New students who are unfamiliar with the building may go to the school office where there will be many persons on hand to help children.

Beach Middle school students, grades 6-8 will report to the cafeteria at 8:50 a.m.

High school students will report at 8:55 a.m. in the gymnasium. During this meeting, a comprehensive "Parent-Student Guide" will be given to each student which contains not only the school rules and regulations but much information on various situations. In previous years the book has simply contained the regulations. Included in this year's book are the complete athletic schedules, instructions on how to inform the school of a student absence, either short or long term, radio stations to listen to for weather emergencies, and other pertinent information. Students will have a chance to read the pamphlet Wednesday morning and ask questions. They are encouraged to show their parents or guardians the book also to help familiarize themselves with the various procedures.

As last year, there will be three full-time counselors at the high school although the person who will be replacing the retired Mrs. Dorothy Conlin has not yet been announced by the Board of Education. Mrs. Sue Carter will work with students whose last names begin with A-G and Chris Dimanin will work with last names beginning with R-Z. The new counselor will handle last names beginning with H-Q.

Counselors handle academic and career guidance matters with students although personal matters may be handled by the counselor of the student's choice.

New enrollees should be registered before the first day of class and may do so by calling 475-9131 for further information.

Arthur Faber Dies When Hit By Auto

Arthur W. Faber, a life-long resident of Chelsea who was often seen riding his bicycle up and down the streets of town was struck by a car and killed Thursday evening, Aug. 24, according to Chelsea Police reports.

Faber was walking home from the fair on Old US-12 when the accident occurred shortly before 9 p.m. "He was walking west on Old US-12 when he was hit from behind," Police Chief George Meranuck stated.

Driver of the car was Carol D. Van Riper, 27, 18374 Bush Rd., Chelsea. According to Meranuck she was driving west on Old US-12 and failed to see Faber walking about two feet from the edge of the road in front of her car.

"There were no witnesses who actually saw the accident," Meranuck said, "but an east-bound driver on Old US-12 has said that he saw Mrs. Van Riper's car swerve into his lane." Both drivers stopped at the scene of the accident, and an ambulance called. He was pronounced dead at Chelsea Community Hospital.

The office of Washtenaw County Prosecutor Lynwood Noah will not be prosecuting the case because of insufficient evidence, Meranuck said.

FIRST-PLACE WINNER in the adult category is the American Business Women's Association float which was the first float to pass down Main St. in a long line to follow. Dark-haired and beautiful, Queen candidate and first runner-up Sally Vaughn carries a bouquet of fresh flowers while more fresh flowers lay at her feet. Depicting a graduation theme, the float bears the ABWA pledge "Scholarships For Education" on its sides while a giant yellow-flowered diploma is wrapped with a brightly colored ribbon.

Parade Float Winners Judged

One of Chelsea's greatest crowd pleasers, the Fair Parade, poked its flowered, music-filled head around the corner of Middle and Main Sts. Saturday only minutes after the clock struck one.

Hearing the wail of Police Chief George Meranuck's siren, latecomers scooped their children into their arms and ran to beat the band. Meanwhile, looking as bright and colorful as the floats, clowns, and wrapped candy tossed in the air, awaiting spectators watched the parade unfold, led by Parade Marshal Reuben Lesser, Sr., under perfectly clear skies and a welcome breeze.

Sponsoring the annual event which marks the last day of the near week-long Chelsea Community Fair was the Chelsea Fire Department, winners of the Fireman's Waterball contest for the sixth consecutive year.

Four awards in the adult division and four in the youth division were awarded by judges. In the adult division, American Business Women's Association took first-place for their float depicting a graduation theme. Queen candidate and the first runner-up Sally Vaughn rode the flower laden float which featured a huge yellow diploma.

Chelsea Methodist Home captured second-place in the adult category with eight home residents representing a variety of personalities and themes from 1905 to 1973. Sitting on bales of straw was the 1900 gentleman in the top hat; a little-old lady, 1920's flapper; modern and old-fashioned Girl Scouts; and the energetic back-packer of the 1970s.

Third place went to the Chelsea Kiwanis Club whose float was pulled by the CATS bus. Riding on top were queen candidate Marcia Warren along with two children, one dressed as a Boy Scout and the other outfitted for Halloween.

Steinhauers Near Top In National Ski Meet

Marty Steinhauer, 12, of Chelsea placed second over-all in the 36th annual National Water Ski Championships junior boys division at Tivoli, Brighton, Aug. 23-27.

Achieving this rank of second best in the country in his division, Marty jumped 95 feet, scored a 2-at-22-off in the slalom, and gathered 12,090 points in the tricks event.

While Marty was seeded No. 1 in the jumping and slalom events, he placed third in jumping and fifth in the slalom in the junior boys division. Still, his over-all accumulation of points earned him the No. 2 position.

Also competing in the prestigious event was 11-year-old David Steinhauer who qualified to ski in the slalom and placed eighth with a 2-at-15-off.

Both boys did make us very proud; but I think it would be fair to say that we're ready for a vacation from skiing until next year," Mrs. Steinhauer said.

Tractor Pull Draws Total Of 115 Entries

Both the number of entries and the percentage of weight pulled were considerably lower than last year's regular Tractor Pull but it would take some doing to convince anyone that those who participated didn't enjoy the competition.

115 light, medium and heavy weight tractors lined up at 10:30 a.m. on Friday and commenced pulling.

In the 4,000 lbs. and under category, Dennis Trinkle captured first prize for pulling 455 percent, followed by Floyd Reithmiller with 376 percent and Ron Rogers with 372 percent.

Winners in the 4,001- to 6,000 lb. division were Dan Schaible, first, pulling 339 percent; Dennis Finkbeiner, second, with 349 percent; and Duane Kuebler, third, pulling just behind Finkbeiner with 349 percent a-l-o.

'Bert' White Dead In Alaska Air Crash

A former Chelsea resident, Edward F. "Bert" White, 58, of Sitka, Alaska, is believed dead after the twin engine plane he was flying in crashed just outside of Ketchikan, Alaska, Friday, Aug. 25, according to his family.

"We were just informed by the Coast Guard in Alaska that they have discontinued their search for the missing bodies," his mother, Mrs. Bert White of Chelsea, stated.

There were 10 or 11 persons on the plane who were returning to Sitka from Ketchikan on official Federal government business. Mr. White worked for the National Forest Service since 1969 when he moved from the Upper Peninsula to Sitka.

"The Coast Guard found four bodies but were unable to find anymore," Mrs. White said.

A memorial service will be held on Sunday, Sept. 3 at the Chelsea United Methodist church. An exact time has not yet been set. Mr. White's wife, Elvie, and son, Robert, will be flying in to Detroit from Sitka for the services as will his daughter from Idaho, and other relatives.

Mr. White was in Chelsea last summer to celebrate his mother's 90th birthday.

He had lived most of his life in Chelsea and worked for Federal Screw Works at one time.

11-YEAR-OLD ANNE FARRELL is the 1978 winner of the Grand Champion Steer which weighed in at 1,235 pounds during the Chelsea Community Fair. Holding Anne's trophy is Fair Queen Julie Botsford who stands next to Paul Fite of Ann Arbor Centerless Grinding who purchased the steer for $1.90 a pound. Anne's steer also won first-place in the heavyweight division. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Farrell of Dexter.

Quick Action Averts Train-Truck Wreck

Quick thinking on the part of an employee of the Washtenaw Farm & Garden Center, 3515 Central St., narrowly averted a major collision involving a fast-moving passenger train and a heavy lumber truck at the Central St. railroad crossing Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 22, according to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Deputies David Salley and Susan Ledford of the Dexter substation were summoned to the scene at 2:30 p.m. after a flatbed truck belonging to the Chelsea Lumber Co., 305 N. Main St., Chelsea, being driven by John William Storey, 20, stalled while crossing the railroad tracks and refused to start. By the time they got there, according to the report, the vehicle was being towed off the tracks by a truck from the Washtenaw Farm & Garden Center with James William Carberry at the wheel.

Deputies said that no sooner had the stalled truck been removed than the warning lights were activated and an Amtrak passenger train came speeding through the crossing.

Ballot Proposals To Be Pushed

Concentrated attempts for compromise ballot proposals will be the schedule of the legislature when it reconvenes after Labor Day.

Governor William G. Milliken said he will continue to push for final legislative action on both a property tax proposal and a statewide transportation package.

However, when the legislature reconvenes on Sept. 5, it will have only four days—until Sept. 8—to pass joint resolutions for constitutional amendments to qualify them on the November ballot.

Milliken said he and Republican leaders will work for getting a legislative property tax proposal on the ballot to act as a companion to the Headlee tax limitation amendment.

Republicans in the legislature, along with Richard Headlee, chairman of the Taxpayers' United for Tax Limitation, will be working toward the approval of HJR "J" which gives taxpayers the option of shifting a portion of local public school support from the property tax to a local income tax.

The governor also said there is support and bipartisan agreement between legislative leaders and civic leaders, that action on a transportation plan should be completed during the first four days of the session for placement on the ballot.

Meanwhile, Gov. Milliken joined the growing list of officials opposing the "Tisch" amendment which would cut property tax assessments in half, limit the amount of assessments that could increase each year and limit an income tax increase to make up lost revenues.

He said the amendment might actually increase taxes for senior citizens, renters and businesses. The amendment could also seriously curtail necessary state services, the governor concluded.

Data On Blues Rate Hike

Barring further court action, government took another giant step toward openness and the public will now be able to see materials collected by both the Michigan Citizens Lobby and the Attorney General's office regarding Blue Cross-Blue Shield's requested $58 million rate hike.

A restraining order has been lifted which had been placed in 1977 against the Insurance Bureau releasing information on its rating structures.

When Attorney General Frank J. Kelly and the Citizens Lobby intervened in the rate hike, they asked the materials in the case be made public. When the Insurance Bureau ruled the restraining data public, a series of court cases followed.

Last week Ingham county Circuit Judge Michael G. Harrison, who issued the original order, said it does not apply to a contested hearing under the administrative procedures act. Carolyn Stell, the hearing officer for the Bureau, then ruled the materials can go public.

Paul Parker of the Citizens Lobby staff, said everything received by the group relative to the rate request will be made available for public scrutiny. The lobby has data amounting to a four-foot high stack of paper, he said.

The hearings into the rate request, originally scheduled for Aug. 21, will be delayed until both sides have an opportunity to file their cases. If no further court action is necessary, the hearings could start around Aug. 28 or early September.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

During the session at the country store Saturday night, the fellows were talking about man being the most endangered species of all. Ed Doolittle does the heavy thinking for the group, and it was him that reminded us that for all the money we spend trying to keep the dirt snails, the whooping cranes and all the other plants and animals from going the way of the appendix and the dinosaur that man is the only animal on the face of the earth with a sure-fire plan to become extinct overnight.

What got Ed started was what he's been reading in the papers about what's going on while the SALT detente, jet plane diplomacy and international cooperation of every other kind have been grabbing the headlines. On the inside pages, Ed said, what we have come to nod at as the harmless-looking r.m.s. buildup has been with us always. Ed said he saw a chart in a magazine recent that gave a breakdown between us and the Russians of the numbers of airplanes, ships, troops, and warheads of all flavors. He took note that the only place the United States is ahead right now is total blowing-up power, and this is where we can't be sure how the other side is doing.

For instant, Ed reported, we talk about our nice new bomb that just kills people real good, but it don't tear up real estate. It's got all the modern conveniences where we can control pretty well how many people we kill with it. We know the bad guys have got this little item too, but we don't know how well they're stocked.

Clem Webster didn't argue with Ed's weekly wrapup of the international scene, except to remind everybody that the Russians probably are giving their readers the same reason to keep on building bombs. And they have the advantage Clem went on, of not giving a hoot what the rest of the world thinks about what they do and say. Just the other week, Clem said, Russian courts found two American reporters guilty of libel for telling the truth, and they sentenced two of their own people to years in Siberian salt mines for the same crime. That Government believes in equality, it shuts up everybody without regard for anything, was Clem's words.

Speaking of the Russians, Zeke Grubb got off the doomsday topic by reporting where they now are claiming to be the first to do a inside loop. Zeke said he took that to mean in a airplane, but you can't take nothing for granted with them boys. Actual, Zeke said, the first recorded inside loop in history was performed in 1916 in Kansas USA on a kitchen door during a cyclone. Zeke said we got to claim em when we got em.

Turning to other items dealing with world's most endangered species, Bug Hookum was happy to report that in Spring Grove, Ill. fat now is going for $4 a pound. Some years back a plant that works 900 there offered overweight employees $3 for ever pound they'd lose. Inflation has caught up in more ways than one, Bug said, and now comes word that the prize-per-pound is $4, and 204 of the workers has signed up to lose 5,708 pounds.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Dexter Township Zoning Board Okays Site Plan

An estimated crowd of 75 Dexter township residents packed in to the small township hall Thursday evening, Aug. 24 to present their views to the zoning board on a proposed site-plan for a new Newport Beach Club House.

In spite of the near hour-long meeting which was taken up for the most part by the resident's objections to the proposal, the three voting board members gave final approval to the plan.

At issue was a proposal presented to the board by Thomas Ehman, owner of the Newport Beach Club House on Portage Lake and chairman of the Zoning Board. His plan is to remove the existing structure and build in its place a new club house with nine- and two-story apartments. Currently there are two apartments in the existing structure.

In order for Ehman to fulfill zoning acreage requirements for the number of dwellings, he proposed using subaqueous land (land beneath the water). It was this proposal, in addition to several others which brought out the residents' en-masse.

"Using subaqueous land is senseless, because it's only practical use is for docks and reasonable use of the lake," James Delman, a local resident attorney, and president of the Portage and Base Lakes Property Owners Association said during the meeting.

While Ehman himself agreed that using subaqueous land was not proper he said that because the Dexter Zoning Ordinance did not make a reference to the issue, he was not breaking any rules by using the land beneath the water.

When the board members voted on the site plan they all expressed their intentions to vote no unless Ehman purchased additional land to the east, which Ehman had said he was planning to do. When Ehman agreed that he would, the board granted the preliminary site-plan in addition to giving it final approval.

Before Ehman can build the new club house he will have to present the board with his proof of purchase of land and he will also have to have approval from the Michigan Department of Health.

"We will not sit back and let Ehman go ahead with his ideas because there are too many of us who feel that he is not in keeping with what the people on Portage Lake want," Doug Smith, Portage Lake resident and secretary of the Portage Lake Association said.

St. Joseph Designated Historic Site

The 108-year-old building which houses St. Joseph Catholic church at 3430 Dover St. has been designated a historic site by the Michigan State Historical Society, according to the Rev. Fr. Kenneth McDonald, pastor.

In response to an application filed by Carl E. Delaney, 3426 E. Pineview Dr., the society has agreed to list the church building among Michigan's historic sites and to provide a marker identifying it as such.

"We plan a celebration to commemorate the event, possibly next May," said Fr. McDonald. "I understand it can take as long as eight months to erect a marker." St. Joseph Catholic church was built in 1872.

Missionary To Speak at Local Church

The Rev. James E. Barnard, an Assemblies of God missionary to Brussels, Belgium, will be guest speaker Sunday, Sept. 3 at 11 a.m. at the First Assembly of God, 1480 Old US-12, the Rev. Richard J. Coury, pastor has announced.

Mr. Barnard edited correspondence course and assisted writers at International Correspondence Institute during the last four years. He also was a church counselor for Christian Center, an English-speaking church, and for a city-wide evangelistic crusade in Brussels. He pastored military personnel at SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe) located 50 kilometers from Brussels.

Prior to this past term of foreign service, Mr. Barnard, his wife, Betty and their two daughters, Beth and Lynn were missionaries in Liberia West Africa. In Liberia, he was principal of a Bible school, evangelized in the Firestone and Goodrich Plantations and served as the Field Chairman.

When asked about how he felt about the challenge of his future work with ICI, Mr. Barnard said, a multi-cultural approach to evangelism inspires me to produce better contemporary biblical courses. As we utilize dedicated and skilled writers from many countries of the world, we are fulfilling our slogan—From all nations to all nations.

Before his foreign missionary service, Mr. Barnard pastored churches in Michigan and Missouri. He taught school in Eaton Rapids and Freeport. He holds a BA degree from Central Bible College, Springfield, Mo., a BA degree in history from Olivet College, Olivet, and a MA in curriculum from Michigan State University, East Lansing.

He will tell why International Correspondence Institute's contemporary approach in world evangelism is vital. He will display some of the most recent published correspondence courses. The public is invited to attend.

to represent the Kiwanians services to scouting and their Halloween party.

Fourth-place was presented to Chelsea Co-Op Nursery for their little Red Schoolhouse float, complete with dozens of toys and children.

In the youth division, first-place went to the junior class of '80 for their "carnival" float equipped with a revolving carousel. Riding the merry-go-round were Fair Queen Julie Botsford and her court of two junior classmates.

Second-place was presented to Rogers Corners Herdmen 4-H Club for their beautifully decorated float. Queen Candidate Debbie Harrison reposed beneath a trestle loaded with flowers, while at her feet lay baskets of more flowers.

"Come Sail Away" was the winning theme for the Class of '81 who took third-place. On board the sailboat float were Queen candidate Terry Shonk and her court.

Fourth place was given to the Future Farmers of America Chapter of Chelsea for their float which depicted a barnyard scene.

Early Printing Presses Now Displayed at Henry Ford Museum

The Virginia Gazette, which began publication Aug. 5, 1736, was the first newspaper to be printed south of the Potomac River. A single, printed sheet folded to make four pages, the Gazette sold for 15 shillings a year. The newly-designed Lighting and Communications Collections of Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, offer visitors a chance to see early printing presses, including the flatbed types which would have been used in printing the Gazette.

State Officer Addresses Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary

Chelsea Jaycee Auxiliary met at Chelsea Lanes Tuesday, Aug. 22 for their membership meeting. After the call to order was made by president Sandy Meyer, hostess Nan Rowe gave the thought for the day. Guest for the meeting was Laurie Faus, extension chairman for the Michigan Jaycee Auxiliary.

Attending as a special guest speaker was Michigan Jaycee external vice-president, Sharon McGill. She spoke on the importance of community service and gave suggestions and tips on how to find out what the needs of a particular community may be. In conclusion she was presented with a gift in honor of her "Care Externally" theme and was given a bottle of good old-fashioned "Chelsea Juice."

Denise Martell announced an upcoming visit to Saline and Ypsilanti. Chairman Sue Zink reported that the extension to Stockbridge was coming along and would be completed soon. Nan Rowe then led the group in a series of exercises.

Alberta Colbry reported on the first committee meetings held for fall district which the Chelsea Auxiliary will host. By-laws and policy revisions were passed without additions or deletions. It was announced that the delayed social "Sparks & Croons" would be held at Sam's on Sept. 2, to start at 7 p.m. Chairman of the taco stand, Nan Rowe thanked those who made the project such a success. She stated that the tacos were sold completely out by Friday night and that the Auxiliary realized a nice profit.

Carol Smith stated that a garage sale would be held on Sept. 29 as an internal money-maker. Deciding to put some of their external money to good use, the group voted a $50 donation to the upcoming National MD. campaign and $25 to the Michigan Jaycees Auxiliary project "Wonderful Washing Machine," a motor home to house kidney dialysis equipment so children with kidney problems can go to summer camp. Denise Martell volunteered to chair the "Bake for Lupus" project and asked for members to bake for the little known women's disease.

Upon conclusion of business, monthly awards were presented. Nan Rowe received "Girl of the Month" for many hours spent on the Jaycees, Alberta Colbry received the "Presidential Popper Award" for her work in the assistance area, and Denise Martell was given the "Moonie" for putting her best side forward.

First quarter awards were presented to Alberta Colbry for "90 Day Wonder" and Ginny Wheaton for "Gusto Gal," recognizing their many hours of Auxiliary work. Alberta Colbry, Denise Martell and Nan Rowe were honored as outstanding chairmen in the "Parade of Stars."

After the group repeated the Creed, the meeting was adjourned and co-hostess, Shirley Weatherwax served dessert.

Fire Safety Equipment Displayed in Museum

In the search for fire safety Americans have come up with many strange devices. One was a pair of fire-escape suspenders that were patented Aug. 4, 1855. The suspenders contained a cord which, in case of fire, was to be unraveled and lowered from a window. Below a passer-by was to attach the cord to a nearby rope; the trapped person would then pull it up and finally effect an escape. The old-time fire engines on exhibit in Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, offer examples of somewhat better protection in early America.

OLD McDONALD had a farm and so did the Future Farmers of America, Chelsea chapter, during the Saturday afternoon fair parade. Covered in thousands and thousands of paper flowers, the float carried life-like cardboard farm animals and real-life farmers. Members of the FFA marched alongside, tossing sweets to the spectators. The float received the Fireman's Award in the youth division.

"CLOSE ENCOUNTERS": Taking the recent movie of a similar title as their theme, these children and friends of the Satterthwaite of Chelsea look remarkably spooky on their space decorated float.

"FREEDOM TO BE": Queen candidate for the Terrific Tailors 4-H Club, Cheryl Bareis, is surrounded by her court of five including Wendy Wolfgang, Anole Inolis, Laurel Inolis, Linda Bristle, and Alicia Dalton. Blue and green streamers on the sides suggest the sea surrounding a cloud-covered island upon which the girls rest.

Balancing Power

With George Meany's announcement recently that the Labor Law Reform Bill is dead for the year, we can all take a collective sigh of relief. But we should not fool ourselves that the struggle against the increasing economic and political power of the labor movement is over. Although the unions have suffered a series of legislative defeats during the past couple of years, they remain big and powerful, with plenty of economic and political muscle.

Unless voters across the country retire a significant number of labor's loyal supporters in the Congress come November, we can fully expect that the second round in the effort to tilt the National Labor Relations Act further on the side of labor will get under way next year.

Defeat of the Labor Reform Bill this year, the defeat of the Consumer Protection Agency Bill and the defeat of a number of other bills endorsed by labor have been due to number of factors. For one thing, the majority of Americans are clearly against giving the union bosses more power. But perhaps equally important is the new unity, awareness and activism of the business community, which includes agriculture.

Labor leaders currently are out with a propaganda effort designed to make labor appear to be the victim of a grand conspiracy to destroy the union movement and the right of working people to organize and bargain collectively. We hope people won't buy this line! Because it simply is not true.

Most of us believe in the right of people to organize for the purpose of advancing their own interests. Collective bargaining plays a vital role in achieving this objective. But we also believe in a balancing of powers in the marketplace and that no one should be coerced into joining any organization.

Orderly Fair Reported By Police

Four hubcaps and one bicycle were the only reported thefts at the Chelsea Community Fair this year, according to the Chelsea Police Department.

Shirley L. Schneider, 6600 Conway Rd., Chelsea, reported that four wire sport hubcaps, valued at $252, were taken off her car between noon and 3 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 26. Her car was parked on the fairgrounds.

On Friday, Aug. 25, Alan John Hale of Chelsea reported that he had parked his 10-speed bike inside the fairgrounds at approximately 10:30 p.m. on Friday and when he returned at 11 p.m. the bike was gone. It had not been locked. He said the bike is worth $101.87.

Chelsea Police also said that they made one arrest during the fair when Terrance Marsh, 19, of Sugar Loaf Lake Rd., was acting in a drunk and disorderly manner and had refused to pay admission on Wednesday night. He was arrested and charged with disorderly person and taken to jail for two hours. He was then released on $40 bond.

The basic camp is designed to give junior college graduates and college sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. The camp also qualifies high school graduates for the ROTC program at any one of the nation's six military junior colleges.

Hearing Set On Request For Re-Zoning

A public hearing has been set for Tuesday, Sept. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the Chelsea Village Council chambers in regards to a re-zoning request by the Building Maintenance Co., of Chelsea for the southeast corner lot on Hayes and North St.

Currently the four-tenths of an acre lot is zoned as heavy industrial and the owners of the Maintenance Co., William Colvin and Henri vander Waard are seeking a less intensive zoning of light industrial.

vander Waard said the company would erect a 38-foot by 92-foot warehouse on the vacant land. "We'd like to rent part of it out and use about a third of the building for storage and a display area. Something like that," he explained.

The Building Maintenance Co. does all of its business out of the homes of the owners and if the re-zoning is approved they plan to expand their services. "Both of us are taking classes at Washtenaw Community College where we are studying heating and plumbing," vander Waard said. "After we pass all of the courses we can provide the area with services in these areas," he added.

HUNTER SAFETY COURSE Offered By Rod & Gun Club

Chelsea's Rod and Gun Club is sponsoring a hunter safety course for boys and girls from 12 to 16 years of age beginning in the fall. Upon completion of the course, participants will receive a certificate of verification, required by state law, which will permit them to purchase their first hunting license. Also at the end of the safety sessions, the youngsters will receive a patch in recognition of their accomplishment.

To register for the hunter safety class, applicants must fill out an enrollment card available by contacting any of the following: Group leader Marvin Schiller, 475-2941; Jack & Son Barber Shop, 475-1535; George Padgham, 475-8812; or John Miller, 475-2864.

In 1825 the first investigation into the relationship between child labor and school attendance was conducted in Massachusetts. This was also the first investigation into a labor problem. Partly due to this inquiry, a child labor law was passed in 1836, according to a U.S. Labor Department publication, "Labor Firsts in America."

School Food Service Earns Commendation

Awarded for its excellence in safe, sanitary food preparation, the Chelsea School District was among 53 out of approximately 300 food service establishments who were presented an award by the Washtenaw County Health Department, Friday, Aug. 21.

"I am very proud to say that Chelsea has received this honor," Elsie Weiss, manager of the school lunch program in the district for 19 years, commented upon the award. Weiss, and her staff of 15, prepare food in the Chelsea High school cafeteria. The food is then transported to and served in each of the four Chelsea schools.

According to Dr. John B. Atwater, director of the Health Department, this is the first year that awards have been given and the department intends to make the event an annual one.

Atwater appointed a review committee to examine records of the 1977-78 license period. Food establishments in the county are subject to license review once a year and are also inspected by the department at least twice a year, Atwater said.

Quick Action With Hose Averts Disaster

A stray spark ignited spilled gas and sent the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schenk, 10850 Waters Rd., running to get the garden hose to extinguish the blaze Sunday morning, Aug. 27.

"The fire could have been extremely serious if there hadn't been such quick action by the Schenk kids," Chelsea Fire Chief Jim Gaken said after four Chelsea fire trucks arrived on the scene at 8:50 a.m. to finish fighting the fire.

According to Mrs. Schenk, her son Richard, 25, had just filled the tank on their Bob Cat and when he turned the ignition on it burst into flames. "He said he was surrounded by fire but jumped off right away and ran to get the hose," she explained. "My husband and I were away at the time and I didn't see it happen," she added.

Her other children called the fire department immediately and in short time they arrived at the farm. "By the time we reached the Schenk's place most of the fire was under control. Because the Bob Cat was parked right next to the shed the shed caught fire and there were several other buildings attached to it also. The entire complex would have gone up except for the quick action," Jim Gaken commented.

Mrs. Schenk said the estimated damage is about $6,000. "The Bob Cat was completely destroyed," she said.

Borden Dynasty Began With Condensed Milk

Even though the Patent Office expressed doubts on the value of the invention, it issued a patent to Gail Borden Aug. 19, 1856, for condensed milk. Borden went on to prove the Patent Office's view was sour. The many fascinating developments in the dairy industry, including early milk bottles and cream separators, are reflected in the special exhibits of the Domestic Arts Collection at Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

By Thomas E. O'Hara

Q. I know that the growth of a company is produced by management. But, how can you tell whether new management has the ability to carry on a past growth record while you are waiting to see the first annual report after new management comes in?

A. My experience tells me that you can't tell how good new management is that quickly. Most businesses have a built-in momentum that will carry them on for at least several months unless management makes a drastic change. That isn't likely to happen where you've had a successful growing business. The effect of new management is more likely to show up in the second and third years. In an investment club, we learn that there are four basic figures to watch to judge the ability of management to run a growing profitable business. These are the rate of sales growth, the rate of earnings per share growth, the pre-tax earnings on sales, and earnings on invested capital. If new management can keep all of those figures comparable to the figures of old management, then it is doing as good a job. There is a book called the Investor's Manual which discusses these items and shows how to figure them and keep track of them from year-to-year which you would find helpful. It is published by the National Association of Investment Clubs.

Q. Many years ago, I purchased shares of International Harvester at $48. It was supposed to be one of the best companies in the country as far as its record and its prospects were according to my broker. But, it hasn't worked out that way. The dividend was cut for several years and while it has recently been restored to the old level, the price of the stock is still about $10 less than what I paid for it. Is there something the matter with the company and should I sell it?

A. It looks to me that you bought Harvester about the time that living on its past reputation caught up with it and caused it to have some severe problems. At this time, I would say it is very much on the mend and I would not be inclined to sell it.

Quite a number of years ago, Harvester's growth and profitability entered a period of stagnation. It would appear that the key man in correcting this situation and restoring the company to a better rate of growth was Chairman McCordell. His leadership seems to have produced the recently improved figures. Mr. McCordell has been a more recent addition to the executive team and it would appear that he may give a greater lift to improved sales and profitability. On the record to date, my guess is that sizeable gains in earnings will occur over the years immediately ahead; and if that happens, the price of the stock should reflect the improvement.

LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE: Children from the Chelsea Co-Op Nursery School received the Fireman's Award for their float which all of them had a part in decorating and painting. Toys from the school accompany the children as they sit at the front door of the red schoolhouse.

SECOND-PLACE WINNER in the adult category is the "Life's Worth Living" float created by the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home. Eight Home residents present a variety of personalities and themes in their different costumes from the year the Home opened in 1905 to the present day. On the far left the Rev. Laverne Finch is a dapper 20th century gentleman and to his right is his female counterpart, Margaret Sexton; Harry Nicol is a finger-worn farmer; Mrs. Emma Finch represents the modern-day Girl Scout in pants and beret; and Rennie Buxton is a modern-day woman. On the far side are Millie Smith, 1970's backpacker; Mrs. Ruth Woerner, 1920's flapper; and Lou Love, old-fashion Girl Scout.

The first legislation dealing with child labor was a Massachusetts Bay court order in 1840 which called for town magistrates to investigate the possibility of "teaching the boys and girls in all towns the spinning of yarn," according to the U.S. Department of Labor booklet, "Labor Firsts in America."

COMPARATIVE TAXATION

Your house is for sale. The location is great; the price is right; and the community is desirable. But prospects keep turning it down because they claim the tax rate is too high. How do you meet this objection?

It just may be that the taxes in your town are actually lower per dollar value than neighboring, less desirable communities. Remember, taxes are not determined by tax rate alone. They're also determined by the valuation practices of the local assessors. In some areas, homes may be assessed at only 25% of true value. In other areas, it may run 50% or 70%. So you must take both the tax rate and the local valuation practice into consideration. Don't be misled by an apparently low tax rate.

This is one of the reasons why it pays to sell your house through a local Realtor. It's his business to be familiar with this vital information. He's an expert negotiator and has the facts to back up his claims.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at FRISINGER REALTY CO., 935 S. Main St., Chelsea. Phone: 475-8683; evenings 475-2621. We're here to help!

THE SHEEP THAT GOT AWAY: Little John Heller, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Heller of Chelsea, concentrated so hard on looking at the camera that he loosened his grip on the sheep he helped raise. Taking advantage of the slip, the sheep took off through the crowd, leaving John in tears. Several minutes later the sheep was recovered and John went on to sell the 101-lb. animal to the Wolverine Bar for $2 a pound.

RESERVE CHAMPION: Thursday was Melinda McCalla day as she sold both of her prize winning hogs to the highest bidder in the Livestock Auction. To the left of Melinda is Danya Bohl, Queen candidate representing the Chelsea High school freshman class, and to her right are Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bauer of Chelsea who purchased the 214-pound hog for $1.50 a pound. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McCalla of Chelsea.

BEST OF RABBIT SHOW: Patty Rawson's Siamese Satin rabbit receives special attention from Lynn Cooper, judge, and his wife Flo while superintendent Scott Otto looks on, during the Chelsea Community Fair.

KING OF THE CRASH PILE: Scott Otto of Chelsea leaps on top of his winning hunk of junk as he was declared the first place winner in Wednesday night's second heat. Scott drove No. 88, a Chevrolet Impala 327.

The Bible—The Light from Heaven
The Bible speaks about God appearing in the garden and pronouncing a curse on the serpent, the woman, and the man. (Gen. 3:14, 16, 17). Sin has been a blight in the world. View the broken-hearted husband as he follows the corpse of his wife to the grave, the mother as she touches her lips to the cold brow of her babe in the embrace of death, or to her wall as she sees her son marched off to prison, see the pain, sickness, heartaches, tears and sorrows of earth, and know that they are the result of sin. The apostle John wrote, "All unrighteousness is sin." (1 John 5:17). Note some of the Bible stories showing the sadness of sin. Cain—in the family; Eve; Saul—in the highly gifted life; David—in a godly man; Peter—in a disciple. The Bible teaches that "Christ died for our sins." (1 Cor. 15:1-4).

Maintaining health naturally
What on earth is a column that deals with chiropractic and related subjects doing talking about exercise and diet? It's not at all far fetched when you stop to think about it. Chiropractic is based on a natural way of health, of giving the body a chance to regain a balanced and moderate diet can do wonders for your well being, now and in the future.
One of the best kinds of exercise is the so-called circle-respiratory type. Excellent examples of these are jogging, swimming, jumping rope and bicycling, all of which help the heart, lungs and skeletal muscles of the body.
The important thing is to start slowly. If you are really out of shape, you can cause far more harm than good if you over-do at the beginning. It's far better to walk one block and then build up gradually, if you're out of condition, than to strain for running a mile and risk real troubles.
One of the secrets of good health is working with a balanced program. Nutrition, proper rest, and a good mental attitude can be just as important as exercise. You should also have a spinal examination by your chiropractor, because all natural good health starts with a healthy spine.

The Washtenaw County Community Service Agency has received a $173,208 grant from the State Commission on Services to the Aging.

The grant will be used to provide a hot meal and other services to the elderly in Washtenaw County during the next fiscal year, Oct. 1, 1978 through Sept. 30, 1979.

Funded primarily by Title VII of the Older Americans Act, the services will be provided as part of the statewide Community Nutrition Services Program. The Nutrition Program is administered by the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging. The Community Service Agency has been authorized to provide 213 meals each weekday in five different site locations.

Any person age 60 and older, and their spouse, regardless of age, is eligible to participate in the Community Services Program. There is no charge for the services or meal, however, contributions are accepted and used to purchase other meals and services.

To date, the Agency is one of 30 grantees state-wide to receive a grant award.

The first to study occupational safety was Massachusetts in 1850, according to the U. S. Labor Department booklet, "Labor Firsts in America."

Board of Education Adopts Policy of Five Major Goals

A substantial and creative overhauling of the operation of the Chelsea School District received its first breath of life recently as the Board of Education unanimously approved the establishment of five major goals to be pursued in the 1978-79 school year.

"This is an exciting moment and a very satisfying culmination of months of careful study and planning on the parts of all board trustees, school principals, teachers, parents, and administrators," Raymond Van Meer, superintendent, commented following the vote during the Aug. 21 regular board meeting. Included among the five goals are 1) Implement a district-wide program of co-ordinating courses of study from 1st grade through 12th grade. 2) Develop a comprehensive communication system with Chelsea School District residents and actively seek resident involvement in goal achievements. 3) Establish a district-wide management system which includes complete evaluation of school employees and programs. 4) Undertake an inclusive school building and facility improvement plan. 5) Develop and implement an energy conservation program involving all school employees and students.

The first state legislation requiring monthly physical exams for workers in hazardous industries was in Illinois in 1911, according to the U. S. Labor Department booklet, "Labor Firsts in America."

At the heart of the five objectives, according to Van Meer, is the philosophy that "a school district should be a goal-seeking mechanism dedicated to the achievement of stated priorities. The goals themselves are important starting points and give direction and meaning to the operation of the school district," he explained.

"A crucial component of this philosophy is 'team management' which utilizes board trustees, the administration, and teaching staff. Also necessary is the involvement of the community and students in establishing what goals and priorities the district should be striving to attain," he added.

While the 1978-79 school year will be the first in which goals have been actually set down on paper with several timetables listed for their achievement, the concept was introduced to the board of education as a means of managing the district's operations in July, 1977.

At that time, a board committee consisting of Ann Feeney, James Stirling, and Charles Cameron attended a two-day workshop on "Management By Objectives" (MBO) upon which the new 1978-79 program is based.

The committee then reported back to the board and two additional committees were formed—a Personnel and Management by Objectives committee, and a Curriculum committee.

According to Feeney, now entering her third year on the board, "the trustees had become aware of the MBO being used in school systems throughout the state and were impressed by the apparent success. To become more familiar with the details and how to approach setting up MBO in our district we attended the workshop," she said.

As a member of the hiring committee, Feeney said the board was favorable to the idea of MBO and "it was decided that in the process of hiring a new superintendent we should look for someone with a background in this area. Van Meer had a very good understanding of MBO," she commented.

One point Feeney emphasized about the new management system is that it is not a process which establishes itself overnight. "MBO is very slow moving and will take three or four years for the concept to filter down to all levels of the district operation. We will proceed slowly, and monitor the progress on a frequent and regular basis," she added.

James Stirling, board vice-president and chairman of the year-old Curriculum committee explained the focus of the committee as one of the five priorities in the up-coming school year.

"In the last year approximately 20 committee members have met four or five times to examine the courses that are offered in all the four schools to see where the weaknesses are and to correct them. On the committee are interested parents from each school, teachers, administrators, and two board members," Stirling said.

"We look at issues as they come along and try to keep abreast of current developments in course subjects. Another aspect of the committee is to take a wide-angle view of all courses given from 1st through 12th grade. For example, we will look at all the math courses in each grade level and make certain that each course provides the proper background for the following course," Stirling explained. "We intend to do this for all subjects," he added.

Because the Curriculum committee is an advisory one, its function will not be to make final decisions on what course should or should not be offered. Instead, the committee will present its opinion to the board of education which will decide as a whole on the path to follow. It will then be up to the superintendent to see that the board's decision is carried out.

"Each of the five goals the board has approved is the direct result of having teachers, administrators, citizens and board members combine their suggestions on how to make the Chelsea School District the best possible. In the years to come we will utilize to a greater extent the input of teachers and of students also," Van Meer said.

"Another aspect of the Management By Objectives system is the greater use of constant evaluation. MBO is a system where every person or position is answerable or responsible to some degree to another person or position. It is one that establishes personnel responsibilities and then establishes an objective means of measuring achievement in specific areas," Van Meer said.

Teacher evaluations are currently written into their two-year contract but detailed evaluation forms are now being written for the administrator positions, including school principals, business manager, superintendent, program directors and others. "It has been demonstrated that personnel will accomplish more if they have an exact knowledge of what it is they are expected to accomplish," Van Meer commented. The evaluation forms are being written in conjunction with new detailed job descriptions that will be used in the future," he said.

The second of the five priorities will include the introduction of a monthly newsletter for school personnel and the continuance of the year-old Chelsea Challenge, published monthly and distributed to the public by mail. Both of these will be co-ordinated by Van Meer. There will also be a re-activation of the defunct Citizens Advisory subcommittee which Van Meer said is hoped to re-kindle citizen participation. "Residents of the school district are a vital function to the success in both deciding on goals and obtaining results," he said. Van Meer will also present an annual report sometime before the end of October, 1979 on the progress of the five goals to which the public is encouraged to attend.

Item three of the five goals, as mentioned above, is the formation of new job descriptions and detailed evaluation forms. Item four involves a program of school building and facility maintenance which will utilize funds provided by the recent half-mill levy approved by voters for major maintenance needs.

An energy conservation program is the fifth goal and is designed to bring about a substantial reduction in energy use.

PARADE MARSHAL Reuben Lesser, Sr., passes a friendly wave to parade spectators as he puffs on his inevitable cigar. Lesser was picked for this honor in recognition of his time and energies devoted to the Chelsea Community Fair for many years.
