Girls Softball Team Is Now 8-1 for Season

Chelsea's varsity softballers advanced their record to 8-1 this past week with victories over Saline, Milan, Gabriel Richard and Brighton.

Chelsea is now 4-0 in the SEC with six league contests remaining.

The past week might well be titled "The Push and Powell Road Show," as the pair dominated both on the mound and at the plate.

Last Tuesday, the team bombed Milan on its way to a 22-2 victory. Nanette Push was the winning pitcher for Chelsea, throwing five innings and striking out eight Milan batters. Kim Wood added offensive spark with her first home run of the season in the fifth inning.

Saturday, the Bulldogs lost their first game of the season against Brighton, 4-3. Anita Powell was tagged with her first loss of the season, even though she allowed only two hits.

Powell walked seven hitters and all four Brighton runs were direct results of bases on balls. "The walks really hurt Anita," said Coach Bill Wescott. "She has the makings of a fine pitcher. She could be the best in the league next year if she works on her control."

While Powell was struggling with her control, Chelsea's offense was struggling for the big hit. "It was a poor hitting performance," Wescott admitted. "Our offense just couldn't get it together. Three hits won't win many games."

After losing the first contest to Brighton, Nanette Push and Powell led the Bulldogs to an 11-2 win in the second half of the double header.

Powell led the offense, ripping two doubles and a single off losing pitcher Peg Harte. Cara Feeney and Molly Eisele both collected a pair of hits for Chelsea.

Push belted a round-tripper and was also credited with the pitching win. She struck out 13 batters in the seven-inning game.

Last Friday, May 2, Chelsea defeated a fine Saline team, 4-0. Anita Powell again collected two hits and Push hurled her third career no-hitter.

Against Gabriel Richard on May 1, Powell also hurled a no-hitter and was credited with her second win of the season, while striking out four.

Chelsea's pitching and defense have been fine so far this season. Push's record is now 6-0, with 84 strike-outs in 36 innings. She has yielded only 10 walks.

Powell's record is 2-1. She has hurled 18½ innings and struck out 10 while giving up only four singles and walking 14.

The Bulldog offense has amassed 116 runs this season, averaging 12.8 per game. Kim Wood's improved power and the addition of Cara Feeney and Angie Inglis has helped the offense to a balanced attack.

Leading hitter at this point is Push, batting at .565 with three home runs. Patti Hume is hitting at a .471 clip. Jennifer Ringe and

JAPANESE VISITOR: Interest in a small-town American police department brought Japanese criminologist Mike Mizuno to Chelsea this week, where he spent the day in uniform as a local officer. Police Chief Robert Aeillo exchanged information with Mizuno on American and Japanese police technology and practices. A television personality and magazine writer, Mizuno will include photographs of Chelsea in an upcoming issue of a Japanese police publication.

Japanese Criminologist Visits Chelsea Police Dept.

Chelsea's police department probably has more in common with the Japanese national police force than with the police organizations of most large American cities.

That surprising assessment was the verdict of Mike Haruo Mizuno, a well-known Japanese criminologist who was in Chelsea last Wednesday to observe the workings of a small-town American police department.

No stranger to America, Mizuno has traveled widely in the United States, studying the equipment, training and techniques used by police here. His previous stops have included Los Angeles, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, New York, Chicago, Las Vegas, Reno and Omaha.

Chelsea, though, Mizuno said, offered a different perspective on the American policeman — one that he had not been able to see in large American cities.

The fact is, Mizuno concluded, that in terms of communication with the citizens and a close community-police relationship, Chelsea resembles Japan much more than it does Chicago.

If Chelseaites wonder about that statement, perhaps they should take a closer look at the source before making a final judgement.

Mike Haruo Mizuno has been a practicing criminologist in Japan for almost 20 years. An open, smiling man, he is also a well-known television personality, the host of a 15-minute program that has been seen all over Japan five days a week for the past eight years.

He makes a point of traveling to the United States at least five times a year, subsidized partly by the government and partly from his own pocket. As in Chelsea last week, he usually dons the uniform of the department he is visiting and makes the rounds in a patrol car with regular officers. Not a police officer himself, he is an honorary superintendent of the Tokyo police department.

Although interested in all aspects of American police work, he is particularly fascinated with technology and the use of computers in criminology. A number of American systems he has investigated have been adopted in Japan, including a siren system he encountered here.

In Chelsea, though, as the guest of Police Chief Robert Aeillo, Mizuno is more interested in watching the relationship of police officer to community. He learned about Chelsea through an acquaintance of Chief Aeillo, a Japanese criminal justice graduate student at Eastern Michigan University.

What he found here delights him, particularly the close feeling between the citizens of the village and the police force, including the number of people who came over to chat during a cup of coffee at the bakery.

Chief Aeillo was equally delighted at hosting Mizuno for the day, and took him along to observe the day-to-day functioning of a small-town police force, as well as providing him with literally pounds of literature on local police techniques and equipment.

While Mizuno happily pointed out the similarities between Japan and Chelsea, he did acknowledge that there are large differences, owing a great deal to the dissimilar cultures of the two places.

Japan's police force, he said, has a 100-year history and is a combination of European and American systems, re-organized by the Japanese after World War II. It is a national system, with all officers employed by one single police force. All wear the same uniform and receive the same type of training.

Out of 200,000 policemen and women nationwide, 45,000 are in Tokyo to work with a population of 10 million people living within 36 square miles.

Traditional Japanese respect for authority still prevails, despite Westernizing influences, and in the past two years only three police officers out of 200,000 died in the line of duty.

Murder there is decreasing, Mizuno said with satisfaction, but robbery, burglary and juvenile crimes are on the rise. Nevertheless, traditional emphasis on the family in the Japanese culture and great respect for older people works to keep the crime rate down.

An institution called the police box (Hashutsusho) is what gives Japanese police the image of a small-town force, even in Tokyo. Thirteen of these small, street corner "mini-stations" are

Band Given Ovations in Mexico City

Last week-end turned out to be a heady four days of playing before literally millions of people, sampling Mexican culture and even autograph signing for the members of the Chelsea Symphony Band.

Finally in Mexico City after a long year of fund-raising, the band played in the International Band Festival, enjoyed shopping in open-air markets, visited the pyramids at Teotihuacan and enjoyed near-celebrity treatment from the residents of Mexico City.

A police escort was provided by the city for the band's bus, Band Director Steven Bergmann reported, and escorted the bus everywhere for four days. "They would stop traffic and let our buses go through," said Bergmann. "Three officers were assigned to us and stayed with us all the time."

Friday afternoon, the band played its first concert of the trip, before about 1,000 people at an open-air shopping plaza. It was after this performance, Bergmann said, that the group signed autographs for a number of people at the plaza.

That evening, the group dined at the top of the Sears Building and then prepared for performing at the Band Festival itself on Saturday morning.

That performance earned straight A's from both judges who evaluated the group. Wrote one judge: "I certainly enjoyed your performance and the opportunity to evaluate the band from Chelsea. It's not hard to tell that the kids value their band very much and have an extreme amount of pride in accomplishment. Your community should be very, very proud of you.

"Any criticism I have listed is probably in the realm of nit-picking or maybe where I sat in the auditorium. Congratulations — I hope the band understands and appreciates the goodwill for the U. S. that you have fostered."

Dr. Fox, head of the festival, told Bergmann that Chelsea's band was only the second in the history of the festival to receive a standing ovation. He called the musicians together after their performance and told them that in nine years of the festival, "this is truly one of the outstanding bands ever to come in."

Following that ego-boosting experience, the band traveled to a 20-acre country club in the city and performed on a soccer field for 2,000 people, using the marching band routines and featuring the flag performers.

Band members attended a performance of the world-renowned Ballet Folklorico on Sunday morning, and then marched before between one and two million people in the Children's Day parade in Mexico City. A number of chaperones watched the nationally televised proceedings on local television and reported that the Chelsea band played on camera for five to 10 minutes before the judging stand.

Sunday evening, a Mariachi band and the Chelsea Jazz Band performed for the group as its

Help Available To Improve Downtown

Chelsea will soon be the beneficiary of a county program aimed at revitalizing six small-town business districts and solving problems that come with village growth.

Funded by a HUD 701 planning grant and administered by the Washtenaw County Planning Commission, the program is aimed at Chelsea and five other county communities that do not have the resources to employ a full-time planning staff.

The program also helps to fulfill the county's land use policies, which are involved in energy concerns and transportation problems, as well as revitalization.

Members of the commission and Carol Sullivan, an independent consultant who is working with the county, presented the proposed program to a meeting of the Chelsea Merchant's Association Monday evening.

A workshop on the program will be held Monday, June 9, here in Chelsea and will be open to all interested members of the public. A location has not yet been selected.

According to Carol Sullivan, the workshop will point out successes and failures in other villages and give a summary of specifics that could be implemented in Chelsea to improve the downtown area.

The commission, Sullivan said, will have looked at the physical and economic aspects of the village and will have received the results of questionnaires that

Varsity Baseball Team Drops 4 Out of 5 Games

Errors continued to plague Chelsea's varsity diamondmen this week, as they dropped four out of five contests.

A bright spot for Chelsea came Tuesday afternoon, May 6, as the team bats came alive and resoundingly defeated Jackson County Western, 8-5.

The Bulldogs boomed out 12 hits, three more than in their previous four games combined, to overpower the SEC's newest team.

Joel Krichbaum threw six strong innings, then yielded to Brad Knickerbocker, who picked up a save.

Chelsea went out to an early lead in the first inning on walks to Mike Bohlender and Jeff Dils, a John Dunn sacrifice and a sacrifice by Ross Stofflet. In the third, Chelsea added more runs on back-to-back singles by John Preston, Bohlender and Dils, followed by a John Dunn double that drove all three home.

Dunn then scored on a sacrifice fly by Stofflet.

In the fourth inning, Knickerbocker scored on a Preston single and a Western error. Bohlender drove in the final Chelsea run of the contest.

Western scored runs in the last

Study Urges Production and Use of Gasohol

A special committee commissioned to study options and prospects of gasohol has urged the state to proceed with initiatives for production and increased use of the gasoline/alcohol blend as an alternative energy source.

The committee's final report made recommendations to aid production and spread the use of the product to make the state and the nation less dependent upon foreign oil.

Senator John Hertel (D-Harper Woods), chairman of the Senate Environmental and Agricultural Affairs Committee, said the committee found use of gasohol as being feasible and its production and use helpful in meeting energy needs and aiding the economy of Michigan.

He said the committee's work provided scientific and realistic answers to questions with the facts being meaningful in the state and nation.

James W. Leenhouts, committee chairman and business development manager of the Research and Development Division of Dow Chemical Co., said the committee studies various aspects such as marketability, effects on internal combustion engines, actions in other states and the federal government, technology, by-products and their use, the food versus fuel question and economic effects.

He reported that from the areas of study, the committee is recommending the state promote and encourage the use of gasohol in automobile transportation.

He added the committee supports orderly gasohol development while maintaining the proper food balance and maintaining a positive liquid fuel balance.

Other committee recommendations included adoption of regulations and safeguards to assure gasohol quality, a public awareness program explaining gasohol use and its advantages in conserving dwindling supplies of petroleum; development of alternative feedstock technology and by-product utilization; adoption of incentives for subsidized support for alcohol production and a continuation of an investigation for further essential data to extend gasohol knowledge with regard to Michigan conditions and needs.

Hertel said the legislature will be considering incentives for the production and use of gasohol.

He noted these could include tax exemptions or credits for capital investments in gasohol production facilities or a possible creation of a gasohol market by requiring the blend be available at one pump at every gas station in the state.

Current legislation pending in the Senate committee would require 3 percent alcohol in all motor vehicle fuels sold in the state as of 1981 with that percentage increasing to 10 percent by 1984.

Shift to Locals Suggested for Prison Overcrowding Solution

The chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee has suggested the state solve its prison overcrowding problems by shifting the responsibility from the state to the counties for dealing with non-violent adult offenders.

Jerome Hart (D-Saginaw) said the state would then increase funding to the counties for

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

The fellers took up hazards and hugging during the session at the country store Saturday night, and they was general agreed there is to much of the first and to little of the last in the world today. It was Zeke Grubb that brought in a report where this doctor in Canada told 4,000 at a convention that a human being has got to have at least four hugs a day to survive, and he needs 12 good squeezes to stay healthy. She said people get hungry for love same as they do for food and water.

Zeke got no argument when he sided with the hugging doctor, but he got some puzzled looks when he allowed that talking 4,000 into a hugfest would be about as easy as feeding 5,000 on two loaves and five fishes. Zeke was of a mind that the hearts of the huggers and huggées are what makes the difference.

Ed Doolittle allowed that life is gitting more dangerous ever day, and that we can use all the caring for one another we can muster. Ed had this clipping where water softeners are radioactive and diesel fumes might cause cancer. Hard water is to full of iron to drink, and drinking it after it is softened will make us glow in the dark, Ed said. On top of that, we try to log from gasoline fumes that clog our lungs and we wind up with a worst risk. Ed said he couldn't help but think of a discussion he heard on TV about sharks. This feller said sharks really ain't as bad as they're made out. He said cases of humans being attacked by sharks are so rare in the world as to be a "non-problem." The expert thought about that a few seconds and then he said, "except, of course, for them that are attacked."

That's about the way the system works, Ed said, danger in the world is pritty much limited to folks dangerous things happen to. It's that way with these tanning parlors popping up all over the country, Ed allowed. He had saw where doctors are warning that laying under these lamps cooks skin and asks for all kind of trouble, including cancer. But Ed said this particular danger is no problem unless you go to tanning parlors.

Speaking of dangers, Clem Webster said he wanted to add mopeds to the list. A few older folks out our way have bought these little bicycles with motors, Mister Editor, and Clem said what saving they're relizing in gas don't come clost to making up the risk to themselves and the scares they throw into everybody on the road with em. State laws can't decide whuther to treat these machines as motorcycles or bicycles, Clem said, and as a result they don't treat them at all. He had saw where North Carolina worked out a compromise. Moped operators there don't have to do anything except stay under 20 miles a hour. This way they git in the way of other traffic, so the state solved that by doing away with the 20 mile limit so they can keep up.

Personal, Mister Editor, this is logic like a 10 cent a gallon gas tax to fight inflation. This thinking says if you got a tire with to much air in it you let air out by pumping air in until the tire explodes and solves the whole problem with one big bang.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Blood Pressure Clinic Slated

May is National High Blood Pressure Month and the Chelsea Community Hospital Auxiliary will be holding a free blood pressure clinic at the Chelsea State Bank main office Friday, May 16 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

It is estimated that one in every six persons has high blood pressure and, as a result, faces the risks of heart attack, stroke and kidney failure.

To reduce this risk, the "Ten Commandments" for the person with high blood pressure should be:

• Know your blood pressure. Have it checked regularly.

- Know what your weight should be. Keep it at that level or below.
- Don't use excessive salt in cooking or at meals. Avoid salty foods.
- Eat a low-fat diet according to the American Heart Association recommendations.
- Don't smoke cigarettes.
- Take your medicine exactly as prescribed; don't run out of pills.
- Keep your appointments with the doctor.
- Follow your doctor's advice about exercise.

Fluoride Program Still Has Openings

This summer's topical fluoride program will be held in Chelsea at Beach Middle school from June 10 to 19, according to Denise Martell, chairman of the Chelsea Fluoride Auxiliary's topical fluoride committee. The program is co-sponsored with the Washtenaw County Health Department and the Michigan Department of Public Health.

According to Mrs. Martell, 117 children have already enrolled in the program. The procedure consists of four visits to the clinic. The child's teeth are cleaned on the first visit and a fluoride solution is applied directly to the surface of the teeth. The application is repeated during the three succeeding visits.

This technique has been shown to reduce tooth decay by about 40 percent, compared to the 60 to 65 percent reduction obtained with fluoridated water.

There are still some openings in the program. To register, call Denise Martell, 475-1966, as soon as possible.

Parents of children enrolled in the program will receive appointment cards about two weeks prior to their child's first appointment.

In addition to the clinic in Chelsea, about 40,000 children will be receiving fluoride applications this summer in 200 similar clinics throughout the state. Michigan, which leads the nation in number of community fluoride programs, has been providing this service since 1949. This is the 10th year a program has been conducted in Chelsea.

St. Jude Bike-A-Thon Riders Seek Sponsors

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Wheels for Life bike-a-thon riders are looking for sponsors during the next two weeks here in Chelsea for the Saturday afternoon, May 17, bike-a-thon event.

Contributions are made by sponsors through supporting riders who determine the sponsor fee by the number of miles they ride. The more sponsors a rider has, the greater will be his or her contribution raised for the Children's Hospital.

The Rev. Thode Thodeson, chairman of the bike-a-thon, needs friends to help in making this event a total community effort. Needed are bike-a-thon check point assistants, registrars and people for listing essential information, refreshment donors and hosts.

Course for the bike-a-thon is at Beach school. Each lap is 1 1/10 miles long. The Rev. Thodeson is urging riders to sign up sponsors right away and to get their bikes in top shape.

Special prizes will be given for the riders with the most sponsors and the largest contribution. Every rider who raises $25 or more will get a t-shirt. All riders raising $75 or more will get a bike back pack.

The bike-a-thon will be run Saturday, May 17, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Anyone who has not been asked to be a sponsor may call the Rev. Thodeson at 475-1520. Sponsor forms are available at Beach school in Mr. Conklin's office and at Heydlauff's on Main St. At the high school, contact Val Fletcher.

Three Injured In Rear-End M-52 Crash

Three people sustained injuries in a rear-end collision on M-52 near Brown Dr. last Wednesday afternoon.

Taken to Chelsea Hospital by police were Mary Beth Meyer of 4320 Lima Center Rd., and her passenger, Lena Meyer. Driver of the other vehicle, Julia Parker of Ann Arbor, was transported to the hospital by ambulance.

According to Chelsea Police reports, the Parker auto was traveling southbound on M-52 when she stopped for a school bus pulled onto the shoulder with its blinkers going. Police said she realized that there was no need to stop since the bus flashers were not activated, and so she removed her foot from the brake.

Meyer, driving southbound behind Parker's car, said she didn't see the brake lights and suddenly realized that the car was not moving. Police said she left 45-foot-long skid marks trying to avoid hitting the vehicle, but slid into the back end of Parker's Toyota wagon.

Parker was taken to Chelsea Hospital suffering with possible back injuries. Meyer sustained chest injuries from the steering wheel, and her passenger struck her head on the windshield.

Police said Meyer was issued a citation for failing to stop in assured clear distance ahead.

Sheriff's Dept. Plans Sunday Open House

Washtenaw County Sheriff Thomas Minick has scheduled an "open house" tour of the Washtenaw County Corrections/Law Enforcement Complex at 2201 Hogback Rd., Ann Arbor, for Sunday, May 11 between 1 and 4 p.m.

Guided tours of the facility will be conducted along with a display of agency vehicles including patrol cars, motorcycles and the department helicopter.

Deputies assigned to the Canine Operations Unit will demonstrate various dog-handling exercises and Special Operations Team deputies will conduct rappelling exercises. A special slide/tape presentation on the training of the team will be shown.

This open house has been scheduled as a commencement to National Law Enforcement Week, May 11-17. The public is invited to attend.

Among those receiving scholarships are Teresa M. Hoffman, 112 W. Summit St., Chelsea, and Brian C. Hochrein, 8470 Dexter-Chelsea Rd., Dexter.

CMU automatically awards scholarships to valedictorians and salutatorians of Michigan high schools and to entering students with high school grade point averages of 3.5 or better on a 4.0 scale.

Minor Accident Reported at M-52 Old US-12 Intersection

A minor traffic accident involving two local drivers occurred last Wednesday at the corner of M-52 and Old US-12.

Homer A. Kuhl, 4902 M-52, told police that he was driving northbound on M-52 and that he had a green light. The other driver, Frieda M. Dowling, 240 Francisco, Grass Lake, informed police that she was driving east on Old US-12 and had stopped for the red light at M-52.

Dowling said that her traffic signal turned green and she began to enter the intersection to turn left onto M-52 when the other vehicle attempted to proceed straight through the intersection in front of her.

Police reports said that Dowling struck Kuhl's left rear wheel. Because of conflicting information from the drivers and witnesses, police issued no citations.

Criminologist Visits Police Dept.

located in each precinct, and there are 1,239 in Tokyo alone.

At each police box, approximately 10 foot patrol officers are assigned and work in four shifts around the clock. They perform numerous duties, according to a Tokyo police brochure, including watch, patrol, traffic control, crime prevention, receiving complaints and reports and detection and arrest of criminals.

The function of these officers that seems most foreign to Americans is that they routinely make a round of visits to homes, stores and offices in their specified districts. There, while enjoying a cup of tea, they give advice to people on such matters as crime prevention and traffic safety, and also listen to the people's suggestions and requests to the police.

While Chief Aello admitted that a lot of what works in Japan would not be feasible here, he still expressed a slight touch of envy at the relationship of mutual respect between the Japanese citizen and the police officer. Officers there are called by an affectionate nick-name that translates to "Mr. Look-Around" in English.

Police there study at the police academy for one year, soon to be raised to two years. Chief Aello noted that in Michigan most of officers have an average of only 10 weeks of academy training. Japanese police learn martial arts as part of their training, but also may practice flower arranging and the traditional tea ceremony and learn about their academy education.

For all those differences, however, Mizuno said that Japanese are fascinated with American policemen and police paraphernalia, a fact he attributes to television programs and movies. "American police are looking very good in Japan," he said.

Mizuno contributes to a magazine about police practices, techniques and other information. In the United States, such a magazine would have limited appeal, but in Japan it is enjoyed by a wide audience. Advertisements for police badges and patches are abundant, and in the back of each issue are reproductions of American and European badges and shoulder patches.

It is in this magazine that photos and an article detailing Mizuno's visit to Chelsea will appear in the near future. He has promised to send a number of the issues to Chief Aello, so that Chelseaites may see themselves in the pages of a Japanese publication.

The friendliness in Chelsea was not lost on Mizuno, whose magazine and newspaper columns focus on personal relationships as well as criminal matters. "Person to person, heart to heart," is how he describes his favorite theme.

When he returned to Tokyo last Monday, Mike Mizuno took a lot of Chelsea "heart" back with him.

Former Chelsea Resident Wins on Research Paper

A former Chelsea resident was one of four medical technology interns honored as the authors of top research papers submitted in a competition sponsored by the Oakland Health Education Program (OHEP).

Teri Shiels of Pontiac, daughter of Ray and Rosemary Lutovsky of Chelsea, received the first-place award in the Science Technology category. Her paper investigated the cause of proteinuria, the presence of protein in the urine, in a patient. She will graduate from Ferris State College this spring and is doing her internship at Crittenton Hospital, Rochester.

OHEP is an organization formed by Oakland county hospitals to co-ordinate and develop regionalized health education. The awards were announced at a dinner held at Meadow Brook Hall, Rochester.

Psychology Award JV Baseballers Pound Out 3 Wins

SCOTT PROHASKA

Psychology Student of the fortnight at Chelsea High school is senior Scott Prohaska.

He was chosen by other students in Paul Terpstra's psychology class on the basis of his good grades, participation in class and interest in the subject matter. He frequently helps others understand the topics dealt with in class by asking Mr. Terpstra meaningful questions on ideas not easily understood.

Prohaska comes to class well-prepared and freely expresses his opinions.

In response to the award, Prohaska said: "What makes this award special to me is that I was chosen for the honor by my classmates."

Scott is a member of the Chelsea High school swim team and the National Honor Society. He plans to attend Albion College in the fall.

Job Banks, an important tool of the U. S. Employment Service, or Job Service, offer computerized daily printouts of all available jobs listed by employers in a labor market area.

Winning ways continued for the Chelsea JV baseballers this week, as they clipped Saline on Friday, 11-2, and swept a double header from Pinckney, 14-4 and 12-9.

A formidable opponent, Saline jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first inning on two of their four hits. Chelsea came back in the second, however, and drove in four runs on a Gary Van Meer double, singles by Mike Gipson and Bob Trevino, and three walks.

The Bulldogs extended their lead to 5-1 in the third inning on Craig Olmstead's single and stolen base. Olmstead was driven home by a Rod Robeson single.

Chelsea put the game out of reach in the fifth inning on four walks and hits by Gipson, Tim Whitesall and Mike Bareis, giving the Bulldogs a 10-1 lead. Final Chelsea run was scored on singles by Robeson, Trevino and Tim Pennington.

Millionaires Party Raises $1,800 for Athletic Fund

A Millionaires Party held Saturday, April 26, by the Athletic Boosters raised approximately $1,800 for the general athletic fund, boosters have announced.

About 275 people attended the party in the American Legion Hall, which featured fake money for gambling at various games. Sports coaches from the schools acted as dealers and casino workers, and local merchants donated prizes for the drawings.

All money raised will go into various projects supported by the Athletic Boosters for sports in the schools. The successful event may become an annual affair.

for Chelsea, striking out seven and walking only one.

In the first contest of Saturday's doubleheader, Chelsea totaled 11 hits, 12 walks and 13 stolen bases to score 14 runs.

Leading the team were Ross Murphy with two hits and three stolen bases, John Welton with two singles and a double, Mike Bareis with a double, and Mike Gipson, Bob Trevino, Rod Robeson, Tim Whitesall and Sam Coomes each with singles.

Bareis and Trevino combined to pitch a two-hitter for the Bulldogs.

In the second game, Chelsea turned six walks, 16 hits and 10 stolen bases into a 12-2 lead, and then held on to win, 12-9.

Leading hitters were Welton with two doubles and a single; Van Meer, two doubles and a single; Bareis, two singles; Olmstead, two singles; Robeson, two singles; Whitesall, two singles; and Murphy and Trevino, a single each.

Randy Krichbaum was the winning pitcher in the contest.

The JV is now 9-3 this season.

Brighton Hospital Hits 25,000 Mark in Patient Registration

A 48-year-old problem drinker from Farmington Hills has just boosted Brighton Hospital to the 25,000 mark in patient registrations.
 The man's admission, kept anonymous as always at Brighton, became No. 25,000 for the hospital on April 25 with appropriate recognition and ceremony.
 The landmark 25,000th registration closely followed the 25th Anniversary of one of the nation's first and foremost facilities exclusively for treatment of alcoholism.
 The hospital accepted its first patients in a converted farmhouse on Grand River at Kensington Rd., in the fall of 1953. A $2 million expansion and renovation was completed in March 1975.

DETERMINATION shows on the face of ace hurler Nanette Push, as she sets to mow down a Saline batter. Push threw her third career no-hitter against Saline Friday winning her sixth contest of the season. She has struck out 64 hitters in 36 innings while giving up only 10 walks.

Varsity Baseball Team Drops 4 of 5

 four innings, but couldn't catch the Bulldogs.
 Also collecting hits in that contest were Sean Peterson, Lou Jahnke, Chuck Moore and Stofflet.
 Stofflet, who drove in three runs that game, is leading the team in RBI's so far this year.
 Chelsea managed only three hits against Saline last Friday as the team fell, 5-1.
 The Bulldog's only run came on singles by Dils and Stofflet and a Dils stolen base. Dunn accounted for the third hit.
 Saline scored five runs on two Chelsea errors and two soft hits. A good performance by Saline hurler Jim Phelps, featuring 12 strikeouts, kept the Bulldogs from scoring again.

 Saturday, the team dropped both ends of a doubleheader to Pinckney, 5-1 and 1-0.
 In the first contest, Pinckney capitalized on two Chelsea errors in the fifth innings and five throughout the game to take the victory. The lone Bulldog run came in the fifth, as Dils walked, stole second, advanced on a Dunn grounder and scored on Stofflet's sacrifice fly.
 The second contest went 0-0 until the second inning, when a misjudged fly ball was dropped and Pinckney scored its lone run.
 Knickerbocker struck out eight and yielded only two hits, but the Bulldogs only connected three times at the plate.

 Monday, Milan downed Chelsea, 5-1, on poor hitting by the Bulldogs. Milan scored three times in the third and twice in the sixth. Chelsea's run came in the seventh with one out when Dils was safe on an error, advanced and was singled home by Ross Stofflet.
 This Monday, Chelsea meets Dexter in a pre-district qualifying game, before playing the Dreadnaughts in a regular SEC contest Tuesday.
 The team is now 2-9, and Welton is hoping that the team's solid victory over Jackson County Western is the turning point of the season.

School Board Briefs

Present at the Monday, May 5 meeting of the Chelsea Board of Education were Stirling, Feeney, Schafer, Snyder, Schumann, Dils, Superintendent Van Meer, Assistant Superintendent Mills, Principals Williams, Wojcicki, Benedict, Assistant Principal Vogel and guests.

Meeting was called to order at 8:08 p.m. by President James W. Stirling.

Board approved the minutes of the April 23 meeting and the April 30 meeting.

The Board heard a communication that Chelsea High school had received full accreditation for the 1979-80 school year by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. No deviations from policies and standards were noted. The school is to be commended for its efforts to provide for its students a quality program of education.

Board approved the expenditure of $4,000 to provide grant preparation in application for Federal assistance for energy conservation. The application will be submitted by James W. McCoy, who conducted the energy audit for the school district. The school district is attempting to receive matching funds for energy conservation measures.

The Board accepted, with regret, the following resignations: Janet Fulks, South school; Vivian Michelson, North school kindergarten teacher; Karey Johnson, orchestra. Mrs. Fulks and Mrs. Michelson are entering retirement. Miss Johnson will be entering Eastman Conservatory in Rochester, N. Y. for private music instruction.

The Board granted tenure to Deborah Mohl, special education vocational co-ordinator.

The Board approved the candidates and election inspectors for the annual school election.

The Board approved the resolution consummating the sale of the building trades house, on Lot 21 of North Lake Farm No. 2.

The Board heard an update on the Sheriff's substation. The Sheriff's Department will officially occupy the substation on Monday, May 12.

Superintendent Van Meer presented the Board with an overview of a cardio-vascular fitness program for grades 2, 5 and 7. The program is designed from an aerobic base with special emphasis on total fitness, including nutrition. Chelsea is being considered for a co-operative grant from the Kellogg Foundation and the University of Michigan Research Testing.

The Board set Saturday, May 31, 9 a.m. for the Board to establish district goals for the 1980-81 school year.

Superintendent Van Meer indicated that the administration was analyzing fund-raising activities and school-parent communications when students are absent from school.

John Williams, high school principal, reported on some enrollment trends that will have curriculum implications. Specifically, Williams dealt with trends which show a decreasing number of students enrolling in earth science, agriculture, graphics and French. The Board requested more information and administrative recommendations at a later meeting.

Meeting adjourned at 9:50 p.m.

RICKY COOK of Chelsea Boy Scout Troop 425 examines vandalism on the Chelsea exercise trail with Chelsea Hospital Recreational Therapist Alice Tite. As his Eagle Scout project, Cook will co-ordinate a refurbishing of the trail on May 10, with the help of Troop 425. The scouts will replace missing signs and remove litter and trash. Also planned are signs to give the path the dual function of exercise trail and nature trail.

Exercise Trail To Benefit From Eagle Scout Project

Because of the efforts of a local Boy Scout, the much-vandalized exercise trail at Pierce Park will soon have a new lease on life.

As his Eagle Scout project, Ricky Cook of Troop 425 is undertaking the refurbishing of the trail in co-operation with Alice Tite, recreational therapist at Chelsea Community Hospital.

Cook and the other scouts of Troop 425 are planning to accomplish the fix-up on Saturday, May 10.

Because of repeated vandalism, particularly on the back part of the trail away from the park and hospital, seven of the 15 signs describing the various exercises have either been removed or are defaced. The scouts will replace these signs and clean-up the abundant trash and fast-food litter strewn about the trail.

Lioness Club Nets $500 from Rummage Sale

A two-day rummage sale last week netted the Chelsea Lioness Club exactly $500.26 for their latest community service project.

The Lionesses will use the money to prepare lunches for about 150 local students at an upcoming Special Olympics meet, to be held in Chelsea Friday, May 16.

Plans are being formulated to use this path as a local nature trail. In the near future, signs will be placed all along the trail, identifying the wildflowers planted there since its opening. Cook will be involved with this planning, also.

Besides being used by many runners and joggers in the Chelsea area, the trail is also a valuable therapy tool for patients at Chelsea Community Hospital. Both the scouts and the hospital are calling attention to the trail-rejuvenation to ask local citizens to try and help in deterring the rampant vandalism on the trail.

Two Rug Hooking Workshops Scheduled at Manchester Gallery

The town of Manchester, rich in history, provided the perfect backdrop for the opening of a very special exhibition, "Authentic Early American Rug Hooking," on Sunday, May 4, at the Manchester Art Guild Gallery.

The century-old craft of rug-hooking was displayed and demonstrated at a reception for hookers of two area guilds: the Ann Arbor Rug Crafters and the Southeastern Michigan Rug Crafters. A steady stream of gallery visitors enjoyed an abundance of fine work which filled the gallery to capacity. Impressive displays of rugs, foot stools, pillows and wall decorations exhibited the flair and variety of styles and designs possible in this heritage craft.

Rug hooking is a craft distinct from modern latch hooking. This form of rug making became common in the period between 1800 and 1850.

Two dyeing workshops will be offered to the public, free of charge. Those with involvement in any of the needle arts would find either of these sessions practical and informative. The first will provide specifics on color derivation from natural sources and the subtleties which can best be achieved by this method. It will be held in the gallery on Saturday, May 10, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Those interested in coloring with synthetic dyes will find the second workshop fascinating. It will remove some of the guesswork and present a spectrum of creative dyeing. This session will meet Saturday, May 24, at 10 a.m.

This exhibition, which runs through May 24, features a beautiful, custom hooked solid oak footstool to be awarded on the last day. Tickets are available from guild members and at the gallery.

The Manchester Art Guild Gallery is located at 138 E. Main St. Hours for the exhibition are Thursday, 7:30-9:30 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 9 a.m.-1 p.m. and 7:30-9 p.m.; and Sunday, 3-6 p.m.

Girls Track Team Wins Field Events

It was Chelsea's strength in the field against Milan's power in the running events last Tuesday, and the Bulldog trackwomen came out on the short end, 77-46. Chelsea won all the field events, but only two running events in the meet.

Mary Boylan and Lorrie Vandegrift got the Bulldogs off to an early lead by placing first and second in the discus and first and third in the shot put. Vandegrift also won the high jump and Pris Drew took the long jump.

Tracy Bohlander was a winner in the 200 hurdles with a :33.7 — a good time on the wet, slippery track. The other victory came in the mile relay of Bohlander, Debbie Honbaum, Teresa Hoffman and Nancy Heller.

Marleen Williams narrowly missed winning the 110 hurdles when she hit a hurdle. She recovered to finish third by :0.2 seconds, but suffered a slightly bruised knee.

Cheryl Hankerd set a sophomore record in the two-mile with a 13:18.3, but was fourth behind Jennifer Pratt and Sheryl Sanch of Milan and teammate Sandy Framet.

The big winner for Milan was freshman sprinter Tracey Early, who won the 100 in :11.8, the 220 in :27.1, and the 440 with an excellent :60.1.

By luck of the schedule, the Bulldogs have met the three top SEC teams for their first three league meets. Now they must face Saline, who they haven't beaten since 1976, and league newcomer Jackson County Western.

Due to injuries, illness and the band trip to Mexico, only nine track girls made the trip to the Mason Invitational Friday, but Chelsea still managed to score 14 points.

Mary Boylan set a school record in the discus with a 107'3/2" toss, to win the event. She was also fifth in the shot put with a toss of 32 feet.

Pris Drew managed a sixth in the long jump with a lifetime best of 15'5/4".

Marleen Williams scored Chelsea's only points in the running events, finished sixth in the 110 hurdles in her best time ever of :16.7.

Nancy Heller was third in the 880 with an excellent 2:28, but her place was disallowed because of a lane infraction.

Holt won five events and easily took the team championship with 117 1/2 points. Okemos was second with 91 and Ovid-Elsie was third with 51.

Percy Danforth To Play the Bones For Historical Society

Percy Danforth will present a musical program at the next meeting of the Chelsea Area Historical Society on Monday, May 12, 7:30 p.m. at the Chelsea United Methodist Retirement Home.

Danforth has played "the bones" since he was a young boy. He'll give a history of this form of musical accompaniment and illustrate the many kinds of folk music it embellishes.

He has made many appearances in the Ann Arbor area and travels to other states as well.

Sluggers of the Week

JUNIOR POWER: Two Chelsea High school juniors are the featured Bulldog sluggers this week. Jeff Dils, right, is in his second year on varsity and is considered by Coach Wayne Welton to be "an excellent leader, the one most of the players look up to." Dils, a good contact hitter, bats third in the line-up and plays good defense at shortstop. He was All-League in basketball and football this year. Mike Bohlender, left, is the Bulldog first baseman, playing his first season on the varsity squad. Coach Welton called him an excellent defensive player with fine hitting talent, especially bunting. Bohlender devotes his athletic ability exclusively to baseball. Welton said his is looking forward to having both players return next year.

High School Science Teachers In Short Supply

The number of college students preparing to be science teachers has dwindled to all but nothing. The result is a growing shortage of high school science teachers, especially in rural and inner-city schools.

James J. Gallagher, director of Michigan State University's Science and Math Teaching Center, attributes the shortage to several factors, including salaries and publicity about the oversupply of teachers.

"Science teachers may start out at $10,000 or $11,000 in many parts of the country, but engineers, computer scientists and many others may have beginning salaries that are at least 50 percent higher, for example, $15,000 to $18,000."

Many students express disbelief when told there is a shortage of upper level math and science teachers, because in some areas of teaching, such as elementary education, there is an oversupply, said Gallagher.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
On behalf of the Chelsea Board of Education, I would like to extend my appreciation to the citizens of Chelsea for reacting in a positive fashion during the recent millage campaign. The passing of the operating millage indicates that the residents of Chelsea prize a good educational system. The Board of Education pledges to continue the pursuit of quality education at the most reasonable cost.

James W. Stirling,
President,
Board of Education.

significant structures located within the village and in the past have worked toward this goal. I really question President Ritter and his "new administration" (as they like to call themselves) knowledge of village affairs and their attitude toward Historical Preservation when they arbitrarily and incorrectly appointed someone to an organization over which they have absolutely no control.

Don D. Wood.

To the Editor:
I read in the Village Council Briefs, for the April 15th meeting, where I have been appointed to the "Historical Society." This appointment comes as a complete surprise to me since the Village President nor any other member of the Village Council had contacted me before the appointment was made.

A more basic issue is that the new Village President and council do not know what areas of Village Affairs they are responsible for. The "Historical Society" is an independent, group of dedicated people, who are interested in preserving and studying the Historical Heritage of our community. The Historical Society is in no way connected with the Village Government. Up until March of this year I was chairman of a Historical Preservation Study Committee which was formed as the first step in adopting a Historical Preservation ordinance as outlined by Michigan Law. This committee has absolutely no connection with the Historical Society other than some of the society's members served on the Study Committee.

I have long been interested in taking the necessary steps which would guarantee the preservation of the many historically
