Blood Bank Clinic Yields 91-Pint Total

Ninety-one hurried Christmas shoppers put their feet up and rolled back their sleeves last Saturday in support of the annual Chelsea Jaycee Blood Drive.

Only three would-be donors were turned down for medical reasons. "It was a moderately successful effort this year," project chairman Dale Messing reported. "We had hoped for 110 pints to break the 100 mark again but it didn't happen," he commented.

According to Messing, "the bulk of our donors are those who respond to the individual phone calls we make asking them to donate a pint. The real crux of the program is having a solid calling list and I think that prior to our drive next year we will expand the list," he explained.

Chelsea Jaycees worked in cooperation with the Ann Arbor Chapter of the American Red Cross which provided the competent nurses and the food.

While the service club failed to reach its goal of 110 pints, Messing pointed out that each and every pint is needed during the holiday season. "We appreciate the time and effort of those who did make it to the clinic. They gave to help someone else and we thank them for it," he added.

Cagers Lose To Milan in Final Seconds

If the two teams had set up a see saw in the middle of the court it wouldn't have looked much different than the game they played Friday night.

Chelsea varsity Bulldogs took on the Milan Big Reds for a crushing 59-56 defeat snatched from the Bulldogs' paws in the last two minutes of the game.

Milan pushed the lead to 10-4 in the first two minutes but the Bulldogs nibbled away for the remaining 14 minutes to tie them, 31-31, by half-time.

Inspired by the first half, Chelsea upped their lead in the third stanza to 42-39, outscoring the Big Reds, 11-8. "We switched our man-to-man defense to zone and caught them off guard," Coach Robin Raymond explained of the strategy.

Then Milan's Tyrone Pope stepped in for a 10-foot jump shot for a 55-54 lead. Chelsea's Charlie Bridges returned with his own version to give the Bulldogs the advantage.

13 seconds remained when Milan came down with two free throws when Chelsea fouled their Fred Couch. With six seconds and counting, Chelsea brought the ball down, Milan stole it and the Bulldogs were forced to foul. Big Red Tim Keller made two free throws for the 59-56 win.

"It was our best offensive game all year," Raymond commented. "We shot 49 percent from the floor and a good 67 percent from the line. What hurt us was our inability to get the big baskets at the end of the game which is what happened exactly during the Stockbridge game," he explained.

Don Schrotenboer led the Bulldogs on the floor with 16 points; Gary Dils tallied 14; Charlie Bridges, 12; and Jeff Dils, 10. Mike Machesky and Brad Knickerbocker chipped in with two each.

Chelsea collected 35 rebounds to Milan's 25 off of Bridges with 14; Don Schrotenboer with 10; and Gary Dils with three.

Chelsea had 16 turnovers and Milan had 11. Milan turned in 19 fouls and Chelsea had 14 with Gary Dils fouled out in the first quarter.

"Our players did a good job of zone defense, shutting Milan down until the last minute of the game. Milan played a 2-3 half-court zone and switched to a man-to-man at the end. We ran a zone offense which was strong and patient enough to work for the good shot and beat the Milan zone defense," Raymond said.

Raymond added that the team is in need of a leader on the floor, "someone to pull them through when the going is close. I don't see one now," he commented.

Chelsea is now 3-3 over-all and 2-2 in SEC. They play Dexter at home on Jan. 5. Milan is undefeated with a 6-0 record.

Other Friday night action saw South Lyon take a close win over Dexter, 43-41 as their Randy Lew-

United Way Fund Edges Closer to Goal

Chelsea United Way has reached 95 percent of its 1978 goal and needs less than $2,000 in additional gifts or pledges to go over the top, President Gerald Dresselhouse announced Tuesday.

"A number of substantial donors have yet to make their pledges or gifts," he said, "because they have been away or were not available at the time our solicitors called."

"We have had strong support from both employees and management among the big industrial establishments in town, as well as Chelsea merchants and commercial establishments. I'm sure that our United Way volunteers will get the help we need during this final 'second effort' to cross the goal line," he added.

Dresselhouse noted that many families have felt the pinch of inflation as living costs have outraced improvements in income.

"Their generous support in the 1978 campaign is doubly appreciated by our volunteers because many people who are helped by agencies of Chelsea United Way have double afflictions, to—family problems, health problems, physical or mental handicaps—plus inflation."

The Chelsea United Way thermometer is expected to top the 100 mark before the year ends. Officers for 1979 will be elected by the board of directors at the annual meeting in January.

Wrestlers Get First Victory At Tecumseh

Chelsea varsity grapplers traveled to Tecumseh Tuesday evening for a dual meet and their first win of the season, 30-26.

Bulldog winners were Tony Wisniewski at 105 lbs. with a 4-1 decision; Craig Sturgeon, an 8-6 decision at 119 lbs.; Chuck Young, a 4-2 decision at 132 lbs.; and John Whitaker, a 7-1 decision at 138 lbs.

Pin victors were Jeff Osentoski at 112 lbs.; Bart Bauer at 145 lbs.; Alan Augustine at 191 lbs.; and Tom Bareis at heavyweight. Chelsea is now 1-4 for the year and hosts Willow Run on Jan. 4.

Jeffrey Bust Promoted in U.S. Navy

Jeffrey Bust, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bust of Chelsea, was recently promoted to senior grade lieutenant in the U. S. Navy, seven months earlier than expected.

Bust is assigned to the Dwight D. Eisenhower nuclear powered aircraft carrier now stationed in Norfolk, Va. As of Jan. 1 the ship will be enroute to the Mediterranean area.

A 1971 graduate of Chelsea High school, Bust graduated from the Naval Academy in 1975. He and his wife Mary, the former Mary Tandy of Chelsea, live in Virginia Beach, Va.

Senior Trip Club Offers Babysitting

Need a babysitter?

Chelsea High school Senior Trip Club has just the answer for your 6-year-old or older child who loves Christmas but would rather not tag along for the shopping.

On Thursday, today, Dec. 21 from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., nearly a dozen seniors have planned an action-packed day to occupy your child while you wrap presents, shop for that last-minute gift, or just put your feet up for a blessed hour or two.

The seniors have arranged for five classic cartoon films and a number of games. They will also have lunch on sale including sandwiches, hot dogs, munchies and soft drinks. The price is nominal at $2 for the day, not including the price of the food.

The service will be provided in the high school auditorium. Proceeds will go towards their planned trip to Hawaii.

Two Special Olympians Join All-Stars

On Dec. 20, Nancy Cooper received a call from the state director of Special Olympics asking if four of the county's athletes would like to participate in an all-star floor hockey tournament in San Diego, Calif. They would be playing in an all-star Michigan team. Grand Rapids and Bay City would provide the other 8 team members.

The decision was difficult, but Cooper decided to take the high scorer and the winning goalie from last week end's state tournament that would be Ryan Sweeney as offense and Terry Walkowiak as goalie. The other two going will be two High Point players who helped them win the area competition.

The tournament will be held Feb. 16, 17, 18. They will fly out there and pay the entire expenses themselves. At this time meals, rooms, and transportation will be about $250 per student. Money from the run-a-thon will be used and other community donations, Cooper said.

PATIENT QUILTERS: For 11 months out of the year, 97-year-old Lydia Zahn, left, and her daughter, Mrs. Irma Grau, patiently stitch thousands of squares and rectangles of cloth into handsome quilts which are given away each Christmas to area hospital and nursing home patients. This year they completed more than 200 laprobes and while they are currently on "vacation" for holiday entertaining, "come the first of the year we'll be right back at it," Mrs. Grau said. Friends, neighbors, and relatives all donate their unused material to the mother-daughter team for the quilts. Aside from periodic arthritis pains, Lydia enjoys near perfect health. Most of the sewing is done on treadle sewing machines but where the two women have energy to spare, their machines are slowly wearing out and replacement parts hard to find they said. They will be only too happy to take anyone's material scraps for their project which may be left at their home on 3380 S. Fletcher Rd., Chelsea.

Mother-Daughter Team Make Lap Robes, Quilts for Hospitals

Ninety-seven-year-old Lydia Zahn is on vacation.

But only after putting in her 10th year of painstaking quilt making—her gift to the hospital and nursing home patients in the Chelsea-Ann Arbor area.

This year Lydia and her daughter Irma Grau, both of 3380 S. Fletcher Rd., have completed more than 200 hand and treadle machine stitched lap robes for the young and old.

"We have so many thoughtful friends who save their unused sewing material and bring bags and bags over to our home that we almost have to keep on quilting or run out of room in the house," Mrs. Grau said.

All four bedrooms in the more than 100-year-old elegant farm home have closets stuffed with cotton, silk, brocade, velvet, and any imaginable fabric scraps donated for the women's energetic project.

"Soon after mother moved in with me we thought we could make a warmer, happier Christmas for patients by turning leftover material into quilts," Mrs. Grau commented. That was 10 years ago and since then they have worked the year around making between 100 and 200 quilts every year to be given away.

Lydia, sitting comfortably in her rocker, a newly stitched quilt on her lap, recalled a time about five years ago when she thought her quilting days had reached an end. "I couldn't read my books any more and threading a needle was impossible," she said. A successful operation, however, removing cataracts on both her eyes, have brought the classic, friendly woman back to the land of seeing, her books, Lawrence Welk, and best of all, she said, her quilting.

With friends, neighbors, and relatives stopping by with their scraps, Lydia and her daughter are seldom without company during the week. Once guests have left, however, it's down to work, sorting, cutting, arranging, stuffing, and quilting.

"A few weeks before Christmas we finished the last of them and hurried them off to the hospital and nursing homes. We love to have at least a few weeks of time for visiting and entertaining over the holidays but after the first of the year we start all over again," Mrs. Grau said.

Mrs. Grau plays the part of Santa, delivering the lap robes to such places as the Chelsea Community Hospital, Spaulding for Children, the VA Hospital and Mott's Hospital in Ann Arbor, Saline Hospital, and several area nursing homes.

"We have the most fun making the children's pillows and cell quilts. The material is always so pretty and cheerful," Mrs. Grau commented.

An average size laprobe takes about six hours from start to finish. "First we go through our inventory and find enough material in co-ordinating colors for one robe. We work together cutting and piecing and then separately on the machines," she explained.

While both Lydia and Irma have energy to spare in their endeavor, Mrs. Grau isn't too sure about their machines. "The one I use belonged to Lydia's mother and is a treadle machine. The shuttle is beginning to wear out and replacement parts are very difficult to find," she said.

Once the pieces have been stitched on the foot-powered machine, the quilt is stuffed with cotton fabric and then tied. Their time on the machine is close to three hours per quilt.

In their spare time, Mrs. Grau and Lydia tend to personal requests for pillows, full-sized bed quilts, and rag rugs. Many of these items are made to be sold commercially with which shoppers at the Shaker Shop in Chelsea.

JV Cagers Stumble Through 2 Losses

Chelsea junior varsity basketball team stumbled through two games last week, losing both to Stockbridge on Tuesday, Dec. 12 and Milan on Friday, Dec. 15.

Playing near identical games, Chelsea failed to take the advantage over its rivals, trailing in all eight quarters.

In the Stockbridge encounter, the junior Bulldogs ended the first quarter behind two points, 13-11, and increased their deficit by four points at half-time, 27-23.

Something of a rally appeared in the third stanza as Chelsea's defense kept Stockbridge to just nine points while they gathered 11 buckets. Fourth quarter action, however, saw a letdown in Bulldog defense as they granted 15 points to the other side. Meanwhile, Chelsea's offense missed several lay-ups and free throws in the final few minutes which cost them the game.

Jen Riemen-schneider and Mike Wade scored double digits with 14 and 11 points, respectively.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I don't want to speak to hard of her, Mister Editor, cause she looks at this little piece on in a while. But ever year at this time my old lady gets more like a general without a battle. She's done all her Christmas shopping, and she says it's way to early to start baking, so she's between wars. She ain't said, but I bet she regrets deciding to quit sending Christmas cards. It kept her busy, but she said she tuther call or visit than worry if she left somebody off her list.

Now what she's got is nothing to do, while all around her women are in a panic. I think what bothers her as much as not being in the Christmas rush is not getting me in it. So far onct, I got the jump on her. I showed her this ad in the paper where one of them discount places was bragging about before-Christmas after-Christmas specials, and told her she ought to check em out. She actual perked up at the idee, and she rounded up a carload of wimmen for the shopping trip. They went Saturday night, which give me a chance to take in the session at the country store without worrying about her moping around the house.

The trip helped her and the discussion helped me. The fellers general was in a lively mood, and it turned out most of em was catching some of the same static at home. After the situation was talked up one side and down the other, it was agreed that the older folks git the more they look on the sharing side of Christmas. We used to think it was the other way around, that this holy day is fer children. It is, but it means more than ever to the older heads that have come to a deeper understanding of why it is. The fellers come around to the thinking that wimmen feel even stronger than men about doing fer others.

because they've been doing it fer us 40 to 50 year. When they can't do they feel left out.

After we got a vote on that item on the agenda, there was a motion by Zeke Grubb to congratulate whoever is in charge of moving all holidays to Monday. Now we got Christmas in a long weekend, Zeke said, we ought to ask why we bust up the week with Thanksgiving. Working folks would be just as thankful for a Monday off. Then we can fix the calendar so New Year's Day allus falls on Monday and we got the four-day week all set. While Zeke was raving he called fer a few Tuesdays to be held in reserve in case of rainy Monday holidays that would be wasted on folks that wanted to git outside.

The fellers knowed Zeke was just carrying on. Fer one thing, Clem Webster noted, Zeke don't git worked up about more days to do it in. What Zeke better work on, Clem allowed, is this movement to let folks hold jobs as long as they want to work. The excuse Zeke has used fer laziness the past 15 year is that he is retired. If they do away with retirement, he'll be reclassified as a loafer by choice, was Clem's words.

General speaking, Mister Editor, there was more counting of blessings than wisecracking at the session. And let me wish the blessings of Christmas to you and your house, to your readers and advertisers.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Warren M. Hoyt, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Suit Filed Against Higher Drinking Age

The last word is not in on Michigan voters opting to set the state's legal drinking age at 21 years.

A class action suit has been filed seeking to overturn in the courts the voter-approved 21-year-old legal age; however the suit does not attempt to overturn the legislatively mandated 19-year-old drinking age.

Meanwhile, Rep. Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor) has proposed a system of light, civil penalties for persons aged 18 to 20 years old who violate the new age law.

Under the Bullard proposal, the state penalty for a first offense would be a maximum of $25 and the proposal would further allow local units of government to adopt even lighter penalties.

Currently, East Lansing and Ann Arbor, sites of major Michigan universities, have proposals before their respective city councils for a $5 penalty.

The law suit, filed in Wayne County Circuit Court by the Michigan Committee for the Age of Responsibility, contends the estimated 500,000 19- and 20-year-old adults will be denied equal protection under the law, guaranteed by the U.S. and Michigan Constitution.

The suit asks for a temporary restraining order to keep the age at 19 until the case is resolved. The legal drinking age went to 19 on December 3 and is scheduled to go to 21 on December 22.

It argues the constitutional amendment establishes two class of adults (those 21 and those under 21); prohibits giving any person under 21 any alcoholic beverage for any purpose, including wine for religious sacraments; deprive 19- and 20-year-olds their right of equal protection because they are adults in other respects; and deprives persons under age 21 from holding a license to sell liquor, beer or wine.

Traffic Code Decriminalized

The legislature has just completed action on a series of eight bills to decriminalize minor traffic violations.

The bills define major and minor violations leaving criminal penalties on the major offenses and setting civil penalties for the minor violations.

Major traffic violations, such as drunk driving and reckless operation, are not affected under the bills. The legislation recognizes that a person who commits a criminal violation is not a criminal and should not be saddled with a criminal record.

There would be no jail sentences imposed for minor offenses such as a failure to carry registrations, a missing license plate, running a red light or a stop sign.

A person accused of a decriminalized violation would be issued a ticket, similar to a parking ticket. The offender then could simply pay the fine in person or by mailing within a designated period of time.

If the accused offender opposes the ticket, he or she has the right to appear before a magistrate or traffic referee in an informal hearing. If the driver loses in the hearing, then he or she has the right of a formal appeal for a court hearing before a judge.

Points for moving violations will still be assessed under the bills and the payment of traffic fines will continue to go to Michigan libraries.

Roadside Anti-Litter Campaign

The Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the group responsible for the bottle bill prohibiting non-returnable beverage containers, has scheduled Operation Cleansweep for next April 14 to May 14 to rid the roadsides of throwaway beer and soft drink bottles and cans and other litter.

Besides the actual clean-up, the campaign is also designed to make the public aware of litter and solid waste problems.

Burning the Yule Log Is English Custom

The burning of the Yule log is a custom handed down by the English who settled in America. On Christmas eve the log, set on the hearth, is kindled with the remains of the log from the previous year. Many superstitions surround the Yule log. It was thought by some to protect their home from evil spirits, others thought the ashes would help swollen glands! At Williamsburg Lodge, in Williamsburg, Virginia, the burning of the Yule log is still part of their traditional holiday celebration.

Add Spirit To Christmas

Carols and candles bring added spirit and luster to Christmas.

The word "carol" comes from the middle English carolen, meaning "to sing joyously." The majority of our most familiar carols date from the nineteenth century. Some researchers believe that carol singing could be a carry-over from the Roman songs of the Saturnalia.

Francis Scott Key, noted lawyer and author of The Star Spangled Banner, also wrote carols. It is little known that the comedian Harpo Marx, of the famous Marx Brothers, also authored a popular Christmas carol.

Caroling on Christmas Eve is a tradition brought to America by our English forbears, that delights us all at holiday time.

Special lighting effects as we now know them, elaborate and colorful at Christmas, started with the romantic glow of holiday candles. Placing lighted candles in the window on Christmas eve is believed to have started in Boston. There are elaborate electric light shows in almost all large American cities, but candles still sell in the millions, showing that Americans enjoy their soft glow and associations.

Perky Patent

James H. Nason of Franklin, Mass., joined the list of American inventors on Dec. 26, 1885, when he received his patent for a coffee percolator, an appliance taken for granted 113 years later. The Home Arts Collection of Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, provides visitors with a look at hundreds of other useful inventions for home and hearth, attesting to the invariable nature of the early American.

The Humphrey-Hawkins Bill declares, for the first time in law that inflation is a major national problem.

The Bible-The Light from Heaven

The Bible the light from heaven has revealed the members of the New Testament church were several distinctive and significant names: "Disciples" (Acts 20:7) this means followers or learners. "Saints" (1 Cor. 1:2) because they were saved from their past sins, were holy in life, and were sanctified or set apart by the gospel. "Brethren" (1 Cor. 15:6) which shows their relationship to God. A "Royal priesthood" or "priests" (1 Pet. 2:9). In Rev. 1:5, 6, John wrote, "... Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, And hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father." Each Christian is a priest and offers up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God through Jesus Christ, the High Priest. (1 Pet. 2:9; Heb. 4:15, 16). "Christian" This is a proper noun and needs no qualifying words to make the distinction clear. The name expresses the saved person's relationship to Christ. In Acts 26:28 King Agrippa said to the apostle Paul, "... Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." See also (Acts 11:26; 1 Pet. 4:16; Acts 4:12).

Quilters Supreme...

the Briarwood Mall may be familiar.

Lydia was born in Lima township 97 years ago last March and has had the good fortune to have spent only one birthday in the hospital. "That year I received more than 118 birthday cards and my walls were covered. I don't want to have any more birthdays anymore—I'd just like to go on with what I'm doing and stop counting them," she laughed.

As a child, Lydia learned the art of quilting from a one-room school house teacher who boarded in their home. "I used to quilt by hand not so long ago for 40 cents an hour," she remembered, which brought a gentle chide from her daughter for working for so little.

Lydia has been a member of the Zion Lutheran church for 76 years and is a member of the Women of Zion. "I have very little to complain about except there are some days when my arthritis prevents me from sewing and I miss being able to go to church," Lydia said. For just a few years now she has had to use a walker to get around and the steps at the church prevent her going.

Santa's Appearance Comes from Artist

Nast first credited Santa with keeping books on good and bad children, having a Christmas toy workshop and reading letters sent to him by children.

Perhaps it was the now-famous poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas," by Dr. Clement Clarke Moore, that inspired Nast's illustration of Santa. In this children's classic of 1823, the right jolly old elf, who looked like a peddler with a pack on his back, was first described in print.

Nast followed Dr. Moore's description of Santa in several particulars, but many of his concepts were original.

At the time of Nast's Santa Claus drawings the nation was at Civil War and families were separated. In a note to cheer the soldiers and their waiting families Nast drew "Santa Claus Camp," for Harper's Weekly.

This earliest Santa was different from any artist's creations till then. He was shown wearing stars and stripes of the Union flag and distributing gifts to soldiers. Usually, this Santa might have been meant as a representation of Uncle Sam also.

A later, equally moving illustration featured a soldier Christmas homecoming.

Born in 1840 in the tiny hamlet of Landau, Bavaria, Nast probably pictured Santa as the imagined Saint Nicholas of childhood.

Albert Bigelow Paine, a friend and admirer of Nast, said the artist often revealed to him his love of the Santa illustrations. He wrote in his biography of cartoonist:

"His own childhood in far Bavaria has been measured the yearly visits of ... St. Nicholas ... and the girlhood of woman who was to become wife (Sarah Edwards of New York) was intimately associated with brilliant and joyous celebrations.

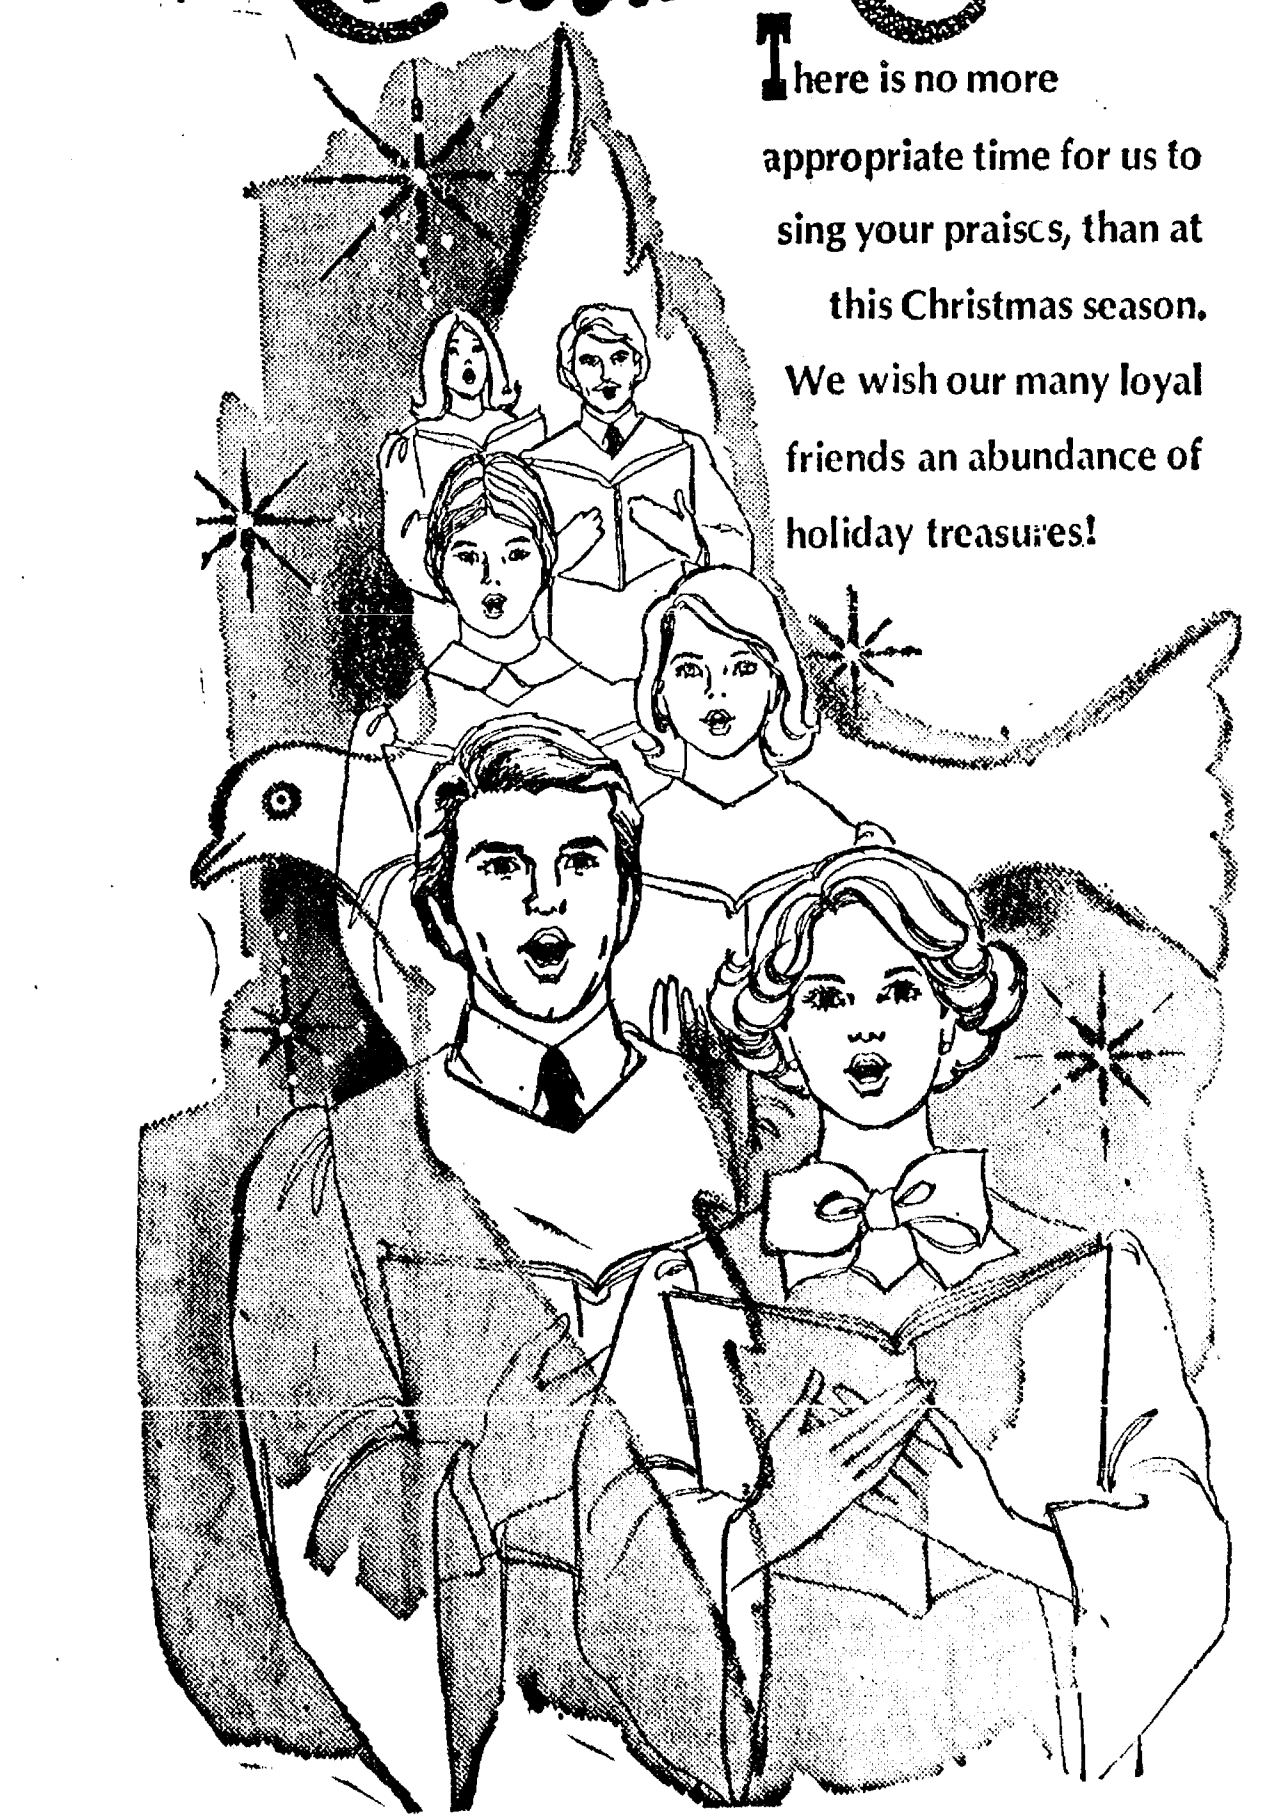

"Nast's children later recall there was always a multitude of paper dolls—marvelously big and elaborate, a race long since come extinct.

"And these the artistic father more than half a child himself the Christmas season—arranging in processions and cavalcades gay pageants that marched in a about those larger presents that could not be crowded into the of stockings that hung by the family fireplace.

"It was a time of splendor and rejoicing—the festive blossoms of the winter season—and it was a beautiful and sturdy family that made Merry Christmas riot the spacious New York home."

In Nast's day, the idea of sort of Santa was not new to the country. He was introduced North America by the early Dutch settlers and his name was St. Nicholas. The annual visit of the kind man, who was thought have been a four-century bisho was his feast day, Dec. 6.

By 1809, Washington Irving was describing Santa as a small Dutch citizen who looked much like Father Knickerbocker. Irving declared how the poor old man could get to all the homes in a growing America on his horse, so he invented the famous reindeer-drawn sleigh.

Twelfth Night Festival Started in 2nd Century

Twelfth Night is the popular English name for the Feast of the Epiphany, which falls on Jan. 6th. The word "Epiphany" comes from a Greek word meaning "appearance," usually used in reference to the appearance of a deity in visible form.

The earliest reference to the festival, according to the editors of the Encyclopedia Americana, was in the later years of the 2nd Century, when Clement of Alexandria, in Egypt, spoke of certain Christians observing the 6th of January in memory of the baptism of Jesus. The actual date seems to have been chosen in order to rival some of the popular pagan festivals of that day.

By the beginning of the 4th Century, Orthodox Christians in the East were observing the festival as a triple celebration. It became an all-inclusive feast, honoring the birth and baptism of Christ, and His first miracle at Cana of Galilee.

Arrival of the Magi

In the West, however, the particular commemoration assigned to Epiphany was the visit of the Magi. During the Middle Ages the Epiphany festival was widely observed by the performance of miracle plays in the churches about the Three Kings or Magi. Particularly in England, the day was marked by dramatic productions, though not necessarily religious ones, and this custom survived into the Elizabethan period. Shakespeare took the popular name of Twelfth Night for his play of that title, which was written to be performed on that date.

Since Epiphany concludes the Yuletide festivities, and its date coincides with many ancient pagan customs, it was often celebrated with strange ceremonies in which those customs mingled with Christian rites. Some of these old ceremonies still exist in parts of Europe, where fixed rituals may have origins, often with an overlay of magic, that are lost in the past.

Up-Helly-Aa Is Norse

Still celebrated in the Shetland Islands is an old Viking ceremony known as "Up-Helly-Aa." The name means "end of the holiday," indicating that the event comes some time after Christmas, actually at the end of January. The ceremony itself is very dramatic, since it takes place at night by torchlight. Men in the old wild Viking costumes, complete with high horned helmets, tow a huge 30-foot Norse longboat through the town, in a torchlight procession... then the boat is set ablaze on the beach.

Haxey Hood Game

Haxey is a place in Lincolnshire, where they still play this famous old hood game, on January 6. Its origins hark back to pagan times, and the "hood" itself is thought to represent the head of a bull.

In the game, 13 men take part, one called the "fool," another the "lord," and the eleven others, "boggins." A two-team scrimmage takes place, the object being for each man to succeed in placing a folded canvas hood into a particular goal, one after the other. The very last hood, the 13th, called "The Haxey," has to be fought towards the final goal—an inn where there are drinks for all.

Wassailing the Trees

This unusual torchlight ceremony still is observed in certain parts of England on January 17, which is the date of "old 12th Night." It's another survival from very ancient times, when prayers were made to the god of trees and fruit.

A glass of cider is thrown on the trunk of an old apple tree, while toast soaked in cider is fastened to the tree branches. Then guns are fired through the branches while the old invocation, or prayer to the tree is sung. Once the evil spirits have been frightened away by the guns, says the old tradition, one can settle down to the business of drinking cider—a real "wassail."

Lavish Feast

At Christmas, in the year 1492, when Columbus was spending his day in the New World, King Henry VII gave one of his most sumptuous feasts. The King (1485-1509), the Queen and members of the court dined on no less than 120 different dishes... with peacock as its climax! He observed holiday custom lavishly, to say the least, serving among the many delicacies a popular dish called "frumenty," made by adding sugar and spices to boiling hulled wheat.

JV Cagers Stumble Through 2 Losses

Karl Albrecht turned in seven as did Chris Heaton. Sean Peterson scored five and Carl Simpson, two. From the floor, Chelsea completed 17 out of 52 for 33 percent. Stockbridge collected 21 out of 59 for 36 percent.

Top rebounder for the junior Bulldogs was Karl Albrecht with 11. Riemenschneider completed nine; Chris Heaton, six; and Carl Simpson, three. Heaton added three steals; Wade assisted in three baskets; and Albrecht worked for six blocked shots. From the line, Chelsea had a 55 percent average completing 12 out of 22. Stockbridge threw 17, making nine for 53 percent.

Friday's game with Milan found Chelsea playing a lackluster four quarters without any intensity or desire.

Milan ended the first quarter ahead by six, 16-10, but were held to the six point advantage at halftime, 26-10. Milan Big Reds took off in the third and fourth periods with 18 points in each to take the 63-42 victory.

Karl Albrecht led for Chelsea in scoring, rebounding, blocked shots, and steals for a good night in spite of the loss. He tallied 11 points, 11 rebounds, three blocks and three steals. Jin Riemenschneider contributed eight points; Jeff Price, six; Chris Heaton, five; Carl Simpson, four; Mike Wade, three; Sean Peterson, two; Carl Schwarze, two; and Chris Tobin, one.

Heaton added eight rebounds; Riemenschneider, four.

From the floor, junior Bulldogs carried a 31 percent average, making 17 out of 54 attempts. Milan succeeded in dunking 26 baskets out of 76 tries for 37 percent. In foul shots, Chelsea completed 8 out of 18 and Milan had 11 out of 19. Chelsea is now 2-4 over-all and 2-2 in Southeastern Conference play. Following Christmas vacation, they host Dexter on Jan. 5.

Christmas Card Custom Originated About 1800

Would you believe that about four billion Christmas cards are sent every Christmas? No wonder the post office hires extra help each year! It does sound like an insurmountable job! But what a lovely way to wish friends and family well and to renew old friendships. But do you know that exchanging Christmas cards is a comparatively recent custom?

Although there are several claims as to who originated the sending of Christmas cards, there is evidence this lovely custom began in England in the early 1800's. It is generally acknowledged that Louis Prang, a native German who settled in Boston, introduced them in America in about 1875.

His early cards, produced by a process of color lithography, were models of expert craftsmanship. They featured flower designs such as daisies and roses, and were quite unlike Christmas cards of today. By 1881, Prang was turning out about 5 million cards a year, and as time went by he offered more typical Christmas scenes, including the visit of Santa Claus, Madonna and Child, and blazing fires.

In 1880 or 1881 Prang sponsored an open competition for Christmas card designs, offering prizes that came to about $3,000. More than 600 entries were received and were exhibited in galleries. Noted personalities of that time acted as judges.

The superior quality and workmanship of the Prang cards added to their popularity. However, with an increasing demand for cards, inferior, inartistic, cheaper cards came flooding in from Europe, and Prang found it hard to compete. He stopped producing his beautiful cards, but they are still highly valued and sought after by collectors.

Now we have cards available to fit our every mood, and one would be hard pressed to imagine the number of artists and verse writers who make up the creative forces of this vast industry. Sending and receiving Christmas cards is one of the delights of the holiday.

There is no doubt that this heartwarming custom will continue and so we say "thanks" to Mr. Prang, wherever he may be for adding great spirit to Christmas in America!

Turkey Shoot Was Popular Frontier Sport

The advancing of the frontier westward took with it this welcome holiday. Turkey shoots, which provided fowl for the table, were very popular. Festivities were often wild and noisy.

Traditional Christmases were celebrated in the west, and in 1846, a German visitor to Texas writes about seeing a richly decorated and illuminated Christmas tree, in a territory held by Indians a short time before.

Firecrackers and the shooting of guns were a part of the southern Christmas that traveled as far north as southwest Pennsylvania. National groups who settled outside the thirteen colonies carried with them the old customs of their former homes. In New Orleans, the wanderings of the Three Kings were symbolized by the French reveillons, gifts were for New Year's day.

In the southwest, Christmas celebrations were greatly influenced by the Spanish. Los Pastores, an old miracle play, with the eternal struggle of Good and Evil as its theme, was staged and has been revived on and off, through more recent years.

Christmas was recognized legally, first in Alabama in 1836, and by 1890 all states and territories acknowledged it as well. Christmas is the only annual religious holiday to receive this secular and official sanction.

The Youth Employment and Demonstration Projects Act, signed by President Carter Aug. 5, 1977, created four new programs to employ and improve the job prospects for youth.

May the glorious music of long remembered Christmas carols bring harmony and love to your world. Sincere thanks.

Good-Bye, Ebenezer

By Loren D. Estleman

Ebenezer Zachariah Scrooge, 322 Fleet St., London, England, died Tuesday, Dec. 19 at his home following a long illness. He was 182.

He was born Nov. 4, 1796 in London, the son of Ezekiel and Mary Elizabeth MacHeath Scrooge, and was a life-long resident of the city, where he was a member of the International Brotherhood of Importers, the M'santhropes Club, and Misers Local 456. In 1829 he founded, with Jacob Marley, the import firm of Scrooge & Marley. Although Marley preceded his partner in death Oct. 24, 1835, the firm bore both names until it changed hands in 1878, becoming Cratchett Enterprises.

A prosperous merchant until 1876, Scrooge saw his fortunes begin to decline in January of that year when a number of bad investments and crippling donations to charity depleted the firm's resources, which had remained intact throughout the mained intact through the first sudden reversal the London Times noted in 1878: "It was as if, sometime around Christmas 1875, Scrooge began to question the values that had guided him through four decades of growth and prosperity. He spent lavishly on gifts for his employees, notably clerk Bob Cratchett, upon whom he bestowed full partnership last year; he dipped into the principal in order to finance every money-making venture that came his way, especially if the petitioner was dressed in rags; and this spring he spent his last farthing to establish the Tiny Tim Foundation for Handicapped Children, the promoters of which are currently under government investigation for fraud. "The man simply lost his business sense," commented Charles Dickens, a crony of 40 years' standing.

Scrooge spent the last 100 years of his life in his old home, upon which he had been granted a life lease after signing over its ownership to Timothy Cratchett, son of his former clerk. In later years, the former tycoon was under the care of a registered nurse employed by T. Robert Cratchett, Timothy's son and present chairman of the board of Cratchett Enterprises International. An only child and a bachelor, Scrooge leaves no survivors.

Funeral services will be held Friday, Dec. 22 in the E. Z. Scrooge Chapel, the building named for his principal benefactor, the Rev. William C. Finstermacher officiating. Memorial donations may be made to the Three Ghosts Scholarship Fund for the Gifted Impoverished.

First Christmas for The Leader Recalled

EDITOR'S NOTE: When The Dexter Leader celebrated its very first Christmas Dec. 23, 1869, Editor A. McMillan expressed his thoughts on the season in an editorial, which still carries the ring of truth in spite of the fact that 109 Christmases have come and gone since it appeared, and we'd like to share it with our readers:

Ever since Summer flew away over the Southern hills, we have counted the days till now. And others, too, have counted them. How often have they been told over impatient little fingers, eager to be thrust into stockings-depth for the marvelous things which that childhood mystery, Santa Claus, is always sure to fill them. Christmas is almost here; to-morrow night, the air will be filled with strange things—a phantom sleigh drawn by phantom horses with great branching horns, and carrying a strangely grotesque figure wrapped in skins, will travel on the wings of the lightning over all the land and enter every house, and joy and gladness will spring up on the morrow.

But we can't write about Christmas. The thronging memories of the past crowd out the present, and we are a boy again. We sit up late that we may catch if possible the jingle of the merry bells or hear the hoofs clatter on the roof and then go to bed filled with strange awe of the mysterious benefactor who is to come while we sleep. As soon as night's curtain begins to lift and while chancier is sounding his earliest call, we leap out, and there, right at the head of our bed is the new sled we wanted so much and on the bed post the warm cap and in the stockings hanging by the fender are a pair of warm gloves and a comforter for our neck, and lots of candy, and nuts, and raisins. And by and by we go out coasting with the boys and are prouder and richer and happier than Vanderbilt with his N.Y. Central or Pisk with his Opera House. But all too soon the mystery of the queer little man and the reindeer was dispelled. But a dearer joy has taken the place of the early delight, and "What shall we give our darling," is now the absorbing thought. The giving of presents on Christmas is indeed a pleasant practice, and we trust that no reader of The Leader may fail of a token of affection or esteem from some source. We know joy will fill many homes and brighten many eyes, but there will be some where sorrow broods and that tears will darken. We shall be joyous, but they will be sad. Forget not such.

We send Merry Christmas greetings to all, old and young.

Taking Care Of Your New Holiday Plants

Plants are living gifts. To keep them going for the holidays and after, here are some tips:

Azalea: Keep moist and cool. After flowers fade, cut them back a little. They can summer out-of-doors and should be fed monthly until the early fall.

Christmas Pepper: Keep in full sun with moist soil, but cool. Summer outdoors.

Cyclamen: Keep cool, and in full sun (55 degrees or cooler). Keep soil moist and mist daily. Dry out as flowers fade. Rest in shade outdoors. Growth will be restored in late summer by watering.

Kalanchoe: Keep in full sun allowing the soil to dry out between waterings. Cut back after flowering and rest in shade in summer with infrequent watering. To start regrowth in late summer, feed and move into full sun.

Poinsettia: Keep in full sun but out of drafts and keep soil moist. Water deeply until red bracts drop, then reduce watering and cut back. Feed every month and summer outdoors. Prune leggy shoots and bring indoors before first frost. From October 1 to Thanksgiving, keep in complete darkness from sunset to sunrise, to start flowers.

Fires Destroy Home, Plant Worker Injured

A Chelsea mother woke to the sounds of fire crackling and the smell of smoke, awakened her husband and together hustled their two small children outdoors before flames engulfed their home.

In another Chelsea fire this month, Fire Chief James Gaken reported that the Independent Heat Treat Corp., near Four Mile Lake, experienced a furnace explosion on Monday, Dec. 11, which sent one employee to the Chelsea Hospital for smoke inhalation treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jacobinski and their two children, ages 10 and 3, of 501 Wellington, hustled out into the 30 degree winter weather early Tuesday, Dec. 5 after she said she heard "something crackling like fire. I smelled smoke and woke my husband up."

"It was a horrible nightmare. The ceiling was coming down in pieces of flame and I just put my housecoat over my head while we ran out. The children's bedrooms were right across the hall from the fire and the ceiling was coming down while my husband got them out," she said.

According to Gaken and Mrs. Jacobinski, the fire started at approximately 4:50 a.m. Tuesday "from a problem in the furnace room," Gaken said. The Jacobinskis' home has a furnace area on the first floor in a hall closet which houses a gas boiler operation.

Gaken reported that four trucks and 12 men were sent to the home and the fire was brought under control in about 10 minutes although they stayed for some time inspecting the area.

"My husband and children were barefoot and we ran to a neighbor's home and banged on the door for help," Mrs. Jacobinski explained.

No one was injured in the blaze but Mrs. Jacobinski said that the entire contents of the home were destroyed. "They've estimated the damage at more than $25,000 and we are now waiting for the negotiators with the contractors to start repairing the damage. All of the Christmas presents were burned or damaged and I'm trying to replace them now," she said. Currently the family is staying in the parsonage of the Chelsea Baptist church on Dale St. "We can see our home across the street and it is really sad to look at it," she commented.

"My 3-year-old wakes up at night crying and says he doesn't want to go back to the smoke and fire. It is very hard for him. We hope that in three months we will be able to move back in," she said on a lighter note.

An estimated $10,000 worth of damage was reported by Harry Dodds, part owner of Independent Heat Treat, following a fire which resulted when one of the 12 furnaces there burst into a vapor fire.

"One of our employees was taken to the Chelsea Community Hospital after inhaling the oil smoke but he was released after a few hours," Dodds said.

According to Gaken, four trucks and nine men went to the plant at 1 p.m. on Dec. 11. That fire was also brought under control in approximately 10 minutes.

14 employees were in the plant at the time and production was resumed shortly afterwards. "We didn't have any down time but we did lose about seven day's work," Dodds commented.

Santa Claus Known By Three Names

In America, Santa Claus is known by three names—St. Nicholas, Kriss Kringle, and Santa Claus. St. Nicholas first appeared in the first half of the fourth century in Asia Minor, as Bishop of Myra. Many miracles are attributed to him and there are many legends that attest to his generosity. He was the protector of sailors aboard Dutch ships, as well as the patron saint of young people. The first Dutch church built in New York City was named for him.

Sinterklaas, as he was known to the Dutch, eventually became Santa Claus... his original red and white vestments became our modern red and white Santa costume.

The Germans and Swiss who settled in Pennsylvania in the eighteenth century believed in the Christ child, who brought gifts to children on Christmas eve. English speaking settlers in neighboring areas transformed Christkind into Kriss Kringle.

Senior Citizens Enjoy Fiesta

It was one Ole of a Christmas dinner for the senior citizens of Chelsea on Tuesday, Dec. 19.

A Mexican Christmas fiesta, complete with Spanish carols and authentic menu, was celebrated by the seniors and senoras at the Senior Nutrition Program at St. Mary school on W. Summit St.

Tables and walls were decorated in the brightly colored fashion of Mexico while the tables were laid with the tantalizing food of that country.

Enchiladas de res enrolladas were the main dish as prepared by Donna Williams, chef of the Chelsea program. Enchiladas are a combination of ground beef, onions, cheese, and spices wrapped inside a soft corn tortilla shell, smothered with a tomato sauce, and baked. Fajitas con pimientos morrones was the feast's vegetable consisting of green beans and pimientos.

Adding zest and color to an already splashy meal was ensalada de noche buena—a fruit salad of apples, bananas, oranges, and beets. Empanadas were served for desert which were made of a delicate pastry filled with spiced and sweetened pumpkin, baked, and rolled in cinnamon and sugar crystals.

Guests arrived at 9 a.m. for a morning visit while the festivities began at 10. Nina Scheider, a director of the county program, and an avid Mexican dancer, led the group in a Mexican hat dance, followed by a slide show presented by a guest of her trip south, Antonio Tellez, a University of Michigan student in Ann Arbor and a Mexican nationalist, brought his guitar and story telling to the group and led everyone in a round of Spanish carols and tales of Mexican Christmas customs. He is a student in Ann Arbor studying urban planning.

Vernice Christian, nutritionist for the Washtenaw County Community Services Agency Senior Nutrition Program, planned and co-ordinated the fiesta which was held at all five of the program sites in the county.

Fair Board Okays Four New Directors

A change in the Chelsea Community Fair By-Laws was one of several items discussed during the Board of Directors' regular meeting, Thursday, Dec. 14.

Board members agreed to increase the number of members on the board from 21 to 25 for the 1979 year. The nominations of Jim Dault, Mark Stapish, and Dick Kolander were accepted for board membership.

Thursday's meeting was called to order by Jerry Heydlauff, vice-president. President Lloyd Grau arrived later following a prior commitment.

Officers present were Ed Keizer, fair board secretary; Earl Heller, executive vice-president; and Kay Poljan, treasurer.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved. Kay Poljan presented the end-of-the-year treasurer's report which was accepted and directed to Lansing.

Correspondent John Wellnitz commented that the 1973 Fair had been very successful.

Directors present included Harold Gross, Archie Bradbury, Bill Stoffer (replacing Keith Bradbury), Robert Heller, Joe Merkel, III, Ralph McCalla, and Reuben Lesser, Jr. Also present was Loren Heller.

In addition to approving the increase in the number of board members, a quorum of nine was voted on and accepted.

Absent from the meeting were Richard Bollinger, Jerry Herrick, John Klink, Charles Koehn, Dick Poljan, Frank Renton, Charles Stapish, Art Steinaway, Frank Sweeney, Harold Trinkle (in the hospital for knee surgery), and Ruth Leach, fair secretary who was ill.

Wellnitz reported that the ditch area was discussed as well as important changes possible for the 1979 Fair.

Several board members will be going to the Fair Convention near Detroit in the near future. This is an annual event.

Next board meeting will be held Jan. 11. The meeting adjourned at 10 p.m.

Groups Entertain At Methodist Home

Residents of Chelsea United Methodist Home were entertained Sunday afternoon, Dec. 10 by a choir of mixed voices from St. John United Church of Christ, which is located at Rogers Corners, near Chelsea. In the choir were men and women, boys and girls, and small children as young as five. The children recited little verses and the youth and adults sang many of the most familiar Christmas carols.

The morning of Dec. 14 kindergarten children from the Chelsea schools were brought to the Home to entertain the residents. This was a very happy occasion when the 50 or more kindergartners presented a half hour of little songs, all with descriptive actions.

In the evening of Dec. 14 an entirely different group of program was presented in the Home chapel by a group of 10 adults, men and women who are a part of the large choir of Belleville United Methodist church. Their beautiful voices joined together in many of the choral selections, alternating with soprano and bass solos and a beautiful tenor solo from the Messiah Oratorio. This was another delightful program was presented in the Chapel Study after-noon, Dec. 17 by the Children's Choir and the adult Bellingers of Chelsea First United Methodist church. The chapel was filled to capacity with residents of the home, members of the downtown church, and a large number of children, many of whom took part in the program. There were kindergarten children and boys and girls of Sunday school classes up through the 6th and 7th grades, who took part.

The Bellingers' selections, under the leadership of Mrs. June Warren, were beautiful. Their music was appreciated and heartily applauded.

The beauty and the enthusiasm of the children can scarcely be expressed in words and at the close of the service the Home residents left the chapel thrilled and inspired by the beauty and the fervor of the boys and girls who had presented their very interesting program.

After the close of the service, the children passed out book markers that they had made for the residents, then hurried down the stairs to partake of Christmas refreshments.

The splendid programs that have been presented at Chelsea Retirement Home during the Christmas Season will long be remembered and the efforts of the participants greatly appreciated.

The staff and the members of the Home have also enjoyed and greatly appreciated the carollers from the various churches who have been singing in the halls during the Christmas Season. Their songs have been an inspiration and a real joy in the evening hours.

HOUSE VALUE VS LOT VALUE

What is the proper relationship between the cost of a lot and the value of the house on it? This question concerned building economists more in the past than it does now. Old rules of thumb have lost much of their meaning. It used to be said that land should represent about one-sixth of the home's purchase price. Then it moved up to one-fifth and is now approaching one-fourth. And it will change again as the cost of land continues to rise.

It does, to some extent, affect the resale value of the property. And resale value determines the ease or difficulty you'll encounter in securing a mortgage. In this light, it may not make a great deal of difference if you put an inexpensive house on an expensive lot, but it could be a mistake to have too much house for the land.

Nevertheless, the land value versus house value ratio cannot be totally dismissed because

Boys Swim Team Wins Over Dundee

Chelsea High school boys swim team evened its record to 1-1 with a lopsided victory over Dundee, 105-67, last week.

Dundee is a small Class "C" school north of Toledo with a strong history in swimming. Last year they finished second in the state "C" meet. "Dundee defeated us handsily last year and this year, with a lot of hard work, we were able to turn the tables," Coach Larry Reed noted.

Varsity records were turned in by Phil Hoffman in the 200-yard and 500-yard freestyle races with respective times of 1:55.3 and 5:16.4, and as a member of the freestyle relay with Mike Mason, Todd Oxner, and Scott Prohaska in a time of 4:45.0.

Other varsity records were established by Tom Gaunt in the 200-yard IM with 2:18.1 and in the 100-yard backstroke with 1:01.6; and Dave Mason in diving with 205.5 points and in the 100-yard fly with 1:02.5.

Freshman records were set by Dave Mason and Craig Wirtz in diving and by John Robbins in the 200-yard IM with 2:25.3.

Fat, Rosy-Cheeked Santa Image Originated in 1822

Clement Clarke Moore is credited with creating the current Santa Claus image and story in his poem "A Visit from St. Nicholas." The poem, originally written for his children in 1822, has been published an endless number of times and is one of the most popular American poems.

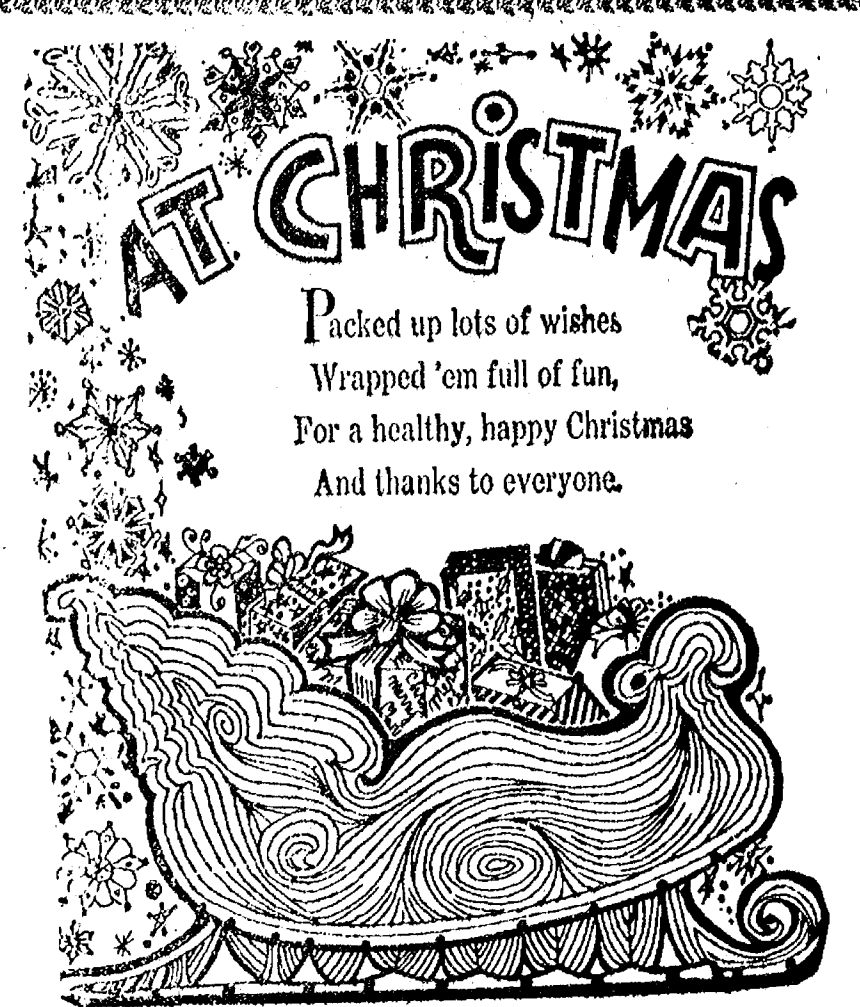

The fat, rosy-cheeked Santa we recognize today evolved from a series of cartoons by Thomas Nast, nineteenth century artist. His series of Christmas drawings showed too, how Santa spends his spare time through the year.

Holly-Day Hum

Sprigs of holly should be placed in beehives at Christmas. So says an old English Christmas tradition. This custom stems from the legend that, at the Manger bees gathered to hum a hymn of joy.

Small Farm Forum Will Begin Jan. 2

"Small Farm Forum," a market place for farming ideas, will begin three discussion groups on Wednesday, Jan. 24 with registration open from Tuesday, Jan. 2 at Chelsea High School, Community Education Department.

Through this program, farmers will be able to get together in small groups with the aid of discussion leaders experienced in the study area.

Some leaders will utilize resource persons to add to the subjects under discussion while others will seek resources within the group.

The three groups include:

"Sheep for the Small Flock Owner," with Charles Botero, a purebred sheep breeder as leader. Tentative topics include breeding, gestation, housing, and fleece.

"Organic Methods" with Cecily Sheff, an organic livestock raiser, as leader. Possible topics are livestock feeds and nutrition, fertilizers, pest management, and rotation, depending on the emphasis the group desires.

"Goats" with Bob Beaudoin, small farmer and goat breeder, as leader. Potential topics are feeding and nutrition, gestation, breeding, and milking.

All groups will meet four times from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. Rescheduling will be done in the event of blizzards. Group size will be limited to 12 persons with a cost of $8 per person including materials.

The groups are co-ordinated through the Chelsea Community Education Department and the Co-operative Extension Service of Washtenaw county.

Progress Reported On International Wheat Agreement

A top-level U. S. Department of Agriculture spokesman says progress was made last week on achieving an international wheat agreement during formal bilateral talks between American and Common Market negotiators. He said that the U. S. and Common Market nations "are moving toward a consensus."

The administration strongly supports an agreement. American negotiators will meet informally on December 18 with negotiators from developing nations and convene a meeting of a 12-nation interim negotiating committee. The Department spokesman predicts that a formal negotiating conference winding up an agreement will be held in January or early February. The conference includes about 60 nations, which would become parties to an agreement.

It is also reported that more progress has been made in the agricultural sections of the multilateral trade negotiations.

Toll-free telephone service is available to Veterans Administration regional offices in all fifty states. Some 3.9 million toll-free calls were received last year.

Hungry Bug Could Hike Lettuce Prices

Farm experts are warning there's a "monster bug" with a ravenous appetite and an apparent immunity to conventional pesticides attacking the nation's lettuce crop.

The monster bug is also known as the tobacco budworm. "Unless a new poison proves effective against the budworm, surviving lettuce retail prices may climb to $2 a head," said Imperial County (California) Farm Bureau Director Mike Wallman.

"This is a superbug, a monster that's becoming resistant to almost every pesticide we've got," Wallman said. "Science knows the insect as Heliothis virescens, but to his old adversaries, he's the dreaded tobacco budworm. His hunger is insatiable, his taste omnivorous."

Last year, the budworm turned on the nation's cotton, destroying $45 million worth. This year, the budworm has already attacked the $74 million early winter lettuce plantings.

Manger Is Theme of Latin Yule

Though Santa and gaily decked trees often appear nowadays in Central and South America, Christmas is traditionally a time for religious observances.

Mass, at midnight on Christmas Eve or early Christmas Day, forms the heart of the holiday in Latin America, and the creche or manger scene marks the season throughout churches and homes, say the editors of Encyclopedia Americana.

Bountiful feasts, processions and other special events may provide a festive note, but custom says that gift-giving time is Three Kings' Day—Twelfth Night, Jan. 6th, when the Wise Men brought their gifts to Jesus.

Children put their shoes under the bed or in the window, hoping to have them filled with toys and gifts. Water and hay are set out for the Three Kings' horses or camels.

While many Latin American countries share these traditions and celebrate Christmas in similar ways, each country also has its own special festivities.

In Venezuela

Hallaca, a native Venezuelan dish, is an awaited delicacy during the Christmas season. It is made of corn meal with pork and chicken stuffing and numerous other ingredients, and then wrapped in plantain leaves to form a type of pie.

In Argentina

It's a mid-summer Christmas in Argentina, and the traditional feast is generally served outdoors. Rosebuds and jasmine deck the table, which has as edible centerpiece a whole roast suckling pig.

In Brazil

Brazilian lore and legend says that Three King's Day is a time for poetry contests. Verses accompanied by guitars are featured.

In Colombia

People parade in masquerade on Christmas Eve in Colombia. Each masquerader tries to guess the identity of others. When someone guesses correctly, he can claim a small gift from the person who was "unmasked."

In Peru

Toro! In Lima, Peru, Christmas day is not exclusively a church holiday, because it also marks the greatest bullfight of the year.

In Costa Rica

In the island country of Costa Rica, "portals" are set up in homes. These are elaborate Nativity scenes sometimes filling an entire room.

In Guatemala

An ancient custom in Guatemala is to "light the road to Bethlehem" by placing lanterns in windows and doorways for nine nights before Christmas.

In Panama

Children in Panama participate in midnight mass on Christmas Eve by caroling to an accompaniment of castanets and tamborines.

The pay standard in the President's anti-inflation program does not apply to individual workers; it applies to average pay increases for groups of workers.

SKIN DISEASE — A MAJOR PROBLEM!

A LITTLE OF THE HEART

The condition of a patient with any type of heart disease, or any symptoms related to a lack of blood supply to the heart, is made worse by a hot and humid environment.

Angine pectoris is a natural danger signal that the circulatory system is in need of special care.

Alcoholism can lead to malnutrition and deficiency of vitamins, particularly Vitamin B-1. In this disorder, the heart becomes enlarged and shows evidence of impaired function.

Heart attack may strike suddenly but the conditions leading to it can begin in childhood.

Walk, dance, bicycle, play handball, exercise regularly. Use your legs to help your heart.

When a blood vessel in your heart is suddenly blocked and does not supply enough blood, a heart attack can occur.

Children aren't immune to the so-called heart diseases of "aging." Autopsies performed on children and young adults who died in accidents or from other causes have revealed the early stages of atherosclerosis (hardening of the arteries.)

Cigarette smoking is not an addiction, but a learned habit. Break the habit to lower your risk of heart attack and stroke.

Atherosclerosis is caused by deposits of cholesterol and other fats found so abundantly in snacks favored by youngsters — hot dogs, fatty hamburgers, oil-soaked French fried and potato chips, ice cream and other rich desserts.

Many persons have what are called little strokes and never realize it. A feeling of needles or numbness in an arm or leg, double vision and inability to make your muscles work together properly are symptoms of little strokes.

COUNTRY SUFFER FROM VARIOUS SKIN DISEASES

CAUSED BY ALLERGIES
& EMOTIONS...

SELF MEDICATION: A QUIET REVOLUTION

The concept of self-medication is not new; it has been practiced for thousands of years. Long before even the most rudimentary forms of health care evolved, people tried to care for themselves when they were suffering from the symptoms of minor ailment — headaches, coughs and colds, upset stomach, cuts and bruises. Many ancient and traditional folk remedies have served as the basis for the development of modern drugs. One example is aspirin, which has been traced to ancient times, when primitives chewed on willow bark to lower fever.

In 1938, the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) required proof of safety for all drugs, including those available without prescription. In 1962, the Act was amended to require proof of effectiveness of new drugs as well. As a result, medications on the market today can be depended upon to relieve those mild, mostly self-limiting symptoms they claim to, when taken as directed, and do so in safety.

working to solve the mysteries that remain.

Until their goal is reached and diabetes can be cured or prevented, the best defense against the disorder is an informed public, who can recognize the symptoms and who will promptly seek medical advice. Early treatment may postpone or reduce the risk of serious complications.

Diabetes is a disorder in which the body does not make proper use of sugar. The sugar in the food we eat is an important fuel needed by the body to supply energy. In the normal person, insulin, a substance made by the pancreas, allows the sugar to reach the muscles, fat, and other tissues and be "burned" to produce energy. In the diabetic, there is not enough insulin. As a result, the sugar cannot enter the tissues, and the body does not have the energy needed to do its work.

A little more than fifty years ago, diabetes was a dreaded disorder that doomed the patient to a life of misery and an early death.

Then, in 1921, came the discovery of insulin, and the diabetic's prospects improved dramatically. Eli Lilly and Company was the first pharmaceutical manufacturer to make insulin commercially available. That was in 1923. Since that time, Lilly has introduced many improved forms of insulin and other products for use by diabetic patients.

Now, with the modern knowledge of treatment, the average newly discovered diabetic eats well, works and plays normally, and can look forward to a long and productive life.

However, the precise cause of diabetes still is not known. Injections of insulin control the condition, but it is not evident just how. Complications occur, but it is not clear why. Today, scientists at Eli Lilly and Company and in clinics and laboratories around the world are More than 25 million Americans suffer from one or more skin diseases, according to a report from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The number remains relatively constant from year to year.

For many skin diseases, the cause is unknown. Others are associated more or less reliably with heredity, allergy, metabolism, underlying disease or chronic injury. Some, like psoriasis and eczema, are noninfectious; others are caused by bacteria or fungi and can spread from one part of the body to another or from person to person.

Many skin diseases are chronic and incurable. They can flare up and spread to new areas of the body or they can enter periods of inactivity, both without apparent cause. Some disappear completely after many years with no explanation.

Physicians can treat flare-ups and prescribe therapy to make patients comfortable, minimize symptoms and control the dermatoses.

A large percentage of skin disease sufferers, however, must adjust to a lifetime of bouts with intense itching, burning and pain from their disease.

Because the majority of the noninfectious skin diseases like contact or allergic dermatoses are usually short-lived, topical therapy is often short-term. Some conditions, however, can rebound with acute flares or chronic patterns.

Among the side effects physicians watch for with patients on topical steroid therapy are striae (streaks) skin atrophy or possible systemic effects. Therapy is often tailored to the individual patient's needs, using the smallest amount possible.

Symptoms of skin disease often rebound with increased intensity after abrupt cessation of steroid therapy. Physicians, therefore, taper off doses of steroid by prescribing increasingly smaller amounts of progressively weaker strength preparations after acute phases of the disease are controlled.

EMOTIONAL CONFLICT CAN CAUSE HIVES

Doctors should remember to consider emotional conflict among other causes when confronted with symptoms of hives, one physician suggests. Hives are itchy red or pale patches on the skin and/or red, swollen, fluid-filled patches on the skin or linings of the nose and throat. Hives may be caused by sensitivity to certain foods, food additives or drugs; exposure of skin to heat, cold, sun or pressure; bacteria, virus or parasite infection; or underlying disease such as cancer.

The physician says that hives are associated with emotional conflict in some persons. These persons are usually caught between two unsatisfactory choices in their lives. Their hives come and go with changing severity or development in the conflict. She advises telling the patient that hives are often caused by an insoluble conflict and asking whether the patient is in the midst of such a conflict. This approach is usually more fruitful than merely asking if the patient is worried about something.

SOME SAY THAT ADDITIVES ARE DANGEROUS; OTHERS SAY THAT THEY ARE SAFE. HOW DO WE KNOW WHAT TO BELIEVE?

Additives are ingredients added to foods in which they are not naturally present. Thus vitamin A is a natural ingredient in butter, but is an additive when put in margarine. Additives are chemicals, but so are all food constituents. Although some people feel that eating chemicals is dangerous, they would starve to death if they eliminated chemicals from their diets.

WHY ARE ADDITIVES PUT IN FOOD?

The major function of additives is to preserve foods from the destructive effects of their own enzymes, as well as bacteria, fungi, and the environment. Enzymes in foods cause them to discolor or to become overripe too quickly; bacteria and fungi cause food to spoil and become dangerous to eat; heat, humidity, or oxygen can cause foods to become dry, soggy, or rancid. In short, additives are put in foods to keep them safe and edible.

Additives are also involved in the technical processes of industrial food preparation. Leavening agents (yeasts, baking powder) cause baked goods to rise; glazing agents make food surfaces shiny; anti-foaming agents allow containers to be filled completely with liquids; foaming agents put bubbles on drinks such as instant hot chocolate mix; emulsifiers keep oil or fat-containing ingredients mixed with the water base and give baked goods a light texture; firming agents maintain the firmness of fruits and vegetables during canning; humectants prevent foods like marshmallows or shredded coconut from absorbing water; thickeners give foods a smooth thick texture and prevent ice crystal formation in frozen foods such as ice cream; sequestrants bind metals to prevent discoloration and to inhibit reactions which cause rancidity; artificial flavors and colors enhance or impart flavor and color to foods (margarine is colored yellow to resemble butter, for example); added nutrients increase the vitamin, mineral, and protein content of foods; and imitation ingredients replace the natural ones to reduce the calorie or cholesterol content of foods or to decrease the cost.

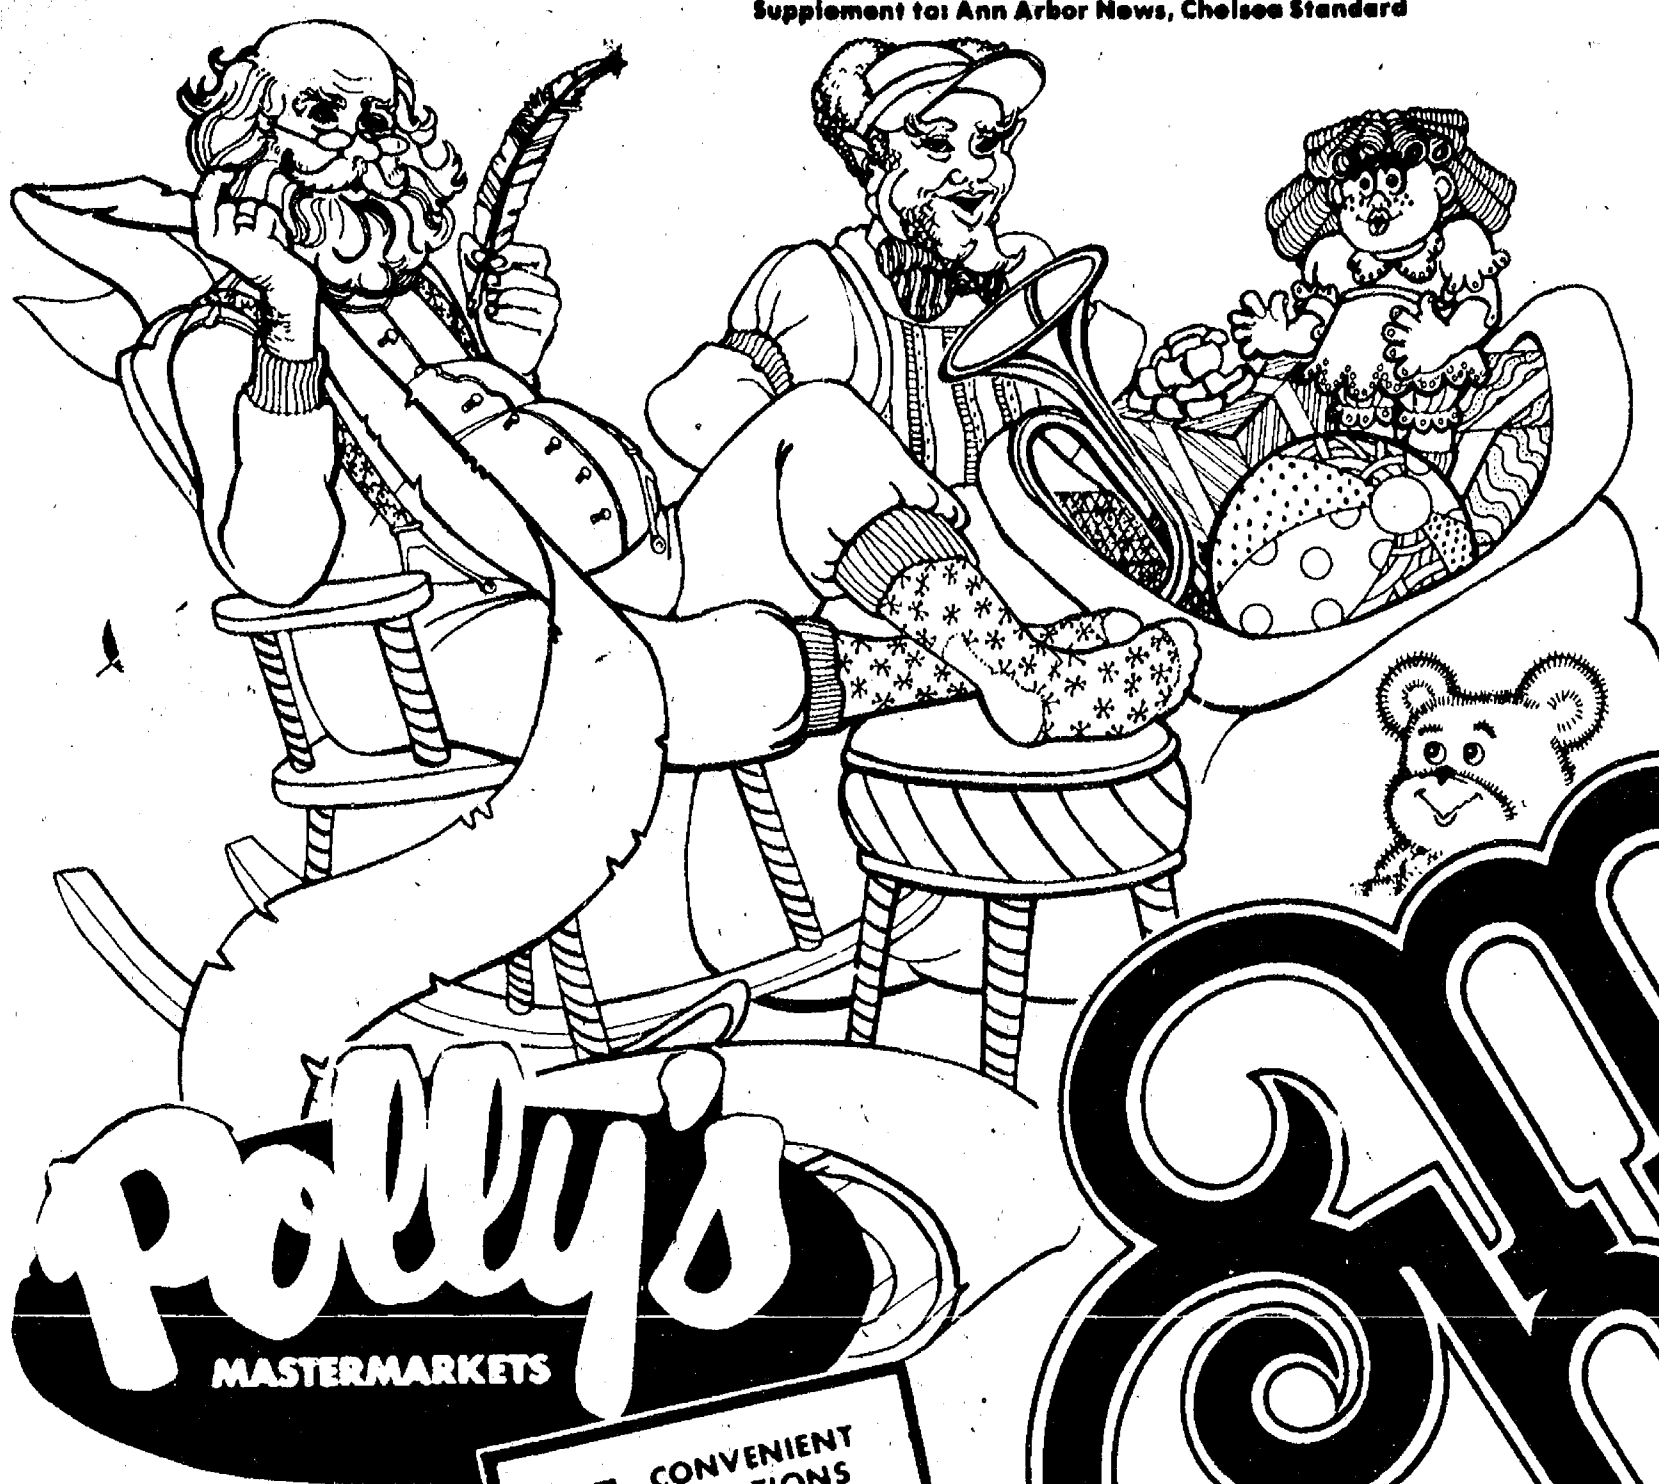

All additives that have entered our food supply since 1958 have undergone rigorous testing for their safety. Permission to use a new additive comes only after it has been shown to be safe for consumption by pregnant women, infants, children, and adults. Additives which were in common use before 1958 and which had passed certain safety standards are now being re-evaluated under more stringent conditions of use. These additives (known as GRAS or "generally recognized as safe") include commonly used ingredients such as salt and nutmeg. In order to remain in food, these additives must be proven harmless to fetal development, non-carcinogenic, non-toxic to any organ system, and uninvolved in behavioral abnormalities.

However, no additive or food can ever be consumed without any risk. Most foods, even water, are toxic if they are ingested in sufficiently large amounts. Moreover, there may be people with intolerances to certain food additives, just as there are those who cannot tolerate certain foods like chocolate or strawberries or eggs. Moderation in the consumption of foods and additives is the safest way to eat.
