Mow Me Down

America's first horsepower mower was patented on Dec. 4, 1812, by Peter Gaillard of Lancaster, Pa. It was used primarily for cutting down standing hay. The Agriculture Collection at Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, exhibits 18 different mowers, with examples spanning the period from the 1850s until 1924.

Tri-Church Bazaar Set in Manchester

Co-sponsoring their 11th annual Tri-Church Bazaar are Emanuel Church of Christ, Manchester United Methodist church, and St. Mary's Catholic church. The bazaar will be held Saturday, Dec. 6, from 9 a.m. till 3 p.m. at the Emmanuel Church Hall on S. Main St., Manchester.

At the bazaar there will be the delicatessen and baked goods section, the crafts and gifts section with many home-made and creative gifts and Christmas ornaments, the prize awards and a silent auction.

The baked goods and delicatessen sections of the bazaar will be featuring a variety of fresh baked goods and, of course, the traditional specialties of each church. Such specialties are mincemeat, home-made noodles, chop suey, pretzels, raisin bread, raisin-nut bread, cinnamon bread, stollen bread, schnitzbrot, coffee cake, apple pie, and peacan pies.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Joseph Vigilanti

Mary E. Bailey, Michael Vigilanti Wed at St. Barnabas Church

Mary Esther Bailey and Michael Joseph Vigilanti exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon, Nov. 15 at St. Barnabas Episcopal church. The Rev. Fr. Jerrold F. Beaumont officiated the 3 p.m. ceremony in the presence of 24 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Bailey of Oconomowoc, Wis., while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Benny P. Vigilanti of Manchester.

Mrs. Susan Beaumont-Davis sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a high-waisted, floor-length gown of white satin and lace that she had made herself. The lace bodice had a scooped neckline with a neckline ruffle and long full-length sleeves with ruffled cuffs. Her satin skirt was gathered with pleats in the front and had a hemline ruffle. A petticoat was made of white taffeta with a blue ribbon trim on the hemline. The gown was tied with a white satin sash.

For her hair, the bride wore a wreath of baby's breath and carried a bouquet of white roses and miniature carnations with several pink sweetheart roses interspersed.

Chosen as maid of honor was Lois Bailey, the bride's sister from Oconomowoc, Wis. She was attired in a high waisted, deep rose colored double knit, floor-length gown with a scooped neckline, gathered skirt and full length sleeves in the same style as that worn by the bride. The mother of the bride made this gown that was tied with a white velvet sash with lace edging.

The maid of honor carried a bouquet of pink, deep rose and white carnations and roses. To complement her attire, she wore a necklace with a gold cross that was a gift from the bride.

The bride's mother chose a blue street-length dress that was accented by a corsage of pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath. The mother of the bridegroom wore a rust street-length dress and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Serving as flower girl was Heather Bailey, the bride's niece from Haslett. She wore a dress identical to that worn by the maid of honor and made by the bride's mother. The gown was further accented by additional lace edging at the neck and wrists and ruffles at the hemline.

She carried a white basket of flowers similar to those carried by the maid of honor and completed her attire with a necklace with a miniature gold heart, a gift from the bride.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception, given by the bride's parents, was held at the church with 24 guests attending. Carol Vigilanti, the bridegroom's sister, cut the cake while another sister, Annette Vigilanti, and the maid of honor attended the guest book.

Immediately after the reception, the couple left on a four-day honeymoon in Traverse City. Upon returning, the couple is at home at 4875 Sylvan Rd., Manchester.

The bride attended Michigan State University and the University of Michigan and has been employed as a librarian at Oklahoma State University. She is currently a medical records librarian at Jackson Northwest Clinic.

The bridegroom attended the University of Michigan and is presently a realtor with Earl Keim Realty in Jackson.

S. Main St., Chelsea

THE ARBOR NOOK: Chelsea Community Hospital's gift shop offers the hurried shopper a wide assortment of merchandise, not necessarily for the relative or friend that's feeling a little bit under the weather. Gift Shop staff member,

Community Hospital Gift Shop Opens in Lobby Area

The Arbor Nook, Chelsea Community Hospital's new gift shop, located in the new lobby area, is now open for business. The easily accessible and attractive new shop features a general line of "patient oriented" items, including notions, lingerie, toilet articles, slippers, magazines, and plants which are always on hand, along with practical and whimsical gifts. Right now, in anticipation of Christmas, the shop is bulging at the seams with ornaments for the tree, lots of brass and baskets, stocking stuffers for everyone, dolls and stuffed animals, plus many unusual and collectible gift items, all reasonably priced. A great deal of planning was involved before opening. A gift shop committee was formed to provide specific guidelines for operation and for those who were to be part of the sales and management. An all-volunteer sales staff, made up of members of the Volunteer and Auxiliary Organizations, are on duty daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on week-ends from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Evening hours are planned in the future. Currently there are 38 volunteers required to complete the present schedule.

Decor of the shop was an important function of the committee, who kept in mind the woody setting of the hospital and planned the furnishings accordingly. Woodtones are used throughout, with antique oak, wicker, and smoked glass being used to display items for sale. Jim Daniels, chairman of the hospital's Board of Trustees, designed and hand carved the beautiful and artistic sign which hangs outside the shop, suspended from a real tree limb.

Buyers for the shop include Mary Carr, Mary Turgott, assisted by Jan Tupper, chairman of the Gift Shop Committee, and Jane Freeman, manager of The Arbor Nook. They make every effort to comply with requests for merchandise, and the response by way of sales from both the staff and patients has been most gratifying.

Jane Freeman, manager, states "The contact I enjoy with the public, the Volunteers, and hospital employees has been a rewarding experience." Jane previously worked in the business office of the hospital, and has been part of the hospital family for seven years.

All profits from operation of The Arbor Nook are returned to the hospital by way of purchase of equipment or services not provided by the regular budget.

Merchants Offer Bazaar, Bake-Off

Chelsea Merchants Association is offering you the opportunity to make money for your club or organization during this Christmas Holiday Season. They will provide the hall and booth space to all interested organizations. All advertising will be done by the Chelsea Merchants Association in The Chelsea Standard, and with flyers and posters.

The Bazaar will be held at the VFW Hall, Dec. 16-17. Sale hours will be from 12 noon until 8:30 p.m. It would be appreciated if you would have baked and hand craft items for sale. No beverages please.

The event is totally sponsored by the Chelsea Merchants Association in an effort to bring together in one place, all clubs and organizations who have bake sales, booths and raffles at this time of year, so that all might benefit.

Because of limited space, booths will be granted on "first come, first serve" basis with the postmark on the envelope as means of determining this. The Bake-Off is open to all area residents. Judging will be held both nights with registration between 5:50 and 7:30 p.m., and judging to begin at 8 p.m. Prizes will be awarded each night for first, second and third places.

Please complete the registration form printed elsewhere in this edition of The Standard, cut, and mail—deadline is Dec. 6. You will be contacted Dec. 8, as to whether or not you have been accepted.

Letters to the Editor

Hurray for goodness! Something wonderful happened to me last week and I would so much like to share it with your readers who doubt the goodness of man, or feel it is weakened somewhat.

On Wednesday, Nov. 28, I had several places to go, meeting commitments that I had made earlier. So, with purse in hand, I tried to get bags and boxes into the car. It's a real trick with one's hands full. Opening the door is easy; it's getting the seat forward for pushing a box in the back seat that makes one have to let go of something you're holding. So, I put my wallet purse on top of my car. It was the easiest way, to my thinking. Fine, all was in the car, now the grandchildren. Off we go!

We were helping with a funeral dinner at St. Mary's gym and I was aware of my missing possession by this time. I was sure I'd left it at home but when we got back about 3:30 p.m., we looked and looked and prayed. No wallet. Then, the phone rang and a kind man introduced himself and said that one of the Washtenaw County Road Commission employees had found my wallet at the intersection of Waterloo and M-52 Rds.

Needless to say, words of Thanksgiving came very easily. The man told me to come to the yard on Zeeb Rd. and we did without hesitation. Before leaving though, I asked the grandchildren what we could take them for their kindness. We had been baking cookies so Sharon naturally said, as children do, "Let's take them a bag of cookies." Running back into the house, she came flying back with a bag of cookies in hand.

We reached the Road Commission yard and the night watchman was waiting for us. He, too, was kind as he handed me my lost purse and I exchanged the cookies with him. I looked inside, all was intact, including a $10 bill.

One cannot say "thank you" in enough ways to appreciate someone's caring and honesty.

I still do not know the man's name responsible for this joy, but whoever he is, he was near the top on my list for prayer at Mass on Thanksgiving morning. I sure hope someone will do something nice for him and those he loves when the right time comes as it did for me. God bless you.

Mrs. Millie Warner

On Dec. 8, 1951—Feast of the Blessed Mother, Her Immaculate Conception—Father Phillip Dupuis made his solemn vows to God with the full commitment of his life to the Priesthood of the Roman Catholic Church. Now, Father, is commemorating 29 years in this service of Love.

St. Mary's Parish has been Father's "family" for a number of years. With all the duties that go along with being a Priest, there is more.

As a Priest, Fr. Dupuis lives the Mass as did Christ. Father, you forgive our faults as Christ forgives. You comfort those in sorrow and in times of trouble. There is a feeling among us, his Parish Family, that Father will always be there whenever one of us needs him.

He is some sort of a magical person, created for God's special work. But we, too, often forget that this same Priest who greets us with a smile or a word of cheer or a listening ear, is also human as was Christ.

Christ laughed with those who were given to His care. Christ spoke in ways of wisdom. Christ prayed a lot. Christ also wept both for others and, at times, for himself, privately before His Father. He has His crosses too. His days were full times of caring, sharing, living and loving.

Father Dupuis, to all of us at St. Mary's, you reflect Christ in just His ways, for they are your ways as well. We cannot walk through all the past years with you but we will walk through the coming years God gives us to share, as a Parish Family, and keep smiling . . . we are all growing together.

"Working side by side, walking hand in hand, and they will know we are Christians by our Love." Thank you Father for being a Priest and for giving us your life. May the Good Lord walk with you always. Twenty-nine years is great but 30 will be even better . . . let's find out together.

Another Bright Idea

New York City's first electric company was incorporated Dec. 17, 1880, a century ago. Incorporated under the name, The Edison Electric Illuminating Co., it was to provide New York with incandescent lighting. The company had its beginnings a year earlier when Thomas Edison perfected his electric light in his Menlo Park, N. David is currently working and attending Kalamazoo College where he is studying biology and chemistry and aspires to work in agricultural research in the soil science area.

With accomplishments such as national 4-H competition and Eagle scouting involvement, plus working his way through high school and college, what new horizons will this exceptional young man achieve?

Our congratulations to David, good luck in Chicago, and best wishes in the future.

Hunters and Heart Attacks . . .

No one but Paul Bunyan could carry Babe the Blue Ox across his shoulders and stride without fatigue through the wilderness. Yet, some hunters, who ordinarily lead sedentary lives, set out for strenuous hunting trips, carrying heavy gear, and exerting themselves beyond their endurance. The danger, of course, is heart attack.

If you're not the real Paul Bunyan, you might follow a few tips that could save you from being draped like the Blue Ox over someone's shoulders.

First, get yourself in shape. Increase your exercise program and, if there's a question about your health, see your doctor. Walking over hills and dale, sometimes in deep snow, is not your regular saunter through the city park. Once you're there, be sure you dress warmly. Cover your head, ears, hands, and throat, and remember that an uncovered head is like a smokestack that emits your body heat. Keep it covered. Never hunt alone, and if you shoot your deer, depending on where you go, get help in dragging it back to camp. If that calls for a celebration, do it moderately, and gets lots of rest. Watch your alcohol intake, too, because alcohol causes your body to lose its heat faster.

If you're on medication for a heart condition, be sure everyone in your group knows where you keep the medicine and how it's used. Hunters are killed by stray bullets every year, but many also are felled by heart attacks. If anyone with you has the following symptoms, get medical help fast: a feeling of fullness, heaviness, or squeezing pain in center of the chest that sometimes spreads to the arms, shoulders, neck and jaw, and may be accompanied by nausea, vomiting, sweating, and shortness of breath. If these symptoms appear, sound the alarm and get immediate medical help. You won't panic, if you studied the area when you first arrived and know where to get help for any emergency.

A little common sense goes a long way toward a successful hunting trip. The important thing is not to take chances or over exert yourself.

You may feel like Paul Bunyan when you start out, but if your daily exertions at home compare with the energy of Tom Thumb, be careful.

NOVICE EXCELLENCE: At the league meet on Saturday, Nov. 22 at Chelsea High school, Chelsea novice debaters out-shone all other debaters entered in the day's activities. They ended the day with an exceptional 6-2 record with individual trophies being awarded to, back row, left to right, Zach Smith, deemed third best second affirmative and his partner Tim Whitesall, ranked third best first affirmative. Outscoring any other pair in the day's competition were negative novices, front row, left to right, Melissa Arnett and Carrie Bruck. Going undefeated, they were named best first negative and best second negative debaters in their division.

70th Infantry Reunion Held at Lexington, Ky.

From Aug. 7 through Aug. 10, more than 500 members of the 70th Infantry (Trailblazer) Division of World War II and their families met at a reunion at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Lexington, Ky. Meeting with this group were 15 former members of the Waffen SS 6th Mountain Division (Nord) of WW II's German Army. These two units first met each other in late 1944 and early 1945 in the Vosges Mountains of Alsace-Lorraine. Once enemies, the two groups are now close friends and have been seeing each other since 1976.

It was in 1976 that three Germans from the 6th Mountain Division (Nord) were invited by James Lassiter of Woodbridge, Va., an associate member of the 70th Division Association whose brother was killed in 1945 in Wingen, France, to attend the reunion to be held in Toledo, O., in August during the Bicentennial. More than 160 former members of the 70th Division were at the reunion and many of them had verbalized that they were a little apprehensive about meeting their former enemies. However, by the time the event was over, the two groups had become quite comfortable together; the Germans invited the Americans to visit Germany in 1977 for their reunion and the 70th Division Association promoted a campaign for "Return to Europe in 1977."

Ninety-seven members of the 70th Division Association and their families returned to Europe in September 1977, many for the first time since the end of the war. They visited the battlefields of France and Germany and placed wreaths on the graves of Americans who had been killed in WW II and were buried at the American Military Cemetery in Epinal, France.

In Buchholz, Germany; the Americans met with 300 former members of the 6th Mountain Division (Nord); the two groups laid wreaths in memory of the war dead at the German Pfaneck Cemetery. The meeting and activities were well-covered by the German news media.

In August 1978, the two organizations again met, this time in St. Louis, Mo. More than 370 members of the 70th Division Association and 26 members of the German 6th Mountain Division attended. There was a great increase in the membership of the 70th Infantry Division Association which was due, for the most part, to an article written by columnist Jack Anderson in November, 1977, where he condemned the 70th Infantry Division Association for having met with their former enemies.

In August 1979, 57 Americans from the 70th Division returned to the battlefields of France and Germany. Again, both Americans and Germans laid wreaths at the American Military Cemetery in St. Avoird, France. They met with more Germans in Buchholz and held a reunion in Boppard, Germany. The following day, both Americans and Germans laid wreaths at Pfaneck, Germany.

Chelsea resident, Bill Pierce, who is currently living in Heidelberg, Germany, has attended all of these reunions. Michigan 70th Infantry Division members including Mr. and Mrs. George Richards of Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Austin of Birmingham and Mr. Jack Ranson of Grand Rapids also attended the 1980 reunion in Lexington.

Among plans for the future of the 70th Division is another trip to Europe in 1981. The reunion site for 1982 has been set at Minneapolis, Minn.

Any former member of the 70th Infantry Division of World War II who is interested in the Association, may obtain more information by contacting Clarence E. Feaster, Box 187, Oxford, Kan.

Fire Dept. Answers Fire Calls

The Chelsea volunteer Fire Department made a total of five fire and rescue runs last week. On Saturday, Nov. 22, volunteers answered an early morning call on Waters Rd., regarding a woods fire.

Wednesday afternoon, Chelsea Firemen made a rescue run on S. Freer Rd. and then, in the evening, they answered a call regarding a personal injury accident at M-52 and Lyndon Town Hall Rd.

Then, Sunday evening, Nov. 30 found Chelsea volunteers answering a call at N. Territorial and Hankard Rds. There, Sheriff's Department requested assistance with a burning automobile following a personal injury accident.

Finally, late Monday morning, Chelsea Fire Department's rescue team was dispatched to the scene of a possible stroke victim. A minor electrical problem kept the main siren, that is situated on the roof of the Village offices, from sounding. All other designated siren points properly functioned, however, causing some Chelsea residents to call the Chelsea Police Department to ask if they should seek shelter.

It Was Cheaper Than

America's first drive-in service station was opened by the Gulf Refining Co. on Dec. 1, 1913, at the intersection of Baum Blvd. and St. Clair in Pittsburgh, Pa. It sold 30 gallons of gasoline the first day. Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, offers America's first visible pump filling station as part of its extensive Transportation Collection. Built by the Raymond Garage Co., of Adrian, in 1915, the station operated for 14 years.

Don't watch television more. Just watch more television.

GE WIDESCREEEN 3000 HOME TELEVISION CENTER

The General Electric Widescreen 3000 puts you right into the action with large-as-life color pictures. With a screen three times bigger than a 25-inch diagonal color console it lets you laugh with your favorite stars, cheer on the winning team, experience all the excitement of a night at the movies... all without leaving your living room.

And even with that big picture, the Widescreen 3000 doesn't dominate your life. It's only 27 inches deep. It actually takes up about the same space from a wall as a regular GE color console. With its rear projection there's no complicated set-up, no compartments to pull out or adjust... just giant, bright color pictures to enjoy. It works just like any other television set except that its picture is 1000 square inches big.

With the Widescreen's optional furniture coordinates, you can create your own home entertainment center. Add GE's new video cassette recorder and rent or buy movie cassettes for theater-like pictures at home. Or tape that television program you won't be home to see. Then play it back on the Widescreen 3000 for a picture that draws you into the action.

Whatever your viewing choice—sports, movies, comedy—the GE Widescreen 3000 will give you the big picture. It's the revolutionary set of the future for you to enjoy today.

GE brings good things to life.

The Chelsea swim team will have its greatest number of participants ever this season with 24 tankers taking to the pool. Of this two dozen, the greatest percentage will be freshmen. Nine frosh tankers have made the team. The freshman class will be led by three very experienced swimmers and divers who had previously competed in age group and junior high swimming events. Kevin Colombo has been swimming for five years and can compete in any swimmer's event while John Hoffman has four years of experience and is very versatile; he specializes in freestyle and backstroke. The third performer is Craig Leach who will work very hard to become only the third Chelsea freshman diver to make it to the state regionals. Craig has been competing on junior high teams for two years and three years of age group diving.

Other freshmen who are not rookies are Ted Merkel, specializing in breaststroke and freestyle; Alan Roderick, butterfly; and Darrin Fowler, breaststroke; and, Steve Ramsay, whose specialties include backstroke and individual medley. Freshmen who are competing for the first time are John Drew and Richard Merkel, both freestyle specialists.

"This year's freshman class does not have the immediate star who can help us in this year's state meet. But, the class does provide immediate depth and the quality and stars of the future," Coach Larry Reed stated. "We definitely have a talented 9th grade class who will have to improve and perform well by next year to insure our continued winning tradition," Coach Reed concluded.

A Checking Account That Earns Interest... Is It Right For You?

Beginning December 31st, financial institutions will be allowed by law to pay 5 1/4% interest on checking accounts. But before you change your regular checking account to an interest earning checking account, we think there are some facts you should know. Because of the high costs involved in offering checking accounts that earn interest, most financial institutions require a higher minimum balance than they do for their standard checking accounts. If your account falls below this minimum you will be charged a service fee which could exceed the interest earned. If you are able to maintain a minimum balance of $1,200 or more in your checking account, you should have Premier Checking, Ann Arbor Trust's checking account that earns interest.

Balance		Premier Checking		Regular Checking
If Your Average Monthly Balance Is...	Your Minimum Monthly Balance Might Be...	The Interest You Could Earn At 5 1/4%...	Monthly Service Charge	Net Monthly Earnings
$ 100	$ 30	$.44	$7.00	($6.56)
200	70	.88	7.00	(6.12)
300	100	1.32	7.00	(5.68)
500	300	2.19	7.00	(4.81)
1,000	550	4.38	7.00	(2.62)
2,000	1,200	8.76	-0-	8.76
3,000	1,800	13.14	-0-	13.14
5,000	3,800	21.92	-0-	21.92

*Monthly earnings based on a 30-day month, paid on average balance. The above chart compares Ann Arbor Trust's regular checking account to Premier Checking.

Premier Checking is in a class by itself. This new checking account pays interest on your deposits similar to a savings account—but with some important differences. With Premier Checking you'll receive free checking service if you maintain a minimum monthly balance of $1,200 or an average monthly balance of $2,000. The 5 1/4% interest earned on Premier Checking is the highest rate allowed by law for Banks and Savings and Loans. With Premier Checking, interest is compounded continuously on the daily collected balance for an effective annual yield of 5.467%. Your Premier Checking account still earns interest even if your balance falls below the limits, but there will be a $7 service charge for the month.

Premier Checking is available to individuals and non-profit organizations; sole proprietorships are also eligible under slightly different qualifications. Existing customers may sign a Premier Checking agreement to convert their checking account. Account numbers and checks remain the same. How Simple! At Ann Arbor Trust, we want you to get your money's worth. And that means helping you select the checking account that's right for you. Our goal is to provide you with the best in banking services, and Premier Checking is one way we're doing just that.

LIVESTOCK EXPO WINNERS: Rick Baldus, Dexter; DeeDe Starling, Saline; and David Skjaerlund, Whitmore Lake, earned scholarships and trip awards as top winners at Michigan 4-H Livestock Expo.

County 4-H Club Members Earn Canadian Award Trip

Three Washtenaw county 4-H members have just returned from an expense-paid award trip to Canada as a result of being the over-all winners at the Michigan 4-H Livestock Expo.

David Skjaerlund, Whitmore Lake; Rick Baldus, Dexter; and Dee De Starling, Saline, placed 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, respectively, in the Trifecta Contest. Rod Petreys, county 4-H Youth Agent, indicated that for the top three winners to be from the same county is quite unbelievable and that their accomplishment reflects highly on the youth and volunteer 4-H leaders in Washtenaw county.

David also received a $1,000 scholarship for placing first. He earned his Trifecta award by accumulating points via placing first in the livestock judging contest, first in meats judging, third in demonstrations, fifth in public speaking and live animal evaluation and sixth in livestock photography. This was a repeat win for David after placing first in 1979.

Rick received a $500 scholarship as a result of placing third in both the livestock judging contest and the live animal evaluation contest and sixth in meat judging. Dee De placed first in demonstrations, fifth in meat judging, sixth in livestock judging and eighth in public speaking.

Their trip to Canada included visiting many attractions such as Niagara Falls, the Ontario Science Center in Toronto, the Royal Canadian Horse Show and the Royal Agriculture Fair.

Problems of Cities Still Increasing

City problems, identified in the Kerner Report which covered the 1967 and 1968 riots in Watts, Newark and Detroit, have not gone away. Instead, they have increased, according to a Michigan State University professor of criminal justice.

The nation is now further polarized into two societies and manifests further disintegration between the one society which is "powerful, affluent, exurban and white," and the other which is "urban, poor, minority and older," said Zolton Ferency.

He believes police organizations and associations should unite their endeavors to bring awareness of the growing problem to the community and for self-survival. The police alone cannot solve the nation's social problems, he said.

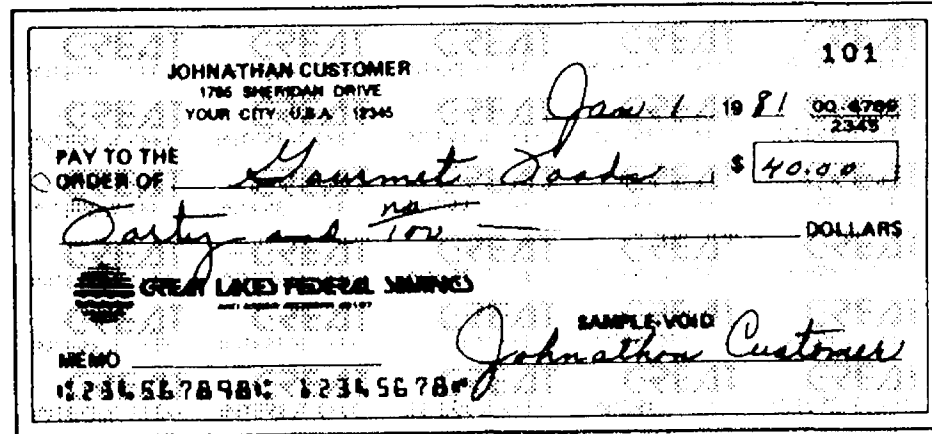

The affluent exurban society, he said, is telling the criminal justice system to bring peace, harmony and tranquility to the disturbed scene, to "keep it cool, don't bother us."

Instead of attempting to deal with the social problem of polarization, Ferency said, the nation is attempting to "imprison" it, with putting increasing numbers of unemployed young blacks in prison.

The Labor Program Service and the Personnel Management Program Service of Michigan State University's School of Labor and Industrial Relations reaches more than 5,000 union members and management industrial relations specialists in extension programs each year.

FREE ... You can sign up for your Great Interest Check account now with a minimum deposit* of $100 and start using it December 31st. For making an early deposit, you will receive a bonus of 200 personalized checks. That's an eight to ten month supply.

FREE ... By maintaining a $1000 minimum balance in your account you will be free of monthly service charges. You will receive a statement each month so that you will know exactly what your balance is and how much interest you have earned. And you will receive 5 1/2% per year daily interest, continuously compounded whether you maintain a minimum balance or not.

cRAZy Idea In 1768, master of many trades Benjamin Franklin proposed a scheme to reform English spelling with a new alphabet. He would drop the letters c, j, q, w, x, and y and substitute six new characters so that every sound in the English language could be expressed with one letter. It was one of the few ideas of Franklin which never caught on. A walk through Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, shows how much of his work did. There you can see, among other items, a bust of the great American by Houdon, Franklin Stoves, a Franklin Press, still in working order, and during some special events, Benjamin Franklin himself.

Because the U. S. Postal Service touches all of our daily lives, you might think people would realize that swindlers use the mails to part us from our hard-earned dollars.

Con men have been using the mails for years to rip off millions of consumers. The Postal Inspection Service calls it mail fraud.

It would be hard to tell how many people have purchased land in Arizona, donated to a phony charity, or bought a gas saving device believing that all were on the up and up...

How To Prepare Venison, A Highly Prized Game Meat

Once you've shot your deer, proper handling and preparation are essential, to prevent spoilage and to keep flavor at its best, according to two specialists at Michigan State University.

"Venison is a highly prized game meat that may be made into mincemeat, jerky or summer sausage," says Sharon Kennedy, extension foods and nutrition specialist. "You may also freeze it for use in your favorite dishes throughout the year."

"Or, you may cure the venison to make a product like corned beef," adds Al Booren, extension meat specialist. "Use cured venison in a New England boiled dinner, Reuben sandwiches or hash. Cured venison may also be cooked in a smokehouse to give it a smoked flavor or dried in a smokehouse."

Aging, the first process in handling most meats, is not essential for venison, according to Booren.

Aging, also called seasoning, ripening or conditioning, involves holding the properly dressed carcass at 34 to 38 degrees F for seven days, in the case of venison.

The aim is to make meat more tender and flavorful, but this does not always happen with venison for these reasons: First, venison carcasses, which have little or no fat cover, lose moisture rapidly and the surface of the meat may discolor, due to drying out or microbial growth during the aging process. Therefore, when venison is aged, it is aged "hog-style"—with the skin on—to prevent moisture loss and microbial growth.

Secondly, grinding or chopping tenderizes the meat, so venison carcasses that will be ground or made into sausage do not require aging.

Finally, temperature is often above 40 degrees F during deer hunting season, and at these temperatures, meat tends to spoil rapidly. Deer killed in warm weather should be processed without aging.

Once you've decided whether to age your venison, process it in one of the following ways:

Freezing
An excellent—and easy—way to preserve venison is to freeze it. Prompt freezing preserves the meat at its best, so freeze the meat soon after cutting and wrapping it, Kennedy advises.

To prepare venison for the freezer, trim away connective tissue and fat, the source of strong, "gamey" flavors. The meat will then be pan-ready when you open the frozen package for cooking.

Proper packaging keeps meat from drying out and freezer burns from forming during freezer storage and prevents air from entering the package and causing oxidation, which results in loss of quality. Use wraps made especially for freezing, including heavyweight aluminum foil, laminated freezer papers, thick plastic freezer bags and polyethylene films. Package the venison in quantities your family will eat in one meal and label each with the date and cut of meat.

Freeze quickly at 0 degrees F or lower. For quickest freezing, place packages—in single layers—against freezing plates or coils, leaving a little space between packages so the cold air can circulate freely. Remember that over-loading the freezer slows down the speed of freezing. Food that freezes too slowly may lose quality or spoil, so freeze venison, a little at a time, in quantities that amount to about two pounds per cubic foot of total freezer storage space.

Once the packages of venison are frozen, they may be stacked in the freezer. Keep the freezer temperature at 0 degrees or below.

For best eating quality, use frozen ground venison within two to three months. Frozen venison steaks or roasts should be used within 8 to 12 months.

Canning
Venison, like other meats, is a low-acid food that must be canned in a pressure canner, Kennedy says. For instructions, contact the MSU Co-operative Extension Service office in your county and ask for the USDA bulletin "Home Canning of Meat and Poultry." Follow the directions carefully.

Venison Mincemeat
5 C. ground, cooked lean venison
1 qt. ground beef suet—about 1 lb.
3 qts. chopped, pared tart apples—about 12 medium
½ C. finely chopped orange peel
1½ C. chopped orange pulp—about 2 large oranges
¼ C. lemon juice
33 oz. currants
3 lbs. seedless raisins—mixture of light and dark
8 ozs. chopped candied citron
2 lbs. brown sugar—½ C., packed
1 T. salt
1 T. cinnamon
1 T. allspice
2 t. nutmeg
1 t. cloves
¼ t. ginger
1 qt. sweet cider or grape juice

In a large kettle, mix together all ingredients. Simmer one hour, stirring frequently to prevent sticking. Pack, hot, into hot jars, leaving one inch headspace. Adjust caps. Process pints and quarts in a pressure canner for 20 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. Yield: about 6 quarts.

Venison Jerky
Cutting with—not across—the grain of meat, slice 5 pounds of lean venison into strips ¼ to ½ inch thick, 1 to 1½ inches wide and 4 to 12 inches long. Trim away all fat and connective tissue.

Lay strips out in a single layer on a smooth, clean surface. If smoke flavor is desired, brush each strip with a mixture of ½ teaspoon liquid smoke and 2 tablespoons water.

Sprinkle both sides of strips liberally with salt. Add pepper to taste. If desired, garlic powder or garlic salt may also be used.

Place strips, layer on layer, in a large bowl. Weight down and let stand in the refrigerator for 6 to 12 hours. Remove strips and blot dry with paper towels.

Stretch meat strips on racks that have been removed from the oven. The edges of the meat strips may touch but should not overlap. So that air can circulate in the oven, leave some space free on the racks. Place the racks of meat strips in an oven heated to 140 degrees F and let them dry for about 11 hours. Keeping the oven door ajar will facilitate drying. Covering a rack with aluminum foil and placing this rack near the bottom of the oven will help catch any drippings.

Jerky dried to a low moisture content—so it is chewy and leathery—may be stored in airtight containers at room temperature for several months. Moisture should be stored in the freezer. Because the saltiness of the product encourages rancidity, frozen jerky should be used within two months.

Venison Summer Sausage
A popular recipe for making summer sausage at home calls for five pounds of hamburger. Venison may be substituted for half of the hamburger, or a mixture of lean venison and beef fat may be used, Booren says.

Combine 2½ pounds of lean ground venison with 2½ pounds of hamburger that contains 30 percent fat, or, grind together 4 pounds of lean venison and 1 pound of beef fat. Fat trim is preferable to suet for sausage making.

For 5 pounds of ground meat, use the following ingredients: 5 teaspoons Tender Quick curing salt which contains 0.5 percent sodium nitrite; 5 teaspoons salt, 2½ teaspoons garlic powder, 2½ teaspoons ground black pepper and, if desired, a few drops of liquid smoke.

Combine all ingredients in a large bowl. Mix thoroughly with a spoon. Using a piece of waxed paper or plastic wrap, shape the mixture into 5 one-pound rolls—each no larger than 1½ inches in diameter. Refrigerate the wrapped rolls for 24 to 36 hours. Unwrap. Place on a broiler rack in an oven set at 175 degrees F and bake for 4 hours.

Store summer sausage up to three weeks in the refrigerator. For longer storage, wrap in moisture-vapor-resistant wrap and freeze. Because its saltiness promotes the development of rancidity, frozen sausage should be used within two months.

Curing Venison
Venison, like other meats, may be cured at home. Cured venison will be similar to corned beef, Booren says.

The best cut of venison to cure is the upper portion of the round, because it contains almost no fat and can be fairly easily separated into pieces.

If a commercial curing preparation like Sugar Cure or Tender Quick is used, follow the manufacturer's directions.

If making your own brine, use the following sweet pickle solution, which will cure 50 pounds of venison:

To 5 gallons of cold water, add 7 pounds salt, 2 pounds sugar and 1½ pounds cure which contains 6.25 percent sodium nitrate. (Cures like Modern Cure or Prague Powder can be purchased from small commercial sausage makers.) Stir until the ingredients dissolve.

Keep the meat and brine at temperatures between 34 and 40 degrees F throughout the curing process. Higher temperatures will cause spoilage; lower temperatures will retard the curing process.

March of Dimes medical service, programs for emergency perinatal care provide for hotlines between the medical center and local community hospitals. These hotlines speed up procedures for mobilizing transport teams and vehicles to pick up and transport sick newborns.

SEVA Reports Progress in Nepal Blindness Prevention

SEVA FUND-RAISING: The American Public Health Association's national meeting was held last month in Detroit. SEVA had a fund-raising booth at the gathering where Michael Jeffery, attorney and SEVA board member working with Eskimo environmental health concerns in Alaska; Alberta Burton, R. N. of Detroit; Dr. Larry Brilliant, SEVA medical director and his wife, Girija, SEVA board member and acting Chelsea office co-ordinator discuss plans for the future.

WAITING IN LINE: Indian natives will stand as long as it takes to receive a sight-restoring cataract operation. In the country, more than eight million blind people are waiting for the five-minute, $5 operation that will give them back their lost sight. SEVA Foundation is sending volunteers and professionals to India to help the Aravind Eye Hospital streamline logistics at mass operations like this one.

CHELSEAITE GIRIJA BRILLIANT, SEVA board member and PhD candidate at the University of Michigan, interviews a post-operative cataract patient at the mass eye camp operated by the Avarind Eye Hospital in South India.

The SEVA Foundation, a non-profit organization working to eliminate needless blindness, has its international headquarters in Chelsea. Several SEVA members recently returned from India and Nepal, where SEVA is supporting two prevention of blindness projects.

Seva's primary project is in Nepal, where, in conjunction with the Nepalese government and the World Health Organization (WHO) Seva has launched a five-year program aimed at reducing all preventable and curable blindness in that country by 90 percent.

Chelsea area residents Dr. Larry Brilliant, Medical Director of Seva, and his wife Girija, the foundation's secretary, returned to Chelsea three weeks ago after visiting several villages, hospitals and other facilities in Nepal, where operations are being carried out. They report that the Nepal Blindness Program has been warmly received by the people and government of Nepal and plans have been completed for a nation-wide survey to determine the amount and types of blindness in that country.

The survey has been designed with the help of Dr. Leslie Kish and Dr. Jim Lepkowski of the University of Michigan. Dr. Lepkowski returned to the Seva office this week after a three-month stay in Nepal. According to Dr. Lepkowski, some villages are in the jungle areas near the Indian border while others are in the Himalayan Mountains, some as high as two miles above sea level. Members of the survey teams will have to travel by foot, regular plane and helicopter to almost 100 villages scattered throughout the country.

When the survey is completed in early 1981, the information gathered will be analyzed on computers at the Seva office in Chelsea and the results will allow the project staff to design an effective national eye health program.

Through the efforts of Seva members, the Nepal Blindness Project has received a grant of nearly $1 million from the Government of Holland and another quarter million dollar donation of helicopter flying time. Private individual donations of $5 to $100 have flooded in and form the backbone of Seva fund-raising.

Suzanne Gilbert, Seva office co-ordinator and a student at the University of Michigan School of Public Health, recently left for a month stay in Nepal, where she will be studying blindness due to trachoma, one of the major eye diseases in developing countries. She will be living in a village in the remote Western region of the country, and will be studying traditional beliefs and practices which are related to the spread of this infectious disease. Her husband Tim, who works for the City of Ann Arbor as a Land Development Co-ordinator will be joining her there.

The Brilliants also visited another Seva-supported project in Tamil Nadu state, South India, where Seva Board Member Dr. G. Venkataswamy has pioneered the use of mass eye camps for cataract surgery. Dr. Venkataswamy and his staff regularly set up free eye camps in rural areas where up to 500 patients are operated on and have their sight restored by specialist ophthalmologists.

A typical eye camp might have a team of seven eye surgeons operating side by side from sunup to sundown. Thousands of villagers come to these camps to have their eyes checked and to find out if they can benefit from eye surgery. Dr. Venkataswamy reported that one of the major problems he encountered was popular resistance to having eye surgery.

Girija Brilliant is doing her public health dissertation research on identifying culturally appropriate ways to increase acceptance of cataract surgery. The Brilliants reported that their visits to these eye camps were very inspiring; all of the health staff worked tirelessly under very difficult conditions so that others could see. Dr. Venkataswamy has built a large eye hospital in the city of Madurai as well as a free clinic. Seva is sending a hospital administrator and volunteers from other countries to participate in this community-based program.

At the same time that these overseas projects have been progressing, a variety of local fund-raising activities has been carried out in the United States. A benefit dance concert was held in Ann Arbor in September, and noted author and lecturer Ram Dass also spoke at a benefit for Seva. Seva staff manned a booth at the Chelsea Art Fair this summer and were also present at the meetings of the American Public Health Association held recently in Detroit.

A folk music benefit was held for Seva in New York City's Carnegie Hall, following a Seva press conference held at the United Nations, where representatives of WHO and Seva briefed members of the press about the Nepal Blindness Project. Proceeds of a concert by the musical group The Grateful Dead (about $24,000) given last December in California were donated to Seva.

Much of these activities were co-ordinated by Seva secretary Judy Gallagher of Pierce Rd., daughter of Horace and June Robinson; and Kirsten Jensen, daughter of Ib and Eva Jensen of Spring Lake Dr.

Members of Seva's Executive Board came from Oregon, California, Georgia and Alaska to attend a recent meeting in the foundation's wooded setting in Waterloo Recreation Area. Shortly after the meeting, a noted Tibetan Buddhist leader, the Gyalwa Karmapa, visited the office.

While Seva's primary focus is the prevention of blindness, it also is involved in support actions in the North Slope of Alaska.

"The past year of Seva's growth has been truly remarkable," said Dr. Brilliant. "Support from our neighbors in Chelsea and from friends in America and abroad has enabled Seva to become a stronger force towards reducing needless suffering in the world."

Seva is currently selling "Seva" t-shirts, and rainbow decals as part of its fund-raising efforts. They are available at the Seva office, 108 Spring Lake Dr. (phone, 475-9373). Individuals and volunteer organizations who are interested in working with Seva is its "fight for sight" are invited to contact the Seva office.

Historical Society Elects Officers

At the November meeting of the Chelsea Historical Society the following officers were elected: Sally Rendell, president; Jean Storey, vice-president; Angie Smith, treasurer; Chris Wagner, secretary; and Hazel Dittmar to fill the vacancy (a one-year term) on the executive board. Other board members are Harold Jones and Otis Titus.

The newly elected officers will be installed at the January meeting. There is no meeting in December.

During the program Otis Titus gave a talk on the hobby of coin collecting. He told those present that at one time people printed their own money and it was legal. The coins bore the individual's trademark, in some cases it was the name of the business or individual.

He told how over the years the precious metals have been replaced by the less valuable metals. The penny is no longer a true copper penny (copper will turn green) and only a certain amount is included to make it look like a copper penny. The same is true of the so-called silver money (nickels, dimes, quarters and half dollars). He concluded by saying that if anyone has a struck coin it is a very valuable coin, there aren't many of these around. It would take a great deal of money to purchase them.

The members spent some time looking through some articles and pictures which are kept in the historical room at the library.

The Historical Society welcomes anyone interested in the history of Chelsea and the surrounding area. The next meeting will be an evening of history on how it was many years ago.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

JV Cagers Close Season With Victory

In a game played last week, the Chelsea High school JV girls basketball closed their 1980 season on a positive note, defeating Ypsilanti Lincoln, 36-25. They finished with a 9-10 record on the year.

In the Ypsilanti game, the first quarter was extremely close. Nonetheless, the JV Bulldogs took a 10-point lead into the locker room at the half.

In the third and fourth quarters, Chelsea came out to play good, solid basketball. They walked away with a convincing ninth victory on the year.

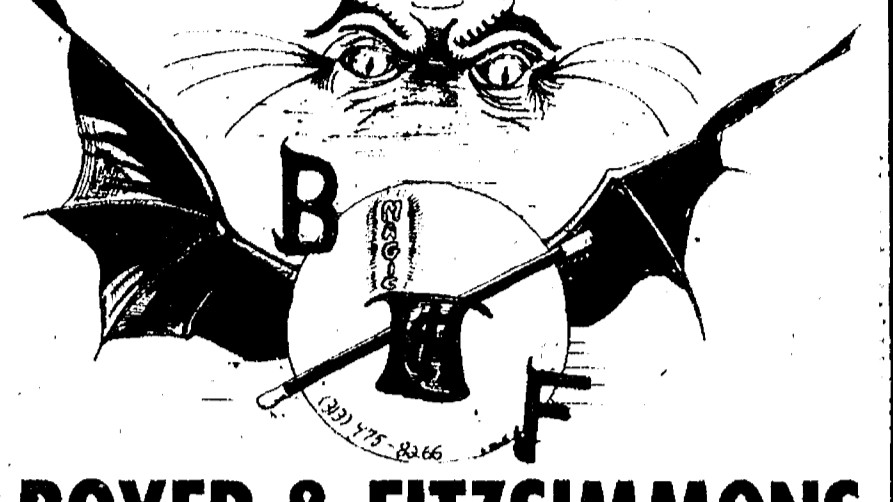

Leading scorers were Tracy Borton with 15 points, followed by Kim Boyd with eight, Karla Peterson with six, Amy Hume with five and Missi Lazarz and Carol Warren with a single point each. Top rebounders were Borton with seven, Boyd, Lazarz and Warren with six and Amy Poljan with five.

At the Fall Sports Banquet held at Chelsea High school on Monday evening, Nov. 24, Tracy Borton was given the honor of being named "Most Valuable Player" on the 1980 JV girls basketball team while Carol Warren was considered to be the "Most Improved Player" and Amy Poljan and Jane Wood were given "Spirit" awards.
