Volunteers Needed At Methodist Home

The volunteer program at the Chelsea United Methodist Home will begin the new year with general meetings in the Crippen Building Thursday, Jan. 8 at 1 p.m. or Monday, Jan. 12 at 9:30 a.m. Both meetings are for volunteers already participating in the program and those who wish to become volunteers.

Following a coffee hour, Mrs. Jane Schairer, volunteer co-ordinator, will lead an informal discussion of the volunteer program. A video tape on "Sensory Losses of the Elderly" will be shown, followed by an opportunity for everyone to share ideas and experiences informally.

The need for volunteers at the Home is particularly great during the winter months, when residents are not as able to get out because of the weather. The volunteer program especially needs people to assist in the craft program on Tuesday morning at 9:30, which is led by Gloria Greenleaf, leaders for an exercise program for nursing patients; volunteers to man the notions cart on Thursday afternoons; and people to be "friendly visitors."

G. P. Gorman Dies Dec. 24 At Hospital

Galbraith P. Gorman, 86, died Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 24, at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after a month's illness. Born July 16, 1889 in Lyndon Township, he was the son of James and Nellie E. Bingham Gorman.

A veteran of World War I, U.S. Army, Mr. Gorman was a resident of Dexter since 1916 when he started the Gorman Funeral Home (now the Hosmer Funeral Home) which he operated until 1946.

He was a member of St. Joseph Catholic church; a graduate of Chelsea High school in 1909, of Ferris Institute in 1913, and a graduate of a Mortuary Course, 1914, U. of M.; a member of the Dexter Area Historical Society, an honorary and life member of the

Training for the volunteer work is provided by the staff under the direction of Mrs. Patti Lawson, director of volunteers. All that the volunteer needs to supply is time and concern for older people. For further information, call Mrs. Lawson at 475-8633.

Two Courses Starting for Senior Citizens

Washtenaw Community College, as part of its outreach program, will be starting two new courses for Senior Citizens in the Chelsea area. These courses are free to anyone over 55 years of age and retired or to anyone over 60. The 16-week courses will be given at the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home, 800 W. Middle St.

A class in "Biography and Memoirs," taught by Dr. Sarah White will begin Wednesday, Jan. 7 at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. White, who is both a student and a teacher of literature and history, is very interested in the accounts of the lives of men and women and their struggles with historical changes around them.

Participants in the class will read some biographies and memoirs, which will be chosen by the group. These will be followed by discussions of various ways to interpret the course of an individual's life. Group members will try writing and sharing some brief memoirs and biographical sketches. However, writing ability is not a requirement for the class. This class is particularly relevant during the bicentennial year, when so much emphasis is being placed on the importance of recording the historical anecdotes and recollections of this country's senior citizens.

Lima Township Supervisor Quits Post

Lima Township Supervisor Edwin J. Coy resigned his post as of Jan. 5, to assume a full-time position as a legislative agent for the Michigan Township Association.

Coy who has served as supervisor for five years, submitted his resignation to the board Dec. 26.

Coy's term would have expired in November of 1976. Persons interested in assuming the position may submit a resume or make their intent known to the board or the township clerk, Lella C. Bauer, 13000 Scio Church Rd., Chelsea.

CHS Seniors in Who's Who Among American Music Students

Three Chelsea High school seniors have been named to the 1976 edition of "Who's Who Among Music Students in American High Schools." Named to the honored volume are Dennis Bauer, Nancy Heppburn and Douglas Beaumont.

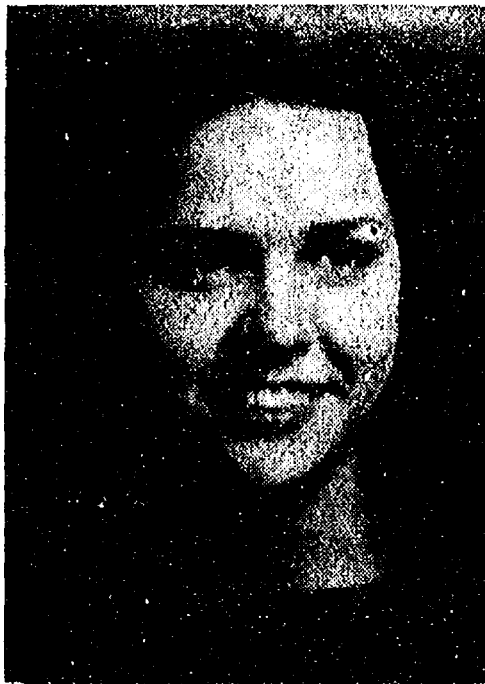

The students were nominated by their choral director DiAnn L. Roy. According to the nominating guidelines, students named to the volume must possess outstanding musical ability and have contributed to the school's over-all music program, show personal growth and development through participation in band, or orchestra or choral activities, have displayed citizenship and service to their school and community and have maintained an average of C or better throughout high school.

For Chelsea High school senior Dennis Bauer, his athletic career at CHS is perhaps more renowned than his musical abilities. However, Dennis has displayed an enormous aptitude for music over the years at Chelsea.

Aside from being a three-year member of "The Villagers" and a four-year choir member, Dennis has participated in six Chelsea Musicals and most recently played "Curtie" in the Chelsea Players production of "Oklahoma!" produced last summer on the CHS stage.

A member of the National Honor Society Dennis hopes to pursue a college football career at a local university. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bauer of 19017 Waterloo Rd.

musical career such as hers, one would think Nancy would attend a school of music at some college or university. However, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Heppburn of 1191 Pierce Rd., will enter the University of Michigan's School of Nursing next fall.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Beaumont of 335 Washington, Douglas Beaumont, takes credit for being in eight Chelsea High school productions. His most recent appearance being in the drama class production of "I Remember Mama."

Doug has been a member of the band for 5½ years and the choir for four years. As both Nancy and Dennis, he has been a member of "The Villagers" for three years.

Aside from leaning toward music, Doug can be found on the tennis courts in the spring as a member of the tennis club. He is a working member of the high school's student council.

Next year he will attend Eastern Michigan University's School of Dentistry.

Personal Notes

Mrs. Floyd E. Gentner of 316 Jackson St., spent Christmas week with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Duane L. Gentner, daughter Lisa and son Christopher, of Hanover Park, Ill.

Postal Rate Increases

No longer will the lick of a 10 cent stamp do the trick on your first class mail. As of midnight, Dec. 31, 1975, U. S. first class postage rates rose 26 percent. The cost of a first class stamp for the first ounce is now 13 cents.

Other rate information may be obtained by calling the Chelsea Post Office at 475-1441.

Steady Growth Rather Than Great 'Boom'

By Babson's Reports, Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass.

In its forecast for 1975 published a year ago, the staff of Babson's Reports envisioned an unfolding scenario far less pessimistic than the general atmosphere prevailing at that time. The primary message then was that the nation's problem for the ensuing 1975 calendar year was a recession and not a devastating depression. This thesis was predicated on the probability that recuperative forces would start to emerge as imbalances in the economy were corrected.

Babson's 1975 forecast also called attention to the various cushions which would play a vital role in lessening the severity of the recessionary forces despite the doom and gloom psychology holding sway as 1974 drew to a close. At the same time, however, the forecast warned against expecting the sort of rapid recovery from setbacks that this nation had experienced over the past 30 years. The causes of this latest recession were particularly deep-rooted and there was no question but that they would be difficult to cure.

1976—Over-all Prognosis Favorable

Everything considered, however, the staff of Babson's Reports forecasts further economic progress for 1976, even though readers of this column should not expect a return to outright boom conditions. Unwieldy inventories and short-term business and consumer debts have been reduced over the past year or so, but the real stuff needed to spark a protracted upsurge—aggressive business and consumer purchases, plus massive capital expenditures—are simply not on the first quarter could well be the horizon. As things stand, the best part of the year in terms of economic expansion. While the ensuing quarters will lack on additional gains, the size of the year-to-year improvements will diminish as 1976 progresses. But the key is that the trend will be upward throughout the entire year.

GNP—With and Without Inflation

In terms of "current dollar value," the nation's Gross National Product in 1976 should score an advance of some 11 percent over the 1975 totals that look as though they, in turn, would barely eclipse those of 1974 when final tally is made. While an increase of 11 percent may seem impressive, the force of upthrust will not be all that great. The broadest year-to-year gain will be seen in the first three months because this quarter is compared with the deepest point of the recession when the rate of inflation was still intolerably high. The moderate and low-key nature of the business uptrend can be better appreciated by projecting the GNP on a constant-dollar basis (1958 as the base period), adjusted to remove the influence of inflation. Babson's Reports projects the "real" GNP for 1976 at 4 percent above that for 1975. This upshading is only a bit greater than the basic growth rate of the economy and surely does not merit a "boom" label.

Keep An Eye on Inflation

By and large, 1975 witnessed a fair degree of success in damping the fires of inflation. While this corridor of purchasing power remains uncomfortably high, its impact has been materially reduced in the course of the past 12 months. In early 1976, inflation should be moderately well contained, but with the advent of the spring months upward pressures will again strengthen. As was the case in the past two years, this will be due to cost-push rather than demand-pull factors. The latter, however, could compound the problem somewhat in the middle and latter parts of the year as business makes headway. In the initial months of 1976, inflation will not build in direct proportion to the amplitude of new wage hikes, since the substantial reservoir of under-utilized production capacity in many industries and the cautious buying policies of consumers and businessmen militate against free and unrestricted price markups.

But this barrier against inflation will be increasingly difficult to maintain as 1976 proceeds. The cumulative effects of boosts in labor costs, shipping charges, and other operating expenses will eventually offset some of the benefits of higher production and sales, squeezing profit margins to such an extent that only compensating price boosts can alleviate the situation. Also, continuing massive deficits in the federal budget will add potent fuel to inflation, both psychologically and to the degree that such deficits are monetized. We envision inflation averaging some 7 percent in 1976.

Inventories—Less Dominant in 1976

Sudden changes in the policy of business toward inventory holdings in the year ahead will not be the dominating influence on economic activity that they have been in the past two years. The Arab oil embargo created fear of supply shortages and price increases. The ensuing spurge of inventory accumulation served to buoy 1974's business for the better part of the year before it was realized that consumers had altered their spending pattern and that high borrowing costs were negating the cost benefits of stockpiling. The resultant turnabout in policy in favor of retrenchments in inventory holdings and bank loans triggered the sharp slump in industrial activity in late 1974 and early 1975. And, here again, in some segments of the economy businessmen over-reacted. So, as signs of a loosening of consumer purse strings were seen, overly deep slashes in inventories had to be corrected. It was this move to replenish stocks of raw materials and finished goods which brought about the unexpectedly early and steep business climb starting in the second quarter of 1975.

Such pronounced swings in business inventories are not likely to be repeated in 1976. There may be some stockpiling early in the year to hedge against the debilitating effects of a possible protracted tie-up of the nation's trucking industry by the teamsters early next spring, but for the most part labor negotiations during the year ahead do no involve industries which would require intensive strike-hedge inventory accumulation. Moreover, the somewhat more liberal consumer spending pattern is neither deep-rooted nor extensive enough to encourage merchants to load up. And manufacturers and retailers still haunted by memories of the surplus goods of the past 18 months are not anxious for a repeat of that fiasco.

Industrial Production

The last major cyclical upturn in industrial production peaked in the latter part of 1973. Except for a moderate adjustment, factory operations were sustained near the top level for almost a year owing to the scramble for inventories. Finally, however, the stagnation in consumer demand forced a drastic liquidation of surplus stocks during the second half of 1974 and triggered the nosedive in production.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

It was kind of a winding down time at the country store Saturday night, Ed Doolittle's girl that works in the city still was visiting her folks, so the fellers had to call Ed down a time or two on account of he was of such a strong mind to talk all night on what a mess life is getting to be in the cities and how we had ought to give more thought to how good life is out here in the country. The fellers was agreed that Ed sounded like a broken record, and that if Ed's girl was having it as rough as she tells her folks ever Christmas she ought to stay home and hide under the bed.

Natural, allowed Zeke Grubb, this is a time for families to be close and to review the year that's about to end, but Zeke recalled that back in the summer Ed's girl was reporting where she had took in this concert in the park and that free art show, and that it was to bad that culture couldn't get out in the country. It seems that folks look for the bad side right now to offset the good reason for the holiday, was Zeke's words.

Fer instant, went on Zeke, the papers allus carry items on the holiday traffic deaths, and they don't bother to compare em with other times. We are supposed to think folks don't get killed in wrecks except on holidays. And there's allus that angle on ever story, like the young feller that fell off his motorcycle in North Carolina and lay aside the road cause nobody would stop. This might of happened any time of year, but it was turned into a Christmas story cause it showed we don't care about one another. Zeke said he thought on Christmas day that we don't have to look for evidence that peace on earth and good will toward men ain't caught on yet. He said Christians are fighting Moslems in Lebanon and Christians are fighting one another in Ireland and there still are folks mean enough to beat and rob a 104-year-old blind man and wife fer a few dollars. But all that don't make Christmas any less, Zeke allowed.

General speaking, the fellers was with Zeke that Christmas is a time of promise, and it can't hurt to look for a cloud with a silver lining. It was Bug Hookum that reported where the post office is showing some good signs. He said the mail still is moving at a big loss, but Congress final has come around to the idea that trying to make the mail pay its way was a bad idee. Bug had saw where money fer the mails now will come from Congress, and the Postal Service will have to make up a budget and ask fer funds to operate just like other Government services.

Clem Webster cheered the fellers with word that somebody in Washington had confessed that some Federal agencies ain't needed, and had said we ought to phase out the Consumer Products Safety Commission in just six years, which is short fer phasing out anything in Government.

With that, Mister Editor, the fellers broke up to go home and see what Christmas leftovers they could git their old ladies to warm over fer a late supper.

Yours truly,

Uncle Lew.

Who?

Citizician . . . Not exactly a household word—yet but Paul W. Stearns, chairman of the Ingham County Republican Party, has high hopes.

Credited with introducing the word (pronounced sif-iz-shan), Stearns explains the obvious, that it's a combination of "citizen" and "politician." He says the new term is an attempt to name those who are "increasingly taking a responsibility for the direction which this country is going."

Just plain "citizen" won't work, because that denotes "one who has an allegiance and duty to the government where he resides." It doesn't necessarily mean active participation.

And "politician" won't work either. Stearns says that term "has come to have an entirely negative connotation with the public."

Hence, "citizician."

Anybody can be one—Republican, Democrat, independent or whatever.

All a person need do is commit him or herself to making an impact on the government where he resides. That means voting, of course, but it also means more.

A citizician works for political parties and candidates, helps get out the vote on election day and maybe even becomes a candidate himself.

Stearns says citizician "is quickly becoming a household word among mid-Michigan Republicans." And he's asking President Ford, Gov. William Milliken and others to help urge citizen-politicians to action.

Right Face!

You can't unless you're told you can these days.

Come April 1, you can unless you're told you can't.

Gov. William Milliken recently signed legislation that will allow drivers to turn right after stopping for a red light—if the intersection is not posted with a "No Turn on Red" sign.

The right-turning motorist will have to yield to pedestrians and other intersection traffic before completing his turn.

Is not posted with a "No Turn on Red" sign already are on order.

They'll be posted at intersections designated by the state and county and city officials, depending on who has jurisdiction.

At least 25 other states already allow turns at red lights.

Backers of the system say it eases traffic congestion and reduces the amount of gasoline wasted by idling engines at red lights.

Machines vs. Paper

"Back to paper ballots." May happen, according to Bernard Apol, Michigan's elections director.

Apol says there is a "strong possibility" that lever-operated and even computer-type equipment now in use will be inadequate for all the political parties and candidates in next year's election. In that case, the paper ballot may have to be reinstated.

Hint and Reminder

Hunters and trappers get these notes from the Department of Natural Resources: Careful of your eyes—and watch those new regulations.

Last year, two persons lost sight in both their eyes as a result of hunting accidents. Generally, half a dozen hunters a year are accidentally hit with buckshot and become blinded by it.

James R. Walker, DNR recreational safety specialist, says an investment of just $1.50—for plastic safety glasses—can prove an effective safeguard.

"To satisfy myself, Walker says, 'I've blasted away at those glasses (available from most sporting goods dealers) with a shotgun from a close distance and they do stop the buckshot that sportsmen would normally use for hunting grouse, pheasants or rabbits."

"For $1.50, how can you lose?"

Trappers, meanwhile, should be aware of two major changes in regulations for 1976. They must:

—Conduct daily checks of any leg-hold traps that hold animals alive.

—Set no traps within 10 feet of a beaver dam, in order to protect nontarget animals that may use the dam as a bridge for crossing streams.

Beaver and otter may be taken in the Upper Peninsula starting Jan. 1; in the northern Lower Peninsula beginning Feb. 14; and in southern Lower Michigan from March 10 to April 25. License dealers can provide details for trappers.

Early Filers

Get Faster

Tax Refunds

Detroit—Taxpayers who file their returns in January or early February can expect any refund due in four to five weeks or roughly half the time late filers will have to wait, R. L. Plate, IRS district director for Michigan, said.

In urging taxpayers to file early, Plate said that individuals who delay filing until late March or April—the peak filing time—may have to wait for their refunds as long as 10 weeks.

Another advantage to filing early, according to Michigan's district director, is avoidance of careless errors often made by last-minute filers who are rushed. These errors—which frequently involve incorrect arithmetic, use of the wrong tax table, or failure to sign the return—can further delay processing of the return as well as the refund check.

Plate said that taxpayers should begin now to gather their records, such as receipts or canceled checks, to substantiate itemized medical deductions, charitable contributions, and other deductions.

With records in order, Plate added, the taxpayer can begin to fill out the tax return as soon as the tax package arrives by mail within the next two weeks.

Last year, Michigan taxpayers received 2 1/2 million refunds amounting to $1.2 billion.

S.E. Michigan Aerial Photos Now Available

The Southeast Michigan region has undergone visible developmental changes in recent years.

Now area residents have an opportunity to see what these changes look like from 12,000 feet in the air following completion of a new aerial survey of the seven counties of Southeast Michigan.

The survey, authorized by the Executive Committee in February 1975, is part of SEMCOG's continuing effort to serve local governments in the region.

Aerial surveys serve as an up-to-date visual record of the growth and development of a community or region, and are used by local communities to study and plan for future development.

"The Council has found that aerial photography is of great use in regional planning," remarked SEMCOG Chairman Conrad L. Mallett, Wayne county commissioner.

St. Clair County Commissioner William Smiley agreed. "Their value in land use planning," he said, "is unquestioned, because of the many land use changes in the past five years that can be pinpointed in aerial photographs."

Their high degree of accuracy in showing fine detail, exact shapes and land forms makes aerial photographs a useful tool in land use planning, rezoning studies, analysis of population density, street planning and inventory, traffic studies, market analysis and much more. Much of this fine detail is not recognizable by ground surveys.

A total of 1,848 individual photographs were taken of Southeast Michigan. The individual photographs show about 10 square miles of land and are available in 9 x 9-inch glossy prints which may be enlarged up to 10 times.

Also available are 40 x 60-inch prints representing three square miles of land. In addition, mosaics covering areas of varying scales are available. SEMCOG has contracted with Abrams Aerial Survey Corp. of Lansing for reproduction services.

A previous survey was completed in 1970 when SEMCOG joined with the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation for a full seven-county flight SEMCOG plans to provide this service to Southeast Michigan on a five-year basis.

Prints may be purchased for a minimal fee by all local governments in Southeast Michigan.

Christmas Cards Started in England

England gets credit for introducing Christmas cards to the world. The holiday sending tradition began there in the 1840s, but did not spread to the United States until the late 1870s when the English firm of Marcus Ward and Company began selling cards on this side of the Atlantic.

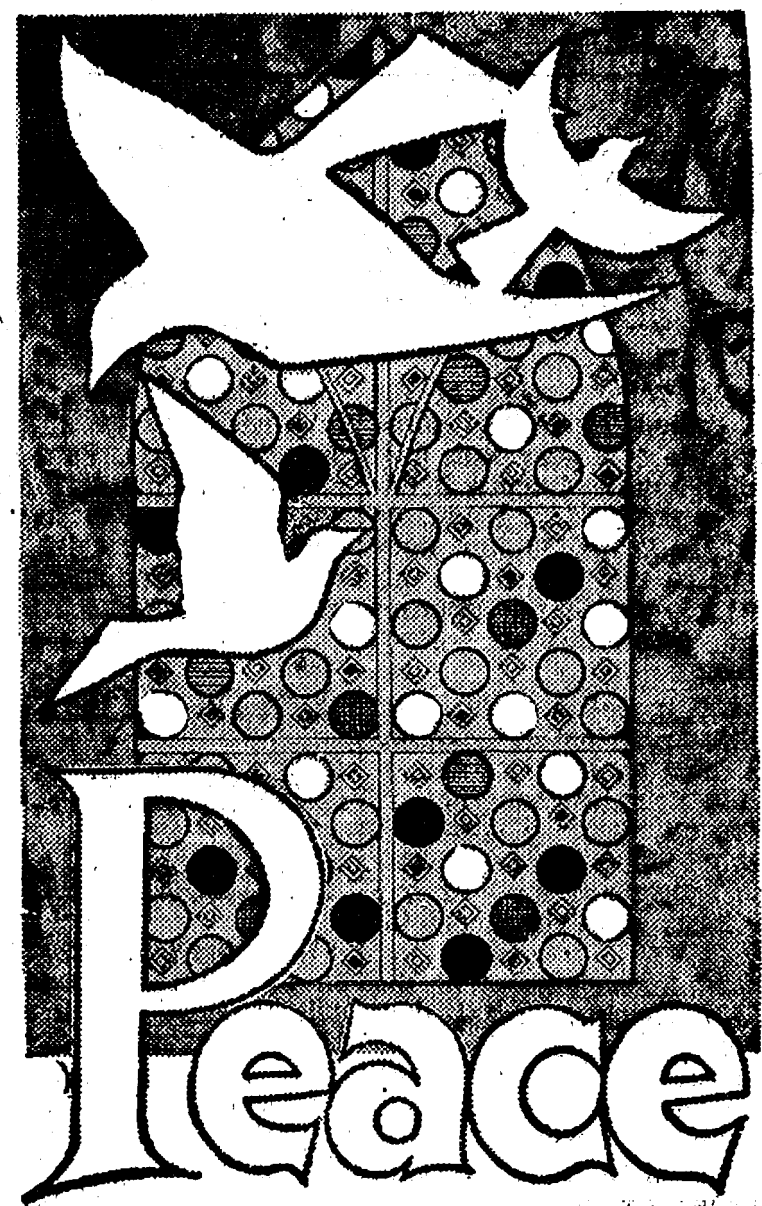

A Boston firm, L. Prang and Company, soon picked up on the idea and even began offering prizes for the best designs for Christmas cards. By 1881, Prang was turning out some five million cards annually. In the nearly 100 years since then, the Christmas card industry has grown in this country by leaps and bounds.

Cager of the Week

ANTHONY HOULE (12): A wish to see his name on CHS's varsity basketball roster came true for junior guard Anthony Houle this year. The 5'9", 145-pound player expressed this wish during the football season, when as a junior quarterback for the Bulldogs he was interviewed for Gridder of the Week. As a member of the basketball team, Anthony like most of the players has probably found the going not all that easy. However, he has shown some steady playing, putting in a couple of shots consistently each game. In the spring he would like his turn at bat with high school baseball team. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Houle, Anthony is one of six boys.

Business Preview for '76

In the six months encompassing the final quarter of 1974 and the first quarter of 1975, the economy was battered by an awesome sequence of events: Production curtailments, shortened workweeks, employee layoffs, and plant closings. But since the upturn last May, the Federal Reserve Index of Industrial Production has advanced steadily and somewhat more steeply than was thought likely a year ago.

What with the gathering momentum of the fledgling recovery phase, 1976 makes its debut enjoying a brisk pace of factory operations. While the strength is not evenly spread across the industrial spectrum, the cyclical advance of automobile output and the more positive signs in the long-subdued home building sector are optimistic. Consumer demand for apparel, appliances, and home furnishings is also contributing to the industrial improvement. So even with allowances for possible strike interruptions, it now looks as if 1976 can manifest an over-all upward trend, although factory production may not exceed the close-to-3 percent long-term growth rate of the economy. Year-to-year comparisons are likely to be most impressive during the first four months since corresponding 1975 figures were in the cyclical trough of the recession. Thereafter, gains will narrow even as factory operations continue to make progress—ex strikes. This may not seem impressive, but a predominantly upward trend at approximately the rate of the nation's basic growth than the adverse experiences suffered in parts of the past two years.

Business Capital Spending
A more ambitious projection of both the real GNP and industrial production is not warranted at this time since business capital expenditures for the expansion of productive capacity are likely to remain limited. Such spending, particularly when superimposed upon powerful consumer demand and aggressive inventory accumulation, is a prerequisite for a business surge of boom proportions because it takes this type of activity to hike demand sharply for manpower and materials. But there is still a sizable amount of productive potential in American industry either underutilized or idle. Until the impetus of full-scale production is felt and business confidence is again running strong, it is unlikely that budgets for capital investments will be liberalized to any appreciable extent. This may apply especially to 1976 inasmuch as the high level of factory operations will doubtless be reached in the second half when profit margins will feel increasing pressure and the monetary climate may well present a considerably less expansive posture.

True, political overtones will be strong in much of the new year, and there may well be a push for business capital expenditure incentives. Capital spending policies, however, are not likely to anticipate any such favorable legislation but rather to wait and see. The total of capital spending in 1976 may top that of 1975, but the edge should be small and contain a substantial inflationary content. It should be noted, too, that many such outlays will be for compliance with environmental improvement regulations rather than for raising production. So, this aspect of economic activity in 1976 should prove to be more of a sustainer of business than an upthruster.

Corporate Profits
Corporate profits in 1975 did better than had been anticipated because of the unexpectedly sharp and early business recovery and the decline in some raw materials costs. With the prospect of even further advances in business during the new year, corporate profits after taxes could well run 20 percent above the 1975 levels. Most of the gains are likely to occur early in the year, however, as the bite of costs will tend to deepen as the year proceeds. Profit margins will find it difficult to move up since the cost squeeze will tighten and interest rates will likely be on the upswing again. The widest year-to-year gains will be chalked up in the early months of 1976 because the comparisons will be made with the recession lows in profits. Also, the business advance will still be in that stage where productivity improvements, increased use of idle facilities, and strict cost controls will help to provide favorable profits. In an effort to speed up the economy as an antidote to the high level of unemployment, it is a reasonable bet that the federal corporate tax structure will be kept as it was in 1975. Any broad sweeps of the threatened tax reform will not take place in 1976 although there are likely to be hikes in levies by some states and municipalities.

Possible Labor Pitfalls
1976 will be a busy year for new labor contract negotiations. In fact, parleys are scheduled to hammer out fresh labor agreements virtually from the beginning through to the very end of the year. Among the talks will be those involving workers in clothing, electrical, machinery, construction, and retailing. But the most crucial for the economy as a whole will be in trucking and automotive production. Both these lines have far-reaching effects on the economy, and they are also rated as pattern setters for other bargaining sessions in 1976 and subsequent years.

While some labor observers express hope that depleted war chests of labor groups and flattened pocketbooks of workers because of the recession and inflation may discourage long and bitter walkouts, this is by no means certain. Labor representatives cite the costly spurt in living costs since the last contracts were signed, and they seek not only compensatory wage hikes but also raises in anticipation of further inflation. Demands of union leaders will, moreover, be heightened because of a healthier business climate along with the issuance of good corporate profits reports.

But managements will be mindful of their profit margins and put up sufficient resistance to hold final wage settlements in the 6-10 percent range. Even though raises will average less than union leaders seek, there will be a persistent push for such costly fringe concessions as health and death insurance, shorter hours with the same pay, more liberal vacations and holidays, and other benefits.

Employment and Personal Income

The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate, as a percentage of the total civilian labor force, peaked at 9.2 percent in mid-May of 1975. Total employment slipped only about 3 percent on a seasonally adjusted basis. Both barometers were slow in recovering, which was not unusual in view of the fact that curtailed workweeks are normally lengthened before additions are made to the work forces. In 1976, unemployment will continue to ease only grudgingly and will do well to recede to the 7 percent mark by year's end. Employment, on the other hand, can climb to new peak levels even without a sizable public "make work" program. The disparity between the jobless and the employment sectors will be a reflection of the expansion in the total labor force.

With the lengthening of workweeks and the beefing up of staffs as the business advance makes further headway, personal income figures should make good reading in 1976. Wage boosts will also help materially. Over-all, personal income could gain as much as 12 percent over that of 1975, and disposable income should not be far behind.

Consumer and Government Spending

Although inflation was a big factor in turnover totals, consumer demand responded to the betterment in economic conditions and prospects over the past year. With the outlook for business, employment, and personal income enjoying a distinctly healthier tone (except for the threat of labor disruptions), 1976 is expected to see more liberal spending on the part of consumers. In current dollars, consumer expenditures should cross the trillion-dollar mark, but high prices will temper the year-to-year improvement on a unit volume basis. Such a large part of the spending dollar will be gobbled up by hefty allocations for food, shelter, clothing, and energy that there will be scant leeway for lower priority segments.

Locked in by inflation and ever-expanding social programs, public spending at all government levels will move higher in 1976. The federal government, particularly, is saddled with prior commitments. Hence, mounting pressures for fiscal responsibility are not likely to do more than force some appropriations, and force curtailment and postponement of some lavish and low-priority items. Therefore, another huge federal deficit looms for calendar 1976, despite the moderating influence of an increase in tax revenues.

Building and Construction

After a sharp two-year slump during which the seasonally adjusted annual rate of private housing starts tumbled from 2.5 million units to somewhat less than 1 million units, an improvement in mortgage credit supplies spawned an upturn for home building in 1975. But even when the full year's total is tallied, it will be well below the 1972 record and even less than the poorest showing of recent years. Babson's forecasts new housing starts of some 1.3 million units in 1976. Non-residential construction will also improve steadily, but the gains will not be substantial and will lend business only mild support.

Farm Prospects

1975 was a fine year for agricultural output, but farmers did not fare well in terms of income. High operating costs and the embargo on grain exports held net farm income far below expectations relative to the bumper 1975 crop. There will be a good carry-over of key harvests for 1976, although with the world-wide food shortages weather conditions will be crucial in the coming crop year. Better fertilizer supplies and costs, however, augur well for 1976 totals.

Wages and Prices

The expected advance in business for the year ahead will mean gains in pay rates, employment, and the length of the workweek. So, 1976 consumers' earned income should post sizable increases which, in turn, will stimulate consumer

Warning Issued About Dangers of Thin Ice

State Police Director Col. George L. Halverson today coupled a warning about early winter thin ice dangers with a report that ice accident tragedies have already claimed the lives of at least five youngsters in the state.

All of the children ranged in age from five to eight, according to accident reports. Three of the deaths occurred in the Saginaw area earlier this month while two other deaths happened in the Milford area.

Parents are advised to be vigilantly attentive to the areas in which their youngsters might be playing now that vacation time is here, the director said.

Halverson pointed out that early winter ice too often may look stronger than it really is. To safely bear the weight of humans, ice should be three to four inches thick. Children should be repeatedly cautioned about ice dangers, he stressed.

Added to the hazards in some parts of the state is the fact that December rains have raised many streams to above-normal levels and solid ice won't build on them while they are in a subsiding stage.

The director urged that safety precautions should also be observed by all persons who use powered sleds or other vehicles on ice surfaces during the winter season. Equally important, Halverson said, is that there should be provision for rescue in event of accident where ice or water activity is involved.

Confidence and Demand

While price increases have been a matter of deep concern this past year, the impact was far less burdensome than in 1974. Mark-downs to spur consumer demand and lower costs for some key raw materials helped restrain the overall price advance. 1976 will not be as fortunate, however, as the business upturn will inevitably bring a firm-to-higher price pattern. With new wage boosts in labor contracts, there will be added price pressures. Any imperilment of 1976 crops could move prices sharply higher, and lurking in the background also is the threat of new hikes in the price of OPEC oil.

Election Year Considerations

Political campaigns will have a definite effect on the economy during the new year, since all aspirants will focus mainly on economic problems. The Administration will devote most of its attention to alleviating the plight of the jobless as well as the farmers. Of course, the power struggle on the Hill will continue.

Potential Dangers on Foreign Scene

The Administration shows little inclination to cease its quest for detente with the Soviet Union or alter its calm approach to the Middle East. However, success in both objectives will remain in the tenuous category in 1976. The SALT talks have made little progress of late, and civil strife in Lebanon and Angola may impose new strains on Soviet-American relations. Still, Babson's forecasts no direct conflict between the two superpowers over the year ahead. In the realm of world trade, the outlook is encouraging. True, gains in imports will likely exceed those in exports. But American business can benefit from the currently stronger dollar, and also from the fact that the domestic rate of inflation is so much lower than that prevailing in many other nations.

Interest Rates—Money Supplies

Because of the worries over unemployment, it is unlikely that the monetary authorities will change their current policy during the better part of 1976. Money and credit will be kept sufficient to meet business needs and to accommodate the Treasury's financings. Once inflationary forces regain the ascendancy, however, the money supply may once again be curtailed as an anti-inflation move. The Babson staff looks for short-term money rates to hover near present levels in the early part of 1976. With the approach of spring there should be an upswing continuing until late in the year, but the high may not quite reach the 10 percent level. Since longer-term interest rates have receded only modestly in 1975, they will move up only a trifle in 1976. But with the firming of homebuilding, mortgage money can be expected to move upward toward the 10 percent mark.

Stock and Bond Outlook

Some easing of the New York City fiscal crisis in the waning weeks of 1975 made it possible for the stock market to wind up on a constructive note. Hence, the early part of 1976 should enjoy an optimistic climate. Over the year as a whole, however, the heavy labor agenda will keep investors on edge, as will the fear of inflation. With prospects favoring a good—but not a lusty—business year, an upsurge in stock prices vigorous enough to drive the Dow Jones Industrial Average significantly above the 1,000 mark is unlikely. For the same reasons—barring an adverse development not now in evidence—the DJIA is not likely to move materially below the 800 level.

At this juncture there is a good supply of attractively priced common stocks and convertible securities for investors oriented toward the growth and appreciation of their capital funds. And many of these issues offer reasonably rewarding yields. Investors who require a high income that is also well protected have a substantial selection of bonds and preferred stocks from which to choose.

In recent years the emphasis of the investment fraternity has shifted to quality and value, with a healthy measure of income. This attitude is likely to persist in 1976, and individual investors would do well to follow suit.

Friendly Visitor Helpers Sought By Red Cross Chapter

Want something to perk up your cold winter days? The Red Cross Friendly Visitor Service may be just what the doctor ordered.

Friendly Visitors is a program of the American Red Cross which provides moral support to the lonely and disabled elderly of the area. The Red Cross receives referrals from Visiting Nurses of Washtenaw County Health Department. Begun in 1971 by the honorary nursing sorority Sigma Theta Tau, it has expanded and now has helped about 80 people. Mrs. Chauncey Adams, Ann Arbor, is the current volunteer chairperson.

There are no age restrictions for visitors, and both men and women volunteers are needed. At a training session each visitor will be matched with a friend and arrangements for the first visit will be made.

The volunteers spend a few hours monthly chatting, playing cards, helping with crafts, or phoning to help ensure that their assigned friend does not feel forgotten.

What will you get from the program? The opportunity to be a willing listener.

The satisfaction of helping our senior citizens.

If you are interested in joining in or want more information, call Janette Julien, staff co-ordinator, or Mrs. Adams at the Red Cross, 971-5300.

What's Cooking In Michigan

By Larrestine Trimm
Michigan Dept. of Agriculture
Marketing Information Specialist

Ring in the New Year by getting back to basics like Michigan potatoes. The state is 11th nationally in potato production, according to Marketing officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Michigan harvested 993 million pounds of potatoes last year from 42,400 acres of farmland, centered primarily in Bay, Monroe and Montcalm counties. About 40 percent of the crop is marketed in Detroit, the remainder in other parts of the state and in major U. S. cities.

Team economical potatoes with other thrifty Michigan vegetables like cabbage and carrots. Two winning recipes in the Houghton county potato show last fall were potato-stuffed cabbage and moist potato-carrot cake topped with cream cheese icing and chopped pecans.

For the potato-stuffed cabbage, the core and about two inches were cut from the center of the cabbage to form a shell. The hollowed center was seasoned with salt and pepper, then stuffed with a mixture of shredded potatoes, cubed ham, minced onions, egg garlic powder and chopped parsley seasoned to taste. Prepared cabbage was placed in a Dutch oven and baked about 1 1/2 hours at 350 degrees.

You can save the cabbage cut from the center for future use, as in cole slaw. Use those leftover scraps from holiday ham for the cubed ham.

More palate pleasers are scalloped potatoes with cheese, creamed potatoes and carrots au gratin. For scalloped potatoes, shredded Cheddar cheese is sprinkled on layers of thinly sliced potatoes, topped with seasoned white sauce and baked until golden. Prepared similarly are creamed potatoes and carrots au gratin, a tasty casserole of alternate layers of diced cooked potatoes and thinly sliced cooked carrots, topped with seasoned white sauce and sprinkled with grated sharp Cheddar cheese.

All Aliens Must Report Addresses During January

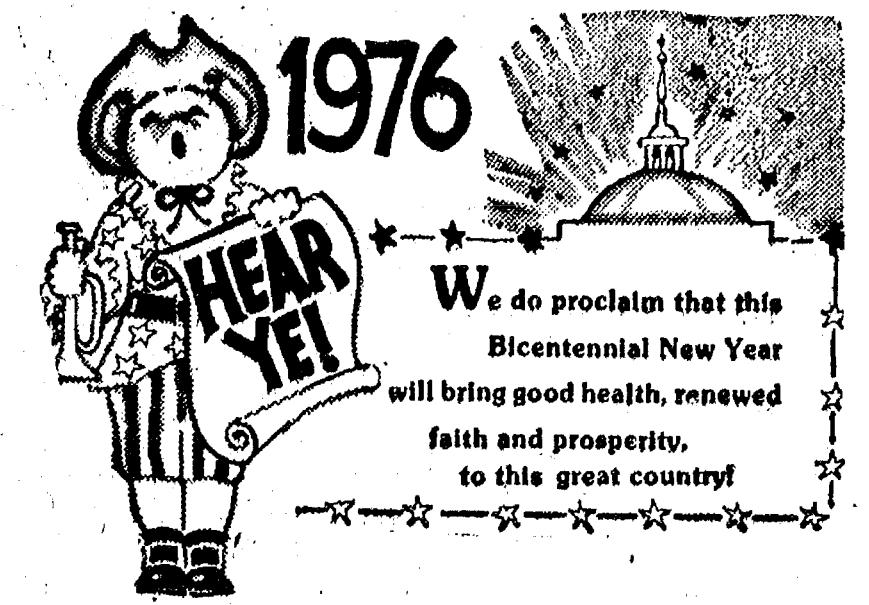

Armand J. Saturelli, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service stated that aliens in the United States will be required to report their addresses to the Attorney General within the near future.

All aliens, with few exceptions, who are in the United States on Jan. 1 each year must report their addresses by the end of that month. Only the following classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: (1) Accredited diplomats, and (2) Persons accredited to certain international organizations.

Forms with which to make the report may be obtained from any Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization Service Office during the month of January.

Willow Run Task Force Nears Decision

Following its meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 9, the Willow Run Airport Task Force is one step away from making a recommendation on the future owner-operator of the airport.

That decision, expected to come at the next meeting in January, will mark the end of a year-long study by the task force to determine the role of the airport in the state's airport system, and the future owner-operator of the airport.

At the Dec. 9 meeting, the consulting firm of Stanford Research Institute (SRI) presented a report prioritizing various groups and agencies which could take over ownership of the airport, currently owned and operated by the University of Michigan.

Only two of the choices presented by SRI—a local board of control or the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC), which currently owns and operates Metropolitan Airport—were considered by the task force to be viable options.

Included in the choices recommended by SRI were a single-purpose regional operating authority, the State of Michigan with a separate board of control. U-M has indicated its desire to get out of the airport business.

Both men retired from the company Dec. 1, after having served a combined total of 70 years with Chelsea Dana plant. Pictured with them, plant manager, Ron Bollett.

Two Retire from Dana Plant

Stephen Slane and Andrew Policht, with a total of 70 years service, retired Dec. 1, from Dana Corporation, Chelsea Plant. During an office Christmas dinner, Ron Bollett, plant manager, presented Steve and Andy with the Dana blue blazer jackets while friends of the pair presented them with gifts.

Steve and Andy both started at Central Fibre; Steve in 1939 as tool-maker supervisor, and Andy in 1941 as a shop employee. When the late Robert Wagner (Mr. P.T.O.) started Chelsea Products in 1941, Steve and Andy joined him, Steve as plant foreman, and Andy as a machine operator.

When Dana purchased Chelsea Products, Steve was assigned plant superintendent and in the last few years he worked as facilities engineer and on special assignment. Andy was assigned shift foreman and was made plant general foreman in January of 1967, from which he retired.

Steve and Andy are both long-time residents in the Chelsea area. They plan to go fishing, hunting and see the country.

IS THERE FOOD?
Some 760 million people live in India, Bangladesh and Pakistan—that's more than live in all of Africa and South America. Experts say that within 30 years the population of the crowded three countries will double. The world's population as a whole is increasing at a rate of 203,000 every day. Some 3.6 billion acres—almost all the world's land that is economical to cultivate—is already being used to grow food.

ASK THE GOVERNOR

by William G. Millikan

Question: With all the recent evidence showing that Project Sanguine Seafarer might pose a threat to human life, not to mention the damage it will do to the environment, I hope you will order the Navy to leave the Upper Peninsula immediately.

Governor: There are many controversies associated with Project Seafarer, including the possible harmful effects of human exposure to extremely low frequency (ELF) radiation and the possible damage to the environment. I believe we have initiated the appropriate studies which will establish the information necessary to resolve these controversies. An environmental impact study has been initiated which will address the impact of the construction and operation of the project on the Upper Peninsula. This study is being conducted by a private consulting firm, with the results being reviewed by the Michigan Environmental Review Board and the National Council on Environmental Quality.

In a related study, the National Academy of Sciences is preparing a report on all known effects of plant and animal exposure to ELF radiation. The results of this study will be included in the environmental impact review. With these two studies completed, we should have all the information necessary to judge the environmental and human impact of this project.

Question: The continued use of PCB's (Polychlorinated Biphenyls) poses great threats to us all. I was very disappointed to hear that Representative Bonior has decided to withdraw his PCB bill from the Michigan House. I certainly hope it is within your power to order a ban on these deadly chemicals. If the use of these chemicals is not checked, I am sure that the Great Lakes will die within our generation—as many are predicting.

Governor: Legislation to ban the use of that chemical was recently reported from the House Marine Affairs Committee to the full House of Representatives with my full support. I am hopeful of final legislative adoption of that measure in the near future.

During the past several years, Michigan has led the nation in dealing forthrightly and effectively with pollutants that pose a serious threat to our environment—including DDT and mercury. I believe we can once again demonstrate our leadership in dealing with this problem in the same way.

Question: Governor, I think it is absolutely ridiculous for drivers to have to sit at a red light when there's no crossing traffic in order to make a right turn. I have often been in a long line of cars waiting to make a right turn—being held up by a red light for no good reason. It seems like an awful waste of energy at a time when we can least afford it.

Governor: A lot of people feel the same way you do, and that is why I recently signed into law a bill to allow motorists to make right turns on red lights. When it takes effect next April, the bill will permit the now-prohibited turns—except where signs expressly forbid them—after the motorist stops at the crosswalk, or before entering the intersection if no crosswalk is present. The right-turning motorist will also have to yield to pedestrians and other intersection traffic. The new law should help to ease traffic congestion and reduce the amount of gasoline wasted by engines idling at red lights.

Question: I am sure that there are many people who enjoy winter outdoors. Unfortunately, I am in poor health and must be confined to activities indoors. Can you give me some ideas as to those indoor activities that might be available?

Governor: Yes. There are many cultural and arts events occurring

Burning of Yule Log Pagan Celebration

The burning of the Yule log began, as part of a pagan celebration marking the winter solstice. The tradition was later adapted by Christians.

In old English homes, the log was brought into the house on Christmas Eve with great ceremony and lighted with a bit of tinder carefully saved from the Yule fire of the preceding year. The log, believed to possess the power to protect the household from evil and to destroy old hatreds and misunderstandings, was supposed to burn through the night. If the blaze went out, the household could expect ill luck in the future.

During the Yuletide season, just such a Yule log rests on the well-head in front of a 17th-century cottage moved from England's Cotswold region to Greenfield Village. It symbolizes one of the early holiday traditions practiced by our forebears in the Old World.

Our next door neighbor is a very colorful person. He turns red with anger, purple with rage, yellow with fear, and green with envy. He's also been known to break out into little pink dots.

We'd like to wish all of our old acquaintances a New Year that's filled with prosperity and abundant happiness.

Veneral disease has reached epidemic proportions in the United States. Gonorrhea is the most commonly reported communicable disease. The American Social Health Association (ASHA) has some advice on how to bring VD under control: Know the facts; know the symptoms; know the consequences and know what has to be done. ASHA, a member service of the United Way of Michigan says both syphilis and gonorrhea can be cured with early diagnosis and treatment.
