finals.

At 169 pounds, Dennis Bauer earned a pin and recorded a thrilling semi-final effort before losing in a good match against Don Trinkle of Dexter, 10-4.

Kermit Sharp was good for a pair of pins before scoring an 8-2 finals victory over Milford. Tonight (Thursday) the Bulldogs will host Milan in Chelsea's gym.

G. Ellenwood Injured in Head-on Crash

George E. Ellenwood, 563 McKinley St., remained in intensive care at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor Wednesday morning as a result of an auto collision late Monday afternoon on M-52, near Old US-12. He is listed in fair condition.

Police say that Ellenwood's car, a 1970 Plymouth, was northbound on M-52, approximately one-quarter mile south of Old US-12, when it was struck by a southbound 1970 Chevrolet driven by William S. Aldrich, 221 E. Middle St. Officers remain uncertain as to the exact circumstances of the accident, although it is known that Aldrich was for some reason heading south in the northbound lane.

Aldrich and his passenger, James W. Parish, 14400 Island Lake Rd., both 18, were transported to University Hospital, where they were treated and released the same evening.

JV Cagers Down S. Lyon

Junior Bulldogs evened their season record Tuesday night at 4-4 by downing South Lyon, 43-38, primarily on the all-around play of Randy Sweeney.

Sweeney was good for 22 of the JV's total points, was second for the evening in rebounds with 10, and led the squad in steals with eight.

Other good performances were turned in by Don Morrison, who was good for nine points, and Dean Thompson, who hit for six. Tony Robards paced rebounders with 11.

Coach Paul Terpstra noted particularly that Dean Thompson did a good job in coming off the bench for the Junior Bulldogs.

The contest was decided when Chelsea recorded an outstanding fourth quarter, outscoring the Junior Lions, 16-6.

Friday night the team will travel to Milan.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

You hear a heap of talk this time of year about paying bill folks that relaxed cause the had all them credit cards after Christmas now is gitting the other half of the message. Let's see, they are finding out, catches up with people soon and Government later. I saw the one of the most popular game this year was a old one. Money only, where you use play money to wheel and deal. I reckon folks can't do it for real the enjoy pretending more, like we us to go to see a south sea island moving picture in the winter and come out refreshed.

But the fellow that runs the store was looking at them bill from the other side of the counter. He told the fellows at the session Saturday night that his big headache now is how to get folks to pay what's on his books. The ain't no debtors prisons, he allowed, and general the cost of going to court is more than the bill. He said little stores are hit worst cause them big chain out fits don't give credit in the first place, and in the second place they don't take no checks that ain't backed up with everything from birth certificate to Social Security number. He said one place his old lady went after Christmas even made a picture of her and her check.

What he's thinking about, the store fellow said, is running a big notice in the paper about all the deadbeats on his books. The first week he'll warn folks that owe him that the next week he's go ing to run all their names in the paper. He said he looked into it and he was told he might run into some legal problems with selling a man's debts up to public notice. He says he probably won't run the second ad if he first one gets folks as shook up as he thinks it will.

Ed Doolittle, for one, didn't live the fellow that runs the store much chance with his plan. Folks hat won't pay honest debts to their neighbors is powerful hard to make ashamed of anything. Ed allowed, and once they get far enough behind to take their credit business to another store you have lost em forever. And with them evolving payment plans they got the big stores, by the time they get through spinning at the first of the month they ain't nothing left for the little bills.

General speaking, said Ed, him revolving plans has got a look the customer can't shake if he skips two payments they come git his color TV, and if he missed one out goes his lights. When a fellow has got the benefit of a $50 ad and when he has eat the groceries, it's a heap harder for him to find a place for them bills on his monthly list, was Ed's words.

Talking about bad debts, Ed said he allus heard that at the end of the year companies write em off. The way he figures it, a company has got to make it afore they write it off. As for doing business with neighbors, Ed said this junkyard owner he knows won't credit his deadbeat friends, he just gives em parts so his wife won't gripe about writing it off.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Thursday, Jan. 11, 1951—

Mary Kathleen Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy, has been chosen by her classmates and the school faculty to receive the DAR Good Citizenship award for 1950-51.

Paul J. Niehaus has enlisted in the U.S. Air Corps and left the Fort Wayne induction center at 4 p.m. Monday to report at Lackland Field, San Antonio, Tex.

Norman Schmidt was awarded a $45 fishing rod and reel for bringing in the largest buck in the contest sponsored by Merkel Brothers. The deer weighed in at 178 pounds and was bagged in Marquette county, near Gwinn, on Friday. The lightest-weight deer, a 98-pound spike-horn, belonged to John Stofer, who received a woolen hunting coat as his prize.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Chelsea Rifle Department Monday evening in the first hall, Marvin Schiller and Donald Walz were taken on as new volunteer firemen.

High scorer in Chelsea's girls basketball team's contest with Manchester Friday was Judy Murphy, who tossed in 22 of Chelsea's final 27 points.

At the annual meeting of Chelsea State Bank Tuesday morning, P. G. Schable was re-elected president and Howard Holmes was named one of two vice-presidents of the institution. Other officers are J. L. Fletcher, vice-president and cashier; and George E. Paul, Jr., assistant cashier.

The first robin of the year 1951 was reported seen on the Reinhold Vergin place at North Lake. The bird was a few of the birds (Continued on page five)

Deceptive Concept

Grabbing a can of whatever from a grocer's shelf may be frustrating when price increases seem to sprout overnight. Even more frustrating is finding two or more prices which suggest dramatically that the highest one is on the top.

Democratic Rep. Lucille McCallough of Dearborn introduced legislation in 1974 to ban price raising once an item has been priced and put on the shelf. The bill didn't make much headway and will be re-introduced, she said.

Although the idea sounds great, retailing problems just aren't that simple. In fact, Meijer's, Inc., which operates numerous stores in Michigan, announced they felt forced to reverse an experimental process whereby no price on the shelf would be raised. They believe their practice confused customers and customers will be better served if every item in a category has the same price.

One problem involved mark-downs for advertised specials. Under the old system, unsold articles were left with the lower prices while new articles carried a higher price. Customers who found this often demanded several of the new articles at the price stamped for the special.

A similar situation developed when shelves were restocked with higher priced articles and a portion of the stock carried a lower price.

If prices could not be changed, the retailers recourse would be to put out only a few items at a time, a practice which would be annoying to customers and retailers as well.

Best idea for the customer is to shop where the retailer has a record of fairness and to keep aware of prices and purchases; not in more laws which would restrict the volume of specials and stocking. In short, the idea is good, but it is doubtful it would help customers.

Jail vs. Hospital

Alcoholism equals sickness not crime. So said the Michigan legislature this past session, in approving a bill which "decriminalizes" public intoxication.

Decriminalize in this case simply means that a person found drunk—incapacitated as a result of intoxication—in a public place would be taken home, to a hospital or to a treatment center. He would not, however, be taken to jail.

Present law identifies and treats public intoxication as a criminal offense," explains Democratic Rep. Thomas Guastello of Sterling Heights, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

"Offenders are not offered medical or psychological relief for their problems, only arrested or jailed. All we do," Guastello says, "is create a cycle of repeated drunkenness and continued arrests. There is less and less chance for rehabilitation."

Guastello, who moves up to the Senate for the new legislative session, says the new law will be particularly helpful to alcoholics, "who are sick and not criminals. You don't cure an alcoholic in a jail," he says.

He notes, however, that any intoxicated person stopped for drunken driving or a minor crime would also be taken for treatment, but he would also have to face prosecution for the offense at a later date. Thus, the public still will be protected against drunken drivers.

The Law Works

How goes it with Michigan's now year-old no-fault auto insurance law?

Pretty well, says State Insurance Commissioner Daniel Dem-

low. In fact, he contends, "rate levels have remained virtually unchanged since the enactment of no-fault."

Meanwhile, with a 12 percent inflation rate, benefits are being paid at the higher costs. "The net effect is that people are getting 12 percent more benefits for the same amount of premium," Demlow declares.

The commissioner lists the following additional benefits under the no-fault law:

—Persons injured in car accidents receive payments "on a much more equitable basis."

—Rehabilitation costs are paid for accident victims.

—Long court suits to determine proper payment no longer are needed.

—Delays in payment of benefits have all but disappeared.

—Savings are possible by coordinating no-fault benefits with health insurance policy coverage.

JA Names Outstanding Boy, Girl

Two Chelsea High school Junior Achievement members, Lisa McKelg and Stuart Blacklaw, have been selected Outstanding Young Businesswoman and Outstanding Young Businessman of the Chelsea Junior Achievement Center located at 445 Mayer Dr. The two become public relations representatives for the center and go on to further competition.

Lisa, 14, is a 9th grader at Chelsea High school and is president of her Junior Achievement company; Dana Blues, sponsored by Dana Corp. Stuart, personnel director of the same company, is also a 9th grader at Chelsea High school.

Individual winners from the 24 JA centers throughout Southeastern Michigan compete in four regional contests, which will be held in early January. Regional winners go on to compete in the final contest, which is scheduled during JA Week in late January at the Michigan Inn Hotel in Southfield. At this contest two people will be chosen to represent Southeastern Michigan as Outstanding Young Businesswoman and Outstanding Young Businessman.

gello—will continue with their usual instructors, Mrs. Poquette notes. Her own particular creative favorite, she says, is needlepoints, "the kind of thing you can put down at any time and not have to worry about where you are with it."

She expects that she will refrain from personal involvement in any Chelsea sidewalk art fairs for this year, at least: "I want to devote myself to the store and make sure I know what I'm doing before I get into anything else." She plans to be at the shop full-time.

Mrs. Poquette and her husband, Bob, and three children, have lived at their Old US-12 home for four years since moving to the Chelsea area.

Personal Notes

Mrs. Ronald (Elaine) Falcone, after a 10-day holiday visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bristle, 19020 Old US-12, left Thursday for her home in Fayetteville, N.C. Mrs. Falcone's husband, 1st Lt. Ronald Falcone, is stationed in Germany and will return Jan. 10.

Cager of the Week

GARY WONDERS is Chelsea's senior guard and playmaker who is playing his second year on the Bulldog varsity. Coach Tom Ballistrere describes Wonders as "an outstandingly fine driver, good shooter, and a tremendous defensive player. Gary hustles all the time." Wonders, an avid hockey player in addition to his obvious basketball prowess, is also a member of the high school Key Club. The son of Mrs. Francella Wonders, he has a brother, Gerald and a sister, Nancy.

Letterwriting Battle

informing participants was offensive to her, and probably to others.

A small group of boys, 14 and 15 years old, Mrs. Harat reports, has begun meeting again in the OEO house on Park St., on Wednesdays after school and Saturday afternoons. The boys have the run of the upstairs of the house while she is working in her office downstairs, she says, and she rarely investigates their activities.

"They've cleaned up the rooms, put up doors, and they take their records and guitars and amplifiers—not very loud—up there," she says. "There is a pool table, with the balls, but no cue sticks. We still have to get some of those, but they've made up some game on the table with just the pool balls."

The boys, she notes, have drawn up their own "constitution" for the group and solve their own disagreements and penalize unruly members.

Although she is uncertain exactly what is needed for young people in Chelsea, she is adamant that "There's nothing but good kids in Chelsea as far as I can see. There are kids who don't have enough to do, and so they make their own entertainment. That's when things happen."

"What burns me up is the way people think that kids have to be watched all the time," she exclaims. "You have a dance for them that they have to pay to get in, then have police at the front door and police at the back door—what kind of thing is that?"

"The real solution," she says, "is to ask the kids what they want to do. Have you ever heard of anyone doing that?"

When the Teen Center was functioning, she says, she believed that young people were attracted to it from most all social groups and areas. "I think we attracted them all," she says, a little proudly. Support by community groups, however, was sadly lacking, Mrs. Harat remembers.

Mrs. Ormsby said that part of that lack of support may have been the fact of OEO's sponsorship of the venture. "People just sort of look down their noses at the OEO," she says, and Mrs. Harat, while agreeing that this has been so, seems to think that the economic situation is working as an educational process to some.

"Maybe this whole thing (the letters) will get people interested in what can be done in Chelsea—and maybe you'll get some response from the kids, too," Mrs. Harat concluded.

At Chelsea High school, counselor George Bergman agreed a place of some sort for young people is needed—some place not necessarily as "institutionalized" as church groups or school clubs and athletics, he says.

"It's amazing how many of our students are not small-town kids—they're very, very mobile, and Ann Arbor is primarily the place that they first bring up as 'where the action is,'" Bergman says. Ann Arbor, he says, is "the most active place they've experienced" in a home where there is, for them, "such a lack of challenge."

Michigan Traffic Death Toll for '74 Is Lowest in Past 11 Years

Michigan's provisional traffic death toll for 1974 was 1,848, the first time in 11 years that the annual count has been below the 2,000 mark, according to State Police traffic division figures.

The toll, subject to some increase based on delayed death reports, also was the lowest since the last previous below-2,000 mark of 1,877 recorded in 1963.

The deaths for 1974 were down 365, or about 16 percent, compared with the toll of 2,213 in 1973.

Factors considered dominant among reasons for the lowered death toll include the reduced speed limit, a slower-paced economy, reduction in travel as influenced by the economy and the availability and increased costs of motor fuel in 1974. Other factors would include traffic law enforcement and the emphasis on traffic safety which are on-going programs.

Figuring in the improved yearly total last year was the provisional December count of 103 which was the lowest for that month since 100 in 1944, a wartime year. The December provisional figure includes nine deaths from the 30-hour Christmas holiday period and none from the six-hour December portion of the 30-hour New Year holiday period. The latter holiday in Michigan so far has two recorded traffic deaths, which occurred Jan. 1, making it the lowest holiday toll in years. A previous low for a 30-hour New Year holiday was three in 1957-58.

Michigan traffic accident exposure factors are not yet available for the full year. However, for the first nine months of the year, estimated vehicle mileage was 41.4 billions, down 5.3 percent from the same period in 1973, while the death rate of 3.2 per 100 million vehicle miles was down 15.8 percent from the comparable 1973 period.

Traffic deaths in Michigan for the past five years, 1969-73, averaged 168 for December and 2,255 on an annual basis. High marks for those periods were 245 for December in 1965 and 2,487 for the year 1969.

Area MOD Workers Attend Campaign Kick-Off Dinner

Mrs. Mary Ann Rader, Chelsea chairman, and her committee, Mrs. Audrey Bongo, Mrs. Jeanene Riemenschneider, and Mrs. Betty Freeman were among county March of Dimes workers who attended the annual campaign kick-off dinner for the Washtenaw County March of Dimes last night, Jan. 8, at the Moose Lodge in Ann Arbor.

The dinner marks the start of the March of Dimes 1975 campaign, which will include the Mothers' March, the radio auction, fashion show, and special events. The proceeds of the campaign will aid MOD in its battle to prevent birth defects through diagnosis, treatment and prevention. Many birth defects which once caused grave damage to babies are now preventable, and MOD hopes that through research many more defects may be prevented entirely.

The theme of the kick-off dinner was "What Are You Doing Here?" and emphasized where campaign money is being spent and what help and facilities are available throughout the county for those who need it. Volunteers throughout Washtenaw county attended the dinner.

Mrs. George Perros is the county chapter chairman and Mrs. Edward Salowitz is the county campaign director. Community chairman are: Mrs. Louis Gaudio of Ann Arbor; Mrs. Robert Murphy of Dexter; Mrs. Luke Rader of Chelsea; Mrs. Leonard Ahrens of Manchester; Mrs. Fred Ennet of Milan; Mrs. Earl Laughrey of Saline; Mrs. Phillip Michelin of Ypsilanti; Mrs. Euston Gaynor of Whitmore Lake; and Mrs. Hugh Sutton of Manchester is chairman for the townships.

The Washtenaw County Chapter was recently awarded a plaque as the outstanding chapter in the region for its efforts in improving quality of life and for its work in the education of professional personnel in community hospitals. The chapter has established a pilot program in perinatal education and consultation for Washtenaw county hospitals, and has given a grant to support the services of a professional nutritionist. Also, the chapter awards scholarships to high school students who qualify to help finance their college studies in the field of public health and grants merits award to medical students for papers and research done on birth defects. Mrs. Duane Bock is chairman for the kick-off dinner. Cadet and Junior Girl Scouts from Manchester will serve the dinner. The Loyd Order of the Moose No. 1253 is donating the facilities and area businessmen will contribute the food.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
This letter is written for all the "Sincerely Concerned" and it is obvious that the letters in your column last week were not these people.

They certainly have never had to pick up wet soggy toilet paper or worry for days, on end, as it falls from the trees and as it blows in their neighbors' yards, nor having to replace broken windows, not once but many, many times; or look at screens and sidings with eggs and-or soap on them. In the summer the smell is awful, let alone looking at this.

Have either had to talk with parents who are irate when you ask about broken windows, etc., and after a while take the next step which is to the police and still get nothing done. From their letters I doubt it.

We also are new to this community and we love the school system, but the senseless damage to our property is very aggravating to say the least. And as newcomers we will agree with "sincerely concerned" that the reception is very cold and it won't get better. Don't say get out and mix—forget it. We have mixed and mixed some more and the coldness is worse not better, so forget it.

Sincerely Concerned, please take care for you have only been here six months. Well this may help—today you know as many people as you will in, say, four years from now.

We have often wondered how other newcomers felt and now we know we aren't alone.

To us, we feel an enforced curfew would be a blessing and as to the letters last week, I only can say—"Stay out of this, because you haven't felt any of this before (we gather this from your letter) and you don't know the hell in a night of senseless damage to your property." We do!

2nd Sincerely Concerned,
Chelsea Newcomers.

To the Editor,
This is to Sincerely Concerned who is against everybody and everything.

If you think you got anybody involved by just writing a letter you are wrong.

If you want to get anything done you get out and do it.

There are too many people like you that have a big bark, but that is as far as it goes.

My wife and I were moved here in 1942 by the government. I was a government inspector at the time. The next four years she was here on her own as I was traveling for the government, and later was drafted by the Army. When I did get back to stay she sure had a lot of friends here. To get back to your trouble, I was Boy Scoutmaster for three years. The Scouts can always use you one way or another. There is work to do with children in all churches. I know they can use you there. Chelsea has one of the best if not the best Auxiliary police force. There is a good place to help better Chelsea. I have been a fireman for 25 years. If you can qualify I am sure we can use you.

My wife and I raised six children that went all through the Chelsea schools. There is another good job for you—they need playground supervision.

We now have nine grandchildren of which two will graduate in 1976. They all think this town is the greatest. I could go on like this for a long time, but I think enough is enough. Oh by the way, my wife and I bought a 1939 fire-truck just for one thing to give children a ride. If you have any children look us up next summer we will give them and you a ride. We have not even had our windows soaped all the time we have lived here in Chelsea.

Proud to live in Chelsea,
Mac Packard.

To the Editor,
This is a plea to all snowmobile operators to be aware of the fact that there are other forms of outdoor entertainment enjoyed by people of all ages, specifically, ice skating.

On the lakes there is usually a pond or two laboriously cleaned off for this sport. This year there has been no quick, easy way of snow removal because the ice surface has not had enough prolonged cold weather to harden it so that a tractor can be taken out on the ice. The job of keeping one cleaned has been extremely difficult. However, the young people on Sugarloaf Lake have had the ambition and tenacity to try to keep up a hockey rink.

Tonight, for the second time, their efforts have gone to waste because of one thoughtless or sadistic snowmobiler. I hope it has been thoughtless rather than sadistic because the latter has no business driving one of those powerful machines.

At any rate, will all snowmobilers please take others into consideration and avoid going over these obviously cleaned off ponds. The damage they inflict is irreparable unless a complete thaw comes about.

Dorothy Shippy.

To the Editor in Response to "Sincerely Concerned"

My name is Ann Feeney. What's yours? Since you are so vitally concerned, sign your name and volunteer to organize and chair one of the groups you feel could help solve Chelsea's problems.

There are literally hundreds of activities already available to children and young adults. There are various Scouts, Biddy Basketball or its equivalent in baseball. There are many church related activities from choir to JYF and SYF. There are intramural and league sports to play or watch. There are hockey teams and debate teams. There are all sorts of clubs in high school, as well as band and chorus. There is almost always a play in preparation or clean-up. Anyone is eligible to join FFA or one could make or raise something for the fair. There are art and science projects to prepare. Ad infinitum.

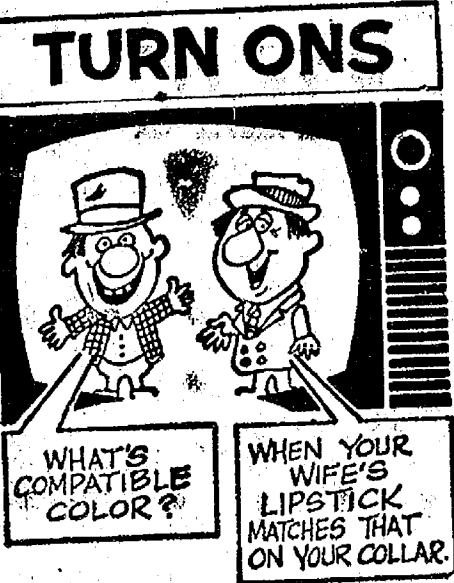

"Sincerely Concerned" your one suggestion for Police Cadets evokes such a negative personal response on my part, I won't comment further. As for a recreation center, it is simplistic to believe that adding a building full of toys will change vandals into good citizens. Mrs. Harat's program last summer at the Community Center enjoyed moderate success and provided essential services to the community. However, it is difficult for me to believe these kids were reformed vandals.

The truth is, for the most part alert, realistic, concerned parents manage to detect and hopefully head-off most severe difficulties in their children. Many parents are either unable or unwilling to do this.

I reiterate my first contention that the world's problems are our problems. Illness, unemployment, alcoholism, emotional problems, child abuse, ignorance are contributing factors in developing disruptive children. There are presently agencies or self-help groups active in all these areas available to Chelsea residents. I suggest support and publicity for Washtenaw County and Catholic Social Services, for A.A., Parents Anonymous, Recovery, Inc., etc., and for participation in Continuing Education programs for adults.

Finally, although I am no miracle worker, if the name of the 50-year-old widow who has been terrorized by vandals was made available to me, I will personally call on Chief Meranuck and involve myself in an attempt to resolve this unhappy situation.

Ann Feeney.

WAY BACK IN 1923:

Basketball Was A Do-It-Yourself Project

In December of 1922, it took belief in a lot of things—particularly good old American resourcefulness—to want to play basketball for Chelsea High school.

A photo of that 1923 team, brought into The Standard office by Greg Ringe and belonging to Clarence Vogel, a team member, shows a typical group of high-schoolers clad in CHS uniforms and displaying a "CHS-1923" basketball.

What isn't typical—at least these days—is the source of those bright new uniforms and that basketball. "This is something we were proud of," says Clarence Vogel. "We weren't any expense to the taxpayers at all. We paid for our own uniforms, our own basketballs, and we played over there at The Chelsea Standard building. We got that building from Mr. Lewis, who ran the Holler Eight plant, for free rent."

Prior to playing in The Standard building, which was then known as the Welfare Building, Chelsea's games had been scheduled at the town hall, Vogel said.

A news report in The Chelsea Tribune of Wednesday, Dec. 6, 1922, reports that "Lights have been installed (in the Welfare Building) and the fine floor should be the scene of many battles this coming season."

Let anyone believe that things were a cake-walk after that, however, Vogel notes that "All of us pitched in and bought two coal stoves from Jimmy Dann the junk man to heat the place."

Starting players for that Chelsea team that year, as Vogel recalls it, were Paul Buehler at guard, Alfred Mayer at forward, Harold Brooks at center, Ralph Kinner at forward, and himself at guard.

Of the team members, all are deceased or moved to parts unknown except Harold Brooks and Ralph Kinner, both of whom now live in Florida, and himself, Vogel says.

He recalls the 1923 season as "only fair," and remembers that the squad lost in the post-season tournaments in Ypsilanti to conclude the season.

Newspaper reports of the season, however, show a team very long on hoopla during its regular games. The team jumped to a quick 58-14 defeat of Dansville in their opener in early December; then, returned to, pull the same fate on Dansville by a lesser score in early January, 10-9.

This second Dansville game featured the boys in their brand new uniforms, which, according to reports of the day, "made a very distinctive showing."

Returning to the Welfare Building for their first home game in their new uniforms, the boys pounded Dexter, 28-20. Accounts said that "Brooks' work was the main feature, while Vogel, and Buehler, guards, and Mayer, forward, did well."

The following week's rematch with Dexter allowed local reporters an opportunity to employ their most enthusiastic superlatives: "Never was a basketball game more replete with breath-taking shots at the baskets. Several times the ball dropped through the net from seemingly

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley James Parr

Patricia Ann Young, Stanley Parr Wed at Zion Lutheran Church

A candlelight ceremony at Zion Lutheran church was the setting Saturday, Dec. 28, for the wedding of Patricia Ann Young and Stanley James Parr.

The Rev. John R. Morris conducted the ceremony, and Miriam Parr of Redford sang Paul Spoke's "The Wedding Song." Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Young of Chelsea and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Parr of Manchester.

What's Cooking In Michigan

By Larrestine Trimm
Michigan Dept. of Agriculture
Marketing Information Specialist

Consumers trying to cut back on food costs should examine their purchases more closely when they get home from their weekly shopping trip to the supermarket. Marketing officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture say the average grocery store shopper spends about $15 out of every $20 for food, the remaining $5 going for non-food items.

Perishables (baked goods, dairy products, frozen foods, meats, fish, poultry, and produce) account for about $10 of the $15 spent for food. Leading in grocery sales volume is fresh beef. Beef and cigarettes have highest volume for non-food items.

MDA Marketing officials say health and beauty aids have done most in the last 12 years to turn food stores into supermarkets. (Heading the list of fastest gainers in sales is men's aerosol hair dressing while shampoos are the number one seller.)

Now, set aside all the convenience foods you've bought. Nearly two-thirds of total American dollars spent for food last year was for marketing services, according to MDA Marketing officials. Of $134 billion Americans spent for food originating on U. S. farms, $83 billion was for built-in maid services with over $40 billion of that for labor.

Convenience foods are popular because today's food shoppers are looking for appetizing meals that are easily prepared; but you pay extra for the time you save in the kitchen.

Missionaries to India To Join In Methodist Church Service

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vreeland, native Michiganders who have recently returned from service as United Methodist missionaries to India, will participate in the 10 a.m. worship service this Sunday, Jan. 12 at First United Methodist church.

In a day of fellowship and acquaintance, the couple, who will soon be at Red Bird Mission in Beverly, Ky., where Vreeland will serve as business administrator, will be guests at a coffee hour following the service.

A church-wide pot-luck dinner will also be held in honor of the Vreelands at 12:30 p.m. Sunday. Organizers of the pot-luck urge those planning to attend to bring a favorite dish, or a dish prepared from a recipe in the Sarah Circle cookbook, along with a small sign indicating the name of the recipe and the page number.

A slide presentation by the Vreelands, is scheduled for after the pot-luck. The couple and their three children have served in India since 1930. Vreeland held assorted offices with the church there, including field treasurer of the United Methodist Board of Global Ministries, and assistant branch treasurer for the Methodist Church in Southern Asia. Mrs. Vreeland worked as Methodist correspondent and scholarship co-ordinator, as well as manager of the Friendship Center Nursery school.

DEN 1, PACK 415—
Cub Scouts of Den 1 of Pack 415 finished the first half of the year's weekly den meetings with a Christmas party Dec. 19. We played games, sang songs, and exchanged gifts.

Den Leader Aunt Alice Atkinson furnished refreshments. Everyone told what he hoped to get for Christmas and we reviewed what had been going on since September.

There were nine of us at our first den meeting on Sept. 19. At our September pack meeting, Larry Lindstrom and Bob Trevino joined the Webelos Den. In November, John Green also graduated to Webelos. We miss them at our meetings.

In October Greg Marco joined our den. Now we have six members, Kevin Colombo, Jerry Hamerschmidt, Greg Marco, James Pearson, Jeff Pratt, and Jack Wirth.

We had the opening ceremony for our September pack meeting. There was a special meeting for boys becoming Webelos scouts. New boys were welcomed and we had a get-acquainted period.

October was our Halloween party. We had craft items for show and tell. Parents were given black and orange crepe paper to dress up their Cub Scouts. They were judged, and prizes went to the most representative, spookiest and most original. There were games and refreshments.

Our November theme was Thanksgiving. Each den put on a skit. We made turkeys that scooted when tugged gently. December, of course, was filled with Christmas activities. We made gifts for our parents. At our pack meeting Dec. 14, we had a party for cubs and families. At this meeting, Herbie Pearson graduated to Boy Scouts. Scoutmaster Earl Dreimann was present to welcome Herbie into Troop 420. There was also a Christmas tree, and Santa arrived with a sack filled with fruit and candy for each scout. Cookies, Kool-Aid, and coffee were served, and there were songs and games, too.

In all, we had 10 fun- and work-filled den meetings. We made things, played games, then completed achievements. With the help of our dads, we worked at home on achievements and electives and were awarded beads, patches, and gold and silver arrows.

Cub Scouts of Den 1 marched in Chelsea Fair parade, and also in the Veterans Day Parade. We helped our dads cut and sell Christmas trees—the only Cub Scout fund-raiser in the community.

On Jan. 9 we resumed our weekly den meetings.

Toll-Free Tax Help On Saturdays

Detroit—The Internal Revenue Service announced today that beginning Jan. 11, their telephone lines for tax assistance will be open on Saturdays. R. L. Plate, district director for IRS said Michigan taxpayers may call between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Saturdays from any place in the state toll free. Week-day assistance through the IRS telephone service system, Monday through Friday, remains unchanged—8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., Plate said.

"In-person assistance is offered at most offices Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. till 4 p.m. However, IRS offices in the smaller cities are not open every day. Taxpayers in these cities should check the days and hours for local in-person assistance before their visit," Plate said.

Plate also reminded taxpayers that the IRS has more than 80 informative publications available without charge to the public. The publications cover almost all topics common to the average individual's tax return, he said.

Estimated Income Tax Installment Is Due Jan. 15

Detroit—Taxpayers who filed estimated tax on their 1974 income must pay the fourth quarter installment by Wednesday, Jan. 15. "The provision in the law for taxpayers to pay estimated tax in four equal installments means that all of the tax should be paid by Jan. 15. Taxpayers should file declaration-voucher, number 4 from the Form 1040-ES package," R. L. Plate, IRS district director, said.

For more detailed information, see IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," available free at IRS district offices.

CONSUMERS' CORNER

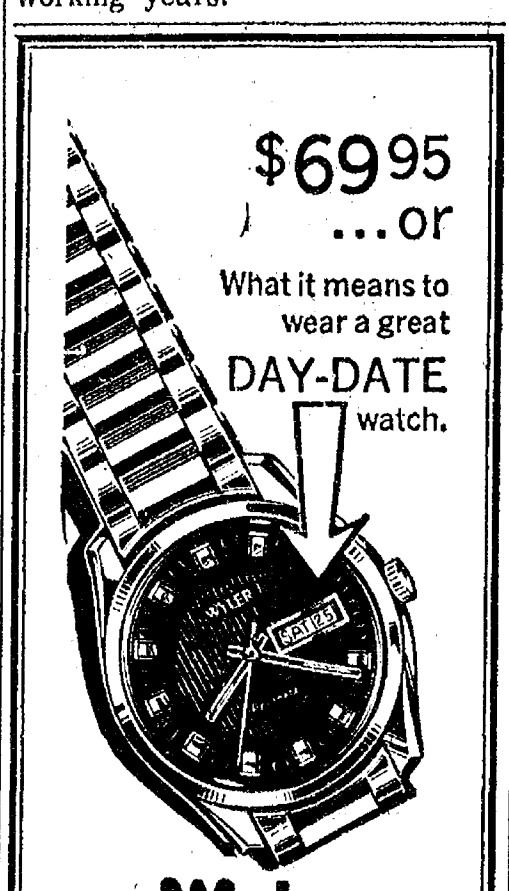

SYNTHETIC SUEDE

New synthetic fabrics that have the feel of suede, the look of suede, but none of the care problems of suede, are hitting the market. One of the new fabrics, Ultrasuede, looks like the real McCoy, but it's an imitation.

According to the manufacturer, Ultrasuede has some advantages over the real suede. It's machine-washable, tumble-dryable, and easy to care-for. It won't shrink, stretch, fray, crack, wrinkle, pill, water-spot or stiffen, and it's colorfast.

This pseudo-suede fabric is made of 60 percent polyester and 40 percent non-fibrous polyurethane. Another fabric, Skai, imported from West Germany, is coated on both sides with urethane for greater leather authenticity. It comes in six basic leather colors. Since Skai is lightweight, it can be used in coats, skirts, shirts and dresses.

Studies indicate that from the early teen years through their late 60's women generally have better hearing than men. This is especially true from the ages of 25 through 65 hearing specialists point out. While reasons may vary, one consideration stems from the fact that women are generally less exposed than men to occupational noise during these working years.

New Pick-Up Stolen, Recovered On Garvey Rd.

A new Chevrolet Luv pick-up truck was stolen in the early morning hours of Dec. 23 from beside the body shop at Lloyd Bridges Chevrolet, Chelsea police reports say, but was recovered later in the day.

The vehicle, which may have been left with keys in its ignition, according to employers at the dealership, was found later Saturday abandoned on Garvey Rd., near Cavanaugh Lake, by Washenaw County Sheriff's Deputies. Deputy Shaw of the Sheriff's Department, investigating officer was unable to remove any prints from the vehicle.

Police have no suspects in the case.

Off-Duty Officer Nabs Walkaway Trio From Cassidy Lake

Officer Robert Browning stopped on the way home to pick up some groceries last Monday, and left with three Cassidy Lake walkaways in tow instead.

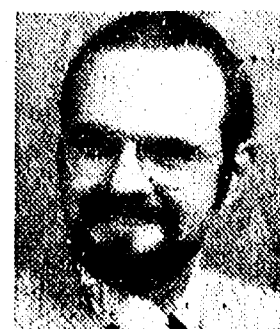

Officer Browning, of the Chelsea police force, has in the past worked at the technical school and recognized one of three young men in Cool's Grocery at Sugar Loaf Lake as a Cassidy Lake inhabitant, and assumed his two companions shared the same residence.

Browning held the trio and contacted Ron Watkins of Cassidy Lake Technical school, who arrived at the grocery soon thereafter and took the three into custody.

The men, Randy Crowell, 19 Glen D. Frederick, 20, and Leo K. Mathers 20, will be sent to Jackson State Prison.

School Board Briefs

Present at the Board of Education meeting Monday, Jan. 6, were President Haselschwardt, Trustees Stirling, Tobin, Hodgson, Daniels, Irwin, and Schafer, Superintendent Cameron, Business Manager Mills, Jerry Cullimore of Construction Co-ordinators, Don Morgridge and Gloria Costma of Manson, Jackson, & Kane, Inc., and Donald Young.

Meeting was called to order by President Haselschwardt at 8 p.m. Minutes of the Dec. 16 meeting were approved as corrected.

Jerry Cullimore reported on the district's various construction projects. At North school, foundations are 85 percent complete, and mechanical work 10 percent complete. At South school, all underground work is complete and all exterior walls of the west addition are completed. At Chelsea High school, footings are approximately 90 percent complete. At Beach Middle school, preliminary earthwork is completed.

The board awarded the bid for toilet partitions at the high school to the Fred Gee Co. in the amount of $2,177.

Ford Van Stolen from Service Station Lot

A 1964 light blue Ford van was apparently stolen from the parking area around Glenn's Mobil early Friday morning, Chelsea police reports say.

The vehicle was last reported seen at approximately 2:30 a.m. Friday. Owner Larry DeSmith had left it at Glenn's Mobil for repairs on Thursday, an attendant left the key in the ignition of the van when he finished repairs that day.

Officers have no suspects in the case.

Don Morgridge and Gloria Costma of Manson, Jackson, & Kane, Inc., presented the color schemes for the new buildings and the board accepted them as recommended.

The contract of William Westcott for the second semester was approved.

The board adopted a resolution commending the debate team and its coach, William Coelius, on a successful season.

Meeting was adjourned at 10:45 p.m.

Fun Night Slated Saturday at CHS

Fun Night for Chelsea High school and Beach Middle school students is planned for this Saturday, Jan. 11, from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the high school gym.

Admission for the evening will be 50 cents, which will go to the high school scholarship committee. The evening is sponsored by the Chelsea chapter of the National Honor Society.

Counselor George Bergman notes that "older elementary students" will be admitted to the night's activities, but says that parents of young children should realize that this will be "primarily an older crowd."

Attempted B&E Found at Dorr Home

A pair of unknown subjects apparently attempted to break into the Charles Dorr residence at 114 W. North St. early New Year's Day, Chelsea police reports say.

Dorr and his wife told police that they were awakened by a noise in the kitchen of their home and discovered that a kitchen window had been opened.

Upon investigation, officers found footprints at the front door of the home, where they believe that the intruders attempted to gain entry. A single set of footprints led to the back of the house, where one of the subjects entered through the breezeway door between the garage and kitchen area, then attempted to enter the home through the kitchen window.

Officers believe that the subjects parked their vehicle in the Chelsea Milling Co. employee parking lot, which is west of the Dorr residence. They have a possible description of the subjects' car and records of two sets of footprints and a set of tire tracks.

The investigation is continuing.

Area Man Arrested On Bench Warrant

Chelsea police last Monday arrested a 21-year-old area man wanted on a pair of bench warrants.

Arrested at a residence at 18196 N. Territorial Rd. was Ricky Semeleska, 21, who was wanted on outstanding warrants for failure to appear for a drunk and disorderly trial, and failure to appear for a disorderly person and malicious destruction of property trial.

He will appear in 14th District Court on the charges.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ The Year That Was

The year 1974 will be remember by many Americans as a "bad year," a time when people's faith in their elected officials was shaken to the core. A time when spiraling inflation and increased unemployment created grave concerns for the future. A time when the people of our nation and the world were confronted with the realization that we have a limited earth with limited energy resources. Long lines at gas stations . . . 55 mph speed limits . . . lower thermast settings . . . shortages of many consumer items . . . these and many other inconveniences became a part of our lifestyles during 1974.

Food and its availability also became a topic of concern to people, many of whom had never given it a thought as anything but a readily-accessible commodity on the supermarket shelves.

Excessive government spending, energy shortages, and excessive wage settlements in relation to productivity, spawned double-digit inflation—circumstances that drew food producers and food consumers closer together. These two segments of our society, differing in many other aspects, found a new commonality—both were major victims of skyrocketing prices caused by inflation.

Hopefully, they'll find another common bond

U.S. Leads World In Number of Phones

More than 9 billion telephone calls were made by Michigan residents in 1973 while in all of the United States, 188 billion telephone calls were made—new state and U.S. records.
Nationally, this averages nearly 6,000 calls per second—the greatest volume of any nation in the world—and is four times larger than the 44 billion calls reported by Japan, the second most talkative nation.
Southfield maintained its second position among cities with more telephones than people.
These statistics are from "The World's Telephones," a booklet published annually by AT&T's Long Lines department, the Bell System interstate and international operating unit.
The publication gives details about telephones and their worldwide use. Because it takes a year to compile the statistics from some 1,400 principal cities in 171 countries, figures reflect the status as of Jan. 1, 1974.
The United States led all other nations with 338.3 million telephones and had an average of 65.47 telephones per 100 people, compared to a world-wide average of 8.6 per 100.
Four U.S. cities have more telephones than people: Washington, D.C. heads the list with 130.3 telephones for every 100 people, followed by Southfield, with 126.2; Champaign, Ill., with 103.1; and Palo Alto, Calif., with 102.2.
Stockholm, Sweden, is the only foreign city in this category with 104.8 telephones for every 100 people.
During 1973, Taiwan achieved the largest international growth rate in total telephones with a 24.4 percent increase. The Republic of Korea led the world in the last decade with a telephone growth of 493.3 percent.
Other figures show there was a record gain of 23.4 million telephones, or 7.5 percent, in the world's telephones during 1973. This increase brought the global total to 338,297,000 telephones—a 96.5 percent increase over 10 years.
Bell System telephones connect with more than 99.5 percent of the world's telephones, up from 98 percent in 1972.
This means that even far away places such as the Wallis and Futuna Islands (French possessions in Antarctica) can be reached by Bell subscribers along with any of 246 other nations and areas of the globe.
The list of countries with more than half a million telephones has grown to 41: with the addition of Iran and Venezuela.
While the United States has the most telephones, there are seven other nations with more than 10 million telephones: Japan, the United Kingdom, the Federal Republic of Germany, the USSR, Italy, Canada and France.

Nation's Census of Agriculture Will Update County Statistics

The 1974 Census of Agriculture got underway the week of Dec. 29 with the mailing of approximately four million report forms to farms and ranches in the 50 states according to Vincent P. Barabba, director of the Bureau of the Census. The Bureau is part of the Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration.
Farmers and ranchers are being asked to report on their agricultural operations during 1974. This 1974 census, the nation's 20th farm census in a series that started in 1840, will update data most recently obtained in 1970 for 1969 operations. Primary emphasis will be on obtaining information about farms and ranches with sales of $2,500 or more annually. Such operations accounted for 98 percent of the total value of all agricultural products sold in 1969.
To avoid undue burden on small farmers and to reduce processing costs, a short version of the census report form is being mailed to the over one million addressees estimated to have had both farm receipts and expenses of less than $2,000 in 1973. All other addressees are receiving the standard form.
Forms are being mailed to a list of the following: persons who filled out Schedule F of the 1973 individual income tax return, persons listed with other Federal agencies as associated with agricultural operations, and those reporting large or unusual farm operations in the 1969 census (such as institutional farms, farms on Indian reservations, etc.). This combined list of addressees forms a pool of potential respondents in the census. The final total of farms counted is expected to be well under three million, as it was in 1969.
A new kind of report form is being used in the 1974 farm census in order to reduce costs. The report form, instruction sheet, and return envelope have been printed and addressed in a single operation thus eliminating separate printing, assembling, stuffing, and the attaching of the printed address labels. It is the first time that this type of operation has been used in a Federal census.
Also, for the first time, the forms are being mailed out at the third class bulk rate to reduce postage cost. The return envelope containing the farm operator's completed report carries first class postage to protect the confidentiality of the information reported.
Completed forms are to be mailed back as soon as possible. Census by mail allows operators to fill out their reports at their convenience and use their farm business records. Estimates are acceptable and should be reported in the absence of records.
Recipients of census report forms are cautioned not to discard them. Follow-up mailings costing additional postage will be required until all forms are received. Even if the recipient is not farming, the form should be returned with that fact noted.
First Agriculture Census in 1840
The United States took its first Census of Agriculture in 1840. Until 1920 they were taken every 10 years; since then, there has been one every five years, recently covering years ending in "4" and "9".
The five-year censuses are the only source of statistics on agriculture that are comparable county by county for the entire nation. They are the sole source of comprehensive agricultural data tabulated for each state and for the U.S. as a whole for farms classified by size, tenure, type of organization, market value of products sold, and type of farm organization.
The selection of questions in the 1974 census was based on needs expressed by users of agriculture census data, experience gained in earlier censuses, results of a January 1974 pretest census, and recommendations of the Census Advisory Committee on Agriculture Statistics. This committee is composed of representatives of farm organizations, academic, government, and research groups concerned with agriculture, as well as organizations representing manufacturers and distributors of farm supplies and equipment, and users of farm products. Also, there is continuous co-operation with agencies in the U.S. Department of Agriculture.
Response to the census is required by law (Title 13, United States Code). By the same law, information furnished on report forms is kept confidential. It may be seen only by sworn Census employees and may be used only for statistical purposes. Even other government agencies cannot obtain or use the report made by any operator. The law also provides that copies retained by the operator are immune from legal process.

Tax Form Due from Farmers, Fishermen
Detroit—Farmers and fishermen who have not filed their 1974 declaration of estimated federal income tax must file and pay that tax by Wednesday, Jan. 15. The sole exception to this rule is if they file their income tax return and pay the total tax due by March 3.
Farmers and fishermen are defined as those persons who earned at least two-thirds of their 1974 gross income from farming or fishing.
IRS Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," and 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," provide additional information and are available free at IRS offices.
Witnesses To Attend Assembly in Holt
More than 200 delegates from the Chelsea congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will attend their semi-annual circuit assembly in Holt this week-end at the new Jehovah's Witnesses Assembly Hall.
A special baptismal service will be conducted Sunday morning using the facility's built-in pool beneath the auditorium stage.
Keynote address of the week-end will be delivered 2 p.m. Sunday by J. L. Waddington, a district overseer of Jehovah's witnesses on "What the Near Future Holds." The program is open to the public.

IT'S OFFICIAL: State Representative Michael Conlin (R-Jack-son), right, received the oath of office beginning his term as State Representative from the 23rd District from his cousin, Washtenaw County Circuit Judge Patrick J. Conlin. The official ceremony took place Thursday, Jan. 2 in Judge Conlin's courtroom. Also attending as guests at this ceremony were most of the county's circuit and district judges and many county elected officials. This event marked the first time a Washtenaw county circuit judge had sworn in a State Representative and the first time a Conlin had administered the oath of office to another Conlin. Conlin (Representative Conlin that is) is the son of Ann Arbor Attorney Henry T. Conlin and the nephew of long-time Washtenaw Circuit Judge John W. Conlin. The swearing-in ceremony was held in the 23rd District to give the residents of the district a rare opportunity to witness their Representative taking the oath of office. Members of the State Legislature are scheduled to officially take their oath of office at the State Capitol in Lansing on Jan. 9.

ALL ABOUT FOOD

F. A. KENNEDY

Did you know that at one time there were over fifty different toothpaste sizes? But I'm happy to report efforts are being made to reduce the number of package sizes and standardize on package shapes, so it will be easier for you to shop.

In fact, as things now stand, you can expect to see toothpaste sizes reduced to about five, dry detergents to about six, paper towels to about eight, and dry cereals to about sixteen. ... with similar reductions in other lines as well.

It all happened innocently enough. The different companies were merely trying to do something distinctive with their products. But now those same companies are voluntarily working together to simplify things for all concerned.

They are also, of course, working on better packaging for the future. And there are some exciting new ideas on the way. New cans with tear tabs of leakproof tape. A recloseable plastic "can" for hams. Multi-portion packages that will keep potato chips and other snacks crisp and moisture-free for a full year. Combination glass-and-plastic bottles weighing a fraction as much as today's lightest no-return bottles. Space-saving rectangular cartons for frozen orange juice concentrate, complete with a polyester "safety shield" that will let you use the package for measuring and adding water. And a new polyester film wrapping for frozen poultry, red meats, and fish that stays on the product during roasting or baking, reduces shrinking ... and keeps your oven clean!

As these new packages come out, you'll be seeing them at Polly's. And you'll also see something we have had for a long time ... the best food values in town!
