Ideal Weather For Saturday's Fair Parade

With hundreds of spectators lining both sides of Main St., the Chelsea Fair Parade got underway shortly after 1 p.m. Saturday when Police Chief George Merano's patrol car emitted a short horn blast and rounded the corner of Middle and Main Sts., in full view of the waiting crowd.

Although rain had been predicted, skies remained clear throughout the hour-long event, and warm temperatures combined with bright skies to produce perfect marching conditions.

This year's Grand Marshal was Jack Packard, accompanied by his wife, Eulalie. The Chelsea Fire Department sponsored the float which climaxed the last day of the five-day Chelsea Community Fair.

Seven awards were presented to the most outstanding floats entered in Saturday's parade. Judging entries were Paul Alber of Manchester, Darrell Trotter of Ann Arbor, and Donna Palmer of Dexter.

Among the adult floats, first place went to the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home for their float "Life's Worth Living," a banner on the side of the float carried three key words, "Loving, Learning, Serving," and riding on the float were four Methodist Home residents depicting an artist, musician, nurse and clergyman.

Second-place winner in the adult division was Chelsea Co-Op Nursery, while the Chelsea Kiwanis Club's "Friendship through Service" entry received third prize.

In the youth division, top honors were bestowed upon the Senior Class float. "So Into the Future" was the theme of the winning entry and it was decorated with a space-age motif. As the float passed down the street, a cloud of smoke and confetti shot out in short bursts from the rear. A silver-painted automan, like "Star Wars" R2D2, kept the Senior Class queen candidate company on the float.

"Wonderful Class of '80," the sophomore class entry received runner-up honors in the youth division. The float had a Disneyland theme, with walking Disneyland characters flanking the float on either side. Coming in third was "Today's Bud, Tomorrow," the Terrific Tailors 4-H group float, while finishing in a tie for fourth-place were floats entered

Conklin Barely Misses Cut in Golf Tourney

Dave Conklin, of 893 McKinney, Chelsea's only entry in the Michigan Open golf tournament, Aug. 18-21, was eliminated in the second day of the tournament when he fell only three strokes behind the 153-stroke cut-off in preliminary rounds. Conklin shot a 156.

"One or two holes just got away from me," Conklin said following his performance at Bedford Valley Country Club in Battle Creek. He carded a 36 on the first nine holes, and a 43 on the second nine for a 79 in the first day of play, returning Friday, Aug. 19, to produce a score of 77.

Conklin was anything but discouraged by his elimination from the state golfing tournament. He is already anticipating next year's contest, in which he said he "hopefully will do better."

Mark Policht of Chelsea caddied for Conklin in the Michigan Open while Jim Szamecki, owner of Schumm's Restaurant in Chelsea, sponsored the golfing ace.

Sylvan Meeting On Goals Rescheduled

Only 15 township residents appeared at Sylvan Township Hall Aug. 22 to take part in a public meeting to discuss goals to be used in revising the township's General Development Plan, leading Supervisor Don Schoenberg to postpone the discussion until Sept. 12. He cited inadequate publicity of the meeting in the week prior to Aug. 22 as the reason for his action.

The Sept. 12 meeting will also be conducted at Sylvan Township Hall, beginning at 8 p.m. Copies of development plan goals may be obtained by township residents in advance of the meeting from Clerk Daniel Murphy.

"We want to provide the Township Planning Commission with a guideline in preparing the general development plan and in making future township development decisions," Murphy explained in describing the purpose of the meeting.

"Our emphasis will be to control the growth of the community in a logical way, preserve farmland and natural resources, and put properties that do not currently conform to their zone, into their proper zone."

One issue expected to headline the forthcoming debate will be a discussion of the rezoning of recreation-conservation properties.

Last year, proposals to redistrict several recreation-conservation parcels to agricultural met with citizen protest, which in turn led to the formation of the Cavanaugh Lake Area Taxpayers Association. The group reorganized as the West Sylvan Citizens Council in February of this year.

Smoke Detector Award

Mrs. Phyllis Harook, of 1281 Guinan Rd., was the winner of a new home smoke detector, in a contest sponsored by the Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary during the Chelsea Community Fair. Her name was announced Saturday, Aug. 27, by new Jaycee member Brad Messing.

Klink presented the winning bid of $2 per pound to buy the animal during the Aug. 24 livestock auction at the Chelsea Community Fair.

4-Wheel Drive Pull Draws Huge Crowd

A crowd of thousands gathered at the fairgrounds arena Saturday night to witness the 4-Wheel Drive Speed Pull competition during the final night of the 1977 Chelsea Community Fair.

A total of 83 vehicles were entered in this year's event, thrilling spectators with their performances until well past midnight.

Taking top honors in the 3,000 lbs. and under class were Mike Moore with a first-place finish, and Doug Mills in the runner-up spot.

Winners in the 3,001 to 3,600 lbs. class were Pat Hickey, first; Henry Yockens, second; and Paul Mays, third.

In the 3,601 to 4,200 lbs. class, Michael Sadler claimed the number one spot with Donald Lambirth close behind in second place. Finishing at the top of the 4,201 to 5,000 lbs. class were Scott Powers, first; Doug Welshans, second; Tyler Butler, third; and Dave Curtis, fourth.

Ed Wade led the field in the 5,001 to 5,600 lbs. class, followed by Don Frinkly, second; Doug Egeler, third; and Larry Christian, fourth.

Two divisions were featured in the open class with J. Bokan and T. Burnett placing first and second, respectively, in the 3,600 lbs. and under division; and M. Vincent, R. Lupp, T. Ledford, and C. Walters, sweeping the field for first, second, third and fourth, respectively, in the 3,601 to 5,000 lbs. division.

Phil Klink Wins Demolition Derby

A standing room only crowd estimated at between 12,000 and 13,000 people by one Fair Board member, filled the grandstands at Chelsea fairgrounds to witness the annual Chelsea Community Fair Demolition Derby Thursday evening, Aug. 25. Sixty-nine cars were entered in the competition, 14 more than last year.

"People traveling along I-94 heard about the derby on their CB radios and got off the highway to watch the event," one woman attending the crash bash reported. "I know that's true because a few of them were standing right behind me."

First-place over-all winner was Phil Klink of Chelsea, while Rita Aebersol captured runner-up honors.

Old Tractors Just Keep On Pulling

"There were really a lot involved, and they sure did a lot of pulling," a Fair Board member commented following last Thursday's annual Antique Tractor Pull at the Chelsea fairgrounds.

Competitors were spread across three divisions, with a total of 52 tractors entered in the event, an increase of 10 over last year's participation figures.

Winners of the lightweight class, for tractors 4,000 lbs. and under were Harold Haeussler, 1st; Tim John, 2nd; Doug Trinkle, 3rd; Jim Brady, 4th; Alice Wahl, 5th; and Larry Wildt, 6th.

In the middleweight division, for tractors between 4,001 and 4,500 lbs., the top finishers were Steve Trinkle, 1st; Dennis Trinkle, 2nd; Eugene Wahl, 3rd; Carol Luckhardt, 4th; and Jim Robertson, 5th.

Of those entered in the heavy weight division, for tractors weighing more than 4,500 lbs., the five winners were Robert Pyle, 1st; Wayne McCalla, 2nd; Bryce Flynn, 3rd; Jeff Layher, 4th; and Don Bollinger, 5th.

Stock Auction Shatters All Fair Records

All previous auction records were shattered Wednesday, Aug. 24, in the sale of livestock at the 1977 Chelsea Community Fair. As bids for the 1977 Grand Champion Lamb climbed to a market high of $4.40 per pound, the long standing record of $4 per pound, the price paid for the 1974 Grand Champion Lamb, was finally buried.

Diane Bareis was the owner of this year's 131-lb. Grand Champion Lamb which sold to Manchester Locker for the $4.40 per pound record price. Steve Grau's 129-lb. Reserve Champion Lamb, next to cross the block, was bought by Wahl Oil Co. at $3 per pound. Matt Grau's Grand Champion Pen, which weighed in at 350 lbs., then sold to Honeggers Feed for $1.60 per pound, while Kirk VanNatter's Reserve Champion Pen went to Frisinger Realty at 90 cents per pound for the 303-lb. lot.

The top hog price went to Debbie Harrison for her 235-lb. Grand Champion individual, purchased by Klink Excavating for $2 per pound; Scott Powers' 237-lb. Reserve Champion individual brought $1.10 per pound from Robert Bauer Builders; Debbie Harrison's Grand Champion Pen, with a total weight of 222 lbs., was sold to McCalla Feeds for 75 cents per pound; and Scott Powers' Reserve Champion Pen went for 65 cents per pound for the 251-lb. lot, paid by Thornton Real Estate.

Heading this year's selection of steers was Sue Heydlauff's 1,120-lb. Grand Champion, purchased by

New Records Set in Friday Tractor Pull

Record-breaking percentages were chalked up in the regular tractor pull during the Chelsea Community Fair last Friday, Aug. 26. Near 60-degree temperatures, coupled with perfect pulling conditions at the fairgrounds arena, helped produce winning hauls for 25 entries in the 165-tractor line-up.

Four divisions were featured in the competition, which began at 10 a.m. Some 17½ hours later, at 2:30 a.m. Saturday morning, the final set of wheels were spun, and the event drew to a close.

Throughout the pull, judges used a "sliding scale" to determine the number of prizes to be distributed in each division. The scale was based upon the number of entries in each category.

In the 4,000 lbs. and under division, five awards were presented with Floyd Reithmiller pulling a record 470 percent for the number one spot and an all-time Chelsea Fair record. He was followed by Ron Ackles, second, 447.4 percent; Steve Kuebler, third, 432.6 percent; LaVerne Walz, 370.8 percent; and Steve Eldred, 335.3 percent.

Another record setting performance was delivered by Dennis Finkbeiner, first in the 1,001 to 6,000 lbs. class, who pulled a total of 426.3 percent. Second-place winner was Jim Hartman with a 436.4 percent pull over a distance of 40½ inches, while Vic Mann pulled 436.4 percent over a distance of 30½ inches for third place. Other finishers were Larry Henes, fourth, 421.7 percent; Merle Allen, fifth, 416.7 percent; Steve Loveland, sixth, 372.8 percent; and

FIRST PLACE, YOUTH DIVISION: Taking space-age theme, Sue German, senior class fair queen candidate, rides near the quarter moon accompanied by two members of her court and an automan similar to R2D2 from "Star Wars."

RATED NUMBER ONE in the adult division of Saturday's float judging contest during the Chelsea Fair Parade, was this float built by Chelsea United Methodist Home residents and announcing "Life's Worth Living" as its theme. Yellow and white paper napkins decorated all sides while the floor of the float, edged with garden flowers, presented three roads named "Loving," "Serving," and "Learning." The Rev. Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Clem Webster has talked himself into going along with just about everything new the Federal Government has come up with since the New Deal. So Republican Ed Dootittle wanted to know would the real Clem stand up Saturday night at the country store. Clem started off the session by telling the fellers that somepup's got to be bad out of whack when moss-backs like Ed start making sense. Recent, Ed had reported where the interest on the national debt today is as much as the entire Federal budget 25 years ago, and Ed had said we have come to a dangerous pass when a feller running fer governor can promise "not to spend money we ain't got," and the papers jump on a statement like that the way they would a way to make eggosine out of sea water. When plain horse sense is the exception instead of the rule, Ed had told the fellers, we're in trouble. That was this report he saw on his all-time favorite Government agency, the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Clem said this account of what the USDA was and what it is brought him to realize he could be wrong in thinking that if a little government is good a lot is wonderful. He said the USDA started in 1862 with nine people, a $64,000 budget and the job of getting seeds to farmers. Today, Clem reported, the department has 81,000 employees and spends $15 billion a year on everything under the sun but what farmers and ranchers need. Fer instant, he went on, last year, USDA spent $9 billion getting food stamps to jest about everybody but farmers, and the $700 million it spent fer research went fer projects like telling Kentucky Fried Chicken about the chicken market in Japan. Most of the 6,000 pamphlets was on such matters as how to clean bathrooms and what to do with your big game kill.

Actual, Clem said, less than 10 per cent of what the USDA does has anything to do with the man on the land, and that is the department's own figure. Most of the work of the agency is fer "agribusiness," which Clem allowed is a word fer outfits big enuff to hire people to find out what services are offered at public expense and then to milk em fer all they're worth. One Congressman said the USDA has "created a capital intensive, technological farm industry," which Clem claimed is a fancy way of saying there ain't no room in it fer the little operator. It ain't no wonder, Clem said, there are 12,000 fewer farms this year than last, and more than 570,000 fewer folks on farms in this country. But they ain't USDA figures, he reported, cause the department comes up with new meanings fer farms and farmers every year. The way the rules are now, if a farmer can't make a go of it, he jest never was a farmer. That way when he quits the farm he ain't counted as a loss. It ain't how you play the game, declared Clem, it's who gets to make the rules. That's why we don't have no poor little farmers in this country no more.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Aid To Elderly Going Slowly
Michigan's elderly have responded slowly and rather sparsely to offers of federal aid to help them pay off high heating bills. State officials extended the deadline for applying for the aid by one week, to Aug. 22. Original estimates were that 150,000 to 200,000 low-income persons 65 or older would apply for and get the aid, totalling $12.2 million in Michigan. But as of the deadline date, Aug. 15, only about 55,000 to 60,000 persons had applied and been found eligible for the money. Meanwhile, another 90,000 applicants were rejected mainly, officials, because they did not meet the age requirement. Officials are puzzled by the response to the program, by the few senior citizens who applied, and the many non-eligible people who did. Some guess the elderly are too proud to accept help, too proud to be ashamed to admit they let bills unpaid or too alone to understand the applications or fill them out.

The younger people who applied are just hopeful, officials speculate, that they might be included in the program.

Under the nation-wide program, 200 million is being distributed to help soften the blow of winter's high heating bills.

In Michigan, officials decided he elderly needed help most. Under the plan, persons who pay their bills religiously get $40 as a partial compensation for their extra heating expense.

But more aid would go to those who left bills unpaid or whose service was cut off because they could not meet the payments. The state will, under the program, pay up to $250 in overdue bills, as long as the utilities agree to accept service for the customers.

Yet, officials say, many senior citizens whom they know to have overdue bills did not indicate that on their applications, even though it would mean more aid.

Others, they said, wrote on their applications that they were eligible but thought the money should be sent to someone more needy.

Blues Controversy Heats Up
Charles Chomet was a little known member of the Michigan Blue Cross Blue Shield corporate board until he was kicked off it in July.

Now, Chomet has become the central figure in a power struggle between the Blues board and state Insurance Commissioner Thomas Jones. The key question is whether the board has the power to veto anyone Jones names to the board, and if it does have the power, whether it should ever exercise it.

Chomet, who served on the board since 1974, was reappointed in July by Jones to serve a second term. But his fellow board members, angered by some of his public criticisms of Blues management, rejected his reappointment by a secret vote of 41-30.

That stunned Jones and sparked bitter criticism of the board action by him, the United Auto Workers and several consumer groups that earlier had paid little attention to the state's largest health insurer.

Now, the state attorney general has gone to court to try to keep Chomet on the board and Jones has resubmitted his name to the board, hoping it will change its mind.

Even if Chomet is not returned to the board to represent the interests of those who pay health insurance premiums from their own pockets, the controversy may have its benefits.

It has brought to the public attention the Blues policy-making procedure. Jones hopes that resulting public pressure on lawmakers will make it easier this fall for him to win approval of legislation to add more consumers to the Blues board and force its decision-making into the open.

Chomet, who served on the board since 1974, was reappointed in July by Jones to serve a second term. But his fellow board members, angered by some of his public criticisms of Blues management, rejected his reappointment by a secret vote of 41-30.

That stunned Jones and sparked bitter criticism of the board action by him, the United Auto Workers and several consumer groups that earlier had paid little attention to the state's largest health insurer.

Now, the state attorney general has gone to court to try to keep Chomet on the board and Jones has resubmitted his name to the board, hoping it will change its mind.

Even if Chomet is not returned to the board to represent the interests of those who pay health insurance premiums from their own pockets, the controversy may have its benefits.

It has brought to the public attention the Blues policy-making procedure. Jones hopes that resulting public pressure on lawmakers will make it easier this fall for him to win approval of legislation to add more consumers to the Blues board and force its decision-making into the open.

Now, Chomet has become the central figure in a power struggle between the Blues board and state Insurance Commissioner Thomas Jones. The key question is whether the board has the power to veto anyone Jones names to the board, and if it does have the power, whether it should ever exercise it.

retirement accounts

UPDATE

All deposits can earn 7¾% (effective annual rate 8.03%) for three years or more. You pay no income tax on deposits or interest until retirement.

You can open an IRA or KEOGH Retirement Account with as little as $1.00 and add to it throughout the year.

Now, one easy to understand passbook will contain all of your retirement transactions.

Our tax deferred retirement accounts are now better than ever because you can earn the big 7¾% rate on all deposits. This means that anyone who is self-employed or not covered by any other retirement plan can make deposits throughout the year of $50, $100 or whatever, and earn 7¾% interest from the day of deposit. You don't have to wait until you have accumulated $1000 or more to earn our top rate. So your money earns more, you will have more at retirement, and your monthly retirement income will be greater. Total deposit for the year, of course, is still limited to 15% of earned income, or a maximum $1500 with IRA, and $7500 with KEOGH.

You pay no income tax on your deposits to IRA and KEOGH nor on the interest earned until your retirement at which time you will probably be in a lower tax bracket. Withdrawals can be started at age 59½. Withdrawals prior to age 59½ are subject to substantial penalty as required by federal regulations.

To simplify your record keeping, we now provide you with just one passbook, colored green for growth, and all deposits and interest are entered in it. You can trade in your present passbook for a new one now at any AAFS office. For complete details, stop in any Ann Arbor Federal Savings office, or call 769-8300.

Hospital Volunteers Plan Sept. 9 Mystery Sale

Chelsea Community Hospital Volunteers, a 40-member group which donates countless hours of service to patients and hospital staff at the local health facility, is currently planning several fundraising projects in support of the hospital.

Having pledged funds to the hospital's Care Campaign, the group will conduct a "Mystery Sale," Sept. 9, at the Longworth Plating building, with all proceeds to be used in helping to fulfill its campaign pledge. The Care Campaign was established several months ago by the hospital to finance its purchase of the recently owned surgical building.

"We are proud of the fact that Chelsea has such a fine hospital, and we are dedicated to the preservation of its quality," hospital volunteer Mikred Tuoc said in announcing the goals of the group.

Prior to the program, a potluck dinner was served. Then the business meeting was called to order by the hostess, and the minutes of the last meeting of the group were read and approved. The treasurer's report followed.

A letter to Phoebe Circle members from the Heart and Hand House in Philippi, W. Va., was read to the group. In the letter administrators of the Heart and Hand House expressed appreciation for Phoebe Circle's continued contributions.

Prior to adjourning, circle members discussed many future events of interest to their group.

Next meeting will be Sept. 21, p.m., with Ruth Circle, in the Crippen Building at the apartment complex of Chelsea's United Methodist Retirement Home.

The United States Treasury's 3rd War Loan Drive will start Thursday, Sept. 3. Chelsea's quota in this drive is $325,000, which is much larger than the quota assigned the village in the 2nd War Loan last April. Henry C. Schneider is chairman of the Chelsea War Bond Committee.

Have you seen the rotund president of the village, Al Mayer, attempt to steer a mule around the base paths? Or have you seen stately Paul Schaeble riding a bale of hay to catch a pop-fly? These things and many more will be on display at the donkey ball game at the athletic field Wednesday night.

The Chelsea branch of the Red Cross has been asked to make 30 property bags. When finished, these bags are 11" x 14" and are used by soldiers to store personal belongings while they are in the hospital. Material for the bags may be obtained from Mrs. A. L. Steger.

"What's cooking?" In Michigan

by Carl B. Olson
Michigan Dept. of Agriculture

This is a great time of year to be writing about Michigan fruits and vegetables. It's harvest season and markets are overflowing with produce fresh from the fields.

Among my late-summer favorites are peaches. I really miss them when they are not available. Incidentally, Michigan is usually around 50th in production among the 50 states, with the crop running between 40 and 60 million pounds annually, says the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

A great fruit for just eating out of hand, peaches are also versatile in the kitchen. One intriguing dessert, my wife and I have prepared is Michigan Caramelized Peaches.

Peel six or seven peaches and cut into thick slices. Put them aside in a colander for about two hours to allow excess juices to drain. They'll darken a little but it doesn't matter.

Place the fruit in a deep plate, leaving at least 1 inch of space above the peaches. Now whip 1/2 cups of Michigan Grade A heavy cream until thick. Add one tablespoon of vanilla and continue beating until the cream is very firm.

Spread the whipped cream over the peaches and place the dish in the freezing compartment for two hours.

Here's the interesting part. Pre-heat the broiler and sprinkle 1/2 cups of brown sugar over the top of the whipped cream. It should be not less than one-half inch thick and should completely cover the cream. Place under the broiler no more than 4 or 5 inches from the heat, and broil for 2 or 3 minutes, or until the top is not and crunchy. Needless to say, serve at once.

Dave Helber, seventh, 381.6 percent over a distance of 24 inches; and John Weidmayer, eighth, 381.3 percent over a distance of seven inches.

Six place-winners topped the 8,001 to 9,000 lbs. division. Mark Weidmayer led the field with a 357.1 percent pull. Behind him were Tim Gross, second, 323.0 percent; Steve Finkbeiner, third, 319.0 percent; Harold Haussler, fourth, 317.8 percent; Tom Zens, fifth, 287.0 percent; and Ken Payeur, sixth, 277.0 percent.

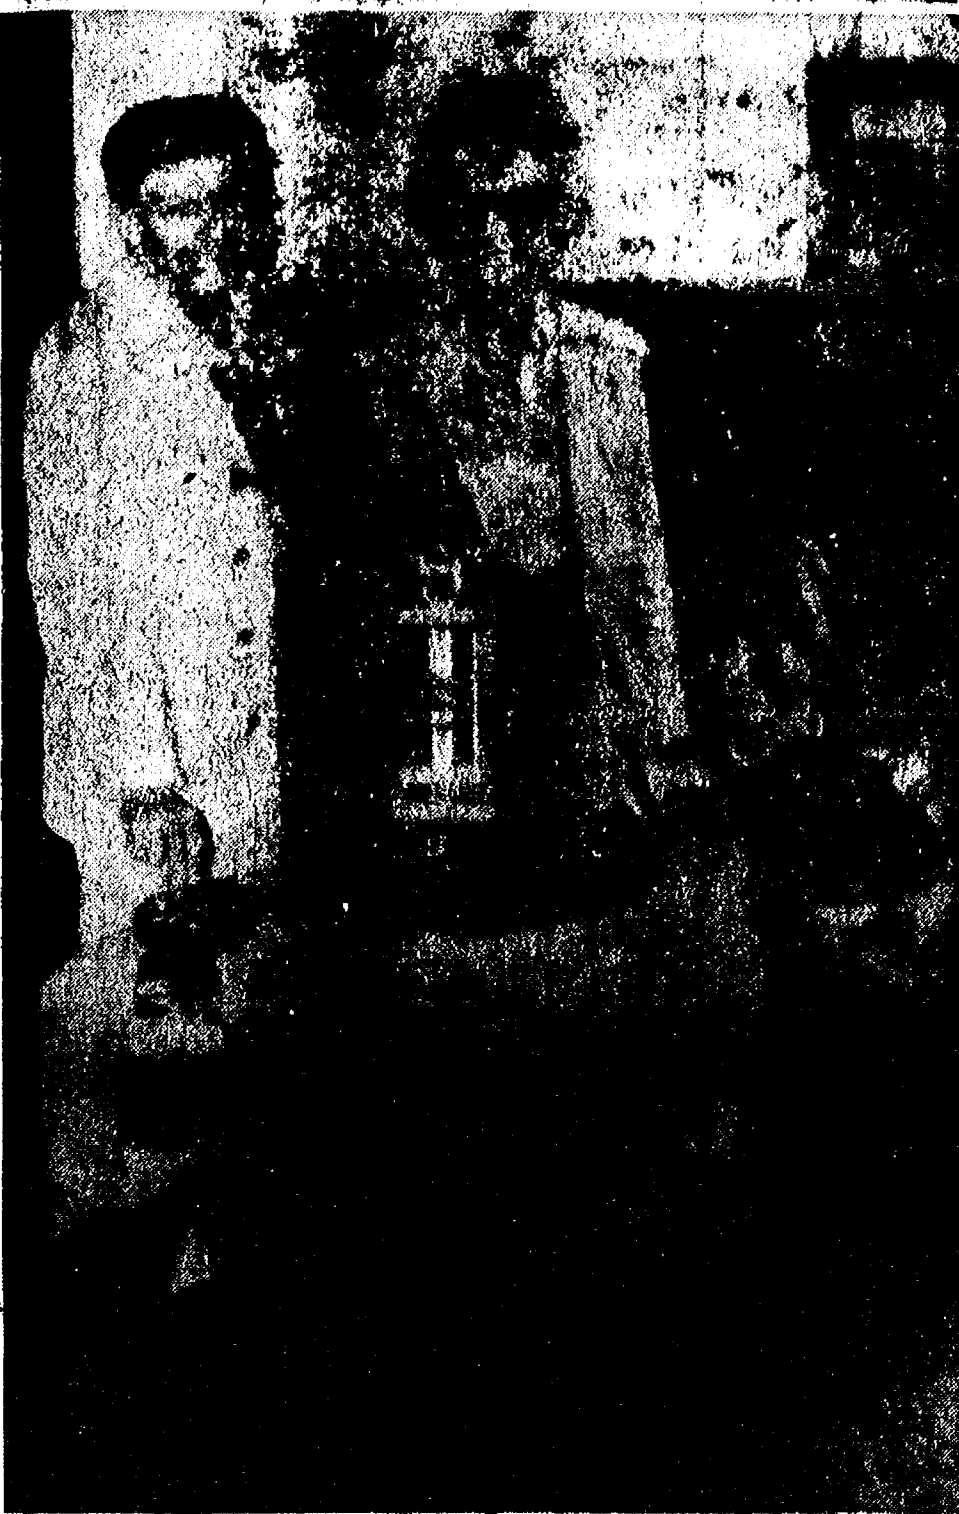

Capping the action were several closely contested battles in the 9,001 to 14,000 lbs. class. Winners in that division included Buck Naebeck, first, 327.0 percent; Richard Jedele, second, 294.0 percent over a distance of 22 inches; Harold Haussler, third, 294.0 percent over a distance of 18 1/2 inches; Dennis Huehl, fourth, 294.0 percent over a distance of 13 1/2 inches; Don Blumenhardt, fifth, 294.0 percent over a distance of 4 1/2 inches; John Bihlmeyer, sixth, 294.0 percent; Don Lancaster, seventh, 276.27 percent; and Dan Schaible, eighth, 275.97 percent.

Fair Floats...

by the freshman class and Chelsea's FFA. Slogan of the freshman float was "We're on Top of the World," a theme carried out by a huge decorative globe on the platform of the float. The FFA float boasted of "50 Years of FFA" and featured a miniature farm scene complete with a barn, silo, and stalks of wheat.

Other highlights of this year's parade were antique cars from the Village Historic Vehicle Club of Dexter, each with the motto, "Let the Good Times Roll," five trucks from the Chelsea Fire Department; the Zal Gaz Grotto Drum and Bugle Corps from Ann Arbor and Dale Fisher's helicopter with Snoopy at the helm, and a sign on the back of the trailer which read "Caution Low Flying Aircraft." After the helicopter finished the parade route, it was taken up into the air, circled back, and brought up the tail of the parade.

DIANE RAREIS smooths the curls on her 131-lb. Grand Champion lamb while the Manchester Locker Plant buyers, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, hold up the trophy and rosettes for prize-winning animal. A longstanding record was broken when this year's Grand Champion was auctioned off at an all-time new high of $4.40 per pound.

THIS RESERVE CHAMPION LAMB, owned by Steve Grau, right, weighed in at 129 lbs. during livestock judging at the Chelsea Community Fair last week. Holding up the rosette awarded to Grau to commemorate his win is Jerry Herrick of Wahl-Ohl Co., which purchased the animal for $3 per pound.

PIONEER GIRLS: Inscribed on the pages of the open book at the back of this float are the words, "The Lord is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." Sponsored by the Pioneer Girls, the float further displayed the words, "We have a Christ in every phase of our lives." The float was one of many to roll down Main St. Saturday during the Chelsea Fair Parade.

FFA Members Successful in Fair Projects

Premiums for the baby animal display were based on the baby animal's first place and so on. They were also based on the baby animal's weight.

Those who donated animals to the FFA for the baby animal display were Gary Bollinger and Dan Trinkle, calf; Shane Brown, Keith O'Neil, Linda Weidmeyer and Elizabeth Drouare, rabbits; Dan Jones and Debbie Harrison, chickens; Dan Trinkle, Chris Cherry and Karen Steinbach, goats; Cindy Welshans and Porky Hatley, pigs; Debbie Harrison, mare and foal; Dan Grau, lamb; Dawn Jones, Bill and Bob Schlee, and Mark Stapish, ducks.

During the five-day event last week, FFA members faced a livestock barn and the Red Building with their exhibits, sold home-made preserves from a booth every night, and rounded off their performance by entering a float in the Fair Parade Saturday.

VARIOUS FARM IMPLEMENTS, stalks of wheat and corn, a brimming silo and a big red barn decorated the fourth-place Future Farmers of America float in Saturday's Chelsea Fair Parade.

TERRIFIC TAILORS: "Today's Bud, Tomorrow's Blossom," was the theme of this float entered in Saturday's Chelsea Fair Parade by the Terrific Tailors 4-H Club. The float took third place in the youth division. The flowered arch at the back of the float hails Nancy Heller, member of the 1977 Fair Queen Court. She was sponsored in the fair queen pageant by Frisinger Realty.

KIWANIS CLUB FLOAT: Winning third place in the adult division of last Saturday's parade, judging during the Chelsea Fair Parade was this mobile monument to "Friendship Through Service," entered by the Chelsea Kiwanis Club. Gracing the float is the Kiwanis Club's fair queen candidate, Mary Stoll.

Neil Cockerline Will Attend Alma Orientation Sessions

Neil G. Cockerline of 66 Cedar Lake, will be among 250 Alma College freshmen who will arrive on the mid-Michigan campus Saturday, Aug. 27, to begin an 11-day Pre-Term Orientation-Seminar Program. Subjects to be discussed and studied by the students will range from ancient chemistry to body language and PBB.

Altogether, 13 small-group seminars form the optional program that affords new Alma students an opportunity to enjoy a comparatively informal introduction to college life while sharpening their study, research, writing and speaking skills.

Of the 13 Pre-Term seminars on the Alma schedule this fall, seven are one-credit courses which meet entirely during the 11-day period prior to the regular beginning of the college's academic year. Cockerline will be enrolled in the one-credit "Survey of Dance Forms" seminar, which is designed to acquaint students with folk, social, jazz, ballet and modern dance. The course involves discussion, research, films and dance experience.

During the orientation period, Cockerline and other Alma freshmen will also be introduced to the college's career preparation program, which integrates liberal arts education with career planning and counseling to help students develop entry-level work skills. Each student who elects to participate in the program works with a career preparation advisor to prepare a plan for the development and evaluation of his or her personal career interests.

Proficiency examinations, course selection for the Fall Term and a variety of activities including dances, games, picnics and sessions to provide an acquaintance with student life and college traditions will round out the orientation program at Alma.

Cockerline is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cockerline.

Linotype Revolutionized Printing

Ottmar Mergenthaler revolutionized the printing industry with his invention of the linotype machine on Aug. 28, 1884. Before his creation all type had to be hand-set, a slow, time-consuming process. The linotype allowed printers to set entire lines of metal type in seconds, letting the printed word reach more people at a cheaper cost. The Communications Collection of Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, has a wide assortment of Mergenthaler's machines on exhibit, as well as other examples of printing machines and presses.

Nancy Dickerson, prominent national correspondent, reports for Detroit Edison:

"See how homes winning Detroit Edison EEE Awards are built to save on energy costs from top to bottom."

Detroit Edison is a concerned participant in America's crusade for conservation. The wise use of energy is a national goal, but it requires a working relationship between those who supply energy and those who use it. To demonstrate publicly the desire to take a leadership role in this crusade, Detroit Edison has established the Energy Efficiency Excellence (EEE) Award to encourage the building of more energy-efficient homes.

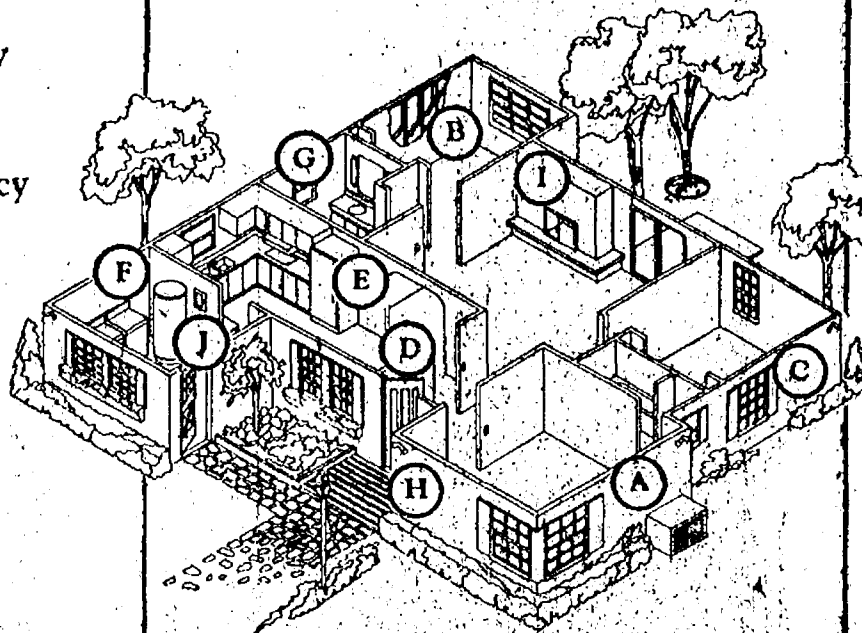

EEE Award homes are designed with conservation in mind.

Detroit Edison presents the Energy Efficiency Excellence (EEE) Award to builders whose homes meet maximum standards in insulation, lighting, wiring, appliances and are comfort-conditioned with an energy-efficient electric heat pump.

From attic to basement, EEE Award homes are designed to keep your heat inside during winter and your utility costs down. These same features also make EEE Award homes easier to cool in summer. The heat pump that keeps EEE Award homes comfortable all year round is an efficient way to heat, cool, filter and dehumidify electrically.

If you're planning on buying or building a new home, take a look at the Detroit Edison EEE Award homes. These homes will help you conserve energy and keep your operating costs at rock bottom.

Detroit Edison EEE Award homes must meet or surpass the following standards:

- A. Energy-efficient heat-pump heating and cooling system which conforms to design and installation standards established by the electric utility industry.
- B. Maximum insulation including R-17 material in exterior walls, R-44 in attic, and fully insulated basement walls with an R-13 value.
- C. Windows with wood sash and insulating glass or single glass with full storm. Or aluminum sash with thermal break and insulating glass or single glass with full storm.
- D. Exterior doors with foam core and magnetic seal.
- E. Refrigerator and freezer must be energy-efficient if provided by builder.
- F. Water heater is energy-saving type, located as close as practical to point of use. Hot water lines wrapped in insulation are recommended.
- G. Interior lighting that conforms to the Illuminating Engineering Society standards for energy efficiency in residential lighting.
- H. Exterior security lighting, if provided, has automatic dusk-to-dawn control.
- I. If home has a fireplace, it must have a tight-fitting damper and glass screen, and if practical, an outside fresh-air supply.
- J. Materials, equipment, design and construction of all electric devices and wiring must comply with all local and national codes.

If you're interested in finding out more about energy-efficient living, call these builders. They'll be happy to give you more details about the benefits you enjoy in EEE Award homes.

Yes, you can make your present home more energy efficient.

Detroit Edison's Home Insulation Finance Plan is designed to help you bring your present home up to today's energy-saving standards. Ask about it at your Detroit Edison Customer Office. Here are other things you can do to help conserve energy and also save money: Put up storm windows and doors; Check weatherstripping and caulking; Dial down in winter and dial up in summer; Lower furnace fan settings; Keep electric appliances in good repair. That way, we'll all be using energy more wisely.

Pick up a free copy of "Planning a New Home" at any Detroit Edison Customer Office. Or call Detroit Edison for more information.

Conserve for all it's worth. The power is in your hands.

Pamphlet Offered To Help Layman Read Prescription

When you get a prescription from your physician do you try to figure out what it says so you can do some comparison shopping? If you know exactly what the name of the drug is and the strength, you can compare prices at different stores before having your prescription filled.

To help you do this, the Food and Drug Administration has a free reprint from its magazine, the FDA Consumer. For a copy of Reading Prescriptions, send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 687E, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

The form of medication (if there's a choice) will be indicated by an abbreviation such as "cap" for capsule, or "tab" for tablet. Liquids usually are denoted as "el" for elixir, or "sy" for syrup, or "sol" for solution. The dosage is usually listed in metric measures, such as "50 mg." meaning 50 milligrams. The physician will indicate the total number of pills or volume of liquid medication. Refill information will probably be indicated in an abbreviated form, such as "refill 2x." That means you can get the same amount of the drug two more times without getting a new prescription.

The only place where Latin is still used is in the directions for use.

Reading Prescriptions (free) is one of over 200 selected federal consumer publications listed in the edition of the Consumer Information Catalogue. The catalogue is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration. You can get a free copy by sending a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

RESERVE CHAMPION HOG: Scott Powers, left, and Robert Bauer of Robert Bauer Builders stand over Powers' 235-lb. Reserve Champion Hog at the fairgrounds last week. Soon the rosette in honor of his win will be Powers' only memory of the hog which sold to Bauer for $1.10 per pound.

Merchants Advance to State Championships

In an eight-inning thriller, Aug. 24, the Chelsea Merchants Fast-Pitch team swung from behind to uproot East Jackson Lounge, 4-3, and take the men's Class C Regional softball title.

As a result of the victory, the Merchants have advanced to the State Championships for their second consecutive year. Eight teams will be featured in the double elimination tournament, Sept. 2-5, in Frankfort, Ky.

Anticipating tomorrow's tournament opener, at 7:30 p.m., team manager Dick McCalla said the Merchants are "determined to win."

"Good defensive play has been the key to our success," he continued in analyzing his team's performance this season.

However, the Merchants' eight-inning win over East Jackson Lounge demonstrated they are equally agile on an offensive footing. In the game, the Merchants trailed Jackson, 3-2, in the bottom of the eighth after Jackson scored a run in the top of that inning to break a 2-2 deadlock.

"Ralph Steward singled, John Houle doubled and Tom Ballistrere was hit by a pitch to load the bases," McCalla began as he explained how the victory was achieved. "Then, Al Cohen came to bat, singled, and knocked in the two winning runs." Cohen was also the winning pitcher.

PATTI SCHUMANN, freshman class queen candidate, is taken to the fairgrounds in style as she rides the prize winning freshman class float with two members of her court in the Chelsea Fair Parade last Saturday. With the theme "We're on Top of the World," the float tied for fourth place in the youth division with the FFA entry.

"WONDERFUL CLASS OF '80" was the theme of this year's sophomore class float in the Fair Parade last Saturday. The float, which took second-place in the parade judging contest, featured a replica of the Disneyland castle and came with walking Disneyland characters on either side. Riding on the float is Tracy Cattell, sophomore class fair queen candidate and members of her court.

SOME BENEFITS OF AGE

If you want more house for your dollar, you have good cause to look over older houses. But there are other good reasons for shopping the old ones too.

For one thing, there are simply more old houses than new ones. For every new house that will go up this year there are some 45 existing homes already on the market.

Many older homes, especially those built before World War II, offer more abundant space than new homes do — a special attraction if you have a large and growing family, but a limited budget.

Most old homes are in well-established, well-developed neighborhoods. There will be no waiting for streets to be paved, sewers to be connected or schools to be built. All that is going to grace the neighborhood is probably already there, so that worrying about the future will have been done for you already.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at FRISINGER REALTY CO., 935 S. Main St., Chelsea. Phone: 475-8681; evenings 475-2621. We're here to help!

Safety Award Given To Fresh Air Camp

Eight members of the Honeggers & Co., Inc., Chelsea mill personnel Friday donated their $800 outstanding safety record reward to the University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp, located at Patterson Lake, near Pinckney.

In a special ceremony at Inverness Inn, the Chelsea mill employees, Jerry Heydlauff, Carol Breuninger, Willie Sisco, George Pickell, Terry Ellenwood, Tom Wacker, Joe Bauer and Don Fillingham, presented the Fresh Air Camp with a plaque to commemorate the donation.

Signed by the eight employees, the plaque stated that "having achieved an outstanding safety record during the fiscal year 1976-77, the employees were 'proudly' donating their reward to the U-M Fresh Air Camp in the interest of furthering public safety."

Lima Petitions Filed With County Clerk

"We expect that an election will be set by the Washtenaw County Elections Committee within the next 60 days," C. R. Pavitt, chairman of the Citizens Committee for the Recall of Robert D. Musolf, said this week. His statement came after petitions asking for the recall of Lima township's supervisor were filed Aug. 25 with County Clerk Robert Harrison.

Harrison has 15 days from the filing date in which to certify the petitions. If this is done, an election date must be set within 60 days of the certification date. The first step in the recall drive was successfully completed less than two weeks ago when Lima Clerk Arlene Bareis verified that at least 157 of the 234 signatures on the recall petitions were those of registered township voters.

At a meeting of the recall committee in July, several Lima residents stated their intention to volunteer their time in running the recall election if the petition drive progressed to that point, while others volunteered to cover any election costs in excess of the $1,000 figure budgeted by the township for use in special elections.

According to Pavitt, eight reasons supporting the recall of Supervisor Musolf were listed on the committee's recall petitions. They include that "by his own admission, Supervisor Musolf has done nothing for the township; he has violated the state constitution by assessing real property over 30 percent; he has shown favoritism to some and bias to others in his assessing practices; he refuses to work constructively with other board members and appointed committees for the benefit of the township; he lacks integrity in dealing with people; he consistently distorts and stretches the SAFETY AWARD WINNERS: With safety on their minds, this line-up of Honeggers & Co., Inc., Chelsea mill personnel Friday presented their $800 reward for having achieved an outstanding safety record during the fiscal year 1976-77, to the University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp in the interest of furthering public safety. A plaque accompanied the donation to commemorate the event.

He would be awed by the vast gains made by labor through the years. Labor's demands have not always been easily negotiated. Clashes between management and labor have been frequent, sometimes violent. Fortunately, calmer influences in recent years seem to be taking hold.

Apart from wages, most problems deal with unemployment and productivity. The unemployed include thousands of willing, capable workers who want — and deserve the chance to work. And the problems of productivity cause as many, if not more headaches for management than any other point of dispute. The economic problems facing labor and management are complex. Can We Help Pay Your Rent?

The Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) and the Michigan Department of Social Services (DSS) have begun operating a new program, known as the Section 8 Rent Allowance Program, which will be available to 72 families in Washtenaw County. Section 8 provides money to help people pay their rent. The part of the rent you pay each month will be determined by your family's income and the number of people in your family. However, the amount you pay each month for rent, heat, and utilities will not be more than 25% of your adjusted monthly income.

A family accepted for the program may remain in their present home or seek new housing, but to meet program requirements, the housing unit must be inspected by DSS and found to be safe, decent, and sanitary.

In addition, your rent must not be higher than HUD approved Fair Market Rent limits.

Eligible tenants will be selected on a first-come, first-served basis. Applications will be accepted beginning August 22, 1977 at the Washtenaw County Department of Social Services.

Mac Packard's 1942 fire truck shuttle service to the fairgrounds during the Chelsea Community Fair was discontinued prematurely last Thursday after an 11-year-old boy was injured in a fall from the antique vehicle. The truck had been loaned to Packard by the Chelsea Fire Department Association after the engine in his own 1939 fire truck expired.

Recovering from a skull fracture and head concussion suffered in the fall is Jimmy Weber of 100 E. Summit St.

According to reports of the incident, Weber was riding in the truck, which was transporting young children from the fairgrounds to downtown Chelsea on northbound Main St. at about 4:30 p.m. As the vehicle passed the intersection of S. Main and Summit Sts., passengers in the truck overheard Weber say that he was going to jump off because this was his corner.

However, upon looking down to the street from his place in the truck, the youth observed the distance was too great to attempt a jump. He also noticed a car following the truck, and because of his fear that the car might hit him when he landed, he decided not to risk the leap.

At this point, several conflicting reports have been given. Some witnesses state the youth actually did jump, while others state he lost his balance and fell. After the fall, he landed on the pavement, striking his head.

Lucy E. Platt, 57, of 15631 Waterloo Rd., Grass Lake, was driving the truck and stopped immediately. Packard, who was riding on the back of the truck, helped flag down a passing ambulance and the child was transported to Chelsea Community Hospital for emergency treatment.

According to police reports, Packard failed to see Weber jump or fall because his head was turned in another direction.

After being released from Chelsea Community Hospital, where his injuries were termed minor, Weber was taken by his parents to University Hospital in Ann Arbor where his injuries were re-diagnosed. He remained hospitalized for 24 hours, was then released, and is now at home.

Saline Man Injured By Assailant at Fair

A 38-year-old Saline man was injured late Friday evening by an unknown assailant at the Chelsea fairgrounds after the two allegedly became involved in an argument.

Recovering from blows directed at his face is Jerry Helmer, who witnesses say was playing a side-show game on the midway of the Chelsea Community Fair at about 10:30 p.m. Friday when the assault occurred.

According to witnesses, Helmer and his assailant were arguing and then began wrestling. The unknown man picked Helmer up by his legs and slammed him to the ground.

After Helmer struck the ground, his assailant began beating him in the face with his fists. When a crowd gathered around the attack, the assailant and two companions fled out of the west gate at the fairgrounds.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

After reading Nancy Burkhalter's letter of Aug. 23, I find it necessary to try to clear up the innuendoes and distortions published in the Aug. 18 article by Wallace Fusilier's Recall Committee. Mr. Fusilier knows reprisal action by a Tax Assessor is not possible and for him to allow other members of his committee to make such a statement is typical of his actions in this township.

If reprisal action were possible, I, too, would share Nancy Burkhalter's concern when she states she was glad to see the Recall Committee trying to take preventative action. I have to say I am sorry they fooled her with their implications that they were being helpful when, in fact, they were being slanderous.

The truth is this. The law makers set up a check and balance system of the whole assessment procedure. They wrote the law requiring the Township Board to appoint three people from the township to serve as a Board of Review. The present Board of Review was appointed by Wallace Fusilier, Leila Bauer, Jean Tili, Harold Gross and Robert Musolf. The Board of Review is Harold Trinkle, Betty Messman, and Marv Schiller. It is the responsibility of the Board of Review to approve or disapprove all changes made by the assessor. If they disagree with his assessment they raise or lower the valuation as they see fit. They also make changes on property values that the assessor did not change. Mr. Fusilier knows this total procedure.

Mr. Fusilier should apologize to his committee members and all readers of The Chelsea Standard and Dexter Leader for not informing them they served his usual purpose of distorting the truth for the people of Lima township. He should also apologize to the Board of Review members for allowing the implication they would not do their job.

To all the people of Lima township: By law you have the right to know how your property has been assessed. The supervisor-assessor has a card that gives full description of your property and how the value was determined. He has a card on every piece of property in the township. You have the right to see your card and any other card in the township.

If you have any reason to want to know about your assessment or believe you have not been assessed fairly, you owe it to yourself to contact Supervisor Musolf and review it with him. Don't guess, don't speculate, and don't believe what other people tell you. Find out for yourself. Go see him and know the truth. In conclusion, a personal note to Wallace Fusilier: Thank you for missing the last board meeting they accomplished considerable business without your assistance. Raymond Nusca.

Editor,

Hats off to Mrs. Colby, the first person vocal enough to speak out since the bond issue was solved. I would add that I would rather see PARENTS in the halls of our schools than POLICEMAN as Arm Arbor and other communities have had to turn to as alternatives.

I wonder how many people are aware that the first thing the school did was buy brand new football uniforms? Did we need them? Could we have just replaced a few? I think this athletic association is just another social club, headed by a chosen few.

Parents beware, you are being sold another bitter pill that is going to be hard to swallow. Heed the advice now, tomorrow is too late. Get involved in the school system. You have the right to enter the school any time you wish, as taxpayers. Be vocal, "the noisy wheel gets the grease," scream so that it will get someone's attention. It's up to you if you care about your kids!

Bill Jefferson.

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the 1977 Chelsea Community Fair horse division. Each year that I have shown my horse there, it has deteriorated and this year has not been the fault of the superintendent, Jeanne Botsford and Andy Ford; they did a beautiful job, and I can't blame them for leaving one bit. I don't think I could have put up with the board even that long.

This year it was a combination of both the Fair Board and their "chosen" superintendent, Merle Sibley. I am very disappointed that a man like that would let his duties slip like he did. He was only in the barn a few minutes a day and then it seemed as if it was a chore for him to be there. The other couple that was helping Merle do his job, were a very nice, and helping couple, Otis and Mary Armstrong. If you needed them for any reason they were right there to help. Thanks again.

The horses did get a new barn

Former Chelsea Girl Fights Forest Fire

Jill Steward, a 1973 graduate of Chelsea High school, was one of seven specially trained timber fire fighters from the Fillmore Ranger District, sent to combat the 175,000-acre Marble Cone fire in Big Sur, Calif., which began in late July. Miss Steward is currently employed as a range technician at Fish Lake National Forest, Calif.

Ignited by lightning, the Marble Cone fire raged for 18 days, burning out brush and trees in Los Padres National Forest in the scenic Big Sur country, before finally nearing containment. The destruction included rare Santa Lucia firs and other plants not found elsewhere. Also destroyed was two-thirds of the Ventana Wilderness Area.

At a cost of $10 million, an army of nearly 6,000 rangers surrounded the fire with a 160-mile long zone of ground that had been scraped clean to the soil.

Fire boss Myron Lee said this containment of the Marble Cone blaze meant the fire line was complete but did not mean the flames were out. "We still have a lot of work to do in widening and strengthening the line," he explained at that point. "There are always a few areas inside the fire line that will continue burning for a few days."

Lee said Marble Cone was fought under "extremely adverse conditions." The terrain was so steep, bulldozers could not be used in most areas, and the fire lines were created by crews working by hand. The California fire is one of several to hit major forest preserves in the drought-stricken American West this summer.

Miss Steward, whose summer job as a ranger is scheduled to end soon, will return this fall to Southern Utah State College, where she is majoring in forest-range management.

Driver Ed Program Starts Sept. 7

this year, but it was very much needed.

The horses are constantly being pushed aside for someone or something else. Two nights in a row the horses had to be stalled 2 and 3 hours early (Thursday at 5 p.m. and Friday at 4 p.m.), which means the next time that they could be exercised was the next morning. Friday they were stalled because the Fair Board decided to run the tractor pull through the dinner hour, which was supposed to hold the horse shoe pitching contest. Instead they held the pitching in the horse exercise arena.

The Saturday Horse Show, started at 9 a.m., rested at 12 noon and was supposed to restart at 2:15 p.m. after the parade but instead they had English Jumping practice which delayed the show until 3 p.m. That caused a lot of problems. There were 16 more classes that had to be finished at 7 p.m. sharp so that the 4-wheel drive pull could start exactly on time. The horses had to cut two races completely out and run two others completely different to save time for the precious pull. We paid $2 per class with no paybacks and get treated like that. I think it's a pretty lousy way to run a horse show.

I've shown at the Chelsea Fair 3-4 years, so I'm not a newcomer to the shows. We worked on our horses getting them ready for weeks and have to put up with that trash. I personally won't be back next year unless some drastic improvements are made for the horse division.

Bette-Jo Parks.

LEADING THE FAIR PARADE: Members of the Chelsea High School Band were at the forefront of last Saturday's Chelsea Community Fair Parade, filling the air with a harmonious euphony of sound. Like a group of Pied Pipers they led marchers and floats down the mile-long parade route to the fairgrounds. With standards waving in the winds, the color bearers neatly executed their routines while continuing their march. An even-lined brass, wind and percussion section brought up the rear. Watching the marchers steps is band director Steve Bergmann.

Korean Children To Present Program at Immanuel Church

The "Children of Promise," six beautiful Korean girls, all sponsored through Compassion, Inc., are currently touring the United States and Canada, presenting joyful programs of music and native pantomime. Compassion is hosting the tour in celebration of its 25th anniversary, as an expression of thanks to its many faithful sponsors and supporters.

The girls are between 11 and 13 years old and were chosen from Compassion children's homes and Family Helper Projects in Korea because of their talent and love of music. During the 4½-month tour they will give approximately 100 unique and inspiring performances for churches, schools, and other community groups. The girls will be accompanied by their director, Miss Cha Soo Jung, who sang the lead role in "Choonhay-gun," a typical Korean folk opera which had successful performances in Seoul and Pusan.

It is appropriate that Compassion's 25th anniversary celebration feature Korea, for it was here, during the Korean War, that this ministry to suffering chil-

Father To Stand Trial On Kidnapping Charge

The father of a former South school student was ordered to stand trial in November on a charge that he forcibly kidnapped his son from the Chelsea school yard in 1976.

The ruling was made last week by Circuit Court Judge Edward D. Deake on a motion by Robert P. Siegel that the kidnapping charge against him be dismissed.

The 43-year-old Siegel was arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in Caldwell, Kan., south of Wichita, last September, after a two-month, nationwide search.

Siegel is accused with seizing his son, David, 8, from the playground at South school on July 14, 1976, and fleeing with the child in a car. At the time, Siegel was under a Washtenaw Circuit Court order forbidding him to see or contact the youth.

The child had been placed in the custody of the Friend of the Court's office by Circuit Court Judge William F. Ager, Jr., who ruled at the time that neither Siegel nor his divorced wife were capable of caring for the boy. The youth was placed in a foster home in Chelsea and was participating in a summer recreation program at South school when witnesses say he was seized.

The elder Siegel's motion for dismissal, filed by Assistant Public Defender William Reckshan, II, argued that only a parent who has lost his rights to a child by the child's being legally adopted by another, can be guilty of kidnapping his own offspring. Reckshan cited two cases to support this contention.

But Deake rejected the argument, responding that in both cases cited, the defendants found no guilty had been acting as agents for the father of the child when they made off with the minor. Neither case involved a court order or decree awarding custody of the child to anyone other than the father, Deake noted.

The jury trial for Siegel on the kidnapping charge has been set for Nov. 23, with a pre-trial conference scheduled for Sept. 29. The defendant is currently free on bond.
