Sylvan Begins Reappraisal on All Property

Sylvan township supervisor, Donald Schoenberg, issued a reminder that the reappraisal of Sylvan township will begin tentatively on June 14.

Sylvan township is one of two townships in Washtenaw county that will have a factor for the 1976 tax roll. This factor is an added tax, issued by the Washtenaw County Equalization Department, when its 2½ year study of property sales versus property assessments in the township reveals assessments to be less than equivalent to 50 percent of the property's true market value. When this occurs, the township is charged with not paying its share of taxes to the county.

Current property assessments in Sylvan township do not meet the required 50 percent of true market value, required by law, for a number of reasons, according to Schoenberg. To explain the dilemma, he issued the following public statement.

"When I took the job of supervisor in December of 1975, there was a tentative assessment factor of 1.18, which means that every one whether assessed at a 50 percent or 30 percent market value figure, would pay an additional 16 percent in taxes on their assessed property value. Not having had time to inspect each piece of property by the tax roll deadline of Feb. 6, I raised the assessment on several properties obviously below 50 percent. However, according to a sales study done by the Equalization Department, this still did not bring Sylvan township to 50 percent of its state equalized value. Consequently, all of Sylvan township will undergo a factor increase of 1.04 in next year's property taxes.

Upon my recommendation at the annual township meeting, enough money was budgeted to reassess the entire township on agricultural, commercial, industrial and residential levels to bring each and every parcel of property to 50 percent of true market value."

Following competitive bidding, the contract to conduct the reappraisal was awarded to the United Appraisal Co. of Lansing, and Findlay, O., termed by Schoenberg, "one of the largest mass appraisal firms in the United States today, with active projects in more than 18 states."

Schoenberg indicated that the firm's personnel will most likely be working on residential and agricultural appraisals first.

The next step in a reappraisal program, Supervisor Schoenberg explained, is to send individuals, termed field listeners, out to gather information. These individuals will come directly into contact with the public. They will not place values on homes or farm units, but gather and verify information relative to construction details, improvements or destruction of various buildings and land.

The actual pricing will be done based upon a cost price schedule recently released by the State Tax Commission, and verified by experienced appraisers. Various builders and contractors will be consulted to reaffirm the figures. Once this schedule has been completed, trained clerical personnel will use the information gathered by the listeners to determine the basic cost of individual houses or other structures.

"This cost will then be compared with the market value prevalent in the township. An experienced appraiser will review each individual home and farm to assure that the information is accurate and that the pricing schedule has been correctly applied," Schoenberg explained.

"The objective of a program of revaluation," Schoenberg stated, "is to assure that all real estate has been properly listed and equally evaluated. The objective is to assure each citizen of Sylvan township that he pays his

Chelsea's Special Olympians Win 18 Medals in State Games

On June 3-6 more than 3,400 mentally retarded youth from all over the state of Michigan competed in track and field, skiing, swimming, bowling, gymnastics, horseback riding, floor hockey, basketball, volleyball, and frisbee at Mt. Pleasant. During state games, participants are housed together in Central Michigan University's dorms with evening entertainment provided such as movies, dances, carnivals, etc. When not competing, athletes may visit with many sports and TV celebrities and participate in sports clinics and other special events. The games provide all the pageantry and excitement of a true "Olympics"—opening and closing ceremonies, medal presentations, parades, victory dinner and entertainment.

The State of Michigan is divided into 24 Special Olympic areas with all counties being included in the different areas. Washtenaw, Monroe, and Livingston counties are Area 20 which is what Chelsea represented. More than 20,000 children participated in local and regional competition in the spring with the qualifying athletes then going on to this state meet. Chelsea had an unbelievable number of five young people in the state meet and they did amazingly well.

The first competition Chelsea was involved in was the one-meter diving and we captured four medals. Kathy Buck won a first-place gold; John Winans a second place silver; Glenn Passow a silver medal. There were 55 other divers and the competition was tough. In gymnastics the competition was even harder but the Chelsea girls are known for their grace and original composition in their routines. Kathy Buck won a gold in balance beam and a silver in floor exercise. Mary Landwehr, despite a knee injury, won a gold in balance beam and a silver in floor exercise.

With more than 1,500 participants in swimming, the competition took two days to complete. Glenn Passow won a third place bronze medal in the 25-yard freestyle and John Winans won a third in the 25-yard backstroke.

Real excitement came when the 100-yard freestyle relays were swam. Area 20 (Chelsea included)

School Board Election Slated Next Monday

Chelsea School Board elections are slated for Monday, June 14, in the Large Group Instruction Room at Beach Middle school. This year's candidates are Ann E. Feeney, Phil Boham, Russell F. Pichlik, James Haller and Robert M. Schafer.

The following profiles state the qualifications of each candidate and should aid Chelsea residents in making their board member selection.

ANN E. FEENEY lives with her husband, Michael, and her six children at 249 Park St. She has a B.A. from Marygrove College, Detroit, and taught for two years in the Clarenceville School District, Farmington. She was a member of the Board of Education's Ad Hoc Committee, organized to review the Discipline and Suspension policies in the schools, summer of 1975.

Having moved from Detroit to Chelsea four years ago, Mrs. Feeney emphasized: "I have done my best to contribute what I am able to contribute to the area (Chelsea) in volunteer services, and really feel that I have become a part of the community."

The most important reason behind her decision to become a candidate for school board is to add the voice of a woman to the board. "It is an enormous responsibility to attempt to be a spokesperson for other members of a community, and if elected, I will treat this responsibility with a great deal of respect," Mrs. Feeney stated.

PHIL BOHAM, a life-long resident of Chelsea, is married to Lynne Freeman and has two children. He is a 1965 graduate of Chelsea High school and a 1967 graduate of Detroit Time Study school with a Time Study Engineer degree. He has been employed by the Dana Corp. for the past nine years, and has attended numerous corporate, educational classes and seminars. He is a member of Jackson Chapter No. 87 of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers, an Auxiliary Police Officer with Chelsea's Police Department for the past eight years, an assistant coach of Chelsea High School Hockey Club, and is presently Committee Chairman for the 1976 Bicentennial Brothers of the Brigade.

Describing his qualifications, Boham stated: "The best qualification is actual experience and the only way to gain experience is by serving on the board. The school board should be recognized as a board of representatives for all residents and students of the school district. Decisions of the school board should consider the views of all residents, and the effects the decisions may have on the future of Chelsea schools."

Boham raised the following question to illustrate the type of community consciousness he felt was needed by the school board: "Why was the swimming pool added to Middle School, causing the destruction and costly replacement of the

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers got to talking about wimmen and witches at the country store Saturday night, and for the safety of all concerned I better make it clear right off the bat that the wimmen we live with ain't the witches' under discussion and, like they say, similar-lities living or dead is purely incidental.

Clem Webster reported on a piece he had saw where colleges across the country have took to providing places where students can write on walls. They hang butcher paper out and tell the students to work off their hates and loves by drawing pictures and writing words to their heart's content. People are taking advantage of what they call "therapeutic release of tensions, frustrations and hang-ups." Clem said it looked to him like a cheap scapegoat plan, and he was full in favor of it. He reminded the fellers that a year or so ago a group of young folks at a church in town was given a old car and they done practical the same thing with it. They charged a dollar a tick for folks to come by and smash the car with a sludge hammer, and they got a lot to talkers. Clem recalled that a salesman that comes by the store said he bought three licks, one for his old lady, one for his boss and one for a football team. He had bet one, and that he shore got his $3 worth.

It was Bug Hookum that wondered what the college students will do this summer when they're out of school, and on second thought, Bug said he didn't want to think what they might do. As tight as summer jobs are all over, he said, a heap of young folks are having plenty of time to sit around and build up frustrations and tensions. Bug said he hopes they don't work their selves up to the state the major league baseball team did that hired a witch to change its fortunes. He couldn't recall whether she was to get rid of a hex on that team or cast a losing spell on the rest of the league, but Bug said it was another way to pass your troubles on to someone else.

The fellers were general agreed that if the team with the witch riding their bats start winning, the idea is shore to spread to politicians and wives. The bunch at the store got some hexes laid on em at home a few weeks back when they discussed their idea of what the Scriptures say in the wimmen's place in the world, so they don't figger their old ladies need no help from practicing witches. Verily they said unto one another, it don't make no never mind what the Good Book said, wimmen are going to have the last and loudest word on everything. The fellers didn't so much see the light as they felt the heat on that matter.

Speaking of wimmen, Mister Editor, I see where this speech specialist in New York says they are talking slower than they use to. He didn't say why, but we can rest assured it ain't because they're running out of someone to say. You reckon they've slowed down to try thinking while they talk?

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Flu Coming?

Nearly 60 years ago—before antibiotics and immunization programs—a flu epidemic brought the death of 2 percent of families in this country each month.

Today, Michigan's Public Health Department is racing against time, trying to immunize people as part of a federal program aimed against preventing "another" possible flu outbreak.

"We don't know if the flu is coming," says a health department spokesman. "And we don't even know that it could be a problem if it did. But the prevention is better than taking the chance."

Immunizing shots against so-called "swine flu" are expected to begin sometime later this summer, when a special bivalent (acting against swine flu and another strain at the same time) vaccine is made available.

That vaccine is aimed at high risk persons, such as older folks in nursing homes.

Later in the year, and it's not known at this point, exactly when a monovalent (dealing with swine flu alone) vaccine is expected to be available in Michigan.

When that vaccine comes, there's to be an all-out push to administer it to any and all who will take the medicine.

"The real problem is getting organized," says the health department representative. "We have to get the doctors, nurses, volunteers to man large free public clinics."

They also have to get the needed equipment—needles, syringes, even "guns" to administer the shots. Michigan has asked federal authorities for several of the guns, which reportedly administer the vaccine through the skin more quickly and less uncomfortably than with a needle.

There's no firm date yet as to when the vaccine will be available.

Thursday, June 14, 1962—Renn's Drug Store at 111 S. Main St., an integral part of the business life of Chelsea for the past 64 years and one of the very few remaining old-time drug stores anywhere in the area, will cease to exist as such at the close of business Saturday night. The store will be closed for remodeling into Chelsea's first modern discount store.

Thursday, June 10, 1952—At the annual meeting of the Chelsea Friends of the Library Monday evening, Henry Schneider resigned as a member of the executive board because of ill health. The Chelsea Independents posted their second league win of the season last Sunday by defeating Saline, 15-5. Don Alber did the pitching for Chelsea and a fine job it was too. He gave up only four hits and walked six in gaining his first victory of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. James Daniels and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Balmer and son Robert, were in Lansing Sunday to attend an antique car meeting. A petition to place the name of Earl Beeman on the ballot for the annual school board election July 14 has been filed with the secretary of the Chelsea Agricultural Schools Board of Education.

Thursday, June 11, 1942—Chelsea's new fire truck, ordered last December, was delivered here last Friday. The new truck was purchased from the American Fire Apparatus Co., the chassis being furnished by Spaulding Chevrolet Sales & Service. This truck is especially adapted to fighting country fires, as it is equipped with a 400-gallon water supply tank.

thing to say about it, the answer is yes.

MICAP reports results of a recent survey of high school principals, which found only 8 percent of those responding (438 of the 730 queried) who said they favored keeping the drinking age at 18.

Another 31 percent said boost it to 19, 9 percent said make it 20 and 52 percent said change it back to 21.

Warning of a "trickle down" effect is Allen B. Rice, executive director of the council.

"Records from the Michigan State Police have shown a dramatic jump in alcohol-related accidents among the 18- to 20-year-olds," he says. "But this is not the main reason we favor the move to raise the legal drinking age."

"The primary reason for our endorsement of this idea is our concern for the impact of the lower drinking age on teen-agers under 18 years."

Today, 26 states have a legal drinking age of 18, 24 states and the District of Columbia have 19 or older as their drinking age. California, the largest state, still maintains a 21-year-old legal drinking age.

A bill has been introduced in the Michigan legislature to hike the state's drinking age to 19.

Deer Take High

The hunters had a field day. Michigan's Department of Natural Resources reports that the 1975 firearm deer season was the most successful ever for buck hunters.

"A record number of bucks—98,890—were taken last year, which exceeded the previous season high in 1946 when 89,470 bucks were harvested in the state," says Dave Arnold, DNR deer specialist.

Another 10,000 antlerless deer were taken during the season—meaning that about one of seven hunters, according to a postcard survey—brought home venison.

Arnold says the total harvest exceeds his "very liberal" pre-season estimate of 100,000 animals.

The total number of firearm deer hunters in 1975, 710,000, also was a record. The high in 1974 was 657,500.

Dexter Township Board Reviews Flood Plain Map

At the regular June meeting of the Dexter Township Board, two issues affecting many township residents were discussed.

Since some areas of the township have been designated as being in a flood plain, it is required by the Federal Government for the township to set up many restrictive building standards if the residents are to be able to receive flood insurance, or financing from Federal regulated institutions.

In January, the township submitted updated information which resulted in a redrawing of the flood plain map. This new map is significantly reduced the affected area. Since the Township Board is concerned about the residents in the designated flood plain area, it was felt that a meeting with HUD officials would be beneficial to assure that only those areas actually in danger of flooding be included in the flood plain map. A meeting with HUD officials, an engineering firm and area residents will be set up as soon as possible.

The second issue discussed was police protection for the township. In May, the township rejected participation in the County Sheriff's road patrol program because of the high cost and that only traffic control would be provided. The Township Board met with Sheriff Postill and the sheriff indicated that the traffic officer would handle non-traffic calls as needed which should reduce response time greatly. He also suggested that traffic citations be issued under the uniform traffic code adopted by the township. In this way a portion of the traffic fine money would then be sent back to the township.

In light of the new information, the Township Board decided to participate in the traffic program for the next year. It was felt that police patrol is necessary for the area and this program would allow the township to determine the financial feasibility of the program. The program will be evaluated in six months and if the revenues are sufficient to offset the higher cost, the program will be continued.

In other action the board approved payment to the Chelsea Recreation Council for participation of Township residents.

Open House Set Saturday at Riverside Cabin

All Dexter residents are invited to an Open House at Riverside Cabin, located in Warrior Park behind the Fire Hall, to inspect the new quarters of the volunteer help group and to learn what they are doing in Dexter.

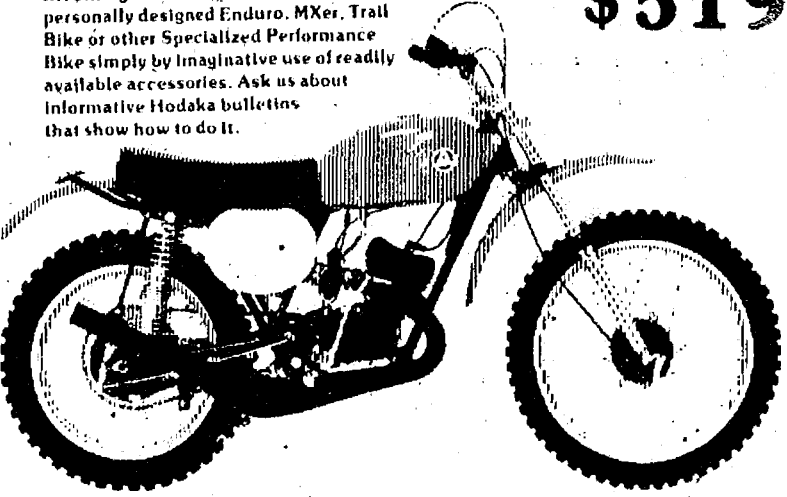

The Cabin will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday, June 12, with volunteers to explain their program. Refreshments will be served.

The Cabin volunteers have just completed an Empathy Training program under the guidance of Drug Help, Inc., and Ozone House of Ann Arbor, to enable them to better help and understand people and situations.

Haller feels that "With the presently uncertain state fiscal policies in the field of education, sound local school planning will be an extremely difficult job in the next few years. A new board member must not only be able to exercise good judgment and planning, but should also actively discourage state officials from penalizing school districts whose residents vote for adequate school millage and pay a large share of state taxes as well. Extra state funds that are given to disadvantaged school districts must not be obtained by cutting the state allocations to districts such as ours, whose people are already paying their fair share. Our kids are entitled to a good education and our teachers are entitled to a good wage. The residents are entitled to a fair distribution of their tax dollars."

Haller believes that "a great deal of attention must be paid to parents' and teachers' input," and promises to always be available to hear your views, if elected.

Pichlik has nine years teaching experience in Clinton Community Schools where he currently is a teacher of mathematics and science.

As a member of a Michigan Department of Education task force considering secondary graduation competencies, Pichlik has studied the problem of providing effective and functional education for the young people of our state. He would like to see an efficient use of our school district's resources, as well as provide a useful communications link between the taxpayers of the district and all the people who educate their children."

Housing for Senior Citizens

Senior citizens may want less living space than they once might have required. Keep in mind that easy maintenance and safety become paramount considerations at this stage of life. Take the time to create a safe, healthful, stimulating environment without over-emphasizing features that constantly remind you or your loved ones of your age and or your infirmities. In the interests of effective use of space, consider the following:

—Ramps, both inside and outside, are necessary with certain grade level or elevation level grade should be a 1-inch rise in 12 inches to provide for unassisted movement by wheelchair or walker.

—Provide railings on both sides of all hallways to allow safer travel through these areas.

—Install lever-type handles on all inside door latches. Elderly persons often find it difficult to operate round or oval knobs.

—Locate all apartment electrical switches, convenience outlets, and thermostats 36 inches above the floor (except over kitchen counters).

—All single doors within a living unit should be at least 3 feet wide.

—In the kitchen, cover the backsplash area between the counter tops and upper cabinets with 1/4" perforated hardboard. Adjustable shelves can be attached to this surface at an easily-reached height for small items.

—Upper shelves in kitchen cabinets, as well as shelves in storage areas, should be easily adjustable or storing items of varying heights.

—Strip lighting under upper cabinets increases the light level at the counter top.

—Plan a counter top that will be adjacent to both the range and refrigerator.

—Install a fire alarm or heat-sensing unit over the kitchen stove area.

Chelsea Special Olympians...

was represented by Glenn Passow (Chelsea), Brian Rennie (Milan), Roy Orosco (Milan) and Mark Petz (Dundee). Area 20 took a gold with Traverse City getting the silver, and Grand Rapids the bronze.

Chelsea also had an entry in the most difficult event of the Special Olympics—the Pentathlon. Leonard Carlson spent two days completing the five events involved in the Pentathlon—the standing long jump, softball throw, 440 run, 50-yd. dash, and the high jump. He placed first in both the high jump and 440 third in the 50-yd. dash and in long jump, and eighth in softball throw. That point system ended up earning him the silver medal for the event.

Chelsea also represented Area 20 in the frisbee relay. This event consists of six kids lining up 20 yards apart on a football field and they are timed to see who can throw it all the way down and back the fastest. Chelsea earned a gold medal for each of the ones who participated in this relay. They were Kathy Buck, Mary Landwehr, John Winans, Glenn Passow, Leonard Carlson, and Steve Lawrence. Their time was 51 seconds.

Acting as coaches for the Chelsea group are Nancy Porath, Dave Porath, and Larry Hafner. Chaparones were Sue Skittenheim, Debbie Bergman, George and Jeanette Winans, Gladys and Carroll Buck, Curt Winans, and Mrs. Steve Bergman.

Registration Dates Set For Theatre Workshop

Registration for the Chelsea Players Theatre Workshop will take place on June 16-17-18 at the High school stage from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Late registrants will be taken on June 21 which will also be the first day of the workshop.

The workshop will run three weeks for three hours per day (10 a.m. to 1 p.m.)

Diana L'Roy, director of the workshop, explains, "There will be an increase in the fee to $10 for several reasons. The main reason is that the Michigan Council for the Arts is not awarding a grant for the project so that subsidy must be made up locally. When you consider that for $10 each child receives 10 dance lessons, 10 clown lessons, 10 acting lessons, and a chance to be in a play, plus, last but not least, all the Kool-Aid you can drink, it is a bargain. Private lessons for any of these activities are quite a bit more expensive."

Henry Ford wheeled his first automobile out into the streets of Detroit on June 4, 1896. He completed his car, which he called a "Quadricycle," in a brick shed behind his house after nearly three years of experimentation. That shed now stands in Greenfield Village in Dearborn. Next to the Village in Henry Ford Museum, Ford's first "Quadricycle" is on display.

Jeff Daniels, who is completing the EMU Summer Repertory season, and Michelle McClear will teach acting. Neil Cockerline will again offer his expertise in clowning. Doug Beaumont will collaborate with Neil in a play production as well as help with dance lessons.

For further information contact Miss L'Roy at 475-9131.

Eagle Scout Roundup Underway

The National Eagle Scout Association, in co-operation with the Wolverine Council of the Boy Scouts of America, has announced the beginning of an Eagle Scout roundup. This program is designed to encourage all Eagle Scouts, regardless of their age or occupation, to join the National Eagle Scout Association (NESA).

Formed in 1972, the National Eagle Scout Association plans to identify and involve Eagle Scouts in a meaningful fellowship that will enhance the program of the Boy Scouts of America.

NESA provides all Eagle Scouts with the opportunity to continue active involvement with scouting while maintaining and initiating friendship and experiences through the scouting program. The association is for Eagle Scouts of all ages, and local chapters already have been established in score of scout councils across the United States.

One major goal of the program is to compile a list of all living Eagle Scouts to be presented to Congress during the 1976 bicentennial celebration. Other goals include the developing of a manpower resource for local scout units in the United States today, councils and promoting the idea "For more information about the of helping America to enter its Eagle Scout roundup and the National century with strong scoutional Eagle Scout Association, leadership."

It is estimated that there are all the Wolverine Council at nearly 500,000 living Eagle Scouts 663-8514.

You May Be Related To That Beautiful Rose

The next time you sniff a flower, you may be rubbing noses with a very distant relative, says a Michigan State University botany professor whose specialty is plant biochemistry.

Dr. Derek Lamport believes that the chemical similarities between modern plants and animals suggest that both groups may have evolved from a common plant-like ancestor.

In 1959 Dr. Lamport discovered a protein, which he called "extensin," in the cell walls of plants. After further study, he found that extensin shares several chemical characteristics with the animal protein, "collagen," and that extensin in plants may do some of the same jobs performed by collagen in animals and man.

The similarities between extensin and animal collagen, Dr. Lamport asserts, may indicate that millions of years ago these two proteins may have evolved from the same molecule in the same primitive organism.

ABOUT ALCOHOLISM

By DENNIS CONLIN
Executive Director

National Council on Alcoholism
Michigan Division, Inc.

This time let's talk about the hangover. The hangover is the subject of a lot of jokes, and a lot of myths. But it's neither funny nor mythical... it's serious and it's a clear signal to the drinker. Here's the first question.

WHAT CAUSES A HANGOVER?

The answer to that question is very simple. Hangovers are caused by drinking too much alcohol... drinking more than the body can accommodate. Alcohol is a poison and it is absorbed faster into the bloodstream than any other substance (90 percent of it is absorbed within 20 minutes). Getting this much of a toxin into your bloodstream this fast has to have a bad effect. Nerve endings begin to throb from the irritation, blood vessels constrict and start pounding, and your stomach is still reacting to the alcohol that was poured into it giving you what is sometimes called the "dry heaves."

Here's something to think about: If alcohol was introduced today for the first time, the Food and Drug Administration would undoubtedly ban it as being too dangerous for human consumption.

IS THERE ANY CURE FOR A HANGOVER?

Just time, and no more alcohol for a while. The "hair of the dog that bit you" is one of the myths, and maybe even one of the jokes about hangovers. The early morning drink to settle the shakes and calm the head does nothing more than re-anesthetize all the parts that were affected by the first dose of booze. It is their reaction to the alcohol that is causing the hangover, and to throw more alcohol into your body is not going to stop it, merely postpone it for a short time.

Some of the other myths are vitamin-B gets rid of a hangover... others say tomato juice and tabasco sauce will do it... another "cure" is oxygen taken straight. None of these "cures" works... the only thing that will work is time, and not drinking.

DOES THE HANGOVER SERVE ANY USEFUL PURPOSE?

It sure does, even if it is a painful lesson. The hangover is your body saying, "I can't take what you're doing to me." Perhaps the most fortunate drinkers are those who have a low tolerance to grog. They get the miserable hangovers... the kind that makes you want to die before noon. Those miserable hangovers are signalling the drinker to take it easy, to start cutting down on the drinking.

The hard-drinking type who brags he can drink everyone under the table may be in for more trouble than the fellow who takes two drinks and spends the next day in bed. The two-fisted drinker isn't getting the message his body is sending. His body is telling him the alcohol is hurting his stomach lining, damaging his liver and slowly destroying his brain, but he isn't listening. The sensitive drinker, if he will listen to his body screaming at him on the morning after, will learn a lot more about the dangers of alcohol abuse than the heavy drinker who drinks the bar closed and doesn't hurt at all the next morning.

If you have any questions, write ABOUT ALCOHOLISM at the address given below. We'll answer them in a way that will keep your name confidential, if you desire.

Ask the Governor

Question: I have been a farmer all my life, and we farmers cannot see how the Land Use Bill is going to help us any. We work hard and take what we get to pay our taxes, and then the government takes our rights away. What good is the government seal on our Deed and Abstract?

Governor: I am carefully reviewing House Bill 4234, the state land use planning act, with an eye toward determining exactly how it might affect private landowners such as your self. I believe this bill is designed to take a long-range look at the natural land resources of Michigan, determine which of these resources are or may be in short supply, and suggest what action can be taken to minimize these shortages.

It is my feeling that we must adopt such a long range view of our state if we are to maintain the high-quality resources we have long enjoyed. But I wholeheartedly believe this must and can be done without infringing on the constitutionally guaranteed rights of the individual landowner and that such must be undertaken with the full cooperation of local government.

Thank you for taking the time to express your concern, and let me assure you that I will take no action until I am sure the bill provides adequate protection for both the landowners and resources of this state.

Question: Governor, are you going to let them take away the Veterans' Trust Fund? That's what's putting our son through college.

Governor: I have asked the legislature to give quick passage to a bill that would allow us to borrow the $50 million in the fund and pay it back over an extended period. I would like to point out that you never were in danger of losing the benefits of the trust fund because all of its obligations were to be picked up by the state general fund. There never was a question of default. The bill I am supporting will mean that we continue to meet our obligations over the short run through General Fund Appropriations, while assuring that we meet our long-term obligations through continuation of the fund.

Question: As everyone knows, the bicentennial birthday of our country is fast approaching with many bicentennial events scheduled across the nation. I would like to know what Michigan is doing to celebrate the occasion?

Governor: There are hundreds of bicentennial activities being sponsored by local organizations throughout the state. You may write to the Michigan American Revolution Bicentennial Commission at 1000 Long Blvd., Suite 17, Lansing 48913 to get more information on those being held in your area. Some of the events you can look forward to, beginning the first of the year, include a Public Exhibition of the Automobile Industry's Products in Detroit; George Washington Carver and Booker T. Washington Exhibit in Dearborn; Winter Sports Festival in Petoskey; British Military Band Performance of "The British Are Coming" in East Lansing; and an Opera Production of "An American in Boston," a comic opera based on Paul Revere's Ride, at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

Question: I am truly dismayed by the lack of progress in the legislature with respect to land use. Our state is in dire need of some controls over the way we manage and use the land. Is Michigan ever going to get a land use bill?

Governor: I, too, have been disappointed and disturbed with the lack of progress on land use legislation for the past few years. But I see substantial support building.

While Michigan has long recognized the limited nature of our air and water resources and encouraged their wise use, we have at the same time failed to apply that same system of rational use to our limited land resources. But land is a finite resource which must be utilized wisely to accommodate desired growth, while assuring a quality of living environment for present and future generations.

Not only must we protect our land, we must work to preserve our land-based industries, including agriculture, tourism, mineral and forestry production, in order to assure the economic diversification Michigan now has is maintained for the future.

State-wide hearings on the land use package are underway now. The bill has been modified to a limited extent, and I believe we are close to the point of being able to get acceptance during this legislative session.

World War I in 1918 hastened recognition of trucks as long haul carriers. Production of war trucks was boosted to 227,000 units.

Christopher Solea, a Wisconsin journalist, received a patent for his new invention on June 21, 1938. He called his machine a "Type-Writer" and it printed in capital letters only. Later, with the help of Thomas Alva Edison, the keyboard was completely redesigned and the "Type-Writer" developed into the practical instrument that we know it as today. At Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, outstanding original examples of early typewriters as well as dozens of inventions by Edison are displayed daily.

LYNDON FARM BUREAU

Lyndon Farm Bureau met Saturday evening, June 5, for a potluck dinner. Five families were present. It was decided no picnic would be held in August because not everyone could meet then.

An election of officers resulted in the following: chairman, William Hogan; vice-chairman, Emory Pickell; secretary and treasurer, Iva Barton; discussion leader, Carl Schoonover; minuteman, Terry Schoonover; package reporter, Max Kaimbach.

One guest was present, Mrs. Francis Worth of Detroit. She is the niece of Guy Barton. Several issues were discussed including the 1976 presidential candidates.

The next meeting is scheduled for the first Saturday in September.

Thomas Alva Edison, "the wizard of Menlo Park," accomplished most of his greatest achievements in a gray clapboard building, the world's first industrial research center, during a single decade, 1876-86. This laboratory, with other Edison buildings, was moved to Greenfield Village in Dearborn. Here on Oct. 21, 1899, for Light's Golden Jubilee and the dedication of Greenfield Village, Edison re-enacted his invention of the first practical incandescent lamp. The statue of Thomas Edison, at the front of the building, is by James Earle Fraser, noted American sculptor.

A new record was set in 1921 in highway building—12,000 miles of Federal Aid highways were completed. Number of "motorized express companies" grew to 1,500—nearly 1,000 of which were engaged in some form of intercity transport.

VFW Auxiliary Names Delegates To Conventions

The regular monthly meeting of VFW Auxiliary to Post 4076 was held Monday, June 7, with 11 members present. Americansism Chairman Eulahlee Packard announced a flag will be presented to St. Louis school on Flag Day, June 14. This project is co-sponsored with the post.

Elizabeth Smith, Bicentennial chairman, announced the auxiliary will have the honor of raising the American flag at Veterans Park on Saturday, June 12, assisted by the auxiliary-sponsored Girl Scout troop, if any of them are available.

Eulahlee Packard gave her report of the 6th District convention held in Lansing, May 16. Also attending were Joan Barnes, Lucy Platt, Betty Smith, Judith Kent, Bernice Schneider, Bessie Sharp and 12 post members.

The president, Joan Barnes, appointed past auxiliary president, Geraldine Klink to give the charges to the newly elected officers present. Election of delegates and alternate delegates to the national convention to be held in New York in August, were elected as follows: Geraldine Klink and Lucy Platt, delegates; Bessie Sharp and Betty Smith as alternate delegates. The auxiliary voted out a gift of one dollar each to the 11 Michigan high school graduates at the National Home.

The post and auxiliary will sponsor a party for the hospitalized Veterans at the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor, on June 14. The group also decided to help the post sponsor a picnic at the Stanley Montague farm home, Wednesday, Aug. 18, for the Ann Arbor VA patients.

The auxiliary ordered an auxiliary banner and all accessories to go with it, including new carrying straps, also straps for carrying the flag. Tapes of the 1975-76 Voice of Democracy State winner are being ordered to be used in the area schools next fall when the contest is again entered in the high schools.

It was decided to write the Village Council to ask if something can be done to keep bicycles out of the local cemetery as they are destructive and show no respect whatsoever to an otherwise beautifully kept cemetery.

The 48th annual state convention will be held in Sault Ste. Marie, June 24-27, with the following attending as delegates: Lucy Platt, Eulahlee Packard, Elizabeth Smith and Joan Barnes as president.

Buddy Poppy chairman Lucy Platt reported on the May 21 poppy sales, stating a very successful day of sales was accomplished and thanked all who assisted.

Muskegon River Offers Good Canoeing, Fishing for Vacation

The sounds of spinning logs floating downstream to mill towns which dominated life on the Muskegon River have been silenced by the hushed tones of canoes gliding on the calm waters, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The Muskegon, West Michigan's greatest logging river during the 1900's, today is an outstanding recreational facility, providing Michiganians with many pleasurable hours of canoeing, fishing and wildlife viewing.

Although the Muskegon is not a true wilderness river since there is evidence of human activity, views of birds and animals plus the solitude which graces this safe, shallow stream make it an excellent choice for a canoe trip this Bicentennial year.

A picnic basket and camera are musts for short ventures while overnight supplies are essential for longer journeys.

Outdoor enthusiasts will find 10 liveries, 15 campgrounds and such fish as salmon, rainbow, walleye, pike and bass in the river. Naturalists can spot such wildlife as white-tail deer, beaver, muskrat, blue heron and other rare and beautiful birds.

The river's two-foot average depth provides an excellent fishing ground for novice canoeists while its 227-mile-long length is a hearty challenge for experienced paddlers. Auto Club advises about 14 days for canoeing its length.

Meandering through portions of northern and central Lower Michigan, the Muskegon begins at Houghton Lake and passes through seven West Michigan counties before emptying into Lake Michigan.

Naturalists will find wildlife and dense forests through the upper stretches of the river from Houghton Lake to M 115. The stream is free flowing through this area with only two portage points near its beginning.

Dead Stream Swamp — one of the state's most extensive swamp areas — is situated between Houghton Lake and the Redsburg Dam and features 30 square miles of unspoiled wilderness.

Fewer than 15 miles downstream at the Muskegon Reservoir, a Department of Natural Resources deer farm may be visited. Situated about 200 yards from the river, the farm is a 160-acre facility with deer roaming free and in pens.

Canoeing remains relatively easy until paddlers enter the Big Rapids area and encounter the first of four portage points in a 25-mile section to Croton Dam. Chief attraction here is the Paris fish ponds, north of Big Rapids, where about 600 rainbow and brown trout are contained in four ponds.

Canoeing to the Rogers, Hardy and Croton Dam areas is the most difficult part of the Muskegon with portage points varying from 100 yards to nearly one-quarter mile.

Public Access Sought To Lake Level Controls

The Washtenaw County Drain Commission is continuing discussions with interested groups, including the Portage and Lake Level Property Owners Association (PLPOA) to investigate options in alleviating the problem of no public access to the Portage Lake Dam which controls the levels of Portage and Lake Level.

Both Washtenaw and Livingston counties have approved an assessment district which will include about 50 homeowners on Portage and Lake Level, according to the office of the Washtenaw Drain Commission. Proposals for solutions, however, are still being discussed, they said.

The costs are assessed under state lake level laws which permit the creation of assessment districts if nearby property owners want to make sure the lake stays at current levels. The levels have been efficiently controlled for many years by Rocky Ventrella from his home next to the dam on the Huron River. However, the problem is that there is no public access to the dam or to the pump, which is housed in Ventrella's garage. The Drain Commission states that public access is necessary.

One option, which has already been approved by the Drain Commission if necessary, is to buy the Ventrella property and spread the costs among the assessment district.

Another option would be to buy a portion of private land near the dam and place the pump on the public owned property.

Other options are being explored with the Drain Commission.

First state driver's license law introduced in Rhode Island in 1908 as the number of trucks in transport business grew to 4,000.

at various points on the river and pick up canoes.

Auto Club's list of liveries along or near the river includes: Happy River, near Houghton Lake, campground included; White Birch, near Merritt, campground; Old Log, near Marion, campground; Curiosity, near Evart; Sport-N-Life, near Paris fish ponds, adjacent campground; Sawmill, near Big Rapids; Derks and Wisner, both near Newaygo; Riverside, near Grant, and Bert's, near Muskegon.

Private campgrounds without canoe liveries include: Sportsman, at Hardy Dam; Chinook, between Grant and Fremont; Brower, near Rogers Dam; Muskegon State Park situated on Muskegon Lake.

ship and Shaw Municipal, both near Newaygo; Riverside, near Evart, and two small canoe camps on the river, southeast of Merritt.

Campers also will find Newaygo State Park located on the river with three miles of frontage on Hardy Dam Pond and Muskegon State Park situated on Muskegon Lake.

OREGON STARTED GAS TAX

Oregon became the first state to tax gasoline in 1919. Announcements of new heavy-duty trucks mentioned pneumatic tires as standard equipment for the first time. Completely enclosed cabs were optional on nearly all models.

CENTENNIAL FARM: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Riethmiller, Jr., stand beside the marker which designates their 160-acre farm on Riethmiller Rd. Miller declined to even try to estimate the value of the property today.

Floyd Riethmiller, Jr., Home Designated Centennial Farm

Michael and Anna Marie Riethmiller with their two sons, John age 27, and Michael, age 17, traveled from Germany to Pennsylvania then west, settling in Section 26 of Waterloo township in 1836... so begins the story of the Riethmiller Centennial Farm now owned by Floyd, Jr., and Jacqueline Riethmiller. The Farm, whose 160 acres encompass what is now addressed as 13224 Riethmiller Rd., was purchased by Michael Riethmiller from Emanuel Mann Nov. 19, 1839. In 1852 the senior Michael passed away and his son, Michael, stayed on the family farm and married a Miss Schmitt who died shortly after, giving Michael his first son, John.

As the story goes, Michael sent for the widow Anna Marie Heinzmann and her daughter of approximately five years. To this marriage came 11 children of which Andrew Riethmiller was the third son. Andrew married Catherine Wienhold. To this marriage came five children of which Floyd was their third son. Floyd married Ruth Jones. And to this marriage came Floyd, Jr. Floyd, Jr., married Jacqueline West. To this marriage came two daughters.

Floyd, Jr., and his wife, Jackie sit at the dining room table in one of the older portions of their Centennial Farm home sorting out the family history which they have painstakingly, though with thorough enjoyment and curiosity, researched.

Legal pads, maps, scraps of paper full of notes, all gathered from county and church records where Riethmillers were baptized, married and buried, are spread over the dining room table as the couple sifts through it all to determine the acreage of the first parcel of land purchased by Michael Riethmiller in 1839.

From their notes, the Riethmillers believe the original parcel consisted of one-eighth section, 80 acres of land. Today, all but one-half acre of the Riethmillers' 160 acres of land are leased out; they hold on to a half acre for the family's garden.

Floyd Riethmiller was only four years old when he and his parents moved to the family farm from Jackson, where Floyd's father had been under-sheriff of Jackson county. He and his bride lived with his parents until Floyd, Sr., died and his mother moved to town (Chelsea), leaving the young couple "to take over." That was 20 years ago.

As most single family farmers will tell you, today, farming is no longer profitable and Floyd, Jr., unlike his ancestors who farmed the land as a living, works elsewhere to support his family.

However, life on the farm is still attractive to the Riethmillers. "I like being alone, to have a half a mile of land on both ways of me and not a neighbor in sight," Floyd says. "I don't know what we would do if we sold this land." Adjustment to the life in the city might be too much, yet the Riethmillers wonder about the potential interest their college-age daughters might develop in the property.

Floyd refuses to even estimate the current value of his 160 acres and home. In 1850, the cash value of the farm was listed as $1,500, according to records the pair dug up in Lansing.

The Riethmillers will continue to research the history of the farm and their family. It is a hobby, they say. It keeps them busy during the winter months. There is a lot to be said for land that is kept in the continuous possession of the same family for 100 years or more and for the interest that sustains such ownership. Perhaps in 50 years, we will be reading of the Bicentennial Farm.

Best Cooks in Area Entering Tasting Spree

As part of the Western Washington County Bicentennial activities, an area-wide Tasting Spree is set for the three communities of Dexter, Manchester and Chelsea.

Purpose of the event is for better known cooks and homemakers of each area to prepare their specialties for a select number of the public and include the recipe for their specialty.

Dexter's Tasting Spree will take place on July 8, Manchester on July 22 and Chelsea the week of Aug. 15.

Only a limited number of tickets will be sold for the Tasting Spree and only capacity will be sold. The purchaser of the admission ticket will be given a small taste of every type of food offered in each area's locale and a cookbook telling how each specialty dish is made.

Only the specialty foods of each area will be presented at the individual community Tasting Spree. However, the recipes for each area will be contained in the special Tasting Spree Cookbook. Only those attending the Tasting Spree will receive the specially printed recipe books.

Application forms are available at the Headquarters. Completed forms should be returned to Headquarters by June 15.

All states were taxing gasoline by 1929.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

★ We're All Guilty In Food Price Hikes

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz has a way of putting things that even the most critical consumer can understand.

In a recent speech in Chicago the former ag economist explained why the price of meat has gone up in recent weeks. He also pointed out the difference between the farmer's share and what the consumer paid in the supermarket. The spread grew from about 37 cents a pound in 1971 to 48 cents at present.

Immediately, everyone starts yelling about the "middleman" making an outrageous profit and Butz calls that "malarky!"

He explained that today's marketing procedure is extremely complex because it involves so many people working in all sorts of jobs. And every penny of inflation adds to the cost of meat at each step of the way from farm to table.

When the price of diesel fuel for trucks went up, the cost of getting a beef carcass from Omaha to New York went up accordingly. The trucker's union gets a fat new increase in wages and benefits and the cost of hauling those steaks and loins to the supermarket goes up.

When the supermarket employee gets more money for unloading the beef sides and cutting it up for the meat case, the prices go up a little more.

When the electric company adds up its increasing fuel costs and has to turn the supermarket 18 to 20 percent more, the cost of steaks goes up.

When the checkout girl or the sackboy gets a little higher pay so they can keep up with the price of hamburger, the price of cold cuts goes up.

When the supermarket manager gets a cost of living increase, sooner or later it has to be calculated into the added cost of getting a pork chop from the farmers to the consumer.

When that customer, who works at the paper plant, gets a raise in pay the cost of food packaging has to go up.

When that high school student working part-time at the hamburger stand gets 20 cents more an hour for serving hamburgers and cooking french fries, the cost of those hamburgers and french fries goes up—or sooner or later, the owner goes out of business.

"There aren't really any 'fat cats' sitting in the middle raking in the profits by taking advantage of the retailer and consumer on one side and the farmer on the other," Butz said. "We are the other," Butz said. "We are all consumers."

Somehow, he explained, the majority of us are involved in the farm to table food chain and we all contribute to the increased cost of food. Everyone from steelworkers to telephone operators to farmers are involved.

So, if you are out to put the blame on the illusive middleman, just take your pick. We're all guilty.

Ben Franklin demonstrated the relationship between electricity and lightning on June 15, 1752 when he launched a kite during a Philadelphia rain storm. To prove what he had long suspected, he attached a wire to the end of the kite and suspended an iron key from the string he held in his hand. Lightning was indeed made by electricity! At Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, several items belonging or related to this famous and colorful statesman are displayed daily.

MRS. MARY STEINBACH

75-Year DHS Grad Will Be Honored

Mrs. Mary Laney Steinbach, a resident of the Chelsea Methodist Home, will be honored on the 75th year of her graduation from Dexter High school in special ceremonies during the Class of 1976 commencement Friday, June 11. Weather permitting, the ceremonies will be held at the football field.

An alert 94 years young, Mrs. Steinbach is the only living graduate of the DHS Class of 1901, which consisted of just three students. Commencement exercises were held at the Dexter Opera House on May 29 and Mary Alice Laney was salutatorian of her class. Mary Ellen McNamara was valedictorian and the other member of the class, Nellie Alice Bostwick, presented the Class History and Prophecy. Their class motto was "Vestigia Nulla Retorsum," class flower was a pink rose and class colors were pink and blue. The Baccalaureate sermon was presented by the Rev. O. J. Perrin at the Methodist church on May 26.

Mrs. Steinbach still has her graduation program and several certificates of promotions. One of her teachers, in the 2nd and 4th grades, was Mamie Murdoch, Dexter's very first graduate.

Dexter High school teachers in 1901 included A. D. DeWitt, B. D. (M.S.N.C.) superintendent; Miss Edith E. Shaw, principal; and Miss Minnie V. Dwyer, B.L. assistant.

School board members were R.P. Copeland, director; S. J. Jenney, moderator; O. C. Bostwick, treasurer; James Page and Daniel E. Quish, trustees.

After graduation, Mary taught in a country school on Island Lake Rd. The old frame schoolhouse still stands today.

Mary Laney Steinbach was born in the Ozark Mountains in Rolla, Mo., on Nov. 16, 1882. Her mother, Helen Jones Laney, was the daughter of an early Dexter township resident, William B. Jones. Her father, Frank J. Laney, died when Mary was four months old and her uncle, Henry B. Jones of Dexter, went to Missouri to bring Mary and her mother to Dexter to live with him in his large farm home originally built by Henry Vinkle in about 1840. Upon the death of Henry Jones in 1887, his sister, Helen Laney, inherited the lovely colonial home.

In January, 1902 she married Henry August Steinbach whose grandparents had arrived in Michigan in 1854 from Germany. This was the second marriage to occur in the large white framed colonial home. The first was that of Adeline Vinkle, daughter of the original owner, Henry Vinkle, who married William Boston.

Mary and Henry Steinbach had three children, Mrs. Frances H. Agan who died in 1951, Henry Burr, presently living in Hawaii, and Charles W. of Dexter.

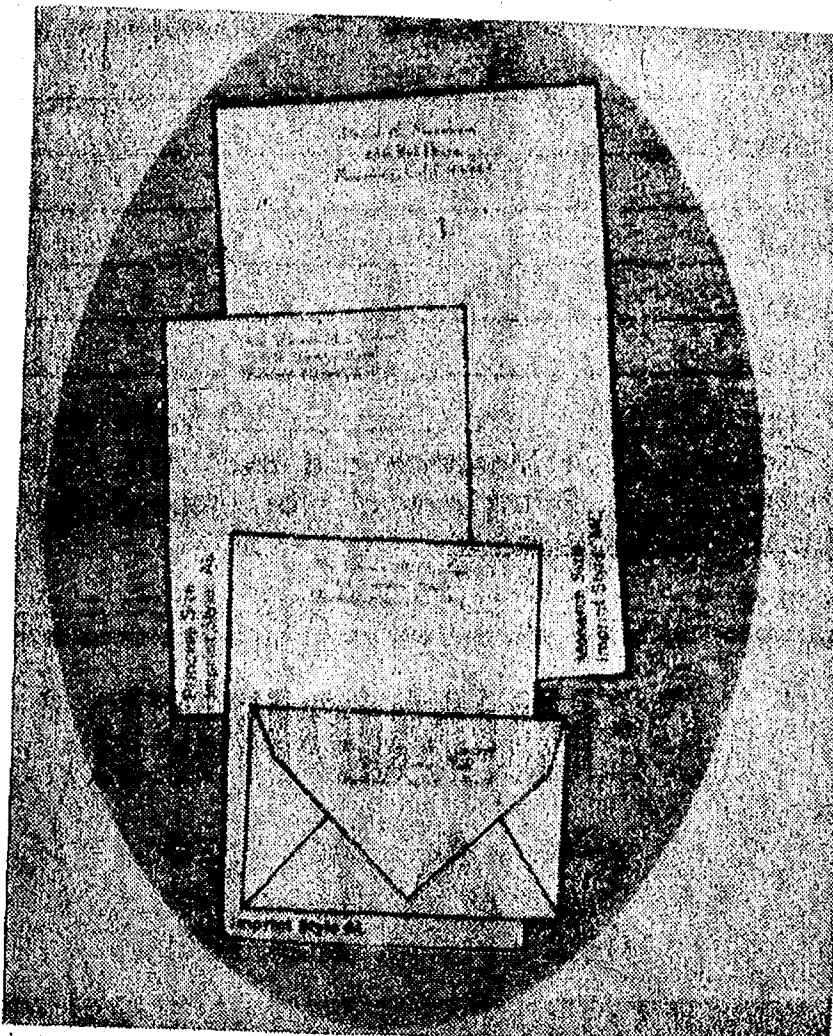

Henry Steinbach at one time operated a harness shop in Dexter. He died in 1949. It was that same year that the old Vinkle Steinbach home, where Mrs. Steinbach had lived for 68 years, was sold to the American Legion. In December 1964 she moved to the Chelsea Methodist Home.

FARMING IS BIG BUSINESS

In 1975, Michigan farmers received $1.7 billion for products they sold. This was down 4 percent from 1974's record year. With added costs of processing, transportation and marketing, Michigan's agricultural industry was worth approximately $5 billion dollars.

No Trophy For Dexter At Butler

Trophy night, June 5 at Butler Speedway found a repaired No. 43 ready to run after hours of work on Saturday. Jones finished sixth in the heat race and fifth in the 35-lap semi-feature race. No. 43 was having steering problems and wasn't running as well as usual. Ray Jones owns No. 43 and Carl Jones is the driver.

Jim Whitley took fourth in the heat race. He was running third in the 35-lap semi-feature when another car collided with No. 71, placing him to the back of the pack from where he managed to move up to finish seventh.

After working all night to replace a blown engine, Fred White and pit crew, Ron Pustay, made the show at Butler. Fred, in his No. 54 "Fredmobile" did a fine job of driving from the rear of the pack into third place in the heat race. But with one lap to go, he spun out and retired to the pits. In the consolation race, Fred finished sixth.

No. 73, with Tom Stevens at the wheel, took sixth in the heat race. In the consolation race, No. 73 pulled into the pits after one lap with rear end problems.

Next scheduled race night at Butler is Saturday, June 12.

Bulldogs Dominate All-Conference Team

Chelsea Bulldogs, Southeastern Conference Champions, dominated the All-Conference baseball team selections by placing three players on the first team and three on the second. As each league team could nominate only six players, Chelsea emerged with maximum representation.

Selected to the first squad are co-captain and shortstop, senior Randy Guenther (.408), outfielder, senior Tim Reed (.361), and catcher, junior Don Nadeau (.310). Nadeau did an outstanding job receiving and handling pitchers this season, according to his coach, Paul Terpstra.

On the second team are co-captain and first baseman, senior Joel Sprague (.277), second baseman, junior Anthony Houle (.357), and pitcher, junior John Adams (.50).

Senior Randy Guenther's selection to the all-stars rounds out a fine year of athletic achievement. In addition to baseball, he made a conference level first team in football and basketball.

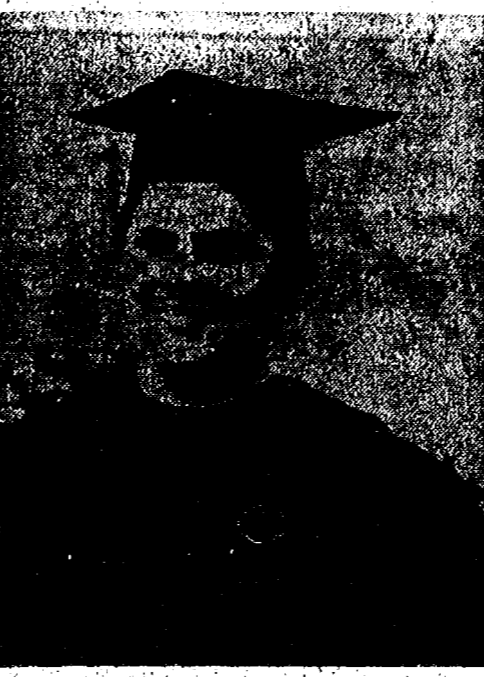

Diane E. Vale Receives Doctor of Ministry Degree

Diane Elizabeth Vale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber H. Warden, was awarded the Doctor of Ministry degree at Drew University's 108th Commencement on May 29. She is the first woman to undertake and complete the degree requirements at Drew University. Assistant minister of the Wesley United Methodist church, Belleville, N.J., she is a graduate of Michigan State University and holds the Master of Divinity degree from Drew Theological School. Effective June 15, she will be pastor of Life Lake Boardman Parish, East and South Boardman.

The Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.) degree program is the newest in the Theological School, founded in 1886 as the first of Drew University's three schools. Though the D.Min. may be taken in sequence with the ordination degree, it is also designed for ministers already in the field, who use present professional experience as a foundation for further professional development. While remaining on the job, candidates conduct ministry-oriented research and participate in weekly seminars meeting in their region. The degree is normally completed in two years, including a six-week summer session on the Drew campus, plus a professional project written under the direction of a faculty member.

King George VI and Queen Elizabeth became the first British monarchs to visit the United States when they crossed onto American soil from Canada on June 7, 1939. While in the United States their motor transportation was a specially-built Lincoln which is now part of the permanent collection of more than 200 antique, classic and historic automobiles displayed daily at the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

Dave Sindlinger in his Street Stock No. 76, finished in third place in the pursuit and feature races.

Food Donations Sought for Hungry Marathon Rockers

Activity generally makes most people hungry, and with that thought in mind donations of food for rockers in the Rocking Chair Marathon to be held June 18, 19, and 20, perhaps even longer, are being requested.

Persons interested in donating anything from coffee, cream and sugar, to hot dogs, chips, baked goods and more, are asked to take them to the Chelsea High school circle drive, where the marathon will be held, by 5 p.m. Friday, June 18; or call Wanda Schiller, special activities chairperson, Chelsea Bicentennial, at 475-1880 to let her know what you will donate.

Bicentennial Tree Planting Day Slated

Governor William G. Milliken has proclaimed June 11 as Centennial-Bicentennial Tree Planting Day in Michigan, a time when scores of communities in the state will be setting a special crop of small sugar maple trees into the ground.

Chelsea will conduct their local tree-planting ceremony Friday, June 11, 10:30 a.m. at Pierce Park following a flag ceremony at 10 a.m. at Veterans Park. Chelsea's tree planting activities will primarily focus on 3-5-year-old children, but all Chelsea residents are encouraged to attend.

Grown from seeds taken last fall from 100-year-old maples planted near Niles by a farmhand in 1878 in commemoration of the nation's Centennial, the seedlings are being distributed by the Department of Natural Resources to almost 200 local Bicentennial organizations for planting and appreciation by future Michigan citizens during the years of America's third century.

In co-operation with the DNR, the School of Forestry at Michigan State University was responsible for raising the seedlings by an accelerated growth process in the university's greenhouse.

Governor Milliken, in his executive declaration for the observance, makes these comments about the event:

"The Bicentennial celebration commemorates the past and looks to the promise of the future. The birth, growth and rebirth of the trees of our land are a classic symbol of this feeling of continuity, stability and hope.

"It also is fitting to pay tribute to those who in 1876 were moved to express thanks that their country, founded on the principles of freedom, had passed 100 years—even as we this year are celebrating 200 years."

Among participants in the commemorative tree planting on June 11 will be the Governor himself, who will plant one of the special seedlings on the Capitol grounds.

Four Chosen To Attend Boy's State

Four boys from Chelsea High school have been selected to attend Boy's State on the campus of Michigan State University from June 16-23. They are Anthony Houle, Dale Headrick, Mark Warren and John Adams.

Selection was based on academic achievement, leadership and an interest in government procedures. Boy's State was initiated by the American Legion to provide eight days of first-hand exposure to the operational structures of Michigan government. The boys will go through the process of selecting an executive legislature and state judiciary from among themselves.

The Chelsea Kiwanis Club is sponsoring Mark Warren and John Adams. Chelsea American Legion Post 31 will send Anthony Houle and Dale Headrick.

Friends of Chelsea Players Start Funds Campaign

Friends of the Chelsea Players fund-raising drive is now underway. Money raised will be used to support the Children's Theater Workshop and the summer musical production, "Hello Dolly."

The names of persons who contribute $10 or more by July 1 will appear in the program book for "Hello Dolly."

Group Activities for Evening Pool Hours

Evening hours at the Chelsea Community Pool will be reserved for special group recreational swims. Included in these special groups are family swims, handicapped swims, teen swims, and adult swims.

Family swims will be on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 6 to 10 p.m. Cost for the family swim will be 50 cents per person or $1.50 for the entire family. This would be an excellent opportunity to bring the little tots who might be too young for the regular recreational swims in the afternoon.

A swim for the handicapped will be offered on Tuesday nights from 6 to 8 p.m. This program will be organized by a well qualified instructor and should offer much enjoyment to those unable to use the pool during other periods of the day.

Tuesday and Friday evenings from 8 to 10 are teen nights at the pool. Here's a chance for teen-agers and young adults to get together with their friends for an enjoyable swim in the evening.

Friday evenings from 6 to 8 are also adults nights at the pool. Senior citizens, as well as younger adults, will find this an excellent opportunity to use and enjoy the pool.

JC Auction Sale Set Saturday

Real bargains will be the dominating feature of the annual Jaycee Rummage-Auction Sale slated for Saturday, June 12, at 1916 North Territorial Rd.

Mitch Zink, Chelsea Jaycee publicity chairman, described the variety of items which will be auctioned off to buyers at tremendous savings. Anything from an outboard motor to furniture, appliances, clothing, and miscellaneous merchandise will be available. A registered auctioneer from Ann Arbor will be on hand to conduct the proceedings.

The Jaycees funnel all profits from the rummage sale back into the community via community service projects.

All area residents are urged to attend. It's possible you may find just the item you always wanted but never thought you needed at a price you won't be able to resist.

Historical Society Plans Final Meet Until Fall

Mrs. Ike Lundberg will present a program to the Chelsea Area Historical Society at 8 p.m. June 14 in the Congregational church meeting room. Mrs. Lundberg and her husband have been actively associated with the Waterloo Farm Museum for the past few years and have accumulated much information of interest to Chelsea area residents.

Mrs. Lundberg will slant her presentation toward Chelsea history and will display a few collectibles she has gathered these past years. She told us that her knowledge of antiques and collectibles was negligible until she became involved in restoring the Waterloo house. Little by little she has gained a working knowledge of pieces, especially of the 18th century era.

Mrs. Lundberg has been in great demand during this bicentennial year and the society is grateful she agreed to give her program at its final meeting until September. They hope area residents and members will take advantage of this opportunity to gain knowledge of Chelsea's past.

Michele Papo, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Michael Papo, has pledged to Beta chapter of Alpha Chi Omega at Albion College where she recently completed her freshman year.

ASK THE GOVERNOR

by William G. Milliken

Question: You have repeatedly said that you will not raise taxes this year to help the state out of its financial bind; but I fail to see how you can avoid a tax increase. Would you please explain?

Governor: A tax increase should not be necessary because, for one thing, the national economy continues to improve. For instance, auto sales are significantly above even the most optimistic estimates. These factors have begun to result in a similar improvement in state revenues.

In my recent economic update to the legislature, I noted that our additional resources for 1976-77 should total $75 million. That doesn't mean we will end this budget year with a surplus, however, because there are at least $66 million in additional expenses that are known at this time and extra items... such as needed raises for the State Police... for which there is not even a final price tag.

Consequently, we still need to resist any temptation to overspend. At the same time, I would not recommend new taxes because when the economy does return to normal and state revenues improve further there would be a tendency to begin new programs and to find new ways to spend the extra money. I am convinced that the tough decisions we've had to make over the past two years to live within our means will prove to be beneficial in the long run, since they have forced economies in government and some long overdue evaluations of state services, programs and methods.

Question: Businesses, particularly those in northern Michigan, depend on the Lake Michigan ferry service to transport their goods. It is my understanding that the rail ferry service may be abandoned by the railroads. Since this action would have a negative impact on many businesses whose survival depends on this service, what are you doing to prevent such abandonment?

Governor: You are exactly right. What happens to the ferries will affect the economic competitiveness of cities and businesses throughout northern lower Michigan and the Upper Peninsula. Wisconsin Governor Patrick Lucey and I have joined forces to turn this around. We have created a Wisconsin-Michigan task force to investigate the status of Lake Michigan ferry service and report its findings and recommendations to our respective transportation officials. Lake Michigan ferry service has declined in recent years, affecting the economies of not only our lakeshore areas, but numerous inland communities as well. But even worse is the fact that if ferry service is totally abandoned, our shippers will be forced to detour through congested Chicago routes, causing several days delay and increased costs resulting from increased transportation rates on all land routes.

In addition, the ferry service has a stabilizing effect on our rail system. Governor Lucey and I will do everything we can to prevent abandonment of the Lake Michigan ferry service.

Question: If the oil companies are allowed to expand or even continue present drilling in the Pigeon River State Forest, the wildlife and environment will never be the same for us or future generations. You must do something to put a stop to these actions that will result in our wilderness areas becoming wastelands.

Governor: The Michigan Natural Resources Commission recently went on record in opposition to any development which would threaten the environmental integrity of the forest. But because of the possible legal complexities, the Commission instructed DNR Director Tanner to negotiate with those companies holding oil and gas leases with the aim of sharply restricting drilling. Director Tanner is empowered to do what he can on a case-by-case basis, working with the knowledge that if the state has no further legal basis on which to halt drilling altogether that he may take other steps to allow a limited, balanced drilling program in the lower one-third of the forest. The state, at the same time, will go to court when necessary. I believe we should establish a firm "no drill" line beyond which drilling would not be permitted. And whenever that line is drawn, we must use all legal means to seek binding assurances that it will be honored.

Traffic Death Toll Up Over Last Year

Traffic accidents in Michigan in May claimed 144 lives, which was five less than 149 charged to the same month last year, according to provisional figures of the State Police traffic division.

Average for the month was 173 in the five years 1971-75. High record for May was 240 in 1968 while the low for the month was 49 registered in 1944, a wartime year.

Included in the May death toll were 28 fatalities charged to accidents occurring during the Memorial Day holiday week-end. The holiday toll also was 28 in May a year ago.

The May deaths brought the accumulated toll for the first five months this year to 639, which was up by 68 or about 11 percent compared with 571 in the corresponding period in 1975.

Delayed deaths charged back to accidents occurring in May and earlier months this year will increase somewhat the death toll for May and the accumulated period.

MSU Computer Center Handles Million Jobs

Michigan State University's Computer Center handled nearly a million "jobs" during the last (1974-75) academic year. These included projects for faculty, students, classes, research, and for outside requests from government, business and industry. Nearly half the jobs were related to MSU classes.

Red, White, Blue Spruce Developed

East Lansing—A new breed of American Spruce, developed just in time for America's Bicentennial, has been planted both at the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C., and also on the grounds of the State Capitol.

MSU's American Spruce is the first tri-hybrid cross among three important species of spruce from different regions of the United States—the red, white and blue spruces.

It represents the culmination of eight years of research under the direction of Dr. James Hanover, professor of forestry at MSU and a nationally recognized expert in tree genetics. The new hybrid, says Dr. Hanover, will combine the best qualities of its three parental species and will be appropriate for both forest industry uses and ornamental plantings.

Development of the American Spruce began in 1968. Although not initiated as a Bicentennial project, progress was rapid, yielding seedlings this year.

Robert Perrin, MSU vice-president for university and federal relations, said the American Spruce "represents the successful combination of basic research and practical application that characterizes so many scientific investigations at MSU."

George Ball To Speak at MSU Spring Commencement

East Lansing—George W. Ball, a partner in the international investment firm of Lehman Brothers, Inc., and former undersecretary of state, will deliver Michigan State University's spring term commencement address June 12.

Ball will speak at the afternoon ceremonies for undergraduate degrees to be held in Spartan Stadium at 4 p.m. Advanced degrees will be awarded at separate ceremonies in the University Auditorium at 10 a.m.

At the afternoon ceremonies, Ball will be awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree. In addition, three other distinguished individuals will be presented honorary degrees.

They are: Mario Barbosa, an MSU alumnus and a leader in veterinary medical education in Latin America; Dr. Ernest O. Melby, distinguished professor emeritus of education at MSU; and Bayard Rustin, noted civil rights leader and writer.

At the June 12 ceremonies, 5,239 spring term degree candidates will receive diplomas.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,
As another school year comes to a close, and much has been said about the teachers and the school system, I as a parent would like to voice my views.

Chelsea High School has many good teachers on its staff, but I for one would like to let everyone know that Nancy Porath, the Special Ed. teacher, is one in a million. She devotes many outside classroom hours to the children she teaches. She spends many hours preparing them for competition in the Special Olympics. This means picking out music teaching routine for floor exercise and balance beam. Also teaching them how to swim and dive. Then there were many trips to Ann Arbor for uniforms. Besides all that was the fact we need money for all of them to go, so we sold cupcakes and brownies everyday they were able to go. Also, a donation helped send some.

Often times we are too eager to find fault and not give credit where credit is due. But this is one teacher I know who gives the extra mile and gets nothing in return, money-wise, but much love from her students.

As a parent I want to thank her for giving my child the extra help, guidance and love she has in the last five years. I want to let her know we will always support her and the class in their efforts. Thanks, Nancy.
A thankful parent,
Gladys Buck.

Michigan State University offers one of the best programs in the country for executives pursuing the master's degree in business administration and the doctoral degree in business, according to a 1976 Business Week evaluation. MSU was the only university listed in both categories.

Young People May Become Supersoppers

A new grade-school-level consumer education program being developed at Michigan State University may make "supersoppers" out of young consumers.

Funded by MSU's Educational Development Program, the idea of turning elementary school pupils into market-wise consumers is the brainchild of William Joyce and Timothy H. Little, professors in MSU's College of Education.

"Consumer education," Dr. Joyce said, "is just basic survival training for life in modern society. The earlier someone learns consumer skills, the better."

"We want to teach youngsters to analyze an ad and to be able to separate the hard information from the 'puffery'."

Dr. Joyce and Dr. Little are also attempting to make laws and legal obligations and rights more apparent to youngsters.

Noise pollution is so common in congested areas that residents of major metropolitan areas are exposed to many sound levels that are potentially damaging to their ability to hear without even being aware of the danger, according to hearing specialists.

Ronald Allen Seeking Drain Commissioner Post

Ronald Allen has announced his candidacy on the Democratic ticket for the office of Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner. Allen, 32, has been a Michigan resident for the past 30 years. He resides in Ypsilanti township. He has had four years of undergraduate work at Eastern Michigan University and has been a licensed plumber for the past seven years and a member of the Plumbers & Steamfitters Local 190 for 12 years. During those years he served as an elected member of the executive board and as a delegate to the United Association of Plumbers & Steamfitters International Convention. Since 1971 he has served as secretary, vice-chairman, and presently chairman of the Ypsilanti Township Planning Commission and Board of Appeals.

"During my years of working with the public I have become acutely aware of the problems caused by flooded basements, storm water run-off on farm lands and the resultant damage to man's environment.

"I believe the Drain Commissioner's office should be conducted on a professional basis. In my opinion this has not been the case. "The inadequacies of the Drain Commissioner's office at the present time are due to the fact that a Civil Engineer is not a part of the Drain Commissioner's staff. To have three or four consulting firms reviewing plans and plats that come to the Drain Commissioner for approval is an enormous waste of the hard-earned monies that belong to the taxpayers of the county."

Allen says he is open to innovation and change. "I do not believe in carrying on practices just because they have been done in the past. If procedures utilized in the past are proven wasteful or ineffective, then they should be eliminated."

"The Drain Commissioner must co-operate with all the municipalities, and the County Board of Commissioners," Allen said. He believes that in the best interest of the county residents, and for purposes of uniformity and efficiency, the Deputy Drain Commissioner should be a Civil Engineer.

"Co-operation is the key to any successful office holder. Co-operation is a must among residents, the Board of Commissioners and the local municipalities. Prior to any project, a review should include input from the people affected," Allen concluded. The primary election will be held Aug. 3.

Saline Art Fair Slated This Week-end

The Saline Art Fair will be bigger and better this year. It will be held in Curtiss Park, along the Saline River, June 12 and 13. This setting is on US-12 next to one of the historic Ford mills.

The Saline Art Council is constantly improving the events. This year, all applicants were required to submit a portfolio of work for quality and media mix. Artists and craftsmen are coming from southern Michigan, Ohio, Virginia, and Florida.

There will be demonstrations in pottery, stained glass, painting, leatherwork, weaving, and wood-working. Jewelry, coppersmithing, photography, candles, macramé and printmaking will also be shown.

There will be complete food service provided by Romanoff Catering of Ann Arbor. Entertainment will be provided on Sunday. The fair should be fun for the entire family with picnic facilities, tennis courts, and playground equipment for the kids. The relaxed atmosphere of a small town fair coupled with the park facilities makes this an easy fair to enjoy.

Hours are Saturday 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Sunday 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. In case of rain, the Saline Middle school on Ann Arbor Saline Rd. will be used.

Huron River Planning Group Meets Tonight At Hamburg Hall

CPHA Open House Set For Sunday

The Commission on Professional and Hospital Activities (CPHA) is inviting the community to attend an Open House on Sunday, June 13, between 2 and 5 p.m. CPHA is located at 1968 Green Rd. (near Plymouth Rd. and US-23, on the northeast edge of Ann Arbor).

Headquartered in Ann Arbor since its creation in 1955, CPHA is a non-profit, non-governmental, research and education center dedicated to the improvement of hospital and medical care.

A staff of more than 400 employees work at the Commission and live in Ann Arbor, as well as Chelsea, Dexter, Saline, Milan, Inkster, Plymouth, Livonia, Manchester, South Lyon, and Ypsilanti. The staff of CPHA represent such diverse fields as medicine, data processing, statistics, health records, computer systems, education, and hospital administration.

CPHA's principal program, the Professional Activity Study (PAS) is a co-operative effort of hospitals engaged in the continuing study of their hospital practice. The original thirteen hospitals involved in PAS when it was begun in 1953 were located in Southwestern Michigan. The study has now grown to include over 2,200 hospitals located mostly throughout the United States and Canada.

PAS was originally founded and conducted for three years by the Southwestern Michigan Hospital Council, with assistance from The University of Michigan School of Public Health. It was at that time financed by grants from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation. In 1955, CPHA was established to oversee its continued operation and expansion.

The computerized data library created as a part of PAS now contains information on more than 130 million hospitalizations—the largest collection of such data in the world—with 17 million abstracts added annually.

CPHA is sponsored by the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American Hospital Association, and the Southwestern Michigan Hospital Council.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

By Michigan Farm Bureau Staff Writer

* Estate Tax

Changes Needed

This country has undergone of existence and many of those will be emphasized as we commemorate our bicentennial.

An area that needs action now as we reflect on the past is with federal estate tax laws.

The estate inheritance tax exemption became law in 1939 with an initial allowable exemption of $40,000. That was increased in 1942 to $80,000, but since then nothing has been done to bring it up to date.

In the meantime, though, the average farm size has doubled out of necessity and land values have gone up substantially because of inflation, thereby eroding the value of the estate tax exemption.

Congress has passed over an estate tax reform bill designed to preserve the family farm as well as the family-held business. The legislation was introduced last year by Representative Omar Burleson of Texas and sits in the House Ways and Means committee.

The bill attacks three aspects of the problem by raising the specific estate tax exemption, increasing the marital deduction and making it possible for the executor of an estate to have property that is used for farming, woodland or scenic open space as-essed on the basis of its current use rather than higher potential uses.

Families who worked together on the land to help pay for it are finding they are having to pay for it all over again when the landowner dies. At present, farmers can seek relief only through lifetime planning and making certain they have enough liquid assets in case of emergency. This path of action is open only to those who can afford to hire tax consultant advice and still does not offer any kind of real guarantee to avoid the loss of a family business.

Every day that passes before Congress acts means more families are put in hardship situations by being forced to sell off land just to pay estate taxes that are based on figures a quarter of a century old.

In thinking of the chain of events and the role that Congress can play in it, we might recall the words of Mahatma Gandhi who said: "There go my people, I must hurry and catch up with them, for I am their leader."

The Michigan State University Agricultural Experiment Station conducts more than 400 projects covering basic and applied sciences annually on the MSU campus and at 14 field stations in Michigan and other states.

G. Bergman Hearing Continues Tonight

In a three-hour hearing Thursday, June 3, at the high school cafeteria, Chelsea High School principal, Charles Lane concluded his testimony against George Bergman, a tenured teacher at Chelsea High School, who first came to Chelsea as a counselor in 1958.

Seeking Bergman's removal, Lane has filed nine charges against Bergman, including neglect of duty, inefficiency, and inability to communicate.

About 30 people attended this second hearing. The hearings are scheduled to resume on Thursday, June 10, at 7 p.m. At this time, teachers will enter their statement into the record, and Lane will be cross-examined by Richard Gray of the Michigan Education Association. Gray is Bergman's legal counsel. Lane is represented by Joseph Mosier, a Lansing attorney.

The Michigan Teacher Tenure Act provides Bergman with the right to first hear all charges leveled against him and reply to the charges at a later hearing. Because Bergman is tenured, it is basically up to Lane to prove his charges against Bergman.

During Lane's testimony Thursday, he submitted 51 documents as evidence in support of his accusations against Bergman. These documents were correspondence between Lane and Bergman, other faculty members, and administrators over the past three years. The documents attempted to show Bergman's alleged inability to cope with his responsibilities toward graduating seniors.

Lane further directed criticism at Bergman's alleged lack of professional attitude. In summing up his disaffection with Bergman's work, Lane said Bergman's performance has become worse, instead of better over the past 11 years.

St. Louis School Notes

"Some of the parents present were moved to tears to see how hard the boys competed," Father Umberto Mellare, principal of St. Louis school related in describing the scene at the Special Olympics held June 3-6 at Central Michigan University.

Seventeen boys competed for medals in bowling, track and field, and gymnastics, winning a total of six gold medals, seven silver, and 10 bronze. Their victories brought the over-all total of medals won in competition this year to a St. Louis school record of 53.

Saturday evening the boys participated in a Special Olympics banquet and dance. They also met and talked with celebrities Ron Kramer, Lions and Packers football star, Brian Watson of the Detroit Red Wings, and Tom Tresh, Yankee baseball player.

Other events underway at St. Louis school include a visit to Sea World in Ohio for boys 14 to 18, June 8-10. The purpose of the visit is to improve the social skills of the boys through direct public contact. They will stay overnight at the Ramada Inn motel.

Boys 8 to 13 years of age will make the same trip to Sea World June 13-18.

On Thursday, June 10, a Traditional Dance will be held on the St. Louis school grounds. Some 40 girls from Southfield Dance Studio will spend a couple of hours showing the boys how to dance. Dr. Jeff Dembs organized the event. Local Chelsea girls are welcome to come.
