Gridders Roll Over Dexter at Homecoming

Having cancelled out even the slimmest chance of bad luck with a week full of "superstitious" homecoming activities, varsity Bulldog fans basked, once again in the glories of victory as their team crumpled the Dreadnaughts, 34-14.

While Friday the 13th spelled bad luck for the as-yet-to-win Dexter team, little went wrong for the home gridders who continue to present a major contestant in the SEC title race.

Starting fast and furiously, the Bulldogs scored on their first possession as John Dunn completed the final three yards to score and Brad Knickerbocker kicked the extra point to give Chelsea a 7-0 lead.

Super-scorer Alan Augustine collected the next three touchdowns, one in each of the remaining quarters, and carried the ball 27 times for 140 yards. Chelsea's backfield also had a fine night rushing with a total of 257 yards. Dunn had 32 yards and completed six of 11 passes.

Mike Wood had 22 yards and Mark Cole completed 38. Jesse Coburn connected with four out of five passes for 73 yards.

Bulldogs maintained a 14-0 lead

'78 Yearbook Will Soon Be Available

The 1978 Barker should be available for distribution by the second week of November according to Chelsea High school's yearbook advisor, John Groesser.

The yearbook staff encountered several problems during the past summer which delayed the publication of the Barker. "The yearbook publisher, Taylor Publishing, is in no way responsible for the delay," Groesser emphasized. "We simply fell behind in our work schedule. One delay led to another all summer."

"The quality of the yearbook will not be diminished by the delay," he said, "in fact, we think the 1978 Barker is the best ever."

When the books arrive, a special announcement will be given to everyone. As was done last year, a yearbook party will be held at the high school so everyone may pick up his or her copy and have it autographed by friends. Those unable to attend the party will be able to pick up their yearbook at the high school office.

ANDERS HOLTER AND MIKE WARD

Exchange Student from Norway Living with Robert Ward Family

When their daughter returned full studies in the United States, it seemed only logical that their son should benefit from the same experience.

So, on Aug. 20, Anders Holter (pronounced Andish) arrived at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport from "the heart of Norway" to spend a year as part of the Chelsea High school class of '79 and a member of the Robert M. Ward family on Chestnut Dr.

With his "brother" Mike, a sophomore at CHS, plucking a contemporary American melody on his guitar, Anders used his fairly fluent English, embellished with a few air-drawn words to relate his observations.

When the conversation snagged on interpretations, as it did often, Anders laughed while Mrs. Ward rephrased and we started again.

"Your Chelsea is something like the area I'm from near the town Gjovik and the biggest lake in Norway, the Mjosa. But the land in Norway is a little hillier and the town I'm close to has a movie house," he said.

Before classes started this fall, Anders and the Wards visited Amish country in Indiana, the same state his sister had traveled to last year when she was a student through the Youth For Understanding program. Anders wore a red sweatshirt with Indiana State University written on the front which had been a souvenir from his sister's visit.

As a senior at CHS, he is enrolled in six classes, including English, U. S. history, U. S. government, (all required through the YFU), German, Algebra III, and concert band. "I like the band very much. We have a lot of fun and it's one class where there are few differences in language. The terms are different, but music is universally understood," he commented.

His other studies, he said, seem to require less studying time than those he took in Norway, but "they are still" difficult now because I am still mastering the language," he explained.

Unlike the United States school system, students in Norway are required to go to school for nine years, beginning at age 7, and may choose to continue their education for another three years (our equivalent of high school) or find a job.

Also unlike the United States, if a student has the grades to go to the university, he or she goes tuition-free, paying only for room and board. "Our taxes in Norway are pretty high and if someone works overtime he may pay up to 70 percent in taxes. I have even heard that in some cases a person may have to pay more than 100 percent in taxes," he commented.

A male in Norway must complete 14 months in the military at some point in his early years before he may take a job and begin a family. Anders plans to do this after he returns to Norway and completes the third year of his higher education.

"My father owns a farm and there is a possibility that I will take a piece of the land and become a farmer also. I don't know yet what I want to do exactly, although I have a choice of many careers," Anders commented. "I can't even say if I will go to the university," he added.

One difference Anders believes there is between himself and the students in America is that "they seem to know exactly what they are going to be doing in the next three or four years from now, where I really can't say," he said.

Mike, when asked if this was his opinion, laughed dramatically, and said, "I'm going to be an actor when I'm done with school." In the meantime, he's teaching guitar lessons in a Chelsea music shop.

Because the Norwegians believe that their education is superior to that in this country, Anders' grades from CHS won't be counted when he returns home although some of his work may go towards his graduation. "In Norway, a student may take a class or classes outside of the classroom and just take a final exam to earn credits," he said.

In addition to his regular studies at CHS, he is taking the "Little Farming" class through the Community Education Department, and in his spare time "has become quite a football fan," Mrs. Ward said. According to Anders, television in Norway is limited to about four hours a day, on only one channel. "We don't have commercials though," he laughed.

Soccer Team Ties Livonia

Chelsea Blues soccer team traveled to Livonia Saturday, Oct. 14 and tied with the Lancers, 1-1.

This was the Blues' sixth game of the season and have three losses, two ties, and one win.

Livonia scored in the first half with Chelsea coming through in the fourth period when a high pass kick from Paul Buntan to Bryan Ackley shot into the net.

The Blues play at home this Saturday with the Redford Rowdies at Beach Middle school at 1 p.m.

Conditional Permit Terms Given to Bank

During the regular Chelsea Village Council meeting Tuesday, Oct. 17, council members read and approved the official wording of the conditional use permit granted to the Chelsea State Bank on Tuesday, Oct. 3.

Following standard procedure, the bank now has a maximum of six months in which to present a site plan to the Chelsea Planning Commission for the installation of four drive-up facilities in their existing parking lot on Main and Orchard Sts.

In addition to providing the designs for the drive-up windows, the bank must also submit their plans to conform with two conditions placed on the permit which stipulate that a breach of any of the conditions shall void the permit.

According to the two conditions the bank must, first, "create an outlet to Orchard St. for the alley running from Main St. to East St. for the exclusive benefit of the lot owners fronting upon the alley, and the employees and agents of the Chelsea State Bank, but limiting and restricting use by the general public or the customers of the CSB."

The second condition states that the bank must "adequately provide for the internal circulation of traffic upon its premises, alleviate the present traffic congestion at its entrance on Main St., facilitate the flow of traffic upon Orchard St., and limit, and if feasible eliminate any traffic entering directly from the lands of the CSB onto the alley east of the boundary line of the bank's premises."

To meet these conditions the bank has several alternatives, according to Fred Barkley, project director for the Village. They may re-design the alley by consolidating the two bank entrances and the alley entrance off Main St. into one driveway which would virtually eliminate direct access to the alley from Main St. The alley would be made into a one-way (Continued on page eight)

School Board Okays Budget Of $4.4 Million

As is usually the case when no major threats or drastic cuts are proposed in school personnel or programs, only a very few, two to be exact, attended the public hearing Monday evening, Oct. 16, called by the Chelsea School District Board of Education on the 1978-79 school budget.

Consequently, only board trustees presented questions concerning the four-plus million dollar budget, up 5.6 percent from last year, and without further delay it passed unanimously.

What the board passed was a revised edition in the wake of an official student count which showed a drop in enrollment from last year of 55 students. The original figure had been 92 students but with the addition of 37 students enrolled in the Community Education high school completion program the number worked itself up to 55.

When it was learned that the district would be receiving nearly $140,000 less in state-aid payments, Fred Mills, business manager, was directed to alter expenditures.

"We are fortunate to have entered this school year with a $26,000 surplus from last year and through a number of personnel changes brought about by staff members entering at a lower pay scale than those they replaced, we have saved another $60,000," Mills explained. As a result, the actual cost from the budget was reduced to about $35,000.

"While the budget is not keeping pace with inflation, I believe that it is financially sound and will allow us to operate a quality program without doing material damage to either the students, staff, or school employees," he commented.

He quickly added, however, that "although we have budgeted for every major expense, we do not have a 'rainy day fund' for an unforeseeable event. At the same time we expect to end the year with a surplus. We've had enough of deficit budgets," Mills said.

Items which were noticeably reduced in the 1978-79 budget include the number of field trips, capital outlay expenses, bus routes, reimbursement for conferences and travel, and a curriculum co-ordinator position.

According to Mills, capital outlay was reduced by more than $10,000 for the purchase of new equipment and reimbursement for staff attendance at conferences has been cut by 25 percent. Because fewer students are riding buses, a merger of four bus routes into three was made possible and the filling of a $10,000 curriculum co-ordinator position has been postponed for another year. The district has never had this position before but has allowed money in the budget in past years.

"Another area we expect to reduce expenses in is an off-shoot of the reimbursement cut," Mills said. "If we pay less for a staff member to go to a conference then perhaps we will spend less on hiring substitute teachers if fewer teachers are traveling," Mills explained.

Anticipated income for the school year has been budgeted at $4,592,984 while expenditures are expected to be $4,456,246 with a $136,738 surplus. This year's increase in property valuation of approximately nine percent will add $285,240 to last year's revenue from property tax levies of $3,169,851 while the recent millage approval of a half mill will generate $60,548 for major building repair and maintenance.

Other revenues include $20,000 in earnings on investments (double that of last year) and $75,000 from the sale of the building trades home to mention a few.

Chelsea school district has added the Community Education Program this year which will operate on a $84,454 budget funded with $7,000 in class fees, $54,000 in state-aid payments, a state payment of $3,500 for the director's salary and a special $19,958 grant from the Comprehensive Employment Training Act.

On the debit side of the balance sheet, all teachers' administrators' and school employees' salaries were increased six to seven percent while the district expects to pay $7,370 in unemployment compensation this year, $5,554 more than budgeted in 1977-78.

The majority of budget items have remained constant from last year with the exception of utility expenses which average $3,000 more in most categories. Telephone service is up $3,000 from $15,000 last year; high school heating fuel is up $4,000; and electricity costs at South, North and Beach are up $2,000 for each school, while the high school is expected to be $4,000 more.

"Even with our comprehensive energy conservation efforts, the increase in building use with the Community Education Program will make a greater demand in these areas," Mills explained. Mills added that the increases are estimated costs and that they may be lower than anticipated. "What we are hoping for is to break even with last year," he said.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Doolittle told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that this country might as well fergit a good five-cent cigar, but what it really needs is more man-bites-dog news. With a full House to be elected next month, Ed allowed, we're winding down these final days of politicking with the deck stacked agin us.

Fer instant, Ed declared, when did you last hear a candidate stand fer lass law? He'll come down foursquare fer less spending, less inflation, less corruption and less attention in the papers fer his opponent, but he'll tell you it's going to take more bills in Congress, more regulations on the books to get all the good things done. Ed said he would like to see one politician come out fer less and mean it.

Clem Webster reminded Ed that President Carter hit strong on this point when he was running, but when he got in he found his cutbacks didn't work. Ed said Carter's idea of less Government is to spend two years coming up with no energy plan for Government workers to run, and to hire 700,000 part-time consultants at up to $500 a day so their pay is a drain on the treasury but don't show up in payroll. That's called borrowing from Peter and Paul, Ed allowed, and nobody comes out ahead. The fellers give that round to Ed.

What got Ed started on his less campaign was this report he had saw on the call-in that members of Congress and other Federal officials held the other day in Washington. They set up a toll-free number where folks could phone their feelings, and hundreds did.

This item Ed saw declared everybody complained about too many rules. One woman said we ought to set fire to all our regulations and start over. Nothing come from all the talk, Ed said, not one Congressman promised one caller he would work to reduce or do away with one set of rules.

Zeke Grubb seconded Ed's motion. Zeke said start by throwing out the new rules fer grading the sun, and by doing away with about 90 percent of HUD's food regulations. A panel working fer Food and Drug Administration has come up with no less than 21 ways a person can tell if he's been in the sun too long. He has to figure out what kind of skin he's got first, then he can take the guidelines and calculate how much time in the sun is too much. If he has trouble, the FDA panel said, he can read sun warnings and protective ingredients that it wants to require all suntan lotion and skin care makers to put on their bottles.

Meanwhile, nack at HUD, Zeke said private engineering outfits are being paid to do flood research for all streams in the country with the idee of developing a Federal flood insurance program. They are setting up flood risk scales fer everybody regardless if they have a history of flooding. What it all boils down to is more rules in more building codes all over the country, Zeke said, and more forms to fill out on buildings that HUD has anything to do with, and that takes up just about all of em.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Weakened Lobbyist Control Bill Approved

Sponsors of the so-called lobby reform bill, in the end, were willing to accept just about anything to get a law on the books before the November general election.

Lobby reform was one of the high priority items before the election as supporters knew if they got no bill before the general election recess, the "pressure" would be off as members of the House would have a two-year reprieve and members of the Senate four years before having to face the electors again.

The majority of the members were not too excited to pass lobby reform legislation; but feared it would be an issue to be taken to the electors by opponents.

With last-minute passage, even through the bill has gaping holes, legislators can now go into the November elections claiming they have passed strong lobbyist control legislation.

One of Lansing's most powerful lobbyist, James Karoub, began a last-minute move to kill the bill and supporters knowing his pro-

Gifts to Public Officials Valued At More Than $25 Are Prohibited

Further the bill carries criminal penalties for violations.

Whether the bill was passed for the wrong reasons or not, it will still be on the books and will serve a purpose in allowing the public an opportunity to see how the registered lobbyists are operating in the legislative process, who they are trying to reach and by what methods are they trying to influence public officials.

Ant-abortion members of the legislature, led by Democratic gubernatorial nominee William Fitzgerald, tried again to put a similar bill before the governor they knew he would again veto which would result in cutting off all funds to the state's nearly 900,000 eligible recipients.

The final solution was a three-month continuation budget which the $1 on a separate line the governor could veto without eliminating all the welfare money.

This way, the legislature was able to declare its intentions and the governor could express his convictions with the line-item veto, without cutting off total funds.

The controversy will again become the subject of heated debate after the November election, but without the charge each side is exercising its prerogative just to make the subject a campaign issue.

Hooked Rug Show Slated Sunday at Cobblestone Farm

Elegant examples of rug hooking, an authentic American craft, will be on display Sunday, Oct. 29, from 1 to 5 p.m. at Ann Arbor's historic homestead, Cobblestone Farm.

In addition to demonstrations of their craft, members of the Ann Arbor and Southern Michigan chapters of the Pearl K. McGown Rug Hookers Guild will display their hand-work which ranges from pillow tops to wall hangings and room-size rugs.

Rug hooking, which in colonial times was a means of using scraps of wool fabric by hooking them into pieces of burlap to make rugs, has developed into a fine art in which flowers and fruit as well as geometric designs and complex scenes are depicted through subtle shading of color and the use of fine wool cloth and canvases. Each room of Cobblestone Farm will feature costumed hostesses, explaining this truly American technique and discussing the examples on display.

Ample parking is available at the farm, which is on Packard Rd., Ann Arbor, between Platt Rd. and Eisenhower Blvd. Coffee and cookies will be served. There is no admission charge but donations are accepted.

Stagecoach Inn, Depot On Historic Haunts Tour

A museum tour of Michigan can lead travelers to such historic haunts as an 1832 stagecoach inn in the Irish Hills, a 19th Century opera house at Coldwater, an 1892 railroad depot in Petoskey and stately mansions once the homes of governors, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

An Auto Club selection of 17 buildings in 14 towns offers tourists an opportunity to visit the most offbeat among hundreds of museums in the state.

Historic Walker Tavern near Brooklyn (517-467-4414) was a famed stopping place for stagecoaches and pioneer wagons traveling between Detroit and Chicago. Visitors may view the guest rooms used by two heroes of the past—pioneer novelist James Fenimore Cooper and statesman-orator Daniel Webster.

Sara Bernhardt, John Wilkes Booth, the Barrymores and other theatrical greats are depicted in the lobby mural at the 1882 Tibbits Opera House in Coldwater and plays are presented there year-round and the Tibbits Art Gallery on the lower level features changing exhibits.

Petoskey's Victorian-style railroad depot has been restored by the Little Traverse Regional Historical Society (616-347-2620) and is operated as a museum during summer months. Featured are a porcupine quill basket collection and memorabilia of authors Ernest Hemingway and Bruce Catton.

Pine Grove, a Greek Revival mansion in Pontiac, was built in 1844 by Gov. Moses Wisner, who used it as his official residence while in office. It now is a museum operated by the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society (313-338-6732).

Murphy Museum (517-479-9434) in Harbor Beach is the birthplace of another Michigan governor, Frank Murphy. The home was built in 1890.

Oldest of the former governors' homes is the 1835 mansion of Gov. John S. Barry in Constantine (616-435-7316). Lt. Gov. James Wright Gordon built his Greek Revival mansion in Marshall in 1839 in anticipation that the city would become the state's capital. Although Lansing got that honor, the Marshall home is still known as "the 5203".

Another famous mansion open to the public is the 1850s Greek Revival Kempf House in Ann Arbor (313-761-4510), with its Steinway grand piano used by the great Paderewski in a University of Michigan concert. Concord's 1883 Mann House (517-524-8943) has a fine collection of photographs tracing the town's history. Albion's 1869 Gardner House Museum (517-629-5533) contains furnishings from the period, including a chandelier from the abandoned opera house in town.

An exhibit of medical instruments pays tribute to the three generations of doctors who lived in Battle Creek's 1886 Kimball House (616-965-2613).

Marshall's Honolulu House was built in 1860 by Judge Abner Pratt, who served as U.S. Consul to the Sandwich Islands. He was so charmed by the islands that he styled his home in an authentic Hawaiian motif. The home's 19th Century antiques, include a folding bathtub which could double as a bed.

Another Marshall landmark is the Gothic Revival two-room Capitol Hill school, which served the city for 101 years. One room of the restored building is set up as a 19th Century schoolroom. The other is a children's museum.

The one-room Nottawa Stone school on M-86, four miles east of built in 1870 and is used primarily during the school year as an educational experience for area school children.

The Beaver Island Historical Museum at St. James (616-448-2212) originally was a Mormon print shop, where a daily newspaper was started in December 1850—the first daily newspaper printed north of Grand Rapids. The museum collection includes many items from the period when James Strang crowned himself king of the Mormon colony.

The curious contrast of castle and log cabin is found at Owosso James Oliver Curwood's studio, nicknamed Curwood's Castle because of its resemblance to a Norman fortress, is an art gallery. Owosso's oldest house, the 1836 Comstock Cabin, is a museum with furnishings appropriate to the period.

Foreign Investment in U.S. Is Good, Says MSU Prof

Foreign investments in the United States ought to be welcomed, at least in the manufacturing sector, says Michigan State University economist Mordechai E. Kreinin.

Foreign investments in the U.S. are a positive factor in the U.S. balance of payments, notes Kreinin, an authority on international trade.

Seminar Slated On Bereavement

Washtenaw Community College will offer a special four-session evening seminar focusing on bereavement. Beginning Friday, Oct. 27, the seminar will focus on the stages of bereavement and discuss practical solutions for coping with loss.

The seminar, co-sponsored by Eastern Michigan University and Washtenaw Community College, is designed to be of specific interest to widows and widowers along with human service and allied health personnel as well as anyone else who has experienced the loss of a friend or family member.

The United States and Europe are becoming one large integrated market in which firms can produce and compete, he says. At least 15 states, including Michigan, are trying to encourage European and Japanese firms to invest and locate here.

In the 1950s and 1960s, investment had been a one-way flow from the U.S. to the rest of the world, with a concentration of manufacturing facilities in Europe. U.S. companies built up assets in Europe with so-called "overvalued" dollars, Kreinin explained.

With the shrinking value of the dollar, European firms now have the incentive to invest in the U.S. while U.S. firms have the incentive to export goods rather than invest abroad, said Kreinin.

The seminar from 7 to 9 p.m. on four consecutive Fridays from Oct. 27 through Nov. 17 will be held in Room 1707 of the Student Center Building of WCC-4300 E. Huron River Dr. Fee is $18 for the four-week seminar. In-district senior citizens are invited to attend at no charge. Advanced registration is requested and may be made by calling the Ypsilanti Center staff of the College at 482-2230.

Her improvement this year is the result of a fine attitude and tremendous self-motivation," he commented.

Washtenaw Resources Will Be Evaluated

You can help appraise the soil and water resources of Washtenaw county and develop a conservation program to protect and improve them.

Last fall, Congress passed the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act. The Resources Conservation Act calls for a comprehensive look at the nation's basic natural resources and for better programs to protect and improve them. An important part of the law is its emphasis on citizen participation in determining the future direction of conservation programs that affect local communities.

Under the law, you can express your views and opinions on the nation's natural resources. Using the views and opinions of all people, the U.S. Soil Conservation Service will develop a program to guide conservation efforts and make an annual evaluation of progress.

The Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District has joined the Soil Conservation Service in its effort to strengthen soil and water conservation programs. Together, they are conducting a survey to obtain opinions, concerns and suggestions on local soil and water resource problems and the kind of action people feel is necessary to improve them.

The Soil Conservation District is going to be contacting people to get their ideas and a future public meeting is planned to get suggestions first hand. The survey will run until mid-August in an effort to get as much public input as possible.

The District will welcome telephone calls, messages or letters from people who wish to express their views.

The Soil Conservation Districts office is located at 6101 Jackson R Ann Arbor 48103.

Food Prices Only Relatively Small Item in Consumer Price Index

The Consumer Price Index (CPI) indicates the rate of change in the cost of living by averaging prices for all major goods and services to obtain a national average. The items are then rated according to their relationship to the total cost of living. For example, shelter forms the number one cost item. It accounts for 29.2 percent of the total. The cost of transportation is second at 18 percent. Food is third, at 17.7 percent of the total CPI. Other items included in the total are health, education, and clothing.

Since food prices constitute only 17.7 percent of the total cost of living, rather significant changes in prices of one or two food items have a relatively small impact on the total cost of living. Another factor of increasing importance directly related to food price inflation is the cost of marketing food after it leaves the farm. In 1950, marketing costs were roughly 1.5 times the farm value of food. Today, they are more than double the farm value of food.

Bowling Benefit Nov. 4 For Lung Association

Chelsea Lanes will be part of an unprecedented 24-lane regional bowling benefit scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 4. It was announced today by Walter Charney, member of Michigan Lung Association's Huron Valley Regional Council. M.L.A. is the benefiting charity for this fund-raiser.

Competition is open to students who bowl in any division of the Youth Bowling Association. Sponsorship forms for young bowlers are available from the coach at the lanes.

Trophies will be awarded to top fund-raiser and each bowler will receive a "Bow Down Lung Disease" souvenir patch. Each participant should enlist the support of as many sponsors as possible by asking them to make a per-pin pledge. Further details about the event are printed on brochures which may be picked up at the lanes.

A "Bow Down Lung Disease" activity is a state-wide program which gives the local community the opportunity to show its commitment to healthy lungs. The event will help to fund M.L.A.'s programs in professional education and research, adult and child lung disease, smoking and health, and environmental health.

"We hope all local young bowlers will compete in this community effort for the fun of it and to fight lung disease," Charney said.

ASK THE GOVERNOR

by William G. Milligan

Question: I had a phone call from a person asking if I would like to invest in oil, gas and coal leases. How can I check if this is a legitimate investment?

Answer: Salespersons selling oil, gas and coal interests are usually required to be registered as securities agents in Michigan before they can offer any security to a Michigan citizen. You can check with the Department of Commerce's Corporation and Securities Bureau by phone (517-374-9426) to see if the person is registered.

Be sure to get a copy of the offering circular and read it. Among other things, this circular will tell you how much money is to be raised and how it is to be spent—for sales commissions, legal fees, drilling costs. The offering circular should also contain a business history of the promoter.

If it's available, get a geologist report. See that you receive a copy of the operating agreement between the promoter and you; this contract describes the services the promoter is to provide the program. You should also receive a copy of the assignment of the oil and gas lease from the promoter. If the salesman is a stranger to you, verify his credentials, see if he is a registered securities agent.

Most investment firms and salespersons are honorable and legitimate. "Con" men do a disservice not only to the individual but also to the professional investment firms. The first rule is never to invest without investigating. The Corporation and Securities Bureau will be more than happy to help you with any questions.

Question: What can we do to protect our children from measles and other vaccine preventable diseases?

Answer: One of the most important things a parent can do is to keep accurate personal immunization records and a health history. Every time a child is presented for an immunization, an entry should be made indicating the diseases for which the child has been immunized, the number of doses given, the dates when administered, and whether further immunizations are indicated. Parents should demand a copy of their record from their physicians or local health department and present it each time immunizations are given. The law requires health care providers to either make an entry on the parents' personal record or present a written certificate showing which vaccines were given at the time of each immunization.

If you have an immunization record, check to see if your child has had each of the following vaccines:

Measles—One dose given since 1967 and after the child was at least 13 months of age at the time of immunization.

Rubella—One dose given since 1969 and after the child was at least 13 months of age.

Mumps—One dose given since 1968 and after the child was at least 13 months of age.

Polio—A basic series of two or three doses of trivalent oral polio plus a booster dose given more than eight months after the second dose. Polio vaccine should be started in infancy, generally at 2 months of age. In addition, boosters at ages four and twelve years old are recommended.

Diphtheria, Tetanus and Pertussis—Children under 6 years should have a minimum of four doses of DTP vaccine including one booster given eight or more months after the third dose. These shots should be started in infancy, generally at two months of age. One additional dose is needed just before school entry.

Tetanus and Diphtheria Toxoids—The preferred vaccine for children over six years old receiving tetanus and diphtheria protection is the tetanus and diphtheria toxoids, Adult Type (Td). If some DTP vaccine was given during infancy, subtract the number of doses from four. Remember that the last dose should be given at least eight months after the third dose. If your child has had no previous DTP vaccine and is over six years old, only three doses of Td will be needed.

A booster dose of tetanus-diphtheria toxoid is needed once every 10 years after completing the basic series. Even adults need this ten-year booster.

If you don't have a record of your child's immunization history or your child has had fewer than the number of vaccine doses re-

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

By Michigan Farm Bureau Staff Writer

The Nitrite Flap . . .

Cyclamates, saccharin and now, maybe, nitrites . . .

The first two were an inconvenience to a lot of people, but if the government decides to completely ban nitrites, it will be more than an inconvenience. It will shake up the entire meat industry, and could mean the rise of one of the most deadly food poisoning agents around . . . botulism.

Nitrites are used to cure bacon, brach meats, hot dogs, etc. A few months ago, one of the famous government reports came out that said nitrites combined with heat could convert to nitrosamines, which have been shown to be carcinogenic to some laboratory animals.

In recent weeks, another report has been issued saying that the latest cancer evidence against the meat preservative nitrite is so damaging, that government food experts have already drawn up plans to ban it completely.

As with cyclamates and saccharin, one has to look at how much meat you would have to eat in order to get the same amount of nitrite that caused cancer in laboratory animals.

Virginia Congressman William Wampler and North Carolina Congressman James Martin have already introduced legislation that would prohibit the ban on nitrites by the government until the government completes its study on saccharin.

Rep. Martin has a PhD in chemistry and is a former professor at Davidson College. He says that he and Rep. Wampler want to make sure that the government is on "solid and undisputed ground" before it takes "precipitous action to ban nitrites."

The former chemistry teacher also passed along the information that the rats in the test were fed 1,500 times as much nitrite as humans ordinarily digest from cured meats. A human would have to eat 588 pounds of cured meat a day to reach that same level of intake. That's a bit more than most of us could handle!

Senior Citizens Needed To Help With Programs

Jobs are waiting for low-income seniors who are 55 years of age or older. Very special jobs helping special people—and part time.

They are positions called "senior aides" and are badly needed to work with other seniors, assisting those who are not as spry.

The Washtenaw County Community Services Agency is looking for seniors to help in its Senior Nutrition Program 20 hours a week. People are needed to ride on the pick-up bus as bus aides, helping others on and off the buses in Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Willow Run. Other persons are needed to assist in the dining room to serve food, and assist the cooks.

Persons with skills in crafts, sewing, knitting, or typing can be hired to teach or perform these tasks. And still others will be hired to act as research assistants locating and identifying seniors for home-bound meals.

Seniors need to be below certain income level, which is $3,100 for single families. Persons will receive $2.65 an hour. The program is federally funded and is being co-ordinated by the Washtenaw County Child and Family Services.

If you are interested in applying for any of the above jobs, please call Helen Courtwright at 994-1654.

World Grain Production

World grain production is expected to be up about 4 percent in 1978-79 from the previous year. The increase is likely to be larger than world utilization, so some build-up in world grain stocks is anticipated. The U.S. probably will continue to hold at least two-fifths of world wheat and coarse grain stocks.

Birchers Claim U.S. Should Not Fund UN

Area members and friends of the John Birch Society do not view the United Nations as a supporter of true human rights and freedom. Instead, they believe that our contributions to the United Nations have helped to suppress basic rights and glorify tyrants. They also believe that UN Day on Oct. 24 should be viewed as "a United Nations Day of Shame," and that we should withdraw from the world body. During the period around Oct. 24, Birchers will be distributing literature, hosting film showings, and conducting other educational projects that support their beliefs.

Debora Bollinger Begins Career In Health Care as Nurse's Aid

A sign hanging in her room encouraging the world, and herself to "do it my way" wraps up in one short, simple sentence the life and philosophies of Debora Bollinger, a firecracker of a Chelsea High School Class of '78 graduate.

"I'm a very independent person and I like being able to do things my way," she said intensely. One of the "things" she speaks of is her decision to seek work immediately after graduation. "I know I'm a good student, I've been on the honor roll for the past three years in high school, but going right back into school was not what I wanted to do," she said.

Instead, Debora went out several days after she completed 12 years in the Chelsea school system, applied for a job at Chelsea Community Hospital and has worked full-time during the summer as a nurse's aid.

If someone had told her of this accomplishment while she was a first-semester senior, however, she might have laughed at even the thought. "Until my second semester as a senior I had somehow wandered through three and a half years of high school without even an inkling of what I wanted to be or do with my future," she said.

Once, last summer, she gave serious thought to becoming an English teacher and even filled out three applications to Michigan universities to study for a teaching degree. "That was the time I was working as a secretary-switchboard operator in the high school during vacation and I saw hundreds of applications pour into the office for the seven vacant teaching jobs," she explained.

Debora also said that her sister-in-law has a master's degree in teaching, but no job. "After I saw all those applications and thought about my sister-in-law I said wait a minute! I want to be able to do something with a degree, not just talk about how I got it," she said. "I tore up all my applications," she added.

Bubbling with enthusiasm, personality, and confidence, Debora confided that she was something of a "roudy" as a freshman who "couldn't stand to be in school." Someone she met as a sophomore changed all that, she explained. "My grades went up, the house became cleaner, and I pretty much turned my self completely around," she said.

Still, not until she had a few conversations with two Chelsea graduates in her senior year, did she "decide that I needed a way to go and something to direct my life towards," she said. "My friends had taken the nurses aid class when they were seniors and what they said about it became convinced it would be good for me."

While taking the nurse's aid and health careers course in her second semester, Debora learned practical nurse's aid skills both in the classroom (in three-hour classes) and "on the job" at the United Methodist Retirement Home and in Chelsea Community Hospital.

"It was fairly intense but there was a lot to learn. I love the work so it didn't matter how long or how hard I had to study," she commented. Others in her class have also pursued medical-related work or studies. Mary Beth Mc-

Ginn also worked at the Chelsea hospital; Ann Marie Burgess is attending nursing school, and Steven Jaskot is working for a local ambulance company.

Eventually, Debora said she will resume her studies. "I look forward to returning to school. I may not be ready just now but anyone who is smart knows that they have to keep learning. Right now I am learning from life."

In five years, she sees herself as still working for the Chelsea hospital, and in seven years she will have her LPN and a job "somewhere near Clare, Michigan." "I'll definitely stick with the small town as I greatly dislike big cit-

No Intestinal Fortitude

Be glad that you are not living in Anchorage, Alaska. Living costs more there than in any of 40 other selected urban areas. It costs a bit over $24,000 a year for what is called an "intermediate" budget in Anchorage.

Honolulu, Hawaii is next on the high-cost list at $20,883 per year, followed by Boston, just a few dollars cheaper. New York, San Francisco, Buffalo and Milwaukee rate in that order as 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th highest cost places in which to live. Washington, D.C., is just a tad cheaper than Milwaukee, followed by Minneapolis, Hartford, Detroit, Chicago, and a host of others.

In general, parts of the south and southwest are lower cost places, with cities in Kansas, parts of California, Texas, Tennessee, Louisiana and Florida, all on the cheaper side. Cheapest of all major urban areas checked is Austin, Tex., where one can live on an intermediate budget for less than $15,000.

What makes the difference between cities? Changing lifestyles—costs of housing and rent—and other differences between the costs of goods and services. Taxes are part of it; intensity of unionization is part of it. This year, economists predict that labor's share of the food dollar will exceed by $2 billion the farmers' share for producing it.

But then, that's what farmers have been saying all along . . . that labor is the biggest cause of inflation. They KNOW it is the biggest bite out of your food dollar. But no one is supposed to criticize the "sacred cow"—the labor unions. No one Congressman or even the President has the intestinal fortitude to stand up to George Meany and say: "No more unrealistic raises for you people."

Farmers realize the courage it took for a steadfast minority in the U. S. Senate to resist the pressures of big labor and the administration and kill the so-called labor reform bill. This bill would have given labor unions even more opportunity to impose the inflationary wage demands and costly work rules that have so damaged American industrial productivity.

Union officials have been watching their declining membership rolls and taking a look at agriculture as a place to expand. That look spells "danger" to farmers—as it should to consumers. Imagine what it would cost of life if unions gained a monopoly over the nation's farms!

Religiously Affiliated Schools Offer Unique Look at Campus Life

Campus town tours featuring religiously affiliated schools give Michiganians an interesting look at college life and some unique architectural and cultural attractions, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

An Archeological museum containing more than 7,000 relics, including a large collection from the Middle East, is featured at Andrew's University, a Seventh Day Adventist school in Berrien near Memorial church has one of the largest pipe organs in the country.

The 104-year-old facility also has four campus industries where students work off tuition expenses. They include a furniture factory, bindery, dairy farm and print shop.

Hancock's Suomi College—the only Finnish college in the United States—has a Finnish archives building. It is affiliated with the Lutheran Church of America.

St. Mary's College (Roman Catholic) in Orchard Lake has a Center for Polish Studies and Culture complete with library, archives, art gallery and museum depicting Polish America. Located 27 miles northwest of Detroit, the college has a faculty residence resembling a European castle.

The University of Detroit, the largest of Michigan's religiously affiliated colleges with a 9,000-student enrollment, is one of four Roman Catholic schools in Detroit. The others are Sacred Heart Academy and Marygrove and Mercy Colleges. U. of D.'s 10-story-high clock tower is featured in Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" because it is a combination clock, smokestack and World War I memorial.

Sacred Heart's beautiful Gothic chapel was built in 1924 with materials shipped from throughout the world. Marygrove and Mercy colleges are noted Liberal Arts institutions offering cultural activities for the community.

Albion College (United Methodist) in Albion has one of Michigan's most scenic campuses and its trees 90 acres of plants, shrubs and trees. Kalamazoo College (Baptist) in Kalamazoo is noted for its Georgian-style architecture.

The Robinson Planetarium and Robinson Observatory are integral parts of the 133-year-old Adrian College campus (United Methodist) in Adrian. The school also has a picturesque walkway with 55 varieties of trees. Nearby Siena Heights College (Roman Catholic) has excellent art and music departments, with student exhibits and shows featured throughout the academic year.

Livonia's Madonna College (Roman Catholic) is noted for its liberal arts programs for the deaf and is one of only four such schools in the nation. Public tours are available daily. Duns Scotas College (Roman Catholic) in Southfield is a Franciscan brotherhood with a 13th-century-styled chapel. Noted religious teachers and historians lecture as part of the Bible training sessions at the Reformed Bible College (Protestant) in Grand Rapids. The programs are open to the public. Nearby Grace Bible College (Protestant) is one of Michigan's smallest and newest colleges and its 15-acre grounds house about 175 students.

Three other religiously affiliated schools are located in Grand Rapids. Calvin College (Christian Reformed) was built on the old J. C. Miller estate and the college's Manor House has been featured in magazine advertisements because of its picturesque setting. Aquinas College (Roman Catholic) and Grand Rapids Baptist Bible College and Seminary (Baptist) have scenic campuses.

The Great Lakes Bible College (Protestant) in Lansing presents a Madrigal dinner, concert and play that is open to the public in late November. The event is staged at the college church, which is decorated as a medieval castle. Olivet College (Protestant) in Olivet is one of Michigan's oldest colleges and its Burrage Library is registered as a state and national historical landmark. Much of the curriculum at Spring Arbor College (Free Methodist) is devoted to fine arts, and there are week-end amateur and professional programs staged at the school from September through May.

Hope College (Protestant) in Holland also is noted for its fine arts department, with student-produced play held throughout the year. Western Theological Seminary (Reformed Church of America) also in Holland, began as a theological department of Hope College in 1868. Noted theologians from Michigan and elsewhere conduct seminars at the facility.

Laws and regulations setting employment standards, providing workers' compensation to some groups of workers injured on their jobs and requiring federal contractors to provide equal employment opportunity are enforced by the Employment Standards Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Ambulance Balks So Baby Born at Home

When the ambulance they had called never arrived and Vickie Rousculp told her mother she was going to have the baby at home Mrs. Steinaway laughed and said "don't you dare."

About 10 minutes later, however, Vickie had given birth to a 5-pound, 12-ounce baby girl named Melissa Ann at 5:12 a.m. Monday, Oct. 16, and according to her husband, Thomas, "they're doing fine."

Vickie, Thomas, and their three children were staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Steinaway on Arthur St., while looking for a home of their own when the home-birth occurred.

"I've had five children of my own but I was petrified at thinking that she was really going to have the baby right here," Mrs. Steinaway said. "I still don't think I could do it again even after watching it happen," she added.

Mrs. Rousculp woke up early Monday morning with pains and told her husband to start the car. "That got almost everyone moving in the house and we wrapped a blanket around her and started for the back door. That's as far as we got. She said she couldn't go any further and sat down right there," Mr. Rousculp explained.

A call to the Chelsea Police Department was made for an ambulance request but "when they hadn't arrived in 10 minutes we called back to find out what had happened. Just then the Chelsea police and the two ambulance attendants arrived at the house saying that the ambulance wouldn't start and the police had picked them up and taken them here," Rousculp said.

The Horne-Vinson attendants proceeded to deliver Melissa "like it was the easiest thing in the world. They did an absolute perfect job," Mrs. Steinaway commented. "All we had to do was hold the water for their scissors, and watch," she added.

Shortly after, an ambulance from Ann Arbor arrived which whisked the mother and babe to University Hospital. Thomas said they were expected to be released on Wednesday.

"We are truly grateful that the police and attendants responded so quickly and did such a good job. We really needed their help," Rousculp said.

Also on hand to witness the event was the Steinaway's daughter Debbie, a sophomore at Chelsea High school who told her mother that the experience fit perfectly into her child guidance class at school.

Melissa is the Rousculp's fourth child.

Access to the alley for Summit and Orchard St. residents would be off Orchard St., as per the condition, for their exclusive use. Residents could also use the entrance off Main St. to reach the alley but they would be competing with bank traffic.

If the bank opts for this or a facsimile of this alley re-alignment Barkley said that it would have to obtain the permission of every resident on Orchard and Summit St. whose land is directly adjacent to the alley.

Should the bank fail in this attempt, they still have two alternatives. First, the bank could go through the Washtenaw County Circuit Court with a re-plat request. In effect, the bank would be requesting a re-alignment of the alley determined by a judge's decision.

The bank could also attempt to meet the two conditions without re-routing the alley which could be done without the resident's permission or without going to court.

Superintendent Van Meer gave an update on the POHI (Physically or Otherwise Health Impaired) plans for Washtenaw county.

Superintendent Van Meer informed the board that he, Fred Mills, and Dr. Daniel Snyder had attended a Legislative Breakfast in Ann Arbor. The Legislators spoke on the three referendums that will impact public education.

Meeting adjourned at 10:05 p.m.

JV Gridders Down Dexter for 4th Win

Rolling up 16 points in the second half, Chelsea junior varsity offense doubled the number of points Dexter's stingy defense had given up in an entire game in the previous four weeks to grab their fifth win of the season last Thursday, 16-12.

Bulldogs and Dreadnaughts played evenly through the first quarter but left the scoreboard blank. Second quarter action saw Dexter nabbing Chelsea's first punt of the game and returning it for a 45-yard touchdown. Missing out on an extra point run attempt, Dexter led by the end of the first half, 6-0.

Chelsea stormed the field in the third quarter behind super blocking as the Bulldogs took the opening kickoff for a 67-yard drive. Jeff Dils went 13 yards on the sweep, untouched, for the TD and completed the extra points attempt to put Chelsea ahead, 6-6.

During the fourth quarter, Dexter intercepted a pass and returned it 45 yards to score but again failed to make the extra point. Receiving the kickoff, Chelsea marched 68 yards with Carl Simpson running two yards for the touchdown and Bill Freeman running the extra points good for the winning 16-12 score. Dils had a 40-yard dash in the series on another sweep.

Chelsea is now tied for first place in the SEC with Milan and Novi all with 4-1 records and Dexter a half game behind with a 3-1-1 record. The Bulldogs play Saline at home tonight at 7 p.m., the last home game of the season.

The offensive line of Jeff Price, Jon Riemenschneider, Brian Dault, Ken Hopkins, Sandy McLaughlin, Chan Lane, Kirk Stubbs, Les Hafner, Chris Heaton, and Craig Thams really did the job in the second half while the backs of Bill Freeman, John Preston, and Carl Simpson executed great blocking.

Offensively, Dils had 115 yards; Freeman, 81; Simpson, 72; Preston, 21; and Riemenschneider, one.

Leading tackler was Steve Wilson with seven; Riemenschneider, seven; Dault, six; Simpson, six; McLaughlin, six; Freeman, four; Heaton, four; Mike Wade, three; Les Hafner, three; Preston, three; Dils, three; Mark Steinaway, two; Ken Hopkins, two; Ken Elliott, one; and Kirk Stubbs, one.

Bulldog defensive unit was super as Dexter never came close to scoring against them.

PROPERTY TAX LOSES AT POLL

According to a recent survey tax placed a far second with a 19 percent disapproval. On the subject of raising more state revenue, 71 percent preferred increasing taxes on sales or income. On raising more federal funds, 70 percent of those polled indicated the best method would be to eliminate tax loopholes.

Although no particular tax received a resounding approval, it was a clear-cut message that American's major complaint with our fiscal system lies with the property tax. When queried as to which tax was the "least fair," 45 percent selected the property tax, the federal income

Analysis of Proposal 'J', Tisch Amendment

By Raymond E. Van Meer Supt., Chelsea School District. The Tisch Amendment is Michigan's attempt to emulate California's Proposal 13. This proposal lowers property tax assessments from 50 percent to 25 percent of the true cash value, limits property assessment increases to 2.5 percent per year, and permits the state income tax to go up from 4.6 percent to 5.6 percent. This proposal would effectively cut local property tax revenues in half for all units of local government. The resulting loss in property tax revenues to local units of government would exceed $1.75 billion. About $900 million of this revenue loss would come from local school budgets. The state currently levies a 4.6 percent income tax; the legislature would be limited by the Tisch proposal to a 1 percent increase in the income tax in order to raise state revenues to offset the loss of local property tax. An estimated $500 million could be produced by this increase of 1 percent in the income tax. All units of local government, of course, would be attempting to obtain a portion of these new state revenues. With the $500 million additional state revenues from the increased income tax there would be an over-all loss in state and local tax revenues of $1 billion. If a $200 million decrease in the amount of the circuit breaker rebates from the state is considered, there would still be about $800 million loss in available tax revenues to all units of government.

The Tisch Amendment would allow schools to seek voter approval of a 1 percent local income tax in addition to school property tax. This local income tax is not equalized or guaranteed to bring in any certain amount of revenues. The amount of school operating funds to be derived from the local tax would be completely dependent upon local income.

The Tisch Amendment is attractive on the surface in that it offers an immediate tax cut. However, this is not a tax reduction proposal. It is a Tax Shift Proposal, as it places a limit on the state's most equitable revenue source, but it will not prevent increases in the state income tax and the single business tax, or the imposition of user fees, or new or increased local taxes. The tax structure that is likely to result would be more regressive than the current tax structure.

It is apparent that the ultimate effect of the Tisch proposal is financing education will be dependent on the legislature's willingness to raise state-wide taxes to replace the lost property tax revenues.

The greatly increased dependency upon the state to support public education would also result in a shift of power and control from local units of government to the state.

Campers, Hikers Group Marks 10th Birthday

Ten members of the National Campers and Hikers Association Chapter No. 89 celebrated their 10th anniversary at P. J.'s campgrounds just outside Munith. A decorated cake was served followed by games and trick or treats. Chances were taken on many useful items at the party.

1979 elected officers are Jim Ritchie, president; Dan Scott, vice-president; Dorene Cozzens, secretary; and Carol Peterson, treasurer.

The club will hold a Christmas party in December and a summer outing meeting in March.

PREPARED TO WALK FOR HUNGER: Nearly 25 Beach Middle school 8th graders spent the past week learning about the various causes of world hunger before joining in the 4th annual Walk for Hunger in Ann Arbor last Sunday sponsored by the Hunger Task Force of the Interfaith Council for Peace in co-operation with CROP (the Hunger Appeal for Church World Service). The students of science teachers Alice Steinbach and Mrs. Nola Borders, as part of a health unit, have watched films on hunger in the world, listened to a speaker who discussed several of the political reasons for hunger, and made posters to carry in the walk in their art class. "An important aspect of the unit is that people feel good about themselves when they are helping others," Steinbach added. Students who volunteered for the Sunday walk collected pledges from sponsors for each mile they walked or jogged. "One student had more than four notebook pages filled with at least 64 sponsors," Steinbach said. Last year the walk collected approximately $20,000 with one-fourth given to local hunger agencies and the balance turned over to CROP for several hunger projects across the world.

Three Candidate's Nights Scheduled In Ann Arbor Area

The League of Women Voters of the Ann Arbor Area will present three candidates' nights before the Nov. 7 election on the following dates: Wednesday, Oct. 25; Wednesday, Nov. 1; and Thursday, Nov. 2. Eastern Michigan's Radio Station WEMU will co-sponsor the Nov. 2 event. At each meeting, opposing candidates for an office will deliver prepared statements and respond to brief written questions from the audience.

Candidates for state representative from the 23rd, 52nd, and 53rd districts will speak on Oct. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ann Arbor City Hall Council Chamber.

Appearing on Nov. 1 will be candidates for state senator from the 13th District and judicial candidates for the 14th District Court and the Washtenaw County Probate Court. The meeting, which will be held in the Ypsilanti City Hall Council Chamber, will begin at 8 p.m.

Speaking on Nov. 2 will be candidates for state senator from the 18th District and for U.S. congressman from the 2nd District. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Ann Arbor City Hall Council Chamber.

The three meetings will be broadcast over radio stations WPAG and WEMU and will end at 10 p.m.

Wheat Program Seeks Reduction In '79 Acreage

According to Dorothy M. Howard, CED, Washtenaw County ASC Committee, wheat producers may plant as much wheat for 1979 harvest as desired providing the acreage plus 20 percent set aside, plus all other grain crops is within Normal Crop Acres, (NCA), on the farm.

However, farmers are encouraged to plant 15 percent less wheat than 1978 harvest, and will then be eligible for deficiency payment on 100 percent of the wheat crop. Deficiency (depressed price) will be determined late in 1979.

The Set Aside program is very much the same for 1979 as in 1978.

Contact the ASCS office for further details.

Recognition Given County's Top 4-H Club Members, Leaders

"Hands to a Better Future" was the theme for the 1978 Annual 4-H Recognition Night Ceremonies. The molding of tomorrow's leaders takes many willing hands today, those of friends, leaders and parents. Monday, Oct. 16 at Wylie school, Dexter, found many pairs of these hands being recognized from their support and work in the 4-H youth program. Not just friends, leaders and parents were recognized but 4-H members as well.

Recipients of the Danforth Foundation "I Dare You" awards were Gayle Pasterino of the Tens N Teens 4-H Club of Ann Arbor and George "Chip" McCalla of Ann Arbor a member of the Saline 4-H Farmers.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

By Thomas E. O'Hara. Many years ago, I bought 500 shares of National Cash Register which is now called NCR. It is down a lot from what I paid for it, but it has come up quite a bit in the last two years. Also, the dividend is quite small. I'm retired and wonder if I should sell it and put my money where I'll get a higher dividend.

A. As cash register technology changed to the new computerized types, NCR had some bad years. But, since the early '70's, it seems to have made a very good recovery. Earnings in 1977 were up more than 50 percent from the previous year. In 1978, the company plans to buy back up to one million of its shares. This and a continued increase in profitability, should produce another good increase in earnings this year. My guess is that the price of the stock will be trending upwards in the months ahead. Nevertheless, in view of your need for more income, I'd be inclined to sell it. Talk with your broker or banker and ask him to suggest one of the many good moderately growing companies you can get today that will give you a yield of 5-8 percent with the prospects of further increases over the years. Also, I am enclosing a copy of the August issue of Better Investing which contains a list of utility stocks which are yielding 7-9 percent. These would give you a very substantial increase in income at the present time and the possibility of continuing increases.

Evangelist Appearing at Sharon Church

A series of evangelistic services is currently being conducted at 7 p.m. each night and at Sunday services at the North Sharon Bible church located between Chelsea and Manchester. Evangelist, Pete Rice from the Bill Rice Ranch in Murreesboro, Tenn., is the preacher.

The Sunday, Oct. 22, schedule is 10 a.m., 11 a.m., and 7 p.m. Special music is being provided by the "Midwestern Belles" from the Midwestern Baptist College in Pontiac. The church is at the corner of Sylvan and Washburne Rds., in Sharon Township.

Evangelist Rice travels extensively holding revival campaigns all across the country. A world traveler, Rice has been in many parts of Europe, Russia, the islands, and the troubled Middle East. Articles, sermons and a regular column by him have appeared in Christian publications. He authored his first book before he was 25 and it has sold several thousand copies.

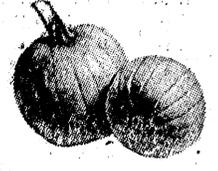

Pastor Ronald C. Purkey welcomes everyone to these special services. A nursery is provided during every service.

Michigan Turns on Fall Season Color

Michigan's 19 million acres of forestland are showing their colors as they make their annual transition from summer green to shades of autumn. The seasonal spectacular seems to generate a magnetic force attracting native and visitor alike to the rain-powdered highways, byways and pathways for a closer look at nature's handiwork. The Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, offers a free Autumn Color Tour Guide to assist you in following the course of the changing leaves throughout the state.

The season is a delightful time for camping, week-end picnics and wiener roasts... for browsing craft and antique shops and sipping cider fresh from the press. Michigan cider mills—and there are close to 100—are favorite stops for fall color tourists. The Franklin Mill at Franklin, for example, sports a huge water wheel that still turns, and is approaching its 150th birthday. It is also a national historic site. The Parmenter Mill at Northville has an old-fashioned store with shopping surprises, and Uncle John's Cider Mill at St. Johns takes you back to the days of pitcher pump sinks and pot-bellied stoves.

Popular attractions such as Tahquamenon Falls, the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore, Kalamazoo Nature Center and Greenfield Village are particularly beautiful at this time of year. State Parks and favorite stops are less congested and accommodations much easier to come by.

Fall is also prime time for fishing as salmon, steelhead and brown trout move into Michigan's rivers and anglers are seldom disappointed. October is the month for partridge and pheasant and bow and arrow hunters. Roadside stands offer red cheeked apples, plump pumpkins, squash and Indian corn. And, there are harvest festivals, hobby and craft shows, bazaars and flea markets to attend.

From the first tinge of color till the last leaf falls, autumn in Michigan is a fantastic season to be enjoyed and explored by all ages. Try it yourself... right now. For color tour and events information and fall fishing reports call the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce at 373-1195 in the Lansing area; or 900-292-2520, toll free, from other areas of Michigan.

Army Releases
Sourcebook for Senior Students

"Sourcebook '79," a magazine sponsored by the United States Army, will be available to Chelsea High school seniors at no cost in the near future, according to an Army release.

The 72-page publication is said to address such questions as how to deal with the senior year and graduation, how to face adulthood and start a career, and how to open lines of communication between students and teachers. Other articles focus on sports, teen-age super talents, and famous celebrities who give their advice to seniors on coping with high school days.

For fun, the magazine takes a stab at the query, "is it true that Gilda Radner, America's Saturday Night sweetheart, was a shy, overweight 'nerd' as a high school senior?"

In a special report, the "Senior's Career Planner" is intended to direct students to thoughts of the future.

Seniors may obtain a copy through their guidance counselor.

John Swainson, Democrat, will speak to the group on Saturday, Oct. 21 on the history of the Democratic Party in Michigan.

Correction

In the Oct. 12 issue of The Standard it was reported that Homer Kuhl was assisted by the Rev. R. J. Ratzlaff in installing the glass door which had been broken during a burglary. In fact, Kuhl, who has been a member of the church for 30 years and the chairman of the building and grounds committee for two years, was directing the work of his son, Gregory Kuhl, and LeRoy Satterthwaite who were replacing the glass. The Rev. Ratzlaff was observing the work when he fell and broke his arm.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics was originally created by Congress in 1844 and was made part of the newly established U. S. Department of Labor in 1913.

STOP.
DETOUR

Unless you're crazy about the drive, there's no real reason to drive into Detroit looking for new car bargains. Rampy Chevrolet in Ann Arbor is a lot closer and you'll get the same low prices you find in Detroit—maybe even lower. At Rampy you'll also find the kind of careful, competent, come again service you expect from small town folks who know their neighbors.

You see, Rampy's not just the biggest Chevrolet dealer in Washtenaw County, he's got the biggest dealership of any kind in the country. That means that he's governed by the same kind of high volume economics you've been driving all the way into Detroit to find.

On the other hand, Ann Arbor is a town where people do know each other. Word gets around. And the word is that Rampy gives good service after the sale. As a matter of fact, Rampy's service department has been used as a model for training other Chevrolet dealers.

Isn't it time you took a detour? Before you drive all the way into Detroit looking for a new car... stop at Rampy. We don't think you'll go any further.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
The Headlee limitation plan has hidden dangers that the media has not yet brought to the public's attention. A careful study of the fine print in the proposal shows the following:
Property taxes will double every seven years at the present 10 percent inflation under the Headlee plan.
State tax revenue will rise at a rate greater than inflation under the Headlee plan due to the 1 percent allowed for the rainy day fund.
Property tax is tied to cost-of-living index. If we vote the Headlee plan into law it will be an automatic rise in taxes every year.
The Headlee plan stops any return to local controlled government. The state has a high level of control now.

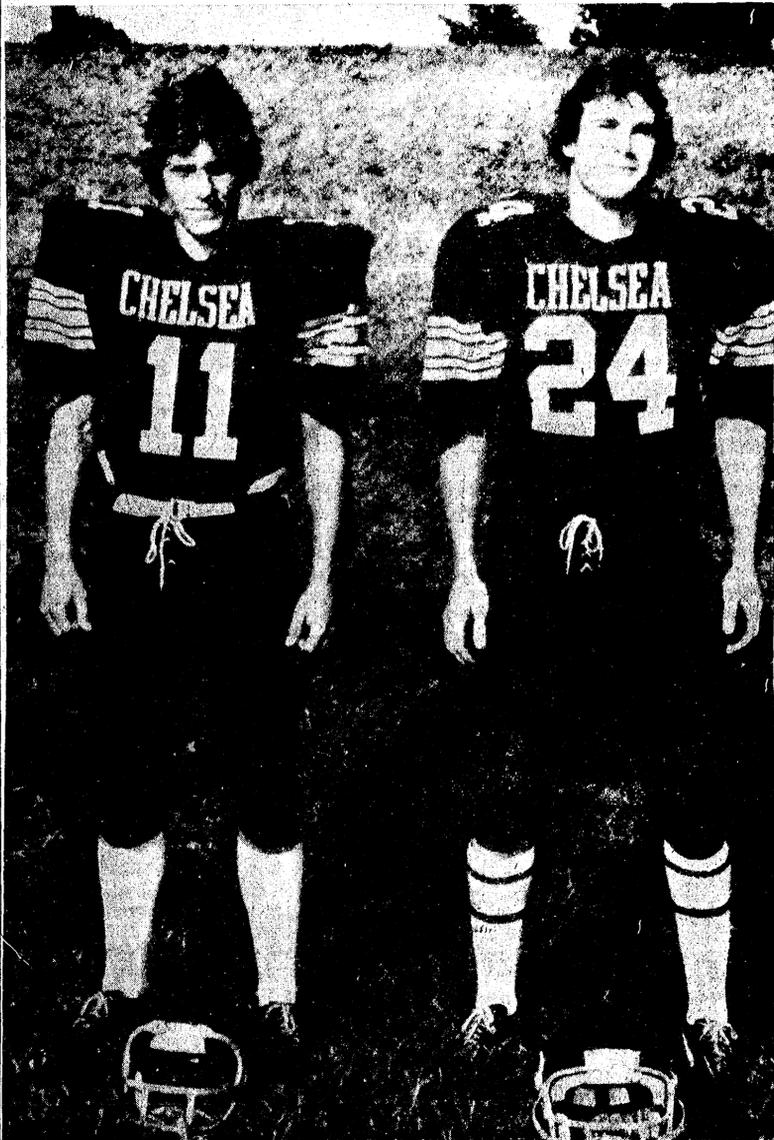

The Headlee plan encourages a federal takeover of state government as Federal Aid is excluded. Federal revenue sharing is now at 25 percent of total state revenue.
State government spending is not limited by Headlee as Federal Aid is excluded from limitation formula. The Federal government will provide printing press money for the increased spending.

Gridders of the Week

JOHN DUNN (11), has made a spectacular showing as a junior, first-year varsity team member on the Bulldog team with few games played where he hasn't contributed a score or invaluable play. Slotted as a quarterback, the 5'10", 168-pound gridder says he likes the position because "I have to know what all the players are doing, and it puts me in the thick of action," he explained. Dunn receives the ball from the center and hands it off or drops back for a throw during each line up and this constant demand on his decision making is what John says makes him tick. Just as it would be hard for him to say what his worst game has been, it is also difficult for him to pin down the best one. "I'd have to say Brighton because I threw a couple of touchdown passes," he said. But to look at the record, Dunn was on top during the South Lyon confrontation when he entered part way into the game as quarterback and helped Chelsea steal back the game that seemed out of their reach. Like Wood, Dunn knows the Saline game is crucial to the SEC title victory and is equally convinced the Bulldogs are up to the pressure. "We'll have to have a good offensive line out there punching it out and hitting it hard," he said. Still, he cautioned, "the game could go either way, but it promises to be a good one." John is the son of Jack and Nancy Dunn, 555 Washington St.

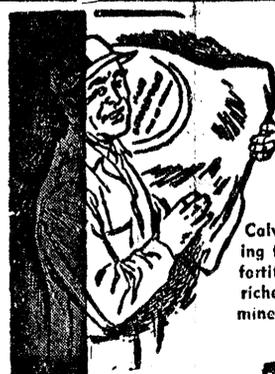

MIKE WOOD (24), is preparing for an intense week of practice as offensive tailback and fullback, along with the 30 or so other Bulldog gridgers, as the tied-for-first-place team heads for the deciding game of the season tomorrow night. "We are having a solid week of practice because whoever wins the game is sure to win the title," Wood commented from the locker room. Wood is a junior, first-year varsity member who was named Most Valuable Offensive Back last season. As a tailback, the 5'11", 174-pound player "is a key running back," while as a fullback he is concerned more with blocking. "I play more as a fullback because I can handle the block but in time I hope to extend my time as tailback because I like to run with the ball," he explained. Wood's best game this season was during the Bulldog's homecoming victory over Dexter when he started and played nearly the entire game. "I blocked most of the time and worked more as a team member than in any other game," he remarked. Wood gained 22 yards during the game. Commenting on the painful defeat by Milan, Wood said, "we realized that our wins don't come automatically and that we have to work hard to claim the win. When we defeated Dexter we picked up our intensity, got back on our feet, and proved that we are still in contention for the title." "Saline will be a good game but I think Chelsea will be better prepared," he added. Mike is the son of Clarence and Nancy Wood, 646 Flanders St.
