School Board Struggling To Stretch Funds

Chelsea School Board is moving cautiously toward developing an operational budget for the coming school year, attempting to meet current needs without requesting additional taxes from area voters.

"This budget is probably the most difficult I've faced since I've been on the school board," said Howard Haselschwardt, board president. "Last year we asked the voters for a millage renewal and a slight increase with a promise not to seek additional funds this year. Unless something totally unforeseen happens, we should be able to achieve a workable budget for the coming year."

Haselschwardt said that the School Board recognized unemployment was high in the Chelsea area, and that all families were hit by the spiraling cost of living. For these additional reasons, the board and the administration have searched for ways to maintain the quality of the schools, implement some new but necessary programs and stretch the dollar spent as far as possible.

"Perhaps the question most asked of me and other board members is why don't we have more money since most of the property in the Chelsea area has been assessed upward in the last two years," Haselschwardt said. "I guess people find it hard to believe that the current State Aid laws force local districts to pay more of their own way. As the local taxpayers pay more, the state pays less school aid." However, Haselschwardt said that the state aid formula for the coming year will provide some additional funds for Chelsea schools.

Indications from Lansing are that we may expect an increase in our total income of between 2½ percent and 6 percent for the coming year," he said, "because of an increase in the aid ratio per pupil."

"Much depends on the final state budget which should be known later in the summer but anything that might force our expenses out of that modest range can only hurt the over-all program."

Despite an over-all decrease in state aid, the state has required local districts to accept the burden of added expenses by passing legislation that makes the local school district responsible for employees' retirement benefits (5 percent of net salary), unemployment benefits, occupational safety and health rules and mandatory special education.

"While laws were passed forcing all districts to accept these regulations, no funds came to us to help offset costs," Haselschwardt said. "Also, remember that Governor Milliken reduced the public school appropriation by one percent last year when the Michigan economy sagged. It could happen again."

"The School Board and the administration have been pursuing what they refer to as a 'prudent policy.' Ceilings have been placed on expenditures in such areas as books, supplies, libraries. This means that while flexibility exists to change or improve programs, the total spent remains fixed. This insures that programs receive a priority and only key changes can be made within existing funds."

"Classes with few students will either be consolidated or considered for elimination, existing personnel will be used to meet new needs and increases in any program will be closely evaluated by the faculty, administration and the board. Greater reliance will be placed on the Washtenaw Intermediate School District to loan materials to the Instructional Media Centers."

"Everything that a teacher can be trimmed, has been trimmed," Haselschwardt said. "The board and Superintendent Cameron recognize that we are entering a difficult year. All of us are proud of our school system and we do not intend to permit its quality to slip. But this is not a good situation."

Jim Knott Takes Over As Legion Head

The installation of 1975-76 officers for the American Legion was held Thursday evening, June 5 at the American Legion Home. Installing the new officers was the American Legion 18th District Installation Team.

Newly installed officers are: commander, Jim Knott; senior vice-commander, John Popovich; junior vice-commander, Tom Finch; sergeant-at-arms, Tom Franklin; chaplain, Herman Reed; adjutant, Gary Grossman; finance officer, Fred Pearsall; historian, Merle Barr, Sr.; service officer, Guy Freysinger; executive board, Gary Grossman, John Popovich, Bill Watkins, Bill Coltre and Jim Finch.

A reception followed the ceremonies.

Martin Tobin Re-Elected to School Board

254 registered Chelsea voters turned out Monday to re-elect Martin Tobin to the Chelsea School Board for a four-year term. Tobin won the election in, if you will, a landslide vote, defeating his opponent, Jack Gaughan, by 140 votes.

Total count for Tobin was 195 votes; for Gaughan 55 votes.

According to Fred Mills, business manager for the school district, 254 ballots were cast, two were spoiled and there was one write-in candidate.

There are 4,200 registered voters in the Chelsea School District.

New Features Being Added to Rec. Program

The Earn, Learn and Play program, sponsored by the Chelsea Recreation Department, will feature some new additions to complement last year's highly successful program.

There will be a special field trip to Menagerie Manor, dances on the playground, a small music festival and the availability of aid in remedial math and reading.

Parents who wish to have their children, son or daughter, tutored in reading or math should contact Tom Balistrere at 475-8511 prior to the June 23 registration date.

This year's staff for the program consists of Miss B. J. Wenk, arts and crafts instructor and nature director; Mrs. Holly Porter, individual and team sports for girls and arts and crafts instructor; Pat Clarke, individual and team sports for boys and remedial math teacher; Miss Sharon Heydlauff, music instructor and remedial reading teacher; Miss Terry Schreiner, who will instruct all tennis classes; and Ken Armstrong, a general assistant to the program.

Directing the swimming program will be Nancy Oswald and her assistants Becky Nichols and Vic Steinbach. Parents with children interested in formal swimming instruction should contact Oswald at 498-2679.

Theatre Academy for Children Starts July 7

Chelsea Players will sponsor an academy for aspiring young actors and actresses this summer from July 7 to July 26.

The Academy is for children in grades 4th through 8th. They will receive instruction in all phases of theatre, putting their newly acquired knowledge to use in a play.

The program has been made possible for the children of Chelsea by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts which must be matched by community funds. DiAnn L'Roy, who will oversee the entire program commented, "We are approximately $1,000 short of our needed local funds. We urge all persons who are interested in promoting the dramatic arts in Chelsea to become patrons by making a donation to the Chelsea Players."

According to Miss L'Roy patrons will be acknowledged in the programs for "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" and "Oklahoma." Donations may be sent to P.O. Box 82, Chelsea 48118.

Registration for the program will be held at the Chelsea High school stage from June 23 through July 1. Sessions will begin at 10 a.m. Monday through Friday and run until 1 p.m. Registration is limited to 48 children. A $2 fee will be charged.

Staff for the academy includes Jeff Daniels, Michelle McClean, Keith Pfeifle and Neil Cockerline.

Jerrold Beaumont Is Ordained Priest

Following seven years of study, the Rev. Jerrold Foster Beaumont was ordained priest last Saturday, June 7 at St. Barnabas Episcopal church here in ceremonies that can be aptly termed "a family affair."

Approximately 200 people were present for the ordination of the Rev. Beaumont, including family friends, the St. Barnabas congregation and members of St. Stephan's church in Hamburg, where Beaumont served before coming to Chelsea.

Following an introduction in which organist George Hunsche played a prelude and Beaumont's daughter, Susan, sang the "Lord's Prayer," Beaumont was presented to the Rt. Rev. H. Coleman McGeehe, Junior Bishop of Michigan, by the senior warden of the vestry at St. Barnabas, Daniel Ramsey, senior warden of the vestry of St. (Continued on page four)

JC Rummage Sale Collection Lagging

Chelsea Jaycees are sending out an SOS to all area residents. Their rummage sale is just three weeks away, and donations have been slim. The Jaycees' concern is with the community, as proceeds from their annual rummage sale are turned back into the community for Jaycee sponsored projects. No rummage, no sale, no profits, no projects. And the Jaycees don't want to have to cut back on any of their programs for the village for the children nor for the adults.

Projects, that are now funded through Jaycee dollars and manpower, are such things as the annual Easter Egg hunt, dug-outs for the baseball fields, the bicycle rodeo, the rejuvenating from time to time of Pierce Park and a bridge and road crossing they are currently planning for South school students who have to pass over a small stream near Wilkinson St. to get to and from the school building.

Their concern is yours. And judging from the number of garage sales, yard sales, deck sales and moving sales given here each week-end, the Chelsea community has a good deal of no longer wanted rummage on their hands. So why not give some to the Jaycees? Their profit is yours!

Donations may be given to Jerry Krause, Bob Jones, Bob Pratt and Bruce Messing. The Jaycees are willing to pick up your donations Monday, Wednesday and Friday until their June 28 sale.

'Charlie Brown' Comedy Opening Here June 19

You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" is the musical comedy about the pitfalls and triumphs in a day in the life of Charlie Brown, created by Clark Gosner.

The script is unique for it follows no distinct plot line. What it does is transforms the two-dimensional comic strip into three-dimensional sketches that retain the simplicity and honesty that Charles Schulz, the creator of the "Peanuts" comic strip intended.

The Chelsea Players' presentation of "Charlie Brown" reflects the simplistic philosophy in its set designs. The backdrops consist of flats painted into three giant comic strip frames. Included in these are trees, fencing, grass and flowers that typify the "Peanuts" comic strip. Across the top of the proscenium stage the title of the play has been painted on flats and hung. Thus the illusion of two-dimensional comic strip characters coming alive is established.

The people playing the roles don't "look like" the "Peanuts" characters, they are the characters. They have captured the essence of what each character is and so by watching them it's unmistakable who they are. Even Snoopy, played by Jeff Daniels, wears no costume to indicate that he is a dog because Snoopy is no dog. He is a character that just happens to look like a dog. Daniels' movements and gestures are enough to tell the story.

Just as the people playing the roles don't try to "look like" the "Peanut" characters, the physical set isn't made up of literal structures. Geometric blocks, reminiscent of playground toys, are used (Continued on page four)

Eight Nurses Aides Graduate

Chelsea High school's nurses aid course, planned and co-ordinated by Mrs. Annabelle Closson, has graduated eight nurse's aides, three of whom are graduating seniors at CHS. Graduating with certificates that will allow them to work as aides are Chelsea seniors, Brenda Hawley, Lois Lovely and Denise Smyth. Other certificate holders are Joan Allen, Doris Knott, Mary Lindauer, Terrie Meyer and Vicki Palmer.

The course is taught through lecture, discussion, demonstration films and on-the-job training, thus assuring that the completion of the semester, each student will be an experienced nurse aide.

The students have worked closely with Chelsea Community Hospital and the Chelsea Methodist Home.

They have completed 98 hours of therapy and 171 hours of clinical experience during each semester.

Mrs. Annabelle Closson said, "The students learn the basic skills and necessary thought processes that aid in fulfilling our main goal that the patient is the most important person in our plan of nursing care."

At the present time the course is confined to eight students because of the limited facilities and equipment at Chelsea High.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was concerned about the state of the states and cities, namely Texas and New York City. Bug Hook had been reading up on this plan to make five states out of the Lone Star State, and Ed Doolittle bring in a clipping about New York City going broke. After studying these situations up one side and down the others, the fellers was general agreed they're the same.

Bug said he 'knewed talk of splitting up Texas come up even afore she was a state, and the idee has been around since. Most of the push comes from the kind of folks that don't like anything the way it is. Bug allowed, but there has been some serious debate on the matter. Right now, he said, "split-hood" is about as strong as it ever has been, cause the reasons are clearer than ever.

Some fellers in the state legislature said if Texas was split into five states they could outvote the whole of New England in the U.S. Senate, and Bug allowed that he is afraid that what the fellers was meaning is that Texas can divide and conquer all them federal agencies. Five states could git five times the grants that one state can, he figgers.

Actual, Bug said, he is strong agin the idee. He said we are supposed to be the states united, but this don't mean we got to water down all the power of our states and bow and scrape to Washington fer everthing from school lunches to highways. Bug said he was yet to see anything done in Washington that come back to the states that couldn't be done better by the states in the first place.

Per instant, Bug said, the Federal Government ain't satisfied to spend $80 billion more a year than it takes in, it keeps making up rules fer the states to live by that can't be lived with. The Medicare system has got so fouled up, Bug said, til North Carolina had to hire a private computer outfit to clean her Medicare records. It looks like the states will have to spend billions of their money to git back millions they send to Washington, and Bug said it don't take a private computer to figger the odds on a deal like that. Counties are saying they can come out cheaper paying the post office to sell their federal food stamps than to handle the paperwork themselves, Bug reported.

Ed said he weren't no wonder to him that New York City needs a billion dollars to pay her bills this month. The cities has been caught in the same trap with the states, and New York must be spending ever cent she can git to qualify fer all them federal urban renewal and clean water grants, Ed allowed.

What New York City ought to do, went on Ed, is raise the state debt limit and print her own money to cover the difference. There's no end to good ideas coming out of Washington, Ed said.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Site Council Asked

Hassles over where to pit electrical power plants might be kept to a minimum if Democratic Rep. Howard W. Woffe of Kalamazoo has his way.

Woffe is proposing creation of a State Power Facility Siting Council to map Michigan spots most suitable for power plants. In addition, the council would gather citizens' reactions to 10-year-plans that would be required from all electric utility companies. It also would certify company requests for new construction.

Interest groups, local governments and affected pollution abatement and other agencies would all have a say in reviewing 10-year-plans and applications for facility construction, Woffe says.

No site would be certified if located in a park or a recreational, wilderness or historical area.

Don't Drink Here
Before you pop the top on that beer can in a state park, check the signs. You may be breaking the rules.

Alcoholic beverages are prohibited in several state parks and parts of others. The ban marks an attempt by the Department of Natural Resources to make the parks quieter for campers. The department hopes that no drinking will mean no rowdiness and disturbances.

Those areas where alcohol is banned will be posted, the DNR says.

All Aboard . . .
Michigan travelers are taking advantage of increased train service at a mighty clip.

Gov. William Milliken reports that ridership of Amtrak passenger trains in the state has tripled in the past three years as service has been extended.

On the Detroit-to-Chicago run alone, ridership has doubled. About 157,000 folks rode the rails between those two cities in 1973. Last year the number jumped to nearly 237,000.

Milliken currently is asking the legislature to approve a revenue bonding program for state-wide transportation improvements, including railroad work.

Slowdown Saves
A lighter foot on the gas pedal may mean a longer life.

That's the indication drawn from a recent study—touted as the first of its kind in the nation—analyzing the relationships of vehicle use, fuel availability, crashes and traffic deaths in Michigan.

The study, undertaken by the University of Michigan Highway Safety Research Institute in cooperation with the state, Safety Commission, showed that the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit resulted in a 20 percent reduction in freeway traffic deaths and a 40 percent reduction on other state trunklines.

This life-saving effect was recorded when traffic patterns and traffic volume were back up to normal after the end of the fuel shortages last year, says Secretary of State Richard Austin, chairman of the Safety Commission. "It is directly related to the enforcement of the 55 mph speed limit."

A summary of study conclusions notes that "the reduction of driver exposure due to the energy crisis does NOT account for the 29 percent reduction in fatal crashes during the first half of 1974."

In addition, the study says, the reduction in speeds on all types of roads reduced crash severity, which in turn resulted in fewer traffic deaths.

But the study didn't just point up good news.

Austin says findings show drivers in the 17-19 age group generally "were indifferent to both high fuel prices and the lowered speed limit."

"Not only did they show almost no reduction in fatal crashes during the height of the energy crisis, their involvement in fatal crashes actually increased to an all-time high in the period after the energy crisis—when other age groups were maintaining dramatic reductions," he says. The fatality rate in that younger age group went up almost 50 percent in the last half of 1974.

It's suggested that this increase in fatality rate for the 17-19-year-old drivers, as well as "a disproportionate share of speeding violations during the energy crisis," points up a need for more work with younger drivers.

Probably no single subject has had more written about it in the last year than the question of what to do about teacher strikes. When a bill is finally reported to the House floor for debate, and it should be soon, a major battle can be expected.

The proposed legislation is intended to bring about more rational negotiating procedures between public school boards and teacher unions through revision of current teacher collective bargaining laws. The most controversial aspect of this legislation is a right-to-strike provision for school employees which would permit them to walk out for three weeks WITHOUT loss of pay and an additional two weeks with loss of pay. School districts would also be financially penalized after the three-week "free" strike by a corresponding loss of state aid.

There are several important considerations to be taken into account here. Strikes by public employees are presently illegal but the pending legislation would change this. Teacher tenure and other protections for public employees were agreed to years ago in lieu of the right to strike. There has been discussion of repealing these "extra-protections" but the right to strike is granted. The pressure to extend the same right to strike to police, firemen, and other public officials would follow quickly. Secondly, who ever heard of paying someone to go out on strike? That is precisely what would happen if the current provisions are passed. The taxpayers would potentially be paying the teachers three weeks pay for the first three weeks of a strike. It's ridiculous!

There are many possible alternatives being discussed in both the House and Senate. I am not really happy with any of the bills which have been introduced so far. There is a great deal of concern over which proposals are "pro-teacher" and which are "pro-management." What bothers me the most is the lack of "pro-student" and "pro-taxpayer" concerns. In every strike, it's the students and the taxpayers who are sure to come out on the short end.

I am reserving judgment on any proposals until I see what bills reach the floor of the House of Representatives. Sometimes I have found, the cure is worse than the disease. We must not pass legislation to cure the problems of 1 percent of the school districts in the State and, in turn, create new problems for the other 99 percent.

Seven Medals Won By CHS Special Olympians

Three special olympians from Chelsea represented the community last week-end at Mt. Pleasant in the State Special Olympics.

Following four days of competition, Glenn Passow, Kathy Buck and Mary Landwehr returned home with seven medals; four gold, two silver and one bronze.

Glenn Passow received a gold medal for his drawing of three special olympian runners, one white, one yellow and one black. Glenn's drawing was chosen to represent the state on all official special olympian programs. The medal was presented to Glenn by Teresa Merritt, star of "That's My Mama," who served as grand marshal of the opening ceremonies and parade.

Glenn's drawing was on the cover of the Special Olympic programs. He will go to the International Olympics in August, as his drawing placed third in that contest.

A silver medal was also awarded to Glenn for his second place in the boy's 50-yard freestyle.

Two Arrested On Liquor, DUIL Charges

While on routine patrol early Saturday morning village police officers arrested two men on charges of driving while under the influence and the possession of open intoxicants in a motor vehicle, respectively.

Arrested were John Henry Schlaff of 13656 Old US-12 and Ralph Joseph Schlaff of 3930 Joy Rd., Ann Arbor.

The arrest occurred following an observance by the two officers of a 1967 green Ford proceeding east on Middle St. According to police reports, the vehicle rolled through a stop sign, the officers followed it and observed it swerving on the road while proceeding east-bound. After the vehicle did not come to a full stop for two more signs, Officers Roger Graves and John Dettling stopped the vehicle to question the driver.

John H. Schlaff, who was driving the car, was arrested on charges of driving while under the influence of liquor.

His passenger, Ralph J. Schlaff was holding an open can of beer in his right hand.

Officers arrested the two and made a LEIN check on John Schlaff's license. He was wanted on two bench warrants, one in Washtenaw county and the other in Ann Arbor.

The pair were transported to the Washtenaw County Jail where they were to be held until they could post the necessary bond or are arraigned in 14th District Court.

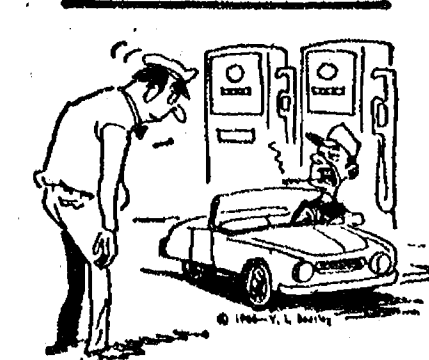

LAST YEAR'S SEED GOOD?

Seed leftover from last year's garden will probably germinate this year if it was kept cool and dry, say Michigan State University horticulturists.

Seed from crops you raised last year will probably not give satisfactory results, however, they caution. Many garden crops are hybrids, and the seeds they produce will not grow into plants like the parent plants.

Of the 12 million acres in Michigan farms today only 6 1/2 million acres is in cropland.

Earn, Learn and Play Program Starts June 23

Last summer's Earn, Learn, and Play program was an overwhelming success for the Chelsea Recreation Department and for the children who participated. Recreation director Tom Balistrere has announced that the program will go into its second season June 24.

Children ages 6-14 years may register for the program Monday, June 23 at South school. Registration will be held from 9-12 p.m. and from 1-3 p.m. Children may register during those times only. A fee of $3 will be charged for the program which will run from June 24 through Aug. 1. Participation may be in all or part of the daily program.

Earn, Learn and Play is designed to assist children in experiencing community pride, working with adults and other group members, sportsmanship, responsibility, and fun while working. A variety of remedial courses and learning activities will also be offered. Those parents who wish to enroll their child or children in a remedial reading or math program may call Tom Balistrere at 475-8511.

The program will run on a five day a week basis (with the exception of Friday, July 4).

Following is the program schedule. In the morning, from 9-10 a.m. children who wish to earn will work with their particular group on that day's job. Some of the tasks are painting school benches, picking up trash on the school playgrounds, planting flowers around the community, raking baseball diamonds and painting and distributing trash cans for community use.

Children will earn 25 cents a day for their participation. Balistrere and his staff believe that the Earn Hour helps the child learn responsibility, recognize his capability.

Senior Citizens Information Fair Slated June 18

On Wednesday, June 18, there will be a Senior Citizens Information Fair from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Pioneer High school in Ann Arbor. The fair, which is open to all Washtenaw county senior citizens, will feature free blood pressure and hearing tests, as well as speakers, information booths, and entertainment.

Staff at the OEO Senior Citizens Nutrition Program, which is sponsoring the fair, felt that most conferences and workshops on aging are directed toward the professional in gerontology, rather than at the aging person himself. The fair was organized in answer to a felt need for all of the agencies which deal with older people, to be available in one place to dispense information, counsel seniors, and answer questions.

Participating agencies include the Washtenaw County Council on Aging, Retired Seniors Volunteer Program, the Legal Aid Society, the Kiwanis Golden Years Discount Club, the Senior Citizens Guild, the Social Security Administration, the Salvation Army, the Free People's Clinic, the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority, Washtenaw County Library, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., and many more.

Representatives from these agencies will be available all day in the West Cafeteria of Pioneer High for consultation. In addition there will be a series of workshops continuing all day to discuss issues pertinent to older people.

A podiatrist and a dentist will be available for consultation for part of the day; blood pressure testing and hearing testing and referral will be available at no cost during the hours the fair is open.

For more information, please contact Beth Spencer at 662-3172.

BUY CERTIFIED SEED POTATOES

If you're going to plant potatoes in your garden, be sure to buy certified seed potatoes, advise Michigan State University horticulturists.

These seed potatoes are certified disease-free, the experts explain. You may be successful using non-certified potatoes for seed, but you are more likely to have disease problems.

What Happened To $1-A-Loaf Bread?

A little more than a year ago, the nation's bakers held a news conference in Chicago to warn the consumer that $1-a-loaf bread was just around the corner.

The irrational, unfounded forecasts were made by those unwilling to compete in the market place for their needed products, to force government restrictions on exports. Their play didn't work.

Events since then have embarrassed the industry spokesmen taking part in that fiasco and made them wish they had never mentioned dollar-a-loaf bread.

At that time, wheat was selling for $6 a bushel. Since then, wheat has dropped in price to $3.75 a bushel or thereabouts. But during that same period of time, a loaf of bread that cost 32 cents, now costs 37 cents.

The farm value of the wheat in a single loaf of bread dropped from 7 cents to 5 cents, and the farm value of all ingredients fell from 9 cents to less than 8 cents.

According to a spokesman for the American Bakers Association, the reason for the lack of a price drop at the retail level is because the price of flour has not dropped at the same rate.

While the bakers in 1974 placed much of the blame for bread price increases on the cost of wheat flour, their actual experience during the year indicates that wheat prices cost 41 percent more, energy 41 percent more, and labor was up 19 percent. Four cost them 4 percent more.

Since the talk of dollar-a-loaf bread, Business Week magazine reveals that several baking companies had big jumps in profits. The nation's largest wholesale bakers listed 1974 profits up 13 to 43 percent.

Profits are not bad. They are the building blocks for jobs and a strong economy. But those figures are something to think about when you hear someone talking about what high farm prices are doing to your grocery bill.

It's all evidence that farm prices are not the biggest factor in determining the price you pay for food.

Last Draftee in Airborne Serving As Volunteer

The last draftee in the 82nd Airborne Division now is a volunteer. Specialist 4 Robert T. Orr has re-enlisted for six more years, according to Sgt. Jones, local Army representative.

"Although all draftees were authorized to be released from the Army in November 1974, Orr decided not to get out at that time. 'I just didn't think I would feel right if I would have taken the early out,' he said. 'But at that time I had no idea that I would be re-enlisting and thinking of a career in the Army. Now I think my best chance of job security and a happy life is in staying in it.'"

TRANSPLANT IN EVENING

Transplant vegetables into the garden in the evening, suggest horticulturists at Michigan State University. This will give the plants a chance to get over the shock of transplanting before they have to cope with the hot sun.

Estimated Income Tax Installment Due June 16

Detroit—Taxpayers who filed estimated tax on their 1975 income must pay the second quarter installment by Monday, June 16.

The provision in the law for taxpayers to pay estimated tax in four equal installments means that one-half of the tax should be paid by June 16. Taxpayers should file declaration-voucher No. 2 from the Form 1040-ES package, R. L. Plate, IRS district director, said.

"Taxpayers whose anticipated income during 1975 has changed may have to file an amended declaration. There is space in the estimated tax package to compute an amended estimate," Plate said.

For more detailed information, see Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," available free at IRS offices.

For instance, there is a yellow cube that sits center stage. During the progress of the play it becomes a playground bench for Charlie Brown, a queen's coach and a doctor's booth for Lucy. As before the play's philosophy is reflected in the set.

The charm of the play is that it's not just for the young, but for everyone. Anyone who sees it can find at least in one spot a part of himself.

The production runs from June 19 through June 21. Tickets may be purchased at the Chelsea High school, Chelsea Drug Store, Pump & Pantry, and the Village Book Store. Each show starts at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to have you print this letter to clear up some misconceptions which have been alluded to and propagated in recent letters to the editor in your Standard. Specifically, this concerns the proposed multiple family dwelling plan for the Burg property on Wilkinson St., which was defeated at the Zoning Commission meetings about a year ago.

The facts of the case are: 1) This was not a project of Dr. Michael Papo, but rather of Mr. Gilbert Frimet, an attorney in Detroit. 2) It was not to be a low income or senior citizen housing, but was, to quote the architect at the Planning Commission meeting, "to be two- and three-bedroom apartments to rent in the range of $250 to $350 a month, available to anyone who wanted to rent them." and 3) It was not opposed by a select few people who were against progress and senior citizens, but opposed by every home owner on Chandler, Wilkinson, and the subdivision streets which border on this property for the following reasons:

A) We all bought homes in a zoned single dwelling area with the idea that this is the type place we wanted to live—none of us were particularly anxious to have two-story apartment buildings present in our backyards, so to speak, at a level higher than our windows.

B) None of us were anxious to add to the heavy traffic which already passes the Chandler and Wilkinson exit to Old US-12.

C) None of us were anxious to add to the already overloaded sanitary and surface sewage systems in the Wilkinson area, and

D) We are all more or less opposed to spot zoning, which would potentially open up any area in town to be rezoned for an entirely different use than originally proposed by the Planning Commission and the generally recognized authorities in the town and the township.

I hope this letter clarifies what happened quite a long time ago, because it really has nothing to do with the current hearings on rezoning for another area which is now proposed by Dr. Papo.

Sincerely,

Jerry Waidyke, M.D.

Dear Editor:

This is a letter commenting on the tremendous performance of the Cathedral Quartet (gospel singing group) Tuesday night, May 6, at Chelsea High school.

It is with a sense of pride that Chelsea is still one of those communities that allows activities that Christian families may attend and enjoy together—the very principles this country was founded upon.

The concert was uplifting, challenging, and a source of "power" for that which is good and right and of God—which so often today is not taken a stand for.

Our praise goes out to Chelsea and to Mr. Cameron for their part in such a high moral activity. Thank you.

Dick and Pat Stebelton.

Church Women Seek Aid for Farm Workers

Church Women United have been asked to once again support the Michigan Farm Workers Ministry. In turn, they ask the assistance of the Chelsea community in gathering food and other items.

The following items are especially needed: flour, rice, baking powder, oatmeal, cooking oil, canned soups, corn meal, dry pinto beans, peanut butter, canned meats, dry cereals, coffee, sugar, salt, canned milk, powdered milk, canned vegetables, fruits and fruit juices.

Other items that could be used are blankets, detergents, bath soap and toilet tissue.

The women request that donations not come in the form of home canned foodstuffs, dented cans, perishable food or clothing.

Cash donations are welcome and may be given to Mrs. Harold Rader, Mrs. Merle Leach, Mrs. Tom Baisler, Mrs. Daniel Ramsey, Mrs. Norman Hinderer, Mrs. Tom Eisele or Mrs. Robert Thornston.

DEN 1, PACK 415—

Cub Scouts of Den 1, Pack 415 had their last weekly meeting of this season at the home of their den leader, Aunt Alice Atkinson, at Cavanaugh Lake. The meeting opened with the flag ceremony. We had a few business items to take care of. Then we had games, fun and refreshments. We took home the puddle jumpers we made.

James Pearson is going into Webelos Scout Den in June. Jeff Pratt's family is moving to Illinois, so this was the last meeting he was with us.

We are all looking forward to summertime pack activities. Pack 415 won the highest award you can get at Scout-O-Rama, a three-star banner.

The meeting closed with the Cub Scout promise and plans to remember what it means and follow these ideas during summer vacation.

Band Awards Made at Banquet

Monday evening, June 2 was the setting for the Band Banquet held at Chelsea High school. Following a pot-luck dinner, band members and their parents adjourned to the CHS auditorium where awards were presented.

Mrs. Tom Morrison, 1975-76 Band Boosters president, opened the program with the introduction of past and present members of the executive board and the committee chairmen who were commended for jobs well done. The program was then turned over to Warren Mayer and Ronald Harris, band directors.

Mayer introduced senior members of the Chelsea High school band, commending them for a job well done; for their years of loyalty and the sacrifices it took to stay with the band during their senior year. Senior band members are: Duane Luick, president; Keith Cockerline, Karl Gauss, Tim Guenther, Dale Heydlauff, Merry Hoffmeyer, Steve Kincer, Kim Longworth, Chris Rabbitt, John Wagner and Kevin Schmitke, drum major.

Special awards were given to drum major Schmitke and to the members of the pep band.

Junior band members were awarded pins in recognition of their years of service.

Many fun awards were presented to deserving individuals.

The banquet was sponsored by the Band Boosters, with committee members Mrs. Tom Morrison, Mrs. Vern Otto and Mrs. Robert Robbins tying the loose ends together to make the Monday night affair a successful one.

Youth Jobs Available At Methodist Home

Seven young people will have a chance to earn $504 for eight weeks of work this summer at the Chelsea Methodist Home thanks to CETA, a federally-funded agency, which works to employ and assist economically disadvantaged people.

This summer program is designed to employ seven youth from Washtenaw county (with the exception of Ann Arbor residents, who have their own program) for jobs which will pay them $2.10 an hour.

According to Paul Closson, administrator of the Methodist Home here, CETA has supplied the home with funds to employ seven young people for such jobs as nurse's aide, food service aide, maintenance, etc.

Youth ages 14-21 may apply for the 30-hour week which will run Monday through Thursday. The program will begin the last week in June and continue through the third week in August.

Interested persons may sign-up for jobs at the Methodist Home tomorrow, Friday, June 13, from 3:30 to 7:00 p.m. Youth under 18 years of age must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

The following pieces of identification must be shown to prove one's eligibility for the program. A social security card, verification of residence in Washtenaw county (driver's license or some other identification).

Educational Session Set For Arthritis Sufferers

Persons in the Chelsea-Dexter area who suffer from arthritis or have aching and pain in joints and muscles are the next focus of the Pilot Geriatric Arthritis Project. If you are over age 55, live in Washtenaw county, and have or think you may have arthritis and/or rheumatism, an Educational Forum will be held at the St. Paul United Church of Christ, 1400 Old US-12, Chelsea, Thursday, June 28 at 7 p.m. The meeting will be held in the lower level of the church.

This federally funded program has been in operation for nearly one year, and has provided service for eight rural and urban sites in the county. A team of allied health professionals with special interest and expertise in arthritis treatment will provide screening and educational classes in the Chelsea-Dexter area. Home exercise, joint protection and preservation, use and abuse of medications, and diet instruction will be discussed at these classes.

Dr. Ivan F. Duff, program director and Professor of Internal Medicine at the University of Michigan Medical Center, emphasized that, "In recent years it has become increasingly apparent that a very real problem exists in delivery of patients of the very best medical care. This is true for Americans with arthritis; it is especially true of older people, among whom the frequency of problems with joints is high. In addition, among older persons there are problems of accessibility to medical care and problems in payment of medical care costs. We hope we can help."

To kick-off this program in the Chelsea-Dexter area, an Educational Forum, sponsored by the Arthritis Foundation and the Pilot Geriatric Arthritis Program, is being held at the Chelsea St. Paul United Church of Christ on Thursday, June 28th, at 7 p.m. Dr. Duff will speak about arthritis and answer questions, there will be a film about Osteoarthritis, and there will be an opportunity for persons age 55 and older to sign up for Arthritis Screening Activity appointments.

ASK THE GOVERNOR

by William G. Milligan

Question: I recently read about a new Commission on investigations that you want created to help fight crime. Is this just another government study? We need action, not studies.

Governor: There are indications that one big business which continues to thrive, even during this time of recession, is organized crime. Our antiquated grand jury system is partly to blame for its success.

Under the law, the grand jury can operate for no longer than one year. When its term ends, the evidence it has collected is sealed and stored, according to law. That waste of evidence represents tremendous waste. But it is the kind of waste criminals like to see. The Commission on Investigations I have proposed would be capable of bolstering the grand jury system in important ways. It would be empowered to utilize the intelligence and evidence collected by past and future grand juries.

And, operating as a permanent agency with state-wide jurisdiction, the commission could assist prosecutors in developing evidence needed to take important cases to the grand juries. The commission would constantly be available for that purpose with its own staff of investigators, lawyers, accountants and other specialists. A commission such as this must be armed with extraordinary powers if it is to carry out its unique mission. This commission must be able to subpoena witnesses as well as records; to grant immunity to those it compels to testify; and to petition the state courts for contempt citations against those who refuse to honor commission subpoenas. It would also be required to publish comprehensive reports of the investigations it completes, thus generating both light and heat on and in areas of corruption.

The commission would not prosecute those it investigates. The evidence as well as the criminal intelligence the commission develops would be made available to grand juries, which can indict, and to the local and state agencies, such as prosecutors and the Attorney General's Office, which can prosecute. Bold, decisive action is needed to stop criminal activities in this state. The Commission on Investigations represents that kind of action.

Question: Governor, I'm one of the lucky ones who still has a job. But to help our employer cut back a little without cutting out our jobs, we are taking earlier and longer vacations. I can't afford to take my family out of the state, but I don't want to sit around a home in boredom the whole time either. What

Cameras, Equipment Stolen from U-M Van

A U. of M. professor on a photo field trip with students, reported about $600 worth of cameras and equipment stolen from his van which was parked on Island Lake Rd.

Professor Gordon McBride and his students were taking photos in the area and left the van unlocked at the side of the road, according to reports of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Dexter station. When they returned to the van, they discovered he items missing along with some cash.

The case is under investigation.

Telephone Your Club News To 475-1371.

Is there to do on a very limited budget?

Governor: We in Michigan are very fortunate to live in a state that offers so much diversity. Thousands of out-of-state tourists come here to enjoy fishing on our Great Lakes, camping in our vast forests and woodlands, hiking, berry and mushroom picking. We also have an abundance of historic sites like Mackinac Island and Fayette Village, Greenfield Village and many museums.

To better assist tourists from 18 other states as well as our own residents who want to vacation in Michigan, we have expanded our Tourist Council "hotline" service. You may now call 800-248-5456 toll free for vacation information.

Question: What art activities are going on in this state at little or no cost?

Governor: Since early spring the Detroit Institute of Arts has been touring the state with its "Show on the Road." The DIA is presenting "The Camera and Eye" at Roscommon June 11-30, and "Heart of a Collection" at Owosso June 5-22; Battle Creek, June 26-July 13; and at Alpena, July 17-30.

For more information on summer arts activities in nearby communities, contact the Michigan Council for the Arts at the Executive Plaza Building, 1200 Sixth St., Detroit 48226; or phone (313) 256-3735.

Army Meets Today's Challenge

On June 14, the United States Army will mark the 200th anniversary of its founding. Quite often, when an organization reaches the stage where its anniversaries are measured in 100s, we tend to emphasize not what the organization is, or has done, or will do, but rather how long it's been around.

There's nothing wrong with being cited for your longevity. But it is certainly more desirable to be remembered for your accomplishments.

The accomplishments of the Army are many. Far too many to attempt to enumerate. Let it suffice to say that the Army was formed to defend people who chose to stand independent, and that those people still stand independent.

But in this age of challenged institutions and shaken foundations, one accomplishment of the Army seems worthy of special note. Obviously, today's Army is drastically different from yesterday's. This, we think, is praiseworthy. Such willingness and ability to change is the hallmark of vitality.

The Army has existed for 200 years. Yet it has always been today's Army—reflective of the times, the people and the domestic and worldwide situation. The Army now marks its Bicentennial; not 200 years old, but 200 years young.

Clinton Plans Fall Festival

The Clinton Fall Festival scheduled for Oct. 3, 4 and 5 is closely following its theme "Old Tyme Fall Festival." Chairman of the event, Kathy Thomas, announced recently that Historical Societies throughout the area will be contacted and asked to participate in displaying their artifacts in Clinton merchant windows.
In addition, individuals with private collections, like old dolls, and bells, may take part in the store window exhibit. Anyone interested in making arrangements to take part in the activity should contact Kathy Thomas from 1 to 5 p.m. during the week-day at 456-4167. At night, 456-7348.

Already definitely scheduled to participate in the second annual Fall Festival is the Helgrin Rug Hooking Guild, Irish Peddlers, a moon walk, pig roast and chicken barbecue and various old tyme arts and craft booths. Of course, a Fall Festival wouldn't be complete without a beer tent. And, there are chances a one-ring circus might be scheduled for the afternoon of Oct. 4.

J. Bauer Still Running, And Winning at Age 42

He may be 42 years old, but he is still running, and still winning. . . and still cooking up to 15 hours a day at the Holiday Inn West. For Chelseaites who may not recognize the description of this spry 30-ish looking young man . . . it belongs to John Bauer, a Chelseaites from way back.

John dropped into The Standard offices Monday afternoon to report on a recent victory, his first place in the 40-and-over Sauk Valley 10 kilometer road run. "That's about six and two-tenths miles," he added. John ran the course in 39 minutes; approximately 6:20 per mile, "which isn't very good," according to Bauer.

But he isn't competing too much anymore. His motivations are different. He's not out to win, but just to enjoy the sport. "I'm running slower," he said. "I train for my health, to stay in shape and to keep my weight down."

As a chef, a layman would think that keeping slim for a chef would be a full-time job. John spends some 12-15 hours a day whipping up gourmet delights for the inn's guests, and special conventions of 400 people. "I'm on my feet a lot of the time. After I've cooked for 12 hours or so, I'll take an hour break and run. Most people would go home and conk out. Running, they imagine, would be sheer torture only adding to their exhaustion." But for John, a five to ten mile run buoys him up and he returns to his high white hat refreshed and raring to go.

Robert Baumea pled guilty to charges of impaired overtaking. Fines and costs, $50.

Larry Relitz was found guilty of the possession of marijuana. He was sentenced to six months probation. Fines and costs, $100.

Clement Corone was sentenced to pay the court $34 on charges of having a dog at large.

Joseph Bedra pled guilty to the violation of the basic speed law. Fines and costs, $21.

Edward Sayers, Jr., pled guilty on charges of following too close. Fines and costs, $21.

Charles Huntley was sentenced to one year probation and ordered to attend the Alcohol Safety Action Program on charges of impaired driving. Fines and costs, $200.

Frank C. Hally pled guilty to charges of being drunk and disorderly. Fines and costs, $50.

Apartment Complex Started

There will be quite a bit of activity on the corner of Harrison and East Sts., from now until at least the beginning of September when the first of four eight-unit two-bedroom apartment buildings is scheduled to be completed, according to William C. Weber, the principal partner in a group of local men who are building the complex.

Construction at the site began following the May 5 approval given to the group by the Chelsea Planning Commission.

The units are being built by the W. C. Weber Construction Co. located on Jackson Rd., for School House Apartments of the same address.

There are four eight-unit buildings in total. Each unit is a two-bedroom fully carpeted, air conditioned facility. Each building will have a self-contained laundry. In design, the building will be along contemporary lines with a cedar wood exterior. The grounds will be fully landscaped.

Cost of the construction has been set at $85,000.

Weber, who serves as the principal partner said he and the other owners, Guy Stivers, Earl Heller, Mel Jones and Robert Schenk are looking for a sixth investor for the venture.

He added that the first building should be under roof by the fourth of July and complete and ready for occupancy before school starts.

Tennis Leagues Still Forming for Summer Play

Openings still remain for interested tennis players who would like to play in a league this summer.

According to Terry Schreiner, who heads the program, there will be nine leagues, provided there are at least eight entries per league. Leagues are as follows: Women's A Flight (for experienced players), Women's B Flight (new players), Women's Doubles, Mixed Doubles, Men's A Flight, Men's B Flight, Men's Doubles, Junior Girls (singles, ages 13 through 19), Junior Boys (singles, ages 13 through 17).

To register for a league call 475-2536.

A $2 fee will be required to play. Checks may be sent to Terry Schreiner, 800 Book St.
