Fortune Industries Workers on Strike

Some 42 members of UAW Local 437 walked off their jobs at Fortune Industries, 11770 Dexter-Chelsea Rd., at noon Monday, after their three-year contract expired. In an election Monday morning, 80 percent of the 42 workers at the 56-employee firm voted to strike, citing what they called low pay, poor benefits and poor working conditions as their reasons for the action.

"What we're asking for is a cost of living increase, more benefits, and better working conditions in accordance with other union plants in the area," Larry Howard, Local 437 president at Fortune Industries, said Wednesday. "We've been working in the plant with virtually no heat in the winter, and many health and safety standards at the plant are inadequate."

At the top of the list of union demands is a pay increase above the $5.50 average hourly pay workers now receive, according to Howard. "The workers feel when they go to the grocery store they find the cost of living goes up every week. The longer they keep working at this pay level, the longer they stay behind."

Leonard Fortune, plant manager at Fortune Industries stated management had offered the striking workers a $2 pay increase per hour over a three-year period of time, as well as an increase in medical benefits. "But they turned it down," he declared.

"We also asked them to work on a day-to-day basis while we were negotiating a new contract, but they refused that, too," he continued.

He explained that because Fortune Industries is owned by Life Resources, Inc., based in Colton, Calif., the local firm has an extremely tight operating budget that is strictly controlled by the parent company. Any large-scale wage increases must be approved by Life Resources.

"I believe the people just had it in their minds to strike because they would not negotiate anything we offered," Fortune maintained. "Over-all, this strike seems to be following the pattern of the recent Rockwell strike."

According to Fortune, the strike has crippled production at Fortune Industries. The company, which manufactures pre-formed abrasives, is a national supplier. "As a result of this strike, we are liable to lose some of our customers," he said. Fortune added that salaried workers are continuing to report for work.

The current strike is the first ever to hit the 25-year-old abrasives plant. "Not only have we never had a strike before, we never even had a work stoppage," Fortune noted.

Both sides acknowledged that negotiations remain at a standstill, but neither expects the strike to continue over a prolonged stretch of time. Union leaders say they are waiting to hear from management and are prepared to enter into table talks when called.

In the meantime, the strike is continuing in a quiet manner. To date, no disturbances have been reported.

A BEVY OF BEAUTIES, this year's Fair Queen and her court will play a dominant role in fair activities throughout the five-day event. Sara Barnhill, junior class candidate, seated in the front, was named winner of the 1977 Fair Queen title during pageant ceremonies Tuesday evening. Members of her court, displaying banners listing the name of each of their sponsors, form a backdrop for the queen. They are, from left, Sue German, Tracy Cattell, Patti Schumann, Nancy Heller, Mary Stoll, Deanna Johnson, and Dana Murphy.

Demolition Derby, Tractor Pull, Parade Are Top Attractions

Three big days still remain in the five-day Chelsea Community Fair.

Activities today, Aug. 25, will include judging of dairy cattle and goats at 10 a.m. and an antique tractor pulling contest at 1 p.m.

Admissions to the grounds will be raised from $1 per adult to $2 per adult for the Rotroff International Demolition Derby which will roar off at 8 p.m. tonight.

On Friday, Aug. 26, fair events will be launched with a tractor pulling contest for lightweight classes at 10 a.m. A horseshoe pitching contest will get evening activities on their way at 5 p.m., and the tractor pulling contest will resume at 6:45 p.m. with the heavyweight classes.

The schedule on Saturday, Aug. 27, will include an open horse show in the arena at 9 a.m., a fair parade followed by the awarding of bicycles at 1 p.m., and a steam-powered threshing bee at 1:30 p.m. The horse show activities will resume at 2:15 p.m. and will conclude at 7 p.m. when the arena will be used for the four-wheel drive speed pulling contest.

The awarding of steer quarters will be held at 10 p.m. Saturday in the arena.

All fair exhibits will be open to the public from noon to 10 p.m., except during judging. General admission for adults is $1. Children 14 and under will be admitted free. Season passes, also available at the fair gate, are $4.

Compact Tractor Pull Winners Announced

Using stock engines, a tough field of competitors put their compact tractors in gear Tuesday, raised a cloud of dust, and took their first roll down the path of fame and glory at the Chelsea fairgrounds. The occasion was the annual compact tractor pull, supervised this year by Janet Schulze and Judy Ferry.

Four divisions were featured in this year's competition with awards going to the first six place winners. The winners were determined on a maximum deadweight pull basis.

Making their way to the winner's circle in the 5-9 h.p. lightweight class were Steve Diuble, first; Carol Diuble, second; Tim Schulz, third; Mike Eaton, fourth; David Jedele, fifth; and Roger Eaton, sixth.

Top finishers in the 10-11 h.p. mediumweight division were John Frolka, first; Dan Eaton, second; Gary Scripser, third; and Gerald Roberts, fourth.

In the 12 h.p. and over heavyweight class, Les Kapka took first place. He was followed by Tim Schulz, second; Eddie Buku, third; Boyd Maynard, fourth; and Bob Chelude, fifth.

The open class, for compact tractors 1,100 lbs. and under, was dominated by John Frolka, first;

Fire Strikes Plant of Detroit Abrasives Co.

An early morning fire Wednesday, Aug. 17, temporarily disrupted work at Chelsea's Detroit Abrasives Co., located at 11910 Dexter-Chelsea Rd. Although the fire caused extensive damage to the firm's filter system, no injuries were reported as a result of the blaze.

The Chelsea Fire Department was summoned to the scene of the fire at about 7:06 a.m. after a spark had apparently entered the filter system to trigger the blaze. According to Fire Chief Jim Gaken, the filter uses an internal cloth device to take abra-

Sara Barnhill Is Fair Queen

The 1977 Chelsea Community Fair got off to a soggy start Tuesday evening as youngsters straggled into formation to march in the Children's Parade. Although rain forced a delay in the proceedings, the youngsters seemed to take the weather in stride as they completed the mile-long parade route to the fairgrounds, accompanied by Chelsea's Beach Middle School Band.

In parade judging, completed just prior to the parade, 12 youngsters received awards in the four judging categories. Taking top honors in the 3- to 5-year-olds division was Billy Schultz, who entered as a train which he nicknamed the "Chelsea Express."

Second-place winners were Mick and Matt Steinaway, who entered as an apple and worm, while Yvonne Gaffney took third-place as an Indian.

In the 6- to 8-year-olds division, Joanne Haft, Allen Haft, Jr., and Jennifer Bice made their way to the number one spot dressed as sunflowers. Jimmy and Jeffrey Steele came in second as a fisherman and fish, and Robby McDowell won third as an old-time velocipede rider.

Winning the 9- to 12-year-olds division were Joann Tobin, Stephanie Carpenter and DeDe Petsch, appearing as a stereo, while runner-up was Gena Durgan, outfitted as a table. A duo of one happy and one sad clown, otherwise known as John Paul Hoffenbecker and Susie Riemenschneider, was the third-place winner.

Top-place winners in the miscellaneous division were Robin and Joey Hafner, with Matthew Prentis, who entered as "Three Men in a Tub." Lisa Lora and Beth Unterbrink, who paraded as rickshaw riders and a rickshaw runner, placed second, followed by Tim Greenleaf, Kyle and Kerry Plank, and Kick Merkel, who came in third as NASA space-men.

Also appearing in the parade were this year's Fair Queen candidates.

Candidates and their sponsors were Nancy Heller, Frisinger Realty; Sara Barnhill, Junior Class; Deanna Johnson, Norm's Body Shop; Patti Schumann, Freshman Class; Dana Murphy, Chelsea Chapter of the American Business Women's Association; Tracy Cattell, Sophomore Class; Sue German, Senior Class; and Mary Stoll, Kiwanis Club.

Following the parade, the candidates were interviewed by judges at a tea, and then proceeded to the fairgrounds for the Fair Queen Pageant, which was late in getting started because of Tuesday evening's continuous rain.

Members of the judging panel included Mrs. Molly Anderson, former reporter for The Chelsea Standard and now employed by The Detroit Free Press in the promotions department; Mrs. Lore Stafford, director and teacher at North Lake Co-op Nursery; and Jack Kennedy, of the Union Savings Bank in Manchester.

A modeling show and an address by 1976 Fair Queen, Beth Flanigan, led into the talent competition. Using a three-minute time limit each, the candidates presented a varied and accomplished program.

Nancy Heller played guitar and sang a John Denver song; Sara Barnhill recited a poem she had composed; Deanna Johnson presented a sewing display; Patti Schumann acted out a one person skit; Dana Murphy recited "Annie," a humorous poem, using a fine display of gestures and intonation to entertain the audience; Tracy Cattell sang a solo accompanied by Doug Beaumont on piano; Sue German presented a serious reading; and Mary Stoll twirled a baton.

After the candidates completed the talent show, they returned to

Federal Grant OK'd For Village Projects

Congressman Bob Carr (D-6th district) yesterday announced the approval of a $111,000 federal grant to the Village of Chelsea under the Federal Local Public Works Program. Approval of the grant, which will provide funds for sidewalk, gutter, curb and storm sewer improvements, came during a second round review of applications in Congress.

The village originally applied for a $146,000 grant last fall, joining other communities nationwide which submitted proposals totaling $25 billion. During a round review of the applications, $2 billion was allocated by the federal government, with $4 billion added in the second round. "We were disappointed when we failed to receive a grant the first time," Chip Winans of the Village Administrator's office said. "Consequently, we approached the second round talks with cautious optimism." The Village resubmitted its proposal under round two in July.

"No one in Congressman Carr's district received any money during the first phase," Winans continued. "Several meetings were then held at Congressman Carr's office in Jackson, and Chelsea was approved in the second phase." A determining factor in

Jaycee Auxiliary Hears Report on Jiffy Boxtop Drive

Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary met at the home of Alberta Colby, 13926 Bramble Brae, for its regular membership meeting, Tuesday, Aug. 16. With President Barb Baker officiating, a heavy agenda was presented for the evening.

With the start of another school year approaching, many parents are considering major meat purchases for the freezer. If you're one of these, officials of the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Food Inspection division have some important reminders.

Major considerations before you do any buying for a freezer should be cost and what your family likes in the way of meat cuts.

As far as cost, be aware of the Michigan law that regulates the advertising and sale of bulk meats. The law says the seller must give you a written statement specifying the initial weight of the carcass or primal cut purchased. He must also put down the type of animal or carcass section, such as loin, rib or chuck, and he must give you an estimate of the price per pound of the final weight after cutting loss, including the charge for packaging and freezing.

Also, if the seller cuts the meat, the statement must show the weight of each cut. All prices advertised by the seller must include the estimated net price per pound, including all cost of the delivered product.

That's the cost consideration. As for preference, a side of beef includes a variety of cuts, ranging from steaks and roasts to ground beef, stew meat and soup bones. Be ready to fix the entire assortment to please the family. Remember, too, that some cuts come in greater quantity so plan your menus in such a way as to not bore everyone with, say, 10 days of beef stew.

An excellent booklet on buying beef for the freezer is now available. It has wrapping tips, a beef chart, freezing information and much more. For your free copy, just write "Freezer Beef," Michigan Beef Industry Commission, 805 Stoddard Building, Lansing 48933. It's really a great guide.

Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Brown of 16455 Winters Rd., Grass Lake, in a candlelight service Saturday, Aug. 13, at First United Methodist church. The 7 p.m. ceremony was performed by the Rev. Marvin H. McCallum before a gathering of 125 guests.

As she approached the altar on the arm of her father, the bride was wearing a princess-style gown of bridal crepe, which had been made by her mother. The gown featured lace and seed pearl trim, and a detachable chapel-length train. An elbow-length silk illusion veil flowed from her bridal crepe cap, which was also trimmed in lace and seed pearls. It too, had been made by her mother. She carried a bouquet of white carnations, yellow rosebuds and baby's breath, accented with ivy.

Maid of honor was Nancy Ery of Grass Lake, sister of the bride. She appeared in a sleeveless, princess-style, yellow crepe dress with a matching yellow print cape trimmed with white lace. A yellow floppy-brimmed hat with a yellow ribbon bow completed her attire. She held a nosegay of daisies and baby's breath.

Both the gown worn by the maid of honor, and that worn by the bridesmaid had been made by Mrs. Ery, mother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, she appeared in a floor-length dress of ice blue crepe with long, full lace sleeves. White accessories dramatized the color of her gown, which was also set off by a pink carnation corsage.

Mrs. Brown, mother of the bridegroom, wore a floor-length mint green print, accented with white accessories. On her shoulder was a white carnation corsage.

Serving as junior bridesmaid was Regina Purczynski of Melbourne, Fla., cousin of the bride. Her dress and flowers were similar to those worn by the maid of honor and bridesmaid, but were all pink.

Best man was Leon Brown of Grass Lake, brother of the bridegroom. Attending as junior groomsmen were Norman Brown of Grass Lake, also a brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Mario Trevino of Munnith, brother-in-law of the bride, and Paul Brown of Saline, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the wedding, a reception, given by the bride's parents, was held at the Chelsea Fairgrounds Service Center. Five of the bride's sisters assisted at the reception by serving guests and tending to the guest book. The bridal cake was cut and served by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Donald Curtiss of Tecumseh.

CHARITY CONTRIBUTIONS: The bacchanalian Mad Benefest last weekend, sponsored by M.D. Productions, was more than just an occasion to party as demonstrated by the proceedings in the photo. All proceeds from the event were evenly distributed between two charity organizations, the American Cancer Society, and Underprivileged Children of Chelsea. The latter charity is being organized under the auspices of Washtenaw County Community Services, a federal agency. Accepting their respective donations from Dale "Mad Dog" Robbins, second from right, chairman of M. D. Productions, is Dawn Proffessini, far right, vice-president of the Washtenaw County Unit, American Cancer Society, and Katie Harat, second from left, Washtenaw County Community Services Agency organizer. Looking on is Rodger Stewart, far left, representing the soon-to-be Underprivileged Children of Chelsea agency. The benefest was held on the Albert Halley, Jr. property at 1800 Fletcher Rd.

Nearly 1,000 Attend Three-Day Mad Benefest Rock Festival

Although rain put an unexpected damper on the fourth annual Mad Benefest last Sunday, the three-day affair was declared a success by its sponsoring agency, M. D. Productions. A crowd of nearly 1,000 attended this year's charity benefit with the result that $260 each will be donated to the American Cancer Society and to Underprivileged Children of Chelsea. The latter donation is being made through Washtenaw County Community Services.

"Although our goal was $500 for each charity, this is the first year the benefest has made any money in the four years it's been held," said Dale "Mad Dog" Robbins, M. D. Productions chairman. "Therefore it deserves to be called a success."

Robbins added that the donation to the American Cancer Society was sparked by the death of a close friend from cancer several years ago. The cancer victim, Paul Maurer of Chelsea, died from the disease at the age of 17. The second donation, to underprivileged children, was recommended by Katie Harat, an instrumental figure in the organization of the new charity.

A truly bacchanalian celebration that draws young people throughout the local area, the annual summer Mad Benefests come complete with the steady beat of live music from area bands, fireworks, food, and an uninterrupted flow of beer on the middle day of the event. However, though the party lasts long into the night, the crowd attending maintains an uncommon orderliness. No fights or other disturbances have ever erupted in the benefest's four-year history. This year's party was held on the 16-acre Albert Halley, Jr. property at 1800 Fletcher Rd. A house he is building there, still in the early phases of construction, served as the stage for the four bands appearing at the benefest.

While beer was served out of the basement of the house. Camping was permitted for those who chose to stay on at the party for its entire three-day run.

After the benefest was launched with "Stivers Night" Friday evening, many of the party-goers returned to the Halley property to build 40 six-foot submarine sandwiches early Saturday morning. Using a recipe furnished by Togo's Submarine Sandwich House of Marquette, the sandwich makers proceeded to pile on 200 pounds of meat, 50 pounds of cheese, 50 pounds of lettuce and 80 pounds of tomatoes on the 40 six-foot sandwiches.

When the sandwiches were served Saturday evening, it took the crowd a mere six hours to devour them, Robbins reported. During the week-end, 42 kegs of beer were also consumed.

A $200 fireworks display, the awarding of various prizes, and performances by the bands were the featured attractions Saturday night. Winning the door prize was Dave Harat of Chelsea, while Mark Pennington of Chelsea received an award for traveling the farthest to attend the Mad Benefest. Pennington, who was vacationing in Yugoslavia this summer, cut his trip short by three weeks to attend the Mad Benefest, Robbins stated. "People are coming quite some distance to attend this thing," he grinned.

Among the bands to grace the stage, "Lightnin'" of Ann Arbor was by far the biggest crowd-pleaser. Sifting-in and jamming with the band was guest musician Cub Koda, leader of the "Brownsville Station." Other bands that performed were "Brew," a rock and roll band from Stockbridge; "Stoney Creek," a blue grass band from Ypsilanti; and "Bridgewater," a rock and roll band from the town of the same name.

Rain forced an early close to the festivities about 1:45 a.m. Sunday and also forced a cancellation of softball and volleyball games which had been scheduled for Sunday afternoon. However, instead of packing up and leaving the benefest Sunday, many party-goers chose to remain and help with clean-up during Sunday's down-pour.

"Out of the 1,000 people that came to the benefest, 200 people donated four hours or more of time and work to the cause," Robbins

Irene Seitz Retires from County Clerk's Office

After 42 years of continuous service in the Washtenaw County Clerk's Office, Irene Seitz, a Chelsea native, retired as chief deputy clerk, Thursday, Aug. 12. According to county officials, her's was the longest employment record in county history.

Since that day in 1935 when Miss Seitz first started working in the county clerk's office, she began amassing a volume of knowledge which soon led to her reputation as a tough questioner among election officials in Lansing. However, what co-workers remember best about the soft-spoken Miss Seitz, is the dry wit that colored her skilled finesse at her job.

"Many things simply cannot be recalled on the spur of the moment," Miss Seitz replied when asked to describe some of her more memorable moments during her 42-year career. "But one thing I remember well is all the work and tension that would come with the job at election time. Everyone in the elections office would be relieved when it was finally over with," she said.

More recently, moving the clerk's office into the new courthouse in Ann Arbor has left an unforgettable imprint in Miss Seitz's memory. "We were in the old building and stayed there while the new courthouse was being built around us," Miss Seitz explained. "It was quite an event, moving into the new courthouse. Our office there is larger than usual."

A 1931 graduate of Chelsea High school, Miss Seitz attended Cleary College shortly after graduation. After college, she began working in the clerk's office which was staffed by only five workers at the time, including the clerk and chief deputy clerk. "Needless to say, many more employees have since been added," she said. "I'm not even sure of the count." Employment turnovers have also been constant, so that only two or three others in the clerk's office have been working there more than 20 years, she noted.

Miss Seitz grew up on a family homestead located on Lima Center Rd. A sister, Mrs. Norman Sterle of Parker Rd., and a sister-in-law, Mrs. George Elkins of Cavanaugh Lake, still reside in the area, as well as numerous nephews, aunts and cousins.

Miss Seitz first served as chief deputy clerk under Luella M. Smith, who served as clerk for 35 years, before continuing her duties under incumbent Robert M. Harrison. As an expert in the field of election administration, she was often a handy reference to local and state election officials.

At a farewell party for Miss Seitz, Thursday afternoon in the County Building, fellow employees, friends, judges, former employees, and dozens of other well-wishers dropped by for coffee, home-made cookies, and a piece of cake toed with the image of a typewriter and stenographer's notebook.

Colleagues say they will miss Miss Seitz, who has been succeeded by Mildred Crawford, a 21-year veteran of the County Clerk's office. And, it will probably be a while before her 42-year record can be broken. Heading the list of contenders is Mary Lou Wolff, who has been a county employee in the sheriff's department for 34 years.

Lyndon Petitions To Close Dog Kennel

An unlicensed Lyndon township dog kennel, which township officials say has become a health hazard and a public nuisance, has led to the township's petition for an injunction against the kennel's owner, 59-year-old Charles Baum. Circuit Court Judge Edward D. Deake is expected to rule on the petition in about 30 days.

While appearing on the witness stand in an all-day civil hearing before Judge Deake Wednesday, Aug. 17, Baum admitted he is operating the kennel from his home at 9730 Beeman Rd., although the use does not conform to township ordinances.

In cross examination, Lyndon township attorney, Peter Flintoff, had Baum tell of the seizure by county officials in 1976 of 85 dogs and the subsequent destruction of the animals because of contagious mange. But Baum denied that all 85 had mange, stating only about a dozen were afflicted with the disease.

Baum said he had transported the 85 dogs to Michigan from New Mexico, and that they caught the mange when he had them in Jackson county. At the time, Baum was found guilty of cruelty to animals in a Jackson County District Court and was placed on one year's probation. He then brought the dogs to Washtenaw county.

Since Washtenaw county seized the 85 dogs, he began gathering a new group and now has about 40. He said he keeps them in a building which has a plywood floor, two doors and two vents in it. Baum testified he brings sick dogs into his house.

When asked by Flintoff why he has the kennel on a two-acre area when his permit requires a 10-acre section, Baum replied he could not afford the 10 acres and had planned to buy the other eight acres at a later date.

Witnesses called by Flintoff testified against Baum included Kay Flood, director of the Washtenaw County Humane Society, and Meri Reichert, Sheriff's Dog Control Officer. Miss Flood said the 85 dogs which were destroyed had no market value because of disease and poor care, while Reichert said he told Baum that a kennel license would not be issued to him until a concrete floor was installed in the building where the 40 dogs are now kept.

Mother of 4 Earns EMU Degree

The woman who decides to return to college after several years' absence from the academic world, faces many new problems and challenges. And, if she is married with children at home, the difficulties tend to increase.

But, it is being done every day, successfully, by women like Mary Helene Degener of Chelsea.

Mrs. Degener, of 526 Lane St., recently received her bachelor's degree in Spanish from Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti. As a student for the past three years, as well as the mother of four children ages 7 to 13, a homemaker, and a wife, she plays many roles in a given day. But she has found that with a little organization, she can handle it.

Her first problem was an obvious one, readjusting to the demands of college. When she first enrolled at EMU, it had been 14 years since she last saw the inside of a classroom. Being back again made her realize how vulnerable she was.

"At home, I was the one with all the answers for my children, but in school it was the other way around. It was a bit frightening at first to be the one not in command, but I have found it healthy to be thinking and questioning again," she said.

She also found her experience had a unique effect on her children. They now see her as more of a peer.

"When I come home from a bad day at school and tell them about it, they find it rather curious that I have many of the same complaints as they do about school," she explained. "As a result, we have grown together."

MRS. LYNN DEGENER

Her husband, Lynn, has also found it rewarding. With his wife back in college, learning new things, he said they have new things to talk about. They have found it very stimulating, and his original fears of her becoming an "intellectual snob" have not been realized.

"In fact," Mrs. Degener elaborated, "he has seen so much of the good it has done me, he is now thinking about going back to technical school himself."

Mrs. Degener is just one member of a growing number of older women on college campuses, not only at EMU, but across the nation. With college enrollments declining, more and more returning women students are making up a larger proportion of university enrollments.

Barbara Brackney, a member of the EMU psychology faculty, said that 10 to 15% of every 50 students in her classes are what she calls the "non-traditional student," the student that is not 18 to 21 years of age.

"We are finding that women are coming back for a variety of reasons, but the main reason is for self-fulfillment," Mrs. Brackney said. "This is a cultural trend; women feel the traditional wife and mother role is not as fulfilling as it once was, and are branching out more."

In an attempt to accommodate this larger group of the total student body, a new center, called Womanspace, has been organized on the EMU campus. It was established by a group of women at the University to help older women students with their special needs—problems that the younger students just do not have. Womanspace, Mrs. Brackney said, is currently working toward setting up a child care center, and organizing seminars, workshops and film showings to enhance existing educational programs.

Armed with her bachelor's degree, Mrs. Degener plans to look for a job teaching Spanish, and hopes to travel to a country where she can practice her new language.

She is encouraged by what she has accomplished, and feels that what has done for herself can be equally beneficial for other women.

"There are women out there who tell me that they don't know how I do it. But I say everyone should be able to do it. It is possible, and it is tough. But then again, anything worthwhile is tough."

Fair Parade Starts Saturday at 1 p.m.

With a color guard of local VFW Post and Auxiliary members in the lead, the 1977 Chelsea Community Fair Parade will step off from the corner of Park and East Sts. at 1 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 27.

Next in line will be Parade Marshal Mac Packard. The parade marshal honor is bestowed annually upon a person who has an outstanding record of community service or who has made an exceptional contribution of time and work to fair activities.

Other attractions to be featured in Saturday's parade include the Ann Arbor Grotto Band complete with clowns, antique autos and fire trucks; new Chelsea fire trucks, and numerous pieces of farm equipment. All will travel the parade route to the tune of the Chelsea High School Band.

Mixed in with the marchers will be floats of all types and sizes, heralding a plethora of themes. All floats are to be in place on Park St., in front of the School House apartments, by 12 noon. Judging for the four youth and four adult awards will be conducted at this time.

Anyone unfamiliar with the parade line-up should arrive at the corner of Park and East Sts. by 12:30 p.m. Saturday. The Fair Parade is organized annually by the Chelsea Fire Department, assisted by Chelsea Police and Auxiliary.

High School Band To Rehearse Friday

Members of the Chelsea High School Band will rehearse for Saturday's Chelsea Community Fair Parade on Friday, Aug. 26, 9 a.m., at the high school.

Any new high school students who plan to take band classes during the fall school term and are interested in joining other band members in the Fair Parade, should contact Steve Bergmann, band director, at 475-9131.

Federal Grant OK'd For Village Projects

The allocation of the federal grants was the priority given to high unemployment areas, Winans revealed.

As a result of its $111,000 grant, Chelsea will begin work on two projects recommended by the village's engineering department. The first to be undertaken will be a road widening project on Old US-12, east from Wilkinson St., to be succeeded by curb, gutter and sidewalk improvements in the area.

Also earmarked for funding under the public works grant will be the construction of a new storm sewer in the North St. area. According to Winans, the present North St. sewer dates back to 1938, and is therefore in need of a major overhaul. Any spillover of funds from the grant after the US-12 road project is completed will be used for the new sewer. The path of the sewer will begin at North St., continue along Letts Creek, and then turn up to Veterans Park on M-52.

Easement agreements, a critical factor in the sewer project, appear likely, Winans reported. "We talked to the people involved and they showed an interest in formulating agreements," he said.

No definite starting date has been set for work on the public works projects since certain preliminary details are still pending action. One of the first steps to be taken by the village, will be to open up bidding on the projects to local area contractors.

Further information regarding the opening of school will be published in next week's issue of The Standard.

Fire Truck Fair Shuttle Service Back

The Chelsea Fire Department Association has plugged the gap caused by Mac Packard's sidelined 1939 Dodge fire truck. The Association is lending Packard use of its 1942 fire truck to transport local residents to this year's Chelsea Community Fair.

Shuttle service to and from the fair began Tuesday, Aug. 23 and will continue through tomorrow, Aug. 26. Operated by Packard and several assistants, the 1942 fire truck is based at the corner of Main and Middle Sts. and is transporting people to and from the fair every half hour, from 12 noon to 5 p.m. There is no charge to riders for the service.

In the meantime, several engines have been located to replace the worn out one in Packard's antique Dodge fire truck. Although this means the fire truck will soon be back on the road, Packard still has to decide on which one to purchase and must then install the new engine. Both these factors cannot race existing time limitations so Packard's fire truck will just have to sit out this year's fair.

NEW FIRE DEPARTMENT TRUCKS: Posing proudly alongside two trucks they built up during the past year are members of the Chelsea Fire Department. The project claimed 300 volunteer man-hours of work from these firefighters, as well as voluntary assistance from several local business firms and organizations. As a result, the firemen now have a 16,000-gallon water tanker, pictured in the rear, that was originally a milk truck, and a new squad truck to transport rescue equipment. Kneeling in the front row, from left, are Don Alexander, Doug Eder, Merle Leach, Dan

Firemen Rebuild, Equip Two Trucks

After 300 volunteer man-hours of work and nearly a year of time, a project to build up two well-exercised trucks by Chelsea firemen ended last month in a splash of newly-painted lettering across the doors of a 16,000-gallon water tanker.

The tanker was originally a milk truck put into service in 1951. When purchased by the Chelsea Fire Department last winter, it had been driven between 80,000 and 90,000 miles, and was equipped to transport a capacity load of 1,000 gallons. After replacing the vehicle's motor, firemen proceeded to transform it into a tanker.

"A pump off our old tanker was put on the milk truck by Stan Weir, the Chelsea Village mechanic," Fire Chief Jim Gaken began in describing the efforts involved in the transformation.

"Brown's Welding welded the tank onto the truck after we replaced the truck's chassis with a new one from Chrysler Parking Grounds, Robert's Paint and Body Shop then re-painted the exterior."

All plumbing work was done by firemen, and the tanker made its debut after Tom Tucci completed the lettering, Chief Gaken added. "We can now fill the water tank in less than four minutes," he continued, stating that accomplishment would be a definite asset to firemen in fighting fires. Formerly, it took at least 10 minutes to fill the water tank.

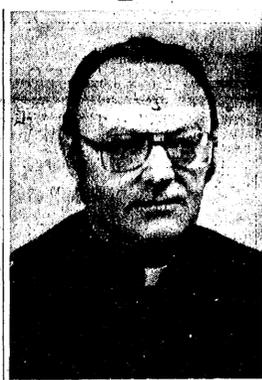

The other truck built up by Chelsea firemen was a Dodge van purchased by the fire department to house the department's "jaws," used to extricate accident victims from entrapment in steel or other heavy metal enclosures. The van was redesigned and enlarged by firemen to also hold other pieces of rescue equipment.

A used chassis was obtained from Village Motors to refurbish the van, and all inside work on the vehicle, along with outside painting, was done by local firemen. "It's basically a squad truck," Chief Gaken revealed. He stated work on the van was completed last March.

The fire department is planning to conduct an Open House during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15, to show off the two newly built up vehicles. During that time, the public is invited to stop by for a close-up view of these latest additions to the local fire truck fleet.

St. Louis School Director Reassigned

The Rev. Fr. Germano Pegoraro, director of Chelsea's St. Louis School for Exceptional Boys, a school he helped pioneer, has been honored with a new assignment as Master of Novices and professor of seminary in Philadelphia, Pa. The assignment was made by the Superior General in Rome.

The Rev. Fr. Germano

In his new post, Fr. Germano will be responsible for educating and training young men who have chosen priesthood and brotherhood as a future career.

Fr. Germano, who has taught and cared for the mentally retarded boys at St. Louis school for the past 16 years, will be leaving for Philadelphia at the end of August. However, he plans to maintain his ties with Chelsea and particularly those with St. Louis school by returning to the community for a visit.

"My heart will always be in Chelsea because the people have been so good, kind and generous to me and the school," he said. "Chelsea will be blessed by God for allowing His retarded boys to have a school where they find joy, peace and education. Those who love and help these exceptional boys, so special to God, will receive joy, peace, and blessing from the good Lord, because the boys are innocents without fault."

The Rev. Fr. Fortunato Turati will succeed Fr. Germano as St. Louis school director. Assisting Fr. Fortunato will be two priests from Philadelphia.

Anyone interested in corresponding with Fr. Germano following his departure from Chelsea may write to him at Don Guanello Seminary, Sprul Rd., Springfield, Pa. 19064.

Methodists Organizing Youth Club

Do you like to canoe? Do you like to dance? Does it bother you to work with older people, or underprivileged children? What other things do you like to do? Well now you have a chance to tell us, and to show us.

The Chelsea First United Methodist church is sponsoring a Youth Club, open to any area high school students. The Youth Club will be active socially, and also active in the community, helping a lonely shut-in, making toys for underprivileged children, or undertaking other service projects. You can be a part of it, you can help.

The first meeting of the group will be held Sunday, Aug. 26, 7 p.m., in Chelsea's First United Methodist church. The first planned outing is a canoe trip down the Huron River on Sept. 1.

If you are unable to attend the meeting, but are interested in the group, call David Sweet at 475-1444 for more information. If you do have Sunday night open, drop in and find out what the Youth Club is all about.

Grain Truck Flips Over in Avoiding Crash

A loaded grain truck overturned early Friday morning, injuring both of its occupants, after a car, driven by a Rockwood man, pulled into the path of the truck upon executing a turn from Werkner Rd. onto M-52.

According to Washtenaw County Sheriff's reports, Gerald Salow, 47, of Stockbridge, was driving a 1973 Ford truck, which was carrying a load of grain, when Dennis Denno, 35, of Rockwood, turned in front of the truck after stopping at the stop sign at the corner of Werkner Rd. and M-52 at about 6:30 a.m. Friday. Riding with Salow was Howard Ives, 74, also of Stockbridge.

Salow, in an attempt to avoid Denno's 1973 Chevy, skidded off the roadway. His truck then flipped over, spilling grain onto the roadway. Both Salow and Ives received minor injuries and were taken to Chelsea Medical Center for emergency treatment. Denno escaped the mishap without injury.

Denno received a traffic citation from Sheriff's deputies for failure to yield the right of way.

TAX-FREE HOUSE SALE IF OVER 65

A homeowner who is over 65 or older may be able to avoid all income taxes on the profit from the sale of his home if he meets certain requirements. The two main ones are:

The house must have been used as the taxpayer's principal residence for five of the eight years preceding the sale.

The adjusted sales price of the house must be $35,000 or less. If you sold for more than $35,000, you can still avoid tax on the gain attributable to the first $35,000 of the sales proceeds.

If husband and wife own the house jointly, only one has to be 65 or older for the rule to apply. Unfortunately, this tax exclusion can be used only once.

You make the election to exclude the profit by attaching a signed statement to this effect with your tax return. Check with an accountant or Internal Revenue Service for details and form numbers.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By LOUIS BURGHARDT

Courtesy indicates good manners. It involves equal consideration for all people alike, regardless of status or importance. Or area or location. And this certainly holds true on streets and highways. . . . Quite often, good manners are shelved and ignored in the driving habits of people who otherwise are fairly well-mannered. . . . You see this in drivers, squealing cars past slower motorists. . . . You see it in the blasting of horns the second the light turns green. . . . You see it in the tailgating of cars when it appears the cars are chained together. . . . You see it in gestures and words of retaliation when bad manners of one induces bad manners in another. Bad manners probably cause as many accidents in driving as any other cause.

On holiday week ends especially, when traffic is heavy, good driving manners are really needed. . . . Giving the other fellow a break by means of common courtesy can definitely reduce traffic accidents which cause so much human misery — and property damage. . . . Courtesy on the road has NEVER — nor will it ever — degrade a driver. . . . BURGHARDT FUNERAL HOME, 214 East Middle St., Chelsea, Mich. Phone 475-1551.

Christian Film To Be Shown at Immanuel Church

"Something To Live For," the final film in a three-part series of Christian films, will be presented at Immanuel Bible Church, 145 E. Summit St., Sunday evening, at 6 p.m. "Who am I?" and "Where do I belong?" questions asked by today's youth, are the focus of this dramatic tale of teenage adventure and romance.
In "Something To Live For," Mei Yu, a beautiful Chinese girl, crosses the Pacific to Hong Kong to get close to her cultural heritage and rub shoulders with other Chinese. There, she meets, Ching Kim, a university student and a refugee from mainland China.
What begins as a simple love story, becomes complicated by Mei Yu's rebellion at traveling to the Far East, only to be confronted by a Western religion. She was not in Hong Kong to find Christ, she was in Hong Kong to find herself.
Ching Kim's devotion to Christ and his frantic search for a missing boy contribute to the plot which comes to a climax during a tragic landslide.
"With Hon Kong, one of the world's most beautiful cities, as its backdrop, "Something To Live For" is as modern as tomorrow in its story of searching youth," says the Rev. LeRoy Johnson, pastor of Immanuel Bible church.
The public is invited to attend Sunday's film presentation. There will be no admittance charge, but a free will offering will be taken.

STOP. DETOUR
Unless you're crazy about the drive, there's no real reason to drive into Detroit looking for new car bargains. Rampy Chevrolet in Ann Arbor is a lot closer and you'll get the same low prices you find in Detroit — maybe even lower. At Rampy you'll also find the kind of careful, competent, come again service you expect from small town folks who know their neighbors.
You see, Rampy's not just the biggest Chevrolet dealer in Washtenaw County, he's got the biggest dealership of any kind in the country. That means that he's governed by the same kind of high volume economics you've been driving all the way into Detroit to find.
On the other hand, Ann Arbor is a town where people do know each other. Word gets around. And the word is that Rampy gives good service after the sale. As a matter of fact, Rampy's service department has been used as a model for training other Chevrolet dealers.
Isn't it time you took a detour?

Venezuelan Family Returns for Visit with Parents, Grandparents

Hamburgers, potato chips, football and water skiing are the main attractions of the American way of life, according to three youngsters from South America who have been visiting their grandparents in Chelsea this summer.

Mrs. Connie Rodriguez, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Noffsinger, 402 S. Main, arrived in Chelsea July 22, with her children, Candida, 13, Pedro, 12, and Enrique, 10. Here until September, the children have been busy sampling American culture while on summer vacation from their school in Los Castores, Venezuela, near the capitol city of Caracas.

Among their recent activities, the children have traveled to a Tiger baseball game in Detroit, Greenfield Village, Bob-Lou, Niagara Falls, and will soon be making an excursion to Cedar Point in Ohio. "Cedar Point is the place they have been looking forward to the most," Mrs. Rodriguez told The Standard.

The circumstances which led to bi-national family ties for the Noffsingers began more than 14 years ago when their daughter, the former Connie Noffsinger, met and married Pedro Rodriguez of Venezuela. At the time, both were students at the University of Michigan.

Shortly thereafter, Candida was born in Ann Arbor. Then, while Mr. Rodriguez was a graduate student in Toledo, both Pedro and Enrique were born. The Rodriguez family left Toledo and returned to the Ann Arbor area while the children were still babies, but as they grew older, they began to attend Chelsea schools.

"We moved to Venezuela when my husband finished his work here in the States," Mrs. Rodriguez said, continuing the story. There, her husband found employment as an electrical engineer, and the family began their permanent residence overseas.

"We live in a small apartment in Venezuela, in the mountains of Los Castores," Mrs. Rodriguez stated when asked to elaborate on the differences she encountered as a result of the move. "We are buying the apartment like people in the United States buy houses."

She noted that as a housewife in Venezuela she was faced with the prospect of "cooking everything from scratch." According to Mrs. Rodriguez, "food is different in Venezuela, because nothing comes in cans or boxes."

Less noticeable differences came to light later, mostly those relating to the structure of family ties and the ways of bringing up children. Mrs. Rodriguez said, "Candida does not have the same freedom to mingle with boys her age in Venezuela as she has here. Anytime she is with a boy her age in Venezuela, she must be chaperoned. I just hope she doesn't go back and tell her friends what she did here," Mrs. Rodriguez said jokingly.

Although she had difficulty speaking Spanish at first, Mrs. Rodriguez now says she is fluent in the language. She added that the adjustment to the new language and life in Venezuela was made easy "because I like the culture there, people are more easygoing than in the United States, and they take life at a less hectic pace."

Because her children have spent most of their formative years in Venezuela, they have totally absorbed South American customs and react to the United States more as visitors, than as American-born young-

Howevr, by coming to visit their grandparents either annually or every two years, the children have an understanding of American customs and have maintained their fluency in spoken English. "Last summer when we were here, the children exchanged Spanish lessons for English lessons with Mrs. Frinkle, a Chelsea resident," Mrs. Rodriguez revealed. "I must add though that it was mostly Candida who helped Mrs. Frinkle with her Spanish."

As the eldest of the children, Candida has spent part of this summer working as a youth volunteer at Chelsea's United Methodist Retirement Home, something the younger children were not qualified to do because of their age. According to Mrs. Rodriguez, it has given her daughter a chance to make new acquaintances in the area and has exposed her to yet another side of American life.

Because the Rodriguez family will be leaving for Venezuela soon, and since it may be two years before they return again, the remaining weeks of their visit will be spent in a family-orientated way. Mr. Rodriguez's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stoll, formerly of Chelsea, will be among relatives to be visited or called before the family leaves.

"Chelsea is like our home away from Venezuela," Mrs. Rodriguez explained. "In fact, my mother's family, the Barr family, was originally from Chelsea." Although she now lives thousands of miles from Chelsea, that gives Mrs. Rodriguez and her family an unchallenged place in Chelsea's future, as well as its past.

Local Woman's Aunt Has 100th Birthday

"I received a birthday greeting from President and Mrs. Jimmy Carter," said 100-year-old Mrs. Carrie Carrico of Freelandville, Ind., aunt of Mrs. Herbert Paul of Chelsea, "but you know, he never even sent me a peanut," she added mischievously.

According to her niece, Mrs. Paul, of 152 E. Summit St., Mrs. Carrico is deeply interested in politics and is an avid fan of President Carter. She reads newspapers daily and also keeps up on local and state news from her residence in the Freelandville Community Home.

An open house for the alert and spry centenarian was held on her birthday, Aug. 21, at the Freelandville Community Home. Mrs. Paul traveled to Freelandville last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yocum of Pontiac to participate in the reunion. Yocum is a nephew of Mrs. Carrico.

"More than 200 people attended the open house, counting the children," Mrs. Paul related Tuesday, following her return. Among them were relatives from California, Colorado, Missouri, Florida, Carlyle, Ind., Evansville, Ind., and Indianapolis, Ind., according to Mrs. Paul.

"Carrie looks so well," she continued. "She has no complaints of backache, headache, stomachache—nothing." Mrs. Paul added that her aunt has no sight or hearing problems either, two health problems that are generally the first to affect the elderly. Mrs. Carrico said her only "spell of sickness" was when she had the measles at age 20.

Mrs. Carrico's line about the peanut prompted a rather unusual gift Sunday. "She was presented with a big, artificial peanut at the open house," Mrs. Paul said. "It made her laugh." Another gift came from the State of Indiana, Mrs. Paul recalled. "It was a plaque in the shape of the state, with the state seal on it. You have to be 100 to get it."

Born in Freelandville on Aug. 21, 1877, Mrs. Carrico is the only living child of John and Lena Drieman Yocum. One of her brothers and the father of Mrs. Paul, was also a centenarian. "He died in 1971, 10 days after he celebrated his 100th birthday,"

Mrs. Paul said. "That makes two in the Yocum family who lived to be 100, quite a remarkable phenomenon, wouldn't you say?"

The former Elsie Yocum, Mrs. Paul, 75, has apparently inherited her father and aunt's healthy constitution. An active life seems to be their secret to longevity. "I'm now going into my 33th year as a babysitter," Mrs. Paul declared. "I must be the oldest babysitter in town," the neighborhood "grandma" concluded, smiling.

Bruce J. Spencer Granted Masters Degree at WMU

Bruce J. Spencer, a 1937 graduate of Chelsea High school, received his master of arts degree in inter-personal communications during commencement ceremonies at Western Michigan University, Friday evening, Aug. 19. He was awarded his bachelor's degree from WMU in 1971.

Now employed as an in-patient alcoholism therapist by Borgess Hospital in Kalamazoo, Spencer has worked in the alcoholism treatment field since 1972. Prior to assuming the duties of a hospital therapist on Aug. 22, he had been director of the Kalamazoo County Alcohol Highway Safety Program.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Spencer of Westland, and formerly of Chelsea, Spencer and his wife, Susan, currently make their home in Kalamazoo. Mrs. Spencer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Liebeck.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The Citizen's Advisory Committee has worked since last January to evaluate the school programs and this led to our continued support of the requested millage increase which was finally approved by the voters. This millage increase was needed to bring about the improvements that our committee recommended to the board. We did not exist only to increase millage and now that the millage has been increased, our work goes on.

The board's response to our lengthy and somewhat critical report was very positive. Immediately after the certification of the millage election of Aug. 15 the Board of Education began plans to make more of the improvements we recommended. (Many have already been accomplished.) We have a new high school principal and a reorganized school board. Our committee plans to wait until these people have had time to make the necessary improvements in the operation of our schools, and then we will meet again in January to get an update of progress from the Board of Education. We will publish the date of the meeting and once again invite the public to join with us. As always, we welcome people in the community who would like to serve to improve their schools. A new chairman will be elected at that time and the follow-up responsibilities will go on and on as needed.

The future plans mentioned above are part of what I consider necessary action by concerned citizens and the other thing that concerns me is the need for the people in our community to become better informed. Our committee will undoubtedly continue to work in this regard, and the school board has pledged to publish a regular newsletter to all of us. While the millage increase was approved, it was by a relatively narrow margin, indicating that nearly half of the people who vote at school elections do not understand and/or support our educational program. While most of us object to this method of financing schools, most people can find other ways to protest that than by depriving our students of an adequate education.

One success that the Citizen's Advisory Committee can claim has much greater future impact on the passage of the millage request. That success is the involvement of many more citizens in school issues, than have been involved in past years. Record numbers of people came out to express themselves and that meant the community has an increased awareness and interest in our schools.

If any readers wish to serve with our committee, they may contact me at 475-1870 and give me their name. They will receive an invitation to our next meeting. During seven months of hard work I was very much impressed with the dedication of the members of our committee, particularly the subcommittee chairpersons.

It was also impressive to see the deep concern of our Board of Education and administrators. Further, the teachers and other staff members were fantastic and gave much of their time to all of these projects.

While it appeared that some battle lines were drawn, the conclusion, thus far, has to be that every citizen and every student is a winner. Not only will we have an acceptable program in the coming year, but continued efforts by all concerned are going to result in further improvements to a new higher level of educational quality at a fair and reasonable cost.

Walter F. Hamilton, Jr.
Chairman
Citizen's Advisory Committee
For Better Schools

To the Editor:

The year is 1877; these are modern times. We have a U. S. Constitution guaranteeing us the right to vote, petition, recall and impeach. This constitution is meant to give us these rights without the threat of reprisals. I am absolutely appalled at the idea that signing a petition (which only gives us a chance to vote again) against our township supervisor could result in unfair tax assessments. And yet, some of our township residents are really afraid of this.

I sincerely hope that this or any kind of reprisal does not occur. And I am glad to see that the Citizens Committee for the Recall of Robert D. Musolf is aware of this problem and trying to take preventive action. After all, voting is a constitutional right, a privilege and a guaranteed freedom. Surely the township tax assessor (and supervisor) is not above the U. S. Constitution.

Nancy Burkhalter.

Editor Chelsea Standard:
"Well they say three strikes and you're out. The school bond millage finally passed. Are we going to sit on our backsides and let Cameron and Mills light up their pipes and puff it away or is the public going to stand up and be counted. All the voters who voted yes should have a say in how to spend it. All the no voters should see that they keep on their toes. Senior citizens, drop in the schools some noon hours and watch the little darlings throw food. Watch them break the chairs, rip the drapes off the windows. Parents, drop in also, if you can tear yourself away from the bowling or the cocktail lounge. Let the school babysit—we did it all summer . . . get them out of the house in the morning so you can have a ball. I personally think some clubs should be formed to see just what does go on in the schools. Please don't drop in the rest rooms, the kids need a smoke. Don't drop in the teachers lounge, they need a smoke also. Form some PTO organizations . . . or PTA. Have some parents drop in to the school different times of the day, to see just what does go on. 'Almost Anything Goes in Hell' Contest Set Sunday

On Sunday, Aug. 28, from noon until dark, teams from Dexter, Pinckney, Brighton, Fowlerville, Hamburg, and Stockbridge will compete in the second annual "Almost Anything Goes in Hell."

The teams have been busy preparing for the six events (Tarzan Race, Hop Skip and Crawl, Tippy-cane and Fishie Too, and the Beer Run), and are ready for a challenging day of unusual sports competition.

Team captains are as follows: Rich Giberson, Dexter; Art Grigg and Linda Foda, Pinckney; Terry Rudinski, Brighton; Steve Cherny, Fowlerville; Gary Lade, Hamburg; and Dennis McMoran, Stockbridge. Other events include a Senior Citizens Flea Market, a Beer Run, a Tarzan Race, a Hop Skip and Crawl, a Tippy-cane and Fishie Too, and a Beer Run. Admission is free and parking is 75 cents.

There will be no charge to senior citizens who wish to set up their own booths in the flea market. Anyone else interested in participating in the market may rent a space in advance by sending $5 to Dick Hower, 1648 M-36, Pinckney 48169, or by paying $7 the day of the event.

Refreshments will include beer, hot dogs, sweet corn, popcorn, watermelon, and more. Those interested in setting up a refreshment stand may reserve a space by sending $10 to Dick Hower or by paying $7 the day of the event.

There will also be a dunk tank, in which it is hoped some mayors may participate as dunkees. Ronald McDonald balloons will also be on hand.

All profits collected by the Jaycees of each of the six participating communities will go to the National Institute of Burn Medicine. The organizers hope that many other organizations will participate and raise money for their own groups.

A national leader in plant research, Michigan State University is the site of the research facility supported by the U. S. Energy Research and Development Administration.

EXPANDED FACILITIES: With the 1977 corn crop booming, Honeggers & Co., Inc., plans to have all work on its two-year expansion project completed by harvest time. In the forefront of the photo above, construction is still in process on a new storage bin that will be used strictly for corn. The bin will accommodate up to 100,000 bushels of grain. Other new units already installed are a 12'x50' grain dryer, in the center of the photo, a wet holding bin, somewhat obscured in the photo, and a 10'x40' grain dryer. Added to the grain company's existing cement silos, these new units will bring the storage capacity at Honeggers to 350,000 bushels of grain. Cost of the project has been estimated at $250,000.

Honeggers Expands Plant Grain Capacity

Honeggers & Co., Inc., located at 11800 Dexter-Chelsea Rd., is in the process of completing a two-year expansion project that will give the local grain buying company a 350,000-bushel storage capacity when done. Total cost of the project has been estimated at $250,000.

no place to put grain," Heydlauff explained. Most of Honeggers' business comes from farmers in the Chelsea, Dexter, and Munnich areas. A few farmers from Manchester complete its clientele. When the expansion project first began, Honeggers had a total of three cement silos for grain storage. A wet holding bin to house grain dumped by farmers bringing it from their fields was put in last summer and is capable of holding 9,400 bushels of grain. Next to it is a 10' x 40' grain dryer, also completed last year, that can process 500 bushels of grain per hour. Another new grain dryer flanks both of these units. This 12' x 50' dryer is nearly 100 percent automated and was set up as a complete unit this year. It is capable of drying 900 bushels of grain per hour. A new, all-steel storage bin, now in the final phases of completion, rounds out the expansion project. Added strictly as a corn bin, the storage unit will be able to hold 100,000 bushels of grain. Stan Morgan Construction of Albion is the expansion project contractor. Even with the increase in facilities, Heydlauff noted that all storage space has "already been spoken for this year and is gone," at Honeggers. "We even have a waiting list," he added. "That's because this has been an exceptional year for corn, yield-wise." A fairly new business in the community, Honeggers took over the former Blaess Elevator Co. in 1970. The grain buying firm employs a 15-member full-time staff which it increases with part-time help during the harvest season.

Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) and the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS) have begun operating a new program, known as the Section 8 Rent Allowance Program, which will be available to 72 families in Washtenaw county. The Section 8 program will be administered through the County DSS office. The program is designed to aid people who need help in meeting shelter costs. Geared to the low and moderate income families, or working poor, the Section 8 program will allow a family to pay no more than 25 percent of the family income for rent and utilities, while MSHDA will pay the balance of the shelter costs directly to the landlord. A family accepted for the program may remain in its present home or seek new housing, but to meet program requirements, the housing unit must be inspected by DSS and found to be decent, safe and sanitary. In addition, the total cost of the rent and utilities must fall within the Fair Market Rent guidelines set by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Eligible tenants will be selected on a first-come first-served basis. Applications will be accepted beginning Aug. 22, at the Washtenaw County Department of Social Services at 120 Catherine St., Ann Arbor. Contact person for the Section 8 program will be Steve Schuster at 994-2963.

MSU Researchers Bounce Insect Data Home Via Satellite
East Lansing—A 23,000-mile trip to a satellite, a bounce to Virginia, a short hop to a Maryland computer and then, via telephone lines, back to Michigan is the shortest distance between a Michigan farm field and a Michigan State University scientist's lab. Though it sounds roundabout, it seems to be the most economical way to give farmers and pest management experts a critical edge in the battle with crop-destroying insects. Out in the field in a sealed steel drum is an array of temperature sensors, a computer and a radio, all powered by a battery and solar-powered charger. Every three hours, the stored data are transmitted to the distant satellite and the computer in Maryland. The data can then be plugged into a series of computer simulation models to more accurately predict emergence and growth of insect pests and estimate crop conditions around the state.

Mill Lake Nature Center Will Open

The Mill Lake Nature Center at Waterloo Recreation Area will officially be opened for public use, Saturday, Sept. 10, at 1 p.m. Area residents are invited to visit this new facility and participate in an open house which will be held by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources at that time.

Approximately five years ago the Department of Natural Resources made a concerted effort to upgrade the quality of the outdoor education and interpretive program within its state park and recreation areas. Plans were made for the construction of several major nature center complexes within several state parks.

One of the areas selected for the development of a new nature center complex was the Waterloo Recreation Area, which includes a wide variety of natural ecosystems representative of the resources found in the southern portion of the state.
