Dana Corp. Moves into Enlarged Plant

A 50,400 square foot addition to the Dana Corp. factory at 5800 Sibley Rd. is completed and relocation in the addition of the plant's assembly operation is nearly complete.

"All personnel and most of the plant's inventory, according to Charles Clauson, plant superintendent, have been relocated into the new addition, which increased the Sibley Rd. facility to 218,000 square feet.

Relocation to the addition began Jan. 2, Clauson said, from the Buchanan St. facility where the assembly operation has been housed while the rest of the plant operated at Sibley Rd. "Having everything under one roof should improve the efficiency of the entire plant," he noted.

The Buchanan St. building is currently for sale, Clauson said. "We've had several inquiries, but no firm offers for the facility as yet," he reported.

General contracting and design for the addition was by Lathrop Co., at an estimated cost of $700,000. Ground was broken on the project last July 18.

Dana Corp., with corporate offices in Toledo, O., is a primary international supplier of the truck and automotive industry.

Principal products of the Power Equipment Division's Chelsea plant are power take-offs and heavy duty track drive units.

March of Dimes Heads into Final Week of Activity

Signalling the end of January, March of Dimes month, the local MOD campaign's bigger efforts—including Mothers March, Chelsea's peanut sale, and the county fashion show—are greeting the end of the month with a flurry of activity.

With five out of nine districts reported from last week's Mothers March, Mrs. Betty Freeman, chairman of the collection, reports that funds total approximately $490, which she said she considered "actually pretty good, considering the economic situation, and how many people are laid off."

Final total for last year's Mothers March in Chelsea was $1,083, Mrs. Freeman said.

Friday and Saturday, in the downtown area, Cub and Boy Scouts will take to the streets to practice their own winning brand of salesmanship, selling peanuts and balloons to benefit the March of Dimes campaign.

Eight area junior varsity wrestling squads are scheduled to compete this Saturday in the Chelsea Junior Varsity Tournament at Chelsea High school.

Participating teams will be South Lyon, Dexter, Saline, Lincoln, Novi, Columbia Central, Pinckney, and Chelsea. Wrestling will begin at 10 a.m. and continue through the finals, which should end at approximately 7 p.m.

Admission price for the tournament is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

DIVISION I ENSEMBLE entries in Saturday's solo and ensemble festival, who will compete in the state solo and ensemble festival in March, include these girls who are representatives of several different ensembles. In front are Denise Robbins, who played oboe in a woodwind quintet, and

Lisa Walworth, who played bassoon in the same woodwind quintet; in back are Debbie Haworth and Kathy Fairbanks, both members of a clarinet quartet; Julie Chapman, who played clarinet in the woodwind quintet; and Gail Gilbreath, also a member of the clarinet quartet.

Nine Chelsea Entries Earn Top Awards in District 12 Festival

Nine Chelsea entries in Saturday's District 12 Solo and Ensemble Festival at Henry Ford Community College received "I" ratings and are eligible to compete in the state solo and ensemble festival in March.

Chelsea band's nine winners included four soloists and five ensemble entries, of a total of 46 local competitors.

Receiving division I ratings for their solo performances were Chelsea's Kim Longworth, playing flute; Duane Luick, trumpet; Kathy Slater, clarinet; and Holly Hoffmeyer, flute.

Earning division I ratings in the ensemble division were a flute duet by Holly Hoffmeyer and Laura Burns; a woodwind duet by Kim Longworth playing flute and Kathy Fairbanks playing clarinet; a clarinet quartet composed of Kathy Fairbanks, Gail Gilbreath, Karen Keiser, and Debbie Haworth; a clarinet trio including Carolyn Schardine, Kathy Slater, and Ann Schaible; and a woodwind quintet utilizing the talents of Laura Burns playing flute, Denise Robbins playing clarinet, Kathy Burns playing French horn, and Lisa Walworth playing bassoon.

Eleven other Chelsea band members earned division II ratings in the festival, including three soloists and eight ensembles.

Division II solo mention was accorded to Sue Pfeifle, playing piano; Skip Foytik, playing tympani; and Randy Harris, playing trombone.

Ensemble participants who earned division II ratings included a brass quartet composed of Frank Kornel playing cornet; Andy Anderson playing trumpet; Shelly Warren playing French horn,

Randy Harris playing trombone, and Mike Foster playing tuba; a French horn quartet consisting of Merry Hoffmeyer, Kim Brown, Kathy Burns, and Shelley Warren; a woodwind duet by Dawn Klobuchar, playing flute and Debbie Wilson, playing clarinet.

Cagers Win Over Lincoln, Jackson NW

It looked like bad times last Friday night when Chelsea cagers blundered through several turnovers and displayed generally sluggish play until—oop! Lincoln was ahead, 19-9 at the end of the first quarter. But the Bulldogs eventually turned things around to their liking, in the form of victory by a score of 74-62.

First quarter play, characterized as "very sluggish—we had no real offensive movement" by Coach Tom Balistrere, left the coach searching for "the right combination" to do the job for the team.

Behind, 19-9, entering the second quarter, "we began to press," Balistrere explained. "Or maybe I should say, our press began working." After falling behind by 14 points, the Bulldogs then trimmed the Railsplitter edge to 34-32 by half-time.

Second quarter action was highlighted by Dave Alber's 14 points, more than an adequate start on the way to a season high of 30 for the big forward.

Chelsea cagers continued their infallibility at home, running their victory string to 12 with a 62-45 trouncing of Jackson Northwest Tuesday evening.

Despite the 17-point difference between the two teams, Coach Tom Balistrere called the game "close all the way." Chelsea trailed at the end of the first quarter, 15-11, but by the half had taken a tenuous one-point lead, 27-26.

Big quarter for the Bulldogs came in the third, when the local team outscored Jackson, 16-6, and utilized an effective press to force the opposition into numerous turnovers.

The game marked the first starting lineup appearance for Jack Hackworth, who was injured during the football season, but has improved steadily during the past month. Coach Balistrere noted that the starting berth was due primarily to Hackworth's "fine showing in the Lincoln game" in which he scored 13 points after coming in off the bench.

Leading scorers for the contest were Dave Alber with 20 and Randy Guenther with 14. Also adding to the Bulldog scoring output were Rick Sweeney with 10 and Gary Wonders and Ron Kiel with eight each.

Rebounders were paced by Kiel and Sweeney, who pulled down 11 and 10, respectively.

Coach Balistrere cited both Alber and Sweeney for their usual fine play over-all and noted that Wonders led the team in assists.

Balistrere also expressed pleasure with Ron Kiel's performance, saying that "Kiel did a fine job on the boards for us, and he seems to be getting the ball in again."

Also earning the coach's mention were Randy Guenther, who earned commendation for his fine scoring night of 14 points, and subs Randy Mushbach and Randy Davis, who "performed well for us," according to Balistrere.

The victory left the Bulldog's record at 11-2 over-all, going into the Novi contest Friday night at Novi.

Coach Balistrere noted that, with Howard Salyer back practicing after injury in December in a sledding accident, "It's the first time I've had the entire squad back together."

Promotions Announced By Chelsea Bank

At the annual meeting of Chelsea State Bank Tuesday, all directors of the Bank were re-elected. Directors are Dwight E. Beach, Dudley K. Holmes, Howard S. Holmes, Robert L. Daniels, John P. Keusch, Paul E. Mann, F. W. Merkel, and Paul G. Schaible, Jr.

President Paul E. Mann, who was also elected chairman of the board, has announced three officer promotions and three new officers, effective Jan. 15.

Paul G. Schaible, Jr. was promoted to executive vice-president and cashier; Richard J. Kern was promoted to vice-president; and Rosemary Hummel was promoted to assistant vice-president.

New officers are Daniel P. Ligeski, who joined the bank in October and was elected assistant (Continued on page three)

Wrestlers Lose to Strong Dexter Squad

"It will all be an uphill fight from here on in," was the comment of Coach Richard Bareis following his team's loss Thursday to Dexter, 35-27.

Coach Bareis called the defeat by Dexter "a critical loss for Chelsea," particularly in light of the fact that the Bulldogs must face a tough Saline team tonight (Thursday) at home.

The defeat, in the coach's characterization, was primarily a matter of Chelsea's inability to stay with Dexter in over-all performance. An injury in the 185-pound match, when Eric Prinzing suffered a dislocated shoulder and had to default the match, sealed the Bulldogs' fate.

The match began when Dave Stahl, competing at 100 pounds, was pinned in the first period. At 107 pounds, Jim Stahl lost a 5-2 match. Mike Klapperich of Dexter then pinned Kevin Kelly, but only after what Coach Bareis termed "a fine effort by Kevin."

Nick Keiser's match ended in a

5-5 draw at 121 pounds, and then Mike Agopian came back with the Bulldogs' first victory, a superior decision, 17-6. Doug Reed, wrestling at 134 pounds, then scored a 9-2 decision. At 140 pounds, Mark Pennington was pinned. (Continued on page three)

First Nurse's Aide Course At CHS Graduates Class of 8

A term full of making beds, bathing, turning, and walking patients, observing dressings, giving specimens, and absorbing 50 classroom hours of theory ended successfully Friday when eight girls graduated from Chelsea High school's first nurse's aide course.

Mrs. Annabelle Closson, course instructor, noted triumphantly that "We graduated the same eight we started with—we didn't lose a single one!" The eight, clad in nursing uniforms, received their diplomas Friday morning at a tea in the high school board room.

Of her class of eight, Mrs. Closson reports, one, Melinda Newcome, has finished high school and has been placed as a full-time aide. Two others, Dian Grant and Dawn Lakatos, are employed part-time at Chelsea United Methodist Home. Work is still being sought for two other students who wish part-time employment, Mrs. Closson said.

Five of the students are planning to continue their hospital work. (Continued on page three)

Home Meal Service Needs Assistance

A long-time service to the Chelsea community, Home Meal Service, needs some community service itself.

Chelsea's meal program, which provides one hot meal a day delivered to elderly and disabled in the area, was the first venture of its kind in Washtenaw county. When the program began in July of 1972, four people were being served; today 15 people receive meals each day and three routes are necessary to cover all of them.

The expansion of the program has, however, become a source of concern for members of the Home Meal Service Board, who note that the program's bank balance has dipped to a meager $500, $400 of which is needed as operating capital.

"Home Meal Service has only one source for operating funds—that is the community of Chelsea," explains Mrs. Mary Ann Merkel, publicity chairman for the program's board. "Although Home Meal Service was recently accepted as a member of Chelsea United Way, the $600 that the organization (Continued on page four)

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The tellers had wimmin on their hind Saturday night during the session at the country store. Actual, they were more interested in wimmin clothes after Bug took the hemline so goes the country. They was full agreed that if we got to have a second say, we can't beat the one we got, but there was some strong discussion on what they wear has got to do with how we fare.

Bug said he has lived his three score and 10, and he has seen the cycles in the economy go from out of sight up to out of sight down, and he has noticed that the hemlines follow pretty close. Back when we had the growlless evening strap, Bug said, everything was booming. When the hemline and the neckline met, the economy was hitting all the high notes, allowed Bug, and when the Great Depression stopped the country cold in her tracks, the skirts were sweeping the top of the shes.

Practical speaking, declared Bug, this is a bad time for a hemline economist. He said he had saw a ad in the paper recent about sales of wimmin clothes, and they was offering skirt lengths from "mid-thigh to calf." What's a hemline predictor to do with that, Bug wanted to know. Nowadays, a woman wears ever length of skirt she's got, but usual she'll put on a pair of britches, and Bug said he ain't figured out where the pantsuit fits in his crystal ball.

Actual, said Zeke Grubb, pants is causing other problems. Zeke said he recalled when school achers were worried that the next thing in skirt lengths would be a wider belt, but now he saw this piece where school officials are coming out strong again these ball bottom jeans that drag in the dirt. Pants with the wide cuffs is bringing mud and gravel in the classroom and making a mess of the carpet. The schools are hoping the girls will cut off their pants legs or even get back in miniskirts. Zeke said he could understand the problem, but worrying about dirty carpet in schoolhouses is a new angle in the only country in the world where folks watch their $900 color TV to learn the price of bread went up again. If we can carpet our schools, Zeke said, we can't be all bad.

Gitting back to the wimmin, Ed Doolittle recalled that when gals got caught in a wind a few years back they'd grab for their skirt. Now he said, they allus grab for their hats, and he wondered if that registered anything on Zeke's scale of economic ups and downs. Ed said it's a wonder to him why men watch ever move wimmin make, and then we pick out a wife by light we can't see how to eat by.

General speaking, Mister Editor, I think folks in this country just try to git some reasoning behind their worrying. I saw where some Government economist said Americans were worrying unduly, and then a hole panel of experts studied how much worrying is duly.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

What's Cooking In Michigan

By Larrestine Trimm
Michigan Dept. of Agriculture
Marketing Information Specialist

If you're thinking of more economical dishes, think onions. Pricewise, onions have been one of the few stable foods on the marketplace in recent months, according to Marketing officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Michigan is fifth nationally in onion production. Most of the crop is grown in late summer, stored after harvest and shipped to the rest of the country and Europe in winter. Largest commercial crops are grown in Allegan, Ottawa and Newaygo counties.

Onions are perhaps most popular used as a condiment to add vigor and flavor to main dishes. But for a thrifty, savory dish, try using them as a main vegetable.

Think of onions as an accompaniment to roast beef. Whole onions can be cooked in boiling salted water for 15 to 30 minutes, depending on size. For creamed onions, simply add a white sauce, or top with buttered bread crumbs and grated cheese for scalloped onions.

For a tempting casserole treat, cook three cups small onions in salted water for ten minutes. Drain and put them in a baking dish. Mix together one-third cup honey, 1/2 cup catsup and 1 1/2 tablespoons butter. Pour over the onions and bake in a 350 degree oven, basting occasionally. Uncover during last 15 minutes if too juicy. Recipe serves six.

Like green onions? Try mixing one tablespoon, chopped, with half cup of soft butter. Form into a roll and chill. Slice into thin circles and serve on canapés, cutlets, steaks and baked potatoes.

Area Democrats Elect Four to Exec. Committee

Washtenaw VI Democratic Executive Committee, representing Washtenaw County Democrats of the 6th Congressional District, elected four new members at their second meeting Jan. 14 in Dexter.

New members are Frances Gordenier, Dexter; Dan Murphy, Sylvan township; Leonard Solomon, Chelsea; and Maureen Walz, Scio township.

Election of the four brings the committee to its full membership of 13. Candidates for county-wide office in the November election are automatically also members of the committee.

Washtenaw county's 6th Congressional District Democrats plan to have joint conventions with 2nd Congressional District Democrats of Washtenaw county, but each group will have separate voting, roll calls, and monthly meetings.

Next meeting of Washtenaw VI is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 11 at 7:30 p.m., at the Ann Arbor Bank and Trust Building in Dexter. All interested Democrats in the district are welcome to attend.

The committee may be reached at P.O. Box 235, Chelsea 48118, or by telephone at 475-1873 or 665-3804.

Publicity is usually the result of some work by the recipient.

A Fresh Start

Don't just give Michigan's state departments what they're already getting—plus a percentage. Start from zero and work up to complete and new workable budget.

That's what new House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, advocates for the coming fiscal year.

The "zero-budget" concept is a far cry from current practices, which involve planning for built-in increases because of inflation as well as additions for new programs.

The proposed new procedure, Crim says, "would guarantee that no state department or branch of government would automatically be funded at a level about what it received during the last fiscal year—nor that its proposed new programs will be accepted without question."

"It's not too hard to believe there are some programs in state departments which are unproductive," Crim says. "What we want to do is make them justify each and every program."

A demand for quarterly reports to the legislature—detailing how what money is working in which program—would go along with the zero-budget idea.

Wouldn't that cost extra money, in terms of department time and personnel? Crim says it shouldn't, that providing easily understood reports every three months should take less time and effort than working up "the goofed-up," some-

Good news for anxious lady bar patrons. The pay toilet will be a thing of the past as of March 1 in any place licensed to sell liquor for consumption on the premises in Michigan.

Easy for Deer

Michigan's relative lack of snow thus far this winter is proving easy on the deer herds, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

"Quite mild" is the way the department describes the 1973-74 winter. And, it says, a winter severity index—using snow depth, temperatures and wind chill factors—shows that through last month the deer had a winter about half as harsh as the previous year.

Deer are said to be ranging widely in the Upper Peninsula, and are "moving freely" in the northern Lower Peninsula.

Governor Asks Disaster Area Designation

Gov William G. Milliken has asked U. S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to designate 13 Michigan counties disaster areas.

A combination of natural disasters—including a cold, wet spring, drought followed by excessive rainfall in some areas and an early freeze—have caused serious crop losses, totaling at least $272,253,323 in at least 36 Michigan counties, Milliken said.

He applied for disaster designations for 23 of those counties last month, and said he expects to apply for more as more information is received.

The federal disaster designations would make farmers eligible for low-interest loans.

"Great hardship is being experienced by the farmers of the state as a result of severe weather conditions," Milliken said in the letter to Butz. "Agriculture credit in Michigan is critical and the availability of these loans is important to the continuation of many of these producers."

Losses in the current list of 13 counties totaled $90,347,387. The previously reported losses totaled $181,905,936.

Counties on the current list include Washtenaw, 30 potential loans totaling $12,590,000, and Livingston with 200 potentials totaling $3,744,195.

Wrestler of the Week

WRESTLER OF THE WEEK, as chosen by Coach Richard Bels, is Captain Darryl West, who after Thursday's pin victory over Dexter at 147 pounds now carries a 20-2 record with 16 pins to his credit. Darryl has finished third in the state for the past two years, and will have a chance to avenge one of his losses tonight, as he will face tough Marc Kohler of Saline.

Default By Injury Costs Meet...

(Continued from page one) Captain Darryl West then closed the match score to 23-15 with a victory at 147 pounds, and Tim Bels brought Chelsea within grabbing distance, 23-21, with a quick pin. The Bulldogs lagged behind again, 28-21, when Dennis Bauer was pinned at 169 pounds. Things looked brighter as Eric Prinzing seemed to be defeating his opponent, 5-2 but then suffered his injury. He was forced to default the match. At heavyweight, Kermit Sharp came through with a pin victory.

bination for the game—Randy Musbach, Jack Hackworth, Dave Alber, Rick Sweeney, and Randy Davis. Bulldogs began to take command in the third quarter, outscoring Lincoln, 15-10, to take a 47-43 lead.

A final burst in the fourth quarter in which they outscored the Railsplitters, 27-18, brought home the Bulldogs' sixth Southeastern Conference victory.

In addition to Alber's 30 points, high-scoring Bulldogs were Rick Sweeney, who hit for 15, Jack Hackworth with 13, and Gary Wonders with seven. Also scoring were Randy Guenther (four); Randy Musbach (three); and Randy Davis (two).

Coach Balistrere praised Dave Alber's efforts in the contest, calling the game "Dave's best game of the year scoring-wise, and a fine job defensively, too."

Rick Sweeney, who earned runner-up scoring honors for the Bulldogs, again "performed well for us on the boards," according to the coach. Sweeney pulled down the team-high of seven rebounds.

Jack Hackworth earned the coach's praise for his 13 points after coming off the bench. Jack came in and sparked us with 13 points and lots of hustle and desire."

Coach Balistrere also directed good words to Randy Musbach, who replaced ailing Gary Wonders and did "a fine job. Randy's hustle and defensive effort were a key factor for us in the second quarter," the coach noted. Wonders, a flu victim according to Balistrere, "came in and played sporadically for us—but he really settled us down in the fourth quarter and got us moving again."

Randy Davis, subbing for center Ron Kiel, played most of the game and again performed well for the Bulldogs, hauling down five rebounds, stealing twice from the Railsplitters, and scoring a field goal.

Junior guard Randy Guenther, who started this contest, "turned in a good game for us," according to Balistrere. Guenther was good for four points and three rebounds. Earning particular praise from the pleased coach was the final combination to whom he largely gave credit for the win—Musbach, Hackworth, Alber, Sweeney, and Davis. "It was through their press efforts that we got back into the game," Balistrere stated, complimenting the group's fine defensive effort and hustle.

"I'll admit that we didn't play well early in the game," Coach Balistrere reported, "but I was really pleased with the win. Our experience in playing under pressure after Tuesday's game particularly (against Parma Western)—gave us the incentive to come back."

"Defensively, too, we toughened up after the first part of the game, and I'm certain that defense was a very key factor in this win," Balistrere noted, "especially so in the second and third quarters."

Foul shooting in this contest, the coach added, "was extraordinarily good"—a 24-for-35 effort for a percentage of 74.

In stressing the "teamwork" aspect of his squad, Coach Balistrere also recognized the "fine enthusiasm during the game and team spirit that has been an added credit to the Bulldogs all year" and mentioned Ron Kiel, Tom Hafer, Bill Rademacher, Steve Lyerla, Dave Watson, and Rick Robbins in his praise.

Bulldogs, now 10-2 over-all and 6-2 in the SEC, will travel to Novi Friday night.

Cager of the Week

JACK HACKWORTH, back in action after suffering a knee injury during the football season, started his first basketball game of the year Tuesday night in recognition of his fine 13-point performance against Lincoln Friday. Jack, a two-year veteran of both Chelsea basketball and football, hopes to "play ball at some small college" after graduation from Chelsea High school. Outcome of the current cage season, Jack says, will depend largely upon this week's match-up between Milan and Saline. "But whatever happens, we're going to end up with a really good record—we're 11-2 now—and we'll finish in the top three for sure." Coach Tom Balistrere calls Hackworth's "spirit, enthusiasm, hustle, and team leadership a very strong asset for us since he's returned." The son of Duane and Maxine Gullett, he has one sister, Kitty.

Nurse's Aides Class...

pital oriented careers, the instructor said proudly. Two of her students have been accepted into nursing programs at Eastern Michigan University, she noted; another plans to attend the licensed, practical nurse program at Washtenaw Community College; and two others are indefinite on schools but certain they wish to continue.

Included in the course of the one-semester class was a total of 80 classroom hours of theory—the "how and why" of the aide's duties, stressing the actual mechanical workings of the body—and 90 hours of clinical sessions allowing students to work in actual hospital situations at the Chelsea Community Hospital and Chelsea United Methodist Home.

A high point of the program, according to Mrs. Closson, was the final two months, when the eight students rotated through the various floors observing procedures, including x-ray, pharmacy, surgery, occupational, recreational, and physical therapy, laboratories, and electrocardiogram units.

Special programs included in the course of the semester included a panel of representatives of health careers to expose students to both college and non-college careers in health fields, and a final-week visit to the Kenny Rehabilitation Foundation stressing long-term care for stroke and paralysis patients. For this term, however, Mrs.

Closson reports that only three students have enrolled in the course, not enough to continue it. "We need six people—but no more than eight. I think maybe that people might have thought, since we could only take eight people, that they wouldn't get it any way and didn't sign up. Kids, sign up! We have room," she exclaims.

She points out that a similar course for nurse's aides, offered through adult education at Ma-ygrove College, charges $75 for a 10-week program that features a pair of two and one-half hour sessions per week. "And they only use lecture and demonstration, too—no clinical," Mrs. Closson says, obviously preferring her own program.

CLAFF OF THE WEEK

NORTH ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NOTES

THIRD GRADE—

Teacher: Mrs. Lawver

The class was really excited on Monday morning when they learned from their substitute teacher, Mrs. Mary Ann Rader, that Mrs. Lawver had a baby boy, Chad Cristofor, on Saturday, Jan. 18, who weighed 7 lbs. 6 ozs.

The class made their own cards congratulating Mrs. Lawver and sent them to the hospital.

Mrs. Rader will be taking Mrs. Lawver's place until she returns in about six weeks.

Teacher: Miss Sanders

In Miss Sanders' 3rd grade, we have been studying about solids, liquids, and gases in science. It is very interesting and we found out that water can be in any of the three forms. We have done lots of science experiments—one of them we burned some sugar and our room smelled like toasted marshmallows. In math we have been learning about lines, rays, and planes. Geometry is fun but really different from addition or subtraction. We made a whole bulletin board picture using circles, squares, triangles, and rectangles. In social studies we are learning about the Mississippi River—our longest river. One of the cities along the mighty Mississippi is Minneapolis. The nickname for Minneapolis is "The Bread and Butter City" because they make lots of milk and flour products there. In our classroom we made some butter—but instead of putting it on bread, we put it on popcorn. It tasted great.

Miss Sanders took Butterball, our guinea pig, home for awhile because she was getting too nervous in the classroom. She seems to be getting better now and might be back in our room on Monday. We hope so.

Teacher: Mr. Smith

In Mr. Smith's 3rd grade, we decided that our pet chameleon was lonely so we got her a friend to live with. We now have two chameleons and two gerbils. We have been doing some creative writing this week about ourselves, telling what is different about me or what makes me different from everyone else. We also drew a picture of what we felt we looked like, it was hard to do, but it was fun. Mr. Smith even wrote a story about himself, too.

We all had fine Christmas vacations and are now hard at work back in school. We are taking an imaginary boat trip, down the Mississippi River, all the way from its beginning, to its end. We are all looking forward to a good report card.

See you next time.

FOURTH GRADE—

Teacher: Mrs. Schmidt
Reporter: Brent Martin

The girls have a gym class on Monday after school from 3:30 to 4:30; the boys have one on Tuesday after school from 3:30 to 4:30. Mrs. Pietila leads the girls and Mr. Wehrwein leads the boys.

We have been studying Africa. Brent Martin made a map of Africa and hung it up on the bulletin board. Everyone made a report on a country in Africa. After that they read it to the class and hung it up on the bulletin board and strung yarn from the report to the location of their country on the map.

We have a new girl in our class, Tracy Young. She has a brother in 1st grade. The Youngs came from Okemos.

Our guinea pig died Saturday. We thank Dr. Lane for trying to help Buttons, our guinea pig. The birthday this month in our class is Tom Spencer.

Teacher: Mrs. Hafer
Reporters: Tiffany Taylor,
Jane Verway, and Susan Ford.

We are studying Africa and soon we will be making sawdust masks. We have put up a chart for our "times" tables for 2 through 12's. The following finished them: Susan Ford, Tiffany Taylor, Any Hume, Bill Hanna, Mike Galbraith and Steve Ramsey.

We are making science books. We have worked about a month on it. We are working on division in math and are learning new math games that Mrs. Hafer has made. We have been having a lot of substitutes. We have had about two spelling bees this year.

Girls Begin Volleyball Competition

Chelsea High school's first girls volleyball squad has lost their opening two games in league competition, falling to both Lincoln and Saline in three games.

In the opening match with Lincoln, the girls took the first contest, 15-7, but fell in the remaining two by identical 7-15 scores. The Saline match-up proved to be close with the team losing the opener, 11-15, but coming back 17-15 before losing in the final, 10-15.

Junior varsity volleyballers also have suffered a pair of defeats, to Lincoln in a pair of games, 7-15 and 13-15, and to Saline after winning the opener, 15-13, and then losing the next two, 8-15, and 2-15.

Coach Cheryl Turner explains for the benefit of spectators that "volleyball rules have changed within the last 10 years to what is now referred to as 'power volleyball.'" The basic difference, in the game is in the way the ball is hit, Coach Turner explains.

A ball may never be hit with a flat open hand (the palm); it must be played by using either a fist or the finger tips. If the ball is hit below the waist, it must be hit off the player's forearms or fists.

A game consists of 15 points or eight minutes. The game must be won by at least two points, with teams playing matches consisting of winning two out of three games.

Chelsea's season includes five matches and league double elimination tournament. League championship is then determined by a total number of points awarded, according to the number of matches won before the tournament (which count half of the total) and the other half awarded according to where the team finishes in the league tournament.

Varsity team members include Brenda Augustine, Lola Augustine, Marie Fahrner, Mary Kay Harr, Denise Kilpatrick, Jane Knott, Karen Ottoman, Carol Schirrmacher, Sue Schulze, Sue Skittenhelm, and Karen Tobin.

NEW YORK & RATS

New York—A team of Health Department exterminators, using an acutely toxic poison that causes death by choking, launched a war against an army of "super rats" plaguing a section of New York.

Legion Post Receives State Citation

American Legion Post 31 of Chelsea has been awarded a citation of appreciation from Charles E. Lawson, state commander of the Department of Michigan in recognition and appreciation for its contributions to American Legion programs "dedicated to God and country."

The citation, citing the Post's "outstanding service and assistance contributing to the advancement of American Legion programs and activities," for 1973-74 was presented by the Children and Youth Committee of the state organization.

March of Dimes Events...

menschilder, special projects chairman, boys will be stationed in the Main St. area, and tentatively at Polly's, Jiffy Market, and Rick's Market. Headquarters for the sale will be at the former Buick showroom (Longworth Plating Co.) on N. Main St.

Friday scouts will be peddling their wares from 6 to 8 p.m. and Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Riemschneider noted also that she is currently planning what she calls a "three-in-one" sale, including rummage, baked goods, and home-made craft items—for March 8 at Sylvan Town Hall. She expects to be contacting local organizations soon for contributions, she said, and hopes that local residents will be saving their rummage for the March of Dimes cause.

Also scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 1, is the annual March of Dimes Luncheon and Fashion Show, to be held this year at Weber's Inn on Jackson Rd. in Ann Arbor.

Cocktail hour at 12 noon will precede the luncheon and fashion show, which begin at 1 p.m. Theme of the show is "Ports of Call." Tickets to the event are $12.

Meals Program Needs Help...

tion is eligible to receive will not be available until later in the year.

Meals cost each recipient $1.40 daily, Mrs. Merkel explains; however, four people served by the program who are unable to pay are supplemented by program funds, which costs Home Meal Service $107.75 per month, or $1,293 per year.

Veterinarians Attend Conference at MSU

New surgical procedures and other innovations to further animal health were featured Jan. 21 and 22 at a Michigan State University medical conference attended by two Chelsea veterinarians.

Dr. Wilfred Lane and Dr. Art Tremper, 636 N. Main, were among more than 300 professionals participating in the 52nd annual post-graduate conference sponsored by MSU's College of Veterinary Medicine.

Fifty topic areas, from acupuncture for horses to abdominal radiology for cats, were presented in seminars, clinical demonstrations and case presentations. Discussions also included the changing status of veterinary medical student admissions, an overview of the MSU College of Osteopathic Medicine, and medical experiences in the recent Arab-Israeli war.

The fear of competition explains much that happens in business, politics and life in general.

In addition, donations have declined considerably during the past six months, a fact which has helped to leave the program's bank balance at its anemic level.

Mrs. Merkel reports that Home Meal Service also continues to have problems attracting drivers, a perennial chore for the group since it's necessary to have 20 to 24 volunteer drivers per week to deliver meals to all the routes. Drivers generally deliver meals only one day per week.

"Board members feel that most Chelsea residents would like to see this service continued and expanded as needed," Mrs. Merkel said. "We're asking the community to respond to the program's needs, which are both service and monetary."

Volunteer drivers are asked to contact Ann Steinaway for more information at 475-2923; monetary donations may be made to Mrs. Helen Pearson, 725 W. Middle St.

Letters to the Editor

To the editor:

There will be an open house for all Chelsea people to talk about activities and services needed for our young people. A group of concerned people have met twice to organize these activities and services, but many more volunteers are needed. We need people of all ages to help implement programs for our young people. The open house will be Feb. 1 at 1 p.m. at 140 Park St. Cheryl and Dan Spector.

Beach Musicians Will Compete in District Festival

Beach Middle school 7th and 8th grade musicians, both strings and band, will participate Saturday in District 12 Solo and Ensemble Festival competition at Henry Ford Community College.

Approximately 75 students will be entered in the festival, according to Band Director Ronald Harris. Junior high-level solo and ensemble festivals are roughly the same as senior high school events, Harris said, except that there is no competition at the state level for junior high bands, members.

Monday night bands members were judged in their own festival, for Beach bands only, at the middle school, and "did quite well," according to Harris.

Environmental Impact Study Issued on Park

Bureau of Outdoor Recreation's draft environmental impact statement for the proposed Mill Creek Metro Park has been released to "evaluate the environmental aspects of acquiring and developing 3,501 acres of land for intensive, multiple-use, day-time recreation focused around a 618-acre impoundment to be created on Mill Creek."

Copies of the draft statement for the controversial park are available for public inspection at McKune Memorial Library in Chelsea and at the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, 3853 Research Park Dr., Ann Arbor.

Comments on the statement, concerning inadequacies or errors, must be submitted to the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation by March 2.

There're two things that lead to error: a speaker with a loud voice and one with deep emotion.

A CHILLING EXPERIENCE

Present methods of chilling beef carcasses can cause substantial toughness, according to Michigan State University food scientists. Preliminary work shows slower chilling could reduce muscle shortening and result in meat from thinner carcasses becoming equal in quality to meat from fatter animals. The experts hope to conduct further studies to confirm this early evidence.

Jan. 28 meeting of Chelsea Child Study Club was held at St. Mary school gym for instruction in Karate by Nick Palise, a black belt instructor who operates a karate school in Dearborn. Palise and his assistant discussed and demonstrated methods of self-defense by the use of karate moves women can use for their own protection. Club members and guests then practiced several basic moves of karate.

A brief business meeting followed at the home of Marge Bequiment. Reports by treasurer Helen Thomas and secretary Mariar Sprague were presented. Sandy Weber, finance representative, discussed the committee's plans for distributions of funds to Spaulding for Children and McKune Memorial Library.

President Diane Borton announced the 1975 membership drive of the Chelsea Area Historical Society is currently in progress. A garage sale is scheduled for the society in March.

Thank you's for secret pals followed.

Eleven members, three associates, and two guests, Julie Chapman and Marty Neumeier, enjoyed dessert served by co-hostesses Ruth Guenther and Sandy Weber.

Next meeting on Feb. 11 will be entitled "So That's the Way I Am," and will be held at the home of Shirley Chapman. Mrs. Robert Paul will speak on astrology, and will discuss charts of previously-selected club members. Guests are welcome at this meeting.

Woman's Club Members Enjoy Japanese Tea

Twenty-five members of the Woman's Club of Chelsea met at the Village Bakery Tuesday evening, which underwent a transformation into a Japanese tea room.

Authentic Japanese decorations, lamps, and prints, and objects of art created an oriental atmosphere. 18th century music of Japan provided background.

Mrs. Louis Burghardt and Mrs. Edmund Kayser demonstrated the art of working with a wok. Various exotic vegetables and chicken were used in the stir-fry method to provide the members with delicious samples.

Seated at small tables decorated with bonsai trees and chop sticks, the women were also served sake and Japanese tea and orange ginger dessert, accompanied by almond cookies.

Mrs. Burghardt showed slides taken on her recent trip to Japan.

Arrangements for the evening were made by Mrs. Albert Werdehoff, Mrs. Edmund Kayser, Mrs. Louis Burghardt, Mrs. LeRoy Hoffman, and Mrs. Gifford Johnson.

At a short business meeting, members were reminded that the next regular meeting will be the annual Valentine tea at the Chelsea Methodist Home on Feb. 11 at 2:30 p.m. Each member is asked to contribute two dozen cookies, which may be left at Strieter's store or brought to the tea.

THE WISE WOMAN at Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service is Mrs. Katie Chapman, pictured above, a Chelsea woman who credits her early life on a farm and years of "listening and learning" at the Extension Service, as the source of her sage advice to area residents plagued by animal life of all sorts.

Mrs. Chapman Has Answers For Extension Service Calls

Mrs. Katie Chapman, probably well-remembered to those who have sought her advice in the nearly-25 years she's been employed at the Washtenaw County Co-operative Extension Service, was used as an authority of sorts several weeks ago in an article in The Detroit News' Sunday magazine.

The article, with the rather tongue-twisting title of "Put On a Real Chicken-Pluckin', Chicken Eatin' Chow-Down," used Mrs. Chapman as the source of all knowledge for a group of city folks on how to pluck, dress out, and otherwise completely prepare 50 chickens for eating or freezing.

A call to Mrs. Chapman reveals that the Co-operative Extension Service, and she in particular, have been used for much more exciting adventures than that.

Take the time a woman called the office, frantic because a squirrel had somehow managed to be running around in her basement. "It keeps running around down there," Mrs. Chapman quoted the complainant.

As the voice of the Extension Service, Mrs. Chapman informed the woman sensibly that a logical solution to the problem would be to find an exit that the squirrel could use. "Is there a door that leads directly into the cellar?" Mrs. Chapman queried.

The woman replied that, indeed, there was, but that the squirrel wouldn't leave. "Just open the door, and when it sees the door while it's running around, it will eventually go out," Mrs. Chapman advised.

She did, and the squirrel, eventually, took his leave. "I never would have thought of that," the complainant told Mrs. Chapman on a subsequent call.

Another woman, alarmed by her dog barking consistently at a cupboard door, opened the door to find a snake. A quick consultation with Mrs. Chapman at the Extension Service yielded a suggestion that she open the cupboard and sweep the snake out onto the linoleum in the kitchen floor.

"I can't do that," Mrs. Chapman remembers her exclaiming.

After Mrs. Chapman's explanation, however, that linoleum would provide no traction for the snake, and thus it couldn't move, the woman tried the suggestion. She swept the beast out into her floor, then outside.

"And I told her that she should have all the cracks in her house caulked up real soon," Mrs. Chapman remembers. "She lived in an old schoolhouse—I guessed that she lived in an old place before she even told me, and the snake had just crawled in through one of the holes to get warm."

Harried homeowners aren't the only ones with problems, however, Mrs. Chapman says. Employees of the University of Michigan have been known to consult the Extension Service for advice. One that Mrs. Chapman recalls was an opossum trapped in a window well: "I just told them to stick a board in there, and that 'possum would walk out," she remembers. "And so it did."

There are the minor problems, too, like squirrels and other small animals running around in attics, or woodpeckers pecking at sides of houses (that one took some special seal to cover the insects lodged in the home's redwood side), but Mrs. Chapman says that basically her answers are simply practical and sensible ones that come from her beginnings on a farm, and her long years of "listening and learning" at the Extension Service.

"I may write a book some day, when I retire," she predicts. She certainly has material enough for starters.

Cut Baking Costs By Using Less Sugar

If you're a cookie baker, try cutting down on the amount of sugar the recipe calls for.

"Cut down the amount of sugar each time you bake, until you reach the point where your family still enjoys them and the dough is still easy to handle," suggests University Extension food specialist. "Remember though, they won't be the same as with the original recipe," she adds.

Don't omit sugar completely in your baked goods. Sugar is needed to make the product brown and tender and is necessary for flavor.

Over-all Decrease in Crime Shown in Village Police Report

An announcement that doesn't come too often for any village town, city, or megalopolis came from Chief of Police George Meranuck last Tuesday at the Village Council meeting: over-all crime in the village of Chelsea declined in 1974 by four percent.

Chief Meranuck says that it is bad policy generally to deal in percentages when discussing Chelsea crime. "You might have two in something, where last year there weren't any, so you come up with an increase of 200 percent. So I usually just talk about increases or decreases in numbers."

In numbers, reported crime decreased by 10 in the village, to 242. That included decreases in the areas of assaults, breaking and entering (both business and homes), entering without permission, and narcotic cases.

Assaults decreased by four, from 19 in 1973 to 15 during the past year. While breaking and entering of businesses declined by only two over the past year, from 17 to 15, breaking and entering of dwellings was slashed by more than half, from a total of eight in 1973 to three last year.

Total larcenies fell below the 100-mark, to 96, for the first time since 1971, when the total was 104. Total for 1973 was 111.

Bad check complaints dropped by two during the past year, from 24 to 22. Narcotic cases were cut nearly in half, from a total of 15 in 1973 to eight the past year. In all, total written complaints by the department fell from 778 to 722, the Chief said. "Written complaints" encompasses all areas not generally defined as crime, such as lost and found articles, family arguments in which no actual charge is filed, and so on.

Areas experiencing no change in reported numbers in 1974 from 1973 were those of armed robbery, attempted breaking and entering, and auto theft.

Armed robbery remained at a single report, after the high total so far for the 1970's was reached in 1972, with two. A single report was also filed in both 1973 and 1974 for attempted breaking and entering, after two years of totals of two (1971) and three (1972). Auto thefts remained steady at seven, after a peak for the decade, thus far, was reached in 1972, with 10.

Only major increases in the village's crime reports showed in the area of malicious damage of property, which rose by 20 cases to 67 in 1974. The village also reported two homicides, (the double murder of the Schnaidt girls) up from none for the past four years, and an attempted rape, also an increase from zero for the past four years. Breaking and entering of coin machines and the like, a practice previously uncomplicated, had two reported incidents.

Moving violations by motor vehicles in the village declined by 90, from 44 in 1973 to 352 in 1974, but tickets for parking and meters increased by 233 and 446, respectively.

Accidents, which had increased by nearly 20 each year since 1970, recorded only eight more reports in 1974 than 1973, despite a heavy accident toll in December.

Figures showed that 99 adults were arrested during the year, a decrease of some 28, and 46 juveniles, an increase of 16.

Volunteers are also currently being sought to provide instruction in drum and guitar, and possibly other areas and crafts, for interested young people.

Mrs. Katy Harat, OEO director for Chelsea, has also approached the county OEO for funding for three community aides and a receptionist for her agency, to allow her to better provide for the needs of the community. More assistance would be particularly necessary, Mrs. Harat notes, if the OEO house comes in use as an activity center. And, she notes, a local volunteer to work Saturdays at the OEO would be a blessing.

Residents interested in concerns of the sort already discussed, or with their own ideas about what should be done for youth in the area, are welcome to attend Saturday's meeting.

Band Boosters To Discuss Camp Committee Report

A special meeting of Chelsea Band Boosters is scheduled for tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in the high school band room to discuss the findings of the band camp committee, says Band Director Warren Mayer.

Mayer says that he hopes that the group can decide tonight on a new band camp for the high school band members, since "now is the time when we have to start making deposits for the summer."

All interested members are asked to attend this meeting.

Discussion

Set on Young People's Needs

A meeting billed as an "open house for all Chelsea people to talk about activities and services needed for our young people" is scheduled for this Saturday, Feb. 1, at 1 p.m. at the Office of Economic Opportunity at 140 Park St.

Last week's meeting, which was rather sparsely attended by one representative each from Chelsea Social Services, Office of Economic Opportunity, Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Police Support Unit, Chelsea Police Department, five interested area residents, and a group of eight youths currently meeting as a club in the OEO house, discussed primarily the need for and approaches to organization of a crisis center-hotline arrangement for Chelsea.

The group has tentatively decided to train either two or three volunteers with the help of the Washtenaw Community Mental Health Center for work in the crisis center.

Volunteers are also currently being sought to provide instruction in drum and guitar, and possibly other areas and crafts, for interested young people.

Mrs. Katy Harat, OEO director for Chelsea, has also approached the county OEO for funding for three community aides and a receptionist for her agency, to allow her to better provide for the needs of the community. More assistance would be particularly necessary, Mrs. Harat notes, if the OEO house comes in use as an activity center. And, she notes, a local volunteer to work Saturdays at the OEO would be a blessing.

Residents interested in concerns of the sort already discussed, or with their own ideas about what should be done for youth in the area, are welcome to attend Saturday's meeting.

CORRECTION

An obituary in last week's issue of The Standard contained an error in citing the ancestry of Howard Congdon. Mr. Congdon was in fact the grandson of Charles and Harriet Maria Manning Congdon, a brother of Elisha and James Congdon, the founders of Chelsea, and not the great-grandson of Elisha Congdon, as was stated. The Standard regrets the error.

President Ford has pronounced inflation as a "deadly long-range enemy" and asked Congress to act immediately on his budget-cutting and employment-aid programs.

1975 Autos Still Rate As 'Good Buy'

"The 1975 Cars—Still a Good Buy" is the theme of Automobile Club of Michigan's January Motor News, which is devoted to pointing out that new autos take less from the pay check than 10 years ago and get better gas mileage, pollute less and require less maintenance than many earlier models.

The front cover of the magazine now in the hands of 1.6 million Michigan AAA members graphically demonstrates that although the cost of cars has risen 46 percent since 1967, new homes, food and medical care costs are up even more dramatically.

The magazine, geared to help restore consumer confidence in the new car market, states that while the cost of living has gone up 51.9 percent since 1967, the hourly wage has risen 68.5 percent.

Motor News points out that persons attending the 1975 Detroit Auto Show at Cobo Hall Jan. 11-19 who put the cost of a new auto in proper perspective will not only find a 1975-model car a bargain, but buyers of those new models will help give a badly sagging economy a much needed shot in the arm.

Compared with the cost of rent—a staggering 131.4 percent in the past eight years—car costs have remained relatively stable in comparison. Motor News adds that the average worker now needs five months' pay to buy a four-door, full-size car as compared with six months' pay a decade ago.

Psychologically, the automobile market in this country is in deep trouble. Motor News adds. General Motors' chief economist tells Motor News readers that the number one factor is a complete lack of confidence, since the buyer has been buffeted by inflation, particularly in food and fuel bills.

"Soaring home, utility and grocery expenses touch an extremely sensitive public nerve," Motor News states, "and of even greater concern is employment security. The media are deluged with lay-off stories which are sapping consumer confidence."

Although new car prices are at the highest plateau in history, Motor News points out. Cost of a home is up 70 percent, food and medical costs are up 63 percent since 1967 and in the past 12 months, cost of gasoline has gone up 12 percent. And most notable in recent months, sugar prices have risen 400 percent.

"Yet auto analysts are nearly unanimous in their belief that price is not the chief culprit in the current auto sales slump," the article continues, "Although price is a factor, people just haven't taken the time to study the whole price structure."

The '75 models are not only a good buy from the standpoint of price, states Motor News. Lower operating and maintenance costs, improved gasoline mileage and lowered pollution also add to their attractiveness.

Fuel consumption should be a compelling factor in the purchase of a 1975 model. The introduction of the catalytic converter, while it has added to the total cost of the car by perhaps $150, will more than make up for that expense through better mileage.

Mileage on the '75's is 10 to 15 percent better than on previous models, Motor News states, and catalytic converters eliminate around 10 percent of the unburned hydrocarbons and about 14 percent of the carbon monoxide from auto exhaust, as compared to the uncontrolled cars of the 1960's.

In addition to better fuel economy and reduction of pollutants, there are many maintenance factors that make the '75's a good buy.

Improvements in extending periods between oil and filter changes, longer spark plug life and longer tire life will save 1975-model owners money. Motor News estimates that savings will range from $145 up to $690 based on five years and 60,000 miles of operation.

Steel-belted radial tires can cut tire replacement by 30 percent during 60,000 miles of driving.

Electronic ignition systems which have spread to more cars in 1975 means there are no points or condenser to replace and frequency of tuneups has been decreased.

When one notes all those improvements, considers that hourly wages are up 22 percent higher than new car prices, then realizes that there never has been a stronger used car market, making trade-ins worth more, today really is a good time to buy a new car, Motor News advises.

A person who wants a new car and negotiates carefully, knowing that he has a valuable asset in his present car, can make a remarkably good deal, states an article, "Today's Cars—Still a Good Buy."

The publication even includes an article by the man who for eight years has been the top automobile salesman in the country. He advises prospective buyers what to look for, what to do and what not to do when shopping and how to get the best possible dollar value.

Federal Screw Works Offers Employee Bonus On New Car or Truck

Girl Scout Enrollment Increases This Year in Huron Valley Area

Enrollment in Girl Scouting here is up 10.8 percent over a year ago, it was announced today by Mrs. Jo Stevens, executive director of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. Dec. 31 enrollment was 12,064, 1,176 Girl Scouts more than the 1973 total of 10,888.

Enrollment at all age groups was up, with the largest percentage increase in Senior Girl Scouts, the high school group, this grew by 47 percent, climbing from 216 girls a year ago to 317 now. Total numbers of Brownies (age 6 to 8) were up 20.6 percent; Junior Girl Scouts (ages 9 to 12) up 1.3 percent, and Cadettes (ages 13 to 15) up 5.9 percent. In all, 5,472 Brownies, 4,972 Juniors, and 1,303 Cadettes have registered this year.

"Nationally youth groups have experienced dropping enrollments over the past few years," Mrs. Stevens commented. "That's why we are particularly gratified to see this growth in our Girl Scout Council. We believe that girls and parents are rediscovering the wonderful opportunities for community service, outdoor experiences, and personal growth which Girl Scouting offers."

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, a United Way service, is organized into 598 troops, 116 more than a year ago, with a corresponding increase in the number of adult troop leaders. Today 2,638 adults are volunteering their time to the Huron Valley Council as troop leaders, assistant leaders, members of troop committees, resource people and Council committee members.

Mrs. Stevens credits much of the membership growth to the volunteer administrators, troop services directors. "For the first time in six years, we have almost a full complement of more than 100 troop services directors," she said. "In the past, we have regularly had one-third of these positions vacant. These women are the ones who, with the help of professional staff, have recruited leaders and girls, organized troops, and have worked to gain greater retention of members."

Over the past year, the total girl population in the Huron Valley Council area has stayed fairly constant, according to Mrs. Stevens. School statistics show that while Ypsilanti school enrollment declined approximately four percent, Livingston county had a comparable growth, and Ann Arbor remained the same.

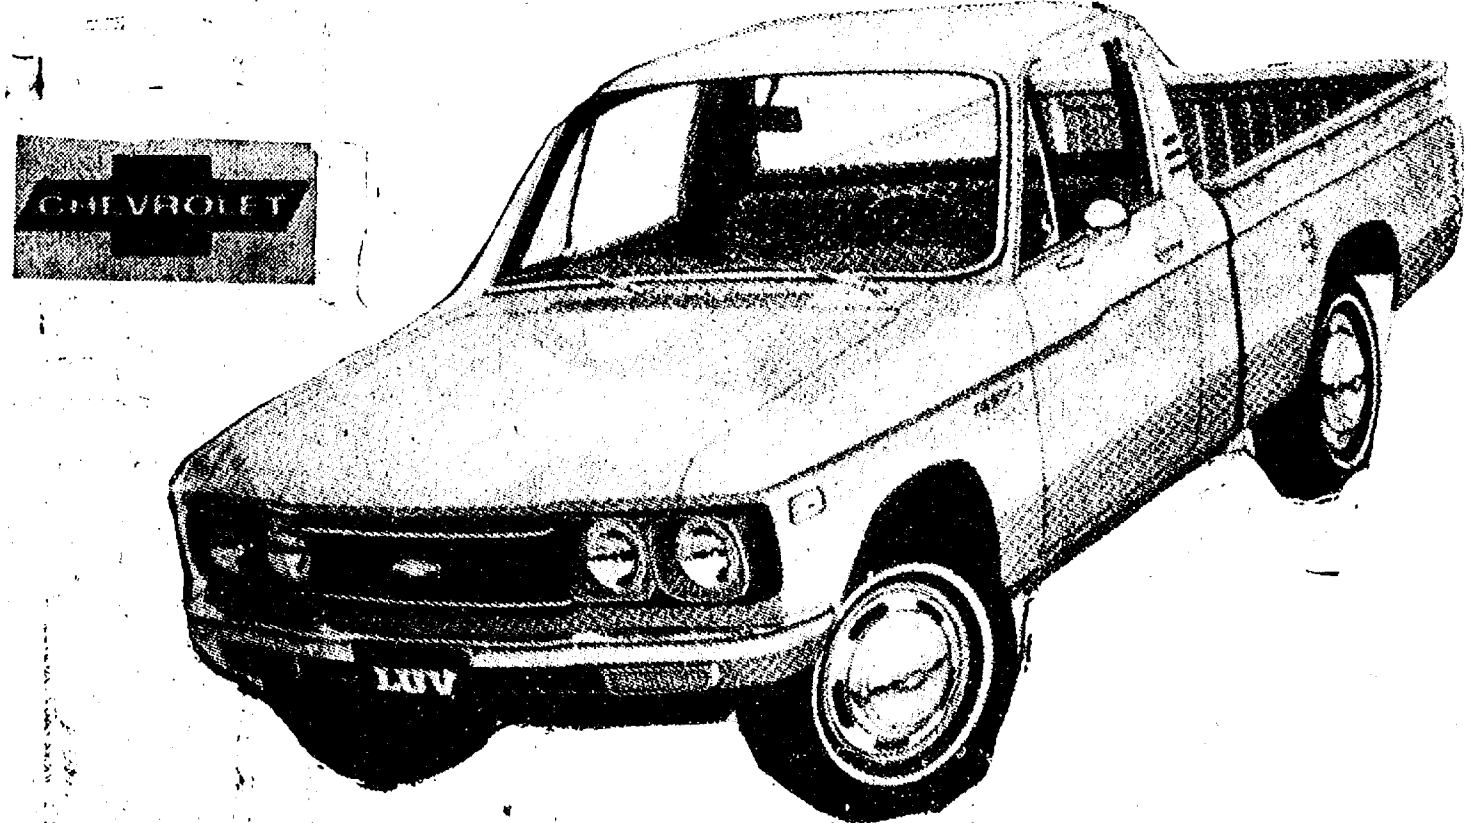

Of the seven geographic areas served by the local Council, Livingston county showed the greatest percentage increase in girl enrollment, 31.8 percent to 1,405 girls. This was followed by Southern Wayne county (Belleville, Rock and Romulus) up 14.2 percent to 1,768 girls; Plymouth-Northville area, up 11.5 percent to 1,885 girls and the Wayne-Westland area, up 10.3 percent to 2,142 girls.

Membership increases were also recorded in Western Washtenaw county (Manchester, Dexter, Chelsea and Saline) up 9.4 percent to 844 girls and Greater Ann Arbor up 7.1 percent to 2,226 girls. Eastern Washtenaw membership (Ypsilanti, Willis and Milan) dropped slightly, less than 1 percent by eleven girls to 1,795 total enrollment.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council provides year-round troop and camping activities for Girl Scouts of all ages. The Council owns three camps, 400-acre Camp Linden near Linden in Livingston county; 12-acre Camp Hilltop on the northern edge of Ann Arbor; and 40-acre Camp Crawford near Willis in eastern Washtenaw county.

Metric Workshop
Slated Feb 6 By Extension Service

A "Think Metric" workshop, geared to everyday metrics as they will affect the consumer is offered by the Co-operative Extension Service Thursday, Feb. 6 at the Pittsfield Grange Hall, 3337 Saline-Ann Arbor Rd., Ann Arbor, at 1:30 and again at 7 p.m.

Purpose of the workshop, according to Helen Fairman, extension home economist who will be conducting the sessions, is for participants to get a little acquainted with the metric system so they can get over feeling negative or scared of the unknown. Each participant will get some first-hand experience with metric measurements by actually measuring some familiar things. "In preparing for the workshop and becoming better acquainted with the metric system myself, I've become convinced that adjusting to the metric system won't be as difficult as many persons imagine," says Mrs. Fairman. "Like learning a new language, it will take a little work and practice. But there are so few words to learn! I'm really excited about the prospect of going metric!"

The workshop sessions are free and open to all interested persons.

Force Early Blooming Shrubs

East Lansing—Branches cut from early spring flowering shrubs will bloom indoors this winter if you cut and begin forcing them now.

Take cuttings of forsythia, pussy willow, quince or other early blooming plants; shred or mash the ends of the stems and place them in containers of warm water. Advise Michigan State University horticulturists. Place the containers in a cool, dimly lighted spot.

Never base your opinion on a one-sided presentation of any subject—unless you want to be wrong.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

The Beate Lennon (remember him?) predicted several years ago, "Christianity will go." Others said it before and some have said it since. All of them were and are mistaken. Many Satan inspired individuals in the past as well as present day disciples of the devil have sought through forces of evil to destroy the church that Christ built. They have not and never will succeed. There is a reason...

Christ said, "I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." Today as in the past, many mercenary, materialistic minds are anti-God, but the church still lives on. A timely subject for discussion these days might aptly be titled, "For Goodness Sake Speak Up." When the godless seek in devious ways to bring ruination to the church, is there any reason why God-loving people should not speak out and be heard? ... Many Michigan Products Sampled for Editor Guests

Thirty-fourth annual All Michigan dinner, sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and growers and processors in the state, is scheduled as the concluding event in the yearly Michigan Press association convention. The dinner will be Saturday, Feb. 1, in Kellogg Center, East Lansing.

Approximately 700 editors and publishers from across the state will be guests at the banquet. The menu will feature Italian-American cuisine, as one of a series of dinners emphasizing use of Michigan agricultural products in ethnic meals. All menu items are traditional Italian foods, with recipes taken from authoritative cookbooks.

An antipasto of assorted meats, cheese and vegetables, will be followed by mostaccioli with meat and mushroom sauce. Chicken cacciatore, accompanied by buttered asparagus, will provide the main entrée. Spumoni, an Italian ice cream, is planned for dessert. Michigan wine will be served with the meal, compliments of Michigan's eight wineries.

Guests will also receive more than two dozen items, featuring new and familiar products, to sample when they return home. Among the new items are diced, fully-cooked Michigan potatoes which may be stored indefinitely without refrigeration, and are immediately available for frying, creaming or mashing. Produced by a new Michigan firm at Edmore, the potatoes are a gift of the Michigan Potato Industry Commission.

Such leading agricultural products in Michigan as fresh apples from the Michigan Apple Committee, canned navy beans from the Michigan Bean Shippers Association and Michigan Bean Commission, pitted dark sweet cherries from the Michigan Cherry Committee, and fresh apple cider from Indian River will be represented. Celery, in which Michigan ranks third in the nation, will be noted by cream of celery soup from the Michigan Celery Promotion Co-operative; both southwestern and southeastern Michigan mushroom growing regions will be represented by mushroom steak sauce from Dawn Fresh and canned mushrooms from the Great Lakes Mushroom Co-operative.

Michigan's sweetest agricultural product, granulated beet sugar, will come from the Saginaw valley sugar bowl, courtesy of Farmers and Manufacturers' Beet Sugar Association. Long-time favorites like Chelsea Milling Co. Jiffy Mixes and Gerbers' baby foods will be included. Crispy fry mix from Drake's at Grass Lake, wine jelly from Musselman's in Benton Harbor, and kosher dill spears from Vlasic and other items. Lorann will provide flavoring oils for use in cookies and candies, and there will be soft drinks from Brooks Products in Holland.

Michigan salt from Morton Salt Co., Myadec tablets and caladry lotion from Michigan's Parke-Davis and even blue spruce seedlings from the Michigan Association of Nurserymen, depict the broad scope of the state's agricultural industry.

Michigan Economy Needs Tax Cut
East Lansing—The economic stimulus that a federal tax cut could give the Michigan economy is essential if unemployment is to drop below 8 percent by next December, predicts a Michigan State University researcher.

Dr. David Verway of MSU's Bureau of Business and Economic Research forecasts that state unemployment will probably reach 10.7 percent without tax cuts. Nationally, he predicts 6 percent unemployment with tax cuts and 8.1 percent without.

By February, he expects unemployment in Michigan to peak at 13.6 percent compared with 9.7 percent a year ago.

Personal income, says Dr. Verway, will rise 5 percent, compared with a 6 percent increase for 1974. But inflation will reduce the real value of personal income by 4 percent.

Winter Ice Fishing Catalog Available
Lansing—Winter is here and the fishing is great. Fishing through the ice or in open water in the winter is an exhilarating experience. And when you know where to go fishing, it can be even more fun, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Just name a species—bluegill, perch, northern pike, trout—and you will find a good producing lake or river listed in the Tourist Council's new Catalog of Michigan's Better Wintertime Fishing Waters.

Compiled by the Council's natural resources specialist, Stan Leivense, the catalog is divided into four sections and each section is divided by county. The catalog covers the Upper Peninsula, western lower Michigan, eastern lower Michigan and southeastern lower Michigan.

Man Arrested On Charge of Fleeing Police

A Chelsea man was arrested early Saturday morning after leading local police on a wild chase that led from the downtown area of the village to Fletcher Rd. and Old US-12, reports say.

Bobby Dean Akers, 25, of 8601 M-82, pled not guilty to a charge of fleeing a police officer Monday morning and was released pending trial.

Reports say that while on route patrol in the Main St. area, officers Browning and Dettling saw a 1971 lime-colored Plymouth Swinger make a sharp left turn onto W. Middle St. at a high rate of speed. Officers began pursuit on a course that proceeded down W. Middle, south on Wilkinson, then east on Old US-12, occasionally reaching speeds of more than 75 miles per hour.

At the intersection of Old US-12 and M-82, the report said, Akers ran a stop sign and turned his lights out, at which point the officers turned on their flashing lights and pursued Akers for 2.3 miles at speeds up to 85 miles per hour.

Akers turned north on Fletcher Rd. at the intersection of Old US-12 and Fletcher, and proceeded another mile, the report said, before halting.

He was placed under arrest and transported to Washtenaw County Jail, where he was released after payment of bond.

Dearborn Man Arrested Sunday On DUIL Charge

A Dearborn man was arrested early Sunday morning for driving under the influence of liquor after Chelsea police followed him down one-half mile on M-52 while his car crossed the center line four times and ran onto the road shoulder twice.

Eugene M. Dorosh, 29, halted his car after being signalled by Chelsea officers Graves Browning, but the two had to shout to him to stop his car again when it began rolling backwards nearly into their vehicle, reports said.

Officers noted an open beer can within the vehicle and also that Dorosh staggered when walking and slurred his speech, the report said.

He was taken into custody for driving under the influence of liquor but refused to submit to a breathalyzer test. He was to be arraigned in 14th District Court on the charge on Wednesday.

Milan Finally Loses, But to Non-Conference Foe, Howell

Things look absolutely no different in the SEC than pre-season predictions said they would—Milan and Saline are coming down to the wire for the league title.

Both teams—Milan at 8-0 and Saline at 7-1—recorded large-scale victories Friday night as a warm-up to their showdown session this week at Saline.

Milan 55, Brighton 38—

A Brighton slow-down earned the Bulldogs practically nothing, as Milan pulled through it unharm.

In recording the Big Red's 12th victory of the season, Jay Cummings earned high scoring honors with 22 points, while Bill Kordupal added 11.

The loss left Brighton at 2-6 in the SEC.

Saline 81, South Lyon 47—

Still winless South Lyon fell victim to the Hornet attack in all its fury Friday night to record their eighth SEC loss.

Leading the Hornets were Craig Kivi with 22 points, Tim Slesky with 18, and Dan Scott with 10. Pacing the woe-be-gone Lions were Ed Hock with 16 points and Bob Jorae with 12.

Chelsea 74, Lincoln 62—

Led by Dave Alber's 30 points and fine scoring efforts from Rick Sweeney and Jack Hackworth, the Bulldogs overcame a 14-point first-quarter deficit to overpower the Railsplitters and keep pace with Milan and Saline.

Chelsea's press forced numerous Lincoln turnovers in the contest. The win boosted the Bulldogs' SEC record to 6-2.

Assisting Alber in Chelsea's point production were Sweeney's 15 points and Hackworth's 13.

Pacing the Railsplitter attack were George Czinski with 18 points, followed by Dean Amrhein with 16, and Scott Hubbard with 10.

Dexter 64, Novi 61—

Fourth quarter made all the difference for the Dreadnaughts Friday night, as the improving Dexter squad moved into a fourth place tie with Lincoln and Novi at 3-5 in the SEC.

Dexter, trailing 41-34 at half-time, outscored the Wildcats, 30-20, in the final period to edge them out.

Leading scorers for Dexter were Bruce Vail with 21 points, Jeff Montibeller with 14, and Dave Sing with 10. Bill Mussio and Montibeller were big guns in the all-important fourth quarter, when Mussio hit for eight of his eventual 14 points.

Leading Novi scorers was Bill Giorgio with 29 points.

Tuesday's non-conference games for five SEC teams featured the extra added surprise of a Milan loss.

Howell 72, Milan 63—

Milan, ranked number two Class B team in the state in last week's poll, suffered its first defeat last Tuesday when Howell jumped to and maintained an eight-point third quarter lead.

Top Milan scorer for the evening was Jay Cummings with 20 points, followed by Tony Hernandez with 14, Jim Dutton with 11, and Stan Joplin with 10.

Howell was paced by Bill Sangster, who recorded 12 of his 18 points in the decisive third quarter.

Chelsea 64, Parma Western 63—

A Gary Wonders lay-up with only seconds remaining in the contest and Chelsea, down by one point made all the difference for the Bulldogs.

Wonders led the Chelsea scoring attack with 17 points, assisted by Dave Alber with 15 and Rick Sweeney with 14.

Parma Western was topped by Scott DeBoe, who recorded 24 counters.

Brighton 50, Hartland 49—

It was thrills-and-chills galore at Brighton Tuesday night, as the Bulldogs lost a lead held since the second quarter, but managed to regain it in the waning seconds of play by virtue of a free throw and a field goal.

Top Bulldog scorer was Scott Bandkau with 15 points, Dave Lewallen with 13, and Dave Lawson with 12.

Lincoln 75, Woodhaven 30—

Four players hit for double figures in Lincoln's Tuesday night trouncing of Woodhaven, including 16 points each from Scott Hubbard and George Czinski.

The victory upped the Railsplitters' over-all record to 4-7, and featured a respectable shooting percentage of 32-for-86.

Also adding points for the winners were Keith Parks and Dean Amrhein, with 10 each.

Willow Run 80, South Lyon 58—

Although six players hit for double figures between these two squads Tuesday night, the larger portion went to Willow Run, a fact of life these days for the Lions.

Pacing the not-strong-enough South Lyon attack was Ed Hock, who hit for 26 points, followed by John Burton with 12 and Rob Jorae with 10.

Leading Willow Run scorer was Terry Gillyards, who was good for a big 34 points.

Most Michigan Ski Lodges Report Increases for Holidays

Despite the state's ailing economy, more than half of Michigan's ski lodges reported Christmas-New Year's business increases ranging from five to 40 percent as compared to the 1973-74 holiday season, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Biggest gains were recorded in southeast and northeast Lower Michigan, where lodges particularly benefited from exceptionally good December winter weather, and at major northwest Lower Peninsula resorts.

This year's holiday season began Dec. 24 and lasted through Jan. 5.

"Northern ski areas noted that easing of fears about gas availability also contributed to business increases," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager, adding that:

"Several lodges indicated that revenues were bolstered by skiers who economized by staying close to home rather than visiting resorts in Europe and the western United States."

The Auto Club official emphasized that despite an upswing in business, many lodges are just recovering from an exceptionally poor season last winter.

During the 1973-74 holidays, the vast majority of Michigan ski lodges were plagued with either mild weather and little snowfall, a decrease in skiers due to concern over gas availability or both," Ratke said.

This holiday season, major northern ski resorts with lodge facilities reported 95 to 100 percent occupancy rates.

Boyne Mountain, one of the few state ski lodges that experienced a good season last year, reported holiday revenues running about the same as in 1973-74.

Sugar Loaf indicated that skiers spent 20 percent more this holiday season as compared to last year. Caberfae reported revenues up 31 percent.

A spokesperson for Schuss Mountain noted that 1,800 persons skied at the Mancelona-area lodges on Jan. 2 as compared to 500 to 600 persons that same date last year. Schuss Mountain estimated holiday revenues to be up 10 to 12 percent.

Gladstone, located near Escanaba in the Upper Peninsula, indicated the biggest gain—40 percent—

Mt. Maria, located near Spruce in northeast Lower Michigan, attributed its 30 percent jump in holiday business to persons staying within the state to ski.

"Altogether, 29 of Michigan's 56 ski lodges reported business upturns," Ratke said. "Most of the others contacted were unable to explain why business decreased or remained the same."

One lodge—Pando, near Rockford, in southwest Michigan—blamed warmer temperatures and lack of snow for an estimated 80 percent drop in holiday business from last year. Poor snow also was the explanation given by Mont Ripley, located near Houghton in the Upper Peninsula, for its 10 percent decline in holiday revenues.

MICHIGAN PORTLAND CEMENT CO., as it looked during its hey-day of cement production at Four Mile Lake in the 1920s. The company, which was taken over by the 1923 after a relatively healthy period under the direction of N. S. Potter, was run as an extension of the state prison in Jackson and employed prison labor.

Cement Plant at Four Mile Lake Had Short But Turbulent History

Michigan Portland Cement Co. was one of the myriad of long-ago industries that managed entry into Chelsea's 125th anniversary booklet, but the explanation there quite simply only alludes to the company's peaks and furrows.

A photo of the era brought into The Standard office by Gregory Degtiarick of Wyandotte, a former resident of the Chelsea area who says that he was known in these parts as George Smith due to the length of his name, shows a rather desolate-looking conglomeration of small and large buildings, none too inclined toward the esthetic, and assorted smokestacks and fences that composed the cement company in better days.

Michigan Portland Cement Co., in the space of some seven years, went from one of the hottest properties in the state—according to its then-owner, N. S. Potter, Sr., in 1922—to the Chelsea mill is the second among 12 in Michigan, to one of the least likely to succeed in the heart of the state's governor, who recommended its sale in April of 1929.

The early history of the cement company, organized and built under the name of White Portland Cement Co. at Four Mile Lake, had been a period of rapid transition and almost as rapid foreclosures. Incredibly fast succession, the plant was the White Portland Cement Co., the Millen Port and Cement Co., and the Michigan Portland Cement Co.

Under the direction of N. S. Potter, Sr., however, the plant seemed to prosper (Potter reported to the Jackson Rotary Club in 1922 that his enterprise had an output of 2,600 barrels per day), but a surprise announcement came in early December of 1923, when The Standard and The Tribune learned that the plant would be leased by the state "to supply cement used mainly for highway construction."

At that point, the company, then managed by N. S. Potter, Jr., since the death of his father in July, had shipped 576,000 barrels of cement, after a partial shut-down in January and February, a statistic that bettered the elder Potter's claim of 2,000 barrels per day.

The deal with the state was for an annual rental of $75,000 for five years, with rent to apply to the purchase price of $500,000. If the state decided to buy within the first three years.

However, the deal also included the fact that the plant would be operated as an extension of the state prison in Jackson, utilizing prison labor, a fact which aroused some adverse sentiment in the village.

A column of the day in The Chelsea Tribune attempted to disperse the fears of residents, however, in an article adjoining the report of the state's leasing of the plant.

"If people talked to Warden Hulbert (manager of the plant)" the article said, "there would not be the feeling that is present about town . . . the having of prison labor near at hand will in no way be a detriment to the community, and . . . Chelsea will not be bothered by these men in any way."

The articles ended with an admonition to the residents to get organized if we want more industry.

Only a month later, however, The Standard reported that two convicts had escaped during the week from the prison, both serving for up to five years, running the total of escapees to five in a month.

In June of 1924, a fire "threatened to totally destroy" the plant. After beginning in a tunnel beneath the shipping warehouse, the fire raged out of control for several hours until it emerged above ground where firefighters from both Chelsea and Jackson eventually brought it under control.

Four months later, a one-armed prisoner nicknamed Big Chief died in what was eventually termed an accident, when his clothing caught in a shaft and he was pulled into a machine.

The Standard noted the humanitarianism of prisons of the day, reporting that "while in years past, bodies of departed prisoners have been considered worth only such value as they might have for experimental purposes," the Big Chief had been laid to rest with all due ceremony.

The company managed to stay out of the news for several months (except, of course, for numerous escapes; recapture of an escapee was worth $100 to the lucky captor), until, in January of 1925, Gov. Groesbeck was quoted as requesting that Warden Hulbert remain "until all the affairs of the institution and the industries have been put in shape so it can be taken over by a successor."

A new warden was not mentioned until August of 1925, when another fire partially destroyed the finishing shop, to the tune of $35,000, and forced closing of the establishment for 30 days for repairs.

After several years of minimal news, repairs again initiated an announcement from, again, a new official at the plant, this M. H. McGaffigan, superintendent, who reported on March 28, 1929, that the plant would be closed for 30 days, noting that "Manufacture of cement has exceeded the requirements of the state highway department at this time of year to such an extent that storage facilities at the plant are taxed to their capacity."

Before that month was over, however, Gov. Fred W. Green in a special message to the legislature, proposed that the state "dispose of the plant."

The Governor, who said that the state was operating in the red in the enterprise, claimed that the state had more than $700,000 invested in the plant, and the auditor-general's report showed a profit of $60,000, not including depreciation, interest charges on the investment, etc., which combined would put the plant at zero profit or worse.

Although considerable opposition to the proposed course of action came from those who believed that the plant had served a worthwhile purpose for Michigan's cement users, the Governor's proposal effectively ended the Michigan Portland Cement Co.'s chapter in Chelsea history.

Methodist Home Quarantined As Precaution Against Flu

Chelsea Methodist Home will be quarantined for an indefinite period to prevent residents from contracting the flu, a spokesman for the Home said Monday.

Mrs. Beth Lyerla stressed that Home residents have not experienced an outbreak of flu, but that the institution is simply attempting to avoid one, on the advice of Home medical personnel.

"Just ask people to please not come and visit," she said. "We don't want to have the flu out here."

Richard Hinz, administrator of Chelsea Community Hospital, reports that although he personally has fallen victim to a cold, he has seen no evidence of any "epidemic proportion" incidence of flu in this area.

"We've certainly received no evidence of it from employee absences, and we haven't experienced any influx of admissions that would be related to the flu or upper respiratory infections," Hinz said. "That doesn't mean we won't, but we haven't yet."

A new type of flu called the

"Port Chalmers" strain, has been moving northward from the southeastern United States for the past several weeks and is expected to hit Michigan "full-force" soon, according to reports from the Washtenaw County Health Department published this week.

Three Teams Still Undeclared In Recreation Basketball Play

IPSCO, Independents, and Heydlauff's retain their undefeated status atop the Men's Recreation Basketball League, although IPSCO has outdistanced its competitors through its schedule by running its fiftieth string to five. In last Wednesday's games, IPSCO downed Chelsea State Bank, 61-47, led by Farley with 17 points, Cameron with 11, and Schmunk with 10. High scorers for the bank were Leonard with 21 and Kozma with 15. Southern Boy Take-Out took care of Dexter Rabble, 46-42, to record its first victory of the season, led by Allen's 20 points and Whitaker's 15. Dexter was paced by Klump with 19 counters.

D & D Lanes also managed to put one in the win column, by edging out 3-D Sales, 40-36. Pacing D & D were Owen with 19 points and Johns with 15, while Walker's 10 led 3-D's scoring output. Monday's match-up featured another big win for IPSCO, 72-44 over Chelsea Lumber. Top scorers for the league-leaders were Davis with 15 and Schmunk with 14. Pacing Chelsea Lumber was Thoss with 18 and Garrett with 12. Southern Boy Take-Out recorded its second victory in as many games by downing D & D Lanes, 47-31. Big scorers for Southern Boy were B. Sugar Substitutes May Be More Costly

"You may not save money by substituting honey, corn syrup or molasses for sugar," says Marilyn Mook, Michigan State University Extension food specialist.

Sugar is still less expensive and easier to use than these items. Have fresh fruit for dessert more often, and cut back on items that contain large amounts of sugar. Think of sugar as another energy source, and use it carefully.

All-Michigan Dinner Features Italian Food

Michigan agriculture will move into the limelight Saturday evening, Feb. 1, when approximately 700 editors and publishers are honored at the 34th annual All-Michigan dinner. The event concludes the annual convention of the Michigan Press Association in East Lansing's Kellogg Center.

The dinner is sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, and growers and processors throughout the state, to emphasize the importance and diversity of Michigan agriculture.

Demonstrating the versatility of Michigan foods, the third in a series of ethnic meals will be featured. This year's menu is comprised of traditional Italian foods, including antipasto, mostaccioli with meat and mushroom sauce, chicken cacciatore, buttered asparagus, and spumoni. Michigan wine will accompany the dinner.

Antipasto, an introductory course, will have thinly-sliced salami and ham, Provolone cheese, tiny marinated carrots, pepperoni and cherry peppers, all surrounding mounds of shredded lettuce. Oil and vinegar are served with the dish.

Mostaccioli was selected for the pasta course. It will be served with a sauce simmered slowly for hours to blend the flavors of ground beef, garlic, onion, tomatoes, mushrooms and parsley. Freshly grated Parmesan cheese tops the savory combination.

A favorite Italian dish is chicken cacciatore, made according to different recipes in different regions of Italy. Guests at the All-Michigan dinner will be served northern Italian-style cacciatore, which is chicken browned in hot oil, then cooked slowly until tender with wine and seasonings.

Round loaves of Italian bread, baked in a brick oven, and asparagus dressed with butter, will accompany the entree. Dessert will feature spumoni, a rich Italian ice cream containing a happy blend of fruit and nuts.

In addition to the banquet, every Michigan editor and publisher will receive, courtesy of the growers and packers, all he can carry of Michigan's bounty—apples, beans, cherries, dill pickles and on through the entire alphabet of foods.

Recipes are from authoritative Italian cookbooks.

2 tablespoons oil
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon sweet basil
1/2 cup dry white wine
1 clove garlic, minced
1 stalk celery, chopped

Area Girl Scout Association Meets Tonight in Chelsea

All registered Girl Scouts, adults and girls over 14 years old are invited to attend the meeting of the Western Washtenaw Area Association of Huron Valley Girl Scouts tonight, Thursday, Jan. 30. The meeting will be held at Dwight E. Beach school, 445 Mayer Dr., Chelsea, at 7:30 p.m. On the agenda will be election of delegates to the annual council meeting on March 19 in Plymouth. Three discussion groups will talk about the various aspects of scouting. A special fund-raiser will promote the intertroop activities of much.

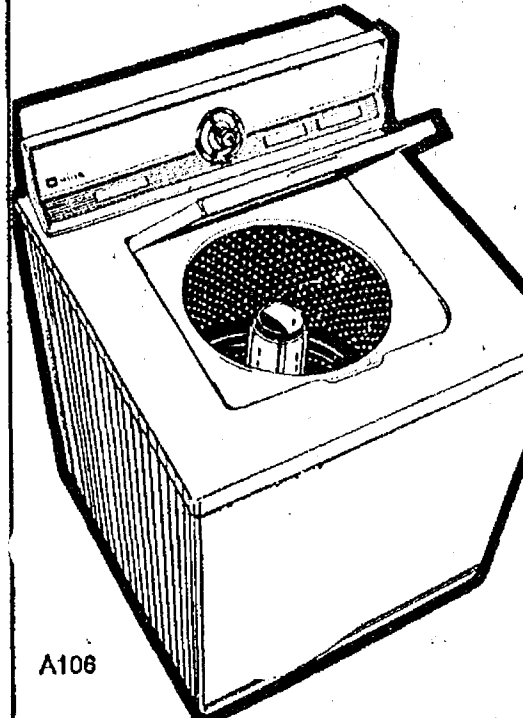

Despite the short routes and quick cures, there's no easy way to anything that is worth very much.
