

Sylvan Board Delays Re-Zoning Decision Until November 9

A crowd of 60 area residents, concerned about the outcome of the Miller-Coltre properties rezoning proposal currently before the Sylvan Township Board, gathered in Sylvan Township Hall Tuesday evening, Oct. 19, to publicly air their views on the pending matter.

The special hearing was held at the legal request of Dale Fisher, representing the Cavanaugh Lake Area Taxpayer's Association (CLATA).

A verbal barrage of cross-accusations and innuendo characterized the hearing as several citizens suggested the petition to redistrict was not in the mutual interest of Sylvan township residents, but rather, would benefit only future land developers.

The proposal before the board asks that the Miller-Coltre properties be reclassified from recreation-conservation to agricultural. Petitioners for the change are Alice S. Miller, John C. Pierson, and Robert V. Riemenschneider, all property owners within that area.

Among the issues to surface during the hearing was a request for clarification regarding the establishment of rezoning precedents which would allow further subdivision of properties in Sylvan township should the present petition be approved. The board responded that while the possibility existed, the subject of legal precedents was an issue for the courts, and not within their jurisdiction.

The Washtnaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission came under severe attack by one resident who charged the commission with irresponsibility in designing a zoning map which created recreation-conservation districts in areas devoid of wildlife and lacking recreation-conservation characteristics. In rebuttal, another resident stated that certain properties were so designated to act as a buffer zone for wildlife areas.

Perhaps the most organized objection to the Miller-Coltre rezoning petition came from Fisher who distributed a checklist provided by the county planning commission, designed to act as a guideline to communities considering rezoning requests.

The guideline stated zoning amendments should never be granted "unless there were compelling reasons" relating to necessity and the welfare of the community.

Greater profit or increased property value were considered insufficient reasons, the guideline contended.

In response to the guideline's statements, no "compelling reasons" were cited by either the petitioners or sympathetic members of the township board.

Calling for approval of the rezoning petition, was Neil Fahrner, a Chelsea-based land surveyor, who preceded his remarks on the controversy by stating he was not a resident of Sylvan township, nor was he intending to become one in the near future. Thus, as an "objective viewer," he continued, the properties in question could not be broken down by builders for land development because local zoning ordinances were too conditional to allow for a high density growth in residence sites.

A resident who took exception to Fahrner's statement remarked that zoning ordinances were also subject to change and therefore Fahrner's reasoning was invalid.

Because the Sylvan Township Board is legally prohibited from acting on the rezoning petitions at special hearings to review such matters, the board announced it would table its decision on the Miller-Coltre properties until its next regular board meeting Tuesday, Nov. 9.

Chelsea harriers placed sixth in a field of 11 teams at the Mason Invitational, Saturday, Oct. 16. The Bulldogs were pitted against two top-ranked squads in the state, according to Coach Pat Clarke.

During the event, two Chelsea runners broke the old CHS record on a three-mile course, spurred on to an outstanding performance by a fairly tough field of competition. The duo, Rick Haller and Phil Frame, placed 13th and 16th, respectively, timed at 15:44 (Haller) and 15:48 (Frame).

On Tuesday, Oct. 19, the varsity harriers defeated Milan, scoring 20-39. Leading the way for Chelsea, with times spaced close together, were Rick Haller, 2nd; Dave Dawson, 3rd; Phil Frame, 4th; Dean Thompson, 5th; and Morris Johnson, 6th.

Chelsea's victory over Milan puts the varsity over-all season record at 11-1 and their SEC league standing at 5-0.

Bulldogs Stop South Lyon in Homecoming

Chelsea shut out South Lyon, 14-0, to break their losing streak and cap Homecoming Week with a victory game, Friday evening, Oct. 15.

The Bulldogs unleashed their attack when fullback Tony Robards intercepted a South Lyon pass and whisked the ball down the field for a 33-yard touchdown run. A rush by George Menge and Leon Brown aided the play by forcing South Lyon's quarterback to throw a wild pass.

Chelsea's John Toon tied up the score, 7-0, with a highly controlled kick which cleared the goal post.

Chelsea's second touchdown came with only six minutes left in the game. A five-yard plunge by John Toon gave the Bulldogs six more points, while Toon's conversion added one more, ending the play at 14-0 for Chelsea.

Leading Chelsea's defensive unit were George Menge, middle guard; Mark Smyth, linebacker; James Bollinger, tackle; Bruce Stubbs and Don Nadeau, ends; and Steve Pennington, Matt Fisher, John Adams, and Mike Check, secondaries.

Tony Robards led the offense with 17 carries for 106 yards. He was followed by John Toon, Steve Pennington, John Adams, Tony Houle, and Jeff Parnell.

Contributing to Chelsea's victory were offensive linemen John Push, Tom Bares, Todd Headrick, Dale Headrick, Mark Smyth, Howard Bush, Jeff Sweet, Scott Owings, and Chuck Broderick.

The Bulldogs are scheduled to meet with Milan, Friday Oct. 22. The game will be played away.

Aquatic Club Members Set New Records

Chelsea Aquatic Club conducted two meets this week which resulted in a series of outstanding performances. All of the competing CAC swimmers won a minimum of one award each for personal best performances, while several others took top honors and set club records.

According to age division, those setting club records, and on occasion finishing first were: eight and under, Jennifer Cattell, Mike Carignan, Danny Degener, Amy O'Neil, Michelle Gunn, and Diane Parker; 9 and 10-year olds, Marge Rawson, Marty Steinhauer, and Richard Slater; 11- and 12-year olds, Amy Hume, Dawn McDowell, Kristin Thomas, Lori Voita, John Robbins, Todd Oxner, Dave Masen, and Sean Oxner; 13- and 14-year olds, Nancy Heller, Sara Borders, Matt Schumann, David Huttling, Kirk Meyers, and Peter Beaudoin; 15- to 18-year olds, John Daniels and Jeff Rudd.

The club's next meet will be at home against Detroit and Milan, 3 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 13. Membership is still open to swimmers six years of age or older, able to swim 25 yards.

School Millage Request Fails By Six Votes

Chelsea voters once again turned down the Chelsea Board of Education's request for 1 1/2 additional mills for operations in the school millage election Tuesday, Oct. 19, by a vote of 1,005 opposed, and 999 in favor of the proposed tax increase.

Canvassers reported 23 spoiled ballots, which were evenly split and would not have affected the outcome of the election.

On Aug. 30, area voters had narrowly defeated an identical millage request by a 17-vote margin, with 694 voting "no," to 667 voting "yes." Only one-third of those registered actually voted in August, while Tuesday's election resulted in a record turnout of 2,027 voters.

According to school board business manager, Fred Mills, a third millage request is legally prohibited from appearing on this year's levy as the certification deadline for a third election is Nov. 3. State law requires a 45-day waiting period following a district's last election before certification may be granted.

The Chelsea School Board was scheduled to meet Wednesday, Oct. 20, for a working session aimed at outlining school budget cutbacks. Representatives from the various employee groups at Chelsea schools were expected to be present for the discussion.

Commenting on the millage failure, Mills stated, "Tuesday's ballots were counted three times to avoid errors. Naturally, we're disappointed with the results, but the board was glad to see so many people voting."

Still at issue, is ratification of a one-year teachers' contract presently before the board, and union representatives for district teachers. The one-year pact had been tentatively approved, contingent on the successful outcome of Tuesday's millage vote. In view of the millage failure, negotiators plan to meet in the near future to discuss an alternative settlement.

Kiddies Halloween Party Set for Oct. 31

As part of the traditional festivities to be held Sunday, Oct. 31, youngsters will drape themselves in white sheets, masks, store-bought and home-made disguises, all to the delight of area residents who will distribute goodies from their front doors beginning at 4 p.m.

Youngsters will be out on the streets with their tricks or treats from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., and are then invited to congregate at the Municipal Parking Lot on Park St., where they will be judged for the best costumes prior to the annual Halloween parade.

Kiwanis judges will choose winners in four categories related to the Halloween spirit—most comical, most original, spookiest, and most typical of Halloween.

Cash prizes of $3, $2, and $1 will be awarded in each category.

At 6:15 p.m. the group will then (Continued on page six)

Lima Center Extension Group Hears Lesson On 'Creative Women'

Nancy Spence presented the lesson on "Creative Women" at the Oct. 13 meeting of the Lima Center Extension Study Club held at Lima Hall. Mrs. Lulu Beutler and Mrs. Hilda Stierle were co-hostesses.

Members and guests answered the roll call with ideas about changing the appearance of a plain blue dress. Scarfs, pins, beads, crochet collar, crewel embroidery were some of the ideas given.

It was suggested this year's Christmas gift exchange be a handmade gift.

Hostesses for the year were announced with changes made when necessary.

The Nov. 10 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Feldkamp with Mrs. Andrew Tykoski as co-hostess.

The workshop is open to all interested persons and is being presented by Harriet Hamburg, Monroe County Co-operative Extension Home Economist.

The nutritional labeling workshop will investigate the labeling printed on food packages. What does this labeling mean? How can all of this information help the consumer purchase the kinds of food that will provide all the nutrients necessary for good health? Can understanding labeling information help you get the best buy for your money when purchasing food? "These are a few of the questions that will be explored," states Mrs. Hamburg. "If nutritional labeling is to be successful, then the consumer needs to know how to use this tool to the best advantage," she states.

SPEAKING OF HANDICAPPED:

Social Barriers Are Slowly Coming Down

By Bill Kiser

Architectural barriers to physically handicapped people have been in the news lately. Stories have appeared about how 22-inch doorways, 8-inch curbs, and buildings without ramps imprison us. Along with transportation barriers, they negate physical and vocational progress we handicapped people have made.

Distressing as the physical barriers may be, social and attitudinal barriers are even harder to cope with, because they are unseen. What others think of us may not determine who we are, but can affect our self images and our individual development.

Cerebral palsied from birth, I believe my life has been affected more than most by attitudes of other people. As a child, I was affected when parents, who may have referred to me as a biological mishap without intelligence or feelings, kept their children from playing with me. Neighbors who saw me as a human being gave meaning to my boyhood.

Growing up, I found I didn't "fit in" with many of the usual social customs. It was harder for a teenager who did not walk or talk but drooled and moved uncontrollably, to fit into normal adolescent pastimes.

As a young adult, I found even more attitudinal barriers lying between me and development as a productive individual. Few employers could see how someone such as I could be worth hiring. So for a severely handicapped person, unwilling to settle for less than a full life, social attitudes rather than environmental barriers were bigger obstacles to achievement.

There have been times when people have questioned my desire for a fuller and richer life. I have raised more than one eyebrow going to concerts, plays and other activities alone at night. People have told me frankly that I was foolish to participate in church groups and other gatherings for "normal" people. One time I shocked a family and friends by joining a group of friends for a 200-mile trip in the season's worst snowstorm. Critics informed that my adventure did not fit their idea of how a severely handicapped person conducts his life.

Many memories linger about times in public places when I overheard people say, "Who let him out alone?" It was fortunate for them that my speech did not permit me to answer.

Handicapped all my life, I probably can appreciate, more than a recently disabled person, the progress we have made in changing attitudes. No longer is a wheelchair considered a device from outer space. Even those of us with multiple handicaps are finding acceptance as human beings.

Backed by federal and state laws, equal employment requirements for disabled people promise to open vocational opportunities for us all. In the face of cold hard statistics, employers are changing their attitudes about employing handicapped people. Our work records prove that when we get proper training and intelligent placement, we can compete with able-bodied workers.

Employment, and the economic power that goes with it, can help break down many social barriers which have set us apart from society. Twenty-five to 50 years ago few people thought it possible for a physically handicapped person to marry and have a home and family. Even professional people who dedicated their lives to helping us overcome our physical disabilities did not accept the important emotional and sexual aspects of our personalities. The fact that more and more of us lead satisfying family lives is evidence that another social barrier is coming down.

Doors can be widened, steps can be ramped with comparatively little effort, but it is more difficult to cope with narrow minds, or to ramp a chasm of misunderstanding. Human barriers are lowered with effort, and we who are handicapped have the responsibility to express ourselves as the total human beings we are.

We get impatient at the rate of social change. We want all barriers removed overnight. But each of us will play a part in creating the barrier-free society of the future. It will not happen all at once, but working together, we will make our ideal into reality.

V. Steinbach Joins CMU Students in Lap Sit Stunt

Victor Stienbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Steinbach of Cedar Lake, was one of 2,416 Central Michigan University students and Mt. Pleasant area residents who gathered together Friday evening, Oct. 15, for a giant lap sit.

The group claims it broke a previous record for lap sitting set by students in Palos Verdes, Calif., by a total of more than 900 participants. The order to sit had to be given for almost a minute before the circle of people all settled into each others' laps.

Channel 7 televised the event on their 6 p.m. news program Friday evening. Steinbach flashed across viewers' screens on three separate occasions as TV cameras panned the lap sitters.

The stunt, kicked off CMU's homecoming week-end.

More than 17,000 Michigan State University students are assisted annually by federal, state or MSU financial aid.

Co-Op Nursery Children Enjoy First Train Ride

The Great Train Ride—that's what it was for the 4-year-old class of the Chelsea Co-Op Nursery school. The day was finally here.

On Wednesday, Oct. 13 the children met at school at 8:30 a.m. They were in their assigned cars and on their way to the Amtrak station in Ann Arbor. At the station the children waited for the train and their turn to climb aboard.

For most of the children and the mothers who rode with them it was their first train ride. The children were excited when they passed some of the places they knew in Dexter and Chelsea, especially going by their own school on Dexter-Chelsea Rd.

The children were given a treat on the train and watched out the windows until the train pulled into the Jackson depot. They were then met by the same mothers who had driven them to Ann Arbor—what a surprise! How did you get here was the big question.

By 11 a.m. everyone was back at school, wound up and ready to go.

Everyone had such a good time that they all want to go again.

Anyone interested in participating in the Saturday event is asked to meet at Bucky's Landing on North Lake at 6 p.m.

Employer's Quarterly Tax Deadline Near

Monday, Nov. 1, is the last day for Michigan employers to report and pay Social Security and withheld federal income taxes for the third quarter of 1976.

"Employers have until Wednesday, Nov. 10, to file Form 941 'Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return,' if they have deposited the entire quarterly tax liability on time in a federal reserve bank or authorized commercial bank," said R. L. Plate, IRS district director.

Employers should use the pre-addressed Forms 941 mailed to them by the IRS, or obtain copies of the form from the nearest IRS office.

IRS Publication 15, "Circular E—Employer's Tax Guide," is available free from IRS offices to provide more information for employers.

Hear about the employee who prayed for a raise? The boss heard about it and fired the poor guy for going over his head.

TURKISH TULIP

The word "tulip" comes from a Turkish word for turban. The spring flower was introduced to Holland, by way of Austria, in the later part of the 16th century.

THE CANDIDATE DRAWS SUPPORT AT EMU: Dale Heydauff (center), a dramatic arts student from Chelsea, draws ardent support from many factions in the Eastern Michigan University Players production of "Of Thee I Sing" as a presidential candidate. The Pulitzer Prize-winning Gershwin musical will be presented Wednesday through Sunday, Oct. 20-24, at 8 p.m. in Quirk Auditorium. The elaborate production, the biggest show Eastern has staged in 20 years, opened last week. In the show, Dale plays the lead role — that of presidential candidate John P. Wintergreen. One of the reasons for his great popularity as a candidate is that he's running for the nation's number one office on the platform, "Put Love in the White House." The 1931 political spoof on Washington politics contains some rather obvious contemporary implications (nobody knows who the vice-president is or what he does; the town's secretaries are always commenting on how much fun it is to be a secretary).

Model T Born in October

On Oct. 1, 1908, Henry Ford introduced to the world his indomitable Model T. Affectionately dubbed "Tin Lizzie," she was far from beautiful, but nonetheless dependable, tireless and practically indestructible. For 20 years, Lizzie reigned as queen of the road. Among the 200 antique automobiles on display in Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, is a shiny example of one of the first Model T's ever made. In the Ford Personal History Rooms on the Museum's second floor stands the 15 millionth Model T, one of the last to roll off the assembly line.

Dexter Racers Receive Awards at Butler Speedway

The annual awards banquet, sponsored by Butler Motor Speedway was held Saturday, Oct. 16 at Coldwater.

Jim Whitley, finishing in ninth place in point standings, and Carl Jones (represented by Ray Jones) finishing in 15th place, received monetary awards for these honors.

There were 97 Sportsman Modified cars competing for the top two positions so it's easy to see how difficult it is to finish as one of the top cars.

Out of 204 cars racing in both Late Model and Sportsman classes at Butler Motor Speedway, only 27 earned perfect attendance trophies. Receiving perfect attendance trophies for never missing a race were Tom Stevens, Carl Jones and Jim Whitley.

★ Gridders of the Week ★

TODD WEBER (25), a CHS junior, has been playing football since 7th grade in Chelsea. Football is pretty much a family preoccupation for the 5'11", 135-lb. end, as his brother, Jeff, a 1975 CHS graduate also played while attending school. A highlight of Weber's football career came in 1975 while he was playing on the JV squad against Saline. Weber caught a pass for a 35-yard gain before being forced down on the Saline two-yard line. With regard to the current season, Weber explains, "We're not doing too well, we're losing, because it seems we're having a hard time teaming it up." Anticipating last Friday's victory, he remarked, "Our offense has started to look alive in practice, the line is blocking, and we should win the rest of our games this season." Weber, who also runs track at CHS, feels the endurance track requires is helpful in playing football. Commenting on why he enjoys the sport, he said, "It keeps me in shape and lets me get rowdy." In addition to his brother, Jeff, Weber has a sister, Lisa, who is a CHS sophomore, and another brother, David, who attends Beach Middle school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Vandervoort of Freer Rd.

STEVE PENNINGTON (42) has also played football in Chelsea since 7th grade.

The junior halfback was voted Most Improved Back his freshman year, and shared honors with Jeff Fowell and Mike Young as Most Valuable Back while on the JV squad. Pennington's interest in football received an added boost when he was still in the 6th grade. At that time, he was positioned as a manager for the CHS varsity football team. Pennington noted the present Bulldogs players "are looking a lot better on films and on the field, the team should finish the season with a 6-3 record, and may ultimately be tied for second place in the league." The 5'10", 135-lb. player admits he "mostly likes blocking, both offensive and defensive, he sides running the ball." "This year I'm just playing a monster on defense," he said. Pennington, who serves on the executive board of the CHS Student Council, receives general comments and coaching on how to play a tight football game from his father, who enjoyed an illustrious career in football several years ago. Pennington has three brothers. Mark is a CHS graduate, Tim, a 7th grader and football player at Beach Middle school, and Dan, a 5th grader at South school. He also has two sisters, Julie, a CHS senior, and Mag, a CHS sophomore. Pennington is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Pennington of Madison St.

MATT FISHER (35) was originally coached by his father, when he began football in Ann Arbor at 8 years of age. The junior fullback has played football in Chelsea since the 8th grade. Fisher commanded the line-light his freshman year when the team played Brighton, pursuing an illusive Brighton player for a touchdown-saving tackle. The 6'0", 185-lb. griddler responded favorably to his team's performance against South Lyon last Friday, remarking, "I liked it a lot better than our game against Brighton. It's nice to win for a change, now we're more fired up, and should do better the rest of the season." "I think we'll win our next three," he added "but I'm not sure about the game with North-west." Fisher likes football for several reasons. He feels the game "helps to develop better co-ordination, and builds concentration." Communication with Chelsea's other defensive backs, Mike Check and John Adams, is also a necessity in Fisher's eyes for a successful game. In addition to football, Fisher runs spring track for CHS. He has two older sisters, both married, a younger step-brother, Jeff Rowe, who attends Beach Middle school, and a younger step-sister, Jody Rowe, who attends South school. Fisher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fisher of Nottin Rd.

"What's cooking in Michigan..."

by Carl B. Olson
Michigan Department of Agriculture

Let's face it. We're all interested in economy, getting our money's worth and getting good food. Well, it's October and that means it's Pork month. With pork prices down, you've got a bargain.

I'm one of those people with a cholesterol problem and, probably like a lot of you, I try to ignore it as much as possible even though I know I shouldn't. Pork, though, is something I can eat without having that red flag fly up in my conscience.

One of my favorite recipes is for pork chops either broiled outdoors or in the oven with a marinade of maple syrup and honey. I just use half maple syrup and half honey, heating the mixture slightly to aid in combining the ingredients. Put the pork chops in the marinade and leave them overnight in the refrigerator, turning once or twice. Broil until they are well done, basting them often with the honey-maple syrup mixture.

The result is a beautifully browned pork chop with the sugars in the marinade making a caramel-like coating. Served with a baked Russet Burbank potato and a colorful vegetable such as green beans or cooked carrots, you'll have an all-Michigan menu.

Our state is 17th in the nation in pork production, fourth in maple syrup and 13th in honey. We're also ninth in fresh beans and fourth in carrots. When you're serving up the dinner, drop those figures on your family and they might nominate you for trivia champion of the month.

Seriously, though, agriculture is an important part of Michigan's economy. It's the second largest source of income in our state with farmers receiving $1.7 billion for products they sold in 1975. When you add in costs of processing, transportation and marketing, the whole shooting match comes to $3.5 billion.

Think about that, especially during Pork month.

GEORGE STEEH DEMOCRAT for PROSECUTING ATTORNEY

VIOLENT CRIME must be given top priority for effective prosecution.

Priorities are misplaced when, as now, 13% of misdemeanors but only 5% of felonies go to trial. Prosecution is not effective, when, as now, 2 felony cases in 3 are dismissed or plea-bargained, often only for administrative convenience.

George Steeh has proven ability in effectively managing a staff and case load more than twice as large as the Washtenaw County prosecutor's. He has extensive experience in criminal trials and appeals. He will re-allocate the resources of the criminal justice system to give violent crime the attention it deserves. He has the experience and ability to give us better performance.

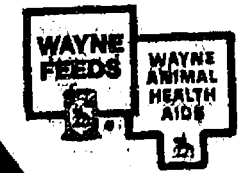

There's No Substitute for Protein in a Hog Ration

Protein builds meaty hogs and puts weight on fast. Protein-deprived hogs take longer to reach market weight and time is money. Don't waste corn. Balance it with Wayne's 40% Pig Balancer and make the best possible use of facilities, time, grain and your investment. It's ideal for pigs from 50 to 125 lbs.

CHELSEA SCHOOL OFFICIALS and the local press were given an eagle's eye view of the Chelsea School District facilities Thursday afternoon, Oct. 14, in a helicopter piloted by Ed Miller, seated in the cockpit. The tour was provided through the courtesy of Dale Fisher, a Chelsea-based aerial photographer. Preparing to become air-borne, but still on their feet, from left, are Fred Mills, school board business manager; Charles Cameron, superintendent of Chelsea schools; Walter Leonard, publisher and editor of The Chelsea Standard; and Dwight Smith, Chelsea High school acting principal.

Girls Varsity Cagers Lose 4th in Succession

The CHS girls varsity basketball team appears to be wallowing in a mid-season slump, having now lost four successive games to rival teams in the last three minutes of play. Last week, both South Lyon and Milan rallied from behind to defeat the Chelsea cagers in the final quarter.

On Tuesday, Oct. 12, Chelsea was 10 points ahead of league-leading South Lyon at half-time, maintained the advantage until late in the fourth quarter, and then sank behind to finish, 31-36.

High scorer for Chelsea was Penny Collinsworth with 10 points, Shelley Warren and Kim Moore each had 7, Nanette Push scored 4, and Tracy Hawker and Karen Keiser contributed 2 and 1, respectively.

On Thursday, Oct. 14, the team traveled to Milan for a repeat performance, leading until three minutes remained in the game. At the crucial moment, Milan suddenly regrouped for an onslaught of shooting and effective rebounding to put the game away, 54-48.

Again, Penny Collinsworth was high scorer for the Bulldogs with 16 points. Also scoring were Kim Moore, 10; Lori Miles, 7; Teresa Breza, Sue Heydlauff and Shelly Warren, 4 each; Nanette Push, 2; and Karen Keiser, 1. "Together, Penny Collinsworth and Kim Moore had an outstanding game," commented coach Cindy Bradbury.

Chelsea will attempt to break their losing streak when they face Saline Thursday (today), Oct. 21. Previously scheduled to be played at home, the game will instead be played in Saline.

Girls Swim Team Breaks Four Records

Chelsea High school girls swimming team was tarnished by defeat last Tuesday, Oct. 12, losing its fourth consecutive meet to an undefeated team from Holt. In spite of the loss, squad members broke four school records and established several new personal best times during the event.

Chelsea's Shelly Springer qualified for the State Championships in the individual 200 medley and the 100 freestyle. Other outstanding performances were submitted by Mary Stoll in the backstroke and individual medley; Shannon Springer in the 200 freestyle; Kim Slater in the 50 freestyle; Ann Schable in the 500 freestyle; Kelli Borton in the backstroke; and Kathy Slater in the breaststroke.

Chelsea's 400 freestyle relay team, composed of Shelly Springer, Shannon Springer, Sheila Tarasov, and Patti Hume, smashed the previous CHS record by 15 seconds.

The girls are scheduled to swim against Detroit-Northern, 4 p.m. Thursday (today), Oct. 21, and against Dearborn-Riverside, 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 23.

JV Girls Basketball Team 6-0 in League

Chelsea High school girls basketball team evened its league record to 2-2 with two separate victories last week.

On Tuesday, Oct. 12, Chelsea played South Lyon at home and won, 22-18. High rebounders for Chelsea were Sherry Kiel with 15, and Veronica Satterthwaite with 12. Scoring for Chelsea were Tammy Collinsworth and Cindy Welshans with 6 points each; Veronica Satterthwaite and Michelle Sarbach, 4 each; and Sherry Kiel with 2.

Chelsea had a substantial lead at half time, so most of the players were able to experience league play in the second half.

Thursday, Oct. 14, the team traveled to Milan where they edged ahead to a 21-20 victory by running out the clock. With the exception of the first quarter, Chelsea and Milan were deadlocked with the same number of points at the end of each period.

In the first quarter, the Bulldog cagers had a mere one-point lead. High scorer for the game was Cindy Welshans with 10 points. She also led with 13 rebounds. Sharing rebounding honors was Veronica Satterthwaite with 13. In addition to her rebounding efforts, she contributed four points to Chelsea's total. Other CHS scorers were Sherry Kiel and Gloria Pearson.

Nine league games remain to be played this season, with steady improvement expected to earmark the final stretch.

Frosh Gridders Finally Subdued By Tecumseh

The Bulldog freshmen lost to Tecumseh Tuesday, Oct. 19 6-20. Tecumseh scored two touchdowns early in the game, but Chelsea refused to submit to the Indians' drive for dominance.

Instead, Chelsea moved decisively down the field, stalling only when a fake punt fell inches short of a first down. On the next play, Dan Pagliarini intercepted a pass and returned it to the Tecumseh 7. Three plays later, Pagliarini carried for the Chelsea touchdown.

Chelsea took possession again in the final few seconds of the half. Mike Killelea received a pass from John Dunn for a 33-yard gain. With a first down on the 11, Dunn's next air-strike was intercepted as time ran out.

Chelsea fought back in the third period with plunging gains by Mark Cole and Dan Pagliarini, yet could never mount a serious scoring threat.

It took a freak play to break the Bulldog spirit and secure victory for Tecumseh. On a quarterback sneak, Chelsea stopped the Tecumseh carrier, but the whistle did not sound to stop play. The Indian carrier fumbled the ball, which was recovered by a teammate, who scrambled unchained for a 30-yard scoring run.

Tuesday's loss drops the Bulldog freshman record to 2-3 for the season.

United Way Funds Chelsea Social Services

Chelsea Social Services is almost wholly dependent on the local United Way campaign for funding. CSS director, Linda Ormsby, provides essential food and clothing to families unable to afford the cost of these items themselves. Mrs. Ormsby makes every effort to purchase these items from local merchants, keeping all benefits within the community.

Social Services sponsors several families during the holiday seasons, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter. They make certain the children have gifts and a festive dinner. During the balance of the year situations which require immediate attention with a donation of food and clothing are serviced by CSS. Mrs. Ormsby would like Chelsea families to be aware of these services and to take advantage of them when circumstances make requests necessary.

Kiwanis Club Entertains Octogenarians

At the Kiwanis Club's annual Octogenarian dinner Monday evening, the group was presented with some interesting facts and figures covering the changes that have taken place during the last 80 years.

"During our lifetime," pointed out Octogenarian Ben Donaldson, "we have witnessed a period of progress and advancement unparalleled in any similar period of world history."

"As a point of historical reference, we were born when there were only 44 states and a mind-boggling population of 70 million people. Harrison was president with a budget of under a billion dollars and was worried as to what to do with the surplus in the treasury."

"We were born in the 'horse and buggy' age. Henry Ford was yet to build his first 'gasoline buggy.' The first half-mile of concrete was laid at Bellefontaine, O. In 1892 the first telephone line was laid from New York to Chicago, but the telephone was still only for the privileged few.

"Radio was unheard of and television, which has brought the entire world to our firesides, was a fantastic dream. Electronics was the height of science fiction."

"Birds were the only things that flew. The airplane was still in the future."

"One of the best indications of change is in the speed of travel. Around 1890 a train broke 100 miles per hour; in 1938 a plane, 400 miles per hour; in 1960 the rocket 4,000 miles per hour, and today our space ships travel at 25,000 miles per hour."

"We have men on the moon, 235,000 miles distant and just this year the Mars probe has taken place, nearly half a billion miles away."

"But the list is endless. Go into the modern home and take out all the appliances and see what is left. Go into the toolshed on the up-to-date farm and you will take away most of the farm machinery."

"And we haven't touched on the great advances in the field of medicine—the heart transplants, miracle drugs and the elimination in this country of the dread diseases of a few years ago—small-pox, tuberculosis, typhoid, diphtheria.

"We have lived through an amazing period of history—and all this in 80 short years."

County Planning Agent To Address Sylvan Meet

Don Pennington, senior planner for the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission, will deliver an address on local zoning perspectives for Sylvan Township at a public hearing Monday, Oct. 25, 7:30 p.m. in Sylvan Township Hall. The meeting is being sponsored by the Sylvan Township Taxpayer's Association (STTA) and the newly organized Cavanaugh Lake Area Taxpayer's Association (CLATA).

The primary focus of the address will be Sylvan Township's land use development plan, its meaning, and process of design. Pennington will also discuss legal procedures relating to zoning changes, and the effect of these changes on an area's environment, economy, and surrounding properties.

More specifically, the county planning commission representative will explore the ramifications of rezoning proposals as they concern resident interests, including tax changes relative to sprawl. He will conclude with an explanation of the State Planning Act (Act 188), the State Zoning Act (Act 184), and the State Plat Act.

Area residents are welcome to submit questions or problems with respect to local zoning issues.

St. Louis Team Defeats CHS in Flag Football

Chelsea High school Special Olympics team lost its flag football season opener to a veteran St. Louis squad, 6-26, Thursday, Oct. 14.

Leading the St. Louis drive to victory was Ricky Hall, who along with his team kept the CHS challengers on the defensive most of the game. Nevertheless, Chelsea was able to score one touchdown on a kick-off return by Leonard Carlson.

While inexperience was the major disadvantage facing the CHS players Thursday, quarterback Chris Williams has exhibited steady improvement in practice this week, and Coach Nancy Oswald is looking for a victory when the team faces High Point Thursday (today), Oct. 21.

Chelsea is scheduled to play Community Mental Health Wednesday, Oct. 27.

Euchre Club Forming

Frustrated euchre players in the area, unable to find suitably dedicated playing partners, will have their problem solved shortly. Davidson Station 113 S. Main, is in the process of forming a euchre league, tentatively scheduled to meet Tuesday or Wednesday nights. The league expects to attract a minimum of 32 people. For more information, call Davidson Station, 475-2675.

WILLIAM EISENBEISER, Township Clerk

Saline Banker Seeks Election to WCC Board

Richard L. Boyd, president of the Citizens Bank of Saline, stated this week that he is the one candidate for Washtenaw Community College's Board of Trustees, in the November election, with a very special distinction: Boyd lives outside the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti urban area from which all WCC trustees have been elected, up until now, ever since the college's inception.

As a resident of one of Washtenaw county's several smaller communities, Boyd says he intends to give balanced representation on the board to taxpayers, parents, students, and business industry in Chelsea, Dexter, Milan, Manchester, Bridgewater, Whitmore Lake,
Saline—and people in Washtenaw's rural areas—as well as those in the county's urban centers.

As a businessman with almost a quarter-century of experience in the banking profession, Boyd says he will also act as a board spokesman for industry and commerce.
The entire Washtenaw business community has a vital interest in WCC, since the school was built to be a training center to qualify young people for job opportunities in this area, he declares. "I intend to build closer contacts between the college and the business community which I know well, to help make sure that the WCC curriculum is kept continually attuned to the job market in this area.
Only in this way can the immediate and future needs of job-seekers and job-employers be met and matched by the school's classes and workshops."

As a parent of two daughters who attended Washtenaw Community College, Boyd says he will identify closely with WCC students and their needs.

As a college graduate himself, with a degree from Western Michigan University, and advanced certificates from Harvard Graduate School of Business, and University of Wisconsin, Boyd says he will be closely attentive to the interests of faculty and staff at WCC.

As a dedicated community servant
and leader—Kivianian, church elder, United Fund and Community Hospital drive leader—Dick Boyd says he sees a community need to be fulfilled on the Board of Trustees at Washtenaw Community College.
He is a candidate for a six-year term on the school's governing body.

★ Keep Faith With the Farmer

Recently there was a Bicentennial tribute paid to farmers and it came from a familiar name in the machinery business—New Holland.
The tribute entitled, "Me, the Farmer," was something like this:

"I'm glad I'm a farmer. Sometimes I'm angry about being a farmer, disappointed, elated, puzzled, worried, and I suppose, every emotion in the book."

"But I'm glad I'm a farmer because I know what I am and what I feel.
I feel I'm akin to my land and the things that grow on my land, and the sky over my land, and the water that flows through it, and the livestock that sustains itself upon my land, and the buildings sheltering me and my wife and our children, and the machines that help to make my land fruitful."

"These are a bone-deep part of me, as is sweat, cloudburst, drought, repairs, disease, heartaches, market losses and profits, sowing, reaping, and a hundred and one setbacks and successes large and small. . . . that other men may never know, but that I know and am content with."

"Not because farming is easy. . . .
it isn't. . . . or because a farmer enjoys fame. . . . he doesn't. . . . or because a farmer is a wealthy man. . . . I am not.
It's simply because I know what I am, and I know what I feel. I wouldn't have me any other way, me, the farmer."

You know, more than half the signers of the Declaration of Independence were either farmers by birth or farmers by choice. Risks then were something that they learned to live with. The risks, pride, grit, and independence were the stuff that made these farmers great.

As we start on the second 200 years of this great exercise in practicing freedom, we would just remind you of the leadership farmers took in launching America, and of their continuing role in sustaining our way of life and standard of living.

Farmers made this nation possible.
. . . and today they make it great.

LEILA BAUER, Township Clerk

Both Candidates for Congress promised to talk about the major issues in their campaigns.

Here's what they've said.

Cliff Taylor

The Present Congressman

1. Crime. Cliff Taylor believes that it's time we get tough with criminals through laws enacted by Congress. Here's what Cliff proposes:
 - Tough mandatory sentences for those who commit crimes with firearms.
 - Tighter parole requirements so that we keep hardened criminals out of society instead of allowing them to return.
2. Welfare Reform. Cliff Taylor believes that the welfare system is riddled with abuse and inefficiency. He thinks that something's wrong when a family making as much as $16,000 a year can collect food stamps. Here's what Cliff proposes:
 - Reform of the food stamp program so that only families at or below the poverty level can obtain food stamps.
 - Intensified efforts on the part of the government to isolate welfare cheaters so that programs can be aimed at the truly needy.
3. Unemployment. Cliff Taylor believes that we must seek permanent instead of short term answers to our unemployment problems. He thinks that government make-work programs lack the dignity and security that our working-people deserve. Here's what Cliff proposes:
 - Incentives to small business and industry to encourage them to hire more workers.
 - Encourage business expansion by cutting government red tape.
4. Inflation. Cliff Taylor feels that the cause of inflation is deficit spending. He thinks that Congress must work to produce a balanced budget. Here's what Cliff proposes:
 - Cliff has pledged to introduce budget bills of his own in Congress if the House Appropriations Committee refuses to produce budgets that are in balance.
5. Taxes. Cliff believes that lower and middle income taxpayers are shouldering too much of a burden under our present tax system. Here's what he proposes:
 - An increase in the personal deduction to $1,000.
 - A complete re-evaluation of all major federal programs aimed at eliminating the kinds of waste and duplication that now exist. Cliff believes that the money saved by such an investigation should be returned to the taxpayers through a tax rebate.

As you may have noticed, there are question marks in the present Congressman's column. That's because the present Congressman is unwilling to come forward and debate these important issues with CLIFF TAYLOR on district-wide television.

We think that televised debates between the candidates for Congress will help people decide who to support this year, just like they did in 1974. But there aren't going to be any debates. CLIFF TAYLOR wants them. WJIM-TV wants to sponsor them. The present Congressman, however, won't agree — even though he said he would two years ago. In the meantime, CLIFF TAYLOR is going to keep running on the issues and presenting his positions as he's done here.

And the present Congressman? Well, you decide why he doesn't want to debate.

If you agree with him, you ought to vote for him.

Cliff Taylor

for Congress.

DEA Blankets School District With Flyers

This week, the Dexter Education Association is distributing information outlining the issues that remain to be settled in the crisis between the teachers and the Superintendent.

On Monday and Wednesday the teachers went door-to-door with flyers that explain the issues of class size and layoff. On Friday, they will again blanket the district with a flyer that discusses the salary issue. Further, efforts to inform the citizens of the Dexter District are planned to ensure that the children will not be short-changed by Supt. Gray.

Representative • 23rd District

According to the DEA, the teachers are particularly upset because they are not being paid their earned increment. This increment is an experience increase that is paid yearly as they gain in expertise. Much as an apprentice in the skilled trades earns increases until he becomes a journeyman, they said. In the Dexter District a teacher becomes a "journeyman" after completing a Master's Degree and 11 years of teaching. The teachers have completed another year of experience, but the superintendent refuses to pay the earned increment in an apparent effort to force the teachers to settle an unfavorable contract, the DEA adds.

In their statement, the DEA says, the teachers are working without a contract in spite of many attempts to obtain a fair interim agreement. They are fulfilling all of their obligations under the expired agreement from last year and are attending to other duties not covered to ensure that the children are not deprived in this labor dispute. The teachers will be in their classrooms for "Open House" in the various buildings and will be meeting with parents during Parent-Teacher Conferences.

The Dexter Education Association has filed an Unfair Labor Practice charge with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission against the Board of Education citing the questionable tactics of the superintendent in negotiations and his refusal to honor verbal agreements with respect to the resolved issues.

HALFBACK JOHN TOON falls victim to a South Lyon tackler after a long gain during Friday night's Homecoming game, Oct. 15. The Bulldogs played to a 14-0 shut-out victory as they broke their recent string of defeats. Both teams aggressively moved the ball down the field, and consequently ended up spending more game time on force downs, rather than on their feet.

Metric Units Will Help Farmers' World Market

Buying milk and gasoline in liters, bread and produce in kilograms, may soon be commonplace for Michigan consumers, according to B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Our state is slowly making the changeover to the metric system, keeping pace with the rest of the nation.

"It's an important step for MDA," Ball said, "because it is our responsibility to test and control the accuracy of all weighing and measuring devices used in buying and selling all consumer commodities in Michigan. Metrics will also aid our farmers in the sale of Michigan agricultural products abroad."

Dr. Edward Heffron, acting chief of MDA's Food Inspection division, of which weights and measures is a unit, said food inspectors carry measures to test the accuracy of everything from grocery scales to gasoline pumps. Food inspectors are generally responsible for small weighing and measuring devices like counter or produce scales. Those used for livestock or vehicles. They also check meters and other devices in co-operation with city and county sealers.

"Consumers are probably more familiar with metrics than they think," Ball said. "Electricity is measured in kilowatts. Skis are sold in metric sizes and camera lenses are described in metric terms. Physicians write prescriptions and pharmacists fill them in milligrams."

Heffron said in supermarkets you'll notice cans and packages on grocery shelves list weight or volume of contents in both systems and metric measures are also indicated on nutrition labels. Along state highways more signs are appearing with distances calculated in kilometers.

Metritication will greatly benefit U. S. agriculture in the world market, according to Mansour Bejaoui, MDA marketing advisor. Almost 97 percent of the people in the world use the metric system

JV Gridders Lose To South Lyon, 22-6

Chelsea's JV gridders lost their bite as they fell behind South Lyon in the second quarter, failed to rally, and were defeated, 22-6, Thursday, Oct. 14.

South Lyon opened their second-quarter scoring with a 25-yard run touchdown and successful two-point conversion. Chelsea returned to score on a 15-yard pass from Jessie Coburn to Jeff Eibler, but still trailed, 6-8, after an effective South Lyon conversion block. South Lyon capped their scoring drive in the first half with a 45-yard run for six more points.

The Bulldogs kept South Lyon at bay during the third quarter, but finally yielded to their opponents' power push down the field in the fourth quarter, as South Lyon scored again on a two-yard run to end the second half, 22-6.

Leading tacklers for Chelsea were Scott Powers, 16; Shawn Murphy, 9; Steve Marriott, 8; Dan Gerstler, 8; Alan Augustine, 8; Jessie Coburn, 7; Ben Kincer, 6; Lucas Lovely, 6; Scott Price, 6; Doug Clark, 3; Tom Bareis, 3; Dan Kolander, 3; Jeff Eibler, 2; Bart Bauer, 1; and Bill Moore, 1.

Alan Augustine intercepted a pass for the Bulldogs, and Jeff Eibler and Doug Clark recovered fumbles.

Chelsea will attempt to retrieve the consequences of last week's loss as they line up against Milan, 7 p.m., on their home field Thursday (today), Oct. 21.

CREPE OCCASION
 Crepes—those small, thin pancakes—were once regarded as an art for only the most experienced cook. Today, everybody's giving them a try. For an adult woman, one serving of three crepes supplies 12 percent of her daily protein requirement. They also add calcium, iron, Vitamin A, and the B Vitamins—niacin, thiamine and riboflavin.

Not everyone who is unemployed is seeking work.

BICENTENNIAL FEATURE: 200 Years Ago

By Professor Robert E. Brown,
 Department of History
 Michigan State University

"In the following pages I offer nothing more, than simple facts, plain arguments, and common sense."

"The sun never shined on a cause of greater worth. 'Tis not the affair of a City, a County, a Province, or a Kingdom; but of a Continent — of at least one-eighth part of the habitable Globe. 'Tis not the concern of a day, a year, or an age; posterity are virtually involved in the contest, and will be more or less affected even to the end of time."

With these stirring words in January 1776, an anonymous pamphleteer, later identified as the transplanted Englishman Tom Paine, rang the changes on a thought that had been uppermost in men's minds for many months and had lurked in the background for many years — American independence.

The idea was not exactly new. For more than a century British officials had suspected that every American effort to thwart mercantile and imperial policies was designed for eventual independence. The comparison was often made between a fruit tree and the British Empire: when fruit ripened it dropped from the parent tree; and when colonies became able, they broke off from the Mother Country. British measures after 1760 were expected to prevent the ripening, to keep it firmly attached to the tree. What was new in January 1776 was the possibility that the idea of independence could now become a reality.

Paine's pamphlet, bearing the title Common Sense, explained in forceful language why Americans would be better off outside than inside the British Empire. The arguments were many. American should abandon the idea of reconciliation, which was neither desirable nor possible, and embrace independence, which was both.

Economically, an independent America would flourish in world trade without British mercantilist shackles. Militarily, Americans could defend themselves and would no longer be dragged into Britain's imperial wars.

Britain was not a Mother Country deserving the loyalty of her offspring, for "even brutes do not devour their young, nor savages make war upon their families" as Britain was doing to her American colonies. Furthermore, Europe, not England, was the real mother of America, for persecuted lovers of civil and religious liberty had come here from every part of Europe to find a haven.

It was absurd to believe that an island should rule a continent, and regardless of promises, Britain was determined to subordinate her American colonists to an intolerable position in the Empire. To Paine, the obvious answer was independence.

Closing with an appeal for all lovers of liberty to stand up and be counted at a time when freedom was being hunted down and destroyed around the world, Tom Paine's Common Sense was without doubt the big event two hundred years ago this month.

They were challenged to consider the alternatives to use of agricultural chemicals: would consumers prefer insect fragments in their Wheaties? — or rodent pellets in their flour? They heard a plea for help: we need you to straighten out the bureaucratic mess that threatens to choke agriculture. And before their steak and potatoes were digested, the legislators got a reminder from the farmers: you need us three times a day.

The message they tried to get across was that agricultural chemicals that protect the health of crops are not so different from the drugs that protect our health. U.S. agriculture has developed the most advanced food production in history — and chemicals have played a major role in bringing it to its advanced state.

Farmers recognize the need for safety in the use of agricultural chemicals; keeping the faith of consumers in the wholesomeness of their food supply is one of their main concerns. It's the hundreds of laws passed since 1974, resulting in 7,500 regulations regarding the use of agricultural chemicals that they question.

If this trend continues, they warned, farmers will not be able to meet the challenge of producing food and fiber for this nation and helping to feed the hungry of the world. Without chemicals, pests will eat better than people!

STRANGE STICKUP
A man walked into the dentist's office with a towel wrapped around his jaw and knotted on top of his head; it covered most of his face. "My word," laughed the elderly dentist, "I haven't seen anyone with a toothache wearing a getup like that for 40 years." "What Toothache?" was the garbled reply, "this is a stickup."

Ann Arbor Board of Realtors Elect Woman As President
Realtor Carolyn Dana Lewis will be president of the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors in 1977. Directors of the 470-member professional organization elected her to the chief executive position at their annual meeting held Oct. 14 at Moose Lodge, Ann Arbor.
Other new 1977 officers elected by the realtors were Jerome L. Klein as vice-president, John W. Gillies as secretary and John W. Meadows as treasurer.
Robert L. Patterson and Warren D. McLean were both elected to one-year terms on the board of directors. Ronald K. Dankert and Herman L. Koenn were each elected to two-year terms as directors, as were realtors Klein and Meadows in addition to being named officers for 1977. Besides President Lewis and Secretary Gillies, William C. Rogers of The Plymouth Colony is an incumbent director remaining on the board next year.
As 1977 president, Realtor Lewis becomes the second woman ever to hold the office in the local professional group. Realtor Ruth Hobbs was the first, serving as president in 1963.
President-Elect Lewis first entered the real estate business in 1971. Two years later she joined the staff of Earl Klein Realty of Ann Arbor where she is still associated. During her five years in real estate, Realtor Lewis has been extremely active in her professional organization. She has served on seven different committees of the local board, holding chairmanships of both its Advertising and Public Relations and Women's Council Nominating Committees last year. She has also served on the Legislative Committee of the Michigan Association of Realtors this year. She also holds the "ORA" designation as a graduate of the Realtor's Institute, and is a member of the Real Estate Alumni of Michigan and the American Rhododendron Society.
Equally involved in community affairs, Realtor Lewis headed last year's fund drive to acquire the Walker Building on behalf of the Ann Arbor Art Association. She was 1975 vice-president of Market Town and is a member of Phi Kappa Phi and the League of Women's Voters as well as the Ann Arbor Art Association. She also serves as a Republican Precinct Delegate (3-9) and received the Community Leader of America Award in 1969.
Before entering real estate, President-Elect Lewis developed extensive background and professional training in urban planning and development. She also taught urban sociology and industrial sociology at Eastern Michigan University for six years. She has also written feature articles for newspapers here and abroad.
The vice president-elect, Jerry Klein, now heads a real estate which he formed this past May. He has been in real estate since 1968, and associated with three previous agencies. Realtor Klein has served as chairman and co-chairman of three local board committees. He is also a guest lecturer for Washtenaw Community College and the Extension Division of the University of Michigan.
John Gillies, the secretary-elect, is president of The Gillies Co. and has served two years as a director of the Realtor Board, in 1974 and 1976. Treasurer-elect John Meadows just opened his own real estate agency, Meadows Realty, in Whitnore Lake this spring after previously serving as a sales associate with Swisher Realty in Ann Arbor.
Of the newly-elected two-year directors, Ronald Dankert is a sales associate with Caldwell and Reinhart Co. and Herman Koenn is an associate broker with Firsinger Realty in Chelsea. Robert Patterson, to hold a one-year term on the directors, is a Sales Associate with Daltz Realty. The remaining new director, Warren McLean, was president of the Ann Arbor Board of Realtors in 1973, and heads up Bush Realty.

What's Cooking In Michigan
It's been said the worst thing to ever hit a supermarket is a husband without a shopping list. I confess that I'm as guilty as anyone else. Let's face it, though, everyone should have a list. Women, too.
Michigan Department of Agriculture marketing officials have long pointed out that there are a number of ways you can save money on your shopping trip. First is making that list.
My wife and I go about it this way. Most grocers advertise their weekly specials in a mid-week edition of your local newspaper. Take a little time to look over the special prices on various food products. From these prices and products, make up a sample meal menu for the coming week.
After you've made up that menu, write down each store you plan to visit to make your purchases, keeping in mind that it doesn't make sense to go all the way across town in your car to save 25 cents on one item.
In just glancing through a recent paper, I saw sale prices on such varied cuts of meat as English roast, chuck steak, tripe, breasts, Swiss steak and ham. Don't forget that many of these can have a double purpose, served as leftover or in sandwiches.
Also, this is Michigan's harvest season and many fruits and vegetables are bargain priced. What's better than vegetables fresh from the farm, crisp to the taste and colorful to the eye?
However, back to the list. Once you have it in your hand in the store, go with great resolve only to the counters where the items on your list are located. Straying to the gourmet section or the "deli" will in no way help you stay within your budget.

VFW Post Boasts 8 Charter Members

Military veterans have always been an integral part of American life, whether criticized or respected. They not only served their country during times of war, but have attempted to retain the close-knit society and brotherhood induced by common unity towards a cause.

During the '50s, war veterans symbolized adventure and worldly experience to patriotic, idealistic youths, nursing dreams of soldiering in foreign lands.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 4076 in Chelsea was founded in the spring of 1945, while many of the local servicemen were still overseas with various units in World War II.

The group was officially chartered on April 20, 1945, and listed 77 members. Eight of those men have continued their membership to the present, while four have reinstated their membership after a brief interruption.

Charles Ritter of Chelsea was the first commander of the local VFW Post. Sixteen commanders have succeeded him, some taking more than one term of office. While three have since died, the rest still live in the Chelsea area.

Meetings were first held at the American Legion Post No. 31 Home, then in rented halls and private homes. Approximately three years ago, VFW Post No. 4076 leased the first floor and basement of 105 N. Main St. where their meetings and various activities currently take place.

Over the years, Post membership dropped to 31 members as of 1972. By Sept. 1, 1976, the Post rebuilt to 110 members, and membership is now gaining on a daily basis. Present figures show 27 paid-up life members, which entitles the Chelsea Post to a perpetual charter. Plans are now being made for the charter's presentation.

The VFW national objective is succinctly summed up in the organization's motto, "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living." Portions of membership dues are used to help maintain the VFW National Home in Eaton Rapids, which administers care to the children of deceased or disabled members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, regardless of race, creed, age, or geographical location.

The National Home has facilities to handle 212 children, although presently there are only 83 children in the Home. Persons desiring more information on the eligibility of children to enter the Home, should contact the nearest VFW post or a Veterans Affairs office.

Chelsea VFW Post was one of the first members of the Washtenaw County Council of Veterans. Laurence Boyer and the late Ren Hutzler served as commanders of the council. Fremont Boyer is presently senior vice-commander of the council, and Kermit Sharp is council chaplain. Other VFW Post 4076 members have served on various committees.

The Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post 4076 was founded shortly after the Post was chartered. The Ladies Auxiliary Charter was issued on July 20, 1945, with 71 members listed. Eighteen have been continuous members, originally led by Magdalen Weber, first president of the Auxiliary. Fifteen presidents have followed over the years, some taking more than one term as president. Two past presidents have since died.

The Auxiliary began meeting in the Catholic school gym, K. of P. Hall, Rebekah Lodge Hall, and their present hall when it was owned by the Knights of Columbus.

Among their community-oriented projects, Chelsea veterans have sponsored a junior bowling team which took second-place in the state; a baseball team; and helped pay expenses to send the Chelsea High School Band to the 1956 VFW State Convention's Pageant of Drums contest in Bay City, where the band won the State Championship with their rendition of "Rock Around the Clock."

Along with the Ladies Auxiliary, the Post has participated in many Memorial Day and Community Fair parades. They have presented American flags to Chelsea area public schools, scout troops, 4-H clubs, house clubs, churches, the fire department, Rod and Gun Club, St. Louis School for Boys, and the Municipal Building and Court House.

The Post also paid for four new picnic tables in Veterans Park in 1975, sponsored the Voice of Democracy contest in Chelsea High school, and organized hospital parties and picnics for patients in the Ann Arbor Veterans Administration Hospital and the Ypsilanti State Hospital. Several members of the Post and Auxiliary have volunteered hundreds of hours to the Ann Arbor VA Hospital.

The selling of Buddy Popples annually in May, has directed proceeds into a relief fund to help defray welfare and relief costs for the government, and helped subsidize veterans' families in need.

Chelsea VFW Post 4076 is in District 6 state-wide. There are 30 VFW Posts and 28 Auxiliaries in this district. The late Ren Hutzler was a past district commander. Mac Packard of Chelsea is the present junior vice-commander of District 6. Ken Platt is district membership chairman, and Fremont Boyer is a district post inspector, as well as a three-year trustee.

On May 3, 1976, the Post and Auxiliary held a banquet at the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club to celebrate its 30th anniversary. Many

Junior Achievement Program To Begin

Brand new businesses will open up in Washtenaw county beginning Monday, Oct. 11, as the Junior Achievement Program gets underway and several hundred high school students start running their own small corporations at the Ann Arbor JA Center located at 3345 Washtenaw Ave., near Arborland.

Organized and operated completely by teen-agers, JA companies are run like miniature corporations. JA members meet one evening a week, Monday through Thursday, from 7 to 9 p.m. They sell stock, elect officers, select, manufacture and market their company's product and learn the principles of salesmanship, leadership and business. And they have a good time.

Each JA company is made up of some 20 high school students and is sponsored by a major business concern. Under the expert guidance of professionals from business and industry, students get first-hand experience in business. Contests and social events are held throughout the year and local competition can lead to national recognition and scholarships.

JA representatives have been visiting area high schools during September, talking to students and signing them up for the JA program. Students interested in joining may call 838-4660 or come to the JA Center at 7 p.m. during opening week—Oct. 11.

Junior Achievement is a non-profit organization supported by more than 5,000 Michigan businesses. More than 150 businesses sponsor JA companies in the 24 centers throughout the six-county area of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw, Monroe and Livingston.

Schools represented at the Ann Arbor JA Center include: Dexter, Huron, Pioneer, St. Thomas and Saline.

Nobody likes higher gas bills. Including us.

This winter, the prices we must pay our suppliers for Natural Gas are going up. These price increases to us will mean higher prices to you. That's as much a concern for us as it is for you, because we're very much aware of the problem of paying higher gas bills.

How much are bills going up? If the weather is the same as it was last year, bills for most customers will be up an average of 30%. But of that 30% increase, Michigan Consolidated keeps nothing of the additional money you pay. No extra profit . . . nothing to meet increases in our other costs. Every penny will go toward the higher prices we'll have to pay for the Natural Gas we supply you.

We recognize that the reasons for these higher bills may be difficult for you to understand. But today it costs more than ever to find and produce Natural Gas. After investigating these costs, the Federal Power Commission, which establishes the price for all the gas that comes into Michigan, authorized producers to begin charging as much as 200% more for their gas at the well. In addition, the price for the gas we buy from Canada at prices set by the Canadian government is increasing significantly. But in the long run, we believe higher producer prices now will lead to more gas supplies being discovered and brought into production, and will help to insure the continuance of an adequate supply of gas for our homes, stores and places where we work.

We're telling you this now, so you can plan ahead for your higher bills. You can help to reduce your gas consumption and save money by insulating, dialing down and making sure your gas appliances are in top working order. Although it may not be possible to actually reduce your gas bills, you will be saving money by using less gas. You may also want to join our Budget Payment Plan and reduce your peak mid-winter bills by leveling out your remaining payments between now and next July.

Michigan Consolidated is dedicated to the task of keeping Natural Gas your best energy value and insuring that we maintain adequate supplies well into the future. We'll also continue to research and develop cost-saving programs that will be to your benefit. We do care about your tomorrow.

If you're of Dutch or German descent, you probably eat sauerkraut every New Year's Day. But just in case you're not, I'd like to tell you about it.

You see, there is an old Dutch belief that in order to insure a prosperous and successful year, you must eat sauerkraut on New Year's Day. And thus sauerkraut is just as traditional on New Year's tables in areas populated by Dutch and Germans as turkey is on our Thanksgiving tables.

However, contrary to popular belief, the Germans didn't invent sauerkraut. The Chinese did, and they did it by accident.

Centuries ago, the workers who built the Great Wall of China lived all summer on rice and cabbage. And as winter approached, they added rice wine to the cabbage to help preserve it. Well, the wine soured the cabbage and gave it a delicious new flavor...and sauerkraut was born!

Today sauerkraut is still made from cabbage which has been salted and pressed into barrels until it has slightly fermented. And, of course, sauerkraut juice is canned and served widely as an appetizer.

Just in case you think there's anything "foreign" about sauerkraut, I'll have you know that the American Legion, no less, sponsors an annual Sauerkraut Festival in Forreston, Illinois. Tons of cabbage are cooked in huge vats and stirred with pitchforks. And the event is so popular that some thirty thousand tourists come from all over the country to this tiny town 130 miles from Chicago, to share in the fun...and the sauerkraut.

So, a salute to sauerkraut, with its German name, its Chinese ancestry, and its American Legion backing. Enjoy some soon. And get it at Polly's where value prices are not invented by accident!
