

Chelsea-Based SEVA Foundation Seeks To Eliminate Disease-Caused Blindness

Chelseaites pride themselves on knowing their neighbors well, but it's likely that only a handful of area residents realize they are sharing their backyard with the international headquarters of a foundation committed to eradicating disease-caused blindness from the earth in five years.

Moreover, most local folks would probably be amazed to learn that the founders of this organization were in part responsible for the eradication of smallpox from the world.

Nestled on winding Spring Lake Drive, in the quiet of the country is the airy, wooden building that houses the headquarters of SEVA foundation.

SEVA is a Sanskrit word meaning "service," and the foundation has also taken it as an acronym for The Society for Epidemiology and Voluntary Assistance. The group was formed to raise funds and also to raise American consciousness about the plight of the genuinely poor people of the world.

At the heart of the local headquarters are Dr. Lawrence Brilliant and Girija Brilliant, who are both affiliated with the University of Michigan, the former as a faculty member in the School of Public Health and the latter as a PhD candidate in the same school.

Together with Judy Eubanks and soon to be joined by Suzanne Gilbert, they conduct both fundraising and research projects from their Chelsea sanctuary.

Dr. Brilliant said that SEVA was first formed after the five-year intensive fight to wipe out smallpox had ended. He and Girija authored an article for Quest magazine, detailing their part in the effort.

In the ensuing weeks, Dr. Brilliant recalled, some $10,000 came pouring in from inspired and concerned Americans. The foundation was created to administer those funds and to seek more money for other critical world health problems.

The creation of such an international foundation is a simple thing to understand, but the reason it's here in Chelsea takes a bit more explanation.

"Chelsea's a nicer place than Ann Arbor," Dr. Brilliant explains simply. "Living in the country is a nice balance for us as a group. We're closer to the U. of M. atmosphere of academic excellence, but it's also nice to be removed from academic bickering."

From the beginning, the part of the local community with an awareness of SEVA's presence has contributed generously to its growth, Dr. Brilliant said.

Chelsea Community Hospital donated the office's first typewriter and lent the use of an office at the hospital which SEVA has only recently vacated.

It is, however, the residents of Spring Lake, Dr. Brilliant said, who have been unsurpassed in their support for their new neighbors. When the organization outgrew Dr. Brilliant's bedroom "office," the construction of the present chalet-like building began. Neighbors pitched in to assist builders Ib. Jensen and Sons, and periodically drop by the office to offer a helping hand. One dedicated neighbor has even donated 20 volunteer hours each week to assist the group.

"There's not a person in Chelsea who has not responded from the heart," agreed Girija.

What exactly is this organization that local people have welcomed with open arms? Who are these people that both classical and rock musicians sponsor benefit concerts, often raising in excess of $25,000?

Chelseaites have a chance to see for themselves this Saturday, March 29, from 1 to 5 p.m. when SEVA holds an open house. The SEVA building may be reached by taking Cavanaugh Lake Rd. to Glazier Rd. and then turning

BOB BRISTLE, 18652 Pleasant Lake Rd., wasn't exactly early in getting his license tabs this year, but he did meet the March 31 deadline and avoid last-minute long lines. Tabs must be in place next Monday or tardy motorists will be subject to ticketing by law enforcement agencies. Birthday anniversary renewal does not begin until 1981.

ONLY FOUR DAYS LEFT: License Tab Deadline Near

Chelsea, like most other communities in the state, is running behind last year in the purchase of 1980 license plate tabs, and the local office is afraid that the reason is confusion about the changeover from a March 31 renewal to a birthday renewal date.

For this year, motorists still must purchase tabs by March 31 or be subject to ticketing by law enforcement agencies beginning April 1. Birthday renewal of plates will not begin until Jan. 1, 1981.

State-wide, only about 3.8 million registrations have been sold to date, compared with 4.3 million last year.

In a move to ease the rush to purchase 1980 license plate tabs by the March 31 deadline, Secretary of State Richard Austin has ordered all branch offices to remain open between 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m., Saturday, March 29.

School Clean-Up Slated Tuesday

The second annual all-campus clean-up for Chelsea schools is scheduled for Tuesday, April 1. Students, teachers and administrators at North, South, Beach and Chelsea High schools will participate in the all-district campus cleansing.

It is a campaign aimed at removing all litter from the lawns, drives and parking areas at each of the schools. The accumulation of litter will then be picked up by maintenance people and taken to the landfill.

Chelsea schools, said Superintendent Ray Van Meer, feel an obligation to participate as a good neighbor in the neighborhoods in which the schools are located. The clean-up is only one of many attempts at

Police Nab Escapees From Cassidy Lake

Two escapees from Cassidy Lake Technical School were apprehended in the village and another surrendered himself to Chelsea police during last week's brief spell of balmy weather. No crimes were committed by any of the three.

According to Chelsea Police Chief Robert Aeillo, two walkaways were reported in the area Monday night, March 17. One turned himself in before reaching the village, Aeillo said, but the other, George D. Kenney, 18, was picked up by police that evening. Kenney was serving 3½ to 15 years for armed robbery, Aeillo said.

On Thursday, March 20, local police were again cautioned to be on the lookout for another pair of walkaways. Christopher Ferguson, 19, turned himself in to police at about 4:20 a.m. and his companion, Dennis Colgrove, 18, was picked up about an hour later, after Chelsea police received a report of a "suspicious" man

Sheriff May Staff Chelsea Substation

Discussions are currently underway to determine the feasibility of using Chelsea's school bus garage on Old US-12 as a substation for the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

According to Chelsea School District Superintendent Ray Van Meer, Sheriff Tom Minick initially approached the school district with the proposal. The Board of Education directed Van Meer to learn more about the possibilities, and he met late yesterday with Sheriff Minick for a discussion of the garage use.

Purpose of the plan, said Van Meer, is to bring "a better, less costly police protection to the northwest and western part of the county."

Also, Van Meer pointed out, the school district and non-village residents would benefit from a closer police presence. "With (sheriff's) cars in our facilities," he explained, "people would think twice before trying to steal our gas or vandalize equipment. There'd be benefits both ways."

Presently, Dexter is the westernmost point in the county where sheriff's department cars are permanently stationed. Dextertites are put at a disadvantage when cars are summoned from their substation, since the county also serves as village police force.

A substation located at the Chelsea bus garage, explained Sheriff Tom Minick, would be centrally located among the six northwestern county townships as far as population is concerned. "We'd like to be north of I-94 instead of exactly geographically centered," Minick said, "because the lower townships are more sparsely populated."

Benefitting from increased visibility of sheriff's department vehicles would be residents of Lyndon, Dexter, Sylvan, Lima, Sharon and Freedom townships.

In addition to good location, Minick continued, the garage is large enough to house cars, has telephone leads and already has a radio antenna.

Of course, said Minick, the energy crisis and the price of gasoline is a primary consideration.

Athletic Questionnaire Should Be Returned

Chelsea Board of Education ad hoc Athletic Committee has circulated an information survey to some district residents, chosen by random numerical sample.

If any residents have not yet returned the surveys, the committee would greatly appreciate residents taking the time to complete and return them.

Two Youths Charged With B&E

Two local youths were arraigned on charges of breaking and entering this week, after Sheriff's deputies apprehended them fleeing the scene of the break-in on Scio Church Rd.

According to Chelsea Police Chief Robert Aeillo, Michael Huggins and Kenneth Patrick have also signed statements admitting break-ins at North school, Beach school and a house in the 500 block of Wilkinson St. that same evening, March 20.

Aeillo said that Chelsea police received calls regarding the three break-ins last Thursday, and their investigation turned up excellent footprints for evidence.

Later that evening, about 7 or 8 p.m. Aeillo said, the residents of a Scio Church home surprised the pair in the act of breaking and entering. They took off across the fields but were soon picked up by county officers.

Aeillo said the boys took rings, a digital watch and a rare coin from the Wilkinson St. home, about $2 in change from a North school pop machine and a similar amount from Beach school. Police recovered the coin.

Aeillo said Chelsea Police will seek warrants for the two crimes committed in the village limits.

Senior Citizens May Get Aid on Condominium Conversions

Senior citizens on limited incomes may find some relief soon from apartments they are currently renting changing to condominiums forcing them to seek housing elsewhere.

In the tight economy, the number of rental apartment complexes switching to condominium units is rising causing, in many cases, total disruption in lifestyles.

According to a report by a legislative task force on conversions, senior citizens are the residents most hurt by conversion of apartments to condominiums.

The panel recommended specific legislation to protect these seniors from being forced out of their homes if a conversion is begun within their residences.

The legislation would grant all persons over the age of 62 with a lifetime lease to an apartment, allowing them to remain in their apartment at a reasonable rent until they voluntarily move or expire.

The report by the panel, headed by Sen. Doug Ross (D-Oak Park) and Rep. Joseph Forbes (D-Oak Park), further recommends that the state make loans to low and moderate income apartment tenants to purchase their converted apartments.

Further, the loans would be available to developers unable to sell a portion of their projects because of life-long leases.

The proposed legislation would also cover other recommendations made by the report. It would offer protection to both tenants who need such protection as well as developers who might financially be penalized by a change in the law.

Owners of some 8,200 rental units have, since July, 1978, applied for permits to convert to condominiums.

For many, the report says, condominiums offer the advantages of home ownership while better meeting their space needs and lifestyles.

"Because of their generally lower purchase price, (converted condominiums) are the only available ownership option for a growing number of consumers," the report stated.

For others, however, conversion is unacceptable and it forces tenants to either move or purchase the unit. The problem is especially acute for senior citizens, many of whom sold homes to live in apartments, cannot afford higher payments of condominiums and do not want to be relocated when apartment vacancies are very low.

Ross said senior citizens must be protected under the growing tide of conversions. "Had they known about the coming wave of condominium conversions, many of them would have stayed in their homes," he said.

The task force report, however, opposed a moratorium on conversions.

However, the sponsors say they would support such a moratorium should their legislation not be enacted.

Teeth Put into Energy Speed Limits

Legislation has been signed into law by Governor William G. Milliken putting teeth into the law for violation of the 55 mile per hour energy speed limits.

The act, however, will not take effect until around April 1, 1981.

The final version of the act assesses one point for violations of 5 mph over the imposed energy limit.

On interstate, where the previous limit was 70 mph, a single penalty point will be assessed on tickets between 60 and 70 mph.

Additionally, a penalty point will be assessed for violation of a speed limit set by the governor under a declared energy emergency.

The state police have long been seeking the points to put "teeth" in the lower speed limits. They have been saying people who can afford to take a chance speeding, have been virtually ignoring the lower limits.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Well, Mister Editor, spring sprung just like the almanac said, and folks in Southern California are back waiting for the fire next time. They must of figured for a while there that the world was going to be done in twice by water. We got a politician in office saying with a straight face that he took a $25,000 bribe so he could pay for a investigation into the crooks that bribed him, and we got politicians of ever stripe that are trying to git in office saying they misquoted themselves ever time one of their jokes backfires. God is in his heaven, and if all ain't right with the world, at least it's about what we expected.

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was taking stock and trying to look on the bright side as a way of welcoming spring. Fer instant, Bug Hookum said some good come out of Ronald Reagan's joke last month. He said he ain't heard or read of a politician trying to make anybody laugh since, and this is good since these fellers allus git more laughs accidental than on purpose. Bug said he kept in mind what Woodrow Wilson said about never having to take back somepin you never said, and he hadn't fergot Abe Lincoln's advice about keeping your mouth shut and being thought a fool instead of speaking and removing all doubt. Bug said he would like to think that certain Congressmen and state officials would of recalled the one about beware of gifts offered by Arabs and insurancemen, especial them that have bulges where the sholder holsters fer their service revolvers go. But the truth is, Bug declared, these people close ranks and guard the bad apples in the barrel fer fear that there, but fer the grace of being gone home that weekend, go them.

Actual, said Zeke Grubb, that's the big problem with skitting away from the FBI charges, it gives the idee to the public that we got two kinds of people in public office, the caught and the uncaught. Personal, Zeke said, he would say there's a higher average of honest people in government than at your average yard sale, it's just that the few in high places fall to temptation on a much bigger scale.

Speaking of government service, Ed Doolittle reported he had saw where the State Department was running help wanted ads in newspapers. It needs a deputy assistant secretary, and it's willing to pay $50,112 a year fer the right applicant. Ed said the help they got must be in bad shape if they ain't got anybody to move into that slot, but he allowed the ad is about in line with what the Methodist Church is doing. Ed saw where the Methodists are recruiting members with bumper stickers, billboards, newspaper ads and TV spots. A spokesman fer the church said if taking the call to the marketplace works fer the "electronic evangelists" it couldn't hurt to give it a try.

Practical speaking, Mister Editor, the high-powered TV preachers are dealing in what the ad people call a intangible product, and I'm not sure you can sell it like you can razor blades and beer. Changing a man's mind on anything usual is like milking a cow and washing a car, the darned thing won't stay changed.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Monthly meeting of the Ruth Circle, Methodist women's group, was held March 19 in the Crippen Building of the Village Apartments.

After refreshments, served by Mary Lou Haas and Cora Dolan, the business meeting was called and Donna Gaunt introduced the meaning of a "Prayer's Friend." Names were drawn.

The devotions for the afternoon were presented by Mary Esther Reed and the program was given by Martha Earles, who acted as moderator on the subject, "Simpler Life Styles." Taking part were Marion Harper, Wilda Bradley and Winifred Jordan.

Cong. Carr, Susan Baffa Engaged

Congressman Bob Carr and Susan Baffa, a press assistant for the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, U. S. House of Representatives, surprised a gathering of friends including House Speaker Tip O'Neill in Lansing Sunday morning by announcing their engagement.

Carr introduced Miss Baffa, who also worked in administrative and legislative capacities for various Congressional members and committees prior to her service for the Committee on Merchant Marines and Fisheries, to a group gathered for a Sunday brunch.

Miss Baffa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Baffa of Weston, Conn. She attended Boston College and the University of Maryland.

Carr has represented the Sixth Congressional District of Michigan since 1975. A resident of East Lansing, he is the son of Mrs. Edna Carr of Largo, Fla., and the late Milton R. Carr.

Your Health Options

By Beverly Chethik
Director of Health Education, Washtenaw County Health Dept.

"You, the individual, can do more for your own health and well-being than any doctor, any hospital, any drug, any exotic medical advice," according to Healthy People, the Surgeon General's report on health promotion and disease prevention.

With an eye to helping individuals promote their own health and well-being, the Washtenaw County Health Department is beginning a monthly question-and-answer column in The Chelsea Standard and The Dexter Leader.

If you have a health-related question, please write to this paper, Attention: Your Health Options. Health Department personnel will answer your questions each month.

The phrase "disease prevention" has taken on a new meaning in recent years. During the first half of the century, "prevention" indicated the development of effective vaccines against infectious diseases.

Today, "prevention" is concerned with reducing the significant risk factors and the incidence of premature death and disability from the major health problems: cardiovascular disease, cancer, and accidents — especially among young people.

To avoid premature death and disability, modest life style changes are in order. Specifically: elimination of cigarette smoking; reduction of alcohol misuse; moderate changes in the diet (reduction of excess calories, fat, salt and sugar); moderate exercise; adherence to speed laws and the use of seat belts; periodic screening for high blood pressure, and certain cancers.

Last Chance For "Eat Right" Book By Lelord Kordel

"What do you consider the one most important aid to achieving a long and youthful life?"

That question is one you might well ask yourself. It was asked of me at one of my lectures.

My unhesitating answer was, "An urgent desire to live."

When asked if we want to live, almost anyone will answer "Yes." But this is not entirely true. Certainly not if we examine the facts a little more closely.

All too many are trying to escape from life. "Sampling death," so to speak.

They are the persons who are bored with life. Indifferent to rules of health and nutrition.

Usually they smoke too much. Overeat and therefore weigh too much. Try to perk up with "pep-pills." Need tranquilizers to calm down.

They race to "keep up" with the neighbors. Eat on the run. "Need a drink" at day's end.

And they can't sleep without a pill.

Do these people really want to live?

Let us say, rather, they "don't want to die." But the urge to live is not strong enough for them to do something positive. Perfect health depends on the balance of the trinity ruling one's body:

- The mind.
- The emotions.
- The physical self.

You cannot have a healthy mind if there is a physical deficit.

The mind governs the body, true.

But the mind is only an organ of the body. As such, it is affected by the body's condition.

The average person, as a matter of record, eats 75 percent more starch and sugar foods than is compatible with health!

Dr. George Morris Piersol believes that if we would only apply the nutritional knowledge that is available, we could increase the average life span by at least ten percent.

He believes it is equally as important to add life to years as it is to add years to life.

And the great Dr. Tom Spies insisted that if humans kept their bodies in chemical balance, they would grow old gracefully, with less mental and physical deterioration.

You should realize—and most emphatically—that the body's breakdown is not a natural process.

It is the result of many years of poor eating habits. In the laboratory we call this "cumulative nutritional deficiencies."

Which brings us back to the original question: "Do you urgently desire to live?"

I hope your answer is really "yes!"

Here is a guide to help you reach the 100-mark. It is a pattern for living that can hold premature old age at bay.

It will keep you youthful, active, alert.

This is not a crash program. It must be a new way of life—if you want to be around a lot longer.

Keep these points in mind. Memorize them. "Not for just a day . . . not for just a year . . . but always!"

1. High-protein foods. We've talked a lot about these. But talk is useless unless it's put into action. Spend more of your food money for meat, fish, poultry, eggs, cheeses, seed-cereals. And don't overlook skim milk powder as an ideal protein booster.

Dr. E. J. Steiglitz says, "The older we get, the more we tend to suffer from protein deficiency. Even a mild protein shortage manifests itself as a sense of habitual fatigue."

2. Carbohydrate foods. The less of these, the better. Don't clog-up your body's machinery with excessive starches and sugars. I'll admit many of these foods look mighty tempting. But they are troublemakers.

A good rule to follow: First eat all the foods you need. Then, if there is capacity for something else—have it. Chances are you won't want it.

3. Vitamins and minerals. To prevent "internal chemical starvation," your body cells need these important nutritional substances.

The sad but realistic fact is that many of our foods just do not supply all the vitamins and minerals we should have for maximum nutrition. For that reason, in addition to good eating, it is wise to use a concentrated source of all the vitamins and minerals.

For my own use, I have found the formula called "Nutri-Time" to be an ideal vitamin-mineral food supplement.

I've told you the facts. The living of these facts is up to you.

Just as a reminder: the one most important aid to achieving a long and youthful life is first—an urgent desire to live.

Everything will follow in its wake.

Don't wait until your body is completely deprived of its reserves. Start today to be the person you want to be . . . the person you can be.

Eat right . . . and live longer!

LEONARD W. HAFNER, JR.

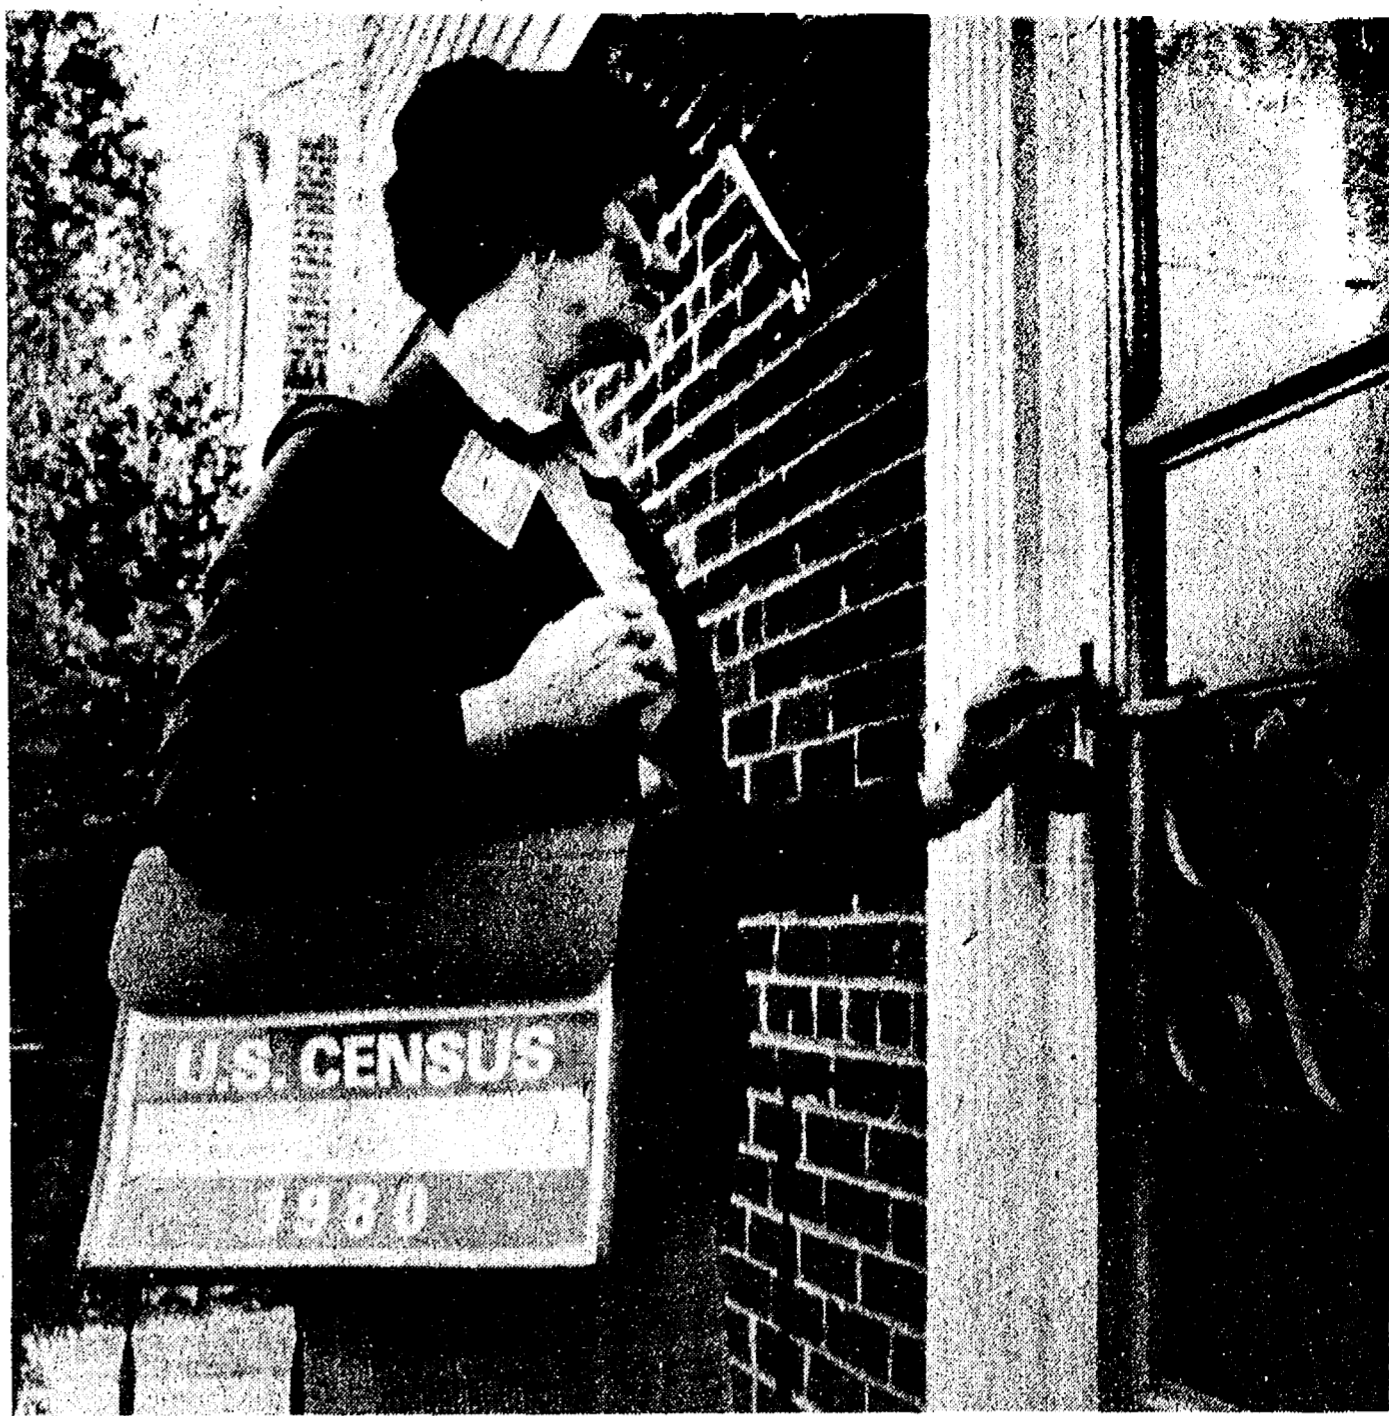

Leonard Hafner, Jr., Completes Air Force Basic Training

Airman Leonard W. Hafner Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Hafner of 8857 Beeman Rd., Chelsea, has been assigned to Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits towards an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force. The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the munitions and weapons maintenance field.

Airman Hafner is a 1977 graduate of Chelsea High school.

CENSUS TAKERS ringing doorbells will be the exception, not the rule, for the 1980 official headcount, which will rely on the U. S. Mail for most returns. Those who fail to return their forms, however, can expect a census taker, like the woman above, to come calling.

Nation Gears Up for Massive 1980 Census

For most Americans, the 1980 census will be simple enough.

A questionnaire will arrive in the mail on March 28. The recipient will simply answer the questions, which will not take long, and then either mail back the form on April 1, or hold it for a census taker to pick up, depending on the instructions.

What may not be apparent to millions of Americans, as they answer the census in the privacy and convenience of their homes, is the fact that they are making personal contributions to an undertaking so vast and complex that it ranks as one of the largest peacetime efforts ever mounted in this country.

By the time the last American is counted sometime during the summer, the Bureau of the Census will have reached an estimated 222 million U.S. residents and 86 million housing units, and gathered more than three billion answers.

In 90 percent of the nation's households, people will be asked to take their own census, in effect, by answering the questionnaires and mailing them back in postage-free envelopes. Census takers will obtain the information from households that fail to mail back completed questionnaires as requested.

The remaining 10 percent, which will receive instructions to hold the questionnaires until a census taker picks them up, are mostly in sparsely-settled areas in the western half of the nation. In some cases, the census takers will ask additional questions.

Concern is often voiced about why particular questions are included in the census? For example, one question asks about plumbing facilities. Why?

Because, for several decades, plumbing facilities have been an important indicator of housing quality. The adequacy of plumbing facilities is a key factor in determining which communities receive Federal housing assistance funds.

A number of innovative methods will be used during the 1980 census to obtain the best possible count, such as double-checking households reported vacant and placing census takers in all-night movies, taverns and on street corners in major urban areas to find the uncounted.

Biddy Basketball

Rivalling the NCAA playoff games in popularity here in Chelsea Saturday, March 15, were the Biddy Basketballers, competing in their final day of the current season.

The Hawks completed their season with a perfect 5-0 record, notching a victory over a tough Laker team, 40-23. Meanwhile, the Nuggets picked up another victory, 31-28, over the Celtics, and the Sonics claimed second place with a win over the Spurs, 39-24.

Game one saw the "Big Red Machine" of the Nuggets roll past the Celtics. Mark Mull scored 21 points for the Nuggets, once again controlling the boards with defensive assistance from Charlie and Matt Koenn. Charlie added four points and Matt had six.

Good hustle by the entire team proved to be too much for the Celtics, who were once again led by John Lane with 12 points. Doug Janskuski and Roy Spencer each had six points, Dwayne Pate had four and Tom Sturgeon had two.

Game two pitted the Sonics against the Spurs, with the Sonics taking the win to end the season in second place.

The contest was well played by both teams, but Biff Burton and Dan Kimbler proved to be too hot for the Spurs to handle, scoring 13 and 18 points respectively. Chuck Downer grabbed eight points and Steve Whitesall and Katie Heaton played good defense.

For the Spurs, victory seemed elusive this season. The team notched only one win, that coming in their very first contest. Steve Kropf tallied for 14 points, Dan Bellus had five and Jim Bortski scored four. Todd Brown added one point to end the scoring.

Third and final game with the Lakers and Hawks seemed to be a fitting season end. The Hawks needed the win to remain undefeated, while the Lakers would have liked nothing better than to play the role of spoiler.

In the end, however, the Hawks prevailed and preserved their perfect record with a 40-23 victory.

Both teams played hard, with Kevin Maynard scoring 25 points for the Hawks. Ken Martin, "Mr. Hustle," collected seven points, followed by Doug Graves with six and Robert Murrell with two.

For the Lakers, Craig Maciag had eight, Rich Proctor tallied four, and Mike Ball and Dan Darrow each had two points.

MATH WINNERS: Six Beach school students recently qualified for the regional mathematics exam, sponsored by Eastern Michigan University and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics. The two top winners from each class at Beach qualified for the April 28 regional. They are, left to right, sixth graders Cathy Burkel and Chris Schlupe, seventh graders Steve Kropf and Mary Ann Richardson, and eighth graders Kevin Colombo and Carrie Parkins.

Mathematics Competition Underway

The Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics and Eastern Michigan University are again sponsoring a state-wide mathematics competition.

Some 215 Beach school students volunteered to take the local level test, a difficult combination of varied kinds of problems, including whole numbers, decimals, fractions, geometry and algebra.

Winning the two top spots in each grade were 6th graders Cathy Burkel and Chris Schlupe, 7th graders Steve Kropf and Mary Ann Richardson and 8th graders Kevin Colombo and Carrie Parkins.

All six will attend the regional competition at Eastern Michigan University Saturday, April 26.

Top-ranked students at the regional level will advance to the state test at Central Michigan University in May. Steve, Mary Ann and Kevin were all participants at the state level last year.

Both Ferguson and Colegrove were serving time for breaking and entering, Aello reported.

While these incidents might sound depressingly familiar to area residents, Cassidy Lake Superintendent Joseph Weinberg last week discussed a number of changes that have occurred at the facility which he thinks may curtail walk-away incidents substantially.

Weinberg agreed that more escapes occur in warm weather, but hastened to point out that a number of significant improvements have been made in security at the school.

As he has in the past, Weinberg first pointed to his 17- to 21-year-old population as one that does "what 17- to 21-year-olds do. They get anxious when it's spring. And if a kid gets a 'Dear John' letter from his girlfriend, he's going to try and see her."

Ever since a heated, emotion-charged meeting on Cassidy Lake last Nov. 20 at Lyndon Town Hall, things have been looking up for security at the school, Weinberg said.

Community sentiments reverberated all the way to the state legislature, he insisted, obtaining six additional guard positions for Cassidy Lake. Since the state is in the midst of a strict hiring freeze, Weinberg said that the six new guards must have been the result of a strong appeal from local residents coupled with the support of State Rep. Mary Keith Ballantine (R-23rd District).

A seventh approved position, for a female custody officer, has yet to be filled.

"I attribute a lot of what we've got to the concern of the community," Weinberg insisted. "Once Lansing understood how we impact on the community, we got additional help."

Besides the additional security slots, Cassidy Lake should soon see the use of new communications equipment. FCC licensing procedures are complete and Weinberg expects to receive the actual equipment in about four weeks. Guards will have to wait about 90 days for receipt of the FCC license before they may use the radios, however.

In addition to those two improvements, Weinberg said that efforts are being made to hold inmate population to 275 and to keep a roving Cassidy Lake patrol car on the road to deter escapes. He added that no escapes occurred at the school between Christmas and last week.

Another positive step, according to Weinberg, is the formation of a community liaison council, comprised of eight representatives from surrounding townships and the village of Chelsea. First meeting of the group, for orientation and a discussion of its role, was scheduled for yesterday evening.

The superintendent is optimistic that the relationship of Cassidy Lake to the surrounding communities will be clarified.

"I hope the council will take an active role in disseminating information to the community," he said. "Once they know the facts, we hope they'll take their information back to the community."

He urged all members of the community not to hesitate to call him if they have heard a rumor regarding the facility. Weinberg can be reached at 475-1368 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays. Calls received after those hours will be handled by a shift commander.

While pleased with the developments of the past few months, Weinberg is still trying to obtain funding for an 80-man housing unit, which he says will make security tighter. Additional public urging to state legislators he said, may bring about such a building.

"We are not going to stop walkaways," he said firmly. "We are going to cut down on them."

SEVA Foundation Concentrates On World Health Problems

right onto Spring Lake Rd. The address is 108 Spring Lake.

Dr. Brilliant explains SEVA's purpose as a three-fold one, intended to increase awareness of the rest of the world as well as to raise money to fight disease.

First and foremost, Dr. Brilliant said, SEVA is working to eradicate 90 percent of excess, avoidable blindness in five years.

"People in developing countries do not go blind from the same things as Americans," he pointed out. SEVA is working with the World Health Organization (WHO) and the government of Nepal in beginning the fight against disease-caused blindness.

In Nepal, said Dr. Brilliant, a glaucoma operation costs $5, and yet many people remain blind from this treatable disease because they simply do not have five dollars.

It is astonishing facts such as that that Dr. Brilliant feels Americans have shielded themselves from for too long.

"We know nothing about the rest of the world," he explained patiently. "All of a sudden it's changing before our very eyes. It's disheartening that Americans are basically not full participants in the international affairs of our world."

Being close to a university, he went on, this area is not as "provincial" as some. "But if Americans understood the suffering in the rest of the world, we'd recognize that we are enormously wealthy."

He discounts the argument that giving to church charities and missions is a sufficient answer to the problem. "There's a difference between what people do on Sundays and what they do on the other six days."

Thirdly, he said, SEVA "does things." The foundation is now providing assistance to Nepal, India and WHO, as well as consulting with the President's Committee on World Hunger.

Research is handled on two computer terminals housed at the Spring Lake building, one of which is tied in to the University of Michigan computer. A contract was recently given to the Institute of Social Research at U-M to find out how much blindness there is, who has it and whether surgery, vitamins or drugs will be most effective.

In addition, a helicopter was donated to SEVA for work in the field.

With all these expenses, however, Dr. Brilliant explained that no money donated to SEVA for work on blindness is used for overhead, adding that in Chelsea expenses are very low and that only one or two percent of the entire budget of $2 million last year went for operating expenses.

What makes SEVA quite special, smiles Dr. Brilliant, is its unique combination of the "doers and the getters." About half the founders of SEVA were formerly involved in the smallpox operation, led by Dr. Nicole Grasset, and the other half were non-medical people who wanted to lend their support.

Dr. Brilliant realizes that Americans feel that their backs are being forced to the wall by inflation and other pressures, but he would like SEVA to be able to lend a sense of perspective through which Americans can view their world neighbors.

"The eradication of smallpox cost $100 million," he pointed out. "Americans throw away more money than it would cost to eradicate blindness." He added with a smile that the proposed University of Michigan hospital will cost three times as much as the entire smallpox effort.

"Here we are in one of the worst economic times in U. S. history and, still, 50 percent of our kids don't die as they do in India and Africa. This is the time when one's commitment to social justice and charity is tested." SEVA's message is not one of unrelieved gloom, however, as its bright logo of a shimmering rainbow testifies. "We must be optimistic," said Girtja Brilliant. "In the face of suffering and poverty wonderful things were done. You can do something."

"You can do something," agreed Dr. Brilliant. "Anyone can do it. Most members are not doctors or professionals. They're just good folks." The good folks of SEVA are looking forward to meeting the good folks of Chelsea this Saturday afternoon.

Soviet Grain Import Needs Are Unfilled

The Soviet Union has had little success in fulfilling its grain import needs during the critical period preceding its domestic harvest, U. S. Department of Agriculture Chief Economist Howard Hjort said this week.

USDA's current estimate of actual Soviet 1979-80 imports—at 28.3 million tons—is not appreciably different from the USDA import projection made immediately after the imposition of the embargo, he said.

members of the community. Efforts to enlist the support of students are stressed in keeping the facilities in good condition.

"Our school buildings are used on an average of 14 hours per day by over 3,000 people," Superintendent Van Meer said. "That amount of pedestrian traffic in and out of our buildings generates a sizeable amount of daily cleaning."

He stressed that it is the responsibility of all to keep the buildings and grounds in respectable condition.

THE WITNESS: Members of Chelsea's Free Methodist church will host a production of the musical play, "The Witness," this Sunday, March 30, at St. Barnabas church, across from the Chelsea Fairgrounds. Presented by the group, "One Accord," the play tells the story of Jesus Christ, sung by the men and women who knew him best.

Religious Musical To Be Presented Sunday at Free Methodist Church

"The Witness," a musical written by Jimmy and Carol Owens, will be presented Sunday, March 30 at 5 p.m. at the Free Methodist Church meeting at St. Barnabas church, Old US-12, across from Chelsea Fairgrounds. The musical is the story of Jesus Christ, told and sung by the men and women who knew Him best.

The story of "The Witness" is told by Peter, the fisherman who made so many mistakes and yet became an apostle; by his wife, who suddenly discovers she's married to a traveling man; by Mary, the mother of Jesus, who shares the secret of finding favor with God; by James and John, who begin to understand what the kingdom of God is really all about; by their mother, who watches out for the welfare of her boys; and by the tormented Judas as he realizes that he has sold his own soul.

Through the eyes of these people, the audience will experience the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ, and will learn with them how this man's life brought God's salvation to the world.

"The Witness" is presented in churches and before other Christian groups by "One Accord," an independent group of 10 young adults resolved to bring to the glory of God and to sing Christians together "in one accord."

"There Must Be A Better Way."

DONALD A. COLE
Director
When funeral arrangements must be made during the stress-filled time following a death, families often remark: "There must be a better way."
And there is a better way. Before the need for a funeral arises, you can make those decisions that would be painful for those you love to make, from choice of music to the price range of the funeral itself.
If you would like to know more about this better way, stop by at any time. No obligation, of course.

The Bible - The Light from Heaven
Speaks about Jesus Christ coming again and we must prepare ourselves for that event. It will not be any special kind of a day when the Lord returns. Life will be going on as usual. Not only will there be no way of telling when the Lord will return, it will be when many people will least expect it. I Thessalonians 5:2, 3 says, "The day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. For when they shall say, peace and safety: then sudden destruction cometh upon them." The second coming will surely be a spectacular event. I Thessalonians 4:16 teaches, "For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the Archangel and with the trump of God." And in Revelation 1:7 is written, "Behold he cometh with the clouds: and every eye shall see him." Jesus will raise the dead. (John 5:28, 29). He will judge the world. (Acts 17:30, 31). Each person will give an account of himself. (2 Corinthians 5:10; Romans 14:12), and will hear either, "Come ye blessed of my Father, or depart from me ye cursed." (Matthew 25:31-46). 2 Thessalonians 1:7-8 declares, "That the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ." Now is the time to prepare.

MONSTER TOMATOES: Grown and harvested last year, these enormous tomatoes brought Dexterite Lee Ferguson a winning certificate in the Michigan Natural Resources magazine vegetable contest. Ferguson received his tomato award, and certificates for four other formidable vegetable entries, about three weeks ago.

STUPENDOUS SQUASH: At 16 lbs. 12 oz., Dexterite Lee Ferguson's bottle gourd from the 1979 harvest is indeed a "monster vegetable" — or so says Michigan Natural Resources magazine, which awarded Ferguson certificates for his huge gourd, tomatoes, a cucumber, a sunflower and a large potato.

Lee-Ferguson Wins Giant Vegetable Awards

Dexterite Lee H. Ferguson recently received five certificates, from Michigan Natural Resources magazine, commending his "monster vegetables," grown and harvested during 1979.

Ferguson was declared winner or runner-up for his enormous potato, cucumber, bottle gourd, sunflower, and tomato, grown on his property at 10425 Jackson Rd.

The slightly tongue-in-cheek certificates extol Ferguson for being a Michigan Gardner, "known throughout the land for annual production of the largest vegetables in North America, if not the world."

He entered an 8 lb. 4 oz. sunflower, a 2 lb. 12 oz. tomato, a 16 lb. 12 oz. bottle gourd, a 2 lb. 6 oz. cucumber and a 1 lb. 10 oz. potato.

"As to how I grew them," Ferguson wrote to MNR magazine, "as the man said, I dropped the seed in the ground and ran."

Seeds from the monster tomato are available by contacting Ferguson.

JMC took on Thompson's Pizza and emerged victorious, 69-49. Mike Cannon had 22 for JMC and Jesse Colburn bucketed 15 for Thompson's.

"THE KING AND I" PLANNED: Friends of the Chelsea Players recently began planning their July 17-19 musical production, "The King and I," with the hiring of a director, choreographer and technical director. Working for a successful play will be, front from left, choreographer Robert Miller, director Jeanette Brock, technical director Mike Short; and rear, Mary Powers, Herb Hodge and Ben Bower, Friends of the Chelsea Players who comprised the director search committee.

Chelsea Players Sign Talent To Produce Summer Musical

At the regular monthly meeting of the Friends of the Chelsea Players, March 24, the Board of Directors signed contracts which will assure the successful production of "The King and I" this July 17-19.

Directing the production will be Dr. Jeanette Brock. Her exceptional credentials include a PhD in music from UCLA, AB in music and drama from California State University, and special studies in voice and drama from USC, to name a few. She has had major roles in many productions, and has directed opera, musicals, plays and oratorios.

Robert N. Miller will do the choreography. He has trained in classical ballet since 1971 in New York, Michigan, California and Canada. He has performed as a dancer in many musicals and operettas and has been choreographer for many Gilbert and Sullivan productions.

Michael E. Short will be technical director. He obtained his AB from Illinois College, Jacksonville, Ill., and has been technical director for three productions. Currently, he is associated with Ann Arbor Recreation Department Junior Theater as technical director.

Musical director will be June Warren, choir director for the Methodist church in Chelsea. She performed in the same capacity for "Bells Are Ringing" last summer.

Friends of the Chelsea Players are anticipating an excellent production, conceived by well-qualified personnel.

Auditions will be held May 14

Striking Romulus Teachers Walk Home from Lansing

Chelsea this week was one of several resting places visited by six members of the Wayne County Michigan Education Association/National Education Association during the course of their 90-mile walk from the steps of the capitol in Lansing back to Romulus High school.

The walk, which began 6:30 a.m. Monday morning, ended late Wednesday afternoon at Romulus amidst a rally of some 1,800 Wayne county teachers.

Teachers in Romulus, as well as Gibraltar, Southgate and Woodhaven, have been on strike since March 10 after having worked since August 1979 without new contracts.

Theme of the walk by the six teachers is "I'd rather be in the classroom with my kids, working and teaching."

In addition to their stop in Chelsea, the walkers were housed and fed by MEA teachers in Mason, Dansville, Stockbridge, Dexter, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.
