Auto Burns Thursday in Parking Lot

Chelsea police were called to the scene of an accidental automobile fire last Thursday in the LithoCrafters, Inc. parking lot.

Owner of the auto, Richard Doyle, 11756 Pleasant Lake Rd., Pinckney, told police he had parked his car, turned off the motor and got in the back seat to sleep, when he smelled smoke.

Doyle left the vehicle, he told police, to look for help. As he looked back, he said he saw fire coming from the car.

Officers Foster and Walter arrived, but the blaze was too far advanced for the pair to extinguish, and they called the Chelsea fire department to douse the flames.

Cause of the fire was believed to be defective wiring.

Debate Team Sponsoring 'I Can Day'

Chelsea High's debate team is sponsoring "I Can Day," in an effort to increase funds to increase debate activities in the coming year.

"I Can Day" is a day for debaters to express their convictions that they "can" be successful.

How "can" the community help?

By donating old cans to the CHS debate team on "I Can Day," Sunday, Nov. 25 from 2 to 6 p.m.

Debaters will be going door to door in the village that day to collect cans. Those outside the village limits who might wish to donate, should call Sarah Leisinger, 475-8739, or Mary Markle, 475-8903.

FATAL CRASH: Chelsea resident Betty McDowell was killed Friday night when her car spun out of control and was broadsided by another vehicle on E. Old US-12. A memorial service for Mrs. McDowell was held Wednesday afternoon in Ann Arbor.

Woman Dies In 3-Car Crash On Old US-12

A Chelsea woman was killed Friday night on Old US-12 when the car she was driving veered over the lane divider and was broadsided by an oncoming vehicle.

Betty J. McDowell, 46, of 20820 Island Lake Rd., was pronounced dead at Chelsea Hospital following the three-car mishap on E. Old US-12.

According to the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, Mrs. McDowell was proceeding westbound on Old US-12 when she drifted about two feet over the center line on a curve. The left fender of her car struck an east-bound vehicle driven by Steve Heydlauff, 18, 151 Orchard St., and sent her skidding sideways out of control in the eastbound lane. As she careened into the opposing lane, a second car, driven by Garnet Whitley, 17946 Old US-12, broadsided her vehicle.

Neither of the other drivers was seriously hurt. According to the Sheriff's Department, Whitley was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where he was treated for minor injuries.

Girls Swim Team Hosting Tourney

Chelsea girls swim team will be hosting its third annual Chelsea High school Swimming Invitational this Saturday. Diving will be at 10 a.m., swimming preliminaries at 1 p.m. and finals at 6 p.m.

Attending will be Albion, Brighton, Dundee, Erie-Mason, Flint Powers, Milan, Monroe, Novi, Willow Run and Ypsilanti Lincoln.

More than 200 swimmers will participate in 700 events during the course of the meet.

The CHS girls will be in a stiff battle to finish in the top three positions. Chelsea lost to Milan and Brighton during the year and Flint Powers is a very strong team.

Chelsea defeated Albion last week in its final dual meet of the season to raise the record to 11 wins and four losses. Pool records were set by Shannon Springer in the 50 free and in the 100 fly by Sara Borders. Final score was 108-61.

After Saturday's meet, eight girls will continue training for the girls state meet at Grand Rapids Junior College on Nov. 30 and Dec. 1.

Library Gift Starts Building Fund

McKune Memorial Library has received a gift of money from Blaine Bartsch, which the library board decided at the October meeting to use as the start of a Building Fund. The library is overcrowded in all areas, making such building a necessity.

In addition, a gift of $1,000 has been received from the Chelsea Friends of the Library. The board would welcome other contributions from organizations, individuals and industry.

This addition would enlarge the fiction section on the north side of the library. Gifts to the library are tax deductible.

Drama Class Preparing Dickens' 'Christmas Carol'

Chelsea High school's Drama Class has picked the cast and crew for its fall production of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol." The play, adapted by Lynn Stevens, will be staged on Dec. 13, 14 and 15. The cast will first perform for a junior high audience and a high school crowd, then Saturday night, bring the production to the community.

Much work and thought has been put into the production and much remains to be done. A great amount of responsibility has been shouldered by the 30 people who have taken on the task of putting on a play. It requires that the actors must be the crew, and that the technical crew must be the actors.

Acting and crew assignments for the class include:

Brian Kruger, starring in the lead role of Scrooge, works on the sound crew; Fred is portrayed by Brad Barr, a member of both the program and set crew; and Sara Conner is leading the make-up crew, helping with costumes and sets and playing the role of Mary on stage.

The two social women are played by Mary Markle and Kolyette Rinehart. Mary, head of the sound effects crew, is also part of the set committee. Kolyette is one of two stage managers, who have the all-important role of co-ordinating all stage activities. The other stage manager, Debbie Koepke, plays the role of Martha. Adon Staebler fills the role of Marley's Ghost, while also playing the undertaker's man later in the show and working on the costume and make-up crews.

Michal Benedict is playing Christmas Past, heading up the box office crew and working with both the set and special effects crews. Phil Powers is essaying several roles, including the boy Scrooge in the first act, and two smaller roles of a boy and a child later in the show. Phil is also head of the set crew and works with publicity.

Fran is played by Kelly Stabelton, who is head of publicity crew and is assisting with props and the box office. Young Scrooge is played by Shawn Pierson, who also plays Peter and works with make-up and house management.

Book Fair Planned at High School

Media Center staff at Chelsea High school are planning a Paperback Book Fair for Dec. 4-6. New paperback books will be on sale for students in the conference room of the high school Media Center from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Dec. 4-6 and for parents from 6 to 8 p.m. on Dec. 5.

There will be a good selection of fiction and non-fiction titles as well as some reference paperbacks, such as dictionaries and thesauruses.

Community members are welcome to attend.

Boy Scout Troop Seeks Its Roots

Chelsea Boy Scout Troop 425 will be 55 years old in 1980. The troop is looking for its heritage.

Any former scouts or masters who can help the troop find its roots should contact Richard Cook, 475-7747.

Mark Poske, a member of the set, special effects and property crews, will also be playing the roles of Mr. Fezziwig, Christmas Present and the pawnbroker, in addition to working on the set and prop crews. Mrs. Fezziwig is played by Lynn Elkins, who is keeping busy with three crew assignments, including sets, make-up and house management.

Sandy Keiser, playing the role of Miss Fezziwig, is working with set, sound effects and program crews. Patty Schumann, keeping busy as the head of the property crew, will also be playing the role of Belle and helping with sets. Sue Satterthwaite is playing Ruth, heading the costume crew and working with props.

Mrs. Cratchit is portrayed by Mary Bacon, who is also working with sets and publicity. Laurie Speer plays the role of Belinda and works with sets, costumes and the box office. Rhea O'Toole, head of the house management crew, is playing the role of Robin and working with sets and (Continued on page two.)

Girls Varsity Cagers Hurt By Turnovers

Close is the only appropriate word to describe the outcome of Chelsea girls basketball contests for the past few weeks. The Bulldogs have dropped three of their last four decisions and now stand at 8-6.

"Turnovers, turnovers, turnovers," went Coach Jim Winter's explanation. "Every-time we're in a hole it's usually because of our own turnovers. You can't have as many as we've been having and expect to win."

Last Friday, the Chelsea squad had a chance to knock neighboring Dexter out of the first place spot the Dreadnaughts have held most of the season, but came up short, 46-40.

An ineffective offense and porous first quarter defense put Chelsea in a tough spot, 23-13, after one half of play.

A more determined group effort took the Bulldogs to within two after three quarters, 30-28.

The final eight minutes remained close. Chelsea was within three, 42-39, with two minutes left, but couldn't put together the points to take the lead.

Nanette Push led the Chelsea effort: Her 20 points marked the eighth consecutive contest she has topped the 20 mark. She also pulled down 11 rebounds and had eight steals.

Aquatic Club Scores in Midland Invitational Meet

This past week-end, 10 members of the Chelsea Aquatic Club went to Midland to participate in the Midland Dolphins Invitational AAU meet. The Chelsea athletes returned home with an armful of awards.

During the morning events, the Chelsea team recorded four individual placings. Three of the four awards were earned by John Cattell, a 10-year-old, who took the 50-yard breaststroke, the 50-yard freestyle and the 50-yard backstroke.

Fourth award in the morning session was won by Sharon Colombo who took second in the 25-yard freestyle.

The afternoon session started off with the 11-12 girls 200-yard freestyle team of Jennifer Cattell, Kris Mattoff, Jennifer Colvin and Paula Colombo taking third place honors. Following the relay in winning form was Danny Degener, a Chelsea sixth grader, who made his way to the awards table three times for finishes in the 50-yard breaststroke, 100-yard individual medley and the 50-yard freestyle.

Further multiple awards were won by Paula Colombo, Margie Rawson and Kevin Colombo. Paula swam to a fifth place finish in the meet's longest event, the 500-yard freestyle, and immediately following the distance event, took a first place in the 100-yard butterfly.

Rawson, an eighth grader, won the 200-yard freestyle in 2:13.07 and placed second in both the (Continued on page four.)

JAMES A. ALFORD, JR., of Park St., recently received the National Animal Technician of the Year award at the 30th annual meeting of the American Association for Laboratory Animal Science in Atlanta, Ga. Presenting the plaque was Ann M. Campbell, chairperson of the Animal Technician Certification Board. Alford, assistant to the director of the Unit for Laboratory Animal Medicine at the University of Michigan, was cited for "outstanding contributions to the field of laboratory animal technician training."

James Alford, Jr., Named Animal Technician of Year

For many of us, the trauma of high school biology never goes away. The mere mention of animals used for medical experiments and research is enough to produce an unpleasant chill of discomfort. Dissecting rats, frogs and other creatures is necessary for medical progress, we are likely to think, but what kind of person would want to work with these animals for a living?

One person who would, and in fact does, is a Chelsea resident, James A. Alford, Jr. of Park St.

Assistant to the director and manager of the Unit for Laboratory Animal Medicine at the University of Michigan Medical School, Alford not only likes his work but recently received a national award for his contributions to the field.

Known in the profession for his efforts to dispel the above, rather suspicious, image and promote professionalism among animal care workers, Alford was named National Animal Technician of the Year at the 30th annual meeting of the American Association of Laboratory Animal Science in Atlanta, Ga. Alford is interested in informing the general public to a certain degree, but his real concern is to re-educate those already working in the field and alert them to the merits of animal care as a legitimate profession.

"The caretakers have been considered janitorial," Alford said. "Now we're going with the philosophy that everyone is part of the research team. These people have to be considered an im- (Continued on page seven.)"

Public Worker Right to Strike Bill Clears Committee
 Public employees could have the right to strike under legislation recently reported from the House Labor Committee.

The bill came out of the committee after a partisan committee meeting where both Democrats and Republicans accused the other of violating agreements and trying to manipulate procedures.

The measure contains no language on binding arbitration, wanted by the Democrats, and no language on separate unions for supervisory personnel, wanted by Republicans.

The proposed act permits public employees to strike when their contracts expire and after they have given management a 10-day notice.

Public workers could be enjoined from striking if a court finds the strike is dangerous to the safety and welfare of the public.

However, the bill contains no requirement that should a strike be enjoined, the dispute could be resolved by binding arbitration.

Democrats argued that without binding arbitration, disputes could go on indefinitely. Republicans countered, however, saying that binding arbitration could act as an incentive to make strikes last longer.

"I think there has been a lot of irrational opposition to dispute resolution. I think the arguments are very strong that if there is an injunction there should be some type of dispute resolution," said Rep. Perry Bullard, chairman of the House Labor panel.

The bill is the main item in a right-to-strike package. Along with the main bill, the committee earlier reported legislation requiring intensive bargaining, mandating economic penalties for both school districts and school employees that cannot provide 180 days of instruction, and making changes to the teacher tenure act.

Two Tax Return Checks

Under legislation recently signed into law, taxpayers may get two return checks—one, an income tax return and the other a property tax credit return.

Currently, taxpayers receive their property tax credit lumped together with their income tax return.

The legislature wanted the taxpayers to know what they were doing for the people in the way of property tax credit, so they wrote the bill separately into two checks—the income tax return and the property tax credit.

To show that taxpayers are getting this property tax credit, the new program is expected to cost somewhere around $500,000 per year to administer.

Lottery Continues Record Pace

The Michigan Lottery, under Acting Commissioner James R. Culver, continues to be the top lottery in the nation and announced new records for both gross ticket sales and net income for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1979.

Total sales amount to $410 million for the year, an increase of 26 percent over the previous year.

Lottery profits were also up $35 million with total net earnings of approximately $175 million for the period.

Ticket purchasers shared in the revenue by collecting $200 million in prizes for a 30 percent increase over the previous year.

This is the seventh straight year that the lottery has established new sales and net revenue records.

Since it started in 1972, the lottery has contributed over $725 million to the state's general fund—money that would have had to be found probably through increased taxes.

The funds have been spread throughout state government providing services to people. Education has received $282.7 million, social services, $246.5 million, health and medical services, $72.5 million and other government services, $123.2 million.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I recall talking to Ed Doolittle's daughter years ago about her college studies. She said her peterson in economics said that in his course the questions stay the same, but the answers change ever term. I don't know nothing about economics, Mister Editor, and I git that mixed up, but I'd say that's about the case in all education today. Clem Webster got me to thinking on this line Saturday night with this report he bring to the session at the country store.

Clem had saw where school children now are being tested by computers, and teachers are saying this works good because every child can be tested on his level. The computers are fixed so that they feed questions to the student to find out what he knows, then the computer can test the child on what he knows. This way there are no failures and no parents coming in steaming about report cards. Ever child makes great progress at his own level, which Clem said boils down to a system where students don't get a bad education for the education they git. That is another way of saying the operation was a success, but the patient died, was Clem's words.

If we want to look on the bright side of computer education, we can say it ought to cut down on cheating. They ain't no need to peep at your neighbor's paper, since the computer wants to find out what you know, not what you don't know. Besides, if the feller next to you knows somepun you don't know he'll get different questions. Back when the idee was to learn somepun new ever chancet you got, everybody had the same goal to aim at. That was when we'd all git the same questions and be on our honor not to cheat. The teacher would tell us we were on our honor and to help us stay on it we would please set three desks apart. That was another way of finding out our strengths and weaknesses and I thought it worked pritty good.

Ed Doolittle said the notion of everybody being a success is as old as it is dangerous. Republican Ed was of a mind that the whole point to Government since the New Deal has been to protect people against failure. Right now, he went on, the liberals are saying the Congress ought to be ashamed for not voting folks all the money they need to buy heating oil this winter, as though it is the job of the Government to make sure everybody is warm. If we can't fail, Ed said, we can't see no point in succeeding, so we just keep rocking along on our levels.

As fer turning things around, Zeke Grubb had word that farmers use to feeding the world now may be able to do somepun about so many hungry mouths.

Zeke said soybeans are being used to make birth control pills, which could open a new market on the one hand while promising to cut down product demand on the other. Zeke said he's waiting to see what this new use will do fer a Government that has managed fer years to spend billions to support tobacco farmers and billions more to git people to quit smoking. Government has trouble finding its level to, Zeke allowed.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Chelsea Hospital Salutes Operating Room Nurse Day

Of all the masked faces hovering over the patient during surgery, the operating room nurse has a special role. The operating room nurse speaks for the patient when he cannot speak for himself. Chelsea community Hospital's operating room nurses join other nurses across the nation in observing Operating Room Nurse Day on Nov. 14. Heading the OR nursing team is the registered nurse. When the patient arrives in surgery, the nurse is there to greet him and provide emotional support as he is anesthetized. Then he/she manages the patient's nursing care during surgery, as the surgeon works closely over the incision. The nurse anticipates needs of the other team members to avoid any delays, in the surgical procedure. The OR nurse guards the sterile environment. He/she knows the patient's health history and special needs. If the surgical procedure is being done with local anesthesia, the RN may monitor vital signs—blood pressure, heart rate, and breathing. Surgery does not really begin and end in the operating room. Before surgery, patients may be fearful and distraught. Afterward they need to know how to participate in their own recovery. Increasingly, registered nurses are coming out of the operating rooms to meet with patients before and after their operations. They explain what the operating room will be like and how they will be cared for. After surgery, they may visit patients to see how they are doing and to evaluate nursing care given in the operating room. "Operating Room Nurse Day" is sponsored by the Association of Operating Room Nurses, a professional specialty nursing organization with more than 28,000 members nation-wide.

Girls Varsity Cagers Hurt By Turnovers

brink and Kim Wood bucketed four each and Patti Hume had one. Boylan led the rebounds with 17 and Unterbrink added 13.

Earlier in the week the Bulldogs returned from Milan with a 46-45 win. After taking a 4-2 lead in the first quarter, the visitors never trailed.

Shooting at close to a 50 percent clip, the Bulldogs kept inching away from the Redettes for three quarters. Things looked good heading into the final stanza, with Chelsea holding a 41-31 lead.

Turnovers and a scrappy Milan defense made it a hectic final eight minutes. The Milan five had cut the margin to one with just 58 seconds to go. Turnovers and missed free throws accounted for most of the final ticks of the clock. Milan had the ball under its own basket with five seconds left, but a determined Bulldog defense forced an outside shot that bounced around the rim and fell away, sealing the victory.

Push and Unterbrink hit double figures for Chelsea, getting 23 and 10 respectively. Boylan put in seven points and led all rebounders with 16. Patti Hume tallied five points and Kim Wood had one.

In the previous week's contest, South Lyon clipped Chelsea, 40-32. Eighteen South Lyon points in the third quarter broke open a close game and, although they were game, the Bulldogs fell short.

In the first quarter, Chelsea's forward Nanette Push made Chelsea basketball history by becoming the first cager to score 1,000 career points.

"The amazing thing about Nanette," said Coach Winter, "is that she is a lot more than a scorer. She's averaging 22 points a game, but is also in double figures in rebounding and has over five steals a game. Her quickness, co-ordination and body control make it hard for anyone to stop her. A lot of teams figure if she gets 'only' 20 points, they've stopped her. She is an amazing athlete."

Chelsea wraps up its SEC schedule Friday night when they host Lincoln in the season's final home game.

Chelsea Players Will Present 'The King & I'

Chelsea Players have selected "The King and I" as their musical for the summer of 1980.

The Rodgers and Hammerstein play was a Broadway and motion picture hit of the 1950's.

An adaptation of the book "Anna and the King of Siam," the plot centers around the king and a young Englishwoman, hired to teach western ways to the royal court.

Some of the popular songs introduced in the show were "Hello, Young Lovers," "Whistle a Happy Tune," and "Getting to Know You."

Try-outs will be held at the end of May with performances scheduled for late in July.

LINDA KNORPP, wearing her favorite piece of jewelry and surrounded by plants and remembrances in her elegant home, is preparing to celebrate her 90th birthday this week-end. A long-time teacher and Manchester resident, Miss Knorpp looks forward to her birthday. "Both ages are good," she asserts. "You get out of them what you put into them."

Retired School Teacher Honored on 90th Birthday

It will be a happy day at the stately home at 407 E. Main St., Manchester, this Saturday, as old friends and former students gather to celebrate the 90th birthday of Linda Knorpp.

Area residents Carol Harding and Mary Leeman are giving the celebration for the former teacher, who hopes to see a number of her students from over the years.

A woman who remembers seeing soldiers march down Manchester's Main St. on their way to fight in the Spanish-American War, Miss Knorpp has had a memorable 90 years.

In an era when most women didn't even consider college, Miss Knorpp went off to Ypsilanti Normal College in 1909 after graduating from Manchester High school in a class of about 40.

Working her way through school by cooking and cleaning for a well-to-do Ypsilanti family, she toiled long hours for her education.

"I used to walk from S. Washington St. to college," she recalled. "I often did it three times a day. I had to walk home at noon, make lunch and walk back for classes. I cooked, baked, washed, ironed and cleaned."

Senior Citizens Offered Help in Many Services

A new service for older adults is being offered by Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw county. Persons aged 60 and older can receive help in obtaining hot meals, food stamps, Social Security benefits, legal aid and other services.

Outreach worker Tony Scott will contact older adults in their homes in outlying areas of Washtenaw county, including Dexter, Saline, Chelsea, Manchester and Milan. He will provide information about services, explain necessary forms and generally act in the interest of the elderly.

These services are available at no charge and to anyone regardless of religious beliefs. Older adults wanting help or information should call Tony Scott at Catholic Social Services, 484-1260.

Foreman Has Lead in U-M Musical Comedy

1977 Chelsea High school graduate Doug Foreman will be appearing this week-end as the comic lead in an original musical-comedy, "In the Dark," produced by Musket at the University of Michigan.

The show was written by three U-M students, is the first original show produced by Musket in two decades and is also the first to be produced in the Power Center for the Performing Arts.

Three heirs searching for a million dollars in a haunted mansion spark the show's action. Doug and Gerri Mazura play the aged husband and wife groundkeepers at the estate, Sara and Festus Mozart.

Five ghosts of the Fielding family, who killed each other for the money years ago, will be forced to leave if someone finds the treasure and turns it down. The ghostly family does everything from a fox trot to a barbershop quartet number to help one of the heirs locate the money.

Performances will be the evenings of Nov. 16 and 17 and a Sunday matinee on Nov. 18. Tickets are available at the Power Center box office in Ann Arbor.

Cash receipts by U. S. farming more than doubled from 1970 to 1978. Livestock at $58 billion and crops at $52.2 billion last year, were each higher than the combined cash receipts for any year prior to 1970.

MOVING AND MONEY

Household moves cost money, but there's no reason why you should pay more money than you have to. Here's some helpful hints to help keep this cost from snowballing.

First, get estimates from several movers in your neighborhood. Then compare. Though tariffs are regulated by law, they do vary because there are several classes of carriers.

Make sure you get in writing an agreement on the declared valuation before you release your household goods, in other words, before he starts to load his van. To make sure your household goods are fully covered, you must declare their actual 100% cash value. If you declare a lesser amount, say 75% your goods are protected only to 75% of their value.

Let the movers do all the packing. Those boxes you pack yourself will be stamped "PBO". Those three letters can mean grief. They stand for "Packed by Owner," and any carton thus noted is exempt from carrier liability. It's on its own if the contents are damaged.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at FRISINGER REALTY CO., 935 S. Main St., Chelsea. Phone: 475-8681; evenings 475-2621. We're here to help!

DEER HUNTER'S DIARY:

Blaze Orange Brigade

By Loren D. Estleman
 Deer hunting season!
 "Hello, Boss? (Cough, cough) I won't be in today; I think I'm coming down with something. What's that? When will I be in? I should be feeling better by December. (Hangs up, picks up telephone again, dials) Hello Fred? Still got room for me in camp? Of course I got the time off. Me and the boss are like that."
 Pack a suitcase, dig out the hunting clothes, don't forget the thermal underwear. Where'd I put that license? "Honey, can you let out my hunting pants a little around the waist? They seem to have shrunk." Hope Harry remembers to bring the beer. Was that a car horn? Don't tell me Fred's here already! "Honey, can you hurry with those pants?"
 Take your average Michigan-er, mix in a culture made up of Ernest Hemingway and James Fenimore Cooper, throw in a little male ego, let simmer for 12 months, and come Nov. 15 you've got a full-fledged deer hunter, ready to drink and curse and swap lies with the best of them. For two weeks out of every year, such pedestrian values as grooming and good manners go out the window, as this wool-coated creature leaves the world of asphalt and cement behind and tramps off, clumping in oversized boots, into the wilderness.

 Squeeze into the car between a pile of red flannels and Fred's rucksack from the Second World War (which smells like it hasn't been washed since the First). "What kind of beer did you get, Harry? What do you mean, 'What beer?' You were supposed to bring the beer! What? I was? Sonofagun, I was! What's that, Fred? What gun am I using this year? Holy Toledo, my gun! Stop the car!"
 The north country. Pines, snow, the smell of cedar in the cabin or of hot metal from the overheating stove in the tent, which leaks. Fred forgot to bring along any insulated underwear, so it's off to town. "Night as well get something for supper. Let's see. Peanuts, candy bars, potato chips, beer. That should do it. Who's paying? What's that? I do not owe you any $10.75 from last year! That was Sam. You know, Sam Whatzisname, the fat guy. He didn't come up last year? Maybe it was Joe. What? No kidding, when? I wasn't invited to his funeral. Here's $11. You owe me a quarter."

 Opening day. Up at 4:30. Why did I stay up till 3 playing poker? "Harry, will you quit banging that pot before you end up wearing it? What's for breakfast?—Great. My appetite was all primed for stale potato chips left over from last night."
 Four hours in the cold and the snow are enough, then it's back to camp for a snooze. Night falls and everybody piles into the car bound for the nearest tavern. Knotty pine walls with comic signs on them and a moose head mounted the week the Lisitana was sunk. Tables crowded with unshaven hunters clad in heavy woolen hunting suits. Laughter and music with a distinct country-and-western beat. "I tell you, Fred, this buck had a rack like that. If my gun hadn't jammed."

Breakfast. Sausage and pancakes and bacon and fried potatoes and toast and coffee. "Harry cooks, Fred washes the dishes. I'll dry. Somebody better go out and warm up the car. It's five above out there. What's that? The keys? I thought you had them. Who drove home from the tavern last night? Are you sure? Oh, yeah. Here they are, in my pocket."
 Homeward bound. Squeeze in between a pile of gamey hunting socks and Harry's swollen suitcase. "Better luck next year, right, fellas? I tell you, if my gun hadn't jammed. What's that? My gun? Holy Toledo, my gun! Stop the car."

Symphony Plans Mexican Fiesta

There's going to be a fiesta, Mexican style, right here in Chelsea on Feb. 9 at the new UAW hall on M-52.
 The Chelsea High school Symphony Band is busily working toward their trip to Mexico City in May. To get there, a bit of their Mexican enthusiasm is being spread throughout the community by way of a dinner-dance to help raise money for the project.
 A committee of seven members, under the adult advisement of Mr. and Mrs. James Herter, is making preparations for the Latin-American dinner. Committee members are: Alicia Noah, decorations; Jeanette Morrison, menu; Julie Botsford, waiter-waitressing and janitorial details; Cindy Snyder, midnight snack and beverages; Sue Schafer, dining set-up; Cindy Wolter, tickets and entertainment; and Sally Vaught, publicity.

 The entire Symphony Band will be taking part, both in pre-dinner arrangements and in the activities held that night. Whether it is waiting on tables, cooking in the kitchen or providing music for dancing, each band member will contribute in sharing with the community their honor in representing Michigan in Mexico City this May.
 More than 350,000 persons made jobless by major disasters in the U. S. have received $97 million in Disaster Unemployment Assistance since the program began 10 years ago, the U. S. Department of Labor reported.

MICHAEL J. GARRIS is shown being congratulated by his father and brother, Tuesday, Nov. 6, following his being sworn into the legal profession by Circuit Court Judge Patrick Conlin in Ann Arbor. Michael is the second son of Jack J. and Helen Czeplis Garriss and is now the third member of the Garriss family to go into the legal profession. He graduated from University of Michigan and received his Juris Doctor from Wayne State Law school last June. Jack J. Garriss has been a practicing trial lawyer since 1952 after receiving his law degree from George Washington University, Washington, D. C. The eldest son, Steven Z., joined his father's law firm November 1976, after graduating with a law degree from University of Illinois in June of that year. Garriss, Garriss & Garriss law firm offices are at 32 N. Main St., Ann Arbor.

important part of the research team. They have to be professional."

Papers authored by Alford explaining this approach, together with his contributions to the training of technicians in laboratory animal medicine, brought him the national award.

"His work has influenced the organization and operation of research animal facilities in scientific institutions throughout the country," asserted Bennett J. Cohen, director of the U-M Unit for Laboratory Animal Medicine.

Alford came to live in Chelsea almost exactly one year ago, leaving Atlanta's Emory University to accept his current post at Michigan. Born in Minnesota and raised in Indiana, Alford moved to Georgia with his parents at the age of 15.

He graduated from the University of Georgia in animal science, focusing on farm animals and worked briefly as a lab animal technician. Then, because he "didn't want to be a farmer," he decided to return to school and earned a Master of Business Administration degree at Georgia State.

Alford and his wife, Janet, together with their two sons, Jimmy, 7, and John David, 4, chose a Chelsea residence primarily because his aunt and uncle, Bill and Jo Spade, Grove Store owners, had told them about the village.

In the course of a "typical" day in the lab animal unit, Alford deals mainly with the managerial end of the operation. He sees that the correct supplies are purchased, does some on-the-spot training and, in general, sees that things in the unit go smoothly. He also teaches a spring semester course in financial management to veterinary residents.

To Alford, the care and attention given to the nearly 45,000 research animals at U-M is a crucial factor in the research itself.

"A change in the feeding or watering schedule of an animal can become a variable in the research," he explained. "Therefore, we're trying to increase motivation and training and hopefully eliminate the unwanted variables."

For each investigator, he continued, there could be as many as 15 support people. In complicated research projects, it's not difficult to see the importance of assembling a group of 15 trained persons, each contributing to the whole.

Downplaying his own contributions and stressing the importance of animal caretakers in research, Alford saves the final word for the profession itself.

"Recognition of the importance of individual motivation and training is needed for successful completion of professional goals," he concluded. "We're finding that motivation and training greatly increase communication both from the top down and from the bottom up."

Professional Development Day Slated

Chelsea School District students will not attend classes Wednesday, Dec. 5, as Dr. Joel B. Goodman from the National Humanistic Education Center in New York will deliver a keynote address to all teachers and administrators in the Beach Middle school cafeteria.

Elementary teachers will then be involved with parent-teacher conferences for the remainder of the day. Teachers from Beach and the high school will participate in other professional development activities throughout the day.

This professional development day has been jointly planned by a committee of teachers and administrators. Five specific sessions have been planned to cover student motivation, teaching reading in the content areas, special education mainstreaming, departmental curriculum coordination, and teacher stress and burn out.

Expenses of the program are being covered by funds appropriated by the state of Michigan for professional development.

While inflation may be up around 10 percent this year, farmland values are expected to rise faster, at a rate of about 14 percent, say U. S. Department of Agriculture economists.

Keep on Truckin'

"Downtime is money to a trucker. Whether he owns a fleet or a single rig. We have to have the best truck service in the state."

You'd expect to hear that from our service manager (and you will), but that's actually Gordon Hagopian speaking. He's in charge of truck sales. Gordon's convinced that he couldn't sell as many trucks if he didn't have Rampy's truck service department to back him up. Basically, Gordon's sales philosophy hinges on the fact that trucks aren't transportation . . . they're income. So when he's talking to a potential customer, he stresses 3 things:

1. Rampy's ability to provide top-quality service
2. GM quality and low prices
3. Starting out with the right truck for the right job.

That last item is important. Gordon's a graduate of the Truck Marketing Institute. He's learned how to evaluate needs and capacity. Then sell you what you want. No more, no less. For Gordon Hagopian, sales begin with service and end with you.

Student of the Month

DAWN McDOWELL

Each month, Chelsea High school's student council will honor a student for activities in school or in the community. Council's aim is to give recognition to the many students who make Chelsea a better place to live.

November's Student of the Month is Dawn McDowell. A junior, Dawn has been in band for three years, a member of the flag squad for two years and this year is on the drill team, also. In the spring, she participates in girls track.

Dawn hopes to attend Western Michigan University after graduation to pursue a degree in physical education.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McDowell of Cavanaugh Lake Rd.

Byrd's South Pole Flight Marks 50th Anniversary

Another milestone in the history of exploration was reached on Nov. 29, 1929, when Admiral Richard E. Byrd became the first man to fly over the South Pole. Byrd accomplished the feat in the "Floyd Bennett," a Ford Tri-Motor named for the pilot of Byrd's North Pole flight some three years earlier. The "Floyd Bennett" now resides in a place of honor in Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, surrounded by other vehicles with illustrious histories.

Currently, Japan ranks second only to Canada as a major buyer of U. S. pork.

Lank's Trolley Clanked And Clanged

One hundred and forty-seven years ago Lank O'Dell began his first day on a new job. In fact, even the occupation was brand new. Lank was America's first streetcar driver. On Nov. 14, 1832, the "John Mason," our first horse-drawn streetcar, started its route on Fourth Ave. in New York City. For 12½ cents passengers could ride from Prince to 14th in style, pulled by two horses handled by O'Dell. Visitors to Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, can see a number of early street cars including a 1917 Birney Safety Car in its extensive Transportation Collection.

Postmaster Offers Packaging Tips

Christmas packages will stand a better chance of arriving at their destinations in good condition if customers follow a few simple instructions, according to Postmaster Richard Schaules.

"Select a corrugated fiberboard box with the 'burst test' number printed on it. That number is usually found in a little circle on the bottom of the box," said Postmaster Schaules. "The higher the pound-per-square-inch number, the sturdier the box." Boxes rated 125 pounds may be used for many types of merchandise weighing up to 20 pounds. A box rated 175 pounds can hold up to 40 pounds of goods. Items that are fragile or breakable such as cameras or glassware should be packaged in a 275 carton.

Books or other dense and heavy materials also need stronger boxes. Check appliance stores for these heavier cartons, and make sure the seams aren't broken.

Postmaster Schaules also offered these additional tips for wrapping gifts for mailing this Christmas:

Make sure the contents are well-cushioned and there is no empty space in the box. Use crumpled newspaper around the item, on the bottom, the sides and on top of your gift. Foamed plastic shells and air pocket padding also are good cushions.

Brown wrapping paper and twine cord are not necessary.

Manchester Grid Team Eliminated

Manchester's hopes for a State Class C football championship were dashed last Saturday as the Dutchmen fell to Watervliet in overtime, 12-6, at Battle Creek.

Manchester went for a touchdown on the first possession of the contest, as quarterback Brian Broucek lofted a 29-yard pass to fullback Gary Daniels for the score. A two-point conversion attempt failed, and Manchester led, 6-0.

Watervliet evened the match in the second quarter with an 82-yard march culminating in a six-yard pass for the score.

The contest ended with no further scoring and the teams went into overtime. Watervliet elected to defend and stopped a powerful Manchester drive just short of the goal line.

The Panthers then took possession of the ball and drove in for the score and an opportunity to meet Detroit Lutheran West next Saturday in the next playoff round.

The Dutchmen ended their season with an 8-2 over-all record.

The major capital item in farming today is land, and land prices have tripled since 1967, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Wrappings can rip off, and twine can get caught in processing machinery.

Put a slip of paper with the recipient's name and address and your return address inside the box.

Use sealing tape to close and seal the box. Three types are recommended: pressure-sensitive tape, kraft paper reinforced with nylon or glass and filament-reinforced pressure-sensitive tape. Don't use masking tape or cellophane tape. They're no longer recommended because of past poor performance.

Use a smudge-proof ink for the address which should appear in the lower right-hand corner of the box. Write your return address in the upper left-hand corner. Be sure to include the ZIP code for both the addressee's address and your return address.

Remove any other labels or addresses from the carton.

Novice Debaters Cling to 3rd in League Standings

Monday, the novice debate team again traveled to Jackson Parkside for a league match.

In the open division, debaters Paul Anderson, Sara Ullman, Kris Kvarnberg and Celeste Arbogast finished 2-2 to give them a 10-6 over-all record and third place in the league.

Novice division debaters Mike Ward, Kelly Hense, Katie Ullman and Dave Cooley went 1-3 to give them an 8-8 over-all mark and third spot in the league standings.

Traveling with the team as judges were Dave Waldyke and Jenice Hoffman, and time-keepers were Molly Bacon and Laura Hines.

Another banner American corn harvest is anticipated this year, according to farming specialists. The U. S. corn crop alone is likely to outstrip the combined Soviet harvests of wheat, corn, barley, oats, rye, rice, millet buckwheat, and miscellaneous grains.

During the construction period the Drive-Up Window service will be limited to one window. This inconvenience should not last more than a few weeks, and during this time more tellers will be on duty in the lobby.

We appreciate your patience and co-operation during this construction period.

Drug Effects May Go Right Up in Smoke

If you're a smoker and you're taking a medication, the effects of the drug may be going right up in smoke. That's the word from the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). In fact, smokers may need a larger dose or have to take a drug more often than non-smokers.

FDA has a new free reprint from its magazine, the FDA Consumer, to tell you more about how smoking affects the drugs you're taking. For your free copy of Drug Effects Can Go Up in Smoke, write to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 688G, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

The reason smoking affects drugs in your body is that nicotine speeds up the way the body uses and eliminates drugs. Not only can the drug become less effective, but the length of its effect could be shortened too. Then, if the prescription doesn't do the job it's supposed to, the patient and doctor may mistakenly conclude that the drug doesn't work. For this reason, it's important to tell your doctor about your smoking habits.

A recent test found that some painkillers are less effective in smokers than in non-smokers. One possible explanation for this effect is that smokers have a lower tolerance for pain.

And smoking while taking oral contraceptives or estrogens can be a serious health risk. Women who smoke and take the pill have an increased risk of heart attack, stroke, and other circulatory diseases. And new FDA evidence also suggests that women smokers aged 39 to 45 who take non-contraceptive estrogens may also run an increased risk of heart attack.

Smoking can also affect responses to certain diagnostic tests. For instance, smokers show higher levels of white blood cells, even when they don't have an infection or other illness that would tend to raise the white cell count. But, just because smokers differ from non-smokers in their response to some laboratory tests doesn't mean they're ill. To make sure your diagnostic tests are interpreted correctly, remember to tell your doctor that you smoke, and how much.

When you order a copy of Drug Effects Can Go Up in Smoke (free), you'll also receive a copy of the free Consumer Information Catalog. It lists more than 200 selected free or low-cost publications from the federal government. The Catalog is published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration.

Registration Will Fall on Birthday

In a move hoped to eliminate the usual rush to register vehicles in February and March, the State of Michigan will begin a year-round registration system the next time Michigan motorists apply for new license plates.

Under the new system, plates for cars, pick-ups, vans and trailers owned by individuals will expire on the owner's birthday, while commercial vehicles, motorcycles, personalized plates and other special types of vehicles will expire at the end of February or March as usual.

Shortest duration of registration during the opening months of the plan will fall to those born in November, who will receive and pay for a period of seven months, with the longest going to those with birthdays in October, at 18 months, and all other calendar months distributed throughout the scale. All subsequent registrations will be for a period of one year.

Questions concerning the new system may be directed to the nearest office of the Secretary of State.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture predicts agricultural exports will approach the $38 billion mark next year.

New Missionaries In Chelsea for Latter-Day Saints

Two new missionaries have recently arrived in the Chelsea area. Sister Carlsen from Hyrum, Utah, and Sister Klotz from Staunton, Va. are serving full-time missions for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (The Mormons). In honor of the holiday season and National Family Week, these sisters are offering as a public service a non-denominational program called Family Home Evening. This is a program used by members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints world-wide, and has proved to be successful in keeping families close together and away from the evils of the world. It provides a time for families to weekly discuss family problems, set goals and enjoy activities together. Anyone interested in having this program in their family may call 475-9465 before 9:30 a.m. and after 7 p.m.

Thanksgiving Cantata Slated at Immanuel Church

Sunday, Nov. 18, at 7 p.m., the Immanuel Bible church choir, under the direction of Marcia Little, will present a Thanksgiving Cantata designed to be a worship experience in music and scripture. Pianist Marjorie Rowe and the church youth instrumentalists will heighten the choir performance with their accompaniment. The concert will be performed at Immanuel Bible church, 145 E. Summit. The public is invited to attend.

Varsity Debaters Find Tough Foes In First Meet

Chelsea High's varsity debate team had its first meet of the season, an invitational at Royal Oak Kimball against tough opposition. The varsity division went 3-3 for the day, with Dave Waldyke and Drew Sprague taking a 1-2 record and Sara Merkel and Brian Koepfle going 2-1. Jan Feldkamp coaches the varsity. Next meet will be a two-day tournament in Southfield this week-end.

Nowhere To Go But North

Rear Admiral G. J. Dufek became the first American to set foot on the South Pole from an aircraft when he stepped out of a Navy R4D transport plane Oct. 31, 1956, onto the southernmost spot on earth. Appropriately, the head of the project, Operation Deepfreeze, was Admiral Richard Byrd, who himself had been the first man to fly over the South Pole in 1929. Admiral Byrd's plane, "Floyd Bennett," is now on exhibit at Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, as part of the museum's extensive Transportation Collection.

The Bible-The Light from Heaven

Reveals it is possible for a child of God to fall. The Christian is admonished "to take heed lest ye fall." (I Corinthians 10:12). It was possible for the apostle Paul to be rejected. (I Corinthians 9:27). A child of God can quit believing. (Hebrews 3:12). He can fall from grace. (Galatians 5:4). A branch can be severed from the vine. (John 15:2-6). A servant of the Lord can be lost. (Matthew 25:14-30). Certain ones shall be gathered out of the kingdom and cast into fire. (Matthew 13:14, 42). How may one keep from falling? Be watchful. (Matthew 26:41). Resist the devil. (James 4:7). Be prayerful. (James 4:8). Add the Christian graces to one's life. (2 Peter 1:5-10). The word of God teaches the fallen state is worse than the alien state. (2 Peter 2:20, 21).

Beach Gridders Close Out Season

Beach Middle school closed out its football season Oct. 30 with a victory over Willow Run.

The middle school football program operated under a new concept this year, with 8th graders playing on A and B squads, and the 7th graders participating in a flag league.

The A squad played a full schedule against other schools and ended with a 3-3 record. They were coached by Bert Kruse, assisted by Bill Wescott.

The B squad, which also included five 7th graders, played three games and ended with one win, one loss and a tie. They were coached by Charles Waller, assisted by Mike Phillips.

A 12-0 loss to Lincoln opened the season for the A team. They then lost to Dexter, 14-8; defeated Milan, 28-0; downed Saline, 12-6; dropped before Jackson Catholic, 38-0; and beat Willow Run, 30-22.

Players who saw considerable action included Chuck Hager and Dave Bushway at offensive end, offensive tackles David Kiel and Tom Mull, offensive guards Glenn Prinzing and Guy Gross, offensive centers Chris Gallas and Garland DeYoe, quarterback Marty Steinhauer, offensive halfbacks Jay Marshall and Scott Cooper, and 7th grader Eric Schaffner at flanker.

On defense, Kiel and Jim Ritter played end, Tim Pennington and Gross were tackles, John Laraway played center guard, Prinzing and Keith Kilby were linebackers, Bushway and Jeff Morgan played safety, and Cooper and Schaffner played cornerback.

Also seeing action were David Walter at split end and Gary Bolinger at defensive guard. Seeing action on special teams were linebacker Randy Sabo, tackle Tim Farr, end David Gipsen, end Jerry Hammerschmidt and Mike Wynn at guard and defensive end.

Statistically, the A squad showed its offensive toughness in the air, with Marty Steinhauer completing 41 of 75 passes for three touchdowns. Chuck Hager led the receivers with 16 catches, Eric Schaffner had 12, and Scott Cooper snagged 10, including two for touchdowns.

Jay Marshall was the leading ball carrier, and Glen Prinzing topped the team in number of tackles. Marshall led in points scored with four TDs and two conversions for 28 points.

The B squad lost their opener to Lincoln, 14-8; defeated Dexter, 8-0; and battled to a scoreless tie with Saline.

Then the Feathers Flew

While the tradition of Thanksgiving is traced back to the Pilgrims, it wasn't until Abraham Lincoln asked Americans to officially celebrate the last Thursday in November as a day of general thanksgiving. Nov. 28, 1863, then, became the first formal Thanksgiving. On Dec. 28, 1941, President Franklin Roosevelt approved a joint Congressional resolution designating the fourth Thursday of November as Thanksgiving Day. Turkey and the trimmings have followed. During the November Cornucopia of Cooking Weekends at Greenfield Village, Dearborn, visitors can visit several historic houses and observe various foods from game birds to pies being prepared in the classic manner.

Off-farm income of farm families is expected to exceed last year's record $34 billion and will contribute more than half of their total income.

AMERICAN FARMER: Mark Sanborn (right), national president of the Future Farmers of America, presents the American Farmer Degree to Gerald Huehl of Chelsea. The American Farmer Degree is the highest degree of membership in the FFA. It was presented to 789 FFA members during their 52nd National Convention held in Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 7-9.

Gerald Huehl Earns Highest FFA Degree

Gerald Huehl of Chelsea received the American Farmer Degree last Thursday in ceremonies held during the 52nd National Convention of the Future Farmers of America (FFA), in Kansas City, Mo.

He was one of 789 FFA members selected to receive the American Farmer Degree, highest degree of membership in the FFA. As a holder of the degree, he joins a select group representing about one percent of all the nation's FFA members.

Gerald is the son of Mrs. Herbert Huehl of Chelsea.

Each American Farmer Degree recipient is presented a gold key and certificate by the FFA, an organization of about one-half million members studying agriculture in the United States. Recipients also receive a cash award for travel to Kansas City and attend a breakfast in their honor, both of which are sponsored through the National FFA Foundation, Inc. and a number of national financial institutions and corporations.

The degree is the highest degree of membership in the FFA. It is presented only by the national organization to members who have demonstrated exceptional agricultural and leadership ability. State FFA Associations may submit candidates for the award based on total FFA membership in that state. The 789 members honored this year represent the highest achievement of more than 494,000 FFA members in almost 9,000 high school vocational agriculture departments.

All the FFA members who receive the American Farmer Degree begin as "Greenhands."

U. S. farmers planted 71.2 million acres in wheat this year, 71.7 million in soybeans, and 61.3 million in hay.

Week of Nov. 12-19

SUNSET ON SUNSET? — The House will soon vote on SB 75, which began as a "sunset" law but now contains no provisions to ensure that agencies would not continue forever. Amendments are expected for adding specific termination dates for agencies.

SCHOOL PRAYER — Now before the full House is HB 4508, which would require schools to offer students time for voluntary prayer. Present law allows but does not require this; constitutional questions will probably be raised on this proposal.

MIOSHA RULES — Both houses have now approved HB 4532, which specifies that in some cases employers must furnish safety equipment to their employees and sets procedures for the state to shut down work equipment which is deemed to be dangerous.

WAYNE COUNTY — The continuing problems of Wayne county have produced SB 652, which would provide for the reorganization of that county's government; it is now before the Senate. Also, the House has before it HB 4784, which would split off all of that county west of the city of Detroit and create a new county to be known as Suburbia.

WETLANDS WAITING — The full House is now considering Senate Bill 3, which as presently written would immediately bring most of the state's high-population, high-growth areas under the procedures designed to preserve and protect wetlands. Smaller areas would have more elaborate procedures, with the result that it would be 4 to 5 years before the whole state is covered.

SCHOOL VIOLENCE — The Governor's Task Force on School Violence and Vandalism has recommended that elementary and secondary school students should have more involvement in school operations including the development of a code of conduct. This would help remove the "us-versus-them" attitudes which are believed to have contributed to school violence and vandalism.

RACETRACK WINNINGS — The House has concurred in Senate amendments to HB 4531, which would allow racetrack patrons to deduct their losses from taxable income as long as those losses do not exceed winnings; also, winnings would be exempt from income tax withholding.

PRIVACY PROPOSAL — The Senate will soon vote on SJR "D", which proposes an amendment to the state constitution which would prohibit the infringement of a person's right to privacy without due process of law. If 2/3 of each house approve, this will be on the ballot in 1980.

Fuelwood Cutting Made Easy

By Irving McFarland,
Area Forester

A number of people who want to burn fuelwood live in rural areas on properties that have timber stands growing on them. How do you go about cutting fuelwood?

What knowledge is necessary? What equipment is needed?

1) Learn to identify the trees in the woods. Many of our woodlots in southeast Michigan contain oak and hickory trees.

Also, these woodlots contain a number of other species of trees. Become familiar with all trees in the woodlot.

Since hickory, sassafras, thornapple, ironwood, locust, box elder, wild apple, and poor quality beech have a low value or are worthless as sawtimber, these species can be cut out of a woodlot for fuelwood.

When you find sprout clumps, cut out all but the straightest and best sprout. If you have walnut pole timber in the woods, cut surrounding trees that are crowding the walnuts.

Take out any dead, down, or hollow trees. Leave a few hollow den trees for wildlife species living in the woods.

Remove all species of trees that lean heavily, have short trunks, or are of generally poor form.

2) Get the proper equipment and learn how to use it. Most of the cutting will be done with some type of chain saw. Get a saw that is suitable for the job you have to do. Learn how to operate and service the saw.

Hard hats, goggles, hard-toed shoes, and chain saw chaps should be worn when cutting wood.

3) When a person goes on the land of another to cut wood, both parties should be covered by accident insurance in case things go wrong. It is important that property owners find out what protection their insurance policies offer in case someone is injured when on their property cutting wood.

WHAT IS IT? TIDY CAR

A TOTAL FINISH CONCEPT PRESERV-A-SHINE

NEVER WAX YOUR CAR AGAIN. How would you like to have a car that stayed shiny and repelled dirt. A car that looked like it just sailed out of the showroom, month after month. A car that required no work from you, other than the occasional wash. Sound Good? — Call Tidy Car.

Tidy Car's Preserv-A-Shine can do just that — give your car a showroom shine and preserve it for the life of the car. Preserv-A-Shine is not a wax. It's an exclusive formula that's actually buffed into the surface of the car to give a protective glass-like shine that seals out the harmful effects of oxidation, salt, snow and sun.

The Preserv-A-Shine process includes initial treatment and an annual cleaning and rescaling job. And it means you'll never have to wax your car again. Guaranteed in writing. We come to your home or office and shampoo and apply UP-HOLSTERY-GUARD 2 to your upholstered furniture.

UPHOLSTERY-GARD 2

Protects new interior fabrics from common spills and stains. It's like an invisible seat cover, and doesn't change the texture or the feel of the fabric. Guaranteed in writing for as long as you own your car.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
On behalf of the staff and prisoners at Cassidy Lake Technical School, I am writing to let Chelsea area residents know we share your concern over recent incidents that have happened in Washtenaw county. Two recent incidents (involving violent crimes in which two Cassidy Lake walkaways are suspected) have resulted in many demands for increased public protection—ranging from building a fence around Cassidy Lake and manning it with armed guards—to closing Cassidy Lake and moving the school elsewhere. Cassidy Lake has operated in the Chelsea area since 1944. As such, we are an old, established facility in this community. The original intent of the facility has not changed a great deal over the years. This facility was established to provide young offenders (with short sentences) an opportunity to receive needed high school education. The Legislature and Corrections Commission saw the need to keep young, first offenders separated from the older, more hardened criminals in other facilities. This goal for Cassidy Lake has not changed today. Also, it was found that the location of Cassidy Lake made it an ideal facility, since it is located near the families and community resources necessary to help the young offender. This idea still holds true in practice today.

Last Tuesday evening I had an opportunity to talk with the Chelsea Lions Club. In view of two serious crimes committed in Washtenaw county (in which two Cassidy Lake walkaways are suspected) you can understand my apprehension in addressing this group. However, my apprehensions were soon relieved when I found that the group we were talking with were very curious, professional and understanding of some of the dilemmas we face in operating Cassidy Lake. The officers and members of the Lions Club expressed great interest and concern.

When asked (by the Lions Club) what contributes to some of our security problems at Cassidy Lake, I replied that there have been three (3) recent developments that have most affected our ability to control Cassidy Lake. First, last year Michigan voters passed the Headley Tax Limitation Amendment. This amendment places a ceiling on state spending (in proportion to the state's economy.) I would be the last person to say there is no need to bridge state spending. However, faced with a down-turn in the state's economy this year, Governor William Milliken imposed severe budget restrictions on most state departments. Corrections, for example, is faced with an $11 million cut this year. Since our offender population has spiraled upward at an unprecedented rate since 1974, our budget cut will have a devastating effect on some operations in corrections. Second, Michigan voters passed the "Proposal B" Amendment. This proposal eliminated "incentive good time off" for good behavior by offenders. This proposal affects all offenders convicted of some 37 crimes in Michigan, after Dec. 10, 1978. The impact of this proposal is starting to be felt in our department. Incentive good time off, for good behavior, is similar to a reward given for good conduct. Since many offenders now come to us without incentive good time, some of them feel there is no reward for good conduct. This has affected the management of prison facilities. Third, prison overcrowding has had a negative impact on both programs for offenders and management of institutions. Prison overcrowding is not only unjust and inhumane to offenders, it makes management of institutions more difficult. Michigan's prison population hit 15,000 before the end of 1978. This figure is not important, unless you consider that our system is designed and built for approximately 12,800. This means that over 2,000 offenders are spread throughout institutions which are already overcrowded. This has increased management problems in walled institutions, and has increased the number of walkaways in minimum security facilities. We now predict that our population will exceed 16,000 by the middle of next year. Passage of Proposal "B" threatens to send our offender population up by another 2,000 within the next 10 years. The population crisis has not left Cassidy Lake unaffected. Going into 1979, our average population exceeded 300. Our facility is designed to hold 250.

After discussing Cassidy Lake problems (which contribute to public protection), members of the Lions Club asked the next logical question: "What can be done to reduce walkaways and problems they create for the community?" I outlined several things that will increase management and control of Cassidy Lake. These areas are as follows:

(1) Security and Control—Increased posting of Cassidy Lake's perimeter (particularly on the north side of the facility leading to various hiking trails established by DNR). As early as 1968 our department reviewed the advisability of establishing nature trails in such close proximity to Cassidy Lake. We will begin immediately consulting with DNR officials in an effort to seek increased DNR patrols for these trails, as well as additional signs posted for residents who use these trails.

(2) Additional Security Positions—Our budget request for next year included several additional custody officers to provide increased security and control. A request to hire six additional officers now has been sent to the State Budget Director, Dr. Gerald Miller. We will begin seeking qualified applicants to fill these positions in hopes our request is approved. Currently, Cassidy Lake has 34 small living units (spread throughout the woods) which encircle Cassidy Lake. By placing custody officers in these units, prisoner movement and control can be better maintained.

(3) Communications Equipment—Next year's budget request for walkie-talkies and communication equipment for custody staff has been submitted to the state budget director's office as a priority item. It is our understanding that Dr. Gerald Miller has approved the purchase of communication equipment for staff. Improved communications will help us to keep better track of prisoner movement.

(4) New Housing Unit—A funding proposal for a new, 80-man housing unit was approved by our department and forwarded to legislative committee. This unit would replace approximately 25 percent of our outdated prisoner housing. Since inadequate living conditions lead to substandard treatment of prisoners (and prisoner dissatisfaction which contributes to walkaways; increased efforts are being made for legislative approval of this unit.

(5) Citizen Volunteers—Increased participation by community volunteers is very important. Increased use of community volunteers assists us in providing meaningful programs, and helps us to share our experiences with community residents. Currently, we have several interested and concerned citizens who provide valuable service to our facility. In addition to increased efforts to recruit community volunteers, efforts have been underway to establish a Community Advisory Committee. Currently our efforts have been assisted by Representative Mary Keith Ballantine. Representative Ballantine is extremely interested in the Community Advisory Council program, not only for active recruitment of volunteers, but also as a way to maintain ongoing communication with the community in areas of mutual concern.

(6) Prosecution for Walkaways—By Michigan law, prison escape is a felony carrying an added prison sentence upon conviction. Washtenaw County Prosecutor William Delhey has been very co-operative in our effort to prosecute walkaways from Cassidy Lake. Also, our department is now seeking FBI assistance in apprehending escapees when the prisoner has crossed state lines to avoid apprehension.

In the 35 years Cassidy Lake has existed, very few serious crimes have been committed by its young offenders. However, when such incidents do occur, it is of extreme concern to the community and to us. Any correctional facility poses some risk to the surrounding area. Our department makes every effort to classify prisoners to the best of our knowledge—so that those most likely to leave custody and commit serious crimes do not show up at Cassidy Lake. The science of making such placements is not perfect. On occasion, escapes do occur—even from walled and fenced institutions. For this reason, we cannot guarantee the community (beyond a doubt) that it will never have problems as the result of prison facilities. However, the actual risk to public safety, resulting from walkaways at Cassidy Lake, has been limited over the many years our facility has been in existence.

Our experience at Cassidy Lake indicates that young offenders who, for one reason or another, choose to walkaway, usually hitch-hike a ride to their home area. The vast majority of these walkaways are picked up by police within a few hours of days of leaving. Rarely do these walkaways resist arrest, or otherwise involve themselves in new crimes. This is not to suggest that our current walkaway rate is satisfactory. Nor, do I try to minimize the seriousness of two recent incidents that have occurred. We in corrections must all do a better job of protecting the public from crime. In order to do this, it is important that we give offenders an amount of real responsibility, in order to hold them accountable for their behavior. However, we must never allow the idea of offender responsibility to cloud us to more objective evaluations of offenders, or placement of offenders in institutions which best meet their needs—as well as community needs for public protection.

Joseph G. Weinberg,
Superintendent,
Cassidy Lake
Technical School.

Dear Editor,

I am working diligently to defeat proposed legislation which would retroactively legalize the recent and present illegal strikes by public school teachers.

In my opinion, the State of Michigan flags on state buildings should be flown at half-mast for as long as we have public school teachers on strike.

My 11 years in the Legislature serve to reinforce my beliefs that indicate government must take lessons from the private enterprise system which cannot survive without good production by good people on a cost accountable basis.

Unions per se are unproductive and gain power and wealth by fomenting strife, demanding shorter hours and higher pay for their members.

History has shown us that a duly elected government cannot share its monopoly power of compulsion. It cannot share its sovereignty.

Flying the state flag at half-staff on state buildings would be a symbol of how close we are to bowing to teachers' demands that we pass law to legalize teacher strikes. We must not allow a large and well organized band of public employees to bring the state to its knees as if we were a factory producing goods rather than a duly elected government providing peace and security to our people. Teachers should be reminded that they are not making cars and car parts which are closely checked and double checked by inspection and recall. In its callous disregard for law and government, the Michigan Education Association would more correctly carry the name Michigan Educated Anarchists.

I hope the readers of your paper will let their Legislators know how they feel about bowing to the union teachers' demands.

Yours very truly,
Gerrit C. Hasper
State Representative
96th District

Remember Envelope Size Requirements

Postmaster Richard Schaules is reminding his customers this month to check the size of their envelopes before mailing Christmas cards. Effective last July 15, envelopes must be at least 3 1/2 inches high and 5 inches long to be accepted for mailing.

The new standards, first announced three years ago, are designed to speed up the flow of mail by reducing jam-ups caused by small envelopes during processing by high-speed automated equipment. Such jams can destroy mail or force costly manual handling of mail.

Last July, a seven-cent surcharge was also placed on first-class mail weighing one ounce or less, and single piece third-class mail of two ounces or less that measured more than 6 1/8 inches high, 11 1/2 inches long or 1/4-inch thick.

"Most card and envelope makers are only manufacturing the allowable size today, but there may be some older stock still for sale," according to Postmaster Schaules. "We don't want any disappointed customers during the holidays."

Postmaster Schaules also reminds residents to mail early this year. "We need your help so we can deliver every greeting card in time for the holidays."

The President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped suggests that if you are handicapped and in need of a job, ask your local state employment service—or Job Service—office which employers are covered by Sections 503 and 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. These companies are not allowed to discriminate against handicapped applicants.
