Illegal Game Poaching Ring Seized By DNR

A highly organized, illegal poaching ring came to a screeching halt Saturday, Jan. 20 when 125 DNR officers and 30 federal agents swooped down arresting 54 suspects, several from the Stockbridge, Munith, and Grass Lake area.

Only a partial list of those accused of various degrees of slaughtering and selling wild game is available including Richard Hadley of Grass Lake; William Stephens, Donald Randolph, William Masson, J. C. Wallace, Steve Allen, and Timothy Corwin, of Munith; and Elliot and Polly Wireman, David Wood, Leo Mayo, and David, Dennis, and Clifford Marshall of Stockbridge.

The ring is believed to be the largest operation ever to exist in this country, authorities say. The alleged leader, Thomas J. Huff of Detroit, is said to have netted upwards of $250,000 a year from the scheme.

According to reports by Attorney General Frank Kelly, most of the arrested would be charged with a misdemeanor, but that at least 13 will face charges of conspiring to conceal stolen property, a felony which carries a maximum of five years in prison.

Thousands of deer, squirrel, rabbit, waterfowl, and fish carcasses were seized on Saturday. Howard Tanner, Natural Resources director, said that the 15-month undercover probe by his agents saw "the illegal killing, selling, buying and marketing of more than 300 deer, 1,700 squirrels, 4,400 ducks, and more than 11,000 rabbits." Reports state that the ring operated in Jackson, Ingham, Livingston, Eaton, Clare, and Kent counties. Much of the meat was sold over the counter in small Detroit meat markets. Wild rabbits sold for $5.50 each, squirrels, $4.50, ducks, $4.50, and venison for $4.50 a pound.

Investigation of the ring began in late 1977 after a state conservation officer received a tip on the operation.

Since then, DNR agents gradually infiltrated the ring, using concealed tape recorders to gather evidence and small cameras for pictures. Agents say they saw "hunting" reduced to its lowest form. "Don't call these guys hunters. They're slobs. They don't kill animals, they slaughter them. You can't compare their methods with those of a sportsman," a state wildlife officer said.

The officers said that the suppliers could kill 50 or more rabbits a day by using a ferret, a small, fierce, member of the weasel family, to go into rabbit holes and chase the rabbits out of their burrows.

In one instance, it is reported that 1,000 wild ducks were fed for two weeks and then slaughtered in a single shooting session. Attorney General Frank Kelly said the poachers arrested will be required to reimburse the state for each animal in their possession at prices ranging from $1 to $500 each.

Will Connelly To Head United Way

At the 1979 annual meeting of Chelsea United Way, held in the village council chambers on Wednesday, Jan. 17, a new slate of officers was elected along with nine directors.

Elected president was Will Connelly who has served as campaign chairman for the past two years. He succeeds Gerald H. Dresselhouse who is expected to chair the budget committee which determines the amounts of money allocated to local, state and national social service agencies supported through gifts and pledges to Chelsea United Way.

Elected vice-president was Dale Schumann who will be in charge of the 1979 campaign. The new treasurer is Tom Vandegrift. Linda Montgomery, who led the successful 1978 rural drive, will be secretary. Finance chairman for the 1979 campaign is Paul Schable, Jr.

The nominating committee recommended seven persons for three-year terms as directors, and all were elected. They are William Spade, Sandy Ellenwood, Kara Schwarze, Dick Rigg, Eleanor Hall, Jeanette Tobin and Dale Schumann.

Elected as directors to fill out the remainder of terms of resigned directors are David Feldkamp and Art Stoll who headed the nominating committee. Other members of the nominating committee are Paul Schable, Jr., Daphne Hodder, Caren Ziegler and Tom Vaillicourt.

Chelsea United Way serves the people of Chelsea village and its surrounding rural areas in two ways. First, through its budget committee, it holds hearings to evaluate the requests of social service agencies. Second, it works through the unpaid efforts of officers, directors and volunteers to secure pledges and gifts in support of its annual goal.

Chelsea United Way is one of many local organizations that operate under the leadership of United Way of Michigan.

District Music Festival Set For Saturday

Sixty to 70 Beach Middle school musicians will participate in the District 12 Solo and Ensemble Festival this Saturday, Jan. 27 at Franklin High school in Livonia.

Beach students will enter 37 separate events in the all-day competition which is judged by qualified, professional teachers. More than 1,000 students from Washtenaw and Monroe counties as well as all counties east, excluding Detroit, are expected to perform. Students will leave from Beach Middle school parking lot near the band room at 6:15 a.m. Saturday and return by 5:30 p.m. that night.

On Monday, Jan. 22, the Beach orchestra and band students performed in a "pre-festival" rehearsal with Chelsea teachers acting as judges.

The orchestra is directed by Kari Johnson and Warren Mayer directs the band.

QUALIFIED SPEAKERS: These varsity debaters, Drew Sprague, Tom Severn, Janet Walz, and John Koepele, coached by Susan Jurma (far left), are bound for Southfield early this February for the State Championship Tournament which will be held in the Sheraton Hotel there. The team qualified for the tournament by completing a 4-2 record in competition on Tuesday, Jan. 16 along with Marshall, Jackson Parkside, and Portage Central High schools. Chelsea will be one of 28 Class B schools participating from the entire state.

Annual Police Report Shows Violent Crimes Very Rare Here

The total number of meter tickets issued in 1978 was up by almost half from 1977 while the total number of reported criminal offenses saw a decrease of 12 cases during the same period, according to the annual police report presented by Chief George Meranuck during the village council meeting on Jan. 16.

"The most serious happenings of the year were the three fatal accidents which occurred within the village," Meranuck stated at the meeting. "Otherwise the crime rate in Chelsea exists at a comfortable margin, especially in view of the fact that there was only one instance of a crime which seriously threatened the physical well-being of another," he added.

During the 1978 calendar year, three Chelsea residents died as the result of car accidents, all within a short two-month period. Arthur Faber was struck by a car on Aug. 24 while walking west on Old US-12 at night; 7-year-old Edward Purdy was hit by a car on Sept. 30 as he drove his bike into the street on South St.; and Mark Schanz, a 17-year-old Chelsea High school student was killed on Nov. 3 when his car swerved and hit a tree on Freer Rd., injuring seven passengers in his car at the time.

Chelsea Police Department employs six full-time officers, including Meranuck, and four part-time men who ride on patrol four nights a week for four hours. In addition, there is a 15-man police auxiliary, captained by Cal Summers, which assists on a voluntary basis during parades, special events, and sports events. "Our work load is such that we are capable of handling the day-to-day demands but without the auxiliary there would be a real pinch," Meranuck commented.

Victim crimes such as murder, rape, kidnapping, and assault with intent to commit great bodily harm were nearly non-existent last year. The only case in this category was assault with intent which is currently being prosecuted in circuit court in Ann Arbor with Robert Phillips as the defendant.

Meranuck reported that 20 assault cases were handled by his department (less serious than assault with intent). "15 of these were family affairs, and two involved assault and battery on Chelsea police officers," he said.

There was one case of armed robbery, one of unarmed robbery during the year, and six cases of reported indecent exposure. The latter, according to Meranuck, were separate individuals on separate occasions. "People prefer not to prosecute this type of behavior and so no one was arrested," he explained.

Crimes against property showed the largest area of decrease from 1977. There were no cases of entering without permission in 1978 compared to four the year before; 12 fewer auto thefts than the 20 figure in 1977; seven fewer larcenies (110 in 1977); 13 less malicious damage to property cases (66 in 1977); and only 26 bad check complaints in 1978 compared to 30 in 1977. While still under investigation, the department reports one case of arson, (two were reported in 1977) at the Schaerer residence on Railroad St. Meranuck stated that there are no suspects but after careful investigation along with Washtenaw county investigators, the fire was determined the result of arson.

On the increase, but only slightly, were breaking and entering dwellings, with three in 1978 and one in 1977; and attempted breaking and entering was reported once, the first time since 1975.

Larger increases were noted in narcotic cases with six cases reported. Meranuck stated that all six involved separate instances and all involved marijuana. The largest amount was one pound, while the rest were cases of an ounce or two. Of the six reports, two were originally charged with selling, although these were reduced to possession.

For the first time in at least four years, the department recorded three bomb threats, all of which were pranks, Meranuck stated. Threatened over the year were Chelsea High school, the Big Boy restaurant, and Litho Crafters. According to Meranuck the department's policy is not to evacuate buildings under certain conditions and none of the establishments listed above had their occupants removed.

In an effort to generate revenue for the village, the village council announced several months ago a plan to double the amount of time meterman Cal Summers would spend ticketing cars at expired meters. As a result, 3,338 citations were issued in 1978 compared to 2,229 in 1977. Also on the increase were parking tickets, up from 709 in 1977 to 785 in 1978; and moving violation tickets, up from 323 in 1977 to 387 in 1978.

Other statistics presented in the report showed that there were 218 traffic accidents in the village last year up from 186 in 1977. 103 adults were arrested, up 25 from the year before. More juveniles were arrested also, 34 in 1978 and 25 in 1977.

"A few years ago I compared our crime statistics with those from Ann Arbor and found that Chelsea had 25 times less crime. The number of B & Es Ann Arbor has in one day, we have in a year," Meranuck commented.

On an even more interesting note, Meranuck said that roughly 50 percent of all crimes committed in Chelsea are done by people who are not residents of the village.

Council Sets Feb. 12 As Date for Caucus

Chelsea Village Council members established Monday, Feb. 12 as the date for a village caucus which will be held to determine candidates for the open positions of three trustees and a clerk.

Present council members with terms expiring are Jack Patrick, Mike Sweet, and Lyle Chriswell. Clerk Thomas Neumeyer also has his term expiring.

Because all village council members are from the Independent Party, a caucus will eliminate the need for a primary election as there are no opposing political parties.

None of the council members or the clerk have announced whether they will seek re-election.

Council members and officers hold office for two-year terms and there is no limit on the number of terms a member may hold office. Other action taken during the regular meeting held Jan. 16 included approving a resolution which would allow Randall Seitz to become a partner with his father in Seitz's Bar at 110 W. Middle St. Council's action, however, does not give complete authorization, and Seitz's request must be approved by the State of Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

A motion by councilman Schardein to change the current $100 fine issued to railroad companies who block a crossing to $500 was tabled until additional information was received, according to Fritz Weber village administrator. "There is some question as to where the additional $400 would go and council is investigating this," he explained.

Weber said that Washtenaw county has an ordinance which allows a $500 fine to be issued, but it is possible that the county would receive the extra money, not Chelsea. Currently, Chelsea's ordinance No. 72 stipulates a $100 fine which is kept by the village.

A request by Charles Lancaster, owner of the building at 116 S. Main St., for a conditional use permit to construct apartments on the second floor above the Day-Spring Gift Shop was given unanimous approval. Council, however, mandated that adequate outdoor trash storage be provided as per the Planning Commission's recommendation.

During review of fire contracts the village holds with seven area townships, Weber noted that a change had been made in billing dates. Beginning this year, townships will be billed from March 1 to the end of February, rather than on a calendar year basis which is used now.

Council approved a boundary change request from the Ann Arbor Trust Co. after property owners surrounding the bank were consulted on the request. Property owners abutting the bank's land, Jim and Robert Daniels, were not (Continued on page six)

The carnival, as always, promises action-filled entertainment for both the young and old.

Orchestra Hosting Ohio Music Group

Chelsea High school orchestra plans for this spring, include the Solo and Ensemble Festival, Orchestra Festival, and the high school musical.

They have also planned to host "The String Sensation" a pops orchestra from the Scioto Darby City School District in Hilliard, O. They are a group of junior high and high school students, who must audition each year.

The group was organized three years ago by Cynthia Capper, orchestra director for the school district. Since then it has performed throughout central Ohio. They are traveling to Chelsea before attending a conference in Toledo, O.

Members of the Chelsea High Orchestra will be serving a potluck dinner and housing members of the group.

"The String Sensation" will be performing on Thursday, Feb. 1, at 8 p.m. in the Chelsea High school auditorium.

The public is invited to this free concert. Donations for expenses of "The String Sensations" will be taken at the door.

County Okays Tax Break for Chrysler

A tax exemption of approximately $14 million over the next 12 years as requested by the Chrysler Proving Grounds received final approval by the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners on Wednesday, Jan. 17.

The board's vote approved the action taken by Sylvan township trustees who gave their approval to the exemption earlier.

Chrysler Proving Grounds first applied for a $9 million break on April 25, 1978 and again on Oct. 27 for a $4,161,500 exemption. While the township held public hearings both times, no one attended according to Daniel Murphy, Sylvan township clerk.

The requests pertain to a $14 million expansion of the grounds on S. M-52 which, over the next 12 years, will account for more than 400 jobs.

Included in the expansion is a mileage accumulator dynamometer building, a corrosion test facility, expansion of the emissions garage and laboratory area, and the emissions soak area.

The expansion is expected to cost $4.5 million and new equipment will cost $5.5 million. Chrysler also expects to construct a $2.2 million impact building and expand its barrier approach road at a cost of $407,000 with $1.6 million in new equipment.

Industries in Sylvan township are taxed at 50 percent evaluation and the recently approved exemption will reduce their obligations by 50 percent.

No Turn on Red Signs Slated for Main St.

Consistent, and sometimes heated complaints from irate pedestrians will lead to the installation of "no turn on red" signs posted at the intersections of Park, South, and Middle Sts. at Main St., in the near future.

Village council, during its regular meeting Tuesday, Jan. 16, received word from the Michigan Department of State Highways that they concurred with the council's recommendation that signs be posted.

Receiving the bulk and brunt of the complaints was Chelsea Police Chief George Meranuck who's convenient office location on E. Middle St. proved handy to walking shoppers with gripes about inconsiderate drivers.

"The law that allows drivers to make a right-hand turn on a red signal was being abused by drivers," Meranuck commented. "Drivers thought that the law absolved the responsibilities of safe precautions and as a result, Chelsea has had many near misses of cars almost hitting people crossing the streets," he added.

The frequency of complaints led Meranuck to discuss the problem with the village council who in turn requested the Department of Highways to study the problem. "They (the MDSH) found our concerns valid and agreed to install the signs at the earliest time possible," Fritz Weber, village administrator said.

Meranuck explained that although the law does allow drivers to make a right-hand turn on a red light and a left hand turn onto a one-way street when the light is red, "the law also says that the pedestrian has the right of way. From the amount of complaints I received, many drivers ignored this part of the law and forced walkers to wait at the curb until they finished the turn," he said.

When the MDSH will install the signs is difficult to say, Meranuck said, but in the meantime, caution (Continued on page six)

Force of New Members

To Be Felt Early in Legislature
The days of newly-elected members of the legislature remaining quiet until they gain some seniority are over. With the opening of the 80th Legislature, freshmen legislators will be very much in evidence and will have a major say on policy for the upcoming two-year session.

Veterans in the Senate are unsure where the power will fall when 13 new members take their places in the upper chamber. Many of the new members were elected on promises of reform of the legislative process and must shake-up traditional voting blocks to accomplish such reform.

The freshmen senators have already exercised some authority and voted to open traditionally closed leadership caucuses.

Though much of the work in the caucus had been pre-determined by the time it was opened to the public and press, a precedent had been set for openness and more is expected during the next two years as these newly elected senators will insist the business of the people is conducted before the people.

The new Democratic members will also figure in on some key committee chairmanships and seats where much of the legislative process is carried out.

They will succeed in insisting that a person does not deserve a committee chairmanship simply due to seniority in the body. Seniority will be reduced in the appointment process to be just another consideration along with knowledge and expertise in the substantive area.

No fewer than 27 new members will be exerting themselves in the House of Representatives. Even though these people will not have such an influence in the larger 110 member body, they will be heard as these new members have been doing their homework and hit Lansing with an attitude for determination and accomplishment.

Possible Detroit Aid

Governor William G. Milliken and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young will hold future meetings to supplement an initial meeting to determine how much and what form of additional aid might be provided to Detroit both this year and during the new fiscal year.

After a first meeting, Milliken reported he got a very good reading on the city's situation, but there was no mention of any dollar figures.

Young said it was impossible at this date to talk about figures, but noted he hopes the city will not need to ask the state for any money in the current fiscal year.

The city is facing a possible $25 million deficit and has already ordered hundreds of layoffs of city employees. He said keys to reducing that deficit include added aid from the federal government and an altered wage award for city police officers.

The mayor said the city's budget is under control. The state faces money problems of its own in the current fiscal year, with standby plans for a 4 percent budget retrenching. The governor has already said the 1979-80 fiscal year could also be very tight.

Several Muskegon property owners, whose holdings about a city-built downtown mall, contended state law provides no authority for an assessment to operate and maintain a mall.

The court, however, granted that the law is not clear in granting the authority, but in its reading found specific authorization for the assessments. It said the authorization applied to an enumerated list, including operation and maintenance.

Postal Dept. To Give Employment Exam

Persons interested in becoming a postal clerk or mail carrier may apply for the postal service clerk examination for a 10-day period, Jan. 29 through Feb. 7, at the main Ann Arbor Post Office, 2075 W. Stadium Blvd.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Taxes was on the minds of fella's at the country store Saturday night, so Ed Doolittle just added another item to the agenda with his report where Congress may dream up another way to draw money from us. Interest in income tax is strong out here in the country these days, on account the farmers and ranchers has got to get their federal report in by the middle of February.

Ed told the fella's he had read where Senator Russell Long wants to start a hidden sales tax that would allow the Government to roll back Social Security taxes and personal income taxes. This is a tax on goods ever time their values change, like when cotton is made into cloth and then the cloth turns into a shirt. The value-added tax, as it's called, would get a piece of the action at ever step of the way, according to Ed. The piece said this form of taxing is used all over Western Europe, and Ed said the wonder of it is that it is a way to tax that we didn't invent.

According to Ed, the Congress ain't excited about Senator Long's scheme, but once a seed of this kind is planted it's hard to get rid of it. Besides, Long heads the Senate Finance Committee, so his thinking carries weight. The Carter Administration probable will come down again it, said Ed, which could be just the push it needs to get it rolling.

Republican Ed went on to declare that Senator Long's idea bears out Democrat thinking that the late Senator Humphrey liked to use. He allus said the big challenge in politics is in finding new ways to tax to finance new ways to serve. Ed said Senator Humphrey would of loved this plan in Raleigh, N. C. to declare a man's mailbox his home. This fella that lived in the country rented a post office box in town to use in his work. The tax boys said that was his legal residence, so they sent him bills for property taxes on his car. Priddy soon, declared Ed, the city will figure out they ought to tax his income to, since he uses town services to make his living. Clem Webster, the New Deal, New Frontier, Promised Land, dyed in the wool Democrat, reminded Ed that tax gimmicks ain't limited to one party. He pointed out that Republicans first come up with the plan to sell credit cards and get a commission on ever new card user, and now the Democrats has picked up the idea. When you tell somebody you're a card carrying whatever, declared Clem, you are paying at least $2.50 a year for the privilege.

Moving on through he taxes puzzle, Zeke Grubb said he was special interested in a plan to give tax credit for donated blood. Arkansas already has a blood tax law, and the U. S. House is giving thought to a $25 a pint credit, Zeke reported, and he was fer it, noting that you can give a wore out suit to the Salvation Army and claim tax credit, but you can't get a break for giving blood that you could sell if you want to.

The IRS is again blood tax credit, Zeke said, cause folks mumble about their health so they could give. We shore wouldn't want the IRS to go along with anything that encourages us to lie.

Yours truly,
Uncle Lew.

Your Daily Working 5 1/4% Account

Here's what it can do for you...

With all the recent emphasis on high interest rates for investment certificates, you may be overlooking a very important family financial tool...the 5 1/4% per annum passbook savings account.

This is your "daily working" savings account. It earns daily interest -- from day of deposit to day of withdrawal. The money is always available, so you use this account to accumulate dollars, take them out when you need to pay a medical bill, a repair bill, taxes, a trip. It's about as convenient as a wallet, but your money is earning a good return every day it is on deposit and it is safely insured with an agency of the federal government.

A bonus feature is that by maintaining a balance of $1000 or more in savings you are entitled to all of the travelers checks and money orders you can use. No charge.

So invest all the money you can in our top interest paying certificate accounts for long term requirements, but for day to day needs and emergencies keep a healthy balance in a 5 1/4% daily working account where it will be immediately available and earn a good return.

VFW Post, Auxiliary Hold Wild Game Supper

Chelsea's VFW Post and Auxiliary held their third annual wild game supper Saturday, Jan. 20. Among the 60 members and guests were three top winners of the Voice of Democracy contest. Also attending were William Coelius, teacher at Chelsea High school, his wife Pat, and two sons.

First-place winner Kelly Stebelton presented her winning essay which was entered in the VFW contest on the district level.

Carl Held led the group in prayer. Fremont Boyer, Post chairman for the contest and District No. 6 chairman acted as master of ceremonies. Coelius spoke on his interest in letting his students express their feelings on such matters. 39 of his students entered the contest.

Coelius was presented a citation for his service by Lucy Platt, Auxiliary chairman for the contest. Citations and trophies were given to the winners by Boyer and Mrs. Platt. Ken Platt also received a trophy and citation for his three years with the tape recorder outfit.

Mrs. Platt was given a Voice of Democracy charm bracelet by Mac Pakcard, commander of District No. 6, for her work in the contest. The remaining winners' citations will be presented at the school at a later date.

Cooks for the supper were Laurence and Fremont Boyer with the women helping with food and table decorations. Following the dinner a Michigan-shaped clock was given to winner Tony Pinewski. Byron Smith was chairman of this project.

More than 600,000 workers protected by federal wage and hour laws were illegally underpaid by almost $129 million during the 1978 fiscal year, the U.S. Labor Department reported.

Library Has Collection of New Volumes

Did you make a New Year's resolution to read more books in 1979? Well, McKune Memorial Library has books that will make your resolution a pleasure to keep. It has the latest best-selling biographies and autobiographies: "Mommie Dearest," by Christina Crawford, describes growing up as Joan Crawford's adopted daughter; Lauren Bacall's "By Myself" is a fascinating glimpse of the actress' life with Humphrey Bogart and Jason Robards.

Former first ladies are well represented, with Kitty Kelley's "Jackie Oh," a gossip biography of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis; "The Lonely Lady of San Clemente," Lester David's story of Pat Nixon; and Betty Ford's candid autobiography, "The Times of My Life."

Lest the men feel slighted, there is "American Caesar," William Manchester's epic story of General Douglas MacArthur; Arthur Schlesinger's two-volume work, "Robert Kennedy and His Times;" Ernest Gann's "A Hostage to Fortune," Mike Douglas' "My Story," and "My Life With Elvis," told by Becky Yancy, secretary to the late Elvis Presley.

Added are some magnificent books to the memorial collection recently: "Hummel Art," by John Hotchkiss; "Tutankhamun: the Untold Story," by Thomas Hoving, as well as art books with stunning reproductions of the paintings of Michelangelo, Rembrandt, and Maxfield Parrish.

Best-selling fiction are Herman Wouk's "War and Remembrance," the long-awaited sequel to "The Winds of War;" "Prelude to Terror," a new espionage tale by Helen MacInnes; Howard Fast's "Second Generation," a sequel to his popular book, "The Immigrants." Among the mysteries, are "The Empty Copper Sea" by John MacDonald, Sylvia Angus' "Dead to Rites," and Harry Kermel's "Thursday the Rabbi Walked Out."

These are just a few of the new books that the library has to offer. Come in and check them out.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Douglas Smith

Laurel Lancaster, Stephen Smith Are Wed at St. Paul Church

Laurel Lynn Lancaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lancaster, became the bride of Stephen Douglas Smith of Ann Arbor in a candlelight ceremony Friday, Jan. 19, held at St. Paul United Church of Christ, Chelsea.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Smith, Ann Arbor.

The Rev. Paul Grabowski, grandfather of the bride and pastor emeritus and the Rev. Ralph Ratzlaff, pastor of St. Paul church, Chelsea, shared in the marriage nuptials.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin which featured an Elizabethan collar and a peplum which ended in a long train. Her blusher veil extended from a crown of alencon lace enhanced with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias, stephanotis, and streamers of green and white variegated leaves.

Carol Dietle of Chelsea was maid of honor. Georgianna Lancaster and Mary Kay Lancaster, sisters-in-law of the bride, Carol Kunkel of Virginia, and Becky Palmer and Carol Ullrich of Ann Arbor, served as bridesmaids. They wore ivory crepe de Chine blouses and the color scheme of ivory, rust, and sable was carried out in their long velvet skirts. They carried hurricane lamps encircled with dried earth-tone flowers and ivory mums.

Cathy Lynn Lancaster, niece of the bride, attended as flower girl, dressed in a sable velvet jumper and an ivory crepe de Chine blouse.

She carried a miniature basket of flowers.

Mrs. Lancaster, mother of the bride, wore a floor-length multi-colored chiffon dress.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the bridegroom, chose an apricot chiffon dress featuring a jeweled neckline.

Byron Tate of Ann Arbor served as best man, while Paul, Mark, and Timothy Lancaster, brothers of the bride, attended as groomsmen along with Todd Priedgeon and Ron Brinkman. The bridegroom and groomsmen wore tuxedos with sable velvet lapels and ruffled ivory shirts edged in sable trim, as did the fathers of the bridal couple.

Music during the ceremony was provided by the Word of God music ministry, Robbie Pauline, soloist, and Mary Olney as organist.

The bridal couple greeted their guests at Weber's Inn prior to a dinner dance.

Cindy Hodges and Jodi Daniels, both of Chelsea, attended the guest book.

Following a honeymoon in the Cayman Islands, off the southern coast of Cuba, the couple will reside in Chelsea.

The Bible-The Light from Heaven

Teaches on the subject of immortality. Job ask the question, "If a man die shall he live again?" (Job 14:14). Men in every age have had to face this question. In every age and in every country men have hoped to live again. Let us note some answers by inspired men. Job's answer: "And after my skin even this body is destroyed, then without my flesh shall I see God." (Job 19:26). David's answer: "I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever." (Psalms 23:6). Solomon's answer: "Man goeth to his everlasting home, and the mourners go about the streets." (Ecc. 12:5). Paul's answer: "There is laid up for me a crown of righteousness." (2 Tim. 4:8). And Jesus said: "Because I live ye shall live also." (John 14:19). Man may live again if he believes (John 11:25); Obey (Rev. 22:14); Sows to the Spirit (Gal. 6:8). Someone has rightly said that Christianity is the glorious discovery of immortality!

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

There is no advantage to the United States for recognizing the "Criminal Gang" that keep the mainland Chinese people enslaved. The controlled news media that propagandize that the new leaders of Red China have somehow meliorated and seek peace is fraudulent and they know it. We spend hundreds of billions of our tax dollars each year ostensibly to protect ourselves from the Russian Communists that through our assistance technically and economically we made into a dangerous military power. Now we are going to engage in a program to increase Red China's military potential so that they can also be threat to us.

Because nobody produces under Communism, China's economy, needs help desperately. The incentives for work and the freedoms needed to produce are non-existent. Little Taiwan, a free enterprise nation, as is the United States, greatly out-produces giant mainland Red China. Without our financial help the Communist Government in China would perhaps collapse and the eight-hundred million Chinese could once again be free as the Chinese people on Taiwan are.

Red China will obtain substantial money to buy U. S. goods from the American taxpayer through the United States Export-Import Bank, a bank which is a creation of Congress, where billions of our tax dollars go every year to make low interest loans, some interest as low as one percent with 50 years to repay and a 10-year grace period, to improve underdeveloped countries. Red China will be one of these countries.

The American people should be protesting loudly to President Carter, their Senators, Carl Levin and Don Riegle, and to their Representative, that we not give legal status to a government that is our enemy. Whether Communism is Russian, Cuban, Chinese, Yugoslavian or whatever, their plan is to own the resources of the world. The freedom-loving people of America should let them know that we will not let them succeed.

WCC Reaffirms Policy of Public Vote on Bond Issues

Washtenaw Community College trustees have decided to continue their previous position to have the public vote on bonding for the Occupational Education Building.

Further, the trustees have indicated that the bond proposal would not increase taxes.

Meeting in special session Thursday night, the Board reviewed the possibility of authorizing an immediate bond issue.

The opportunity to take action at this time on bonding was provided by legislation recently passed by the State Legislature providing local governing bodies to bond before the Headlee Amendment becomes effective Dec. 23.

However, the Board held to a decision taken in August, 1978, to go to the people on bonding issues. The trustees are formulating plans to have a bonding proposal on the ballot in a county election during 1979.

Bonding for the new Occupational Education Building would not increase local tax rates and would allow the College to obtain the $2.8 million already appropriated by the State Legislature for the building.

Individual Retirement Account (IRA)

I wasn't covered by a pension plan other than Social Security, so I started my own.

You can set aside 15% of your annual income, up to $1500, and deduct the entire amount from your taxable income.

Anyone who is self-employed or not covered by a qualified pension or profit sharing plan can participate. It's called an Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

I'll pay $330 less in income taxes this year because of my Individual Retirement Account.

There wasn't any fee or charge of any kind to start my Individual Retirement plan at Ann Arbor Trust Company.

It's really a great way to save for retirement and cut taxes at the same time.

I'm earning the highest bank interest rates permitted by law and it's tax deductible also.

My $1500 IRA Account is earning 8% interest in a 3 year certificate of deposit at Ann Arbor Trust Company.

Each Individual Retirement Account is insured to $100,000 by the FDIC, an agency of the federal government.

Good Things Growing In Michigan

An authentic Polynesian menu, prepared with "good things grown in Michigan" will be served to members of the Michigan Press Association at the 37th annual All-Michigan dinner.

Hosted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture and food processors and producers of the state, the 7 p.m. dinner will climax MPA's annual three-day convention Saturday, Jan. 27. The Polynesian menu is a repeat of last year's banquet which was cancelled because of a mid-winter Michigan blizzard.

More than 40 Michigan suppliers will provide many items and table favors for the newspaper publishers and editors, to illustrate the importance of agriculture, Michigan's second largest industry, to our state's economy. About 650 persons are expected to attend the event in Kellogg Center, East Lansing.

The menu will include Peachy Polynesian chicken as an appetizer, made with sliced Michigan peaches, green peppers, and a sweet-sour sauce. Entree will be roast loin of pork with plum sauce, a nod to the traditional Hawaiian luau which features roast pig. Stir-fry green beans, carrots, and mushrooms provide an Oriental touch, while Michigan squash will substitute for the traditional poi of the islands. A simple Hawaiian salad combines sliced tomatoes and chopped green onions. Dessert will be Michigan-made Pineapple Supreme ice cream.

Aurora Blanc, a premium dry, white wine, provided by Bronte Wineries of southwestern Michigan, will accompany the meal. Bronte's was the first winery in the United States to plant French hybrid vines, and Aurora Blanc is a skillful blend of white French hybrids.

A recipe for the appetizer follows:

PEACHY POLYNESIAN CHICKEN
2 1/2 cups sliced Michigan peaches
1 cup peach syrup
2 cups water
1/2 cup vinegar
1/4 cup Michigan sherry
2 tablespoons chopped onion
4 tablespoons cornstarch
2 large green peppers, chunked
5 cups chunked cooked chicken
1/2 cup honey
4 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons soy sauce
1 teaspoon ginger
Combine liquids, seasonings. Add onion and simmer until tender. Stir in cornstarch mixed with a little water to make a paste. Cook and stir until thickened. Add green pepper chunks and sliced peaches. Fold in cooked chicken and heat. Serves 10 as appetizer, or over rice for entree, serves six.

Dexter Council Okays Water Ordinances

Three new water ordinances were passed during the regular meeting of the Dexter Village Council Monday night, Jan. 22.

Council voted unanimously to adopt ordinances calling for a slight increase in water usage rates, placing the burden of payment on property owners, and exempting renters from responsibility for water usage. The ordinances were passed for first reading at the last meeting Monday, Jan. 8.

In other business, council acknowledged notice that Michigan Week will take place May 19-26 and reported that it would decide later how to celebrate it locally. Viola Rutledge asked about the legality of snowmobiles operating on village streets. Trustee Alfred Lavall requested that the Washenaw County Sheriff's Department enforce the state law prohibiting such traffic.

Finally, Dan Cooley reported that he will meet with the Washenaw County Road Commission regarding the upkeep of Grand St., and Lavall commented that the village is assuming too much of the burden of snow removal. The meeting adjourned after two hours.

Bird Feeding stations and animal tracks are of special interest along the nature trails—open this winter for "self-guided hikes"—at the Nature Study Area of Stony Creek, Metropark near Rochester-Utica. For details, phone 781-4621 (Washington).

"Did You Know..." If just one gallon of gasoline were saved each week for every car in the country, we would save about 5.6 billion gallons of gas a year, or 8 percent of the demand created by all passenger cars.

TODAY'S INVESTOR

By Thomas E. O'Hara

Q. If you were able to decide whether or not to buy several stocks on just one basis of comparison, what would you use?

A. If I were going to compare several different stocks and try to pick the best using just one comparison, I think I would pick the one that had the highest earnings on invested capital. That is the figure you get by dividing earnings per share by book value. At the same time, I would keep in mind that such a stock may have attracted the attention of a lot of other investors for the very same reason and its price, because of that record, might be higher than I would be willing to pay for it.

Q. On May 4, 1978, I sold shares of Payless Drug Stores Northwest. The invoice indicated "with due bill split shares." The company had declared a 54 stock split to holders of record April 20 with an ex-dividend date of May 18. The broker wants the shares I received after the split and sale, but I feel they are mine. Please clear this up.

A. Perhaps I should begin by explaining that due bill is in effect an IOU stating that the issuer will pay the recipient something that is due him. In your case, it means you are to deliver the securities to the broker, who in return, must deliver the shares to the person who bought your securities.

It is not uncommon for the ex-dividend date to be after the record date in the case of stock splits. When that is the situation, the brokerage community trades "due bills" which means the client will deliver the shares when they are received.

Normally, when due bills are traded, a brokerage firm will not pay the client the full amount until the shares are delivered. In this case, it seems the firm did pay you the full amount.

Put yourself in the shoes of the buyer for a moment. When he purchased the stock, he was paying the higher price for the shares, but knew he would receive the shares after the split. If you had been the buyer instead of the seller, you would have expected the benefit of the split.

If you did not understand "with due bill split shares," you should have asked the broker to explain it at the time you received the transaction slip.

Who's Maintaining The U.S. Dollar?

This time of year—and especially this year, lots of folks approached the Christmas season with mixed emotions. A dollar will not buy much any more, so Christmas shopping has put a strain on many a pocketbook.

And, as one looks about in the stores, it seems that a great deal of what is offered is imported. All of those imported products mean that American dollars wound up in hands of foreigners and not in the pocketbooks of Americans. This huge flow of dollars out of the country has caused the Yankee dollar to be worth less and less in relation to other currencies and that makes imported products even more expensive to Americans. It's a gloomy picture.

But—who's doing something about it? Well, the President says he's got the plan—but time will prove whether or not it will be effective.

Meanwhile, one of the few bright spots is agriculture. Exports of U.S. farm commodities, mainly wheat, feed grains and soybeans, increased dramatically last year—both in dollar value and in volume.

The bounty of the American farm provided exports worth $27.3 billion—up nearly 14 percent from the previous year. The volume of those exports is up 20 million tons or about 20 percent.

Those export sales of wheat, corn, maize, and soybeans to China, Japan and the Soviet Union, to name just a few buyers, go a long way in balancing the trade deficit, thus helping to maintain the value of the dollar.

The credit goes to those farmers who, besides growing the least expensive food in the world, have pressed hard for the government to seek outlets for their products overseas, and, in many cases, have negotiated directly with foreign nations to get them to buy more American farm produce.

And therein lies the answer to the question of "Who's maintaining the dollar?"

Free Pamphlet Lists Inflation Fighting Ideas

Those charts showing the rate of inflation are appearing all too frequently. But you really don't need a chart to recognize the effects of inflation. You see the signs every day in the supermarket, when you pay your utility bills, after a trip to the doctor, and when you pay housing costs.

Unfortunately, there is no easy solution to the problems of inflation. But there are some ways you can help keep your own budget under control. The U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs has a new publication that describes some actions you can take to save on food, energy, health, housing, and credit. For your free copy of A Consumer's Shopping List of Inflation Fighting Ideas, send a postcard with your name and address to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 628G, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Going food shopping? Look at the ads first. But look carefully. There may be items featured in the ads at their regular prices. True sale items usually have a line showing what the price was before. Also be aware that there are generally fewer specials at the beginning of the month. When you go to the store with your shopping list in hand, experiment with house brands or the new "no-frills" generic foods. These are nutritionally equivalent foods—often at considerable savings.

Also be careful about paying for something you may not need. For instance, vitamin fortified cereal can cost 30 cents more a box than the same cereal without added vitamins. If you eat a varied diet of fruits and vegetables, grains, milk, and proteins, you don't need those added vitamins. An easy way to save on energy costs is to weatherstrip and caulk.

First, hold a lighted candle near your windows and doors. If the flame flickers, you know there is air leaking in. Weatherstripping and caulking around those windows and doors will save you money on heat. And without the drafts you'll feel warmer, even with the thermostat turned down.

How about saving on health? Work with your doctor. Speak up about your problem, and ask questions when the doctor suggests what should be done. Ask your doctor to write prescriptions for generic drugs. Often the only difference between a brand name drug and the generic name is the price.

If you have to go to the hospital for tests or for non-emergency surgery, plan to go on Monday rather than Thursday or Friday. Most hospitals only do emergency work over the week-end. There-for are free.

fore you would have to pay for that week-end even though nothing is happening.

How about credit? If you are not able to pay credit card bills on time, you are probably going to pay 18 percent annual interest on what you owe. And if you are doing that only to protect your savings that earn 5 percent you are paying an extra 13 percent for the convenience.

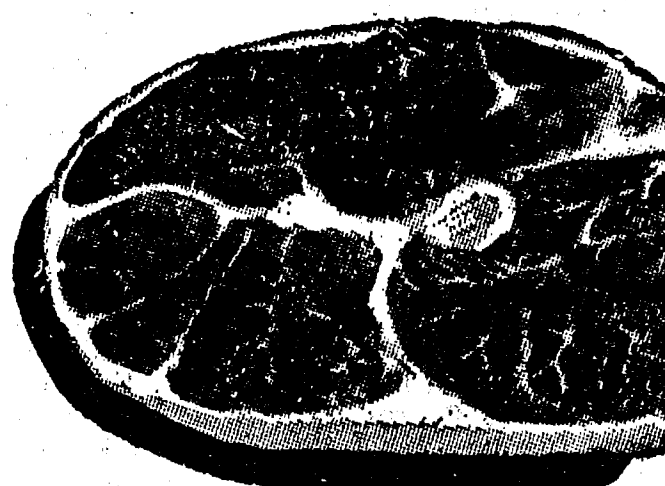

There are many other ways you can learn to save by getting a copy of A Consumer's Shopping List of Inflation Fighting Ideas (free). At the same time you'll receive a copy of the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the free Catalog lists more than 200 federal publications on everything from fixing your car to setting up a budget. And more than half the booklets you can send for are free.

Today's Investor

By Thomas E. O'Hara

Q. I am a high school teacher and have a group of students in a Business Club that have asked me to lead them in learning more about the stock market. We started out by picking out a group of stocks that the students knew because they knew their products. These included Chrysler Corp., McDonald's Corp., Kellogg, General Mills, Pizza Hut, Levi Strauss Procter & Gamble, Pepsi Co., Kroger and Shell Oil.

We pretended that we had $10,000 each, and had each student decide how much he would invest in each stock. I have the students reading the Wall Street Journal, Business Week, and other magazines and reporting on news of any of our companies that they find. We re-value our portfolios every Friday and we have a contest going to see which student's portfolio will be worth the most at the end of the semester.

I'm satisfied that these students are becoming familiar with the price changes of these companies, but several have said to me that they would like to have some way of telling which companies were likely to move ahead the fastest. Can you suggest some material that would be useful in predicting the future price of a stock, but not require more time than what we have in this after-school activity.

A. You could start them in a very professional way by introducing them to Graham, Dodd, and Cottle's book "Security Analysis," but that probably would take too much time and the parents might object to the price of the book. I would suggest that as a teacher you might want to review this book to develop your own background in this subject. But, for your class, I am sending you a copy of The Investor's Manual. In Sections II and III of this manual, there are just 34 pages of reading and illustrations. The item you want to concentrate on is called The Stock Selection Guide. It is just the front and back of one sheet of paper. It shows you how to put down the key figures for a corporation for the past five or ten years and then shows you how to project the sales and earnings figures five years into the future. When you learn to make those decisions, it's easy to take the next step and estimate the price the stock you are interested in is likely to be selling at in a year or five years in the future.

If you have your students study each of the companies you have listed in this way, they will have a pretty good idea which ones they want to have the most of in their "pretend" portfolios. With your next group, let them make the review of each company before they select their portfolios. A good many teachers have used this material and they tell us their students find it educational and fascinating.

Mr. O'Hara welcomes your questions, but will answer them only through this column. Readers who send in questions on a general investment subject or on a corporation with broad investor interest and whose questions are used, will receive a complimentary year subscription to the Investment magazine, Better Investing. We would be pleased to send a complimentary copy of Better Investing or information about Investment Clubs to any reader requesting it. Send 35 cents for postage and write to: Today's Investor, P. O. BUD AND MIL McFADDEN, 584 McKinley St., vacationed aboard the steamboat Mississippi Queen for a seven-night, round-trip cruise from New Orleans beginning Nov. 25. They stopped at St. Francisville, Natchez, and Vicksburg. The Mississippi Queen, built in 1976, cost $27 million and can carry up to 374 overnight passengers. She operates on steam and is propelled by a giant red paddlewheel. Her height of seven decks and length of 384 feet make her "the biggest steamboat ever afloat."

Boundary Change Okayed...

interested in including their land in the village at the present time, Weber reported. Unlike an annexation process a boundary change bestows village services such as access to the water supply for fire protection, but the land remains under the taxation of Sylvan township and is also taxed by the village. If a residential unit were admitted under the boundary change process, its residents would still remain township and not village residents, Weber explained.

A study to determine whether a cost of living clause should be added to the village retirement plan was approved by the council. The more than 20-year-old plan does not have such a clause to keep up with inflation. Weber stated. More than 29 employees are now covered by the plan with an average of $37,000 contributed by the village annually. Employees do not contribute funds, Weber said.

Chelsea Students Score Well Above State Average

Fourth and 7th grade students in the Chelsea school district, as have their predecessors in the past several years, scored well above the state-wide average in the Michigan Educational Assessment (MEA) test according to a report filed with the Board of Education recently.

The test, which was administered last September measured reading and math abilities, and its results are useful for teachers, counselors, principals and district personnel to plan better instructional programs in these subjects.

Also taking the test for the first time were 10th grade students although results have not yet been sent to the district.

At the 4th grade level, the overall state average in reading was 73.26 percent, while Chelsea students attained an 80.84 percent average.

The difference between the state average and Chelsea's average indicates that 7.58 percent more Chelsea students answered the objectives correctly.

At the 4th grade level in math, the state average was 82.06 percent; Chelsea's was 87.60 percent. 7th grade students state-wide received an overall average of 75.35 percent in reading and Chelsea students attained an average of 87.05 percent. In math, the state average was 66.71 percent while Chelsea had a 77.80 percent average.

"In general, at the 4th grade level, our students did better on every objective than the state average except on the question which deals with the Celsius thermometer. At the 7th grade level, our scores were higher in the reading and math areas on every objective," according to Mrs. Susan Carter, testing co-ordinator for the Chelsea School District.

MEA test results have a broad range of applications. On the 7th grade level, junior high school principal Alan Konklin reviews the results to determine if there are any seriously deficient performance areas. If there are, he then develops a program to generate improvement.

Teachers receive a report of each student's test scores, and a summary of the general performance of each class. From these reports, teachers are informed of their students' weakest areas, and can then proceed to emphasize these areas in their classrooms, or help individual students who scored low in specific areas.

In both elementary schools, principals Robert Benedict and Sylvester Wojcicki analyze test results with their teachers. They pinpoint problem areas, re-examine test questions, and refer their findings to 1st, 2nd, and 3rd grade teachers, as well as the North school reading teacher. The teachers then attempt to eliminate weak areas, if there are any.

During the past five years, Chelsea 4th and 7th graders have progressively improved their test scores in all areas.

Drifting Snow Closes Schools Thursday

Chelsea School District students cheered Thursday but booed Friday when winter's wrath forced the closing of school and many athletic events.

Kindergartners through high school seniors enjoyed their second day off from classes in a week on Thursday, as wet, impassable snow drifts covered half of the district's 26 bus routes.

Junior varsity and varsity basketball cagers and volleyball spikers, however, had their games cancelled Friday evening after reports all day guaranteed a nasty ice storm for the area. Spikers were to have traveled to Lincoln while the basketball squad was expecting Lincoln.

In all, nine games were cancelled Friday evening after canceled over the two-day period.

Ralph Brier, supervisor of transportation for the past eight years, was up at 3 a.m. Thursday and had covered 40 miles of roads before calling Superintendent Van Meer at 5:30 a.m. with his recommendation that classes be cancelled.

"I got heck for it from a few mothers in the grocery store the next day. They asked me to promise not to close school again all winter," Brier laughed.

Nearly two-thirds of the district's students are transported by bus to all four schools. "Even though the village streets are okay in the morning, the majority of students live outside the village on rural roads," he explained. Brier was quick to add that the work of the Chelsea yard of the Washtenaw County Road Commission has been "excellent" all year but the extent of the drifting was more than could be handled in time for school.

Chelsea students are allowed approximately five "snow days" a year before they are required to make up the time lost in the classroom.

In explaining why Friday night's sports events were canceled, Brier commented, "you're damned if you do, and damned if you don't." "We listen to WJR radio all day in the garage and there's no one better, in my opinion, for forecasting than Mal Summers. Everyone on Friday was predicting a bad storm so we played it safe; we never did get that storm except for a little part of it," Brier said.

To help the bus transportation department in its crystal-ball predictions, the district this year purchased 23 high-frequency UHF radios for each bus and established a base station at the high school and a remote base at the garage.

"With the radios we can keep in constant communication with the drivers which is a real advantage during the winter months," Brier commented.

Grass Lake Youth Completes Marine Corps Recruit Training

Marine Private Gary Wilson, son of Willard B. and Henrietta Wilson of 1277 S. Bohne Rd., Grass Lake, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

During the nine-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

He joined the Marine Corps in September 1978.

Lions Club Plans Valentine's Dance

Chelsea Lions Club president Russ Severn has announced that in observance of Valentine's Day the club will hold a dance on Feb. 10 for members and their wives.

Amateur Radio Group Plans Emergency Test

On Jan. 27 and 28, several dozen members of the Washtenaw County Amateur Radio Emergency Service (ARES) will join thousands of amateur radio operators throughout the United States and Canada to participate in the annual American Radio Relay League Simulated Emergency Test (SET).

The test measures the effectiveness of amateur radio emergency communications under simulated disaster conditions. Directing the effort in Washtenaw county is David Prohaska of Chelsea, American Radio Relay League Emergency Co-ordinator, who has been a licensed amateur for 27 years and operates his radio station under the call letters W8LMT.

The 1979 SET is being conducted in Washtenaw county with the cooperation of the Washtenaw County Office of Civil Defense and the Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Various agencies throughout the county are being invited to participate by sending messages by amateur radio which in most instances, will be operated by emergency power sources.

Test messages will be sent to other cities within Michigan and across the entire United States. Delivery times of these messages will range from an hour or two for destinations within a 100-mile radius of Washtenaw county to next-day delivery for addresses in such places as California, Alaska and Hawaii.

Nationally, the ARES consists of more than 30,000 licensed amateurs who have registered their availability for emergency operations in the public interest. Of these, 46 are listed in Washtenaw county. During the snow emergency of January, 1978, more than 1,400 hours of volunteer time were contributed by radio "hams" in Washtenaw county manning Red Cross emergency shelters, Civil Defense headquarters, and riding with mobile rescue vehicles. No compensation is permitted under FCC regulations.

Two Area Persons Named to County Council, Committee

Among those named to committees, councils and boards by Commissioner Richard Walterhouse, R-Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners chairman, on Wednesday, Jan. 17 were Dexter Township Board trustee Arlene Howe and George Merkel, R-Chelsea, commissioner.

Howe was named representative on the Comprehensive Health Planning Council for a two-year term expiring Dec. 31, 1980. Merkel was appointed liaison with the Washtenaw County Road Commission.

Regulation

The American public is going to have to make a decision on "regulation" and soon, or we are all going to be strait-jacketed like certain mental cases. We all want the "other fellow" regulated, but now the only "other fellow" left is us. We complain and complain about "over-governmentalization" but constantly "buy" more and more regulation — which is the same thing. If more and more governing makes our lives better, then its ever burgeoning regulatory agencies are a good thing. But we say that they are not, that they make everything they touch worse; we make incessant jokes about bureaucratic bungling and wanton waste and sheepishly admit that politicians constantly make fools of us. Certainly there is a price to pay for living in a highly industrialized society with a modicum of freedom. But there also is a whole life style developed over generations which will have to be changed drastically if we carry the complete regulatory line to its logical conclusion. You can't have it both ways.

CARD OF THANKS
Thank you to Lynn Culver for all her hard work and efforts with the fruit cake sale to raise money for the Chelsea Band and Orchestra group. Thank you for the hours of making maps, collecting money, originating the car caravans, making phone calls, organizing kids and parents, delivering fruit cakes, counting money, and the bookwork for three months which contributed to the more than $4,000 raised. You did a super job.

Estate of ADELINE A. MOORE, Deceased.

TAKE NOTICE: On February 15, 1979,

Alcohol Causes Birth Defects

The more alcohol a pregnant woman drinks, the greater risk of giving birth to an abnormal baby. Thousands of malformed and mentally defective babies are born yearly because their mothers drank too much during pregnancy.

To explain these hazards in detail, the Food and Drug Administration has reprinted a new article from FDA Consumer. For your free copy of Alcohol and Birth Defects, write to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 572G, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Fetal Alcohol Syndrome is a condition which has been suspected for centuries. The symptoms shown by children may include slow growth before and after birth, small head, facial irregularities such as narrow eye slits and a sunken nasal bridge, defective heart and other organ, malformed arms and legs, genital abnormalities, and mental retardation. There are also behavioral problems, such as hyperactivity, extreme nervousness, and a poor attention span.

Three studies, funded by the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, are currently in progress. Early findings show that babies born to women who consume between one and two ounces of absolute alcohol a day (two to four drinks) can show abnormalities of growth, congenital malformations, and behavioral changes associated with the mother's alcohol consumption during pregnancy.

The risk of the full Fetal Alcohol Syndrome appears to start at three ounces a day, but part of the syndrome might show up with only one to three ounces. Notes the Institute, "There's a possibility that symptoms short of the full syndrome could be caused by lesser doses of alcohol on a regular basis, or by a single high dose in one day or week-end of heavy drinking during a critical time in the development of the fetus."

Fortunately, prevention of Fetal Alcohol Syndrome, unlike certain other birth defects, need not wait for a medical or scientific breakthrough. The best advice, of course, is for pregnant women to avoid alcohol completely. Short of that, follow the guideline of no more than two drinks in any one day. That will help a mother avoid potential harm to her unborn child.

When you order a copy of Alcohol and Birth Defects (free), you'll also receive a copy of the free Consumer Information Catalog. It lists more than 200 selected free or low-cost publications from the federal government. The Catalog is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration.

Ski Industry May Have Reached Its Peak

Lightning will strike twice to bring another season of record snow and crowds to the slopes, but with fewer than half expanding operations this winter, it appears the industry may be near its peak development at this time, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"There are two new state ski areas, but two others will not open this winter, and the number of lodges operating in Michigan remains at 58 for the second year," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

"This would indicate that the state's ski industry has stabilized, and unless it can lure more out-of-state skiers away from resorts in the Northeast and the West, the major growth era may have ended," Ratke said.

Last year, Michigan's winter sports generated nearly $722 million in business, and a major contributor to this boom was the ski industry, which reported an average 20 percent increase in both crowds and profits.

Ski operators are hopeful of a 10 to 15 percent increase in skiers over last year's record, but their optimism is tempered by memories of how easily they can be hurt by the weather and changes in the economy, Ratke noted.

The two new lodges opening this year are Cole Creek, near Comins in northeast Lower Michigan, and Blackjack, near Bessemer in the western Upper Peninsula.

Cole Creek formerly operated as Fon-Ro in the late 1960s and reopened under its new name last January," said Ratke.

Cole Creek has two beginner-intermediate runs serviced by rope tows. Cross-country skiing is offered on nearly 30 miles of surrounding trails. The ski center includes a dining room, lounge and ski shop with rental equipment.

Blackjack has been six years in the making and offers three double chairlifts and two rope tows serving 12 runs spread along a hill with a 460-foot vertical drop. It also features a cafeteria and ski rental shop.

Not operating this year are Walloon Hills, one of four Boyne Country complexes in the state, and Newaygo County Winter Sports Park, near Newaygo. Walloon Hills closed due to lack of interest by the public in a lodge that offered low-cost week-end skiing. Erosion caused by off-road vehicles at Newaygo Winter Park was blamed for its closure.

Auto Club states that persons traveling to Michigan ski areas will pay an average $6.35 for day-time week-end lift use. Prices are unchanged from last season at 16 areas while lift ticket increases from 25 cents to $2 were found at 32 others.

Boyne Mountain, near Boyne Falls, and Boyne Highlands, near Harbor Springs, have the highest week-end lift fees at $12.

Those two lodges boast a total of 31 runs and 15 chairlifts. Each has snowmaking and at-slope accommodations in rooms or condominiums and chalets. Both offer package rates, equipment rental and instruction, plus cafeteria and dining rooms, lounges, week-end entertainment, heated outdoor pools, babysitting and cross-country skiing.

The most inexpensive skiing in the state can be found at Crystal Lake, near Crystal Falls, in the Upper Peninsula. Auto Club notes that the area's three runs are serviced by a pair of rope tows, with cross-country skiing the only "extra" offered.

Here is "what's new" at state ski areas this winter:

Southeast Michigan—MT. BRIGH-TON, near Brighton, added a 600-foot expert-only run billed as the region's steepest. Also new is a slope served by a two-place chairlift. A double rope tow and ski shop have been added and rental stock increased to 2,000 pairs. MT. GRAMPIAN, Oxford, lists a new 1,300 square-foot ski shop with complete alpine and cross-country equipment.

East Michigan—MT. MARIA, Spruce, has two new intermediate runs of 2,000 and 2,500 feet. Cross-country ski equipment and three miles of added trails also are available. MIO MT., Mio, added a 1,100-foot intermediate run. Snowmaking capability also was increased by half. MOTT MT., near Farwell, increased its snowmaking equipment one-third. BINTZ APPLE MT., near Freeland, added 200 new sets of rental skis and upped its snowmaking capability 25 percent. SNOWSNAKE, Harrison, now offers cross-country skiing, rental and lessons and a newly widened advanced downhill slope.

West Michigan—TIMBER RIDGE, Gobles, cut a new 600-foot beginner run and two advanced-beginner runs of 2,000 and 1,800 feet. Also added were a triple-chairlift, three rope tows and 400 sets of rental equipment. ROYAL VALLEY, Buchanan, has two new four-place chairlifts which triple its capacity, plus a 1,500-foot beginner run and an extended advanced-beginner run.

SWISS VALLEY, Jones, reports a new 1,200-foot intermediate run and poma tow, plus added cafeteria space. CANNONSBURG now has more than six miles of cross-country trails and 200 sets of cross-country rental equipment, a new 12,000 square-foot cafeteria, added parking and snowmobile capacity. CRYSTAL MT., Thompsonville, installed a four-place chairlift, expanded its cocktail lounge and offers weekday nursery service. CABERFAE, Cadillac, increased snowmaking capacity 30 percent and increased night lighting one-third. Expert runs were regraded and a snack bar and sun deck also are new. TRAVERSE CITY HOLIDAY doubled its snowmaking equipment.

SUGAR LOAF, Cedar, remodeled its lodge. BOYNE HIGHLANDS, Harbor Springs, doubled its cafeteria seating, and LOST PINES, Harbortta, reports a modernized lodge.

Upper Peninsula—BRULE MT., Iron River, boasts the region's biggest snowmaking system, plus three new chalets sleeping up to 18 persons each. The ski shop and sun deck also have been expanded. QUAIL, Ishpeming, and MT. ZION, Ironwood, added rope tows, while PORCUPINE MT., Ontonagon, installed a new T-bar. GLADSTONE may be rented for ski parties.

Shalom Church Will Hear Talk on Holy Land

Pastor Oscar Kraft of Grace Lutheran church, Howell, will give a talk and show slides of the Holy Land at Shalom Lutheran church, Pinckney, Sunday, Jan. 23 at 7 p.m. Pastor Kraft spent five weeks in the Holy Land last year. Visitors are welcome.

Another Youth Movie Night will be held Saturday, Feb. 3, 7-10 p.m. with the showing of the original "King Kong." Donation of $1 includes lemonade and popcorn. Adults are welcome.

An Elvis Presley musical, taking place on a Pacific island, will be shown Sunday evening, Feb. 4, following the 5 p.m. family pot-luck meal.

Due to bad weather, the January pot-luck had to be canceled. The entertainment of "Fiddlin' Jamie and the Country D's," planned for that evening, has been rescheduled for the Saturday, March 11 family pot-luck. Jamie and his parents have entertained in the Pinckney area recently.

The new Lutheran Book of Worship is now in full use at Shalom. Until total familiarity is established, it will be a while before the congregation will be singing with its usual gusto.

New members recently taken into the church are: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Amerman, Karen Amerman, Mrs. Almedia Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Enos and Renee, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gill, Audrey Gill, Mr. and Mrs. James Plumley and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Fuhrmann. Eric Bradley Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric A. Rose, was baptized at the Jan. 21 Sunday worship service.

Pastor Ronald E. Rein attended a retreat for pastors of mission congregations Jan. 10-13. This was a work session with each congregation sharing what it was doing in the way of evangelism, worship, stewardship, and programs of outreach and internal growth.

Shalom was the grateful recipient of several thoughtful Christmas "surprises." A beautiful Nativity set, made in Italy, was given by Mrs. Swarthout, former counselor at Pinckney High school, and a heavy box of coins, Christmas-wrapped, was left anonymously after the Christmas Eve service.

Metroparks are different from recreation supplied by most other units of government. Most Metroparks are fairly good-sized, providing 1,000 to 3,000 acres or larger sites. They are a pleasing blend of the natural resources such as a lake, a river, woods or wildlife area accompanied by man-made facilities that invite use—such as hills for tobogganing or sledding in winter, picnic areas and lakes for swimming, boating or fishing in the summer, plus spring and fall facilities. Most Metroparks are within an hour's drive for most residents of the region and with "day-use" facilities only.

Snowmobile Trails Continue To Increase

A network of trails covering more than 2,200 miles—the distance between Detroit and Bakersfield, Calif.—awaits Michigan's steadily growing snowmobiling legion this winter, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Michigan's extensive snowmobile trail system ranks third in the nation behind Minnesota and Wisconsin," stated Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

This year, Michigan has added 143 miles of trails to keep up with the growing popularity of snowmobiling. There are now nearly 450,000 snowmobilers in the state, and that figure is growing at a rate of nearly three percent a year.

Auto Club's 1977-78 snowmobile guide lists 164 marked and groomed trails. Some are as short as six miles and traverse rolling woods and fields less than an hour's drive from major cities. Others are more suited to safaris, covering as much as 80 miles of snow-shrouded forestland.

In addition to the trails listed by Auto Club, snowmobilers may travel over more than 3.7 million acres of state forests, 100,000 acres of state parks and game and recreation areas, plus thousands of miles of right-of-way along roads in 35 counties.

For the second year, special regulations for the state's four national forests will apply. Auto Club noted.

Snowmobilers using the 1.1 million acres in the Lower Peninsula's Huron and Manistee national forests are restricted to designated trails or any unplowed road not posted as closed. Cross-country snowmobile travel will be allowed in the western Upper Peninsula's 1.6 million-acre Ottawa National Forest until March 1 when all machines on federal land south of M-28, except for a portion in the extreme western U.P., will be restricted to designated trails or unplowed roads.

Snowmobilers in the U.P.'s 1.2 million-acre Hiawatha National Forest must stay on trails or unplowed but groomed national forest roads.

Auto Club noted that snowmobiles must be registered to operate everywhere except on private land. Youngsters aged 12 to 15 are required to pass an eight-hour state-approved snowmobile safety course to drive without supervision on public property.

State land is off-limits to snowmobilers when snow depth is under four inches. Southern state game areas listed are open from Jan. 1 to March 31, 1978.

Auto Club states snowmobilers can enjoy a problem-free season outdoors by following these safety rules:

—Dress properly. Avoid long scarves or other clothing which may tangle in machinery.

Two Sisters Earn Academic Honors

Two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. William Pierce of 9887 Hermitage Way, Whitmore Lake, have been honored by their respective colleges for their academic performances.

Colleen P. Pierce, a freshman at Western Michigan University, was named to the dean's list at the end of the fall semester in honor of her 3.67 grade average. Her sister, Beth Ann, a student at the College of Mt. St. Joseph on the Ohio in Cincinnati, O., will be included in the forthcoming edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

HOW FAR IS TOO FAR?

You've gone too far by far when you drive all the way into Detroit looking for a new car bargain. Too far is taking all day for service when a few hours is all it should take. Too far is having to stop to eat lunch when you're shopping for a used car. Too far is driving to Detroit when you could go to Rampy Chevrolet in Ann Arbor.

Somehow a lot of people have gotten the idea that just because they make cars in Detroit, it's the best place to buy one. Not so.

Rampy has always been competitive in pricing both his new and used cars. That's how he got to be the biggest dealership in Washtenaw County. And at Rampy, the sale is only the beginning of a mutually satisfactory relationship. Service is a big part of his business. At Rampy, service is second to none. Rampy has hired top professionals and given them the best possible equipment to both diagnose and fix your car's problems expertly and efficiently.

How far is too far? The distance it takes to go anywhere but Rampy Chevrolet.

Rampy doesn't just sell cars,
he sells service.

CMU Students Come From Every County

Central Michigan University again this year draws its students from all 83 of Michigan's counties.

And just over half of CMU's 16,203 students this semester come from eight counties along a line that runs roughly from Mt. Pleasant to the Saginaw Bay and then to downtown Detroit.

Students from those eight counties account for 50.5 percent of CMU's current enrollment, according to figures compiled by the Registrar's Office. The figures also show that 97.9 percent of CMU's students are from Michigan, with other states accounting for 172 students and other countries and U.S. territories for 154.

Oakland county leads as the home base for the most students with 1,942. That's 12 percent of the total enrollment. Wayne county, with 1,631 or 10.1 percent, is second, and CMU's home county, Isabella, is third with 1,128 or 7 percent.

Washtenaw county currently has 151 students at CMU to rank 24th among Michigan's 83 counties.

Others in the top 10 include Saginaw with 823 or 5.1 percent, Midland with 804 or 5 percent, Macomb with 777 or 4.8 percent, Genesee with 724 or 4.5 percent, Kent with 562 or 3.6 percent, Bay with 395 or 2.4 percent, and Gratiot with 363 or 2.2 percent.

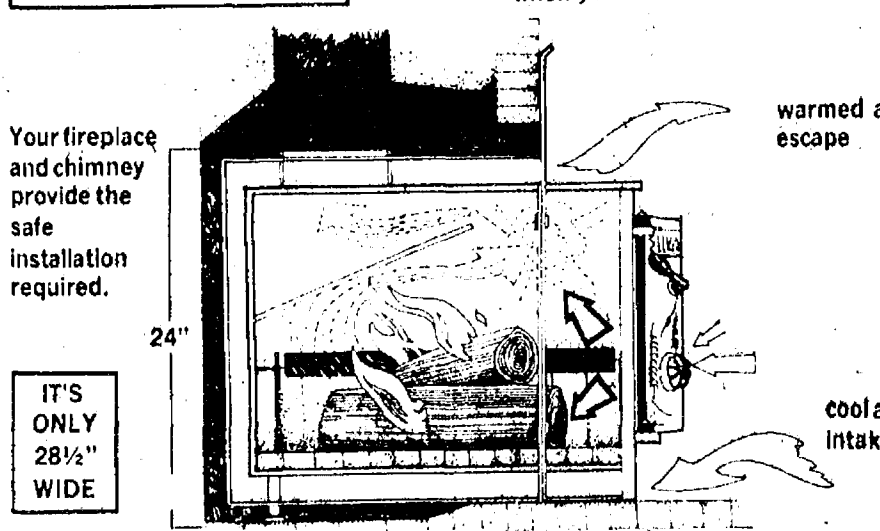

Ohio, with 32 students at CMU, leads the other states, while Illinois, with 30 students enrolled, is second and New York with 16, ranks third. In all, there students from 31 states other than Michigan.

CMU's current enrollment is the second highest in the school's 86-year history.

ASK THE GOVERNOR

by William G. Hoffman

Question: I'm getting worried about my heating bill this coming winter. Last year I ran over $150 a month and I just couldn't pay it all at one time. Then I really got behind and the company cut off my gas service in February. I'm afraid it will happen again this year. What can I do?

Governor: If you were receiving your gas or electricity from a state-regulated utility, there are steps you can take before a company can actually cut you off. The Michigan Public Service Commission has rules making it very hard for utilities to terminate a customer's service—especially during the winter months.

The rules specify that state-regulated utilities must offer customers a reasonable chance to pay their bills in installments.

They also set up a hearing process to give each customer an opportunity to challenge a company's decision to terminate service before an actual shut off occurs.

The rules also forbid utilities from turning off their service of customers who can prove a medical emergency exists in their home.

You should also check to see if you qualify for some form of emergency assistance. To find out about the various programs providing energy financial aid, call the Michigan Energy Administration toll free at 1-800-282-4702 and ask for their publication, "Energy Financial Assistance Directory."

Question: It seems as though every time I turn around, somebody is talking about energy conservation. I guess it's time to take a look at what our family uses around the house. Is there somewhere in state government I could get some information without calling a lot of different places?

Governor: The Commerce Department's Energy Administration has a toll free hotline for energy information, 1-800-272-4704. It is a free clearing-house service to provide you with answers to your questions about energy conservation and energy use, either directly over the telephone or by follow-up with printed materials. The brochures, pamphlets, fact sheets and curriculum materials available through Energy Clearinghouse describe practical ways to save energy at home or school, at work, or in the marketplace. Your questions can be answered immediately in most cases, or the information can be forwarded directly to you within a few days. The clearing-house has information on how much electricity various appliances use, winter emergency guidelines and instructions, tips on winter driving, how to choose an insulation contractor, and so forth. The hotline operates Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., or you may write to the Clearinghouse at Post Office Box 30223, Lansing 48909.

Question: I've been saving old beer and pop cans in my garage because I heard they would be worth a dime apiece once the new "Bottle Bill" becomes law. Recently, however, a friend told me my cans would be worthless because of some sort of stamp or mark that is supposed to be on them. Is this true?

Governor: You would be better advised to recycle or sell those cans because on Dec. 3—the day the bottle law takes effect—it will be illegal for Michigan retailers to sell beer or pop in cans or previously nonreturnable containers unless they are marked with the name of this state and the refund value.

★ Bobby Jr.'s Education Started

Robert F. Kennedy, Jr., the 24-year-old son of the late Robert Kennedy, was in Washington recently making public relations appearances in connection with the life of Judge Frank M. Johnson.

Robert, Jr., went to Alabama several months ago to write a senior's thesis on Governor George Wallace as a part of his graduation from the History Department at Harvard.

But when he got to Alabama, he found that Governor Wallace was not running the state. It was being run by Federal Judge Johnson through a series of his court orders. Judge Johnson is the man President Carter picked to head the FBI, but then he dropped out because of ill health.

The interesting thing about young Kennedy's interview in one of Washington's daily newspapers is what he had to say as a result of his stay in the south:

"After a year there, I have a different perspective of states' rights versus big government," he said. "It is a valid political argument and something this country is going to have to confront. I believe states are losing too much of their autonomy. They ought to be given more of a chance to rule themselves."

"I would not agree with Johnson who probably would get rid of the states," he continued. "Sometimes I have a hard time reconciling my liberal predisposition, which too often involves bigger government, with my basic instinct. I don't want the federal government knocking at my door and telling me how to run my life."

Bobby, Jr. may not have switched to grits—but he has gotten the message as to where most of us are in this country!

JV Cagers Lose to Pinckney at Buzzer

With one second left before the final buzzer, Chelsea junior varsity cagers netted what everyone thought were the winning points. An error on the play, however, disqualified the points and the Pinckney cagers took the win, 47-44 on Tuesday, Jan. 16.

Pinckney held a tight lead through the first half, 22-19, before Chelsea evened the scoring to 31-31 by the third quarter's end. Bulldogs blamed a low average of foul shots for their loss. Chelsea made six out of 17 while Pinckney took 19 out of 35.

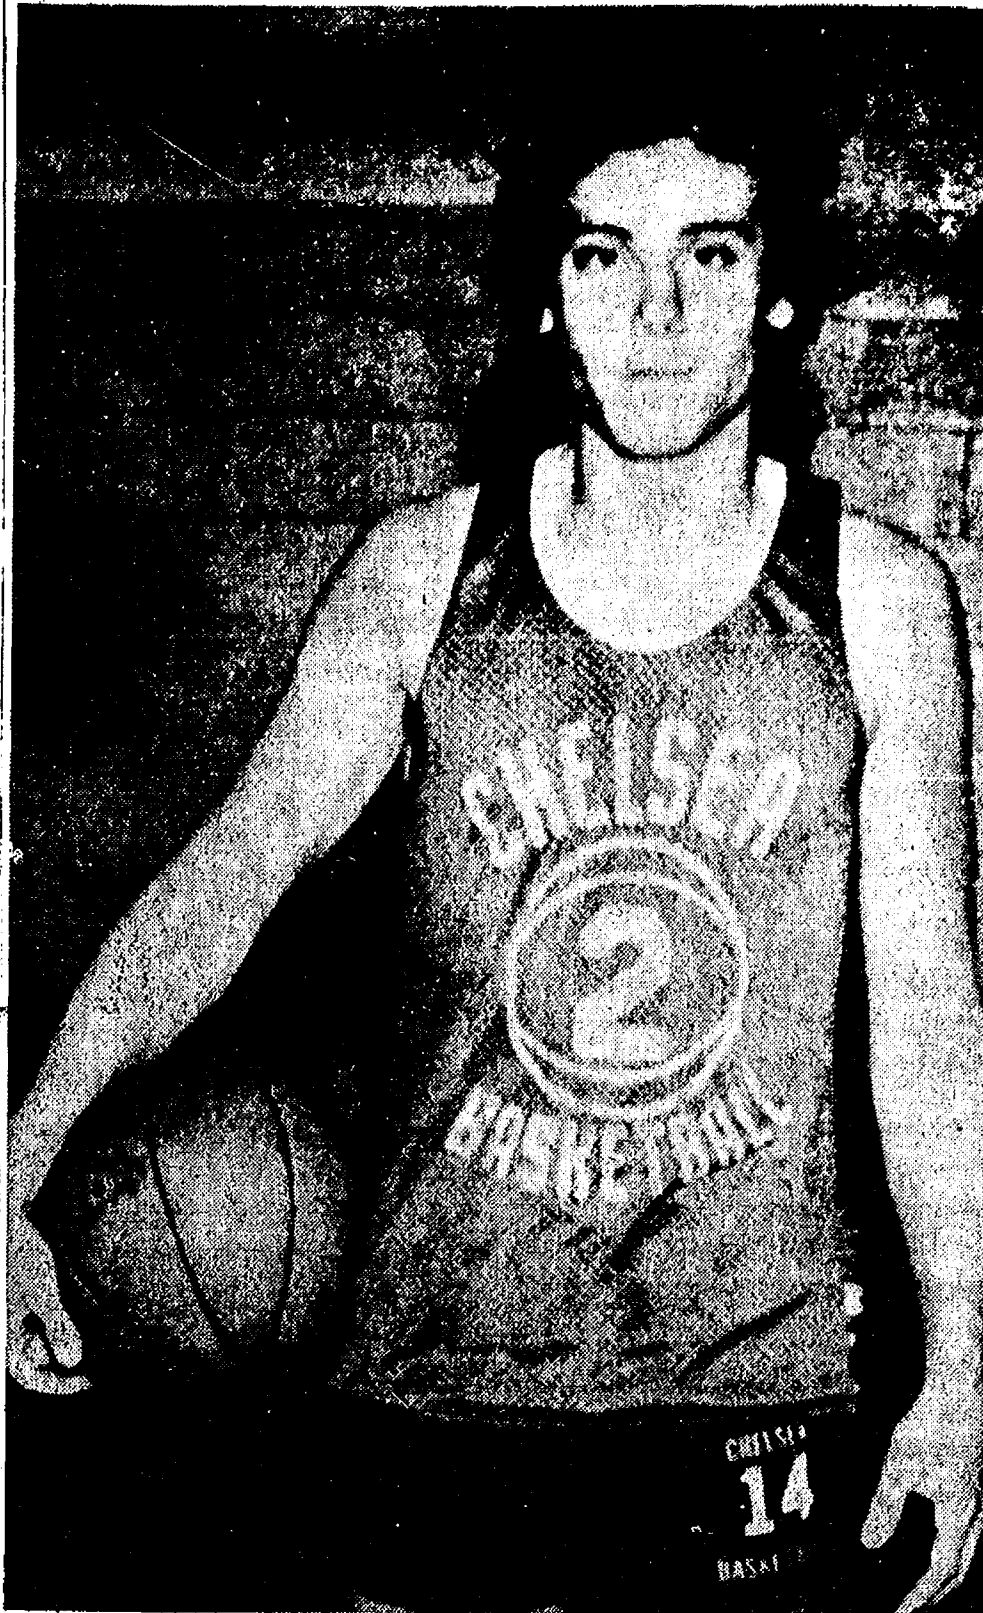

Bulldog Jon Riemenschneider was the sole double digit shooter with 10. Karl Albrecht bagged nine; Jeff Price, seven; Sean Peterson, six; Mike Lazarz, six; Mike Wade, four; and Mark Steinaway, two.

Albrecht took leading honors in rebounds with 16. Riemenschneider had 13; and Mark Steinaway, seven. Sean Peterson added five steals; Mike Lazarz, four; and Karl Albrecht, three. Peterson had three assists for the evening.

Because of the anticipated ice storm on Friday, Jan. 19, both the varsity and junior varsity games with Lincoln were canceled. They have been rescheduled for Feb. 6.

Chelsea meets Novi on Friday, Jan. 26 for a conference game. Junior cagers are 3-7 overall and 3-3 in the league.

Cager of the Week

JOHN DUNN (20) is a well-known athletic figure in Chelsea sports who is currently spending energies towards a successful basketball season. The 5'10", 165 lb. first-year varsity junior is slotted as a guard which he describes as "the person who sets up our offense by passing the ball to another player." To date, Dunn recalls the game against Novi as the team's best. "They are a lot bigger than we are and they were supposed to win," he remarked. Chelsea, however, smashed the Wildcats, 54-40, with some "really good defense," Dunn commented. Dunn's personally best game was with Saline when he scored six points in the second half. This Friday and Saturday will be telling days for the Bulldogs as they face the powerful Novi and Brighton squads for the second time around. "There is a good possibility that by winning these two games we'll have it wrapped up for the title," Dunn predicted. In addition to playing basketball, Dunn has been chosen as co-captain for the varsity football team and will also be on the varsity baseball team for the first time next summer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Dunn, 555 Washington St.

Historical Society Plans Membership Drive

Chelsea Historical Society met recently at the McKune Memorial Library. During the business meeting it was announced that the annual membership drive will begin Feb. 1 with Mrs. Hazel Dittmar as chairman.

Harold Jones is in possession of a picture of James Congdon, one of the founders of Chelsea. He suggested that it be enlarged and framed and presented for placement in the Library Historical Room. He is hoping that if someone has a picture of Elisha Congdon (brother of James and also one of the founders of Chelsea) that he or she will get in touch with him.

Otis Titus reported on the progress of the research he is doing on the Glazier Building. He appreciates all the information people have given him.

Katie Chapman reported on the open house meeting of the Washtenaw Historical Society held at the Barton Dam Power House which will be converted into a museum in the near future.

The program featured two women from the Architectural Urban Planning at U. of M. They were introduced by Mrs. Warren McArthur. Amy Lee and Barbara Berlin, the two students, gave a very interesting and informative program on architecture of buildings in the Chelsea area. Chelsea was selected by them and their professor as the study area in architecture. They have photographed and categorized homes and commercial buildings, noting the structure design, approximate date of construction, useage, and whether or not the exterior design has been altered. Members were very complimentary of their work and were excited to see their home and read the description relating to it.

Fred Barkley, Chelsea planner, co-operated with Amy and Barbara in laying out the boundary within which the buildings would be studied. The area is bounded on the east by Madison St. by Washington and Van Buren Sts. on the south, Garfield on the west, and W. Middle St. and E. Middle St. on the north and including the Central Fibre and Glazier Buildings. The survey is not complete because of weather conditions.

The women are also working on a conservation plan which will be presented to the Village Council sometime this spring. During their presentation they also pointed out that an area could be declared a Historic Area with the co-operation of a village, state and national recognition of historic districts.

After their presentation many questions were asked and discussed. Any group wishing to have the women present their program may contact them by calling Mrs. Warren McArthur, Summit St., Chelsea.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Moore and Mrs. Don Schrader.

The next regular meeting will be held Feb. 12 at the Library.

Good Things Growing In Michigan

If you're baking cookies, cakes and breads for the holidays you might want to add nature's natural sweetener, honey, to your recipes.

Honey is the same product today as in ancient days, so finely produced it needs no preservatives, coloring agents, stabilizers or special protection.

Last year in our state, where good things are growing, 105,000 colonies of bees manufactured over 5.6 million pounds of honey, according to the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Michigan's honey bees were not only busy making honey and beeswax but also served as pollinators for fruit and seed crops including apples, blueberries and cucumbers.

Honey is produced by bees collecting nectar from plants and flying it back to their hives, where they constantly fan it to evaporate most of the water. When it becomes thick, bees seal it in honeycombs with body wax.

Color and flavor are determined by the flowers from which bees collect nectar. Light-colored, mild honeys come from clovers, while one of the dark, strongly flavored types is from buckwheat.

Flavor and absence of defects are important facts in honey grading. If labeled a single pure flavor, it must contain at least 51 percent of that flavor.

Recipes often suggest honey to replace sugar cup for cup. However, honey is sweeter than sugar and will greatly alter the flavor. When added to cake, cookies and bread doughs, it gives them remarkable keeping qualities, a cheater texture and a browner color. Honey also absorbs moisture from the air, helping keep baked goods soft.

Store covered honey at room temperature. If it becomes crystallized, it can easily be relified by setting the jar in a pan of very hot water. Be careful not to heat it to over 160 degrees, as this affects the flavor adversely.
