Chelsea Products Co. Founder Dies July 17

Robert W. Wagner, 63, of 1231 Meadowbrook, Ann Arbor, founder of Chelsea Products and sales and engineering manager for Dana Corp. here at the time of his death, died on Thursday, July 17, at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, after an illness of several weeks.

ROBERT W. WAGNER

Mr. Wagner was born in Naperville, Ill., on July 2, 1912, a son of William and Elizabeth Biele Wagner. He was married to Electa Armstrong in Detroit on Dec. 28, 1935. She survives.

Educated at Lawrence Institute of Technology in Detroit, Wagner came to Chelsea in 1939, where he was employed by Central Fibre Products Co., from 1939 to 1945. He founded Chelsea Products in 1945, which became a part of Dana Corp., and was president of Truck and Body Equipment Corp. from 1958 to 1969. Wagner had served as chairman of various committees of the Society of Automotive Engineers, of which he was a member for many years.

Surviving, in addition to his widow, are two sisters, Mrs. Florence Halstead and Mrs. Lillian Stuck, both of Detroit; and a brother, Harold Wagner of Traverse City.

He was preceded in death by a daughter, Judith Lynn Owens, who died Jan. 9, 1968.

Private memorial services were held at the chapel at White Chapel Memorial Park, Troy, on Saturday, July 19, followed by burial there. The family suggests that those desiring to do so may make contributions in Mr. Wagner's memory to the Robert W. Wagner Fund for young engineering students through the Burghardt Funeral Home, who handled the arrangements.

Young Actors Workshop Plays Will Be Presented Saturday

This Saturday, July 26, will conclude the Young Actors Workshop program sponsored by the Chelsea Players. The program will end with the presentation of three children's plays performed by workshop participants.

During the past three weeks some 40 children from the community have been taking part in the performing arts. Classes taught include instruction in advanced and beginning acting, dance, set design and construction, and clowning.

In the acting classes, children explored the basics such as projection and diction in speaking, stage presence, as well as techniques in stage illusions; for example, staging a fight without really fighting. The youngsters were also exposed to the importance of movement, voice, facial expressions, costuming, make-up and properties, all of which assist them in creating credible stage characters.

In the dance classes, youngsters learned several routines in modern dance and were given the opportunity to incorporate the steps they learned into routines of their own. Constructing flats out of wood, muslin and sizing; putting together a newspaper called "The Theatre Times" and building replicas of the stage were among some of the activities featured in the set design and construction classes. The children were encouraged to learn by doing. . . . Clowning, a new addition to his summer's workshop proved to be a favorite with the children. Juggling, creating balloon sculptures and a pantomime were included with some history about clowns and a day to experiment with clown make-up.

This last week has been devoted entirely to Saturday's up and coming productions. Rehearsals have been continuous and all the kids are polishing lines, songs and dances and putting the last nail into sets for their respective plays.

"Two's Company, There's A Crowd and Nine's A Team" is a short children's play written and directed by Michelle McClear with her particular students in mind.

The story line deals with the plight of a neighborhood All-Boy baseball team which loses one of its players and as a result is forced to scout for a replacement. When one member of the team, Arnold Fenchly, accidentally asks a girl to be on the team, all breaks loose, leading to nothing but trouble and embarrassment for him. The play is sprinkled with hit tunes from well-known musicals whose lyrics have been adopted to Michelle's creation. The cast includes Pat Powers, Sally Vaughn, Jeff Stirling, Tim Pennington, Chris Tobin, Scott Prohaska, Paul Haydock, Dan Petersen and David Walter. The neighborhood girls include Sara Merkel, Anne Eisele, Linda Hamillon, Lori Evison and Melanie Lee.

The second play, "If You Open the Door for Your Mother, Make Sure She Ain't Holding A Gun," is the work of Jeff Daniels. The play is a musical western centering in Dodge City, Kan. The entire town is a state of panic because the outlaw union, "The Society for the Wild Person's Western Frontier," has decided to hold its annual convention in Dodge City. The only salvation seems to be in the sheriff Lola, and Ben the bartender who put

Moustronaut Play Produced By Children in Recreation Program

This year one of the activities offered by the Chelsea Recreation Department's Earn, Learn, and Play Program was a children's play.

It was adapted and directed by Sharon Heydlauff.

The story which takes place in Merry Mouse Meadow, is about the quest of Orville Mouse, IV, a descendant of Orville Mouse, I, who lived in the Wright Brothers bicycle shop. He feels that mice have always been cowards and perhaps if he demonstrates a deed of bravery himself, the mice around him might become more brave. Orvie then decides to become the first moustronaut. He goes and thus becomes a hero to his peers. The mice steal Thomas Cat's bell, a great feat, in order to show their bravery and to reward Orvie following his safe return from space.

The following were members of the cast: Orvie Mouse, Ted Merkel; Mamma Mouse, Connie Anderson; Frisky, Richy Boham; Whiskers, Paula Dean; Risky, Lisa Dickson; Scamper, Karen Miller; Long Tail, Tim Dmoch; Short Tail, Patty Barth; Nibbler, Beth Fahey; Scribbler, Susan Barcis; Flutter, Shelly Boham; Furry, Susan Barels; Squeally, Tim Dmoch, and Lisa Dickson; Bill, Tom Mull; Jake, David Heydlauff; Thomas Cat, Felicia Poquette; announcer, Gar DeYoe.

Neil Cockerline and Lisa Dickson deserve special recognition for making the props.

Ushers Needed For 'Oklahoma'

Ushers are still needed for the Chelsea Players production of "Oklahoma" to be held July 3, Aug. 1 and 2 in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

Ushers must be of high school age or over. Persons interested in ushering for one or more of the performances should contact Jackie Schiller at the Chelsea State Bank during the day or at home, 475-8540.

Summer Earn, Learn and Play Closing Friday

The final week of the Chelsea Recreation Council's Earn, Learn, and Play program will culminate tomorrow (Friday, July 25) with a Bike Rodeo.

Other activities in the final week of the program included a Frisbee Golf tournament, the special sound of Kent Heller's band and Jaenne Haselschwardt's program of guitar and folksinging.

Construction at the various schools has made it impossible to continue the program as planned.

However, it has been termed "a great success," by recreation director Tom Balistrere. According to Balistrere, 354 children registered for the program. Balistrere also commended his staff for the fine job they have done in making the program what it was.

Pat Clarke was in charge of the playground activities. In addition to this responsibility, he instructed the children in math, and aided in organizing work crew activities.

Helping on the playground and with the work crews were Mr. Winter, Mrs. Arnett and Miss Heydlauff. Miss Heydlauff instructed the children in reading and also produced a play with a group of the children. All three helped each other in the planned activities and according to Balistrere "helped to make the ELP program varied and interesting."

Neil Cockerline did some special art projects for the program. Another artist, Bob Armstrong, helped with activities and did the cartoon characters which will appear on the trash baskets at Veteran's Park.

Heading up the Arts and Crafts program was Miss Wenk. "Children enjoyed doing the fine projects which she organized and especially the paper clip necklaces in which more than 6,000 paper clips were used," said Balistrere.

Gym activities were organized by Mrs. Porter who is currently organizing the children to complete the float for the Chelsea fair. Mrs. Porath has done an outstanding job with the swim program. The three sets of morning swimming lessons were filled to capacity and each afternoon at least 100 children enjoyed swimming at Half Moon Lake. Helping Mrs. Porath keep a keen eye over her charges were Becky Nickels and Vic Steinbach. Tim Ortring was an addition to the staff in the afternoon swim program because of the number of children participating.

Balistrere said that the children have had a great deal of fun as well as helping Chelsea and the recreational areas become more pleasant and cleaner places.

Balistrere commented that he was grateful to all the businessmen and townspeople for their help and co-operation.

Debate Team Members Attend Summer Institute

Three of four members of the Chelsea High school Varsity Debate Team attended a three-week Summer Debate Institute held at the University of South Dakota. Attending were Brenda Shadoan, who is incidentally, the only senior among the varsity squad, Doug Foreman and Barb Hinderer.

Topic for the Institute, assigned as this year's national topic is "Resolved: That Development and Allocation of Scarce World Resources Should Be Controlled by an International Organization." The group's sponsor and coach, William Coelius, said that he feels a lot can be done with this topic; it can go in a number of directions.

Aside from listening in on lectures concerning this year's topic, the threesome spent time learning how to speak, practicing for debates, listening to guest speakers and participating in the Institute's own debate tournament.

involved students from all over the nation, who were attending the summer program.

Coach Coelius reported that his students did exceptionally well, and that he is looking forward to the coming year with his seasoned debaters as well as novices.

Brenda Shadoan took second place for the Varsity Speaker Award. Miss Shadoan also walked off with another second place, for Impromptu Speaking.

Teammate Doug Foreman took a third place in the Interpretive Reading Category.

Coelius told that there are a number of debate institutes available to interested students who apply and that his students chose and financed the trip to the University of South Dakota on their own. . . . although he added that he was in agreement with their choice.

The fourth member of the Chelsea High school Varsity Debate Team is Kim Brown who was unable to attend the program.

Players Presenting All-Time Favorite Musical 'Oklahoma'

"Everything's up to date in Kansas City," sings the cowboy to his friends in "Oklahoma!" the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical comedy that the Chelsea Players is treating theatregoers to at Chelsea High school auditorium beginning July 31 and running through Aug. 2. And the fact of "Oklahoma!" itself as one of the outstanding shows in theatrical history, has brought American musical comedy stage up to date by its influence.

Nowadays, when the trend that was opened by "Oklahoma!" has become so established that nearly all musical shows follow its lead, it is hard to realize how much of a revolution it started. But since that show's sensational success, nothing has been the same.

Before it came along the songs of a musical comedy were set pieces so loosely connected with the story by cues in the libretto's dialogue that they could have substituted from one show to another with only a trifling amount of tinkering with the cues. The dancing in musical comedies was likewise disconnected from the story. And the story of most musicals was nearly always about rich and glamorous people with the locale ranging from the hero's father's Long Island estate (or the heroine's) to the hero's or heroine's yacht. . . . if the story wasn't of the Graustarkian operette kind about royalty, in or out of disguise, or composers at royal courts.

Once before "Oklahoma!", it's true, "Show Boat" in 1927 had the great song "Ol' Man River" being sung by a Negro roustabout in overalls, but generally the workingman was absent from musical comedy.

The characters in "Oklahoma" at first shocked audiences because not one was royal or heir to a fortune. They were all frontier people turning the new soil to what was then Indian Territory, before Oklahoma was admitted to statehood, into ranches and farms. The men all wore cowboy or farmer's clothes and the women gingham dresses. Even the world-famous Theatre Guild had great trouble raising the money to produce "Oklahoma!" because most of the investors approached replied that they could not be interested in a show about farm hands.

An even more startling innovation was the full integration of the songs and dances into the story of the play, so that not only could those parts of the show have never been moved into any other show, but the story itself would have been incomplete without these elements of its narrative. The songs were not separate from the action, but carried it on. And the dances were not simply a matter of a "line" of chorus-girls, coming out to do a fast-stepping tap-dance to win applause by their union, but they were real ballets, expressive of moods and ideas more subtle than words could convey.

Even more surprising was the use of an extremely dangerous, neurotic person (Jud Fry) and a realistically ugly situation in a musical comedy. Previously, solemn story elements were presented so artificially that no one props are, standing, from left to right, David Heydlauff, Connie Anderson, Ted Merkel, the lead moustronaut; Rickey Boham holding a transwhiskers (a mouse version of transistor). In the front are Paula Dean, Shelly Boham and Bonnie Bentley. In all, there were 18 cast members in the production.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Clem Webster got the floor at the start of the session at the county store Saturday night. He stood up and announced that of all the wonders of science and space, nothing in this world or out of it is as amazing as people, and he allowed that he had the clippings to prove it.

For a start, Clem reported where this feller let two people drown after a ship wreck because he wouldn't throw his dog overboard to make room for them in the raft. Folks can get awful attached to their pets, allowed Clem, but when we put more value on them than we do on each other, we're in trouble. And when their pets die, some folks spend more, pound for pound, to bury them than they do their own kin. Clem had saw this piece in the papers where a pet cemetery reported a $700 funeral for a parakeet, and he said he couldn't bring himself to think how much it would cost to bury a horse at that rate.

The fellers were general agreed that pets in this country, dogs particular, are given about the same rank in the social order as sacred cows in India. Zeke Grubb said he would judge from all the dog food advertising that healthy dogs are ahead of healthy people in our order of needs. It ain't no wonder, Zeke allowed, that a lot of people are eating dog food. They probably get more vitamins and minerals from one of them "all meat" products than they could from the stuff they've been eating that's full of cereal, Zeke said, and the next step will be for some Government health agency to declare that table scraps is unfit for canine consumption.

Ed Doolittle said dogs already are healthier than people, according to this piece he saw about treatment of bites. Ed said a doctor at the University of Toronto reported that 47,000 people were treated for bites at a Toronto hospital last year. Most of em were dog bites, the doctor said, but only four per cent of these got infected. In cases of people biting people, the infection rate ran up to 30 per cent. In terms of getting sick from it, you're a heap better off being bit by a dog than a man, Ed reported, which could mean folks ain't taking as good care of their mouths as they are of their dogs.

Turning to another problem, Clem offered a clipping that told of what was called a "sexual identity crisis." Parents that were worried because little boys were giving toy guns to play with now are excited on account of tea sets being pushed for boys and girls. Clem said if little boys that play with guns grow up to be gangsters, won't little boys that play keeping house turn into sissies? This worked into a big deal, Clem said, until some daddy remembering his military days told his little boy his tea set was a mess kit. Now the little feller is a he-man again, pretending to be in the Army.

Like the man said, Mister Editor, different strokes fer different folks.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Even though hearing loss victims are suffering from a very real physical disability, they seldom are shown the concern extended to individuals with other types of handicaps, point out hearing specialists. This is because there are no visible impairments connected with a hearing loss.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Never Again?
Thousands and thousands of dead animals. Law suits over where to bury them. More law suits over who caused the problem. Remember last year's battles over PBB?

Somewhat, a fire retardant chemical, known as polybrominated biphenyl, was mixed into feed instead of an experimental additive. When the problem was finally diagnosed, thousands of animals were slaughtered and the court action began.

Today, Michigan has what Agriculture Department officials hope is another way to help avert any repeat of that tragic mix-up. Gov. William Milliken recently signed the new law requiring that the agriculture director be notified immediately of any feed being recalled that may be of potential danger to animals or cause illegal residues in human food.

No such requirement existed when the PBB problem broke, and the Agriculture Department was not told that the feed had been recalled in January. "But we didn't know until May," a department spokesman said.

Milliken says the new law "will go a long way toward preventing incidents such as the PBB contamination problem.

Besides requiring the notification, the law calls for each feed manufacturer or distributor to obtain a state license. And it creates an inspection fee system based on the tonnage of feed sold.

The law also demands that the date of manufacture of lots, or dating of such a date, be placed on feed containers; and it gives the agriculture director power to promulgate rules and regulations and to revoke, suspend or refuse to license an applicant. That applicant then has the right to a hearing on the matter.

Bumps in the Future?
The higher costs of keeping county roads in good condition—coupled with lower income for doing the job—may point to problems in the future, warns the County Road Association of Michigan. "As a result of declining tax revenues and continuing inflation in operating costs, most counties have had to reduce construction and maintenance, while some have been obliged to lay off employees," says Earl F. Rogers, engineer-director of the Association.

"We are very concerned about maintaining the county roads, let alone making needed improvements, if the gap between revenues and expenses continues to widen."

An association survey of Michigan's 83 county road commissions indicated a nearly 19 percent average increase in county road system maintenance and construction costs over the past year. At the same time, Rogers notes, gasoline and weight tax collections—used to finance state, county and municipal roads as well as mass transit—decreased more than $128,000 during the first quarter of 1975, compared to the same period last year.

Rogers blames a decrease in revenue. Highest cost increase uncovered through the association survey was for steel grader blades, now priced an average of 60 percent more than a year ago.

Care in the Country
If you're driving on country roads this summer, be careful. Meandering down the back county by-ways can be a fine way to spend some time. But watch out for slow-moving farm tractors and other heavy machinery that might also be trundling down those roads.

Farm equipment must carry a slow-moving vehicle sign when it's on the roads, so be on the lookout for the bright-colored triangle.

Smoker Beware!
"Don't smoke up the lettuce" may well be the cry in your supermarket if Democratic Rep. John Markes of Westland has his way.

Markes wants to ban smoking in retail food sales places. "He says folks who don't smoke have no alternative when it comes to grocery shopping. Everybody has to eat, and those who shun tobacco should have the opportunity to buy their food in a smoke-free atmosphere."

In addition, he argues, food packaging isn't always airtight, and smoke can squiggle into unpackaged products. One more point: Markes suggests that a smoking ban in such stores could reduce the establishment's insurance costs. Any such savings, he says, could and should be passed on to the consumers.

Yankees Get Scalped

The fourth week of T-Ball competition saw the Yankees split a two-game schedule, leaving them with an over-all season record of six wins and three losses.

In the Monday night contest the Indians scalped the Yanks with fine defensive play coupled with a strong batting attack. Yankee sluggers could muster only one run in the first inning, compared to nine for the Indians, and then were unable to take the lead, despite fine batting performances by seven players.

Batters collecting four hits in four trips to the plate were veterans Jeff Salyer and Brian Ackley, and rookie Mark Mull, while veteran Tom Schlaff and rookies Tony Hammerschmidt, Scott Salyer, and Keith Niebauer were 3-for-3 in the contest.

Rookie Joe Gallas returned to the line-up after two weeks on the disabled list, and turned in a fine defensive performance. Despite other fine individual performances, the Yankee's defense stumbled in the first and third innings and the final out found the Indians on top by a score of 30 to 25.

In the second game of the week, the Yankees healed the wounds left by the Indian attack and took advantage of first and second inning unassisted double-plays by Keith Niebauer and Eric Green, respectively, to launch an unbelievable defensive assault against the Athletics. Outstanding fielding was turned in by veterans and rookies alike, but most notable was the fine performance by Tony Hammerschmidt.

who has switched from catcher to playing third base and pitcher.

Yankee sluggers continued to swing a hot bat, as rookie Keith Niebauer led the attack with three homers and a single in four trips to the plate. Brian Ackley and Bobby Mock (both 3-for-4) added one home run each, while Chris Gallas added a pair of homers and a pair of singles in four trips. Jeff Salyer (4-for-4) continued his torrid hitting pace by hitting safely every trip to the plate for the seventh consecutive game. Other batters pitching in with a perfect night at the plate were Joe Gallas, Scott Salyer, Andy Martin, and Shannon Darrow who had his longest hit of the season in the second inning when he slammed a triple to centerfield with the bases loaded! Veterans Eric Green and Tom Schaff, and rookie Mark Mull each recorded three hits in four at bats, while rookie Tony Hammerschmidt hit safely twice in three trips.

Braves Win Two

Last week's schedule was a good one for the Braves coached by John Baker, as they won two games and lost one. Highlight was the game played against the Indians, as after a close contest the Braves handed them their first loss of the season.

Coming to their "at bats" in the bottom of the last inning the Braves needed four runs to win. Mark Bentley led off with a home run, his first of the season. "Biff" Buntin and Chris Tarasow singled while Phil Sweet (2-for-3) doubled to score "Biff." Then Ricky Proctor (2-for-3) hit a single over the infield to drive in Chris and Phil with the winning run.

Dave Steinhauer and Matt Grau had hit home runs earlier in the game to help keep it close while Garland DeYoe, Chris Baker, Mark Bentley, Biff Buntin, Chris Tarasow and Jeff Morgan had a perfect night at the plate.

The other team members Scott Mills, Shanga Parker and Joe McDougall also hit the ball well, each of them driving in a run. The final score was Braves 17, Indians 16.

'Oklahoma' Tickets Have Always Been Scarce Commodity

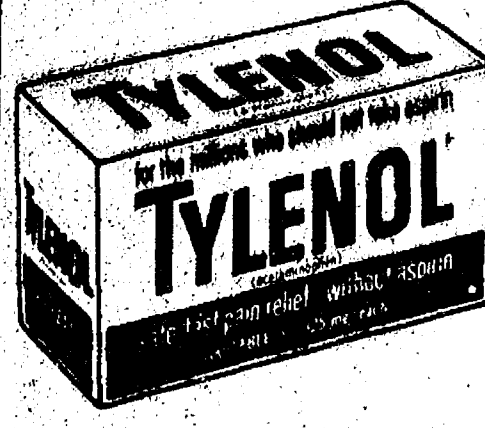

"Oklahoma!", the famous musical comedy to be given by the Chelsea Players at Chelsea High school auditorium beginning July 31 was so popular during its original, record-breaking run in New York (it ran five years and two months) that legends grew up about the extraordinary lengths people were going to in order to buy a pair of coveted tickets. The favorite story of this sort with Oscar Hammerstein, II, who wrote the libretto and lyrics of the classic, was about a young man he knew who lived in the village near his week-end farm in Pennsylvania.

This lad called Hammerstein on the phone one week-end and said he was getting married and would ered if Hammerstein could help him get a couple of tickets to see "Oklahoma!" during his honeymoon in New York. Though tickets were fantastically scarce, Hammerstein said he would use his influence to help the young man. "When are you getting married?" he asked. "Well," replied the cagey fiancé, "first tell me when I can get the tickets."

Cardinals Down Indians

The Cardinals, coached by Jon Schaffner, defeated the Indians, 13-13, in a close, exciting game to move into a first place tie with the Indians. This was the fifth consecutive win for the team.

Defense was the strength of the team at the beginning of the season, but according to Schaffner, hitting has become strong.

Leading the defense is Ken Lindow, Jeff Chandler, Chuck Downer, Eric Schaffner, Dave Hassett and Greg Stoddard. Schaffner says that some of the boys who have been hitting well all season are Kevin Feldkamp, Steve Whitesall, Terry Rivard, Shad Hills, Alan Kuhl and Bill Geddes.

Most improved hitters on the team are Pat Rowe, Eric Bettner and Robbie Riemenschneider.

Schaffner added that a real plus for the team is having Mark Henson back after an injury he acquired earlier in the season. Monday evening, Henson's first night back with the team, he hit a three-run homer.

'Oklahoma' Opening...

expected them to be taken seriously.
The success of this show about life and loves on the Oklahoma prairie in pioneer days not only revolutionized the musical stage of the American theatre but a somewhat related manufacturing field, phonograph recordings. Until 1943, whenever a musical show became a hit, a record might be made of some of the song-hits, with some popular singer doing a medley to a specially syncopated new orchestral arrangement which was a long way from the way audiences heard the songs in the show itself.

But the hit made by "Oklahoma" gave an idea to a man named Jack Kapp, who owned a small, unimportant record company he called Decca. His idea was to record all, not just part of the musical score of the show, precisely as heard in the theatre. He recorded an album with the original cast, the original orchestra and the original score and started what is now standard practice.

Thus the changes wrought by "Oklahoma", from chorus-girl line to the expressive ballet, from spangles and jokes to honest drama plus stirring music, this is the direction that the American lyric stage has been influenced to take.

In the Player's production here, Dennis Bauer will have the part of Curley, the optimistic cowboy who promises his sweetheart to take her to a social in "The Surrey with the Fringe on Top." Laurie Lancaster will be in the role of Laurey, his girl, who adores him in song. "Don't throw bouquets at me," Jodi Daniels will play Ado Annie, the girl who "can't say no," and Howard Salter will portray her sultor who reports tunelessly after a trip to the Big City that "Everything's Up to Date in Kansas City." Bill Coelius will be seen as the comically slippery Persian Peddler, Ali Hakim, and Jeff Daniels will play the menacing Jud Fry. Jan Koenigter will be seen as Aunt Eller. Those leading players will be supported by a cast of 40. Di-Ann L'Roy is directing the production with Joan Yocum staging the dances and Neil Cockerline designing the sets.

L'Roy reminds theatregoers that all seats are reserved and are on sale at Pump & Pantry in Chelsea. "I think this will be one of the best shows that we've produced in Chelsea. Joan and Neil have outdone themselves as usual, and the cast is energetically polishing the show for opening night. We will be using a third again as many lights as we normally do so that we can do more special effects during the dream ballet."

Carrie Bruck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bruck of 17715 Old US-12, is in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in room 487 recovering from surgery. She will remain in the hospital a few more weeks and would appreciate receiving cards. Carrie is a sixth grader at Beach school.

"IF YOU OPEN THE DOOR FOR YOUR MOTHER MAKE SURE SHE AIN'T HOLDING A GUN". Whew... it's a long one, but that is the name Jeff Daniels has given to the play that he and his workshop members will perform this Saturday afternoon in the CHS auditorium. The kids have been working on the play as part of their training in the drama workshop. While not in costume, the kids struck a pose from the performance. In the front from left to right, Tim Whitesall, Duane Branch, Tanya Matloff, Kathy Haydock and Gayle Bauer. In the second row are John Haydock, Steve Cattell, Phil Powers, Dan Pennington, Mike Cox and Mike Ward. In the third row, Linda Thornton, Chris Check, Mardy Stirling, Tracy Cattell and Kirk Hawks. Not present for the photo was Jeff Cox.

Reds, Mets, Tigers in Tie for League Lead

In girl's softball action last Thursday the Mets played the Athletics for a 21-11 win over their opponents. Tammy Collinsworth had four hits to lead the team. Wendy Myers and Lori Miles followed close behind their teammate, each with three hits.

The Tigers were able to top the Dodgers last Thursday. The final score: 30-19. Candy Schirmacher hit five for the Tiger team, one of which was a home run. Donna Bauer had four hits for the team. Dodger player, Penny Bortless hit a home run.

The Reds led by Tracie Borton and Veronica Satterthwaite, each who had three hits, defeated their opponents, the Twins, in a 15-7 game.

Tuesday afternoon, the girl's battled the sun and the dusty diamonds.

The Athletics took a close 15-14 victory over the Tigers in a super come back from a 12-3 deficit to upset the league-leading Tigers. Kim Wood had three hits for the Athletics; Cathy Villemure slammed two doubles for the A's. Tiger players, Candy Schirmacher, Jackie Lamb and Donna Bauer each had four hits.

feat the Twins, 16-10. Lori Inbody had two home runs. She, along with Penny Bortless who had one homer, led the Dodgers to their victory. Patty Hume had three hits for the Twins.

The Reds were led to the top of the standings Tuesday afternoon when Cathy Volta hit two home runs to win the game against the Mets, 23-21. Another homer for the Reds was hit by Veronica Satterthwaite.

Next weeks games will be played at 1 p.m. on the diamonds at Chelsea High school. On Tuesday, the Athletics will meet the Reds; the Dodgers will play the Mets; and the Twins will play the Tigers. Old-Fashioned Threshing Party THRESHING PARTY: Despite the cloudy and forbidden sky last Saturday afternoon, Don Irwin tractor seat which powers Paul Bollinger's (right) still had a good turn-out for his old-fashioned wheat threshing party. Sitting on the tractor seat which powers Paul Bollinger's (right) all-wood thresher is Bill Kuhl.

THIS ALL-WOOD THRESHER was, among at least five historical pieces of farm equipment found at the Don Irwin farm last Saturday afternoon. People from neighboring areas gathered to either participate in or observe the process of an old-fashioned harvest at Don Irwin's farm. This thresher of the early 1900 era seemed to have no trouble in getting the job done. Pictured at work are Don Bollinger (son of Paul who owns the thresher) who is feeding bundles of wheat into the thresher, and Laverne Hafner waiting to receive a half bushel of wheat from Howard Haselschwardt who acted as the official grain tender.

REMEMBER WHEN wheat harvest was a hot, dirty job requiring the labors of a large crew? Don Irwin, assisted by many friends who wanted to reminisce, relived the past Saturday in an old-fashioned threshing party. Here we see three "volunteers" pitching bundles of wheat into the separator which removes the kernels of wheat from the straw.

Walt's Scores Near Miss in Tournament

The Class A State District Men's Slow-Pitch Tournament was held this past week-end in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

Three local teams were involved as representatives of the community. They were Walt's Barber Shop, McCalla's Feeds and IPSCO.

Despite a great deal of confusion and chaos Saturday the tournament was completed Sunday. Both IPSCO and McCalla's Feeds were knocked out of the tournament in their first games; however, Walt's survived until the final game of the tournament before being defeated by Pizza Bob's in the championship game.

Walt Prater, owner of Walt's Barber Shop here in Chelsea and manager of the team, commented that he felt his team played extremely well throughout the tournament and even though they failed to win the final game, the second-place finish in an area covering Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Saline, Manchester and Chelsea was not all bad.

Walt's began their winning ways on Saturday when they defeated the Old, Heidelberg team, 4-2, Scott Masonry 9-3 and finally North Main Standard 11-0. On Sunday they returned and just got by Hugh's Blues, who had defeated McCalla's Feeds on Saturday with a four-run come-back in the bottom of the seventh inning. Two of the big hits in this win were a bases loaded drive off the fence by Dan Wilson and then a long home run by Chris Collier.

Walt's next victim was Conrac and Walt's just managed to get by them, 4-3, in a tight well-played game. This put Walt's in the championship game against Pizza Bob's which marked the end of the road for Walt's Barber Shop. Walt's lost, 19-8 as they gave Pizza Bob's a big inning and could not come back.

Walt Prater said that the tournament showed that his team was really well balanced as everyone contributed to their success. However, under pressure, Walt did comment that he got excellent pitching from both of his pitchers, Gary Cornish and Randy Myers, as well as the usual fine hitting of Dan Wilson and Chris Collier, who have both been outstanding during the entire season. Also, mentioned for their outstanding play were Roger Myers at second base and George Stephens at third base.

My commission expires December 18, 1978.

He's only 30 and he just bought a $50,000 life policy.

Sure, a $50,000 life policy could cost a lot of money...but it doesn't when it's "altogether!" When we say "altogether" we mean Perma-Term - permanent term insurance combined to avoid those big premiums, but still deliver the big protection young family men need. It means you could have a $50,000 policy which lets you build up a retirement income at the same time! Yes, Perma-Term's easier on the budget, but please remember that costs go up as you grow older. So give us a call now - before another birthday gets past you altogether!

it's better
altogether

Close Race Develops for Titles In Adult Softball Leagues

With just two and one-half weeks to go in the softball season in Chelsea, things are still very tight in the Fast-Pitch League. Jiffy remains in first alone, as the other teams continue to knock each other about.

After Jiffy's defeat of Chelsea Milling in the first game on Monday, the week's action seemed to center around the two Ann Arbor Centerless games, on Wednesday and Friday. First was a mild upset as Stivers defeated Centerless rather easily. However, of even greater surprise was the Friday game which saw Centerless easily defeat 3-D Sales. This leaves Jiffy in first with 3-D Sales and Centerless tied for second.

Bennett Installation made a comeback of sorts as they won twice, defeating Thompson's Pizza on Monday and Zion Lutheran on Wednesday. The final game of the week saw Thompson's Pizza turn the tables on Stivers as they beat them in the late game.

Saturday saw the cancellation of the scheduled Fast-Pitch tournament as one field was rained out completely. Re-scheduling became impossible with the state tournaments coming up on the next two week-ends. All games for the state tournaments will be held in Ann Arbor for the D District at Vets Park.

AMERICAN LEAGUE CLASS A SLOW-PITCH

Walt's Barber Shop has a three-game margin in Class A Slow-Pitch for first place, but it is still a struggle to see who will finish in second as four teams still have a chance at the second spot. Walt's remained undefeated by beating Rulea Farm and Ganjai Oil, while IPSCO moved into a tie with Village Motors by defeating the Mark IV Lounge twice. Village Motors lost to the Ann Arbor Eagles on Tuesday but came back in a good game to defeat McCalla's Feeds on Thursday. The Ann Arbor Eagles also defeated Rulea Farm, which put four teams with three or four losses still in the race.

NATIONAL LEAGUE CLASS B SLOW-PITCH

Bollinger Sanitation and Federal Screw Works are now tied in the Class B Slow-Pitch League as Bollinger lost twice during the week, first to the Wolverine Bar and then to arch rival Federal Screw. Also, of interest was that Fortune Industries not only gained their first win of the season, but two in one week, beating Federal Screw and the Wolverine Bar (the two teams that defeated Bollinger Sanitation), so it would seem that any one is fair game. Norm's Body Shop kept themselves in contention by beating 3-D Sales on Monday, which leaves them only one game out of first. Two games back is 3-D Sales when defeated the aroused Fortune team in a close game on Thursday. This leaves the entire league up in the air as any of the four teams could still win.

Class of '77 Still Needs Help on Float

The Chelsea High school class of 1977 will hold another meeting on Saturday, July 26 at 12 noon at Pierce Park.

According to Brenda Salyer, class president, the class still is in need of a garage and a wagon for the float they are building in connection with the Chelsea Community Fair.

Persons willing to donate the use of their wagon or garage should contact Brenda at 475-1790. All class members are urged to attend Saturday's meeting.

Lee DeForest, the "father of radio broadcasting," was born on Aug. 26, 1873. At the age of 16, he decided to become an inventor, but it was not until after receiving his PhD from Yale that he got into the field of wireless telegraphy, wire telephone, radio-telephone, sound-on-film talking motion pictures, television and radio therapy. Many examples of DeForest's inventions are now a part of the collections of Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

'Oklahoma' Title Tune Adopted as Official State Song

Did you know that the rousing title song of the great Rodgers and Hammerstein musical "Oklahoma!" was adopted as the official song of the state where, according to the song, "the wind comes sweeping down the plain, and waving wheat can sure smell sweet when the wind comes right behind the rain?"

However it nearly wasn't. When the Oklahoma legislature was about to vote final passage of a bill adopting the song as the state's anthem, one member of the house complained that "the song can't be sung."

Another representative, in favor of the bill, jumped to his feet and said he'd prove it could be sung, by singing it right there and then. The sponsor of the bill quickly interrupted. "No, no," he cried, "if he sings it, he'll kill the bill." Since the would-be singer was eager to have the bill passed, he yielded to this argument, and the bill was overwhelmingly passed.

Painting this weekend?

This is the label to look for. It's around the paint that washes, washes and washes.

It's Dutch Boy's remarkable Nalplex. The latex flat wall paint that's not only just washable. It's odorless, quick-drying. And covers in just one coat. More important, Nalplex doesn't change color. Which means your walls stay looking fresh and bright. Which is what you want. Right?

You will remember the quality of Dutch Boy paints long after the price is forgotten.
