Bicentennial Rehearsals Have Begun

Rehearsals for the Chelsea Bicentennial Spectacular "Sounds of America" have begun at the Chelsea High school this past week. However, the rehearsals have been changed to Beach Middle school for the remainder of the rehearsal period. This past week, work began on the many dance routines required for the production. This week, rehearsals will focus on the various scenes that depict Chelsea's participation in the forming of the United States from its earliest beginnings to the present day.

Much of America's history may be portrayed through developments in transportation. This production will attempt to highlight this side of history, with particular emphasis on Chelsea's part in this great movement. Rehearsals for teen-age groups are 7:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Robert Futon and the Waltz Couples will meet 8:15 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, followed by the Early Pioneers and the Covered Wagon group at 8:45 p.m., Monday and Wednesday; the First Railroad, the Gay 90's at 8:45 p.m. Monday and Wednesday; and the Charleston and the Roarin Twenties scene, 9:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday.

Rehearsals will last about 45 minutes for each group. Complete families are invited to participate although costumes are not available for the youngsters. However, they can be a part of the scene and it will be something long remembered. There are no lines to learn and most of the costumes are furnished except for modern dress.

All rehearsals will be at the Beach Middle school until Aug. 9. From that time on, rehearsals will be held at Jerry Niehaus Memorial Field on a large stage that is to be constructed on the football field. Call Bicentennial Headquarters, 475-7610, for more information.

JAIL BREAK: Chelsea previewed its Bicentennial Celebration with a promenade Friday evening, July 23, only to be shocked by the disruptive behavior of resident Gene Shoemaker. His antics were observed by the hawk-eyed Keystone Kops who quickly moved in to arrest the troublemaker. He was promptly put in jail to await his trial, but as you see here, the meddler attempted a jail break. Three Keystone Kop guards (left to right) Tim Whitesall, Jim Robbins, and Mark Houle, managed to grab the prisoner before he completed his escape, and ushered him off to meet the judge.

BICENTENNIAL FEATURE:

Proving Grounds Tours Available

A Chelsea Bicentennial exclusive now available to all area residents who would like to try something they may have difficulty obtaining in the future. For the first time in the history of its existence, Chrysler Proving Grounds of Chelsea will be open for special bicentennial public tours, beginning Friday, July 23 and continuing each consecutive Friday until Aug. 13, 5:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Special shuttle buses, furnished by St. Paul United Church of Christ in Chelsea and St. Louis school, will carry passengers to and from the premises. The buses will be boarded at the gate of the proving grounds, and for the next hour, tour participants will be regaled with explanations describing what actually occurs behind the locked gates.

No cameras will be allowed, nor will people be allowed off the bus once they are inside the proving grounds gate. A donation of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children is being asked by the Bicentennial Committee to offset transportation costs.

Following the tours, three films will be presented at Bicentennial Headquarters. The films will show impact tests, and cars running the proving grounds course. There will be no charge to view the films.

Women Dominate Bicentennial Contests

Let it not be said that men can outdo women. The Chelsea Canoers' Association Belles proved this Saturday, July 24 at Letts Creek. These Belles challenged the Roarin' Ruffles to an inner-tube race down Letts Creek.

Participants on the side of the paddle-powered Canoers included Mary Lou Paul. Nancy Sweeny, Jean Akin and Winona Landwehr, while the Roarin' Ruffles were represented by Wanda Schiller, Nadine Packard, Angie Coppernoll and Loydell Keezer.

The winning CCAB'ers won the match with a time of 5½ minutes, faster than the men's time in a similar race, which proves that women make time better than men.

In the tug of war, the Crafty Ladies defeated the Royal Rural Rooster Rooters, the Lacy Lady Lakers yanked the Roarin' Ruffles to defeat, the Waterloo Lilies exhibited their flower-power to win over the Blue Bonnet Belles, and the Flaming Belles out-tugged the Waterloo Lilies.

The watermelon eating and seed spitting contest, sponsored by the Minutemaids on Friday night, July 23, was attended by approximately 120 people. The SENTENCE EXECUTED: Gene Shoemaker, who was sentenced by the Kangaroo Kourt to receive a pie in the face for his disruptive behavior during Chelsea's promenade this past Friday, looks none too pleased with the punishment as he struggles to get away from his captors in the center of the photo. Keystone Kop Tim Whitesall was assigned the duty of executing the punishment. He is to the left in the photo, preparing to fling the pie. Unfortunately, the slippery Shoemaker ducked just as the pie was thrown, and Jim Robbins, second Keystone Kop from the right, ended up with a goey face. Second Keystone Kop from the left is Mark Houle and the first Keystone Kop on the right is Ron Harris.

Phony Utility Men Rob Elderly Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lehmann of 15307 Cavanaugh Lake Rd., were the victims of an unarmed robbery shortly before noon on Thursday, July 22.

Police reports state the couple were in their home when one of the thieves came to the door, posing as a Consumer's Power inspector. He lured Mr. Lehmann, 89, and Mrs. Lehmann, 82, onto their porch under the auspices of pointing out the source of a power line deficiency to them.

In the meantime, his accomplice entered the home through a back door, went into the couple's bedroom, and began rifling through the drawers of a bureau.

Mrs. Lehmann became suspicious of the Consumer's Power imposter and returned indoors on the pretext of turning on her oven. Upon reentering her home, she observed the man in her bedroom, and, according to the report, ordered both of them to leave the property.

The thieves strong-armed the elderly couple and procrastinated their departure from the premises. Officers involved in the investigation speculate the men needed time to disconnect the earpiece of the Lehmann's telephone receiver before leaving.

Thus, when Mrs. Lehmann proceeded to notify police of the incident, she found her telephone service out of order. She walked one quarter mile to a neighbor's home and dialed police from there.

Missing from the victims' bedroom were a diamond ring and $500 in cash.

The couple were unable to give accurate descriptions of the robbers or of the vehicle used in the thieves' escape. It is believed they escaped in a pick-up truck. Mr. Lehmann was hindered in offering a well detailed account, by the fact he is an invalid and suffers hearing and seeing problems.

Police surmised the robbery was well planned and the work of professional thugs. Although this is the first incident of its kind in a long while, according to Deputy Wenk of the Dexter Sheriff's Police, area residents are warned to positively ascertain the identity of service repairmen before opening their doors to strangers claiming that identity.

Commemorative Coins On Sale for Bicentennial

Many of the bicentennial communities have issued commerative coins honoring various colonial edifices in their communities to observe the United States Bicentennial Celebration. Chelsea has chosen to honor the Clock Tower which has been an integral part of the lives of the 4,000 citizens throughout the years. This timepiece has tolled out the hours for the factory worker to get on the job, has been closely watched for the hands to indicate "quitting time" and the return of workers to their homes, has set the time for the young to meet for dates, and has measured out the last minutes for those on their death bed. It was used as a special meeting place for those who were forbidden to meet secretly, and has marked the location of the industrial portion of the community.

The old clock tower has been engraved on each of the commemorative coins being distributed by the Chelsea Bicentennial Committee in a limited supply. These coins are available in bronze and sterling silver, in both the Liberty Bell and the Minute Man configuration, with the clock tower commeraized on the reverse side of each coin. A spec-

First Lady Standings Reported

Competition for the crown of Chelsea's First Lady, now approaching its third week, is gaining momentum as a count of voter returns still shows Kathryn McCalla leading the race.

Other contestants placed as follows in the week ending Friday, July 23: Anne Steinaway, second; Betty Koch, third; Jennie Walz, fourth; Sue McCalla, fifth; Wanda Schiller, sixth; Nadine Koch, seventh; Shiela Carr, eighth; and Debbie Bergman, ninth.

Jennie Walz was the only candidate to post an upward move in the standings since last report. She rose from sixth position to fourth in the one-week period.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The wimmen out here at our church have got theirselves a crusade. And you know what hath no fury like a bunch of wimmen with their minds set on somepun. My old lady was cooking up extra to take to the church Saturday night, and she told me it was fer the "summer singles social." I didn't ask questions, but when I got to the country store the fellers filled me in.

It seems the wives has took note that grown folks in the church that ain't married are being left out of everthing. So they have took it on theirselves to git these "singles" more involved in church life. The Saturday night social was jest one in a series of activities organized to git the singles together.

I'll have to agree, Mister Editor, that there is a place fer this in churches. If ours is any example, the church don't think of an adult being one. We got programs fer children of different ages, but when we organize Sunday school fer adults, we do it on the base of two. The young couples have a class and the old men and the old wimmen split up in classes, but it is understood that each one has a partner somewhere in the church. The single is neither fish nor fowl. They are half a pair, and they don't seem to fit anywhere. My hat is off to our wimmen fer taking note of this and working to give some attention to this group of folks.

But what I'm thinking, and what some of the other fellers is concerned about, is the motives behind what our wimmen are doing. Being wimmen, they got the idee that a man by hisself is a pitiful thing. They can't bring theirselves to think he can do fer hisself, fix meals, wash his clothes, so they won't believe fer a minute that the poor devil is enjoying life. The idee that a man would choose to stay single jest don't register on them.

Bug Hookum touched on another side of this situation. He said married wimmen think wimmen that ain't married want to be, and even if they don't want to be they ought to be fer the peace of mind of all concerned. They look at a bachelor as a husband prospect, and they don't like to see him around as a reminder of one that got away, was the way Bug put it.

The feller that runs the store said the same kind of move got single adults together at his church, and he said we were wrong to question reasons behind what our wimmen are doing. He said his preacher was the one pushing activities fer singles, and that it worked out good. Now, he says, the singles have their seperate church life jest like the children and the other adults. There's talk of the single men and single wimmen gitting in one class, but he don't think that'll work. If what the church wants is everbody going his own way, we got it, he said.

Personal, Mister Editor, I'm glad to see our old ladies git worked up over doing somepun to draw the single crowd. If nothing else, it's got our wimmen working together and it gives us fellers more time to talk.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

To the Editor:

A drug and alcohol abuse home is now operating in Chelsea. This home, under new ownership and known as "Dawn Farms," has settled here permanently.

The addicts have moved from Ypsilanti to our community. Sixteen addicts, both men and women, are residing in this one-family dwelling. They have plans to increase the number of persons to 40. Is this going to be a dumping ground for all of lower Michigan including Detroit? There are numerous cars at this residence. Local concerned residents have noticed them coming and going at all hours. "Where do they go?"

The program, if any, seems inadequate since the addicts are seen just sitting around or lying in the sun. Do these addicts have a choice of going to this home or going to jail? The staff and the addicts are being partially financed by C.E.T.A. Who finances the rest?

Do we have sufficient police protection and medical facilities to handle this new type of problem? Should drug abuse centers be allowed in Chelsea areas zoned for single family residences?

The Chelsea Zoning Board was advised of this situation by Sylvan Taxpayers Association. Watch for public hearings on this vital community issue and attend and make your opinions known.

Travel—to Detroit

A lion's body and human head, dating 4,500 years into the past . . .

Sunday brunch accompanied by a live performance of Bach in a delightful garden setting . . . .

Van Gogh, John Singer Sargent, 30,000 art objects from all major civilizations . . .

Michigan folks can find all this and more this summer—right in their own territory—at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The special Sphinx exhibit outlines the changing face of that ancient demon, which rests on Egypts Giza Plateau.

Present opinion holds that the creature, about 65 feet high and 190 feet long, was made at the time the pyramids were built, as a portrait of a fourth dynasty king. But it is of multipurpose significance, explains William H. Peck, curator of ancient art. He says the Sphinx also represents the Egyptian sun god and the alert crouching posture makes the Sphinx a guardian figure for the royal tombs at Giza.

That exhibit, detailing the more than 4,000 years of efforts to maintain the natural limestone carving, runs through Sept. 5.

Other exciting happenings at the Institute include:

—Performances of the hit musical, "The Fantasticks," preceded by a candlelight supper, through Sunday, Aug. 8. Cost is $12.50 per reserved seat.

—An exhibit of 100 prints drawings, photographs and book illustrations depicting the satire of English graphic art, through Aug. 29.

—Special concerts, gifts from throughout the world at the Museum Shop and the peace and quiet of a cool, uncrowded adventure into art.

To set the record straight—some confusion arose after recent budget problems — the Institute is open five days a week, from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, and 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday.

Museum admission is free. (State and local funds as well as private contributions help finance the Institute.) There are, of course, charges for the brunch concerts and dinner theater performances, and the institute accepts contributions at all times.

Located in Detroit's Cultural Center, near the Wayne State University campus, the Institute is within blocks of major freeways, I 96, I 75, and I 94. There's plenty of reasonably priced parking nearby.

How about that for a mini-vacation?

Employee Rights

Full political rights for public employees, tempered by common sense safeguards against conflict of interest, are assured under new Michigan law.

They are, it seems, unless a court decides otherwise.

Legislation sponsored by Democrat Howard Wolpe of Kalamazoo was signed into law by Gov. William Milliken. The bill allows public employees at the state and local level to participate in all partisan political activities including running for political office, as long as these activities are undertaken on their own time.

State employees would be required to take a leave of absence to run for state office and local governmental units can impose the same requirement on employees running for office within the political subdivision that employs them.

Problems crop up when state employees are considered.

State Civil Service Commission Chairperson Ruth Robertson has said her group has authority to regulate all conditions of employment in the classified service.

Wolpe acknowledges that constitutional authority, but says it does not extend to the employees' private lives.

The new law does not cover local government workers hired with federal funds; because federal law prohibits partisan political activity on their part. But they can, however, run for non-partisan office.

They're Gone!

Then you saw 'em. Now you don't.

It's a case of the vanishing billboards. Some 20,000 of the sizeable commercial signs have disappeared from Michigan's state highways in the past three years, since the Legislature passed a billboard control law in 1973.

You can even tell now that there's greenery next to the road in some spots.

The go-getter is one wh opersuades you that his estimate of himself is correct.

Letters to the Editor

Editor,

The Mill Creek Research Council of Lima township officially goes on record as being in general favor of the concept of smaller recreation areas nearer to centers of population, as is proposed and carried out by the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission. We favor these smaller urban-oriented parks over the large regional park facilities which we are also paying for in this county.

In Doug Fulton's "Naturalist's Journal" column in the Sunday, July 18 Ann Arbor News, he mentions that "cross-country skiing, wilderness survival, senior citizens' programs, gardening opportunities, and physical fitness projects" (i.e., jogging trails), are offered in our county's park system. Even in an urban or suburban area, these activities allow for a closeness to nature and a sense of getting away from it all, relatively close to home. The urban, beach, and natural (or historic) categories planned by the Commission make up a well rounded system of parks with something for everyone to enjoy; the idea that many of the parks are close to urban areas will allow many easier access to the recreation to which they are entitled. It is no longer the day of driving way out in the country to enjoy a park facility.

The Mill Creek Research Council supports the endeavors of the Washtenaw County Parks and Recreation Commission to build smaller, sufficient park facilities nearer to urban areas as opposed to large regional parks. We therefore support the proposed ¼ mill increase for county parks, to be voted upon Aug. 3.

Robert Wirtz, President,

UNCLE SAM WANTS YOU TO RETIRE COMFORTABLY

If he didn't, he wouldn't have invented IRA (Individual Retirement Account).

IRA is the retirement plan approved by the U. S. Pension Reform Act for those individuals whose retirement plan has been terminated and those not covered by any other qualified private or government plan.

If your present plan is terminated by your company, you can "rollover" all of your accumulated retirement dollars into an IRA account at Ann Arbor Federal Savings. All participants in the IRA plan can deposit $1500 per year or 15% of compensation, whichever is less, in a retirement account at Ann Arbor Federal Savings. Deposits and interest are tax deferred until retirement at which time you will probably be in a lower tax bracket.

Take a look at the chart and see how much faster your retirement dollars accumulate with IRA. Then run to your nearest AAFS office where your IRA account earns higher interest. Uncle Sam approves.

If you contribute $1500 each year, you will have...

AT THE END OF	WITH TAX SHELTER	WITHOUT TAX SHELTER	DIFFERENCE WITH TAX SHELTER
10 Years	$ 21,707.35	$ 16,828.62	$ 4,878.73
15 Years	$ 40,659.13	$ 28,842.79	$11,816.34
20 Years	$ 62,028.64	$ 48,720.23	$13,308.39
25 Years	$ 99,844.55	$ 71,488.06	$28,356.49
30 Years	$155,352.48	$101,933.05	$53,419.43

The figures in the above chart assume that the total contribution of $1500 is made on the final business day of each year, and that the taxpayer is in the 25% tax bracket. Based on 7¾%, 72 months certificate, effective annual rate 8.03% with monthly compounding. Federal regulations require substantial penalty for early withdrawals.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tanner

Patricia Hergert, Douglas Tanner Speak Vows in Garden Ceremony

Patricia Hergert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hergert of Grass Lake, married Douglas Tanner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tanner of Bad Kissengen, Germany, Saturday, July 24. The Rev. David Stiles performed the 2 p.m. ceremony in a garden setting.

The bride chose a long, off-white, organza gown with full sleeves and a layered skirt which gathered to a bow in back. She wore a tiara of baby mums dyed to match her dress, and carried a bouquet of orchids and baby's breath in the shape of a fan.

Andrea Bowman of Ann Arbor served as maid of honor, appearing in a soft, summer print floral gown. Her tiara was an arrangement of multi-colored baby mums, and she carried a basket of flowers.

Terry Powers of Ipls, Ind., was the bridegroom's best man. He was assisted by usher Michael Hergert of Pittsburgh, Pa., brother of the bride.

Gary Dosey, 6, and Christopher Wroubel, 7, attended as rice bearers.

Following the ceremony, more than 80 guests gathered for a reception at the home of the bride. A highlight of the occasion was an appointment telephone call, congratulating the newlywed couple, from the parents of the bridegroom who were unable to travel from Germany to attend the wedding.

The former Miss Hergert is a 1970 graduate of Chelsea High School. She will be attending Grand Rapids College in the fall, and is scheduled to graduate in 1977.

Mr. Tanner graduated from Culver Military Academy in 1969. He is a 1973 graduate of Rose Heelman College, Terre Haute, Ind. He is currently employed by the Lear Siegler Co., Grand Rapids, as a quality control engineer.

Following a honeymoon in Europe, visiting the bridegroom's parents, the couple will make their home in Wyoming, Mich.

Wahr Family Reunion Held At Alvin Wahr's

The Wahr family reunion was held Sunday, July 25, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wahr of Heim Rd., with 57 relatives present. After a pot-luck dinner, the afternoon was spent visiting, playing baseball, and riding in a dune buggy.

Officers elected to organize the 1977 reunion are president, Robert Wahr, Jr., and vice-president, Gary Wahr, both of Brooklyn; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Allen Clark of Manchester; and historian, Patricia Wakefield of Brooklyn. Among their duties, the officers arrange for flowers for the graves of their grandparents, decide on the location of the forthcoming reunion, and handle entertainment details.

Attending the reunion this year were family members from Brooklyn, Grass Lake, Bridgewater, Sharon, Jefferson City, Mo., Jackson and Manchester.

The 1977 reunion is scheduled for the last Sunday in July, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Crouch of Grass Lake.

Record Crowd Attends Spaulding Social, Picnic

A record turnout of families attended the annual Spaulding for Children ice cream social and picnic Saturday, July 17, although fewer Chelsea families were present this year when compared to last year's local attendance figures.

Children, from infants to 14-year-olds, were entertained by a magic show, presented by the handicapped father of one of the families. Fish ponds and balloon games occupied most of the youngster's time during the afternoon. Carnival games were also held, with McDonalds on Zeeb Rd. and McDonalds of Lansing donating $50 worth of prizes. The variety of games and abundance of prizes made it possible for almost every child to collect an award.

A raffle, which featured handmade craft items donated by parents, volunteers and friends of Spaulding for Children was unanimously declared a success as the lucky winners of the drawing returned home with items such as a hand-worked afgan and needlepoint creations.

Mrs. Mary Gaken organized the event, aided by members of the Spaulding for Children board of directors, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Flanagan; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Renton; Dorthea Pieleimeier; and Mrs. Mary Prior and her niece, both of Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Unger both volunteered a considerable amount of their time to the event. Unger is currently writing a book on Spaulding for Children.

Working at the ice cream social and picnic, were members of Beta Sigma Phi sorority in Ann Arbor, the Spaulding for Children staff, and numerous parents. Zion Lutheran church of Chelsea donated tables and chairs.

Spaulding for Children is an organization which helps potential parents adopt children. They also sponsor on-going programs encouraging area families with adopted children to share their adopted family experiences with others in a similar situation. Spaulding welcomes the interest of any adopted family in the area, whether or not they were initially involved in the adoption procedure.

Uniform Allocation Agreement (later known as International Registration Plan) developed by American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators for better interstate reciprocity in 1973. By 1976, 17 states and one Canadian province had "signed up."

Niebauer Leading Little League Field

Little League action for July 19 showed some low scoring contests. Two exciting games this past week involved Schaffner and Ackley on Monday and Schaffner and Niebauer on Wednesday.

Schaffner's nine struggled it out with Ackley's chargers to win by a score of 1-0. Both teams exhibited some fine fielding and pitching throughout the game.

In Schaffner's second game of the week the team found itself on the short end of a 2-1 score with Niebauer. Niebauer's hustlers played flawless ball in the last inning, snaring two line drives that could have been home runs.

In other action for that week it was Kelly over Hoffman, Ackley over Kelly, 5-2; Farley nipping Mills, 3-1; and Niebauer overpowering Farley, 9-2.

Clinic, Hospital Staffs Vie for Softball Title

A spontaneously held softball game Saturday, June 26, during the annual Chelsea Medical Center staff picnic at Veterans Park, pitted Chelsea Medical Center clinic players against those representing Chelsea Community Hospital. The clinic challengers doused the hospital leaguers 31-10.

Not to be outdone, the hospital players went home to rework their strategy, challenging the clinic to a rematch Saturday, July 17 at South school. Apparently they must have ferreted out their opponents' weak spots, as the hospital scrimped by the clinic with a final score of 11-10.

The defeat for the clinic came at a price of two black eyes, two sprained thumbs and one reinjured ankle. It is assumed the players knew where to go for treatment. Keeping in mind that the hospital players suffered nary an injury, a vicious rumor began to circulate that the hospital had jinxed the ball.

The clinic does not take their defeat lightly. Consequently, a deciding game will be played Saturday, July 31 at South school. Team spirits will undoubtedly be at their peak as everyone from doctors, nurses, and janitors to their families, will join the ranks of their respective teams, clinic or hospital, for this final face-off which will once and for all determine which team is most talented at softball play.

According to clinic spokesperson, Mrs. Harry Cotterman, "everyone's on the mend now," so competition at the ballfield should be fierce. Everyone is invited to attend and urge the team of their choice to connect for victory.

T-Ball Season Play Ended Last Week

T-Ball closed out its 1976 season last week. A thunderstorm on Tuesday cancelled all games with the exception of the Yankees versus the Patriots game which was postponed until Wednesday. The results for that week were the Yankees beating the Patriots, 33-26; Bareis over the Bulldogs, 50-13; Degener over the Yankees, 32-17; Patriots drubbing the Bulldogs, 40-25; and the Reds losing to the Indians.

Pipe Bomb Found Near Smith Barn

Eric Smith, who is renting a farm at 16246 M-52 near Boyce Rd., found a pipe bomb near his barn Friday, July 23. According to police reports, Smith noticed the object on the ground in the vicinity of his barn, unscrewed one end of it, and then called Dexter police to report the discovery.

Police arrived to confront a 6-inch long explosive filled with black powder. A fuse leading to the powder had been lit, but apparently had extinguished itself prior to reaching the powder.

Police are investigating the incident which thus far appears unmotivated.

DEATHS

Albert J. Pielemeier

Oldest Member of St. Paul Church Dies Tuesday

Albert J. Pielemeier, 93, of 116 McKinley St., died at his home Tuesday evening, July 27, after a brief illness. He was born July 30, 1882 at Freelandville, Ind., the son of William and Alvina Ritterskamp Pielemeier. He would have been 94 years old on July 30.

Mr. Pielemeier married Pauline Meier on May 20, 1909. She preceded him in death on Aug. 12, 1938. They had moved to the area from Indiana with their family in 1912, and he had been a farmer and fruit grower in this vicinity for many years. Mr. Pielemeier had moved to Chelsea about 3½ years ago.

He was the oldest member of St. Paul United Church of Christ, and also a member of the former Lafayette Grange. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harold (Louise) Davis, of Chelsea; a sister, Dorothea Pielemeier, at home; and a cousin, Edna Garthe, also making her home at the McKinley St. address. Other survivors include two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by a son, Paul in 1936, by two sisters, and by three brothers.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m., Friday, July 30 at St. Paul United Church of Christ with the Rev. Ralph J. Ratzlaff officiating. Burial will follow in Oak Grove Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to St. Paul United Church of Christ or Spaulding for Children. Envelopes are available at the Burghardt Funeral Home, where friends may call, until 11 a.m. on Friday, and from noon until time of service at the church.

Search Continues for 8-Year-Old Forcibly Abducted By Father

DAVID R. SIEGEL

The search continues for 8-year-old David R. Siegel, missing since Wednesday, July 14, when he was kidnapped by his father, Robert P. Siegel, 42, from the playground of Chelsea's South school. David celebrated his eighth birthday on July 23 in some unknown place away from his foster parents and friends.

The Chelsea Police Department has intensified its search for the youngster, forcibly abducted by the elder Siegel. Leads pertaining to his disappearance are sparse. Until some concrete evidence can be unearthed, pointing to the possible whereabouts of David, the search appears to be stalemated, police officials report. The FBI has offered their assistance should that clue be forthcoming.

Contributing to the difficulties which have laced the case from its onset, according to David's foster mother who has asked to remain unidentified, is the fact that anyone David may try to contact regarding his plight, would most likely dismiss the account as a bad dream.

"In a strange world, a big world, it is not often someone will listen to a little boy," his foster mother stated. "Who will believe David's story?" Unfortunately, a 55-year-old veteran teacher in the Ann Arbor school district has confirmed the fears behind that question. She has admitted that her response to David's story would be to comfort David and then to simply forget the incident.

Nevertheless, it seems David's most likely chance of expediting his return to Chelsea, given the present status of the investigation, depends upon the sympathetic ear of some adult. "David has learned to trust policemen, his teachers and principals," David's foster mother related. "We are hoping he will fall back on this trust to try and get help."

To profile the type of child David had become in the year and a half he lived in Chelsea David's foster mother provided the following information. "When David first came to live with us, he insisted on sleeping in his room with the door open, and a toy Mickey Mouse with a battery-powered light inside, in his bed with him. This behavior lasted six months. Just recently, I found the toy in the bottom of his toy chest."

Instrumental to David's adjustment to the Chelsea area were his teachers, Denise Schiller, a first grade teacher at South school, and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, a second grade teacher at South school. On his last report card, Mrs. Hamilton had commented, "David is a very lovable little boy . . . he listens so attentively . . . he is like a new babe in the world, full of questions, and has such a desire to learn that he quickly comprehends new concepts . . . his progress has been outstanding since the beginning of the school year. He is by all means a bright boy."

David has lived with his foster parents in Chelsea since December, 1974, following a court ruling by Washtenaw County Circuit Judge William F. Ager that neither of his parents were "capable" of caring for him. His father, Robert Siegel, has been described by police as "emotionally disturbed." Siegel was under a restraining order, issued by Washtenaw Circuit Court, prohibiting him from either visiting David or being in the vicinity of his son.

A kidnapping warrant was issued July 17 for Siegel's arrest by Probate Court Judge Francis L. O'Brien.

Siegel, described as about 5-feet-11, medium build with graying hair, was last seen driving a 1968 gray colored Mustang in poor condition, with Michigan license plate HSF 459.

Many who flee from evil don't understand that it's in their hearts.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

If you faced a difficult problem and desperately needed instant help, would you rather approach a friend or some one you knew, instead of a stranger? Do you agree that when you use two lawyers, two doctors, two plumbers or whatever—the cost is greater than it would be for the cost of one? If two lawyers, doctors, plumbers or whatever were NOT needed and one could do the job as well as or better than two, would you not hire one instead of two? Common sense dictates an instant YES to these sorts of questions.

Answering these questions is one thing. Facing a situation where these sorts of questions are applicable is another thing. Frankly, from our own personal experience, we have seen cases where grievous mistakes were made because the questions and answers were unanticipated. We refer to deaths while out of town on business trips, vacations, etc. . . . These things can and DO happen. As a sensible precaution, would it not be well to remember your answers to these questions . . . AND . . . and remember a collect phone call to us from ANYWHERE, day or night, will assure your peace of mind and protect your pocketbook? . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone 475-1551.

We all started with something borrowed.

Little girls borrow their sisters' doll buggies. Boys? Well, a few choice bits of lumber disappear, then a set of cherished wheels, the convenient length of good rope is cut in two and a few tools are left in the backyard to rust. The first set of wheels, Something borrowed. Today, for that real set of wheels, people seek the no-red-tape, bank rate new car financing at Chelsea State Bank. Stop in, arrange your loan directly at Chelsea State Bank.

MARVIN SCHILLER
LIMA TOWNSHIP TREASURER

Vote Aug. 3

I have been with the Chelsea Fire Dept. over 25 years and held offices. Have lived in Lima township all my life, the son of the late Elmer Schillers, brought up on a farm and know hard times. I have been a Lima township taxpayer over 30 years. Served in the U. S. Navy from 1942 to 1946, receiving an honorable discharge as BM 2nd class.

I am an outstanding member of Chelsea Rod & Gun Club and have taught the Hunter Safety course and First Aid course, over 100 hours. Since these classes were started hunting accidents have been decreased over 20%.

Am married and have one child, now grown. Had my own business in Chelsea. Have been a meat cutter most of my life and dealt with the public.

Am a graduate of Chelsea High school and had bookkeeping. My Madison St. residence will make it convenient to pay bills or taxes.

I would like this position because I can put a lot of time into it, and also help with your problems, too. I was on the Lima Township Board of Review for two years and helped a lot in leveling off property assessments. I have worked with the DNR and am a member of the First United Methodist church of Chelsea. I would like to know where our money goes!

Politicians Asked To Keep Campaign Signs Off Poles

John P. Woodford, director of State Highways and Transportation, has asked all political candidates for elective office to help prevent the posting of campaign signs and posters along state highways during the coming weeks of the election campaign.

Woodford said, "State laws prohibit the posting of advertisements and signs on utility poles or elsewhere within the state highway right-of-way.

"Often, these signs obscure traffic regulatory and directional signs, causing a potential danger to motorists.

"During past election campaigns, most political candidates have willingly co-operated with respect to the posting of these materials.

26 July 1976

To the people of Lima Township:

It seems as though money spent on political campaigns could be put to better use. I tried to do something with my funds that would benefit us all. Instead of spending my money on imprinted match books and political advertisements with my picture on them, I used my campaign funds to purchase shingles for the back section of the Township Hall, and instead of campaigning, I used the time to install the needed roof. At least this way, whether I win or lose the primary election, we all benefit from the time, money and effort that I expended. The shingles cost me $91.75. This is my total campaign expenditure to date.

Sincerely yours,
WALLY FUSILIER

Woman Bitten By Rabid Bat

On July 15, a Washtenaw county woman was bitten by a bat which had entered her home. The bat was retrieved and sent to the Michigan Department of Public Health rabies laboratory, where tests for rabies proved positive, and the woman immediately began the necessary treatment.

The Washtenaw County Health Department, Environmental Health Division, has sent 11 animal specimens in the past 12 months and all tests for rabies proved negative. The last previous positive rabies test for this county was another bat in 1973. Dr. Norman Hayner, State Epidemiologist, has reported that approximately 5 percent of bats throughout Michigan are rabies positive.

Because a rabid bat may exhibit no apparent signs of the disease, Dr. John B. Atwater, County Health Officer, recommends that all bats be considered potentially rabid, and unnecessary contact with them should be avoided.

In the event that someone is bitten by a bat, they should immediately contact their physician and the Health Department. If possible, the bat should be captured and brought to the Environmental Health Division, where it will be sent to the State Laboratory for testing.

The rodent family, including rats, mice, gerbils, rabbits and hamsters, has never been found to have a rabies reservoir in their population. For this reason, Michigan Department of Public Health recommends that rodents not be sent for rabies analysis.

However, wild animals which should be suspected of carrying rabies are skunks, bats and raccoons. In 1975, there were eight cases of rabies found in animals in Michigan. The affected animals were four bats, two skunks and two cats.

The recently revised Ann Arbor City Animal Control Ordinance, requires that cats be vaccinated for rabies as well as dogs. It is very important tht dogs be vccinated and licensed as this will avoid development of rabies in the pet population.

Terry Walters Joins In Jaycee National Officers Training

Terry Walters of the Dexter Jaycees was in Tulsa, Okla., to take part in the national officer training sessions for the upcoming United States Jaycees fiscal year.

He visited with Frank G. Ziebell, 57th president of the 350,000 member young men's organization, and received instruction on the key developments in programs designed for the nearly 8,500 Jaycee chapters across the country.

Terry also was given a guided tour of the U. S. Jaycee War Memorial headquarters building. The structure was built in 1951 and dedicated to the memory of Jaycees who lost their lives in war.

ASK THE GOVERNOR

by William G. Milliken

Question: I have heard conflicting stories about whether nuclear waste is going to be dumped in Michigan. Can't you do something to clarify the situation?

Governor: Yes. I have written to Dr. Robert C. Seamans, Jr., administrator of the Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA), telling him that I was encouraged by his recent public statements that Michigan will have final word on the disposal of nuclear wastes, but adding that several ERDA representatives have made statements that seemed to contradict him.

For that reason, I told Dr. Seamans that I must have an official response in writing that a disposal site will not be selected without approval by the state. Until I receive such assurance in writing, no further negotiations, discussions, binding decisions or contracts will be made between the state and ERDA. I also believe that scientifically gathered information, and the views of local citizens and governments on this project, are crucial factors in making the final decision.

Question: As a farmer and citizen, I'm concerned with the urban sprawl I see all around me; some of our most choice farmland is being gobbled up in subdivisions, shopping centers and parking lots. What, if anything, is being done?

Governor: I agree with your assessment of one of our major problems; there are 15,000 fewer farms in Michigan today than there were 10 years ago.

We need good land-use legislation to stop this virtually irreplaceable loss. A good first step was the Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act, which I signed last year.

Since it became law, the Department of Natural Resources' Office of Land use has placed more than 90,000 acres under contract. Some 400 farms are now under contract to the state under the program whereby a farmer agrees to keep his land in agricultural production for a set period of time. In return, the land is assessed at its agricultural value—not according to its potential value as a subdivision or to a developer.

Attending the opening of a new bean elevator at Fairgrove recently, I pointed out that agriculture, Michigan's second largest and most stable—industry, helped the state weather the recent economic recession.

Its stabilizing effect on our economy was very important during the recession period which is now ending. The 360,000 bushel elevator and farm-supply complex is to serve the farmers of Tuscola county and nearby areas. But all of Michigan will benefit from this facility, because all of Michigan benefits when our agricultural economy is strong, and its impact will be felt far beyond the areas and beyond Michigan, because of the importance of Michigan's agricultural exports —of which thumb-area beans constitute a significant portion.

Question: What is this I hear about a new law requiring boat owners to obtain a certificate of title? It seems that every time you look around, government is trying to make a buck off of us poor citizens.

GOVERNOR: There is a new law which does not take effect until 1977, requiring boat owners to have a certificate of title similar to the title now required for automobiles.

But this law is designed to provide legal proof of ownership and reduce the incidence of boat theft, and to provide protection for owners, dealers and financial institutions.

The new law will affect all privately owned boats more than 20 feet in length. Owners who operate a boat without a certificate of title will be liable to a $200 fine or 90 days in jail or both. The fee charged for certificate of title is one dollar.

The law also provides a fine up to $5,000 or one year in prison or both for anyone who alters, forges, misrepresents or sells a boat without a title.

It's all for the boat owner's protection.

Is your house adequately insulated? If not, this is a good time of year to make improvements. You'll save energy and the money it costs, summer and winter—for years to come. Proper insulation can increase cooling and heating efficiency by as much as 20 to 30 percent.

When you're buying gasoline for the car, don't let the station attendant "top off" your tank. If he does, it could overflow—and the gasoline you lose is pure waste.

All's Fair in Mich. for August

The county fair—like apple pie and baseball—is an American tradition and Michigan's Calendar of Events for August lists over 13, according to the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce.

Included in the number are the Jackson County Fair and Petunia Festival at Jackson, Aug. 1-7; Ingham County Fair, Aug. 2-7, Mason; the Ionra Free Fair—largest free fair of its kind—Aug. 6-15, Ionia; the Northern Michigan Fair at Cheboygan and the Western Michigan Fair, Ludington, Aug. 15-21; Upper Peninsula State Fair, Escanaba, Aug. 17-22; Northwestern Michigan Fair, Traverse City, Aug. 30-Sept. 5; and the Eastern Michigan Fair, Imlay City, Aug. 30-Sept. 6.

America's first State Fair and one of Michigan's biggest events, the Michigan State Fair, opens Aug. 27 for its annual 11-day spectacular engagement at the State fairgrounds, Detroit. Among the names appearing on this year's star studded entertainment roster are the favorite son of TV's Good Times, "J. J.", Jimmy Walker, Boots Randolph, Freddie Fender and The Little Angels of Korea.

The complete list of fair dates is included in the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events available on request from the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, Lansing 48913.

All kinds of other enjoyable things will be happening around the state during the month to please all ages and all interests. On the ethnic scene, a Polish Festival at Yack Arena, Wyandotte, Aug. 6-8. Detroit's ethnic festival site on the riverfront near Cobo Hall will have the Arab World Festival in residence Aug. 6-8; the Polish Festival, Aug. 13-15; Scandanavian, Aug. 20-22; and the East Indian Festival, Aug. 27-29. A fairy tale parade, tennis and slo-ball tournaments, strolling bands, delicious food and refreshments are a few of the things that will attract visitors to the 12th annual Danish Festival at Greenville, Aug. 20-22.

Regular and working displays will be included in the Upper Peninsula Gem and Mineral Show in Lakeview Arena, Marquette, Aug. 6-8. Home cooking, dancing and "Islanders vs. Mainlanders" baseball game will highlight Welcome Day and Homecoming on Beaver Island, Aug. 8. The days when copper was king are the motivation for the Coppertown USA Festival, Aug. 8-15, at Calumet, thriving center of Michigan's copper boom.

Some things will be taking place on the waters around the state that should provide both entertainment and some excitement. At Lowiston, you'll see excellent examples of water skiing expertise at the annual Water Ski Show on East Twin Lake, Aug. 7-8. On Aug. 22, the Au Sable Longboat Regatta goes floating down the river from the I-75 bus loop bridge at Grayling. In addition to the parade of long narrow, flat bottom boats, there will be a fishing contest with prizes for the largest brown and brook trout caught. More boats of a different variety will be afloat on the Grand River at Grand Haven in that city's annual Venetian Parade, Aug. 28.

One of the "north country's" favorite legendary characters and by far the greatest lumberjack of them all inspires the Paul Bunyan Festival, Aug. 12-15, at Oscoda.

Nothing is impossible during the days of the annual Magic Get-Together in Colon. This year's assembly of the world's most talented magicians and aspiring amateurs will be held Aug. 18-21.

On the "crafty" side of things, an Art Fair in Fremont City Park, Aug. 7; the Tawas Bay Waterfront Arts and Crafts Festival, Aug. 7-8, Tawas City; Soo Art Festival, Aug. 10-11, Sault Ste. Marie; a Craft Show at White Cloud, Aug. 13-14; Outdoor Arts and Crafts Festival, Aug. 14, Holland; Art on the Asphalt, Aug. 19, Ishpeming; and the Arts and Crafts Fair in Richardi Park, Bellaire, Aug. 21. For those who enjoy yesterday's treasures, try the Antique Auto Show and Swap at Charlton Park near Hastings, or the Antique Market in Ann Arbor, both scheduled for Aug. 15 or the Antique Show in Grand Haven, Aug. 19-21.

Historically speaking, the best place to get the biggest helping of Americana, anytime, is Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn. This month, the annual Colonial Military Muster re-enacts 18th century military maneuvers with costumed militiamen and authentic weapons of the Revolution, Aug. 28-29. In addition, there will be parades, life and drum music and displays of Colonial crafts. Continuing Bicentennial "specials" include "The Struggle and The Glory," "Industrial Heritage USA" and "History of Political Parties in the U.S." exhibits, the Menlo Park Centennial and the Greenfield Village Players presentation of "Our American Cousin" every Friday and Saturday evening at 8:30 p.m.

Baseball, softball, thoroughbred and harness racing and some mighty fine fishing are also on the August agenda. To keep up on all that's going on in Michigan in August, and every month of the year, write for a free copy of the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events available from the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, Lansing 48913.

Watershed Council Elects Executives

The Huron River Watershed Council has elected its eight member Executive Council for the coming year.

The Council is an intergovernmental agency organized to promote co-operation and co-ordination between units of government on water resource management issues in the drainage area of the Huron River, and to keep the total watershed public informed on such issues.

Elected to the Executive Committee were: Alicia Pratt (chair), Village of Dexter; Elton Gollwitzer (vice-chair), Van Buren township; Nathalie Edmunds (secretary-treasurer), City of Ypsilanti; Eunice Burns, City of Ann Arbor; Price Banks, Livingston county; Kenneth Keeton, City of Flat Rock; Virginia Denham, Washtenaw county; and Charles Getson, Jr., Hamburg township.

The Council has also released its annual report for the fiscal year ended April 30, 1976 and copies of the document are available from the Watershed Council offices in Ann Arbor.

In issuing the report, addressed to the Council's 24 member units of government, Executive Secretary Owen Jansson noted that the challenge for the future will be to not only keep abreast of current water resource management issues and problems, but also to anticipate and take preventative actions which will protect water resources and reduce public expenditures.

Currently underway, is a men's scramble every Wednesday at 10 a.m., which has measured an outstanding success thus far. The ladies' scramble, every Monday at 10 a.m., likewise reports to be doing well.

In the annual Father and Son Tourney, 38 teams competed. Stan Policht and his son, Jeff, took the championship. Other Inverness tournaments and their winners were the Medal Play Tourney, won by Harry Burnett; the Seniors' polish off the field to accept victor's laurels; and the Ladies' Handicap Tourney, Wilma Waldecker recording the low.

The on-going play of the Wednesday and Thursday men's league has resulted in some tight bunching with everyone out to enjoy the play. A special stag day, held this year for members only, was well attended and highly successful.

Plans are being formulated for the men's and women's club championships, slated to begin Aug. 1, and continue through the end of August. Players will be placed in flights for match play.

Junior golfers, halfway through their 1976 golfing program, are expected to wind up the season with a championship of their own, coordinated in the same manner as the adult program.

A small leak in a water faucet can waste as much as 60 gallons of water in a week. And if the leak is in the hot water faucet, it also wastes the energy and cost of heating the water. Repair all leaking faucets, especially hot water faucets, as quickly as possible.

Whenever you buy a new appliance, study the owner's manual and follow its maintenance and operating instructions. You'll increase the life of your appliance and save energy as well.

Please help us in our endeavor to name Anne Steinaway as First Lady of our Chelsea Bicentennial. This is accomplished by tickets being purchased in her name to the "America 76" spectacular presented on August 16 through 21 at Chelsea Football Field at 8:30 p.m.

As you may or may not know, Anne is a long-time resident with her family ties going back to the founding families of Chelsea. She has involved herself numerous times in the betterment of our own community. Anne instigated Helping Hands, the investigating committee for Home Meals Service of Chelsea and served as driver coordinator until this past fall. Anne co-ordinated local, district and state-wide activities for the Kidney Foundation of Michigan and has served on the Cancer Drive and the March of Dimes campaigns in the past. Anne formed the first volunteers to assist the North School Teachers and served as the first chairman of the North School Boosters. She has been a den mother and served as such for 5 years. Now she supports her husband and sons in the Boy Scout endeavors of the troop which Art is Troop Master. Anne is a member of the First United Methodist Church of Chelsea and has always taken an active part in its programs, having served as chairman of the Membership committee and Education committees. She has taught in the church school program and supported its programs for over 15 years. Anne belongs to the Chelsea Child Study Club, Chelsea Historical Society, and is a life member of the Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary. She is presently employed at Camp Headquarters for the Corrections Camp Program in the Personnel and Education department.

As you can see, Anne is extremely qualified and deserving of the title of First Lady of Chelsea. We urge you to purchase your ticket now in the name of Anne Steinaway and help us to Help Anne be our own First Lady. (Contact 475-7634 to reserve tickets.)
